 Bex́d br (where chetre is none to be raken) the Chin, and cry Bobta, of \(12 i=\); that is, Futher or Brorher, acoording as thicif Age is And elis (htae many orher of their Ca(tomis), Appetis tö be very anciemt, and of a long ftand: inibit itt wotld: The Jews did formerly falure in this miafintr, aird Stcted Writ gives us Come Inftances of in There afe the Geftures in uife almongt them ; their commoth Forthis of Spétcti are various. The moft ordinary and fréquent is the Satinn; Sadam Allecum, and Allecum Sallam ; which is the Reply to the former, and both is as much 15,1 ìflk join peill. Somerimies as they pals along it is, I wifly geu the Prajers of ibe Poor ; or, Mry one Good aifter anothier cothe to you eviery biy: But the Complements of infriour People to thofe they have a dependance'upon, is, teat your Bread and your Salt; or, I am your Creature, and at joar difpofe.
We will now take a Vicw of cheir Houfes and Buildings. In gencral, their coinmon Buildings are nor extreamly fine and beztitiful; ihey don't affect to make fuch a Shiow with ftately Houres, as the Iralians, and other Europ̈edn's do. 'Tis true, there are Publick Edifices in india, as glorious perháps as any of the kind in the World; but 2 good part of their Towns and Cities, are but meanly built, and as poorly adorn'd. And one Reafon why thicy are no more folicitous about fine Houles, may be, becaufe they live out of them one part of the Year, and take up in Tents and Pavilions, crected here and there in the open. Fields, for the Pleafures of Huncing, and taking the cool Air. The mof of their private Houfes dont mount above two Story high, and are built with dat Roofs and Terraces, upon which they fit airing themfelves Morning and Evening, when the Sun (below their Horizon) gives them an opportunity of fo doing.
In their upper Rooms too, they have abundance of Doors all abour hem, and Lights made in the Walls, which are alwizjo free and open to tet in the Air upon thềio.
As for Glin- Nindows; there's no fuch thing known thingft them toeither have they any Chimneys in their Houfes, becaule they have litule or no ufe for Fire; they dont need iti to warm them, for the Sum does thar fufficifinly ; and there is fo litile 2 part of their ordinary Fare that needs Fire to drefs it, that 'tis not worth white to makéa Chińńéy for's; and therefore, if ar any time they have an occation, they make a froall Fire withour Doors; dgaint fome Stone-Wall, or Bank of Earth, as far from their Habitations as chey can with convenience.
Thér Marerials for Building, are Timber, Brick, and Stoine; fomecimes (as in the Vaults and Arches of their Motques and Sepulchires), wirtr Marble of divers tinds and colours, and here the Work is coftly and farely roo. In many places they planr grear Atore of Trees abour their Houfes, which Keep shem cool and fhady, tho' it fpoils the Prótecit where the Buildings are any thing neat and worth a fecing: Thusari, Amedeoar (a large and populous City, and builtall of Brick), the Trees ftand fo thick and Gole that a Ma wou'd rather think he were entring 2 Wood than a City. And then in atl trading Towns and Cities joyning on to the Houfes are certain Sheds or Stalls, where they make a mow of their Commodities, and fell at thofe pars of the Day that they are not at the püblick Márket.
Thü much for the outlde; but before we go quire away, we may ake 2 fhorr View of Things within Doors And this indeed can be bur horr; becaufe there is genesallÿ büt a fanall miater ra be look'd upon. Their Rooms are not adorn'd wirt fine Hangings, fuinif'd with Chairs, Stools Beds, and Couches; they paint their, Walls teatly, and that ferves inftead of Tapeftry, and fpread rich Cappets upon the Floor, which is both Bed, Table, Chair, and Stool wo them. Some of them perhaps will lie upon \(\dot{4}\) hard Quilt, or elfe a low thing (they call a Cort like a Beiffead, and botiom'd with Cotron-Ctoth.;- a great many of which are made to be movid up and down with Kopes thar their Servants may rock shem to lleep in them. Wat where-eyer they lie; they lie withour Pillow or Bol Ler, freech'd out as full learth, and level witt the Horizon - Wirhour any thing of Govering roo, but a thin Catlico Veil friead alt over them, fo that they look like fo many dead Corps laid our ready for che Puneral Rites, The moft remarkable of their Publick Buildings for Civit USe and Service, are the Serraies for the Encertinment of Paffengers, and the Tanks or Ponds. Thefe Tanks are cut out in lome very low places, so bake in a good parcil of Water ar the time the Rains fall, for thie Savice of the neighibouring poptious places, when the dry Seaforioomes upop them, They are fome of them very large and deit, 2. Mile and morein compansf furrotinded with good Sto heWatls, furnifid with Steps to go down into them, and

Well pared ar the botiom. they are cleansid every xear before the Rains begin, and then they are filjd for all the fuccócding part of the Year, and the Peopie our of thele may have a Supply till the Rains come abour again. In the fratdens likewife they have very ufuatly Tanks of a lefter fize for the Plearores of Baxhing and Swimming, and thefeare fed with Warcr convec'd through certain Canals from Wells that are in fome of the more elevated Ground of their Gardens. And here indeed is the heighth of all the Pleafure thar belongs to them; bere they have delicare Fruits, fine Shades, fweer cool Warer, airy Walks atid Bowers, and a charming Profpect of wild Nature (and Art topether) that is far beyond all the Pomp and Splendout of a Palace.
And tho here one migbt well imagine chem to bave their Sport Diverfion enough, yet they find ocher Recreátions befides and Rectea thofe their (weet Gardens afford them : Hunting and cions.
Hawking are very common Sports atrongtt them, having (befides other wilder Gatne) Hares and Deer cmough for the one, and plenty of Partridge, Ducks, Quails, Pigcons, (anid moft forts of Fowl), for che orher of thofe Paftimes. 'Tis oblerv'd of the Huncing-Dags of this Country (which are of a make like our Greyhounds, but much lefs), that they never open when they are in purfuit of any Game.
They have alfo Leopards, that they breed up forSporr, and ride abroad with for that purpore ; thefe are wonderful nimble. Crearures, and will leap a prodigious way, in which manner 'tis that they always fize their Prey; they don't ran, but jump upon the Animal they have in chave; and if they once do that, they make a fure Prifo ner cn't, be it whar it will, and-there's no jumping away again out of their Clarches. again out of their Clarches.
Another of thcir Recreations is the raking of Wild Fowl thar ufe the Water. They take onc of thofe Fowl dead, and go inro the Water with it, and hold is uprighr, as if twere alive and fwimming; bur they chemfelves lic all under Water, and have nothing bur juft their Head in Gight: Then they make a Noire exactly like the Natnral Tone of char Fowl, which bringsthe reft in a great Flock about them, and forthey carch them by the Legs, and pull them down under Water; by which means they are made me enoutgh.
At other cimes shey divert themfelves with riding their Gine managed Elephans and Horfes; with thooting with Skir Gans, Bows and Arrows, and this chey do with great Skill and Dexcerity; they are fomething long a raking their Aim, bur they floor trac, and feldom mist the Mark.
Some People of Quality, and orthers thar are for more Sute and Show in their Diverfions, go abour airing themelves in their Coaches and Palankees. The Palankees are made almoft like a Couch or Pallat-Bed, Aeltred with 2 fine Canopy, and long enough for a Man to lie ar fill tirecch in them, and in this pofture do the Grandeesplace themfelves in them, and fo are curried about upon Mens Shoulders. Their Coaches have only two Whiels, the topand back of chem is cover'd, but the forepart and fides always open; unlefs they carty Women, in which cafe they are made up very clofe. They willhold four People withour Crowding; bur two may lie in Quiles as fall length in them (as they often do in their Jonineys), For the drawing of them aling, they nfe only the Service of Oren (one Pair to a Coach), and chele bare their Horns nearly tipp'd with Silver, and a Colar of large Bells of the fame Meral abour their Necks.: Their Hamelsisonfy 2 fanall Cord thar goes through the Partition of their No. frils, and to ap between their Horns into the Cozachman's Hand, who by this means guides incm as eafly and Gurely as with the ftrongeft Rcidsof Leather. ThefeOxen being admirably well fed (as they alwaysare) well mod roo, will carry them twenty Mile in a litule time: They Ere train'd up to the Work, and by continall Ufe and Exercife tis as narural to them asto our Horfes.
What for of Soldiersthefe People(the mont part of them) make, we have hinted tefore-; bur we have nor ger feen bow they are accontred: Now they are admirably well provided for the War; tho' not at all fix-for't their Furnuture is incomparibly beyond sheir Courage. To fee whati a verrible Figure they make a Harfeback with fuch a. Load of Weapons as they carry, when jiclime a Perion (unacquainoed wish them), to think their very Alpect would ger chem a Vietory. Bui chear Character ar beft, strut so make a furious Onfet, and then ritire as hatitiy Fo: advarice bristty, and fatad one Shock, and then if cheir Eacmies don't ran, to pat-2t end to the Difyure by rining themfelves;
They have alt forss of Werpons that canalinolt bey Thic wee choughr of, bar had whey fewer, thoold be more than poos ther uff s they are like their Wortiens Nofe-Jevets anti Pendancs, hang on for Ormament and Show more than

A 2
Service.

Service. To the complere drefling of a Soldier, there oes 2 Bowr and Qniver of Aitrows, a Sword ahd Bucklet; a thoft Laupce; a Faulchion, Firé-Arms, and white not ?
For Mariar Mufict they have KeiriceDrums arid a fort of WindaMufick, that makes a moft harlh fighoful Noife; which if it would bur feare away their Enemies, would be a confiderable help to them:
Their greareft Surength and Security lies in their Eliephants: For thele, with the Guns upon their Backs, do as much Execurion as all the Soldiers befides. The WarElephants carry each of them one of thefe Guns faiftned in 2 ftrong Friame of Wood, in which alfo is form'd 2 place for the Gunner ; who firs faft enough there), rill fome unlucky Shor from the Enemy comes, and bears Elephanr, Caftle, and Gunner, all down rogecher. Thefe Fieces are about five Foor long, and throw a Bullet about the bignefs of a Tennis-Ball.

As for the vaft Numbers of Men this Coinnry is able to fer our in an Army, it may be eafly imagin'd from the large Dimenfions of it; be that confiders how many fpacious Provinces the Great Mogul is Mafter of, will quickly conclude that he is capable of making a formidable appearance in the Field. And yet his grear Numbers would fignifie litule, had he rot betrer Soldiers in Pay than the grearct part of his own Narural Subjeets are; bartic is To wife as to take in Perfans and Tartars, fome of the belt Horfemen in the World, and that will charge chrough any thing that lies in their way. Thefe do all the bot Service in his Wars, and could he have enough of them, his Neighbour-Princes would ftand in more awe of him than they do. Bur he holds none of the beft Correfpondences with thofe two mighty Countries that border upon him (Perfia and Tarten) they are borh very jealous of his growing Power and Greamels, and therefore in Policy wil not conuibure to the increale of it.
The Perfien fomerimes courts him (when he wants Mo ncy), and efpecially. when he is engaged in 2 War wirh the Turk; then he carefles the Great Mogul, to make fure of his Neurrality (ax leaft), if nor of his Affatince; for twould be a dangerons thing to live berween two fuch porent Enemies as they are, and be diftreffed by boch of chem together.
As for the Tartars, they neither coinr nor value him, but ftand upon their Goard, and keep their Councry to chemfelves; chey neirher converfe witithim; nor fend Embaffadors to him, tho he calls himicif, tie Succeffor of Tamerlane, the mighry Founder of their Empire: Pertaps they don't think him fo (tho his Family was originally Tartarian!, and wor't give that Tirle, where chey beliece cheir Emperors high Blood is not to be forind. Bat iow upon thefe Accounts, his Supplies of Soldiers from Perfer and Tartar, canmot be rery large; ther mult be-moftly 2 fort of Deferters, frch as come away by ftealth from their own Native Coumrys, and upon the alinerment of Noble Pay: Their refpective Princes (the jealous Tariars ar leaft for cerrainh, would never fend their own brave Troops to increafe the ftrength of a mighry Neighbour, thar is alrcady but 100 formidable to them.
The Genuine Language of this Conntry, (vir the Ind: and bringing their Writings into their own Language, and beftowing large Commenss upon thim. Arijfotle (as well as EucFad, Prolemy, and others) had this Honiour done him by the Arabians, to be made to Spcak Arcibich; the Uni: verfal Language of the Mabometan World; when the Reputation of his own Native Greek was funk, and could have carried him but a ligle way:. Thus twas that he came into thefe parss; tho the Inidicn Doctors krow bu: litite of him, and han't taken the Pains to write quite fo many Folio's of Comments tponhim, as the Popin Schoolmen have done.
Neither hias Phyfick gor much more ground in the Counrry than Philofophy: Thete are very few that apply themfelves to thatStudy, becaufe the People generaily think a Doctor worfe than a Difternper; counting th: former certain Death, whereas the latecr by it ferf yives chem a chance for their Lives. In all the formiuable D; cafes that rage there (Peftilence, Calcntures, burnitr Fevers, \(\xi^{\circ}\).) very few make any ufe of a Phyfician, but pertiap's prefcribe fome flight thing rhemiclves, and leave the teft to the Conduct of Nature. Their beft and mot conftant Phyfick is to faft luftily, and farve away the Diftemper; if this (and fomerimes brearhing a Vein) won't do, they give up the Cafe as incurable, and expect their Fite.
But they have abundantly more Skill and Knowledge in Judicial Aftroiogy; that Noble Science, that ftand upon fuch firre and certain Principles, and is all over D:monftrarion: In which, borh parss of a Conrradiation may appear equally clear and probable, and when one Man predias an Event, another may turn his Prediction opfide dowin, fay ir all backwards, and yer foeak as much Truth and Sence as the former. There is a good Stock of Profeffors of this profound fort of Learning amongit the Indiens; Men that will preach Scientifically npon Weather, Fortunes, and Conftitations, andifertle the Point of the Dteminion of the Plarecs over all the Parts of the Body, as confidendy as if God Almighty had witren their Names there.
\(\because\) Thefe have the Fortefe to be in more Kicpute there, than they are generally in the Chriftian World; for the Great Mogul. will underrake no Bufincts of Confequence, till the College of Aftrologers has been fer to Conjuring upon't.
Thus the Grand Scignior too, in the weighry Matters of Faith and Religion, confults the Vcnerable Mufti, and makes him give his Opinion; bur if his Verdie does ncr fait the Prince's Humour, upan Sccond Thoughrs, hecan bring in-a contrary one, and joflife it to be true by they Alcorin : And if the Mogul were bur pofitive, he might rale the Judgment of his Aftrologers, as well as the Turk the Conlcience of his Muffi. The Plances, no doubr; with good Scolding and Hufing, would be as tame and manageable things as the Alcoran. However, to do the Cclefial Science juftice, ir muft be own'd there are fome Theorcans belonging to'r, that are moft cercainly true; nay, fuch: as carry their own light and Evidence along with them: For inftance. 'ris clear and certain, that all Cuckolds are under the Dominion of Aries or Taurns ; ris no marter which of them, for the Signanure of the Horns is an undeniable demontration.
And Mercury has as cvident a Titie to the Forrune-cdlers, and Aftrologers ; becaufe Men born under thar Planer, are always very honeft, and never Chear nor tell Lies.

But to procued in the Account of the Sciences in India; befides thefe Horofopers, and prefaging People, they have another fort amongt them, that are rery near a-kin to them, and thefe are the Legerdemain-Men, HocusPccus's, and Mountebanks; they are all to be chrown into the fame Family with the former, fince they are alt cqually Jugglers Thefe Fellows will teach Snakes and Vipers :o dance to the Tunes they play, and get Money by fhewing Hat fort to the People. You thall fee them fet three or four broad Wicker-Baskets down npon the Ground, with nothing at all in the World in them, (ar leaft if your own Eyes are to be ciedited after a Search), and prefently clofe them up before your Face, and then pulling of the Corcrs of them, thew them full of Turrie-Doves, or fome other living Creatures, that one would think too big, to be cter conceal'd by any flight wharfoever: Then they'll whirl thofe Baskess round (cover'd as they are) and ye Doves are gone our of fight; but how or which way, none but the Hocus Rocus himfelf can tell.
And weare now come to the top of the Leaming of this Country, having reach'd Aftrology, and Legerdemain; we maft defeend therefore from thefe Heights to Marcers of ailefs fublime Nature and Confideration.

The Intiabizans, as they are divided in their Principles and Religion; fo from chence fpring a Difference in their Compreation of Time: The Mabomotans (accotding to go and pull a Rope, and fet ihe Golden Bells a chimine the eftablin'd Practice of their Sect) begin their Year with the Tenth of March, when the Aftrologers tell them the Sun epress Aries. The Findoes (proceeding upon toher Reafons) reckon their Year, from the firt Day of the fame Month; Co that there is ten Days difference in tounting bexwixe them.

The Mabometans again divide their Year into thirteen Mouns, and 'ris according to chis. Divifion that they dare Letrers, Payments, and all Accounts belonging to Trade. But as for the Hindoes, they feem racher to make twelve Months of the Year than zhirteen Moons, excepr perhaps that they may upon occafion alter their Compuration when they deal with the Mabometans that ufe another Stile. But neither Hindoes, nor-Malomerans, have any Clocks or Sun-Dials amongt therr, to give them a trae and regular Account how the Time paffes. Indeed, as for Sun-Diast; 'tis no fuch grear wonder, fince there's no Aftronomy in the whole Councry, nor none that culivare any of thofe Sciences: But that fo ingenious a People as the Indiens are, fo full of neat and fine Devices in other Matters, fhould have nothing like a Clock, is fomething Atrange. They divide the Day into Four, and the Nighr into as many parts, and each of there Quarters they fubdivide into Eight parts more; and for the Meafure of there Parts of Time, they ufe the moft ancient Device of a parcel of Wazcr dropping out of one (Veffel into anocher; and then a Man ftands always by to fill the Veffel as often as'ris empried, and to ftrike with a Hammer upon a Brafs or Copper-pan, to let them know the number of the Pores or Grees that have pals'd; thar is, the Fourth or Eighth Parts before-mencion'd. What a Bungle of an Invencion is this, inftead of a Clock? And what a wonder is it, that a People that have Fancy enough to think of to many pretty thingsas they have thewn the World, fhould never by a better Conerivance remove this Scandal to cheir Ingenuige:
The Con-turion of the Government in this Cotuncry, is much the fame thar 'tis in all the Eaftern Nations; ab folure and arbitrary; and the Repofitory of their Laws the fame, the Breatt of the Ruling Monarch. There are certain Cuftoms, which Antiquiry, and the General Practice of the Country, have in a manner given the Force and Aurhority of Laws to; but the Prince's Power fers him abore them all, and chey are liable to the fame Alterations that his Will and Humour is. There's nothing of a folemn written Law, or ftated Plarform of Government \({ }^{\text {to }}\) befornd ; every Prince that mounts the Throne with 2 Sic oolo, fie juben, rells what Laws hall be during his Reign. And the long Sword the Monarchs of this Country wear, will juftifie them in this way of proceeding ; 'ris in vain for any Man to be uncafic or difcontented, or prerend to difpure the Reaforablencls of the Prince's Will when the Prince carries fuch a powerful compelling Reafon by his fide, that will prefencly cut down all the Rebellious Logick of his-Subjects.
For the ordinary Adminittration of Juftice, there are two forts of Judges appointed; the one for Civil, and the other for Criminal Caics; and thefe never inrermeddle with the proper Affairs of each cther's Prorinces, nor mix or exchange Works. But the Prince very frequendy fers his own Hand to this Affair, and acts the parr of a Judge himelf: For this purpole, at a let-rime every Day, he repairs to the Great Councii-Hall, or fome Place where he fhews himfelf in publick to the Pcople ; and places himelf in his. Throne, all his Nobles ftanding in Kanks abour him, according to their refpective Degrees. And here he hears Caules, determines Controverfies, does Jufice, and orders Difpacches of Publick Bufinefs. His meaneft Subjects have free and cafie Accefs to him; they are pariently heard whatcerer Complainss they have to make; and as furely righted in any Cafe of Injuftice or Oppreffion, tho the Criminal be the greateft Man in the Empire. And it muft be own'd, that the Government in this refpect is highly commendable, for irs exceeding Mild nefs and Eafinets, towards all forts of griev'd and burden'd Perfons.
If a Man firds himfelf opprefs'd, he has no more to do but to go away to his Prince, and demand Inftice. Here's no need of courring Minifters of State, of 'racaking and cringing to this and the other Grear Man; nor of feeing and bribing corrupt Officers to bring on a. Caufe, and procure a Man his Righr. There's no nced of a Golden Key to opin the Doors of Courts, and the Mourts of Advocares: Juftice has fer, and keeps every Door wide open, thar all the Wrong'd and Injured may go in; an empry Purfe is nor refus di nor inut our, nor Poverty Browbeaten and deppis'd. The Plaindiff; whatever he be, may introduce himfelf to the King's Speech and Prefence, by giving the appointed Notice of his Bufinels. He need but which as foon as ever the King hears, the Perfon that gave the Alarm is fenr for in \(\operatorname{si}\) and his, Cale ers no foonet rold chan confiderd, nor coofiderd and weigh'd tignRighr is done, 2 nd the Batden raken off A Caufe dons not rant in fufpence here for five or fix Months together: nor is it tofs'd abour from one Court to another, while the hungry Managers are doing their own another, whine the upon the Effects of it. If a Man'sCanle be bur juft: be is rure to come to a fudden and fpeedy emd of his Trouble.
And in Capiral Cales Juftice furprizes the Offender as Loon, and is as quick in procceding to Execurion, as ir is on the other fide, in affercing and fecuring the Rights of the Oppreffed
Very few Malefactors lie a Nighr in Prifon, but node lie more; if a Man be brought before his Judge in the Morning, heisinfallibly clear'd or execured before Nighr: As foon as the Fact is proved, the Punifhment is inflicted; If Stripes or Whipping, tis done upon the foor; but if Death, he is lead away to the Bazar, and fuffers immedin arely. Now this round and quick Joftice helps to kecp the People wonderfully in awe, and they are not fo forward ro commit thofe very heinous Crimes, the Stains of which they know they mult prefently walh away with their Blood.

Murder and Thefr are always punifh'd with Death, Their Exti. and what forr of Dearh too the Jodge pleafes: Sometimes ris Hanging, Beheading, Impaling, to be torn by Lions, or crufh by Elcphants, or ftung to Death by venomous Creartires.
This lanter Dearh the Great Mogul condemn'd a certain Parricide ro, and had Exccurion done in his own Preferice, when Sir Tioo. Rep was at his Court. The wretched Crea rure was fripp'd ftark naked, and the Mountebank ha ring provok'd one of his huge Snakes, applied it to his Thigh; abour which it prefén! twited if felf, and faft aing upon his Groin, bif him there, the Blood immediare y following ; another was fixd opon the ourfide of his other Thigh, and bithim there likewife, after which two Wounds he kept ppon his Legs for near 2 . Quarter of an Hour, and then drop'd, tho' the Smakes orere raken from him before he fell: His whole Body fuvellid exireamly and whife his Sencecontinued, he cried out of a Fire that raged in every part: but by that time half an. Hour more was expired he munefr did fo, and had his Flame guench'd by cold Death
In all Cares of Suins, Debis Contracts, and other Di pures of Right besween Man and Man, the obnoxions Parry is arrefted by the Judges Officers, and broughr ro the Bar together with his Sureties, (if there be any in the Cafe) and there he is inder a neceflity of giving fpeedy and fufficient Sarisfaction: The Prifon, and a heary Load of Irons is his Fare if tie does nor, and fomerimes infolvent Debtors, with their whole Families, are fold for Slaves to pay the Creditors.
Tis a picce of Policy conftantly practifed by the Mo policies ufed narchs of this Country, to remove and hiff their Gover- by the Griat aours pretty ofen from one place'to anorher. Very few Gowernment ftay in one place longer than a Ycar, tho' they have all the Qualifications that can be to recommend them, and difcharge their Truft ever fo acceptably. This is to pre ent their growing grear and popular, and the Difturbances that might poffibly arife, from the Peoples excefive doaring upon, and fondnefs for their Governours: Tho' the greateft part of them behave themfelves fo, that the Prince need not break his Reft, nor fear a Rebellion for their akes.
When they are any of them difparchd to Governments abroad, 'tis a Cuftom with them not to cur their Hair till Cuftom of hey come to Court again; and therefore upon their re- rectiving the tum, the King as' foon as he fees'rhem, bids them cur thar tave their. Hair. And thofe that have been in places of Great been abroad Truft and Confequence, which they have difcharged with Honour and Integrity, are receiv'dat. Court with a vatt deal of Ceremony, and the World is made to know at that time, how highly they ate in their Sovereign's Favour. The whole Court is fummon'd together upon the occaficn: The Prince in his Throne, and the reff of the Nobles in their refpective ftations are ieady to bid. him Weicome. Then comes che happy Favourire, led in by fome of the greateft Officers of the Empire; and having proftrated himfelf once at the ourward Rails, he repents the fame Reverençe twrice more, in his' approach to the King. Being near, be is commanded to come up the Even Steps of the Throne: within the reach of his Prince's Embraces, who then takes him in his Arms and hugs him with a charming familiarity before the whole Afenbly. Afrer this Carels is over, and fome words perliais fitoken n' his Commendation; the goes down again, and takes his appointed place among the reft of the Grandees.

A 2

On the other had, if a Marithasten ardy in the dif charge of hisOFices ghd cometo Court in Difgrace; 9 frecially ifany verypopolfy Crimes are laia to his charge; his Byestre entertinn 't with Frowns' and feornful Looks, and fist Ears filld with che Noife and Clinnorof the Pcople calling ourfor Jtiticeagainft him as the paffes along: He comes into his Prince's Prefence to hear the Reproaches which his Crime deferves, and ftays there no longer than rill a definitive Sermence (whatever ir be) is pafsd upon him.' And 'tis well for thofe that either manage their Bu: finefs fo as not to let things come to this pafs, or effe by the Intereft of a ftrong Party at Court, can diverr the Prince from a too fevere Impection into their Conduct: For as the Government is horribly rigorous in all Cares of Uncruftinefs and Difregard to the Prince's Incereft (which are the grearct Crimes here, as well as in other places), fo is often proceeds without any thing of clear proof of Matrer of Fact, and takes awayz Man's Life upon a meer fufpicion or conjecture.

All the Subjects of chis Empire depend immediarcly opon the Prince for whar they poffefs and enjoy: There's no fuch thing as land of Inheritance, Property, and Suc-ceffoon to an Eftare; every Man is a Tenarr ar Will, and ceff:on to an Eftare; every Man is a Tenarr ar Will, and holds all upon the precarious ancerrain Titte of Humour and Plearure.
When a Noble-man, Vice-Roy, or Tributary dies,' 'ris very common for all his Treafare and Goods to be feiz'd; and if the King pleafes to allow any part to the Son, or nearef Relations, 'tisa Favour; otherwife it goes into his own Coffers, and he himfelf is the Heir. This is alvays the way of dealing with Penfioners,and all that receive CourtPay; the King lends themMoney for their Lifi-cime, and pays himfelf when they dic,Intereft and Principal tögecher. Nay, many times, a Man outlives his Forrune and good Circumftances in the World ; for if hebe faulty and negirigent, or grows popalar and fofpected, his Ettate to be lure goes for't, and he faves his Head, by the lofs of his Lands.

A good Mafs of Wealth roo, or a far profimble Living is a dangerous thing under thefe arbiirary Princes; 'tis ten to one, if fome Fanlt ben'r difooverd in the Conduct of fuch a Perfor; fome occafion ftazted for his remove, or pretence found to purge him a litde of his Saperfairies. Rich Lands and Livings do often go zwoy thits out of the Hands of thofe that are plac'd in them, when the King Ends they thrive there; for what's good for the Snbjects, is good for the Prince, and whar makes them rich, "won't make him poor.

If any Man has a Jewel of confiderable fize, beainty, or finenefs, be is obliged apon pain of Death to gire Notice at Court, that the King may have the refulal of it. And there is hardly any valuable Stone in the whole Coun' try, bor what by means of this fevere Law; comes into his hands. He keeps Guard every-where, and fias Spies upon all Mens Trade and Dealings, To that 'tis next ro impofible any thing thou'd fcape him. But then he is as abfolure in his Bargains, as he is in every thing elfe, and gives juft what he thinks fir ; and that is moft commonly about a third part of the intrinfick value.
Now this being the Srate of Affairs in the Country, the Prince thus arbiorary and rigorous in the exercife of a boundlefs Prerogative, thefe two things do unavoidably follcw upon it. Firft of all, a deal of bafe fervile Flatrery in his Subjects; they admire his wortt and fouleft AQions, praife his fillieft and moft impertinenr Speeches; he can neither do nor fay any thing, but what chey'll trace our the Footteps of fome excellent Vertue in. Another Confequence is, That all they that are in good profirable places, do live as faft as ever they can, while they are in them. They fpend freely, and enjoy themiclres to the nemoft height of their Incomes; they know the Prince takes all ar laft, and therefore endeavour ro leave him as I:tric as they can. As much as they flater and adore him, they won't live meanly and fordidly for his fake : For to what purpofe would it be to rake and fcrape, to fave fo rrany Servants Wages, or bate fo many Dithes of Mear at their Tables, and all to make up a bigger Purfe for him ? They had better by far take their Shares (as they do, withour mincing the matrer), and fo refign the reft when they cin hold ir no longer. To board and lay up for a Family has fome Comfort in't ; but ro do it for a covetous Prince; that will perhaps ftarve thofe that are Fefr behind, is a very dull and heartefs Work.
The Nobility mind their other Titles of Honour, as tharof Mirza fora General, \(\mathrm{Om}_{\mathrm{ma}}\) for a Captain, cr fome inferiour Commander, and the like. Bit the main thing by which the Grear Men in this Country are diftinguifh'd, is the Number of Horfe which they have under their Conmand. The higheft number of all is 12000 , and there are but four in the whole Empire that have fo many. Others have lefs and lefs, in proporrion ro their Quality, Merits, or the King's Favour; the leift and loweft of all, is he that commands twenty Horle, who perhaps is no more than an Omra or fome common Gentleman. Now thefe Perfons are all compre- Trix \(x_{4}\) Mended under che general Title of Manfibdars, that is, Men of LordMips, or Livings, becaufe they hare all of then cercain Livings affigned them; vur of the Revenues of. which they are obliged to mainzain and furnifh out (upon occafion) their feveral Quora's of Horfc. And by rhis means an Army of 200000 . Horfe is got rogether in a trice, and that withour any great matrer of hurry ard crouble; for every Commander knows whar proportion is expected from him; and not only fo, but allo where to go and raile his Men, who are maintain'd our of hisLordthip, and ready at an Hour's warning.
This Policy is much the farne with that of the Turks in their Timariors, who our of certain Lands allorted to them, maintain every one fo many Horfe (as thefe-Indicm Manfibdars do).: And thefe Men live nobly cur of their Lordithips, efpecially thofe whofe Numiters of Horfe rife high, and their Lands confequently large in proportion; wome of them of 6 or 8000 Horfe, are faid to make in worth no lefs then 70 cr 80000 \%. per Annum; and thofe. that are higher have above roooco; upon which account, we need not frruple faying, that the Indian Manfibdars of the firft Rank, are the richeft Subjects in the whole World.
Bur by what was oblerv'd before, thid Money in this Counrry does not lie fill ; there's a conflant and neierfailing Circulation of thefe Golden Streims, they rua from the Country to the Manfibdars, and frem them directly away, inro the valt Ocean of the \(: M=g u l\) 's Treafaries
And:now after all this Difcourfe of the Country, and he People; before we leave it, we maft rake a thor View of the Prince and his Court, and the Cuftoms peculiar thereto.
That this Morarch is to be rank'd amongt the very Truphid greateft of the Univerfe, will be granted withont diff- bis pit colty, if we confider how much Ground he is I ord of, and the vaft Riches thar Nature, Fortune, Policy and Trade, do all porr in upon him. The Dimenfions of his Country are confider'd already; and fome of thofe Foontains of his Wealch touch'd r.pen too. We have feen how the Policy of his Government concributes to his growth in this refpect, fince that makes him Mafter of all the Treafures of his richeft Subjects. Tradealfo brings him in the Coin and Commodities of Forcign Nations, and all Moneys that come in here, are buried here, being never fuffer'd to be carried our again. Succels and Fortune in his Wars, have ftill cnlarg'd his Treafures together with his Teiritorics; his Vieforious Arms carrying all before them in Decan, and the adjoyning Countries; bring him in all the Riches of thofe parts; and tis very well known, that no part of the World is more cxiravagantly rich in the richeft of Jewels, as well as of Mcrals (Liamonds and Gold), than that Porticn of the Indicil Conrinent. And whatNature contributes, is nor kc fs than any of the former. No Country perhaps in the World is more nobly endowed than his; there's no where a more ferrile luxuriant Soil, a happier State and Conftitution of the Earth, than in the moft conflemable parts of his Dominions. And befides thas Fruiffulncis of is that more immediarely ferrcs the Conteniencies of Human life; there are few (if any) that go bevond is, in all thofe Productions thar anfwer the ends of Pomp and Omament. The Funds of Goid and Silver that lie under Gıound, are a!moft innumerable and inexhauftible: And Jewels are Natives of this Country too, as well as of chofe thar the Fortune of War has made eribucary to it.
But to defcend a litrle more to particulars, and that from the Accounts of his Revenues, and cther Richesthat are registred in the Caftle of Agra. The Income of his Crown-L ands is reckond to amount to 50 Crous of Ronpies per Annum. Now every. Crou is 100 Lecks, and every Leck is 100000 Roupies; and taking the lowelt valuc of a Roxpie at 2 's. of cur Money, this comes to 2 Sum thar will enable a Man to live pretty comfortably in the Worid, and keep a toierably genteel and handiome Table.
But then the 1 reafures in Jewels and Moncy that lie dead by him, are no lels furprifing than the former : He has feven fair Caitles thar are reauliany defigned to be the Receptacles. of them; and what there contain is hardly known exa Guardians of chem.
So many Crous of all forts of Gold and Silver Coin, fomany *.Barmans of Diamonds, Emeraulds, Rubies and Pearl; the Jewels of the lefs valuable kinds, lying by in heaps withour number or meafure. Then his Pearls and Jewels thar are inChains andRopes, Cups form'd our of folid pieces of Precious Stone, Dimes, Bafons, Beakers of maflie Gold; in thorr all forts of Furnit: re fora Patace, for Horfes, for Elephants, and for Men; eirher all enrire, or as far as the nature of the thing will admic, of the pureft Gold, and bedeck'd with the finelt Gems of India and other parts. To reckon up allthe Vatiecies of his contly things, and the Sum of that valt Mals of Wealch he is pofferfed of, a Man had need vifir the feren Caftles, and be in fee with the Keepers for a fight of all.
This Prince's Atrendance is very large and ftately, and When he goes a Progrefs there is a 100000 Sonldien for a Guard; then all the Slaves and Servants of the Grandees, his own inferiour Officers and Waiters, with the mighry train of Attendants on his Women (which always compole a part of the Leskar) all pur together make up very near 200000. The Guard thar is immediately abouthis Perfon, are a forr of Horfe-men calld Haddics, to che number of about five or fix thoufand; befides which, the meaneft of his Houmbold Servanus, thofe thar are in the Gardens, Kirchin, Stables, and Armorie, are reckon'd 36000 ; and they have their Monthly Pay out of the Treafury from three to ren Kupiesa piece.
Afterall (as a part of the Court roo) we ought not to forger the orher Animals that belong to it, which are kepr there partiy for Ufe and Service, and parrly for sport and Pleaiure.
There ared me thoufands of finging Birds, that are maintain'd for the fake of their Mufick; and as many that are formame and Prey.
Of Bíats wild and tame, there are Deer, Buffalos, Dogs, Ounces, Camels, Dromedaries, Elephancs, Lions, &cc. Bur the mott remarkable of all are his Ele phants, of which he keeps feveral Thoufands, bur 300 of themparticulariy are ftil'd the Royal Elephants; they arecalld fo becaufe the King rides upon them, bur their Splend:d Friniture and Noble Feeding would give them that Title withour the other Reafon. Now from this Account 'ris manifeft that the Great Mogui's daily expencescannot be fmall and inconfiderable. Here is a large and numerous Family; and fo many Belies of Beafts and Men will nor befilled with a litcle. And therefore if his Domeftick Accounts be fairly atated, and the Officers don't chear him in theirlong Bills; he ipends every Day within the Limits of his Court (taking in the Seraglio of the Women toc) the Sum of 8cooo Kupies.
This Grear Prince divides his Day into feveral parts, to each of which he allots its peculiar Bufinefs and Employment. As foon as the Day breaks he rifes to cheDevotion ; Religion is his Breakfatt, wharerex impure Meals be makes afeerwards. After this he goes forth to receive the Salamets and Good Morrows of the Pcople, thar crovd about his Lodgings in valt malnitudes; which Ceremony ended he recires into a Dormitory, and repofes himfelf till his dining time comes. His time after Dinner is divided between lits Women and his publick Sports, the one or both of which entertains him rill three or four of the Clock; ar which cime he begins to think of doing Bufinefs, and obeying the Call of Affairs of Sare. 'Bur'cisa part of his daily work too to furvey his Wealth, and uumble over all his rich things. His whole mighry Srock is divided into 360 parts, each of which are viewed by him incheir order, and fo that parcel which hefecs to Day, he fees not again till this time Twelre-Month. . Selim Sba was fo exact ar this, and by often reviewing had gotten fo perfect a Knowledge of all his Moveables, that the leatt tritte could not be wanting, but he would prefently find our the Lofs.
- He coce mids'd a little Crina Cup (amongft all the thoufands of that fort of Utenfils chat he had by him) and finding itwas broke, he cail'd for the Noble-man thar had the Charge on's, and having drubb'd him ro dcarh alinof, fent him away inzo Cbina to look another. And. sotonly fo, but commanded him never toprefume to fee his Facc, rill he had found out the fullow on 5 , wherever he went fort, and whateverit cofthim. Here was a Man banifh'd from Cours, depriv'd of his Prince's Earour, very near crippled, and engaged in fourteen or fifreen. Monchs ravel, and all for a Clina Cup; a plain Proof cnough how litule thefe haught; Monarches value the Happincls, Life or Limbs of aMan, in comparifon with ary thing that pleafes their uwn unreafonable Humour.: After problick Bufinefs, the Mogul, fills up his Day, partly with Devocions and party with Sports and Enrertainments. He Prays, and Drinks, Lees, His, Elephants fighr, looks over his Beafts. wild aed tame, and makes up the number himelf. He pours in good Liquors, and chaws Opium till the World runs round with him apace, and then he faysand does a muliciude of fine things, which areall recorded by the Scribes tian fit about him. Theef Pen-men pur down every thing that is acted or fpoken by.him, drunk or fober; all his Vifirs to his Women, and even chofe to the Neceffary —ure ree down; 2 noble piece of Chronology, a very fweer and cleanly Hlittory! But fuch is the Cuftom of the Country, and thefe Indiax Monarchs will have cheir Livesexactly writuen; and'tis pity but they fhould, fince they are fo fond of it; tho the fucceeding Princes will hardly want the Examples of thofe chat went before then, oimtigate then to che practice of feveral of thofe things that are recorded.
There are two Feafts efpecially, which this Prince and Featt ob: Courtoblerve with very great Solemniry; the one ar the ferved witio coming in of the New Year, which lafts about 18 Days, the grearet thro all which time the Court appears in iss ucmoff Comaity ad Splendour and Glory
In fome fpacious open place there's a Tent pirched which. with the Screens that are rais'd about it; rakes up ar leaft two Acres in Compass. How wonderful this Tent is boch infide and ourfidefor Beauty and Riches, 'tis in rain to precend to defcribe; 'tis enough to fay 'tis fur: That of the nithed thar Day for the extraordinaryEntertainment of the New-Yeri. Grear Mcgul.Round abour this(and theAppurenances of it) are pitoh'd the Tents of the Grandees, which rake up five or fix Acres more, and almogether caft fuch a dazling luftre, thara Man would almoft expect to find celeftial Inhabitanes inManfions foBrighit andGlorious, tho' one quarter of in Hours ftay in their Company, would make him shar thought fo, fenfible of his Miftake. Here the King roves aboat from one Tent his Miftake. Herc the by Appetite, Inft, and Plealure; he finds in every one of them Sumptious Feafting, and Noble Prefents, which every Noble-man makes him upon this Occafion. And tho" "ris true that:all his Gifis are prailed and" valued; har he may knowinin what proportion to retum to the Makers of: them: ; \(\therefore\) yer his Appraifers, who: know his Avaricions Hürmour, fetall ar half Rates, fo char inftead of rewarding Eke \(x\) King, he fqueezes by this means a aft deal of Weath curt of his Nobiliry.
The fecond folemn Feaf is that of his Bitrh-day, Thut of his which comes abour four Months after the formex, and is Birth-day. blerved with as much Sare and Pomp. Bur this is more chargeable time to the Nobles than the former. or now their Prefents are doubled, being made to the King and his Morther roo, and then they have no recompence neither. The Royal Purfe is faft tied up, and the Soil they cait their Sced into fwallowsupall, and recurns no crop. Butche Prince is charitable to the Poor ar this time, and this is a cheaper Verruerhan Liberalicy; 'ris eaher ro give an Alms to a Beggar, than a traly Royal Largefs toa Man of Figure and qualiry. Now his Cha= rity to the Poor is thus meafur'd our by the help of the Balance. There's a verv large pair of Golden Scales provided, in one of which he firs himfelf, and the orher s filld with Gold, Silver, fome precious Srones, but more Corn and Grain than Jewe's by far. This is all heap'd in ill his Body is exactly Ballanc'd, and thenthe Sum is divided amongft the Poor. Now perbaps here is fomecimes the value of 10 or 12000 pound; but then his Prefents from the Nobility amount to ten times as much To thatto fpeak the Truch, irjenosfo much his Chariry as cheirs, "tis the Nobility and not the Prince that are ar the Charge of filling the Pockets of the Poor thar Day. However 'ris plain, that a Prince of a lnfty, thriving habit of Body, is a confuterable Blefing to the Poor of this Country. 'Tis no parter whar his Head is, or any thing elfe thar's in't; Bratins weigh bur light, and fine Politicks will do limle good in a Scale; 'ris a large Belly, and hage maffie Bones well doathed with Fleth thar are the tef qualifications of a Prince, for thefe Charit:-Pcople. How much they are concerned to pray for his Heaith, is eafie to imagine, and whar a prcjidice a Confumprion would be to them, as well as Danger to himfelf. This Prince is fure of his Poor Subjects Good Wifees in rhis Refpect, which is-berter than the cafe of fome others in the World, whate fo little loved as to have none upon any Account.
Tis needless to enter into any parricular Difcourfe of he many ftately Tiries the \(M\)-gui affumes to himilf, and the grear Names he calls himfelf by.. Tis cnoith to fay that the belt part of the Habitable World is, his, in his own imagination. And therefore he has no good O . pinion of, nor no kindnels for the Geography of she Weftern World, frat gives him no more compals upon the Globe. He feem'd to be xightily difappointed \(2 x\) the profpect of bis own Country, which Sir Tbonsas Row fhewed him in Mercator's Maps; be found it teoo narrow abundandy to anfwer hisown grearldea of ir, and cherefore gaveback the Book again (tho' twas prefented him) as 2 Man affronted at the rudencts of the Geographer, that had allowed him folitle room. He told the Embafta dour he did not undentand that Book, and thercfore fince he did, and valued it too, he would not rob him of fuch a Jewel ; but the main thing was, that the World was not made according to his fancy. The Clrinefe will have their Councry in the very middle of the Globe, and rhe Mrgul'will have his all over it; and to to compliment thele People, we mult make a new fort of a World which will be as abrolutely imaginary as that in the Moon. Bat this Prince moft of all Prides himfelf in the Title of Tamerlanes Succeffour, uponthe fcore of whofe Conquefts, he calls himfelf fometimes (as the Tartars do Tamerlane') the Lord of the Lorners, and Conquerour of the Univerte. And npon this account it was, that when the Great Turk's Embafadour had an Aucience of \(\mathbf{I}\) eape ask'd him what Merfage he hould carry to his Mafter Tell him (faysthe Mogul) that he is my Slave. for my Anceftor Tamerlane carried his io Chains.'. There was Pride and Rudenefs enough inchis Anfwer; bur had th Turk been a little nearer him with roocoo fanizarics, he mut have given civillei and fofter Language. Sel hem the firft, at the head of thofe brave. Troops, thar bea the Egpptian Mamalukes, would not have taken'fuch' Meffage from him; we know he carried an Army: into Perfia, and upon fuch an Affont, 'tis probable, mighr have vifited India too; which had he done, there's no doubr but that olifitain upon the Honour of the Oftom Houfe would have been wipd off, and Tamrlanes For tune reverfed.
Bur as for this Princes deriving his Pedigree from Ta merlane, it appears ro be a dark and doubrful thing; he has not madeir outelearly to the World, and the In'Un derfanding berween the Tirtars and him, is no grearfign of fuch a Relation.

\section*{C н а Р. XXXII.}

\section*{The fifth Voyage fet out upon the foint-Stock of the Faft-India Company, with the following Ships; the James Royal of 1000 Tun, the Anne Royal of 900 , the New-Years Gift of 800 , the Bull of 400, the Bee of 150 'Martin Pring Chief Commander: Taken out of bis and fome of the Mafters fournals.}

WEfre fail alltogether out of the Downs being (if Wind and Weathe gave leave) to keep Company as far
\({ }_{2 s t h e}\) Conft of zidia. In this Courle having made the Lat of 6 Degr. or. hereabouts, the ruffing Tornadoes began to exercife us; yrid: we were e'en ready to pals the Line, and flep out into-the other Hemiffhere before we gor our of the reach of, thofe furions Blats; in 30 Min. N. L they were quice, and we heard no more of them. Bry the Fogs and dark W'eather fome time after did us that mifchicf which all the rerrible Winds had not done, in lofing us the Company of our \(A d m i z a l\) and \(\sqrt{2 c c}\)-Admiral, and obliging us to on rowards India by our felves.
T was no frall matrer of Wonder tors inche way to fee theSca all abont us appear pale and white, without any vifible caufe of fuch an Atreration; one might haveimaginid the Aloures at rhat time, a vaft grear Cheefe-var, and the Ship to have been failing in Whey inttead of Sar-W ater, it cartied fuch a milky appearance along with ic The Air and Skie ac the fame time look'd white and hazy, withourdonbrthe effect of the Reflections from the Surfacc of the Warer fodifpos'd and colour'd.
We had pasfad che Cemiorc lllands before. we wete entertain'd with this Phencmenon, and the fame Day that we faw thisat Night, we made ac noon 4 Degr. 44 Min. S. Late and as nicar as we could reckon 53 Degr. 5 Min. Lon. which is all we can fay rowards the Defroption of that part of the Globe whert it happened, we being then our in the open Sea. It continned thus the fpace of the \(E\) vening and the wholeNight, and we could find no ground nor botrom where we had this change of Water. We obferved too that it held on and concioued with a Current that then affected us, and aswe went our of that colour'd Water, we went our of the Power of the Current toon; the Currear therefore was fome way or other (probably) concerned in ir, bur how or which way, is not of fo cafie a Determination.
The Monfon that now wafted and fipent apace, would not allow us to call at Socatore, which therefore we pars' and made the beft haft we could to Surat. Yet we found rime to do our felves a Kindnefs by the way, and a piece of Service to the Grent \(1 / \mathrm{g}\) gol ; wae former in anking \({ }_{a}\) Portugucze Prizeladen with Elephants Tcect, and the latrer by laving a Noble Ship belonging to the Queen Mosher of Indic, from two Men of War of our own Narion that purficd her. Shehad a rich lading of Siver (at leaft 29 Ton, fomefay vafly more) which we fe-:

Fard hee in the poffeffion of, by puiting an end to the Chate, and bringing her (together with bort her Parmers ) fafeinto Swall, Road
We had nor been bere long before our Admirat and Allisesin Vico-Admirel came in toos to that now all Fears were va- ntat mial aifh'd on borb fides.
A good quantiry of Coral of our own brituging, and \(\frac{\text { Road }}{\text { Rod }}\) Elephants Teeth our of the Porsugueze Prize were quickly landed and fentup to \(\mathrm{Serar}_{\mathrm{s}}\), in order to begin the Trade. And now there came to an Anchor 25 the Bar 20 Sail of Frigars from Gon, being fent by the Vice-roy to range the Coaft, and make fome Difcorcries of as, and fo to goon for Cambrya, to waft the Cafilli.

They did nor offer to make the leaf attempe upon us, Nimene o thar we proceeded in the landing of our Commo dities, Coral, Eiephants Tceth, Ciorh, Tin, Wine, and Strong Watcrs, rogether with the whole Cargo of Preferts.

This Month our Ship the Bee was difparch'd for 7 afyues upon the Coalt of Perfit; the carricd fome Merctants aleng with her, who were there to be landed with cheir rorer Wàres, and fo go up inso che Councry as far as Moceufian, folam A way hadbeenopenod inro thisComarry before and the Country had procur'd the King of Perfocis Firmans for liberty of Trade at chat place or any ortier in his Dominions.

When fhe cameback from Fefques, the gave us.this \(A c\) count of her Vovage. That the Governour gave them a very kind Welcome, and carried it in all peints conformably to the parport and tenour of his Mafters Firman. Tharche Merchanrs had a very free and quie Paffage whercver iney went, and profpect of making fo good Bufincts of it in rime ar Moguffan, that they believ'd ir would rurn to as much Account there as in any place in ndia it felf.
Water was extreamly fcarce abour \(\mathcal{F} \subseteq f\) oues; they had none but what the Clouds fupplied them with, and thore Supplies came down bur very feldom neither.
Fonueny isthe time in which they lay in a fock for the whole fucceeding Year; then they fill all their Ciftems and Cellars, and are as bufie wich their Warer, as fome are with their Wine at the time of vincage. In chat Month ir rains conttantly for a Week or more without incermidion, and perhaps a litule in Decenber, bur their main dependance is on the fanuery Showers; in which they have their llated Allowance, and thar meafure of this Grand Necefiry of Life, which a Wrie Providence fees convenient for them.: But haxing it thus bat once i Ycar, they areforcd to drink ir wift: all the Advantiges of it foulnefs tank tafte, and fomerimes Worms bred in ir, whichafer fo long keeping is nor ffange, 'tho' undoubtedly very difagreeable; ćpecially to thofe who have been usd wo beftur Liquors in other places and are forc'd to sake up with that;arfafgurs.'Twas.fo bad in all thefeReipects, thatour Men were folc'l to take fome courfe to pui rifie it before they conld Arink ir, and yer tis a good Comimodiry in the Country, dind goes off 'for fourShillings a Tun. 74 fques has a fair Bay belonging to it ; there puns no ftream, but ir flows a Farhofri-with the Spring, and at other. times three or four Foot: "They' obferved a litile Fifice Town adjoining, to be in 25 Degr: 35 Min. N. L. and 10 Degr. \(40: \mathrm{Min}\). Lon. from the Cape of Diu, and the var. to be ig Degr. 20 Min.from N., to Weft. This is the Sum of the Account the Bee gave us at her return from the Fasfures Voyage.

She being come back, the Ann * Rogal our Vice-Adniral was lentíaway for the Red-Ser, and we all fet out from Swalfy Road for Bansam and other parts. By the way we came in fight of the Portuguize Molucia Fleet, being 27 Sail, Merchant-Men and Men of Wai, and Gallies of Goa. We exchanged a few Guns with one another; burthey quickly grew weary and gor away from us beyond our purfuir, and ro make the more haft in doing fo, they were obliged in part to unlade fome of cheir Veffels, and throw Chefts, Botes, and other heavy hings over board.
As we coafted along by Cellecur, the Samorin fent off a Boatro defire a Confcrence, but we wete gone too far out of reach to attend him at that time.
We came to an Anchor: in Brinnion Bay, a place of soodR efreftment forHens, Coroes, Goats, Fith, and excellent freth Warer, which comes clear and pure out of a Rock.

Burche Ingobitants are as bad as their Provifions are good, a perf́dious, impoling, unfaithful People, who feem to valle no Promifes nor Contracts, nor will be held by every Bonds if they have an opporitunity and force ensorgh to break them. This we had fufficient Proof of incheir dealing with us; for at our coming we Had made the Governour a confiderable Prefent; befides 70 Rials of Eight in dry Money for liberry of Wasering, which he very faitly promis'd and feem'd as well pleas'd. Bur truly being fecure of his pay, and refolved if pofible to mend himfelf ftill, he came down with a Force of feven or eight hundred Men to drive, us away from chê Spring, demanding more Möney, withour which we fhould have no Water. But as it häpperied antion we had guarded the Spting pretty'well, and were in a Condition to maincain the work we were about, againft the violence of this rúde and unjuft Governour ; and this was done partly for fear of any perfidious Pract ces of the Indicns in poifoning or otherways abufing the Wa ter; tricks that a Man is always to be aware of in chefe Eaftern Countries:

When we came to Banram, we found an unhappy Difference arifen between one of our Engliß Caprains and the grear Pangran or Protator of.. the Kingdomt. The Right of the Caufe certainly lay on the Cappain's fide, and the Pangram was unjuft and partial in pretending to quarrel upon thofe Terms that he did. The Bufnels was, that the Chinefe being pretry decply in debr to ous prexetouror Men, the Captain had arrefted one of their Junks, in sman"s in- order to bring them to make payment, which fort of violent Courfes 2 Man cannot fometimes avoid taking with fuch thufing People as they are, unlefs he refolves to fubmit to all their Knatcries. But this Method of procecding, was highly difpleafing to the Pangran, and provokedhim to thar degree, that he fecm'd uterly uncapable of being perfwaded and argued into a better Temper, refufing to hear what was ro be reafonably alledged in juftification of the Fact; and tho' we tabourid all that could be to compole the Matter, and made a formal offer of redelivering the Junk upon condition of doing us juitice (which at firft he alfo pals'd his Word to perform ) yet he feew off afterwards, and as if fond of an Opportanity of quarreling, would hear nothing inorder to the purting an end to it.
We left thefe Matrers in the fame ill pofture at Barsam that we found them, and fer fail from thence towards facara. The King of this place bcing precry well dif poled to favour our Bufinels, we agreed with him to this effect. That we would pay him 700 Rials of Eighr per Ann. for the libercy of a free Importarion and Exporcaion of all manner of Commodities, and as Soo down for a piecé of Ground to build a publick Honfe for our Factoryapon.
By Lereers come to us here from the Moluccas, we had sorice of the hard ufage of our Engliß in thole INands by the Duscb; they would fcarce allow them Provifions to keep Life nid Soul itzether, atid upon every Report of the comidg of anj of our' Ships, they were prefently litid in Irons.
But we had not lon'g after the comfortable Tidings of the fudden coming of a Remedy to curectole Diforders in Sir Tho. Dale.
Our Bufinefs "difpatch'd ar facitra",' we went back again to Bantam. Having ferir fome litule tinie here, the expected Fleet came from England, which together with ours and fome others chat were here at the fime time made in all to' the nomber of thirteen brave Sail. And Nootmon. made in all to' the 'nomber of thirken brare Sail. And Sun, the Admiral of this new-come Fleer mifcarried by the why: 'She was wreck'd at the Iflarid 'Engano, 2 good The Smpha part of her Cumpany droonta, and others mirderd mual) lot. thoar by the barbard a the reft broughr barbus Intabitants of that Illand, and the reft broughir in a rery mifertble condition to the Fleer: It being cerain that the Dutch and we were fhoitly to decide our Quarrel by a Fight, we had amongft orher Prepararions mide for ir, that neceflary one of a Day of Fafting and Prayer, ftrictly oblerved thro the whole Fleet; and for a prelude to the fucceeding Action, we quickly after took a confiderable Ship of theirs. Buf the Durch lying with their Fleet now about Facerta it was refolved in'a Council of War, that a part of ours mould fortliwith fail thither in order to - the beating them away. Accordinigly we wention with cleven fail, and came to an Anchor by Foctor INand, the Dutch Ships be ing at the fame tine within fight in the Bay of facatre And tho', we were now fo near one another, yet we could not order matrers fo as to bring it to a Bartle: immediate \(y\); the Dutch by their ftifting and winding ábout, plainy difcovering they had no great rind to engage, and we wrefefain in a manner to:purfue them, before we could obrain the end we cane for.
However ar laft we came up with tiem; and the Admiral began the Fight with theirs, our Moon and their Sum the reft coming on in their order : Thie Fight coivinu, Horrib'c corifor 3 Hours in whick for 3 Hours, in whicki tiffe we Pent 1200 grear Shot up- the Sum 3 ma on them; and fo left them for that Night. And in thort Moon fell ra they order'd their bufinefs fo, that we left them for alro-eether by the gether: for thet. made all the. Sal th conld bere us, and we had only the Hondur of purfoing them thro he Bay of Fatcitra, which we dia to the Eaft points of in. Here we an came to Anchor; and how they had reconrfe to the faral policy of a Firemip, having been able to dono good with thietir great Guns; they fer one of thofeFtaming Machines i driving rowardsus; bur we happing voided the Mifchief, having warniag enough to getout of her way. Soalfo did thofe that fent hergerour of outs; and tho' we fer 2Spic upon them to oblervecheirMotions, yer wo did not think it at this time neceffary to follow them any artber. Now the Reafon that urged us io this forpeedy an attempt upon the Dutch, was an unpardonable ourrage of theirs commitred at 7 ficatra juft before.
Tis evident that confidering the Injories we had recived from them, we were nor the Aggreffours, or guil- Infolence of: of any unjuft ACtion in raking that Ship of theirs 1 the Durth a itule before the Fight. Bur yer as if they, had rievet given ns any manner of Provocation to proceed in that natinner with them, to revenge the Lofs of that Ship, they mmediately fici'd two of ous Merchanes ar Facetr, and aid them in Chains in a place cxpos'd to publick view And not contented to have. carried che Affront thus high, they proceeded to heighteri it yei farther, adding fevcral other Violences of a far moremifchievōs nature thian that They plaid their great Guns upon our building, fer fire to is, and burmt it to the Ground. They fired into the Town, making: a horrid havock in the facen quarter, bur the Cbinefe quarcer chey beat quite down, and left is an abfolute heap of ruins. They killd abandartee of People, bur especially of the Favans; and "is reiy likey that they defign'd the King himfelf fhould fare no betrer than the reit, fot they, fired inte his Palace, and thar's no fign' that they meant him well. Upon this extravagant Provocanion, that Prince ronz'd up himfelf to. chaftife them in the bett manner he could; and 'twas high time to do is, for the nexr flor elfe mighr periaps have. made him uncapabic of doing it for ever. He played his Ordnance upon that Fort, and had feveral skimiftes with them ; bute after att," tho a brisk Man, and good Sonldicr for an Indim, yet was not able (with his Furniture at leaft) to manage fo tough and ftubborn an Adverfary as the Dutch. He therefore fent Meffengers to Bantam to defire our affitance, in taming the Pride and Strength of that Adverfary, thar had not fpard to infult him in his very Palace; and almoft beir down his Capital City abour his Ears:' Twas upon this the Darch ro prepare for a-Bartle fo, foon; that Prince .was our Friend and Allie, and befides our own prricular Wrongs; the Injurieshe had fuftain'd were great entough to engage us to pourifit thofe thar thad done them.

Afrerthis,-Sir Tbo. Dnle went alwoar to fee the Kingiof
ymars. Meafures is ten for can War acrea, and to confer about the farther profecution of the en for can was againit them. The King was very defirons to have rying on the them guirc beat out from thence, and to fee their Fort the Durch an demolith'd; which if we would conrtibute our Affifance the Dutato ficarren Advanes he would make us au che Allowandes for the reafonaly of our Irade in his Country that we corld nition fhould be landed our of the Fleer for this purpofe, and that Sir Tbe. Date the Admiral flould be there in che Road with cighr Sail, to counrenance the Bufinefs is rhere was occation. As for our felves it was deicermin'd that we fhould go away for the Streights of Surnda, with

Dapte Pring Socref for the Sireigh: of Sundes sundas
then ro and

The bafe
dicting of Pangran pangram.

Cupt. Pring
eors afier pret us weicome with a whole broad fide; and it will pretry eafity appcar that we were notar all behind fiand with them in Civilities of that natore, fince they ran awas within two Hours time, and left us the open Sea to ons felvcs. And whichmade it much the more pleafant, the Admiral (that came on winh all the Triumph and infoIent Bravado of a Spamiard) wasthe firf that turn'd cail, and gave the example of conwandice to all the reft of the Flect. We purfued them cill Night; bat tho' they fouglit worfe, yer they fail'd becter (ax leaf fwifter) than we, baing befides the Advantages of their far nimbler Ships, a good degree of Eear and Fright to horrie themalong; and there's nothing in the whole Word that files fafter than Fear, nor does any Man make more haft thanihe that runs away from, 2 lound beating. Bur \(2 s\) it often happens, thar an eager and over bafty flighe from cne Milchief, is an unluckyrunning inno anocher, to it had very ncar been the cafe of thefe Durch Ships; Sir Thoo. Dale root long after gor within fight of them; and if a Tempent had nor interpos'd, they had been forc'd wo ano-cher-guife Trial than the former was
- prac.aI
(9x. laid to his Charge, and fent it rohime for his farther confideraticn. News being brought hicher that four Datcb Ships were come to an Anchor in the Mouth of the Streigbts of Sanda, I fail'd out of this Road with four of the Flect under my Command, wo give them a meeting there. We quickty obrain'd a fight of them, and made towands chem with a Speed chax fpoke for us; we were not a crule glad to have found them. And they to affiont asthe more effectually, and let us undertand how deSpicable we were incheir Eyes, careledy plied to and again with their top Sails half Maft down, as if they were there in cxpectation of us, and waired aill we came. in expectation of us, and waired rill we came. We ere nofooner within hot,bur their gamira came up and After this Action we returned to Bawam, and our whoje Powcr of Shipping (thar was hereaborus) once there was endeavour to catch the Durth. Feet there. But a little beacing up and down to no purpofe, fo that after a litule beating up and down to no purpole, we pur into Bentrm Road. Here we had news that (inf the cime of our ablence) the Dutch had made 2 Propoflal for the Surrender of their Forr at facatra. Their proud Stomach was to far come down, thar they were willing to qiin the place upon condition of a quiet departure wich Fag and baggage, and the conveniency of a Ship to carry them to the Coaft of Cormandel.

But this Agrecment was rendered ineffectual in grear mealure by the bale dealing of the Pangran of Bamam; he loved neither the Dutsh nor Us, and as litule card thest any; thing fhould be done towards' the compofing Matter's lictwixtis.
He had a mind too to get the Caftle of facatradefiver'd into his own hands, and fent to the Dutch privitcly to make a Surrender of it to him, wogether with their Ammunicion, Money, and Goods; bur he was much mintaken in his Mers, and the Divteh were not fo cafic cixther so be commanded or whreedled our of their Precentions. But upon the Accounc of this and fome other 11 Proceedings of his, we thought it neceffary to onike hirm fenfible thit we looked upon ooir felves highty affromted by him, and therefore made: all our Factors and Mercharits; with all their Effees to temove from the Town and come aboard the Fifer. Whilecthis wasa do. ing the Pangran (as if the moft juftand hamilés Man in. the World) Feir. so know the Reafon; of fo faulden a Remove, profeffing he had given uspo curie to lexve the Country in that manner 5 brut tho chis whas manifet falthood and diffimulation all over, yetchat hemighic frave no fiadow of an Excuse or Pretence lefi him for not doing us juftice, we drew up \(a\) Remoutumas conxaining all the Parriculars of Wrongs and Grievances the Exilifh more came all ropether at shis place. The Bufinets to ke confoted was, about puxing inexecation the Orders of the Enffirdia Company for approprizting the Chintefe Goods to theirown afe in confideration of the Debos they owned. And is came to this manimions Refolution, thar unlefs the young King of , Ranitam would chrowt chat Ill Minifter the Pangran our of his places the Commiffion Thould forthwith be execured; bat in cale of chat Comphance the Cbinef: Thould tave their Janks reftoted; anid be forbomfomething longer. The Maner brought to this \({ }^{2}\) bead, we began to think of doing bufinets in other parts; Go forc and fet fail in the firft place for the Coaft of Coromandel. Being near this Coatt, our. Ships: were hardly able to come up to one another, by reafon of the ftrong W.S.W. Winds, and che Currents concinually fetring to the ENS. The Beach alfo wasfo lofty on the froer, thar there was no venturing towards it wich any of our Boars.

Ar laft we confider'd of a certain Bay uponthis Coafty in abour 17 Degr. and about five Ieagues to the Eaft Gide of Naffipore, where there was very commodions riding for a Wefterly Monfon, which wasthe only thing we now defired, feeing there was no hope of recovering niafultio patain, the Winds and. Tides being boch againft us Holding on our Courfe thicherwards, baving made (by Judgment ) about nine Leagues, we found the Eand m lie away N. &N. & by W. which gave fome hopes of 2 good Road.
By this point of Land there comes our 2 great River, the Surcam of which has rais'd i confiderable Rife or Shoal off the finarp of the point, extending it felf half a Mile into the Sea, which makes the froother road about the point, for you may bring thefaid Shoal, S. S.W. and ride in fix Farhom and a half, orie Ground two Mile off the Land that's neareft you.

About two Leagues to the North fide from this Pointcipce (which for diftinctions fake we call Cape Comfort) Iffuesm our another branch of the former River, wwhich makes the head land it felf an Inand, and off the Mouth of this River lies a long ridge of Sand, which is \}ppire dry 25 low Water.- The pext point of Land to the 4 trub fide of CapeCanfort is diftant about three Leagres and a chird from it and po the Eaft fide of this latt point your have \({ }^{\text {ti }}\) another Sandy Stroal : As for the var. wotrthe Cape we make it to be 12 Degr. linte more or lefs. White we lay here up and down upon the Coaff, we trad fowe Comamonication with the Cominty, geting geod flate of Irovifions aboard, as Sheep, Hens, and Cams; of which latter wre had near 300. The chief Town towards the Sea in this part was \(\sqrt{3}\) ngeroms, which I went to fees les vingthe Fleet for fome Days: I went by Batge to the Towniof Corange, and thence up the River for Vingerom at both which places I met wich an Entercainment no waj to be complained of The Governour of \(V\) ingeren receired me with all his Indian Mufick, liked my Vifit very well, but the Prefent I brought fim much beter; fo well, thar after I was gone a-Ship-board again, he would needs come and pay me Vifir, which I knew was nothing bat to Fin for anocher Prefent.
Here we had news of the Death of Sir Thomas Dale, ugh our late worthy Admiral ; he was gor before jus winh 2 dind porr of the Fleer to Masfufipatan; and died at shar place: and how good News foeverthis would be to the Dutch wholeinfolence he had already chattized in part, ir was very nincomfortable nous, who had reafon to expect fome farther fumbling of them from.the Vatour and Condae of fo able a Commander.
It may be worth the twinile to oblerve that of the Ki-socntes ver of Naflapore, we found the Gurrent to fer. S. S: E. by Day, and N. N. E. by Night; we rode chen abour three LeaguesS: S.W. from the Bar of Naftepore, and had at the farne cime near 20 Fathom Water. When wecame to Muffulipistan, we found thar part of the Fleer there curicand Which Sir Tbo. Diale liad broughir; and now that and hisis joining together, thoughi fit to caill we to fucoced him in his lare Charge of the fupreme Command of the United Flcers. Herc Scveral Merchaums thar were to \(\pi\) fide inthe Country, were fer achoar, and firediantieir re-Dratr. fpective places ; the Srate of the CompaniesAffairs wast Trent alfo ar large confidered and eramined; and proper mear ridibur. fures agreed on for promoring them to the beft Admene berd vantage.
* We fet fail from hence for the Coattof Susmatra, and boartan. near that liland had the luck to mect with a confidera minnade ble Addition wo:our Surength, whici was cthree Engijf Coutto of Shipsmore, which chere came np to os, But ther informidus mive at the fame time that our Forces in thefe pars were much chan bunbud lefs than we imagin'd, and that by the lofs of fire Ships mimerid of ourslately raker by the Dutcio upon this Cosft, and dingo oth two more thoughr to be in vcry grear Danger, if nor Geard actually loft, they having fent our a ftrong Fleet zo fur- ration st prize them. This News was ftarting: and: 60 many Effith Ships being already become a Prey to them, che remaind or Mry jinh was to bemore warily preferved; and our Strengch at preient unacr:a declenion not (bat apon very valuable Confideratioss) to be any way farther expofed.

\section*{Thap XXXIII.}
Our Dealings upon the Ifland at this rime, were chiefly forOyl; and Rice, and Coco's: We took in is Hogneads ar onatone ame, and more of the lame Commodity celline Rither with 12 or 1300 Sacks. of molt excellint: Rice, 16000 . Cncocs, , befides Goats and other Provifions. This came all from Priaman, Pedang; and Catratingr.
Erom Sametra we held our Courfe for Bentam, hearing by the way thar there was is Sailof Duich beftowed tetween that piace and \(\mathcal{F}^{2}\) enitra. 'Twas uncerrain whether they would atrack us or no, but 'twas, certain that as matcers now ftood, we intended not to fight, uniefs a very uryent Necefficy compelld us to it. Bur going on with thefe Refolutions towards Bantam, we met with a Ship of our own juft come from England (a Meflenger of very happy Tidings.) that pur an end to all Cares and Provifions abour matters of thar kind, by affuring us that a Peace was concluded betwixt us. and them: And before we could get to Bentam, 'twas demonftrated to io's by the Dutch themfelves; we light of their whole Flect coming from Fricatra to meet: us, and give us the Joy of the new made Pcacc.
This was a wonderful alteration in a very litte time; we ufd to meet for ocher purpofes than this of Carefing and Complemenring one another. Now the Great Guns wore dickarged repon a more civil and pleafing account than hately they were, and tho we made as much Noife and Smoker on buth fides as they, yer the Saluration was far more fricndly and agresable. Thus we fail'd together with no little Iriumph into Bentam Road, and all the Indims that fair us perfccuring cach ocher to the laft extremity, were nerv the admining Winneffes of ourhappy Reconiliation.
\(\therefore\) Bur noth: \({ }^{2}\) 先 could be a greater Morcification to the Illnatur'd Protector, than this Union was; his Choler was fo ftitri-ax is, that he could neither hear the Relanion of it with any degree of Temper, nor return a Civil Anfwer to thole rhat made it: What with his Rudenels, and whar with his Pafion, he pals'd it off without any farther notice, than only a raving Queftion, Why.would the En\(j^{\prime}\) ifb be Friends with the Dutch \(>\). He would fay nothing comelufer to our defres of making a fair and amicable concluffor of the Matcers in difpute berwitr us; and had he everthad any jutt and generous Principles, the Heights of his prefenr Tranfporr would have prevented the exerrirg of them.
If he were capable of any truc Love to his Counrry, or could be fo far a Man of Honour, as a fear or jcaloufic of iss welfare amounted to, onc would fancy be fufpected fome Piot upon his Councry, froma the united Counfels and lncerefts of che Ditacis and us; that now we would fail upon Bentam to righes, and baving no Wars berween our (elies, would employ our Forces in making new Conquefts.
'Tis tnie, this might be an uncalic Thought; for he might be fure in that Cafe he hould lofe his ProtectorThip; and if we came to be Mafters of Bencom, we hould net fuffer fich a Knave as he to fir at the Helm, and manage the Affains of the Country.
But as for our feives, tho' we had no defign that any way ended to the publick or his own privare prejudice, Irt we coutd bave wifid the King of Bubsam a betrer Minifter of Staze; and have been slad, if he would have excrued his own Roval Authority, in laying afide a Perfon fo nnfit for Publick Trutt as he was. Eur there was no Remedy ar prefent, the Pangren continued in the fame turly dilcontented Humour; and the lalt time we fent ro trear abour the Bufinefs, he denicd the Meffengers the Libity of coming athore.
I was obliged once more to leave thefe Affairs in the fame perplexed and unfertied pofture that I found them

As for the Obfervations rclating in Sea-Affairs in this Courfe, the Mariners may take thele fow Memorialsalong The lise, with them.
Tout any. Of ant thar whole Row of Iflands that extends it felf curifity, Weftward from the Bay'of facarri, the moft Weftermoft toperte: N.N. E.f.E. The Depth between the two Iflands is :from 16 to 26 , and fofalling between the two in fromands is 26 to 12 Fathom; Ozy Ground. Puto Krra lies from Anoik ro 6 Leagues to the N. N. E. nefref. All along from Pulo Peniang, to Eag. Patb Antikere, the Curreni-fers'us to the Weft ward pretry turgerftrongly ; affer that we had an eafie, tho' an odd fort of Courrent roo, that-didrun alnoft upon all Points of the \(\therefore\) Compals every 24 Hours.

By an Obfervation of the Sun's Meridian Alcitnde, we made the Ship to be in 4 Degr. 45 Min. S. I. when we had Pulo Kero o Leagues from nis, bearing S. : W. and by another at Night upon che Croliers, we made 4 Degr. 40 Min. S. L. when the fame place was by eftimation S. by W. from us 13 Leagues. The S.E. end, or point of the ille Benca, bearing N. by E. I E ar a , Lepoint diftance, we made the Ship in 3 Degr. 8 Min . S. L. by an Obfetvation of the Sin, from whence the Latirudes of thofe places may be decermined. Between this Point of Bance, and the Ine of Bornec, the Sea is full of Illands and it appearing a defperate. Arteripe to venture ac a paf. Gage berwcen thofe lands and the aforefaid Point of Bancr, tecaufe of the Slioulings we had mer with, we endcavour'd to pafs by the Sraights of Ecrece ; bur here the matter was litele mended, and we found the Shoalding as dangerous, if not more than before.
The greater Inand of Lints: *, we place near the E- Oncor the

The Ines Pulo Rorodor, are at leaft thirteen or fourreen cedin Dan in number, great and friall ; they are high Iand and funt molder, a.fair. Depth from one end to the orher on all Ehe EAf the Eylator. fide; and as we are inform'd, there's a very goud Chan-ween Bam nel between them and the Main.

Off from the Point calld the Gurnets-Lierd, the Iand Pasans. runs away W.N.W. and W. by N. to the rery encrance of the Road of Patanc, and is low Iand all alo lowele of all ar the Point of the Road, and you have a fair Depth too till you come thither, bue there you muft give a good birth, becaufe of'a Sheal that lies half way over to the Weftern Shore: Therefore youl munt not borShow too near it, till you have the Shealing of the Weferm Shore, and there you fall find the fofref Ground. From Pulo Tingarom to Petine, you have very high Land up in with a fandy, and as low all zlong by the Varcris fide, with a fandy Strand, ar leaft twerry Leagies to the Sourhward of the Point of Patane, and how much fartion we know not; but this' we are fure of by Expericnce. Ac fingularly obliged to the kindnels of the Dutch arthar places in furmifitith ws with part of our Neceffaries in order to a more quick difparch : We had been forc'd to wait longer; if eneir Countefie had not frecd us from thar Inconvenience:' We were obliged to buy ar this place Oyl and Dammat for the trimmins of our Ships (which we intended to do at Fapen), thofe Matcrials being very
As jou go from Pefan= to the Head of Cambodia, you have a Rock thar-lics dangeronlly in thar paffage, and juft ou may oblerve ware the To know whercabous it is, ou may oblerve thar the high Land over Gurners-Head bearing S. S. W: W. 13 La agues off, and the low Poinr Riares bo of Pateme Read about 13, then the Rock will bear N. N. wren Pa: E. : E. a Leagus off,and as for the Latitude of ir, we make Goute of is to ftand in atout 7 Dcgr , \(=0 \mathrm{Min}\). N. Along from Chins, of Pateme Road youbayc (after you bave made ferco oreight Fathom) the Depth regularly increafios by tivo oreight far as 24 Farhom, till you are in fgarof the Reck, and about two Leagues from ir 25 Fathom Ozy.

The life Pulo Hube is thus to be kiown, at firft you lee 2 riling of the Land with one round bill, then as you come nearer you fee anocher fheclder cf high Land rifing in Hammocks, but nor above noo thirds as high as the Hill, yer ail tone continued piece with ir; then you have a profpect of a fraller round lland abour the heighe of the Hammocky Land, and which lies clofe aboard the greater llfe. . This lefer IAc has to the Eaftward of it a long Rock like the Hull of a Gail.
By obfervazión pato Conzer lics in 8 Degr. \(4_{2}\) Min. N. Lat. and all along (at leat for the moft pat) from Pctine, till we were in fight of chis IIand, we nad the Wind ar S. S. W. and from Pulo Condor; fill we were within kean of the Coaft of Camicdic, we had a Currenc fetring \(\mathrm{E}: \mathrm{by} \mathrm{N}\).

The Latutude of Cape Cefler upon that Coaft, may be determin'd by this Oblervation; that when at Noon we made ro Degr. 42 Min. N. L. the Cape did as the fame cime tcar W. N. W. \(\frac{2}{2}\) W. abour fix Leagues from us So by a like Obfervation the 1 atitude of Cape Varelle is fixd; for when we made 13 Degr.r3Min:N.Eiar Noon this Cape bore W.S.W. 8 Leagues off. The Chinefe call it Cape zentam, which in their language fignifies a Chimny, becaufe is, hais a fharp Hammock rifing np apon the rop of a Hill, much like a Chimney upon a Houle. The Laritode of the Ine Aynam may be fertled in like manner, by comparing thefe Obfcrvations of the Courfe for wo fevera!

Cereral Days, viŋ. This Day Ific Amam bears N. W. by N. twelve Leagues by the nexr Day at Noon, we have Nonc N. E. by E. 22 Ieagues, and here we find our Lat. 18 Degr. : from whence rhe Latitude of Aynem may be inferr'd.
Between this Inand and that call'd the Moroceo Snddle, 2 Current ferting to the Northward moftly affected us. We give the lazery Inand the Name of the Moroces Saddle, upon the account of a certain decp Swamp upon the rop of it, which in feme mealure juftifics the Comparion: It lics in 21 Degr. 45 Min. N. L. and has various 1 Ilands about it, almoft at every Point of the Compafs.
The Scopion's feart lies in 22 Degr. 35 Min. N. L. itule more or lc fs; and that of the high Land of Lngeg) may be detcrmind by this Oblervation, that when we made by the Sun's Altitude, 23 Degr. 6 Min . N. L. the high Land of Legnffe ar the fame rime bore N. W. by N. i I Leagues diftance. So alfo that of the Nórthern Point of the Inc Formefa, which bore E. S. E. ten Leagucs off, when we made the Ship in 25 Degr. 40 Min: N. L. From hence to the Coalt of fepern, the Curren: was aimoft conrinuaily E. N. E. or moft certainly fome Poine berween the N. and the \(E\).
I frall offer the Sailors no more now of thefe Obfervations, but one upon the Coaft of fapan it felf, helping to ferte the Larirudes of the grear Sound of Largefaque, and of the S. E. part of the Ine Go:o; namely, that when the former bore E. nine Leagues, and the larter W. by N. ten Leagues, and at the fame rime we made the Ship in 32. Degr. 40 Min. N. L.

We had not been long in che Port of Firando, before fereral orhers of our Eng!! \(h\) Ships came in thither likewife We had the fame kind Welcome that others of our Na tion had mer with here before; and the King of Crats Illand came aboard the fames Ryya!, mighrily admiring and rejoycing to lee an Englib Ship of that tate and big nefs; and asking, Whether that were one of our Frigats? By all which we fufpected, thar fome People at that place thar bore us no Good Will, had given a very pitiful Account of our Shipping, and made them believe we were Mafters of none beyond the fize of Frigats. Here the Dutch and we joyn'd rogether in all our Confulcarions for the common Intereft and Advantage of borh, and being now as it were one People, Depuries were chofen, two of each fide, to manage the Affairs at Cours, and carry the Amwi. Prefents to the Emperor. We feem'd alfo to be equal - see the Sharers in Lemers from Shas in 1 3ef, an who inviring both Parties to a Solemn Entercainment Cipe Ser:s made the firit Difh of each Courfe be prefented to the vorage, for Dutcl and us.
of Arcouns . *The horrible Tuffons, which are frequent hereabours, Tuffous.
did our Fleet fome damage; one Ship was fank down to rights, and others endanger'd, tho' happily brought off afrerwards. The Effects of thefe tempeftuous Blafts are oftentimes as fatal, as the coming of them is fudden and furprizing ; when they are violenc to extremity, they bear down all before them, and 'tis in vais to artempt the delivcring of a Ship, or any thing from their Fury.
Our Depuries (return'd from Courc) gave us an Account of the good Succefs of their Undertaking: The Em- Frawn. peror was kind and favourable, and their Bufinefs came to its defired iffuc To fee this, was all that we now waited for, and rherefore our Ships being here careen'd, and firted for the Sca, we fet Sail again for Bantam; in which paffage we thall prefent the Sailor with one Oblervation only, and that is of the liles of Pulo Tayro, between the Ines of Banca and Borneo. This is a Clufter of feven or cight Inands and Rocks mix'd together, the longeft Tract of them runs N. N. W. and S.S. E. the Northermoft of all being cvery way the largett and moft confiderable.
From this Northermoft Illand to Pulo Pan, the Courfe lics N. W.: W. nine Leagues, and all abour it good Depths. The Southermoft of the fame Illands, we conclude we may place in a Degr. 16 Min. S. L. For when we made the Ship in that very Latitude, thar Ifland then boredue \(E\). of us.
When we came to Bantem, we found a Frencl Ship there, to whom the Pangran had granted Trade; and the comen matcer had been fo agreed betwecn this French-man, the semem ad Dutch, and our Eng': \(/\) h, to preferve Peace and Quietnefs pormo or all fides, that they were to thare the Pcpper in Thirds amongt theu. Bur our Lading being ready for as ar frcatre, we went thither to take it in after a very fort ftay berc.
Our Ships that had been employ'd aberic thofe parts, while we were at Fepen, gave a very bad Character of Crac.arom, for a fickly infectious place, whichspartly kill'd, partly fpoild and difabled the bett part of the Men that went thither. The Rogal Fames was laden iere with Pepper, Silk, and Cloves; Come Quantiries of Benjamin we had too aboard her, bur the main of the Cargo was the aforefaid Commodities.

This Difparch made, we were now bound for Engiand, carrying along with us a far more valuable thing than all mand our Lading amounted to, the Satisfaction and Advantage of a happy Peace, with an Adicriary who had been not crete a little troublefome to us in thole Parts of the World spain Twas in our power to ler our Country know, when we \(1 \mathrm{D}_{\mathrm{in}}\) came home, that the Dutci, had been civil and friendly to us abroad.

\section*{Appendix to Chap. XXXIII.}

Containing the Refult of the Koyage made to Moha, in the Red Sea, by the Anne Royal, a Ship belonging to Admiral Pring's Fleet, under the Command of Capt. Andrew Shilling. Extracted out of Mr. Hoynes's fournal.

IN the former Voyage we faw this Ship taking leave of the reft of her Company, and failing alone tcwards the Red Sen ; 'ris requifire now that we make fome enquiry after her, and fee how the fares in thar part of the World amongit the Turks and Aralls, who had formenly been fo very rude ro fome of her Counrry. She had, it feems, a fafe and confiderably quick. Voyage,

The Jelorex berween the Coaft of India, and the Arabian, making it not more than four Weeks berween Swally Road, and chat of Molan upon the Red Sct.
The lelonfr. When they were come in here, and had fixd themelyes of \(a\) Revenge ar an Anchor, immediarely a Boar was fent our from che upon nit \(H\). Governoar to demand their Country, Defigns, and PreAcconn: fill tenions there; which Demands when they had farisfied, porf.sa de-they gave the Town the ufual Salutation with fome PicTurks, wnd ces of Ordnance. The Governour took this in fo good thry end pes orr, that he difparch'd a Petfon of better Figure to bid b:a Hip oo part, Welcome in his Name, and ar the fame time a libeWar. complere Sarisfaction as to their Bufinels and Intent in compleng thither, as alfo to fee fome of them athore. Our Entsilj (as they had Reafon for'r) were no lefs jealous and tender of their Safety, than the Turks of the Ouiet and Sccurity of their Town; and therefore Sent the Governour word, Thar tho they came purcly upon a Defign of Trade, yer thev mould not expofe themielves afhore, withour fufficient Pledges for their Security.
This the Governour quickly agreed to fatisfie them in, and accordingly, with another Prefenc, fent two Perfons of good Qualiry to remain as Hoftages a.Shipboard, and promife of good Entertainment to them that came a hore.

The two chief Merchants, with their Interpreters, landed prefently, and were receiv'd by a vaft Crowd of fic People and Officers that waited for their Arrival; the tran former only to gaze upon them, and the later to perform the Ceremony of bidding them Welcome. The Aga uras likewife ready to receive them in his Palace, and appeard in no fmall State as to his Drefs, Axendance, and all the Particulars of his Furnirure, and, by their Relacion, carried ir with much good Breeding, Civility, and Hearinels, rowards them ; bur a Tark is a myftericus Crearure, and the Aga for all his Complemenes is not ro be pronounc'd an honeft Man, till we have the Merchants
Chap. XXXIII.

Experience to prove him to be fa. In the whole Story of their Bufinefs and Defign in coming into thofe parts, no.thing was fo obliging to him, as thcir affuring him, they had Orders from the Eng/j/ో * Embaffador in India, to fcour all thofe Seas, and protect the Porss of the Couniry (and the Indian Ships thatyraded thither) from the Infolencies of Pirates of whar Nation foever: And that they had larely dene a piece of Jufti-e of this kind, upon two Ships of their own Counyíy, which were going to plunder a rich Ship of India; the truth of which the Guzurat Merchants would thortly confirm to him, who had nor been able to come chis Year, if they had not had the Promifc of an Engli/h Guard ar their return. This made the Aga fay to his Company, The Englifh were a Civil and Friendly Nation: That they mould live perfectly focure and cafie in this Country, and enjoy all the Liberries they had at ochers of the Graind Seignio's's Ports, and have the latt degrec of Affurance for all this, in his own, anki the Bafla's Firman.

Bur he was defirous to know of the Merchants, Why they were fo thy and fearful of him ar firft, and would nor come athore without Pledges left in their room? In reply to which, when they mention'd the forme: Violences offer'd to Sir H. Middicten and his Company, he told them, That Aga was indeed a very ill Man, and had been difgrac'd according to his deferts; but now they fhould be affor'd of another fort of Enrertainment; for which he gave them the moft folemn Oarh a Turk can take, by the Beard and Whiskers of the Prophet. And farther, chat none might be ignorant of the Friendly Trearment defigned for the Euglif ar that place, he would hatc their Liberties openly proclaim'd before the whole Town; by which Merhod all excufe and pretence for any AA of Difco;rtefic or Injuftice, flould be wholly taken away. Our Merchants deliver'd him the Caprain's Prefent (which he cook very kindly, and with manyThanks), and fo wenterway from him wo the Scrivano's Houfe. This Pcrfon wás blmoft as grear a Man in Moha, as the Aga himfelf, both upon the account of the Port and Srate he liv'd in, the Figure of Authority he bore there, and the main ftroke he had in the management of all Publick Bufinefs. 'Twas neceffary upon all thef: Accounts to fecure his Countenance and Friendihip in carrying on their Defigns; for tho' there was no danger of his. open coniradieting the Aga's Orders, yet a lecret Gradge or Diftafte in fuch a Perfon, might have done a milchief; and 'ris the beft way,not to let any Grear Man have caufe to think himfelf neglected or defpifed.
The Scrivano quickly promis'd to undertake the Pro tedion of their Affair. and efpous'd their Intereft with the fameZcal and Heartinefs the 2 .ga did; which was a grear Point gaind ; for while he held their Friend, they were fure ro hold the Aga faft, this latter being entirely guided in ail his Counfels by the former. Now all was clear and open before them, and the next Bufinets was to provide a convenient Houle in the Town for the Reception of their Goods, and their own fetrled Abode. They were under no Apprehenfions of Far, as to any rude Ufage or Affault in walking the Strects; for befides, that the Pcople appeard civil and courtious, and their ferene Countenances expruf'd a wel!-pleafedneís with them, they fiad the mighry Protection of the Aga's Oarh, and the Sacred Hairs of Maionce to appeal to irs that cafe
As for the *Town it felf, they rell us, they have fcarce ting of ita mer with any comparable ro is, for the cleanlinefs, neattomener pry nefs, and decenr management of it. There's no. fuch Sr H , Mid. thing as Dirt or Filth to befeen in any of the Streets; every thing of that kind being thrown into a certain common Receptacie which is conftantly fcoured by the Sea, and proves no offence to the Town. Every Man's Door is fwept and waterd Morning and Evcning, the Groifnd lies perfectly fmooth and level, fo that the Streets appear rather like fo many Bowling-Alleys, than places that are expos'd to the daily tramplings of Men, and Horres. The Houfes are all flat-roofid, builr moftly of Brick and Stone, and handfomely cover'd over with Plailter of Paris; they are nor generally above two Story high, but thar defect is made up by good Terraces ar top, where they have pleafant Summer-Houfes built of Mats and Canes. In thefe they pafs away the Night, and the firt Quarter of the Day; here they have the freth Air, and a lovely cooling Breeze from the Sea, with which when they are well fann'd, they are prepar'd to go through the forching heat of the remaining part of the Day.
This feems to be the greareft Burden, Foreigners (ufed to milder Climares) havero bear ar this place ; 'tisfoextravagantly hor, that'tis hard to endure the liehreft Cloathing; yea, e, en a Shirt upon one's Back; after the cool Breazhings of the Morning are over, and the Sun has recorcr'd any coniliderable height:

The Tride of this Town is very confidcrable, and fo is the number of Trades-men and Merchants, that inhabir or frequent it; the Shops are nearly built, and voell conrrivid, and in every one of the:n you have an'Epitomy of the Decency and good Order of the Town. There's i fair Market well furnified and fupplied our of the Counryy; and for their plenty of Provifion, 'ris fufficictit to fay, that Molin is feated in the Hapfy Arabic.
Their Strenget at this place is not grear, and they rely more upon their Soldiers, tian they do upon their Ordnance, or any fort of Fortification. Theres common'y \(2 c 0\) quarterd in the Tuwn, and a Body of 500 biore that lies a litte upin the Country, within sall, upon any,oscafion.
Our Merchants having thus feen the Town, went to take their Leaves of the Aga and Scrivano, before they went aboard again. And as it, happer'd, this was a raking the Aga ro leave in another fence than they inrended, or thought of; po awhy. for this Aga was in a few Days to iemove from that \(\mathrm{G}=-\) tion Aloha, vernment, and quir his place co another, who was as fien expected. However, he affur'd them, they mould find his Succeffor in all things as kind and careful of their, \(\mathrm{r}_{\mathrm{n}}\) terefts as he was, to whofe Favour and Good Management, he would bequeath them and their Affairs, and doubred not but they would confels the change was for the better.

This was the firft ftep of the Negotiation, which was happily and fuccefffully made; and they being recurnd the Turkih Pledges were difchargd in honourable fort. Thefe Perfons lik'd their Entertainment fo well, that others were willing to come and make the Experimenr; that could not pretend they were fent for Pledges; the scrivano Scrivano himfelf did nor fcruple to put himfelf inoo their farits aboard hands, thinking too well of the Englifh to be afraid of the Ship. any Treachery from them. He brought part of the Materials for a good Fcaft along with him, but left all the Scruples of his Religion behind him; he indnlged his Genius to the height, confounded all his Prophers Diftinctions of allow'd and forbidden things, and laid the Alcoran a foaking in Sack and Srrong-warers.
While they rode at Anchor about this place they tell as of a violent Storm of Thinder and Wind off from the Shore, that brought Clouds of Duft and Sand a Stipboard upon them, tho chey were then betrer chan a league from the land.
The new Aga was quickly come to enter apon his Go- xbe Mer. vernment ar Moba, our Englifh Ship paying him the Cl- chenis wais vility of her Guns ar his arrival: This he took extreamly upon the well, and fent for the iMcrchants athore out of hand, returning the fame Pledges that were before. Here they had all the fame Complements orer again, that his Predeceffor had made them, the fame folemn Affurances of Peace and Friendhbip, and quiet Trade; and now the Honour of Maiomat'sBeard was pawn'd a fecond rime for: he performance of the Covenants. But of how valuable a Confideration foever this mighr be amongit tie Turks, our Englifl:-men thought it a very poor Security, and therefore they were fo frce as to defire fomerhing cife befides his Oach ; their Bufmels muft ftand upon a furer. Foundation than that, fince they had not thar Opinion of his Propher, and his Beard, that he had Kimfelf, tho' they did no prefume to tell the Aga fo much. However they infifted upon a Security that might give a complete Satif faction both to themfelves and their Country; and this he as freely promifed, telling them they mould have his own, and the Baffa's Firman. This was all that could be defired, and the Merchanes let him know, they were fully. contented.
The Aga's good Humour bringing on a very free and The Tarks fami'iar Difcourfe, and amongtt orher things, Sir H. Mid- Accounr of dleton's Name being mention'd, they took the liberty to che Outrapers ask the, Aga, the Keafon of chofe Proceedings, and whar \({ }_{H}\) offerd tis prerence the Turks had for fo unparalleld a piece of Treachery as was then commited. He replied ro this, That the Vifier Baffa that then govern'd the Country, was by ifs own cruel and bloody Narure, difposd enough to fuck. Actions as thofe, but that he had ha:dy' perhaps gone fo far as he did, if the Turks and Arals by their Complaints of the Engijf, had not added Spurs to his furious Temper, and pultid him on : Frr they reported, That our Men were guilty of all the lewd, indecorous Actions that could poilibiy be thought of, and violated the Orders and Laws of the Piace (as well as thofe of good Manners) in fo extravagant a degree, that the People could bear with them no longer. That in their Debauches they would quarrel and fight with the Inhabitants; force themfelves inno their Houfes, and purfue their Women before their. Faces; affront their Religion (as they efteem ir), profane their Churches, by going and pifling againft the Wallsand Gates of them. I his was the Charge brought in againft chem, which if true, the Engilih may blufh while Infidels accuife them of fuch Crimes. One wou'd think fuch Men wère weary of their Lives, and wanted to be knock'd on the Head ; or at leaft that they had loft their Undertanding togerker with their Modefty.
\(B b=\) accufe
What Pcople are fo jealous of their Women as the Turks? And who are fo tender in all thofe Points as they? How ferere and harp a Revenge have they many cimes taken, for the fmallett appearance of Familiarity; for a Word, for a Glance, for a Sign, or even without any real necafion, when their own invincible Jealoufie has prompted them to it? And could it be imagin'd, that they worid be quiet and idie Spectators of fuch Actions as thefic? That they would endure Serangers to force themfelves into the Apartments of their Women, when they would as foon lee them dead, as fee them in any Company lefides their own? Patience in fuch a Cafe is not to be expected any where, except in a Country of tame, eafic, contented Cuckolds; much lefs is it to be expected from a Turk, that is, a Man made up of Choler, Jcaloufic, and Harred to che Chriftian Name.
And fo for piffing againft their Church-Walls, and Doors: It had been perhaps a lefs Provocation, to have fer Fire to them in another Sence, or planted a Battery of great Guns, and bear them down to the Ground; for this mighe have been the deftruction of them, bur would nor have polluted or defil'd insm, as the other Courfe did in the Turks Opinions. And 'cis no matrer how abfurd and foolith thofe Opinions are in themfelves, for if they are once firmly periwaded in their Minds that tis fo, there ought to be as much Caution us'd, as if they were ever fo well grounded and jultifiable; befides, 'tis a very grear breach of Good Manners, and the Common Righrs and Privileges, of Mankind, to affault the Religion of any People, or expole any thing to forn and contempr, that they efteem facred, tho' ar the fame time their Judgments may need better Information.
But afoer all chis, "cis ro be hoped, that our Englifh-men Accounn ris might be belyed by the Turks and Arabs in grear meafure; likcly the and that tho' fome part of the Charge might be true, fome Tarks Acmaipho be of the moft odious Particulars of it might be falfe. For (notro mention the Care and good Government of Sir H. Midaleton) why were not thefe Crimes objected ar firft ? Why was not Sir H. Middleton told when he was brought in Chains before the Aga, thar 'twas for the lewd Actions of his Company, that he and they were fo feverely handled ? The Aga and the Bafla had need of all the pretences in the World, to give a colour to that barbarous Action, and make it appear juft; or ar leaft plaufible : And was it porfible they could have a faircr and fuller Charge than this? Or tharthey thould negicet it, and norreproach the Englifh with thefe Villanies? Ir looks as if the Charge was not then made, but had been parch'd up afterwards to ferve a curn; they were then in a hurry, and had nor time for a formal Procefs; but after the Execurion was over, they had leifure to find our the Crimes, and draw up an Indictment accordingly. And 'tis a fign, thar there was more of the Injuftice and Treachery of the Turks in it than they are willing to own, fince that wicked Baffa was quickly after fent for to Conftantinople, to anfwer thofe Proceedings to the Emperor ; and tis certain, that it coft him (at leaft) his Place and Preferments, and thar hic was condemn'd to a Life of difgrace and obicurity. However, fince our Merchants themfelves do not fcruple to own, the Englifh were guilty of fome Diforders there; thofe difmal Confequences, togecher with what has been alledg'd, may ferve ro deter all that go into thofe parts, from any fuch irregular Practices amongt the revengeful Turks and Arabs.
This Apa the By the way, 'twas a pretty odd Circumftance, that che cane dar 2 Merchants thould be all this while difcourfing with that \({ }_{20 \text { cid. }}\) sir \(H\). very Man that had before captivared Sir \(H\). Middleton, and treated their Conntry-men like Dogs; thar the new Aga thould be the old Knave that had done all that milchicf. Yet'rwas really fo, as they found afterwards ; 'rwas the fame Man, tho the Scrivaro folcmnly denied it, and being a ftrange Face to ttem, they could nor have known him, if the Aga's own honeft Confeffion had nor affur'd them on't afterwards. He thar was then as rough and fierce as any Beaft of Prey, was now as mild and as gencle as a Lamb; his fern Carriage was all laid afide, and forne Corrcetion (ris probable) had raught him better Manners and Deporment. He had the good Fortune to come 0.5 upon caficr Terms than hisold Mafter the Baffa; but that's the adrantage of the littie Villains, they can pretend to te emp'oy'd and fet a-work, and fo llip their own Nacks cut of the Collar, while the Great Ones go to por.
Their Agree- Br: to the more important Concerns of their Trade and m.ne wich Bufnefs: The Agreement made with the Scrivano for the Sorvaro Cuftom; was Three in the Hundred for all Goods borh imported and exported, which was pretended much more favourable than what was commonly allow'd; and then for Gold and Silver, and all Moncy in general, to pay nonc.

