TURKEY'S STRONGHOLD CAPTURED.

By Downfall of Monastir in European Turkey that Nation Loses All Power in Macedonia-- Cholera, Typhus and Starvation Ravaging Turkish Army.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Any idea that the Turkish Government may have had of benefitting by continued resistance must be shattered by today's news of the fall of Monastir. In the capture of that important town the Servians took three Pashas, including the Commander-in-chief, Zekki Pasha, 50,000 men and 47 guns, thus achieving the greatest individual success of the war.

TURKEY'S STRONGHOLD.

Monastir was the second city of importance in European Turkey. It was Turkey's stronghold in Macedonia and by its downfall Macedonia passes completely out of Turkish hands. What part the Greeks played in the capture has not yet been ascertained. It is known that the Greek army was marching to the assistance of the Servians, and it is supposed that the Greeks were able to cut off the Turkish retreat to the south.

AT GATES OF CAPITAL.

With the cholera and typhus ravaging her demoralized army, and a powerful enemy hammering at the gates of the capital, Turkey must appeal to the Allies for terms. Undoubtedly the object of the commanders in ordering the attack on Tchataljas lines was to compel this course. It seems inconceivable that Bulgaria, for the mere glory of a triumphal entry into a city she does not desire possession of, should wish to take her army into a disease infected zone.

A NEW DANGER.

As the effect of the victory at Monastir will be to stiffen Servian Government in resisting Austrian pretensions, the consular troubles at Prisrend and Mitrovitz are breeding a dangerous spirit of ill-feeling between Austria and Servia which is little calculated to favor diplomatic negotiations. The newspapers of both capitals reflect this feeling.

SUFFERING FROM STARVATION.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Ashmead Bartlett, correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, at the Turkish headquarters, at Hademkeui, sends the following, dated Friday, by way of Constantinople:

"The Turkish soldiers are starved. They are suffering from the effects of the terrible Lule Burgas battle, and are falling ready victims to the cholera and dysentery; even close as the army is in Constantinople, the men are receiving only a bare ration of bread with rice occasionally."

Grand Division

The Grand Division of the order of the Sons of Temperance completed its annual session at Halifax on Nov. 7.

The following were elected officers for 1912-13:

G. W. P.—Rev. B. W. Morrison, Halifax.

G. Scribe.—A. M. Hoare, Halifax.

G. Treas.—R. S. Thakston, Halifax.

G. Chaplain.—Rev. F. H. Eaton, Westport.

G. Conductor.—John A. Kennedy, Sydney.

G. Sentinel.—Bruce Woodworth, Berwick.

G. Patron.—Miss Cora Lavers, Halifax.

The following representatives were elected to the executive committee:

E. R. Nickerson, Shag Harbor, George McLeod, Halifax, Emmanuel James, Halifax.

The first quarterly session will be held at Pugwash, the second at Clifton, Colchester County, the third at Berwick, and the fourth at Halifax.

Ladies!

WHICH appeals to you more? A truth backed by a bond of good faith, or a mere claim?

Judge this:

REGAL Flour yields the best quality and the utmost quantity of bread per barrel of any flour in the world. Costs a bit more but you save on the quantity it bakes. Lovely loaves, white and light. Fine flaky pastry too.

Essential point:

Try one barrel. If we have not here signed our name to the truth, your dealer will return your money. Then we must pay him. And worse still, we shall lose your good opinion forever. Remember—Regal—the flour that is used exclusively by many of the best bakers in the provinces.

Better Roads for Annapolis County

(Special to the Monitor-Sentinel)

It is to be inferred from expressions heard in all parts of the County, and from the Press, that a greater interest is being taken in the construction and maintenance of HIGHWAYS. It is also to be conceded that this awakened interest is much needed and that where it has been effective by putting the expression into actual work and improvements on the roads the people realize the benefit.

Better roads are needed to meet the increased travel; and the fact that the crops in the Annapolis Valley are increasing from year to year requires roads in such condition that farm crops and supplies of all kinds can be hauled at any time and in larger loads. Take for instance a farmer whose apple crop has increased from a few hundred to a thousand or more barrels, and who has to rely upon one or two teams to transport his crop; or take the case of many apple growers who now centralize their packing and need better facilities to move their apples from orchards to packing houses. If full loads can be hauled instead of half loads, it means a big saving of time and money; and a good road from farms to villages or towns adds value, particularly a selling value to every farm within its reach.

There is a demand for permanent roads but apparently the only places that can afford the expenditure are the incorporated towns. For our country roads the problem must be solved by making the best possible road of the material close at hand whether of sand or clay.

There are certain places however that should have roads of the best character and among these would be around the freight stations and packing houses. The railway should be compelled to give approaches and loading places that are not mires; as to the packing houses, it is up to the owners and users to make the roads what they should be. It is not a pleasing identification of a pack of apples or potatoes to judge where they come from by the muck on the barrels.

To come to the point, in what way can present methods of road work be improved upon in Annapolis County? The work is largely in the hands of the Municipality and an important matter is to have surveyors that will interest themselves in good road making. Then there is the importance of doing the work at the proper time. To try and have this done the Annapolis Royal Board of Trade have put forward a "Better Roads" resolution and ask that it be carefully considered and if concurred in generally, to press for its adoption.

The following is the resolution:

Whereas: The Highway Act sets the time for statute labor between the 1st of April and the 31st of July, and in a great many cases the Surveyors put off doing the road work until late in the year; and whereas: grants for roads are frequently laid out during midsummer, causing the roads in many cases to be almost impassable during the greater travel of the year, and whereas: there should be better supervision over all work done by statute labor and prompt payment for work accomplished.

The resolution: That the Government be requested to have said

New Nova Scotia Senators

The following appointed to the Senate are reported:

E. L. Gerrior, M. P. P., of Antigonish was appointed to the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. A. H. Comeau, of Digby.

The Cape Breton vacancy goes to Dr. William McKay, ex-M. P. P. of Reserve, C. B., formerly leader of the Opposition in the House of Assembly.