And now the Firmans wacre drawn up with all the difpatch imaginable, and in a General Affembly of the Merchants of the Town, the Aga himfelf publith'd the Liberries granted to the Ergiffs
The Copies of thele Firmans are here fubjoyn'd as the were taken out of the Original Arabick.
A Faithful and perfeat Firman, given by she Grace of God, to the worthy Ceptrin of the Englif, Andrew Shilling to the Mercluants, and to all fuch as ere come with him at chis prefent; and to all the Nation of the Englifh, which 乃acll com: to this Port herenfter: For their good Ufage, and friendly Enteraninment by the Grace of God, and by the Faich we have in our Holy Propbet Mahomet; with she Licence of our Great Lord and King, to whom the Great God of the World give long Life : By the Fidelity, Trutb, and Authority of the great Vificr of Sinan, Mahomet Baffa; whom tbe great Grd give ftrength and Power in bix Kingdom : And by Map tibe faithfuinefs, and true meaning, and command of me Rofad Raiab Aga, newt Governour of the Town of Mocha; to be given to the Great Nation of the Englifh, with all faitl.fulnefs.

1 The Governour Raiab Aga, do give Liberty and Licence to the Englifh Nation, to come bitber to sbis Part, to receive Friendly Entertrinment, to bring afooer their Goods, to buy and fell with all freedom; to carry Juch Goods as then bury aboard, without lett or linderance: And bave made Con tralt with tbem, that for all Goods the land, shey fall pay Three by the Hundred, not in ready Moner, but in Goods; and for what sbey carry awey aboard, fo it be Mexcbandice, and not Prooijion for their Ship, as Vituals, or fuch like, that then foall pay ready Money at Tisree by the Hundred Yikemife, ncitber more nor lefs, but es it is contrated by outulgreement. That no Inbabisants of this Town, nor People of she Coumtry, neisbers Turk nor Arab, Sall injure them; but they fall beve dinimex tbeir Liberty to tbeir Contents. And that thsi my Firman frantic and Conerali \(\dot{x}\) given shem with \(a\) good Heart, and true mean- difum ing to fee it performed, I witnefs the Trush before the moft bigh God, and our Holy Propbet.

Signed with my Cbop, the Fourteenth * Day of Mag, Do in the Year of our Prophet Metomet 1027.

\section*{The Bafla of Sinan's Firman.}

TN the Name of G OD. This Letter writsen mith she 1 Word of Truth of the moft ligh GOD: To all Nations, Governours,and Officers,over the People under my Government: G OD keep you all.
Know ye, Tbat we hace given our faithful Firmen wo:to the Hands of Seignior Andrew Shilling, Caprain of the Englif, Joreph Salbank, bis Companion; and to their Friend, Edward Heynes, Merchant; which are come to the Port of Mocha, for sbem to go and come with sheir Sbips to the faid Port, and there to buy and fell all manner of Mercbandice freely, and with all conternt. And we do furtber give them by virture of this orre Firman in the Faith of the Great GOD, and cur boly Propbet Mahomet; in sbe Faith of our Great Lord, whom. GOD preferve; and in the Faitl of Our Self, Gevernour of the Prooince and City of Sinan; free Licence for \(t 0\) fell and buy sbere, bere, and in all other of our Ports, and Towns of Trade witbin our Government, as freely and guieth;, without injury, let, or moleftation, as any of tbe Traders and Mercbants which come to shat Port of Mocha, or any orber, of what Nasion foeeser. And do confent and agree with them, to pay for Crftom of fuch Goods as they bring, Three by the Humdred, and for what they buy and cerry forth, Tbree by the Hundred Likepife. And do promife and frocar, in the true way of an Onth, to keep our Word with them in this Agreement; and give yout all heriby to know, that they foall pay neither more nor Iffs. - And further, Ther they fhatll receive neitber injury, hart, nor denger, nor any difcontent given them, either to their Perfons or Goods, lut they and thetr Netion §ball bave, as from their firft Skip that came to this Kingdom, now tbri, fo ever to the laft Ship, sbat facll arrive berenfter; the like Friendly Entertainmenr, and Good Vfage, ad we bave commended to be given tbem at this prefent. And that thes wं mp faithfill meaning, sbì o:er Firman which comes to your Hends Sall be a Wimefs of the Tiuth.

Written and Signed with my Royal Chop, from our Court of Sinen, this Eighteenth Day of fuly, in the Year of cur Propher Mabomet 1027.

The Copy of the Governour of Moba's Firman, given to Mr. Salbaink, for good Ufage in his way to Siman, is this.
IN the Name of the Great GOD. Tix Letter of Com: 1 mandment in the Name of our grect Lord (whom GOD keep) to all Pesple, Governours of Towns and Cities: Know ye, that it is our W.II and Commandmant, That when the Bearer hereof, Jofeph Salbank, or any of his' Pcop!c, or am of she Nation of the Englifh, come to your Places of Governmens, you ufe them, bim, and all mbomfoever, friendly, and inith all Courtefies: That you mrke them pay for Irituals, or other Neceffaries, no more tban ordinary; but rather make Provifion for them, and aflist them. And for what Goods they fall carry awny, or bring up into the City of Sinan, you fball sabe no Duties of them, as \(\dot{r} \cdot t h=\) Cuftom to other \(M=n\), but les them pafs free, diing them neither wrong nor injury. Wierefore, aII yout to mbom this Letter or Command fball come, which I have given inro bis b.ond, I commend yout all, in the Name of: the Baffa, (whom GOD blefs) so fee chis performed mithall dilizence.

Given ar Moche, the Twentieth of furic; A. 1027: of our Propher Mabomet.

This latter Firman, as appears by the Conrents of it, was given to Mr. Salbank, for his Security in his Journey to Sinan; his Bufinels thither, was to receive from ferred baflas own Hand, that Firman of his which was inferred before, and to make fome convincing. Trial of the mighry Favour and Kindnefs which the Aga prerended he had for the Erflifh. And is feems all his Entertainment, both uponthe Road, and ar Sinan roo, did very well correfpond wiyl' the Aga's Pretenfions. Ar his entratice into any Townd note, he was always met by a Party of Soldiers that came ont to be his Guard to the Governours of thofe places, by whom he was receiv'd with all imaginable Courtefie.
His Receprion at Sinan was fomething more pompons, 2 brave Troop of Horfe being difparch'd to meet him about 2 Mile our of Town, and 2 Houfe very richly furnifh'd, made ready for his Enterrainment. He wiss firt of all carefs'd by the principal Xeriff, and the Baffa's Treafurer, and after cwo Days reft, had Audience of the Buffa himfelf.
Sod Sivof According to his Report our Eng/ifb Cloth would prove misis clach a good Commodiry at Sinom, and the adjoyning Country.

One Reafon for which is, the fevere Cold of the Climate, which pinches the Inhabitants for eight or nine Months; the Summer is hardly a Summer hereabours, and under the warmeft Rays of the Sun (he fays) a Man might very well have endured a Furr-Gown Bur befides this, there is a large Court at Sinan; and no lefs than 40 or 50000 gallant Turks beionging to it ; to which-add the feveral Armies thar lie up and dawn in the. Country, cither employ'd in reducing the perty Arnb Kings, or elice in guarding the Turkifh Prerenfiens from their Incurfions. Thefe do all wear either high-priz'd their Incurfions. Thefe du all wear either high-priz'd Venctian Cloths, or quilted Corton Crats, and Indien Pinradoes for want of goodh Clort; and no doubr but our Englijh ones would anfwer all the purpoles of the Venetian and the Indian, and be very agrecable to thofe Soldicers in their Marches through the Weather, and cold Nighrs Lodgings in the open Ficld. lodgings in the open Ficld.
In that time that this Eugliß Ship lay at M:lan, the Grand Seignior, Sultan achmet. died, feveral Cercmonies being perfornid upon that occafion in the Grand Mofque of that place: But che new Sultan was pleas'd to confirm both the Baffa and Aga in their refpective Places and Offices for feven Years longer; fo thar the Engliß Trade in thofe parcs, as it had ies beginning, was alfo to have its growth and progrels under the Influences of their Government Upon the whole, the Turks continued fair, juft, and civil to the lalt; they made good to a Punctilio wharever they pretended to, and did in fome meafure attone for former Abnfes, by the Honefty and Obligingnefs of their prefent Deportment; tho' ar the fame time 'ris poffible car might have fome ftroke in the matier too; for the Englifh were able to command and force rheir own Trade and (poil the Turks when they plcas'd : And 'twas matter of fact, that fome Ships had pals'd.by Meha, and went to Guddr, the Port of Mecca, for fear of falling into the hands of 10 much dreaded an Adverfary, and the Mallebars would not come in neithet, but ftaid d at Aden; till the \(E n-\) Ulage. given them their Pats for Security, and good Jage.
But the Effects were very agreeable, let the Caufc be whar it will; and if the Turks can't be juft and true our of Confcience, and love to Vertue, let them be fo our of fear of power and punifhment. They lofe the Honour of acting from a Noble Principle; bur other People need nor ofe the Profirs of a Commerce with them upon that account.
Our Ship having done this confiderable Service for her Country in the Red Seas faild away from Mche for the Coift of India again.

\section*{C in a P XXXIV.}

\begin{abstract}
An Account of all the Proceedings betivien the Englifh and the Dutch, with reference to the Banda Affairs: Together with the feveral Grounds of the Pretenfions of both Parties, and the Controverfes bappening thereupon. Taken out of the fourrnals and Letters uritten upon that Subjed, by Mr. Spurway, Mr. Courthop, Mr. Hayes, and fome otbers.
\end{abstract}

\author{
 Adoentures of she firf part of the Voyage thitbre, butt onls the Events \(t\) bat bappen'd there, wittouts ang manner of intrco

}

HAving difpatch'd all Affairs at Bantam, we removd from thenceto Macaffar (with our two Slips the Soan and the Difence). where we expected to take in 100 Quoynes of Rice. The King of chis place was, and had been a long time a moft inveterateEnemy to the Dutch; he would not allow any one of them fo much as to land upon his Country, and thofe thar fell inno his hands ar any time were reveral Wrongs which the People of the Illand incruding tortune 25 Macnjar, and that in an abrupt fome recivd from them; they had feizd and captivated a grear deal of application and fair means to be uisd to infome of the Natives, and amongtt the reft the King of croduce them. wirh any fafety amongft that People again.

A large Ship of theirs comes to an Anchor, and fends "unto the King of England, and lad given greund to Richard her Skitt weil mann'd athore, the Company of which Hunt, Merclantriflere, with all fetring up tbe King of Engcame directly up to ot r Howfe. The Macaffars were pre- land his Fing upon the Caftle of Pooloway, and ficooring off fently gather aioour them, and would have hackd them three Pieces of Ordnance in Tok:n of the Crvenent of the Men withour any farther (crumony, had not we catm'd the of Pooloway and Poolaroon, Letreen che Englifh and them; Fury of that Mubb for a l. xte rime, and gor the Men fi- when they did furicuder the froo forcfaid Ihands to the King cird: ider an linglif Guard, till we went to give Nictice of England, and lond given grocind to the Englifh, being done to the \(K\) ng. Th.s we did, that he mighe not be jealous of us, and 11 fpect any trearherous concorn of ours with the \(H\) trinters in th. \(s\) drtumpr.

The King of Alacalja, and fome of his Confederates, came d wn immediar:ly with 2000 Men; and here the Dirci had infalitity been execuied after the mott rigorcus manner. if we had not tood thear Friends, and interceeded for their deiverance. The K.ny, at our intreaty, gate them their itios and liberty to revern to their Ship; but'swas fartly becaufe he defpived fo poor and trifling a Rerenge, and ineended to difcharge a healier Blow (when he did ftrike the Dutch, than that came to.
B. t this warning, it feens, was nct fifficient to perfwade them to keep our of danger; for the next Day they were at the fane work again, coming on with their Loat to the Shore, tho the, Law an Army of enraged Encmics riady to oppofe them. The King having now loft all his Patience, to fee himiclf thus affronted again, fent out fome of his Matanfy us in their Praws to intercept them, who did their Buniteis cffetuaily, get betwecnethem and the: Ship, boarded them and cut off every Man of them.
We were at this time commanded to keep clofe within Doors; by which we piainly found, thar there was fome Jealoulie of a Corrcfponderce betwecnis and the Dutch in this Defign. And whar they Rould make this unaccourrable Arempt for, unlefi to render us fufpected'amongt the Macaffirs, and fo overthrow our Incereft there, is not eafie to imagine.

We fit fail from hence for Pos'recor, and had part of the way the Company cf this Dutch Ship; we were forcd to relicve them at Sea with our Provifions, as well as we had done at Land with our Intereft; and for che reward of all, they reported of us, thar we were the caufe of their Mens being killid at Macaffar.
Our great Bufmefs at Poolaroon, was, to trear with the Inhabirants, about the furrender of that, and the other Illands, into the tands of HisMajefty of England. * This was what the Bandanefe themielves had voluntarily offer'd; they were never put upon't by the Englijh, but 'twas entirely their own motion: Bur fince they had long courted us ro ir, we came now to make a formal Acceptance of their Otfer, if we. found chem ftill in the fame mind.
All the Orankares of the Iflands being mer together to confult upon this Sffair; that we mighr proceed the more fafcl, and riguiari, we firt of all demanded, Whether ever they hadmade any. Cortract with the Durci, or given them an: Ground for Pretenfions to thofe Illands? To this the: repiicd, Thar there never had teen any fuch thing : that the Dutch were their mortal Enemies, never had been, nor never n:ould betheir chelen Mafters.
We then pitt the Quefti! \(n\), Whecher they did unani moufiy, willingly, and without all deceir, and fecret referves, furrender chu fe Illands to the ufe of the King's Ma-dilivertd up jefty maintain what they had done? To this they anfwer'd in the affirmative, with one Confent, declaring they defir'd nothing more, than to be reckon'd a part of the Englijh Empire.

So the Bufnefs was concluded, the Writings drawn and fcicmniy deliver'd into our hands; and in Token of their Subjection,' a Turf of Earth, and a Nutmeg-Tree prefented at the fame time; which Ceremony alfo was to be yearly renew'd.

Wc on o:r parts were obliged to furminh them with Rice, Cloth, and cthe: Commodities, to affift them with our Shipping urion occafion, and treat all their Enemies as our own.

The Copies of the feveral Surrenders are here fubjoyn'd, as they were tranllated out of the Original Malayan imo Engifle, by fome of our own Country-men.

The Conernts oc the Gurr nder or the Mlands of Pooloway, and Poolaroon, in Banda, to His Majefy.
Thismex
ranf ex by \(T\) His triring is for the Agricment between atl the Orankajes

 the limius fo was not jat farprized in the Hollanders, the People of Poolotranfatei: way, and Poolaroon, badffurendred the two forefoid Ifands Revern Herus. it wes he furpriž of Pooloway, cighe Deys: And after sbat thers taken by the Hollanders." And whereas at thest sime, there mocre but tro Englifh-men upen Pooloway, of weak defcrice, who being not able to do tle Count defcrice, who bcing not able to -do the Country any gocd, went awny to Poolaroon, rogethar with the Aicn of Pooloway, in ane Small Pram, who bed Lro:ght amay with rhom. Earth and Writings for the eftabijkigig of Covennats beswixt them and the Men of Poolaroon : Thic ffore now the troo forefaid Iflands are in the lonnds of she King of England only, according to our Surrender. But whereses at this sime tirergio she Affults of the Hollanders, Pooloway is fallen into sheir bands and pofSJfon, if it fall plenfe lis Majefiy to recover is unto bimfelf igrin, be foll do thercin noughis lur \(\mathcal{J}\) tiftice, becaufe the In babitants thsercof have al folutcly furrcridred it unto bim: And if his Mrojeft's pleafure be so the contrary, let it be as fayll fecm beft in bis Higlonefs Fudoment. But shis is fure, sbat we the Men of Pooloway and Poolaroon, have furrendred she two forcfeid I/ands unro His Majefg's Power, and camot go from; or revole our Word agnin even to the laft dos, and bce ving linked our falves nith she Englin in one Bond to live and die cogether. Furtbermore, all she Men of Pooloway, and Poolaroon, do covenant, to fend every Year to she King of England, a Branch of Nutmegs, in Token of their Defigns dyjiving sbat thri Offer of all sbic Orankeyes of Pooloway and Poolaroon, being once offered out of their true Love unto she King of England, be not bad in oblivicn or rejected.
England, Scotland, France, by the Grace of Gad is King of England, Scorland, France, and Ireland, ix esfo now by the Merco of God King of Pooloway end Poolaroon:. Morecoer, we do all of us make an Agreement, that the Colimodities in Whe two forsfaid IAands, namc'y, Mace and Nutnisis? we carEot, nor will fell to ans other Niation, but only to slie King of England bis Subjects, according to the true meaning of our Covenants, and Jurrendring of the two aforefaid I/lands to Hi Majeft, poish all that ix (in) them to be folely as bis difpofing, wolvich sis and Soall be the Reafon that we cannot trade. with any ofbers. And whereas all cbe Orank forefaid Iflands bave made sbis Agreement, let it be credited that it was nos thade in madnefs, or loofely, as the breathing of the Thind, but becaufe it wess concluded upon in their Hearts, they ceinnor revolt or fwerve from she fame again. Moreover, all we togetber do defire of Hir Majeft, that fucb sbings as are nor firting in our Religion, as urireacrent Vjage of \(W \mathrm{Wcmen}\), meintaining of Swine in our Country, forceable enking away of Mens Goods, mifufing of our Men, or any ficL-like tbat are ercepted against in our Laws, shersthey be not put in praEice, being out of our \(\tau\) ife and Cuftom, that the miv not prove a Blrmifh umio our Religion, and 'that we pacy receive no ocec.Finn to deal unkindly woith the Englifh. Furtbermore, if any Englihh-man will beccme of our Religion, we will accept of him upor Counfel: Or if any of our People will become a Cbriftiar, be fall be fo likewife upon like Ccurfel, defiring.tbis Promife that fuch things be nor done in fucb manner as may breed difcontens bernixt us and tbe Englifh, wobich ive do vern cernefily defre of Bis Mrijft. Finaill, at this time all tbe Orankeges of Pooloway and Poolaroon, do again make a Cororinns Dith Nathaniel Courthop, Ceptain of the rwo Sbips riding bere, Sophon Cozocke, and Thomas Spurway, giving Ground, and furrendring tle tivo forefaid Ifends unto olye King of England, being alrecdy partly in the bronds of Nathaniel Courchop, Sophon Cozocke, and Thomas Spurway, and that not only now, but as being done leag firce, when Captain Caftleron went from Poolnway with four Ships, all the Orankages of che two forefaid Ihands, broing corecd witb Richard Hunt, Merchant of Pooloway, withel, hro ving fat sbe King of. England bris Flag zifon the Caftle of Pooloway, and Sot iff two Pieces of Ordriance, in Icken of she Covennnt betpeen the Orankayes of Pooloway, and Poolaroon, and the Englift : And as it hatb been done beretofore, fo at than time wee do renem it with Nathaniel Courthop, Sophon Cozocke, and Thomas Spurway.

> Emmon Pooloway. Sahandar Pooloway.
> Sabandar Wrat.
> Sabandar Poolarcon.
> Sabandar Lamecoe.
> Nahoda Boa.
> Hartib Irtam.
> Hatrib Pootee.
> Sabandar Trear
> Emmon Lancecóe.
> Sabandar Locon.

\title{
Chap. XXXIII. Surrender of Batida IJes to the Englifh.
}

The Surrender of Rofinging and Wayre to his Majefty.
\(T\) His Writing is for the Agreement between all the \(O\) : 1 rankayes of the Country of Wayre, and of the Ifland of Rofinging, and the Englifh Nation in manner as followeth, viz. That whereas, in the time that the Country of Banda was in trouble, by reafon of sheir Enemies, fo that the were no longer able to withftand them, they therefore atreed with Nathaniel Courchop, Sophonic Cozock, and Thomas Spurway ; thus much in effet, that is, that they do firrender the Counsery of Wayre, and the Ifiand of Rofinging, unto she King of England, in refpeta that they are not able any more so.ftand for themfelves againft thair Encmies; that now the faid Country of Wayre, and she Iland of Rofinging is only in the Potver of the King of England. And whereas the Agreement is once made, we ibe aforefaid Orankayes cannot in our Confcionces diffolve it again, but that it farll laft for ever, until the last Day of doom: And that the Englinh Jhall be ws the Men of the Country of Wayre in all Privileges. Furthermore, the Men of she aforefaid Country of Wayre, and the I/and of Rofinging, do promife and agrce to Jend unto the King of England one brancb of Nutmegs, as a Token of cheir forefaid Agreement of all us the aforefrid Orankayes; on condition that ibe faid Tcken of out Agreement be not ont of memory nor diffolved, nor we dif-fteemed. And we do with inas Almighty God would vouclfafe to give Profperity to the King of England, Scorland, France, and Ireland; and now by the Grace and Mery of God, the King of the Country of Wayre, and tbe Jfand of Rofinging, and that more, we will floop to no orber King of Potertate, lutt onty wnto His Majcft; and ifter Him to all His Poffcrity. Furthermore as concerning our Trade, we 告o all traly agree, not to Sell any of cto Nuts or Mace, whith the aforefa;d Ccun-ries do afford to any other but oreze the King of England, bis Subjects, becaufe woe bree wisolly unto bim furrendered tbe aforefaid two Countries of Wayre and Rofinging, with all that sherein is, or mobatfoever it doth, or foall yield, it is the King of England's own; and this fhall ftand for a Reafor that we cannot trade with any other Nation: . Moreover; we intreat tbe King's Majeffof England in earrift manner, tbat fuch tbings as arc not befiting to our Religion, as unmannerly ufage of our Wcmen, maintaining of Swine in our Courtry, beating and abufing of our Men, or taking awery of them perforce againgt their Whills, as if they were sheir own Slaves, or any otier fucb like Attempts, shat are beld umbefeeming in our Laws (we fay) shat we do entreat bis Highnefs shat none of thefe or furcb like be put in practife by bis Subjects, becaufe the are things difallowable in our laws, and fo being commisted, will redound to the overthrow thereof; and toe therely migbr be forced to deal unkindly with the Englifh thereforc. Morecoer, if any of the Englikh bereafter feall bave an Affection to be Circumeifed, and become as one of us, it fant be done upon Jufficient Ccunfel between the reft of the Eng. liih and Us, or if any of us will become a Cloriftian in shat Caufe, the like Counfel folll be be'd, and this fall not be done for any Mifdemeanour of the party willing fo to surn; becaufe that mey breed a Diffenfion between the Englioh and us. And whereas this Agrecment was made in che Prefence, and by the Confent of the King end Sabandar of Wayre, the Sabandat of Rofinging, Emmon Harib; and all the reft of the Orankayes, of the Countries of Wayre; and the Iflands of Rofinging: This fatl befor a Tefimong that it is not done in madnefs, or in the memner of the brestlying of WI ind; but that it was alfo as weill Theurgto in ourr Hearrs, as Jooken with our Mouths, and therefore we cennot, nor will go from it again, but that it foll fo fand until the diffolution of the World ; Neirher fball there any Doubts rife in our Hearts of angether, luat that we the Men of Wayre and Rofinging are only the King's Majefties of England's Subjefts; and if any trouble bercafter do bappen in the forefaid Countries, tre will be contented as well to die, as to live soretber with the Englifh, beceufe we will be fubject to one King, and tbis fallf ftand for a Reafon, thict any being in league with us, Bell alfo be in lergue with the Englifh, & perconura, be thet is near the Englifh, foull be near Vs, becaufe we will by no means agnin divorce our felves one from the otber. Firally, at the time twis arrcement wes made, all the Orankayes of Pooloway and Poolaroone weri theitneffes thereunto; all the Orankzyes of Pooloway and Rolinging bave unto the afore faid Premiffesfet their Hands.

The King of Wayre. The Sabandar of \(\begin{gathered}\text { ayde. }\end{gathered}\) Emman of IWarc

The Bandanefe and we now looked on each other as intimare Fricids and fellow SubjeAs; our Relipion and Cuftoms did nor agree together, bur we had our Referves onboth fides in all there Refpects, and could enjoy thofe Liberties apart from each other, which we could not mare in common berwixt us
Provifion was made that we might be firmly united in our Civil Concctins; tha our othet Interefts were nor to be mized rogether. This Bufinefs was farther folemnized with the Difcharge of our Grear Guns, and the ferting up the Englifh Colours in the Inands, and now they were made Englif has much as 'twas ponible for them ro be, without an Encroachment upon their Privileges. But we were like very fpeedily to be pur upon the Defence of our new Territories; the Dutch would not give their Confent to his Bargain, and pretended to difpute both the point of Title and Pofteffion too
The firft touch was only a Bravado in coming up to the Durch Poolaroon, and hanging our a bloody Strcamer, telling us prepare to thereby whar we mult expect from them, and that bloo- difturb dy doings would follow upon ourSertemencric there. Howcerer having given us this waming we foll to fertifying the fland as well as we could, raifing two Forts, which we called by the Names of our Ships then there, the Swon and the Defence. The Swain Fort ftands advantageouly, commandsthe Road at pleafure to the Eaftern fide, where The Ensitio all the beft riding is for the Wefterly Monfon. .Shortly fortify. fier this they came with three mighry Ships into the Jmman Road, and lay ar an Anchor clore by rurs; this obliged us to difpatch a Meffenger to them to know their Pre rentions, and to offer them a little friendly Advice. 'Tis to be confefs'd that our Commiffion ordered us to fend the Dutch word immediately upon the Surrender, that they might not pretend ignorance of our Right, and come there to moleft us as they had formerly done; and this Letter lay by us ready written, but we knew not how to convey it, for neither the Engl: 6 nor Randanefe cared to go nearthem, for fear of being made Prifoners. Bur 'rwas well enongh as "rwas; and now thery were come themrelves for't, we could eafily pur it into their Hands. The Letter was delivered to their Chief Commander, and the Copy of the Surrender fhewn, and at the fame time they twere demanded whether/ever the Inand of Poolncon was refigned to them. They could not fay that any fuch Delivery was ever friade nor deny the Evidence and-Truch of this Surrender now made to us. We farther advifed them to reftore us the Poffeffion of the IOand of Pooloway, which was as much his Majefties of England's Richt as any of the other Mands of Bond beafernencic tow und his Comman whe llands or Banda, Dutch and tow under his Command, and not leave the matrer to be Encicin. determined by a bloody War, according to the intent of heir Colours. And laftly wetold them their time was imited to fix Glaffes, and they muft be gone our of the Road when they were rin, or elfe the Bandanefe would fire upon them; and indeed they would have done in as the very firft fight of the Ships if we had nor made them forbear. They would fain have protracted the time, and Itaid till nexr Day, but when that was denied, defrred till mid-night, but the Gunis were ready mounted upon the Shoar, and the imparient-Bandensfe would not permir. them to lie ar Anchor long; they love them much ar the fame rate that the Peopic of Macafir do ard were itin their Power, they would do them the famé kindneffes.
We were fince informed that they came with a defign to berray us, or beat us our of che Road, and thes had maderhe Atrempt, but they faw ourStrength anhoar, the Forts well provided, and the Gunners ready to give fire upon the leaft figm from the Ships. It had been well for us if in this dificulr Circumftance we had maken a more nice care to preferve our felves from Danger and Inconveniencies; but the rafhners and wilfulnefs of fome amonght us, wasa very great prejudice to us, and rended mighrily to the laying of us open to the Power of the Dutch.

One of cur Mafters waning Water, would needs go The smizt over ro IVryre upon Lentorefide, there to fupply himfelf; lot this was not only contrary to the Opinion of the reft, bur to the Minds of the Bandencfe too; who fearing fome njury from the Dutch, offer'd rathicr to fetch the Warer in their own Praws. But good Councel and kind Of fers fignified nothing; fo they went and warered, and coming back again weré raken by the Dutch; our Swan had not above 20 able Men in her, and *the Dutch Ship ar leaft 160 , freln, ftour Souldiers, juft drawn our of the Caftles of Nero and Poulprecy: They carried her prefently away to Nero, with a vaft deal of Infolence, Triumph, and Boafting; and hadtuiey fank a whole Flect of Englifh, they could not faitithave made more noife. They frewed the catrered Stip to the Bandanefe as a Tró-phee of their Victory, and bid them fee by this how \({ }_{r} \quad\) greinn wrim mach mighteicr by Sea, their King of Hollend was, than sportin! drawa from the Premiffis, becanfe 160 Durch) had bear 30 Englif?, ha'f of which werc Cripples. St. Gecrge of Eniland tro might be a very good Champion for all this, and nortarnod a Chish or a Coward (as the Dutch) faid bewas) tho his Banners were not victorious at this rime.

Estriction
Upon the N'ews of this Lofs, we prefently fent over to Nero to demand the Reafon of their taking the Ship, and deraining Mca and Gcods; but could ger no other Anfwerfrom them, bur that time thould bring is to light yet to add to the Civi'iry, they concluded with a threar ning, to come and drive us from Poolercont in a ve ry litule time. Miny fuch comfortable Meffages as thefe they fent us; and were continnally letting off their. Cannon at Nere and Pecion, \(\%\), to ltrike a terrour into us bur fill they did nothing, and we hoped for the benefir of the ereligh the old Proverb, Thar threatned Pcopic live long. Ye Fority wen fince they were fo free as oo tell us their minds in this sinericy plain and open manner, and we had no reafon but to take by ferlaren, their Words, and conciude they fooke truth in the cafe which is col- we fet our felves ro make ill things as ready for theirEnter fatis.解 makea Vifit à Poolerere:There wasa litrle l0and lying clofe by, that was of very freat corcern to well be fecured and forrificd ky res. It was whelly ceftirute of Inhabitans and no way fir to be made a divelling, phace of, being all cucr-run with Trees and Buftes; but 'twas of confider able ufe in rime of War, and a Fort erected there would command the whole Road.

The Ditch were fenfibic of this Advantage, and were dabling thereatouts in order to get the Inland into their own hands; which had they done, we had as good have quitted Pcol, aroon to them too, for our Ships going in or out muff fill have been under the command of their Ordnance. With rwo or threc good fhot therefore we obliged them todefirt from har Arempt, and make way for us ro come thither our felves; and we fortified the place fo far, that we beliered we hould be capable of giving them fome Difturbance if they pretended to make an Artack upon Poolarcon. But what good will all the Care and Prudent Forefight in the World do, where Treachery is at work to undermine and render all ineffectual.
This was our Misfortune; our own Men prov'd Knaves and Villains to us, and did what in them lay to overwhedm us with an inceitrable ruine.
We had loft one Ship before, by the rath and headftrong management of her Mafter, and now we loft the fecond by a treacherous Combination of the Mariners.
The Dofmee lote roo.
Thefe Villains laid their Heads roce:her, and cither cut the Cabies, orlet the Ship drive; butbowerer'twas they went away to Niro, and got und ar the Protection of the Caftle. Some of them prefently landed, and went boafting to the Dutci, of the wertiy Expluir they had done, and were cen ready to go togecher by the Ears, abour the Principal Share in the itonour of ir; they could not agree who was the greaten Rogue of the Company, and bad been forwardeft to berray the Intercft of bis Country.
Befides, they were fo impudent as to carty a Kan of Wine ahoarro driak the Folleniersticalch, and 'ris pro babie Confution to us at Pcolinroon at the fame uite.

Tbe Dieche examined them ftrialy, and, there was no cover ticm. necd of a Rack to make them confefs the Secrets of our Affairs; they pourd out all they knew withour the lcalt resret, and hid us open as far as 'rwas poffible wo mould be difcover'd. This heighened the Pride and In-- Folerice of the Dutol, ard maile them ten times more no: Xy than before; they threamed us bitictly, even when they faw our Strength, but their Infults were intolerable now ther knew our weaknefs, and in what part they cou'd mot lenabiy injure us. But this was like to produce a worfe Effed in making the Bandenefe grow jealous of us; this eiction to them fmels of Treachery and Defign, and they beliered we were all in a Plor to bring their Morral Enctics the Dutch in upon them.

Their galic
Sanatich dit

Twas a wonder they had notbroke out inro 2 Genetal Murinic, and while the Ferment of the Sufpicion work'd and inthamed them, given, it vent by fome fidden and defperate Rifing upon us. The fery, revengeful Temper of the Iadians feldom allows fober Arguing, Delibratins, and Examining Matrers in Kuch Cales as thefe, where their diberties arechreamed. They are generally fir making as quick Work as poffible in cheir own Defrnce ; let who's will fand to debate the point pro and con, if they feea Proceeding thar has an ill Afpeta towards them; they'll pur a ftop ro it as foon as may be, by in! volving all that hayc 2 hand in is in a cerain volving all that have a hand in is in a cerrain DCftruction. ftruction.
We have reafon to fet this down amongt the other Favours of Providence to us, and think is nira litt!c happy to have efcaped fo difmal a cumult as this mish: have rais'd. We madea @hift to quice the difturbed Minds of the Bendenef, and convinced them that what they thoughr to beour Treachery, was meer misfortine, and 2 lors we bitterly refented. Matters ftanding thus between the Dutch and us, there were fome Atrempts and Mocions made on both fides towards the bringing them inso a beticr pofture. And after feveral to no purpofe, themethod tapen ar laft was, that we upon the receiving valuable Pledges from them, fent over a Commiflioner in a Gally of theirs to Nero, to difcourfe the point there with their
 ing the Difference if ever it would be ended, which yet witites we faw litule hopes of bythe Succefs of this Conference Dmate For the Dutch carried ir exrecamly ftiff and high, and \({ }^{n}\). were no way difposid to come to a friendly Conclufion; but upon fuch rerms as we efteemi bafe and difhonoura ble, and mutt have abus'd our Iruft to have fubmitred o. Our Ship, and Goods, and Mcn could nor be retored bur upon the Surrender of Poolaroon into re re hands; that isin order to the recovering a fmaller Right friman an we muft yield to do as unpardonable Wrong; we muft minath be Iraytors to our King and Country, violate folcmn mods Leagues and Engagemenss, facrifice the Lives, and Liberries of the Bendanef, and leave all ar their Mercy, or elfe we muft fiave no Peace nor Juftice done us. A veryfine Propofal; 'rwas hardly confiftent with Modefty ro make ir, bue it would have been much lefs confiftem with Honcfty to Embrace it. Should not we bave beca trufty, loyal Subjects thus to give away the juft Rights of our Prince? What thanks hould we have deferved from the Englijh Nation, and thofe that hay reposid a Confidence in us, by beraying a Noble Tradetayint ail the Adrantages of it into the Hands of fuch as were etcry where encroaching upon then? And could the \(B\) manafe ever have forgiven us for deferting them at this rate, when they had fo emirely refigned us the Command of their Country, and caft themfelves upon the Eis:i/B Protection? What could be Ingratitade if this were gratcful or bafe, and uagcacronis if this AAtion could pals? Bur then tras nor to be imagined that any Pcople would ever reccive us afer this infamons Siuntender; and if. we courtcu a Scticmont any wiare, we might expect the Indicrs to reroosia wis with the Bufinels of Bindda, and tell ws, We would fay with than, buit till the Dutcb came to frighren us asiay. Cerainly they muft think we were prodinimuly Acmd of ricit Favour or in fome ftrange need of it to bid thus high for't to barter away Confcience, Reputation, Loyalty and Gratirude all at once, only forthat, without any orher Confideration or Advantagc. Dut at the fame time they laid fome things to the Charge of the Erolif' that were as uneruc as this Propefai was unreafonabic. Fer Inftance, that we had rometimes worn their Colours in our Ships, and particularly that Sir fierry NEddictor did fo in the Red-Ser. Bur our Commidioner was very able to anfwer and refute this Charge, being all that time aboard that very Ship which they pretended to have thus abufed them, and affirming that to his ccrtainKnowledge no fuch thing was Enci: B Men to whear is the lealt Abufe of the two, for Enti: \(\Omega\) Men to wear the Dutch Colours, or for Dutch Men to wear the Entib Mcn to wear the Englifh Name, and go abroad in the World under that Notion? The Colours are cafily raken down again, but the Name is not fo cafily forgorten, c peciaily if any ill thing be done to faften the Rememance of it.
In the laft place to juftifie their Proceedings hitherto they did ror thick to affere that they had the King of funcerm Englenc'sL ctrers that enpower'd them to ficze any Englifh King of \(\mathrm{m}_{\mathrm{n}}\) Ships they found to the Eaft fide of Celelics. And if this lemai, were fo, their Action was juft, and the Guarrel ar anend; but they cculd not fairly expect that we thould take their words for it giving us no Demenftration of the Truch on't, by the light of the Letrers. We could do no lefs than cffer upen ibe Pcrufal of thefe Letrers to fit fill for the furure, and make no farther Demands of Satisfaction from them; and they injuftice could do no lefs than produce them too, thar the Point in Difpute might have received its full and final Decemination thereby. But this they ablolurely refufed to do, and. we as ablolutely concluded 'rwas becaufechey could not; for there were fo mary Reafons of Advanage on their fide for the doins of it, that'tis a clear Cafe, and needs no farther degree of Evideace.

Now is not this putcing our falfe Colours in a worfe Senfe than that they acculed us of? What, pretend a Prince's Hand for an Excufe to abufe and chear his Subjents? Make him an Enemy to his own Trading Peopleabroad, and boalt of his Aurhority to plunder them? This is a fine Compliment to a Prince, and deferves to be This another way animadverted upon. We believe the in aucl Nation it felf would be far from allowing their Durch) Naroad in Infolencies of this narure, and are toPcople abroad in iniolencies of this nature, and are toally ignorant of a world of their unjut and rude Dealings with us and the Natives of the Countrics where chey ings
Well, here now was the refult of the Conference; the Matter refted juft where it did ar firft; the Dutel', and we were upon the fame terms, and we had as good have ket this Ccremony alone. The Truth on't is, as far as appears, they feem to fir fecure and cafie enough in their appears, the let is go how 'rwill; and if the Breach be not made up herc, they makeno doubr (as they pretend) of avoiding all the ill Confequences of it by their powcrful Lntrrift in Eingiand.
They tell us they can make as good Friends at Courr tind fiems as the E E \(f(\)-Lidia Company, and with a Golden Engine will overturn all the ftrongent Prepararions thar are made againft them. They put a World of Confidence in the Power of their Rials of Eight; and queftion not finding Men amongt us, that can be bafe and fordid enough to take their Fees, and be retained againft the Caufe and Intareft of their own Country. This Noife mult be made umdonbtedly to damp and difcourage our Refolucion of feeking the Redrefs of all thefe Gricvances ät home; but asthis is 200 childifh a Contrivance for them ever to asthis to top our Mouths by ; fo we hope to find their other Prctences as vain and deceirful, and all Englijh Men for erectinvincible by their Money as well as by their Force.
In chis phiture of Affairs we concluded a party of us flould peifer Bemtam, as well to advice about our furure - Procetedings, as to give an Account to óur Prefident there of what was part, and to carry the Surrenders of the Banda Illands. Befides our own Company, fome of the Principal Bandanefe went too, to perform the Ceremony of delivering the Earth, and Fruits of the faid Illands, in token of Subjection.
We had a very hard matter to efcape the Dutch in this Taine io be Voyage, a grear Ship of theirs purfued us eagerly, and bard, and totched us up, hot not The King of that place ftood our Friend in this Diftrefs, provided fecur Lodgings for our felves, and a private Stowage for our Goods, and laid us up as clofe as we could defire. We were hardly gotten into nur Shelters, but the Durch landcd , and came to the King to enquire after us, and the more cffecurually to difpole him to what they thould farther demand, made him a Prefent three times the value of what we hiad given juft before. 'Tis to be noted that the Dutch, were not certain what we were, for tho they had given us a Leafe for fome time, yer they were never near cnough to make a Diforery ; befides wehad only a litrle Benden Praw, and fo could not be betrayed by our Colours. The King of Bociten humourd the Bufinefs well enough, carrying it to the Ditcio as if he had raken in a parcel of diftrefled Strangers, Peeple he knew little abour, and could give no fatisfactory Account of. Bur this sing of si llender Prerence would nor do with the Dutch, and perhaps they had fome Jealoufie who the Strangers irere; however to affure themfelves, they refolved ro ftay fome Days and watch us, that fo cither coming in or going out they might fieze the Prey. In fhort they fayed fo many Days, thar we were quite weary of being pounded up fo, and contrived bow to trick them and give them the lip. We left che old Pratv, we came in riding where the did ar firt, and having gor a new one ready on the backfide of the INand, the King's Ser varts conducted us with all our Baggage in fafery aboard her; and hoiv long the the Dutch itaid waiting upon the empry Praw we cannot tell.

As Macaffar (where we pur in by the-way) we ex-- changed this new litcleVeffel tor one of our own Ships trading there, and took into her 180 Suckets of Mace bought at the fame place.
From hence we got to Banterm, withour any farther Danger or Difturbance. Here the old quarrel went on between the Durch and Us. We did not loofe our Enemies, or leave them all bchind us, by comins away from Poolaroon, but found a party here ready to entercain us. One Day ircame to a downright Skiminh in the open Marker; feolding and railing would not ferve chattime to givea fufficient Vent to the Paffion on both fides; ill Langrage would draw no Blood, and therefore Swords.
and Clubs were cally in to do it. By degrees the whale Poffe of both Houfes were engaged, the Slaves came in amonght the reft, and fought as well as the Mafters. The refult of it was, that we drove them before us to their own Houfe; we faw them fafe within the Walls, which was asfar as we could keep them Company. No Dutco and loft on both ; but they filled the Town with the noife of the horrible Execution they would do upon us, and they did rheir utmoft to be as, good as their word, lying in wait for us with their Fire-arms in all piaces of Secrecy and Advantage. Thus hor and violent was the fewd betwixt ns, and fo outragiouly angry., were chey that we would not quit the Poffefion of the Enode liands to them. They might (had they acted reafonibly) have forborn the making fuch a Demand; and confiderid that we with more. Juftice and Confrience could cha!lenge them to furrender the Ine of Pooloway to us, which is one of the Banda Sociery roo. The King of Eng!and's Righr to that, is as indifpurable as to any of the reft, if ac leaft 'twas in the power of the natural Poffer Tours of the fame, to confer that Right by 2 formal Refignation, as no body doubrs but 'rwas. And ris moft clear thar they actually did fo, by the plain and pofitive Mention of Poolomary in the Ccpy of the Strrender as well asof Poolaroon; that Paper largely afferts His Majefty's Righs, fuppofes the toundation of a preceding Grant of the Inand to him, and adds a new and frefh Acknowledgment of his juft Title to it. Befides ris matter of Faca as notorious as can be, that the IOand was put invo the Hands of the Englijh, with all the Formalities of a friat Surrender, and that they kept is till the injurious Force of the Dutch deprived them of it. The World knows well enough too how contumelioufly they treared che Englih there; as if is had jior becn enough to have expelled them, withour ufing them ar the fame rime more like the Defpicableft of Beafts than Men or Chriftians. Twàs tery hard meafure therefore, after all this injurious Treatment, to be hectored and chreaned becaule we would not tamely fubmir to more Injurics; and'rwas a very good A rgument why we fhould furrender Poolaroon, that they had cheared our King of Poolomity before.

Bur one ground of their Pretence to the Ilands of Ducth prove Bandn is divertingenough, and a very good Intance it bande from affords of juft and fair Reafoning. They argue their uncir saking Righr from chis, that the King of Ternete's Son was once the King of their Prifontr. Now to make the Confequence of this pitioneArgument appear Juft and Nacural, clcar and compulfive of the Affent of any difinterefted Mans mind, we Lelieve will take them up nore time than the complear Coniqueft of thofe Illands would do. Efpecially if we take in the whole of their Affertion, and bring the Molucca's into the Account; for they affirm that by this Action they procured a Title to all thefeIlands, both the Mclucca's and the Benda's too. But wasthe King of Tirnate's Sona fair Prifoner of War, or pick'd up by chatere and fnapt as a Prize? Was he the Prifoner of a juft and righticous War too, or inftead of a juft War, was ic meer Violence and Depiredation? Forthis Queftion is to be pur to a Chriftian Pcople, who may becxpected to have fome regard to Right and Wrong, to Juft and Unjuft in their Proceedings. Bur if all this were fo, it does not prefently appear that they were ipfofatto, the rightful Sovercigns of the Country. The King'sSon was made a Prifoncr, bus the Kingdom it felf had nor loft is Liberty; did they make an ablolute conquett of is? Did they wreft the Power our of the Narives hand, and poffefs themfelves of in entirely? Did victorious Arins force the Ternarecs to lie at their Mercy, and leave all at their difpolal? If nor, 'tis hard to conceivehow the Misfortunc of the Prince, monldentaillavery and fubjection upon tlic Pcople. BeGides the Throne was not vacant, the Father was alive tho the Son was a Prifoner; and 'rwas in his Power to fertle the point of the Succeffionas he pleafed, and find other Heirsto the Crown befides the Dutch. Might nor the Englifh have pleaded as good a Title from the offer the King of Ternate inade of his Country to Queen Elizabeth see Sirfien bySir Francis Drate; and the King of Tydore have made ais Drate's. the fame Challcnge too upon the Death of the Prince of Voyage. Lit. Ternate, whom his Son killed in Batrle? Bur then \(2^{\text {x. and Capr. }}\) Righr to Ternatc allowed upon an Hyporhefis. a Righr mo Sarisisib.2 Righr to Ternate allowed upon an Hypothefis; a Right wo all the Molucca's wont handfomly nor fairly follow from thence; for Tydore is one of chofe Illands, and a confiderable one too, but no Subject to Ternate, but her Riral in Power and Empire; and if the did once wear the Yoke of that Ifand, when it was in iss flourifhing ftate, the Dutcl. muft examine the Grounds and Caufes of the Re:olr, to be fure that Ternetic has yet a juft Title to her Obedience, before they pretend any upori this Accoink
\(C \mathrm{c}\)

Bu:t the Confequence as to the Banda's lies yet infinite\(1 y\) more in the dark. The King of Tcrnate had nothing ro do here, no more than the Dutch had to do there, upontheir being poffeffed of the Royal Captive. Thefe Illands are near a-kin to the Dut \(\%\) in their Civil Policy; they are all free Stares, up to the Ears in popular Notions and Priaciples, and can relim no Government but a Democracy. They have their Sabandars and Orankayes or Governing Minitters and Nobic Men amonget them, butall Atands upen the Bafis of the Pcoples Authority who maineain the Liberties of their Confticution with a the Chaftivy imaginable, and are entirely their own Lords and Law-givers. Now indoed they call the King of England Sovercign, bue they fifly deny chat the King of Termare has any reafon to expect or demand that Tirle from them; nay, he himfelf in the* cnumeration of his Titles, never pretends to call himfelf King of the Illands of Banda. From all which putsorcther 'tis apparent that the Durch did bur triffe in pretending a Righr to thefe Illands, uponthat Principle they then went upon. Upon the whole; the Trade of thele Illands is very rich and jinviting, and 'tis a matter of veiy grear inpportance to have our Intereft hire well guarded and maintained. Could weger Polloway into our hands, we hould have more fweet and fenfible Proots of the goodnefs of this Spice Trade; thole thar know it fay 'tis a Paradife, and rhe Dutch, the prefent Poffeffours, affirm 'ris as good to them as Scoriond is to our King. The Comparion is \(a\) little fawcy, tho' we know well enough that Pooloroay has the bleding of Spice Trecs, which Scotland has not. However if we can keep the others and enjoy them quietly, they'll furnifh Mace and Nutmegs nor only fufficient for England, burallo to drive a Trade with to Surat, and orher parts of the Indies. Our grear Bufinets in order hercunto, next to the maintaining 2 good. Force, is to fupply them well with Cloth and Rice, Salt, Pepper, and otlier Neceflaries they want; they are fo defirous of thefe chings, efpecially Cloth and Rice, that had we had threer cimes as much as we now brougho, we fhould have found vent for it all wirhout the leaft difficulty. The Pcople of Lantore and Rofinging, and orher places, come over to Poolaroon with their Mace and Nutmegs in great numbers, and bring is in to faft, that there is no fear of as faft with thofe other Commodities. As for the Rice we bring them, tho' Maceljer is able to fupply that, yer we muft find fome place that will do ir ar lower rates; and 'ris cerrain we can have what Rice we will from Fapan, ar half che price that we can ar Mucalfor; the Voyage is lenger 'tis true, bur then the Advantage is confiderable. Your Mancaffar Gold alfo, which goess as Banram but for \(2 s 4^{d}\) or \(2 s 6 d\) the Mals, goes ar Berdis as current as Rials of Eighr, and at the fame rate roo.

Together with the Encouragements of this good Trade, we had our Loffes and Misfortunes anocher way: A Praw nobly laden with the Spice of chis Country was caft away in her Vojage to Bantam; the had 3366 Cartees of Mace aboard ber, which would have been worth as good as 500000 pound in England.

The Dutch rook two more of our * Ships too, and Lofs was the greater apon the Accounc of the Lading
ife: 200 Quoyn of Rice and upwards, 34 Bales of Clorh, befides 600 Jars of Rack and other Provifions. They were hampered with their Iading, and much overmatched in number; befides, that the Dutch Ships were light and frec, and cvery way ready for the Service of fuch an Occafion.

The Bendanefe that were in this Action fignalized themfelves ar a very grear rate; they were thorough hearty Enemies to the Dutch, and being fo, fought with fo good a will, that our Men fay if they had been upon plain Ground, and to fight it out fairly with Swords, they make no queftion but that the Dutch muft have all yielded ordied for'r. Our poor Sea-men brought Prifoners to Nero had a miferable uncafie life of it there; bur 'twas the Fate of fome of them to be difpofed of in ocher places up and down, as Amborna and the Moluceas, or wherevercheir rigorous Mafters were pleafed to fend them. Yet one of the Dutch Commanders exprefs'd a grear deal of Humanity and Kindnefs to thofe forlorn wrerches, for which we did nor fail to make him the due Acknowledgement of our moft bearty thanks; the Game Perfon alfo would be fo civil as to ftrike his Main-top-fail as he paffed by our Fort, upon Noflackey Inand by Poolarom.
The Dutch who had fome time before been rampering
with the People of Lantote ro come in amongt them by fair means, not fucceeding that way had now recourfe \({ }^{2}\) mod to Arms in order to the forcing it. Bur the Lantoreses(who Amil had confulted us before-hand atour the point of their \(\mathcal{M}\), stim Defence) were not to be managed that way neither. The Enemy landed soo Men upon them, but they food to rightly to their Bufinefs, that the orthers were obliged to retire back again to their Ships. The next rouch they had with chem, the Lantore Men handled them to berter Advantage ftill: The Dutch muft needs come and give the Ilanders a Challenge, which they accepting of, mann'd our a couple of Praws and fo went to it, two Praws to four; the event of which Skirmifh was, that the Lansorecs took one of their Praws, killed all the Men, and purfucd the reft home to Poolowny. Thefe litule Succeffes pur them mightily in heart, and the Durch were Adverfaries that grew every Day into more and more contempt with them. Thele People, tho belonging to the Banda IMands, and very well difpofed to fubmit to the Englißh Power after the example of their Neighbours, had not yet made an actual Surrender. For as was hinted before each of. chefellands, is a free independantstarein point of Government, and tho' they unite in their common Incerefts, yet they all ftand upon their particular Foundations.
But now they propofed to furrender too, and agreed. Im that their Sabander fhould be empowerd to come over to us and conclude the Bufinefs; but the Articles required fome time to be weighed and debated on both fides, be fore the finithing ftroke could be given to this Affair. In the mean time things began to grow ftrait with us at Poolaroon; we wanted Men, Money, and all things ne-Enype ceffary to encourage our new Beginnings there, and gire ceresfax Heart and Spirit to the Bandanefe in their dependance therm uponus. We were forced to put off Goodsito procure anmon common Provifions for houfe kecping, and to take up Money ar so per Cens. Intereft. Our Faicnds in Bantam were guilty of an umfardonable Neglect of ex fan fuch Circumftances, to our very great Difreputation, and the manifeft hazzard of the whole Emplifh Interefi in thefe places. They would fend us encouraging Letters and bid us rub our anorher Year when Supplies would cer tainly come; but in the mean time thefe Good Words would notdefend the Forts and fill the Souldiers Bellies; and as for the point of rubbing, we had rubbed fo long rill we had rabb'd off the Skin, and if we cominned do-onto.
 not fo eafie a marter as chey might imagine to weather the \(\mathrm{chp}_{\text {phimich }}\) point here, with the Duich attacking us on the one fide paintin and the Bandanfe beficging us with unwearied Importu- wivern nities for Supplies on theorher; and by the way it maft \(D_{\text {matice }}\) be faid, that if that People had not had a truly loyal mgmont Refpect to our King and Country, they would never have formes born the Difappoinument fo long, bur have foughr out sumbt, fome other Protectours. The Affair of Lantore was now revived, and brought to its defired Perfection. ThePeople of that Illand demanded Arms and Affiftance of us, and upon the performance of that Condition, made 2 formal Surrender of the place to his Majefty of England.

The Copy of ir is here fubjoin'd as 'rwas delivered to us by theSabandar and Orankayes of char Illand.

\section*{Tranflation of the Surrender of Lantore, Cont. in tbe Paper N. D.}

In the Year of the Propher Mabomed 1028, in the tenth Day of the Moon Mabarran, being Saturday, the Year is called Aleph. And in the Year of \(7 e f a r, 1620\), in the Month of November the 24th Day.
\(T\) His is the Writing of the Agreement of the Sabandar of Lantore, and the Captain of Lantore, and all the 0 rankayes mithin sbe Country of Lantore, with Roberr Hayes, after the lofs of Captain Courthop; Tbnt we of Lantoredo furnender the Land of Lantore unso sbe King's Majefly of England with all that is therein: So that all zhe Nuts and Mace within the Country of Lantore, we promife to fell so no otber People, other tban to the Subjefts of the King' & Majefty of England only. Furthermore, we the Orankeis/of Lantore, do promife every Year to fend to the King's Maieß of England a bough of a Nutrmig-tree, for the acknowledging the Homage of us the Men of Lantore, to the King's Majesty of England. To she intent, that sbis Agreernient of Surrender betwixt Us be not forgaticen, to sbe end of the ivorld:

And so che insent chere be no difference or falling ous berwixt as. Furrberimore; we do crave of His Mriefly of England, concerning fuich things as do not agree with our Religion, shat the maty not be done in the Country of Banda, to the end hat fuch rbings being reftained there be no offence given between the Bandaneles and the Engliih-men: As so enforce our Women, our Wives or Daugloter, or to ftrike any of us, or violensly 50 sake any thing from ur, or toter Spoine locje in our Country, or any fuch-like ching as doth no: cigree with our Rcligion. Thefe things we only except (becaufe sbofe things tend so the deftroing of our Religion) to the intent there be no falling out betwixt the Bandanefes and the Englifh, anto the end of she World. And wherces if pleafeth God, that James \(\Rightarrow\) King of England, Scotland, France, and Ircland; fo now tro be is King of the Cornery of Banda: So then the County of Banda is in Subjeftion to no orber King then roube King's Majcfy of Englandon!y in rbis World, excepting our Redinion. For our Recigion of Illam doth nor agree mith tié Cbriftiant ligion, neither dort) the Clriffien Religion egree wich our R:ligion of Illam ; and this is the purport of our Agreement. Fur ther, if is boll bappen any Englim to run so ur, or any Bandaman to run to sh: Englifh, it maty not be solerated without she confent of the chief of the. Englith, and u; of Banda; becaufe fuch things are contrary so our Religion, and rend omly so falling out, and Brabbles betwixt the Banda-men, end the Englith-men. At thiss time we pere sogetioer in Confultation, al cle Oraukeyes of Lantore, and the Orankayes of L abecacke, and the Orankges of Nero Pooloway, and Poolaroone, and bave put to our Hands, and shis is she intent of this Writing.

Sabandar Lantore. Sabandar Ratoo.

After this, there happen'd an Accident that brought \(2-\) bour the Redcmption of fome of our \(\mathrm{Mcn}_{\lambda}\) that were then Slarary the Durch, and that in a manner lucky enough 'Twas onr Forrune to take a Dutcin. Intelligencer, that was going with her Packer of Advice between Amboina and Bradtr. By thefe Letters we undertood (tho' we could not perfectly undertand all, for wanr of their Language), that the Dutch and the Englif Nations were well cnough agreed at home, and that there was a likelihood of fomething being done, in order to putan end to the Differences of all the contending Parties abroad. The ufe thar we made of thi Intelligence, was to let the Dutch know what Bufincis was a-fcoiverween our refpective Councries, and thercfore to caution them not to proceed in thofe unjuft tand rigorous Courles they had hitherto taken, leaft the Noife of our Brawls and Squabbles here, pur a ftop to thofe hopeful Beginnings of a Reconciliation at bome -And this produc'd a feeming yielding ro Peace and Friend ly Correfpondence; they were mighty uractable upon't for a litule rime, and agreed with us for the Redemption of Some of the Prifoners. But alas, they could not hold their good Humour long, but quickly laid afide the Mask of precended Friendilip, which indced feem'd to be pur on only to deceive us the more effectually.
They began firtit to practife with the Lantorecs for Trade; bur they were fo honett as to give them a flat de nial of any intercourfe with them upon char account, as allo ro acquaint us with the Endeavours of the Hollenders, to infinuate themfelves in amongft them. After this they came to violent Methods, and thought to feare them into a compliance; but the Men of Lentore made a brisk De fence, took no Blows but whar they repaid with Intereft, fo that the Dutch hitherto gor as little ground apon them by fighting, as they had before by wheedling. I was very much their. Bufinefs and Defign to effect a Ruprare between the Bandanife and us, ar leaft to poffefs their Minds with Sufpicions of our Fidelity towards them, as the readicft way to make the defired Breach. Thus they wou'd come fometimes within the very reach of our Ordnance, as if they were fatisfied we would not hurt them And when they were ar any time purfu'd by the Bend Praws, in their danger chey would hang our a Whire Flag to us, as much as to fay, the Engifh will call you off, and deliver us out of your Hands.

But yer that Plor did nor rake, and the sandenefe miftrufted us never the more for thofe litule Tricks of ous Adverfarics. They had now plaid frall Game thus long and had won nothing confiderable upon us: But being fully refolv'd nor to part Stakes, nor make any other Conclufion of the Matter, than by fweeping all entirely away they at laft made the Atrempt, which prov'd the Rvine o us and our Inrereft in thefe Inands for cver.
A mighry Force of Men and Shipping were gor rogether, 2nd the berter ro colour the Detign, the Dutch General fent us word, That he was preparing for an Encerprize, that tended tọ the mutual Good of us both. This was a beginning that agreed very well with the latter end; a purtef preeLye was a good Introduction enough to Treachery and pane forthe Injuftice ; and before People were plunder'd and forc'd the Bende our of their Right, 'twas a proper Merthed wo abule rhem \({ }^{\text {taico }}\) and rell them a plaufible Story. He would have been glad too (he pretended) of our affiftance in this worthy Defignrhat was going on; bur feeing we were low, and had no Forces to joyn with him, he would take all the trouble upon himfelf, and act alonc.
Some Intelligence we had from Amboinc, affurid us, thar thefe Prepanations of the Dutch were fome way or other levell'd at us; and that which way foever the Storm threatned to go, 'rwould drive ar laft upon fome of the Iflands of Bandr. Which we quickly found too true; tho ar the fame time 'twas the very perfection of. Villany to put on fuch a Vizor for the doing of what they did, and tis a Queftion, wherher all the Rabble of Heathenith People in the World, can furnif fuch another Matter-picce as this was.
They began with Lentore, coming before the Inand febrant: with a Fleer of fixteen ftrong Ships: They knew very to Lantore. well that this place was furrendred to the ufe of the King of England, and that we had actually ferted a Factory there.
As foon as we ar Pnolaroon heard of the Force come up before L.antore, our* Caprain fent to the Durch, General \({ }^{\text {Cupt. Aargo }}\) deffring him in Civil Terms to forbear any Acts of Hofti- who Copros. liry at that p'ace, becaufe 'rwas well known to be the Courthop: in King of Eingland's Property. But he having read the Let- his Charg:rcr, and exprefs'd his contempr of it, and fpent a litule time in thrcatning and railing at the Engith; without any more adoc landed his Men, and fell upon the Lentorecs. Their Power being fo grear, the Difpute was quickly at an end; the Natives were ablolutely routed, retired to their Shelters in the Fields and Woods, and lefr the inland to the Command of the Conqucrors. The Durcii Fack'd and fird the Town, plunder'd our Factory, took away all the Cloth, Money, and Spice there, belonging to the Eaft-rndin Company; 23400 /. Wcighr of Mace, and 120000 Weight of Nutmegs fell inmo their Hands. Our Factors chere prefenr were itripp'd, bound, beaten, tumbled over the Town-Wall, dragg'd along the Stteets with Fetters abour their Necks, and afterwards iaid faft in Chains. They were not fo kind as to execure them outrighr, living being then a far greater Punibment than dying.
Lantore thus had iss Fate, and that of all Fates the mort dreaded by is; to fall into the Hands of the Ditch: Such was their rooted Averfion ro them, that perhaps had they had their choice, they weuld as foon have accepred of an Earthquake to fwallow them up, as chem.thar did. Bur we were all to go one after another, and Peo!noon was laid our for the next Morfel the hungry Adyerfary would carch ar.

We endearour'd to prevent this, by frefh Applications Rametc: to the Dusch Gencral at Nere, having already bcard, that en Poleruon our Doom was pals'd, and Exccurion wou'd quickly follow, if our own voluntary Surreoder of the place did nor prevent it: But this we could never think of fubmitring to ; tho \({ }^{\circ}\) we conld not hold it out, yet to relign had been bafe and criminal, bur to be driven our by main Force, would be only our misfortunc.
The Dutch General Cecm'd no make ftrange of any fuch Defign, as coming to bear us from foolarocn; he had fo much Modefty and Shame as so fcruple the owning it, and To litule as to put it immediarely in practice. For our Agent was hardly rerurn'd, but the Dutch Fleet prefented it They come felf before the Iland, and fent their Summons to the Peo- witha Fiet ple to furrender ic.

The Bandenefe were in a terrible Confternation, and knew not what Courfe to take in this exrremity : All the Plagnes of War were threarned by che Dutcl, on the one fide; and yer they knew nor how to burft che Bonds that held them ro us on the other. As for our parts, we were reduc'd to fo low and bare a Cendition, that we were no way capable of preventing their Ruine and our own; we had no tolerable Force to oppore the Durci, with, and Juftice and Right cou'a not detend us from them. This the Bandanefefaw perfectly well, and thercfore eafily concluded, that Matters were too far gone ever to be recriev'd yer to amule the Dutch they told them, That they had made a folcmn Surrender of the llands to us. and therefore being now out of their power to difpe fo of, they muft agree that Point with us as well as they could. But as this was but an excufe to fave theonflves from doing an unjuft and an ungrateful Work, fo the others rook ir as fuch; and therefore peremprorily demanded the Surrender from them, nothing lefs than which thould be their Deliverance from the like Tragedies acted amongtt them that were lately at Lantore. And this being the point, they concladed they had no way but ro yield to the prefent necefity, and for once fave their Perfons and Country from an otherwife unavoidable Ruine, by giving overagain to the Dutch, what they had given to us beforc.

Poromiden rafigit to
Rin
This was done, and the Arricles of the new Agreement were much of the fame nature with thofe of the old, only this added (which we never impos'd upon them) that they fhould fay Tenths to the Prince of the Country. Before this Conlummation of the Bufinets, our Colours were pulld down, and theirs fer up in their room; our Ord nance thrown off from the Rock where they were planted, and all carried away by them. The Eaxdanefe were all difarm'd, and their Walls demolifh'd, and cvery thing done that tended to the holding of them faft down under thofe Iervile Chains that were made ready for them. And they had Reafon cnough to make fure of them in this man ner, and keep their Hands clofe ried, for their Spirits were fufficiently exafperated before, and this ufage to be fure had not fweetned them. What bold and fevere Surokes of Revenge then would they make, if ever they had an opportunity by getring loofe again? If they would have cut the Throars of all the Dutch-men in che Indies, had they had them in their power, while they thought them but plotring upon their Libertics, whar would they do for feizing their Country, enflaving their Perfons, and fwallowing up thir Trade, and fo many flaming Ourrages of all forssas had been committed upon them ? Efpecially the Lanterecs had a large Reckoning to make with thetn, it Their Crucl- ever the time fervid for that purpofe: Here the Durch made the fouleft Work, and embrued their Hands in more Blood than any where. They cor 44 of the principal Orankayes in picces, laid all the confiderable Men in lrons, and reizd their Children for Hoftages: And as if this was nor enough for their Security, commanded all the other Eandanefe that had given them any affiftance, to be brought Prifoners, with cheir Wives and Children, aboard their Ships. But the poor People thinking by this, that shey werc either to be all murder'd, as their Orankayes had been, or elfe fold away forSlaves into fome Foreign Pares; they all agrecd pogether, to fly from Deftruction if they coald, and \(f\) recired into the Mountains, and other wild Refuges, and there fortified themfelves as well as they were able. The Dutch, for this fell upon them withour Mercy, and cut off and took Prifoners to the number of 1200: Thofe that were fo unhappy as to mifs the ftroke of the Sword, that bad given a Deliverance to fo many of their Fellows, were fent away to \(\mathcal{F}\) acatre, and other places, to wear our a miferable I ife in Slavery.
This was the direful Conclufion of the Banda Affair: All which Mifchicf might have been prevented, and our own Honour and Intereft preferved, as well as the Lives and Liberties of the Baniacnefs, if timely Supplies had been tranfmitred to us: Such 2-degree of ftupid negligence is wholly unacconneable, and hardly ever pardonable. And Emin now we might bid Poolaroon, and the Spicc-Trade Adieu, therinten and go find anotherPcopicro furrender their Illand, and pur offerom us in poffeffion of theirMace and Nutmegs where wecon'd. And were is fo, the Dutch who got this chietly by means of the grear care and diligence of our \(E_{n} / i \beta\) Friends, mighr alfo by thelame Miethod as cafily ger the next.

\section*{Снар. XXXV.}

An Account of a Voyage from Surat to Achen, Bantam, and other Parts of the Ealt-Indies, woith the Dragon and the Expedition. Perform'd by W. Hore, and poritten by bim in a Letter to the Eaft-India Company.

Firmm,
A.D.. 1618 T having been before agreed on in a General Confult, that we fhould pur in ar Dat el, to ury-dic Difpolitions of that People to a Trade with us; in purUuance of that Defign, we came to an Anchor in the Road of that Town. The Governour quickly fent out a Boat to learn who and what we were, upon the return of which with their Informations, rwo Perfons of Note were difparchid to us with Orders to hear our Captain's Propofals. Thefe Men ftaid aboard as Pledges, and two of our Marchants upon thatSecurity went aftore to cranfeft Matrers there.

The chicf Men of the Town exprefs'd a great deal of fatisfaction at the amival of our Ships, and as much defire so have a Trade with us, which chey pretended they had long waited for: And therefore propos'd thar a Factory Thould be immediately fettled there, or at lealt that the Ships thould ride in the Port, rill the principal Governour (then abfent) had given his Refolution in the Cafe, without which they conld not abfolurcly conclude.
But notwithftanding all thefe fine words, the Dabullers did nor convince us by their actual forwardnefs to deal that they were fo ftrongly inclind that way as they pretended. They promisd to perform mighty things hereDabuRersex after, bur were not difposid to do any thing ar prefent and other Engijh Commodities, but we could not per wade them to take off any now.
W'e had a Ship in our Company that was able to have furnifid them, and carre indeed on purpore to put off fome of her Commodities to the Deballiers; but they would not belp to lighten her Burthen at all, and to the purfued ber Voyage to the Red Sea, whither fhe was at firft bound. It was defigndatourcoming hither, that the Dabullers thould nolonger impole upen us with thefe empry pretencestotrade, while they did nothing at all in purfuance of the Defign of cur coming to them, and therefore that now they thould be forc'd to do Bufinels, and make it in fome meaGure worth our while to artend them; but chey bought their own guict for this Year, by a good Sum of fair Promifes to be better another, and 10 we let them alone at prefent, and fent Advices to Sarar, that the next Year's Flect mighe deal with them arcordingly.

Befides, we bad a Reckoning with them upon anothet icore, which was their abuing one of our. Factors that came thicher to recover a DCbt, and forceably taking the Debror out of his hands; People ar Surat very confidenty rold this Story of the Dabullers; bur fince they as confidenty denied it, and we could nor prove is, we carried the mater no higher than a bare Charge ar this time.
We faild away from bence to Battochela, upon the Gonte fame Coalt below Gon. This was the Fruit of an Invita-ctich tion too; and the Mellabars that gave ir, pretended to do it in the Name of their King, and to be fenr by him for that purpofe. There were two Frigars of thar ham for that came and pur themfelves into our. Service ar Smetly Rcad, and told us, Thar their King would be glad of our Trade for his Pepper; which was no inconfiderable Quanrity, but would amount yearly to a good Lading for two of our beft Ships. Bur when we came thither we quickly found an Enfertainment too cold to anfteer fucably the warmth and earneftnefs of the Invitation. The Commodiry was but indifferent, the Price unconfciona-Priph ble, and the King himfelf feem'd to have no great Mind to have us for Cuftomers bur rather to keep is for the Portugueãe. They held ir up hard ar 50 Rials of Eigbr per Candee, which is soo \(l\). Weight, and ar the very lowett would not ler ir come under \(47^{\circ}\) We thought we had been call'd to the buying fome good Bargains, not to be banterd at this rate in our Prices, and havertie Money fqueczid our of our Pockets by fuch Methods as thole were; but fince 'rwas fo, that we muft not only fubmit to this Exrortion if we traded, but rake it as a Favour roo, we refolved to lie under no fuch Obligarions, and fo lefi them to their defired Cuftomers the Portugueze.
We proceeded in our Voyage rowards Calecurt: Here was a Debt of fome Years ftanding to be recorerid, and a profpect of buying Pcpper ar eafier rates. Bur as is happen'd, the Samorine was ar that time at Panaria, fome wwelve Leagues to the Souch of Calecut, whither we went to him.

Our Caprain wenr althore, with a good Guard of Sho conerot: to deliver tue King's Letuer and Prefar - the Samorine sumbe acknowledged the Debr, bur fince we con!d ror determine the exact Sum, it was agreed that Payment Thould be de- his own Servants, Thar the Enrtifit thonld largely pay ferr'd, till all the Accounts of that maurer were more nar. rowly look'd over, and the Perfons there refidenc had given in their Informations.

\section*{chap. XXXV.}

Their Trade at Tecoo, ecc.
As for prefent dealing with him, he offcr'd to fell his Pepper ar \(3 \circ\) Rials of Eighr per Candec, frec of all Charges, Pepper at 30 Rials of Eight \(p\) er Candec, frec of all Charges, and the Candee ar that place was 502 . Neat: This was and the Candee at thar place was \(502 /\). Neat: This was accepted by the Captain, upon condition of fome previous infpection of the Commodity, by thofe that were to be Judges of the Goodnefs of ir; which Office was alfigned to my felf, and one more. : But the next Morning when we came, thinking to go about this Bulinefs with all the hafte imaginable, we were denied the fight of the Pepper, and withoat express Orders from the Samorine there was nothing to be done. Upon which Baulk going away to Court to fpcak with him himfelf, he was far more inquifrive about the Captain's coming afhore again (which was a thing foreign to the Bufinefs in hand), than careful to give us any jutt and reafonable account of the meaning of thefe Procecdings. We affur'd him, that the Captain would nor ftir afhore, till we had done our appointed Work of viewing the Pepper; that his Bufinefs would be only to confummate the Bargain, and bring the Money, and confequently depended upon our difpatch. Bur all the Springs of Bufinefs were out of order in this Country at thistime, and nothing would fucceed, tho ever to fairly attempted.
The Samorine would not give way to our meddling wich the Spice, but fent us back to wait at his Merchants Houfe, till he cither came to us himfelf, or fent farther Orders. Here he abus'd us with obliging us to an idle and fruitlefs attendance, neither fending, nor coming, nor giving us any manncr of Information what he intended to do.

This fored us to a fecond Walk to the Court, to as litrle purpore as the former; for here he had his Tumblers and Morrice-Dancers abour him, and minded their Tricks morestin his own and our Concerns: In fhorr, he whil'd away trie time by fo many trifling fluuffing Methods, thar we boldty demanded of him at laft, to pur usour of this fufpence, and come to fome certain Refolution, that we might know what we had to truft to. This Alarm awakend hiur, and we were defired to moveinto a withdrawing Room, to hear his Refolutions in private. Here he told us, he had fereral Points of important Bufinefs to dif cufs with the Captain, if he would give his Prefence afhore; but they were fome of them of thar narure as re. quird recircment, and muft be managed apart from the Crowd; and therefore he had provided a fine Rerreatingplace, a liate way up in the Country, where the Captain and he could enjoy themfelves, and do their Bufinefs withour difturbance.
In anfwer ro this. I told him flatly, That uniefs I might have the liberty to fee the place firft, I would not advife the Captainis landing : This he refus'd ar firlt to permit. bur upon fecond thoughos afterwards granted, commanding one of his Slaves to fhew it me. And the truth of it is, 'twas a place very fit for the execution of a treacherous Defign; 'rwas as good a Convenience for an Ambufcade as could be; in a word, 'twas a very fine Trap.
But intending to prevent my Captain's being catch'd in it, at my recurn I exprefs'd my dillike of the Siruation of the place; as being lonely, and furrounded with Woods, and fo difcouraged as much as was adrifable the Defign of meering therc.
The Samorine was very filent and dull upon the difappointment, and having now play'd his bett and highelt Card, was ar a \(\operatorname{ltand}\) in his Game: However, when he had made us retire again, he thought fir to diffemble no longer, but told us all the Reafons of the fop that had hitherto been apon our Buinefs. He confefs'd, that the Pcpper he had promis'd us was not his own, bur the Merchants; and that he could not let it go ar the Price firft proposid: That ar 40 Rials per Candee we fhould have it. and nor under ; and if other Merchanes wonld fell under. he would give them leare fo to do ; if not, he would farnifh us himfelf at that rate. As for the Money we had owing at Calceut, he would fee us paid, when we could corific him poritively how much, and for what 'rwas duc.
This was a very pretty Story, and the prettier too, becaufe'twas told in Porruguezt, which the Samorine could never fpeak, tili now he had an ablolure necefliry for't. And chus we gor all our ar laft; and after a World of litrle fhifts and windings this way and thar way, the plain truch was toid us (as he faid), which mighr have been done in as few words at firt.
Having our Errand, in: took leave and rctum'd to the Ship; bur the Capraiz lent him this Meflage by one of fo.
themfelves all their Scorcs out of his Shiors, in whar part The Capraios the baulk upon our Trade this Scafons; and bithertu we fiec ceeded, as if all this Coaft of India was ini a League tognther to chear and abuef us.
' Twas time now to repair to fome ober partsof aies rydics, where our time would be befowid m theren murnot Our Ships parted Company when we had dontcod re Cape Cumorin, and twas my Lorto fail to Tre: Aut Ant done), that I made threc or four Voyages buevec tane place and Bantam
One of them had very near provid fatal to us; for a arcadful Srorm in a very dark Night forced us cie:cr over the Shoals of Teceo; a danger a Man wruld have trembled ar in fair Weather, and ar Noon-day. The Thunder and Lightning was critremely violent acthe fame rime, and a flam truck one of our iMen perfectiy dumb and lame; 'twas very flowly thar his Specch rerurn'd -to him again, and that very imperfotety too; hur the ufe of all his Limbs was gone; he complain'd of a dead numb nefs in cucry part, and had he been all ofer Paralyrick, he could not have been more unferviccable to himfelf than he .
After fome time fpent, I had Nocice that there was Bu- Dealing a Lanchs ready for us ar Teioe; thar de Dregon had gorten a Troo. Lading of more than 1320 Gahars of Pepper, and 1500 more iay uniwought ac Acler:. The Vice-King of Tccoa appeard very willing to forward the Trade when we came, and promis'd as foon as he had feen his Soversign the King of Achen's Letters, and the Mufters of our Goods, thar they thould begin to weigh. So the Lerters bcing brought athore, Proclamation was made of our I i cence to Trade, and Notice given to the Country about, who had now Liberty to bring in their Commodicies. The Goods we landed were moftly your Surat Wares, Cainkens, blue Selas, そc. And the Price was concluded in proportion to their feveral Values, so Sclas, 35 Cainkeens, 16 bluc Bjronns. 32 Red Sclas, Baftas 8 , 10 and 12 Picces for a Bahar of Pepper; and this valued according to the Rates in ready Money, was as much as 20 Rials per Bahar. The Cuftom was, nor to be paid in kind, bur ar the rate of 14 in the 100 in Rials of Eighr for all Goods we landed. This was a hard Condition, and very imprudencly yielded to by former. Dealers here; but now it has previaild fo long, that there's no opes of bringing them to more realonable Tcrms.
The Mcrchants now waired for the King to begin the treecherom Trade, according to the way of rhe Country; but tuly, renying of when it came to the point, he would not fand to the for- Rerreotina mer Comerag. He would norfell himfelf voder to Cainkecns, and 6o Blue Sclas per Bahar; bur he gave usjeave to buy ar the former Rates of others, if they would fell
He had better lave faid poftively, thar there fould be oo Trade bur upon his Turms, and puibi:skiy forbid the cople to weigh; for tho there woutid have been in chis the fame degree of Wrong and Injutice, yet the Fi:itmulation (which ever aggravates the Knavery) had been away. His offer of giving the Pcopic the Liberey to Trade, before he began, was all a fham and a rrick; 2nu'truas as much as bidding and unbidding them at the fame time: For he knew perfectly well, that no Man dar'd to weigh an Ounce of Pepper before him ; no, tho the Commed:ty wou'd have perifh'd in their hands, they dared nor asrempr the Sale', till his Example had given them an Au:thority to do is: To make that pretence cherefore of turning us over to them, was to tritte and play upon us, and add an Affront to the former Act of Injuftice. Bur we werc under a necelity of fubmirting to this impofition as this Juncture, having loft a great deal of zime aircady, and our Trade any where elfe uncertain.

The King himfelf having play'd us this foul play, 'twas no wonder that the Poople fhould take the fame liberty Thets inf too, or a worfe, and this was our Cafe; all thediference soo, and a was, that he cheated us with a litule more Cercmeny, and Arengi for the they in the coanfe and rude way of Thieves and Houli-d diforering breakers.
'Tis true they did us no great damage, tho they broke into one of our Warchoules, and rummaged about; I mean, they carried off nothing of value, but they murder'd one of oir Men that lay in the room. They made the Attempe thrce feveral times that Nighr, and twas as dreadful Weacher perhaps as ever was leen: Mud why chey fhould chufe fuch a Night as that, is rot eafie to be conceivd, unlefs they thought the loud Cracks of Thusder would give them an opportunity to pick the looks withour danger of being heard. But ro tell Storics of the thievifh Tricks of che Tecoans, is to blazon a Characke fufficiently well knotwn in the World already；I thall oni－ ly therefore mention a Circumftance confequent upon this Difturbance we had from them，becaule there is fome－ thing in is pretry odd and fingular．

We being all alarm＇d and rais＇d upon the Ourcry of Murder in the Houfe，prefently fene to call in the Waiters to our afiftance；thefe were Men that were appointed to kecp Guard every Night，ar forme litele diftance from the Houfe．But however it came about，there was none of them to be found as their Poft ar that time，northere was no difcovery to be made of any fufpicions Perfon in all the lurking Holes thereabour．The Noife of the Murder quickly came to the King＇s Ear，and brought him to us； he promis＇d us Juftice，and to do his utmolt to find out the Villains that had thus injurd us．But one of our Company propos＇d，that the Waiters thould be nicely ex－ amind about this matter，fince by their abfence from their accuftom＇d place of Duty，they had given ground for fu－ fpicion，that they were cither the Authors，or at leaft A－ bettors of this Mifchicf．This the King commanded to be done，and they were all made one after another to touch the dead Body；that being a Method fome Pcople areapt to prefume upon，for the difcorery ef a Murdercr．（Why mould it not be as good for the difcovery of other Vil－ lains too；and the ftollen Goods leap away from the hand of the Thicf，as well as a dead Body bleed at the touch of the Murderce ？）Well！all thele People ftrok＇d the Corps，and no Blood came；and could any thing de－ monfrate their Innocence more convincingly than this ？ Was it not apparent that their Confciences wereclear and unftain＇d in the cafe，fince a Miracle was not wrought to condemn them，and the ftaenating Blood of the dead Man did not fy out in their Faces？But＇twas found at laft， that all the Number had not pals＇d the Trial，and there was cne fill behind that pretended to be very fick a Bed， and was not able to come．＂This Fellow was fent for，and fain to be brought upen Mens Shoulders；but all the Com－ pany condernid hion for the Rogue as foon as he appcar＇d， there were fo many Characters of Guilt in hisFace．He was terribly confounded at touching the Corps，and all his Actions and Anfivers befpoke him to be hared to the laft degrec．＇There was no Blood however came from the dead Body；but if the coming of fomething elfe from the living Body had been a fign of guilt，＇tis probable if they had look＇d，they would have found him not very in－ nocent and pure．：\({ }^{*}\) ．

The King，and all the reft，oblerving the Confufion he was in，contidently perfwaded themfelves he was the Per－ fon theylook＇d for；＇and therefore，tho＇he had fcap＇d this way，yet his Innocence flould．be tried too by the Laws of the Country．

The Method is，for a Pot of Oyl ro be ferover the Fire， and when＇tis boiling hor，there＇s 2 Ball of Brals thrown into it；here the fuppected Perfon is to come，and thruft－ ing his naked Arm into this fcalding Liquor，muft fetch out the Ball；and if nothing of burn or fcald appears up－ on his Skin，he is acquitted of the Fact laid to hischarge； but if there be any Impreffion made，they take it for granted he is guilty．A moft isregular and barbarous way of proceeding to derermine matter of fact；＇twould be as juft and fair to throw 2 Man into a Den of hungry Lions，and pronounce him guilty or not guilty，according as they cat him up，or let him alone．But the Fellow was entirely willing to fubmit himfelf to this fort of Trial， and offerd to put himfelf into the hands of the Executio－ ner，if he did not come off clear．And in thort，he drew his Arm out of the Cauldron of boiling Oil，as unble． min＇d，and perfeetly free from injury as it would have been had he put it into cold Water：This we were all Witneffes to，being all perfeetly awake，and our Senfes， no way that we know of，impos＇d upon．After the Ex－ periment was over，all his Sicknels and Lamenels was over coo，he was as brisk and lutty as the beft of them ； twhich fudden change prov＇d the former Illnefs counter－ feit，and confirm doll the Company in their evil Opinion of him．
This Affair being ended，the King made another Pre－ The Poral us，about the farther prolecation of the frace Pepper，and weary of Clort ；befides rhe Junks from Ar－ per fill brought in，and our Trading－rimie bur thor，and almoft expird，we agreed with him at 22 Rials per Bahal． And to make us more eafie and fecure in our being here for the time to come，the King gave us liberty to do all thar was needful in our own defence；to feize，imprifon，or fire upon thofe that came to offer us any violence as we thould fee fit．
Our whole Story hitherro has been litule elfe，but a con－ tinued Scries of Croffes，Difappointments，Injurics，and Abofes；and when one would have hop＇d for a fairer Day，and fome lirtle refpice from haunring．Troubles and Misfortuncs．they broke in with more violence upon us， and what was lighr perplexity before，was now down－ right Tragedy：For now at one ftroke the Dutch made themfelves Mafters of four of our brave Ships，fetting out \(D_{\text {mets：数 }}\) of this Port of Tce00：Some of them were ready laded to their hands roo，bar all fo encumbred that they were not \(=\mathrm{man}\) 隹． carable of fighting．＇＊She that fhould have been a Guard＇Thipn to the reft，was far from being able to defend her felf，all \({ }^{\text {the Drga }}\) her Decks were clogg＇d，and her Guns ftowed up with Lumber to char degree，that＇twas not poffible to ufe them in the greareft exremity．With thofe few Ordnance that were clear，fhe maintain＇d the Fight for a little time，；but twas impoffible to hold our long with all thar Burden and Unwcildinefs，againft fix fubftantial Ships of the Encmy．
The other three feeing her Fate，yielded chemfelves withour exchanging a Gun；perhaps＇rwould have been to no purpofe to have fired，bur to yield fo ramely and quietly，was not according to the ufual manner of the Ex－ glifh．Had the worthy＊Captain（who loft his Iife by cxam this Action）been better advis＇d，and according even to his own firft Refolution，kepr his grear Ship clear for the Service of a Man of War，the Durch perhaps hat not had this Triumph．nor we endared the miferabite Confe－ quences of ic But we were abfolutely trepannd，and cheated into their hands；they had taken in their Colours， by which we mould have difcoverd them，anderat \(\mathrm{C}_{2}\) prain judging them to be Sir Tic．Dale＇s Flect，thac was to be at Tecoo abour this time，we were got in fo near with them，that＇rwas＇too late to chink of drawing off a－ gain．
The Dutch were fo charitable to our Men（then their fro ord Prifoners）as to lay them in Irons upon the Gratings all uxeía Night long，and that in the mott tempeftuous Weather peryin for Rain，Thunder，and Lighening，that had been known for a long time in thofe parts，withour any refpect to fick， weary，or wounded，the lofs of many of whofe Liveste－ ftificd the Barbarity of that Night＇s Enterainment．All that were left alive they turn＇d athore the next Morning， with fuch forry Rags upon their Backs as they were pleas＇d to allow them ；thefe were to the number of 300 Men ， and had not the Infidels exprefs＇d more Kindnefs and Bowels than thofe Chriftians had done，the whole Com－ pany had perifid in the laft Extremities of Milery．Bur he Compaffion of the Tccoens towards us in this diftress， does deferve our Acknowledgment．The King conftantly Trkita \(^{2}\) vifired the Caprain，and brought him the beft Dainties of of the Court，till his incurable Wounds fer him our of the reach of all earthly Succours：They kepr a continual Marker for Victuals ar the Door of our Houfe，and fold us all manner of Provifions at much eafier Rates than be－ fore：Befides this，leaft the Dutch fhould land and attempt－ any thing upon us；we had a Guard of a thoufand Men well arm＇d about us all the time their Ships ftay＇d there． So that we may fay they have（ar the loweft value of this Action），aton＇d for former Injuries；and left us withour Demands upon them，if nor their Debrors．

Our Mamer＇d Company here were not long after hap． pily difpos＇d of，and difpers＇d up and down in a litule Flect of Englifh that came in hicher．
As for my own parcicular，I fer fail for England in one surabe of our feeble crazy Ships，which if the Winds and Waves did not ufe very kindly and renderiy，would hardly allow us what Nature crav＇d，bnî obliged us to endure much pain that way，till we reach＇d the Bay of Soldania．Here s we got in a fupply of Fifh；but loft a part of our Men by \(\begin{gathered}\text { zircimat }\end{gathered}\) an Outrage of the Natives；nothing of thas kind having dari twin ever till now been atrempred uponthe Englib．They us＇d
 but fomething or orher had ftirrd their Choler，fome ill People had done them an injury，and we unhappily came to bear their Revenge for＇t．From hence I had a profpe－ rous Voyage to England；having had litule of chat nanure Ftone before，in the whole Courle of this Vigr to the Eaft－ Iniess．
\(\qquad\)

\(\qquad\)

\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)

\(\qquad\)

\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)

\footnotetext{

}

\(\qquad\)
 gin were daily expeeted with grear ftore of that Commo city for himfelf（who always torces the People to take it off），and a litte ready Moncy before－iand from us，would difpofe ihum to a brisker Trade with him．This was all Self－interctt，and courting us to fall in with him in pro－ moting thai defign；but there being a grear deal of Rep－

\(\square\)

\section*{С н а р. XXXV.}

\section*{A Declaration put forth by the Dutch, containing the Account they give of the Differences between the Englifh and themfelves, and the Grounds of their Pretenfons to, as well as their Proceedings at the Iflands of Banda. To which are added fome brief Animadverfions upon it.}

WrinNthe former Chaprers we have heard our Merchants and Factors abroad making divers heachants and Factors abroad making divers heathere has been of. Injuftice and Oppreffion, of Treachery and Barbarity; in thorr of fo many Breaches of the Laws of Righe Reafon, Good Manners, and Chriftian Charity, that the Bufinels requires to be more diligenty looked into. Now as our own People have rold their Story at large, and reprefented the Marter as they thoughr fit and juft, fo we muft hear what the other party tas to ray, and what account they give of things for their own Juftification. "Tis but fair and equal to allow them all the fope that can be to make their own Defence; and trisevery whit as free for them to Anfwer an Accuration, as 'ris for the others to bring ir in againft them. This is \(a\) Privilege that all Mankind have an indifputable right to, and to deny it at any cime (except in a Matter that carries irsown Sight and Evidence along with it) is to fix \({ }_{2}\) Blor of Sufpicion upon the Charge, and render the Truth of jt doubrfal to all unbyaffed, impartial. Peo ple.
Thyy rage as can be defired, we thall offer a Copy of their own Declararion, which fully expreffes their mind in this Bufinefs, and was incended by them for a compleat Anfwer to all the marerial Particulars urged againft them, with reference to the Banda Affairs.
Itwas Printed in Dittch at Amfterdam, A. D. 1622, and is fairhfully manlared from the Original.

The Dutch's Declaration, giving an Account of what pafs'd in the llinds of Banda, in the Year of our Lord, 1621.

ALL she Iflands of Banda, from the tenth of Auguft A1609, byafpecial Tresty and Agresment made with she Oramkayes or Magiftrates of the forefaid Ifands, were prete ander the Prorefion of tive high, and mirhry, the Santes Ge real of the united Provinses, on cordition so defend them from the Portugal, ered other their Enemies, provided shat then of the friid Mands, are bound to deliver unno the Fort sclled Naflau; or unto the Committees of the Said Compony, all their Fruits or Spices at a certain price, cind fo forth, ac If the frid Tresty of Agreement more at large eppeareth. Tirfe Arsicles of Agreement, baing for a time by shem perforned, were afterwords broken and violatch, as well in keping back, and with-holding she faid Fruits and Spices, which thy wete fied to deliver to the Nerherlands Comam; as alfoenforcing end robbing their tharc-boufes, and contrary to Solemn Treaty and Promif, murthering at famdro cimes exd places, divers of the principil Officers, Committees and Scruents of the faid Necherlands Company, in teking anecy divers fmall Sloip Prooifion, their open invading of \(t b=\) Places and Countries, witbfoosd \(\frac{1}{1!}\) olately under the Sulelition of the Hiaband Mighty the States General, and in conquering sbe Inhabismots thereof, whom with a ftrong Hand tho forced frombeing Chriftians to become Moors agnin, or thofe woich wishftood or gain-faid shem, they fold as Slaves, andin commirting all kind of perverfewickednefs and Trenchery: during wobich Paflates and Doings, there wors agnin ertain Contrefs on the aforcfaid Conditions apreed upon vith the faid Bandaneles, as in May, in the Year 1616 byone of the Netherlands Commanders called Lam, and by sbeir Gevirnour Gencral Laurence Reall, in the Year 1617, mbich indeed were fbortly after broken and violated by the Bandanefor, and ther throush she animating by the Englifh, w'o did operily aid aral affit the forcfaid Illands, and mair cained them in warrege, sho Netherlands Company with Vi&tuals, and Munition, great Ordnance, Men and Sisips, thereby to mitb-bold from us the Fruits end Spices,' which the Banda neles were ried to deliver. in this wilfulnefs the Bandanefes continued, sill in June, 1620. Till that at Jacatra was publifhedbothamony/t the Engliifh and the Netherlands Fleet; then riding there in sbe Road, the Trecty concluded and a greed upon, between bis moft excellent Majeft, the King of Great Britain, and the High and Mighty Lords the States General, for coreconcile upon certain Conditions; the Englih and Necherlands Eaft-India Companies.
The which Treaty, and by conference of bandling concerning sbe Molucca's, Amboyna, and Banda, oll Difputes and Differences between sbe Engliin and theNetherlands Cempang, concerning the fame, were so that time abolifbed, and a ge neral Force of Ships of War was ordaired between fhem for the Defence of loth Companies in their Rights, and the conmerce wbich tbey had obtained in the Indics.
The ReduIion of the moilful Bandanefes wnso the Nether: ands Camp, was bindred a Year or troo (shrougb shie acitual Proceedings. which the Englinh in Banda it Self, fince the rent 1616, wand afterpords in the Tear 1618, ebout sbe Cocfi of Java; and whole India thro) by open beftility did ctecmpt: wlereby the aforefaid Bandanefes being encouraged and made balder, did withdraw themfetoes wholly froin under the Sub jection of the Caffle of. Naffaw, doing unto us and ours all Wrong and Hoftility, and with-lolding from us sbeir Fruits ( to bofy Nurmegsiand Mact, whrich they did not only fell unto tbe Englifh, and to the Indians, bur alfo to the Portogals, wbo are both sheir and our Enemies, with, tobom the Ceck to miake rearer Alliance of Eriend/bip, as altrady in the great Ihind ramed Banda, were come fifty or sbreefcore.Portugals, wobo by fome more affifernce, confidering the natural farce of the faid Ifland, would brve been fufficient to bave deprived botb she Englith and the Necherlands Company of the Rigbestherein, and tbe Fruits shereof, witbout bope bercafter to bave any redrefs.
In regard of thofe Inconoeniencies, affer the Publication of the Contralt shat was made, the General of the Netherland Company, in the Common-Council for defence, (confifting of Englifimen and Netherlanders)propounded tbe nsecffiry of the aking of. Banda, as alfo the redrefing and affuring of tbofe Quartets, and of the Trade in Amboyna and Molucca's, to the wobich end, both the Companies according to the Contralt were bound togetice, to ufe all the force end power thes becould, for tbe Preferoation of the places, as much as concerned the Trade, for both sie Companies. And it appeareti) by the AE made by thofe of the faid Council for Defence, bearing dase the firf of Fanuary, 1621; Atylo novo, that the Englifh Committces rbere declared, that the neceffities of the Bufinefs was well known unto them; as cifo that they are very willing rogether with us, to do fome common Exploit ; but for shet as then, they wanted botb Power and Merns of Men and Ships; tbat elocy could not for that time farnifb any thing towards the ame: Whereupon the Netherlands Goocrnour Genernl declared, that mith the perticular Pober of the Netherland Com pany, be wouldtake the fame in band, and effact it in fucb menner, as God frould be pleafed to profer lis Proceedings.
And to that end, upport the thirteenth of fenuary, the Gcvernour Gcperal went from Jacaura to Amboyna, where bearrived upon tlie fourtecenth of February, and from therce wens co Banda, to tbe Caftle of Naffaw, lying in the I/and Nero, apon, abe fooen and swemrieth of February, 1621. In abe mean time, one of the Englimh Cormail for defence, tbat bed becn at Jacarra upon tbe firft of Jamuary, 1621, and woos Privyto tbe Contralt made, lying then in Amboyna, roben the Governorr General went from thence to Banda; fent Lefters in out own Strips to the Englifmen, ling in she frall Inand Poolaroon,enil mede known and difcroered unto thofe of Banda, in whet marmer tbe Gencral of tbe Necherland Cornpany, intended socifail tbe great I/and of Banda: ard when be faid Gocernour General mas come to the Fort of Naffaw in Banda, be underftood that the Englifhmen in Poolaroon, bad cided chem of the Town of Lantore in tbe great Ifand of Banda, with four Picces of great Ordnance; end chat if shey had had loiger time, that the enurance of the General of he Nechcrlands Arm into Lantore Hevem, Bould bave been let and withfood by a great Buttery. As alfo tbat fome

Engliftmen in Lantore, affited shofe of Banda; ours, and (niccordina to the Conrreat) their Encmies, both with Counfol cnd Force, curouraging thom with:leir Prefence, and notwithfardint thert she fridd Ceneral refuired the faid Englififors aforefaid, is alfo for that they ebemfelves, according to He Cinernet end Ordr made by the Council of Defence; befarctlost sime mighe mot bir ainy Fruis in Moluccas, Amboyna, and Banda, is after the Pullication of the Contrat tive mey do, and rhat only. migotier, end in common places toith the Netherlanders, yet fome fo:v of itien finyed fill with them of Barda our commin Encmies. Norwitljfandinr allo ther the Gmernar Gencial protefled, siat he wass not sherein sole blanch, if by shat m:ans any hurt were done unto strem, beins anons and with our common Enemies, from whom the Pruild and arghe to luve feprrated themprives.
Firtl, she"Gourmor Gental determin'd to affail the great Illand of. Banda ontire Sooth fide, (by fone called Lantore, becaufe the Princip. 3 ( Trwon is fo caliced) b Laind in a place-calle.d Luchny, and to that end caufed the Ship calted she Harr to Anchor elercenborts, wioich tay net leng tbere but is wis foor at ban Englifh picce of O:dnance, wherely, oar Men were forced rotco the faid Ship with a Gelleg from the Thoar, and ro leave two Anclors and two Cables bebind them, or elfe is bed been in great danger of finking or burning, our Menaffuring us, that an Englif Gunner bad foot at them, and that they perfeenly difcried and fatw him, alslough the Englifhmen feem to dent is.