The third appointment has been given to William Dennis, of Halifax.

It is also reported that Clarence Jamieson, M. P., of Digby has been appointed to the Senate, and that the vacancy in Pictou, caused by the death of Senator Bell, will be given to C. E. Tanner, M. P. P.

HYMENEAL

SMITH - MESSENGER

A wedding of interest to many residents of Annapolis County is reported from Calgary. Miss Ella Blanche Messenger, daughter of the late Judson Messenger, of Centreville, was united in marriage, on November sixth, at the home of J. L. Richards, to Mr. Carl Mayhew Smith, the Rev. M. A. MacLean pastor of Olivet Baptist Church officiating. A number of relatives and relatives of the bride and groom were present. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Calgary.

Appreciation

To the officers and members of Lawntown Baptist church:

Dear Brethren:

Words fail us to express all there is in our hearts to you for your thoughtfulness in remembering us upon the fiftieth anniversary of our marriage. By your kind act, you made the evening one of the brightest spots in our lives. Whilst thankful for the purse presented, yet we assure you we value far more highly than gold the many kind and appreciative words contained in your message of congratulations and good wishes presented to us through pastor Mellick.

That God may continue to bless you and yours, is our earnest prayer.

LIQUOR GOES BEFORE LONGING EYES

Inspector Anthony disposed of about one thousand dollars worth of liquor and beer at the city dump yesterday, the liquor had been confiscated during the officer's last raids. Several moderate drinkers watched the process of pouring the liquor into the creek, eager to get a taste of the stuff, but needless to say, their hopes were deferred.—Sydney Record.

changes made in the High way At that the road work in this County must be done before the 1st day of April and the 15th day of June; also to take into consideration the following recommendations:

That there should be more thorough supervision by the Inspector of Highways to see that all work done by statute labor and under special grants is properly executed. That all grants for highways should be available so that laborers can be paid promptly for the reason that in order to get good road makers, and owing to the scarcity of laborers, payments should be made as soon as possible to encourage better work being done on the roads.

Giant Power Schemes Planned.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—Two immense power schemes, both of which contemplate the damming of the St. Lawrence River at two points between Montreal and Prescott, and both of which are backed by powerful interests, are now before the Government for consideration.

The schemes in question are that of the Long Sault Development Company, backed by the Aluminum Company of America, and that of the Eastern Canada Power Company, backed by Sir Max Aitken and D. Lorne McGibbon, together with prominent Montreal, English and American capitalists.

The first contemplates the damming of the St. Lawrence River above the Long Sault Rapids, from the American to the Canadian side, and the developing of from 600,000 to 800,000 horse-power of electrical energy, while the second is even more gigantic in its scope. It has for its purpose no less a project than the bringing of the level of the St. Lawrence in the vicinity of the Coteaukeeda, Split Rock and Cascade Rapids to the level of the water in Lake St. Francis, giving a head of eighty-four feet and virtually damming the water from Cascade Point back to the Cornwall Canal.

Its retaining dams would connect the various islands down the river for a distance of nearly fourteen miles; the entire rapids division would be wiped out, and a portion of the Soulanges Canal would be flooded. The amount of electrical energy to be generated is estimated at one million horse-power.

Unionists' Rowdiness in Commons

London, Eng., Nov.—After Premier Asquith's speech had been respectfully listened to, in the House last night, there succeeded a large number of yells and harangues by Tory members. Bonar Law gave the cue to his followers in his own rasping remarks.

Robert Harcourt, who attempted to follow him, was shouted down, and it became apparent that no Liberal speaker was to get a hearing. The Liberals made another attempt at seven thirty, when Sir Rufus Isaacs, attorney general was put up. He was met with cries of "Adjourn!" Sir Rufus tried to make himself heard, but could not, above the din of the younger Tory members, who were now completely out of hand.

The speaker resumed the sitting for an hour, but on resuming the bloods began their uproar again.

"No, no. We won't let you do any business. Adjourn, adjourn."

The speaker asked for order and dispatch of business, but could not quell the angry cries of "adjourn," among which Sir Edward Carson's voice was conspicuous.

The premier surveyed the Tory storm unmoved. At 8.38 the speaker rose and declaring that grave disorder had arisen adjourned the house till today.

The speaker out of the house, the Tories let their rage have full play. "No Home Rule," they shouted.

The premier left the room, followed by Winston Churchill, who wanted to fight his assailant, but was restrained. Only the good temper of the Liberals saved a riotous outbreak.

The plot is alleged to be to continue the disorder and make the government go to the country before the benefits of the insurance act begin to come in.

TERrible EXPOSURE FROM WRECK

Steamer Mayflower Wrecked, Causing Loss of Nine Lives.—Coffin Containing Corpse the Life Raft of Three Survivors. One Died After Reaching Shore.

Barry's Bay, Ont., Nov. 15.—The ill-fated Mayflower, the old stern-wheeler steamboat, which sank on Tuesday night, carrying with it its load of human freight, and caused the loss of nine lives, was located last night in Kaminiskeg Lake, near the neck of the narrows, in twenty feet of water.

Relatives of the dead passengers intend asking the authorities a Ottawa for an investigation of the accident.

A survivor tells a graphic story of the terrible experience of the three men who survived the disaster. Clinging to the coffin containing a corpse four men managed to reach shore. One of them died. Another found a cigar lighter in his pocket and managed to light a fire.

Twenty-four hours later they managed to signal with a lighted branch a passing steamer and were rescued. They huddled together through a snow storm under the shelter of a rock and were nearly perished from cold and hunger.

Business Removals.

PACKET BURNED—7 HEAD OF CATTLE LOST.

Capt. Avery Bentley, of the Pereau Packet, accompanied by Mr. Harry North, of Canning, had a thrilling experience on Tuesday morning at 1 o'clock.