Woreby eltering of their furft Purpofe, the General of she Netherlands refolued to land upon the inmard part of she Ifland of Banda, there toencamptbemfeloss, and then to go up upon the Hill:, and there to plant therirOrdnance, and to that elld upon the cigith of March, 162 I , lainded with feventeen Companies between Comber and Ortatter, they marchednalong the floer fide, within the reach of three Pieces of great O:dnance lent tbem by the Englifhmen, and not long before plansed there, wherely if they bad mancioed forto.xrd many of our Men bed beex fain, and fo we foould bave fourd no place shere to encamp our fctees, bat tbe Encmi from the Hills would have dominected over us, no Man knowing moloct counflel to give, wherely we might get up upon the Hills. Tbe way whereon abcoe 3 Kearsbefore we bad been, being all oncreiched, whercupon tbe General determined to eurer agcin intio bix Sbip with the whole Army, totake anotber coarrfc. They of Bandanot once purfuing efter us, but with fouring and mocking let us go, and fo ebinking thereby, that they burd gotten the upper bend of us, moft part of sbem brought rbeir Wives and Cbildren again into I. antore. After chefe two Enterprizes, partly bindred by the Engliih Ordanance, were in zhat marner croft, the General for a third Refolution, determined to affiltrbe great Ifand of Banda on botb fides, that is, on tbe inncr fide of the Land with fix Companies, and on the South fide mithren Compenies. That theyon the inner fide Bortd lend an Hear before sice otbers gould land, hy thats means to draw she Enemy forst, and so to make place on the other fide, wobile a Compenj of shefen Men .Nould lavid on the Nortb fide, to climb up upon the Hills, end otbers in otber places of the Land foould alfo be in a readinefs, being thrree pundred and shiry Perfons, wherecf one bandred rend fify mere Musqueteers, apponted for sto manning and affuring of thirty Boarts, which she faid Coxiany mouid. Gring on the South fide of the Ihanda

This wos effected upon the cieventh of March, and accordingly fix Companies by brcak of Day, went or Land besween Comber and Orarten. Captaik Vaghel mish certain chofen Souldiers marching fermatid, wiso chmbing up upon she Hills, formd fucli refiftence, slat all siseir Pouder bcing fpent, shey were in great danger so be floiled, bur being woll follime ed cnd feconded by the reft, the Encomp was forced to retire: and while this skimifo continued, the other sen Companies landing out of the faid thirry Boats, went on ßhacr upon the Soutb fide of Banda, in a fmall Bry, fome with Ladders, ard others withourt, climbing 'up xpone the Cliffs; and being gorten up, the marched to the lack fide of Lantore, mitlows any refiftence, but oniy tbofe that fer upon the firfo Troops, being Some tenor twenty Masquetcers, by wivon one of cur Men was תain, and four or fise burrt, wherely Lantore was taken on be Sauth fide by the faid ton Companies, white the other five Compenies skimilsed witt shifec of Banda upon the Hills, and 'as foon as Lantore wuss saken, sbofe of Madiangi, Luchny, Orratten, and Sammer, prefently forfook tbeir Towns in the faid Ifand. Winen tbey of Banda faw rbe cforefaid thirty. Boats, shey thougbt we wotuld beoc failed round about tice Land, as we bnd dore shree times before, whereupon makimo no reckaring of cur landing, zley were fulddenis sarprized bo brenk of daj.
As foom as Lantore pith the rest of the places aforefaid ice the reft of them of Banda, namely Slamma Comber, Owendender, Wayer, and thefe of, the Ifands \(f\) Rofinging, and Poolarcon, mode compofition poith as, which we granted upon condition, that shey frould breat down sbeir Forts and Walts, and give us their Shor, Pieces and Muskets, Ecc. Which by them being done, all of them ta gether, according to their Contralt and Premifes, yielded re bold sbeir Coznirries end Lands of the Lords she generat States of ibe united Netherland Provinies, promifing to do twatfoever they foouid be commended; and ackionoledge ribe faid Lords the general States for their Soueraigns, norwirl/ffanding their former Oaths taken unro any orlicers.
Thofe of Laniore and otbers being firft overcione and vorn. quiflued, and shat Saved themfelves among others of Banda allo asked Pardon and fougbt for Peace, wbich was grarted unfo stem upon she condition aforefaid, though sbey bardly held she fame, and fecretly fought to berin a new Rabellion, and were commanded by the General to fixew themfelves all toges ther upon tbe Strand, that they mig/tr. be appointed in fome other convenient plate to live as fellow Citizens freely torether without the lofs of their Gocds which they then lad. Whereunso fome of them obeged, but the greatest part fled upon the ligh Mountains in the great Ifand of Banda, to whom al So ming other Towns reforted, and ת \(\mathrm{l}_{\mathrm{w}}\) a Necherland. Merchant, one other, and a Bog, wbere they were cuclofed anid bindred from Viatuals by our Men. By. chis mecns all th Towns and Places in Banda were won, and made fire, coni Poolaroon, wolich mans not medied mitbal, becaufe shey of Banda therein bebaived sbemfelves peaceabiy, for the Aid, or rather the Service of thone of Poolaroon. The Engliftmen planted nine Pieces of Ordnance upon a fmall Ihand in Poola roon, harving intrencbed che fame: and when thofe of Poola roon, accerding to she Compofition, were to gield up their Arms, and difarm themfeloes, as they willingiy did; yet our General did not arse fpeck of thofe nine Pieces of Ordnance franding in the faid fmall Ifland, becaufe the Englifhmen bould bave no caufeco make any queftion, that ary Men bed done any thing againfl tbeir Fort or Mcn.
The Englifh Commander, Humphry Fizz-Herbert, aith his Ship called the Exchange, lying before the Cefite of Am boina, and baving intelligence of the General of therijcthct lands Vidiory in Banda, foor off fiurteen Pieces of Oromance for joy cbereof.

This that is formerly deciared, wi the true fiere and gra ceedings of shat, mbich beits been done now letely, end lafore inthe Ifand of Banda, wherein norbing batb Leen done, but that which (according to the Law of Nations, and the a forefaid Contraf, made, end premifed so be holden, and withe. out any wrong done to che Libertics of the Englifh Cumpany agreed upon with the Company of the Netherland) might and oughs to bare been denc.

1 N thele Terms have the Dutch made their Defence; and fumming it all up rogether briefly, it amounts to from as much as pleading nor Guilry. Tis a pofitire denial of iman the Truch of the Charge as far as ir pretends any thing of Violence andInjuftice;nay, they don'tonly dany and defend but recriminare too. They reproach their Accufers with theirown Guilt and Midemeanour, and make thofe that cried cur for Juftice, the far mors unif ft and capable Perfons themfelves. This is the old way of the Word in all ma trers of Burthenand Accufation; wery few have Goodnef and Modefty enough to plead guilty in a Cale of an odious narure, tho the Truth of the Charge be cerct fo freely voted in the inward Sence of thcir owin Minds.

The common Practice is cither with one bold ftroke to deny and feratch all our; or elfe by fome handfome wellcontrived Interprctations, to work matrers atour cill the will bear a favourable Ccnftruction, and all the odioulnels of them be cxpounded and interpreted quite awar. And then 'ris a folemn Artifice too, to accufe the Accifers, to make Pafs for Pals with chem, and anfiver one Indictment with another. This is a mighty help where Innccence is wanting ; tis the only way to avoid blarre and cenfure thus to pezzie the Caufe, and involve it in fuch confufion, that no body may be able to judge who's in the right and who in the wromg. Mcn and Boys practife this method toth alike, land to do whole Nations roo: 'Twas nor 1 but you, you began firft, andif I did do this, yet what you did was ten times worfe, and fo the Bufinels goes round, and the Charge is roffed abour from one to another. There'sbawling and accufation on every Gde', bur noyguilt to be found of any fide; each panty is in the rightritho chey flady contradict one another;and no bodytells 2 lye, tho' all inconfiftent Methods pretend tothe Truth.
We do nor affert that cis thus in this particular cale between the Dutch and Us; kur this ar leaft is certain, that according to the common rates of Inregrity and Ingenvity inthis World, fichecealing is to te expeated, and by Wofe meafurcs, if they were really guilty they woulddo fo.
We Mall only confider fome Pafages in their Declararion, and withour any thing of unfair Reprefentation cs invidicus Reficticn; fiew how far they are confiftert

\section*{Chap. XXXVI. Animadverfonis on the Dutch Déclarationi.}
with Reafon ind Trath, and Matter of Fact. They affirm, that the Banda Illes were deliverd over to them by a fpecial Treary and Agreement in Augaft, A. D. 1609. But the Queftion is, which of the twomuft be believ'd in this cafe, the Bandanefe themfelves, or the Durch; thicy fliffiy deny any fuch furrender of their Inands to them, and reckon it a very great abufe for the Dutch ro fay fo. A Peace,indced chere was made thar Year, this they own, but nor a word of the furrender; we charged them with it before we finith'd our Agreement with them, and they all food in it, that there was no fuch thing
A Bur fuppofe this were 絁nited for Mreterof Fact, take it thus ar large, and in this gencral Notion, and it won't fignifie much towards the proving their juft Title to thefe Ilands. One Man is not prefently to be concluded a law ful and fair Poffefor of anocher Man's Righe upon this Confideration barely, that the Owner refign'd is to him A Traveller delivers up his Moncy to a Thicf upon the ;Road, thar prefents a Pintol to his Breaft; bue the Thief does not come honeftly by ir for all shar, and has a far jutter Title to the Gallows than to the Man's Purfe. Or thould he by Threarnings and III Ufage compel the Traveller ro come into Articles for the payment of fo much Moncy to him another time, whether the later would lie under any Obligation in point of Confcience or no, to be as good as his Word; the former deferves to be hang'd no:withfanding the Agreemenc. And if one People intrude themfelves into the Country of another, and then bf conrinual Moleftations and Encroachments upon the Privileges of thar Pcople, prepare them to embrace any Prepofal that offers them Pcace and a Quice. Life, they can't preernd to act fairly and jufty in pofferfing chemfelves of all thofe Advantages chat this Conitraint upon the Na tives Libtity gives them. They are uneafie, and have no way to juelp themfeives, and to avoid farther Plagues and Troables, perhaps refign their Country to the more powefin Intruders: Buit does nor this come up pretry ncar to the Cafe of the Highway-men? And are nor there the fame Characters of Wrong and Violence apon one Ation as upon the other? Now 'ris impoffible the Durch thould ever deny this, that they came and rook the Town of Nero, and buile a Fort there to kecp all the People in awe abour them : Bur the Bufinefs is, did they come upon the Invitacion of the Bendanefe, and did they build their Fort with their Confent? The World will hardly ever believe, that the Brandanfe would give way to fuch a manifett Invafion of their Liberries, or have fofferd (if chere had been any way to prevent it) a Foreign Power to come in and clap a Bridle upon them, by the means of which they might be managed, and turn'd about ar pleafure. However, 'twill be expected, that they thew fome Contract or Commiffion to that purpofe; for fuch things as thele, upon which the Forrunc of a Country depends are nor generally tranfacted by Word of Mourh only, but with fomething more of formality by interchanged Writings. 'Till this be done, they muft excafe us if we believe the making thofe Fortifications robe direAly contrary to the mind of the Rendanefc, and in plain Terms, an un juftifiable Encroachment upon them.
Now if after they had thus pianted themfelves by main Strength or Policy in the Country, they become the Oppreflors of it; if they tecze and diftrefs the Inhabiants till they are weary of their Lives, and fo make a Surender in their own defence, and becaufe they can hold our no longer, this gets them indecd the pofeffion, bur the Sacred Rules of Juftice and right Reafon arc violazed. 'Tis granted, here is eleren Points of the law, but the twelfth and chiefet of all is wanting ; here's no good Title. And tis unqueftionably cornin, that the Bendanefe were chus harals'd and perplex'd by the Durch; for when their Fort was finifidd, they fer our all their Forces, and rook the Town of Labi, facke, and quickly after attempted S/imaic in like manner, where they were repulsd with confidera ble lors.
But when all's faid and done, the State of the Cafc is otherwife; and the Ines of Bande were nor furrendred to them at all. 'Tis true, that they mighr think they would be fo, and the Bandanefe pretended to do ir ; bur'twas all a piece of Mockery, and a Defign to draw them into a Snare, that they mighr have their full Revenge. For when the Dutch Admiral, and a large Train of other Commanders came to a Conference with chem in the Woods uponthar Subject, the enraged Bandanefe, having them now fafe in their Pound, fell upon them to rights, and cur them all oo pieccs. They never intended any other Agreement but this, nor no Surrender but that of che Lives of the Datth to their Miercy. Wc'll eafily allow it ro be a horrid Inftance of Treachery and Barbarity, but then thev were pro:ok'd to a high degrec, and the Confideration of their many Injuries and Opprefions, will in \{ome meafurc al leviate and foften the matrer on the fide of the Bandanefe Here then the Bufinefs refts; and if no more were faid in is fufficient to thew, thar the Dutch have but trifled in their Declaration. Thefe Illands were never put into their hands, all the adjoyning Councries are Wirneffes, that the Bandanefe cut the Cords of thar pretended Agreement afunder with their Swords, and by maffacring all the Body of Figare or Note to agree withal. Why then hould the World read fuch Lines as the two firft in their Dhould ration are, that affirm a folemñ furrender? How far is this from that Ingenuiry and Verruous Simplicity, that may be expected from a People of fo cminent a Character in he Chrittian World
What Punifhment they owe the Bandenefe, for the Outrage committed upon their Officers, is another point ; bur co fay the Country was delivered up to them, is an Injury both to them, and all Mankind in general, becaule'tis impofing a manifeft Falnood inftead of a Truch upon their belief. Burbefore we drop the Bufinels, we would take the liberty to pur a few Queftions to them, and that upon the botrom of fome frec Concelions of cheir own in the Declaration.
Since the Arricles of Agreement berween rie Bandanefe and them, are not fairly produc'd as they ought to be, and as thofe between the Engli \(\beta\) and that People were, what Motives can the World have to believe any fuch thing, when the Carriage of the Natives towards them is duly confider'd? Whar Agreemenr, where nothing bur War and Violence, and all the Effeets of an implacable Hatred appears? The Bandence were never ealic nor quier with them by their own acknowledgment, they were always either plotting, or practifing fome Hoftilities or other. By all their Motions and Strugglings 'twas plain, that they them, ander a Burthen that was hofribly oppreflive to them, and which chey wanted bur Force and Power to throw off. They were all the winile like che Lion in the Ner, ving at the Bonds that abous s.: I:berty, freting and ragnawn afunder they would. Is, there in a!! this any fign of 2 volumary Submifion, or a free Surrender? On the other hand, 'tis a fign, and a Mrewd one roo, that the Bexdanefe were either over-awed and terrificd into a Compliance with them; or elle that the Dutch carried it extreamy ill amonght them, to pur them into this violent ferment. And to juftife this confequence, they may pleafe to conider, that they behav'd themfelves quite at anocher rate to he Erglifh. Therc was no plouting and caballing to cur hem off, no Incivility was cver offerd, nor an Englifb men fo much as affronted upon the Illands. We had all their Spice withour any hing of difficulty ordifpute, we planred our Ordnance therc, built and fortified withour controul. In thorr, there never was the leaft Feud or Difcontenc, and tho our Religion were different, yet that Point was fercled; and perhaps never did Chriftians and Mahometans live more amicably together. Now fince we came in upon a good Foundation, and liv'd at this eafie rate with the Natives, 'ris highly probable, that if they had ftood upon the fame juft and fair botrom with us, they would have had as good Entertainment. Such Violerices as were offer'd them, would have naturally fol low'd upon an Ufirpation of the Pcoples Rights and Pri vileges; fuppofe fuch foregoing Injuries as thofe, and fuch Inftances of Revenge as thofe, would be the genu ine Confequences of them, amongt a Prople that had any thare of Spiric, and were not fond if their Chains. And fince thefi things did actually come to pals, we mult believe that to be the Caufe till a more juft one is affign'd Howercr, if there were no Encroachmens, there muft be rregular Conduct in the Cafe, they violated the Laws of uftice and Good Manners amongtt them; or elfe, why hould thev, more than we, be fingled our for the Marks of all the Fury and flaming. Indignation of that People? So that the Bufinefs fill bears much to the fame Point as ocfore; for if there was an Agreement, it was by their own Concefion violated over and over: But the very fame Pcople were juft and punctual to the Englifh for feeral Years rogether; never Hinch'd from whar they prerended to, never broke their Word, never cur and muffled in any refpect with us, wherefore we crave their pardon, if we conclude, that withour, fufficient Provocaion the Bardan:fe would never have been falfe and crucl 0 them.
And cortainly, they ought to produce very good Teftimonies of the Agreeablenets and Regularity of their Contrfation amonget that Pcople; for the Effects of their cadiy Averfion to them are foapparens, thar the World an'r fortear refolving upon'r, that the caufe of ic muft be Humovir, from a bale and barbarous meerly from a cruel Humoir, from a bale and barbarous Difoofition, let the truth be told, that they may have the infamy of it; if "rwas a juft Revenec, ler oir Neiphbours the Durch candidly acknowledee their own Mifdo:ngs: In morr, it muft be from onc of thete two Prinsipics, unies they run to Notir n's of Sympathy and Ancipathy, and fay that the Find of ef have an unaccountable Aterfion to them, as fome Pcop'e have to Cass.

There are.fome other Confiderations that will very greatly add to the force of this Realoning, if they are joynd with ir, the Sence of which may be taken ihus all ingether: That thofe Agremenes with the Bandanef: were divers times violared, and as ofen renew'd, that they came oft and on apain. and things were reftor'd to the fime. Conder:on as befors, after feveral Interruptions and Confofions, If we aretalking here not of late Agreemence for ordinary Trade, but theifilemn Surrender of a Ceuntry. who has fo much fower orer his T'nderftanding, as to difpore it to believe there things? What, would that Pcople with all the Indigeation and Diftain imaginable, throw off an abhorrd Xoke, and then tamcly put it on again themfelves? Did they groan under it as fuch an infuppertable Burden, and make fo many violent Efforts to ger free; and when they had their Liberty, would they proftinuce is acain to a Power, which they all along reckon'd arbitrary and cyrannicai? How many degrecs beyond a common Madnces mutt this be? They mutt cer tainly be tewitch'd, and there"s no folving the Bufinefs without bringing in the Rower of the Black Art to accourt fort.
As for the Bufinefs of Trade, 'tis pofible they might do and undo the Rargain feveral times; tho' by the way we are cicarin't, that the Dutch nerer had any more of that neither, than what they got by downright Compulfion. But that they flowid relign their Country, and for fuch Reafons las they did! withdraw thar Surrender, and then make a freth one, and this two or three times over; is a thing that cramers the Underitanding of a Man with fo much difficuiry and conrradicticn, shat it muft be pafid of withour any farther Norice. Now upon the whole, which is the injurd Party, and who has moof Reafon to complain? The Ergi: \(\beta_{3}\) wore in a fair and legal manner poffers'd of thefe Inands, (if ar leaft the free and volunrary Surrender of the Inhabitants can make it fo), and the Durclj by unjutitiable Fraud and Violence forc'd them: our.
Had the Natives a Power to difpofe of their own Country in thar manner or no? If they had, the Declaration thowld have been fuppref'd, becaute upon this fuppofition tis a Publick Defince of a nororious Piece of Injuftice: If they had not, then fome anteredene Obligations to the Dutci) muit hirder them; but the Declaration is felf affirms, that all the Treatics were then kroken off, andt the Bendanefr had quited all Concerns with them for the fpace of eleven Years. Was there any. Obligation tien Withont a Treary, or any Act of Injuftice where there was no Obligation? And had there cver becn an Obligation (which the others deny with all the Solemnity in the World), it had been carcelid to all intents and purpores by the Breaches made by the Duth therfelves. For no Peopic can be fupposid to give themflelves up to another for cremal Slaves, to be asd well or ill ar difcrerion, and have all their Forune and Happinefs écrend entircly upon the capricious: He:mour of thole they ler in Imengft them. Theretore if the Bendenefe found themelves grieved, they might feck Relicf and Protection fomewhere elfe; and if We D:acij broke the Oripinal Contract, they forfeited their Ireereft in that Pecple, and lefe them at liberty to difpofe of themfelves as they thought fir.
There is one thing more touch d in the Declaration, which is by no means to be sctally cmitred; our Repuration is ncarly concern'd in'r, and to pats it off withour Notice, mighr in fome Peoples Judgments be efteem'd a ancite acknowicd gmenr of the uruth of the Charge. They fav we animated the Benderefe in their Ofpofition and ill Celigns, and blew up the rifing Flame of Contention between the Ditti and them. That we affifed them with our Counfle, Puifes, and immunition, and"pur them into a Condition to maintaina War for their undoing. This ifa yery cnoward Cbarafter; tho they well know, that they have not frupled any thing of that kind ro us many a time before this. There are fo many ill Principles that go to the Centtitution of an Incendiary, there's to much Vice, filthy Narure and Temper in ir, that no Be dy can be roo mech concern'd to clear themfelves from fuch an impuation. We are thercfore obliged to fay (and that with ath imaginable afurance). that this is as tric as twas, that the Etentincte fursendred their Counery to thein; as rrue as their Tirte to thofe Inands was juft and gocd, and chat the King of England gave them a Commirfron to feize all our Ships they found beyond the Celebes. The Charge ought to be particularly explain'd and made goor, and not deliver'd thus ar random, and in general crms
When the Bemdanefe had delivcr'd up their Illands into ove hands, and made themfelves equally the Subjects of our King with our felves, we did moft cerrainly take chem into our Protection, and furnifh them with what was noceffary both for their Support, Trade, and Defence, againft all Powers that flould precend to invade them. This was the Tenour of our Agreemenr wich them : And would any People in the Worlintave acted otherwife, or have forborn a neceffary Care and Provifion for thofe that had entirely commitred themfelves to their keeping? Bur does this Action deferve ro be branded with all thofe odious Characters of Treachery, Confpirafy, and Caballing againft them? Is it the fame thing to give the Bendenefe the juft Protect:on of Engli/h Subjects, and to fet them upon the Dutch to cut their Threats? 'Tis rrue, they were their Enemics (and with good realen tco) : Bur what then? They were our Friends, and of the fame Body with us, and we were nor obliged to defert and turn them off, becaufe the Dutch and they could nor cinderitand one anr, ther righrly.

But they have not taken the right end of the Argument, nor made the ftrongeft Thruft, in urging th:s upon us. They mould not have blam'd us for affifting the Brindane/e after the Surrender, bur for taking the Surrerder it felf at their hands. If there be any wrong done to the Dutch, it was in our accepting that Donation of the Illand which they pretend to have been their Right: We had been feardaloufy weak and foolifh, if we had not food by them after we had made an Agreement with them. And if the ftrefs of the matter be brorighr to refticre, the Consroverfic will quickly be decided in all the Minds that receive what we have offer'd for Matter \(f\) Fact which it is as certainly as cver is was certain that the Dutcb and the Englifh contended about the Ines of \(3 \cdots d\).

We have now done, and faid all thar we think the \(D_{e}\) claration deferves to have faid to it: We fhail on y make one concluding ftroke; which we muft do to den! impartially by our felves and them. 'Tis to add the Relation of a certain Prieft of Poslatroon, an Eye-wirne!s to thefe Tranfactions, in which he gives, in a few Lines, his Scnice of the Original of the Contefts between the Duteh and the Bendentfe. 'Twas given by him in the Melicaan Tongre, and tranlated from thence into ours, by Mr. Ficyes, our laft Capta:n ar that lland, before the fatal Conclifican of our Affairs there. The Prieft feems to fpeak honeftiy and impartially on both fides, and we hope the Worid will not fufpect any unfair dealing of curs in the Tranfation of it.

The Relation of the Prieft of Poolaroon, truching the Reginnings and Occafions of Quarreis berwixr the Dutch and Bandanefes. writren in the Malayan Language with his own Hand, in a very lair Arabick Letter, and the Sence rendred to me in Eegglíh, by Mr. Rob. Hayes.
\(T\) His is che beginning of Contentions betwixt the Hollanders and she Bandanefes. Two Hollanders ran from them, and.rurned Slammes or Mahomerans, and in the Pricfis Itcufe at Nero wocre fain by tree Hollanders; wobich in Revenge wore Acin by the Nitives, who finid not eljere, but in tlee Fury fewo orher shree Hollanders. This was ill done of rivem, ro add a double Reverge. Soon rfter the General of the Sollanders crme thither with shirteen Ships, and demanded Sartinfation for she Slaighter of his Camnry-men. Tio Bandancics offercd Diet (that is, the wonted Satisfation there "fed for Men-laughter, int Money), for thofe left tirec. But the Generrl enlwered, That he come not now so demand Satiffifion, but to mak: Perce and League with them, which mas dons. The next Yiar came cnother Holland General, Peter Williamfon Verhuef, with fifteen Sbips into the Hrven of Nero, and ated leare to fet up a Fort at Taniung Raroo, or Ponit Raroo, which the Bandances granted; bur then be reftyed it, and demended leceve to erect a Fort in anotber place of Taniung Minangis, which they refufed. But be ccming beforc the Cafle of Nero, with bis Ship end Ordnance, terrified the Inhabionnts, wisich fled away, end be piffiffed the Crffle, and fortified there. Tisen did the Bandancies fut:ily diffemble Friendfhip, and few tire General, and fiftem Capthims, mith orthers, abour one bxodred Men in all.

\section*{Снар. XXXVI}

A Voyage to Surat, in India, and Jafques, in the Gulph of Perfia; fet forth by the Company, noith four nero Ships; the London of 800 Tun, the Hart of 500, the Roebuck of pincom 300, the Eagle of 280. * Captain Andrew Shilling, cbief Commander. Taken out of the fournal of Mr. Rich: vimitesise Ewann, Mafter of the Roebuck.

WE fer fail from Tilburr Hope, with this. new Fleet, and all the way from the Downs to 8 Degr. N. Lat. we might have carried a rop-Gallams-Sail, but hereabouts the Tornadoes began to blow upon us.
In pasfing the Equinoctial the Winds and Current gave us fome difturbance, and obliged us to crofs it more to the Weft fide than we intended. 'Tis impofible apon this Element always to chufe our own wiay; we are ar the difpofe of the Winds, and can't help going where they command.
At the Bay of Soldania, befides the ufual bufinefs of Refrefhment, we had a Work of another nature to do: We made here 2 folemn Publicarion of his Majefty's Title ro tife Coumry, and erected his Mount in Token Title to
of in.
Havin paffed the Cape of Good Hope a little way, we were bostibly labour'd with the meeting the N. W. and S. E.Oceans; the Jea ran fo upon heaps, and was raffled at that rate, that our Ships were put to the urmoft trial of their Surength, to work their way through. We cur the Line a fecond time, and brought the North Pole about the Horizon again; and bere from 1 Degr. to \(s\) Degr. 32 Min. we were every Day hindred 11 or 12 Min. by a Southern Current; and this oppofition of the Current latted for four or five Days together.
Affer we had made.fix Degr. N. Lar we faw for" 2 grear while (and that every Day) grear numbers of But-ter-fies, and feveral forts of Land Fowl, as Caftrels, Quails, Martins, bur which was pretty odd, no fort of Sen Fowl ar all.
We went away firt for the Coaft of Dabul: Here we ftaid till our Men fufficiently well refrefh'd and recover'd; and our two Ships defigned for \(\mathcal{F}\) afques were compleatly ready for that Voyage.
When this was done, they went (as they were bound) for Perfic, and we with the other two (the London and the Roebuck ) for Swally Road. We had not been long at this place, before we heard that the Porrugucie had prepared for the Surprifal of our Ships. difparched for 4 fefques; that they lay waiting for their coming, and would in all probability fnap them, if fome meafures were nor raken for their refcue. Our only way was to go after them, and be their Deliverersour felies; for the Enemy might hare beeñ too hard for them with their grear Galleons, and the Hair ard Eagle (as fwift ar they were) not able to have made their cfare from them.
This was agreed and concluded on ; and accordingly we fer fail from Fafoues, taking in our paflage a Portugyeze Prize laden with Cares' and Kaifins, but principally with Jratien. Horfes, which were tranfporting from Mufcat to chand.

As we proceeded farther upon this Defign, we met our own Ships comingtack to us in Indir, finding the ftrengeh of the Portuguefe fo confiderable, tharthey dared nor ftand the brunt of an Encounver with them. Burbeing now all met, we turned aboutagain, imagining our united Force fufficient to graple with theirs; and as they lay there to hinder and deftroy our Perfian Trade, we were under an obligation to do our beft ro bear them away.
When we came up with them, we found their Flect confited of four Galleons, two Galleots, and atout ten Frigarsnoore lay artending them with Supplies of Men and Ammunition ar the Eaftern end of -irforles Road. After the rwo Flects had once feen one another, the Action quickiy begun; we knew on boch fides that we did not mect there for a bare Interview, and to gaze upon each others Ships. The Fight conzinued nine Hours withour intermifion, and perhaps had gone on as many more; had not the dark Night incerpoled and parted us. We can't be pofitive what Injury their Fleet castaind wich lois of Men, only this we know, their Vice-Admiral dropp'd, and abour 40 Men out of their Admiral, that is; Portugueze, for they never reckon Morrs and Indians into the number of their Men, nor account it any Lofs to lofe them by thoufands. Their Admiral was certainly raked thro' and chro with all our broad-fides, and how the unweildy thing did to hold up her Head in that crazy condition wo which the was reduc'd, is fomerhing ftrange; bur the Frigats lay by and were ready to affift in a time of extremity.

Our own Loffes were lefs than could reafonably have been hoped for in work fo hor and tight as chis was, and for fo long together too. Our Rigging was pretiy mach damaged, but the Ships brought away their Carkaffes found and in good cafe. We had threc or four Arms broke, and one Skull bear in pieces with a Canron Shor, and a fragment of that Skull did almoft as much mifchief as the Bullet it felf, by ftriking our the Eye of another that ftood near. Bur what was this to be the fruir of fo long fighting, and how many batterd Skulls and Carkaffes would one racher have expected to have feen in thar time?
Here was an Interval now of four or five Days, in which Space of time the Porrugueze had many fair Opportunities to have made a fecond Trial, but they had not yet quire forgot the firf; the Windsblew fair and invited them to come down apon us; but they pals'd off thar Kindnefs, and defired to be excufed.
Thisfpare cime we thoughe fir to improve as diligently as we could, and fince we were not to fight, began to do bufinefs.

We made towards \(\mathfrak{F}\) afoues Road, and landediche Com- They land panies Goods ard"Money there, which was the Prize chat their Goods the Portugucze watted and came for, and now to their \({ }^{*} j \times f\) gus. mortification, ftood by and faw fafely deliverd aftoar: A few days after this, they had a Supply of Men and Ammunition from Ormus, and then were bold enough to advance towards us a fecond time. Bur yer managed themfelves to with the advantage of the Winil, that they kept at a fair diftance from us, and we with all our labouring could nor (for a good while) bear up to them. Such fudden concrary gutts of Wind would meet and drive us back when we attempted is, thar fome of our Blacks cried our the Portugurie had brought a Witch from Ormius to ferve them with Wind ; if 'rwas fo, the Chamm expired by degrees, and the Wind would be commanded by that Genteman no longer, for ar laft ir ferved our purpoife, and brought us ap ro the Teech of them. Yet after we were engaged, it calm'd all of a fudden, and 10 F fecond two of our Ships thar lay neareft the Enemy were forced Fight to bear the heavieft burthen of the Action for forme time; but by the enparallell'd Diligence and Refolution of our Min, the other two thar lay behind were brought into play, and fairly delivered their whole broad-fides upon the Portugucze Galleons. And cercainly had the Succets in all points been anfiverable to the Noble Hear and Conirage of our Men, no part of that Fleet' had ever feen Ormus cr any other Port any morr. Thiey managed the Bufinels with wonderfal Bravery and Refolution, went extravagantly high in courting a complar Viary, extravagantly high in courting a complear Victory ; but the Pcrrugucze onr-did them in Skill and. Arful Conduag, and gave large Proofs of cheir good Abilitics in char Days Ser ice.
Howcier it cameto this iffue, thar theỳ cut their Cables, Tbe Porrumand drove away with the Tide rill they were our of our pwesfice reach; their Skill was fo grear that they faw they muft toert. be ruined if they ftaid thtre any longer, and therefore teok that courfe for their Security. Nay, to make the grearer haft, their Frigats were employed to row them along; and"twas a pretry fight to fee chofe huge Ships now diawn way ail rom and mangled, with tatrerd
D.d 2

Sails

Sails and breken Mafts, and all their Risging in fuch a plied; and the Burdens we complain'd of cffectually ripickle, that a Day or wwo before were ho fincly trimmed with Flags and Pcndants, and canc flourining on with their iets of IMufick. "Tis always the way of rhar Pcopic to comero a Sca-lighe wieh us, with fo much Prefumption and infolear Securicy of Victory before-hand, and it cuer faduces with them accordingly; for they know well norghthey are a'was benten and never come co fo
proudty an foomf * bur thy nocit asain as poody
-1 Wincos

Cup: Wax thes for. tais.

Admirel
\({ }_{S}^{\text {Anmiral }}\) dis of "a \({ }^{2}\) stheirs, tho' we fainly had the Victory. Not that- they is aseeced them, for as to all thefethings we came off ata very cheap
1.y Cips. aridcafie rate. Bur our worthy Admiral, who cxposd himfeif to all Dangers as much as any common Sailor did, received a Wound in this Fight, of which he afrerwards died ; as his Lifc was Braye and Honourable, fo his Deach was Pious and moft Chriftian like, which happening beforewe could ger away frem fefares, we were tored to celcbrate his Funcral there uponthe fpor.
Having difpatchid all Aftairs at Fiffucs, we fer fail from thence for Surat, and as in our coming hither'twas our fortuncto take a lorrugate Prize, fo we had the fame Adventure in our rerurning back; the was no rich Ship at all, nor bad any thing of lading, but cntircly delignd for the War, and to cuard the Rorthgueze Merchans from the Mallabars, and being capable of doing us fome confiderable Scrivic, we difmifed her Company and detain'd her.
Ferrum. As foon as we came to Surff, we began to take in Goods apace. Bur here fome Differences and Dircontents arife, by the peryerfenefs and ill humour of the Gover nour of vlpare. We conld not procure a Supply of Provifions for the Ships, nor Liberry for the free and unreftrain'd paffage of Carrs, with Goods forth and back afthore; by means of which no Conton. Wool could come down to us, till we were pretty far on with a lading. Had we ftood fill, and difcovcrd our felves fearful of artempting to redtefs the fe Gricrances, the ill-minded Governour would have rrampled yor farcher upon us, and our Flece mighr have becin ftary'd, as well as our Trade hin derd. And thercfore at once to fer all thefe things to righrs, we fenr down a Ship to keep Guard upon a Junk

They ret a
Guard upor the Morgucs Junk. AEddifracefully. But they will be Conquerours cne way oroihor, if not in realiry after a Gatale, yer in imagina tion before ic begins; cho this is Somecturg an odd way of triumphing, and no Pcople will be jcalous of their Glory nor cny them the Fane of fuch Vietorics as Glory, nor eny. them the rane of fuch victories a there.

As for out feives this time, our lofs was greater thän belonging to the Mogul, and to preycnt her taking in any Libertics allow'd w.s. This produc'd the defired effect, and the Goyernotr of Surat taking the Caufe into ferious confideration. rerok'd thefe injurious Orders, and gave is under bis Hand, That all our Wants hould be fup-

So we were obliged to refolve upon the fame Method with reference to the King of Decrin. The Caffila that Dtherant wene to and from Agra, was rolb'd byithe Decan Army, and in order to the gecing reftitution made, 'twas determin'd, that the Ships of that Prince Moonld be arrelted where-cter we met them, and kepe in fafe Cuftody, till he had done us Jutice. And the truch on't is, there's no doing amongt thefe Pcople, withour taking fome fuch Courfes with chem fometimes, when thcir Actions are very unjuft and cxtravagant: Eor, whereasby this they are kepr in due awe, and taught to oblerie fome Decorum in their Carriase for the future; fo by a total neglect of their In folence, the Vice will grow and ftrengthen it felf inf them, and become fo tyrannical and troublefome at latt, that chere will he no dealing with them, bur in the way of a Candalous Submifion, and bafc cringing. to their Humour.

Afrer this we rook two Ships more from the Portugueze, Find one of which was confiderable, and had good tading diad of Rice.

And now our Fleer parted Company, fome going for \({ }^{7}\). Aclicn and Bantam; others (with more Company) for \(7 n f q u e s\) and the Red Set ; the reft of us (which were two Ships beffides the Admiral) Ser fail for Eng!and, being alfo to pur in upon the Coaft of arebia in our recurn. This we did at the Ife of Mazira, where we ftaid rill the Fury of the Monfon was a litule over; the Admiral in the mean time lying as Soar, a Town feven Leagues within Cape Rofilgute.

Majira has a very curious Bay, where you have clean Ground, a faft black ozy Sand, and may ride in what Nuritu Dcpth. you will, from fuve to rwelve Fathom. . You have a cold, hungry, healthful Air chere, buta rumbling boifterous Sca for your Ships; frech Water cnourh to be had out of the Pits, bur not cafic to- ger aboart, except at the ftated Landing place. Provifions are fearce here, and there's noching but a fow Goars and Lambs to be bad in truck for fome of your Cannekcens.

There's a vift deal of differenec berween the Road of sormin Sorer, and this of Menirn; for as this is cold and formy, and the Temper of the Air fuch, thar a Man cats. with an Apperite, fo at Soar 'ris always calm and clear, the Air hor and fultry, and whatever inclination is gives to liberal Drinking; is allows litde or none ro Eating.

From hence we fail'd away for the Bay of Soldanin, our ftated place both for Refrefhment and Intelligence too: For here of courle we hide Leters for one another, containing Accounts of our Voyages and Affairs; thele, when they are written, we bury in fome cunning places known and agreced upon amongt our felves. Both thefe jut. neceffary Works we did as this place; 'which donc, we fet fail for Enegland, baving an cafic and fafe Voyage on't, till we came to an Anchorin the Doms.

> A bort Account of the Paffages and Ways of Communication betmeen Mufcovy and Perfia, with fome other things relating to the Trade of thefe Countries. Taken out of a Letter directed to the Ealt-India Company, from Mr. Hobbs, one of their Fattors in Perfia.

\author{
Dated from Mina, December the 13 th, A. D. 1620 .
}

THis Perfon it feems made a Journcy from the Capital City of the one of thefe great Empires to thar of the other; from \(M u f s o\) to Spabawon. And however it came abour is took up full five Monchs, before he could accomplifh ir ; tho' he reckons the beginning of his Journcy from Xeraflane in Mufcory, and not from Mufgo it \{elf. He fays indeed that it may be done in muchlefs time than this, perhaps in II or 12 Weeks with cafe, if there be no confidcrable Lets in the way ; bur what thofe Lets are, he docs nor particularly defcribe, and thercfore tis to no purpofe to guessathem. But hementions three ways of Communication betwicen Mu/cioy and Perfia, which may be worth the Merchanss whit to our from Xeraflenc, and fo come down to \(A f t a n c a n\), at the Mouth of the Vo:ga, from thence by Water into fome part of Turkic, bordering upon the Cafpinn Sea, where the Grind Sciznior's Convoy is tobe gotrin for as far as Der ent and shomakec; from thence to go with the.Caffila for ardeniland Casbin, and to as they pleare afterwards to Spabazon. The next way is to take the firlt Paflage that can be gotton at Aftracan, and fo crofs the Cafition for Leyroints, which is a League from Lefin, and feren from Refbe a place remarkable for the Silk Trade: This efays may be done in 18 or 20 Days, and chen from Refor to Spelhawn, will be but 16 Days Journey. Hc prefers this as the fhorteft and caficel Paffare, and the way too is always open from Aftrecan in the Months of July, Auguft, and September. Bue then here muft be the lucky hit of a favourable Wind for paffing the Cafpirn; and befides 'tis dull failing with thofe Veffels of Guilan, with which he propofes ro perform it; for they ufe nothing of a Compals, bur direct their Courfe altogether by thic Afintance of the Liminaries, and then in dark, cloudy weather, when they can't appear, Whar becomes of the Voyage? The third Merhod is a Project for the Speedieft Conveyance of Lerters, berween Mulco and Spabapn. He fays they mult be brought by the Czar's Poft as far as Altacan, from whence they may go either by Land or Scp co Spabrion; if by the former, then to be difparched immediately to the Governour of Shomatiec, and to be put up in his Male, if by the latter, then to go ro Guilan, and fo to Refbe, and beffint away by the Governour of that place to the Englijh at Spabapm.

Chap. XXXVII. Japonefe Affairs and Obfervations; &c.
Afterthis we have fome fhort Accounts of matters of Trade. The great Bufinels begins at Aftrecan, at the arival of thic Boats, which is in Fune; then the Parfinns bring intheir-Dyed Silks, Dorogoes, Calicoes, and other Perfian Stuffs, which they fell by retail, and the way of Batter.

The Commoditics they return are Cloth, Sables, Martens, Red Hides, Horfe-Skins, old Rufirn Moncy, which they buyat 44 and \(46 d\) per Roble for exchange. And the fame Commoditics are manfported by the Ruthans to 0 , tho' chey make very little of it; and Mr. Hobls affirms, that our Trade well followed in thofe parts will entirely arenthrow theirs.
In his Paffage upon the Voiga, he faw their way of taking the Srurgeons, with which that famous River abounds. They pail in the River from Bank to Bank, and fo cffectually top up the Fithes way, that they can't avoid falling into their. Wecrs.
The Caviare is made of the Row of thar Fin, laid in Salr for 14 or 15 Days; then they wath all the Salt clean off, and put up the Rows (thus prepar'd) with the Fat of the fame. The very far Sturgeons have a ycllowRow, which firey put upas it is withour any farther preparation;
but this he fays utterly fooils all the reft it lies near, and much prejudices the Salr of the Caviare ar the Markers The Inlinglass is made of a cerain Stringraken out of the Back of the Sturgcon.

As for the Great Places for the Silk Trade, he tefls us they lie mont of them near the Cafpian. Sca. Therc's plecesfon Refbi, Pcomin, Shaft, and Leyson, in the Province of Guitan, the farthet of which is not more than cight Guilan, the farthcet of L cagues from the, Porms.
At thefe places the King of Perfia's Silk is peculiariy made; but then befidesthefe, in Mnscndrocn is a Planta tion for the fame Commodiry, which furnifics a good Quantity annually. Upon the whoic he urges how conenicntly thefe places lic, for the cafic tranfortation of Silk into divecovy. Here they may be flipp'd without any farther trouble upon the Cefoitan, and ro broughe up the Volgr as far as we pleafe, if Liberty be bur procured from the czar for that purpofe. And how much there is of facility and fhortncis in this way beyond the common method of carrying them three Miles Journey by land before they. reach the Porr, therenceds no Light to difcover. Befides that is is mofecrain that a great deal of Moncy, as wellas Pains is faved by this Compendium, fince the way that is the moft tedious and troubicfome, is always, and mult be, the moft chargeable too.

Mr.Holles for a Conclufion tclls us, that our Pcifinin Trade (thenin its Infincy) fiad (everal Encinies ploting againt ir to make icas gort liv'd as, podible; the "Turks Arabs, firmenintr, and Porruseonk, the latter of which wereasdiligent to defame and blaft the Repuration of the Nation, as to undermine its Trade. Butthere areno new nor ftrange things \(;\) all forts of Encmics will hinder a Pcoples chriving if chey can, bur very rude and ill bred oncs will rail and rave in to the bargain.

\section*{C н а р: XXXVII.}

An Account of fome things Hiforical and Cinil, relating to the great Empire of Japan, taken out of fome later Letters of Mr. Richard Cock, Englifh Eactor at * Firando, and Mr Mick wes Arthur Hatch Minifer, mbo alfolived in the Country fome tace ind time.

IN fome former Accounts of the Affairs of this Counry, we. had intelligence of the difmal Stirs and Convulfions, Wars and Perfecutions with which \(x\) was opprefled. The genuinc Heir of this vaft Empirc wasftrugling for hisRighr, and the Ufurper (poffis'd of the Throne) endcarouring with all his Power to oocr turnhim.
* How that difpure ended between thoferwo contending Parties, was there related; bur the other and the latter parts of the Srory of the Country (asfaras in wenr whild our Engliffemen were there) are now to come in. Or- foofammn hating the good Fortune to get the better of the Young Prince, and fee him (tho not fccurcly laid upin a Prifon underGround, yct) driven to fly to fome oblcure corners for thelere ; xeturned with a grear deal of Pomp and Triumph to Surumge. Here he blefs'd his kind Deliverers, the Idols of Wood and Stone; which he believed to have given him this mighty Succef, becauf: he had been zealousin perfecuting the Clariftians. But thefe Triumphs lafted nor long, and the vain gloriousEmperour (the fucceeding Year). was conquered himfelf by a more powerful and incxorable Adverfary. Ogn/bc-famimn died; and of many Sons which he left behind him, chofe our perhaps the unworthieft for his Succeffour. His Eldeft Son (a Prince of great Valour)' was quite put by, by his Special Command; the main Reafon of which was, that he had loft his Nolic by, the FoulDifeale.
The New Prince had not enjoy'd his Crown many techar raisd Years, before he was difturb'd by one of the horrident thad direful Confpiracies that ever was form'd in that Country; No Perferuion, lefs than nine of the Vice-Kings, and chofe the richeft, of which is and ftrengelt, and beft Souldiers in the Empirc, Joyn'd give inmr, their Strength and Counfels togerher to dethrone him; catis oher and managed their Bufinels 'fo cunningly too, that the Lentars \(b\) bfurc.
too ripeand well grown to bear the common Acthods of Supprefion. The Party was tro formidable, and the Men \(t 00\) gicat to be threatined and hector'd like a Company of ordinary Rehels; and they had fo much fores of aheir fade ton, that 'twas very doubsful whecher they cou!d bebcaten into their Dury and Allegiance again or no. Uponthis Accounc (they telf us) the Emperor Shonresamma was enclined rather to ufe genele Micthods, and twas rhought he weyld fooner compound with them, Agrans than endeavour to reduce them by force of Arns. All in Fwanm or moft of thefc pery Kings were Men of vatt Revenucs, and if they had a mind to robel, had hioney enough no bear them our in't. The Head of them (who was allo. the Emperors Kins-man) was reckon'd worth 200 Mangocis of Rice, por Am: which one of our Enrlifh Men computed at i 875000 pound Sterling; and feveral the Enares orhers of them not muech lofs. [The Aifagucta coneainis nefeltinces too"oo Goca's, cach Goca is 100 Ganca's, and c \(\because\) cry in Rice: Ganta abour threc Alc Pints Emalifio Mcafurc. ] Of thefe Perty or Vicc-Kings, there are in all atout 65 fmall Princes if compard with the Great Emperor their Soue reign, but confiderable enongh if conlider'd with refpect to the Srate and Royalty they themfelves divein.
'Tis a Policy always pratifed by the Emperours to kecp citherthefe Princesthemfelves, or fome of their neareft Relations at Court. The dedign of this is, to have always a Sccurity for their Fideliry and Obedicnce ; for if they rebel, their Friends ar Courr are immediacely com-way ro prr= manded to curtheir Bellics, which nothing can pofibly vantrea. prevent, but their rerurn to their Duty, and Suibmifion to fons and Res the Emperor's Mcrey. Or if the Prince himfelf remain bellions at Courr, and his Valfals in the mean time (tho' with out his Knowledge or Initigation) take up Arms, the Emperor bids himbe his own Exccutionct, and will make him be fo, unlefs he prefently write to his Mutineers and prevail withrthem to be quiet again. But many Examples kave hown, that this piece of Policy is nor 'ro effectual a Guard upen the Emperor's Quicr and Repofe, as it might be imagin'd it would be; winnels particularly that delperate Confpiracy jult new mentiond.

The Emperors do endeavour alfo by another Mcthod to fecure themefres and their Stace in Peace, and that is, hy drawing cit as much as they can from the Power and Riches of thefe inferiour Princes. As they are many of them very ri.h. of their Soucreigns take all the Care they can, they don's grow too faft. When their Fleeces are large and heary, they deliver them from the Burden, and nocarthem well by Taxes and Triburcs, and a multitude of Dutics. They prake them. build Cattles and Fortificacions, all which are to ferve che Emperor, burtheir own must be neglected, and they are nor fufferd (ar leant withoue a great deal of fufpicion) any way to fortific

The Nol, Iit
give rich Gifisis to the Empreror. hemfelves. Then the Cuftom of the Country is fuch, that all the Princes, and Great Men muft make very large and noble Prefents to the Emperor, and thar frequenty too; by which means onc wou'd think their Coffers fiould be pretty well dreind, and they themielves kept wery low and Ahors of Money; unlefs extraordinary Frugality otherways (a Vartuc the faponefe Nobility are litule addicted to) prevented that inconvenience. Their Humour being brave and generous, they prefent their Prince at an excravagant rate, and even contend to outdoc one another in the Coftlinefs and Magnificence of their Gifis. But 'tis all fo much juft thrown away, for there's noching of rerum or requisal on the Emperor's part; while they load him with Silver, Gold, and the moft precious Commodities imaginable, he gives them perhaps a Kerrimoon, or Coat, which Mark of his Favour and Acceptance, is all their Reward. This is indeed thic dired way to be very rich himfelf, and to make them very poor, both which it fecms are equally the Emperor of Fapan's Defign; tho norwithftanding all thefe Arrifices, he cannor to cafily accomplifh the kaccer neither.
 much larger Receptacles than they, are filld with Gold and Silver; that he has whole Storehoufes cram'd with Coyn and Bullion, and amongit the reft fome Balls of maffy Gold, of that weight and magnitude, that fifteen or haxteen Mon are fcarce able to bear one of them: Thefe were broughr to Courr from the famous Caftle of Ozace.
The Empcror's Privy Council confits of no more than five Members, Men for their Widdom, Fidelity, Policy, and Vigilance, pick'd our of all Princes of the Empire, and are commonly as acurc and dextrous in managing Statc-Affairs, as the beft Stares-men in Chriftendom can Hew. No Caufe comes before the Einperor, bur what thele approve of, for none cither fpeaks or prefencs a Pctition himelf; the Butinces, whatever ir be, is brought to and left with them, and is is wholly in their power cither to promote it, crkecp it for ever from the Emperor's knowledge.

Upon this account it feems, that this Prince's Affairs and State, ftand upon a very cicklifh uncertain botrom, and whatever ocber good Poliricks che \(\mathfrak{F}\) apone/s have, chis Piece appears to be nonc of the beft and wifert: For all refts upen the Foundation of the Honefty and Prudence of five Men, who may eafilicr be fuppos'd to be deceiv'd or tainted with Difloyal Principles, than 500, or \(50:\) A Plot lies fafer in the Breats of a fmall number, than a great one; the Advice of many wife Men is preferrable to that of a few, and in the multitude of Counfcliors there is certainly moft fafery. Bur ir feems they think orhere wife in fapan.
The moft ftarcly Caftles of this Councry; (ar leaft thofe known to our Travellers) are chofe of Oquac, Surunga, Eddo, Crates, and Falcata, of all which thar of Ozacr is, or was the moft confiderable, both for its Largenefs, Screngrh, Riches, and magnificent Buildings. Thofe of Crates and Falcata are each two Miles in circumference, and both (as well as the reft) well walled and moared, and furnimed with a large Storehoufe of Rice. The principal Nobility of the Empire have Houfes within thefe Caftle Walls, whither they retire, either at their own, or the Emperor's pleafure.
At Falcate there is a Wood of Pines abour three Mile \(A\) inifort clean and near is all Summer-long fwept and kepr fo clean and near, that you thall hardly lee a Twig, Bongh, or Leaf, any where under the Trees; and chen all the Pines ftand to clofe together, thar aMan may refrefh himrelf there in the horteft Weacher at all Hours of the Day, without any offence from the Sun's Beams. In the Center of the Grove ftands a ftacely Temple moft richly adorn'd, with gilded Images, and Varieries of fine carved Works.
The Faponefe (befides the Art of Writing), have thar alfo of Printing amonyft them, and for how many Ages Apprban no Body can rell. They have feren feveral Alphabers, and in each of them 48 Letters, and yct with all thefe they can't truly write or pronounce many of our Eurrop:an Names. There are fome Tetrers they cannor ger oretrue pronuaciation of, as \(H, B, T\), and fome ochers \(;\), 15 the Cbinefe (they fay) if their Lives lay on't, cannor rrulf \({ }^{\prime}\) pin nounce \(D\).

They have an odd Cuftom amongft them of altering cufand their Names, in which they feem to differ from the Pra- ilraing Ctice of all Nations of the World. Every Perfon has then Liberty of changing his Name chree times, in Childhood, in Riper Years, and in Old Age : Bur fome do itofiner, quit their old Names, and affume new ones as they fee fir, in which_cafe they generally Complemenr fome perty King or Nobleman, with whom they are in Favour, by taking the fame Name.
The Faponefc oblerve no conftanr ftared Sabbath, bar feveral Fealt-days, according to the Moon, as che ift, the ryth, the 28th: On thefe Days they go to Church, vifir the Scpulchres of the Dcad, and ure abundance of apinh ridiculous Ceremonics.
The 9 th Day of the Moon, thronghout the whole Year, somend they hold accurfed, and therefore they won'r undertake or begin any Work of confequence that Day. They ob ferre a very ftrict Faft on thar Day of the Month on which their Eather or Mother died; and as much as they love, and as hearrily as they ear Flefh of other Days, they won'r touch any fort of Animal Food on that mournful Day.

\section*{Снар. XXXVIII.}

\section*{A Voyage perform'd by Mr. Ralph Fitch, Merchant of London, to Urmus, and from thence through the whole Eaft-Indies. Written by bimfelf.}

ISer fall A. D. 1583, in the good Ship the Tyger of London, fet forch at the principal Charges of the Worflipful Sir Edmard O Sborn, KL and Mr. Ricbard Staper, Merchants and Citizens of the faid place, in Company with Mr. Fclm Newberry, Merchans, and fome other Englijk-mcn.
Being come to Tripoly, in Srria, after fome ftay there we took the way for Aleppo, which we went in feven Days, with the Caravan.
From thence (having good Company) we travell'd to Birra, which is two Days and halfs Journey with Camels it is a little Town, bur very well ferv'd with all forts o Provifion, and the River Eupprates runs juft by the Walls of.it. Here we boughr a Bogr, and agreed with fome Watermen to carry us along the River, intending to go for Bablon. Thele Boars are and can be but for ore go gle Voyage, becaure the Stream runs fo quick downwards, that there's no returning that way again. And therefore when we come to a lirtle Town called Felugia, Elusth we always fell our Boas, and for a very fmall matter too; ;hter by for that which cofts us so ar Birra, we pur off again for gnatin \(\rightarrow\) or 8 at Ecluzia.

It is not fafe to go with one Boat alone but to have the another (ar leaft) in Company for a Relief, in care of a Diftrefs, that may happen : For if the Boat breaks (which is no difficult thing to fuppofe), the Paffengers will find it a very hard master to fave themfelves and their Goods

Prey along the Banks of the River. And for the fame Rcafonin the Night-time; when the Boars are made faft, ris highly neceffary to keep a itrict Watch, without which a Company is cafily furnriz'd by thofediligent and wakeful Robbers.' They come fwimming about the Boass and fuech off the Goods with a deal of Arc and Subalety; to prevent whicht, there's nothing berrer than to be well furfind with Guns (which they ftand in grear awe of) propided you keep awake to ule them.
It is fixtecn Days Journey from Birra to Felugin, and as you pals along the Euphrafes thitherwards. there are divers places where you pay Cuftom to a cerrain Prince of the drats, tiar is lord of a grear Tract of-Ground cherenbour, and has divers Villages upon the River.
Felugic, where you unlace your Goods from Birra, is 3 litie Village, from whence you go in a Cay to Babylin. This is a Town of no Yery grear Dimenfions, but of great Trate, and mighry populous; 'ris in the high Road to Profit, Tirker, and trabic ; and from thence Caravans freor for thefe and fercral uther places. There come good tore of Provifions hither down the River Tyrris from timeris ; ther bring them upon Rafes made of Geatskins, blown full of Wind, and fo Boards Faid over them, upon which their Coods are haid; then when they have unadal at Bubylan, they open their Skins, and carry them home pack'd up upon Camels, to ferie another cime.

Cppofice to Baly'on thands a very fair Village, from whence you pafis to the Town upon a long, Bridige of Bears, which is held by a greac Iron Chain faftredon cither lite the River. When any Boars are to pals up or down the River, they xemove fome of the Boats out of the Ling and fo make a Gap for them, which they afecrwards chic up again as beforc.
Thefld Tower of Bubel food on this fade the Tigri: towar 7 Firabic, about feven or cight Milcs from the Town, upore large and open Plain berwixt chat River and Euphrefer. The Interpreration of the Name is very vifible all abour it, in the confus'd and, ruinous heaps that appart there; is lies like a lierle Mountain, withour form or fhape; it was made of Bricks dried in the Sun, and certain Canes and Leares of the Palmo-Tree laid between the Bricks: There's nothing of any corrance or paffage into it to be fecn now, the falling Ruines having ftopt up all thar long asoc.
Travelling along the Eiphorctes, about two Days Journey from Broblon, we came to a place call'd Air, in a whence thate is a cominued Etwotation of Smoke and boiling Pitch, the Toncnts of which run abroad into the neighbouring Plain to a confiderable diftance. The Moars call this the Mouth of Hell; but for all that, the Country Pcopic ufe the Pioch that boyls our of it, with out any fear or fcrupic; they da:bincir Boats wich it two or chree Inches thick, and find it fecures them admixably well from the Watct.
When the Tygeris is well replenith'd with Warer, you may gen from Bayn to Befriti in cight or nine Days, otherwife the paliage will belonger. B-fore was formerky fribict to the Aratizus, but now to the Timp, tho' there are many of the Baforians which all that Power cannot Cibduc, nor drive cur of their Sirone-holds in the Iftes of the Explerces. They, are a Thicrifh Vagabond fore of Pcople, having no fix'd and fatled Dwellings, but rowing up and down from one place to another, cis probabic, where they have moft onportunity to ftcal. - They wear long bluc Gowns; and their Wiecs have theire Ears and Nolis full of Sili cr and Copper lings, as othect of this lateralio about their Legs. The Town Rands ncar the Parfon Gulf. and has ri.andranage of a great Trade of Spices and Drugs dhat coace from Ormin. There'salfo grear tore of Vhear. Rice, and Iates, 'growing chereahous, with which wey fere Bein'ter,Ormut, and all the pars of indic.
The Velfels chat ufe to go from B.forn to Ormur, are many of them yery dione and ill-made chines, and leak Wazer abundanty. They are made of Roards fattoed together with a kied of Thread made of the Husk of the Coco, and certain Canes, or Sraw-leaics fowed upon the Scaus of the Roards, which is the cauke they let in the Water fo.
In one of thefe ungainly Silips we faild from Before to Inc-Daliercm, to much celebrared for the fine Orient tithas anix Pest.

2Imoft, are befer with Jewels, Rings, or Locks of Gold and Silver; their Nofes, Ears, Necks, Arms, and Less; and befides all (as if the ocher was nor enough), a long Bar of Gold hanging on one fide of their Nors. Their Ears are fo cxtended and widened, with the weight of the tinings they hang in them, that a Man may marutt threc of his Fingers into them. In thort, they are very valuable Crearures as they are dref'd, and half as much Vercuc and Goodnefs as they have Gold and Silver about thema won'd make them very excellent inded.

Tbis place provid very unfortunate to us; for hers Mado prifod quickly after our arrival we were foizd by the Portugucre, Perstugurani and fent Prifoncrs for Goaz to the Vicc-Roy there. In th:'s Voyage we pals'd by Diu, Damen. Choul, and other places on the Coait of India beloneing to the Portugateze.
Cheul is as it were rwo Towns, one helonging to the Porugucze, the other to the Moors. Thas of rlic Porcupucis is neareft the Sca, commands the Ray, and is wal- Trade as led abour: A litule above that Reands the intoor: Town, chamb. govern'd by a King of their own. Here's vaft Trafick for all forts of Spices, Silks, Drugs, Sandals, Elephants Tecth, China-Work, and Sugar made of the Nur* Gro garc.
The moft Trade indecd for Corn and Rice in thefe parcs, is at Daman, Balnim, and Tans; which thise places are upon the Coaft between Dis and Chath; but cis to this hatcer that the gicateft number of Ships come from Omms, the RcdSca, and all parts of Indir.
We came ar laft to * Cor, the place of ourintendes: - X Jinare a Mifcry and Imprifonmane. Here is the rear Rendez: ous refe aon and Ships, and the place where a jian may foe a trin bans yoyw. Flect of them cycry Year. They conc for the moft pars in Scptcmler, and having ftaid forty or fifty Pass, zochen to coolin, where they lade their Pepper for \(\mathrm{P}^{2} \mathrm{me}\), ;ral The Town ftands in the Dominions of an, intiat Prince who lics up in the Councry fix or Ceven Days Journey and his clucf City is B://aoutr.
As our arrinal there, we were cmanin'd before the Ju-iourmit ftice, and becaufe chey could prove nothing upon us, and - A.D. assi. were refolv'd to make us guilty of fome Crime or orber they made Spics of us, and fo fene us to Prifon. And in that Condicion we continued for about a Monih, when the favour was graneed us of coming out, and Ecing only PriConces ar large in the Town, upon the provifion cf good Surctics. Thefe a ccrtain Enalifh Jefuis was to kind as to look our for us, who beins bound we came out, and paid them in our Moncy (the Sum of 2540 Duckers) to pre crve them harmlefs. But five Menths being new fpent, and the Rorturucze able to prove nothing againt us, we demanded our Libcity, and the Repaymenr of the Moncy fom the Surcrics. But thefe increit Aicn, inftead of rec furding, demanded more Moncy of ns, when we ad. ires'd the Vire-Roy, and moved rohazic fuatice done us In this Cafe,-all our Comfors wasa very harp and chrearaing Anfwer, That they had nor done with us yer; chey tho ld find our other chings againft us, and would fiat us after a feverer manner before 'rwas long: That is, they would put us into the Inquifition, where any thing may be found our againft any Man, and all Mcn (cifocially thofe that have Moncy) are chroughly iffed inded. Find ing therefore this to be the Cafe, and beine told, that we their make flou'd certainly have the Strappado in a little time, we Arri,' rcfolvid to avoid all thefe Mithicts by ranning away. This Defien we accordingly put in execution, and being go: o:cr the Ri:ce, we proceded in a very uncertain and dangerous for of Rantole, neisher knowing the way our folr's, nor daring to tuuttany Guidero theiv us.
The firt \(=\) fown we caite to was Bellarecn, where Bellatsome there's a ereac Marker kepe for Diamonds, Rubics, Saphircs, and other precious Stones.

From heace we wene to Riffoiur, a very large Town, bitrewn. and as rich as large; the Howfes high, fair, and buiir of Stone. The Inhabitanes are mondy Idolaters, and their Idols (which are very numerous) thanding abour in the Woods, of as many Forms and Shapes, as the Beafts and Fowl dhat dwell there.
Golconda (which we rifired next) is a fine agrecable Goicendin Town, the Houfes built of Brick and Timber; is has very gond freth Water, and will entercain you with Varic tics of plealant Fruits. The Inhabitants, boch Men and Wo:ncn, wiar only a Clorh bound, abour their middles, which as the Cuttom of their Country makes decenr, fo the theat of the Climate rendersas convenient. This Country, Pif:pete, and Decan, are the moft famous for plenty we jou ty the Parevtuce and alo Sunt. So- Women of this place are fonve of the moft exrravaganr Then yoga- perhaps in the whole Enforn World for the gandincts perhaps in the whole Enfurn Vorld, for the gandincfs and mutitude of their Ormamencs. Ail parts of them and muititude of their Ornamencs. All parts of them Fasthe Tide of The King of Bread; and the Finenels and Earility of his Country will allow in hime. The Houfes of of the Townare all thatch'd and built of Lome, too mean by far for the Character of the Noble Region they ftand in. The Inhabirants are a mixture of Moors and Gcaciles, but the Religion of both is much the fame.
The next piaces we came at were Bellapore, and Bar-remporc. This later Town is buile much after the fame manner with Scrividore; but both it and the Country abour ir are yery populows.
In their Winter, which is in fune, fuit, and Auruft thexc's no pafing the Sereets but with Horfes, the Waters be fo high.
They make here great tore of Cotron Cloth, and Painsed Cloth of Corron Wool, with which they Supply other parts, and are themelves as plentifully fupplied by Na rure with vaft Quantities of Corn and Rice. Their Moncy is a thick round piece of Silver, of the Value of 20 d.
Thcy marry Boys and Girls of fix or cight Years old rogether, and make them confummate the Marriage by lying together at ten. The Reafon they give for thers, is, becaufe if a Man happens to dic, his Wife is obliged by the Cuftom of the Country to burn her felf at his Funcral, and fo toch the Parents go away together: Now if they leave any, young Children behind them, they reckon they are expos'd to all the Hazards and Difficulties of the World, having neither Facher nor Mother to rake care of them. Bur now by thefe Marriages they fee their Chilm dren providedfor in their own Life-rime, here's a Father or a Mother-in-Law (if nor both). provided againt a time of necefficy, to thar if the Natural Parnuts die, there are fome others left in their room and place.to take care of the Children. Thefe young Brides and Bridegrooms are carried through the Streers on Horfeback very finely crimm'd, with Mufick and Dancing before them, to make up the Solemnity, afrer which they fall to Banquetting and between that and Dancing, fpend the reft of the Night.
From hence we profecuzed our Journey into nhe Coun try of the Great Mogul, chrough the beft part of which we pas'd *; and ar Eetipore I parted with my Englifh
- Wic omic his Journal of his Travelis
ehrough this chrough this Country Goce it has what has what has. ferved befor Company : Mr. Newberry being bound for Labor, and rom chence for Perfia and Conffantinople; and Mr. Leeds the Jeweller being entred into the Service of the Great Mogul, who gave him a Houfe, Horfe, Slaves, and befides a good Salary. Thus they difpos'd of chemfelves; and I for my part went away for Sastagam in Bengala, in the Company of 180 Boars loaden with Salc, Opium, Lead, Carpets, and divers other Commoditics, down the Rirer Femini, which runs into the Genges at a cerrain place call'd Praguc.
The Counrry adjacent abounds with Partridge, Swans, Gcefe, Cranes, Turtlc-Doves, Tigers, and a worfe fort of Beafts rhan they; a parcel of idic Mendicants, lazy begging Fellows, that wou'd be reckon'd (and are cfleem'd) Religious Men, and get a good Living by the pions Fraud. To ri:ct this Notion into the Peoples Minds more firmiys, under the pretext of Religious Mortification, they abandon all narural and neceffary Care of their own Bodies. Onc of them which I faw, wasan abfolute Montter, and one might well have queftion'd, whether be was of the Human Kind or no. He was quite naked, and affected to be fo, his Beard was vaftly long, and with the Hair of his Head he coverd the obfeene parts. The Nails of fome of his Fingers were full rwo Incher in length, and if he lived, muft grow to be five rimes as long for he would fuffer nothing to be raken from him)and by that rime, with thofe Talons, he would be ableto difpute his Li:ing with the Tigres. He would not Speak a word to any thar ask'd him, bur he had them by him, that did boch keg and anfwer Queftions for him ; all that he did himfelf, was only to lay his Hand upon his Breaft, and bow his Body/ a litele. The common People have a mighty Venerarion' for thefe fort of Men, which are Saints in their efteem, as any thing indeed that plays the Buffoon, that looks fourly and demurely, or rough and horrid, very cafily gers that Charactor amongft them: A barbarous Courncnance, overgrown Nails, and long fhaggy Hair, dibes better than a good Stock of Piety and Vertue.
Bur toleave them; the Country along the Ganges, from Prague, is univerfally fruirful and populous, and has the Blefing of exceeding fweer and pleafant Warer. The Inbabicants of thefe parts, for the molt part, kcep their Faces very clofe fhaven, bur the Hair of their Heads very long, except fome which be fhaven all round the Crown, on which part alone the Hair is entirely preferyed.

The nexr Town we came at was Banders, q large place, and of grear Trade for Comon Clotit; artit'safies for the Moors. The Superfition and Idolatry of the Indians, is here at the heighth; here they have the greateft

Numbers and Varietics of Images, and the Cerem onies of the Bramens are the mof The Bramens are the moft nicely cbifery'd and practis'd: part of the Coundry along the particular place, bur this part of the Country along the Banks of the Ganges, which celcbrated River is confantly vifired by multicudes of devour Pilgrims and Travellers. And this Town of ofamnras, for its thare, receives vaft numbers of them, that come to wath and pray, and perform their other accucarly in the Morning by Brey go into the Water very carly in the Morning, by Break of Day, if nor before on By the River's fide there far feveral old Bramens ar their maxions Devorion, which give the People that pals by theri three ndider or four Straws, which they take and hold berween their Raxim \(^{\text {Fing }}\) Fingers when they wafh. Others of thefe Priefts mark the devour People in the Foreheads; for which picce of Ser vice they have a Largcts in Rice, Barley, or Money Wiven them when the others come our of the Wate When they are in, they wath themfelves all over, and pray; they lade up Water with both hands, and and themfelves abour and then drink, and this they repeat

After thefe Ceremonies in the Water, they goind make cheir Offerings to the Idols, at which time the old Prieft mutter certain Prayers, which they believe to be a mont will wath a place uno of their Sacrifices. Some of them and wam a place upon the Earth that is their full lengrh and then lic down and pray, with their Arms and lega exiended; after which they rife up and lie down, and they do is they ceral times fuccefively, and every time Finger, to know when their Meafure Ground with their Others of them werform their Meafure is filld up.
Others of them perform moft of theirR eligious Bufinefles over certain Pots, to the number of fifreen, or fixteen tmall and grear, in which they make fome odd'fixtures put the chings to becter and ring a littlic Bell every 4 methey bour the Pors, and urrer feveral Pray a Warry Gstlieawhen the Pots, and utrer Reveral Prayers over them", ad when all this is finithed, they goaway to the Images, and

There's a
ed upon the Banks of the River, all of which are reptnim'd with thofe Images which thefe which are repletheir Devotion fo fuperftirioully to. Amongft pap chere's a parricular fort of Image (which they call Ada) fanding up and down in fereral places, and a deform'd Figure it is, having four Hands with grear ugly Claws Before this' (as well as the ochers), they pour our was. upon grear caryed Stones, and throw thereupon Witer Whear, Barly, and fome ocher things.
They have inoreover a grear place buikr of Srene, made like a Well, with Steps to go down, the Water of whic Hegring is very foul and putrid, and thar by reafon of the great mifo Quancitics of Herbs and Flowers, which all the Ye great that come thither caft into ir, and lie tinking and cor rupting therc. They reckon in a mighty Purification to walh chemelves in this nafty Well; for chey fay, the Deiry himfelf once wan'd rherc, and made in holy. Up on this accoune therc's always abundance of Pcoplecrow ding into it, and picking up the Sand that lics at the bor tom of ir, which they eftecm a very Sacred Thing too and preferve accordingly.
copir wis more unaccountably ridiculous ftill, that thefe to be bur dead unactive Mdols (which they very well know to be bur dead unactive Matter), as fo many things fenfible of Pain and Pleafure; which they do, by making fome of the Attendants fir by them in the hor Weather, Men, when cool Air upon rhem with a Fan. And thefe ring a lircle Bell thar hangs by them coming towards them, ring a litule Bell thar hangs by them; for which they are paid with the Elcemofinary Gifts of the Pilgrims, and on ther Religious that vifit thofe Houfes.' Bur all that enter in, muft firft pulloff their Shooes, fuch an Opinion they bave of the Sanctity of thofe places where their Idols tand. They keep Lamps continually burning before them, which makes the Appearance more awful, and affords fome help to the Imagination, if northe Devotion of the People that come thither.
The Bramens of thefe parts do moft of their Religious thestan Warer naked, drefs their Food naked; they pray in the Warex naked, drefs their Food (which is only Vegcrable), and ear it naked; upon which account they well deferve the Tirle that the Wife Men of this Country anciently had, ind are Gymnofitidlawin the ftrieteft and propereft Sence of that whord Thity take a Pride in marking themlelves with a certain Yellow Powder, which rub abour their Foreheads, Ears, and Ther, which the go abour the Streets with a Box of it in'their Hands with which they frequendy mark ocher People they moer moer.

Their Women too do the fame to themfelves，when they come down to the River to wafh，and perform the other accuftomed Ceremonies．They come in pretry large Bo－ dies togecher，and are very Merry and Jovial at this rime； for as they come with a Song in their Mouths，fo they go way with the fame，and no body can charge them with dull heavy hearted Devorion．
They allow Rolygamy anongtt them，and every Man may have feven Wives；their Danghrers alfo marry yery young，and they look out for Husbands for them at ten Years of Age．
Their way of Salutation when they meet one another， is，to lift their Hands up to their Heads，and sepeat the Word Rame swice orthrice．
The Funcral Rites are the fame hercabouts thar they arein ocher parrs of Indic；the dead Bodies are burnc， and the Women facrifice themfelves upon the fame Pile； if theyrcule ro do is their Heads are thayen，and no body minds rhem for cver afterwards．
Bur che Ceremony of their Marriages is as foolifh and idle as is could well have been made with Srudy and Con－ rrivance．Indeed ir affords a very lively and fenibile Emblem of the Union berween a Man and his Wife； for bere chey don＇r think it fufficient to make them folemn－ i：If joyn Hands，bur they rie＊them together by their cinamy of Cloashs．The Man，the Woman，and a Bramen Prief， a Cow and a Calf，go down together into the Warer． Herc the Bramen fpreads a large Cloth upon the Cows Back，and then takes her by the end of the Tail，fpeak－ ing certain Words at the fame time．The Man and the Woman lay their Hands there alfo by the Priefts；and thus one Hand of each being engaged，with the other they iake up Warer in a Brafs Por，and pour it our upon the Cows Tail，fo that is runs thro all their Hands．After this，䉼，loving Couple are faftned rogether by their Clogn，and then they walk round abour the Cow and the clalf，and fo go our of the Water．When the Cere－ mony is ended，the Bramon has the Cow and theCalf for his Fee，and they give Alms to the Poor，that are always about them upon fuch Occafions．Neither do they for－ ger Devotion any more than Chariry；for they go and proftrate themfelves before their Idols，kifs the Ground icueralcimes，make their Offerings to them，with which the whole Scene concludes，and they go home to their Houfes．

And their way of managing the Sick is not lefs odd than that of theirmarrying thefe that are Well．If 2 Perfon be dangeroufly ill，chey carry him and lay him before their Idols all nighr，which is the laft Experimens they makefor life．If they don＇t mend upon this，their Friends come and fir by them and hed a few Tears uport the Occafion，and rhen fer chem a failing upon the River in a．litule Raff made of Reeds．A good quick Mechod of curing Diftempers to drown the Patienr．
The Peoplein general go withour Cloachs，and bave no Corcring bur a Cloch abour their middle．The Women have their Ears，Arms and Necks deck＇d with Rings of Silver，Copper，Tin．and Ivory，with Amber and Agars； and as che Bramens Wives mark themelves with Yellow， Ko thece Affeet to do it with ftrcaks of Red quite crols the Forehead，and fo up to the Crown．Bur in Winter the Men wear quilted Cotton Gowns，and quilred Caps， in the Faltion of a Morter，with a llit to look out ar， and fo tyed down bencarh their Ears．
From Bannaras I proceeded down the Gamges zo Prichaf，a very long and a grear Town，but the Houles mean and ill built，made of Earth and covered with Straw，yoc che Streers large and fpacious．This Voyage was very pleafant，for we palsd abundauce of fine Towns，and had a fruiful Country all abour us．I ob－ of them nearas big as the Genges it felf；which make is to be of fuch a vaft breadth，fo broad，thatina time of great rain you cannor fee from one fide to the other．The Country is horribly pefter＇d with Thieves，which like the Arabs，bifi up and down for Spoil and．fix no whers．
The Women are rrick＇d up with Ornaments of Silver and Copper，much like thole of Bamaras，and they can wear no Shooes they load their Toes with fo many of thofe Rings．
The Town of Patenaw has a good Trade for Cotton， gold found Cotron Cloth，Sugar，Opium，and other Commodities， which they carry from hence to India and Bengala．Bur it basa greater name for the Gold they find there．They dig deep Pitsin the Ground，and taking out fome quanti－ ties of the Earth，they wath ir in Bowls，by which means they light upon the Gold：Thefe Pits are brick＇d round abcur to keep the Earth from falling in and mixing with che Precious Duft．

From Patenaw I proceeded ro Tinda，in the Country of Tinda． Goureu．Both this and Patenatw wexe formerly Kirtgdomis of themfelves，bur have of late Ycars followed the For－ rune of orher Provinces of India，and Howed to the Sceprer of the victorious Mogul，Ecbar－Sbar．Herc＇s mighry Trade alfo for Cotton and Corton－Cloth．The Inhabitants are all Gentiles，and go naked，excepr a Cloth before．
The adjacent Country is well replenifh＇d with wild Fowl，and a littlemore than thould be，with wild Beafts roo，fuch as Tigers，wild Buffles， 8 cc ．Tanda isficiated a League from the Ganges，that is，from the prefent Current of that River；for formerly the River overflowing its Banks by means of grearRains，carricd it Kelf confidera－ bly fanther up into the Councry，and laid 隹eral Villages． under Water．Bur＇cis all dry and paffable now where the Ganges ufed to run in former times，fo that tho＇Tende． were not removed from the River，yer the River has re－ moved it felf farther from Tanda．
Imade five Months of it in my paffage from Agra； down the Kivers Gemini and Games to Bendala，bur is may be done in much lefs cime thanthar．
From Bergata I mavel＇d into the Coumtry of Couche com：fr． which lies 25 Days Tourney North from Tendi，and not far from Cauchin Clina．The Port is called Crache－ getc．The Country is all fer with Bamboes，or Canes made tharp ar buth ends，and fo driven inro the Earch； and they canlet the Warer in and drown is above knce deep，fo that neither Horfe nor Man hall eafily pads． Their Cuftom is alfo to poifon all the Waters wheneycr they are engaged in any Wars．

Their Trade lies chielly in Musk，Silk，and Cotrorr Tradeand
 which they ear almoft as often as they receive．Nature．＇e ufed tho has provided a Purfe for chis fort of Moncy，into which Fin：Cacen， the flippery Fingers of no Thief or Pick－pocket can minnimend enter． They have hereabours all thar Compafion and Tender－ nel＇s for all forts of Animals，that we find in the Mogut＇s Councry and other parts of India．They give Mear to the litule crawling Anrs；and tho＇chofe Wife and Induftrious Creatures never fail to make Provifion＇for themfelves，yct they think themfelves obliged to take care of them too， and add rorheir Srores．I resurned back from bience to Huscti． Hugeli in Bengali，a place：in rhe Hands of the Portarueze，Rorto Sinstix a Leaguefrom Sartagam，and in 23 Degrees N．Lat．The Portuigueñ callit Porto Riquena，and not far from it to the S．W．is a Haven called Porto Anveli，feared in the Coun－ try of Orixri；to which comes êvery Year good ftore of Ships out of Indic，and the adjacenr llands；and lade from thence great quantities of Rice，Clorh made of Cotton－Wooll，long Pepper，Sugar，Butter，and other Provifions．

Orixn，is fix Days Joumey S．W．from Sattagan orixe． （which is a City of the Moors，a large and plentiful place）＇twas once a Kingdom of it felf，but in procefs of time was conquered by the King of Patan，its Ncigh－ bour，and wretted from him by the ftrong Arm of Edar Sbre．There＇s abundance of Rice here and Cotton Cloth， as alfo of another fort of Cloth made of a Grafs，which they call Xerva，and is like a Silk；ir makes a very good Cloch，and a great deal of it goes for Indin and octher places．

In Bengnia there is a grear Marker every day ar one place or other，and they have a fort of open Boars，they ufe to convey cheir Goods by water in，that are of a mighty burthen，and row with 24 or 26 Oars．
Such is the Opinion the People of this Country have of the admirable Vertue of theRiverGenges，that thio＇they Eteem of have cver fo good and pleafant Warcer hard by them，the River they＇ll choofe rather to go a grear way to ferch that of \({ }^{\text {Gangri．}}\) Genges．And if they have nor enough to drink，theyll fprinkle a little upon themfelves，and then all＇s well with them．

From Sattagen I travell＇d by the Country of the King of Tippara orPorto Grande，with whom theMogores（orMogon）\(x_{t \text { thari }}\) have almoft eontinual Wars．Thofe Mogores of Arracan are much Superiour in Force to the King of Tipparm，to thar Porto Grande is often in fubjection to the King of Arracior．
There is a Countryi abour four Days Jonrney from \({ }_{\text {Batantri：}}\) Couche（before mentioned）called Botranter，and the gatant Nor－＂ Chief Ciry Bortia；it takes in 2 mighry compals of therabegion； Ground，as much as will require three Months tume to cravel．There are vaft high Mountains in in，afd one of them particularly rifes up its Hoad fo high，friar a Man may fee it perfectry when he is fix Days foumey from it． Upon thefe Mountains dwell a fort of People that have Ears of a full fran in Length，which is much the fame fize with thofe of the Inhabitants of Couche；and probably both from the famecaufe, namcly, the Tricks the Parents play with thene, to extend and draw them out when they are young, which is known to be the Practice in Couche There is a great reiort of Merchanes bither, from China from Mufcoov and Tartery, who come to buy Musk, Silk, Agacs, Pepper, and Saffron like char of Perfion. The Northern Merchants by their Drefs and Habic, tell the Whtid how cold a Climate 'tis thcy come from. The areall clofe wrape up in woolen Cloth, their Legs guarucd with Hole and-Boors, and warm Caps upon their Heads
They report their Country affords excellent. Hor es tho' very fomall, and Kine rhey have too in grear abundance; fome Men amongf them keep 600 Horles and Kine about them.

Their fole Diet is Milk and Fleth; their way of urading thay and fell by Scores upon the Ground. They cut he Tails of their Kine, and fell shem at serj grear Rares becaule they are a Commodiry mighoily in requet, and all the Peoplectecm them highly. The Hair of chem is 2 Yard long; and the Rump above a fpan; and the ufe they chiefly pur them to is to hang them for Onaments upon the Heads of their Elephants.
The Inhabitants are an active lisely Pcople, and mighry fwifr Rumners. This Accounc thofe Northern Merchants gave of the Countrics from whence rhey came.
From Porro Grande (or Charecran) in Bengela, I came to Bacolc, the King of which place was a good remper'd Hofpitable Man, and wondexfully plealed with our Europcan In contion of Guns, to fhoor with, which was his principal Exercife and Delight. His Country is large and fruifful, yielding great \{tore of Rice, Silk and Cotton-Cloth. The Inhabitants have no Cloaths nor Covering, bura Cloch aboutcheir middles; but the Women here wearSilver and Copper Rings as plentifully almoft as any wherc. Bacola is a Town handrome and fately eqough, the Streets large and open, and theHoufes fair and very high built.
My next Stage was to Scrrepore, upon the Banks of the Gonges, a place famous for the Corton. Cloth made there. They are all hereabouts Rebels againft the Great Mogul, or rather faza up in defence of their Juft Liberties which that Potenr Adverfary endeavours to fwallow up They skulk up and dotro in the Iflands of the Garges (which are tery numerous) and all the Forces of the Magull can't beat them out from thore theiters.
About ix Leagues from Seriepors, ftands a Town called Sinnergan; which bears the Bell from all ocher places in Indias, for good and fine Cotton Cloth. For buildings tis much inferiour to the former; low Houles, covered with Srraw, and Mars hung round the Walls, and bcfore the Door to keep out the Tigers and Foxes.
The People drefslike them ar Bacola; they live altopether upon Milk, Rice, and Fruits, neither touching any Fleth nor killing any Beaft. Ycr many of them are very rich; and the King of this place is a Sovereign to the relt of the Kings round about him. All Chriftians ate very welcome to him, and meet with fricndly Entcrainment from him. This Country ferves Ceylon, Pegu, Malaccor, Sumatra, and other parts with Rice and Conton Cloth
From Serrepore I fet fail down the Ganges for Pegu, which is 90 Leagues diftant from Bengala.
After many Difficulties we encred the Bar of Negrari, 6 which is a very good one, and where you have four Fa them Waver in the thalloweft part; tis.ten Days Voyage by the Rivers from this Bar to the City of Pegu.
In the fpace of cree Days we came to Cofmin, 2 pretty Town, delightfully fiuared, and as well ferved with all Corts of Conveniencies. Ail the Houfes ftand aloft upon Pofts or Frames of Wood, fo that they mount up to them by the help of Ladiers, and thofe long ones too. The Rearon of this is, the Country is 10 pefterd with Iigers, chey are fo numerous and withal to vert fierce and ra vencus, that the Inhabitanes are forced to elevate their Habitaions thus, to kecp themfelves ont of the reach of thofe Hongry Crcatures. . Had thcir Houfes the ordinary Siruation, the Tigres (the only Vifiters they dread) would have an Opportunity of looking in too often upon then.

Abaring this Inconvenience 'tis an agrecable place enough; 'is very well Serv'd with all Neceffaries frum the circumjacent Fertile Counury, and abounds pa ticularly in Frairs, as Coco's, Figs, Oranges, and feveral crhers hefides.

We go from Cofmin to Pegu in Paroes or Boars, in which the Water-men kecp their whole Famiiies; and as they get cheir living by the Water, fo they mofly firend their Lives uponit.
Paffing along the Rivers, we came to Medon, anothe pretry Iown, and valty flock'd with rhefe Paroes. They keep their Markers here upon the Water, having their \(\mathrm{n}_{\text {th }}\) Goeds aboard their Proees; and to keep them from the krom fcorching heat of the Sun, every Paroe is grarded withr? large Tembrella or Sombrero, made of Coco and Fip Leaves.
The next Town we came to was Dela, which has afair ou Porn to the Sea, from whence go feveral Ships for Ma-Hown lacca, the Red-Sen, and other parts. - Here are 18 or 20 thered very great and long Houles, where they keep and tame abundance of Elcphants for the King of Pegu; for they carch the wild Elcphants in the Woods thercabours.

From hence we procecded to Cirion, which is a hand-Gim Come Town, and has a good Porr, whither abundance of Ships come from ocher parts of che Indies and the RedSce; and here 'tis that they fop and difcharge, fending up their Gocds by Boat to Pcgu.

Thenext place we came to was Macao, where we. left our Boats, and taking fome Delingeges ( which are a fort of Carriages made of Cords and Cloth quilted, and carricd berwecn threc or four M(n) we came the lame Day ro lecou. This is a very large, ftrong and mighty Ciry, and well deferving its Character of an imperial onc. 'Tis compaffed about with firm Stone-walls, and pan Ditches too, that are both wide and decp. It's divided dixati into two Citics, the Old and the New.

In the Old are all the Merchants of ftrange Countries, outm and many of them allo rhat belong to this; and hereit is that all the Trade is dxiven. It has very large Suburbs about it but the Houfcsare built of Bamboc Canes and coverd with Straw ; To that Fires are as mifchievous here as they are frequenr, for cris very often that of or sou of thefeare laid in Afhes ina very litule cime. Bur chere's this Convenience, that to every dwelling Houfe chus ftarely built, you have a good Brick Ware-houfe for your Merchandize, withour which there would be no fafe livint at this place.
In che New-City is the King and the Courr \(\begin{aligned} & \text { dith all mime }\end{aligned}\) the Nobility and Gencry. Ir's a very grear and populous Cisy of it Self, builr fquare, defcnded with handfome fubftantial Walls, and a Dirch that is nor only full of Water, buthas abundance of Crocodiles in it 500; which maybe a pretty mood Guard; for 2n Adicrfary that mould come to pafithisDitch, would be in danger of being fonapt by them. It has 20 Stone-Gates; \(s\) for every fide of theSquare; and(befides thele) abundance of Watch Towers uponathe Walls, buils of Wood, and very pompondy gilt with Gold. TheStreers are the fairett charever I law any where, as ftrais and cren as aLinc, and of fucha breadth, that 12 Menmay very well ride a breatt thro' them. TheHonfes here are all of 1 imberand cover'd with Tiles, and befere cyery Door is fer a Palm Trec; fo thar 'ris a pleafanr Wood, and a ftatcly City rogether; 'ris fo cool and thady, that under the ficlece of thefe Palms a Man may walk without any trouble from the Sun all the Day long. The Palace is in the midtt of this City, and 'tis wall'd and ditch'd about The Buildings areall Wood, but every where gilr at 2 moft extravagast rate; efpecially the Front, which for Gilding and Carving exceeds all thereft: And the Temple where the King goes to his Derotion, is more fich and Splendid than this.
Within the firt Gate of the Palace is a very large Room, on both fides of which are Houfes for the King's Elephanc. Kimot It is faid that he has above ; 000 of chefe Elephants that are plam for Martial Seriice, befides a great number of others that are not taught ro fight.
Amongit all hele he has four White ones, which are mown exrraordinary Raxities, and there's no orther Prince known was to have chem but bimfelf; or if there were any of his Neighbours that had fuch a Beaft, he would make War upon them rather than not have ir. Such is the eftecto that this Monarch has for an Elephant of this Colour that he brings this in amongt the reft of his Tirles To be King of the Whire Elephants is as big and lofty a one with him as any other that he affumes. Añd becaure no orher Prince abouthim mult wear this Glorious Title but himfelf, therefore none muft keep a White Elephast tho' Nature gave ir them; but muft lend it to him, or if not, his Armies muft fetch-it away.
When thefe Creatures are brought before the King, all the Merchants in the Ciry are commanded to attend and come and fee them; and arthe-famerime are obliged torazke 2 Prefent of half a Ducar a piece. This amounts to a good Sum; and the King gets. Money by flewing his White Elephants.

To fee how thefe Creatures live and are atrended, and their \(\mu\) in what pomp they march along, would furprize a Man nagramen with the greareft wonder. Their Houres are fplendidly gilt and fo are the Silver Veffels out cf which they are fed. When they go io the River to be wathed (which they do eyery Day conftantly) there's fix or eighr Merto bear. upa Canopy of Cloth of Gold or Silk over them, and as many ormore that march withDrums andMufical Inftruments before them; and when they come out of the Water, their Feer are wafhed in great Silver Bafons by fome Pcron of Quality, whofe office it is to do them that picce of Service.

He has alio feveral Black Elephants, bur they are not near fuch Favourites as che white ones are, tho'. they are rery large farcly Beafts, many of them nine Cubirs high. About a Mile from Pcru in a grear Grove or Wood, is the King's Houfe or Trap for taking the Wild Elcphants. This shey do chiefly by the help of fome tame ones they carry with them for thar purpofe, commonly a Female, which the wild Malcs will very eafly follow. The Hums-men drive the Wild one near the Lodge, where he is to be imprifoned, and there in fome ftraic and namrow path he finds the Female; after they are mer, they drive on the Frmale into the way that leadsinto the Lodge, the Door of which being open, the encers, and the Male (fond of her Company) along with her. And then he is a fure Prifoner; for upon their cntrance, the Door immediately clapsdown, and all is faft and clofe abour them. The Female chey quickly after get out again, and leare the Male all alone in his Continement, who they fay rakesir very bainouny to be fo tricked out of his Liberty, and afterwards robb'd of an agreeable Companion, with whom he was calie and quiet. But now upon this. Lofs he makes piryful Moans, and changes his Grief ar laft into Rage and Fury; he runs himfelf for very madnees againt the Walls, and breaks his Teeth many rime in the Encounter. Befides this, they teaze and prick him with iharp Canes, keep him three or four Days without Meator Drink; afrer all which Mortifications, rhey at laf bring him Victuals and a Female to pleafe him, by which means he is perfivaded to be rame.
This King's beft Force confifts in his Elephants, tho is able to raife prodigious Armies of Mcn too. At my being there he mached againft the King of Siam with \({ }_{2}\) Body of 300500 Mcn , and 5000 Elephancs. All thefe Creatures that are for the Wars have Caftles of Wood upon their Backs, in which are placed certain Souldicrs dhat fighrwich Guns, Bows and Arrows, Darts, and other Wैeapons.
The King fits abroad in open view twice efery Day, party for Srate, and parrly to do Publick Juftice. The Nobles fit on each fide him ar a good diftance, and without them fand the Guard which are very numerous Thofe that the King will honour with his Converie come to him in this manner, chey inned down, heave their Hands up to their Haads, and put their Heads to the Ground threc times, ar their cnrrance, in themidd-way, and at their apprrach to his Majcity. If tic like them they fic within chree or four l'aces of him, and he talks with them; bur if nos, they remove to a farther diftance.
All Petifioners and thore that come to him for Juftice are wholiy filent before him ; they fay nothing, but picfent him their Matters in writing. What they have to impart to him, is written with the point of an tron uron the leaves of fome Tree, which are a full Ell in lengeh, and two Inches broad, and doubled alfo.
No Man comes wirhout a Prefone, which notwith fanding is not always accepred. For if the King likes the Bulinefs, he takes the Gift; if nor, he recurns it rogether with his denial of the Sunc.

This Prince never gocs abroad but with a very numerous Artendance borh of Grards and Noble-men Sometines he tides in a Caftle (upon an Elephanr)' which is valily rich and lplendid; fometimes he is carried upon a grear Frame, like a Hore-litere, upori 16 or 18 Mens Shonlders. This Frame has a little Houfe upon it, covered over head, but openon the fides, all over gilded and fer with Rubies and Sapphires.
Such Coft is: nothing to:0 rich a Prince as he is, that has inexhauftible Mines boch of Gold and Silver, and Jcwelstoo in his own Dominions.: Rubies, Sapphires and Spinellesare Natives of his Councry; and he can command what quanciries of them he pleales, out of chofe Treanaries where bountiful Nature has hoarded them np for him.

Caplan is a place from whence thefe rare Stones are brought; is is fix Days Journey from Ava in the Kingdom of Pegu. There are feveral bigh Hills our of which they digthem; bur none are permitred to come to the Piss bur juft the Work-men themfelves.

Juft by the Palace there'sa:Building which is the recepracic of a moft wonderful Treafure, which chisPrince does nor mind much becaufe'ris. Io near bim. Ir ftands open ('tho with a good Guard) for all Comers to fee; being nlaced in a grear W.alld Court, which has two Gate, buthofe neyer fut in che Day-time.' The King of Pegu with allhis Treafures has a rood round Famit of his ownto maintain ; feveral hundreds of Women of Pleafure, and between 80 and 100 Childrendegotten by himfelf uponthem: - bur twice as many more would neither make him a poor Prince, nor them live beneath their true Character and Dignity

The People of this Country biave a Fancy that fers them mightily againf wearing of Beards, they pluck the and theop Hairs by the Roors from their Faces with little Pincers Manners. made for that purpofe. Some of them will ler a few Hairs grow together in one part of their Faces or other, wiear. no and pull our all the reft. They wonder as a Man that jeard. wears a Berd and loo on him as if they thongtir him cither a very frightfulor ridiculous Creature.
And that Trick they have of colouring their Tecth Black is odd cnough, and the reaton why they do is non lćs Idleand Foolin. For Dogs Teenh chey lay are white, Blecken. and that they may not refemble theni they'll make theirs their Teeth black; bur no doubr but fome Jozs in their Country together with White Teeth have Black Hair, apon which account (to avoid the refemblance) they ougtic to colour theirs White. Inftead of this, they make fome parts of their Bodies blacker by the help of Art, than Nature has made them; pricking tbeSkin, and laying co fomething thar gives ir a deep and lafting Black. But it muft be confers'd that this is a Mark peculiar to the King's Kindred or ConitryMcn; the Prince himfelf is a \(\mathrm{Br} \mathrm{rama}_{\text {; }}\) and all the Bremos diftinguin demfelres thus, and none bus they.

The Cuftom which she Mifen hare of faftning litrle wear Balls in Balls of Silver, Brafser Lead into the Pudenda is not lefs the Privy Atrange than any of the former. They make an Incifion Rarts. and fo pur them in, one on the one fide and another conche other; tho'there are many of them that wear three of thele Globes upon the Part. Married Mcn (asthe Report gocs in the Country) parin oncevery timethey have a Child, till it comes no three, and then they ftop arid to no farther. The leait fize of the Bal!s is as big as a fmall Walnut, and che greareft will march a litrle Hicnis Egg The King and the Nobles wear them of Silver, finely gilt, and made fo as to ring and make a noife; the poorer lort have theirs of Lead, which give bur little or no found at all. The King often beftows fome that he has worn himfelf uponthis Noblemen, which is a very great favour, and they ctteem: them mighrily after he has ufed them. Tis no doubta-grear deal of Paina and trouble they pur themelves to to do this; but they fay they can feal the Wound that'smade; and make all-whole and well again in fercnoreight Days timc. This Cuftom was intro duc'd by way of Prevention and Remedy againft unnarural Luft, 'twas defigned to be a Reftraine uponathe Male Sex from abuing one another. They themfelves know beft what Ufe and Scrice it is to them in that xe fpect; burtis very wall known thar they can take the Balls one of the part and pur them in again ar pleafure. Howercr, all thore Countries it ferns were formerly infamous to extremiry for the Practice of this Abomination; the Women were almolt wholly laid by, and confequentIy every place by Degrees grew thin of People. As Death fwept away the Old Gcactation; no carewas raken for the rining up or a New one, and to they dwindled away; till the mifchicrous Effects of their Crime were So apparent, thar for Civil and Policical Reafons they began to think offa Remedy

There is a lew of an ancicnt Date amongft them, thar regulares the Womens Drels, and limits thequantity of Stuff they fhall pur into their Garmencs. And this Law has been fo migardly to them, that they have hardly fo much as decency requires; their Cloaths are fo frait, that chey fhew one fide bare above the Knce as they go along the Streets.
When the Pcoucie have a Suir of Law amongft chem thar's any thing doubrful and intricare, they bring in to ari way of de? iffue by this quick method of Decifion. The contend-ciding La ing Parties (with their Judges or Arbitrators on boith Surex. fides) go downto a River, and whete they find a good depth of Water, they leap in and dive to the bottom And thus the Bufinefs is determined ; for he that holds it our the longeft linder Water, carries the day. Which merhod of cnding long and difficule Caufes, nould it be ufed and practifed in ocher Countries; thole that manage them might cen leap into the Water too, aud ftay there for good and all.

As for the Trade of this Country; the other parts of India do furniih but few Commodities comparatively that rade ond ferve here: Thofe that are moft in requeft are the Opium Mrade and of Cambaty; the paintedCloth of St. Tiome or Mnfulipatan, and the whitc Cloth of Bengela. They bring hither alfo ycarly good fore of Cotton-Yarn, dyed red. with the Roorthey call Saia, which gives a very durableColour; thisfells very well, and goes off in great quantitics amonght the Peginef. TheShips from Bemral. and the Coromandel Coaft, come to Cofmin and the Bar of Nigrais. To Marravan a Sca with Sandal, Porcclanc, and other Clina Wares, wich Camphire from Bernev, and Pepper from Sumatra. To the Pors of Cirion come the Ships from Maceca with Woolem Cloth, Scarlets, Velvets, Opium, and fuch like.

E 2 and

There are in Pegu a nated number of Brokers (cighr in all) which arc bound to fell your Goods for you at the intrinfick Value, and you give them for their Pains two in the Hundred. They are bound allo to make your Debers good to you, bccaufe you אell your Merchandcic upon their Words. If they den'r pay you at their Day, you may take them home to your Howle and keep them Prifonces; and after that, you may procecd ? by the Allownnce of the Law ) to farther Extremitics: You may taketheir Wives and Chilnren and bind them in the Sun (as fo many Sacrifices) aryour Door.

The proper Merctinndice of Pegn (I mean its own terural Products) are Gold, Silicr, Rubics, Sapphires Spiaclles, Musk, Benjamin, Erankincenfe, long Pepper, Tin, L.cad, Copper, lacca ( of which they make hard Wax) Rice and Wine made of the fame, and fome Sugar. Bur of this latrer Commodity there would be 1o much morethan there is, if it were not that their Elephants confumed fuch'a vaft number of the Sugar Canes; but they deroupabundance of them, and havenot amore pleafing agrecable Food to them than thefe axe.
- The Current Moncy in chefe parts is a fort of Brafs which they call Gauनn; as for Gold and Silver they are purely, Commoditics, and are fometimes worth more and fomerimes lefs, as other Wares are. This Brafs Moncy goes by a. Weight which they call Biza, and that amounts: to fomething leís thath half a Crown in ous Moncy.
The Peguefe build mighty pompous Tcmples for their Idols; they fare no Coft nor Labour, to make all the Edifices devored to fuch a Ufe, as Brighr and Noble as they can.