Capt. Bentley and Mr. North were enroute to Kingsport from Noel with a load of live stock and farm produce consisting of 5 fine new milch cows and 2 calves, 6 tons of hay and a quantity of potatoes. When off Kingsport, a spark from the exhaust caught the hay, setting it on fire; the gasoline then exploded, setting fire to the boat. Capt. Bentley and Mr. North succeeded in getting into the little boat in tow, but in doing so the captain's hands and face were badly burned, and Mr. North had his arm dislocated. They however succeeded in reaching the shore in safety, after a thrilling experience. The blazing wreck drifted to Starr's Point, just opposite Lower Canard. The boat is entirely destroyed, but the engine may be saved. The cattle belonged to Messrs. Fred B. and Harry North, of Canning, having been purchased from Mr. O'Brien at Noel. There was no insurance on the boat.

Don't waste your money buying strengthening plasters. Chamberlain's Liniment is cheaper and better. Dampen a piece of flannel with it and bind it over the affected parts and it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by druggists and dealers.

Libel Case Dismissed.

The case of Hardwicke vs Kinney came up again on Tuesday before Judge Pelton at the Bridgetown Court House. A jury had been impanelled to try the case but Mr. Owen withdrew the action for his client, accepting the $10 paid into court, the jury was dismissed. The judge reserved decision as to costs.

President-Elect Wilson's Platform

Will Wilson Show Himself a Man who Squares His Performances with His promises?

Here they are, examine them, and if they are realized, even partially then the people of the United States have indeed spoken wisely.

The Tariff—It must be handled very prudently, so that no honest toll may be interrupted, no honorable or useful enterprise disturbed; must be dealt with by slow stages of well considered change—change whose object shall be to restore and broaden opportunity, and destroy nothing but special privilege and unwholesome control.

The Trusts—The trusts question must be dealt with in the same way with this distinct and single program, to destroy monopoly and to leave business intact, to give those who conduct enterprise no advantage excepts that which comes by efficiency, energy and sagacity; those only fountains of honorable wealth, every man rewarded according to his insight and enterprise and service, his mastery in an open field.

The Currency—Currency and banking questions must be discussed and settled in the interest of those who use credit, reduce the crops, manufacture the goods and quicken the commerce of the Nation, rather than in the interest of the banker and the promoter and the captain of finance, who if set off by themselves in the management of such things too easily lose sight even of their own intimate and inseparable relation to the general needs and interests of the rank and file.

Conversation—Forests must be renewed, and mines and water courses must be husbanded and preserved, as if we were trustees for all generations, and not merely for our own for the sake of communities and nations and not merely for the immediate use of those who hasten to enlarge their enterprises and think only of their own profits.

The Government must employ its powers and spend its money to develop a whole people and a whole continent, and at the same time keep them free and alert and unhampered, its eye always on the common use and purpose, its thought constantly of what will happen to the average man and of what will be prepared for the next generation.

Foreign Policy—We must consider our foreign policy upon the same high principle. We have become a powerful member of the great family of Nations. The Nations look to us for standards and policies worthy of America. We must shape our course of action by the maxims of justice and liberality and good will, think of the progress of mankind rather than of the progress of this or that investment, of the protection of American ideals rather than always of American contracts, and lift our diplomacy to the levels of what the best minds have planned for mankind.

General Progress—A great people is turning its face to the light, not desiring a revolution, but loving the right and determined to set it up, wisely, temperately, honorably, with prudence and patient debate, not in irritation or in haste, but like men, not like children. It is a great day and a propitious one.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. One doctor gave them Chamberlain Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by druggists and dealers.

TWO POINTERS ON HOW TO CURE A COLD

When you begin to sniffl and feel a burning sensation in the nasal passages, or when a tickling irritation in your throat starts you coughing, the first important thing to do is to act at once. It's the neglect of colds that becomes most dangerous.

Another important thing to do is to take the Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne, and keep it until the cold disappears.

Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne is an entirely free from harmful drugs, and can safely be given to children as well as adults. It is pleasant tasting and quick acting, promptly relieving the irritation of the throat and nostrils, loosening the mucus, promoting expectoration, and checking the cold.

Your drug st has Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne in 25c, and 50c bottles, or can quickly get it for you. Compounded by the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited.

Russia Will Not Fight With Austria

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13—Russia does not intend to go to war over the question of Servia obtaining a port on the Adriatic Sea according to Sergius Sazonoff, the Russian foreign minister.

M. Sazonoff, informed M. Popovitch, the Servian Minister here, that this decision had been reached as the result of conversation between the German Ambassador to Russia and himself.

The Novoi Vremya and other newspapers denounce the Russian Government's policy as one of vacillation and surrender.

Premier Kokovoff expressed the opinion to-day that the dispute between Servia and Austria would be settled by compromise.

When the table cloth has a spot here and there and you are not ready to change it, rub magnesia on the spots; the cloth will look much cleaner.

Can Now Talk Without Wires

With the name of Marconi will certainly be coupled in the near future that of H. Grindell-Matthews, who has invented an apparatus which he calls an aerophone, says London Tit-Bits.

The aerophone will enable every man and woman to be their own telephone exchange, and to talk over distances without the aid of wires.

Although it is not yet possible to achieve such results as those now accomplished by wireless telegraphy, an idea of the value and uses of Mr. Grindell-Matthews' remarkable invention may be gathered from the fact that recently the Western Mail printed the first message ever transmitted by wireless telephone; the message having been sent from Newport to Cardiff, a distance of about ten miles.

Mr. H. Grindell-Matthews is a young electrical engineer, who amongst other things, has invented a marvellous torpedo. He has been working on his invention for about twelve years. The aerophone is based on the fact that the voice travels in rippling waves, and what Mr. Grindell-Matthews has done is to invent a transmitter and receiver which controls the direction of these waves. How it is done, of course, is the inventor's secret, but Mr. Grindell-Matthews says that his invention is the outcome of a long study of air current.

The writer, some time ago with a few friends witnessed a demonstration of the possibilities of Mr. Grindell-Matthews invention at a London hotel. In an upper chamber was a smallish mahogany box of electrical mystery attached to a huge disk of drumhead formation, a similar instrument reposing on a brass-topped table in the basement. The scientists and journalists divided into two parties—one remaining upstairs and the other going below—and those in the basement distinctly heard the voices of those who talked into the transmitter on the top of the floor, although the sound had to come through several walls and floors. It was a striking demonstration and Mr. Grindell-Matthews mentioned that the day before words had been transmitted through the walls and space for a distance of seven miles.

Since then the inventor has made many improvements upon his invention, and he is now able to talk quite easily over a distance of twelve miles. Furthermore, one of the greatest advantages of his invention is the extreme compactness of the apparatus, which now consists solely of a small box containing battery, motor and transmitter, which can easily be carried about. Thus every man can carry, if he wishes, his own telephone with him.

Part from the conveniences of such an arrangement in everyday life, which enables one to talk to the next-door neighbor through walls and ceilings and doors, without the aid of wires; call up the police or fire station; give orders to your grocer, butcher or baker; fetch the doctor, the clergyman or piano tuner; tell a man whom you don't like what you think of him, and your best girl what a treasure she is, there are other great advantages of this wireless telephone invention.

For instance, its value would be incalculable in time of war. With no wires there would be no fear of communication being cut off. It would be possible for two commanders to communicate with one another, no matter where they might be, and it would be absolutely impossible for the enemy to tap their communication.

As Mr. Matthews truly remarks: "A direct and immediate means of communication between those in command would almost revolutionize warfare. At the time during a fierce engagement the Generals would be able to tell each other exactly what was happening in their special sections, while those besieged in cities could communicate with the outside world."

"Then, again it would prove of

The MONITOR has much pleasure in publishing a communication from F. C. Whitman, the energetic President of the Annapolis Royal Board of Trade, concerning the subject of improved roads in Annapolis County. It is a matter that should interest every public-spirited man in the County, and anything that can be done through organized efforts to bring about a better state of affairs should no longer be neglected.The Annapolis Royal Board of Trade, which is one of the most active local boards in the province, is giving special attention just now to this much needed movement, and the MONITOR is informed that an effort is to be made to secure a representative gathering of the various boards of trade of the county for the purpose of considering the steps to be taken in the furtherance of this important movement.The Bridgetown Board of Trade, now in a dormant period of its existence should wake up and join heartily with the efforts of their sister board to promote this better roads movement.A perusal of Mr. Whitman's article must confirm one's own convictions that the present state of affairs in connection with our road system is one badly in need of reform.The boy and girl who have remained at home and performed dutiful obligation to home and country are worth more to the homeland than a shipload of immigrants or a score of the young men and women who are making their home in foreign lands. Many of the young men and women who have left us in the past are successful in the lands of their adoption; they are an honor to themselves and to the country that gave them birth. We are prouder still of the industrious young men and women who are making a success at home. Are we doing our best by our dutiful son and daughters?Notice.

CORRESPONDENCE.WHO WOULD BE A CURLER?

Dear MONITOR:

What do you suppose I have been doing this evening? Why, I have been counting up the men in and around Bridgetown, who would be likely to join a Curling-club, were anyone enterprise-ing enough to start such a thing! And actually, my list is so full that it quite looks as though there were sufficient men for two Clubs.

And why is there not such a Club in Bridgetown? Now, that Winter is slowly but surely, advancing upon us, it seems seasable to get up an agitation of this kind. It helps to keep us warm anyway.
But again I ask, why has Bridgetown not got a Curling-club? Our men are just as active, just as public spirited, just as well able to sweep, run, and make successful such an association as are the men of Amherst and Bridgewater, and the various other progressive towns of the Province.

There is certainly no winter-sport which is so exhilarating, so fitted to young and old alike and so thoroughly within the means of all. In some places, the ladies both young and middle-aged are as ardent curlers as the men, and they find it, not only a great pleasure but an infinite benefit to their health.

The initial outlay of such a club is comparatively small, if we are not too ambitious just at first. It means merely to rent the Rink for one or two afternoons and evenings in the week, and to hire a man to attend to the ice-conditions preparatory to those afternoons and evenings. Curling stones have to be bought, of course, but they can be purchased second-hand, at a greatly reduced rate from large clubs, such as Halifax-clubs, which, by reason of their standing in the Curling World, have to keep their "stones" up to standard.

Later on, when we are challenging
Halifax and Bridgewater, Amherst, etc., for the championship for the province, we also shall require stones of maximum excellence, but in the meantime those condemned by older clubs are quite good enough for us to learn and practice with. These stones could be bought and owned either by the club or by the members privately, according to circumstances. The member fees would pay for the use of the rink, attendance, etc., and there are no badges, banquets or quots to run up the expense. Although, of course, should the ladies insist on serving a cup of tea occasionally, we would not be ungallant enough to say they may.

There is no reason why, just because we are old married men, that we must settle down into old fogeyism! I guarantee that, should a Curling Club be properly started in this town, numbers of men who now toast their toes at the fireside in the winter evenings under the erroneous impression that they are as old as the hills, will shortly be doing doughty deeds on the ice. They will be meeting the younger men on an equal footing and probably showing them a thing or two in the management and manipulation of curling stones.

Just think of the healthful exercise, the good fun, "rubbing shoulders," with men of town and country. Just imagine the jolly local matches—Farmers, versus Townsmen!—Old versus Young!
Married versus Single!—Handsome versus Homely!—good, healthy competition and a thorough mixing of older with younger men-country, with town-men which nothing else could foster so well which could not but further the improvement of our town.

So now, men of Bridgetown—and women also—to the front! Let us take the lead in Annapolis County and form a Men's Curling Club with Ladies' Auxiliary! Let us show our wives and daughters that they are not the only ones who can shoulder a broom! In any case, let us hear from you through the columns of the "Monitor," as to what you think of the scheme.

Yours truly,
"Sportsman."

By Way of Comparison

As a contrast to the very chilly mild weather of this season, let the Yarmouth Herald, we may say, that on the 11th of November, 1871, Yarmouth experienced a heavy snow storm, and sleighs were on the streets. At Mabou, C. B., the snow was four feet deep, and at Antigonish over two feet. On the following Monday night the thermometer in Yarmouth registered 12 above zero; on Tuesday 16, and on Thursday 11 above. There was good sledding on the ponds, and ice formed along both sides of the harbor, and the basket river was closed to navigation, but the next thaw freed the river.

highly satisfactory." For sale by

LOCAL AND SPECIAL.