Their Varella's or Temples axe builr round like a Sugar Loaf, fome are as high as an ordinary Church, very broad bencath, many of them a quaxter of a Mile in Compass. They beftow their Gold at a moft prodigal rate uponthem, they being all of them gilded in the higher and more cminent parts ; bur many of them are done all orer from top to botton, fo that there's noching fearce but a Golden Face that appears. Then every ten or twelve Years they are new Gilf, because in that fpace of time the Rain and the Weather have pretty mucheimpaird the Beauty of them; for it isto be noted, thatthey ftand cxpos'd, Ecing all open abroad. Were ir not for this conftant Confumprion of it, Gold would be a very cheap thing in Pcgu; but the Idols derour this, as the Elephants do the Sugar Cancs; and between them both, they make both comparatively dear. o The lmages (which have thefe glorious Manfions for their refidence) are not lefs fumpruoully deck'd and gilded than rhcy; the Work-man beftows his bett Art and Skill to render them fo much the more the Objects of their blind WorMhippers Devorion.
Of the more privare fort of Temples (and which Rich Ragods. feem no berather the King's Pcculiar, or fome Appendages to the Court) there are four that are cxeraordinary for the Images they contain.
In the firft is the Effigies of a King ar full lengrh, all of maffic Gold, with a Crown of the fame upon his Head, richly fer with Jewels; and abour him ftands four Children, all made of the fame precious Mc\({ }^{\text {ral }} \mathrm{I}\)

In the Second, is the Effigics of a Manind Silver vafly great, and as high as an ordinary Houle, which may be gueffed (withour mealuring) from the proportion of hisFoor, which is the full length of a Man; be is made firting, and has 2 rich Crown upon his Head like the former.
In the Third, you have one of Brals, bigger and larger than the former, but Crown'd like them.
And in the Fourth, another of Brafs, bur bigger than all the reft, and crownd as they were.
In annther Court not far from this, ftand four othersof Copper, all Humane Forms and Marvellous Grear; they were made in the place where they ftand, for they are fo bulky and ponderous, that they are not to be moved up and down. Thefe ftand in four Houles roo, which are magnificently gilr, as they alfo are chemfelves all, except their Heads.
- Derenne, a . But the moft celebrared publick Temple or Varella, is great Temp.e , Bat whichthey call \({ }^{*}\). Dogonne, about rwo Days Journey trom the City of \(P\) egu. 'Tis to this that the Peguear perform their Grand Pilgrimage, and here they celebrate Solemn Fcalt; at which sime there is fuch a vaft crowd of Pcople always going and coming, that there is hardly any paffing for them by Water or Land. All the Characters of Beauty, Pompand Coftlinefs that a thing of this Naruremay be fuppofed to have (in their way of Adorning) this has. Its fituation is very high, and therc are four ways that lead roir, whicli are all along fer with Fruir Trees, fothar a Man may walk two Mile an end in a lovely hade.

Hard by it is another ftatcly. Srepucture defigned forpreationg the Tallipoics or Pricts to Preach in. This Houfe is: s Pacesin length, has threc great Walks in ir, and 40 large gilt Pillars that ftand between the Walks;' it opens on all dides with rows of fmaller Pillars, which are likewife richly wafhed with Gold. As for the Building is felf, it's all over Gilt both within and withour. Befides this, there are fereral orther Houles for the Tallipoies to exercife their Giftsin, which are full of Images both of Men and Women, and thofe nor a lircle adorned and embellificd. Laftly, there are other Houfes buile round abour for the Entertainment of the Pilgrims that come chither; thef devour Men are noc left to take up their Lodgings upon the bare Ground, but that their Religion may be catic (and not tirelome) they have comfortable Recepracles provided forthem Thereare abundance of rhefe Tallipoics in Pcgu, and the Tul: by all that I can learn of them, they are mighty frict, poics. zealous and diligent Men in rheir Functions. They preach warmly againttrhe Vices of the Proplc, and great numbers go to them for Inftructions in matrers relacing to their Supertition. They are comfulted by the People generally in the Tcmples; the party repairs thither, and at the Door wathes his Fcer out of a Veffel of Warcr, whinh ftands chere for that purpofe; then he enrers in, lifting for his Hands to his Head twice, firt to che Prict and then ? to the Sun, and fo he fits down. The Tallipoics live altogether upon the Bencfice and Charity of the People; they go abour with a grear Por of Earth tyed crofs their Shoulders, and fo vifir the good Houles, and ger Rice, Fifh and Herbs, which is all their living. They don'rbeg nor fo much as once open their Mouths to ask for any thing, but they make very broad figns, for they ftand at Thcir the Door and thew their. Ror, which the good natur'd thivits People fill withour any more ado. Nay many times when they area Prcaching, their kind Auditors come and catry them Prefents into the Pulpit; not that they interrupt themfelves in their Difcourfe to take what the ochers give, buraccrtain Perfondoes it for them, who fits by them for that purpofe. They fay it becomes them, and 'tis their Dury to livethis Elcemufynarie Life, and they ousht to contene themoleles with it; in which Noticn if they are nor greatly miftaken, tis certain the Religious in crher parrs of the Wcrid think chem to be fo.
They admit none to take Orders and te of the Socicty, Admitita rill they are better than twenry Years of Age; the moft cirty. part of which time they muft have fpene ar School. When they would be initiared, they come before the Rowli or Principal Tallipoic (who is alvays one of the moft lcarned amengt them) and he crics their Abilitics firtt of all by a folemn Difpure in which he oppofes, and afrer that by an Examination. Then he enquiresof them whecher they are contented to leave their Fricnds, to abandon the Company of Women, andrake upon them the Habit of a Tallipoie (which is indecd fo bafe and beggarly, that 'tis of is felf alone nolittle degree of Mortification for a Man to fubmir to ic) they wear only a thin brown cloth next their Skin, and upon their Shoulders another of Yellow, doubled many rimes, both which are faftencd to them with a broad Girdle; about their Necks hangs aSkinby a String, which is a fort of aPortableCumion to them, for they ufe only thar wo fir upon ; their Heads, Fect and right Arms are quite bare, and there's nothing elfe belongs to them bur a Sombrexo to fereen them from the Sun in Summer, and the Rain in Winter. To be fo dreffed and to be fo maintain'd as the Tallipoies are, fhould be (one would think ) Exercife enough for felfdenial, without abandoning the other Comforts of Life; but they muft endure all thofe Severities, or kecp out of the facred vencrable Order; to come in to which, is an Honour that (to Speak the Truch) fecms to be very dear bought.

Bur thofe that can get the Victory over themfelves, and govern the Apperites of frail Nature fo far as to throw off all the Enjoyments of the World at once; thar have courage cnough to anlwer the Rowli with a bold Affirmative, and tell him they are contented to do what he ask'd; thefe Perfons are received with the greareft Triumph into the Society. They are firft carried about the

\section*{ap. XXXVIII \\ Orders of the Tallipoies, &c.}

Strects on Horfeback, with Drums and Pipes beating and founding before them, and ar the fane time are very handomely drett; it being the lart they mut everbe for ond this is to rell the World, than they are now going to and of all that extcinal Pomp and Bravery.
1 few Days after this they are carried upon a thing like Horfelitece, upon ten or twelve Mens Shoulders, with Pipes and Drums as befure; bue now all their Friends atcod them too, and befides they appear in the Habic of Tallipoics. Thus they are accompanicd to their Cells, Talifoccs. to a Lifc of Beggarly Devotion for the furturc.
topes The Tallipoics live for the moft part our of the Cities and Towns, planting themfelves by the Highway-fide, and amongtt the Woods and Thickets; thicir Houles are lit'c rhings crected upan fix or eight Poits, and they mount hitem with a Ladder of awelve or fourteen Rounds. I ler't find that they are much for Socicty, bur every one of them has his feparace Houfe, and dwells by himfelf. Thufe Prictts regulare their feveral Feafts by the Moon's Ase, and when'tis New Moon, they keep their greatent Age, moft folemn one. Then the Pcople Kend Rice, and other things, to that Church to which they belong; and att the Tallipoies that belong to the fame too, mesertogeallther, and ear the Good Things which the Pcople fend them in.
I can't but oblerre, that the Priefts in orher parts of fadic, mix much more Ccremony and Foppilh Superfticion with cheir Religion than thee in Pegu. Thefe dun'r feen to incend to much the amufing of the Pcople, and hringing their Faith and Undertanding into fuchabfoletc Subjection to their Humour as many of the teft do: They area piain, poot, mortified forr of Wreches; all their Spiritua"Butinefs is cnly to preach to che People, and their Tempertal to ger their own Livings.
Haydg heen at Pegu fome time, I departed from that plank: City to Famblry, which is 25 Days Jcuxncy N. E. from Part, and 夰ands intlac Counrry of the Lantianci, or (as we call them) the 5 arizomesc. In this Jounney 1 crofs'd feveral fruirful and very delighifful Countrics; watcr'd with fine Rivers, thaded with Woods, and chiofe replenin'd with wild Buffles andElcphants.
Tomatey is a Town of very confiderable bignefs, the Houlcs arc all built of Stone, the Streets large and wide, and all very well peopled. The Pcople here are quite uncorer'd ar borh ends, Head and Feer are bare, bur the middle Region has a Cloth about it. The Men are ftrong and well made, and the Women fairer than thofe of Pegu. In all this Country they have no Whear ; Rice is their principal Grain, of which they make a forr of Cakes. Of all other Provifions they have vaft plenry; they are fo full that they neglect the milking of their Butiles, a thing they to in all other places.
Benjamin and Copper are the Commoditics of the Country; bur the Chines: Machanes (arcat Numbers of whom coune to \(\mathfrak{F}\) amafocy) bring Musk, Gold, Silver, and other Merchandice of their Country.
When thefe People are fick, they make a Vow of an Offring of Mcar, in cafe they recover ; and fome of the Tallipoics fit by them every Night, and fing to pleafe and pacifie the angry Power that has hurt them. If the Sick recovers, all his Friends meer together, and divers themfelics with Feafting, Dancing, and Mufick; while they are dancing and playing, they hoor and hollow as loud as they can, which they fay drives away the Ill Thing that bas done them mifechicf; and if a filthy Noife would do ir, perhaps that may.
If rhe Party dies, he is carried upon a great Towerlike Frame, with a Coucring of Canes gilt; this is brought by fourteen or fixreen Men (with a Procefion of Pipes and Drums, and all his Firicnds and Neighbouss) to a place withour the Town, and there the Body is burne: Erom hence they return to the Houfe of the Deccaice, and banquer there for two Days; they make a Feaft always fucceed a Funeral ; judging ic convenient after fo low a depredion, to give their Spirits fomething of an cicvation, and carry of che black Thoughts of the Grave. At the end of this Two-Days Feaft, the Widow, with all her Neighbours, go to the Place of Burning, and gather up thofe Relicks of the Bones they can find; then they fit downa while and thed fome Tears over the Athes of the Deceas'd, and fó e'en go home again, and pur an end to Sorrow. This is betrer behalf than going to burn lumm with for Company with a dead Husband, and the Women tious of that Glory that the other Indimes of thicir Sex are nor don'r think it enongh to pay them for the lofs of theit dear Lives, to have it faid after they are gone, They were pafionately fond of their Husbands, and alcended the Funeral Pile with a Boon-Grace, and a Noble Courage.

The umoft exprefion of Gricf and Monraing us'd by Relations for cach ether, is to have their Heads; and this befpeaks them to be Mourners indeed; for they value their Hair at a very great rate.

Having now finith'd my prefonc Concerns in thefo Countrics, I prepar'd for a Voyage into ferme cther parts of the Indics: And firk I went from Pegu to Malatea, patfing in the way by the Inc Tani, famous for Quantiries of Tin that ferve all Indic.
At Matacco, (when I was there) the Porturucze had a Caftle hard by the Sea, tur the Connrry ail round the Malacra, uns Town yielded no Subjection to them, bur belong'd entircly to the Melcyens: Thefe are a proud haughty Pecple, have an Covering but a Cloth about the Wa?t, and a Rell of the fame roind their Heads. Hither come many Ships from Clinn, the Milucris, Bende, Zimor, and the Fain's, which bring Spices, Drugs, Diamends, and other Sioncs.

The Portuigucric Captain of Náliceca makes good Profirs of the Trade into feveral of there Inands, fince no Ships go withour his Licence; and that brings him in large Sums of Moncy every Ycar.

When the Prutugucze go frem Manceo in Clina to Fepan, Partugraia they carry along with them White Silk, Gold, Mirek, and Trade to Porcclancs, and tlicy bring from thence nothing but Sil-china ver. They have a srear Carrack that gocs thither ycarly, and renurns back with a Trcafiere of 630000 Crufadocs; and all this Faponf/c Silver, with one third part as much more, they as conftantly hy cut in chine to their very great advantage, npon chefe fame, and other Commoàities, which they manfort from thence to farne. The Clinefe are generally pretry jealons of them, and won: reut them too far, tho' they ccirefpond and trade with them.

When they come to Leuton, in Cbine, their time of fay there is limited to fuch a numiter of Days, which expired, they muft pack up and be gonc. When they catcr the Gate of the Ciry, they munt allo entcr their Names in a Book; and as they go our ar Night, they mouft raer them out again; I fay as they go out, for the Chinefe won's truft them in Town all Nighr, but אend them to their Boats. If any of them hould ftay afier their appointed time is out, they'll certainly make them ftay a while longer againt their Wills; and in that Cafe they don't fend them to lodge in their Boats without the Walls, but let them lie within in a good ftrong Prifon. ThefeRifques do they run for the advantage of thar Trade, notwithftanding which they don't think fir to for eake it.
Amonget the Malaccans, I obicry'd, rhat a Man mas kecp as many Concubines as ever he will onds able to do; bur he mult have but one Woman to give the Name of Wife to.

Leben is an Inand among the Fare tacs, from whence Lasan face. come the Diamonds of the Cien Water. They find them in the Rivers, for the King will not Kafferthem to dig the Ruck.

Fambia is ancther of thore Inands too, which affords 7amba. dhofe valuable Srones; and our of cne of the Ri:ersthe Prince of the place draws a conttant Supply of Guld. If. Diamonds. sa kind of a litcle Hill, of Mals of Earth, which is richIy impregnatel with the Oar of that Mctal: asthey cur it away, in NTature fills it up again, and furnifics a ferm forc. They hay, it's vifible but once a Xear, and chat is when the Water is low, in or about the Munth of: April.
In Bime (another af thofe Ilands amongt the frotans) Binmita. the Laws of Domettick Order oblerved crery-vhere citc, are quire inverted, and the Men and Wonen change siulinels and Condition. For here the latter have ant woil, and do all the hard Labous that righefely iclong; to the other Sex; while the former fititill aith me, kecp Houtc, and nurfe the Children, or when they picate, go arrand, and take theis picafure. But I cir it find the Example \(=0\) be contagions, or that any other of the Indian. Women are fuch cafic Fools asthofe of Bimat.
Having fpent fome time about thefe parts \({ }_{m}\) return'd spril, from Malacca to Martaven, and fut to R:ro, where intaid D. is 8ea (the fcond time) fome five or fix Munths; and tion went to Cofmin, where I mbark'd for Bengati. This Voyage September. was both dangerous and tedious too, by reafon of contrary Winds, and bad Weather, that we met with; but having happily furmounted all thefe Difficultics, we at \({ }_{\text {Nevember }}\) laft reach'd our defired Port in that Country. Here I was obliged to ftay for paffage at leaft three Monthslon-Etbrum. ger, which having procured, I fhippd my felf for cochin.
In this Voyage we fufferd grievous Extremities for want of frem Water; for we were abundance of us in Company, the Weather was very hor too, and we were often becalmid. We were not reliev'd till we reached the

March,
Inc of Ccylon; at which place we ftaid fome Days, till we had betrer fu
The Fruiffulnels of this Ifland, renders it very fir to be made a Refrefling-place, bus the Wars bewwen the Natives and the Pusinguczi; did as this cime make Provifions dear.
The King was endenvouring to farve them in their \(C_{2}\) flle of Coionbor he had cut cff all manner of Relice by Land, but not having a Flece, could not prevent them of 2. Suppiy by Sea, which they gos every Year from Bengall. He had an Army of 100000 Mcn, and a great Train of Elcphants before C: mber bur his Soldicrs naked as to any deferlive Arms; and for offenfive ones, befides Darts and Arrows, they had Muskers, with which they thoor vert well.

They have no Hores in allthe Country, and their Elcplaners are of a mech fmalicr Race than chofe in Pcyu; but-yer the Ceyture,s fay, that theirs are the beft in the World for Mctrle and Courage, and that none of the huge monftrous Elephanrs of other parts, dare cncounter their little oncs. The People thamielves too, both Men and Women, are generally of a very fmall fize; bur 1 fearecthink they are the bef Soldiers in the World, and
*- their Charaster for Mcrtle and Spirit hardly comss up to chat of their Elcphancs.
The Country is very well known to have the Reputation of producing the belt Cinamon, Rubies, Sapphircs, and Spinelles, in the World; as for there Jewels the King won't let his Subjects dig for them, elt his Encmics Mould know of them, and fo drive him out of his Country for the fake of that Trealurc. But that Care and Caution is now to be fure infignificant; and comes too late (whatever good it "might hate done formenty), for the Porrugucec, in coming to fertie themfelves there, thew'd they appreherided there was tomething elfe to be found ar Cc ton, befidesCocklc-fiells and Pebble-ftones. Thefe People (at leaft thofe that live abour the Coalts) content themfelves with very meari and forry Houfes, made of the Branches of the Palm, and coyerd over with Learcs of the fame. They are blacker than moft of the Indians, and derive their Srock from the Cbingalayes, which they fay are rhe beft of all the Malabirs.

To have a yery broad flapping Ear, is a Mark of great Honour amongt them; and fome of them are therefore very honourableperfons, having Ears (in proportion) more like Elephans than Men.
- Their Habit and Drefs is fumm'd up in che one particular of a Cloti about their middles; the King himelelf wears no more, only a fine Cloth wreath'd abour his Head, and which alfo ties up his long Hair.
Having made a hort otay here, we proceeded in oure Vorage, and doubled the Cape Comori, between which, and the main Land of Nestopifan, they fint for Pcarls: Pearlfiniery: They get good Quannities every Xear, fo as to ferve the nearer parts of India prety plencifully with them; but there Pearl have not that right Oricat Laftect that thofe of Baberem have in the Pcrfitn Gulf.
After Cape Comori we pads'd by Coulim, which is a Fort of the Portigueite, from whence comes good tore of Repper inco Portugal; and here 'ris thar they offen lade one of their Carracks. Thus pafing the Coaft, we at taft arrived ar Cochint, where we found 2 great fcarcity of Provifions; for here grows neither Rice, nor any orher Corn, and what they have (che greateft part ar leaft) comes from Bengela. They are as badly furnithed for Water too, for the River that fupplies them with good Water is ar a confiderahle diftance, and the reft thar lies near them is very bad: The want of this Neceffary makes abnndance of difeafed fcabby People amongit them, fome of them are like Lepers, ochers have their Legs fwollem as big as a Man's Waftc, and ochers fo debilitated as nos to be able to creep along.
The Cockiners differ much from the other Malabers, and are faid to be of the Race of the Naires of Calceus. They have their Heads mightily replenim'd with Hair, which they bind up with a String, and leave a Wadd of copfiderable bigncis appearing withour the Band. They are very rall itrong Mcn, yood at fhooting with a Long-Bow (which is their bof Weapon), but unskilful in the Management of Fire-Arms: They have only a fey Calivers amongt them, and thefe they handic very badiy.

Thefe Pcople have as large Ears as thofe of Ccy'on, and they wear them always full of Rings fot with Pcarl, and raluable Stones: Their Habir and Complexion needs no diftinct and peculiar Defcription.
The King of this place has feveral Palaces and Houfes of Plealure, but chey are none of them large and fately: He removes up and down with a fmall Guard, from one of them to the ocher, and never ftays in a place above fire or fix Days.
Therc's abundance of Pepper, and coarfe Cinamon, that grows in this Country, and no fmall number of Coco Trees, the Fruit of which ferves the Pcople for Rrovifion, and the I eaves for Covering for their Houfc.
About twelve Leagues from Ccolin begins the Terri tory of the King of Celecur, and runs up almoft as far as Gor. The Nifires which are Subjects of this Prince, and a Cort of Malabars, are cver at War with the Portuguce tho \({ }^{2}\) che King himfelf be always at Peace with them. They range all the Coaft from Cerlon to Gor, going fours or five Parowes rogecher, in each of which are fifty or Mime fixry Men; they are very nimble dextrous Fellows in dalm boarding a Veffel, and make the Expeciment very frestan quently upon Portugucte Ships and Boats. When they come to complain to she King of the Injury his Melthars have done shem, he anfwers, That he did nor fois them out; but however truc that be, his Majelty can't - ; that he does not know of it, or connive at in, without telfinga Lyc.

For want of paffage, I faid in Cuchin near cighr Monchs, wiom from whence (having obrain'd ic) I'went to Goa, and fo to Chaul, which is 1.60 Leagues from Cocbin; it being roo from Cochin to Goc, and 60 more from Gor to Chicul. Here I made Provifion for a Voyage into Europg, in the fpace of 23 Days char I continued at this place.
I went from Chaul in a Ship bound for Ormus, ar \({ }_{\text {rinh }}\) which place I ftaid so Days for a Paffage to Balfors; mantis from Gon to Ormus I reckon 400 Leagues.
Having reached Belforc, to get from thence to Babj"n by Watcr was fomething difficulc, and our Boar was fain to te halled by Men with mighag ftrong Ropes for the moft part of the way upthe River

From Bebylon I came by land to Moful (a ncar Neighbourrothe old Nizeve, now all in de(picable Ruines) and fcated bard by the River Tigris.

From hence so Merdin in Armenia; and fo to \(0 \cdot \sqrt{a}, 2\) very fair Town, and celebrated for a goodly Fountain it niews, which is full of Filh. The Moors of this place have abundance of Notions and Opinions alour albrabam peculiar to themenelves; they fay he lived here, and to being upon the fame Spor, the Remembrance of that Parriarch is more frech anongt them, which leads them into many rrivial Difputes and Notions about him.

From this place I weat to Bir, and pals'd the Eupbrates there, and fo travelled to Aleppo, where I ftayed fome Months for Company, and then came to Tripoli. Here I had the Happinefs to meer with Englifh Shipping, which Opporruzity I greedily embrac'd to return to my Narive : \(\hat{y}\) Country, and did to ar laft, under the Conduct of a mivisi favourable Providence, afecr the many Diffculties of fo redious a Voyage.

HTtherto we have chiefly confiderd the Performances of our own Nation in tbe Eaftein Parts of che World: And if at any therto we bave taken a foort View of thic Actions or Affairs of oslicr Pcople, is bas been oniy by che woay, as we bave folLewid the Englinh in their Buffucfs and Concerns. Let fo much as is pift therefore fuffice, for the Account of che Original, Progrefs, and Improvement of our Indian Trade. Let us ficp berefor a mbile; and leaving she Englifh Affairs advanced to this degree of bappy Thriving and Sucefs; divert so the Story of our Naigbbours tbe Durch, which deferves to be known as weil as ours. They bave vifited the remoteft Perts of the world as well as we, planted stiemfelves in feveral-Foreign Countries, and gorten a mighty Tiade into their Hands: Divers Indian Princes are their Confederates and Allies, and fome are their Suljects tco; the rich Treffures of Spices are in cheir keeping and polfeffion.; sbe Cloues, Nutmegs, and Mace, of the MoIucca's and Banda's, are apart of the Furniture of their Indian Garden. We will now therefore enquire into the Original of all blits Greatnefs, and fee by what Steps the Dutch advang'd to fuch a beight of Power and Fame: The Struature is monderful, and hass furp.iz'd the whole Worid with its. Beauty and Mannificence; it may be porth the while to fie bow the bapp? Builders raisd it, and made it jo gloriouts as now it appears:, In order to this, we fhall begin with the very Beginnings of their Indian Navigations; bring them out of Europe perfelt Strangers into thofe Eaffern Countries, and fee by mbat means they procard sheir after intimate Acquaintence with them. \(\rightarrow\) And mbat foever is bere related as Matter of Faft, is taken cirber ont of eheri own foumals, or the Writings of fome Hiftorians that bave handled their Affairs.

\title{
The frit Voyage performd by the Dutch to the Eaft-Indies, bitt b four Ships, the Maurice, the Holland, the Amfterdam, and a Pinnace; Bernard Hejink; cbief Commander.
}
- Sact the

THe Dutcb .* having thrown of the Yoke of Spain in the time cf Pblitip the If, were for many Years after opprefs'd with heayy Wars; sheir former Mafters endeavouring with cheir utmoft Skill and Force, to reduce them to the fame ftare of Subjection again. Norwithtanding this, their Ships in the mean time rraded upon the Coafts of Spain and Portugal without reftraint; the Spaniards madic fome profir of thar Commerce, and fo for 2 while did not fcruple to permir it.
Thimf Oca . - Bucat laft thar Liber on of the of Spu taking antr. their Ships and the King to humble them, by ftopping din trade. hir Ships, and cutting off their Trade in all places of in \(8, p\) раг. mor Sem, which accordiogly was practiled with the unoit Scyerity; Reveral of the Merchants being fiez'd and clapt into the Gallies, and cheir Goods and Effects all confifcated... Had the Sprniards known before-hand what would have been the Confequence of chefe violent Procedings againft the Dufch, they would undoubtedly haye lect them alone; and our of fipite to them, as well as M, ick Regard to their own Interefts, fuffer'd them to ymdefreely upon their Coafts. For had they been quier and eafie here, they had not (fo foon at leaft) choughr of 2 forcign Trade; bur being oppreft and chrown our of all Buinefs in Europe, they refolved to find fomerhing to do in rempoter Countries. They were certainly as much in che Right of ir, to take that courfe, as the Spaniards were in the Wrongto put them upon ir. For the World was wide enought to afford choice of places for Traffick and Setrlement ; and if the Sprritrids would nor, there were other People perhaps that would bid them welcome to fuch a Coxrefipondence. But whar a plague did the Soaniards bring upon themfelves by fending the Durch to look dbroad for Trade? How often have they mauld the Portugueze and them, broke in upan-their Plantation (wepr away their Profirs, and given alla along a morrifying Check to their exorbitant Powef and Greatnefs? They have fully paid all the fcores in thic Indics, thar were conrtactedin \(E\) urope; and befides added fo much over and above, that the Spanierds perlhaps had better have given rhem the other ten Provinces of the Nethicriands, than erer have run fo Acceply into cheir Debc. Bur thus does it many times come to pafs, That proud Oppreffours make way fordfeir own Falland Punithment, and while they are coneriving to overturn the Forruncs of others do but fooil thcir own, and give cheir.Adrerfaries greater Adranrages againft them.
The firft char ret uph frys carrying on rhis Defign of the Starcs and Prince Maurice confencing thereto; they furnithd our a Eleet of cight Ships, four of which were to so by the ufual way of the Cape of Good Hope, and the others to attempt the North paffage.
steterusis Asfor the * Succefs of thofe thar went upon the Dif Framicof covery of the Northern Paffage, we Chall omit all Partica140. Anerr. lars of that kind in this place, being at prefenc confined krem to the of other Voyages.

Thofe that went by the fafer and commoner way of the Cape of Good, Hope, were thcle foar, Thie Maurice, thie Hollend, the \(A m f f e r d a m\), and the Good Pinnace: They bad in all aboard them 249 Men; the whole Charge amounted to 290000 Florens, of which 100000 was int ready Money and Merchandice. Thus provided they fet fail from theTeffic; and how or by whiat means foevct they cameto make lalong 2 Voyage of ir; whether by Tride and Bufnels in the way, or the unavoidable feftraints. of bad weather; bur it was more than a Year before they be albowe Coaft of Indir. A great deal however is to they hiad agreed thar credar hiving che Spoil betwixt them, To themed upon theaccount of the newnefs of the Vogage Plunder, and the Portugueze upon the Payment of 3000 fo well acquainted ( as now) with all the Dificulties and Ducats, hhould have the Ships pur inro their own hands Dangers of the Paffage. The Accounts don't tell us' was, to draw tbe Dutche ahoorsh; bur che Difficaly neirther of any remarkable thing that occurr'd in the way;' their Ships in 2 carelefs manner. If thiey did mor leave what Entertainment the Narives gave them ar the Cape them naked and expos'd, che Plor would have mifcarried of Good Hope and at the Illands of St. Laurence, or what' and come to nothing; if they dia fo, they deferved to blef sefrefl'd ac .

Guard aze the Ships, then left as is were withour 2

The Indian Difcovery was their grear Bufincis, and hey feemed to be fo full of this, thar all others were too lithle and erival to be minded, till this were brought to fome Perfection. Werfection.
When they werc come to * the Iland of Sumarta, they made a flort ftay perc, and then went *) on for the ma Streights of Sunde, where the Portugueze. came from Ban- in winssf buc they cante 2 . Wifat. There's no doubr in the World bur they canme upoux an ill and treacherous Defign, tho they did nothing now char difcover'd it, beffides this preimperious, fpiceful Thcm they made. People of a furly, when they fawn and farter, are always ro be furpected when they fawn and farter, cheir Complimenss forebode Tokens, and a wife receivethem; ; they are unfortunate Tokens, and' 2 wife Man' when he fees them will be immanediately upon his guard. The Dutch had now a fair warn ing to look ro chemfelves if they were difpofed to take it nince the Portuyucte, who were at that time Subjects to Spain, could not be imagined to come out of pure kindnefs to fee thet nefs to fee chem, who being lately broken off from that Crown, came now to underaine them in their Irdian Trade, and befideshwere curfed Eereticks in to the bargain. And twas nor long before rhey werc fully. fatisfied thar the Rorrugueze were actually confpiring their ruín and came for norhing elfe but to make Oblervations"in, order Informarion effectual accompliihmenc of their Defign. This information they had from no lefs a Perfon thaty the Protectouror Vice-King of Baisam, a deccifful innriguing Man himpelf, and of fufficient Judgment and Exerieng plot trxie in Plots, to be able to give a good guefs in any poinr of Deftrufiot: that naturc. This Perion cameabond in any point of where Prince Maurice'sLetcersfwhich were written boritio Arabick and Portugieže) were read to him. And trofeems mgiters went fo far that the Dutch and he came to foime sunal Agreemenr, and Writings were deliyer'd to lome fides, with the Kolemn Confirmation mifes, which how farthey were kep or violared and Pro- Dwech mo ter Circumftances will dif were kepr or violated, the af- the prometo cular accounr of the perifcover. Bur yer that the parti-of bautam gainft them (which perniciousDeffigns of chePortuguezer againft them (which they had from the Vice-roy) may be ine becter undertood, we mult by che way enter a lietle nto the Character of a cerrain Perfon, who was nearly concerned in the Bufinelftoo. This was one Raga. Duina or Cexfar as the Portuyuče called him; the Titular King of cafer or Bantam, and no. more than fo.. His Father indced wasefinmina Lord of all the Country, governed and managed the Great Inand of fava arhis pleafure; but this Soin fat ing in with the Portuguezt, and marrying a Porrucuez Wife, the Peoplc of Bantam rejected him, and would floop to his Autiority. Beffides this, he lived a goop while at Malacca amongt that People, and carried it all along with fo much parricular Favour and Good Will towards them, that the Bändanefe concluded him to be tinctur'd with fuch Principles, as would render bime whiolly unfir for chcir Governmieni, and therefore pur himby.
Yer for all this, he was treated like a King by 2 great jwari many; and fomie of the petty Kings chemfelves. that pid Homage ro Bantam, would speak to him with all hole Geftares of Aoration and profound Humility, chat are ufual in thofe parts when they addrefs the So vereign.
Now the Defign was laid thus, that ciffer foould invite all the Chief of the Dutch athoir to 2 Feith and inPrturuze in Prtugucze in the mean rime wich a good power of ould ficzic thic Ships, then left as it were wit Men, uard ; and as for the dividing che Spoil betwizt them, y had agreed chat c.xat hould have all the valuable ucats, fhould hive the Ships put inro their own hands tiandfome Conrrivance enough; bur the Difficaly nuined ; and meer with no pity in ath the deferved to be ruined; and meer wish no pity in all the Misfortunes confe.
confequent upon the Surprizal. Bur rherc's no need of arguing one way or another about the Rlos, fince (as we hinted ) the Dutch had notice of it, and fo Spoil'd all the intended Sporr.
Now this Cirfar being fo entirely a Tool for the PortuThe Durth try to work popal Cafor. uetr to work with, and a very ferviceable one too in carrying on thar which now lay upon hand; 'rwas a piece of good Policy to gain this Perfon over to their Intereft if polible; ar leaft to fweeren him a litele wirh fome good Prefents, that if he could not be made.their Fricnd yethe mighr be lefs an Enemy than he was boforc. He had been once aboard their Ships and well entertaind, but now they thoughr fir to add to that former Civility, a Prefent of Armour, with fome other valuable things which they fent him.
The Humour of the Faons is fordid enough ro be or do any thing for a littie profir; they are Friends not where Verrue and Juftice, or Piinciples of true Honour do engage them to be fo; bur where the Charms of Gain do invire them, and their hungry covetous Defires may be fatisfied.

Cafar was ready to give his treacherous Invitation to the Dutch, to trepan them into a facal Snare; but when the Prefent came he was another Man, he was won over ro a very good Opinion of them, and began to blame the unjuft Proceedings of the Porruguezc.

After this he went away to \(\mathfrak{F}\) ncatre, and left the Dutch

The Deccios of the Pro-
ecetor.

Wras be-
rween dre Defer and
Bamerarfo. to deal with the Pitorctor ar Bantam. And things were brought to this iffuê, thar the Dutch had liberty to rrade there, and a Publick Houfe was raken for a Repofitory of all their Goods, with all orber neceffary Preparations, in order to the Serlement of a Factory. "Yet after the Agreement made, did the falfe-hearted Protector turn and wind, and ufe all the Arcifices imaginable to undoe the Bufinefs, and fruftrate their Defigns. He complain'd of Cafar, bur was in all probability by far the worfe Knave of the two himiclf; a Man that difcovers the Plots of ocher Adverfaries, that he may plor himfelf with the lefs danger of fufpicion, is a double Villain. Bur he did not content himfelf with meer caballing againft them, and laying fecrer Obftacles and Rubs in cheir way, bur Mortly after iffued out a Proclamation forbidding the People to rade with them. Nay, the Dutch were now rold too by fome that had more kindness for them, thar all their Ships would be aflaulted, and without they look'd very well to their. Bufinels, feiz'd and taken too. This News made them retire aboard as faft as they could, to prevent the Danger that threatned; bur they could not all get off clear, fome of them being intercepted in their Retrear, and kept Prifoners there in Town. When they fent to demand their Mcn, the Protector refus'd to deliverthem; upon which they immediately begun to batzer the Town, and took three of their Junks in part of Gatisfaction.
Bur their poor Countrymen thar were Prifoners, were in extream danger of cheir Lives, whiles they lay thundering upon the Walls with their grear Gans, and Jpoiling all abour them. They were juft upon the point of being hanged, having Ropes about their Necks for that purpofe, and were all ro be ruck'd up our of hand, if cheir Friends aboard did not lie ftill with their Guns, and forbear any farther Affauits upon the Town. And upon this Confideration the Dutch did defilt, and a fort of Truce was made for fome Days; bur the Flame broke out again when that time was expired, and raged with more violence for the fpace of a Month after. And now hanging was too good for the Dutch chat were ahore; they were appointed to fome more cruel Fare; bur what that fhould be, was not eafie for their enraged: Enemies to agree upon amongft themielves: There were fo many different Opinions about the Method and Maniner of their Execurion, every ones Invention being cmploy'd to make it as barbarous as could be; thar by this means they got a Repricve cill another Peace was concluded.
Had the Paffions of their Adverfaries been more cool and calm, they had all died for'c, and the Peace had come zoolare; bur their wild ungorern'd Fury tranfported them at thatrate, thar they could not command Thoughts grear enough to anfwer the grearnels of their Indignation, and Soloft their opportunity of expreffing it. A very rare as well as an odd ching, for Mens Lives to be fav'd thus by the excels of Cruelty in cheir Adverfaries; for bufie defigning Ragero do the Work of Mercy and Good Narure, and by the zeighrs of Study and Contrivance, to difappoinr ir felf. Eut thus 'rwas, a feafonable Peace interpoinr it Relf. Ent thus swas, a feaionable Peace interdy Ceremonies of the Sacrifice were adjufted, efcap'd once more their horrid Fate.
The Porrugueze ware very much nerled and difturb'd at this Peace which the Baneamefe had made' with theDutch, and therefore they fenr a Dilpatch from Malacea to per-

Uncerminty
of Affain

Wwade them to violate the late Agrecmene, and declare War againft them a chird time. 'Tis faid alfo, thar the Portuguefe Agent offer'd 10000 Rials to have the Durch deliverd into his hands; or for the Bantamefe publickly to deny them Trade in their Country, which they would. The Offer was too tempting for thofe bafe-minded People to be able to withitand it, fo they forbid the Dutch all manner of Dealing and Concerns amongft them, and they in Revenge of this perfidious Breach of Covenants, fell to taking of thcir Junks, and fo punifh'd them that way.
But the Porrugueze, it feems (however it came about) thought die Bantamefe had nor plaid the Knave enough with the Durch, for the Moncy they gave them, they had given a grear Rate, and they expected the Villainy qould have been anfwerable. Thefe Mco were mighty ftrid and punctual in obferving the Laws of Commurarive Juftice, when they were buying other Mens Lives and Propertics, or treating abour the Price of their Deftruction. Here they would nor bate a Farthing, but have their Bargain to the uemoft rigour fulfilled, and in cafe of a failure pampron make the Bantemcfe worfe Villains for cheating them, chan and ois they were for fetring them on to break all thore folemn Leagues and Covenants. They were fo concern'd abour the ill beftowing of their Money, that they fell to downripht Scolding with the Protector abour it, and very hor Words pass'd on both fides; Luch as intriguing Knaves, when they fall our abour the pious Defigns they are carrying on, ufe to give another. In fhort, the Portugucze were refolv'd to have Satisfaction, and fince the Brant, \(m e f\) e would not give ir, they took it themelyes, by feizing feveral of the Cbina Junks that traded there.
But the Procector was even with them before-'Nwas Provemin long; for tho' he cunningly diffembled his Paffionjand Remg: Defign of Revenge, yet the Flame was prefervid in \({ }^{1}\) ts \({ }^{\text {minct }}\) utmott frength in his own Breaft, and broke our (as asis Occafion ferv'd), ending in no lefs than the total Ruine of the Portugueje Inrereft in this place. He gor a good Fleer together, and came upon the Porrugucze Galleys before they werc aware, killing all the Mcn, and dividing the Spoil of the Fleet amongft his Soldiers.
The Portugueze now were forc'd to contain themfelves within the Bounds of Malacen, their laft Retrear, and only Defencehereabours; Bantam was rid of them, and they were like to domincer there no more.

The Dutch after thefe Events, went away to Fricitra, where they were receiv'd with grear kindnefs, and had free permiffion to furnith themfelves with all forts of Ne. ceffaries rhey wanted.
From hence they faild to Tuban and Cydain, at which spininh places they traded for Cloves and Nuumegs. Thefe Peo- "Tomad ple, if civil and kind at firft, were yet afterwards foured by the Bensemefe and Portuguene; they affaulted the Trecher Dutch Ships, bur to their own grear prejudice, lofngs trapmext near 200 of their Men.
Things went much after the fame manner ar Medura dement roo, whicher they came next. The King of that place had lcave ro come aboard them, provided he came with 2 fmall number of his Attendants; but he defigning fomething elfe befides a Vifit, and bringing a little Army along with him, was kill'd in the Action, with moft of his Men, and his. young Son taken Prifoner.

Ar the City of Balcmbuen, they heard of the Admirals Drake andrcandifh, which had been there fome Years before.

There were JWars at this sime between the King of PafSarvan, a Maboritrinn; and bim of Balambuan, a Pagan; both thefe places being upon the fame Ine of Faron; and Belimbuan moft remore in the Eaftern Corner of the ille, as Bantam is in the Weftern.

Bab is a confiderable. Inand, parted by a narrow Streight from the Eaftern point of Froa. The People altogether \({ }^{\text {s }}\) Heathens, and thar Religion thar is amongft them, lies entirely in the Hands of the Bramens, in whore Difcipline tra 8 reo the King is al ways brought up, and is, asit were, one of of \(\Delta d\). their Order. And comfequently, according to the Principles of that Sect, they abitain from all Animal Food; bur they allow themfelves more Liberty in another Point than the Favan Bramens do, for they enjoy the Plealures of Marrimony, which the orher do nor. But then they are confin'd to one fingle Marriage.: by che Laws of their Society ; and if the.Wife dies, the Husband mult be contenied to live 2 morroful Widower all the reft of his Days: He muft take his Leave of Marrimony for ever, at leaft he muft have no more Wives in that Body; but afrer the Tranfmigration, 'tis poffible he may come down again and marry in another, and char's as good. Nay, who knows, but the very Lame Couple may meet rogether again, and be Man and Wife, I knownor how many times over; which if they thould, tho the Souls be the thir Marr Catne yet the Bodies (they believé) are different and fo
 But the heavieft part of the Burden lies, apon the poor Wortan; if they die firit, their:Husbands dre condemn'd to live unmarried, but if their Husbands die firft, they are condcinn'd to burn, or be buried alive along winh them:- The latter feems to be the Fare of the Bramens Wives, and the former that of the Peoples in general: So thar here's'Realon enough for them on both frdes, to pray for one another's Lives \(;\), the Man perhaps may be fond of the Comforss of "the married Stare, and fo bis. Wife's Life is a.grear Bleffing to him; and the Woman, tis probable, is willing to live and have her thare of theto, and other Enjoyments too:; and therefore muft needs be a very render and careful Nurfe to her Husband, and do all that lies in her power to pleafe and cherifh him, and make his Life cafe, to him, that he, may weather our the Point as long as 'tis poifible. She is obliged to atrend the Work of Kinning that Thread with all the Art and Nice Application the can; to run it our to the utmoit lengeb, and draw is as fine as may be, withour danger of breaking for as long as this laits, the lafts; and when the Good Man goes, the can'r ftay long behind him: And if the does not die of her own accord for Grief, the Country will make her do't upon another accouns, forchere's no long-liv'd Widows among them, nor no Wínen ever fufferd to tell their fecond Husbands. how kind and obliging their firft ufed to be to shem. As for their ocher Rices, we have little account of them: Only they fay, that every Screnth pay is:acred with them, and devored to the folemn Exercifes of their Religion, befides which the Yoberve feveral ortiers ás Feftivals and Holy-Days, in the compals of the Year.
Princ King of this Illand is reprefented as a very porch Prince, able to bring into the Field-300000 Foot, and that Foule; and very rich too, as it thou'd foem by ctils that the Furniture of his Table was all folid Gold:. :He came to the Shore to. Tee the Dutch Flects; in a Chatio Wrawn with Buffals, himfelf being Driver too, holding the Whip and Reins in his own Hand. His Troops thar at tended him, were arm'd, with Spears, Flame-form'd Crife Bows made of Canes with poyfon'd Amows. Therifes, People of a black dull Complexion Arrows. They are Neighbours, little conceri'd abour any thing of Trade or. if they are, they deal for nothing bur Corton Trade; The Iland is no more than rwelve German Cotron Cloth. pafs, a Spor incredibly fmall, confidering Miles in comthe valt Apor incredibly fmall, confidering the Report of rich and fermies ir produces: But as little 1s'"is,'ris a very excellently well Joi, laxuriant in its Productions, and
The Dutch oblery' wore a certain Srone of that the Banvens who were hete Necks ; 'tis perforated the bignets of an Egg about their bang down perforated in one part, and out of the. Hole of the Supreme Divinity. which they Lay is an Emblem

They begancheir
again, in Februcry, A O 0 ge out of thefe Parts, for Europe the middle of Auguft, A. D. 1597. and concluded it before Thus was that Correfpondence betweca them and the Enft-Indies begun, which afterwards became to and the and full of profir ro them.

\section*{C н a p. XL.}

\begin{abstract}
An Account of the Second Voyage made by the Butch to the EaftIndies, mith Eight Ships, the Holland, the Zeland, the Frielland, the Guelderland, the Utrecht, the Overyffel, the:Maurice, the Amfterdam : Containing in all 560 Men. James Neccius Admiral, and Wibrand Warwick Vice-Admiral.
\end{abstract}

THO' che Refult of the former Voyage was litdee better than lors of Men, Money, and Time; yet the Dutc/s nor ar all difcouraged with their poor Succels, no fooner fatw the firf Staps return, but they fent out thefe to make a Second Trial. And here we have, as it were, the whole Republick, lailing away at once to the Enft-Indits. Here's the Prince, and the Provinces, the Stadtholder, and the Sares themfelves; Prince Maurice, Hollond, Zeland, and the reft, all upon the march togecher. Tis as if they were going to make 2 ncw Settlemenr abroad, and de fignd to have the Low Countries in Affa, as well as in E rop:- Bur well follow them, and fee what they do.
 20. rsoo. together as far as the Cape of Good' Hope: But there partly mumpined by fous Weather, and their own ill Conduet; they were orfomd parted. Some of them held thcir way to the Ine SL.MMry, and the raft to the IIfe De Cerres; call by them Marrice Ine ar frince of thar Narme. This Inand Ehey commend highly for its excellent Trees, Palms, and Ebony, black, red, and yellow; for irs Air and Soill the Animals it produces, as divers fotrs of Fowl; burefpecially the Tortoifes, which do hicre grow to fuch a bignecs as is ven Men may fir all togethcr in the theilow Backs, and that 2 wonder they did noc wake ufe of forie of thefe fine Shellsinffead of Boass, to wair upon thcir Ships; for' tis fimakial 1 hus (as well as a lers chargeable) way making Boars and Skiff, to kill \(x\) few Tortoifes, and pame of the-Shells- than wo go to building of them the comman.way.
 lente 0 . 2 Granit for full Libecry of Rrocetor, quickly prociur'd Game Protector or no, thar was beforc, is uncertain. Bowever, the Dutch were now more kindly us'd, and thé By that time they mad Friends together.

By that time they bad been here a Moncth, the othet part of the Fleet came in roo; but fadly weatheribearent and diftres'd, and feveral of their Company dead: And now io many Ships being come together apori the Banto procurd foure of Repper was maisc. The Dutch quickly procurd four of their Ships to beladen with Pepper, which were forthwith dippatch'd home: The reft refolved io vifird the Molzcca IIles; and Neccius being return'd to Hot land, Warmick was Admiral in his room.
her Town of Faver in their way, put in at Tuban, anho- Joman hame Coaft Northward ar the Ihe Madiore, upont the which Coaft Northward. Thar Inand abounds in Rice for the is mo mort confiderable of irs Products; the People the Durth forr live upon Spoil and Robbery. - This ving landed fome Mer hown fad Experience ; for hat they were fciz'd and here to enquire:after Provifonis vaderritice le as wizd and captivated by theye barbatrous Peo min the vil nd ions way, yet they had the Impudence io ack gious Sum for cheir Ranfome to thar ti ask a prodiorc'd to fer a confiderable Force of Men the Durch were reover them by anocher Mertod, Men athors to try to Their old Friends the pinod and a hor'Skrminh there was berwe headed the Irdiani, midat of the Fight there thappen'd a Son them; but in the obliged the Dutch to ge kappen a a Soom to rife, which regat mowae Dutch to give over in fome confufions; and tre ent cowards their Ships to look afterichem Trfis: gave the Enenty an advintage to do them fome Costrar, thatocherwile peftaps they would not have dones all were forced to of with a confideriablelofs, and 2 fite Goods, for the Redemprion Rivis of Eigtirin Montey arid Goods, for che Redemprion of their Men.

\section*{Trods 95 \\ ambina．}

From hence they filld to Amboina，but becaule there was nor Trade fufficietit for all font Ships，therefotétwo of them went away to Bend a．Thole at Amboina met with Clorcs，Oranges，Litrons，Citrons，Coco＇s，Eana－ na＇s，and Sugar－Canesthere ；and agreed for a kind of a Factory amongtt them，The：Inhabitants were a poor fimple Cort of Pcople，very ignorant and unpolifh＇d in their Manners；their Wcapons were only long Pikes，with a Hook at one end，their Boars made in the form of a Dra－ gon，the Head ar the Prow，and the Tail in the Srern， and adornd－with fe．eral Streamers．

Ar Bunda， March，Mprit， ＊ic．A

As for thoie ar the：Beride Ines，they had the fame Suc－ cefs in their Affairs，as the others had at Amborna；they came to an Agrecmenc for Trade；and took a Houle for their Marchandize；and here they were pretty bufie in buying and Selling for the fpace of two or three Months They found nertuing of a King，or Kingly Power，an where in alkchefe Inands；they were govern＇d by their own \({ }^{\text {＊Staces，}}\) or Orankayes，who directed and prefided pontani hif，in ill Marters of Publick Confequence，and reem＇d to Ampiciodum．have no further Power than thas came to，to act in fuch And alfo．a manner for the Good of the Community．
Pars s．Ind The Pcople are all Mebonetans，and very devout and oriments．Reg． rinnta，Reg．
 ingtiratio wi－ unto ad fa． nisorxw Canm，

rest refermar
So frizs． while beforc）in bitter Contencions and Wars amongtt themfelves；Lebefnck，Comber，and wryre，held rogether； on the orher fide，Nern，Poolaway，and Poolaroon，were all in a League．．They were horridly fer againft one ano－ ther，and foughe with a ftrange degree of eagemels and invercrare fpleen．；making a deal of loud Noife and Tri－ umph，whenever they maffacred one another，and gor a parcel of Heads ro fhew of cither fide．And yer all thefe Bloody Doings was only for the curring down a few Trecs in the Territory of Nera，by the Men of Labetack；this was the Original of the Quarrel；a very great thing in－ deed，for fix or feven Towns to fill rogethet by the Ears abour＇and fpoil and reat one another at fich a rate，as if the Futies had poffefs＇d them all：
Twas．perhaps a（mall Encroachment upon the Privi－ leges of the People of Nerr＇；Bur＇a Civil War was the rea－ dy way to lay them open to a Foreign Power，that would make greater Encroachments upon them all，than this came to．Had not the Moufe and the Frog been bufiea fighting，they mighr have avoided the hungry Adverfary that waited to fwallow chem both tup．
There Iflands are efteem＇d vety healthy，and Pcople live to a great Age in them；that of 132 Years is not uncom－ mon amoright them；and their OH Age is not over－run with Diftempers neither．
Their Character for the production of Spices is very well known ；and here the Work of dreffing the Mace and the Numegs，always falls to the mare of the Wornen：
From hence the two Durch Ships fer Sail again for Ben－Twoof ram，and from thence for Holland．Bur the other two shipesp that were at Amboinc，after two Months ftay there，went to the Motucca＇s．
As Ternate they procur＇d a Trade and Factory ；that \({ }_{\text {Mhemw }}\) and Prince was kind and favonrable to them，and ready to 7 mmm ． yield to all their fair and reafonable Propófals．Thefe alio having fettled their Factory here，fail＇d（afrer the others） to Bentam，and from thence for Holland，having no Bu－ finefs now to detain them any longer in the Indics．Their Ships were all richly laden with Spice，and they had made a happy Voyage of ir，and rwas now time to go home and thew the Country（ expecting their ratirn） the Fruits of cheir profitable Labours ationad．

The two former Ships came fafe into the Texel in \(A p h t\), A．D．i 600 ；and thefe latrer oncs followed them withthe \(s\) D．itm like Succeis the fame Year．

\section*{CHAP．XLI．}

\section*{An Accoint of the fartber Progrefs of the Dutch Eaft－Indian Trade，in everal Attempts made by them for that purpole．}

THIS Correfpondence between Follema and the Enst－Indics being once fer afoor，＇rwas profccu－ ted by the Dutch with a Vigour anfwerable to the Greaznefs of their Hopes and Expectations from ix．They bad not Patience to ftay zill the laft ilicet came home；，bur before they could hear the happy Tidings of their Succefs，fent out another upon the fame Defign．
＊This confifted of three good Ships，under the Command
－Mos，
4．D．x599．of Stephen van Hagen．
Befides this，the four Ships of the former Fleet，that made fo quick a Difpatch ar Bantem，and went home－ wards from thence，under the Command of Admiral Nectius，werc prefently made to begin another Voyage； they did but juft unlade as it were，and then pur our to Sea again．

All this while there was but one Company that rook upon them the Management of thefe Indian Affairs；and upar was the Company of \(A \mathrm{mfterdem}\) ，or of the Province of Holland．

Bur now another ftarted up，the Bufinefs grew profira－ ble，and was upon the thriving Hand，and more were willing to put in for a fhare on＇t．This was a Company of Amplerdammers，and Brabnnters joyn＇d together：They ＊fet our a Fleet of four Ships，under the：Conduct of Ad－
－December．
A．D．is99．miral Bort；which after two Xcars return＇d with a very rich Cargo．
－d．D． 1600.
The lame Society alfo prepared＂rwo Ships more，to which the former Company added fix others all going out， under the Command of the aforefaid Neccius，and making 2 very happy and profperous Voyage．
Again，befides all thefe，the very next Year＊， 13 Ships more fet Aarle from Amm Hecrmskirk＇Fobn Grenior，and Wot－ pbard Harmininss ：Thefe were mer and encountred by 2 \({ }_{S p e n i f b}\) Armado，conifiting of the like number of Slips； buit how the Dutcb came off in that Action，we have no particilar Account in thefe Voyages that are now be－ fore us． ＇Whar Suceefs chey had at 1 itcre，is related in a former serent Book＊；＇ris reckon＇d thic Portuguezz，procurd rhem rhat En－fifiting rerrainment by the ill Repors they made of them to the King of Acl）en．However，that Prince did afterwards rrat them ata better rate，and procceded fo far in a fricnd－ ly Correfpondence with them，as to fend his Embaffadors into Hollhnd to Prince Mazrice；one of which died as Middleborough，and lies buried there，having an Epitaph on his Tomb，that fhews his Name and Qualiry．Thi Commanders to whom the King of Aclen was thus Civil， were Lamprerce Bicker，with four Ships of Zeland，and Ad－ miral George．Spillerg，one of the famous Durch，Circium－ Navigators．What was perform＇d by cach of thore fore－ mention＇d Perfons，we flall cmter upon the enquiry into by and by；but we muft firft of all rake Notice of a very neceflary ttep，in order to the more profperous Manage－ ment of thele Affairs，and thar wasthe Union of all the Stocks and Companics．For whereas by the diverfity of \(A n d \in\) there Trading Parties amongft them，there were fo many peximisi privare and particular Interefts to be regarded，that the Publick Good could not be fo zealoufly and regularly pur－ fued as otherwife；it was concluded，and accordingly proclaim＇d，Thar all thefe feveral Societies fhould form themfelves into one Body，and laying all their Srocks to－ gether，fhould have che fole difpofal of the Eaf－1ndia Trade，for the fpace of 21 Years．And they agreed alfo upon thefe Terms，with reference to the Divifion of the Charge of all new Fleets amongft themfclves，thar fhould hereafrer be＂＂et out，viz．that Amfterdam mould bear 2 half part；Middleborough，one fourith；Delff，Roizterdam， Encbufen，and Hoorn，each a firteenth past．The Sum of the Common Stock brought into the Treafury，amouinted zo more than Six Millions of Florins：And upon this Foundation of united Counfeds and Purfes，they proceed ed to carry ö́ a very chriving and profrable Trade．The Accounts we have of their parcicular Managemens a－ broad，are not very perficiuoufly nor methodically giten； bur．yet fo muth we may be able to pick out of them，as may Cerve to inform us of the mighty Progrels the Dutch made bothin adrancing theirown Incerct and Trade; and deftroying that of the Spamitrds and Poreugueze.
Fleer under his command. This Perfon being in Streighes of Sinude, was informed there by a Cbinefe Junk, that the Town' of Bantam was clofely befieged by an Armado of Portygueze, confifting of eighr grear Ships and tweriry Firgats. They came chither pretending to force thic Bindentfe to promife them to have no dealings with the Dutch, and if they would not oblige themfelves to tlat, they hould be punifhed for their Refufal with all che Plagues of War
Eniminius upon this News fail'd away io Bantam, fell upon the Porrusuenc, and roured the whole Armado; he fink and rook a grear many of them, and fome the Enemies fet fireto themiclves; in horr a very fmall number cicapect, and thofe that did hurricd away in a horrible Fright and Confufion.
Thefe farterd Remainders of the Fleer (fince they could nothave their Wills at Bantam) Ser themfelves to Tincresens doall the mifchief imaginable at other places. At Amm boini they flaughter'd the poor innocent Natives, cur down 4. Clove Trees, and committed all manner of-barbarous Hoftilities, and all our of revenge and malice to the Durct; whole Trade they were bent every where to hinder. - The Bamtamefe were rery thankful to Harminius for his dimely Affiftance, as they had very good rcalon to be; netherwwas is without reaton that the Dutch interpofed in that manner, fince the Sufferings of the Bamamefe were chicfly upon their account and by cafting off their Fricndmip and Alliance they mighthave pur an end to all their own Danger and Diftrels. Harminius having xedeived all the Compliments of the Bantamese upon this feccount, rook his leave and went away for the Molucsa mand Banda mands. And now this part of the Fleet was divided, two Ships being bound for the former, and thiree for the latter of thele Inands. Thofe that went to Ceniatr got a good lading there, and then haild to Broda to their Companions. At Banda they found their Factory in good cafe, and a fufficient quantiry of Mace and Numiegs ready for them, with which they prefently furnified three of their Ships and difparched them home; the other two ftaid ahere till the Cloyes were sipe.

Femes Fremskirk, that commanded another part of the Ainfferdam Flece, petformed his moft confiderable piece it lkempitk of Setvice, in the taking of a eplendid Portuguex e Ship. She: was of 1400 Tun burthen, and had 800 Perfons aboard ticr; fice was laden with Silk, Sugar, Musk, Cotton, Tintinago, and fo many rich Commodí fies, that Ate was worth feveral Millions of Florens to chem - According to the ufual hectoring way of that People, ar ctic firtt fight of the Dutch Ships the hung our a bloody Flag, threatning them all with Death and Confufion ; burfte quicklychanged her Colours and pur our the white Flag of Peace; a few hor from the Dutch hiumbled her, and made her cry our Mifericordin. Heemskirk remoned home in A. \(D: 160^{\circ} 4\).
The very fame Year alfo rerurned Admiral Spillerzen mentioned before." The moft of his Concernslay ar the Inand of Ccylon, of which we have this following bricf Account:- He was firft of all honourably received and ententained by the King of Batecoli, who vouchfafed him Liberty of Tride, and after fereral other Favours, fenc him atory in a very friendly manner to the King of Comfe,' whid defired his Company. This Prince order'd a nobleretinue to attend him in bis Journey thither; his Elephans were fent out together with his Guard, and a coftly Litter for the Admiral himfelf to be carried in. This King of Cinde being mencion'd, we mult digress a linte imto his'Story; which may deferve our confiderain ori. The Portugete amongit other parts of the EaftIndics trid feated themfelves alro in this Inand of Coylon, where ificy hat their ftrong Fort of Colombo, and enjoyed Quietand Friendmip with the Kings of the Country. In this Fort of Colombs, the prefent King of Cande bad his Education, they had made a Chritian of him, and Bapriz'd him by the Name of Don Fohn de Aufric.
Upon the Death of Darmat the old King, this Fimald The Senry of (for that was his Name) by the help of his. party in the Hland'ftept into the Throne; and prefenty arm'd againnt the Porrugutere, and expelld then the Counnry. The late King Darme had a Daughter living ftill, whom the Porrugaeje Irkwife had the breeding of, and her they refolved ro marry to the Governour of Malicea, and"'10 driving out-Fimila, purthe Government into their Hands Accordingly thicy bronght this young Pxincels with; a Porent Army to Cande ; ant now. Fimald was'forc'd ro retire and hide himferf in the Woods; whereytue placed his-Forces to advantageoufly, that he bitterly diftreffed the Portugueze, and cut off all manner of Provifion from the City. Loper the new-made King, fecing he was like to be forved in the Ciry, refolved to tay no longerthere, bur go our and leave all to the hazard of one fer Battect if he carried the Day, rhe Diftrel's was at an cnd, and the Country clear of all Adverfarics before him; if nor, a Noble Death, or Fortunate cfcape into fome place of more freedom, would ftill change chis direful Scenc. And twas by the latter of theferwo Methods that he was relicyed; he loft the Victory and his Life togecher, * and pard.xse Fimala the Conqueror poffefes himfelf at once of the overthrow young Princefs and the Throne again.

She was bur nine or ten Years old, when by Fimela's Victory and Marriage with her, fie came to che Inheritanice of her Fathers Crown; as for the Porturueze, the whole Power of the Kingdom of C.tinde was employed againft them, and allendeavours ufed to accomplith theis complear Expulfion from che Ifand. 'Tis to be noted that Derma the Father of this young, Princels, and Fimala's Predeceffour in the Thronc of Cande, was nor criginally King of thar place, bur of Siccbagne, which is about 15 l cagucs from Candc. 'Twas the Succefs of his Arms that broughshim in there, not the Right of Succoffion, or the Pcoples Choice; he drove the lawful King of Cande out, who fied with all his Children for Refuge to the Portugucinc, and left the Victorious Darma for a while, to enjoy the Fruits of his Violence and In juftice. But he was at laft roured our by the Pcople who were far from bcing cafie under his Governmert and thercfore ferred him the fame fawee that he had Lerved their righrful Prince, forcing him to cafte the Pleafures of Rebellion, Treafon, and Banifhment, and to cry how 'rwas, for a Man chat had a Crown upon his Head to have ir pulled off again in a ande and forcibic manner By this means was a way openced for Fimfle the Son of the exiled King, to come into his Fathers Royal Sear ar Cande; the Death of the Ufurper Darma did him that Juftice, and brought him to the Poffefion of hiscelired Glory.
Spilbergen being come to Cande to wair upon this Sillictrans Prince, was the next Day after his arrival fent for to Enencrain as Cin \(^{2}\) Court. The King was very well pleafed with the Pre-de. fents he made him, but feemed to be much more taken with the Company of him and his European Antendants who appear'd robe fuch 2 fort of People as he litule expected ro Yec. For he was under an Apprehention that there was no Nacion of Whites, bur the PortuIucis alone, his mont detefted Enemics, and thercforc lay under very pleafing Surprizeto find the Dutch of char Complexion as well as they

The Furniture of his Palace was afrer the Por:uguefe Famion, for having had his Education amongft them, he ftill retained fome of theis Cuftoms: Thus the Rooms were furnithed with Chairs, and Stools, and Tables, adorned with rich Arras Hangings and orther things of the like nature, thar bad far more of the European than the Indinnmode in them.

When they came to dilicourfe of the matter of Trade, the King thewed an uncommon degree of forwardnefs and willingneis to promote that Defign; and (whether 'twasa Complimenc or no ) he told Spilbergen thar himfelf and his Queen and all his Nobles would be ready to carry Srones and Mortar for the building of a Forr when and wherever Prince Maurice and the States pleafcd.
And to fix the King more effectually in this good Hu - Bums the mour and favourable Opinion of the Dutch, Spilbergen Formuruas went out one Day and took three Portugueze Ships, Ships burning them when he had done, and bringing all the Men home Prifoners to the King. This did his Bufinefs, and if the King had not been difpored to be kind before, rwas enough to have made him fo: A Sacrifice of his Enemies that hadonce, and would again bear his Crown from his Head गThar could be more agreeable and procure more Fatour for him that offerd it? This Prince was mightily delighted with Mufick, and when the Admiral found his Inclination tolie pretry ftrongly that way, he prefented him with a couple of Muficians, one of whom came to very good Fortune by this means, for the Charms of his Munfick perfwaded the King to make him a Secretary of State; this was a very fine Poft for'a Fidler, and Preferment enough to have made a Man Mufical that was not fo before. Bur farther, to thew his Efteen and Opinion of the Dutch, the King Ser himfelf olearn char Language, and would needs have his Kingdom called by the Name of Nem Holland.
The Account we have of this Country is very fhort and imperfect. The whole Illand is divided into Accommol feven Kingdoms, but how much Fimels the King of Cande's Territories do take in is not certain; only this we F£2 are told; that he poffeffes all that Kingdom, of which Colombo is the Capital City, a few Forts cxcepted; out of which he is nor \(y\) crable to drive the Portugueze.

The Inand is 250 Miles from N. toS. and 140 broad, "tis a noble fertile Spot, abounds in delicare odoriferous Planes, Cinnamon Trees, the moft and beft in the whole World, and which is more than all, choice Jewels of feveral forts.
Spilbergen broughe both Cinnamon and precious Stones from thence, and amonget thefe a Pyropus or Carbuncle of a prodigious lize; weighins full 400 Caross; one fo big as which hardly Furope had ever fecmbefore. Thus we have Seen the Refult of Spiliergon's Management at Ceylon, an Illand little known to the Europeen World; we mult now fee what was performed by other Commanders of the Dutc/ Fleces in orher places where their Concerns lay.
- Mach
A. D. 160

Admiral Fames Noccius fet fail with the Ships under his Command for Bantrm, where after a Vovage of fome nine Months or better they arriyed in ( fafery. The Governour of this place (according to the good Understanding now eftablithed berween chem and the Dutch) gave them Information of the Defigns the Portugucenc were carrying on againft thery.
King offom Anh and the Porremerac arm ticm Kivaraging
cite Oncisi.
xite Lusciz.

0

Portugesen reporis of
che
Dutch
The King of Tibin (a Town upon the Ifland of Fran) was of a lorngacz: extraction, and baving joing wich his Councry-men in their Plor of exrirpating the Duach Intcriftencre, had fent to B.merm to ask lcave to attack the Durch in tha: Harbour, for which purpofe they had 2 Flectof 40 Shipsthathy ready at Frearrit. What Anfiver was given tre do nor know; tho' 'ris probable 2 percmprory Refuial on aimit of any fuch Hoftilitics againft the Dutil) there; however Noccius did not itay to Fee the cyent of it, bur wine away for the Moluccas. As Ternate he heard hew the Poraugeace had befriended his Nation in a sood Characier, reprefenting them to the Pcopicas a parcel of Thicyes, Sodomites, and in all refpects the wortt and mont lend forr of Mcn, which they did they allicaged out of kindnefs to the King of Ternate, becaufe they would not have him impofed upon by fuch a Cort of Pcople. Befides this here was a repore of a difmal Tragedy acted by them upon a Company of Dutch Men, whore Ships they had betrayed; upon all which Accounts, Neccius \{ailed away to Tidore to take fome part of his revenge upon chem.
Buthis Succelswas not anfwerable to the Juftnefs of \section*{his Caufe, or ar leaft the Greatnefs of thar particular} Provocation, for he came off with the wort on't in the Encounter, and befides the Lofs of fome of his Company and his own Wounds, was obliged to leave the infulting Encmy to make their utmof Boaft upon his Elight.

They by the way hercgive us an Accounr of the King: of Ternate's Titles, and all the Dominionshepretends to; they tell us he calls himfelf King of Ternare, Machian, Matir, Amboina, Gilolo, and of the Celibes, tho' he pof Ecffes noching there; aifo of Mindemte, Sckers, Meros and other Tlands. But all the while here's nothing of the Banda Tflands; we don't find the King of Ternate pretendsany Sorcraignty there, and cherc's no reafon to belicre thar Tirle would be fupprefsd if it had ever been affumed by him; and therefore that more modern Pretence of the Dutch to the Bandit Inandsupon the King of Ternate'saccount proves ir felf to be vain and idle, and the Makers of it to be firewdly pur to it to find our fome Reafon for their unjuft Claim.
Necius now bearcin away from the Molaccis went te Seck his Fortune in other places.
Con one of
He came firft to Ciyo, one of the Philippine Illands tributary to the Spaniards, where he met with Kind Enterrainment from the Natives.

After that they came roMendare not far from theBay of Manillf, where they were horribly endanger'd for eight Days together amongft the Rocks.

From fience they faild towards the Coaft of Chine, and had fighr of one of the Clufter of IOands, thar lies before Cauton.
When they were by their own reckoning 12 or is Cawen and Wirmefrcoant
bought Experience; that the place they were come to was Macao. There was no remedy to be had ar all in this sone of cafe : their Men were our of their reach, and they had priforeme not ftrength enough to artempt the Recovery of them b; Natese Arms; lothey were forced to fubmit to this unjuft Violence, and go awnay quice and contented, till they were in firter Circumftances to rake their Revenge.

Afrer this they beat abour upon the Coaft of CaucirirChinn, and having paft feveral confiderable Dangers by Rocks and. Shelves, and other formidable things, they came ro Quitmi. Herc they found nothing but Woods Inhabitants appeared, nor any Refrefhment that might rempra Company of weather-beaten Seamen to ftay there; fa they failed from hence to Auarella Talca, in It Aworthe Degr. 30 Min. This place was almoft as bad as the other, Tice only not quite fo barten; they came our into an open Field, befer all round with comely Trees, where they faw good fore of Birds, and Buffals roo, rhar were difperfed up and down a feeding, bur they could nor lay hands of. any of them to fupply their Neceffities. They found the Track of fome Carriages, as alfo the Foorings of fome Men in feveral places, which they followad as far as they could, till they were led our into wild rambling Woods, where all was loft and confounded"2. gain. So thar'tis probable there People had no fixed and certain Dwellings, bui wandred about the Country, fetrling fomerimes in onc fpor of it and fomerines in another, according as the Pafturage or ocher Conveniencies ferved them.
But the Fruitfulnefs of this Country (fuch as 'rwas) a turge was a worfe Plague to the Dutch in its Effects, than the Frit fand Barrennefs of it could poffibly have been. For here was then a Fruit, the cating of which, made them all downight mad for a time. All their Faculties werc ftrangely dark. ned and difturb'd, the Harmony and regular Temper of, their Minds fooil'd and viriared, their Fancies to debauched, that chey did nothing bur forma parcel of wild extravagant Images, and prefonc them in fuch frong and lively Colours atop, thar all appear'd as if 'rwas real. Every Man was a Vifioniary in his own way, and according to his own proper Hamour and Difpofrion. One Gaw and converfed with Aingels, another had fome of the Black Regimentabichim, 2 third cried our of Serpencs, and orher formidable Crearures, and another of fome other thing that his confufed diftracted Imagination prefented at that time. Thefe Phanaticks mult fure make very pretty Company rogether, while every Man was relling his own Story, and excring thofe Paffions, with sheir feveral Apprchenfions of the Objects that were prefented excited in them. No doubt there was 2 grear deal of varicry in that kind, and as much noife and bufter too amongit them; for thofe thar fanfied the Devil by them, could nor bur run away from him, and the reft that were concompaffed with venomous Bcafts to be fure did not ftand ftill. Any Man thar fould have come and found them in this Condition(nor fufpecting it to be the Effect of fucha Caufe as'twas "muft have thought Auarillatalca to be cither a Recepracle of mad People, or ar leaft to be haunred with fomething worfe. How they came to be Kober again they don'r tell us, whether by the ufe of any fort of Remedies, or whether the Diftemper went off of it felf. They don't give us neither any defcription of this Fruit, or the Tree, or Shrub that bears it, thatother People might learn how to know and avoid it;all which is fo very grois a Nieglect ( that becaufe'tis more Charity to impure it to Diftraction than to Ill Narure) wee'll Guppofe they did not recover the uruc Ufe of their Wirs as long asthey were there, but carried the Relicks of the Madnels away with them.
The next place rhey came to was Patane; and here Duathm (whether mad or fober ) they found very kind Enter-a Fetmy ainmens, and had the Grant of a: Factory from the Pua Queen of this place. They heard here likewile thar their Men takenat Mincao were moft of them execuredand Yent Prioners to Goa; for 'twas the Portugueze had ferv'd them that trick, tho they fufpected the cbinefe to have fome hand in it.
At Paranic they rell us are ufed the Malayar, Cbinefe, and Siamefe languages; the. Malnyan fomething refembling the Arabick the Sirmefe like Europect: Characters, the Cbinef much more intricate than either, and" to be read from the right-band downwards, wherein it agrees with the \(\mathfrak{F}\) aponc \(/ e^{*}\) :
The Laws of this Counory are very fevere in cafe of \({ }^{*}{ }^{5}\) saris \(\mathrm{C}_{1}\) Adnltery, punifhing any Trelpafs of thar kind winh cer-vorge tain Dearh. The Offenders are ia one refpedt their own Pmom, in Jodges, for they condemn chemfelves to what Death they prodida pleale; and cheir Paremss are cheir Executioners, and have it herebs in their Power mo make their Suffrings as eafie and fayourable as they can be., Tho' 'tis a cruel/thing of a Pledge or Affurance for his.fafe Return; but Law to the Parents that obliges them to do this Office to their own Children; if the. Principles of nazural Affection and Tendernefs are any thing ftrong in them they muft offer horrible Violence ta themfelves; and endure more Pain and Mifery than thofe whom they execure.

\section*{Chap. XLI. Warwick's añd Weert's Vōages, & ¿̌c.}
But as rigid and ftrict as the Law is againft Adultery, it tolerates Fornication with a great deal of care and paticnce. There's nothing of this nature lookich after or regarded, 'tis no Crime in the Country, -nay, 'tis an eftablified Cuftomamongtt them, for every Man this way to take his full literty. Common Wonich are offer'd to Strangers that come hirher to do their houmold Work by Day; and öther Offices ar Night, so drefs their Victuals, make their Beds,and when chey have done, to lie in them. The Duech to highly commend their Entertainment at this place, that twoulat make one guchs. thefe Pasat Doetroffes had the mana gement of fome of chem; and by the gentle agrceable Merhods of their Arh, mighr help so cure them of their Diftraction.
They report one thing of the Siamefe that leoks wery odd and ftrange-;-which is, that they weat two or three Silver Balls faftned inco the Fleh of the Pudenda, and thefeare fometimes as big as a Tcmnis Ball; this they obferved at Patane
The Country about this place they fay is very fruit ful and Pleafanc. The Woodsäreftored with wild Beatts and Fowl ; their Turdes are adomed with fince colour'd Feathers like Parrots, thicir Gëefe and Ducks lay them Eggstwice a Day.
Onc of the moft common forts of Bcalts amongit them the Wild, by raming them out into the Woods whe catch they prefendy begin a Batrle with them; and to when both are clorely engaged and faftned together by the Teeth, the Men that lie near at hand, provided with Ropes, make the Wild oncs Prifoners.
This is che laft Account we hatc of the Affirfatiob fervations of thefe Durch Ships, which wo may fuppofe from hence to have fet fail for Holland.

To go on yet farther with the Endearours of this Na Abraftert tion at a Forcign Trade, we thall confider the Fleet fe duysili: ro outunder thic Command of WFrland Warmick Admiral, be far ino and Selarit de Wecrs, Vicc-Admiral. It confifted of ta iran pors Ships, the Maurice of 400 Tun, the Holland 350, the Naffap 340 , the Sun 280, the Mioon 250, the Star 130, the Parro:-2 Pinnace of 25 , all thefe by the Merchants of Amfterdam ; then three Ships of Fcland, one of 400 Tun, the Fiufoing 25n, the Goofe 140; two Ships by the Enchufeners, the Hedge 220, the Virgin 175; two Saips o Roaterdem, the Erafmus 250, thie Roctcrdan So. Twas actermined that fome of thefe Ships Mould go to Achen and Corion, Lome to the Molucces, fome to Cbinia, and laftly others to their old Eriends the Baneamef. The pecnders began the Voyage, ferring out threc Mondh before the rett of the Flect; the others followed in \(7 u n c\) 1602, reaching Achen the fucceeding March, where they found the Ships of Clland. They thate were appointed for Ceglom, lefr the reft to their furure Grod Fortunes, after fome time of ftay there, and went away themfelves for that Inand. 'Twas De IFicre, the Vicc-Admiral's Province so go thither; ard thole that confider the Cir cumitances of Spilbergcon's Entcrininincar as that place, will cafily grans, thar his Counry-men had reafon cnough to hope for Suscefs and Good Treatment.
When this Perfon came to Cande, he was receired into the Ciry with no lefs than Kingly Pomp and Triumph; half aMilc long Citizens made a Lane for him to pals half aMile longeand all the while the grearGuns wereroaiing, the martialMufick founding, and the Pcople hollowing, to that twas impoffible for one Man to hear another Lpeak. Being come to the Palice, he found the King ready to receive him, tefore whom whent he fell down on his Knees according to the Cútom, tic wis prefencly taken up in a very gentle manner, and defired to hear the King's Queftions, which were concerining his Country and Bufinefs in the Ifland of Ceglon. De Wert quickly fatisfied there Demands, efpecially the former, by pointing to Prince Maurice's Picture that hung there, which Spilbergen had given the King, telling him he belong'd to the Country that was governed by that Prince. And they all expreffed a great deal of Sarisfaction at hearing him ay 10, for chey were in forme donbr of him, and had placed that Picture there on puipole to try if he knew is and by thar means rafind out fomething of the rruth of Spilbergens Relation
But the King enquired next, how he durft adventure fofar intorle Coumy of his own aiccord, wishour any DeWeert, who did. not pretend to fulpect the King : but nerolity and Kindnefs \(\xi 0\) the Dut \(\sigma\), and knowing he perfect hatred to the Purtupuezci made him fenfble how recure he thaugh himfelf in his Majefties Dominions without any of chofe Formalitics.

This Rerurn pleared the King, and heexprefled agreat king of \(c_{\text {at }}\) deal of Indignation anainft the Portugueze; nay, fome- and \(^{2}\) Propoime after in a private Conference, he rold \(0=\) IVEert, that for 1 Him f the Dutch, with their Ships would undertake to preven ifith the pe the coming of Supplies from fior the would fall upon the \({ }^{\text {ingmein }}\) Partupuc⿹弔㇒ here in Coylon with an Army of 20000. Men. And for the Reward of this picce of Service, he .would. give them allthe Caftles and Forts he took in that War and befides, all the Trate of the-Ifland fould be rum'd Overinto their Hands. De EFFerr received feveral Tokens of this Prince's Favour ta himiclf in patricular, amongt the reft a noble Bowl of Goid, which he made bis young Daughter drink to him in, and afterwards prefent him with; and ac his geing away gave him 2; Quintals of Cimnamon, and is of Pepper, and a very honourable Convoy to his Ships. Acparting:coo-he-told-lim,-that f his Son the Prince werc old enough, he would fend pline into Hollend to have his Education in Marcial Difci pline under Prince Maurice; and shus De Witert went away from Collon with evcry whir armuch Good Forrune as Spillergen haci cone before hina, both as to the Publicis and his own private Advantages.
From hence he failed back again to Achern, where he told thele Propofals of the King of Canac to his Countre Men, and carnetly pertivaded them: to traike in with the prefent favourable Cpportunity of driving the Portuquene our of that Ilanid. lhe King of Achich was mightily pleafed with the Project tro, and encouraged the Durch by all the Moti:csin the World to fer upon it ous of hand, and nor lofe any time in a Bufinefs of fuch a Confe guence.

So afrer fome Confularion aroongo themfives, they concladed is thould belo, and a Fleer be prefently fent ous a Ficra of to affift the King of Cende in his Defign. Accordingly Conlom fix. Ships of War with a Pinnace were difpatched 9 along with which went an Embaffadour of the King of acher's for Cande, to fpur on that Prince in his prefent Under taking againft the Porturucize. The Duccib being landed marched with their Forces to Matocale, the King of which place was civil to them all other ways, only he would nor fell them any Beeves or Buffals for ProviGon which they cxrrcamly wanted; and this nor our of any Enmity or III Will, but from a Scruple of his Religion, which forbid the cating of any of thofe Creatiurcs. And that edere the Dutch oughe to have complicd; and (as a plentiful a place would cafily have fupplicd them with other Necellarics that might have. \{erved) fo they hould wather hare been consened with meaner Refrefhmencs, ry, by making ufe of their Catrel for thar of the CounComofor them it fecms did chis ; they gor pompofe. Bur The Peopia Killed of them, which made a terrible gor fome Kine and coraged at Nalled shem, which made a tcrrible uptoar amongt the the Dntch Nadres' and as highly incenfed the Kint when in came for killing to his Ear. He rold them 'rwas a worfe outrage chan Wre the Pritugutac had comaitred amongft them, and hat it would not be born thicre; and 'rwas a long finte before they could perfwade him (with all their Promifor of better Conduct fre the future) to mediare berwife the People androcm, and calm their fury. However at laft with much ado'twas done, and the King and People both fecmingly quieced; bue 'twas a dangerous Enterprile, and the Durch, whoknew how tender they were in that point, ought not to have tried their Patience in-khar manncr, nor run luch a rifque as they did by provolating hem. Tis true, thic realon of this Probibition itsasfill and ridiculous as any thing can be; the Natives tifon have thicir Cattel killed, that the Souls of them may be kept out of Hell', whither they believe they will go, if they art difparch'd in a violent maniner ; bus others thar elieve this to be crer fo foolifh, in Pruderice are nor to go upon their own Hypothefis of the Impertinence of this, and the Realonablepels of the contrary, atid fo laughter the Catte becaufe they know they: have. either no Souls to loóc, or none that will be damn'd: for whe ther they have or no, the other party is certainly perwaded of the truth of it, and therefore will as cerizinly ook upon thofe char fhed the Blood of thent to have oone all the fame Iajury that they could be imagined to have done, if the Opinion of the future flate of thofe Creatures were crerio well grounded.
The King of Cande having now cticamped with his Army at Manacrawiari, fent ro the Dutco here at Matecalo o come round with their Ships to Puriso de Galle, which he intended firt of all tolay tiege zo. The Duteb wocord

万urch rake
four good partwge Ships.
ingly put out to Sea; to kecp Guard that way, while the King diftretid the Encmy' alhore. And tho' no Ships of War came from Gior, to be a Prey ar this rime to the Dutch Flect, yer fome other good Ships of theirs came within their reach, four of which they rook; and this more to grarifie the King of Cande, than for any real Profir the Lading of them was capable of affording.

They fent away two of thefe Ships with all the Prifoners in them; bur whether they fold them their liberty, or exchanged them only for Dutci) Prifoners, is uncertain; howerer, this Action highly difpleas'd the King of Cende, who tis poxible expected they fhould have been all fent to him, tho" we find no fuch Condition brought into the Agrament.

Quickly after this, the Vice Admimal theert landed wish a Parry of 200 Men, so have fome Conference with the King, and at his Requeft fent back the beft part of his Men to the Ships again, while himfelf only with a fmall Recinue, artended dhe King's Pleafurc. Happy had it been for them, if they had all gone back, or ftaid to gether, to havemade the betrer Oppofition to the Violence
De Wierr and his Mci cut oft by the crade muriher'd the Vice-Admiral, with all or moft of his K. of sande. Company : An Action as vile and barbarous, as 'ris unaccountable, and the Reafon of it uncertain.

Whether the killing of the Cattle fuck yer in their Sto machs or no, and this Sacrifice of Men went for that of Beafts; or whecher 'twere only in Revenge of the Difmiffion of the Poituyncec Prifoners; upori cither of which Accounts 'twas highly unjuft, and the Durch defery'd no fuch Treatment at his hands.

Some fay, that De wicerr, in his Difcourfe with the King, forgot the duc Meafures of Refpect owing to his Character, and carricd it with fomething of Infolence (at leaft unbecoming Boldnefs) towards him.
Others fay, that the King fufpected fome treacherous Dcfign, and was apprchenfive chat a Plor was laid to betray him, and carry him off in their Ships ; and fo took this courfe as well to prevent his own Captivity, as to punifh thofe that had prefumid to contrive in

Which of all there Stoxies is the true one, is uncertain; but this laft does not fcem very probable: For if the Dutcb had raken the King Prifoner, it muft be fupposid to be in order to the poricfing themfelves of his Kingdom. Now had they form'd any fuch unjuft Defign as that, chere had been cafier and lefs chargeable Methods to have accomplifh'd it than chis. For rhis Action to be fure would exanperate the Nativesto che laft degree, and make them take up Arms with one Confent all over the Illand, againft fuch Invaders; fo that the Dutch could nor be conceiv'd to cone in, but upon the Foundation of an abfolüre Conqueft, nor fir quictly there till they had reduc'd all into complete Subjection. But had they improv'd the Favour of that Prince, as they might have done, upon his permiffion of their Settlement in the Illand, they might have encroach'd and gor ground ripon him by degress; and while they fare fhrowded under the Protection of his Wings, have taken any fit Opportunitics to work him out, and fix themfelves in the fure and certain poferfion of his Country. And by fuch a gradual proceeding the People had been much lefs alarm'd and ronz'd up to ftand in their own defence : Perhapstbey might have been won over by forie Arrifices proper to be ufed on fuch occafions; and by thismeans the Bufinefs had been done, and yet all the Danger and Expence of the Method of Conquct avoided.

As for the King himielf, he prefertly fent word to the \({ }_{x}\) Durch Eleet whar he had done to their Commander; and writern that that he alledged in his own Juftification was, That Doctr bone De Weert had behaved himfelf very rudely in his pre- atryinpoas fence, and pretended in a very pofitive manner to offer him Terms, which he muft accept, or refufe, at his peril. But as for their parts, the King promis'd ro confirm all that was formerly agreed upon, and to be the fame in his Carriage towards them as he was beforc, provided they wouk perform cheir parr, and help him to take the Forts of the Porruguczc. But the Dutcls excus'd themfelves, not caring to putany farther Truft in a Prince that had fo deceiv'd chem : He mult now go on with bis War by himfelf for them, and make the bect of his Uniderraking againt the Portuguçc; who to be fure were not a little glad that the King had obliged them fo far in breaking with the Durch.
From hence they went back to Achen again, and then Dumg to Daruc, an Ifland near Sumatra: While chey lay hereantion fin bour, they took divers Portugueze Prizes; and when that Sport was over, they faild to Macaffar. And now. they had no fix'd Trade to rake them up, and to did norhing bur wander about: For from hence they yent to \(\mathcal{F c r}\), and there they adilted that King againft the Porturucic.
This Service being over, thej vifited Patene (a place well known to fome of their Countrumen, thar weie'cu red of their Madnes there), aid from thence to Bansam, and to home:
Thus hare we fecn the laft iffue of their Ceylon Affairs; the unhappy Conclufion that follow'd the moit fortunate and favourable Beginnings that ever veere in the World: The Acquaintance was bur of a litele ftanding ; bur'twas well improv'd for the time, and promis'd very great things, but perhaps no greater than would have becn performd, if their good Luck had not had this fad and fudden Turn given to it. But thus uncertainly, and without warning, does che Scene change in this World; and ro imporible is it for any Perfon, or People, to keep their Station, when the Critical Moment of their Deftiny comes on.

Dacomber.

WVE are yet to proceed fome Removes been given from thence to them at Goa, that they were to farther, in our Enquiry into the Progrefs of the Dutch Enst-Indicn Trade. A. D. 1603 , in December, a Fleet of twelve Ships fee fail under che Command of Secphen Verbagen. Having doubled che Cape of Good Hope, inftead of Gailing directly towards the East-Indies, they went along the Coaft of Africk, and made up to Mozambiguc, which place they had propos'd to iffault. Here they came to an Anchor clofe by the Caftle, and in fpite of all the Potugucac Forces, took feveral of their Ships thar lay abour the Harbour: Bur the Grand Defign of all did nor fucceed; the Portugueze were too well forificd there, to be beat out at that time; and the Dutch, with all their Skill and uimoft Endeavours, could nor accomplifh any thing confidérable towards the difpoffefing of them.
They met with the like Difappointment too when they came with cheir Fleet before Goa; the Enemy was ready to receive Them, and had made fuch Provifion againft - their cominin, that nothing was in Prudence to beattempted. All things were in fuch order, that ir look'd as if the
-
expect a Vifirif from the Dutch
Thus baffed and fruftrated of their Hopes, they Gaild from thence down the Malabor Coaft, purting in at Cinas of, ner and Calecut, in the Samorine's Dominions. They treated with chis Prince abour Trade, and came ro an A - Tro greement with him, which was drawn up in Writing, woftimith and ratified with all the ufual Solemnities.
Upon this Coaft they had a Fighr with the Porturgueze; bur fuch a one, as 'tis probable, the little advantage, or elfe che grear los goiten by it, might incline them to forbear giving any particular Accounst to the World of thar marter.
From hence fome of them went to \(C\) andoga, and the reft to Cochin; they artempred nothing ait this place neiifher: and if they had laid any Plor for the furprize of is they did not think fir to try to pur it in erectrion is whey For the fame Reafon, that they forbore doing lo. at \(\bar{y}\) sem Goa.
Thir next Vifit was ra Bantam (a place where tey Adixumd were furre of Trade and Receprion) and from were fure of Trade and Receprion), and. From thence wo kudteris Ainboina *, the Conqueft of which later place was the fiki.2

Crown-

\section*{Chap. XLII.}

\section*{An Account of the reft of the Dutch Voyages, down to the time of their firf Pretenfons to Sovereignty and Property, at the Banda iflands.}

Crowning Work of all the Voyage hitherto. The Portugueze had not the good Luck to be handfomely provided for them here; or if they were, Fortune and tavourable Succefs were wancing; for they were ofliged to go ous, and leare the Vietorious Dutch their places.

When this Action was over, the Admiral; Ieer Hagen, \(^{2}\) went away to rbé, Batoda Ifes; buý fífe Ships of thé Fleet were difpatch'duto Tydorc. There was more: Work to be done ar thar plake againft, the Porruitueze', and Forcune that had fawn'd upon them ar. Amboinn, had given them intouragement fohope for che continuance of her kindnefs ar the Molucci's. And the did nor deceive them, nor their Hactering Hopes draw then into a Snare, bur to s. more noble and fplendid Triumphs. All things now feem'd to confpire for their Felicity and Glory, and the aggrandizing as much as was potibic) the Intereft and Charatete they had already gorten in thore parts of the World. The Rortuguezemade a brave and bold Reffitance at Ty dore defpistit the Summons the Dutch Yent them to furrender, and laughd ar the ralk of a WhiteFlag.
But thete is a time when all the Valour, Caution, and robd Conduct in the World will prove fruitlefs and infignificant: Vertue and Bravery muft yield to the unalteraDucb win ble taws of Fare, as well as Impotence and Cowardice, and the Taity that bids cver fo fait for Victory and Succels; 25 often run down by anocher thar has no Titte ar all finefs, they deferv'd perhaps to have carried the Day, and kepr their Poft; but the Dutch, were folucky as to get both from them. They fought well ; but that's no Guard againt unforefecn, and unthought of Accidents, Couragè may kecp an Enemy out of the Gates, but'twon't keep a Foit or a Caftle from being blown up, where a Firebrand falls amongft a parcel of Gunpowder. 'Twas this thatruin'd the Portuguczes, they were nor fo much beat our, as \(\square\) blown our of the Caftlc of Tydore ; indeed, a good part of the Caftle ic felf, and of the Men too; wereborh blown away; and to \(b c\) fure this would put an end to the Siege. In fhort, this Stroke was the Confufion of their whole Affairs at the Molucca's, they had now no footing in any Inland all thereabour, but at solor only.
X.of Tmne- The King of Tydorc food by and faw this Tragedy; taup phe but could do nothing towards the prevention of the mile Hatsof of him rable Conclufion of it: For his old Friend, the King of bleant hep Ternare (who affifted the Hollanders in the Enterprize) was frop intw. ready with a Flect of fourtecn Coracoras, and near 2000 Men, to have fallen upon him," if he had ftirid in the matter.
Thus the Intereft of Holland adranc'd and rife, and that of Spain and Portugrl went down in thele Parts of the World, 'Tis trac, the King of Spein was horribly nettidaris, and made feveral fevere Decrecs againft the Derch this Year, and ftriat Prohibitions of all Trade and Dealing with chem, in every part of his Dominions: But what fignificd all thar Noife and Raving? And to whar purpofe is it to ftorm and threaten, without power to execurc? The more the Fox was cursd, the better he thrives; and the gnod Fortune of the Dittch increas d upon them, while the Courr of Spein: was prating for their Suscefs the
* AD 160 , backward way. For'rwas bur thic fame * Year, that they Sent our a Flect under Admiral Marlicf, who was commanded by the Stares to bring as many of the Indian Princes, as was fodible, into the Grand Confederacy againft the lorturuce:, that their Defign againt Malacera might be carried on with all defirable Advanrages. And here how far they diftrefs'd the Porruguezr, and whar Spoil they made of them, has becn already xelared in another - Sec M. place.
hat 1 pon with grear Succefs; the Emperor gave them Encouragement, and leave to fetule a Factoty thete; and 'tis reported, that they brought from thence in one Voyage no lefs than 40 Tun of Gold. Thefe fapan Voyages we have but little Account of, and therefore they mult be thus briefly passta over.
Nexr to Mcelief, with his Fleer of cwelve Ships, went our* the Admiral, Paul van Carle, winh cighr mores and "AD ico6. he was* quickly: followed by ferjeuf; with a Fleer of thir- - A.D. 1607. teén Sail. Bothrthele Commanders attack'd the Porturueze at Mozambique', tho' the larcer (Verbiuf) did it with the moft Succefs. He forc'd them to leave the Town, and Thut up chemfelves in the Câtle, Bá that was impregnable, and would not yield to his fercelt Affauls. \({ }^{\text {Bin }}\) But he infulted them afierwards thamefully:az Goc, and did mema a vaft deal of Mifchief all along the Manhar Coaft; taking feveral of thcir Ships, burning oohers, and killing many of their choice and prime Officers.
\({ }^{\text {Ha }}\) He had berrer Luck than tran Caille too, in his Conceras with the Samorine of Celecus; for they were then ar the Charge of a Prefent to that Prince; but could not come afhore to him, by reafon of the ftrong Guard of Portiugucae Gallies thar then hay there; befodes, they were not cortain of being fecure from Treacher:. Bur Verfecuf found the Coaft clear, and had all the Entcrainmeat in the World; the Samorine fent out his Mcr a Hunting on purpore, and prefented the Durch with forty grear Boars.
From hence they wentand vifited the King of for, their Friend and Ally; and baving dönc thic like to them at bu'f having fuinmon'd the Orankayes, or Stares of the INes together, sead Prince Maurice's Lerters so them, in Tine origital which rwas defired, That the Durcb might have Liberty of the erest to erect a Foxt or Caftle amongft them; not at all with Connerverich any Defign to encroach upon them, bur to fecurc the berwern the Inands from thic daring Artempts of the Portuguezs, who Bundanefe. might be expected to come thither and vifir thein.
This Propofal fer them all in an Uprore; and had it nor been for the Terror of the Ships with their great Guns, they had then cutcheir Throats for making it. However they fiffed their Refentments ar prefens, and having conKulted amongit themfelves, gave anfwer, That \(V\) Vrbsuf fhould go aboard again now ; but after three Days were pals'd, they would come ro a pofitive Conclufion. And they concluded in the Negative with one Voice and Conrent, telling the Dutch, they thould build no Fort there.: But they being refolved xight or wrong to have one, immediatcly fell upon the Baudancfe, and fought orie Bartle with them, the very fame Evening that thicy gave the Denial.

The Bendancf, "tis to be fuppos'd, liaving tiad the worft on'r, and fcaring themfelves too weak to hold our in fuch a Difpure with the Dutch, carse and craved a Ceffation of Arms for three or four Davs: Bur this would not be granted, the other was perfectly inflesibic, and would hear of nothing bur a prelent acceptance of their Girt Propofal. E'pon this the Bandencfe yiclded to their Fare; the Forr mult be built, and funce the Dutely faid is Thould, it was in vain for them no fay it thould noc.

Bur this pur them upon that *harp Revenge which - Seectpe. they afterwards took, to the Deftruction of Verbsuf, and Keting's. all his Compan:- And cyer after. this, tlicre was a con- Yoyase, iib.2: tinual Heart-burning berween the Dutch and them; there was indeed fometimes Pcace between them, bur 'rwas ne-ver fteddy and cortain, bur often-interrupted with the Confufions of open War, and horrid Depredations upon one another. The old Spiecn remain'd on both gides; and as the Dutch ftill remembred the killing of the Admiral, fo the Bandene/c did the building of the Fort.

Their ocher Proccedings at chefe Iflands we have an Account of in our own lournals: So that here we fiall conclude the Accounr of their Affairs:

\section*{C& ap. XLIIL}

\section*{A Colletion of Rules and Directions for tbe Ealt-India Navigations : Taken out of the Obfervations of fome of our Englifh Sailors of great Experience; particularly Mr. John Davis, of Lime-Houfe, who made fre of thofe Voyages bimjelf.}

Loxip. Com\begin{tabular}{l}
puctirotid \\
Lizard \\
\hline
\end{tabular}

I\(N\) this Account it is firft of all to be noted, thar the Longitude is compured from the Meridians of the lizard, and the Cape of Good Hope; in fome parts of the Voyages, from the one Meridian, and in others from the other; but as far as the Cape Das Aguillas they reckon from the Meridian of the Lizard. This pre mis'd, they give us thefe following Oblervations relating to Navigation and Geography: And firft of all conceming Places lying between the Lizard and St. Auguftine's Bay, upon the life of St . Lampence.
Cape Einiffer Cape Finifterre, in Gallicin, has 43 Degr. 20 Min . N \(L\) and 2 Degr. 36 Min . Long- ro the W .
10: Lamerro Long. s Degr. 24 Min. W: and the Var. 6 Dcgr. 6 Min from N. to E. You may be pofitively fure that you are N.N.E. from the faid flland, when being in the Lat of 33 Degr. 30 Min. you happen to hare \(s\) Degr. 20 Min. Var. The Grand Canay, Lat. 27 Degr. 40 Min Long. 6 Degr. 30 Min. W. Var. 6 Degr. from N. to E
Nore. So alfo here, when you are in the Lat. of 30 Degr. 30 Min. and have ac any time s Degr. so Min. Var, you may conclude that you have the Grand Canary S. and by W. from you.
iacs. Mam. The Ine of Sr. Mary, which is the Eaftermort of the Az̈res, Lar 37 Degr. Long 14 Degr. W: Var. 1 Degr. 40 Min. from N , to E .
When you are coming homewards from the Indies, and make Lar. 30 Degr. 30 Min . and Vara 5 Degr. and would feechefe Inands in your Courfe, you may go N. E. for St. Mary; bur the betrer way is to go more Northerly, and fo you fhall be fure nor to mifs fome of them: For the Var. is much upon that rate in the N. E. Courfe, till you come in with'the toands.
Saline.
The.Ife Sal, one of the Cape di Verds, Lat. ro Degr 30 Min. Long. 12 Degr. 12 Min. Var. 3 Degr. 32 Min.
\(\qquad\) are in the midway, between Cape Verd it felf, and thefe lllands that bear its Name, that you hare then 2 Degr. 15 Min. Var. to the Eaftward, and the nearer you come to the main Land, the lefs you find the Var.
As for the Winds, you may cbicrec, that if che Tornadoes don't meet with you before you come into \(s\) Dear. N. Lar. that there you fhall be fure so have fome Blafts from them

And in order to pals the Equinoctial, ufe all the Endearours that may be to ger frec from thefe troublefome Winds; bur yet manage your Ship fo, that you may be \(^{2}\) but S. by E. or S. S.E. from Maiolne: For whercas you may imagine, that your much going over to the Ealtward may be a help to you, when you fand over with the genoral Wind, you'll find no more in that Courfe, than that it rakes up \(\alpha\) great deal of time to very little purpofe Farcher, when you are in 2 or 3 Degr. N.L. and have the. Wind'at S.S. E. be fure to ftand away with ir : For if you can'but cut the Line in 10 Degr. Long. You fhall then have 6 Degr. to Min. Var. from N. to E. and fo thall feel neither the E.S.E. Current, nor the N. W. and by W. Current that fers over to the We:st-Indies. Bur if the Wind does hinder you much, you need not bec afraid to pafs the Line in 14 Degr. Long. where you will find 6 Degr. 45 Min. Var. and hai ing paft is, 'tis beft to make your way to the Sourhward as speedily as may be: Only if the Wind beat E. or E. N. E. as many times it' is, 'rwill not be advifable to go more Eaftward, than S. E. and by E. becaufe if you do, you mall find the Wind at S. E. and S.S.E. and it will certainly bring you down to your South Courfe again: This will be the effect on'r; tho' you have Ipent as much time abour ir, as wo Id have carried you (in your South Courfe) without the Tropick, into the way of the variable Winds, which is in 26 or 28 Degr. And when your Ship is brought into the variable Winds way, ir cannor be long before you have a flcur to get up to the Cape of Good Hope.
you Chall have is Degr. Var. and more, to the Weltward r4. By which Oblervations 'twill alfo be manifeft. between the Tropicks there's no certain Merhod or Ordet of Eaftering and Weftering, as there is without them, as may befeen ar the Ine Fermand de Loronbr, where you have \({ }^{2}\) Degr. S. L: Long. 19 Degr. 10 Min. W. Var. 8 Degr 10 Min. from N. to E.
The Inand of Sc. Helena is in i6 Degr. S. L. and Long from the Lizard 4 Deg. 30 Min : E. and from the Cape of Good Hope 23 Degr. 30 Min . W.: The Variation is there 7 Degr. 30 Min. from N. to E. Tis ane of the beft IIfints in the Ocean for good Refreltiment, a healthy Air arid a convenient Road. The Road is open to the N. W. Fide, and right before the Chapel you may ride from 12 to 7 Fathom, good Ground, and no danger bur what you fee along the Shore.
If you have a mind to fee the Ihand St. Helinn, rememb berithar you have theWind always at S. E. or thereabourt Nare of and thexefore keep in the Latirude of 16 Degr. 10 . Min or is Degr. and run Weft upon that heighr, and youcan. not mifs ir: And this Cource you may purfue-boldly, either by Day or Night; cfpecially 'ris certain', that in yous Courfe from the Cape of Good Hope, there's no Srream nor Current that can do you any prefudice ; for the S.E Wind will take you abour 30 Degrees, and fomerimes oonct, and carry you to the Northward of the Equinoctial.
At Soldania Bay you have 28 Degr. Longitude E. and 30 Min. Variation from N. to E. The Land is all high stanim and fo is eafily known; but commonly when you com from the Wetward "tis dark and foggy abour it, fo thar you fliall fee the Breach of the Shore, before you can cometo make ir confiderably. The worft Winds for this Road are from the N. W. to the N. E. Berwcen the Noted Coalt of Brafite and this Road, the Variation is 20 Degr varbem Sonthward, but themore to the Southward the more Va- stumand riarion. and to the Northward the lefs. Bur the higheft cruerfous Variation of all is in Lat. S. 33 Degr. 30 Min. for there \({ }^{\text {Hip }}\) you have \(2 r\) Degr. Variation from North to Eaft, and Long. 7 Degr. 30 Min. Now oblerve, that when you are come into it Degr. Variacion (fuppofing you take is righr), it may pals for a Rule, thar you are 330 Leagues mort of the Land; and you may eftablifh it as a Merthod of Computation for the Diftance upon this Principle, al lowing after the rate of 30 or 28 Leagues to a Degree: And you will find it to give you a crue Account of your approach to the Land.