Halifax city has acquired the rights and plant of the Halifax Tramway Co.

It is stated that nearly a thousand rural mail delivery routes are now established in Canada.

Buttercups, pansies and hybrid roses have been discovered blooming out-of-doors during the week.

Lessons in drawing and painting. Call and see Miss Underwood at Miss Crosskill's photograph studio. 41

An enthusiastic "Sportsman" makes a strong plea, elsewhere in this issue for a Curling Club for Bridgetown.

The p' social at Carlton's Corner on Friday night was well attended and a very pleasant evening enjoyed. The sum of $17 was realized.

Do not fail to see "The Holy City," Monday evening, Nov. 25th, at Primrose Theatre. Music by a special orchestra is being prepared for the occasion.

Dr. Dechman informs the MONITOR that the item published in a late issue of the Outlook and other papers relating to his removing from Bridgetown, was incorrect.

The MONITOR records with regret and sympathy the death of the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart C. Mitchell, which occurred, from typhoid fever, a few hours since.

The Bridgetown Electric Light Co. have placed a new transformer on Queen Street, to assist in supplying additional lights for the Longmire Building and elsewhere in that section.

David Gowen, aged eighty-five years of age, was struck by an engine on the Halifax & South Western railroad, near Yarmouth, Saturday and died within fifteen minutes. He was deaf.

Digby Courier.—Mr. George Dakin, proprietor of Mountain View Farm and milk route, has sold his property and entire milk business to Mr. Hugh A. Goldsmith, who has moved here from Bridgetown.

Outlook.—On Wednesday morning, Mrs. Merville Hatt of Forest Glade was standing by her window, when a beautiful deer with large spreading antlers appeared and it remained in the field several hours feeding.

Mr. W. A. Chute, of Bear River, has been in town moving a barn for Councillor Prat. Mr. Prat bought the long barn on the place known as the McGivern place, now owned by Mr. Phinney, and had it moved to adjoin his own barn. Mr. Chute returned to Bear River today.

Eclair's Religious Vision Drama, "The Holy City," a splendid special two-reel drama, reverent, profound, inspiring and powerful, will be shown at Primrose Theatre, Monday evening, Nov. 25th. First show at 8 o'clock sharp; second show at 9 o'clock. Positively one night only. Admission 20c., children 10c.

The rumored action to be taken for the offence of selling liquor to a minor, as stated last week, proved to be the offence of "giving" liquor to a minor. The case is dropped. It is understood that an action taken against a citizen for sale of liquor will not come to trial, the citizen preferring to pay the fine.

Word was received, a few days since, by Messrs William and Oliver Ruffee, of the death of their brother Charles in Brainard, Minnesota. He left home at the age of twenty and during the fifty-four years of his absence has never revisited his old home, communicating with his family at intervals of some years.

The first snow of the season in this vicinity was seen on Thursday morning last, in a light crust on the house-roofs, but invisible on the soft ground. Rain soon followed. On Saturday morning another light snow-fall reminded us of the approach of winter. The weather moderated again on Sunday and Monday, but present indications denote a cold spell. The season has been remarkably open.

The fire alarm sounded on Monday morning summoning the firemen to the engine house. They were promptly on hand, but it could not be discovered how the alarm originated. It was thought someone was playing a hoax, though one theory now is that the telephone wires somewhere crossed the fire alarm wires. As it is a serious offence to ring in a false alarm of fire, it is more charitable to give credence to the latter theory.

Tenders are called for by the Postmaster General for the conveyance of mails on a proposed contract for four years, six and three times per week each way between Bridgetown and Tupperville and Bridgetown and Beaconsfield. It is rather a singular circumstance that these tenders are advertised in a Yarmouth paper, while the advertisement is omitted from the MONITOR, which is the only paper having any considerable circulation through the section named.

PERSONAL

W. A. Chesley has returned from his visit to Boston.

Mrs. J. W. Beckwith is in Halifax, the guest of her son, Dr. Beckwith.

Mr. F. Micklewright is confined to the house with an attack of quinsy.

Rev. B. J. Porter exchanged pulpits on Sunday last with Rev. L. Daniel of Grace Methodist Church, Digby.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Templeman of Port Lorne are at present at the home of Mr. Thomas Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield of Kingston have been guests of Dr. and Mrs. Arps during the week.

L. D. Shafner arrived from British Columbia on Saturday last and is spending a few days at the St. James.

Mrs. G. E. Nichols who went to Halifax for hospital treatment is reported as progressing favorably and is expected home next week.

R. H. Armstrong, formerly of Granville Ferry, well-known throughout this country, is now in the livery, coal and wood business in Banff, Alta.

Mr. J. B. Hall has gone to Yarmouth, where he will remain some weeks before proceeding to make his annual visit to his daughter in Boston.

Mr. Frank Charlton visited his family here over the week-end. He is removing to Windsor from Wolfville, where he has been employed some months.

Rev. S. Langille, of Lake George, is reported as seriously ill. Many will regret to hear that that this faithful minister is laid aside and will hope for his speedy recovery.

Outlook: Capt. and Mrs. Charlton arrived home on Tuesday from their trip to the Pacific coast. They visited Carroll and Willard and met many Middletonians during their very enjoyable trip.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elliot of Dartmouth will regret to learn that their two little sons have scarlet fever and their house is quarantined. The children, however, are convalescing satisfactorily.

Cecil Ruffee, who went to the West with the harvesters' excursion last fall, has secured a position with the Reliance Printing Co. at Regina. Cecil has proved himself among the most proficient of the craft serving an apprenticeship on the MONITOR, and will be sure to make a "master-printer" in time.

Principal Buston's department in the public school was closed the latter part of last week, owing to the absence of Mr. Buston, who was in Halifax attending the funeral of his brother-in-law, Dr. Jacques. Mr. Buston returned on Monday but Mrs. Buston is remaining for a time at the family home at Melvern Square.