Coney 1 lland, in Lar. 33 Degr. 27 Min . has bad Ground about it, and on theWeft-fide a dangerousLed ge of Rocks, cmiluod lying off it to the Seawards; bur a Ship may go fafety cnough berween it and the Main, the Shoarbeing all.along ree from any danger but what may be eafily difcern'd.
Chriman's Chance, Lat. 34 Degr. 10 Min. a very Giqma good Harbour, lafe Riding and good Ground : A Ship chame may come away from hence, with a Wind thar will not er: cher to come from Soldania.
Cape Fallfo has no Variation difcoverable by Obferva-cipe futi ions made South from ir: . Whercas at the Cape of Good capeof \({ }^{\text {g }}\) Hope 'ris 25 Minures from North to Eaft ; and ar Cape das Agurllas, 'ris 30 Minutes from Norch to Weft. The Cpe De knowledge of the Ground and Depths hereabouts, will tswila he a great help to you, when you can'r oblerve either the aritude or Variation: And therefore "tis worth remen rance, that at feven or eight Leagues diftance from the and, when you are to the Eaftward of Cape das Aguilles, you have from 70 to 40 Fathom black fandy Ground up on your land, and this for a matier of 100 Leagues; bu to the Weftward of it you have deep Water, and all ozie, by the diligent Oblervation of which Remarks you may know in dark Weather, how the Iands are from jou and how to hale in with the Cape of Good Hope.
In all Voyages the great care ought to be about fetrling Bencirio the Point of the Variation well and fure; for 'ris by this the ver. help that you muft be able to make a true Judgment of the influence and force of Currents, which are very uncertain cill you are come up to have feven or eight Degr. Variation : But afrer you have had fo much as this, you are out of all danger of Currents, if you be biound Eaftward; for all the Tides and Streams do fer between that ftared Term of Variation before-mention'd, and the Cape des Aguillas.
Again, whatever your Variation be under 7 or \(8 \cdot \mathrm{Degr}\). obferve whether it alters or no between the Cape das \(A\) ruillas; and where ir comes to that ftated number of 7 or 8 Dcgr. whether or no it alters (I fay), fuppofing your Ship 位s to the Ealtward; if it docs not, you may be fure thar your Reckoning of it was wrong, for 'ris a Rule fufficiently juftificd by Experience, that the Variation does increafe at the sate of 29 or 30 Leagucs to the life of St. Latronce.
Nore, By Leagues is here meant, not the Leagues of the Courfe you fail by, but Leagues of Eaftering from the Mcridians; when you have gone 29 or 30 Leagues in this relpect, you thall find a change of a Degr. Variation, whercas upon another Courfe the allowance of Leagues muft be different; as for inftance: If you fail N. E: and by E. you thall have 36 Leagues for \(1:\) Degr. of Longitude; or Eaftersng, which will alter & Degr. Variation: And ler it be raken Notice of befides, that the Rule before deliver'd of the change of the Variation between the Coast of Ifrick and thar of Brafle, does allo hold from Cape Aguilhs, and Sc. Lanprence Eaftward, viz. that the more Northward your Courfe is, the more Variarion ftill you have, and the more Southward the lefs; the Rule is plain, and needs no Examples (of which chere are enough) to make it clcarer than 'tis.
In is allo as fure a Rule, that from the Cape of Goed Hope to \(\mathcal{F}\) ava, the Variation increafos to the Weft, the farther Eaft you run, till it comes to a matter of 17 Degr. and then as you run to the Eaftward your Variation decreafes: And thus it holds on decreafing, till you come to the Streights of Sunde, where you have bue \(32_{2}^{1}\) Degr. Variation. This we reckon the beft and moft anproved Rule for Eaftering and Weftering, tho ar the fame time is does nor always oblerve an exact proportion.
Sintios to St. Augufin,e's River upon the lle of St. Lemrence, beSmulsisit. in ing in fome Repure for a Warering-place, you mult raike this Courfe in order to find it. Seek the Land in the Lat. 24. Degrees 20 Minures (for \(&\) Degrec higher there's Rocks and Shoals thar are dangerous), and here meddling nor wish the Variation, ftecr N. and N. by E. as Difcretion will guide you by the Land, and coming along the Shore in 27 Degrecs ro Minutes, you fhall fee a Head-land having on ir a tound Hill of white Sand like a Caftle, from Hence hold on the fame Courfe as before, without fear of any danger, till you fee the tales and Shoals before the Bay: And now you hall have before you, in the Country, a Profpect of two rifing High-lands, between which the River lies. When you come with the IAes and Shoals, and will go to the Northward of them, you may be bold in feren "Fachom; that is, if you will" only loof in by them, and not rome to an Anchor, which 'ris not fafe to do, becaule of the badnefs of the Ground : 'Tis betrer to hale E. up for the Channel, which comes from the River, where you have Ozy Ground alnng by the Main, and deep Warer roo, till you come faft by the two forc-mention'd Hills; here you may chufe your Riding from 20 to 4 Fachom.
This River has Latirude 23 Degrees 35 Minntes, Longitude \(23^{\circ}\) Degrecs 20 Minutes, E. Variation 14 Degrecs 50 Minutes from N. to W.
Cape St. Scbaftian has Latitude 25 Degrees 45 Minutes, Crs Sta. Longirude 25 Degrces, Variation 16 Degrees 40 Minutes from N. to W. The Refreming-place is calld Sc. Lucir, and if lies on the S. E. Fide, in the Latitude of 24 Degrees, and affords Ships a rery fecure and agreeable Riding. This Character is chicfly owing to the Obfervation of the Dutch; who pretend to have had Expericnce of it; and if it befo, it muft be much more convenient for Ships bound up or down, than St . Ausufine's River, becaufe it lies upon the Head of the Inand.
The Ine of St. Mary, on the Eaft-fide of St. Lamprence, has Latitude 16 Degrees 30 Minutes, Longitude E. 31 Degress, Variation 19 Degrees so Minutes, from \(A \mathbb{N}\) to
W. Ar the Ine of Raque Pize, you have Latitude in Degr.
Longitude 41 Degr. Variation the higheft and greareft. Longirude 41 Degr . Variation the highet and greatent.
23 Degr .30 Min . And tis oblervable, that S. from this place (as near as can be judged by feveral Trials made going up and down), there is likewife the Variation rifing ftill higher and higher.
The dangerous Shoals calld Biaxos das Clanfas, have Latitude 6 Degr: Longirude 53 Degr. 36 Min. E. Variation 19 Degr. 50 Min . from N. to W.' The bett way to avoid the danger, is to keep the thands thar lie amongt them S.S. W. from you: But 'tis ro be remembred, that thefe Shoals are put down falfe in the common Plars.
To carry on the fame Obfervations ftill farther into the Maldive Eaftern Parrs : In the Maldivion Channel you have 17 Degrees Variation: As the Cape Comori you have i6 De- Cape comoti. grecs.
The Illes Nicalar, lying off the \(\dot{N}\). cad of Sumatra, nesi Aiciabar have 7 Degr. 10 Min. N. Lat: 73 Degr. Long. E. 7 Degr: Mefe llands coming from N. to W. As you go within thele llands (coming from the Weftward) ar abour 40 or so Lcagues diftance, you hall meet with fome Overfalls so Lcagues diftance, you thall mect with fome Overfalls Lead dificovers nome ait all. 'Tis phoal-Water, tho' the fome Srrearos coming from \(B\) B piobable wat they are
The City of Ac/rin has Latitudes Degrala
The City of Actren has Latitude 5 Degr. 40 Min. Lon- Mchen: gitude 74 Degr. 40 Min. E. Var. 6 Degr. 25 Min. from N. to W. Your Road lics here to the Eaftward of the Caftle, and a round Hill in the Country S. E. from you If you will go from hence for the Streights of Mrlacea, rhere's no danger rill you come to the Eat ward of the Incs Das Ferras, from whence you may fee the high Land of facs Din Malacca.
Oblerve that your Variation here abourthe Equinoctial Nore. is reducible to the Rules deliverd before, about the higheft Variatior, uiz. Thar there is lefs Variation within, than without, in the Latitude of 14 or 15 Degr. and manch after the rate of 3 L Leagues in the Ofing of the Enfering or Weftering, will alter i Degr. Var. or \(i \stackrel{A}{=}\) Degr: Long. but within you run 4 e Leagues, or zwo Degrees.
If you were ar \(A c b s n_{\text {, }}\) and would fail to Priman, the Direfion for tem, in 1 Degr. 30 Min.S.L. and then failing in I Degr. 20 oro Priaman. Min. you frall be fure to fall with the North end of the inca Nitram. biggelt, which you are to go up by, raking care to ufe your lead ever now and then to prevene danger, tho the lealt depth fecmsto bc about to. Farhom. From hence your beft Courfe is E. N. E. and N. E. by E. cill you fee the chree Hummocks in the Main, and then go in cill your fee the low Land, bur with caution, becante when thefe Hills come to the N.E. from you, chere is Shoal-Water; and Banks of Stonc: Now you are 6 Leagues from Priaman Road, and your Courfe lies ES.E. or S. E by E. kecping your Lcad going ar rimes.
To know Priaman Road diftinctly, obierre that when you have broughe the Hummocks \(N\). and W. from you there will fevcral loands appear to the Southward; the firt of whicls (that fhews very whire) lies three Leagoes W. S. W. from the Road. Before the Road is felf there lie a matrer of four laands, thar feem to cover ir, and you may pofibly (coming from the W. N. W.) miltruft going within them, becaufe they don't open in that Rofrion but the way is to bring them E. N. E. from you, and then they will begin to open, and you'll find good pafing berwixt than, leaving two on the one fide, and two on the cther. the other.
Take feccial care to kcep off from the untermoft little Ifland that lics by the Main, and keep in 8 or o Fathom, rill you come with the other 3 of the 4 Inands (which lic all in a row) and then failing to the Soudhward of the mot Northerly of chofe 3, you come into the very Road, where you may be hold in \(s\) or 6 Farhom, bur be fure to moor your Ship weil.
In this palige it will be ìcry adyifable to have the Command of Day-lightall about the Sound of the loands Nintam (and fo likewife abour the Shoals of Fcco) being conreared to hull all Nighr, and fail only by Day, by reafon of the horrid badnefs of the places bereabouts.
As for the Road of Tecoo, you need nor be very folicitous abour that, fince 'ris thoaly Water, and very ill for Notes Atr Ships; and befides, all the People will' bring their Com-tecos. modities to you to Priaman Road, if they know you are there. Bur if you have a mind to go thither, keep off fo that the Hummocks may bear N. or N. by E. and then fail on withour fear. Your danger hereabour may be perceiv'd at any time by the whitifh Spors which appear in the Water, otherwife the Sea Ihews its own Natural Colour as'tis in the main Ocean. You'll find the Var. at Tccoo, to be 4 Degr. 40 Min. N.E.
To the Soorhward of Priaman, the Coaft is full of Diretions Illands all along, till you come to the Lar. of \(2 \frac{1}{2} ;\) and in for Sailiag to going this Courfe, oblerve to keep the Main ftill, and not the Soutis. upon any Terms go withour thofe Inands; as alfo nor to Primar. fail by Night, cill you are in \(2!\) Degr. S.L. Your danger lies particularly in paffing the hight and, diftant from Priaman Road abour 13 Leagues; here keep your felf in 20 or 30 Farhom off the Main, and look well abour when the high Land comes towards the Eaft.

When you are clear of all the Ilands about the Town of Cellidai, which lics berwecn the Gut of high Land as you pass, then your Courle is \(S\) and by \(E\) along the Main, till you come to 2 : Degr. and then the Land lies S.E. to 3 Degr. 10 Min. and then S. E. and by S. to 4 Degr. and fo to 5 Degr. by the very fame Courfe, where it is high and bold.
The Lhe Engano lics in 5 Degr. 30 Min. Lat. a place where you cannot Anchor for Rocks and deep Warer: bur that defect is here recompens'd by the Neighbour hood of a very good Road, where you may borh \(\begin{gathered}\text { ide } v e-~\end{gathered}\) fy fafe, and have all neceflary Provifion of Wood and Water:

It lics under an Inand faft by the Main, in Lar. 4 Degr. 10 Min. and is call'd by the Country Pcopic Cctaber Take care swo Leagues W. S. W. from this liland, of the dangcrous Shoal and Breach; to avoid which, kecp in by the Illand, and give the Poine a birch; remembring too (char wharever a Boar may do) no Ship can pals between this Illand and the Main.

The Land lying to the Northward in the Country, is ofthar of Manancalo; 'tis extraordinary high, and in the Lat. of 5 Degr, 20 Min. Your Courfe here along the Shore is S. S. E. Eafterly, till you fece telicte IOand fant Shore is S. S. E. Eafterly, till you fee the listle Inand faft by the Main, that lies in 6 Degrees Latitude, or thercabouts.

All aiong the Coaft of Sumatra, almont, are fuch valt numbers of Inands, that 'ris impofible to give Rules and Dircctions for all of them: But if you have a mind to go into the Road of Mnirongt, you may bear in boldy a mongtt them Inands thar lic N. E. and by E. rill you come to the main Land of Sumatre, where you thall have zo or 30 Fathom, and no danger but what is calily difcornid.
Now when you come in with the Main, 4 Leagucs WV. S. W. from the Head-land of Marrorth, you hall have all to the Northward of you low Land, and abundance of Inands; bur you muft fail E.S. E. to the Head-land of Sunnarre, for the Road of Marrough is along the Shore from the threc little Tllands (that lic Eaft of one another faft by the Main), till you come almont to the Point that makesthe Streights of Sunde.
Bur now if you would come for the Road of Merrough, not from the rbrec Illands thar bear \(E\) and W. of one another, bur from the three that lie \(N\). and \(S\). (which are the three Salr Hills), then you muft ftecr in with the Highland N. when you are to the Eaftward of the Salc Hill, and fo you go right with is for the Land about it appears like a Barn, and there's none in view like it. Ir is a yood Road, you miay Anchor in 20 or 12 Fathom; rherc's agresable Refrefhing, and Rivers all along the Shore. You are in no danger coming to it, lut what may cafly be fecen and avoided; and fo you may be bold any where with our the Streighrs Mouth.
When you are in the Streighr, or Narrow, between Fro, and Sumarra, if you go to the Wetward of the threc Salr Hills, you need not apprehend any danger of the Rocks you fee a league to the Weftward of the S. Salt Flill; for you may come clofe by them, or pur between any of thofe Ilands mention' \(\lambda\), and have 20 or 30 Fathom depth. The Courfe from the Head-land of Sumetia where the three E. and W. IAands atc, is E. N. E. with that Point or Head-land of the fame Ifland, that makes the Streights cmitrance.

The liands cail'd the Sale Hills, are nearer fava than Sumatra by two Leagues. You may fee both the Mains at once, if is be a clear Day, and you are about the midway, At the S. E. Salt Hill you have \(8 \times\) Degr. Long. E. and Var. 3 Degr. no Min. The Stream in the Streighrs fers rweive Hours one way, and rwelee the other; bur it nuns with a mighry ftrength. fo that many times you can' bear a-head with a hard Gale; in which cafe'ris beft to go cff, and Anchor on one fide or the other, 'ris no matter which. If ;ou chance to go in by Sumatra-fice, keep nearce to Sumetra than to the Inands a good deal, till the Illands be E. and by S. frem you, becaufe of a defperate Rock under Water (and which breats at low Water) lying W. and by N. from the Ific :umatra is bold, fo you do butkecp oft the Land. and to is Fauc--ide too.
Direaions:o.
Giil into Roman Rot
foms co Bantari is by the I.and E.S. F. and S. E. and by E. ufing your Lead till you lec ihe Lle Pu: Panini.; when you come ro this Inard, yo: mas so within or without it name of it is.pulo Lima, and you may ride dicre at what depth you pleafe; bur you muft be fure to have the Tide in mind, that you may not be a Ground at low Watcr as otherwife you will, it highing abour five Foot Water in the Road. The Variation here is 3 Degr. from N . to \(W\).
If you would Gail now from Bartom to Palimisam, on Diretiong the E. fide of Sumarra, or for Bit:am, Bancr, A: id thofe forsuilirg parts, thefe following Intructions may be ferviccable for fom amin thar purpoic.
 by E. in 4 or \(s\) lathom, till you come with the Poine of oismemm the Main; where it comes so bear S. E. by S. Jou have Yery Shoaling Watcr upon that Spor of hard Ground; whercfore keep off betimes. The grear Inand thar is to the N.N. W. of you, as you so from Benten; youmay leave un your Larboard fide, and have your depths as 5 or 6 Fachom; from hence in your N. N. E. Courfe, you meer with a long Bed of very finall Inands, berweenthe Lat. of 5 Degr. and 5 Degr. 30 Min . where you have 18 and \(20^{\circ}\) Fathom Warcr amonget them, and no danger.
E. and N. over for the Coalt of Sumetra, in which Courf. E. and N. over for che Coaft of Sumetra, in which Courfe you hall have from 4 to 13 Fathom, and then you'll fee the low Land of Sumatre, and will have about 3 Degr. 30 MinS.L Now when you come in with a Riff of hard band hereabouts, and have goreen into abour 4 ! Fathoms in your N. and by W. Cocrere, ghen take fecial norice, and halc off again E.N. E. inta-jour old Dcpths, which are from 10 to 7 or's Fathom off Sumetra, and your Courfe N. by W. and N. N. W. to hold the Coant from 5 to to Fathom; bus be fire nor to go withour to Fachom, neither by Night nor by Day.
This for your N. W. or N. N. W. Courfe: Bur now if nac your Courfe from Bentem be N. you muft look carcfully abour for a Shoal, till you have Gghi of thofe two Inands that lic 3 Leagues from the Main of Sumetra: After you have made chele 2 Iflands, you pail have no more by \(S\) umatra, till you come in 3 Degr. S. \(L\). where you flall fall with Lucapere Falfa, which is the firft of the 4 IIands that ee lie at the S. S. W. cnd of Banca. And you ought to look our yery well for them, in going your N. by W. Courfe, as the Depths will guide you from 6 to 10 Fachom Ozy Ground. All abour them you'll fee broken Ground, and among them horrid Shoaling Water: And when you have broughr them E from you, your Shoaling will be 4 and \(s\) Fathom, and your Courfe N. and N. by W. cill the Sourthermoft Ine bears S. E by E. from you.
Erom hence you fail N. N. E. by Bance, and when you come along with thefe Inands, keep Sumatra as the bolder fide; you have Ozy Ground on that fide, bur hard and Itubborn on the cther. This N. N. E. Courfe holds abour a League, and chen you fail N.again, and being paft rhe Banks or Shoals by thefe Iflands, you have 9 or 10 Fathom depth, and are to hold on the N. Courfe by the Land, for a marter of 3 Leagues:
Note lere by the way, that in the Narrow the Tide Tidg: fers N, and S: and runs i2 Hours one way, and as many The other.
The next Courfe is N. by W. for a Leaguc, and your Acorand belt depth here is is Fathom: But when you come near the corts to the high Land onthe \(N\). fide of Bance, your Courfe is fis from N. N. W. and the beft depths 20 Fathom. This Courfe of N. N. W. and N. W. by N. continues for 9 Leagues, and then you fail 20 Leagues N. W. by W. and yourdepth 24 Farhom; and your Lat in this Courfe will be I Degr. 38 Min. S.
You change this Courfe for a Northern one nexr, which you hold 10 Leagues from 10 to 7 Fathom deprh, and Lat r Degr. 5 Min. S. bur no fight of the main Land yer. Then you. fail N. E. by N. with Pula Sio or Pu Mou. ail N. E by N. with Pula Sio, or Pulo Poppe in \(40^{\circ}\) Min. S. L. where you may have a Supply of Wood and Watcr; from hence your way is to go N. N. W. without Linga; which lies under the Equator, tho the Charts \(L\) place ir in 1 Degr. S. I. Ir's full of Inands, and funk \({ }^{\text {thechern }}\) broken Grounds; and the Tide runs here S:S. E. and N. promerinition N. W. The depth in the Offing is 20 Fathom Ozy Ground, and your Courfe N. by W. is or is Leagues: But beware of the Tide, and keep in 15 or 16 Farhom in the Ozy Ground. In this Courfe you fee 8 finall Iflands in a Clufter, in 50 Min . N. L. wherc, if you have occafion, you may get both Wood and. Water. The Tide runs here 12 Hours, the Flood from the Northward, and he Ebb from the Southward, the Depth 20 Fathom.
All along by thefe Iflands you have 14 Farhom, till you sitamini come up ro the Inc of Bintam, in I Degr. ro Min. N. L. for fo far alfo the Ines and funken Grounds doconrinue to run.
The Tide fets W. by \(N\). on the Northern fide of this as you will; bur kcep your tead going, and don'r go any scarer it than s cr 6 Faiborr. Iten looking to the Main of fava, the riund Hill that y ou fee bear berween S. and S.S. W. iands right wer the Town of Bantem. If the Hill bear: \(S\). \(S\). \({ }^{r r}\). of you, \(g\), in with thar Courfe zill you come to fee the five lhands rogelher right from Pulo Panicn: Your Road lies juft by chefe Ifands, the

\section*{Chap. XL. Sailing from Bantam to the Moluccas, ecc.}

Ing from 14 to 9 Fathom. When you are paft the E point of Bintam, you are open chen of the Strait of Sincapurn, in which you'll gind: the Tide.no 位 E. \(\boldsymbol{q}\) 'And from hence you Sail N. Enandby N. 7 Leagues, with a rapid Srream againft you, for Pyelo Tinge upon the Coaft of 3 or in 2 Degr. 20 Mist Nimat. Here you fee alf the near Neighbours of this Inand, viz. Pulo Timott and Pulolore; the former in 2 Degr. 30 Min; the latter in 2 Degr. 40 . Min. Nor. Lat. When you have made the Strairs of Sincaporra and would fail to Jor, you are to ftecr N. W. by W. raking care of rhe Current; you may be bodd from 16 to 23, Fathom, and have good ground for Anchoting.
"Erom Pulo Sio ftcer S. E. for Pulo Paccridoür, in I Deg. . I: where befure to keep in is Fath. and you may go without danger; from hence your Courfe is S. E. by E. 9 Leag. to Pulo Pagndure, in which Courfe bevery careful, becaufe Banca upon this fide is all Rocks and Breaches' in fome Places 8 or nine Leaguesoff, and fo it is withour you again all bad Guouna ; from herice your Coưte is S. E. by E. again to the Mariners LIand; or Puio Calafui, which as foon as you fce you mult contrive to lie fomething fhort of, becaufe there's no anchoring by it for the foul Ground.
Obferve alfo not to fail ar all by Nighrwhen you are in fight of this Illand, becaule if you go never fo well by your Compals, yer the Currents will deceive you, and force you to the Eaft fide of Chimabafa IRand; your Courfe thereforex will be, to fail between Banca and thefe Illands of Cbinabain and the Matiners IMands, fince tis all harp Rocks like Steeples to the Eaft fide \({ }^{\text {a }}\) and particularly your Courfe berween Banca and Clinuabata is S.S. W. bur look to the Surcam, and borrow of Banca in thisplace, in 20 or 25 Farhom. From the Rocks you 5 havein the Offing (which are called Puto Pclican) to the Coaft of Sumatra, the Courfeis S. W. by S. till you have moaling off the main, and fail as you did ourward from Bantam, keeping the fhoaling of Sumatra in 7 ar 8 Fathom, till you draw near the Straits of Sunde.
If now being at Bantam you would Sail for the Mo Adropht of laccas, the draughr of that Voyage is as follows. From dx Pifipe BantamRoad N.E. by N. 2 Lea. (and E. by N. and tom nd del E. N: E. 2 Lea. more) which will bring the low Point to the E. of Bantam Bay, S. of you, which point you mult venture no nearerthan rhree Fahom. "Then fiil E. & E. by N. 4 Leagues, leaving to the N.fide of you the 5 Sandie liands, and the Ledge of Rocks thar lie to the E. Gide of them. From hence your Courfe is E. S. E. with the Eaft Illand of Facatra; thén N.E. by E. 4 or 5 Leagues, which done, fail by an Eafterly Courfe 30 Leagues more. Herc look out well for a Sand thar lies three Leagues from the Main, and obferve alow Illand to the \(N\). of you; the beft Courfe is to go chree Leagues to the S. Fide of that Iland, but you may fail either berween the Ifland and the Sand, or the Sand and the Main, which you will withour Danger. Your Courfe now is E. by S. and E. for qo Leagucs, which will bring you in fighr of Madura, at 4 or 5 Leagues from the Eattern or Weftern end of which you have 30 or 40 Fathom depth.
From the Weft and of Madura your beft Courfe is Ei by N. till you make the Lar. of 6 Degr, in which Lat keep your felf and you will go clear between the Shoals of the Celebes Inands, and the others that lie S.S. W. from' them. From the S. Point of the 'Shoals of the Celebes: (which lies in Lar. 6 Degr.) your Courfe is E.N.E. with the Scraits of the Celebes; and from hence Sailing \(30^{\circ}\) Leagues N. E. by E. & N. E. yourcome to the Strait berweentheGolebes andCambinalland, which is abour 5 Leaguesbreadich, and will give younear 40 Fach. for your Lead. But remember' to lie fill here always ar Night, becaufe you have dangers beforc you rill you are paft the Straits of St. Thomas. To reach thefe Straits lant mertioned, you purfue your Couric N. E. by N. 6 Leagues, N. N: E. 8 Leagues. E. and. E. by N. ren. Leagues, which brings you fafe into the Straits of Sc Tbozas. The going thro' here is E. for one League, in running of which Lcague you'll have at leaft II or 12 Eat. the Scrairs are very narrow and hardly ro be perceived till you come arthem," and fome Sands will difcover themfelves, mof of your Lar-board fide; bui the forementioned Courfe (by the guidance of Rrovidence) will bring you thro' clear of aHI Danger: From the Srraits of Sc. Thomas your Courfe is N.E. by E anid E. N.E. I4. Leagues, then 2N: N.E: \(3 \delta\) Leagues, at which rime look our for an Inand and a Shoal liging to the N. N. W. of that little Inand, and bringing the Illand abour 2 Leagues to the E of you, fteer N.by E and.N. N. E. 5 Leagues (then W. N. W. and N. W. by N. two or three Leagues lafly, N. E. by N. 4 or \(s\) Leagnes, and that Courfe carxies. you cleverly berween the 2 Shoals thar lie in 2 Degr.
S. Lat. the diftance between them is nor a Mile, and they are quitedry ar low water, otherways you have I4, Farthom between them. When you arecicar of thefe Shoals, and fee the Land that your latt Courfe carrics you to, ar a League diftance from it alier the Courfe and Steer E.S. E. 2 Leagues, then N.E. by E. brings you to Strais of the Straits of Benraia. They lic in I Degr 20 Min S. I Dergaia and the pofrion of them is \(N\) E by \(N\) and that Courf you muit takero go thro'.
Now from hence to Machian oncof the Moluccas, your Courfe is N.E. by E. 72 Leagucs, but you mazy fteer with any of them ar pleafure if Wind and Weather ferve, there beitigino danger lying near them.
If you areat the Ifland of Botim, and at the Northern Directionsto end of it, and are willing to fail to the King's Town, fail io Dotent your Courfe is between the \(S_{\text {. by }}\) W. and S. S. W. along the Land for 20 Leagues, or indeed betwixt two lands, Botam.on the Eait and Ccmu:no on the Weft, the diftance between them from 4 Leagues to lefs than one Ieague very narrow. When you are nine Leagucs thort of the Town in rhis Courfe, look our for a Shoal, not great but very dangerous, and dry ar low Water.
To know when you are nearir oblerve the round Hill sore. upon Bosun near the Water fide; thar Hill and theShoal lic E. by N: and W. by S. one from the other; and therefore leave the Shoal on your Lar-board fide. From hence you purfue the fame Courfe as at firift, in order to go with the narrow Straits four Miles thorrof the King's Town. This Strait is a League thro' and half a Mile broad, and ris no matter for the Courle in poing thro'; fo you keep the Ship in the middle of the Paffage, for there's no ciding in che narrow by reaton of the very fwift Tides that run there : You mult obferic too, to take the Tide along with you when you pafs here, for elfe you can'r get thro', there being no Wind becaufe of the high rifing of the Land over the Mafts on both fides. If you have occafion to Anchor, you may do is two Leagues Thort of the narow, and ride very fafcly in 30 Fathom Sand. Being paft this Strair ftecr S. S. W. I League to go clear of a Point of Land, that muft be left on your Lar-board fide;and being clear of it bale up to cheS.S.E. 4 Miles if the Wind will permit you, and then you may Anchor in 28 Farhom, hard Sand, near the "flar Illand, ar whichtime you fee the Town of Botun aboun a League diftans from you upona Hill. The Road lies in \(s\) Degr. AS Min. S. Lat.
When you are at Batun, to fail to the Straits of the Diteaions \(\mathrm{co}^{\circ}\) Celcbes, you go thus: From Borun Road: W. S. W. 4 dail from BaLeagues (S. W. and S. W. by S. 5 Leagues) W. by S. Seraits of the and W. 33 Leagues, and fo you are ar the Seraits defired. Crelects, aud From thefe Straits to Banda Inand you fail thus; fortt from thence E. 37 Leagucs (E. by \(S\) is Leagucs) N. E. half a poini to the \(N\) : fide 17 leagucs, at which time you are in thic Lat. of \(s\) Degr: 10 Min, then E. N. E. with Burro; and from the S. part of Burro to che S. part of Amboina, and from thence E. S. E to Bende

If you are ar Bentam and have oceafion to Sail for pirestions so Patane uponthe Continent of Malacca, abfeive the Di- fail fram rections before delivered, that bring you along from Bax- \({ }^{\text {Bantam }}\) to tam as far as Bintam, Pulo Lindr, l'ulo Timon, and thofe parss; then from Pulo Timon Sail Na by W 36 Leagues to Pulo Capes, where if occafion \{erve, you nay go berween the Iflands. you fee there and the Main, ip a very fair Channel : thefe Infands youll find to lie in 4 Dcgr. s2 Min, N. Lat. From Pulo Capis your Courfe is N. W. by N. 14 Leagues to a knor of Ilands, fa many thar they are nor to be eeckoned; from hence fail W. N. W. going no farcher off che Land then 20 Leagucs, nor come no ncarer then 12 or 13 , unlefs you want to Anchor; and this fame W.N. W. Courfepurfued, Brings you to Pafane. You havea Rock in your way at i4 lueagues diftance from it, bur you may if you will go beeween it and the Main.

To conclude this Account, let that general and mof ufeful Advice of our Sailers about the varying be nicely obferv'd and followed every where. They propofe ir as the fureft Rule to go by under all the Irregularities of Streams and Currents; and the beft Principle to proceed upon in the Rcctification of the Errors that may be is troduced thereby. Nay, they declare it to be the only Help in thefe Cafes, and that'tis nor poritble for any Man to deal to any good Purpofe with Currents, withour he calls in the Variation to his Affiftance. This therefore may be a fufficicon Reafon for the urmoft Care and mott Critical Obfervation in the Bufinefs of the Variation.
THe Englifh and Durch baving fotled an Advantageous. : Trade in the Eaft-Indies; the French firted out fome Ships for the fame purpofe. The moft material of sbeir Vojnges are as follows.

G82
MEMOIRS

\title{
MEMOIRS \\ OF \\ Admiral Beaulieu's Voyage \\ то тне EAST-INDIES: \\ Drawn upby Himself.
}

Tranflated from Monfeur T Hevenot's Large Collection of Voyages.
eat. 1659.

OCrober the 2d, 1619 , 1 fet fail from Honfeur \(\mid\) chefe rwo is saken from a River fo called in the Conrinent, Road, widh three Ships, namely, the Monsmorancy, à Ship of 450 Tun, cariying \(126 \mathrm{Mcn}, 22\) Guns, and 20 Pedereroes; the Hope, of \(400 \mathrm{Tun}, 117\) Men, 26 Guns, and 20 Pcatereioes; and the Hermitage, Advice-Boat, of 75 Tun, 30 Men, 8 Guns, and 8 Pedereroes; All Victualld fortwo Years and an half. The xy wh we came in fight of Madere, and as Night its Weftern Point lay about 7 Leagues off to theS. E. 4 E. the 18 th in the Morning it lay abour 12 Leagues off to the N. E. ar which time we food South winh the Wind at EAff, expecting by that Courfe to defry the Inand of Palma. Madera lies very hight, but is commonly fo foggy, that we could fearce defrery it. The Admiral Ship being decp loaded, and embarrafs'd with an unvieldy Rudder, that two or three Men could farce-manage, we refolved to make the bet of our way to Cape Verd, in order to have a new one made, or to purthe old one to rights, which was cncumberid wirh roo much Wood. November the Xft , we made zhe Coaft of Africa berween the River Senegal and Cape \(V_{i t r d}\), whichlies very low, running North Eaft and Sourh Wcft, and is wafhed by a Sandy Sca. N'cxr Day by cighr in the Möning we doubled Cape Verd, and coatted along thic Shoar in order to get into Ruffspue Road, at which place in the Afcrnoon we faw three French Ships at Anchor, and a fmall Bark, which had Caprain Drowet's Equipagcon board, and lay off of that place, waiting for him. In the Evening I caft Anchor wichin a Can: non Shor of the three Ships; for the Wind being contrary I could nor come up with them, and the rainy Seafon was fcarce over in that Ccuntry.
The is sth liaving refolved to fend the Advice-boar' to the Idil Ifanuls to bay up Provifions, I furnined it with Kaffide and Knives, whick werc proper Commodities for that place, and rcinforcd its Complimentit with Caprain Soyer and fix Souldiers; ordering Caprain Ridel, who commanded the Pinnace, not to ureat with the Natives without Hoftages, and withal, not to ftay there above three Days at moft, but to come with all poffible expedition to xcjoin uss ar Tagrin. When he parted from us we were in che Lar. of 104 , foom the time we paft Cape Verd, we had bur liutle Wind, and the Tides run againf us W.N. W.
The igth, about Noon, we defried the L dol Ypiands the Mouth of which lies oppofire to them abour three or four Leagues off. The King of this Country refides up thar River. The Natives are Negroes, Idolarers, greza Huncers and Earers of Elephanis. They have no corin merce with the Continent; and 'ris hard ro get alhoar upon them, becaufe their Coant lies very high. I believe they pur off their Elephants Tectr in the River of Tegrin. At Night we loft fight of thefe Inlands, which are dipant 25 Leagues from Cape Sicral liona or Tagrin ; inext Dar. we faw, aboutin of a League off, reveral Spouts or Gufis of Wind whirling abour upon the Sea, and forcing up the kntim Water with great violence, two of which were very for -t tocat midable: As foon as we perceived them, we furld dallour Sails for fear of any inconvenience.
November the 23d, we arriv'd at Cape Sierrationa, and caft Anchor at Tagrin, where feveral Negroes coming Ancwa aboard, gave me to underftand that there was an Englijh ungin \(^{2}\) Veffel abour four Leagues off, at Sifena, the Refidence of the King of Tagrin. Ncvember the 28th, I caufed the Radder to be taken off the Stern Poft, and hauled ahoar, where, having pofted a ftrong Guard, and fortificd the place with fell \({ }^{\text {h }} \mathrm{d}\) Trees, 1 fet the Carpenters at work. Having walk'd a lirtle further into the Country, I found ir viry plealant. At the bottom of the Creck, theie was a fmall Brook of clear and fweer Warce; the Banks of which, towards the Sea, were deck'd with grear quantities of Citron Trees, Willows, and pretry thick Woods. I likewifefound fome Plains good for Pafture; bur the Soil is nothing bur Stone or Iron-colourd Rock. Their Houfes are infinitely berter than thofe at Cape Verd. The Natives, who are Negroes, worthip litcle horrible Images, refembling. Devils, and fmall Iumps of black Earch, in the form of Sugar Biskuyes, which 1 undertood to be the Nefts of Auriss. To thefe they offer Fruits, the Heads of Monkcys, Baboons, and other Beafts. They call the Idols Grigris, which name Itake to te derived from the French; for they commonly \(\mathrm{I}_{2}\) lutc one another in chefe Words, Tout Haut, bur when chey falute a Whire, they cry Tu As Ments.' They are a much berter fort of People than the other Negroes; tho' they beginnow to improve their, Cunning, by converfing with the People of feveral Nations that rouch there. The place where we lay being the third Creek from Cape Sierra liona, is very convenient for taking in Water, Wood, Citrons, Oranges, and Hoops for Water-Casks, which are all to be had for little or norhing.. There we had very good Rice in exchange for equal quantivies of Salt. It affords no Fleth, unlef's it be Pullets, which are very farce; and has litrle accommodarion for Hunting; Gur all its Creeks are well for'd with feveral forts of Fifh. The Cape lies in 8 Deg. North Lat and the Needle varies there \(23^{2}\) Deg. N. E. One of our Trumpecers that could nor fwim was unforrunately drownd in a tittle River near chis phace, which was níne or ren Foor deep. Tis prefumed, he was deceivid by the extream
clearnofor
making inro the Shoar. Thefe Inands lic in 9 . N. In They are corcerd wirh Wood, and bating Tagrin, are the :higheft Land between Cape Verd and Cape Sierra Liona. -Greas Idol, being the largeft and moft fouthern of thofe Illands, affords Water and feceral forts of Fruits and Fowls; bur iss Inhabirancs, who are very numerous, are norto be dealr with without Hoitages. The Leffer Idol affords likewife Warce. Befides thefe two, there are other fmallcr IIfands, which are fo inconfiderable, that they are not diftinguin'd by any name- The name of clearnefs of the Warer, which reptefented the botion of he River to be nearer the Surface than it was; añid thar thereupon going to walh himfelf, bur notyncering with the expected Ground, was fo frighrned with the Surprifal, thar he-neglected to catch hold of the Banks of the River which was nor above ten Foor broad.
December the 3d. Two Negroes came aboard, one of whom was. armed with a Bow; Arrows, Sword and Knife. The other, who was the Incerpreter, told me quain me that the Porcugueze up the River had murder'd Caprain and the whole Crew of a St. Malo's Bark, bat his Mafter was forry fuch 2 thing fhould happen near his Territories, and tharif I had a mind to refenc it, he would furnith me with Negroes to conduct me to cheplace where the Portugueze had lodg'd the Bark. This I undertood to be abour féven or cighr Leagues above'Safena; whither the St. Malo's Captain had gone to buy a fortof Wood not anlike that of St. Marthe which in France might be worth eight or nine Livers a Hundred. When Ifirf heard the News, I fufpected that the Rorrugucze underfanding that my Rudder and many of my Men were thear, had concrivid the Meffage, to induce me to fend Derachmentout of the land Guard, and lo give them an Opportunity of poffeling themfelves of the Rudder and Water Casks that were athoar. Bur upon Second Thoughos, calling to mind the Humour of the Porturueze in thar Connery, and the weaknefs of the Sc. Malo's Ship, 1 concluded the Accounr to be not improbable, and withal forelaw, thar the Righting of fuch Intelligence mighe lefen the Reputation of the French in that Counry. Ac lat having refolved to fend our a Detachment purfuant to che King's Mcflage; the Interpreter with feveral other. Negrocs. offer'd to go along with my Mento the place, faying, They would go any where to have an Opportunity of killing the Porrufucze. To carry onthis Aftair with more fecuriny, I order'd the Rudder to be brought aboard, for the Carpenter's work being then finifhed, there wanted nothing bur che Iron work, which mighit be done aboard, by letring up a Forge in the Ship: reinforced che Land Guard with an addition of ten Men, ordering them to plant Barricades of Water-Casks before theprincipal A venues of the place where they lay, and rofuf ferneither White nor Black to come near them inrhe Nighr ime, and gorCaprain Pile to accompany myMenin the Expedition. Accordingly the next Day, Ifenr up the River our Sloop, with an addition of tenMen to herComplement; together with Caprain Pile's Bark mann'd by his own Men and the Hope's Long-Boat, with 20 Men and four Pede reross; all under the Command of Monfieur Montcrifict Dec. the 8th, Captain Catel of Dicppe arrivid in the Bay and told me that at the Inc of St. Vincenf, he met a Dutch Ship of 400 Tun, mann'd with Durch and Ensiih, bound for Bensam, in order to convey thither the News of the Agrecment between there rwo Nations At three of the Clock in the Afternoon, Mr. Monteurier return'd with the Efcpe's Long-boar, and Capterin Pile's Bark, our Pinnace nor being able to kecp up with their Oars; and reported that he had been ten or twelve Leagues up the River, where finding the River very narrow and rocky, infomuch rhat the Bark ftruck fevcral times, and having no Commition from me to venture the lofs of the Bark, he murned back without macering any Portugu=ze oritheir Veffels.

December the 3 rit, Wc. were in \(3:\) Degr. N. Lar. Afrer ourdeparture from Tarrin, the weather was various, fometimes ftormy and fomerimes very calm, as it ufes to be in thofe Seas; and we found our Rudder much more ferviceable than before. Fan. the tft, 620 , at Sun rifing, we found the Needle \(3 \times\) Dcg. North, and the Lat. 3 Deg. \(S\) Mia. North. The 6 th, we crolsd the Equinoctial Line and celebrated the ufual Cuftom of throwing Sea Warer upon thofe who had never pals'd it. From therhird of this Month, we had the: Wind ar S. E. and S.S. E. and faildclofe to the Wind in order to raife the South Pole; purfuanr to the commion courfe of Navigation. The 24th we were under the Tropick of Capricorn, and the Needle vary'd 13 Degr. to the N. E. From our paffing theLine we had theWind arE. andE.S.E.
February the st, we began to have the Wefterly and ocher variable Winds;: being then in 13 Degrees South Latitude, and the Needle varying 13.1 . Degrees N.E February the 3d, Being becalmd, I obferved at the un Rifing thar henedle was 13 Degr Nort ; where farther from the Anvarctick Pole, it was 13 Degrees and 2 half. Sothatinftead of increafing it decreafed: Upon which I concluded its Variarion to be irregular ; and that it is not fix'd on two Meridians curting the World in four parts, as the Portugusere asid ochers imagined.

During this calm, we faw two great Fin with long Fithen with Snours or Bills, which feem'd to be of that रort that are org noms known to piercelind Ships. I could ficrecs have creditta pierce the the Story of their perietrating thro' Ships, if the Gover- Shiph nour of Dieppe bad not how dme a piece of the Beak or Horn of fuch a Filh, found in the fide of a Dieppe Ship when it was laid up to be caulk'd after añ Eaft-frdia Voyage ; the Captain of which had found Comeching frike againft his Ship as he fail'd from the Coaft of Brafilto the Cape, bur did nor know what it was, till that difeovery happen'd. This picce of Horn refembied the Tooth of a Sea-Horfe, only'rwas ftraighr all along, and the Colour of Ivory. Ins thicknofs was an Inich and an half diameter. In had run 5 Inches into the Wood, and was broke off where the lining join'd the Wood, probably by the ftrugling of the Fing, which could nor recover ic withourbreaking. Several Perfons have mes wirh the like Adventure in their Voyages. But I fhall only mention one more of a Dicppe. Caprain, who upona Voyagetothefe parts, had his Boar ftared to picces by a blow from one of thefe Fifhes, for the Finh cndeavouring to withdraw irs Horn, disjointed the Planks. : Thofe which I faw on this Occafon feem'd to be of the fmalleft orr. One of 'cm that came juft under me appear'd to be 10 Foot long befides its Beak. 'Iwas a muntic Fin, tho' not fo big proportionably to ics length as a Porpoif. Its Colour was a dark bluc; and its Laps and Tail, which were very large, reprefented a brighr Azure in the Sca Ir had a precty high Lap upon irs Back, refembling that of a Rechicn or Indian Sca-Calf, which fomerincs puts above water. Its Head was nor unlike a Porpoife's, only it was longer, and inftead of a Snout had this Horn or Bill, which was very tharp at the Point, and almont two Foor long, and as thick as a Boy's Wrift, 'Tis a very fiff and fwifr Fifh, for l have fecn in fly at Bonitoes with. which is wages continual War. I have often obfery'd Bonitoc's and Albrcorc's wounded by this fort of Fifh, and the Sea cinctur'd with rheir Blood. I am cerain thereare fome of this fort much greater than thofe I faw this Day, which artack the Whales; and probably 'ris their miftaking a Ship for a Whale that occafions their encouncering with a Ship. Howeler I doubt not buteven a great Ship may be endangerd by the fpliting and gaining of irs Planks, occafiond by this Fin's endeaouring to. recal its Horn after it has ftruck
While the Calm and the excefive Heat continued, whe white hings faw a certain white thing about the bignefs of an Oftrticis fiote Sen, in ik Egg floating upon the Water, which funk when the Ship Nen's Heads came within 50 or 60 Paces of it. Our Pinnace's Crew faid they fan a great many of then. In refembled a Man's Head wirhourt Hair; and fome fay they obler ed. two Black Eyes and a Mouch upon ir. We likewife, faw a ftrange fort of Fifh abour as long as an ordinary Lamprey, and equally round, with a large Fin or Creft Afrnge which fecm'd to be above a Foor high over irs Head, and fort of Fin lopd in a concinucd faries down to irs Tail Ir fwims upon one fide, fo that the Fin together with the Body, reprefents a large Finh of a rriangular form; and it makes iss way by fhifting from one fide to the orher. Bur when it carches its Prey the Fin is Atrait, and appears above the Water to be of an athy Colour; tho the Body of the Fin is as white and as round as a Tallow Candle.
Fcbruary the noth, we were in \(31+\) Degrees Sourh Latirude, the Necdle varying \(12 \div\) Degrees North Eaft.

The 2oth, our Latitude was 24 Degrees, and the va-sea Wreck riation \(9 \dot{1}\), Here we faw a great deal of Wreck or SeaGrafs of a reddifh Colour ; which, fome fay, comesfrom the Triftiand Acuma lilands. The nexr Day there happen'd a violent Storm, the Wind at Went, which had almoftbreke down our Maft, our top-Mart Sails being then out. Such Storms are common and very violent in chofe Seas in Winter; but twas then Summer there; and che Autumn was juft approaching.

Merch the 8th, our Latitude was 34 Degrees, and the Variation no more than 20 Minutes; which I took for a certain fign that we werenor above 70 or 76 Leagues off of the Cape of Good Hope.

The Inth, we faw Tiombs or large Sea-weeds, about three or four Fathom long, Cormoranss, Sea-Bears, and the Fowls calld" by the Portugueze Alcatra's, which are white all over, only the tips of their Wings are black. And all thefe werecertain figns of our approaching to the Land. We likewife faw innumerable Troops of Porpoifes, and a grear many Whales. Towards night we defcried Land and found the common Navigation to be very juft. Be ing then in 33 Degrees Lakirude, which is over againft the Bay de Soldaigne, we refolved to fteer our Courfe to the Table Bays fitwich lay from us about 20 Leagues S. E. \(\frac{1}{4}\) S. in order to take in frem Warer. Bur the. Wind being contrary, i.e. S. and the Tides bcing likewife con-urary, i.e. N. N. W. we did nor arcive ar the Table Bay iill the is th ar Nighr, ar which cime we caft Anchor there, having loft only one Boy in the Voyage.

March 16. I Icrit iffy Men ahore with Sails to make Tents of. When the Boar recurn'd, chey told me, They adefrtiption had found feveral Corps of dead Men, and Cloarbs fcatof the coun- rer'd up and down, and a fmall Fortification of Earth, which we guefsd to be built by the Denes; for one of the Natives, that \{poke a fort of \(\mathcal{F}\) rogon of broken Engli/h, gave us to underttand, tho' more by his Signs than by his Language, that five Ships had faild from thence to the Eaftward abour three Monchs before.

The 'igth it continu'd to be very formy, with a N. E. Wind. Some Muskertecrs, whom twe had Kent in queft of a Solduer rhar had ftraggled from us, reporeed, that they had paft'd along the South-fide of an Inland Mountain, joyning to the Table Mouncain, where they faw an infinity of very large Baboons and Monkess: And from thence concinu'd their Courfe along the declining part of the Mourtains that bound the Weitern Sca, till they defery'd the Sca abour balf a League off, which I took to be another Bay between this and the Cape of Good Hope; that then chey turn'd back, and when they were upon the Mountains, defrry'd the Sca to the Southward, which mult be that to the Eniftward of the Cape of Good Hope; that they had a plain View of other Mountains, berween whish and thofe they were upon, there lay an open Plain, abour io or 12 Leagues broad, the Soil of which was yery good, and capable to produce feveral Frnits, the Piain terminating upon the Sca without any Mountains, between Cape Falfo, and the-Cape of Gond Honp ; that ar the foot of the Weftern Mountains they met with Woods, and. large Trees like Appic-Trees, which bore no Fruir, bur. were very hard Wood; that in the fame places they met with very pleafant Paftures, and lome Catele, and excelleat clear Weather.
This Report infpird me with a Curiofity ro fee the Country: Accordingly, the next Day, I waik'd out by the back of the Table-Mounrain; and when I was gor thiree Leagues into the Country, obferv'd very good Grounds, deck'd with Grafs and pleafant Flowers, and a frall Rivalet of freth Water gliding along the Plain, and lofing ir felf in the Sea, art the foor of the Bay, 25 a place where there is a grear Cophluence of Warer, which we call the River. This Rivulct rifes out of the Mountains that lie betwéen the Point of the Cape and this Bay, and ferve for Boundarics to the Weftern Sca. I likewise obfervid, that this Rivulet makes feveral Fens, which run to. the Northward along the Dunes, or Banks of Sand that rerminate the Bay, and to thar place which we call the River, where Barks of 50 or 60 Tun may enter as high WaEr.
I return'd along the Mouncains, and at the foor of the Table Mountain to the Southward, mer with a great many Trees, fome of which afford Planks 2 Foor broad, and 18 or 20 Foor long, their Trusk being ftrait like that of 2 Pear-Trce, their Leaves whitifh and fmall, their Bark abour two Inches thick, and reddifh, the Heart of the Wood white and hard, and the whole Trecfull of Sap.

I likecvife oblerv'd Herbs of the fame Nature with
 From this Mountain I' faw Cape Falfo, and the Sca that wathes the Eaft-fide of the Cape, which forms a large Bay as far as the Caps, where a great many Rocks hoor out into the Sea, thar muft necds be pernicious to Ships upon a Southerly Wind, apon the fide of the Mountains of Cape Eafla, thcre runseither a grear River, or an Arm of the Sca, that thoals very far up; and I obferv'd the like upon the Inland fide of the Mountains upon the Cape of Good Hope. Upon all thele Mountains, there are grear Quamities of Goars, Fallow Decr as big as Harts, Partridges, and all forts of Fowl; Baboons, Monkeys, Lions, white Wolfs, Foxes, Porcupines, Qtriches, and otherA. nimals unknown to me. In this:Day's Joumey I faw none of the Natives, they having retird for fear of us.
A Charaftur

the Into- Thofe who liv'd towards the Point of the Cape, are the binnu abour fowt miferable Salvages yet difcover.d; for they, neither ounor culcivate the Ground; neither do they Filh, or So mach as venture themielves two.Steps into the Sea. They are of a very low Scarure, efpecially their Women and are fo meagre, thar they always look as if they were dying for Hunger. Their greateft Food is fome Whize Roots, abour the bignefs of frall Chefnurs, which have aStalk like a Leek, only a linle narrower and not indented, that bears a Whine Fiower. If they find any Cocklefif, or Whales \(C_{6}\) any other dead Filh upon the Shore; tho'ncyce fozuch purrified, they pur'em a litule uponthe Fire; and then feed heartily upon 'em \(:\) Nay; when the very Skins, Heads, and Entrails of the Sea-Bears and Pinguins (i.e. a forr of Fowls without Wings) which oor Men fed upor, were thrown our of the Tents, and had hin for 7 or 8 Days, till their Stench oblig'd our Men to remope their Tents, and frar'd the. Woives and other wild Beats from touching of 'em; even' then, I fay, the Savages would take 'em up, and afert having pur them under the Athes, and fquecz'd them bexween two Stones would cas up every bir of 'cm.

When thcy meer an Europeem, the fint thing itiey do, is to Diew their Stomach, which they draw into their Body, and fo that makes a hollow or grear Pit upon their Breatt They have Wars one with another, probably, upon the Account of their Cattle. They abftain from Man's Flefh, neither do shey cat any of their Cartle, unlefs thefe are apt to dic through, Leanncfs, Agc, or any other Accidemt. They cover their Privitics wifh'z Sheep's Tail, and weas the Skin of a Sheep, or Come other Animal over one Shoulder like a Scarf. The betrer fort have dry'd Tripe abour their Necks, upon which there hangs a little Knifc map'd like a Launce, in a wooden Sheark: And this I take to be the Inftrument with which they cut off one of their Tefticles at ten or twelre Years of Age; chat be- tho cod ing a Cuftom among 'cm, perhaps in order to qualific on Tesin rhemfelves for running, in which Exercife they ourdo all that ever I faw. Some hang upon their Necks a Plate of Copper, as thin as a Teffcon, and about a Hand long, and four or five lnches broad. Others wear Bracelers, being Pieces of Copper or lron, with a hole in the middle Thofe who feem to have fome Command over the reft have commonly a Stick in their Hands, with a Fox's Tail ar the end of it.
I could not perccive any Religion among ' cm . They marry indeed, and dance; and their common Salutation to us is dancing to a Song, which from the beginning to the end, is nothing elle but Hiatitou.
Their Arms are an Affaga, with a weak fort of a Bow and a Quiver; which they hide under fome Bufhes when they come to our Tents. They are very apt to fteal any thing of Iron or Copper; but Linen or Cloths they do not cover.
They are Negroes, and have frizzl'd Hair, as well as thofe in Guizer, but they wear no Ormaments upon it. They bave na Sheds to live in, that I could perceive: But in the Night-time they fleler chemfelves with their Wives and Children with Bufles, and have fome Skins ftreachid like an Umbrella, upon two Sticks laid 3-crofs; with one in the middle to faften it in the Ground; ander which they lie hury'd in the Sand up to their Belty.
They are altogether ignorant of Agriculcure, or the making of Canoes; whercas, if they could bur tack fome pieces of Wood together to convey em to the Iflands joft by the Continens, they would find vaft Quantities of Pinguins, and Sca-Bears (which are their delicious Food) not only for their own Suftenance, but for Sale among their Neighbours.
 & \({ }^{2}\) Degr. N. W. Ir's Air is very wholefone. Some of Them rimes you may trear here with the Natives for Beef and mond Mutton; but thar's very uncertain. 'Tis a fecure Road sooraí to Anchor in, and has about 6 or 8 Fathom Water. There's more Rain and Wind in the Bay, than 2 Shore; for the high Mountains ftop the Clouds: and Vapours, which being driven by the Wind, break and fali down in Hurrycanes upon the Bay. The height of the Table-Mowneain from the Sca-fide to the top, is 1350 Foot perpendicular.

Some of our Men going athore, happen'd to light upon deot toi a great Stone, with two litule Packs of pirch'd Canivas un-ren fam derneath, which we afterwards found to be Dutch Letrers, atact When we open'd them, we found firf 2 ftrong-piece of pitch'd Cagvas, then a Plate of Lead wrapp'difound che Packet, under that two pieces of frefh Cloth, ther a' piece of red Frize; all wrapp'd round a Bag of coarle Linen; in which were the Letters very fafe and dry. They conraind an Account of feveral Ships thar had paise that way; particulatly of an Englifh Advice-Boat that was gone for England, to acquaint the Cómpiny with the Inyury the Dutcib' had dorie. 'em in the Eat-Imdies.' . They akewile gave Norice to all Ships that pals'd thar way, to take care of the Naxives, who had murder'd feveral of their Crew, and fole fome of thier, Whater-Casks:: Farther, they gave Advice, that the Dietch had befieg d Ban-Butami trm with 35 Ships; and that the Engiop were forcid to a-ieqdotid bandon it for :want of Provifrons :: That. the King of Bantam and the Dutch, commitred feveral ACs of: Ho frility; and many other chings, too long to be inferted: Having read this Letwer, I was ina quandary, whether I thould:go to Bantam or nor : For I readity imagin'd, that Bantam being block'ding by the Datch, they would not fuffer us to enter, and far lefs to riaffick there, fince they always endeavourd to keep the Trade our of our hands. Berides, I was apprehenfive they might carty the place; in regard that Prince Mataran, who calls himfelf Emof all \(\mathcal{F} \% \%\), and alledges thar the King of Bantam ed from him, would readily joyn wich the Dut ducing the Rebel King. Upon chefe Confiderad Colv'd to ftect my Courfe to the Coaft of Coromantel, to put off foods that were proper for that Coaft, and buy up ornersthar hould be faleable ar Achen, and upon the Coant of Sumatra and fava; and after all, to take in ar ficlen, a Ship's Loading of Pepper, or two, if the Siege continu'd ; and leave there a Factory, rogether with the Pinnace, to trade up and down the Coaft. Bur if the Siege were rais'd, I delign'd not to ferte any Factory at Acloer, bur to fend one of the Ships back to France; and the other, rngether with the Pinnace to Bratam, where we might get zoo or 300 per Cour. upon the Coaft Goods; and there to load the orber Ship, and leave a Factory together with the Pinnace.
In the mean time I call'd to mind, that the Directors of the Company mean'd that. I Thould go ftraight to Bentam, and fend at lealt onc of their Ships back to France thar Year; which I could not do, if I rouched upon the Coaft of Coromendel: Befides, if the Siege of Bantem fiould happere to be rais'd, I was apprelienfive the Company would blanic me for nor following their Orders. But even that Confideration was counterpoisd by this, that I could nor ar any rate fend back one of their Ships that Year, fince I could nor make the Streighe of Sonda till Atm guft, nor ger our from thence till October or Nouember, by reafon of contrary Winds; and uron that feore I hould be oblig'd to foend the whole Year, withour doing any thing, and eat up my Provifions, which in that Couniry are fo fearce, thar the Englifh are forc'd to fpreadethernfelvesalong the Coaft to be fupply'd; not to mention thar 1 thould be expos'd to the Difcretion of the Dutil, who never meand us well. Having, maturely weigh'd all thefe Confiderations; I ask'd Advice of the principal Dcpuries, fome of whom faid they would fubmir to my fudgment ; and others told me, that fince I had a pofitive Commiffion for B.antem, and fince Bratam was a place of too great Importance to the Dutch, to be long at Variance with the King, I had beft fteer my Courfe thither. There different. Opinions put me upon another Expedient, of fending the Hope to Bentem, and giving the Captain, Mr. Graos, an ample Commiffion.
April 3. We weigh'd Anchor; and being becalm'd agrear Waves coming from the South, and the Tides running North upon a lirtle Ifand, and caft Anchor withina League of it, at 20 Fathom Waier, the Ground being muddy Sand: The Ifle lay from us North one quarter N.E. and the Southerly Waves made us roul prodigiouly, fo char cvery thing crack'd in the Ship. This tifand is almoft round, and abour a large League in Circumference. Within, it affords nothing but Saind, and fome Bufhes; under which die Pinguins hatch their Eggs. A great many Rats and Adders live in it, as well as \(\mathrm{Cb}_{2}-\) mxlcons and Lizzards.
Upon its Rocks, by the Sea-fide, we faw a grear many-Sea-Bears; which blcat like Shecp, fome of which are very large, and have a Skin as chick as a Wolfs, with very fofr Hair. . Both thefe and the Pinguins rafte very rank of the Oyl of Fifh, of which a geeare quantity might be taken from them, if one were at the pains. They bave two Paws before, and two Fins behind; they cannot ftay long under Water without taking the Air; they live upon Fifh, and in the Night-time retire to the Rocks.
The Pinguins are Fowls withour Wings, which have uprigh, and rwo broad: Paws, upon which they walk heirn, and with which they dig the Ground to make having a 1 hey are a lirele bigger than 2 Cormorant, and a Bill like a Raven's. In the Morning they repair to the Sea, where they fwim and feed upon Filh, and at Nighr rerum to their-Nefts. They have nothing of the rafte of Flefh, and for my part, I rakethen to be featherd Finh.
While I wis athore, there arofe fuch à Storm from the S. E that i could nor reacli the Ships, but was forcd to ftay upon the Inand all Night, notwichiftanding thar it was a perfect Calm whereche Ships rode.
Aprit.7. We had a violent. Thunder and Lightning, and the next Day the Wefterly Winds began to fwell; befides that, the Fog was fo thick, that we could not fee from one end of the Ship to che other; upon which, having given a Signal to the orher Ships to follow me, by the Sound of Trumpers and Drams, I returid Sounding all the way, and cailt Anchor in Table-Bay:
had burlitrle We weigh'd Anchor again; and all thar Day had butlitcle Wind, and that very variable. However, on the 14 th we doubled the Cape of Good Hope; and the 15 ch were in \(36:\) Degr. Lar.
Tull 16 th we had a violent Stom from the N. E. as Full Moon, which we forefaw the Night before; for ar the Signt Sun-ferring reddilh Rays afcended from the Sun, and un- of an up derneath him was a Bank of the fame Colour : towards Storm the Wind there appeard, as it were, a Circle, from the Centre of which there procecded grear Rays; under the Wind there appear'd a round blackifh Cloud,' and in the middle of it we faw what the Porfugusic call the Ox's Eye which is generally taken norice of, as the Fore-runner of a great Storm: When the Moon came low, the Sea fivell'd mightily, and the Storm was indeed very grear, norwithntanding that the Air was fo clear, that in the Night-time we faw the rifing and ferting of the Starsi The Storm parted me from the ocher two Ships, till the 17th that the Wind abated, and came Southerly, afer which I perceiv'd our two Ships abour a League before me; and found, to my grear admiration, that none of cm had fuftaind any harm. Howeyer, this wonderful Deliverance made me refolve not to part with the Hope, but to go all in a Company to Bancam, purfuant to my Orders.
Accordingly I droppd all my former Projects, and fail'd E. and S. E. directly for Bantam. But April 26 in 36 Degr. Lat. and 12 Degr. N. W. Variation of the Needle, a violent Storm oyertook us, and not only broke my Bampfrif, bur damag'd the Pinnace's Maft: Upon which I was oblig d to take up my former Refolution of fending Captain Gravi, with the Hope, ftraighr to Bantam; defigning to carry nay own Ship and the Pinnace to Madagafcar, in order to have them refirted. \(f\)
I parted with the Krope on Mry the 1 It, in \(37^{\circ}\) Degr. They make S. Lat. and 18 Degr. Long. reckoning the Cape of Good Say. Sukplinots Hope, for the Meridian.

The ryth in the Morning we defcry'd Tillac, abour ten Leagues off, which is a running Coalt, thar appears very. high; and that Night had fighr of Sc. Aughfine Bay.
The 17th we were oppofite to the two litcle Inands of Sand, which lay abour three Leagues from the Bay, which having no Trees upon them, ate very low. Burin the Night-rime the contrary Winds, and the Trees carryd us W. N. W. where finding no Anchorage, and not being able to make the Bay, I refolv'd no ftand for the Ines of Comoris, during the light Qnarter of the Moon. In thole Seastheir Surface is rery plain and fmooth, and Whe Air very clear. While we ftood for there thands; the Wind "rum'd Norch, upon which I tack'd abour for the Bay, and arriv'd there on the 2 rft, cafting Anchor at 15 Fathom Water, upon a clayie Ground, abour a quarter, of a Lcague from the Shore.
May 22d, I went with the two Long-Boass, and aftecen The Native Musketects, to obferve the River upon our approach to fond of Sives the Shorc, we obferv'd nine or ten of the Narives, upon chains. a confpicuous Point of Sand, who gave us the Signal to come ro them. Upon this we wenr afhore, and tho we were arm'd, they joyn'd in and ralk'd with us above an Hour, fignifying by their Language and Signs, thar they were very well pleas'd with us, and would vifir us aexr Day on Board. They were very curious in obferving, what fort of things we had abour us; and one of 'cm, who fecm'd to be a leading Man, fpying a Silver Whiftle, with a Chain to it, that my Mate had abour him, defir'd it very earnettly: I order'd the Mare to Shew it him, tho' I was forry for the difoovery, for fear they fould infift upon having that, and no other Commodiry in exchange for theirs; and for that Reafon had cautiond allour Men to hide 'cm. However, they all lik'd it mightily', and the chief Man among 'cm, promisd to give for it an \(\mathrm{O} x\), which might be worth 20 Crowns at leaft. .Upon which I gave him ro know, that we could not fell is, becaufe we had ufe for it; bur if any of 'cm would come aboaid; I would thew them things that they would like as well. Withour further deliberation, this principal Man, and chree ortiers embarked with us, defiring that fo many of our Men might be left afhore, which-I agreed to. In the mean time, at one Caft of a Scan, we drew up an infinicy of litrle Filh refembling Herrings, both in form"and tafte: Bur I could nor make any marerial Remarks upon the River, only I was fure that it was very great and rapid.
The Natives of this place are the handfomeft Negroes aderripoion feed ever I law. They are large and well hap'd; they of the Nam feed well, and are neither flar Nos'd, nor thick Lip;; nei- tives, ard cher do they tink like the Guinen Negroes. They are heir Hbin very curious in their Hair, which is long, frizled, rais'd upwards; and pade up in Wreaths ar the top. Their Teech are very whire, even and finalls and chey rub 'em erery,

every Minute with a fmall piece of Wood. Their Garment is a Cotron Cloth well woven, of two or three Colours, with which they cover their Priviries, the reft of their Body being naked. As for their Ornaments, he whom we took for the chicf Man, had a large Plate like a piecc of Bone or Ivory, perfectly white upon his Forehead, a large Ring of Copper at his Ears, about his Neck 2 Collar of Raffade, befides Glafs-Beads of reveral Co lours, and a Necklace of fine Yellow Amber, which he efteem'd very much. The reft had Omaments correfponding to all his, excepting the Trinket on his Forehead.

As foon as we came on Board of the Ship, the Narives werc furpriz'd with the bignefs of the Ship, and mightily raken with the Sound of the Trumpets and Drums. I prefented them with fome enamell'd Rings, and others of Pearl and fale Ambet, and criteraind them wirh Dif courfe till Supper was ready

But in the mean time chey were taken ill of the Sca Sickneff, infomuch thar they would needs go above Deck, and lie upon a Sail. One of them that was nor fo fick as the reft, did noching bur jecr his Companions all Night, and merrily imitated crery word that the Men upon the Watch faid to one another. In a word, thele are very jolly Negroes, and hate nothing in 'cm that's brutifh; they readily apprehend what is faid to them, and in my Opinion are much preferable to the other Negroes. Next Morning by Break of Daj, I went to fee for my. Guefts, and found them upon their Legs, and much better chan before. Then I fhew'd them feycral little things I thougt they would like; fuch as Coral, ycllow Amber cat fine, Raffades of all Colours (they lik'd the blue red, and Tin Viffels, CopperiBaton, and red Cloth, as well as Cloth of ather Colours. They leem'd to like every thing and defir'd the Gift of 'cm; but when I fpoke of thei Becves, they always came back to the Silver Whifte, and the Chain: Finding I could make norbing of them, I con them a-fhore again; as well as fome of our Men, with feveral of the above-mentiond Goods, to rey what they could do with the other Natives. One of the Native offer'd a far large Ox, with Bumps upon his Shoulders (like to thofe on Camels Backs) in cxchange for a Copper Balon, but he thas bore the Trinket on his Forchead fpoke to him, upon which he gave back the Bafon, and ask'd for a Silver Whifte with a Chain to it. In fine, I underftood they refolv'd nor to truck with me for any thing elfe, but Silver Chains.
The next Day, hearing thar the Natuves were come down to the Shore with their Catsle, I fent our Men aMore with Chains of Stecl, Lartin. Copper, Jetr, and other things refembling Pearl; ordering them to conceal the Silver Chain, and nor exchange it, till they had try'd if any of the former would do; for I had no mind to make them acquainted with thar Meral. Bur after all, they gave me to know, they would deal in no other thing bur in the Silver Chain, and would give no more than one Cow, for as much of is as would go round the Neck of the rallett of them, and mect with two ends at his Navel. Being unwilling to part with the Silver Chain, and at the fame time in grear want of their Catde, becaufe we could not live upon the Fining; I refolvid to have a Chain made of Pewter, by a Goldfmith thar we had aboard ; and for that end caus'd to mele a Platerer ; hoping to do as much with a Pewter Chain, as with a Silver one : For when I offer'd them Silver and Pewer Spoons in a heap rogether, they chus'd the Pewter oncs, becaufe thicy were neweft. In like manner, when I fhew'd them a large Silver Baron, and Silver Cups, and cyen a Chain of Gold, they would gire me nothing for cm ; bur fill wanted the Chain that was along with the Whiftle.
The Com:
The next Day they came aboard without Hoftages, and reditiks of brought with them lome Hens and Capons, a pretry deal of Milk, Come Pcafc, and fome Horn-fpoons, made after their Faftion. Thefe werc rery fond of our red Raffade but we had but very little of ir. However, we exchang'd what we had at a pretty good rate; for they gave us a large Capon, or Some fuch Poultry, for every Sring of it.
Thefe Natives lodgd all Nighr on board of us, and wate not fick asthe others were: They fed heartily, and cat a great deal of broild Fifh, and thrice as much Bread as any of our Men.

The Peale chey fold us were white, and as large as a Mu\{quet-Ball, and the beft I ever faw : They ear'em raw a and neat to their Milk, I believe, they are their beft Food.

The 26th I fent fome red Raffade, and the Tin Chain aftore; but they quickly perceiv'd thar the Chain wasnor the right. They gave us Fowls for half a String of Rafrade a piece, as well as a Weather for one String; and Affagays and Darts very well made, for half a Srring a piece. Thofe Natives work very prettily in Iron and er, and to my Mind, their Iron, of which they hare Quanritics, is as good as in Spain. jold us a fmall quantity of Rice, which they vahigh.
W.en our red Raffade was all gone, I fhew'd 'em fome red Coral, Crytal, and other procry lituef ings; but thyy did not like " cm .
On the 27th, they brought down as many Caute, as coverdar leaft a quarter of a League and ftilldemanded the Silver Chain for an Ox, the red Raffade for their Sheep and Pullets, and the blue for their Milk, of which they brought great Quantities. For the Silver Chain I demanded three Oxen, and a Shecep for two Strings of red Raffade.
In the mean time, their King, or Governour, fent me word to come athore (for I markerted in my Long-Boar), and thew him the Chain: But I gave him to know, that I could nor come afhore; bur if he would be pleas'd to come on Board, he fhoula be very fafe, and I would fend forne of my Men afhore for Hoftages. After fome deliberation he came aboard, and I was forry I had no nice thing to prefent him with. However, having four Strings of red Raffade in my Hand, tho' I thoughr 'cm too mean 2 Prefent-for him, yet finding that he look'd upon 'cm with a grecdy Eye, 1 complemented him with' cm ; which he accepred wirh pleafure, and gave me a Sheep for a Recompence. I had a grear Mind to have given him the half of the Silucr Chain, which was s! Foot long, and weigh'd threc Ounces and a half: Bur confidering, that if I was prodigal of the Chain, I fhould have nothing to ferch Becves; or elfe I would be oblig'd to rob the Mares of their Silver Whiftes, I c'en put ir off till the nextopportunity.
Bur fome time after, the King reflecting ufon the Chain, fent one of the ftarclieft Oxen I crer faw, which we bought for half the Chain: But we had a greas deal of trouble in bringing it aboard; for tho " it receiv'd in its Head two Piftol-thor, one Harqucbufe, and one MuskerThot, yet it was fo ftrong, that we were forc'd to ftificis under Water, and give it feveral Blowsin the Head with an Axc, before we could ger it aboara, Sicin an Oxe mighr be worth 100 Liveres in France.

Thefe Oxen are neither high, nor fo large as thofe of our Country ; bur they are mort and thick; their Head offect is imall, their Ncck thort and thick, with a large Bump ikesta or Lump of Fat, upon the joyning of the Neck to the Shoulder; which at a diftance appears, as if ir were 2 Burthen ry'd upon that part.
Their Shecp relemble thofe of Barbery, as to cheir Head and Wool; but their Ears hang down like a Hound's, and their Tail conrains ren or twelye Pound of pure Fat; which does nor difoblige the Sromach, as the Far of the Body docs. Their Fowls are large, fat, and thick. In a word, their Mcn are in fo good a cale, and their Cattic fo far, that the Ifland muft needs be a rery goo3Country As for theirFruir, Iqueftion whether we were there in their Scalon; ar lealtprbey broughe us none, but a lictle Rice, fome Beans, and very large whire Peafe. They have a grear many Gourds, and Botules made of 'cm, in which chey purtheir Milk.
The 28th I was to fee a little Inand in the Mouth of the River, and then return'd to the place of Barter ; where theNarives waited for us wich a grear number of Cartle. This" Day I bargain'd ro a double advantage of whar Idid yefterday: Bur having allow'd fome of our Men to go alhore, and urat for themiclves, whether they fpoil'd the.Market by being too prodigal of their Commodities, I cannor rell; bur fo ir was, thar the Natives, all of a fudden, demanded four Srrings of red Raffade for a Shecp, whereas chey had fold me feveral for two a piece bur juft before : Upon which I call'd all my Men into the Boar, for I always Markerted in my Long-Boar, from the Commencemenr of the Treary. I had no fooner recall'd my Men, but the Governour of the Natives, whom they call Au ea, appear'd in a Paffion, and order'd all the Natives to reire. Left our murual Friendhip fhould be thus broke, I made a Signal, that I would fpeak with the Governour; upon which he came down to the Shoar-fide, and I going 2fhore, prefented him a Cutlas with a Silver Hilt, affuring him that I was his Friend, and carneftly defir'd. that I and my Men thould live in perfect Amiry with him and his People: This done, he expreffed a grear deal of \(\mathrm{Sa}_{2}\) risfaction, the Negroes made loud Acclamations of Joy, and I caufing the Trumpers to found, and the Drums io bear, order'd a Parry of our Men ro come altore, who joyn'd in, and fhak'd Hands with che Negroes... In the mean time the Governour made me fir down by him, and admiring the Trumpers and Drums, offcr'd me an Ox for one of cither. But I told him I could not want it After chat we fold the reft of our'Silver Chain for 2 Heifers and a String of Coral Beadisfor an Ox ; and then we're mern'd on board, giving the Natives to know, that within four or five Days I would be gone, which they heard with grief. The nexr Day one of our Officers went afhoar, and fold four Ounces of a Silycr Chain, fer fix futty oxent, which I caus'd to be falted up.

\section*{M. Beaulieu's's Voyage to the Eaft-Indies}
fure the tit, I went into our little Skiff with twelve Men; defigning to reach the Mountains by a mall Creek, and from thence to delcry the Valley where the Rifer run. but finding the Creek very inaccelifibe, and furounded with Buthes, ftecp Rocks, and. Alocs Plants, I left is, nd rowed about half a Lcaguc up an Arm of the Rier to the Sourhmard, where I. found a Landing place. Having walk'd up a third part of the Mountain, I difcoucred that the other Arm of the River to the Northward was yer greaser, for it appeard as broad as the Scyuc, a League bolow Racm. Upon the Sca fide, and for two Leagues up che River, there is norhing but thick and black Woods; bur beyond thas chere are very pleafant Fields.
This bay is fo covcrid with Flass to the North and South, that'tis oniy accetible by the N. W. and W. N. W. I do nor belicte that great Storms do cucr reach it for the Coalt dofs net feem to be much bearen by the Waves, and all the is Days I was there, I oblcry'd but one Cloud in the Zenith; neitheris the Heat excefiare, being comper'd by the land Breezes, that never fail from the Sunferting to ten or cleven a Clock in the Morning and the Sea-Gales that blow from that time to Sun fetting 1 found the Air of thar Bay very healchy, for we had no one fick abtoard, to which the abundance of frefh Mear and good Water contribured not a lintle. As for the adjacent Country, the Valley is very pleafant, and affords excellent Pafturage, being warcrid by a large River, which would render the Ground very ferrile if it were culcivated. The Sca fwells the Mouth of the River to to or 12 Foor running Warer, fo thar ordinary Ships mightenter ie. The Mountains are a dry Rock. the Surface of which looks as if it were burn-:- The LowCouncry is clad with an infiniry of Buftes and Shrubs, and the greateft quantiry of Thmarinds I ever \(\{2 w\), as well as with Eliony and Alocs Plants.
Their Tamarincts were noe then ripe; but I met with another Fruir almoit ripe, that re\{cmbled a large Wallnur, having a green Rind; when I open'd it, it gave a fragrant finell, and the Fruit within was black and full of firte Stones, almoit like Catiia Fiftula, and its Pulp, being of the fame Talt and Colour, tho'nor forhick, and as Inise ic, entitied to the fame qualitics. This Fruir is by fomecali'u Tamborvions, and faid to refemble Poppy Heads, but withontany reafon. We faw in the Hands of the Sarages fome forall Cucumbers, which feem'd to be better than ours, and which they car as we do Pears a grear. many Gourds, fome Beans, very good Pcafc, litele Rice, and only one Citron
The Natises are jolly, proper, handfome Negrocs
They are yery fricedly one to anocher, and obcy one Sovereign call'd Auree, whofe Refidence, as they told me is ar a great Habitation up the River. I take their Aurea to be another fortof a Man, and berter qualified than he who appeard as the Murea, and to whom I made a Pre fent of the Silver Cutlas; for they told me with grief that their Mrea had becn lately ftabb'd. I could not perceive cm guilcy of any bruxih or inhuman Action torthey dcaltwith us very frankly and honctly; they did nor fteal the leaft odd thing, or cffer the leaft Injury troour Mcn, tho they met them fomerimes ftragling and unam'd. Onc Day, when onc of our Priefts was faying Mafs, and bad bur very few Auditors, 25 or 30 of the Natives came abowhim, and being defired to knecl, did fo, and behay'd themelves very refpectfully till the Scr vice.was orer.

As for their Religion, I could perceive none amongf them. 'Indeed they are Circumcifed; and tho' the In flituion came ro them dime out of mind, yer I belicve they had it from she Mathometens upon the Coaft of Esthopin, who have long had; and atill have, an un known Trafick with that Country

Their Language foundspretry fmooth, for they pronounce it very glibly. They do not reckon beyond Ten in Computations; and their ten Numbers are thus exprels'd in order, Iff, Rewa, Tello, Effrd, Limns, Euning Fiutto, Vuoll, Sinay, Foulo.
As for their Women and Houfes, I faw neitber Some of our Men toild methey left their Women about half a Lcaghe off in the Woods, and that chey faw three or Jour of cm , dat werc yery haddome, being cover' from their Breaft to their Knees with a party colour'd Clort of Corton, and having their Ears pierc'd in Cereral places, with a great many Ear-Rings and Bracelcts hang ing upon' 'cm
Haying refited our Ships, and furnifhed our felves with freth Provifions, Wood and frefh Warcr ; and rode 15 Days in this Bay, which is a very proper place for taking in frem Provifions, and melcering diftreffed Ships, and might be made as ufeful for thofe who trade to the Indics, as Mozambique is to the Porfugracer: : Having rode, I fay, is Days in this Bay, which lies in the Inanid of MadfInfcar or S. Laurence, under the Tropic of Capricorn; we weighed Anchor, and 1tood Norch V/eft, to avoid the Flars; and haying fail'd all that Day with litule Wind, at Night the Bay lay abour ton Lcagucs off S.E. \(\dot{\text { a }}\) E. As which rime we perieived another Bay abour fix Leagues off to the Eaftward. The Coaft runs Norlh and Souch, as far as we could Sce; and appears high, fmoorh, and all of a picce, likecthe Coafts of Piccardy, Nommandy, and Bretaigne.

Fume the gth, we came in fight of the Terra Firme, between Sop/hale and Mcatambique ; and ar Nighr being in \({ }_{17}\) Degrecs to Minutes Latitude, and failing N.E. iE. were in danger of being caft away, becaufe our Sea Maps are very defective in that part. For the Pinnace being order'd to fail in head and found, and if the apprehended any Danger ro give us a fignal of rhreeGuns; boutan hour and an half before Day, the Signal being given, we immediarely tack'd about, and droppd an Anchor: And when Day came, perceiv'd thar if we had bur gone a lietle further, we had run our Ship aground. For about a quarter of a League off there lay a littic Rand, \{carce a Mile in Circumference, covcr'd with Buhhes and Greens, having 2 rall Trees rogether upon its WefternPoint. And to the W. N. W. of this laand, which has a long Bar before it, there lies another of the ame bigncls, very low, and sover'd all over with Trees The Continenrlay abourfour Leagues from the firftuland. To che S. W. we faw a high and fandy Coaft, with a woody Country behind it, and to the Weft we deferied a ow Land, wirh large Trees uponit, as if they had been planted in the Sca. I was furpriz'd to fee rhe Continent oo near me, raking my mealures from the Sea Cards. Forover Night, when we faw the Terra Firme and the Mands, we took 'cm according to the Latitude in the Charts, to be what the Porfugucie call the Primieras and reckoning thefe three Leagues to the Wettward of us, the Courfe chalk'd down in the Chart from thefe Inands to a large Flat (lying in \(16\{\) Degrees about 12 Leagues from the Torra Firma) bcing N.E. and S.W. and the laft of the Primieras Inands, being placed in 17 Degrees above ren Leagues from the Terra Firma, we refolved to ftand N. E. : E. thinking to fail ncarcr to that Flar than the Primicras Idands. But we were miftaken for the Primicras 1 IIands- are not above two or threePrinice away E. N. E. Befldes, the Charrs have no Flats or m: ScaInands along that Coaft, unlefs it be thofe of angoxa, chants.
which are placed more to the Southward, wiथ. 16.Degr tho' afrer all, I faw thar Morning a ftring of Inands, abour a League and an half or two leagucs diftant one from anorher, and lying in 16 and \(?_{i}^{3}\) Degrecs, which I could imagine to be no other than thele of Anroxc, fo that the Charts mifplaced them alfo two thirds of a Degree. Being ata lofs to know whar litrie Inands thefe werc, and find ng thi Chart fo much our, I refolved to ftay there no longer. Accordingly I weighed Anchor, and faill'd be ween the 2 Inands, the Pinnace founding in the Head of me. We faild clofe by theLand-fide of she firt Illand; where whilad 10 or 12 Fathom Warcr, with a good Ground of moty Sand, and no Banks; fo that this fide togethe (Gth the Bar, affords 2 very good Road for Ships. Then Azinding E. S. E. with a frem Southerly Galc, we gorcicir of the fecond Ifland, between which, and the Continent I doubr nor but there is a good Paffage, for Iobferred no Banks nor Shallows.
Having pafs'd this Second Inand, we deferyed a Third of the fame bignefs with the former, which affurd me that thefe were the Inands of Angex:. The next Day twas as much as we could do to fee the Land to the Norrh Weft of us, being then abour fix Leagucs off; but according to the Charts we fhould havebeen above 20
Thernth, we defirych one of the Illands of Comorro, a defriprion which is very high, and as confpicuous as Mirdern of the trand os comare
The next Day we perccived another not fo high, which s calld Majottr, and abounds with all forts of Provifions and Fruirs; lying about ann Leagues from the Iflaind thar's ncareft the Terra Firma of Mozambiqut, the Sourh Point of which we made the next Day, bur could find no convenicsec for coming to an Anchor; norwithitanding Hh
it is inhabited all along the Shoar．This hat Inand is very Cool．Moift，and full of Verdure，by reafon of irs heeighth，which rathers a great number of Clouds that I reak upon ir It has a great many Brooks of Warer running down from the rop，which in my Opinion do not Spring from the Rock，butare occafion＇d by the con－ rimual elcration of Vapnurs．

The 1 bth，we made the North Cape，which is 15 or 16 Leagucs diftane from the Sorth Having doubled the Cape，we perccivid a fual！Sandy Creck，which appear＇d like an old ruinous Caltle，where rwo Ships（ not moors） may ride ar Anchor，at fix Fathom Warcr upon a Sandy Groind We thaughe ro ha crode rhere，bur the Tide carry \({ }^{\circ}\) dus by ir．

Haing doubled the Point of this Creck，we came before an Inhatired Piace，furnified with Houfcs like thofe of our own Councry，where we theught to come to an Anchor；bur finding nothing bur from so 030 Fathom Water weran a Recky Ground，we tood to thic Sca，def－ pairing of Anchorage rom thar Ifland．In the mean time the Tide carricd us Wertward along the Coaft to a Poins，where we came in fight of a Ship，and having fenrote our long Boat with ten Musketecrs，we under－ ftood ir to be a Mecca Ship of 40 Tun，that upon our apparance on that Coaft had run all their Goods athoar， taking us to be \(D\) arch Ships．The Captain Thew＇d me two Ietrexs，onc from an Enitifl Captain calld Merrin， and ancther from Caprain Bemnar，intimating to all thcir Counery Men，that dicy had taken in feveral Refreft－ meres ar that place，efpecially Fruits but hitele Mcat；that bleyhad fornd no Warce there；that Linen Cloth and Paper was a proper Commodity for that place；and ad－ vilung them to rake care of difohlizing the Tflanders，who tho＇chey appear＇d fricndiy cnoveh，were capable to do them a great deal of Impury．Having ask＇d the Arabian Matter，where I could find the bett conveniency for roming roan Anchor；he told me che place of Anchorage lay to the Windward of their Ship；but withal，advis＇d me to ferch a Pilor from the Shoar，by reaton that the Road is furrounded with Rocks and Banks，and the Ir－ habirants of the Ioland being grear Sorcerers，and having the Wind at their command，could，upon oceakon， Ifens my Boar ahoar along wirh him，and in the Afce， noon he xerumed with two of the Inhabitants，who wiere Negrocs，and broughrour Ship fafeto an Anchor before Sunfer．In the mean time 1 fent the Arabian Mafter back to his own Ship，with full Affurances of the In nocency of our Defign，and the Friendly Difpofition of the Irentl；together with a Lerter so the fame purpore addreffed in Spanifs to the King．
The 17 th，The King fent frime of his chicef Favourices， to affure us of his Friendniip，and readinels to fupply us with the Preduct of his Country．I acknowledged my Obligations to the Prince，and fent himn a Prefent of a Silver－Hiled Hanger，a couple of very pretry Knives，a Rcam of Paper，and a Lnoking－Glafs；which bereceivid conc I dof 1 Kid and fome Fruit．As the hame time I delired the Arabien Captain，who was then aftoar，to buy up fome Prorifions forme，promifing to lend fuch Commodities a ahoar as were properte be given in cachange．But the were of fuch a particular Humour，rhat they would not： furie a Barcain of half a Riai raine in a Days time－for they would nor buy half a Xard of Cloth withour callingall their Relations and Neighbours ro concert the meafures of the Bargain．I was likewife
 Thand about three Years before，and by that mearathe Inkabitants were fo overtock＇d with Rials，that they pur no efterm upen that Coin．According＇y 1 found，thar tho＇they had raft quantitics of Fruits，they would not follthem to our Man for Mency，but only for Paper， white Cloth and Knives．In finc，I perceived that it would coft me is Days Attendance to make up two Pipes of Pcafe which I wanted；tho I did nor defign to ftay above three or four Days
The 1 Erh，having defreyd a couple of the Ships of that Country， 1 brought the Caprains aboard；who gave me to know that they came from the Ile of Miajoter，were laden with Rice and Hung Flefh．and were hound for Lema near Bomberĩe．Next Day they fupply＇d me with as much Rice，Peale and Hung Becf as would ferve us for four Months：And I was glad of the Opporrunity， for I could buy nothing from the Inhabitants withour an infinitelors of time：Befides，I began to fufpect the Honely of their Intenzions；for the Day hefore，when we werc founding for Anohorage，fome of the Inhabi－ tants gave us a fignal to come to 2 place，where we ficied
a long Ridge of Rocks，and had certainly been loft if we had anfwer＇d the Signal：And upon thar foore I prefum＇d that the Advantage they had made by the Shipwrack of the Portugueze Carrach，rempred them to wifh us the like che Po
Farc．

The 2oth，I thought to have taken up fome freth Wa－ rer alhoar；bur finding it brackifh，and hard to be got on board，by reafon of the great waves；and oblerving withal thar the Ship rode in the midtt of Shelves，I dropped that defign，and weighed Anchor on the 21ft by break of Day．The Arabian Caprains underftanding that I defign＇d ro double Cape Comorin，had adris＇d me to fop at the life of Socitora for fix Weeks，to aroid the ufual Storms upon the Coaft of Melebar．I would gladly have taken one of their Pilots along with me，to thew me the coafting of that Ifland；but they pleaded the difference of Religion，andour Men＇s cating of Pork for an Ex－ cufc．
This life of Nangefija extends it felf from North to Sourh about is or 16 Leagues，with about three or ADCercipia four Leagues in breadth．We could oblerve no Anchor－of inarefind age round it，bur that where our Ship rode；＂which lies uponthe N．N．W．Poinr，in \(11 \%\) Deg．South Latinude， but the mididle of the Inand is in 12 Degrecs South La－ ritude．In that place we rode at 25 or 30 Farhom Warce upon a Ground of Sand．But within a Piftol thor of us， there lay Flats which had nor above two Foor Water at low Warer ；and rocky Ground all abour．＇Tis a very dangerons R．oad，and hard to be found by Scrangers． Indeed among many Inconveniencies it has thefe Advan－ tages，that the Tide always runs againft the Wind，to that the Ship rides cafic；and thar Night brings a perpe－ rual Calm ar Sca，becaufe the Wind then rakes，the Land： Befidesthe Inconveniency of Anchorage，it is likewife a very improper place for raking in fref Provifions；for its Water is very bad，and the Inbabitants are fo over cauti－ ous，that they will be two Hours in marketing to the valuc of five pence．So that Mejocia is upon that feore infinirely preferable to it．The Ifland it felf affords a pleafant profpect，efpecially to the Noxthward；for on chat fide the Mountains rife gradually，being clad with Teveral forts of Trees；and below upon a large Creek of Sand along the Sca－hoar，there ftands 2 great many Honfes，thelterd with an infinite numbers of Coco， 0 range and Cirron Trecs．Their Oranges are fmall，bur very fwect and delicious，refermbling both in hape and tafte thofe of clinn．The Inbabicants are Negrees，and call their Inand Ninngafia．They are all very zealous mation Melbomesens，and mark＇d with a hoo Iron on the Templesmin of and midale of their Forchend．They are neither forman handfome，nor fo well flap＇d as the Negrocs of S ．Lau－ renc：
The Inand is govern＇d by is perry Kings；of whom che King of the place where the Anchorage is，is the ftronglt and the beft ally＇d．Thefe Kings War with one anocher，and fellthe Prifoners of War to the Porturuequ and other Nations．
Their Fighting confifts in throwing of Stenes，beating Thitrm onc another with Sticks burar ar the end，and flinging fith Sand in one anothers Eycs．We faw no Arms among them，but wharthe King had；and thofe were Fufecs and Piftols，which the Englijh prefented him fome time ago， and which he valued mightily．
They arereckoned grear Sorcerers，bur are civil and chectrul enough to Srangers，unlefs in be when they fee Stranger ftand uprighe and make Water，for then they Idicule him with a prodigious thouting．
The Arabian Ships，which they call Pangays，are Strangely builr；for the Planks are neither nail＇d nor cauk＇d，bur fowed rogether wich a for of Thread made Atra of the Rind of the Cocio Trec，and rarrd or pirch＇d abore wit dis always five or fix Men employed to lave our the Warer， befides，that they alwaysobferve the Searons of the Trade Winds，fo as toSail right before the Wind，for they wort venture to fer their fide to the Wind－ward．They are undeckr，and miny carry abour fifty or fixty Tun．
When we weighed Anchor in this Road，we ftood N．N．E．and withour the Points of the Land met vio－ lenr Tides bearing to the Windward，i．e．S．S．W．Ar Night we defcry＇d another tall IIand to the Sea－ward， which muft be that call＇d in the Maps funn de Cafitracal， and lics fifteen Leagues N ． \(\mathrm{E} \div \frac{1}{4}\) N．from Nangafijf：

The 28th we crofs＇d the Equinoctial Line；and Fuly the ift，the Wind blowing very high，fail＇d 55 Leagues in 24 Hours，notwithftanding that molt of our Sails were furl＇d；which gave me to undertand that upon that Coalt the Tides ron rapidly before the Wind．Nert Morning we difcover＇d a clear and rocky Coaft，with good Ground it great way off from it; for, at three leagues diftance, we had 30 Farhom.Warer, upon a leagues dintance Fuly the 2 d , we ftood againft the. Wind, hoping the Storm would abate upon the change of the Moon, Bint by our Latitude found that the Tide and Storm had catried us 38 Leagues, tho in the Night we food to the Sea, and by Day to the Land; which feemed vary wonderful.
The 4th, we made Cape Orpin (which in the Maps is plac'd in to Degrees Latitude) and drop'd two Anchots, the Storm fill continuing:
The 8th, it blew fo very hard that a Man could not walk upon Deck; upon which, we try'd all the Inventions imayinable, of lowcring our. Top-Maft, running out above a hundred and eighty Fathom Cable to every Anchor; &c. for our Pilots declar'd us to be loff. At the lame time our Pinnace was drove from two Anchors, the Ropes being cut by the Rock.
The \(14^{\text {th }}\), 15 th, and 16 th, is blew ftill harder, infomuch; that the Pinmace was oblig'd to quit the Coaft.
But the inth, fhe retimned and caft Anchor nearer the fhore, at fix Fathom Water upon vers good Ground
The high Winds continued withour intermintion till the 3 d of Auguf; during which tince could ncicher fend our Boat athoar, nor hoift un a Sail.r llowever I reKolved to ftand for Cape Guariafic, in order to confider the ftarcofour Tackling as well as to take in freth. Warer, and receive Dircctions from the Natives about our coafting on Sucofore, where none of us had ever been. With this view Thited our our Long-Boat with Provifinns for three Days, ordering the Mon by all means to make the land, and know of the Natives where they mighe come at frelh Water.
They returned on the 12 th , and reporied that they had coafted along the Shore to the Eaftward of the place where werocic under ftecp Mountains;on the rops of which they faw feveral Perfons in a mean Arabirn Habit, who feemd to them to be Negrocs, and threw fo many Stones upon 'em from thetops of the Mountains, that they were obliged to fteer off, for notwithftanding all the Signals they could make of Peace^ and Friendmip, the Natives fignified by their Swords and Afagays, that if they came athoar they would cut their Throats. Upon that, they ftecred to that part of the Coaft which was oppofite to our Auchorage; where fome of 'cm got up the Precipice by a gap, and found an open Champain Country as far as they could fec, withont any. Trees, unlefs it were fome wher'd Bulhes, and fome Herbs burne up by the Sun They faw likewife two or three of the Natives, who fled further into the Countrs. Having lain that Night under the Precipice, they fiecred next Way two or three Leagues to the Weitward, and faw fome Natives along the Shoar, who narched up Hill as foon as the Boat of ferd to comenear ciene. Afrcr that they doubled the Cape, from which, a ridge of Rocks thoots above half a leagac into the Sea; and there found a large Bay three Lcagues broad, and hooting very far into the Terra Firma, but prexy fhallow; for about two Leagues from the Mouth of it they found but 3 and 4 Foor Water, the ground Sand and thick Gravel, witcha greas deal of Wreck audaninfiuity of Firh. In this Bay they found two of we Natives a fining, who ded as foonas they made up to them. Our Men went athoar here, and met with a grear many of the Inhabitants; who, notwithflanding all the Signals they could make of a White Standard, EGc. ftill fled from them, crying aloud Iar Ilach, Illalach, Minhomet reful Alack, which is the Mahometan Confeffion of Faith. Upon the Shote they found an Alrebian Boat wich nething in it; a little further in the Country they met with a few finall Trees, and a little Lodge, with two or chree very pretry Mats in ir, which they did nor touch. Afer they had reimbarl'd, they faw the Natives peep out again; but could find no ripportunity of treating with them, wherher by friendifip or force. Upon this unfavourable Report I refolved to weigh Anchor as foon as the Storm abarcd. This Anchorage, in which we encounterd fuch violent Storms, and which is indeed the Winter of that Country, lies in \(10:\) Dcg. N.Lat. the Necdle varying \(17 \frac{1}{3}\) Deg. N. W. and the Coaft running E. and W. I would not advife any one to pitch upon thar place to lie in till the proper fcafon of Coasting upon Malabar; for not only the land is defart and inaccellible, by reaton of the cominual violence of the Wind, which never varies further than from S.S. W. to S. W. bur it affords no Warer, neither from Earch nor Heaven, as being altogether deftiture of Rain:
The Storm being abated, we weighed Anchor the 17th; and the 18th, cathe within a League of Cape Guardafu: That Night we rack'd about and ftood to the Sea, fleering E. \({ }_{4}\) S.E: and E:S.E.in order to make the ines of, Cirrin: Muria, which lie between the Ine of Socci tort and the Cape, and afford geod Water: But miffing of them we recurnid next Morning, fanding for the Cape; and in the Afternoon came to an Anchor within: Cape Gurtdafu, at nine Farhom Water, upon good Ground, withinone fourth of a league of the Land, that runs away N. W. \(\frac{1}{4}\) W. Next Morring, 1 fent one Boat's Crew in queft of fome Spring of freh Water falling from the Mountain into the Seaon irs Sourh fide; and another to conft along the Shoar N. W. \(\%\) W. which extends to the Mouch of the Red-Ser, in order tofind Warer, or to fpeak with fome of the Inhabitants. At the fame time I fens out the little Skiff to try what convenience they: could have for finting. The Skiff brought back :word, that all along the Shoar for 20 or 30 Paces, the Ground was fo Rocky, that they durft nor venture to bend theiet Scan Thofe whio went in queft of Warer tothe Southward, returned half dead wich timint and fatigue; and gave me to know that they had travelled four or five Leagues into the Counrry, which was extreamly defart, dry, and un fufficrably hot, the Sun being in the Zenith of the Horizon, and there being no Shade mimr Wind. The other Thewase a Bont's Crew reportcd, thiar abour threc Leagucs W.N.W. bout Gape from us, they canic to a place, which fecmid to be pretty Guartape green in comparifon of that dry Councry; itwhere they party Satit went athoar, and meering with ten or rwelve Negroes, ask'd them (as well as they could) where they could have Water to drink ; thatone of rhe NTegrocs ask'd a picee of Cotron-Cloth that one of the Sca-men had as a reward for the Difcovery, and upon having it, hew him, fome Disches and Wells dug our of the Ground, in which was abundance of Water; and that the faid Negrocs ask'd chem if they were Engli/h, and promiled to give them Cartle in exchange. Upon diis kepors, we weighed Anchor and fer fail tor rhat place.

The 22d about Noon, we came to an Anchor at fix Fachom Warct, bad Ground, abour four Leagues with in Cape Gurrdafu, over againft fome Bufhes and Greens which are not common upon that Coaft. Haying fer 30 Men afhoarto dig for Water, I found, that the Whter which catnc in gricat abundance after they hiad dig'd but one Foor deep, was at firt fweet; bar after we had fill'd a Barrel or rwo the reft came very Salr; informuch that for 22 Tum of Water, we were obliged to dig in a bove \(7 \circ\) places; which we did ind less than 4 Hours, the Soilbeing Sand. While we lay here it was infufferably bor withour any Wind.
Cape Guardafu lics in 12 Degr. N. Lat. the Nicedle varying \({ }_{1} 7{ }_{4}^{3}\) Deg. N. W. 'Tis the highelt Land upon alh chis Coaft, and rifes to a Precipicic. All this Coaft as wonderfully defars and foosen'd by the Sun; informuch that I do nor belicerechere is a lionter place in the World. We aw no appearance of Houfes; bur there appearid to ws ien land: Tome Mcn wandering upon the Shoar, who were fo \({ }^{3}\) arge that we fhould hare taken them for Rocks if we had nor cen them move. I faw one of their Bows, which by its largencfs and ftrength, fpoke the hugh Stzture of its Owner.
I was nuightily furptiz'd to find no manier of Wind Under fré when.we lay clofe by this Cape, whereas it had blown fo cupe theref very hard bar a few Lcagues off, in the Lat. of ro "Derr \({ }^{\text {no Wimh }}\) The Realon I magine to be this; thar Poinr of Iand ing in to: Deg. Lat. being a Pcninfula, not above 3 or 4 Lcagues broad, ferves for 2 Stiock to heighren and inflame the Wind which runs along the Coalt N. E. and S. W Whercas Cape Guardafu is very high, and the Wind paffing over a long Tract of dry and hor Land, in conunction with the Raysof the Sun, does fo heat irsSurface, hat the Wind is wafted above it.
The 27th we weighed Anchor; and as we advanc'd coward the Sea, found the Wind brisker: After we had the Sei aird about 12 Hours wefcll in with great Tides running faind with ort of the Red-Ser; and a few Hours after that found Red-Spors the Sea very much troubled and ftaind with red fpots. Some took ir for Flats; bur we could difiover no fuch thing by founding. My Senfe of the matrer was, that, we being then in the Mouth of the Red-Scn, and that being the Day of the Moon's Conjunetion, fome great Floods join'd to the Preffure of theSea, had occafion'd the Vio-: lence of the Tides.
Next Day; a confultation of the Pilots being calld; 'twasrefolv'd that we thould rin feren or eight Days to and again inthe Mouth of the Redsen, for fear the Wind we then had thould waft us too foon upon the Coaft of Malaber. Purfuant to this Refolurion, We fteer'd North; towardsthe Coaft of Arabia.

August 3 1. We catme within two Lcagues of the Coaft of Arsbir. We were then in \(14:\) Degr: Lat over againft a Bay, in which, according to the valgar Maps, chere thould be fome Illands calld Crremberamma, and Xael, which produce grear Quantities of Frankincenfe.I thought oo have crade Caramberumma, bit the contrary Winds and Fides prevenred me. I underftand thar there come rothar place, every Year, a great many Mahometan Pilgrims; fone of whom onvinve chere a long time.
In the entry of the Red Ser, and along the Coaft of the Abrfintes, or Gurdufines, there is a prodicious quantiry of Thornbasks almoft impec Finh, efpecially Thernbacks, fome of which are as long as pecrable. a Boat, and proportionably thick. Some of our Men Atruck at them with a Graple, but it pierc'd their Skin no more thanifit bad been fo much Iron. This Coaft of Arabin is fandy, and in fome places low; bur in che lnland parts here are very high Mountains, which were coverd with Fog all the time we wore there. The Calm obliging me to itay in the Mouth of the R-d Ser, rill September the roth; I began to be apprehenfive we might come too late to double Cape Comorin: And for that reafon ftood N. E. with whar E and E.S.E. Wind we had; rill we fell in with the S. W. Winds, and fo fecred our Courfe S.
Having calld a Confultarion of the Pilors, and other
A Confutia.
\({ }^{A}\) tion whar Courte to
feex.
themfelves entirely Mafters of the Ship; wherl of a fudden 60 or 80 Men Atarted up in the Forceaftle, and with Shields and Hangers in their Hands, fell upon our Men with fuch fury, that they obligid them to retire to the Boar ; bur by an unlucky mifchance, the Boat was fo belaged, that they could not difengage her, fo that mot of our Men were kitld with Pick-axes; Arrows, and PotGrenadoes, which were thrown into the Boar ; and the reft being forc'd to leap into the Sca, onc of 'cm fwim'd. ro, the Moors Boat, and having cur the Cable, fav'd himfelf and the other four Men, withour ftaying for the reit, who in all probability were drown'd.

Next Morning I made all the Sail \{could to come up with the Ship; and having boarded ir, found no Body aboard bur fifteen poor old Wretcher, with white Beards reaching to their Girdle, wo with Tears and Lamencarions threw themfelves ar my Feet: and rais'd my Compaffion miove than Revenge; befides, that the five Men who were fax'd, unanimounly affur'd me, that they did not fee them in the Engagement. The Accotnt I bad from thefe: Men, was, that the Ship having carry'd a Cargoe of Pepper to Mecca, was upon her recurn to Panama near Calecut, to which place fhe belong'd ; thatchemfelves were poor People coming from Mecca, to beg upon that Coalt ; that the Owners of the Ship, in number 8o had gone off the Nighr before in our Boac, with their Gold and Silver, and the Boat being almoft overladen, had left them behind. Upon the whole. I confider'd that thele poor Men were innocenr, and thar the Ambition and Avarice of our Men was the Caufe of cheir Death, fince the Moors had ftruck, and defign'd them no harm, till our Men fell upon them : For thefe Reafons I Parid the poor old Mcn.

I found aboard of the Ship, a great quanrity of Salt Dates, Winc, two Punchions of Opium, fome Hundreds' of Pounds of Coral, fome Cotron Cloth of fmall value Rofe-water, and Knives; and I undertood from the old Mon, that if our Men had not boarded the Ship;' the Owners could have furnind me with 40000 Duckers of Cairc, which is a Golden Cojn worth abour four Livies 2 picce.
Oftober 2. We were off of Cape Comorin, in the Eati-Thy pait rude of 7 Des. and 50 Min. the Needle varying \(14 \div\) Deg. Cpeivn the Tides bearing to the Sourh, hating carry'd us farther off than we defign'd. After that, being advis'd by'our Pilors to ftand for Ticon rather than Achen, Ifeerad. E. and S.E. \(\ddagger\) E
The In th we had a violenr Guft of Wind, which lafted for two Hours; and foon after had another, which broke our Forc-maft , being then in \(x:\) Degr. S. Lac.
The 12 ah being in i Degr. 10 Min. S. Lat. we faw little Land-Fowls, which made us hope to fee the Land in a fhort rime; moft of my Ship's Crew, as well as that of the Advice-Boar, being then fick.

Noucmber ix. We came in fight of Land in 1 Degr. 40 M:n. N. Lat. Bur the frequency of the Calms, and the ficklinefs of my Mcn, retarded me mightily ; for the Pinnace had nor abose wwo or three Hands fir for Bufinefs, and in our Ship there were not eightecn that were able to work. Befides. borh our Surgcons were dead. I defroy'd feveral Ships of thar Country under Sail, and pur out a White Anciene to make them ftecr rowartis us As laft finding they would nor come, I fent our my Skiff to fpeak with one that ftocd between us and the Shoar; tho they codeavour'd to run afhore, yer the Skiff came up with them,and agreed to give 35 Picces of Eighr for a Pilot to conduct us to Ticow: They were of Priamen, a Town about \(A\) pioce. 8 or to Leagues to the Sourhward of Tic \(w\), and told our duatime Men. Thas Ticoup lay abour 7 or 8 Leagues off, beyond toTym fome Illands that were in head of us. Our. Pilor carryd us nearer the-Terra Firma than we were; and when we came to be off of the above-mentiond Inands, made us put back to Sea.
Having paft thefe Iflands, we came in fight of an high Promontory of the Terrn Firma, which had two Banks, one abour half a League before its outmof Point, and anocher abour two Leagues to the S.E. of ir ; and we had certainly run foul of the latt, if one of our Men had not given us Notice of ir from the Main-maft-rop; for we could nor \{py it upon the Deck, and our Pilor had rold us nothing of the matter.
Having weatherd chis dangerous place, and ftanding \(S\). S. E. we faw anorher in head of us, about alarge League diftant from the laft. We fteerd between thefe two, which lic S. E. and N. W. founding.all the way, and: had all along 16 Fathom Water, the Groand Mad with a lirtle Sand. The Night overtaking ns, we were ob lig'd to drop \(2 n\) Anchor berween chetn.

This place lies off of a place calld Pageman, juft under:pamm. the Equinotials. which affords-2 grear deal of Pepper; making a Erige Ctreek, the borrom of which is a low Country cover"d with wod; But in the Inland Parts rficte 开解ds an high Mountain pointed like a Pike, which is fect above 30 Leagues off, and runs S.E. \(\frac{1}{4}\) E: Having. weather'd the Point of this Creek, we defcry'd the three flands of ficono ; and at laft, after having fpent rwo Months upon a Voyagt, that's commonly perform'd in cightDays, landed as Ticon the firf of December.
Between that time and the Second of ofober, I had foft as Men; and if rhe Calm had bur continu'd fifteen Days longer, I belice I had loft all the Men in my Ship.
We caft Anchor at Ticom, between the greateft of the Mlands, and the Terra Firma, at a Fathom Warer, the Ground Mad; and fent our Skiff afhore, which brought us one Pedro, who had been Interpreter to the Englifh Factory in that place. This Interpreter told me. That the Engtijh and Dutch, had been expelld thar place, by the great deal of Pepper afhore; bue we could nor buy ir without a licence from the King of Acben, who was Lord of all that Coaft.
He likewife acequainted me, that the frope (our ViceAdmiral) had cotich'd upon the Coaft, about 20 Leagues off, in the latecr end of fuly, and had fent their Long Boar with \({ }_{15} \mathrm{Mcn}\) to this place, to take in frefh Provifions, which they wanted mightily; that upon the Boars arrivat, a Dutc) Ship in the Road fir'd upon them; but upon Cumplaint excus'd themfelves, pleading, that they took cm to be \(E_{n g l} / \beta\); that the 15 Men having mer with a kind Reception from the Governour, and raken in what Prorifionsthey wanted, fer our in queft of their own Ship, bur could never meer with is but could never meer with it, upon which they reruen'd ro thisplace, where feven of 'cm dy'd in OGober, four went for Achen in a Dutcli Ship, chrce for Baztam in another Dutcl/ Ship, and one continu'd in the Counrry, and carn'd his Bread by gathering of Pepper.
I wasinfinitcly gricv'd to hear that Captain Grrve had been fo inconiderate as to fend his Long-Boat to far from him ; efpecially when I was inform'd, thar among the 15 Men he had loft, there were two principal Commiffaries, and 2 Piler.
Upon further enguity Pedro inform'd me, Thar the place where the Hope had calt Anchor, was a grear Ifliand abour 20 Lemgues to the Weftward of that place; that for a cerainty, they had not fuffer'd Shipwreck, either upon that Illand, or along the Coaft, fince the Praws (fo the Ships of thar Country are callid), going to and again, had inceer difcover'd any Wreck; that the two Commiffarics, before they dy'd, were of Opinion, thar the Ship had been droie from her Anchors by Storm, and not being able to make her former Station, made the beft of her way to Bantarn, expecting that I would touch arthis place aceording to my Promife, and take up her Men.
As to the Affront offer'd 'em by the Dutch, he gave me roknow. That the Dutch knetw 'cm to be Frencb, having fpoke with them before they fir'd; thar the Nicws of the Peace between the Dutch and Englih, was arriv'd befo:e this happerid, that the Dutch, had reprefented to the Goretnour and Inhabitanes of that place, thar the Fronsh were Robbers, and mean"d only to oblerve the Landingplace, in order to fack them; that thicy would not arfiet our two Commifaries any manner of way, whether in Meath or Sicknefs; nor give the leaft Relief to any of our Men, bating fome few Sailors thar they ftood in need of, and that the Englifh had ferved our Men to the utmont of fenfible of. He added. thar the Governour, was very engrois the Indics to themfelves, and had but lately abus'd the King of facitra, and ufurp'd his Territories; for which Rearon the King of Aclen thoughe fit ro dinodge em of Ticoro.
As to the Death of our Men, he faid, it had been a very dll Days, confidering that petted of having horten'd their Days, confidering that thofe who dyd were che Perfons they hared moft, and were not the firt who had receiv'd Poifen from their Hands; witneis the Dearh of feveral En-It:In-men occafion'd by thatmeans.
the King of Facntra, and whertury done by the Dutco to the'King of Facntra, and whether they had haid Sicge to Brasam. He affur'd me, chat it was Atill Befieg'd, infomuch, that there. was no. Commerce or Traffick with that City; that the. Dutch had poffers'd themrelves of Jacatrat, and cxpelfd the King; thar they had raz'd the ancient City, and buile a froong. Forr, and a City after the Fathion of their, own Country, which they had peopled with all forts of Nations; ; and in fine, that they were ar that time Maiters of the Streighs of Sonda, where no Body could fail withoat their Parform Having maturely weigh'd before.
all the Particulars of this Advice, I refolv'd to fend both to Acben and to Bantam at any rate, to have fome Account of Capt. Grave and his Ship, whofe Condition I wasmighDace come ahore, I carried fome Prevernour allowing me'to out which one will farce be Prefents along with me, withtry. Upone will fcarce be madeWelcome in thar CouniOffy. Upon my landing, the Governour, and principal or Baly, gave me an honourable Reception, under a Roof, and Bufinefs. buy up whar Pry gave me to know, thar I was free to buy up whar Provifions I wanred, provided I paid for as for Pepper, and the other no ocher Commodicy; thar No Trodiog try, they could nor other Commodirics of the Court withour from the King o. but if I we of any without a Licence ficmee leave of the King if would go to achen, and obtain from the would be King to crect a FaCtory with them, they E . of acbe would be glad to deal with us. I ask'd leave to hire Houfe in the City, for accommodaring my fick to hire a thofe who were to tarry athore to buy up Pravigon, and they reply'd. That they could nor any up Provifions. Bur zay Men athore, thére being fo many Rer for the Safety of Town; bur if I pleas being to many Rogues abour the up Provifions, and thas only for the fpace tro Men to buy
Next Day I Sent a Lenter to Achen dire five Day
Grave, Caprain of the Hopc, to Ach, dirceted for Monf lig'd the Mafter of a Praw bound thither ; by having obfents, and Promifes of Reward, to chither, by fome Pre. The 6th I agreed of Reward, to carry it.
The 6rh I agreed with the Mafter of a Praw that liv'd Men to \(B\) to give him roe Rials for carrying one of my ded he rerum'd in 20 Days. The Articles of Ap ; proviwere drawn up in Writing, and lodrid in the Hands of Pedro the Englifi Interpreter - and bot in the Hands of of the Praw defir'd thar his Vorath he and the Maiter from the Governour and Ins Voyage might be conceal'd Fiuit, I wenc to return him Thanks; and by Yi fome fome Prefents I made him, obrain'd ; and by Virtue of in which I lodg'd 43 fick Mcn, with cave to hire a Houfe, Prict, and three more Mcn, with three Surgeons, a Kime, I had feveral Prefents fent me of Fruir and youns Kids; particularly from the Govemour of Priaman Town about cight Leagues off) who prefs'd me carnefty with forme a Vific: I return'd him Thanks, togethes with fome Prcfenss, and a Promife to come and wait upon him with the firft opportuniry.

The Governour having fins of Tican
French Ship had achen Gallior arriving, affur'd me, thar no ded, thar our Vice-Admiral achon; upon which I conclu Bantam or facarta.

The roth, there
King of Achen, with an a chree Galleys pertaining to the They forifie each of 'cm: And the Inhabitants of Ticon acquainted for fear of me, that they expected a further Reinforcement of Eled the Natives me, that they expected a further Reinforcement of ElePrince that had revolted from carry on a War againft a this News, confevored from the King of Achen. Upon more at the Mand with the Water-Casks, befides 8 or 10 that werc always out with the Skiff; forhar I had few Men left on Board tho at the fame time I usd to few 80 or 100 of the Natives on Board, fome by way of Vifir and othors to fell their Eggs, Fruit, Pullets, Fifh, and other Provifions: Upon chelic Confiderations Inail'd down the Harches, and run a Rail berween the Grear Maf and the Forc-Maft, which was fortificd by two grearPeBitracle ; mounted on Wheels, and five more upon the Bitracle; rogether with a Guard uponthe Deck, and rwo Muskettecrs, with as many Halberdecrs ftanding at a Door in the faid Rail, which I never fufferd to be open'd but when I recciv'd 2 Vificancinto my Cabin: So that 200 Men upon the Deck conld do us no injury, while our Men were upon their Guard.
The 13th I went ahoir, and found my Men recoverask leave to tay fifig to wait upon the Govemour, to The rahutiqueft ; but writhal intreired longer, he granted my Re- tants officm quett ; but withal intreared me to go to Acben, and obrain frond of/2 2 Licence of the King for erecting a Frencb Faitory whin Fronct Fow would be infinitely more acceptable to the In than that of any other Nation. He likewrife defird me not to be jealous of the Inhabirants or far deird me from them; which is feem'd Inhabits, or fear any injury Fortification in my Shipem I did, lince I had made a

I made Anfwer, That my coming fo carelelly athore Evidenceng 50 fick Perfons in their hands, Was fufficiens Evidence of the Confidence I pur in the Natives; that che defgn of the Barrier in my Ship, was only tokeep our hole 1 did not know from running into my Cabin, thait I might be capable to diftinguitio an Orankaye. for a noted Gentleman) from a Fifher-man; and that I had not mounted fo many Pieces of Cannon, if I fiad not heard that two Dutch Ships wocre expected here, of whom I had teafon to be jealous. Upon this he told me, I had a great deal more reafon to miftruft the Dutch than them : And that if I pleas'd,' he would forbid the Natives to go on board of me. Bur \(I\) affar'd him, they Chould be at all times very inelcome, and that \(I\) did not at all miftruft cm . After that, I vifited the Captains of the three Galleys who affur"d me afreth, that there had no French Ship come larely to Achen.

The 19th, the King of Ticew's elden Son vifited me on board with a great Recinue; and I gave him the beft Reception \(I\) could. That Night the Praw I had fent to Bantam return'd in ix Days; \(\because\) and the Mafter made the following Report:

Four Days after they had pur to Sea, thicy arriv'd at the Port of Surabaya, which lics on this Codit of Sumatra, in 4 Degr. S. Lat. There being i Durch Ship in the Road Mr. Ifanc (the Man whom I had Serte on board of the Praw, in queft of the Vicc-Admiral) would necds (peak with them, tho' he diffwaded him ; the Dutch Caprain acquainted him, That Bantrm was block'd up fo, thiat no Ships of any Nation could ger in; thar the Hope, which was then ar Frcatre, had been in grear Diftrels upon tha Coaft, there being only 4 or 5 Men on board, tilla Dutch Veffel re-inforc'd het; ; and thas the Streight of Sonda was infetted with the Frva Praws and Caracau's, they haring from the King of Bantam a Sum of Money for every Head they kill'd of whar Nation focver. Upon this Advice Mr. Ifare thought it not fafe to go further in the Praw bur took the opportunity of a Veffil, the Mafter of which promisd to land him in \(\mathcal{F}\) coctre in 7 or 8 Days. The Mifter of the Praw brought likewife a Letter from Mr. 1 fanc, containing the foregoing Account.

Thefe News vex'd me micre than the former; for \(I\) had pofrively orderd \(I / r a c\) nor to fopp for any Ship, bur to go Atrait on: Affer marure delibcration we refolvid nor to go to Bantam, wherc our Ship atd Cargoe might be in danger in a time of War, befides that we fhould beoblig'd to fpend fenury and Februcry in going thither, and ma-- naging the Traffick of the place, and March would be too late a Seafon for rerurning along this Coaft to Achen, At the fame time we difparch'd the Advice-Boar with a Re-inforcement of 20 Mca for Facarra, in order to affint and fupply Capt. Grave; whom we orderd to return to -France, if he could ger his Lading ar Bantrm; or if he fail'd of is there, to rerum forthwith to Acben, where he would find us.
Ticon lies in 2 c Min. S. Lat. The Inland Country is very high, but towards the Shore to falls very low, being cover'd with Woods, and watcr'd with feveral little Rivers, which render it mariby. 'Tis grac'd with feveral pleafanc Madows well ftock'd with Buffles and Oxen, which may be purchasd for 4 or' \(s\) Rials apiece. It affords plenry of Rice, Cartle, Poultry, Ducks, and feveral good Fruits, fuch as Durions, Anana's, Paratocs, Mangocs, Pomegranates, Oranges, Citrons, Watcr-Mclons, Cucumbers, ejc. The Riches of the Councry confint in Pepper, arhich is produces very plenrifully, and which is much better than that of Bantrm. As for other Rarites, Drugs, and Manufactures, it affords none of \({ }^{\prime} \mathrm{cm}\).

The City of Ticm is bur a forry place; it lics about half a League from the Sea-fide. Upon the Shore, oppofite to the little Illand where the Ships ride, there are fome Houfes, and a fort of Halls. Bur both the City and Suburbs will not make 800 Houfes, which are built of Reeds, and are neither ftrong nor convenient. However the Councry is very populous, efpecially at the foot of the Mounzains, where the Pepper grows.
The King of Ticw is Sulject to the King of \(A \cdot b e n\), who puts in a new Governour every chree Years, withour whom the King of Ticom cannot do any thing of importance; \(-\sqrt{ } 0\) that Foreigners have more Bufinefs with the Governour, than with the King; nay, the very Inhabitants pay more Refpect to him, calling him Pangaran Lime. The Inhabitants of the City are Mrilays, and no other Language is Epoken all along thar Coaft. The Inland parts are pof fefid by the Natives, who difown the King of Acher's Authority, having a peculiar Language, and Kings of their own. Thefe are Idolaters, and eat Human Flefh. Thicy have rich Gold' Mines, but do nor know how to manage'cm ; for they only gather the Gold out of fome liale Dirches, which are nor very deep, and our of the Catities made by Floods. This Gold they exchange with the Dutch, or the Inhabirants near the Shoar for Pepper; Salt, Iron, Corton Cloth dy'd red, and Surat Pearl, .which they efteem mightily. Bur among the Malays Gold is as dear as in France; and in Acbern tis yer deares. Thefe Matas are all of em very Inpertitions Mabomein the Fields. They are of an Olive Colour. Their Wo. men are all kepr up, and not fufferd to appear in the Streets:
From 7 fuly to October their Air is very unhealthy, being ariended with Fevers thar feldom admit of a Cure: Infomuch, that if ic were not for their Pepper, no Body would venture to come near. "cm. They gather Pepper at any tiinc, but efpecially in December, Fanuary, and February. No Trade can be carried on at this place, without a li:cence from the King of Acben, which they call Cbappr: And if you have that, neither the Governour nor the King can difturb you. For want of it, \(I_{i}\) could neither fell any Commoditics, nor buy any Pepper while I was there; excepring abour 8000 Pound, that was brought by Night from Priaman, and fold me at a reafonablePrice.

The Surar Commodities go off very well here; as well as fome of the Mafulipatan Commodities. Rials arecur-ithe \(T_{a n}\). rent enough; but the Money of Achen does norpals among Mcig. cm: All their Moncy is rome fmall Pieces of Gold as They come from the Mine, which they weigh with Scales. They fell their Pcpper by Bahars, (a Weight containing 150 Pound Averdupois Weighr;) and the King of Achen has is per Cent of all that is fold, thar is \(7:\) for the Ex- Troox port of the Pepper, and 7 : for the Imporr of the Rials, upantop or Commoditics given in exchange for it. This Cuftom is prid either in Subftance, or in Rials, over-valuing the prime Coft.
Befides the abovementiond Impoft for every hundred Bahars, we pay 25 Rials to the King of Ticom, and \(\frac{1}{4}\) of a Rial to the Weigher, and fome inconfiderable Allowance to 10 or 12 Perfons more. Bur above all, one muft make the Governour his Friend, and have a watchful Eye over the Malcys, who are apt to wet the Pepper, or to put Sand and lirtele Stones ampng ir.

Fnnuary i. 162 x . Having broughr on board all my fick trfo Men, who began to recover apace; I weigh'd Anchor, and ftecrid for Acben.
The 14th we were off of Barros, one of the mont con-somal fiderable places on that Coaft, belonging to the King of pricisin Achen, where no Perfon can rraffick withour that King's Tonatia leare. This place is half way berween Ticow and Achen, sinuad and affords plenty of Benjamin, which lerves the Natives for Moncy. 'Tis a pleafant Conntry, abounding with all forts of Wines and Fruirs; bur bears no Pepper. Is affords a good quantity of Camphire, which is worth 14 or 15 Rials the Carti (i.e. 28 Ounces). Rials will fcarce palsthere; bur the Surrt, or Coaft Commodities, go off very well. Both the Inhabitants of rhe Coaft, and the Dutch and Englifh buy up their Camphire, to carry it io Surer, and the Screight of Sondr.

The 23 d we defcry'd the high Lands of Acben, and the Inands that lie to the Sca-ward of the Road. We ftood directly for thefe Inands, but it was cight Dajys before we could make them, notwithftanding that we were burfour Leagues off. For wanting a Pilot, we took the Channel that lies nearelt the Land, where the contrary S.E. Winds incommoded us very much. Ar laft, with much adoe, A Fm , we weather'd 'em about a League and a half from the Road, which lies oppofite to the Mourh of a River, upon 1 iskath which there ftands a Fors very remarkable for iss Mofkey or Mabometan Church.
The 3oth I came to an Anchor juft by an Englifh Ship of 600 Tun that rode chere. Immediately a Boar came off from the Shore, with feveral of the King's Officers, tre fpt and one of his Eunuchs carrying a Chappe (as they call it) 4 fai which is a Dagger with a Gold Handle and Scabbard be-cumpe longing to the King; made ufe of for a Badge or Sign, that the Perfon who bears it is commiffion'd by the King. After a profound Silence, he who carry'd the Chappe, wel com'd me in the King's Name, and order'd me to come forthwith a Shorc. Accordingly I made my felf ready; but before I could come off, I was oblig'd to pay the Of ficers Dues, which amount to above 80 Rials, befides a grear Looking-Glafs for the Eunuch, and another for 2 Friend of his, and fome fmall ones for his principal Officers.

This done, \(I\) came athore, where the Captain of the Englifs Ship invited me very kindly to Dinner, and to lodge in his Houfe. I accepred his Invitation to Dinner, and was very trandfomely entertain'd.

After Dinner \(I\) went to look upon a Houfe, and offer'd 40 Rials a Month for is, bue could not have is under \(54-\) In the mean time the Engli/h Caprain complain'd heavily of the King, for that he would not ler trem have the Pepper under 54 Rials the Bahar, tho' 30 Rials was as much as it was worth. Finding that I could not fpeak with the King that Day, and thar the King had fent his Chappe swice for an Emrauld I wore on my Finger, and prould no le farisfied with my Promife of bringing is to mor row, I went on board again.
F:br. I. I came athore again, and by the way mer fome Porty incer, whom the King of Aclen had laid in Irons; and who rold me, that the Dutch and Englifh had a Dedign to povfon me. I told "cm, I did not believe the Enif. would do me any harm; however, 1 would be upon m" guard. They reply'd, That if I went to Dine with the li;glifh Caprain thar Day, I would never return; and very iffectionarely begg'd me to avoid it, becaufe they had no hopes of being deliverd from their Captivity, but dronish my means.
But after all, purfuane to my Promife, I went and Din'd with the Extylif Caprain, namely Mr. Reberrs; who creaced me very kindly and bandfomely, and gave me nothing cirber to cat or drink, but whar he and his Company took fart of. After Dinner, the King's Officers came for the Emrauld, which \(I\) gave 'em; and rold me, \(I\) could not Kpcak with the King, till the Day after the next.
Hmider Affer that, confidering \(I\) was troublefome to the \(E n g l i f \beta\) Captain, and that it was not my Intereft to lodge with him, Iagreed to give so Rials a Month for a Houle.
Filruery 2. I was taken with a violent Looiencts and Vomicing; and being apprehenfive of the truch of what the Parritgref: had told me, took fome Aialdiva Cocoes with Bezoar, which in that Country are reckorid a Sovexign Counter-Poyon.
Next Day I went athore, where I met with bad News, \(\therefore\) That the Dutch and Envilih had taken the Hope off of Banrem, and thar'd the Cargoc, and murder'd moit of the Mcn; and that they would do as much to me, if they werc able.
This Difcovery came from a Dutcl-man, who being difoblig'd by his Councry-men, had taken. Protection under usin one Apartment of the Houfe I had taken. I was unwilling to take this Man on board, by reafon that in a former Voyage I was challeng'd as Bantam for having Dutch-men on board, and tholest had, who were the molt ufeful and neceffary Officers in my Ship, wexc taken from me. But after all, finding that the Fellow was ready to turn Moor, and that he fpoke the Language of the Country naturally, and might be ufeful to me as an Interpreter; I rold him, if he would lie clofe, withour giving any notice to the Dutcl, or Englifh, rill \(I\) was ready to fer Sail, I would do my utmoft to convey him on board : For Pedro, the Englifh Interpreter, whom I had brought from Titow, bad then left my Service; being check'd and threaten'd by the Englifh Factor for cnoring into my Service, and hated by the King's Officers, who upon my lerupling acfirft to pay their Ducs, thought he had uugefted to me fomeching to their difadvantage.

In the mean rime one of our Men, that had been drinking with the Erg!i/h Sea-men, pump'd out of them, that their Ship, in Company with the Dutci Ship, had given chace in the Streight of Sundn, to a Veffel which they took to be Frencis; that the Dutch-man falling behind, was mad that he could not come up with her; buit their Ship being the berter Sailor, made up to cm , and found ir was an Eng/ifh Veffel, upon which they left her; that before I came into the Road, they hearing I had nor twenty found Mcn, had a Defign to take me; bur finding upon my Arrival that \(I\) was fo ftrong, they dropp'd their Defign.

The Engifo Captain acquainted me, That the Dutch Dutrin Admiral allum'd the Auchoriry of King of 7 acatra, and bc had coy with a Hanger in onc Hand, and Arrows in the other, and on the Reverfe Trajeitum, in-Roman Letters, with the Datc of the Yearunderneath:
The 4th \(I\) kepraboard, and receiv'd Advice from the Shore, that a Draught was a brewing for me in the Englif Ship:
The бth I was invited to Dinncrion board of the Engliß Ship, where Reifembrat, the Dutch, Fautor, was to be prefent. I recurn'd Thanks for all their Civilities, and promis'd to wait upon em, if to be \(I\) was nor obligd to go aftore upon an Interview with the King; or, if \(I\) was, to fend Capr. Riddel to fupply my place.
Nent luerning I went a fhore betimes, and fent my Exculc to thic Engilfh by Capt. Riddel, whom 1 acquainted with the Realon of my ablence, and cautiond to be upon his Gmard.
As Conn as I was athore, I clean'd and prepar'd the Predired to 1 defign'd for the King of Achen; and withal, meanite Xing of ing to oblige him as much as pofible, rook a Blank Letrer fromen the \(K\). ring by m. Wi. To our deares Brother the to and haring adderfs'd it, To our deares Brother the King of Achen, fiald it with Red Wax, bearing the Imprefion of the Arms of France. That my Prefent might not be unwori thy of my Prince, in whole Name I defign'd to prefent ir; I fer aptart the following things for that ufe. The complete Armour of a Horfeman, carv'd and gilded; a German Hanger, with a carv'd and gilr Hilr. upon which hung 2 Piftol; fix Muskets, the Barrels of which were partly carv'd, and partly gilc, and the But-ends enrich'd with Mocher of Pearl; r wo Heads of Pikes enamel'd and gilded; 2 very large Looking-Glafs, which was broken, bui pretending I had receiv'd ir encire, and thar I durft notbur deliver it ar any rate, having recciv'd the King's Orders to that effect; two large Flasiks full of excellent RofeWater; and two picces of Watered Camlet of a Crinafon Colour. Such was the Prefent that I had clean'd and pur in order, in our Houfe afhore.

The Captain of the Surat Veffel came to fee \(\pi\), and told me, it was for magnificent a Prefent, that it was more proper for the Grear Mogul his Mafter, than for the King of Achen.

The King's Officers came likewife to our Houfe, to take an Inventory of whar \(I\) defign'd to prefent to their Maftcr, and gave me to know, That chey fear'd the Prerent \(I\) defignd was:nor confiderable enough for their Prince, who was a great Sovcreign, and had but few E quals in the Indies. I reply'd, Thar I was nor unac quainted with the Grandeur of the King of Achen; and at the fame time I knew the Value of the Prefent , which came not from a private Man, but from a puiffant King and marised a Reception from any Porentate whatlocver and withal, that my Mafter had gisen me nothing elfe to prefent.

The 8th I was conducted to an' Audience of the King, The manner by the Sabandar, and four of the principal Orankayes, of duceded ro on with two Elcphants 3 and that with the following Cerc- Audience of monies. Upon a great Elephant fate one of the principal the Kirb. Orankayes in a cover'd Pulpit, who fene me a grear Silver Difh, cover'd with a Cloch embroider'd with Gold and Silk of divers Colours; in which I pur the Letter, and then gave is to him. By his Command one of the other Orankayes mounted the other Elephant, and after him the Sabandar, then I, and after me another: So that four of us rode upon one Elephant, and I far betwecr rwo Perfons.
The other two Orankayes rode upon Arabian Horfes; before the Elephant that canty'd the Letrer.

Before them wenc 14 or 15 Men, each of em carrying piece of the Prefent, coverd with yellow Cloch, with out which noching could be prefented to the King. Six Trumpers, fix Drums, and fix Haurboys lead the Van, which founded rill we arriv'd at the Cafte, abour' League off.
In the Rear follow'd three Sabandars; and all the Offcrs of the Alfandeque on foor.
When we arrived at the Caftle, we alighted at a great place before it, and when we encred the outer Gare, all my Men were order'd to retire. Then we pals'd two other Gates. I was order'I to pur off my Shoves; without which Ccromony I could not have Audience of the King.
Soon after, the Royal Chappe was brought, and being firt put into my Hands, then rais'd above my Head, and e-deliverd to him that broughe is, I was order'd to follow it, being accompany'd by a Sabandar and an Oran kaye.

We waited fome time at the King's Chamber-Door, which was coverd with Silver Plate. As laft an Eunuch came out, who gave the Sabandar to know, that tho the King was more indifposid thar Day than ufually, yer fince I was fo near, he fhould bring mein. Upon which was led into the Chamber by two. Mcn, one holding me by each Hand; and fer upon 2 Turky-Carper with my Legs a-crofs, in purfuance of the Cuftom of that Country.
Then the two Men rctird, and I faluted the King in The Farmof he ufual Form, wiz. by joyning my Hands, and lifting Salutaion hem up ro my Forehead, bowing my Head a little. The Cuftom does not oblige one to take off their Hat, but I being unaccuftom'd to appear before Perfons of char Quaity with my Har on my Head, chore to pur it off. The King fare upon 2 place abour two Foor higher, and gave me to know by the Sabandar, That he was infinitely oblig'd to the King of France for the Prefent he had fent him, which he efteem'd more than ten Bahars of Gold. Then he open'd the Letrer, and gave it to me to interpret to the Sabandar, who undentood a little Portugueze. But his Koowledge of thar Language was fo very imperfect, and he Stile of the Letrer fo uncommon among them, that I ould nor make him underftand it : For the very firft word, viz. Moft 'lluyftrious, put him to a ftand; upon which I turn'd is to Deareft Brother ; which che King lik'd mighrily, mightily, faying, He knexw very well that Chriftian Princes us'd to ulher in their Letters' by fuch Expreflions. Ac laft, fince I could not make the Sabandar, undertand cvery Word of the lerrer, I repeated the fubftance of infhort, siz.
That his Moft Chriftian Majefty defir'd His Mightinefs to grant me a Frec and Undifturb'd Traffick in his Tervitorics, and promis'd in like manner to protect his Mightinef's Subjects if any of 'em hould happen to come into his Kingdom; That he defired nothing more than that a Commerce between his Subjects and thofe of Aclon, thould bring him to the knowledge of ro great a Pritice; And thathe had fene him a Prefenr of Arms, as a Pattern of tine Manufacture in which his Subjects excelld. This done, the King gave me to know by the Sclander, Thar I was both welcome and fafe in his Ter aitories; That as to the Bufinels of Trade, the Dutch and Englifh ws'd herctofore to have Pepperis his Country at an caly rate, but now that they had fhown fuch flaming ingracindein warring with the King of Bantam who had tormeriy rouchrafed them a kind Reception he had thereupon caus'd all the Pepper Plants to be cut dewn, leait hereafter they fhould prove che occation of rrouble; That by this means the price of the Pepper was rats'd 6 , Rials che Bahar; and thar, cren at that price, he did nor mucla care ro ler them have it; knowing them to be anill furt of Pcople, that would rob and pillage and doany thing in order to engrels the Trade of the Indics.

I reply'd, That the Infolence of that Nation, in offering to dethrone Kings thar have mown them Civilities, would be a-furpriting picec of Newsin France; That for my part \(I\) was truck with amazement; to find that a Pcople, who pretended to nothing but fair Merchandize, and whom the King of France haslong procected againft the Spaniards, thould on this fide of the World night us, and ule all means to do us an Injury; and that, in regard I had no Commiffion to ufe any manner of Violence, or ofortify any place, but cniy to foll and buy in a fair way, 1 cught not to be rank'd among a Nation, whofe very Converfation I avoided.
Upon this, the King order'd fome Sallade ro be given me in a large Gold Velich, and a Suir of his Cloaths laid upon a Silver Platter, which he order'd me to pue on. Having recired to the next Chamber and pur on his Cloachs atove my own, I return'd to his Majefty, who cold methe Arms my Mafter had fenr him, would be very ferviceable to him in the Siege of Malacen, which he had in his view, and ask'd me if I would accompany him chither.
I reply'd, I would place my lant Happinels in doing himany manner of Serrice. Then he pur feveral Queftions ro me abour the Age, Puiffance, &c, of my Mafter; and when I rold him that my Mafter was in peace with all the World, particularly with the Grand S:ignior ; He faid, He would enter into a Atrict Alliance with the King of Fiance. This done, I was mounted upon an Elcphant and conducted home.

Onc thing happen'd upon my firft fetting out in order to an Aadicnce of the King, thar I muft not omir. Juft as 1 was mounted upon the Elephant, the Dutcij and Englifh Commifarics, with 20 or 30 of their Gang, having hid themfelves in a Porch of the Engifi Houfe that was juft oppofite fo mine, ficz'd upon the Dutch Men I mentinncd above, whom I defigned to make ufe of as an \(\mathrm{In}_{\mathrm{n}}\) terpreter to the King. Being then upon the Elephant, \(I\) could not convenicndy get down; butI reprefented to the Sabandar the impudence of thofe Men, in offering to lay hands upon one thar was carrying Prefents from his Majefty of Francero the King of Aclien; and prefs'd him to order the Dutch Men to be releafed. The Sabander reply'd, he would rake care of it, bur could not ftop at thar time. When \(I\) had audicnce of the King, I imporrund the Sabindar to ler the King know my refenment of that Action; but he told me it was not 2 proper time: And the King perceiving I wanted to fay fomething, ask'd the Sabemder what it was, who replied, He did not underfand me.
Uponthis I went next Day and vifited the Oranken Laxcminn, a great Favourite of the King's; and made him a Prefent of two Arqucbuzes, a piece of water'd Camlet, a gilded Head-piece, a Looking-Glafs, fix EarPendents, and two Glafs-Chains. He receiv'd me very graciouly; and afer fome difcourfe, I recounted to him the Srery of the DutchMin, whom I pretended to have carertained, becaufe he faid the had been formerly under rhe O:manka's Protection. Bur the Orarkey told methar if cinc Dutch Man faid any fuch thing, he was a Chear ând a Vilain. Nexr Day to preventall further Correfpondence with the Englifh, I Mur up the Gare of our Houfe, shat was oppofite to theirs; for they haunted the Houfe perpervaily, fo that \(I\) could not do or fay any- thing withour their knowledge; befides, they frequently vifited my Commiflaries and Purfers, which made me fufpect, that they defign'd cither ro do 'cm an Injury, or to pump out of them an Accountof my Defigns.
Fclruary the xith, being call'd to Xpeak with the King, he thewed me the two Pike Heads thar 1 had prelented him, which, above the carv'd Work, were at firft cover d with an cnamel Colour ; bur the King having given them to one of his own Gold-Smichs to be carved and gilded, the Paint went off as foon as the Gold-Smith put them in the Fire. So the King wanted to know if I could think of any Body that could pur them to rights as they were. I rold him I knew none: Upon which he caus'd to cur off, the poor Fellows Hands that had put The fing them into the Firc. . Then the King told me he heard I thmica had a Gold-Smith on board, and defired I would order hith ginteres him to enamel 2 large Gold Ring of his, that weighed Smath, above an Ounce, which he deliver'd to me
This Prince was very curious in all Lapidary and Gold-Smiths Wares; forhe had above 300 Goid-Smiths nat wrought daily for him, and be thew'd me a great hispoch number of Sroncs, fome fer, fome not, which for the moft part were bor'd at the two ends; icveral Necklaces and Chains of large Emeralds; Cafacks or Gaiments after their falhion, cmbroider'd with Jewels; grear Veffels of Gold covcr'd with Jewels; a great many Swords, Hangers and Daggers, coverid all over with Jewcls both upon the Hilts and Scabbards; and a vait number of Gold Clafps to pur upon the Cafacks: And rold me that he had above threc Balorrs of Gold in Cafacks and Clafps; and that fix Days would not Wffice for taking a vicw of all his Jcwels and Stoncs Whether he faid this out of Oftentation or not, I know not. But the greateft part of what I faw were rather Stones of thow than value; rho' after all I mult own he Diamonds, thar may be worth rich, particu'arly three Diamonds, thatmay be worth from 15 to 20 Carats a picce, rwo very large Rubies, and an Emeraid thar lic got in the Conquett of Pcra, which was one of the prestict Stones I cuer faw. After thar, I fer our Gold Smith to work for the King, and was forry I had one on board, being appreficnfive that if the King lik'd his Work, he would retard us to ger his Jewels cnamel'd Having orcahion to build a Long-Boar to fupply the room of that I had loft, I wene to the Orank curting of Wood he would obtain mea Licenfe for the curting of Wood in the Iaands oppofite to the Road, and ler me have his Boar, which and let me have his Boar, which carricd abour is Tun to bring the Wood afhoar. He graured my Requeft upon the Confderation of paying him 20 Rials a Month for his Boat; which was indecd extravaganaly dear, but was oblip'd to give it, or clfe I had not had the King's Licenfe fo eafily. Licenfe fo eafily
The 19th, the King fent a Solunutar to invite me to thein Dinner: When I came I found the King in a fquare Hall, wry:f the Floor of which was cover'd with Turky Carpet, upon 'Tuumes fome Sallade to me hit down; and after he had order'd cover of which was fer all ine a large Golden Dilh, the cover of which was fet all over with Emeralds, 'and ask'd me fome queftions concerning the Grandeitand Puiffance of Chriftian Princes; there came aboitt \(i^{n}\). Women, each of which had a large Silver Din in their Arms, which rhey fer on the Ground on the Carper. Each Difh wold, with Jewels trailing of Gold, or half Silk half Gold, with Jewels trailing upon the Ground. After thefe Women had ftood for fome rime, the King orderid them to fer Dinner before me. Upon which they uncoverd the Dilhes, which had the circumference of a Foor and an half decp with the Lid were about two Foot and an half decp. Out of each of thels Dithes hey-drew fix Plates of Gold, fultof Comfitaress, Mcat, and Pafty, after this Fathion. So that in" lefr's than a Minute, I found my felf furrounded with Golden Dimes, rome containing Water, other Sauces, and onc, which was very large, full of Rice; Lefides two other Diftes of Timbinck, which they elteem morc than Gold, con- Theis Rie taining Rice (made ufe of for Bread all over the Indies) very god of which the King order'd me ro cat; and I found it very good, for its taft refombled our Marchpane. Afier thar y the King'sorder, an Eunuch broughe me fome drink na Gold Cup fer in a large Golden Eafon. Idrank to his Grandcur's berter Health, and thoughr to have dirunk up; but the Liquor was fo very ftrong and fiery, that irquickly baulkd my tip, and put rac into a great Swata. The King told me, fince I had drunk to his Health, I hould drink is our; and that if he were to drink the King of France's Healch, he would not leate a drop of it. But upon' my Requeft, they exchang'd the Liguor for a weater
weaker: Tort, They prefs me me mightily to car and drink.
Bur tet laft, being quite tird by fitting with nty Legs Bur art laft, being quite tird by firting with nty Legs
accofs. I pray'd the Sabandar to prefs mie to eat no more: Upon which the King ordet'd all the Dithes to be removd, and bid medrink his Healch once more. This done, they brought a very fine Carpet;' done apon 2 Ground of Gold, and laid between me and the King; then came is or 20 Woinen, who ringted. themfelves by the Wall fide, and each of 'em having little Drums in their Hands, fung cheir King's Conquefts, making their Voice to anfwer che Drums. After that there came in at a lirtic Door, two Girls very oddly drefl'd, bur very handfome, and whices chan any I cver faw in to hora Country. Upon their Head they had a fortof. Hat màde of Spangles of Gold; which glifter'd mighrily;' together with a Plume about a Foor and an half highi, riade of the fame Spangles: This Hat hang down upon once Ear They had large Ear Pendanits of Spangles of Gold reach. ing down to their Shoulders. Their Neck wis cover'd with Necklaces of Gold ; and upon thcir Shoulders wis. a for of Jacket of Gold curiouly engravid; under which was 2 Shiff or Briza of Clorh of Gold, with Ret Silk covering their Breaft, and 2 very broad Girdle made of Goid Spangles. Their Girdle was ried above the Hanches, from which there hung a Cloath of Gold, wish. ftrait Breeches underneath, which were likewife made of Cloath of Gold, and did not pafs the Knees, where feveral Bells of Gold hung upon them. Their Arms and Legs were naked; bur from the Wrift to the Elbow were furrounded with Bracelets of Gold and Jewels, as well as from the Ancle to the Calf of the l.eg. Actheir Girdle, each of "em had a Sword, the Hilt and Scabbard of which was coverid with Jewels, and in theirHands a large Fan of Gold, with feveral litrle Bells abour ir. They advanc'd upon the Carpet with a profound Graviry, and falling upon their Knees before the King, lalured him by joining their Hands and lifting them up to their Head. Then they began to dance with onc Knee upon the Ground, making feveral motions with their Body and Arms. Afterthar they danc'd upright with a greardeal of Agility and Cadence; fometimes putting their Hand to their \(S\) word, another time making as if they fhor a Bow, and fomerimes as if chey had a Shield and Hanger in their Hands. This lafted about thalf an Hour, after which they kneel'd before the King, and in my opinion were pretry well tr'd, for each of 'em had above \(4 \circ\) pound weighc of Gold upon 'em. Howcrer they danc'd with a very good grace; and if our Fitach Dancing Mafters had feen ' cm , chey would have own'd their Performanee to exceed what we account barbarous:
At laft it greiw late, and upon my requeft the King fuffered me to go, having firtt prefenced me with 200 istle pieces of Gold of his Coyn, which thcy call Mas ind are worth about ren Pence a picce. Then the Secbander conducted me home by Water, a and affur'd me he never faw the King fhow fo much Refpect to any: Stranger, efpecially in fuffering his Women to dance before mic; for, during that Entertainment, the whole Company fuut their Eyes, it being a Capiral Crime to look upon the Kings'Women; tho indced I look'd upon them Vrolontip. yery earneftly all thic whilc, prefuming that upon them outruning nos brought thither to make, me flut my Eyes.
tisar crp:- This Prince told me he had above roo Bathars of Gold 4irx fing: i.e. 18000000 of Lirres, bcfides his Sil. cr Jewels and other Commiodities; ; buir thèn he kecps it clofe, and has no occafion to fpend it. Befides, the Royal Treafure has beyer handed down from Facher to Son, for Aclen was never pillag'd or fack'd by any Nation, and the King offer boafts that he fears no Prince bur the Gr.xnd Seignior, who, according to an Ancient Prophecy, handed down by Tradition, hallone Day conquer that place.
Fectuary the 1grh, An Orankaye and two Sabandars came I had, one of which I had promis'd him two Swords chat Ihad, one of which I had promis'd him before. Before they boarded me, they were in fome danger in the Bar, efpecially towards the Evening very dangerous Breezes break the Water upon iv. I gave'em borh my Swords, but withal pray'd them to acquainr his Majefly chat I had no more, and it being an unwonted thing in France to go abroad withour a Sword, I hoped he would let me have one of them again. Nexr Day he returned one of them, with 2 Prefent of a Dagger, made after che fálion of the Country. He who broughr is told the King lik'd che other mightily, becaufe ir did not bow when they offered to bend ir, and that if this went afhoaj, and adrefs'd the King, that he would pleafe to order fome of bis Officers to make fome Overtures abour the Price of his Pepper, to the Merchiants that were along with mee: He gave me no anfwer to that poinc ; but ask mie what fort of a Ship the Hope was, that 1 to. I anfwer'd him asi whar her Cargo míghr amount affurd anmerd him as near as I could; upon which, he affurd me.fhe was zaken by the Dutch, and that in a fhort time I fhould haveicertain intelligence of it. He told me writhal that whileI I continued in his Road, he would Durch and Englif receiving any. injury at their Hands, the Shich; but Englijh Factory being worth mote than my Ship; bur chat without the Road he would nor intereft himelf in the Quarrel. Lt feems the King had mentioned the taking of the Hope at my firt Audience: Bur the Scbandar did noo give inie to undertand it'. And indeed i was at a a rear lofs, both in this, and maty other things, thatt could nor make ufe chat I could hor make ufe of an Intexpreter of \(x\) riy own. For withour a particular Liccrife from the \(K\) in in own to te done. Befides, no Interprecter is fond of appearing of bennger beforc the King; for if he makes but the leapt trip in of bexereprom a his Difcourfe, or fays any thing that the King does not 1 chum. like, tho' order'd to fpcak it, he is in' danger of being cut to pieces. An Inftance of this we have in ondeing Lorenzo, a Native of Achen and decfended of a verry good Family, who, being Interpretce for the Dutch, and having froke fotinething by their Ordexs that difpleas'd the King, was orderd by his Majefty to be cur intwo alive; and the Orders had certainly been pur in Execution, if the Eidglif had not inrexceded very effectually with hheir Pra ers and Prcfents on his behalf.
All this while 1 could do nothing in the Pepper Con cern; for no body durit fell a Grain till the King Con-The Eners fold his; and it was not proper for me to prefe the had cruct frates much uponic, becaure he was out of humour wish fome of his Grandecs, having put three of 'em to death for appropriating ro their own ve ferme Jewels they fiad met with in the lare Conqueft of Reras; and condemind the War crnt Major to die for reaining foime Booty in thie War with Quedr, who wirh much Intefceffion gor off no Boo Rtals. When the King was in therc Hurnours Peopody durft freak to him upon any Subject; and che People of that Country imagine that he is more fubjeet to them abour New-Moon than any orther time
March the 7 th, Abour an hour before Sun rifing, wie An Earth tives the Cady or Bas prop of Act fours of five Days before by the Cady or Bintop of Achrm, whom chey gave out forcthe wilcft of Men. I aminform'd there are commonly threc or four Earthquakes in this placc evcry Year:
Niarct the gth, I waited upon the King with fome Preenrs, in order to obcain leave to buy up Repper from privare Perfons, which he would nor allow rill is privare Perfons, which he would nor allow till his own was fold off, which he always kcpr half as dear ägain as the other. Then
The ncxr time I waited upon him I found him at a Cock righting and laying very high Wag.gers with his Drankeys. Upon my entrance he prefented me with a Dagger, which had abour five or fix Lirres worth of Gold upon the Handle. But I found him fo intent upon his Wagering, that 'twas nor proper to mention my Affair ar that time. I could nor bur take notice of one In- Xthe King inim tance of the King's Avarice, and his Readinefs to facri-tanc upo fice all things to his coverous Temper. 'Twas this atcing at One of the Company pitch'd upon 2 middle fiz'd Cock, Eighting. offring to bet upon his Head againtt any orther of what ize foever ( it being cuftomary there to match 'em according to their fizes, Upon which an Orankay that had rome of the King's Cocks a keecping (for he gives them oir among his Orankays acording to their Subftance and Eftate) prefented a very large Cock; and upon this the King betted very high. But the litrle Cock bearthe grear One, and fo che King lof his Mrney. Being fretted by thelofs, he ask'd the Orankay how it came to pafs that the lirtle Cock had more ftength than the grear one. The Orankay anfwering with all ' poffible humility that he conld not conceive how it was; the King replied, He conceiv'd very eafily, thar ir proceeded from the Cocks being ill fed, and that he had given the Cock'sRice to his Whores, orelfe car it himfelf. This faid, he order'd his Right Hand to be curoff, which was immediarely put in execution.
Next Day the Sabandar came to my Houfe, and acquainted me that the King ask'd for his Pepper 6a Pe- re demmed the Bahar. 1 told him I could not buy it at chat rate. 1 l for fogman Then he ask'd me what I was willing to give. I an-Pcpper wer'd, I would not pretend to fet a Price apon the King's Goods, bur would gladyy trear with his Subjects, If his Majefty would give me leave. Upon which he gave mero know, that could not be granted, till the King had fold his. Ar thar rime, tho'the King kepr his Pepper Tctis in Gold.

The value of Now the common value of a Tael is four Rinls. Bu \({ }^{2} 1\) Tuel.
\(\stackrel{A}{.}\) R lofs

wh? fince we arriv din this place, the Gold role, and the Rinls fell s for whereas we us'd to have 16 Mas,for 4 Reals, now we cannor have above 14. This, Alceration is occa- fion'd by the King's engrofting all the Gold in his own Hands, and coyning Lead Money to circulate among the Pcopic, who pur it off ar any rate for Gold. Befides, Rials would have no circulation in that City, were it not for thofe of Suratic and Minfulipatan, who fupply this place with Commoditics thar they cannor be withour, and export nothing from it but Riats, upon which, they gain confidcrably. Now there being no Suratte Ship there at this sime, to take off the Ricis, their value funk apace; which was an infinite lols to me, who had nothing elfe but Rjals, as a cime, when the Ditch and Englifh had Gold enough in cheir Hands. To return to the Sabandar. He cold me after all, that the King, out of his particular Affection rome, would, perhaps, ler me have his Pepperat the fame Price that the Dutch had offerd, viz. 48 Rinis the Babar.: I reply'd, that the King had given fereral Intances of his Affection to me, that 1 would take care to report to the King of France the Refpett his Majefty of atclen had thown to hisLetrers, and that the Ob ligations Ilay under to the King of Achen would be much ftrengethend, if he would allowme to take in my Lading at Ticom, fincel could not do it at Achen, where the Pepper was fo very dear, unlefs I had a mind to recurn to Frence with half Lading. Then the Sabonder ask'd me what Prefent I would make to the King for that Favour; and what I would give him for procuring of it. I rold him I would confider of the matter, and acquaint Throw a more him with my Refolutions that Night. Having communiproper place carcd the Morion to cur Merchants, ir was unanimoully ocpersion agrecd upon, that Ticom wonld be a place of more proation. fit'for us, tho it coft us 3000 Rials for a Licence to trade there. Thercupon I fene one to found the Sabindar, in order to know what his Dcmands might be : The Sa boudar told him the Durch and Engifif had offer'd the King two Ships laden with Goods, for the Privilege of an Eight Years Factory at Ticcom, and that if I would give him 4020 Rials, and make the King a Prefent of 20000 Rials, he would procure me a Factory there for rwo Years. Hearing this exrravagant Demand, I perceiv'd the Sabandar to be 2 grand Villain; and refolved to makemy Addrefs to Orankay Laxemnne., Accordingly I gave him a Vifir, and reprefented ro him that Ihad been a long time therc, withone making any progrefs in my Bufinets; that the Pepper was fo dear ar Achen, that I could not buy it there withour a confiderable lofs; That Ticaro was the moft proper place for me within the King's Dominions; That forafmuch as I could nor trade at Tican withour the King's Licence, I thoughr it my fafeet way to have recourfe to him, knowing that if he favour'd me, the King would certainly grant it; And thar out of a grateful Senfe of fuch a Favour, I would make him a Prefent of 400 Rials, and another to the King of four Iron Gans, weighing 3500 Pound cach. Upon this he adyis'd me nor to delire any fuch thing of the King, whe had a grear Affection for me, and was defirous of lading me with hisown Pcpper. I reply'd, Tharl was infinitely oblig'd to the King, but could not come up to the Price that the Dutch had offered him. Then he told me that I did nor know what the King would do on my behaif, and that the Guns I mention'd was not a proper Prefent for the King, who had more already than he knew what to do with.
The Partun
 Mercis the 23d, I interceded with the King for the Rederoprion of four Porrugutec Chriftians, that were his Caprives ar Nigefpatan. Their Ranfome came to 650 Rials, 128 of which I was forc'd to advance, recaining one of the Men for my lecurity; the reft of the Money being gatherd by a Charitable Contribution from the People of Nicgaratan. There wicre five of thefe Slaves for whole Redemprion 1 interceded; butthe King would needs detain one to bleed bimielf, or any of his Family upon occafion. For all of em not only, knew how to open a Vein, as indecd moft of the Porturuest in the \(I_{n}\) dics do, bur likewife practis'd fome fort of Surgery to earn their Bread in the time of their Caprivity.
Five or \(f_{1 x}\)
The Srbandar and an. Euntuch came next Day to acelly mostrust quaine me that the King wanted to fpeak wirh me obedience to his Commands, Iwent, and found him very much out of humour, and giving orders for the Tormaring Give or fix Women. To my grear mortification I faw thefe poor Creatures torrar'd in his prefence to the laft Degrec for three Hours, and the King's. Wrath increaling in proportion to cheir Torment. After the Torturing was over, he order'd their Hands and Legs to be cur off, and their Bodies to be thrown into the River. The occation of this Execution was as follows. In the preceding Night, there being 5 or 6 of his Women int 2 Room adjoining to his, one of 'em gave a hideousi skretk Upon which the King enquird irto: the matter, \({ }^{\text {a }}\) and a firtt they, allitold him there was nothing in it, 'bat:afte many Threats, the that had cry'dour; confefs'd; that fome body came in the Night Time, and prick'd' her in the Thigh with a Dagger, thro' the Reeds upon :which they lay, upon which the faid, the cry'd our and awak'd the reft. But the reft did not agiee in their Anfwers, fóme faying rhey heard a Noife, and others that they heard nothing. However the Dagger was" found; but no bod would own it. Afrer atl, the King haring ask'd "cm who it was thar came with the Dagger, and why they did nottell him the Truth at firft; and firiding they would give him no fatisfying Anfwer, was led into. he Sufpicion of a Defign againft his Life carried on by his own Mocher, who, as he imagin'd, had alarm'd thef Women, that their out-cry might induce the King to come our of his Chamber, which would be a favourable opportunity to the Affaffins. Thinking to extort a ConWomen upon whole matter by Torture, he pur all the Women upon the Rack: Burtheir Refolution, Courage and Conftancy was invincible; for norwithftanding the King's frequent Offers of Pardon, in cafe they would compen difcover the Plot, and the repeated Intreaties of the Caidy of Achen, and the whole Court, who begg'd of 'em be kind to themfelves; y yer they did not fo much as ftrink or relent. One of 'em being very old, and fwooning away from time to time, the King rook Compaffion upon her, and graciondy order'd her to be pur to death. upon which the affum'd a gay Countenance, and thank'd the King for his Grace and Mercy, wifhing him in recompence for his Favour a long and happy Life of 1000 Years. In a Word, all of 'em ftood out undaunted to the laft gafp, and even after their Hands and Iegs were cut off, fome of 'em had the Courage to fay, That for the fpace of 10 Years, they had long' for this Happy Honi, thar deliver'd them from the drudgery of the Cafte, When the Execution was over, the King ask'd me what I thought of it. Tho' the Spectacle was very mortifying to me, yet I diffembled upon the Matter, and anfrer'd, That without the Execution of Juftice no Kingdom could tand.

Then the King told me in a long Difcourle, That if theisi the laft Nights Action had paft with impuniry; his rery Aplon' foolifh and unthinking Men, who charg'd him with Crucity, not confidering that 'rwas their Wickednc\{s that drew upon them the Anger of God, who made ufe of him as an Inftrument to punith their Impiety; That they had no oceafion to complain of him who fufferd ' cm to poffels their Wiyes, Children and Slaves, and comperent Eftates to maintain 'cm; who mairtain'd their Religion, and preferv'd 'cm fromthe Captivity of Neigh bouring Kings, and the Robberies of Strangers; That inf former times Achen was: a Neft of Murderers and Robbers, in which the weakere were opprefs'd by the ftronger, and no Man wasfafc;' all of 'em being oblig'd to keep off the Robbers with Arms by Day, and barricadoe themfcives in their Houles by Night, whercas ar prefent they had no occafion neither for Arms in the Day or Doors to their Houfes in the Night; That his Noble hated him, becaufe he fupprefs'd Exrortion, Maffacres and Robberies; That they mean'd to fet up Kings at pleafure, and murder 'em when difoblig'd; That his Mother was in the fame intereft; and wanted ro make away with him, in order to prefer another, thar would give way to their Infolenice.
This he delircr'd with fomuch Vehemency and Pation in his looks, that all his Courtiers threw themfelves apon the Ground, imploring his Mercy; and among them even the Bifhop or Cady, a Man of above 80 Xears of Age, for whom every Body had a vaft Vencraticn, and who could boaft of the nobleft defcent in icher. In fine, the Cructry of this Prince is unparallell'd. Not withftanding, that all his Tortures could extort no difcovery, yet he imprifon'd his own Morher and purfer upon the Rack; and put to death five of the Principal Lords of his Court, whom he fufpected of favouring his Mothic. He barbaroully murder'd his own Nephew, the King of Foors Son, faying, his Mother meand to prefer thar young Prince to che Throne. He put to death the Son of the King of Bantam, as well as the Son of the Zing of Pau, who wereboth his Coufins. He has not left one of the Royal Family but his own Son, who hasbeen thrice banifid the Court, bur now begins to return into favour, and is only fafe for being more cruel than his Farher, and hated by all the World. He has extirpated all the air cient Nobility, and raisd a new fet of Oramkay, who, in my opinion, would live much happier in a meaner Ca-paciryi - In finc, his Craelty is without a parallel, he rakesiduice of no body, and never lived a Day (white Inas ar Acben') without the Execution of one, and fomeritries feveral of his People.
The, 28th, The: King fent for me to fee rwo Elephants Fighr.: After I cathes two Elephants were broughr into a lirge Court, each of em having a Cable faften'd about theirthind Fect: Then came feveral Men with long Rikesforked ar the Head.: The two Elephants fell upon one atiother with a prodigious roaring ; bur all of a ludden the King was taken ill, and the Fight was interrupred.
\(\therefore\) Hiving prefented the ©rankere Laxiemane with an The obain a Ananrlid Ring, which he again prefented to his Majefty; molumpe Iat daft obrain'd leave: to buy up Pepper in the Ciry, Being fenfible of this Favour, and Meaning to oblige the King as hach as I could, I proferd to buy 600 Baliars of hisown Papper; bur he reply'd, he wasimy Friend, and would not puit ic uponme, fince it was itoo dear, in regard he had made an Oaxh not to fellitiunder is Taets the Behar.it Nexr day 1 made a Publication of the King's Licence;..'ha the Inhabitants mighr nor fcruple to (ell their Pepper- : Bur acthe fame time the King was buying up Pcpper for himfelf, :and the Inhabitants fear'd that if they fold me:any; be would allidge they had prefered my Cuftom to his. Tointifle chis Apprehenfion, I fint bought fome of che Srabandar, rhinking his Example would dip fel theirFears. Bur by an unlucky Accidens bcforc he had deliver'd me àny, the King took him up and laid him in Irons, for nor having fome enameld work ready, which he had commirted to his Care to ger done by our Goldfrnith by a prefix'd Diy, at which rime he had promis'd it to a She-Favourite: Tho' after all it was nor.the Sabandar's. Negligence, but the Goldfmiths being takenill, that occafioned the Delay... After this, notwithfianding I had che, King's Licence, they would not fell me one Bebar, fome pretending they'durft not while the King bought, others refuling to take Rials, or any otier:Coin bur Mas, which is a Gold Coin current in the Councry.
In the mean time:I fent Don Frascifco.Carnero, a PorMufucte, wo the Court of the Grear Mogul, by the way of Mafulipatan.. His Errandiat that Courrwas, To obtain leavefrom the Great Mogul to fetule a French. Factory at Suratic, the Sovereignry of which belong d
to him The defign of rhar Factory, was, ro. render 2 Factory at Achen more ufeful for us:. For there being no accel's to Bantam, chere was 2 necefity of having a Factory ar Acben. Now the Rials and French Commodities conld norbe pur of at achen withour lofs, whereas ac \(S_{\text {kratte }}\) the Rials are pretry high, and fome French Commodities may be put off at Cent. per Cent. profic. So that twould be our lntereft not to fail directly from France to Acben, bur so Suraste, where. we might put off our own Com modities at a good rate, and buy up fome Suratte Commodities, that the People of Achen can as litale be with登 Surburit the our, as the very Rice they ear; and this would fetch us Smonifictose the \(A c h e n\) Pepper ar an caly rate.

This Carnero was an cverlafting Gamefter, and won grear Sums by the help of fome falic Dice he had brought from France with him, particularly from the \(S_{a}, b, n, d \pi r\), whofe Loffes ar Game made him very hungry in his De mands. upon me'; and yer I could nor take off the Portugueze from playing with him. One time, when Cariero was a playing, he happen'd by beating his Hand againft the Tableto break one of his falle-Dice, upon which there run fome Quick-Silver our of ir. . that quickly ripd through the Chinks of the Table. This put his Company into a horrid Confternation, for Carnero quickly hid the pieces of the broken Dye, and they imagin'd there was fome Magick in the fubcle Spitir, thar appear'd and difappear'd fo faddenly.
April the I 5th, I made a difcovery that the King had Prefentst 2 Trick, and that no Recummendation or For he only gave me the Licence ro amufe ms, and keep me fromleaving the place, as I had chreatned to do before: He knew very well that his buying of Pepper ar the fame time would ftifle my Market, and if any one had fold me Pepper; he would cerrainly have punifh'd him inder the Pretence of prefering my. Cuftom to his. Befides, the true reafon of the Sabandar's Confinement, was not the Bufinels of the Rings, but his mifundertanding che King's defigr in giving me the Licence: And the Sabasidiar fent to intreat me to interceed with the King that he might dor be difgrac'd, for that he had expos'd his Life co Danger by doing me Service. Next Day I went to interceed with the King on the Sabandar's behalf. Bur he interrupred me by asking if I had bought any Pepper. I anfiverd, That I had nor endeavourd to buy any, nor would nor, till his Majenty Märkse wore over. Then he laughed, contrary to his cuftom, and the me hs would buy no more, cill had got whar rempert Soon afrer, he ient for me, and havitg ffen prefsd ine to tell whar I was willing to give for hispewer, what I was willing to give for his Roper, itare eive Incerpreter to offer him a Cinct, or 32 kille a Erto. But the Interpecter durf not menton the Swn, ind poo cended he did nor underftand nie. . Ghon wetish tola it my felf in the Malays Langnage: Ticentah was filent for foric time ; after which he geve no 5 know that tho he had fwore that whorocvar wate hima les than two Catri" or 64 Rials for his parer footd vife his Favour, yet he would overlook it-inme; tiat tho Dutch and Englijh had offerd him a 2 Kials, aind \(\approx\) cine price I thould have whar I wond. I mais hufive chat the Dutch and Englifiz had alonger Purte than l, and dealr in leveral Branches of Trade tha: converind rio dearth of the Pepper; and in finc, thar \(i\) had yor fo much Money to give' However, being inforn'd, that unlefi I rook fome of his Pepper, they durt nor feit me a Grain in' the City, and confleriteg what that Retoom being block'd up, there was none robe had bue withio his Dominions; upon thefe Confiderations I offerd to take 400 Babars at 40 Redels. But the King would not alate nny ching of his price, faying, he pad usंd me more kindiy than the Dutch, frnce be would trot Sat thicm have it as the fame price. Finding him refoluee; I offerd to take 300 Batbats at his price, provided he woild give ne a liconen to buy 300 morear Ticome. At latt he agreet os it, 2, a orderd the 300 Babars to be deliver'd. I prefst hims :n fign my Licenfe for Ticon our of hand, in regard he was about to take Phyfick for his illnefs, fo that I could roos have Audience of him for Come time. Bur he told me that would be:over before \(I\) was ready to go. Nowwithftanding the King's Orders, is was a long rime before I conld get the Pepper which the King had orderidme, thic nirnice by realon of the Avarice and Villainy of his Oficers, and yillitine who always find our fome rrick cr orter to pur off thore of che Kinit chey have to do, wiets till they are bifficienty beiio For befides, that ithey have no Sallary, they are oblig'd to make, the King a rich Prefent every Xear, As for dealing with private Perfons, Ifond sicm all unwitting orake Riats, ind for char: rearon cmployid a Broker to make a Propofal to the Dutsh and Englifh of giving then the Ere! my Rials at the current price, in exchange for Gold wis antin Bur the Broker acquainted me that they were fo far from have a latning to the Propofat, that they had a gicat Hand in tiniug tic finking the value of the Rials; in order to froill miy Markec.
Being difappointed on thint hand, \(I\) made my Addrefs the Orankaye laxemiane, offering him the Rials arten Day, when I came with the Ridreed to it; bur neas Caid, whe would give burthree R Mals, he retracted, and raid, be would give bur chree Mis and an half for rhem, fince they went for that in the Ciry. Finding \(I\) could nor mend my felf, I condefcended to let rhern go fo; bur after all, when I came ro deliver the Rinals, he retracted agair. The notorious perfidioufnefs of this Nation, made me think of leaving them in rime, before the bad Scalon was further advanced. In the mean rime the Officer of the Alfendeguc frop'd 21 Bahars of Pepper. for the King's Duties. It wasa grear Surprifal to me, to hear thar the King demanded Duty for the Pepper he had fold me himlelf: efpecially conifdering thar before Imade the Bargain, my Incerpreter had affur'd nie he never did Bur when I reprelented the matcer to the Oxankaye, and defired accefs to the King in order to complain of the Injury doneme; fie rold me thar \(I\) was oblig'd to pay Cuftom for it, that the Dutch, had always payd it, and thar fuch a Complaine would be very difagreeable to the King: And fufpecting that my Interpreter had mifinform'd me upon the matrer, would bave ty'd him to a Poft, if I had oor broughr him off as being can of my Dometicks.
Arlaft I found my Interpretcr to be one of the Spies of he Alfandegue, and perceiv'd he hind difcover'd all my Intrigues to the King's Officas. Tho' chis Fellow was born of Chriftian Parenrs, and profeIsd Chriftianity for 40 Years, when among Scrangens, yer he inftucted his Children in the Mabometan Religion; a certain Evidence that he was worfe than a true Mabometan, and had ncincher Religion nor Confience.
The Duties upon the Pepper that I was oblicid to parit tho tuey King's Dury to the Officers, and a Mis forevery Rater to ai. Altos: he Weigher. When I paid this Cuttona motine Onficers they fiez'd upon tie Intexpreter, who had inade tre be lieve, there was none due, and having Iy'd hine to a Poft beat him foundly, and made him pay mone than be had gotin my Servictro gercicar.

Mry 15. I could have had Pepper enough for 8 Taels and a quarrer in Gold, which as Rials went then, came to 37 : Rials, fo that the lofs upon Rials was unfufferablc.
Another Mifchance, that gall'd memighrily, was, that alledg'd, that I had bargain'd with him for 39 Rials, and offer'd to appeal to the Broker ; but I told him roundly that \(I\) had promis'd no more but 38 , and that my Word was as much to be credired as either his, or che Broker's After fome wrangling be yielded; bur when we had tweigh d abour 200 Bahars, I began ra perceive fome black Sand among the Pepper, and returnd ic. He pleaded for his excufe, that fome of his Domefticks had mix'd Sand with the Pcpper withour his knowledge; and tho I might have done him an Injury, in regard that the King of Achen cuts off their Hands and Fect without any Mercy, who are found guilty of that Trick, yet confidering his Credit upen the place, I was willing to overlook it. Afrer that, we continu'd to weigh, till I oblerv'd the Pepper wer, upon which Iftoppd and would have no more, alledging only that his Houfe was faulty, and that fome Rain had fallen upon the Pepper. What for a Doctor or Propher this may be, I cannor rell; bur both he, and moft of his Followers, feem to place a grear deal of Honour and Goodnefs in chearing a Chriftian, efpecially about Achen.
May 22. One of our Men walhing himfelf by the Ship's fide, had all the flefhy part of his Les, and both his Hands bir off by a great Fin, or Sca-Calf, which the Portugueze call T:buroz, and immediately expir'd. By this timethe Pepper was become very fearce; for nor only the King concinu'd to buy, contrary to his Promire, but an Engifh Veflel that amiv'd lately from Surat, laden wich Corton Cloth, and rruck'd their whole Cargoe for Pepper; not to mention the Dutch and Englifs upon the place, who haring the advantage of Gold, and Commodities vendible in that Country, ftill bought it up under-hand.
a great Fire fune 4. There happen'd a greac Fire in the Ciry, which er uchn. in an Hour's time confum'd 260 Houfes: And the King mpaild \(2_{n}\) caus'd the Woman in whofe Houfe the Fire began, to be live, in whore impaled alive.
anc 1o. Ihad Audience of the King, and reprefented that fince the Pepper was become very fearce and dear, I wanted to be gone, and prayd that he would allow incto buy three or four hundred Bahars ar Ticow. The King rep!y'd, That I might have fome more of his, which he had fold me at a lower rate than to any Body elfe. I told him, his Pepper was to dear, and the lofs upon ir would be fo great, that if I offer'd to take it at his Rates, it would difoourage the French from coming again to kifs his Hands. HisMajeity reply'd, That the Frencl/ minht hereafrermake a nore profitabic Voyage, by bringing Gold or Commodities vendible in the Country, this being infinitely more valuable to him than Silver, which he efteem'd no more than Dirt. As for the Bufinefs of Ticom, he made me no Anfwer, neither durft the Incerpreter remind him of it, becaufe he found he did not like the Morion. Howerer, I reprefented to him, That fince I had no more Bufinefs in that place, I hon'd he would give me leave to be gone : Upon which he faid, He would firf write a Letter to che King of Erence.
func the 15 th, We had a violent Storm of Wind and Sormen \(\boldsymbol{\sim}\) Nicw Rain, from the S. W. and W.S. W. commonly, for three Moon. Days before, and three Days after New Moon and Full Moon, we had heavy Rains and Floods that fwell'd the River mightily, rogether wirh violent Gufts of Wind calld Samatra.

The reth, One of my principal Merchants dy'd of an uncommon fort of a Difemper, who in my Opinion was poyfond by the Dutch. In this place we loft fourcen Mcn, moft of whom were fiez'd with a violent Vomiting, and the Bloody-Flux, which no Remedy could ftop. In earneft, this Climate is fo very much hotter than France, that one can fearce avoid Sicknefs ar firft. Bur a regular Dier goes a grear way, if not in preventing; at leaft in An acom abaring the Sicknefs: For my part I, ar lirle in innce Roalt-mear, bur moftly Fifh, and drank Cider; or in of daceas want of that fair Water firft boild and then coopl. Buit \({ }^{\text {ty }}\), mid the unwary Sailors filld their Bellies with Beef, and drank a great dcal of Rack, befides other Iiquors, and when they were out of order drank Water, and fleepid with their Stomachs expos'd to the Air; by which means the Stomach being ar-once overcharg"d, Vomitings and Fluxes enfu'd. The Cure for that Diftemper, is, to ler Blood and take fome cooling Medicines, and to abftain from Mcär, Wine, and Rack.

The 27th, The King fan his Lemer for the King of Tix Fraice to our Houfe, with a grear deal of Splendour, the Lerade Letter being carry'd upon a grear Elephant by one of the ned mid principal Orankays; after which follow'd three of the grander principal Officers of the Houfe upon another Elephant, with all the Officers of the Alfandegue on fooi. Before the Elephanr went four Drums, and four Trumpers, and fouir large U mbrelloes furrounded it.
"Bur all this Splendour was to my Coft, for I was obigd ro fatisfie not only. the principal Orarikaye, who brought the Letter, but all thofe that accompany'd him. The Lemer was carry'd in 2 Silver Bafon, in 2 Red Velvet Bag, with Gold Strings ; being writ in the 2 ben Language, in Letters of Gold, upon very froooth Paper, with leveral Gildings and Colourings round it.

\section*{The Form of it was this:}

\(T\)HE Letter of the Grand Siri Sultan; Subduer and Conquaror, by. God's affiftance, of feveral Kingdoms, King of Leure Achen, and, by the Divine Frvour, of all the Countrics thas lie to tbe Enff and VTcst ; to she. Eaftward, the Kingdom, Territories, and Sovercigncies of Deli; the Kingdom of. Joor, with its Lordhips and Territories, the Kingdom of Pabam, tbe Kingdom of Queda, and cbe Kingdam of Pera, with theit Lands and Seignisorics: To.sbe Weftwerd the Kingdom and Territory of Priaman, she Kingdom and Territory: of Ticow, the Kingdom end Territory of Paffuruam. To be deliver'd'so the grear and puiffant King of. Friance. May the King of France know; :Tbar sbe Lettersite fent me by Admiral Beaut lieu woas deliver'd, and thout I bave fein allt cbas woss arititien in it: And foraf much as be recommended she fuid Adomiral, thas I heve done bim a grent dent of Honour, - both in the Matters of Traffick, and in allowing bim the Quality and Renk of my principal Genticmen. : As for the Offermademe, in cafe \(I\) bave any Bufinefs in France, Ifend a Memorial \(h^{\prime}\), che faid Admiral, so foct how much I efReem it ; frying frim rher, that if God bring thts Lerter fife to band, I-expee an Anfwer by the Ships that flall come to trade in this place, which will be to me a great Sarsifzaction. So, I piar God, preServe the States of the Kitig. of. France.:- And fince God bea made us great. Kings in this wrorld, it fecms reafoneble ome Fould live in Frichidhip, and corrsfond with one ancther. For a Tuken of Fi icnd/bip \(X\) fend Eight Babars of Pepp:r, woljch is the Produty of thr Country. God preferve the illyftrious Perfon of she King of France.

Given in the Month Raab (or fune), in the Year 1030.

Fune 28. My Goldfuich ask'd leave to ftay ar Achen, promigng to find another to fupply his place, that would Grdition be more ferviceable than himfelf. And tho' he could not tmpakth find one according to his Promife, yet confidering that he was blinded by the Promifes of the King, and the Otankaye Laxemane, who were mightily caken with his Work, and that he had a great mind to ftay, I left him in the Englif Houle; wilhing I had sever broughr him from France, or had rum'd him off focner; for the King of \(A\) chen retarded my Affais upon the account of haying morc of his Work.
Fuly 1. The Portuguefe Caprives whom I had redeem'd, the Rede and fome ochers, having advis'd me to go to an Ihe nearindurize Queda, upon the Coaft of Malacen, about 200 . Leagues \({ }_{\text {aterimp }}^{\text {to }}\) from hence, where I miehr have Pepper cheaper than any watisim where elfe, viz. at 6 Rials the Bahar: I refolv'd to follow their Advice, confidering that I had no profpect of a Licence to Trade at Ticow; thas Achen the Dearth and Scarciry of the Pepper, the Charge of kecping Houte and living afhore, the coftly Prefents and. Bribes that the King and his Officers expect, cut off the Profit of the Trade; that I had no hopes of feeing our. Vice-Admiral, or Advice-Boar there, the laft being gone from meabore Ceven Months, and there being no pofibility of hearing from Bantam, or Facatra, cill Ofolice, by rezion of contrary Winds; that the prefent Wefterly. Winds Rood fair for Queda; and in Oitober, when they begin to veer to the Eaft, they would favour my recurtr; Thit the the King of: Achen had lately-conequer'd the place I was bound for and prohibits all Pefions to go there withod his Confent; yer l could manage it of, as not to difpleifethish, by pre rending to be fored in by the Windss, which blowe right upon it; befides, that the French having: ino factory in 12 chen, and he having wid me unkindy; I'had no gredt reafor to fear his difpleafite. . The ele Corfiderations nite dacdune to refolve upón a Voyageto that Inand; whiere I might lie more fecireky 'rit the whedtrif Whids were over, as well as make betcer Batyaftr for Pepper.:Tod this cnd, I refolydete give 250 Rials 4 yivaty of Ran[onte: fortwo Porturuetic Capides, one of fotion tianing been in thar Inand would ferve, for-a. Pilor:'infid the ocher had been aiMerchantiactPend. Thie number of my Men being reduc d: by Sicknees and Detachínents'tó a amall Comple menn I likewife redeem'd 7 mote Chtifitin Slaves,for \(36 x\)

 of their Superionst; Irejected them
 the: Dubith and Surit Captains prefented metr Lialon, f: e a Prcent of the Commodities of their Countriy comptitio to be worth 1500 R解s: -After thefe Cditinins had with drawne the King ask dime If the Kfrg"of Frince tw Subject to the King of England? I anfiver B , Fiat Ftane concinued for rooo years ander the Goyerniment of their own Kings, wirhout fubitriting to ain Foreign Power whatopevet: Upon which he rold one, He had feen a Letrer from the King of Eigland; in whitethe alrumiesibe Right re hid to that Tide; which procceded only from \({ }^{2}\) fite that one of our Kings had againt His Strcectar:
 Chriftian' Prinecs ; Fhumbly requefted ye would "fuffer me to put into Ticon for oine Monch, in order to boto ofly 200 Bahars of Peppet, and'ro fend w Praw from chence migkt difedure that Sutject with tie Orakiay Linxeitiome This dofic, Itrook qeedte of his Majerty, who wind me a gobd Woyaze.

Afide that; I wemt th wait upon'Laxemint, whotold me; What unc. King had wom never to fuffer any Nation to Trade at Ticmoftes the Dutch \({ }^{\circ}\) and rhat'twas a'fogh' he had no mind to giveme a licence, fince he had pur' is of by'ending me to hioh. Howicyer, I prels'd him to Spiak to the King anovir is, and lec,me have his Anfwer. After fome rime he fenr me word, Thar the King would allowime to purinto Ticow for a Month; provided I gave himthalfa Batiar (i, \(-3=0\) ) of Riats.

At laft, Bcing"fo much prorok'd' by the infatiable Avirice and Ingratitude of this Nation, thar noturithitandins - \(2 l l m y\) Précnts, gave me fach \(u\) fage, I refolvd to fteer for Ticio, and if they would nó deal with me in an amicable way; to fop the Ships thar were to come from thence, and take out of 'cm whar Pcpper I wanted, allowing,for ir che Market-pricear. Ticons: Bur if I could nor weather the Point of Ticon as "twas probable \(T\) might nor, by rea fon of the violent Winds aad Tides from the. Wet, I de-Pepper TRind near Queitr is call'd notwichftanding that abour two Days before the King had fent chree largeGalleys; and thirty Sail tof: offier Ships to Pera, with Order Plation by thar Illand, and cur down all the PepperPlanc:
Fulj24, Having raken in 700 Bahars of Pepper at \(A-\) chen, I fer Sail from that Road, which lies in 5 Degr. 34 Whis North Lac ue Necdle varying \(5:\) Degrees N.W.....
- The senfi, we weatherd the Ines of Gomifpola and poo lain, which fence In this Road of the Nornthere. It this Scafon the Trace Wind blows S: W: with which 1 endentard to double the Poirm of Actey, in order to reach Them, Eecring our Courf W: N: W. But che Tidestall bringins ine right beforefte Wind, Ifas oblis do foeer directly for pulo Lineninoi; tho the Calms were fo grear, that I could nor make at till the Seventh of Auguff; whereas itis bot comnonly fotro Days Sáil with that Tfade-Wind:
The next Day after my arxival, the Pangoulow or \(G 8\) veriour of the flarid rame aboard, and gate nicto knowe That he could not fufferme to Trade whe the Fink BL

 The Samaty hime with fome Artillery
 Pront Lend \(\log _{0}\), with one of the principal Mari of tbe 1 Iland for Hoftages), went in.Perfon to acquainr the King wirh.tfyriArtivalo Pbr/grs; about three Days Journey further into tlic Connf try, for fear of the leing of Achen's Army:
The:zoth, Iteceiv'd a Leter from Sieur D'Efont fone of:our Company thar: went along with the:Govcrnoiri) actuainting mes That he undertood: the King of 文reda had bur lirtle Pepper, and that this liand had not much: To my infinite regret I found this finteligence ro be rutu; for 1 fourd that we came too late for the lat Yearisipeppct, and too early for that of this Ycar, whitich is tot gat ther d: rill Decombet.
September 2 :F Sieur D'Efpine : fent me: word, That He could not come to peak, with the King, who had retir'd nto the Woods, inder the apprehenfion that wee: were employ'd by the King of Achen to do him an. Injury; bis on the mean tupe fie hationderd all che Pepper thit could be had to be gathetad of in order ro buy Xome Cannon of me, if would efitherie: Upor this Advice I rent po arly what Quanrity of Pepper mighr beexpetted in thiat Flace; and if is iotasinder rioo Bathats, to renum-intrie diarely, withour rroubling himfelf abour is or if is twas above that number; ito folicite the King to fende a Cornrafifienter with faty Power to tretwith the, and that withoricany yelay:
 ported, Thar the King had bur very liate pocpertinib my Cannon as \(I\) had asRid; : And waither, to fromint the creifapear with \(200^{\circ}\) Bahats 6f:Peppet; and eretade; af reni me a Lerter, cmpowering me to tra de freety witht the Leagues from: misithand, thinking twould comé and lie 1 of chat pidce try'stablif) a Fautory'in the ramie. Bur 1. undextlood, that the Channel between thisilitand dind Pitics' was cinbatiaf'd with Shetres=and Flats and-ac the fame time obretord; that my Ship did not anfwer the conchue where \(T\) was, threaning to fet Sail with the \(\mathrm{F}_{\mathrm{f}}\) Mages \(I\) had on bodind if they woild nor recurn me my Mañ:

Qgober in The 'Purfer, was recutrod; and radiver'd them their twa 10 fotages. He Heported; That the King had only 20. Bahiars of Pepper, and delign'd to pay the other 10 in Rials, at the rate of 'ho Rials a Batiar: 2 that the Councry was yery poor, anit the Rice extriant dear: thar upon the arrival of crery Praw, the Peoplefled into the Country, thinking them to be the Partizatis of the King of Achen; that aboot 3 or 10 Days before; they had received Advice," That go Sdil erearrived at Rerd, whth the King of Acher's Atrmy on boatris and by jet freflice Incelligence, that'the King of Achen was dead. Upon chis Report; tho "r hiad refolvid not toler them have any Cannon; becaufe Imeand to rerurn: Br the way of \(A\) chen, yer Fithought for to amule em with fair. Words; - till thad caker in freith Water; and with that view fert tack the Purfer, to atquaint them, thar \(A\) was very inactidifpos'd to deal with them, thar:I coilid! not britn my Ship co Perieys; bocaufeny Rudder wasourof order, rindithar co fiew my willingnefs to oblige tan, \(\because\) I was reatry, to fand one of my. Catnons afhore, provided ther tiate me two Hoftages to ienfure the delifery of zo Bahats of Pepper within cightr Dyys; on clfe delititerd'the Pepper ir felf This Offer pleás'a them fo welt tiate they fenr me zord Thére was no occifron for givih \({ }^{2}\) Hortages, or furting eannon athare, 'tll the - Pepper'tas got ready, which would beim 6 or 7 Days.
In thisplaceld dia nothing to the purpofe, onfy caus'd to be cut down, a Main-rop Maft; a Mizen-Matt, ind Bolefprit; whict f'could nor have had elferyëre Could Phare tarried thete zill fance y, I could hate loxdied my Thip, with Pepper at quarcer of the Price it coftraens Acpert befides, that at that time the Irade-Wime romie E. andifo would hitive ftood fair for returning directly to Faince : But the: inen I' had'were fo few, and withad:fo difeo orag dither could not think of taryping.
This Inatid can'd by che Inhabicanis Pato Lincaliuy, and A Aderciptioa

 Ying \(x=\) Degri Ni, It has-aboat 15 or 20 Leagues in Circumference, and is Mountainous in fome ptaices; efpe:
cially whers it faces .Pulo Bottom, where-is lies 5 Leagues off to the Weftward.
In the middle of the Country there's 2 high Mountain ciivided in two by a very narrow Vally, which is not obreivable but on the Sourh-fide. The. Pepper grows at the foot of this Mouncain, as well as in tbe invervening Plain, which extends: it Celf abour 3 or 4 Leagues in length. The Pepper-Plants are drefs'd after the fame manner with tall Vines. Were this Inand more cultivated, it would produce many more than it does; for chere are not at prefent above. 100 Perfons in the Illand, whereas formerly it was inhabited by above 700.
The Soil of the above-mention'd places is very convenient for all forts of Drugs, Iruits, Rice, and Catile, being enrich'd with excellent Pafturage, and plenty of Rivers and Springs. The reft of the linand is coverd wich very thick Woods, in, which efpecially ypon the Mountains, there are fome Trees exactly, ftraight, of an incro:dible heighth and proportionable thicknel's.

On the South-fide the Stoar is'frequendy interfeged with Arms of the Sex, leiving litteJlands and Rocks corerid wiith Wcods.
On the North, there lies a large tínand abour 2 League解.
Onthe Eaft it has a Bay coverd with a limele Iland; in which Ships of 200 Tun may ride with fafery, and be fhalierd from all Winde. In a word, chere is very fafe. Aprhoragorall round the Illand; and any parc of is affords cxcellent feh Water:

From the beginning of fyly to the ead of ofober, the Whinds. are there. Wefterly, at which time it rains very, mach, and the Climate is unhealchy, as it bappens in all other places of the fame Latitude.

\section*{the raper
Serfor}

Thio romed middle of December to the end of, Februarj. At prefent this. Mland produces every Year sopoo Pound Werght of excellent large and dry Pepper, which is preferable po star: of any other place in che Indies.
This Ifand is fobject to the king of Q medas without thofe pempiffion no Trade can be cans'd on shere. The Partangueze that refida in Mabarce, come dere every Year. to: Trade, and convinue there from Decomber to Fobraarj; The Commodivies they bring are Gugurat Plush, Sals, Rice, and a few Rials, which go well off shere, by reafon of she vicinity of the chindf, a good number of whom are feuled at Pasani, a Town firmated on the oppofite Coast They fell their Pepper by Meafire, and noc by Weight, which is better for the Buyer, fince ar that rate be cannot bt fo cafily injurd by werting ic, or deceiv'd by the putting Srones or Sand among it, as they commonly do ar \(A\) chen.: \(:\) They fell it by the Nali, which comains 16 Gau-
Fan, when in ra's, each Gautz containing 4 Chuppa's. Fifteen Nali make a Bahar, which is 450 Pound Aorrdupois: So that the Meafure in thisilland is greater by one quarter than inthe King of Acber's Terrisorics. The common Price of 2 Bahar is 16 Rials.

The Pepper-Plants grow in a far free Soil. They are planted at the Root of. all forts of Trees, round which they crecp and twift like Hops. The way is, to take a Shot or Spring of an old Pcpper-Plant, and phanr ir under lome Shrub, taking care to clean the Groond, and weed our all the Herbs about it: It will bear no Fruit till the chird Ycar, afrer which it bears every Year perfaps fir or feven Pound Weight of Pepper. Its firt, fecond, and chird Crops are much at one; bur the fourch, fifth, and fixthdecreafe one third, boch in the quantity and fize of the Pepper; and in the, fevemth, cigbth, and ninth, the Pepper becomes very frall and framy: So thar after ics swelfith Year it bears no more; and 2 pew Shor muft be planted in its room. For the firt three Years the Ground abour em muft be kepr very clean, elle chey will not bear: And even chas requires a great deal of pains for Agrem Dew the Climate is extream moift, by reaion pardy of the Agrea Dew Rains, and partly of the Dew, which is fo grear, that if one walks among Trees, or Grafs, before the Sup-rifing, they will be as wet as if they waded through Water. When the Plant begins to bear, the Branches of the Tree round which ir creeps, muft be loppd off, left they intercept the Rays of the Sun, which above all chings chat Plant fands moft in need of. When the Clufters of the Fruit are form'd, care muft be taken to fupport 'em wich Poles, left their Weighr fhould draw down the Planc, which of it felf is render enongh. Care muft likewife be taken, that no Buffies, or Oxen, or large Animents, gex in \(a m o n g{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{cm}\), for fear they be entangled among she Branches, and fo break em. They muft be planeed at a converiens diftance from one anpther, that one miny ger rownd cm with 2 Iadder to prune them after their fruit is gatherd ; for ocherwile they would grow pooitigh, and fo bear lefs Fruit.

Commonly this Plant has 2 white . Wlower in April, in Fuore chis knots, in, Auguft tis large, green; and trong and the Natives make ufe of it-for; 2 Sallad, or: make a Confit of it and other Fruits in Vinegar, which chey call Achor, and which will keep for a. T welvemonth In 0 ciober 'tis red; in Noomonber it begins to grow black December'ris all over black, and confeguently ripe. This is che moft general Mechod, tho", in fome places tis ripe fooner or later than in others. When the Fruir is ripe, they cut of the. Clufters, and dry em in the Sun, aill che Grain falls off from its Sralk; 'which does nor come to prais in lefs chan ins Days, tho' the Sun is very bor, and during that cime they muft be turn'd from fide to fide and coverd ip in the Nighr-time. . There are fome of the Grains thar neither teddein nor blacker, bur conxinue ftill white ; which are tuide wfe of Phyfically, and cold for double the Price of the other, way of whirening the black ones; by taking them when whixtey they are yer ped, and walhing off the red Skin with \(W_{2}\) ter and Sand, fo thai noining remains but the Heart of the Pepper, which of ic felf is white.
Of late Years, the fnhabirants underitanding that Fo-
By this Account we may perceive that Pepper does not prow fo eafily as many are aps to imagine, and thar the Pepper-Plants sequire a grear many Hands to drefs them; which at prefent is mighrily wanted in this Iland, both it and the Country of Queds Being laid defolare by rhe King of Actes within thefe cthree or: four Years, infomith that the King of Rueda is now oblig'd to put himfelf under the Prorection of the King of siam.
The Inhabicints are Malas, bur nor fo crafty and rogainh as thefe of Acben. Their Habir is much the fame, bui not to rich.
They are very zealous Mabometans, and in their \(\mathrm{Ca}_{\mathrm{a}}\) ftems and Way of Living, differ but lityle from the Inhzbirants of Acben.

They have a for of Coin nor unlike our Frencis Sols, bur of alitule beater, Alloy, which, diey call Tras; ard 32 of thefe make a Rial. They reckon by Taels, buix one of 1 tr their: I aels mates four of thefe, of Acben.
duede is a good Marlhy Soil, cur by feveral Brooks, taFing rife from a large River, tin which are a grear many large and dingerous Crocodiles In former times de Councry. was well peopled, and, abounded with all fars The lan of Provifions, efpecially Rice and Catule: And Quedathen \(x\) can, Bengal, Ferfelion, the Coafts of Coromardel, and Surat, befides the Portuguefe refiding as Malacca, and even the Merchants of Acisn.
The Cuftoms and Impofts at this place were very moderate, till the Father of the prefent King came to Reign who was a perfidious and cruel Tyranc, and by Divine Vengeance (as che Narives will have it) was carry d offin Captivity by the King of Acbie abour three Years ago. In earneft, this place bears feveral Marks of the Divine Wrach; for abour four Years before 'rwas fubdued, two thirds of the Inbabirants,amounting to above 40000 Souls, werc carried off by a Plague.