These alleged irregularities will be dealt with before the privileges, and election parliamentary committee during the coming session and some of the ministers mentioned will be among the witnesses.

Amherst has become the headquarters of another lumber concern. A company composed of N. Curry, E. N. Rhodes, M. F. George T. Douglas, Eric Curry, Daniel Chisholm and others, have taken over the lumber limits of the Crowe Lumber company located at Brookline, Hants. The property transferred covers an area of thirteen thousand acres of valuable lumber land and the new company will begin operations at once.

Yarmouth Herald.—The case of Stipendiary Magistrate Charles S. Pelton, in which he petitioned for the rescinding of the resolution of the Town Council reducing his salary to $600, was decided a few days ago. Judge Meagher refused the application. We understand Mr. Pelton will appeal to the full bench. The decision was given solely on the point that the Stipendiary Magistrate is not a town officer within the meaning of the section of the act invoked.

OLD NIAGARA.

Father Daillon Visited It as Missionary In 1626.

It is believed that the first white man who visited Fort Niagara was Father Daillon in 1626, who performed Mass there. The fort in 1678, a ten-ton craft made with sixteen Frenchmen among them the very reverent historian Father Hennepin; then in January, 1679, came La Salle, whose vessel was lost. There is much dispute as to where the first stockade was erected, here at Lewiston. But in 1688 a fortress was built by Denonville on the site of Fort Niagara to resist the Senecas, and then occurred the first tragedy as of the hundred men left to defend it only twelve were found living in the spring by friendly Indians, and then relieved by a French force, having yielded their lives from bad food, scurvy, starvation and the attacks of fierce Iroquois; Parkman says, first a prison next a hospital, then a charitable house. Here was erected on Good Friday of that year, 1688, a large wooden cross, 18 feet in height, with the inscription: "E.G.N., V.I.N.C., I.M.P., C.H.R.S. Christ reigns, conquers, governs."

Charlevoix writes in 1721 to Madame de Maintenon a description of the scenery. Imagining the Court of France listening to these enthusiastic words: "Magnificent forests, purest air, beautiful and fruitful hills." In 1726 the fort was rebuilt by stratagem, the Indians who were opposed to this being engaged in a hunting expedition, only returning to find the walls were high enough for defence. It is described soon after as having ravines, ditches, counterscarp, drawbridge, charged with ancient dial, the whole covering a space of eight acres. During the seven years' war, 1755-1763, the fort was vigorously attacked by the British under Prudeaux and Johnson, and as vigorously defended by Ponchot, who summoned to his assistance French and Indians from the west, the river at Navy Island being block with boats. Prudeaux meanwhile was killed and Sir William Johnson carried on the siege successfully, and Ponchot's force marched out, laying down their arms July 25, 1759. The stores found in the fort were immense. Prudeaux and Col. Johnson were buried in the chapel with great form, according to the diary of Sir William, who was the chief mourner. Much discussion has arisen as to whether their bodies were left there when the chapel was taken down or removed to the military graveyard. At all events something should be done to commemorate the names of two officers who gave their lives for Britain's glory. It is remarkable that, while so much is said of the conquest of Quebec by Wolfe, so little is made of the capture of Fort Niagara two months before—a fort which it had been said was the key to the continent and for the possession of which statesmen had disputed and soldiers had fought.

Lee on August 9, 1759, gives a glowing description: "The situation of this place is certainly magnificent. Had I a thousand tongues I might attempt to describe it, but without doubt it certainly beggars all description. For an immense fortification it is filled with deer, foxes, raccoons—in short, all game. The lake abounds in salmon and other excellent fish. But I am afraid you will think me growing romantic, therefore I shall only say that it is paradise." Here were brought stores of food, articles for exchange with Indians in the west, sent afterwards by portage around the same way. And the next picture is that of the tragedy of Bloody Run, when soldiers of Fort Niagara, in 1763, bearing the firing when an ambush of Indians had killed and scalped an escort of twenty-five men, two only escaping, went to the rescue and shared the same fate, the Senecas bearing away eighty scalps, and when the rest of the garrison marched from the fort to the scene of slaughter they found an inextricable mass of men, horses, oxen, wagons at the base of the cliff, giving to the rivulet the name of Bloody Run.—Janet Carnahan in Toronto Globe.

A Wet Time.

Blue Bonnets race track at Montreal, when it opened its gates for the first time, about five years ago, ran up against unfriendly weather conditions. There was rain during the whole fourteen days of the meet.

During the second week, the German warship Bremen dropped anchor in the harbor, and on board was an admiral and a member of the German nobility.

Sir H. Montague Allan, president of the club, invited the German visitors to attend the races, and they accepted.

Speaking to Mr. J. F. Ryan, the secretary of the club, Sir Montague stated that their guests would be attended by two hundred bluejackets.

"How would you suggest that they should come down?" asked Sir Montague.

"Well, if it continues to rain," replied Mr. Ryan, "I believe that the Bremen might sail into the back stretch."

Canada the Target.

"Canada is now the bull's-eye of the world," drawled an Englishman of prominence when interviewed the other day at Montreal. If the tourist immigration of this summer be taken as an indication, he is not far wrong. Seventy-five members of the British Parliament have "hit" Canada since the Parliamentary session closed at Westminster, and fully a dozen lords and dukes. Some of the best known men in the social and political life of Great Britain are in the country just now.

Trouble With the Douks.

The Doukhobors seem to have been getting into hot water in British Columbia. The Government claims that they are not complying with the ordinary civic regulations which require the registration of births, marriages and deaths.

So impressed is the Government with this delinquency that it has appointed a commissioner with full powers to investigate the habits and customs of the Douks and determine their value to the province as settlers.