The nexr Year after thiar, the Pefilence feiz'd upon the Catrle, and carried off all thé King's Elephanrs, and fof cheir ocher Cartle.
The third Year, there was fuch a Scarcity. of Rice and all manner of Fruir, thar they underwent a terrible Fimine.
The Year afrer that, the King of Achen, who alway Lies in wair to pillage his Neighbours, Laid Siege tolwudd. The City held out three Months; and then the King winh his Family and Recinue, confifing of 120 Men, recird to his Palace which he had forrified, and where he was reduc'd to the laft extremity of want; cill aboux two Months afrer, that the King of Acben's Officers overperfwaded bien to furrender, by alledging, that their King admird bim for bis Valour, and woald certinly ne-intall him in his Throne, if he trufted to his Difcreciog.

This Siege was carried on by the Acben Army with a greas deal of vigour; infomuch, that they fought whea up to their middle in Water, in Wiater; for fheir King had fent 'em word, That he would cut "em all in pieces; if they did por bring him the King of lueda; Ar laft ba ving demolithid the Ciry and Caftle, they carried the King and his Family, and abour 7000 of the Inhabicanss wo Achex.
The King of Acben gave the Captive King a colerable nutand Receprion, cill he had drein'd him and his Friends of all welurit they bad; afrer which, he par to Deach nor oaly thim and. od bio bai his Children, bur the principal Men among the ocher Capeives; confining the reft to a remore parr of the Ciry where moft of "em were killd by Milery and Wane; and the toery remaindec, amouraing to sbout 500 Sovis, work

\section*{M. Beaulien's Voyage to the Eaft-Indies.}
artprefent in: little Furs one half of the Week, for their 'own maintenance, fach as it is; and the orher half in the building of the King of Achen's Houles, and manuring of his Grounds:
.The prefenr King of Quedr, the Son of this his miferable Predeceffor, was that up with his Father in the Caftle of Queda before it was furrendred; bur finding rhiar his Father was inclinable to furrender;', and carry all his Children and Treafures to Achen, to procure a betrer Receptionfrom that King, he made his efcape privarely withour his Farther's knowledge.
ozober in. I weigh'd Anchor, and ftood for the Road of Acsen, in order to try if I could heariany thing of our Ships.
Soon after the Tides carried tme upon the Illes of Pulo Orton, above five Leagues off, where I was oblig'd to drop an Anchor to keep, clear of a Rock. Thefe Inands are three in number, 'but accompany'd with a grear many frall ones. They are uninhabited and cover'd with Woods, in which there arc forne Trees fir for the Mafts of Ships. They, afford good Anchorage all about, and the larget of 'em has good frefh Water upon a Sandy Creck.
Niexr Day we came in figlre of the Coalt of Sumetr.
The 27th we came within two Leagues of the Ine of Poolowny; and I delign'd to double is in order to caft Anchor on the Weft-fide of the Road of Achen, where I migho cafly get off, in cafe the King of Aclicn ftould ufe me otherwif chan well. Bur the Tides were fo ftrong, and the Wind blew fo hard from the W. and W. N.W. that I was drove abo:e fix Leagues before the Wind, and oblig'd ro pur into a fmall Creck of Sand abour half way between pedir and Achen.
That Evening a Praw came up-ro me with a Commiffioncr from the King of Achell, to know who I was, whence I came, and whither I was going: For is feems the King had heard of a Ship cruiling upon his Coaft is Days before I came to an Anchor in chis place. By this Commifrioner I underftood that 2 fmall French Ship had arrivd in the Road of Acien about 3 Days before. It happen'd that the King's Commiffioner knew me to bethePerfon that had been ar Achen before: And when he ask'd me, whence I came, I' order'd my Interprecer to fay, That when I went from Achen I was bound for Bantam, by the way of Ticom ; but having loft two of my Mafts by a Storm, was fored to purinto anInand ro be refitted. Idefign'd to conceal the Name of the Ifland, knowing the King would be angry ar my going thithce withour his lea'e, and to pretend thar \(I\) knew not the Ifland, and could meer with no Inhabitants upon it to inform me. But my Incerprecer precipitandy told him, I had been at the Tle of Pulo Lancalug.
Nexc Day a Rraw camic on board with an Athan-man in herthat \(I \mathrm{kncw}\), and he affurd me , there was a fmall French Veffel in the Road, and fome Frencl:-men that faid they belong'd to me; adaing withal as a Secres, than the King of Acben derain'd 'em chere againtt their Will: In the mean time I fent my Ioong-Boar aftore for fome freth Provifions; but the Pcople would fell none, alledging that the King hae prohibited them to fell withour his Command. Upon the whole, I was apprehenfive, that the King of Achen might fop our Advice-Boar (for It took the French Ship in the Road of Aclocn to be it), to prevent their coming to an Interi iew with me: And thereupon I weigh'd Anchor, and ftood for the Road of achen: Bue the Winds being contrary and rery high, I was forc'd to come to an Anchor ar the Point of a large Bay; and fent by land one of the Men \(I\) had redeem'd ar \(A c h n_{7}\) in a Mfor's Habit, ro carry a Letrer to the People belonging to the French Vefel in the Road of Acben; promifing him his Freedom if he brought me an Anfwer in rwo Days; for we were then but fourLeagues off of Achen, and hic knew the way exactly well, for which reafon I fer him afhore in the Night-time, ordering him ro walk is before Day, left any Body might meer him, or enquire after his Bufinels.
The nexr Day a large Ship, with Englifh Colours, made up to us; and when they came within a quarter of a League, put out their Long-Boar, which brought on board of me Mr: Du Par, one of uheMen belonging to our VicéAdmiral, Tive Hope.

The Stare of the Vicc-Admiral's Affairs, according to eltrixi gst

This Grear Ship was an Ewal: \(\beta\) Ship of 600 Tun, and 3: Guns, and had on board Capr. Grave, the Caprain of the Hope, who wias very fick, and not finding me ar \(A c l j e n\), was going to frcatra; to find pafiage for France: After the Hope parred from me; they came to an Anchor at 2 long lland, about 20 Leagues from Ticow ; and fent their Long-Boar to Ticonn.
Twelve Days after the departure of their Iong-Boar they flood for Ticon themflycs, to put aftore. Mr. Telier the fifft Commiffary, who was then ill. But the Winds and Tides being contrary, they not only loft the Men in the Long-Boar, Bur even thofe they had on board were all fick, bating the Captain and five or fix more. Inthis difafterous Condition they mer with a putch Ship of 1200 Tun, calld the Lerden, and commanided by William Schouten: And Capr. Grave went on board "cm, to defire their affiftance: He was no fooncr on board, but the the cruerr) Dutch Captain fent 60 Mcn in two Long-Boars to board of the Durch the Vicc-Admiral, which accordingly they did withour 5 tbefrench any oppofrion, and nor only plunder'd the Ship, bur us'd our fick Men mont bartaronfy, turning them our of their Hammocks, and trowing them upon the Deck. In the mean time, rhe Dutct Captain haring detain'd Caprain Graic, told him, boith he and his Ship was a Prize, and if they mer with me, they would ferre me the fame way.
Some few Days affict this, they met another Dutcb Ship thar had a grear many Sick aboard, and was going to pur em afhore on the Ide of Niafapp; Capr. Grave defir'd his Men might be likewife fer afhore ar the fame place, for the recovery of their Health; which inceed they did, but with fo much Cruclty, that one would think chat Nation had neither Humaniry, Religion, nor Confcience: Fo chey threw the fick Men like fo many Logs of Wood out of the Ship inro the Boar ; and fome they dragg'd through the Water with a Rope faften'd abour 'cm, particulaty one who being fo dragg d, expird immediarcly upon the Rocks on the Stiorc.

In the mean time the firf Commifiary of the Leyder being fenfible of his Crime, told Capr. Grave, They were miftaken, and rhar upon a Rcriew of his Commifion, ho found he had nio Aurhority to take any Fronch Ship; fo that he was at liberty to icturn to his ownShip. Caprain Grave confidering that he ftood in need of rheir affutance anfwer'd with a grear deal of Complaifance, That the Commiflary was not the firft that had been miftaken in Matters of as grear confequence; and defr'd he migho have fome of their Sea-men to Man his Ship. : The Commiflary granted his Requeft, upon 2 Provifo, That the Caprain hould forget what had pant, and give fomething to that effect under his Hand

Captifin Grave receiving this Reinforcoment, went on board of his own Ship ; but the Dutch Sca-men threamed every Day, to throw him and his Crew overboard; and he believ'd they had certainly done it, if the orher Dutch Ship, namely, the Horn, had nor been in Company.
Sometime after they fell in winh three Dursi Ships near Selibar, upon the Coalt of Sumatra; of of which having a Flag upon irs Mart. like an Admiral Ship, Capraín' Grace went on board of her; bur as foon as he tras on board, that Admiral Ship fir'd unon his, in order to make them take down their Frach Colours; upori which the Caprain fent back his Boat, with Orders to take 'em down This done, they raild all rogether for facerra, where they arriyd in Dccember; and Capeain Grave went to wait upon the Durch Admiral, and defrid be would aftift him with fome Sca-men to conduct his Ship to Bantam, purfuant to bis Commifion.

The Admiral promis'd to atift him, and to allow him ogo to Bantan), provided he would there bay up all the Pepper he could ger, 25 a limited Price, ein. two Riais a Sack; and then diftribure two thirds of it to the Dutct) and Englif in thar Road. The Captain confidering his mifcrable Condirion, was fain to Cubinit and fignanOb igation of buying 15000 Sacks of Pepper, 5000.0f which hould be given to the Dutch, and 5000 to the EugLifh.
In the mean time the Pinnace I fiad fent in quit of him arriv'd at Facatra, but the Bargain being ftruck before its arrival, Capr. Grave was oblig'd to go to Enniam, Ac-The Receptill cordingly he went, and arriv'd there the enid of Fenuary in the Finench where the King gave him a welcome Receprion, bur would with ac fell him no Pepper under four Rials; Bar. In che mean Bunemz rime, the Dutch, contrary to their Promife, fent out arm'd Barks up and down Bantam Road, in purfuit of the \(\mathcal{F}\) avins; and thefe Barks having purfu'd the Fivans within Cannon-hot of their Walls, return'd always on board of our Ship the Hope, in order to make thofe of Bantem believe, that the Frencls gave fhelter to their mortal Enemics. However, the King of Bentam rcfenred it no otherways, than by keeping the Pepper at the firft Price Upon which Captain Grave refolvo to take it ar che Current Price, and when he had gor his Loading; to retura to France.
 would not bave it, ax that price, sthe Eng lif nideed took Englif paying him no Money, he had not enouightoto pay the King of Bartam for the is 0000 Bage het pad bay saind fors and thereforc defird he would ler Jim have only 2000 Bags more; but the King refisd to let him have any, uidefs he would take all he lad bargaind for. Actlaft the Corimifary of the Sis. Malo's Ccmpany at Baman fopply'd him with as much as would reompleat his Toading, rakiug the Hemmitace Advice-Boar for ! 500 Rials in part of payment.
This donis he refolvid ro return diredaly for France. Bur thrce Ships that lay ar an Anchor ; juft by him, commanded him to go to fecatra. Accordingly he went,

 Reporits, in oxtcrito exchude the Engrybh had fipead falfe Reportse in outcrito exchude the brinch from the Trade of Achens that the Menhe had imprifonda were reprefeined tood has Robbers and Pirats 'but; \%ss foon as he undertiood they belong'dizo me be jtomediately fer them at. hiberte that he was atrad the King of Erence might have taken it illif he had puthig Subjects into che Hands and that he orly wated who were his Morral Enemies; and that he ondy waited for che attival of a Erencis Ship, In which he might fend them home But aftrer all, whert he had only fent them to the Men on board, he told me he hadonly fent them. to vifit me, but not to flay with me ; for that they Being Slip wrack'd and loft Men, belong'd to him inco whore Port they came. This, as i tooktir, he faid to prevent my asking. for whar he had taken from them, the value of which amounced very neir to 2000 Rials. However I refolv'd to play himz tick. for its and with that view, defri'd Mr. Limmony (fo the fift Commifarty of che St. Mallo's Companyar Bnytant was calld) who was now Proprictor of the Pinnace, to rctire from acion as foon as he could, to avoid the Danger he might incur thro \({ }^{\circ}\) the Infolence and Perfidioufinef of thic King. Bur Thathehad fome Gocts. Bur Limmony made anfwer, That he had fome Goodswo.put. off, which would require fome time , and he bing of atropher Company 1 ccuid not force him.
Upon this anfwer, \(I\) refolv'd to put infor a Licence for Ticon, and for that purpofe, offer'd Orank Laxemene a Diamondif he would procure is me. The Orank rold me it might be done, provided I made. a Prefent of fome fine Diamond to the King, who was then paffionately fond of Diamonds. I Ahew'd him 2: Tough Diamond, weighing 12 Grains, whichif defign'd:for the King, and anorthcr cat, of five Grains for fimpelf. . Next \(D_{2 y}\) fie accuainted me that he had lhown the: Diamonds to the King; but the Englifh having lately; prefented him with very large ones, hedid nor value minet; bur after all, that if 1 could find any exaruardinery but Rater might certainly obrain my Requeft. U Upon this Advice; I bought of Peribes, the Portuguczes; who was taredy return'd from Mafulipatan, Two. Diamonds \(;\) One weighing 18 Grains, cut Lozenge-ways, and very prettily fet, which coft me sso Rings; : and another of nine Grains curi Point-ways, which oofl me 120 Rials. Ifficwd them to Laxcmanc, who advis'd me to preferse them my felf. Upon which I defir'd Quylin the Gold Smith, who was my intecprecter, and who ufd to feak very boldy ro the King, to acquaint him that I had fome Jewels to forv his Majefty, withour relling him whether I meant to fell them orgiverticm away.
Accordingly, after fome -time the King fent for me, an and defired a fight of the Diamond that he heard I had. Ametant I fhewed him the large one, which he looked mighaly upon; and when he ask'd the price of ir, \(I\) told himatimnd it was at his fervice, if he would allow me to buy 300 mexera Babars of Pepper atTictr. His Anfver was. Thatif the Ther. Dutch flould offer him 30000 Rials, for whar Liberty, he would not give it them; but to me he would give a Li cenfe of faying at Ticomo 20 Days, provided If gare him another Diamond like that. \(I\) role him I had gone fuch nor could not poffibly find any. Then he defird fore fuch, prefent him with a Cannon in. Then he defird I would beg'd his Majefties Pardon. Upon which. be' faid, all other Nations had prefented him with Canniors and I ought not to refufe him. I prayd him to excule me, in regard \(I\) had fo many Enemics, and thar there were fome Ships near Ticorn. He reply'd, I needed not fear the Dutcbat Ticonv, fince they had.a Factory ar Achem; which was more valuable than my Ship. Afer all; finding be was io bent upon the Gun, I agreed to let him have it; upon which he calld for the Orcikg Liaxemane, and or-der'd- him to give me a Commifion to trade ar 7ziow: After chat he queftion'd me very particularly concerning Mr Limminy's Circumftances ; the force of his Ship, the value of his Cargo; and at laft advis'd me to carry him and his Pinnace along with me, and nor leare him exposd to the indifcretion of the Porruyueze, Durch, Eng\(d i j\), and even the Morrs themfelves, who would becafly tempted to fall upon firch a fmall Veffel (reprefenting that his Affection to the King of Frince moved him to givechat Advice, and that, tho' Mr. Limmony was, not under my Coimmand, yer our of refpect to my Countrymen and Acquaintances, Iought to vefue them from the Danger they wete in: December the \(s\) rh, Having ask'd Laxemene oferin for niumint ny Commilfion, and finding he only flaufld and porme formin off, Icomplaind of him to the King, who bid me give pimame hima Ditinond, as if that had beinitgreed to at firlt To tianterfort of the Story, I. finella fiar the Oriantag Laxempote cootid do nothing of the matter, for that the King difparch'd all his Commiffoins himeff; and that the defigh of turning me over to him, tris, to worm out of me another Diamiond for the King's orvn ufe. On this difeovery; I gave him another Diamond that weignta about fix Grains; and at laft after many Stops and De kays, receiv'd our of dhe King's own Hand a Leteer, empowcing te to triffick in Ticon for 20 Days, and ordering the King and Governour of that pface to alfift me in carrying on the Trade of Pepper, for which, I was to pay the ufual Durics. Ar the fame rime the King order'd me to pay the Dyiries of fome Goods that 1 had boughti up in order to fell as Treow; which I thought to have feen excis'd from, in regard I mean'd to pur 'cm off within ithe Terricories of the King of Acher. However I was forc'd ropay ir. 1 had frequencly orderdd my linierprerer to defire Reftitution of the King for whathe had raken from my Men; bur the Incerpreter would nor venture to mention it, becsufe he found it was difagreeable to the King. After all, I prefsid orancay Lexemante to reorefent ing Requet to the King, which at latt be did, and then gave me to know, chas it was in vain to expeet ir, that the King had a Titie ro all the Goods of thofe who were Shipwrack'd upon his Coaft; and that the King had been very favourable in delivering the Mien themrelves.
December the t th, We weighed Ancior, and arrivid :6an, in inthe Road of Ticom the laft Day of this Year.
fianuisythe ift, 1622 . Ifhew'd the Intrabirants of the Iland the King of Achen's Letter, who receiv'd it with pleafure. In this place I bought about 400 Babars of Pepper, which coft me about 25 Rials the Baber, inicluding the Charges of my Commifion, and the Prefens Imadeat Achen.

Fifineriy the ift, We weighd Anchor from the Road of Ticim, in order to reciunn home; having on board 75 Mcn all in good health, and Provifious for nine Months.

\section*{A Defription of tbe Ifland of Sumatra.}

\(T\)He Inand of Sumatra is lagger than Greint Britain It contains in Deg. in length, rumining S. E. and N.W. i. e. from the Point of Achen, which lies in \(s\) Deg. N. Lat. to the Streight of Sanda, the Lavitude of wrich is \(5:\) Deg. 5 . So charits length may be computed to be 300 Fr ench Leagues. Its South End is broader than the North; but one with another; its breadth will minake 70 Leagues. The Coaft for the moft part hes low, tho there are yery high Mountains within the Country. Its Valleys afford excellenr Pafturage, and are fertile in Rice, and all orher Fruits. Tis waterd with many moble Rivers, fome of which are very grear, for inffance, Cinguel, Baaror, Dayn, Achen, Pedir, Fambi, Andripoura: Bendesleveral Imall Rivers and an infinity of Brooks. By whichmeans 'tis render'd very infit, and in fome places marthy. Befides'tis fubject to frequent Rains, for the Equinoctial cuts it directly in the middle. It bears rery large Trees, which rerain their verdure all the Year round.
The Air isurhealthy for Strangers, efpecially neaar the Equinoctial Line, as in Tisow, Paffrman, " 8 cc . ray, we very Inhabitants of Aclen don't carc tolive in thofe paces during che wet Seafon, which lafts from functo ofsiber; and in which the Wefteily Winds, mixd with Whinlwinds, Rains, Tempefts, and fudden Catims, How ipon that Coaft. In thefe: Calms the Air being unmov' 1 and the:Ground foak'd with contant Rain; the Sin with its perpendicular Rays, attraets very ftinking Vapoürs, which oceafion't peftilemial Fevers, that carty Srrangers offin twoor three Dajs, or arleaft reminare in obftinatic Siwellinges atd Dropfies.
The City of Aelien firuarell on the NorthPoins, is more mperate. If ftands upoin a great River, abour hialf a is fix Leagues Seaj intfre midft of a grear Valley, chat is \(f\) Leagues broad.
of Grain and Fitite ; but , the Inhabitams fow nothing ufon it burRice, whichis their principal Food, togecher: qratriCoco's twith whictrithe whole Illand abounds. This plateis wellftord with Frat Frees whicht bear in their proper Seffons: T o that theire is not a Month in.the'

Ground, and in drawing or camiying: They have plenty of Young Kids, and Horfes of 2 mall breed, but their Sheep are good for nothing. The Peafants brecd up great numbers of Hens and Ducks, in order to fell their Eggs. Hunting and Game chicy are much accurtom'd :o, tor wey have an infinite number of Wild-Boars, tho not fo large and furious as they are in Frince; and their Srags and Docs go beyond ours. They have bur few Hairs or Roebucks; bur in the Woods, and at the Foot of the Mountains, there are great numbers of Wild-Elcphants. Dpon the aninhabired Mouncions and Hilts, there are a great many Tigers, fome Rinocerors, Porcupincs, Wild-Buffles, Civer-Cars, Wild-Cats, Monkeys, Adders/large Lizards, and in fome Rivers poifonous Crocodiles.
The berer half of this lland is poffers'd by the King the cont of of Achen. If you go along the Coaft to the Eaftward Smemetra of Aiben, about. 12 Ieagues from ir yon minet with Pcdir, a large and populous Ciry, and after that Pacem and Dely, Abour 12 Leagines to the Wictt-watd of Achen, hies Daya, a confiderable City; and then the King of Achen's late Conquefts; piz. Lebe, Cinquch, Barros Betaham, Pafaman, Ticom, Prienion, and Pideng. The other half of the litand is proffers'd by five or fix Kings who, tho' they are Lords of very good Councrys, yet if you pur them all together, they are not to confiderable as the King of Acheri.
Uponche Eaft frde, near the Equinoctial, lies the little Kingdom of Andrigri, and beyond that fainiz, the richeft of them all; and a litrle farther Palimbac. To the Weft-ward of Pading, lics the Kingdom of Manimabbo and beyond that indripouria. The reft of thic Coaft extending to the Srreighos of Sumitr, is woody and uninhabited. That part of the Coalt thai faces there Streights is fabject to the filing of Bentam. Thus you havean Account of the whole Coait of Sumatre, the Inhabitants of which are Malayans; To that theyall underftand the Malays Language.

The Inland parts of this Illand are inhabited by Narives en inkang that fpeak a differcne Language from the Matigs; and are para onder the Government of feveral Petry Kings, of which the Richeft and moft Powerful is one that refides between Ticow and Mmimeabo, asbeing poffers'd of all the places where the Gold of this Dand lies. Tis certain there is a grear deal of Gold to be found in chis Iniznd; but the Inhabicants are alrogecher ignorant of the working of Mines, and what they gather is only in Torrents, and ittle Ditches, that they dig in the places where the Floods difctarge themelves. This Gold the Narives truck wich the Inhabitants of Manimicabo; for Rice, Arms, antid Cotton-Clorh; and with thofe of Priaman, for Pepper Salt, Surar-Clocth; and Mafutôpitain Stecl. Ticotp añd the prher Kingdoms they have bur litele Commeree widt. As forStrangers, they have no dealings with them; but murder and car'en wherever they carch 'em, as well as their Eriemics. Forwhen they war with one another, they never ranfome Pixifoncts; Bur cat their- Fleth raw with Pepper and Salc. Tho the; have no Religion, jet they iave fome Polity relacing to Marriage, Juftice, and their Dury to cticir King, which they oblerve with an Involable Répect

Upon the Weft Coaft of Sumetra, there are 2 grear the zanids manylnes; fome of 'em large, about is or 20 I cagues off, upon the and orhers bur fmall; about three or four Leagnes from coan of So the Continent; which do nor belong to any of the abovennatra: menciorfd Kings. Thore which are inhabired, are poifers'd by the Original Natives; whom the Malays never expelld, becaufe thefe Illands were not to their purpofe.
Uponitie South fode of Sumairn, in thic Latitude of \(S\) Deg. lics thelfland of Enganc, Inhabited by Barbarous Enami Savages, that fare no body, but maffacre all thar come upori their Shoar, whether White or Black. They ga raked with long Hair, and have Cinooss in which they fith. The"i Aims are Bows and Anows Upon tricfame Coaft, in the Lak of 3 : Deg. lies a mafor long toand, calld by the Duich Neffam, which may concain abour 14 of 15 teagues in length; bur is nor int tiabiticd.
About forir or five Ieagucs from this, near the Equinoctual, we meer with another unisitibited Inand, abour 7 or 8 Eeagues long.
Then we came to a grear loland in the I atitude of monato 1 Deg: calfd Montaley, above 20 Leagues long the Irhibitartis of which are clodind, and uritick with thoic of Ticom, tho' they. Ipcak a peculiar Lanimiage.
Wider the Equinoctil trere are 20 or 25 llanes, tome great, fome finall; forme infabited, forte not Having crofsid the line, we mect with tie tile of pmands Pulo-Njas, m 2 Deg N. Lat which is is or 16 teagues lonis ; and peopled widh a good rort of Pcople the tues no tody, unle's they be injur'd, and traffick with the People of Barros and Strangers, to whom they fell their Children and Slaves.
\(\ln 3:\) Deg. N. Lat. there are feveral other inhabited Inands:- Screral of thefe Ines are cover'd all over with palm-Trees, thar bearthe Coco's, which the Inhabirants of the Maritim Towns carry off in their Ships and make Oil of. Others are cover'd all over with very high Trees that differ much from thofe of Europe.
To return to the Grear Ifland of Sumatra, and take a Thice prricu- Circumftancial Vicw of what it produces.
her Xingdons Circumpancial Vicw of whatit. produces.
tity of Pepper; bur is very fmall. Gold is cheaper there than in any othcr Country poffefsd by the Malays.
The Kingdom of Famby produces a great deal of Pcpper, which is much better than that of Andrigvi. The Englifh and Durch have a Factory in ir, as well as the Porsugueze of Malacca: The City, which is vcry unhealthy, lies \(\mathrm{s}^{0}\) or 60 Leagues up a River, which one muft row up with a Boar. The Inhabitants drive a great Gold Trade, nor only with thofe of Manimcalo, but with the Natives of the Country.
raineam.
The Kingdom of Polimban abounds in Rice and Castlc; and affords but litule Pepper. 'Tis a pleafant Couniry towards the Shoar; and is poffef'd by the King of Bentam.
Andi iporra is feated on a rapid River, in \(3:\) Deg. \(S\). Lat, and furnithes every Year two Ships loading of luch Pcpper as we have in 3 ambj. The Inhabitants trade likcwife in Gold with thofe of Manimetbo.
Next is the Kingdom of Manimcabo, which thoots into the Country, but has fome Harbours upon the Sca-fide, particularly Cortaringrx where the Englifh and Dutch come often. They have litule Pepper, but a great deal of Gold, which is not above 30 or 35 per Cent. cheaper there than in Ficuce, becaufe they deal with fo many Nationsin that Commodity. They fell it by the Tact of which \(\mathrm{I} \frac{1}{2}\) makes \(\mathrm{ll}_{\text {larp }}\) two Ounces. In is in duft and fmall picces, for they make bur fcw . Bars of it.
As for the Dominions of the King of Achen, the Ter-

\section*{The Danimi-} ritory of "his principal Ciry, is norfufficiently culcivared
for maintaining the Inhabitants; fo that a great part of their Rice comesfrom abroad: In former times it produc'd a great dcal of Pcpper; bur one of their Kings obferving they minded nothing elfe, and neglected the manuring of the Ground, cut dowall the Pepper Plants, Yochararprefent it does not produce crery Ycar, above soo Bataris of Pepper, and that of the fmalleft fort. Six Leagues from Achen, towards Pedir, there is a high Mountiain that furnimes grear quanticics of Sulphur, as wellas the Ifle of Poolowny in the Road of Aclen, which fupplics in a manner all the Indies with Sulphur to make Powder of.
The Territory of Pedir being very fertile in Rice, is caltd the Granary of acben. This place affords pretty large quantitics of a yellow and hard fort of Silk; part of which is by the Nacives made into Stuffs, that are efteem'd all over Sumarre, and the reft they fell to the Inhabitants of the Coaft of Corcmendel.
As Dely, there is a fountain of Oil, which is faid to be unextinguifthable when once is is (ct onf fre, and with which the King of "Achen burnt two portusucic, Galleons near Malacce, abour 8 or in Ycars ago.

Daya abounds in Rice and Cartle.
Cinquel affords crery Year large quantiries of Camphyre, which the Inhabitants of Surat on the Coaft of Coromantel buy up very eagerly for is or 16 Rials the Catri, or 28 Ounces.

Barros is a pleafant place, feated upon a large River, in an open and well cultivated Champrign Counrry, about a League from the Shoar. Its Benjomin, efpecially the White forr, is mighrily efteem'd in thefe Inands; and is ferres the Inhabitants for a Barter in all their Bargains, for they have no other Moncy. This place affords like wife plenty of Camphyre. The Camphyre of Batcham is reckoned the beft, bur chere's very lirtle of it.
Paffimatn ftands at the Foot of a very high Mounrain, thar may be feen in a clear Day 30 Leagues off. It has excellent large Pepper, being the firft place of this Coaft where we mect with Pepper-Plants.

Seven Leagues from this place ftands Ticom, which is - yet more fertile in Pepper.

Priaman has not fo minch Pepper, but it is a beiter Air, and very well Pcopled, and plentifully furnifh'd with all forts of Provifions; and drives agreat-Gold Trade with the Inhabirants of Manimiabo. The Dutch had a Factory there for a long time; buit the laft Year theKing of Acben expell'd them Padang has little Pepper, but deals pretry much in Padang has litte Pepper, but deals pretry much in Gold, and lias the Conveniency of a fine River, where great Ships may come up and ride fafe. All thefe places are well Pcopl'd and Cultivated, and fome of the Inhabitants are rich, and live happily by virtue of their Rcmotences from the Tyrannical Cours of Achen.

The Inhabirants of Achen are a worfe Core of Pcopie than thofe of Ticom and Priamen, and the other places A Cisene along the Coaft. They are Proud, Envious, Men of no of ith copop Faith or Confcience, efpecially in their Dealings with Chriftians, Treatherous, and given to Robbing and Poifoning. They defpife their Neighbours, and take all other Nations but themfelves to be brutal. They are:very prodigal in their Clochs, and would be the fame in their Houfes, Slaves, and other chings, if the King. did non cramp 'em. They feak well in their own lianguage and fome of 'em ler up for Orators. They are very fond of Simile's, and happy enough in applying them; but the Frequency with which they ule them, would be naufeous and impertinent in any other Country. They compofe fome Poems and Songs, and apply themfelves to Writing, and thelArabian Arithmetick, which differsbus litcle from ours. Some of 'cm are very good Mcchanicks, efpecially for the building of Gallies; and they make all forts of Iron Work as well as any where elfe, tho' chey do not work with that fame Facility and Dexrericy as the Europeans. They work very well in Copper, and Wood, and fome of 'em are skill'd in cafting of Arrillery.
The King cntertains 300 Goldfmiths in his Cafte befides a grear many other Arcifans.
Since this King came to the Throne, the Subjects of Aclen have got the Name of the beft Souldiers in India; for they endure Farigue wonderfully, and are excellent Pioneers, as appear'd in the Sicge of gucd: and Dely, thelaft being a place of great Atengith; fortify'd by the Affiftance and Contrivance of the Portutucie; and defended by a Perfon of srat Valour and Reputation, which, neverthelefs the King of Aclen rook in fix Wecks time, by cutring Trenches and gradually advancing them.
They live yery fobcrly, and for the moft parr upon Rice, to whichthe Richer forr may add a fmall matter of Fifh and a few Herbs: And he muft be a grear Lord indeed, that, in a Day's rime, cats a Hen boil'd or broil'd upon the Coals. 'Tis a common faying among them, That if chere were 2000 Chritians in char Country all their Beef and Fowl would quickly be confumed.
They pretend so be very ftrict Mabomerans, bur are grear Hypocrites and Diffemblers, "efpecially" in their Refpect to the King, whom they would fee hang'd if they could.
f they fulpeet, tho' without reafon, that any one does not lovethern, to prevent his being in a Capacity to misreprefent them to the King; they'll form an Accufarion againft him before rhe King; and is is the frequency of chefe Accufations, that makes the King fo cruct, foraf much as it perfwades him, that there are more Confipiracies againft him than thercare.
In fine, they are fuch 2 wicked fort of Pcople, that is is a common thing among them, for one Brother to accufe another, or the Son the Farher; and if you charge them with Inhumanity and want of Conflience upen that fcore, they'll tell you, that God is Diet far from them, but the King of Achen is near as hand.
Purfuant to the Law of Mehomet, they marry as many Women as they are able to maintain, one of which is \(\mathrm{T}_{\mathrm{n}} \mathrm{e}\) it entirul'd to a Preference before the rett, her Children being reckon'd chelawful Heirs.- They fuffer their Siares and Concubines to go abmad; but not their. Wives. If a Man marries a young. Woman, he commonly pays fome Money for her to her Relations, and allots her a-Joynture upon his own Eftate. If a Woman has any thing of her own, fhelodges it in the Hands of ber Husband; and takes of him a Note, entituling her to the Recovery of it in cafe of Separation or bad Husbandry: And if the Husband dies firlt, this Note, together with the Joynture, ftipulated in che Contract of Marriage, maft be firft \(\mathrm{C}_{2}\) tisfy'd out of the Goods of the Deceas'd, to the prepudice of all Creditors If the Woman diés firft, the Husband is entitul'd to all that fle broughr him. Man and Wife may leparate when they will, prorided they both agreeto it, for the Confent of one party' is not fufficient.

In Achen Ufury is probibised, and the Intereft of Thitit con Money is limired to 12 per Cent. per Ammum, without of 1 Aa Pledges; whereas in Bantam: theyll give 5 per Cent. a Month, and a Pawn befides. If the Debror refufes to pay, he is cited before 2 Court of Jaftice, where, if the Debr be made to appear; he is condemn'd to pay it in a Debt be made to appear, he is condema to pay in in litule time; and if he do's notpay it in che appointed rime, he is cired a fecond time, anid muf either pay, ir: in 2"
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)

Court, or elfe have his Hands ty'd behind his Back with a Withe, in which pofture he continues (for no Body dare a Withe, in which pofture he continues (for no Body dare to unrie him), and is oblig'd to appear before the Court avery Day that it fits, till he farisfies the Debe: Ac laft, if the Judge perceives that herappears every Day, and is nor capable to fatisfie the Detr; he delivers him up to the Creditor to ferve him as a Slave, empowering the Creditor ro carry him home, or fell him, or to do by him as he pleafes, to de does nor pur him to Death. This Court fits every Morning, excepting Frider, under a great Bali, near the gras Moskey; and one of the greatelt and richeft Oran kass preffecs in is Under another Bali, by the Caftle-Gate, firs the Criminal Courr, in which feyeral of the principal Orankays prefide by turns. Under the Cognifance of this Court are all Quarrels, Murikers, Robberies, éc. committed in tie Ciry. Any Criminal may be itopp'd, or taken up by 2 Girl or Child of four or five Xears of Agc, for whencyer Hands are laid upon him, lie dares not bue ftand unmov'd like a Statue, and fuffer his Hands to be ry'd, in order to be dragg'd before the Const, where Juftice is immediately pur in execution. I have feen grear lubberly Scoundrels dragged in that fantion by little Children, and condemn'd to receive fome Lanks of a Withe upon the Shoflders, for tealing the Value of a Farthing. After the Execution is over, neither Criminal nor Informer dare complain; nay', fomectimes they return together equally ancencernd.
If faw a Man try'd thexe for having peep"d through a Hedge, to fee his Neighbour's Wife wanting her felf, and condemn'd ro reccive thirty Lantes upon his Shoulders, but after the Sencence was pronounc'd, the Criminal capitulated publickly with the Executioner, and after fome words ane him 20 Maes in the oper Court, in Confideration of bcing only whipp'd atove his Cloths. 'Tis a common Cuftom in that place, to bargain with the Executioner for mitigating the Punithment: For there's never a Day but the King orders a Nofe, Ere, Ear, Hand, Foor, or Te ticle to be cut off from fome Body or other; and upon thofe occafions the Executioner gers Money for doing hi Bufinefs haudromely, and with little pain; for if the Criminal does nos come up to his Price, and pay him in ready Moncy, upon the fpor, he'll cur the Nole, forintance, So deep that the Brain may befecn through the Wound, or mangle a Foot or a Lcg in two or three picces, Eic. In all thefe cruct Mutilarions, and cven Gelding is felf, fearce any one dies, tho fome of the Perfons thus maim'd are abore 50 or 60 Years of Age; and the only Remedy they ufe, is to pur the wounded part immediately into Water, and after in has bled a littele wath is, and bind it up with Linnen Clouts. After a Criminal has thus fuffer'd Juftice, \({ }^{\text {' whecther by the King's Command, or by the }}\) Judge's Sentence, all the Ignominy of his Crime is wip'd off, and if any one upbraids him with it, te may kill nim with Inopunity. There is another Courr, in which the Cady or Bifhop prefides; thar takes Cognifance of all Infringemenrs upon cheir Religion:
In the Alfandegue likewife there's a Bali for determiming Differences among Merchanes, whether Natixes or Foreigners, the Prefidene of which is the Orankay Laxemanc, who in 2 manner governs the whole Ciry. In this Alfandegue they keep an exact Account of all the Cuftoms, Gifts, Finss, and Commoditics belonging to the King with a particular Lift of the Perfons Names thar buny of the King, and pay the Duty, or make him Prefents. To the end they may be capable to give his Majefty a fatisfaAccounts be prpo cyery thing is difpos'd of; for if their Accounts be perplex'd, they can expect norhing bur death. Befides thefe, rhere are four Officers call'd Pengoutero Cer n,tio, who rake Cognifance of all things done in the Nighrrime, fuch as running of Goods without paying rhe Dury, Robberies, Éc. Each of thefc has a quarterof the Ciry under his Juriddiction. Farther, cach of the Orankays has a Proviñce or Country Diftrict under his Jurifdiction, wherenhey give Orders; and adminifter Juftice to the Inhabirants. Some of the principal Orankays refiding near the Ciry, are oblifd to give Orders for a Watch of 200 Horfe, that Patro's crery Night in the Country, and along the Shore.
As for the Caftle, or King's Palace, the inner part is filld with 3000 . Women, which he keeps partly for a Guard, and party for other Ules. Thele Women come cldom our of the Caftle ; they have a Market-place of dities as shand rraffick with one anocher in fuch Commodities as they make. They are rang'd under feveral Caprains, and have their Civil Judges, and Night Offecers as well as the Ciry.
None are allow'd to carce into their Aparments, but the King's Eunuchs, who are faid to be in number soo. Befides thefe; the King has a greatmany Wives and Concubincs; and of

Daughters of the Kings whom tie has pillag"d. The laf Wife that he had by fuch means was the Queen of Pera, who is faid to be very handfome; and from whom ho contracted a Difeafe rhat is likely to carry him off, unlefs the Vigour of his Age, which is now in its prime, be able to overcome it
Of all thefe Wives he has but:one Son of is Years of Age, who is yer more crucl than himfelf. This Prince has only the Qualiry of a fimple Orankay; and is always confin'd to the Caftic, except when he goes to the Moskey, and then he has a pompous Recinuc. Some time ago. "his Father gave him the Invefture of the Kingdom of Pedir but his Goyernment was fo cruel and licentious, that the King call'd him tome, and pur him ro ftrange Tormetsos, from which time he hath till kept him with himele
In the great Conrr, where the King's Apartmenrs are the Eunuchs kecp Guard; betides which, there is a Guard of a so Slaves ar one Gate, and another of the like inumber as the outer Gate of all. \({ }^{n}\)
There Slaves aic moftly Foreigners, taken in young, and bred up in the Excrife of Arms and Shooting; they are confin'd within the Caftle, and allow'd to converie with no Body: So that the King makes ufe of them to ovcrawe his own Subjects, and feare them from treafonable Defigns. All the Punifhments inflicted in the Cafte, are pur in Exccution by there Slaves

To purthe Orankays in the Cuftody of there Slares, he ranges them in three Companies, one of which is oblig'd to keep Guard in the Caftle Day and Night, withous Arms, in a Cour: furrounded by Slaves; fo thar every thiud Night cach Nobleman comes upon the Guard; and if any fúficious Pior foould be difcover'd, the King has always the third parr of his Nobility in his hands. If any of the Orankays fail to obferve the chird Night, he under goes the lols of his lite, together with the Confifcation of his Goods, Wives, Children, andSlaves. The Orankays dare not converfe familiarly, or have frequent Intervicus one with another, for the King fufpects all Familiarity a mong them : So that they never converfe together, unlefs it be npon an accidental Rencounter, that they falute one another with a great deal of Complaifance. When ere chey, or any Body elfe, emters the Caftle, they are oblig'd oo take off theix Sword, and pur ir into che Hands of the Guard at the Second Gate.
The City of Achers is more like a Village than a Ciry, The Fortit: emg an open place withour Walls, and the Caftic is no cations of the more forify'd than an ordinary Gencleman's Houtc it ho Cafic abour halfa League in Circury Gencleman's Houre; it has abour halfa League in Circumfercnce, of an Oval Figure, urrounded with a Ditch of 25 or 30 Foordepel and breacich the Banks of which are almoft inaccefible, by reaion of heir Atcepnefs and plency of Thickers. Before the Cantle the Earth is caft up in Banks, which Corve for a Wall On the top of this Bank there grows a grear many large Reeds as tall as An-trces, and planted lo chick that one cannot fee through them. 'Tis prefent Dearh for any one to touch the leaft Branch of thele Recds; for the King of Achen's Ambaffador to Hollend, upon his renum home, haing forgor that Order, and unluckily pulling off a fmall Twig, was immediately pur to Dcath. Thefe Reeds enoy a perpetual Verdure, and can'r be fer on firc.
1 could obicrve no Flanks or Bartions round the Caftle; but upon that fide which faces the Moskey, I faw the beginnings of feveral Ramparts, bur nothing jer fininh'd. Before the Gates there are peither Ditches nor DrawBridges; bur on each fide of every Gate there is a StoneWall, about to or 2 Foot high, fupporing a Tcrrals, on which a couple of fine Brals Guns are planited. The Gares are as high as the Wall, and are made of a Atrong Crors of Wood, being thur on the infale with rwo grax Cross-bars fir'd in the Wall, befides ocher Bolts.

Through the middic of the Cafte there pafics an fmall River, that defcends from the Mountains, the Warer of which is cxrream cool and agreeable. Upon the Banks of this River, there are Sereps for Pcopic to go down and wath themfelics.
Before we come at the King's Apartmenes, we pafs four Gates: From one of thefe Gates thexc runs a Brick-Wall, back'd with a Tcrrafs, with feveral Brals Guns upen ir, within which, as I take it, is the King's irfenal: This Rampart inclofes part of a very large Court upon the Front of the Houles, in which I have feen 300 Elcphants at a time.

The other part of this Court is cnelos'd by four grear Pavilions, anid a fort of a Stone Rampart, which commands the Terrafs, being forrify'd with a Parapet. As for the inner part of the Caftic, I can give no account of , being deny'd accels.
To conclude, the Fortifications of chis place are inconriderable; bur irs Avenues are very difficult; for the Counrry abour ir is full of Rivers, Marhes, Trees; and \(\mathrm{Kk}_{2}\)
verj clofe Thickets. Where the River enters the Cafte, there is a Stone Fort, confifting of a large round Battion, and two Courrines, with feveral Guns mounted upon 'em. Upon the Land-fide thefe Courtines are joyn'd by a Rampart madic of Turf, in which there is a Gate, but withour cither Ditch or Draw-Bridge, as well as the whole Fort. The Walls both of the Baftion and Courtines are is Foor broad, and 20 Foor high.

Before this Fort the King has a fort of a Pleafure-houfe, by which thereare feveral Fith-ponds and pleafintWalks; the whole being enclos'd with a Trench made of Turf, the Breaft of which is 10 or 12 Foor high, and moted abour, where 2 or 3000 Men may lis. Before thisTrench is a fmall Fort cover'd with Thiskers, and Dirch'd about, upon which there are feveral Pieces of Camnon. The Councry round all thefe Forrs is fo full of Marfhes, Ditches. and the Trecs that chey call Nippicts, that is is almoft unpracticable.
Paffing Enftward from-rhe Caftle along, the Shore, we

For my pari, I had rarher run ten Stages on Foot, than ride four Leagues upon an Elephant; for ir is a very uneafic polture to thofe who are unaccuftom'd to it, cfoceially if one fits behind, for the foreparr of the Shoulders is the foferet.
When the King was well, he usd to hunr cvery other Day. In his Stables he has abour 200 Horfe, so of which might be worth 500 Crowns a pice in \(F\) :ance. All of \({ }^{\prime} \mathrm{cm}\) have rich and magnificent Trappings.
The King of Acben is ftronger by Sca than any of his \(x\) Ncighbours; for he has abzur roo great Gallics, of which Gullie. a third pare are much larger chan any we build in Chri-Atendomi- I law the Kcel of an ordinary one, that was raz Foor long, all in one picce. They build their Gallics rery prectily in thar Councry; bur they are roo heavy, for they are broader and higher than they thould be. Befides, the Risging is too fmall and weak for their bulk; their Oars hare neither length nor weight fufficient, being only Poles, with a picce of Eoard at one end. They pur but two Men to an Oar, who ftand uprighe when they row. Their Sails are nor made like Mizain Sails, bur Gquare like thofe of a Ship. The Sids or Planks of thefe Gallics are fix Inches thick: So thar confidering their dulnefs, one of our European Gallies maghe bear the of em. They have commonly threc good Picces of Cannon, of which that planted in the Bourfey is not lefs than a Battery Gun, for fome of 'em will carry a Bullet of forty Pound. Befides thefe, they have feveral Fauconites, which they plane before and abaft. The largeft Gallies have commonly fix or eighr hundred Men : Their Crew confints nor of Slaves, bur of poor People that row yery well.

This King's Wars are not very chargcable to him, for all his Sinbjects arc oblig'd to march ar his Command upon their own Charges, and carry Provifions with then for three Monchs. The King gives them Arms, of which a Regifter iskcpe, they being oblig'd ro reftore them at their rerurn. .Their Wives and Children, and their Parents, if they have any, are ankwerable for their Behaviour; for if they farink or give way before the Enemy, noronly them felves, but theie theirinnocent Relations fuffer for it: By this means the King has broughr them to begood Soldiers, and the Tcrror of their Neighbours. If they continue above threc Months in the Ficld, the King is ar the Charge of Rice to maintain \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{cm}\).

His Gallics colt him as little as his Land-Armics; for he divides 'cm among his principal Orankays, obliging chem to fit them our, take care of "em when rhey return, and repair 'ems ar cheir own Charges; and orders a cerrain number of Reople to be ready upon the Command of fuch and fuch an Orankay, to affift ar thefe Services. The Orankays are very carcfu! of the Galleys; for if thele fail, they cither lofe their Lives, or muft build new ones in their room : For that reafon, when the Gallies come into the River to be laid up, they cleanfe the Dock yery carcfully, and then lay great picces of Wood a-crois it, which are ten Foot diftant from one another, and lic npon an exact Levcl, leaft the Gally thould bow when in lies upon 'cm.
When the Tide comes in, the Elephants draw the Gally up upon thefe Sommers, which hie above ten Foos from the Ground, thar they may get underncath to view and caulk che Ship's bottom. This donc, they run a Dyke of Turf, Stone, and Planks, berween the Dock and the River, and then fill the Dock with Warer to the upper Surface of the Sommers. This they do that the Gally may be refreft'd by the Water, but to as not to dip inro it, leaft Sea-worms fhould breed in it. Having laid up the Sails and Rigging, they cover the Mafts' rery carcfully with Palm-Trce Leaves, fo thar neither Rain oorSun can hurt them. Befides they have a grear Roof, thar they bring encirely over the Gally: After that thcy put Warer into it to the depth of four or five For, to keep the Planks frefh, and prevent their being fplit by the heat. All this is done in fuc or fir Days; and one cantor imagine how well they preferve the Gally, and how readily they launcli it again, For the Dock being full of Water, there is no occafion for caulking, the Rigging is at hand, and the Roof is taken off in a Minute ; the Water within the Gally being thrown out into the Dock, augments theWaterchere, which fets the Sommers afloar, fo that they are eafily remov'd: Upon which the Warer ruining into the River carries the Gally along with it.
Every Morning and Evening, upon the opening and A ciant thutting of the Caftle Gates, the King caufes a Gun to be pravifirn fir'd ; and if any of the neighbouring Kings offer'd to do athen the like, he would declare War againft them, alledging, Thathe being the Inventer of that Cuftom, he had a Right to engrofs, it to himfelf, for a Badge of his Grandeur. He prohibits the-fhooting of Muskets, or Firc-Lccks, in the City, on any other Days but Munday and Thur \(/ d a y\). The Rithar f in King From what has been laid, ris manifert that this King Charge of the Arms, Powder, Lcad, and Rice, which very incorfiderable: And in Pcace he fpends yer lefs, for as to the mainenance of his Family, he has more Rice Flefl, Fin, Fowl, Oils, Sugar, and Herbs, paid him by his Jubjects, than is confum'd in the Caftle; and the Surplufage is fold in the Marker to the King's advantage Befides, he allows his Servants nothing but Rice; if they eat any thing elic, they mult purchafe ir by their Labour and Indultry.

He amafics rogether grear Quantitics of Rice cyery Year; for having large Hereditary Countries, he parcels them out among his SubjeAs to be manurd, obliging them to furnilh him with a ccrtain Quantity of Rice crery Year, whether the Crop be good or bad; and he calculares the Product of his land fo nicely, that the Farmers can't be idle, if they maintain themfelves, and pay the King, who never bates them a Grain. This Rice he pues into a Magazine, and keeps it up till the latter end of Aucuma, ar which rime it fetches a donble Price, and dreins all the poor Pcople of their Moncy. If ir be a plentiful Year in tchen, he fends ir to fome neighbouring Councry, where Rice is fcarce.
He has vatt Herds of Cattle, kepr by his Slaves.
His Elcphanes cont him nothing, for he gives them no Rice, bur only the Trunks of Brmana-Trees, which being cut, a Sprour comes up next Year that bears Eruit.
As for his Cocks, they coft him nothing, for the Orankays take more care of them, than of theis own Chindren.
He is at nocharge for his own, norhis Womens Cloaths
The frefers for on a certain Day of the Year, alltbar have any Offices kade himby or Places in Achen, are oblig'd to make him a Prcfent of one or more Garments, according to the Incomes of their Places, or clfe of Scuffs for Cloathing the Women: And erery one ftrives to ourdo another in the Magnificence of his Prefent, in order either to procure a betrer place, or to fecure what he has. If he docs not like the Garments or Scuffs, he turns them back, and the Officer that gave em is fure to be curn'd our of his Poft, unlefs he quickly accommodates the matter with a large Sum of Money orif he be a Man of Riches, he'll be charg'd with fome Male-adminiftration in his Office, and perhaps pur to Death.
thi Hoofr: He canfes a grear many large Houfes to be built of rough Stone, which coft him bur little, tho' they would be very chargeable to anochcr, becaufe he has fuch large Numbers of Slaves. Tho thefe Houfes are reckon'd inimitable in that Country, yer they are infinitely fhore of what we have in Eurcps:
#islura, His Slaves indeed have a betrer Life, than any Slaves I know'; for he does nor chain 'em, unlefs they feem to endcavour an efcape, or to rebel againft their Mafters; and of eight Days he allows 'cm four to work ar what Worik they will, for their own Livelyhood. And thus the King pays nothing for their Maintenance. He employs them moftly in curcing of Wood, making of Morrar, hewing of Quarrics, and Building. There are three or four Overlects of their Work, who are maintain'd by the Slaves; for thofe who undeftand any Trade may Live pretry handfomely, and be cxcus'd from working to the King for Five-pence a Day, which is receiv'd by Commiffaries appointed for the purpofe, and goestoward the Maintenance of the Overfers, and the buying of Iron, and all other Materials
The King gives the Model of the Buildings himfelf; and very ofren, if a Window, or a Door, or any fuch thing, be not exactly according to his Fancy, down goes the Houf, and another muft be built in irs place. He appoints them a cerrain time, in which the Work muft be Months which is commonly but very fhort; for in the fix Months that I was at Acher, I faw more Buildings rear'd up and pull'd down again, than I could have imagin'd to redeem in the space of two Ycars. Thefe Slaves may redeem themfelves; but their Ranfome rifes according to their Qnality.
The King is Heir to all his Subjects that die without Male Ifve; and if chey leave any Daughters then unmartied, he puts' cm into the Caftle, which occafions the numeroufnefs of his Womein
In that Country Daughters have no Tirle to any Heritage; and nor only the Pcople of Acben, butseven all the Mabometans are fo loth to pare with their Money, and 10 buoyed up with the hopes of having Mate Children; by fome of their many Wives, that they feldome or never Anve any thing to their Sons-in-Law in their Life-rime: their Lifc-ime, if the King's Spies obferve it, ir may do them more injury than good.

The Royal Treafure is likewife confiderably cnlarg'd by the forfeited Eftares of thole whom he purs to Dcarh Forfeired every Day; for to prevene their alienacing thair Eitate or Efares. Goods, he takes them as a furprizal, and has their Wives, Children, Slaves, Cartle. Minncy, and all forts of Movables, lodgd in the Caftle, before they know their Senicnce While I was there, I faw the Jewcls, Gold, Silver, and all the movable Goods belonging to his own Mother brought in upon the fame occafion. The Perfons that he thus. puts to Death, are commonly the Orankays, or grear Lords; and that for one of thefe two Reafons, wiz. Either their Reputation and lntereft among the People, or their Riches, the former giving him occafion of Jcaloufie, and the latter awakening his covctous and avaricious Tcmper.
The King is Heir to all Forcigncers that dic within his whe K:ns: Tcritorics; for as foon as a Forcigner fikens, the King's HEir to il Officers prefericly take poffetion of his Houfe, and upon Forcigners: his Death remove his Effects to the Caftic: And ofenrimes his Scrvants, Friends, and Slaves, are pur upon the Rack to difcover where his Gold, Silver, and Jewels are, or where any rhing is due to bim. Bur the \(E m\) midb and Dutch having Factories here, are exempred from chis Law; as we were while we ftaid there
This.King has another bad Cuftom, of impropriating the Men and Goods of all Ships that fuffer Shipwreck upon his Coaft:
No Foreigner can enter the Cafle, withour making a wo Audience Prefent to the King. 'Tis true, I often weat without any, of the king Ons allowd the Quality and Privilege of a principal wi hout Orankay; but at the fane time I never could have Au- Riefent. dience upon my own Affairs, but when I ufher'd it in with a Prefenc. Nay, if cither Forcigner or Native purs in any Requeft to the King withour a Giff, the former is nor heard, and the larter is punin'd. And after all, the Requet will not be granred, unlefs the Prefent be lik'd; for Thave feen the Dutcij and Englifi? have their Prefents frequently rerum'd, and in that cafe they were oblig'd to make more valuable Gifts, fuch as would pleafe the King, before they obtain'd their defire.
No Foreigner can enter the King's Chamber withour che Chappe, for which be pays a Rial to the Officers char bearit. When a Ship comes into the Road of \(A \mathrm{ch}=\mathrm{m}_{\text {, }}\) none of their Crew muft go afhore till the Chappe comes, and till the Dury of that be paid, which amounts to soor 60 Rials, according to the bignefs of the Ship: And upon their dcparture from the Road, they arcoblig'd to pay about half as much. The Moors pay nothing upon the Export of Goods, bur upon the Impors the \(D\) :t \(j\) is very heavy, for they pay no per Cenr in Gold for the Enery of all Goods, which are appris'd by the Offcers of the Alfandegue, and commonly over-rated 50 per Cem. The Durchand Engli/h pay as mitch; but then they pay it in the Commodity is felf, and not in Gold. But the greateft Damp upon the Trade of thar place, is, thar the King cogroffes it all inro his own hands; for what Commoditics he buys he muft bave 'em under the Marker-price, and wharhe fells rife to 50 per Cent above it: So that if he conrinues at this rate, the Dutch and Engl:/h will be oblig"d to abandon this place; and 'ris with chat view, as I take it, that he does as he does, forar prefent he is rery jealous of their ttrength.
From what has been faid, we may fafely infer, than the King of Achen is infinitcly rich; efpecially if we confider, that over and above the above-mention'd Arricles he had a rich Exchequer left him by his Father.
To underftand how this prefenc King of \(A c h e n\) came to the Crown, we mult know, that before the Reign of his She anciert Grandfather, the Orankays being never opprefsid with Kinadom of their Kings, nor pillagid by oricr Nations, were very rich accier, in Lands and Houfes, befides Gold and Silver, and gave a licentious Range to therrinfolent and proad Tempars. In thofe Days the City was fix times greater than it now is and fo crouded with People, thar one could fearee pals along the Streers: No City in India had fo flourifing a Trade; the Alfandegue requir'd no Cuftoms but thar of the Chappe ; Merchants might unload and load again, in 15 Days time.
The Orankays liv'd in grear ftatcly Houfes, with Can nons ar their Gates, and grear Numbers of Slaves, both to ferve and guard them, they had proad niagnificent Garmenss, and pompous Retinues, and were much refpected by the People. This Grandeur and Authority of the Orankays, not only leffen'd the King's Authoriyy, bat was oftentimes faral to his Perfon. Infomuch, thar if was a grear matter, if a King enjoy'd his Crown two \({ }^{\prime \prime}\) cars; or if he did, 'twas with fo much rrouble and dependance upon the Orankays, that nothing but the Tiele of h.s Dignty was left.
Things contimed at this rate, till she extirpation of the ancicns

The meient ancient Royal Linc, which happen'd abour forty Years ago. Upon that the Orankays mer in order to chufe a King: But crery one affecting thar Dignity for himfelf, they could nor agree uron the matter, and refolvid to decide ir by force.
In this Ferment the Cady, or great Bihop, by his Autherity and Remonftrances, perfwaded them to liften to an Expedicnt that would remove all their lealoufies; namely, to put the Crown roon the Head of a certain Orankas, who in all thele Divitions had not ftirred or affected any thing for himfelf or his Family; bur had liv'd in the Feputation ef a wife experienc'd Man, leing then qo licars of Age, and delecnded of one of the Nobleft Families in Aiben.
The Orankays accepred the Propofal, in regard it did not link their relpective Pretenfions, tince they only eratirulcd him to a prefercnce by reafon of his Age and Prodenec. But after all, the old Nobleman defird to be excus'd ; alledging, that he had retir'd for fome time from the Atairs of the World, and defred to pals the remainader of his Life in peace and quictnels. Upon this the Orankays fell together by the Ears: Bur ar han finding that cicry thingrun into confulion, they endeavour'd to threaten the old Orankay into an acceptance of the Crown: But both their Threats and Increaries were e qually incffectual. As latt they came all in a Body to his Houle; the Cady carrying the Crown, and one of the Orankays a naked Sword. There they reprefented to the old Gearlemian, Thar they could nor poffibly find any other Remedy for their prefent Calaminy, but that of making. him King; that as they had frequently importund hind to acecpt of the Crown, fo they camenow once more to make the laft Offer ; and thar if he refus'd ir, they were refolv'd to cut him offimmediately, to prevere their infifting any longer on an ufelefs Expediont.
The old Orankay finding himelf in a quandary, told 'cm, That tho' he had firmly refolv'd to firith his Days withour the difturbance of Publick Affairs; yer fince nothing bur his mounting the Throne could prevent a pernicions War, he accepred their Offer; with chis Provifoe The Accefi- That they fiould refpect him as a Father, and he nould trea on of this thems as his Children, thatif any of them diffatisfy'd him, be fanger to the fhould treat them as his own Children, and they thould reCrom, ceive his Corrcction as from the Handsof their own Father.

This haid, they all thank'd him, promifing not only to honour him as their Facher, but to refpect him astheirSo vereign Lord.
After his Coronation he took pofferion of the Cafte, and invited all the Orankays to a Fcaft upon an appointed Day, and made fuch valt Preparations for their Reception, that the Orankays were ftruck with admiration. The Orankays were drawn up in order in a Courr near thic King's Apartment, and conducted by the Chappes into a Hall; bur as erery one entred the Hall, he was immediarcly feiz'd and dragg'd into another Court behind the Buildings, where the King had caus'd to dig a deep Ditch, upon the Brink of which their Throars were cur, and then their Bodies were thrown into it

In the mean time the Múfick play'd, and nothing but His Criecky. Songs and Mirch was heard in the Hall, and the matter was carricd on fo warmly, that 11 co were cut off before thofe in the Rear could perceive any ching of the nuatter at which time the fmall Remainder alippd foftly our of the Caftle, without knowing diftinctly the occafion of their miftruft, till the nexs Day thar the principal Orankays were milfing.

The King having thus cur: off all thore whom he fufp:cted, and torrify'd himfelf wich a good Body of Men in the Caftle; he publifh'd a Declanation, fetcing form, That the Cafte; he publin'd a Declaration, fetring forth, That this grear Execurion was neceffary for the Safery of his this great Exccurion was neceffary for the Safety of his own Pertion, and the States; that as in former times the Orankays had made and dechron'd fo many Kings ar plealure, and extinguifi'd the Ancient Line, fo when they were at the poinc of cutting one another's Throats, they were at the poinc of cutring one another's Throats, they could find no other Remedy bur thar of making him King could find no ocher Remedy burthar of making him King by force, in order to wfe him as they Kings upen occafion; that fince he was King, he would not be cxposid to the inconitant Humours of the Orankays; who, after they thonld have maffacred him, would have relaps"d into their furmer Animofirice, and made the Pcople to fuffer by their Quarrols; and in fine, that all his Delign was to preferve the Gencral Peace, to Reign in Equity, and execure fevere Juftice upon Offenders.
Afor this Declaration, when he faw that no Body furce, and none came near him ro pay their wonted Refpats in the Caitle, he demolifh'd all the Houfes of the cxecticd Grankays, and lodg'd their Camon, Arms, and movibic Goods in the Cafte; he prohibired cvery one to build with S:onA, or to have Cannons or Inerenchments atrout thei- Houfes; be order'd the Trenches that then were, to be filld, up and the Stone-Walls to be pullid down; he cnioyn'd, down; he enjoyn'd, that all their Houfes thould be but one Srory high, and their. Walls be made of Mars, as they are at this Day; he conferr'd the Quality of Orankays upon his Favourites and Abetrors, allowing them part of the Lands of the exccured Lords; he pur ro Death the ancient Orankays, and thofe of the Pcople, that reftify'd any dinike of his Conduct: Infomuch, that the firft Ycar of his Rcign he pur to Dearh 20000 Perfons ; and in the fecond, fome thoufands more: This Prince reignd a long time, and reduced the City to the pitiful Condition that it is now in. He us'd the Mioorijh Merchanes very unkindly, but was cxtream civil to the Engiifh and Dutrch who fetted there in his time. He brought up this prefent King, who is tie Son of his own Daugher, and whom be had a parricular Love for.
He died in the Year 1603 , aged 95 Years, leaving be- Bedi To him two Sons, who were already advanc'd in \(Y\) carss his inite To the eldert of thefe he leftre Kingdom of achen, and domice. all his Territarics along the Coaft of Sumara to the Weft twen bis ward; and to the ocher rhe Kingdom of Pedir, with the Territorics upon the Eaft Coaft of Sumairra. Thele two Subjects were of tou meek and humane a Tcmper for their an infinity of Difordarders, Robberies, Oppreffion, and an infinity of Diforders, reign'd in achen, for want of a evere execution of Juftice.
The King of debon happening to give fome figho \(R_{C}\) buke to his Nephew, the prefent King, whom he entertaind in the Caftle, the young Prince made his efcapcour of the Caftle, and fled to his Uncle the Kine of Pout who gave him a very kind Receprion. The King of Aiclen defir'd his Brother to fend his Nephew back to Aclien; bur his Brother made anfwer, Thar he would nor offer to force a young Prince, whom their Father had recommendcd to their carc. Upon this; the rwo Brechren declar'd War one againft another, the Forces of Pedir being com- awarem 60000 Men were kill'd between 'cm; and the Nephew had oftentimes the advantage. Bur arlant the Forces of acticn being more numerous, thefe of Pcdir refus'd of march; upon which there King was oblig'd to deliver to Nephew into the hands of the King of Acben, who imme diarely puraftrong Guard upon him, and laid him in Irons.
Some time after, the Portuguefe made a Defecne upon Alicn, and carricd the firt Turf Fort at the entry of the River, bur could not mafter the Stone one. In this Jun cture the young Pxince defird his Uncle would ler him go and fight againft the Porruguene, remonftrating, that he had better dic in a Battle with the Cafires (fo they call the Chriftians) than lie in Chains to no purpofe. The King of Achan bcing at that time in a Confternation leas'dhim, and fuffer'd him to go upon thar Defign. The young Prince behai 'd himfelf with fo much Bravery in wo or thrce Engagements with the Portugheñe, that he arquir'd a great Keputation among the People of atior.
Upon this, his Mother, being an Active ambiciou Woman, forms a Delign of making him King of ichern and furnifhes him with grear Sums of Money to be diftributed among the principal Orantors. With thefame vicw, the young Prince was very familiar in bis Conver Garion, what ever he had was common to his Friends and Courticrs, he refus'd nothing that was ask'd of him; in a word, he fhew'd himiclf liberal to the orankiors affable to the Rich, a Companion to thofe that profefi'd Arms, and extream courtcous to the Common People. In the mean rime the King of Achen dy'd fuddenly Ar the Hour of his Death, the young Prince gets into thic Caltle, bribes the Guards, makes large Promifes io the Officers, advances a large Sum of Moncy to the Governour of the Caftle, diftributes Money among the prinCrown himp. 'In fine, he managed the Incriegue ple to to pily, that be was proclaim'd King that very Night hap- mhantr, gacar joy of all the People; who had conceir'd greartintanc Hopes of him, in regard of his Liberality, Courtely, and Familiarity; as well as his Valour.
Pcdirbeing 82 Miles from Achen, the King of that place was quickly acquainted with his Brothers Death, and came ncxt Day to receive the Inveftiture of his \(\mathrm{R}_{2}\) trimony: But as he approach'd to the Cafte with 2 (mall Retinue, he came into the Hands of his Nephew the King of Achen, who forgerting his former Favours, kept him a Month Prifoner in the Caftle, and then pretending to feadhim out \(t \mathrm{a}\) a more agreeable Retrear at a diftance Thote whoput the Crown upon his Head were not bet- kest tim ter us d : For he began with the Maraja, or Governour of the Caftle, who had raken moft of his Moncy, and ended winh thole that receiv'd the laft. In 2 Years time thex fonind a grear alteration upon him; for, inftead of being Human he was very Cruel, inftead of Libernlify he llies over againft a Sandy Creek. This Ine has neither display'd an extream Aoarice, and his familiar meek Temper became auftere and inexorable. In fine, he has fhed more Blood than his Grandfacher did in his whole Reign; he has difpeapled the whole Territory of Achen, and draind nor only the Narives, bitt, the Foreigner that refide rhere, of - ll their Mondy.' 'Tis true, be en deavourd to repcople sthis City with his Conquefts or rather Ravages (properly (peaking) for having ruin'd the Kingdoms of For, Dely, Peaban, Queda and Pera, he raniported from thence to Acken abour 22000 Perions; wu ar prefent there are fearce 1500 of them left fo hat thas Policy ferv'd rather for an inftance of his Cruclty than anyother ching, forthe People being broughr naked to Aclen, and allow'd nor a Grain of Rice for their Maintenance, dy \({ }^{\circ}\) d of Hunger in the Strects. Hitherto this King has been fuccefsful in all his Enterprifes, fomuch thar fome rake him for a great Sorcerer. For ipart I aks to be a Man of great judgiment one that undcrtakes nothing raflly or unicafonably, bur after a matura Deliberation, and upon the Foot of very probable Conjectures. Henever affaulted one of his Neighbours, but when they were reducd to lome excremity. All his preparatory Meafures are incomprehenfible, till che Delign is purin execution; for he never asks nor ricccircs Advice of any, and being invefted with an abtolute Authority, his Commands are immediatcly pur int Execution. Now, all this may be done withour the Adiftance of Devils: Befides, I have ofren heard, Aar Sorcerers are poor forry Wretches bur I am cerrain, that thisKing is the richeft of all his Neighbours.

\section*{\(M\). Beaulieu's Voyage to the Eaft-Indies.}

February the 3d, We came in fight of the Ine of Mondand upin tabey. The sth, We came to an inhabited Ile that lics between Naffaw and Montaber. The 6th. we pals'd between Nallnm and anorher Inand notmark in in the Charts. This Channel is four or five Leagues broad. All thefe Iflands lie very low, whereas the oppofite Coaft of \(S_{\text {L }}\) morre is very high and conficuous. I would advife all Sailors rather to pur in to Sumatre than into any of thefe liude Illands; for che former is pcopled all along rheShoar with Perfons acquainred with the Converfarion of Strangers, whereas the Inhabitants of thefe are barbarous Sa vages, that have no communication with any other Pcople.

April the 20th. In \(33:\) Deg Tat. the Needle rarying 73 Degr. N. W. We deforyd a fmooth and uniform, bur rocky Coaft; upon which, weftood to the Sea, and next Day encouncer'd \(a\) violent Storm that lafted to the 23d. May che Ift, We perceiv'd the Land between Cape to an Anchor in Tcble-Bar. Ourfick Mendid nor recove at this place as I expected; either by reaton of the cxtream cold, or becaufe I could not take in fuch frefin Provifions has I had a mind to, there being fome Dutch Ships in the Bay thar I miftrufted. I bellieve the Cold had a grear hand in is, for all the Dutch Sick died as well as mine. The Wind conrinud at W. N. W. from my firft arrival in this Bay to the 24th, thar I weighed anchor, and a bad Rudder obliging me to pafs by the N.E of the little Inand, was becalmd within a Cannon fho of it. May the 3oth, we fet fail, the Wind at S. S. E. Fune the 2ift, we defcry'd St. Helens, abour is leagues W.N. W. of us. Next Day I came ta an anchor before it, and fent our fick Men athoar, who were fomething benefited by the Air. This is a very convenient place for the refrelling of Mcn, not only with regard to the Temperatenels of the Air, but by reafon of the plenry of young Kids and Hogs, the facility of coming ar good Warer, theconveniency of good Firhing in the Road and apon theShoar, the abundance of Oranges and Cirrons, which are excellent Remedies againlt the Scurvy, befides feveral good Herbs, fucti as Purflain, a fort of Tarragon in large quantities, fome Fenugreek, Tobacoo, and the Herb Mayoc; not to mention the Partridges, Pidgeons and; as fome fay, Oxen, that this Illand abounds with For tho' the lland be mounrainous and very Itcep and wither'd like, yer on the top there's a grear deal of moifture, and there is not a Gap or Valley withour a Brook or Rivulet, the greateft of which runs in the large Valley, where a Chapel is builr, tho the Valley is not above 150 Paces broad, and rooolong; ar the end of this Valley there's a, ragged cleft hill of Rocks, upon which there falls down a Stream of Water from a very high Mouncain, infomuch chat it is bear as fmall as Rain before it falls. This Inc lies in 16 Deg. S. Lat the Ncedle varying \(5 \frac{3}{4}\) Deg. N.E. and always has the Wind at S.E.

Wood nor frem Water, nor any grecn Herbs, being nothing but parch'd Rock. Yet it affords fome Hogs, and 2 great many Fow'ls, fuch as can live without freh Water. Upon the Rocks' and in the Road it has abundance of Fim, and Tortoifes. Its circumference will make about 8. Leagues, as well at that of St. Hicteis. It lies un cighe Deg.S. Lat.

After we crofs'd the Equinoctial we had fuch Calms and drizling Rains, that moit of our Men were ficz'rl with Dropfies and Tumours, upon which there enfued a great Mortality in the Ship. Lhogusf the ath, the Calms and drizling Rains continuing, there came 2 fudden Whitl-wind that lafted for two Mirnutes, and broke all our Sails, carrying the Main-top-Sail quite off. The next Day we faw lome Swallows and Burter-fics, which fignified that we were near the Lañd. The 13 th, we Law an Illand to the North, in 16 Degr. Lat. which we knew to be Sc. Nicolas, one of the Cape Verd Illands. The 16th, we made the Ille of St. Vincent, and caft An-The ific of chor ar five Fathom Water. The rith, I fer my fick \({ }^{3}\). Vimemb. Men alhoar, who were very numerousand in a forry condition; but when they came upon Land recricyd apace. The ordinary Anchorage of this Inland lies in 17 Deg 20 Min. Lat, the Needle varying 2 Deg. is Min. N. E. It affords at this Scafon grear plenty of excellent Tortoifes, which they call Free-Tortoifes, and are diftinguift'd from the others they call Cathouancs, by the fmoothnefs, pla:nnels, and green colour of the Shell; the largenels of their Body, and the fmalnels of their Head, and the form of their Snout, which refembles the Tecth of a Saw. Thefe eat as well as a young Heifer, and fome of 'cm are fo large thas they'll weigh 300 Pound. They come our in the Night time, and lay their Eggs upon the Sand, which they bury a Foor decp: Thofe who have a mind to catch em, watch em at thar time, and getring behird 'em, rurn 'em over upon thcir Back, after which they cannor turn chemfelvesso get upon their Feet, and fo lie there rill the Morning: Mott of 'cm have 250 Eggs Thell'd and as many unhelld in their Belly, which are very good. In this flland we meet with anHerb, char in fome meafure refembles Spinege, but is infinitely better We us'd intorh in Sallad and Soup ; and boith it and the Torroife Flem, kepr our Bellies open, and cur'd our Men of grear Dropfies, without any other Pargation, in the fpace of eight Days, which perhaps could nor be curd ins France in a Monch. Tis well for'd with young Kids but you are not fure of carching them, unlefs you have Dogs. We faw no Fruic in it, but Wild Figs, which were all Spoil'd wich Worms. To the Eaft-ward, under 2 high Mountain, there are vaft quantities of Purfain. Commonly the Water of this Inc is brackin; bur upon the S. W. Point of the Bay, where the Anchorage is, therc's a fmall Spring, that, if it were cleans'd and deepen'd, would afford pretty good Water. 'Tis furnind with 2 confiderable quantity of Wild Pines, which may ferve for firing; befides which, it has no Wood, unlefs it be fome Shrubs that caft forth a white milky. Juice, that's very dangerous and painful to the Eyes, if in touches'cm. There's very good fifhing along the Rocks, efpecially ar 2 little Rock at the encry of the Bay, about: of a League from the Anchorage. In rwo Hours time feven or cight Mcn may there carch Fin enough for 200 Mcn . In fine, 'tis not inferiour to Sc . Helens for a place of refreflament, bating that its Water is not good; in compenfation of which Defeet, 'tis all over acceffible, and furnift d with pleafant Walks, whereas the other is the moft inacceffible Councry I ever faw. This me is abour 9 Leagues in circumference, and it has alwajs the Wind arN.E. It has leveral pleafant Bays; but that towards the Inc of St. Anrtony is the beft Road for Ships that can be, for we rode ar five Farhom Water on an excellent fandy Ground, and were fheiter'd from all Winds. . We faw neither Men nor Honfes, tho we travel'd over moft of the Illand.
After our departure from Sc . Vinecnt (which happenid Seprember the 1 sth) we had (everal violent Storms. Oifober the 2 2th, we defcry'd the Azores Inands; but it was the 17 th before we could weather "em. The 19 ch, we had a violent Storm from the N. W. that broke our Mizen-maft, and obligd us to bring our Main-ropMaft upon the Deck. The 30th, we were in 50 Deg Lat. and had 70 Fathom Water; upon which moft of our Pilors agreed that the Sorlingues I/es lay abour 20 Leagues to the W. of us. Noomber the 3d, we defcry the Lizard Point in England; and December the ift, came fafe to Havre de Grace, having been out 38 Montbs.

The End of Admiral Beaulien's Voyage to the Eaft-Indies:

\title{
The VOY AGE
}

\section*{\(\dot{\mathbf{O}} \mathbf{F}\) \\ Francis Pirardde LaVal to theEaf-Indes;}

\section*{AND.HIS}

3enarks upon that ©ountry.

\section*{Trañlated from tbe FRENCH , and Abridg'd.}
The Frensh
put to Sea 2007, 1602
They en:
coumer

IN he Year 1601, a Company of Merchints of St. Melo's fitted out two Ships for the Eaf-Indies; one of 400 Tun, calld the Creffens, and another of 200 , calld the Corlist; the former commizinded by Siectr de la Berdefiere as Admiral, commanded by byerrir net Grouff of clofnuuf, in the qualizy of Vice-Admiral. Our Altrior being on bozerb the Corbin, drew up a Jouinal of the Voyage, the Subftarice of which is as followerh.
May the isth, 160 . Wefict Gil from Sc. Mclo's with I N. E. Wind; and st the Diftance of aine or ten Leigutes from the Shore, the Mizen-mint of the Corbion pluitintwo.
Maythe 2 Iff, We fell in wisth nune great Dutel Hoys, cach of which faluted ut twith a Gum ; bar one of 'em be ing loaded with Batl, beat the Sail of che Corlion to pieces; upon which the Vice-Admiral fired two Gars upon the Rigging of the Ship that frad injurd him; and che Admiral raking to the Windward of the Dintch Adminal, mide to with all his Sails, and fird 2 Gum apon em. The Dutch Admixal preferitly 'ftruck, aind having inform'ditimelf that the Mifdiance was occafion'd by the oyer-fighr of a Gunner that was in drink, deliverd up the Gunner to the Fienth Admiral, in order to condign Purifiment, aud begd he would pardon the Mitake. Our Adimiral finding hotv the Macter food, faid, he deGir'lunofurthcr Satisfaction, and having recurn'd the Gurner, inceated the Dutch to vouchfafe him 2 Pardön How the 'Ducch treated hin afterwards I know not; tho I do 'not much doubs, but they hang'd him up immediately at the Yard's Alrin; for the Datch oblerve an exaed Dificfincin their Ships, and fuffer no Crimes to piff ivith Impunity; and from thence ir comes to pais that. their Narigation is more fuccefful than the Fiench.
- Fune the 3d, We defory'd the Canary Inands in 28, in, and 30 Degrees NorthlLativude : The rith and r3th tive came in fighe of the llands of Cape Vard, which fin from 20 to r 4 Degrees North. Lätinule.
Finic the 2gin; We were in five Degices-Tatirude, and defert'd the South Starcalld the Crofs; ar the fame rime ivetion atproditions ytrantity of flying Filh, with Wings the thole of Bats, which are very plentiful near the Equino@tial Lint, whether on the North or 'South fide.

Fuly the ri, We difcoverd the unhealthy Coaft of Guiner being carricd our of our Cotrfe in a Calm, by The'fitength of 'the Currents.

Auguft the 24 th, We crosd the Equator, on both The weather fides of which, for the cxtent of feven or cight Degrees winds rifing at a diftance, call d by the \(\bar{S}\) ca-men Dragons, which flatter and overturn any Ship that falls in thei Way. When thefe appear, the Sailors have a fupertitious Cuftom of repairing to the Prow, or the fied tratlies next the Srorm, and bearing raked Swords painft one anothier crofs ways, upon 2 vain Appretienfoin of preventing-ticiryapproachby thar Means. In this Air the Raius are very darnjerous, for if one is wet, and docis nor immediately fhift himfelf, his Body is foon afier 'cover'd all over with Borches', and his Cloiths with Worins. Inctretinfe of 2 Eatm, Ships roll prodigioufly in thofe Seas; but when they rin with afrefh Gale, they are morefteldy.

Angu/t the 29th, Our Pilor (an Englifh Man) defs
 100 Leagues off toithe Sea, the Curretits drove is towardsthe Shore. This wie found ro becte Ifle of Aunt poffef'd by the Porruguef, where we took in frem water and Fruits and after a Show of Givility ar firt, treacheroufly llew onte of our Men, and rook five Prifoners.
This Illand is govern'd by a Porturguefe Iond, who had the Gift of it from the King of Spain; , the other Por-ADefin suguefe whoinhabit is, beint only his Falors and Com-onom milfaries. The Natives, who are all His Slaves, are anden N:gro's, and go naked, covering their. Privizies with' Cotton. Their. Woriten "carry their Children upon theis Backs, and fackle them over their Shoulder, their Breafts being verylong. The-Elland-is fumare in in S. Lat, andis five or fix Leagues in Circamference. Tis high, mouncainous, and always green. The Road is on the N. W, frde, and is very darigerous, by reaton of Flars and Rocks. We lay there fix or feven Wieks, and diring thar rime, it rain'd every Day more or lef.. The Comery produces great plenty of Fruirand Cotors in which allthe Revenues arepaid; their Fift is extrocridnary good, and veryplentiful. The diftance of fatergre and a half from-Ancton, there is- 2 Hitlle forch id Hexid, that affirds no Greens; but is fo cover'd with \(\times\) the-Fotwl calpad 'Pinguin's, that one cannot walk anywhere withotr tura Pigeon, 2 and is Flefhisblack, buritcansadminaby WH:
Ofotier the roth, We put to Seargain, and Nooember thie \(17^{\text {th }}\), we ruade the 11 land of \(\mathrm{St}^{\text {. }}\) Helens, which hes in 16 -DegreesS. Lar: at zadiftance of : 600 Leagiacs froin se kim the Cape of Good Hape. Upon the Alcar of'a Ctrapel务 chis Illand, we found feveralLetrers, advifing rhat the Dutch had palsid that way. Here we thoughe to have fitted our Esizenmatt, bur found to Wood fir for the Puipofe. The Air, - Fruit, Fleth and Whiter of thene place ate fo healifiy, that our Men who: wete mincich oppres'd with whe Scurry, Tecover'd indre fince bfonite Geivs Nivember the \(26 t h\), We fer fail, and Jorod for thie Eapcof Gobd Hope; ;and thite -Diys after doubled: the Alroilles, i. es a Bank of Shelves upon the Coantar Brafl, whichties in's 8 Degrees South Latitude and is 70 andto Leagues": long. The doobting of chefe Sands is both difficuls difficult and dangerous ; and in failing to the Enft-trdies, unfpeakable Uneatinefs that attcuded. trom the Flies by an expert Pilor ought to be very cautious, in keeping to a juft diftance from the Guinee Coaft, which is very unhealthy, and incommoded with Calms and Currents, and at the fame time ftanding off from the Abroilles: For the djing of which, there is Sea room enough, fince wo reckon 1000 Leagues from the Coaft of Africa to that of Brafl.
Having doubled this Cape, we continued our Courfe for the Cape of Good Hope, and in few Days knew that we approach'd to it, by the apparance of the Reeds calid Tromba'sy and whire fucekl'd Fowls. Having weathered the Cape of Geo. Hofe, we came in light of that of diguiles, or Needles, which floonts is leagues of further into the Sea, and lics in 35 Degrees South Lat. This Capederives its Name from che Obfrevadion, that whicn a Ship comes before is, the Necelle of the Compars Poins dircetly Northward, without decliningtorhe E.orW.
Ganary the Gth, 1602, We mer with a violene Storm, in which one of our Sca-men fell over-board, and his Companion would have jump'd after him, if we had not prevented him ; tho afterall, I take his Offre to be the cffect of Winc rather than rruc Aficction, for there is burlittle Fricndihip among Sca-faring Mcn.
Purfuing our Courfe, we ftecrid by the Country of his upon the Coat of Ritherpir, withont any Storim, which was an uncommon Farour in thofe Scas; for tetween the 33 and 28 Degrecs, they are neter almoft withour violent Storms.
After that we miftook our Courfe through the Ignorance of the Pilot, and Februcry the 4 rh, finding our felves onche land-fide of St. Laprence, tack'd abour, in orler to make the other fide.
Felvurr the 7 th, 1602, Having pafs'd that Illand ac-rijent cording to our Withes, we werc furpriz'd all of a fudden, mant of with a violent Storm from the Sourh. Weft, being icls acquanted with thofe Scas than the Porturuc/i, whomake timely Provifion for fuch Accidents. In this Srorm, it was fodarkinfull Day, that we could not fee the Heavens orone another; our rwo Ships were feparated, and our Sails were tore to rags; fuch was the Force of the Rain and Wind, that they wounded our Faces like fo many Lathes of Whip-cord; the Waycs fwelld fo high, and wath'd in with fuch Force upon the Ship, that we could not atand npon the Deck. la this place we-continn'dfur Daysand four Nights, and the Men of Senfe that were on boardr apply" themfelves" to devour Exercifes, while theSailors redoubled their Oaths and Blaf phemics. Our ancienreft Pilors and Sea-men- prorefted they never encounted fuch a violenc Tempeft; ; but the Bufinefs was, they never had Been in thofe Seas, which fwell higher than elfe where.
February 1t, The Stom being over, we ftood in for - umpin Sr. Lawionce, being much difablel. All our Men werc in a Manner half dead, and we had nora Man on board but a Dutelt Gunner, that had ever been in the Indies bicfore. When we came within 30 or 40 Leagucs of the Ifland, the Sea appeard yellowin and froth;', and was coverd with Recds and floating Herbs, which continted to appearon its Surface till the roth, that we arriv'd and oft Anchor at St. Augultine's Bay, in \(23 \%\) Deg. S. Tat. This Bay is large and very convenicne, having an excel lent Cround of Clay and Sand. The fame Day the Creffint rejoin'd us after rwelve Days Separation, and was more difatled than we. The Sea-men being Scorbutick, we mark d our a place on the Shore for the Sick: And at the fame rimea Dircis Ship was forcid into the fame Harbour by: ftrefs of Weather, which had nor enc fick Man on board. The Natives gave us Cactle, Fowl, Honey, Milk and Fruis, in cxchange for Knives, Ciffars, and Trinkers of littie value: Bur the place was to unhealthy, that many of our Men were fivepr off, partly by the Scurvy, and rarcly by a Phrentick Fever. We lay dircetly under the Tmpick of Cepricom, and the Sun Beams darted upor us almoft in a perpendicular Line; fome had their legs forchid and ulcerated thro' their Stockings; nay, the extream hear would have incommoded ustermorc; if it had not been for the Conveniency of aifne-River to bath in, and the Shades of a large Wrod. . We were pofted at the Foot of a great Mountain, which was coverid. with an jufinity of large Lizards, that offerd no hurt to any bodyi. The Wood was replenifid withan innomerable quantity of little Monkeys and Apes; which cntcrain'd us with a pleafurable Shews, in. dancing abour, and' skipping from Trec to Tree. Parrors are therevery numerons, and make an agrecable Hamnony:with their varivus and warbling Notes. Not tomentior the Infiferction of our Men, in over freding in fo hot a Climate, and the pernicious Confequences

Diy, and the Gnats that pefterd us in the Night times in piercing the Elefh till the Blood came, and an Inflamationinfucd. This Inconvenience was fo cutcing, that founc crepi into Sacks and Bags, leaving only a lmalihole to breath through, and all of us were tored to make Fires and lie down in the midft of the Smozk.
The Jiland of St. Laurence has 700 Leagues in circum- Atifuit: rerence; It lies betwecin 26 and 14 Des. South Lat. In on at: \(\therefore\), abounds in Catrle, efpecially Shecp, which bring forth Lutarensi. three orfour Lambs at a time. The Catle are not innpropriated, but common to all that cutch 'em; for the Inhabitants, and indecil moft of the other Indians, chooto rather to feed on Fith, Fruir and Milk. 'Tis common there to fee 200 or 300 Bulls and Cows in one Herd and when they come to crols a broad decp River, the Cows raife their Heads upon the Bull's Rump, and fo get over. We anchor'd at the Mouth of a River that afforded great plenty of Filh and Crocodiles; and when we killda Crocodile and took out is: lntrais, we obCery'd, that like Mush, they made a very agrecable Perfume in the Air. The Natives are of a cawny Olive Complexion, inclining to a red ; they arc tall, itrcighr, well made, and mor only of a ready Apprehenfion, bur wife. Their Hair islong, andreath in ino Treffes; they go naked all over, excepting that dicir Privitics ate cover's winh Cotton Cloth. Their Women wear one Piece of Cloch that covers' 'cm from under their Breaft to their Girdle, and another that teaches from thence to the Knces, their Head being bareand hav'd. Their Arms are Darts and Jivelims, call'd \(A\) ereaces, for the Noife of a Gunfrights'en exceedingly. 'Tis faid, that chisliland was fornerly propied by the Cianefc, upon the Occation of a Ship's being catt a way upon that Conat ; and indecd Conefemble the chimef: very much. bating, that their Complexion is mot near fo whise, which periapsmay poceed from their going naked, and hiving in the Torrid Zone. At prefent rhe lland is very popilous, and governd by feveralkings, that wage Wir with one aizother. Some of the Inhabitaurs are Mairmerent, and circuncis'd, and the rett are for: : The inland lares of the llland are in grear want of tyater.

Mey the 15 th, 1602 , Havine refited our Shins as well The indiua as we could, and provided our fo'ves widh Water, Wood, ot iommer. and Fleth, which afer all would not take Sale fo well as what we have in Etrop;, we fer fail, and fteer'd for the Conorro Illitnds, upon the Confideration, that our complement of Men was very thort and fickly.
The 23 d , we made thefe llands, which lic in in Deg. South Lat. berwecn-S. Lamme and the Continent of dirier, at the diftance of 70 Leagues from \(N\) kozam. bick. There are five of 'em, cach of which bas a pechliar King; and onc of 'cm, calld riaitil', being furrounded by the sther four, we chofe to anchor in its oad. We faw feveral Villages ahoar, the Inhabitanes of which us'd uskindly, and gave us Fruir in exchange for Trinkets made of Iron. The hababitants of thefe Illands are itrebonefens, being a Medley of feveral ..Nations, viz. Estighians, Cat ithe, archiaus, and Pc-jians. The are true Friends to the Porcurafof, and a cumning Marp fort of People, that are not tir to be confided in Whan our Menofferd to land at a lietic Village to take in Water, the Inhabitants rofe up in Arms, and opposid their landing, till they fent 'em fiveor fix Crowns, after whech they allowd en to take as much Water as they pleas. All thete lllands are extream ferrile in Oranges Citrons, Coco's, Honey, Betcl and Rice, which we kought up ar the calic Purchafe of a few Iron Trinkets, and Flanders Ware. Flef incoced is as dear there as here, tho' theyhave plentry of Oxen, Cows and Shecp. The have Barks made atogether of the Core and Tree, in which they fend their Fruic to Marambick; to be ex chang'd for Cotron; Cloth, Gold, Ivory, Esc. One Day we law a monftrousFifh rife above the Water, which had the Form and Figure of a Man, with a fort of Beard towards the Chin, that fcend to beirs Fins, and a lorig thaly Head, terminating in a Point. When we offer'd to come near him, he plung'd his Head under Warer, and fo difcovcrd part of his Back, which was faly. We ftay'd: a Formight in this Road, and the Goodnefs of the Fruir and the Air, cur'd our Men of the Sarvy, to a miracle ; and indeed I have always oblervid, that Gitroiss and Oranges, and their Juices, are of foveraign afe in Scorburick Cafes.
Fune the \(1 ;\) th, \(1<02\). Wefet fail, and the 24 , repafs'd the Equinourialline, ftanding to the Northward. IntheLat. of The Cubin \(\varsigma\) Deg: N.:Lat. we perceiv'd fome great Shelves furround-on tha coas ig little Illands, which were the Maldives, tho' moft of the Man of our Matters and Pilors miftook for the Inlands cilld dediot.
Diegodes Roes, which we had left 80 Leagues a-fiem to the Wefl．Our Adminal defign＇d to pafs to．the North of the Maldioes，berween them and the Coaft of India； But on the contrary we run directly upon＇em，whercas we ought to have food roo Leagues off \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{cm}\) ，if we had a mind to be fafe．In fine，fuch was our Misfortune，that the Corbin which faild in head，ftruck thrice upon a Rock，at the diftance of five or fix Leagucs from the Shoar of cheMaldiues．In this Difafter we faw a Hark belonging to the Illands，which would not come near us， by reaton of a farict Prohibition in that Comurry，to ap proach any Ship in diftrefs，without the King＇s efpecial l．cave．In the mean time the Sailors cat and drank hearuly，and treated their Commanders with a flaming Fort of Infolence；infulting all thofe that fhew＇d any re－ gard to Religion，and loudly prockiming，that fince Deach was fo certain，they were refolvid to render its Approaches eafy and fofr．This filld me wich Horrour， and convince me that mon Sailors lcave their Souls and Coniciencies a－thoar．In finc，aftercontinuing rwo Days in this deplorable and deferate Condition，we made a shift to refic our Galioon，and haul it over the Flats，and with infinite Labour and Difficulty，arriv＇d on board of it，at one of the Iflands calld Poultidon，which is not a leaguein circumfercnce．We had carried fome Arms 2 2long with us，bur the Inbabitants difputed our landing， till we gave up our Arms，and furrender＇d our felves ar difercion．There was not above 20 or 25 Inhabitants in the Ifland；butchey concerted their Meafures fo wifely， that they fent off our Boat and all their own to the other Illands，to prevent any Jnfurrection from us．They car－ ricd us allto a Lodgein the middle of the Ifland，where they cntertain＇d us with fome Fruir，Cocos and Limons， and riffled us of all we bad，pleading，that it belong＇d rothein King，as being Wreck．We had a picce of Scar－ lee Cloik with us，which（we prerended）was defign＇d for a Prefous to the King of the Illands，alledging at the Eane cime，that the whole Cargo of our Ship was mcan＇d for a Compliment to him．\({ }^{\text {D }}\) Upon this．no body dard ro much as－ouch the Scarler；bur aferall，we cur a picce of two or three Ells off it，and prefented it to the Go－ vemour of this litele loland，in order to oblige hims；and the Governour，who was a very old Man，rook it very kindly，conjuring us nor to ppeak of itr．Soon after， the Gorcrnour fent the Maftex and two Sailors to the King，who refided in the Capital Inland call＇d Male， and the Mafter prefented him the picce of Scarler．Im－ mediately the King fent for his B：orther－in－Law to fave what was on board our franded Ship．Tho＇the Flats were fuch chat no Boas could come near it，yet they found a way of getring at it，by the means of a Rope faften＇d at one cud to the Ship，and at the other to the Rock； for tho＇the Waves wathid over＇cm，they held faft by the Rope，and fo got to the Ship；nay，they are fo ingenious， that they took the sery Cannon and the heavieft Goods， The Natives and laughd at any Adrice we could give＇em．When we cowerpiecos of Siver． in feveral Girdles，and bury \(d\) it a－fhoar for a common Referve to fupply ourNeceficies：But fome of our Men being in want of Suftenance．digd up the place，and offerd the Natives picces of Moncy for Feod；after which，the Natives would nerer allow us Surtenance， wichout piecesof Koncy；and in regard that the leaft piece in the whoic Bank was werth 22 pence，their Pro－ vifons werc much over－valucd．Every Seaman hid affift himerenarthe point of ftarving；nay，when any lay very fick，the reft cameand riffed him before he dy＇d． As for my owirpart（ Kays our Aurhor）I and rwo more weretran（ported rothe If and of Pandowe，the Natives of which being acquainted with what pars＇d in the other Iflands，and thinking we had Moncy abour us，refus＇d us Sultenance，till we gave cm pieces of Silver；but in cffeet we．trad none of the Moncy，and were reduc＇d to grear Extremities．In the mean time I＇made it my Bu－ finefisolcarn their language，and by the being able to difcourfe with＂cm，infinuared my felf into the favour of the Gorcmorar of the ltand，who fent me to Maic，with Recommendation to the King，and borh the King and his

The Maldives lic between 8 Degrees Norch Latitude \({ }^{\text {Th }}\) Mr and four Degreess South Latitude，being 200 Leagues in sirat \(^{2}\) ， length and 35 in breadth．They are diftant from specin intion （ according to the Courfe of Sailing） 4500 Lcagues，Nintan and from the Contincint or Cape Comorin， 150 leagues． They are divided into 13 Provinces，calld Arrollons，each of which comprehends a grear many fonall Inands，and is of a citcular form，containing abour 30 Leagees in circumfercnec．Thefe lliandsarefurrounded withagrear ridge of Recks，which breaks the Shocks of the Sea and raifesprodigious Surges．＇Tis faid the number oi thiands amounts to 12000 ，a great part of which is no－ thing bur uninhabiced Hillocks of Sand．But the Ir－ habitanos inform＇d me，that the daily Incurtions of the Sea badimpair＇d the number both of the Inands and Im ． habicants；and that the lifes of one attollom，were for－ merky one continucd Tract of Land．＂Tis plain that the Scas which divide the Ifles of one Atrollon are fo thallow，nimetercery chatar low Water one mighreafily wadeover，were it motring now that the bottom is rocky and fharp，and apt to wound Wite． the Feet ro a flaming degree；and that chofe Seas are pefterd with the Fifficalld Primones，which break Mens Legs and Anns，and devour＇em．Another grear Incon－ venience that attends the going into the Warer，proceeds from a rough，lharp，polous，hard and ponderous fort of Sulntance，not unlike whire Coral，which they call \(1-\) quiry，and make ufe of in boiling it with Coco Water， for＇tis that which forms their Sugar or Honcy．A grear part of thefe Idands are uninhabited，and produce no－ hing but Trecs and Grals；orhers are only a moveabic Sand，without any Green；and orhers again are over－ flowed ar high－witer．Thereft are cover＇d all over with great Crabs call＇d Cacouuc，and Cra－finh，or clic with the Fowls calld Pingui＇s，infomuch chat one canner place Tra for cheir Foot in any part，withour treading uren thcir Eggs and Young oncs，or upon the old Birds themfelves，which do not fl \(^{\text {far a uponche approach of a Man．This Fowl }}\) is as bipas a Pigeon，with whire and black Fcathers，and is exacllent Mear，tho the Natives do not cat in．The unimhabited fandy INands appear at a difance，as if they were coverd with Snow；for the Sand，which is as fine asthat of anHour－gias，is cxtream whits，and withal fo cry hot，as to harch the Pinquis Eggs．Thefe fandy samit llands afford lirtle orno frefh Water；bur the covered 1 －fied his hands whether inhábited or not，enjoy thar Benefit，a－ bating for a very few，the Inbabitants of which are forc＇d to have recourfe to the neighbouring Inlands for Watcr，and make ufe of certain Inventions forthe te－ ceiving of Rain Water．The Water of fome I⿴囗十⺝刂s is better chan that of others．Their Well－water is nether fresies rery fwect nor wholefome，bur it is very pleniful anding a frefh，cren within four Paces of the Sea－fulte；for they dig not above three or four Foor，and where the Sea makes frequent Inundations．This Water is very hot in the Night time，and cxtrean cool in the Day，elpecially abour Noon．
To return to the 13 Atrollons；the frift（beginning the Nom fromathe North）is calrd Tilla Don Matais，i．e．the Higfoof it Poinr．Inthis lies the Head or Cape of the fame Name，minime call＇d by the Portuguef，cebexn Des Las il bas，and fi－ tuated in cight Degrees North Latitude；the fecond is calld Milla dene Madone；the third Padjpolo；the fourch Malosmadon；thefifth Arratellon；the fixth Male Attollon， in which lics male，the head Ifland of the Maldizes；the fevench Poulisdous；the cighth molucgue；the ninch Nil－ landous；the tenth Collomadons；the eleventh Adormatri； thetwelfth Souadon；the thirteenth Addon and Pona Mo－ lubque，thele two being reckond but one by reafon of ther fmalnefs．Each Attollon is Separated from the adja－ cent Provinces，by an Arm of the Sea，which is in fome places narrow and in fome places broad．There are on＇y four of thefe limiting Chanels，thar being much broader than the reft，are navigable by grear Ships，but nor withour danger，efpecially in the Night，by reafon of their Flats and Rocks，which are mark＇d rery exactly in Nome Sea Chatts，which I faw in that Country．The the wit Natives have a wonderful Dexterity in a voiding thefe smailm： dangerous places；I have feen em fail fo nicely，as ro rubrydurn upon Rocks on borh－fides，without any damage．Both the Rich and the Poor are inur＇d to the Sea from their In－ fancy，and fear nor to enccunter the molt rurbulent and foaming Seas，in little Boats and Barques，the number of which is unaccountable，for the pooreft Man that is has one，and the Rich have fereral．They never fail by Night or out of fight of Land，unlefs it be when they undertake forre great Voyage；and accordingly the Pro－ vifions they have on board，ate calculated only for one Day．The greateft part of the Illands comprehended in one Aftollon，are furrounded with a common Fiat or Bar， char＇s only pasfable at one or two narrow places，which are noreafily oblervid ; and for that Reafon it is inceeffary for 'em to be very expert in the Management of their Boars or Barques, fince the leaft Ship is cerrainly followed with. Shipwrack and the lofs of their Goods. As for cheir own Perfons, indeed they hare no grear Reakon to fear, for all of 'en fwim admirably well. Norwithfanding their wonderful Dexterity in Sailing, they frequendy oole their Barques, which is chicfly occafion'd by the Currents calld Oyoaros, which run Eaft and Weft Currents, fix Months upon the Eaft Coaft, and fix Months upon the Weft, but with fuch uncernaincy, that the changehappen'd fooner or later as one time than another. Tho' their Winds are frequently fixd. as well as the Currenes, in the Eift and Weft quanter, yet they fometimes thitit to the N. and S.
'Tis obrervably, that the Atenllons lic all in a line, the onseft. end of the one facing the end of the nexradjacent; and Todina phat that they have two Eatrances or acceffable places on an in ecah each fide, which is a wonderful Conveniency; for if there were only one landing place at each end, the innpervofity of the Ealt and Wef Currenss would break their Corm, munication with one anorher, of ar lealt'tr-oud be impoffible to practice is in all Seafons. The necelliry of four landing places in cach Atro!lon will be evident if we confider the following Inftance. Suppofe a landing place on the Eaft Coaft, almoft direetly oppolise to the Entry of the olher Atrollon, and another on rhe Weit, oppolise to chat of the adjacent Atrollon; if the Current runs from Eaft to Weft, we camnor crofs direaly from Entrance to Entrance, bur fit our from the Eaft Coalt, which is then the Head of the Currene, and taking it Gdeways, feers for the Wef Encry of the other Atrollw. In order to return, we fer out from the Eaft Entmace and overthwarting the Current, make to the Wert Entry of the other Atsollcn. Wham the Currens changes its Courfe, we oblerved the famic Conerivance in fetcing out from the Head of the Current, and cerring the other Arollon ar chat place which lies under the Current. Of thefe Entrances, fome atc broad and fome narrow, bur the wideft is not above 200 Paces broad, and come of em are lefs than 3o. Each Ensrance is guarded with an Lland on each ide; and if Cannen were planted on thefe Hands, 'rwere ealy to hinder any Ships io enter.
Of che Chancls that part the Atrollons, there are only nte Chands four broad ones, which are navigable by grear Ships, and manpermant frequendy vifired by Strangers, when the Currenta carry chem in againit theif will. To begin from the \(\mathbf{N}\), rth fide; the firit of the fe four wathes the Atcollon, callid Malos Madou, and 'twas in this that we were calt 2ivay. The 2d, calld Coridon, has Maic, the greateft of all rheic Illands in the middle of it. The 3 d calld \(A d-\) dow; lies to the Sourh of isait. The fourth calld Soundou, lies directly under the Equinoctial Line ; and in regard that it is the broadett of cm all, be:ng 20 Lcagues over, the Natives don'r fail upon ic without a Compafs, tho they never ule any in the other Chancls. Befides chere, there is a narrow Chancl, whichicparares M: cand Polifdos, in which the Sca appears as black as Ink, buethe HFarer caken up ina Vefich, looks like ocher Hater. That Sca boils lite 5 itater ona Fire; is fwells anto froar black Surges, bur isnor moved fromz onze fade to another, which renders it veryterrible.
Tre chmar The Meldites lie foncar the Equinoctial on both fides phods that cheir Climate is exrrean tot. Their Day and Night are alocays equal; and their Nighossate vary cool and dewy, which readers the beat of the San more toletable, and Moors forth etheir Herbs and Trees. Their rifines commences in doril and rontinues till \(07{ }^{3}\) oiver, 30 which time the Sumencr bogits, and lats likewife tix Monds. In Winter chey bave perpecual Rains bur no Frolt; and the swefterly winds are very boifterous. In Sunmer their Wriudsare Ealtcrly, with an excetfive Hear and no Rain.
'Tis faid, that the Maldives were in former cimes peoofthe In pled by the Cingale (fo the Inbabitants of Cotion are Lhemer calid.) Bur tis's oblervable, thar the Cingula are black and ugly, whereas the inhabitants of the Mnid ces are bandicme, well made, and of an Olive Complexion : Tho' after all 'cis poisible, that the Climate and procels of time, may have alier'd she Complexion and Shapes wo their advantage: befides, that 2 great many Forreigners being alt awa; on their Coaft, are blended xts Narch with 'em by intermarriages: Aod by dis Mexts it comes pinx mane oppats, that thofe wholi?e about Mcic, berween in and che North Cape (where the Skipwtacks happen 1 are more polifh'd and civiliz'A, than thofe on the Sourth Coait, who are notonly blacker, but mach cearfer in cheir Language, Cuftruns, and the shape of she Body; may, many of their: goriked, with a fmall cowct for their Rrixities: This

North fide of the Ifand is not only richer and more civiliz'd, as being the common Paffage for all Ships, bur the Sear of all the Nobility and Men of leorrune; and when the King punilhes a Criminal with Banilhment, he only fends him to the South parts: The Souldiers are all raisd in the Norch farts. Bur after alt this Difictence, I mult fay, that the Inizabitazats of the South parts are naturally as apprehentive and ingenious, as tind: of tha Norch.
Ingeneral, the Mollivans are fery ingenious; they a chmen apply themfelves with great Induftryand Succels, to all of the enthe forts of Manufactures, and even to Lerters and Siciences, bitatit.
after their manner) efpeciail; to Altrology, which chey hold in grear efteem. They are 2 wife cantious People, and very harp in thazir Mcrchandize and yay of living; they are brave, and skiltd in \(A\) ims, and theix Policy is very regular. Their Women are very handfome, abating for their Olivecolour; mar, fore of em are as iownthe ive white as the Eer openis. Their Hair is black whinh is winh per a Aly black; feveral Women keep their Daughters ticads Hefrif Thavid till they are cight or nine X carod, teaving only a Iictle Hair upon their Forchead to diftinguin 'on from Boys, who have none at all. I hatefeal fonc Childen have half flaxen Hair, which was turnd very black, by leing thaved every cight Day:- Borih Sexes affect black Hair, but the Women place an Ornament in having theirs chick aax long, which chey wana and dreff very fiequently. They wath their Head and Hair with Water and lye made for that purpofe, after whicin theis thair hangs difhevel'd in the Wind (bur within cocrs) till is drics, and thenthcy rub and perfume it with an vodoriferous Oil, whichrendera their Lead always moist and oily: Born Scies anoint their Rodies afier wakhing, ibus tho they wath their Bodiescruncr than once in a Day; heir Hair is not wathed above trice or thrice a wock: They nay wath cheir Hair when they picuf, but they are obligid to do it after copulation, and particularly on Fridis, which is cheir Sabbath for the Women, and Foftio. rat Days for the Men. After the Women have wafid rubd and perfumd their Hair, they firesth all the Hair rom before backwards, witho:re lea:ing fo much as one ftraghing Hair, and tic it bochind in a sreas tuft or knos, which they enlarge by a Perriwig of Mans Hain, made in the form of a Horfe's Tail; nay, tome of 'ein bave two fuch Perriwigs; befides which, they add odoriferous Flowers.