Helen had no brothers or sisters to play with her, so sometimes she had a hard time amusing herself. She had lots of dolls and dishes and doll furniture, but one gets tired after a while of dressing dolls and, the grandest tea-party loses most of its charm when there's no one but dolls to share it. She even tried inviting Fido, but his table manners were bad. Puss's were not much better, either, so they were not invited a second time. But Helen had the jolliest pleasantest mamma imaginable, and she was a fine playfellow when she had time. She was always thinking up new games for Helen, and different ways to make pretty toys.

One day she brought in a blank book about fifteen inches long and ten inches wide. It opened endwise, like a post card album.

"What do you guess this is going to be?" she asked Helen, her eyes sparkling with enthusiasm.

Helen shook her head.

"A house for your paper dolls!"

Helen could not see how a book could become a house, but if mamma said so, it was all right. She could do anything.

Mamma opened the book at the first blank page.

"This is to be the hall, so let's hunt some furniture for it. So they got out some old furniture catalogues, magazines and papers, and began to look for suitable pieces of furniture.

"Shall we have it in mission, or walnut, or oak? You like this heavy oak set? All right; we'll just cut out this hat rack and paste it over here on the page. Then this settee, and two straight chairs. Now for a rug and some pictures."

By this time Helen understood all about the interesting sort of house, so she begged to finish its furnishings all by herself. When she wanted a door or a window, she drew them on the page, and then pasted up her draperies and curtains. What a delightful task! it was to furnish the parlor or drawing room, and the bedrooms—one for each doll—were a joy for many days. It took a long time also to furnish the dining room, and to find dishes, silver and glass to suit her taste. The kitchen was most interesting, and you may be sure it was fitted up with everything that the most fastidious paper-doll cook could wish for.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN "MAKING UP?"

That depends. If you refer to a quarrel with your husband or lover I would suggest that you "make up." If you cannot agree touching any particular subject you can at least agree to disagree. You have as much right to your opinion as he has to his—and vice versa. As Mark Twain said: "It is a poor rule that doesn't work both ways." Remember it always takes two to quarrel. Some people have a remarkable faculty in finding the other one.

But I fancy, inasmuch as this is a health department, that your question refers to facial "make up." I am an admirer of a beautiful character, but not the face and form that result from outward appliances. A "made up" complexion is not attractive, no matter how artistically it is applied. Every artificial application means ruination to the complexion. And when you get old? What is worse than to see an old woman "make up"? What is more attractive than the natural complexion of the "dear old mother"—who has lived hygienically her face radiant in its beautiful and suitable frame in silver? God bless her old soul!

I often wonder when I meet some of these made-up creatures what they look like when they wash their faces. Some of them would be much more attractive in their natural complexion if they have not worn the false face already too long. "The more's the pity" that they are not as persistent in preserving the complexion as they are in destroying it.

A clear complexion, a bright eye and good teeth depend, largely, upon right living. I do not mean to say that attention should be given to the care of skin outwardly. Good facial and neck massage is not only admissible, but should be encouraged, and daily ablutions of hot and cold water—even a good cream or olive oil if the skin is too dry; it too oily, more frequent ablutions of hot and cold water and the less frequent eating of pastries, rich gravies and other rich foods.

Said a speaker at the International Shippers Association in Chicago: "If women knew that eating apples will do more to make their complexions beautiful than all the face remedies in the world, they would eat the luscious fruit morning, noon and night."

A little time, a little patience, a little forethought when eating, a little more sleep, a little less nerve tension; these are all little things in themselves, but, faithfully kept, they will pay you a hundred fold in the direction you desire. —Los Angeles Times.

TAKE ONE REAL BREATH A DAY

(By a Physician)

Millions of people live on half breaths all their lives. There are trusts on food, and trusts on drinks and trusts on clothes. But there is no trust yet on AIR.

There is enough, and to spare, of this one great health-giving, life-prolonging commodity to go around. It's FREE and it's FRESH all the time.

Hardly a day passes in which some individual does not proudly say: "I never did try deep breathing, though I understand it is a very good thing to do."

In plain words, "deep breathing" is an ordinary washing of the lungs. It is as important, or more important, to cleanse the inside of the body than the outside. It is more injurious to breathe worn-out air than to forget or neglect a bath.

The persons who cultivate the habit of taking long breaths will be as hungry for them as he is for food. If you haven't yet formed the habit—which is not in any sense a bad, begin now.

Take at least one real breath a day and see how it goes. Multiply this by ten, giving ten inhalations and ten exhalations at each time. The result will be 100 real breaths during each day.

Breathe these long breaths from the open window, or, better still, out of doors. Follow the general rule, taking the breath in through the nose and exhaling it through the mouth.

It is so simple most people forget to do it. It is so efficacious as an aid to health that it is a wonder anyone neglects it.

Try taking one real breath.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Turkey has now formally appealed to Bulgaria for peace, thus forestalling the tardy action of the European concert towards mediation. No armistice has yet been concluded, difficulties have arisen about the terms.

It is said that Bulgaria demands the evacuation of Adrianople, Scutari and Monastir, as a condition of agreeing to an armistice. Negotiations, however, continue.

DR. DESBARRES DEALT WITH HIGHER CRITICISM IN HIS LECTURE BEFORE Y. M. C. A.

There was a large audience present in the assembly room of the Y. M. C. A. building, Halifax, to hear Dr. DesBarres of Mount Allison University, on the subject of higher criticism as embodied in his text, "The Old Book and the New Learning."

Dr. DesBarres, in beginning his address, explained that he was reading it because of it being a controversial subject, he wished to be explicit in what he said, and to have notes of any statements he made. He was not there to refute or combat higher criticism, but to show that what is termed higher criticism today is but a new method, and it constituted a sincere search for the hidden truths of the Bible. Wrong impressions had gone abroad with regard to the meaning of this criticism and the terms were misinterpreted.

His subject was subdivided: 1st, some of the causes that produced the term and how on its examination their insufficiency became apparent. 2nd, the way in which the new method provides a new apologetic for the Bible as the record of a Divine revelation.

From these sub-divisions, the speaker in a very concise and condensed style endeavored to prove the work of higher critics today was not contrary to the orthodox belief in the Divinity of the scriptures. It was a method of studying the Bible to seek its hidden truths through the mass of tradition which had grown up just after the beginning of the Christian era. It was a straight forward enquiry into the Bible which would never rid us of our God, although it may rid us of many of the preconceived ideas we have had with regard to religion.

Speaking of what comprised the Old Testament, its history, its biography and its fiction, the speaker said, that in the ministry of Christ he used such fiction to illustrate his work, so could that same method be accepted in the Old Testament.

The higher criticism or the new method which Dr. DesBarres described was an apologetic for the Bible provided by the new revelation. With reference to many of the deeds of the Old Testament they were done to the fullest understanding of the Jews at that time, in his endeavor to reach the ideal he had of his God.

Taking the Bible as a whole, the speaker described it as a story of evolution in which prophet, poet, priest and seer bring the world on to a fuller understanding of God until we reach the Book of Jonah, wherein is found the great missionary efforts. From that it is brought to the full fruition of the New Testament, Christ, the Son of the Father, the effulgence of Divine love.

The address was listened to with very evident interest and attention. It was a scholastic effort to present higher criticism in its true light. He interpreted it as an analysis of truths that would never lose their strength because their hidden meanings were brought forth.

Beware of Blood-Poison

Zam-Buk Is A Sure Cure

Mr. Jas. Davy, of 786 Ellice Avenue, Winnipeg, says:—"A few months since I was cured of a poisoned finger through the timely use of Zam-Buk.

"I cut a deep gash across the knuckle on the first finger of my right hand in opening a lobster can. I suffered at the time with the soreness and pain, but had no idea it would become a serious wound.

However, in about two days I was greatly alarmed; as my whole hand and arm to the elbow became suddenly inflamed, and the finger was much discolored, showing signs of blood-poisoning. The pain was dreadful and I was forced to leave off my work and go home.

"The wound on the knuckle had been poisoned by dust and dirt getting into it. I then decided to start the Zam-Buk treatment, and having first bathed the cut, I applied the healing balm. It soothed the pain almost instantly, and by next day there was a great improvement.

SUDDEN DEATH OF HOTEL MANAGER'S WIFE.

Mrs. E. W. Kappel, wife of the manager of Sea Side Park, died very suddenly in Berwick on Tuesday evening 5th inst. Mrs. Kappel has been an invalid for many years. On Monday she came from Harbourville to Berwick having arranged to spend the winter at the home of Mrs. Chute. She spent Tuesday quietly, resting from the exertion of the drive over the mountain road. About five o'clock, while conversing with Mrs. Chute, she complained of her heart and asked that a doctor might be summoned. Dr. McNally was at the house almost immediately but too late to be of any service. Mrs. Kappel had passed away.

Joker's Corner.*THE MESSAGE THAT FAILED

Dr. Melville Dewey, State Librarian of New York, said recently that libraries would do well to furnish free music rolls for player-pianos, just as they now furnish books.

"In Toledo," said Dr. Dewey the other day, "my project has been finally inaugurated. It will accomplish much for the musical art."

Then, apropos of music and ignorance, Dr. Dewey told a story.

"A certain Governor," he said, "was being lunched at a seaside town. During the repast the local band played on the beach outside the hotel. The drum was in charge of a blacksmith, and he beat it so resonantly that at last a message was sent out:

"The Governor requests the drummer to desist."

The bandmaster was puzzled by this message for a moment, then his face brightened in a smile, and he said:

"More drum, Joe; the Governor likes it."

THE BRIDE'S WARNING

The widower had just taken his fourth wife and was showing her around the village. Among the places visited was the churchyard, and the bride passed before a very elaborate tombstone that had been erected by the bridegroom. Being a little near sighted, she asked him to read the inscriptions, and in reverent tones he read:

"Here lies Susan, beloved wife of John Smith, and Jane beloved wife of John Smith, and Mary beloved wife of John Smith."

He paused abruptly and the bride, leaning forward to read the bottom line, read, to her horror:

"Be Ye Also Ready."

—Mrs. Greson who is head of her house, remarked one morning, to her husband:

"In five months from today we shall celebrate our silver wedding."

"Better wait five years longer," said her husband, in quiet desperation, "and then we can celebrate The Thirty Years' War."

"And," concluded the Sunday School teacher, "if you are a good boy, Tommy, you will go to Heaven and have a gold crown on your head."

"Not much," said Tommy, "I had one of them things put on a tooth once."

Everything Out.

A "cub" reporter was sent out by his city editor to cover a fire in the Back Bay district. Before he could reach the house the fire had been extinguished and the fire department gone. Nothing daunted, the reporter rang the bell of the house and soon was confronted by a servant girl.

"I wish to see Mr. Robinson," said the reporter, politely tipping his hat.

"He's out," tersely answered the servant.

"Is his wife at home?" asked the reporter.

"No; she's out too."

"Well," came back the reporter, "I understand you have a fire here."

"Oh, that's out, too," and the reporter went sadly away as the door slammed in his face.—Boston Traveler.

BALKED THE BULL.

Presence of Mind That Saved the Life of a Little Child.

A regiment of the German army resting in a country road was appalled to see a great bull madly pursuing a little child in a field near by and yet so far away that the child could not be reached in time to save it nor yet sated by the shooting of the animal.

The bull had no horns and the soldiers were horrified to see that another moment the child must be gored to death. For an instant no one seemed to know what to do, and then the drum major shouted to the buglers of the band, who stood near with their instruments in their hands, to sound a loud blast. They looked agitated.

"Sound, I say, for God's sake, to save the child!" repeated the drum major.

Then the buglers blew a blast at the top of their lungs. The drum major knew that animals of that species were so much affected by strange and high pitched musical sounds that they seemed compelled to imitate them. This bull proved to be no exception to the rule.

As soon as he heard the bugle blast he paused in his pursuit of the child, glanced toward the band, raised his head and began to bellow madly. The buglers kept up as high and discordant a tumult as they could, and meantime soldiers were running to the rescue of the child.

Before the bull had finished his attention to the bugles the child was in a place of safety.—New York Tribune.