Asfor the Mcn, none bur Gendemen and the King's Officers and So -ldiers are allow'd to wear lone Hair Hase sise. and thef:indeed walh. perf tme and otefs thei: Hair af- weat Hent ter thefame manner with the Wowen, excepting tilar they make the cuft mot behind, bur on the Crown of the Head, oron one fide. and that they wear ino fale lerriwigs. However rhey are colis'4 to wear long Hair, \(2-\) gaunt their own plenfire; and moth of thoic who dócue it of when it gires crer grow:ng, in order tu be made no Pextiwins for the Women; for the Worner's Heads are never lhav'd, whenerdead or alive; and indeed the greacet part of theic Prriwigs some from the Contiment, parie darly from the Coalt of stricber, where a ver: Mazwears his Hiair long. Their Hair grows much fat:cr than ouxs, by reaton pardy of che frequent walling and"perfiming, and partly of the exce:ixve hear, which oc alions chich and trong Hair, and for the fame reafon then Hiair is never curld. The \(M\) :n are haity ald o cr the Body, and definife thofe that are not; but the the manat Women lave no Hair but whar's ufiai. They haye no outhorm. Combs, bur tiey have Ciffars of caft Conper, and Cop-ad women. per Looking-ghafes, which chey mate afe of in maviang themfelves with Sicel Rafors, maic afoer anocter falhion than oers. There are no profefid Barbers in the Country, forevery one lhaves himfelf, excepting the King and fome Pects, who are fervid by Perfons that ate prout of chas Honout, without any Profpeet of Gain; to dhas in all there Illareds boch Men and Woinen are provided with Urentis for fha: ing, and are very nice in raking off their Hair when it begins to be uncaly to ' cm . The Girlshave their Headsmavid once a weck, from their Infancy to the Sch Year of their Age, at which time their Hair is fufferd to grow to its fullength, and drefs'd as above, for then is the Seafon of looking our for Husbands. Before themoden that Age rhey have no Garments, but only a Cloth thar of tio Cish hanes down from their middle to the Kiees; and the O cation of their being cloth'd afterwards, proceeds from cherifing of their Breants, which conmences atthattime; for the Women in chat Country are as render of flewing their Breats, is our Women are of their fecret parts Before the fivelling of tixir Breafts, they are look'd apon as Children, and 'ris nor allowable for Men or Boys ze difcourte to 'ern of Loure Maters. The Cloch chat

LIx
trangs
hangs down from their middle to the Knees, they put on as foon as they begin to go ; but the Boys have none till The K<uss a jaxe eren Xcars old, and circumcisd. as Aen who are lairy allo:cr, they only flave their Braft, which is left uncoverd; but they thate is to as to leave Hair ftandine here and there. Their beards are of two Cores; Eeclciafitioal lerfons, and thofe who hate perPrm'd Pilerimages to Arecia, wearlon' [sards, havine under the Throat, and uponthe upper and lower Lip. ailround their Mourh; for 'tis reckorid tle greaten nufarice in the World, to haverheir Mcat or Drink touchid with Hair. The other fort of Pcople have litede Spaith They face Bearls withour Mifftaches, beins ilhayd round the Month mis, and and under the Chin. They ate very carctul in lations, axd under the Chin. Hey are very curefur in their the Racmass of encir Aans and the Shars of the Church-wards, wirt 2 litede Warce, unon che phes, that bcing parts of the Eody, they tequitc interment as wall as che whole, and for that reafon, many of "cru chore to be thav'd inthe Rorchesef their Temples; for chey would nof for any thing in the World, cither trampe upor beferectocis or locen chrove in the Fire. They are fulardy, that tho their Rafours are very bad, yce Eacy ufe nothing but cold Water, and never comphain of any fainian thavin:
To give a particular Defeription of the Matives, we

\section*{of thes} hal oceria with its fertility. It proctuces great phent of Willer, calld there Pur., and another litele Grain calld bicine, widh icembles Miller, but is black like lanefeed, theie two forss of Grain they fow and reap twace an one Xicar.: Ticy make a font of acal of 'sin, of winch they make Pormage, with Mill, Coco, Honcy, as woll as Cakes aud Friters.
The Country produces likewife fewcral Iorts of Rocts. which the Inhabitanesfeed upon, particulatily one call'd when' "wich crows ivild, bcing round, and as big as two Filts. The Druife it upon a roush Sronce and theo expele is to the Sun, upon whichit curns to a white fort of atal, that cats admirably in Potrage or Cakes, caly it muft le yery fech, and "is ape to lie heavy upon ties Stomach.
Anocher Root that grows there plentifully, and cats well is calld dhiss which mutt be fown and culrivated and is commonly as ei ig as a Man's Thigh ; fome of this furtof Roots àre red and others white. The Inhabiants koifan feveral ways, and make "on the moft of their friod, keeping em for a whole X 'car, for they come to naturity only once a Xiar, in Septimber. They have no kice bur what is imported from the Contuncar; howercithe have ic pecticheap, and ues a seat deat of it, cither biline is wirh Wrater, en mixd with Srices or boilid with Math and the Sugar of Cooos, on boild with Pulces or Fin, or tumid into Meal affer cirying and breiing, and then made into Cakes and Fritcers with Eses, Honcy, Milk, and the Butter of Coco's.

This Countes is weli xeplenth'd with Horis and the Natives eat thicir Leares, thece I cing very fwece and well tafted. As tor cheir Frutr, they have an infinite niarcs, calludby the Po thinuefo lotion Fiss, and by the Maldites, puclla, which is a large, delicious, and Dourifing Fruir, infomuch that it lerves their Chidite inftead of Proth.

The moft profirible Fruit is the Coro, or Intien Fruit, callid by then Koul, which is mare plental in the ithit dites, than inany other part of the World; fo that the Inhabitanes know how to manage it berrex than ochers. This Trec alonemighr fupply all the Neceftrics of Life, for it affords Wine, Honcy. Sugar, Milk and Butter, befides, thatirs Kerncl may be eat as Bread. of which they have rone in that Cornery: Further, moit of theis Ureafils are matic of tie Wood, Bark, I.cakes and NutSiolls of this Trec.
in fins, the whole Councry is fladed and refreftid mains, fo wat there's no oreafion to buy Firewood; 1. fides, that there ate whole Illands coverd with Trees, frim whence they ferch what Fire-wood they pleafe.
Tis sery remariable, thattho' all the chirteen Atrollons they work, Heep andeat, white they are faling from one Inland to another, to vent their Manufacture, and foinscimes they are a Year out, before they recum to their fixt abodes.

As for their Anumals; they have prodigious number rit of will Pullers, which are lold for a Peony a-pices; and fiont che fanc price will feccla three dozen of Egs; \(16 \times \mathrm{s}\) to Filh, this is the mot of their Food. They have gras plenty of Wila Pigcons, Ducks, Kayls, Birds aciembling Spar-hawhs, black and gray Muskits livins not upon Prey but upon Frute, Esis: as for Domeltick Fowl they have none. The Crows are liere very troublefone, for crom they are numerous to a mirack, and to bodd as to take things out of the Houfes, before the Teoples Faces. Their Bats are as big as Ravens; ance their Gnats or Muskiso's bite more icvercly chatn in any ocher part of the Rasat Indice. But they are moit incomuneded by lans, Dorn ver-rina all dicir Honfes, and fpoil their Grain, Puwiians, Fruir, and tenler Commoditics. To obviats this Lnconvenicinc, they build Granarics and Warc-houle, on Pilesor Stakes in the Sca, at the diftance of ace or 300 Paces from the Land; and moft of the King's Magazinesare built after the fame mannere They have no poyronous Anintrals but Snakes, of which 2 very dangcrous kind frequenssthe Sea. Cats, Pole-Cats and Ferrests are likewife foind there ; but there are no Brafts for diding, vo hre norindecd any great Beafts, whether wild or tame, exx Consint ccpcing a fer Shecr, and fome 3 or +00 Cows and Bulls in the Liland of Mutic, which belong only to the King, and of whici they never ear but can Fettival Days and Sclem Ociahions; for their Kiust is imperted from the Continent. They haveno Dogs, nay, they abhor 'cm 10 much, that whan the King of P’ortugel fent two as a Prefent to their King, he orderd 'em to be drown'd immediacty.
The Sca afords monderful plenty of all forts of Fifa, Gatrat efpecially butween che Atrollons, where tis thallow and or Calm; and the Finfory is the mioft confant Exercife of the Natives, who fece inotly uponkif, whecher ffen with Rice or other Meat, or fry'd with the Oil of Coco's, or boild in falt Wactr, and dryd for-kecping. They lend every Day, Ships loaded with Filh for Somatra; Aclem, and otherplaces. Many of che Fifhernen want Armsan Legs, that have been bir off by a fors of great Eith that requents thofe Seas.
This greatpicnty of all Neceffaries occalions an cafy alliza Purchafe; 400 Coco's coft bur a larin, which is cight "comer Pence; the dame price will purchafe ; 00 Rarmenes, or 2 dozen of Forvls; or 300 pound weight of Roots, or 100 large Finh \(\qquad\) In line, there is no fart in the redies where a Stranger enn ser an Eitace fo foon as here; for it lics converinaty fo- Trade, and requires bus an inconiderabic Cinerge for hainecnance.
The \(\lambda\) 人atis cis arue do not grow rich, and dat I tiestro takero prese: tome dheir cicap and cafy living; which bes. carouracca man to Nesiugence and Idicnels.
Aha: the Priacipal Lhand, gives name to all the reft, the :ha Dives fignifyug a heap of litric Inatels. This lanad dete do Rands almott inthe middle, and is one league and a balfititi incircmafercusc. "Tis the moit fertile of"con all. the Maple Port and Magacinc of ali the reft, 2nd the Reffdence of the King and the Court. By chis means tis better peopled, but at the fame time "tis nut folyealthy, for which the Natives give rius Realon, ain. The King and the Court having refided there time out of mind, and tic Corps of all that dy'd beine interrid apart, the wiole Surface of the Nand becomes a continued Scries of Graves, from whence the perpendicular Sun extracts pernicio:s Vapours; and accordingly the Water isherefo bad, that the King and the Perfons of Quality ferd for Warer from ocher thands.

In alt the lands, evenin Mat': it felf, there's no fuch \(x\) jex: thing as enclosd Tovos, buthe Houfs lie featterd here and there tho' not without 'fome Order, and the Difinction of Surects. The common Peoples Houfes are Wuilt ot Coio Wood, and coverd with Coco Leaves fow ddouble, one within anorber. Fexfons of Quality and Fortune, have Houfcs built of Stone taken out of the Sca -from under the Flats and Rocks. This fort of Stone is very fmooth and white, and fomewhat hard to cut, but when it is wet withRain or frem Water, itloofes its hardnefs, and at laftbeconcs all overblack; theman- the wat ner of taking them out of the Sea is very remarkable. rakiogsan Thercgrows in that Country a fort of Tree calld Can-out e d/u, which isas bie as our Walnut-trec, and refembles the Afrin in its fhaking Leaves and whitenefs, bur is czrram fofr, is bears on Frier, and is nor proper forbur rram forr; it bears no Fruir, and is nor proper for burit ing. When'tis dry they faw it into Planks, like our Fir Dajes; this Wood is lightes thin Cork; this premis'd produce fuch ditiecnt Commoditics, that one camot live withous ancther; for whar is plentiful is one is farec un wother, or at jeat not fo good. This occahons a Ne Ficthod, the Inhalisanserce, have 50 purfuanted themfelves, it: one Provire camor live without the oterer; for the Frearerercpairall to oric Illand, the Goldfinths to ano Ser, andifoon. Now to render the Communnicarion eafy, theit artificers hate little Boats with Cieeks; where we come to fhew how they draw out the Stonc. Being
Every Day in' the Week all above 15 Years of Asc, thei waix the experelt Swimmers that can be, they dive under Water, and having. pircha upon a Srone fit for their Pur pofe, faften a grear Cable to it, then they take a picce of the Candou Wood, and having board it, run icalong the Cable quite up to the Srone; after this they run on fuch a number of Picees as they have occa\{ion for, till the light and floating Wood drags upalong wich is, a Stonc orany other weight of ioncoo pound weight.' Twas by this Convenicuce that the Natives took up the Canon and Anchors of our Ship char was caft away; and I was Eye-witnefs ro theirclearing, by the fame means, in the pipec of 15 . Days, che Harkour of Malic, which was choak'd with grear Rocks, infomuch that no Ship could come in.
When the Candous Wood is once foak'd in Water, it Tre Ahran muth be dryd in the Sian before it be us'd again, elfe andifecm. 'twill not float. Upon other Occatious they take fire or 4 m Hoat fix large picces of Wood, and having rangid cim all in a line, raife upon cm Planks of the fame Wood to fir upon, and fo pals from one Ifland to another; and 'ris by this Contrivance tharthey chicfly manage their Filhery. In the Canals that run leewicen the drculions, one Man can work thele Inftruments of Navisation, tho they are nor proper for the Sca; for they know how to trim their Dale Seas fo well, that therce'sno fear of over-fetting, and if that happeas, their Planks will alway:fwim aboyc. Atl the Danger lies in the disjoyning of the Picces; and this fort of Floar is call'd Candoufrets, from the Wood ot which is confifts. The Crndou Tice lias yet another Property, namely, whar when one piece is ftruck againft another, they will ftrike firc, and this ferves 'em in the place of Tinder-Boxes.

So much for the way of dragging their Srones frem the borom of the Sea; andias to Lime, they fupply its rooin with an execllent Cameat, made of the Shells thar they find on the Sca-fide.
Our Method directs us in the next place to fpeaik of their Language; which lies in two Chanels. Thefint is the Maldivan, properly fo call'd, which claims a large extent. The fecond is the Aralich, which runs upon the Same lay with the Lertin in a Popifh Councry, and is the Language of their Derout Addreffes. I pals over the Cambare, Gutzeratsot, and Portugucfe Tongucs, which are deprivid from their Commerce; and thall only take notice, thar in the Southern parts tbey fpeak a coarfe unpolite fort of Language, which, after all, is a Retainer to the common Tonguc of thefe TQands.
Their Religion and Ceremonics come next in courfe. All the Tnbabicants are Mahometans, and the greateft part of the Forcigners (viz. dirnbians, Matherrs, and Sunnairans) are the lame. Their Temples, Ali.2's, Mof Chees, are builr of good Srone well comented, and have a thick Wall. They fand in the midetle of a foure walld Enclofure, where they bury their Dead, abating for thole who defire a fegarate Scpulcher. Their Temples are Square and face the Weft, as pointing to Meliometan's Tomb, with teference to their Pofition. They hase three Doors, each of which is faced by a broad Well, With Sreps, the hottom and fades of which are lin'd with polin'd and flice Stones, the Floor of the Tempic teing corerd with Mats and Tapeftry, whereas the Church yard is nothing but Sand. Their Temples are kene fo clean, that if they want to fpit or blow their Nofe, they muft either do it in their Hendkerchief, or get our of doors. The Rool or Cciling of the Temples is of Wood admirably well polifh'd, and the Walls are Wainfroed, both of "cm being firmly joind without Nails or Pegsor any other vifible Ärtifice. Upon the Wallsof the Temples we mer with large Tables of Stone or of Wood, with irabick Infcriptions. They have a particular place for the King and his Count, and Galleries for the Guards, with reparare Apartments for certain Dignitics, Qualities and Ages infomach that any Perfon who takes up an improper phace, is fin'd accordingly. They are never withour burning Lamps, for which end certain Coco Trees are confecrared. Some of the Inands have nine orten Temples; burthat in which they folemnize a general Feftival, is built and fupported upon the common Charge, under the Name of On couru Mefquite. Each Mofche has it Prieft calld Moudin; and cach I a Iland that has 40 Perfons above the 15 th Ycar of their Age, is dignified with a Catiof or Curare, who anfits as Principal in all puiblick Exercifes, and governs the inferiour Priens. He pronounces the publick Prayers, and by Sermons and Exhortations, explains and recommends the Law of Mrbomes; under him the Mondins reach Children to read and write their Mother Tongues and that of \(A\) rebia, for which Service their Parents give a volunery
Reward.
epair by the break of Day to the Temple, and deciarc of W rus. their Creed, viñ. That the World is flar and not round; That 'ris furrounded with a Wall of Brafs, which pre vents its being drown'd in the Waters.thar cncompafs it; That the Devil, the gencral Enemy of Mankind, indeavours cvery Night to break through and undermine this Wall; And that he is not much fhorr of comparing his cad when dhe Day-light arries \(U_{p o n}\) chis Belicf at they all join in Praycrar the break of Day, to prevenc \({ }^{\text {Payyoren }}\) the Deftruetion of the World, which (as they believe) would otherwife infue. They repair to the Temple tour times a Day, befides, namely, ac Noon, at thice a Clock in the Afternoon, as Sun-fer, and ar ten a Clock at Nighr, tarrying each time half an. Hour. Thofe that have no mind to go to Church, may fay their Prayers at tome, or fay none as all if they will; but if is bc known that any Perfon neglects the Dury of Prayce alrogether, no body will cat or converfe with him; from whence it comes to paft, that almoft all of 'cm, wherher Tradefmen or ochers, fpend a grear part of their rime in Publick Service. They make ufe of Beads as well as the Papifts, but they have no Croffes. Betiore they enrer the Tanple, hicy wah their Fecr, Hands, Ears, Mouth anu Eyes, obfrring at the fame time certain Ceremonics and pronouncing Prayers fuitable to the Sin they rement World canobe formpulous, that no Tempration in the World canoblidge them to forbear this folemn way of Wanhing, upon the Apprchenfion, that ir certainly purges'en of all Sin and Lollurion. The greareft Indecency of their Worfip is, that they wath and bath publickiy and promifcuoully, andoffer their Pcnitential Praycts with a loud Voicc, and fodifeover to all the world all the fecret Tranfactions of their life, whether in the way of Lult oroWerwife. Archis ratcall the fecres Advenrures of Man and Wifc arclaid open ro rhe World, by the publicks Prayer of bocth Partics; for dic Women pray aloud as well as the Men, only they do it in their Hotifes, in acgard that they ver go to Church
The Male Children are circumesisd when they are Ye-circuncifian ven Years of Age; and upon that Occafion the Parcorss of mancicso and Relations diverr themflyes with Mufick and Publick Feafting fourteen Days. Thcy have particular Operators for Circumcifons, who apply themfelyes conothing elfe; and ric Ceremony of the Action is after this ninurifer For fix or feven Hours before the Cirmmeifinn, the Child is bath'din the Sca; in order to make the Yard hrink and torender the Shin foftand tendicr. Wiacn the Holir of Action comes, the Child is broughe to \(a\) Lodge boilt on purpole, and held by two or threc Ahoutins or Pricts who in the menurimechant Verfes and Prayers fuitable to the Occafion; shen the Operator, having drawn orics the Prcpuce and ty \({ }^{\text {dit with a String, curs it with a Razur. }}\) after which he heals it in the fpace of is Dave. Refor Circumifion, they alledge, that the Child is innocent and cannotini and for the fame Reafon tiney to no co:er the Privities of the uncircumacis'd Childrern. As for to Girls, their Cireuncifion confifts in drawins two or af simat three drops of Blood fiom their Privy Parts, when they are two Xears of Age, but tis atended with no Solene nity. When the Children are grown up, they pay: a profound Deference to the Operator that circumcis'd them, and call 'cm their Maters.
They celebrate feveral Feftivals all the Ycar long, par- their ticularly every Fridar is with them a Day of. Feafing, as Fetion which all the Males above is lears of Age are prefene, The Eican of but no Females. On the preecding Eve they pray in Fride. their Houfes, fome for their Healeh, others for the Dead; and for thas cnd fend for the Pricft to their Honfes, where an Entertainment is proviled ; and when the Pijeftshave noSromach for eacing, they chooic rather to abrent, for fricfts ove: if they come they muft cas tho' againt their Aprectite, On Fridny Morning the publick Cricr gees reurd the Iland, with a forrof cait Bell in his Hand, and a Kiammerof Wood to bear it withal: He is alifted by three Trumpeters, who found often to sive the People notice of dheir Duty. Upon this Warning the Pcople throw a fide all work for that day, and after wathing and baching, and putting on their beft Cloths, repair to the Temple. In the racan time the King's Muficians play before his Palace on divers Inftruments; and foon after, the King's four Prieft, who are Men of Quality and Icarning, and never affilt bur ar pablick Solemnitics; there Priefts, I fay, 3fond an high Srone Edifice, adjoining to he Tomple, where they clap their Hands upon their Ears, and with a lund and feaful Voíce, cry thrice Mlas, Alos, Apuebar, i. e. Grert God, and then they add lomething of Mabcmet. This done, thes repair to the KingsPalace, and pronounce the fame. Words after the

feen, as he commonty is, fends a Catpen of Silk to be
fpread out the plate where he meicons to' fir. Then the Proction dortectike ar thic Coribe's Honte, and te comes and wintupor the King, whowalks in greac maxnificerrec to the Temple, his Head being coverd with a whire Vail abore a great Turkand, fo chat he cannot Sece, and is ohlig'd to be led by one of the Momions. 7 he King comes haft to the Chereli, and innodiately forshis Prayers ; after which the Citilue, being mount-- on a rais d plact ac ore end of the Temple, takes a naticd Swind in his Eand wath the poinc downward, focan rianc the : ple pray withour ceáfung, purting themfelves iño . crs Poftarte, and oblerving feveral apinh Geftures. The Catile has a niw Prayerfor cvery Fifdij tr wie Year, and when that Year is expird, niakes ufe of abic fatne Prayers for the netr. He tepeats all without book, and if he happens to be ours in one Word, Syllable or Lefier, the Mondins remamand him publickIf, and the Featt is thotught to be of no arail. This Serrice lafts about two Hours; and after is is orer, the People falute one another; kind the King tecurning in great fatic to his Palace, cnrerains 'eni at his own Charges:
Ther chretre the like So'cmity on the Day of erefy Tcis Ntbon, sidd :Occalion they clcan their Howifes, Courts and Stre ts., garniming the Entrics of the Chutches and the Gates of theirHoulcs, with Coco Shulls cut in the midele, and fild with whice Sand and onrning Coals, upon which they burn almoft adk Night, fweat fecoted Gums and Woods; at the faine time the inflde of their fonfes, their Beds, Era, are ferfum'd after the fame mannes. ther observe four teyond the ref, particulariy in be comber or thicreabours (for their Mronibs are lumar) tirey have a Feaft cail'd Rancuirn, whish commences at the New Moon, and lafts till the next Nicw iluon. They caketheir Micafurcs, nor from the real change, but from the Appearaice of the Neir-M10on; by which means is. comes to pals, that fome latinds legin the Feaft Tooner Ffan octicis. The finftigight of the Raincern Frant, the Mon and Women vifit one another afatt, and divers them? Clics with Feafting, Dancing, Or. till tos near dity havin's prepard themfelves for cating by fafting wie preceding Diy, in which Cuftom they are fo fupetrtitrous, thaterer that Day they will nor only avoid the tation of any thing, tut even the wanning of their Month, or purting their Finger in their Manth, or fwatlowing their Spitte. The prohibition of frallowitg bavardoys their Srittle, futs them to a grea: Inconvericmic siften
ency furatow they are in Church, for that tis nor allewable to fpit
torir spictic there and fo uponciery numethey are forced to run ou of Drors. Nay, fuck is aficir Supcritition ripon the Faft-Day, that the Men who are ailowed ro lath, ?re prohibied to plunge their Heads in the Wacer, teft fome dropof it fhould enter cheir Marth or Eats; and the Women are downrighr forbid to barh at all, teft the Warer yhould get in at their lower Parrs. Half an hour before Sun-fre, allatove is Xears of Age repair to the Temfic, amd in the face of that half thour, cleanfe their Mourtis and pick their Tceth very micely, being firnilhid by the Moudizus with Pick-tooths and ofiter clearfing InFrimmentsmade of Coco Wood. This done, the Noudi, Imakes his Cr threctimes, and coters the Temple at the Ticid of the Pcople, who then fay therr Pravers, the Wotmen being at the fame rine amploy'dingying theirs at Tiome: When that Service is over they fialt and make merty with one another, During the Remedrn the Kiring 'enterains all the People at feveral times, inviting oniy Perfens of one and the fame quality ar a time; for the are fuch religious Obfervers of their Qualiry, thar they will not cat with any Perfons of a diferent rank. The Nobles &e. criteraian theix F:iends in like mathere, and thusdothe-Men and Boys Fcaft; ber the Women, who arenot allowd togo to the Feaft, fend only PreLexey meverents at Nighe to one anoth:T. The Women bath themni frupulour felves in the Ercning, at which time the Men are en-went-pach joind to aroidbathing. During the whele courfe of the Rameden, they faft afrertheabuev-mentioned manner in ithe Diy time, and avoid Sin and Pollution as:much as Ehey can; nay, in the Daytime the married Men muft cor:mbrace their own Wives, and if they do it in the Night, ther mut bath with their Wives, and Gay certain Pravers before the Day comes. If anty one Breaks ant -if the failt Dass, he is oblig'd to falt as maty more affer the end of the Rancedan : In this Month no body will cither work or traicl be they never fo poor. The Pitridiare preaches ctery Diy ar threea Clock itrihe Afcetioon, Houfs. After the Scrmon is over they divert themfelves with the Excrife of Arms, and leveral forts of P Pits The Dirat particularly the Font-ball: At the fane cime the Wo ond horan men and Girls vific one anocher, and have particular fort of Plays and Diverfions fuitable to their Sex. The in triegues of Love rnn higher in this Momeh than in any How the other: and the Courrfip confints in fending to one ano mentrastin ther Songs and Veffes, infrribid with Pockins on Coca leaves, which are as white as Paper. The Yourhs do likewife profens their Mifrclies with Garlands of fivees Inclling Fiowers, and receive a Councer Frefent of Ee eclnicely drefid: In finc, they take all poifible Mcaf:res to heighren their Mirth and Diverlion. After the Mionsh is over, the Women and Girks are oblig'd to fafteighe Dass' longer, uren the arcount of their Menftrual Flux.

Three Days before it ends, the Beilman and the Trume peters go round the Iland, requiring all the Inhabitance whether Men or Boys, Women or Girls, to fend theis Names in writing to the Niay.n of theirtefpective serathon, and to pay an Offcring of half a latin a Head, which the Pcople pay very willingly, as a. Triture to God and Mabermer; for they imagine, that withous the paying of that Tributc, their Fafting would not avail 'cin. In this Tax the Parents fay for their unmaried Children, and for their Scrvants and Slaves; and if any poor Perfon has nor the Money to lay down, the King or any rich Man pays for 'cm rery uiliing't. The Moncy arifng fromthis Tax is lodg'd in the Handsof four Recijvers, one cn the bchalf of the King, a Eecond for the Clergy. a chitrd for tre New Cenverts, and a fourth for the Pcor ; one third of ir gocs to Eccleliaftical Perfons, ancticr to the Profolite, and the haft thiri to the Forit.
When this Lent is over, they colebrate a great Fettimalite in lemnitics thatrher hre.
The nere New-Mioon afece that, they celcbrate a Festation tival calld Ma K:ht, i. e. a Grent Ferf, which latts three strith Cays, The inay of this Niew-Mion. is that \(D_{2 y}\) in which the Pilprims oberec fo mat Cermenics lefore Matomet's Tomb in dicorr.
Abo:t the Month of Abril or Mat, at Fuil-Moon, they have a Solcminity of three Dass, cadde fegracmo along with them, and which ercty one carrys fome Rice along with them, and boils is over a groat fire, being encrimain'd at the fame time with Murick, Dancing, Of, forthey date the Amival ef Rice inthefe IAamds foom that Full-Moon.
In 3 ime nrthereabouts (for, as I faid abore, their Monhs aim Feaft fer the Dead with a egcas cical of Surertition. On this Cccafion they wifit the Servulchres of Holy Alcm, and of their Anccffors, Relations, Gc, where they make Offetings and burn Perizancs.
The heme Day aficr that Solemnity is a Day of general A!ms-givings and cien the King hiniflf gircs An mo wh his cwntiand to the Poor, who upon dait Occalion relora to Male from the cther Illands.
Abont nig: \(f\) and \(S\) Frember, they have a Solemnty of two Cays, which they fond aborat to one another beil' Wine with KTcaty and Coco Mibk: This Feftival is faid to tekeinR ifefrom a Miracle iblat siabcmet acted on thar Day.
There remams ret anocher very folemm Night-Feftival, cal'd steutunt: whith happens abour the Month of oito Tition han, being the Niphe on which innt:crom dy'd. Uponclis hemit Octafonithey have a large Houfe or Hall of wood, in Doom feveral patts of the IGand, which is hung within avinh the finct and richeft Tapefty, the Floor leing cover'd with whire Sand and Nows above is, and the Celing aJom'd with white Cotton Clorh, fupported wish blaris Strings that runalongit like Sripes. - In this grear htoll hang op fomany Latmpsthar 'ris as light as day, and the Smetl and Smoak of the Perfumestikarchey burn filsthe adjacent Air. In the 'riidtt of the Hall, there's in Trbe coverid with feveral forts of incat and-liquid Misxerpes. The Women do not allift ar this Sokmnity, bur the Males repair thither abour cight a clock at Night, and fit down in orderaceroding to their:refpective Sfunions, thete'beingOfficers appointed to:rank cm. Afll the Night lont the Priefts and other Ecctefiaficial Perfons fing Sonigs, which they callithe Ffalms of David. When Mid-night a pproaches, the whole Affmbly-falls down Alat upon'the Groumd, as in an: Exrafy, and concinac in har poftute for fome rime ; after which the Praxdirrcant tee Catibes ftaft up-of a'fudden, and all the reft:fothow ing their Examples, skip abourand leap upor each octier as if they weremad. The People:are ferv'd with Berel well:Ufefsid, tindedritik, by 50 Perforis chiosen invo that Ofiee, which is reckon'd very honourable. When the Night is almoft over, the Priefts give over finging and fay Prayers; afrer which they all go to the middle of the Hall where the Tableftands, and every one takes a Plate of Mcar and fome Aromatick Liquors, which they carry home with them and value very much.

Affer their Recligions Rites, rivill be proper to fubioin the Ceremony of Narriages and Funcrals. Upon a De gign (h) whater the keing fufficiencly inform'd and facisficd that things really are as they are reprefented takestic Man by the Hand, and asks him if he is willing to take fuch a Woman on the Conditions propofs'd, and (the Woman being always abfens) he likewife queftions her Parents and Relacions, upon their Conlent. If they all arrec he marries'cm, and calls the \(\mathrm{By}_{\mathrm{y}}\)-1tanders to witnef their murual Confent. Then the whole Company nefs their munual Conkent. Then the ferole Company fons vifit her, all the Vifiters being eutermin'd wich Feaft ing, Mofick, Dancing, ev. The new-married Man makes Prefents to the King and the grear Lords, and the Bride pays the like Complemenr to the Queen and the other Ladics; both of cm makes Prefents likewife to their Relations. Bur when the King is married he does nor givc, bur reccives Prefents from all his Subjeets, fuitable to dheir Stations, oin. Clorh, Garments, Tur bands, Viatuals, Fruir, Flowers, Efic. and all thêePrefents, which in the bulk rife to a grear valuc, belong to the new-married Quecr. A Man may have three Wives if hecan maintain' em, , but not more; and if all the three live in one liand, he is obliged by the Law, to beftow as many Nights upon onc as upon the other; tho' after all, this Law is notobferv'd; and indecd 'tis a hard Law in that Country, where the Women are fo lafcivious, groomreccives no Dowry with his Wife ; and is oblig'd not only to be as the Charge of the Nuptial Solemnity, and to maintain her, but to fettle upon lier a Joynture eare \(f 0\) what her Monce and ouer Ancetorsha. They prehends thar the Man can'r afford fuch 2 Joynture he refuffs to marry 'cm, notwichiftanding that both Partics require it. But after all, the Bride may renounce cither the whole, or part of her Joynture, after marriage, and indecd that is frequencly practis'd. Brothers and refonid Sifters, Firf-Coufins, and thofe who by way of Eriend-ion Datres.fhip and Intimacy, have us'd to call one another by the Names of Son or Daughter, Father or Morher, Brother or Sifter; thefe, I, fay, are prohibited to marry. The Males may marry when they will, bur a Female Orphan cannot marry till the is 15 Xears of Age. Indeed if her Fatherbeali:e (for theMother has no Power) he marriesher at ten or eleven Xcars of Ape, and that to the firft Suiter, whether old or young, provided his \(Q\) naliry is infome meafurefuitableto hers; for they reckon ir a greaz Sin to keep up their Daughers from the injoyment of a Man. A Man Ther fice may turn away his Wife; but unlefs the confents to the prim mad Separaxion, The may demand her Joynture; tho, after all, that Demand is feldom made, as being reckon'd a mean and defpondent Action, and a Gign that the Woman fears that her Mcrir will never procure her another Husband; on the orther Hand, the Woman cannot farr from ber Husband without his confent. This fort of Divorce, which is very frequenr, muft be attefted by Witneffes, or clif they can't have the Benefit of fecond Marriages The divorc'd Parties frequendy sepent of their Scparaxion, and marry again a fecond, third, or fourth time, but after three Divorces, fuch Re-marriages. are not al low'd, tho' fuch is the Levity of the Pcople, that they frequently defire \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{em}\); and in order to elude the Law, they hare a common crick of getting fome proflizate Scoundrel to marry the divored Woman, and lie with her one Nighr without touching her: afticr which, he quits herbefore Witneffes and fo Meis marricd again to her former Hasbanid. Such is the frequency of thefe Divorces, that a Man fliall have 100 Wives; and the Women look upon the multitude of feparared Husbands, as a I2 commending qualiry for furure Marriages. When a Wo man is feparared from her Husband by death, the muft mourn four Months and ren Days, before the can marry again; and if the Separation. is accomplifh'd by Divorce, fhe muft piove, thas after thar, her Menitrual has return'd threeximes, before fhe offers to marry. This Caution is us'd, for fear fhe mould prove with child ro her former Husband.
Their Funeral Ceremonics are fupertirions to a flaming Degree. In thie firt place the Carpsare wathe by fix Perfons of the Scx, who buy that Office of the King, and are paid for their Service, then they are wrapd up in Cotron, and corerd with fine white Corton-cloth (which goes afrerwards to the Prieft) the Right-hand of the deccafed Perfon being laid upon his Ear, and the Left upon his Thigh. This done; the Corps are laid upon the right-fide in a Coffin of Candou Wood, and catry'd to the Burying-place by fix Relations or Friends, artended by the Women-wamers, who cry and howil moft hideoully. Every Man in his life-time, provides for himfelfa Burying-place, and all the other Neceffaries for his Fungral; nay, they are fofupertitious, that theyll racher farye, than touch the Moncy they have laid up for the Charges of their Funeral. Beffdes the fix principal Mourners, the other Relacions and Neighbours are prefent withont invifation; and upon the march from the Houfe of the deceas'd Perfonto the Grave, they fearter Shells for the Benefit of the Poor, to whonh they likewife distibure Bags and Sacks of Rice and Miller. At the fame lime the giveto the Prieft pieces of Gold and Silyer the amber The Bnees of which is proportionable to the Eftate of the deceas'd the Rr.cest Perion; and thele Pieces are diftributed by the Prieft to rhofe who have aflifted in praying for the dead Perfon, and particularly to thofe of the Ecclefiaftick Order, who alledge, that dhey bave the only righr to 'em. The Priefts ling continually, during the whole couxfe of the Cercmony, and in the Proceition, a Rerfon of Qualiey fprinkles the Alliffants with a Water made of twee: Flow ers. The Grave is cover'd with a large piece of Silk on Cotton, which upon the Interment goes to the Priefts of the Tconple. When the Corps are laid in the Graye, they rurn the Face of the deceas'd Perfon to the quarter that faces Malomer's Tomb, and then fill up the Grave with fine whise Sand, fprinkling it with Warcr. When the Ceremony is over, the Relations entertain all the Company with Victuals, and the threc following Fridays A yearly Pi they pray orer the Grave, where the Pricflsfing, cat and ncial Foatt. pray every Day, till the third Friday paffes, after whicin a General Fcalt is preparid for the Relacions, Fricnds and Priefts, who pretend that the Soul of the deceas'd Petion is then convey'd to Paradice. This Fcaft is repeated every Ycar, and on all-Souls Day they throw freth whire Sand on the Grave, and perfume it with bumt lucenie. The Grave is furrounded with wooden Pails, for they reckori ir a grear fin to walk over ic. They never bury two Corps in the fame place; for they have fuch a Rerercace for the Bones of the Dead, that even the Priefts do not dare to rouch'em. If 2 great Lord dics, the Pricfts fing for him a whole Year, and are entertain'd every day with Dithes of Meat and Betel; but if the King or Quecn dics, the Ceremony is continuel: to the Deach of the nextSucceflour.
In this Couniry the Mourners make fio alreration in their Habir, only they go bare-headed to the Grave, and continue fo for a few Days after the micerment. Thore who die in fighting with Perfons of a contrary Religicn, are buried uponthe Spot where they fall, without any ceremony; and in regard that they are accounted holy and happy, neither the Prielis nor their Friends pray for'cm: They never canffort Corps our of one lland to another and cren the King himflf is buried where he happensto and.

If anyPcron dies at Sea, they wath the Corps and pur 'cm into a Coffin, which they place upon a float of ciem-buy they dou Wood; within the Coffin they put Silyer in propor-who die ia tion to his Mcans, and a writecn Paper, defcribing his Sea Religion, and withal praying thofe who meet with the Corps, to take the Money and bury "em handfomit.
In purfuirof the other. Cuftoms of the Maldianns, we the vej come nexrro their Apparel. The Men ry = abour their Coerhs. Privities a great Swathe of Cloth, which comes round abour, to prevent any difcovery in working or walking. Above that they have a piece of blucor red Cotton Cloth that reaches \(\mathbf{~ o ~ t h i c i r ~ K n e e s , ~ a n d ~ t h e n ~} 2\) larger piece of Cotton orSilk, reaching totheir Ankles, and girced with 2 quajre Handkerchicf, imbroidered with Gold and Silk, which is fread upon their Backs and ry'd beforc. Above thele they have a lirtle piecc-of tranfparent and particolour'd Silk, which "reaches only to the middle of theiThighs; at laft they gird themfelves with a great fringd Silk Girdle, the ends of which hang down before. Within this Girdle on the left fide they keep rheir Moncy and Betel, and on the righr fide a Knife.

Thefe Knives are made of excellent Steel, the com-TheirRnivis mon Sheathsbeing of Wood, and the Hafis of Filh-bonc for the Bose of a Land-creature they will not wear; the richer forr have both their Hafts and Shearhs of wrought Silver.
Every one wears a Knifegiand eftecms is very much as being hisonly Arms; foffinone but che King's Officers Tbeir Ampin and Soldiers are allowd ro wear any other. Thefe inceed have a wroughtDagger attheir fide, and when they walk along ithe Sreers, a drawinSword in one Eland, with a Buckler or Japelin in theother.

The Nhaldivans place theirchief Ornament in the Silter Chains that hang abour their Girdle, and of which the meanert boy or Girl has more or hes in proportion to their Means; but 'ris only the Perfons of Quality and Fortune that fhew 'cm openly. In thefe they place their chicf Trcalinc, and commonly they approprate 'cm for the Charge of their Funcral.
The common People are naked from the Girdle upwards, abating for the Feftival Days, on which they wear Corton and Silk Jcrkins and Wcffonts, with gilt Copper Burtons. The Dlecres of thefe Coats reach. only to dheir Elbow; for they alledge, thar if their Writts were ry d uphike ours, thes could nor hate the free wfe of their Arms. The Perions of Quality decommonly wear fuch Coats; burfome have a Cuftom of covcring their Skin from the Girdle upwards, with an odorifcrous Pafte, made of dhe Pouder of Camphy and Sanders, bearcu upon a fimocth Srone, and incorporared with the ciftill d Water of iweer feeneed Elowers. They make their Wi:csor Fricnds anoiut their Backs, Oic. with this Paint, and draw varicus Eigures upon em; Howeyer they muft nor appear with that piece of foppery betore the King or be fece in his Palace. The Men of this Country wear apontheir Heads red or particolourd Turbants, fonce of which are of Cotron for the meaner fort of Pcople, and others of Siik for the Perions of Quality. The King's Officers or Souldiers have frequently cmbroyder'dHandkerchicfs on their Heads, which the other Subjectsare not allow'd to wear. Their Fece are always naked, excepting that within deors they ufe wooden Sandais. which they pull off when vifited by a Perfon of 2"fuperiour rank; oftentimes their legs are likewife maked.

\section*{theWoanen \\ Bubit,} reaches from dheir middle to uncir Ankles; alove chat they havea long robe of Taftato or fine Corton, reaching to their Feet, without any fit berides the Nock, where tis fattencd with two littec gildad Buttons; this Robe they pull quite up when they fuccle their Childreo. Their Armsare loaded from the Wrift to the Elbow with grat bracelets of Sifver, infomuch that fometimes the have three or four Pounds of fune many Silver upon 'em, tho' indeed the foorer fort alloy the Silver with Brals The Women of quality have many Chains of Gold or ftrings of litele pieces of Gold uputh their Necks, and rich Pendants in their Ears. They have their Ears picre'd whenthey are young, nor only in the Cap, upon which therchangs an Ear-ring, bur in 24 places of the Griftic, ian whichthcy put as many gilded. Nails, with a precious Stonc or Pearl ufon the Head of 'cm. When the Womon walk in the Streets they cover their Heads with a Vcil and are very cautious of hewing their Faces before Men tho' in the Prefence of Women of a fuperiour rank, the take of their Veil. They are notaliowd to wear Rings, Jewels, Bracelers or Ear-rings or Chains of Gold, till they ask and obrainkeave of the Quech, as the Men do of the King, for the fame Priviledge, which commonly colts 'en Moncy. The differene quality of the Women is diftinguidh'd by the Nature of the:r Omamenes; for none bue Qucens and Princeffes are allowid to ware Gold Bracelets or Gold Rings on their Arms or Legs; befides, the Qucens pur Rings on their fore-Fingers, whe Princeffes and Perfons of the firf qualiey do upon their midulc-Finyer; fo thar all other Women have their Rings upon the Ring-Finger and little-Finger, and the Mesi bave theirs uponthcir Thumbonly. If a Man's Wifebegins to wear richer Ornamentsthan the us'd to do in former times, the Man's Taxes are raisd, unlels he be one of the King's Officers or an Inbabitant of Maici; for thefe are exempted from all Taxes upon the Flead of Apparch. Forreigners and their Wives are free from the above-mentioned Reflections; for they mav wear what they pleafe as well as the Clergy.

The women very han come.

The Women place 2 great part of beaury in redding the Nails of their Fingers and Tocs, which they effect with the Juice of a ccrrain Trec. In a: Wort, they have very inandfome and proper Bodices, and are very careful in fetuing themiclves oft with a gentel Habir, and with frequent wathing and perfuming. Generally fpeaking, their Complexion turns unon an Olive Colour, tho fome of cm are brown, and others tery fair.
The People of this Counery have many peculiar Cu-Cufions re-

kng Rnd rank ro ery dithonourable for a Perion of a fuperio thers. Pefore and after caring they lay Prayers; and cheir Table is the Floor cover'd with a finc Mar, uponn will nor drop one legg'd. They feed fo nicely, that they will nor drop one Crumb upon the Floor, nay, nor fo: much as a drop of Water, tho they wall their Mouth before and after. Inftead of Table Cloths and Napkings they ufe Bamane-leaves. Their Dithes aremade of Earth Gold mata or of the Chinin Porcclait, which is very common in that percins Country, Gold or Silver Veffels being prohibited by the Law; they are all round like Boxcs, with an Eardhen Cover, above which they pue a picec of Silk; for the Pifmires are there fo numerous and troibleforme, thas twould be impollible to kecp Mear withour a Cover upon is; may, the Pcople are fo nice, thar they will upo tatte any Mear that has been rouclid by a Flic, Pifinire, orany Infect or unclean thing, but give it ta che Fowls As for the Poor, whom they look upon as the Servant of God, they lcorn to offer "cm what they will rot car a geterea themfelycs, and cntertain' em with the beft Victuals they Powi. have. If they fpic the leaft crack in a Dith, they eat no more out of it, upon the Plea of is being pollured.
All Spoon-meat ther car with all Spoon-wneat they cat with their Fingers, but withal fo nicely, that they let nothing fall, that bcing accounced very martial picec of Civility and Decency. If they rife crearion to cough or fit in the rime of caring, they ricfrom the Table and walkour, for they muft not do is at Table. They never feet themielves with their Left hand, benaule they make ule of is in walhing their Privi cics. They choofe to begin their. Meals with the eating of Coco-xut half ripe, and drinking the Water of it which they fay is very healehful, ani loofens the Bod., difpaic they cat they are all filent, and make very quici difpatch; for with them 'tis an mmannerly thing to be long at cating. They rake it for a picce of rudencta and incivility to drink betore they have done eating, and even then they drink Lur once, sither Witer or Coin well freth drawn. They dints out of Copper Cups well wrought, with Covers to cma. After eating and walling, they ferve up a Plare of Detel inttead of Swea:meats, torthe Fruit is fery'd up along with the weate. rite phave nolecMeal times, but eat when their Apperite provokes em; and the Victuals are dreffed only by Anamet the Women; for tioc Men defpite the Cthrater Cook inea; for the Men defpite the Charatter of \(a\) Cook in fucha violent mannct, that they will not converfe with a Man-Cook, or admit him tria hare of dheir Excruics, he being doom'd to the Company. of Wo-Whicn they kill a Beaft for Food, they rurn their Facessymet cowards nciomere's Scpulchre, and fo cut its Throat in a cuman particularphace; after which they fuperfticiouly avoid the king ins touching of ir till tis quite dead: Their Butchers muth menh be ancient and the Fathers of Children. When they awakeout of tincir flecp, they prefently wath their Eycs and Face, and rub'cm with Oil, and blacken their Eyclids and Eyc-brows; for before the Performance of thaDuty, they muth not focak or bid any one good morrow.

They. are rery careful in walling or clcanking their Tecth, to the end that the Betel and Arecqua niay the To mi: morcreadily imprefs their red Colour upon \({ }^{2} \mathrm{~cm}\), which they are very fend of. They arealways che wing Berci, which they carry about in the plaits of their Girille, and met:ally prefent to one another upon occafiomal Salutations They bath befure they enter the Temple, and wailh their Privities with their Left-hand after the. natural Evacuat ons. When they barh ar home for their Adventures with their Wives, they, plung their Head three pimes under warce; and in recgard that they always bath and pray publickly; and rhar the xefpective Ccimes have peculiar Ceremonies calculated for 'em, every Man's Crimes or Mif demennours arethus expos'd to the publick vicw.
When they let out upon a Voyage, they aroid Accident befals 'cm; they impute ; for'if any uniuckly Accident befals 'cm; they impute it to the Perfon that touch'd 'em. When ther go a fiming, they mult nor falute any, nor bid 'cm good morrow.
From the Sun-fer on Tumfday, till threc or four a Clock next Motning, they. fuffer nothing to ke carricd out of ther Houfe, but receive all that's brought in. If they Gall out one withanorher, they neicr rail or throw aboit Calumnics; for if they did, all the World would fall upon "em. When crofsd at Sca, they addrefs theniflves to the King of the Winds (for they do not call him a God) and in every. Iland there's a defolate by-place, cplld Sicue, where thofe who havecfap'd danger, make Qfferings of lirtle Bozts and Ships made on purpofc, and loaded with Gums, Pcrfimes, Flowers, and odoriferous Woods. They burn che Perfuries, and having fer fire to the Boats and Ships, turn em a-drift, fo that they floar upand down till rhey are quite burnt: And this the: gale one anocher, unicis it be at folemn Feftivals. If they mean to complement a Friend with a Trear, they fend a covcr'd Table with feveral Dines of Mear to their Fuend's Houre, who is thereby much honourd; bur in theirown Houlcs they are cartious of eating before

\section*{M, De la Val's Voyage to the Eaft-Indies.}
take for a Sacrifice that's acceprable to the King ber the Winds. But when they cannot eafily fer their Boats and Gallies afloar, they kill Hens and Cocks, and throw them into the Sea rigfit afore the Ship they mean to fail in They likewife pay a Superfitious deference to an Imaginary King of the Sea; and dare not fpit to the Windward of the Ship, nor look behind them. All their Boats and Ships are devoted to the Powers of the Winds and Seas, and they keep them as near and clean as Temples. They place a wonderful vertue in certain Garments in little Boxes, which they wear under their Arms, Necks, Girdles or Feet, according upon their of the distemper: For their imaginary vertue is faid confift in curing or caufing Ditcafes, procuring Love or Hatred, Safery or Danger, Egc. Thefe rhey buy of the Magicians, who are their only Phyficians. They imThe Worhip pute Death, Sicknes, and all Aftiction, to the Devil of me Deviland in order to pacify him, make him Offerings of Flowers and Banquets, in a cermin place, where they let them confune, unlefs fome poor Body has the fenic to take them. With the fame view they offer him Cocks and Heris, which they kill with their Faces directed towards Mahomet's Tomb.
To give a thort view of their moft common Diftem pexs. The firft in that Clais is a Eever, which is of dan gerous confequence to Strangers. An epidemical and contagious Difeafe calld Curiadin, and not unlike the Small-Pox, vifits them once in ten Years, and fweeps off Dicato of a grear many. They are very liable to the diforders of meren. the Eyes; many of them are quite blind, and moft of them have little Eyes. When they have occafion to be long in the Sun in the heighr of the Day, oftentimes they lofe their fight when the Sun goes down; and for a cure of that infirmity, they take the Liver of a Cock boil'd, and after the writing of certain words and charms upon it, fwallow ir juft before che Sun fets. By this Remedy boch I and my Companions recciv'd a fenfible benefit tho we omitted the Magical p2rt. They are very fubject ro the ltch, which they heal with the Oil of Cocoes, and fome of them are cover'd all over with incurable Salt Filh, and their pouring Salt Water upon their Salt Meat.
mandmami: In the Winter, at which time they go barefoor, norwithtanding that it rains concinually, a fort of Handworm breeding in the Mud feizes upon the Soals of their Feet, and the intervals of the Toes, where wey raife - wheals that degenerate into Ulecrs, Te that they cannot walk. Their whole Body is likewife infefted with thefe outroconsm Hand-worms. Commonly theit Spieens are large, and xicrsples. liable to Obftructions; and their Bellies are apt to fwell and be hard, which they take to proceed from their unhealchy Water. In all exrernal Inflamations or Aches they apply Fire, which raifes an E/char ; and upon that they lay Corton fteepd in Coco-oil, which proves very Uuccesful. Their Ulcers which happen chiefly in their Legs, are perfectly curd by the application of Plares of Copper. As for their Wounds, they cure them very dexteroully by the application of Ointments, withour any Bandayes or Tents. They are fometimes troubled with Cararrhs, Defluxions, and Aches in the Bones Venereal Difeafes are not frequent among them, however they care them with Cbins-wood, withour Swearing; and thofe diftempers are communicated to them from the Europeans. They are alrogether unacquainred with the Tooth-ach, which advantage they owe to the conrinual chewing of Betel, for that fortifies the Gums. As foon as the Children come into the World, they in of Chill walh them for a confiderable fpace of time fix times a Day in cold Water, and then anoint them with Oil. When they void their Excrements, they wam their Privities with water relves, Suckle their own Children; and befides the Breaft-milk, feed them with a fort of Pap made of Rive or Millet brais'd, and fteep'd in water, and afterwards boild in Milk, and the Sugar of Cocoes. Tho they never Swaddle their Children, yer I never faw any of them deform'd. They rock them in hung Beds of Cord, or in litle Chairs hung up in the air, which they fwing to and again. At the Age of nine Monthsthe Children be gin ro go ; and when they are nine Years old, they commence the parfuit of the Studies and Exercifes of the Country.
Treleming Their Srudics confift in Learning to Read and Write IT. Thent to underftand the Alcoran, and to know their Doty They have thiree forts of letrers; namely, the Arabick, the Maldivian. and a third fort which is commonly made ufe of in moft Parits of the Eafl-Indies: : Their Leffoiss are writ down on white Tables of Wood, which they clean and whiten again after they have gor their Leflons by heatt; for durable and lafting Writings are done ipon Parchment made of the leaf of a Tree calld Macare Queau, that leaf being a fathom and a half long, and a foor broad.
To teach the Children to white; they make ufe of no their was es aper, but make draughts of Lerters with a Bodkin up-witing. on fmooth plain Boards of Wood, coverd with fine white Sand. The Children have fuct a profont veneration for their Mafters; that they caintior oviariy them no more than their own lparents. Some of them; efpecially the Moudins; Naylues and Casiles, carry theirSrudies a great length, and acquire great Skill in the Alcoran; and the Ceremonies of the law:

The Mathematichs are much eftecm'd in this Counirry, Antology efpecially that part call'd Aftrotogr, for they always much eftesti co:ifult Aitrologers not only upon Nativities and Births, but upon all Undentakings whatoeref; as Travelling Building, Efc.
As for their Exercifes, they hate Schools fir learning Thet Exer: he Excrcife of a Sword and Buckler, of a Bow, of 2 cifs. Gun, and of a Pike; and the Malters who reach them are much refpected. They hare no fort of Plays bui hat of the Foor-ball, which they tofs very dexteroully Many of chem apply themielves to Man factures, for Houmold-Goods, and other Commodaties, which they make very ingen'ounly. But the mont univerfal, and noft confiderable Exercife they have, is that of Filhinis.
Finhing is fo common an Exercile all over the Mat ves, that there's no fuch thing as a parcicular Trade of the wry of that nature; for the Gentlemen, and even their King, deri's.i. purfue Filhing, as we do Hunting in this parr of the World. Every Man there enjoys the natural lilerty of filing where and what he pleafes. The Finh which are always taken in the deep Sea, abour 6 ot 7 Leagues off he Bars of the Atollons, are large, and of 7 or 8 forts uch as Bonito's, Albaciores, Guitthend's, & C . which are all much of the fame tafte and refemblance, and have no more Scales than a Mackrel. The Initruments with which they carch them are, a Line of a fathom and a half of, g great Cotton thread, made faft to a great Cane of very trong Wood; rogether with a Hook, thar in form refembles the Letter h. The bair is not faften'd up- The Rinit on the Hook, bur thrown about in the Sea; for they nor fanten'd drag after their Boas a quantity of fmall Fíh like our to tha tiook Roches, which are very numerous amons the Banks and Sands, and which are prefery'd alive in Purfe-nets of Coco-thread. And when they scme to the deep Sea; they fow thefe little Fifhes about, and throw in their Line; upon which the grear Fifhes perceiving an unwonted quantity of licrle Fifh croud upon them in thoals, greedily kwallow the whitend Hook as being one of the ittle Fifh. The Fith that fwallows the Hoole falls off as oon as the Line is brought inso the Boar, and fo the Line is thrown in agxin. At this rate they'll fill their Boat with Fith in three or four hours cime; and, whichi is very ftrange, the Boat is all along under Sail. The Filh thus taken are all black, from whence they ate called Coboly Mafle, i. e. the bleck Fi h

They have another way of Fifting in the Nighe cime, How thic apon the Banks that furround the Arollons at every Fuil fin upon frie and every New Moon. They convery themfclves to che \(\begin{aligned} & \text { Bank in intic } \\ & \text { Banks upon Hurdes }\end{aligned}\) Banks upon Hurdles, and the fifining lafts threr tays Nightetimite every time. Tis perform'd by Lines of band coarf Cotton-thread, which is 50 or 60 fathom long; and is ackend over with the Bark of a Tree that ferves inAr che end of this Iine to preferve is from cotruption. Ar che end of this Line they have a Hook, with a Bair aften'd upon it, after the fame manner as is ufual among us; by this means they carch a prodigious quancity of arge and red Firh. Kuch as I niever faw elfewhere, which eats moft delicioully, and is by them call \({ }^{\prime}\) dthe' King of be Sea.
In fine, they have fuch plenty of divers forts of Fif unknown to us, that tis impoffible to recount or diftincuilh them; for befides the Lines above-mencion'd, they ave all fores of Ners of Cotron-twine, Wheels, and other Inftruments of Fifhing: Upon the Flats, near the hore, they catch fmall Fih like Pilchards with canting Nets.
At the tho. Equinoxes of the Year they hive a Gerie- A'genitra al Fifhing, which is very remarkable. Ar thofe two pe fraing twist iods of the Year, as the Tides flow beyond the won- a year: ed Bounds ed Bounds, fo they e'3b more than ufually, and uncover everal Rocks and Flats which at other times cóntinue nder water: Upon this occafion the Mildioans pirch upon feveral dry corners; which they incompals with Stones, rais'd like \(\dot{2}\) Wall tò 2 grear heighth, being forty paces in circumferience, with a door or entrance left cha three paces wide. This donc, 30 or 40 of them My m. \(3^{\circ}\) or 40 of frem

Atrecth out all round the Flats a large wide Circle of the great Coco-cords, at each fathom of which chey tie a piece of Coco-thell dry'd, and that fupplies the place of Fia friged Cork in making the Linc tloar. Now the Fihginclosid with the ria within the Circle are fo feard with the madow of the dium of a floacing ILine, as if it had a Ner underneath it, itiat inftead of making their cfeape by fwimming out under. neath it, they fy from it, and by the gradual contraction of the line are brought into the walld Inclofure; the entry of which is thercupon fopp'd with all cepedition with Faggots of the Boughs and Leaves of Cocoes compacted togecher to the thicknefs of a Man. After all, the Sca runs out, and leaves the Filh on the dry Land. This Fillacry, which continues is days together, producs roor 12000 Fifh, To conclude, I know of no place in all the Enfl-Indics that can vic with the Araldivics for a xich and plentiful Fimery.
The Yerturs . Having thus difpatchd the Lcarning and Exercife of the Melai. he Midiums 'twill nornow be improper to rake a view of their Temper and Inclinations. They are a lively brisk wife Pcople, and very diferect in moft of their Actions; they love Arms and Exercif, and are not deftiture of Courage. They difplay a great deal of Induftry in Arts and Manufactures, and are polite enough in their Manners. They are Religious to a diftinguifhing degree, and Superfitious beyond meafure, tho' at the lame time they are exremely given to Wantonnefs and Debauchery, and purfue the embraces of Women without controul. Adultery, Inceft and Sodomy, are their common actions, notwithtanding the feverite of theit Laws and Penalcics. Fornication is accounted no crime, and a young Woman fuffers no affront for obliging a Friend before Marriage; nay, the will not Atarad to procure tize abiontion of a Spurious Birth, on to make away with it if is comes to maturity
The impudence of the Women is unparalleld; and the Men are as vicions as they, tho', indeed theycanie outdo them if they would. The Men bend atl theistureghts upen the furring up of Nature, and ferewing:stheir lufful Appetires to the highect pitch." They dgire their whole Eftates for a Recipe to corroborate drooping: Na turc, and to enable them for repeated Adscutures- The Feats of Letchery engrofs all their Difcourles, and their Wives or Whorss are their infeparable Companions. Men periorm Bur after all, 'ris plain that they have nor Mertlexemongh bur wrakly. to fatisfe their Wives, which may be impured parthy ra the ternary number of their Wives, which makesian umfair odds; parkly to the heat of the Climate, whicherexhales their Spirits, and cxhauts their vigour ; pandy: wo. their continual Bathing, which unbends the Nerres and Sincws: and partly to the cating of Opium, which palls, clouds and difpirirs them.
The Women are as caurious in uncovering or men

Womens Breans res tioning their Brealts, as they are with reference to their kond frityfore , and kiung \(i s\) pudent ro the laft degree, yet the regard. they have for their Parents and Relations. ftifics it in their prefence; for if a Man talks a little pointedly to a Woman before any of her Relations, they will refent it fo far as to profocure bim at Law, and oblige him to own in Court that he takes shem for Perfons of Honour, unlels it be chat he declares he did not know of their affinity: to the Lady.

A Man muft not enter where a Woman bathes ri:or is prelen without her Garment; for tho ine nevertakes off the Cloth that fupplies the place of a Petticoat, yee ther Bofom and Breaftso are lifted into the number of ther Priyy-parts. When a Man is in company of a Woman if another Man meers them he muft not ask if the be his Daugher or Wife, but if the be his.Kinfwoman, and what degrce of Affinity or Confanguinity fhe ftandsin to him; for if the Woman be really the Man'sDaughter, and the orther asks if the is his Wife, hell rake the Qucftion for an infinuacion of Inceft. : While a Woman is under her Menftrual Flux; the neither bathes nor thifis her felfor fhe does not Bed with her Husband; neither does trear or converfe with any body ; only the is al lowed to wain her Mouth and her Hands.
As'I intimated above, the Women feldom ftir abroad the Wonen As intimated abo they make all their Vifits ar Night being accompany'd with 2 Man who walks before'; and when he fpics any one approaching, calls out thrice, Gas i. e. Take carc. Upon this Signal the Man berakes himfelf to the other fide of the Street, withour feeming to fee or knotw the Woman; nay, if one Woman:mects ancther, the rakes to the other fide of the Way, and does nor falut her, uniets the be very intimately acquainred with her. The outer Gate of the Houfes being always open till Eleren a Clock at Nighr; at which time every body is at home, the Vifitants have no occafion to knoct; and, indeed, the Gares have no Knockers. Aftor entring the outcr Gate, and approaching to the Door of the Houfes, which is always open, and fpread with Tapeftry of Cotron-cloth, or fome other Stuff, they cough once; upon which the People of the Houfe come our. In the INand of Male, the King's Officers and Soldiers cough frequently, to. give notice to one another in the dark Strects, for tear of recciving mutaal Wounds from their Arms, which are always naked.
We proceed in che nexr place to take a view of their The mat Publick Government, which is an abfolute and ancient of fir ha Monarchy, for the King is fear'd and rever'd by all, and vernem. every thing depends upon his pleafure. Under him atollon has a Nayle, or Governour, who is a Prieft and Doctor of the Law. The Nabes govern the inferiour Tisontu, Priefts, and are intrufted with the adminiftracion of of tix itin Juftice, and the management of Religious Conrerns. The Cantons or Atollons being fubdivided into many flands, each of thefe Inands, that conrains abovic 41 Mci is allorted a Doctor call'd Catibe, who prefides there in, Thecrat Reiigious Matters, and rules over the particular Pricfts of the Mofques.
All thefe Priefts are imploy'd in Inftructing the Peo- the ofer, ple in the Law, and live upon a certain Portion of Fruits and divnan collected from every Inhabitanc, and a Salary allow'd hem by the King in proporcion to their Dignity.
The Nayles indeed axe likewife imploy'd in the Ad- T inter miniftracion of Juftice; nay, they are the only Judges mideran: both in Civil and Criminal Cates; and tis for the fake Kirget. of Juftice, as well as the promoting of Religion, that hey make four Circuits in the Year through all the Pars within their Jurifdiction. Wen they go the Cir cuits they gather their Dues, and greedily reccire Precons froman infinity of Perfons; fo that the Circuits raile the beft part of their Incomes.
The Nayber, or Thirreen Judges, are under the di- patieret rection of a Superiour, calld the Pandiare, and in Ara Sjrian bick Cody, who refides in the Inc of Malc, and is not \({ }^{3}\). \({ }_{3}\). only the Supreme'Judge of all Cau\{cs, buc likewitc the Head of the National Church: He reccives Apreals from the Nagles, but does not pals Sentence withour taking the Advice of four or five Moncouris,i i. c. Doctors Iearned in the Law, and divers other Scicnces; who are uniyerially honour'd and refpected, therebcing bur abour fifeen of them in all the Mxidives. The Judgment fronouncd by the Pandiare may be revers'd by appealing to the King himfelf, who upon fuch Occafions orders Juftice to be done by fix principal Officers, thefe being the Mi-sixcmet nagers of the moft important Affairs of the State.

The Pandiare makes a Circuit once a Xear throngh The the llle of Male, as every Nape docs in his refoective cicis Atollon, and condemns all to be whipt that cant fay their Creed and Prayers in the Arabick Tongue, and conftrue them in the Maldivan. When he goes along the Strect the Women muft not thew chemfelves, for if he fies any unveild, he orders their hair to be thaven.
Each Atollon has, befides the Naybes, a Collector of the King's Revenues. Juftice is difpens'd in the Houfc of the Naybe, or elfe ar the Pandiarc's Hovic in. Male; and fornetimes, in cafes of moment, in the King's Palace.
The Defendant is fummon'd by Scrieants, calld D aines, to come before the Naybc, by vertue of a feccial of witita Letrer or Writ from the Nirfte; but if be lives out of che sumaras Naybr's Jurifdiction, he is fummon'd by Lerters from the Pandiare, which injoyn him to come from any part of the Realm to the Illand of Malc. The Pandiare's Wric is ferv'd publickly uponthe Defendant by the \(C_{a} l i b c\), or \(S u-\) periour of the Illand, and if he does sot appear at the place appointed, he is nor only excommunicated and excluded from eating or drinking with his Neighbours, or coming to Church, but feiz'd with main force by a Party of Soldicrs.
If either Plaintiff or Defendane iufpects the partiality xheriald of the Naybe, they : have recourfe to the King, who or- Civilct ders the Caufe to be tried before unfufpected Judges. The contending Parties pleads cheir own Caufes: In the bufinefs of Right or Title they are judg'd by the Law; and in Allegations of Matter of Fact, the Plaintiff muf have them atrefted by three Wirneffes, or clie the Defendant's own Oath will bring him off. In adminifiring an Oath, the Judge holds up the Book of the Law, and the Evidence is oblig'd to touch it with his Hand, and that not fuperficially, but fo that every one may obferve 2 real Coneract. Whatever is adjudg'd to the Plaintiff, 2 12th part of it goes to the Scrjeants, bur nothing to the Judges. If Women are call'd in as Wirncfes, three of them are reckon'd equivalent to one Man.
Slaves can neither Wimefs nor Plead; and the mean-slam eft of them, calld Allo, have bus one Wife, whereas the reft are allowed three．By Slaves，they underfand fuch only as voluntarily fell themfelves；or are Imported 25 Slaves from Foreign places；for a Shipwrack＇d Atranger， that was not a Slave before that misfortune，continues in the injoyment of his libercy．The punifhment for beat ing a Slave，is the half of whas they intict for beating 2 Érecman．
An Infolvent Debror is oblig＇d to become a Servanr ro his Credioor，but not a Slave；and he and his Children out．If he thinks himfeif ill us＇d，he may rurn himfelf over to another Mafter，who lays down the Moncy due to the former．
If a Man be murder＇d，his wife can＇t profecute the Malefactor，but the Judge obliges him to maintain her Children，and bring them up to a Trade，till they are of Age； \(2 t\) which time they are qualify＇d either to for－ give or profecute the murderer，for the State takes no cognizance of Perfonal injurics，unlers the Partics aggric－ ved complain of them．
The ordinary punihment of Criminals is whipping， which andced is very feycre，and frequently morta，but in fome Cafes chey are banifidd to the Southern defart Iflands，and in orlaers they are doom＇d to the murilation of a principal Mcmber．The Whips are made of thongs of thick leather，which are a fathom long，two fingers thick，and four fingers broad；five or fix of them being fattridegecher in a wooden bandle．Whipping is the punihment of Sodomy，Inceft，Adultery，Perjury，and Rapes：Bur over and above that punifhmenr，an Adul teceff has her hair cur off；a perjur＇d Criminal pays a pe－ cuniary Mulct for the benefir of the Poor；and a Ka－ rifher is oblig＇d to give a Dowry to the injur＇d Woman． The ftealing of any thing of value is punifhd with the lofs of 2 Hand，and the difobeging of the Law with publick Penance；for they are of the Opinion，they can never come at Paradife without fatisfying the demands of the Law．The Sentences pronounc＇d by the Judge arc execurcd by the Serjeants，for they have no Hang－ man or publick Executioners．Tha＇Death is by Law intail＇d upon Homicide，they never conderni a Prifoner to dic unlefs the King exprefly requires it，which fel－ dom happens；and when it does，the King fends his own Soldiers to execure the Sentence，for be referres the Pow－ er of Life and Death to himfelf alone，whereas the in－ flicting of other puniflments lies in the hands of the Judges．Their tendernels in not Pentencing Criminals ro die，is grounded upon the Plea of nor difpeopling the Country，there being fo grear a number of Criminals whofe juft demeric is Death．When the King is Perfo－ nally offended，be makes the Criminal lie on che ground flat upon his Belly，his Arms and Legs being held．by four Men，while bis Back is foundly thralh＇d with a Ben－ gath Cane call＇d Rotan，which takest off the Skin，and leaves a perpetual mark．
Neither Indictments，Depofitions，nor Sentences，are pur in writing，as being all very，fhort；nay，in Civil 2 Suir for a Land，Inberitance，or Coco－trees，which are reckon＇d immoveable，then indeed the Judges give Letcrs feal＇d with Ink（Wax they do not ufe）for an Evi－ dence of the Perfon＇s Right to be tranfmitred to Pofte－ rity．
The Inbabitants of this Counrry rank＇d in four Claf fes，ramely the Royal Family；Perfons invefted with Dignities and Offices；the Nobility or Gentry ；and the Common People．The third rank is diftinguin＇d from the fourth by their Birth；and the diftinction is fo nice－ Iy kept up，that the latter dare not fir in the prefence of the former．If a noble Woman marries a Plebeian the retains her rank，and upon her account che Children are reckon＇d Noble．．But a Woman of the loweft Form can＇t ennoble her felf by marrying a Nobleman．Befides the Nobles by Birth，there are fome ennobled by the King，who upon fuch Occations gives them Letters，in－ titing them to that Privilege，and fends an Officer round the lland to make publication of the promotion．The art rank comprehends；the King calld Refourn ；the Queen call＇d Renequillague；the Princes and Princefles of the Blood calld Calans and Camenar＇；and ail who are defcended of the King＇s Predeceffors．The next Stacion is allotted to the grear Officers of the Kingdom partucularly to the Quilague，or the King＇s Lieutenant－ General，who commands in the King＇s ablence；the Eudequerry，who always attends the King＇s Perfon a chief Counfellor；the Velannas，who takes care of all ftrangers，and takes the Rudder off all the Ships，that arrive，for fear they thould fet Sail without taking leave； the General of their Forces call＇d Dorimonaz；the Man－ pas or Chancellor；who affixes to all Letters the King＇s

Seal，i．c．the imprefion of his Name in Atabick ingra－ ven．onSilver；the Secretary calld Carans，\＄c．Theto Officers have，befides the Rents of certiain loands allor－ ted them，the King＇s Rice for their Provifion，（which is a great honour allow＇d likewife to the Soldicrs）and the Toll of the Ships that Traffick to the Maldives．The Tie Kit．s Officers and Soldiers are fo much eftecm＇d thas a No－Guards．ind leman is nor refpected unters ha man in not refpected unlefs he be an Oficer；and a rencleman will haxdly pafs for fuch，withour he be lifted nto the King＇s Service．
The King＇s Guards confift of 6 Companics of 100 Men apiece，commanded by the 6 ancient Counfellors call＇d Mofcoulis．Befides thefe，there are tenlarge Com－ panies commanded by ten of the Grandecs of the Coun－ try，which ferve the King not in fighting．bur in the lanching of Ships，building of Palaces，and fuch other work，being call＇d together by che found of a Bcll．In five of thefe Companies none but Gentlenen are ieceiv＇d but the other five take in the Common People．Slaves are always excluded，as well as thofe who work in a Mechanical mean way，as the dreffing of Coco－trecs， Ejc．and particularly fuch as ferve others，or cannor read nor write．Whoerer is lifted a Soldier，pays rwency Lovins to the King，and forty to be diftribured among che Company in which he is to ferie．To conclude，all Offices are boughr of the King，and muchscoveted by cafon of the Honour，Authority and Power that attends them ；but the Perfons invelted with thefe Offecs can ncither fell nor refign them
The Ilanders having bur one Name，fuch as Mabomer；The Names
Haty，Hu fum，AJan，Ibrahim，\＆cc．are diftinguifid by tives their Sations，as Noblc，Plebcian，for．added to their Name，and fometimes by the addition of the Inand in which they live．

The Royal Palace is of Stone one ftory high，and has The Kin \({ }_{2}{ }^{\prime \prime}\) great many fine Apartments，tho＇withour the Orna－ ments of Architecture．＇Tis furrounded with Gardens，Founsains fos in which there are \(\mathrm{r}^{\text {reat }}\) Fountains and Ciftcrns of Wa－waining． ter wall＇d in，and pav＇d with grear fmooth foncs，and guarded continually to hinder Poople from wafhing in them，as being Teferv＇d for the King and Quecn＇s fole Ufe．The Palace is diveteximo feveral Courts，cach of which has a Wcll in thic midde garnifid with fair white ftones；and in oriesof thefe Courts the－King has two Magazines，one for Ordnance，and the other for Ammunicion．At the Palace－gare therc＇s a Guard－ Houle，with many pieces of Ordnance，and other Arms． ThePorral is made like a fquare Tower，and on Foftival－ days the Muficians fing and play upon the rop of it． Paffing on from the Gare you come firft to a Hall，where two great the Soldiers wait ；chen to another grear Hall，where Halls the Nublemen and Gentlemen attend，for none but the Officers of the Houfhold，with the King and Queen＇s Slaves or Servants，are allow＇d to go farther．The floor of thefe Halls is rais＇d three foor from the ground，to avoid the Ants，being neatly boarded with well－plain＇d Wood，and coverd with 2 fort of parti－colour＇d Mats which they make in thefe Illands，and which have feve－ ral Charadters，and other Figures，work＇d upon them． The Walls are hung with Gilk Tapeftry，as well as the Ceiling，which has pretry Fringes hanging round it． The Noblemen fit down cross－legged on the Mats which cover the floor of the Hall，obferving nicely the order of their Dignitics．The Genrry of the Ille of Male，and the crdinary Courtiers，who are oblig＇d to falute the King every day after Noon，fit in an outer Klall ；cill the King comes forth．The Gencry．of the orher Inlands come likewife to wait．upon the Kingin the fame man－ oer，and always bring Prefents with chem；for no body Falntes the King without onc．The Chambers and inner chambers Aparments are hang with Gilk Tapeftry，and inrich＇d wich gold flowers and branches of divers colours．The brds Beds in the Palace，and thofe of all the great Mcri，are ang with Cords upon a Beam fupported by rwo Fillars； and fo the Perfon is rock＇d alcep．Tis ufual among the better fort of People to make their Scriants move and chafe their Bodies when they lie down，and to give theni ittle flaps or gende blows with bork，tbeir hands，upon he－apprehenfion chat it promores Slicep，and expels the Spleen．
Commonly the King is Cloath d with a fine white The रingr， Robe or Coat of：Cotton，reaching to the Girdlc，or a Babit ittle lower，with whitc and blue Edgings，and made aft before with mafy gold Burcons．Then he has a piece of red imbroider＇d Tapeftry，reaching from the Girdle to the Heels，and girded with a long large Girdfe f．Silk fringed with Gold，and a grear Ckiain of Gold before，upon which chere hangs a large Jewel as fig as one＇s fift，of the fineft and roof precious Sroncs．He wears likewife a Knife made after the faflion of the Country, only 'xis richer than ordinary. Upon hisHead he has 2 Cap of Scarler, that Cloth being fo much efteem'd in this Conurry that none bur the King muft wear it. This Cap is lac'd with Gold, and has on the top of it a grear gold Button with a precious Stone. The Grandecs and Soldiers wear their hair lons, but the King has his Head fhav'd cvery Weck. His Legs are naked, after the falhion of the Country; and his Feet are cover'd with Slippers of gilr Copper, imported from drabin, and made like Sandals, which none are allowid. ro wear but the Quecns, and ty Princeffes of the Royal Blood.

Cotintry；

Mis Retinue King goes abroad, the chic mark of Ma sbrow. . jetty alrour him is a white \(U\) mbrella, which none are al lowid ro ufe but Arrangers, who may have what they will. Upon the fame Occafion he has three Pages near his Perfon, one cartiing a Fan, another his Sword and Buckler, and the third a Box full of Betreland Averfua, which he chews every hour. He is likewife atrended by a Dotor of Law, who reads in his prefence, and purs him in mind of Religion. This King does not purfue the Diverfions of going abroad, and fitting as his Predeceflors were wont so do, but mews himfelf up in his Palace, and Spends his time in Careffing his Queen, giving Audience to his Courticrs, and fecing 2 great many Mechanicks and Artificers work; for he keeps in his Palace Paineers, Goldfiniths, Imbroiderers, Cutlers, Joyners, Turners, Armourers, Gc. and finds them work. Nay, he works frequently with his own hands, and accoumrs it a fin to be idle. He is a Man of a livelyquick apprehenlion, and very curious to learn Mechanick Trades. He incourages all Arangers that practife Arts unknown to his People, and makes inquiry after thofe that excel in their way.
On Fridays he goes in grear Pomp to the Temple, beMis Parado to \({ }^{\text {the }}\), his ordinary Officers, with the agreeable Muffick of Drams, Flutes and Trumpets. Aifter Service is over, he returns with the fame Retinue, the Soldiers leaping all along to the found of the Mufick, and ftriking winh their Swords on one anothers Bucklers, and that in frich a fucceffive manner as to avoid confofion. He is likewife attended in his retarn from Charch by all the Peo ple of the Inand, and regales with a Dinner the Pandiare, Nayle, Catribes, Moudins, Genclemen and Soldiers After Dinner he hears Caufes, and adminifiers futtice. There Ilands affording neither Horfe nor Beaft, the Krng walks abroad on foor, unlefs he be carry'd in a Chair upon Slaves fhoulders; which happens bur'feldom, for he is a brawny fromg Man, and chmes rather to go on foot. In feaking to the King or Qaeen, or to the Princes of the Royal Blood; and in fpeaking of them, they have peculiar expreflions that they dare not apply to others; as when they fay of another Man te is aflecp, in calking of the King they fay be fakes his reft.
The Habir of The Queens wear the fame fort of Habit with the the Quem, other Maldiven Women, only their Cloaths are richer. The Noblemen's Ladies and Danghters are obligd to wair upon them cvery evening; and when the Queen go abroad, (which happens but very feldomi) all the Women in the Ifland rum to meet them in cheir refpe ctive DiftriOs with Prefens of Flowers and Fruits, the She-Slares giving notice ar a great diffance before them for all Mento get out of the way-: Upon thar occafion, four great Ladies carty over the Opeen's'Head 2 Veil of white Silk reaching to the ground; to thrat the is not feen. The Queens bathe'frequendy in the Sea, 25 well as the other Women; 'fuch being the 'Cuftom of the Country, which they reckon very conducive to healith For this end chey have an Inclofure in the Sea, coverd with Cotton Cloth, and upon the ihore a litile loure, with 2 freth water Bath, which they ufe as they come our of the Sea. Daylight is never feen in the Queeris Chambers, or thofe of the Ladies of Quality, 'for their only light is Lamps burning cominazlly. And the place of the Room where they ufually retire, is block'd up with four or five rows of Tapeftry, the imermoft of which neither Man nor Woman dares to pull up wichour coughing or hermming firft, and relfing who they are. When they undrefs, they .pull off only their Robe, for neither Nian nor Wominin the Manldives dares to throw off the Cloth that furtounds winir miiddle.
The ring:
As for the King's Revenue, he has many Hands o Crown-Lands, befides a fifth part of 'all the Grain anio

Year as much Cotron Cloth as Cloaths his Soldicrs, fcr he gives them Cloaths as well as Pay. His Revenue is further inlarg'd by his Claim to the Gcods imported by Shipping; for a Sthip no fooner artives than the Otwners reparr to him, and give him an account of their Carpo, out of which he takes what he pleafes at low Rates, and obliges his Subjects to take it of him again at what price he pleales, by way of exchange for fuch things as he wants; oftentimes he firs oue Ships laden with the Commodities of his own Country. All wreck found on the Sca fhore is immediately brought to the King, for no Subject dares ro keep it ; no more than Ambergreefe. call'd by the Maldivans Gomen, which is more plentiful here than in any part of the Indies, and which is fo narrowly look'd afecr, that whoever appropriates it to his own ufe lofes a Hand. In a word, wharever the Sea cafts upon the fhore is the Kings; particularly, a fort of SeaNuts call'd Tauacarre, as big as a Man's Head, which s they fancy to grow upon Tries under water. The Porruguefc call them Cocos of the Maldives; 'tis ufed in Phjfick, and is very dear. Their Money is Silver only, and cain but of one fort, called lexins. However, all Gold and Silver is curremt here by weighr, as 'tis all over the In dies; before they take in 'ris rry'd in the fire, and evert Man keeps Weights for that purpole. There's a fort of Metal named Calin, retembling Tin, much effeemid in the Indies, but tis not carrent here. Iron-money paffes no whetc in the Indies, but in the Dominions of the Prince that Coined it. Having but one fort of Coin, they are forcd to cut in, by which they lofe the 12 th part. Infead of fmaller Coins, they ufe fometime Shells, 12000 of which makes a Larin, and a Larin is worth about eighe Sols, being long like one's finger, and much folded. The King's Name is fer apon mefe in Arabick Letters. Their Gold and Silver is all Imporred from abroad, bur in their own Markets chey ofien Barter one thing for ancuhicr.
The Mandives are well frequented with Merchants ; Trowith the Commodities they fond abroad are chiefly the Cocos, thorpit with which chey lade above 100 Ships Yearly. Of this the Cordage is.made that ferves all che Ships of Aratia, Malchar, and all the Indies; they make alfo Oil and Horrey of that Tree, and by weaving the leaves of the Tree make Sails. They vend atio Jittle Shells that contain 2 Creaume in thern as great as the end of one's litule finger, white, very froooth and glitrering. They fin for them but wwice a Month; three days before, and three days after the Neww Moon, and ro before and af ter the Full. The Women gather them in the Sands and Flars of the Sea, Atanding up to the middle in water. Thefe go only to sengala, the Inhabitants of which efteem thern 10 much, that I have feen thirty or forty Ships:laden, without any orber Commodiry bound thither. Tho in Bengall they bave enough of ctiver Mctals, yer thefe Shells pais there as Money, and the King and Noblemen hoard up vaft quanciries of them, accounting. it part of their Treafare. They give twenty Meafures of Rice for a Farded of Shells,each Fardel comtaining 12000 They have befides thefe 2 fort of Tortoife-fhells named Cando, which is black and fmooth, and has many natural figufes; 'tis found no where but there, and in the Phisippines, and goes off beft in Cambetic. Here they make fine Reed-Matts, and Cloaths of Cotton and Silk.
In exchange the Merchants import fome Corton and Silk Cloarts, a rort of Oil, Arecare, Iron and Steel, maxtin Spices, Porcelane; :and, in florr, all the Necelfaries of Life, and yet every thing is cheap, becaufe of the number and frequency of Ships. They import all their Gold and Silver, which they never fend outagain, but lay it upamong their Wives Jewels as cheir chief Treafure.
Torerum to our Anchor, who purfuant to the fore-Inans. going account was:Prifoner in the itraldives, he drean'd totident e was fet at libetry, and as foon as he awaked made a peam Vow to undertake a Voyage to Sr . Fomes of Gallicia. to give God thianks if is to happen'd. Two days afrer, Nows came of the 2pproach of 16 Gallies; upon which, he King order'd what Shipping tre had to be got ready, out the Enemy were in fightre'er in could be done. So imbraking his beftooods, he thought to lave himfelf and Women in the Southern Ifles; his haftewas fo great, he aras:fore'd to leave his Arms and Ammunition behind. Bur the Wind:failing; the Enemy fern eig hr Gallies affer Him, intanEngagement with which the 'King was Illain, thin and hiswives ramid Goodstraken. The ocher eight pur anto theLand, and:our Author furrender'd himelf into their hands. They faid till they laded their Gallies woith the :Booty, mind 100 or 120 pieces of: Ordnance at their departure; wey left all behind at liberty, except the thief Quecn's.Brother,and the KingsBrother-in-Law.

I muft Fruits of the Country, and 2 Tax of dryd'Fin, Strills calld Boly, and Cords of Coooes, which'he lays'apon them according to their circumftances; 'for the "has "no Taxes paid him in Money, abating for what' is paid as'a Parchafe for Tirles and Offices, or for Licenfes to weear finc Apparcl. He obliges his People to make'thinevery an pooner I muft not forget to acquaint you, that when this \begin{tabular}{l} af the King \\
c Serfole \\
\hline
\end{tabular} Auchor left Bengala, the chicf King there was raifing a Million of Men, and ten thoufand Elephans, to oppofe the Great Mogul, who had proclaim'd War againft him; but having us'd our Author only in relation to the Maldives, Ive omitted his paffage from thence to Bengalaj nor need I now mention the particulars of his return from that place homewards.

The End of De la Val's Voyste to the Eatt-Indies

\section*{Brief Collections of Voyages, cbiefly of Spaniards and Portuguefe, taken out of Anthony Galvano's Book of the Difcoveries of the World. Publifhed by Purchas.}

I\(N\) the Year: 300 . the Soldan of Cairo commanded the Drugs and Merchandize of Indin to be carried through the Red-Sea, as they had been formerly ; they were unladed on the Arebian fide, and carried by the Pilgrims to Mecca. Each Prince receivid a Cuftom for them through whofe Country they pals'd, but chiefly the Soldans of Cairo, from whence the Wares were carreed into Egypf; Lybia, Africa, Tumis, Fet, Morocco; &cc. And this was the common way of sarrying the Indian Drugs; inntil the Portuguefe, by rumz: ing the Cerpe of Good Hope, brought them to lisbon by Sca.
In 1344. when Peter the Fourti was King of Arragon, Tricmarie:one de Cerda went to conquer the Camaries, lying in the 29 degr . of North Lat. whereby thefe thes came to be commonly known in Europe, and fpecially in Spain.
Abour this time the firft Difoovery of Madera was nadrediff owing to the Misfortune of one Macham an Engtifoman, Mantemat who lailing from England to Spain with a Wornan, was Empipmo. driven by a Tempeft upon that Inand, wbiere he landed with fome of his Company, and was left behind by the Men in the Ship, who weigh'd and put to Sea. . The Woman died, for whom he buik a Chapel; and engrav'd on her Tomb her Name and his, with the occafori of their coming thither. Afer chis he made a finall Boat out of one Tree, and venturd with his Men to fail along. the Coaft of Africs, withour Sail or Oars: And the Moors, among whom he came, wondering much how he came there, preferited him to the King, who lent him and his Men to Caftite.
In the Year 1395. in the Reign of Henry III. King of \begin{tabular}{c} Cmmicidif \\
coría \\
\hline
\end{tabular} Cafitic; upon the Information which Masbam gave them, many of France and Caftile went to difcover this Iland and the grear Canary, who feem to be the firf that difeoverd the Canaries, and landed in them.
In 1415. King Foin I. of Porrugal weme from Lébon naciicen with bis three Sons, and ocher Nobles, and rook the rimich great Ciry of Ceuta, which lies berween 35 and 36 degr: of North latitude.
In 1417. King Fobn II, and his-Mother Kactherine Camina con granted to Monficur Betancourt the Government of the Caneries with the Tithe of King: Whicher he went with a good Army, and conquerd Cancerona 3sc where they buift i Caffle of Srone, and fent home Wax, Hider, and orher Commodities.
\(\pi \times\) Mon- In 1418. Fome Gentlemen fent by Henry the King's mantoulto by third Son, fail'd into a Haven on the Coaft of Africa cal Nivanom led Santo, where they remaind two Years:- And after verare that; in \(1+20\), they Faild alfo to the Ifland AJodera where zhey found the Monament of Macham the Englijhmar.
Csumiangi- In 4 431. the Canaries were given to the King of Caftile \({ }_{n}\) nnoos span by Pope Eugenius IV. The Iflands are 7, calld Forsuby te fope. nats, lying in 28 degr. of Norch faritude. The People Thirimcinx car raw flefh, Till the ground with Ox-horns: The mammani Commodities of them are Whear, Barley, Wine, Sugar, Cozanoditios and ecrtain Birds calld Canary-Birds. In 1434 , the fiad Herp fent out one Gon/ates and Giand werr to had formerty pals'd the serribleCape Boiador, and found the Couniry inbabited.
\({ }^{6} 41\) Bicax. In \(x\) Triftran in one, and Gonfiles in the other, who fail'd to Cappe Blanco in 20 degrees, and brought Moors from thence to inform Don Henry of the Stare of the Country, who were afterwards return'd and ranfornd for ocher Moor with curled hair, and forme Gold ; whence the place was calld Rio de Oro, or the Golden Rever.
The River In 1446, one Erixindes of Lx bon wemt to the River socyix rad Sanaga, berween is and is degrees of Lat. and having diflowred. taken fome Negroes there, he went on and difcoverd

Cape Vrrde in 14 degrees, where he fet upon the Land a Crofs of Wood

In 1447. ane Trijtan pafsid Cape Verde and Rio Grande, Rie Gramás and went to another Cape lying in 12 degrees North tude.
In 1449. Don Henry went to dwell in the Azores, by idarin firft whom was difcover'd the Coaft of Africa from Cape Non Inhabitch. to the Mountain Sierra Leona, in 8 degr. of latítude
In 1458. Don Alfonfo, King of Porrugal, went inito Africa, and took the Town Alcacer: And in 1406s. be keth. built the Caftle of Argring and appointed Mender his Governour there.
In 1469. the King of Partugal let out the Trade of cowing leton: Guing to one Gomez, for 5 Xears, for 200000 Reycs a 0 sarn. Year, i.c. \(13^{8 / \text { / } 175 \text { s. } 9 \text {. . hialf-penny Englifh. Money, }}\) upon condition that he thiould difcover every Year 100 leagues. In 1470. this King went into sifrica, and fitia aid, took. the Town of Azila, and the City of Tangir.
In 147x. Folm \(A_{\text {arn }}\) and Scouer found the Mine in Thetneste 5 degrees of lat. and the next Xcar de Poo difcover'd the Poo, St, Thelland now calld after his Name. About this time \(S_{c-m a s, ~ m i n d ~}^{\text {mat }}\) areiza difcover'd the IA ands 5 . Tiomas and del Principe- Principe. lying under the Line of the firm Land as far as Cape, the Kingdom of Benin.
In 1484 . King Fobn II. Fent out Can, who went to Rio de Comso the River of Congo in 7 or 8 degr. South lat. and from thence to the Tropick of Capricorn, fetting up Pillars of Stone in both places: He recurn'd to the King of Congo; who fent an Embaliador to Portural.
In 1487. King Fobm fenc Pedro de Covillan to difoöves india over Land, who went out in Mny, and rook Ship- Maireanidiri ping at Naples the fame Year, and went to the Ine of cir. Rhodes; and from thence to Alcxandrin, and to to Cairo, and the Haven of Tozo, in the compiny of the Ciravans: Again he took Shipping at the Red-Ser, ind werr to the Ciry of Adsm, and fromi thenice to Cananor and Calecut, and came back 2gain to Gon; fromi iphence he faild on? to Sofale, on the Coilt of Africe, in 20 degrees South lat. to fee the famous Mines there. And from Sofala he rurn'd back to Mofanbique; and to the Cities of Ruilon, Mombaze and Melinde, until he came to Aden, and having fail'd through thie Red-Sen to Cairo: here he receiv'd Lerters from King \(\mathcal{F}\) obm, requiring him to go to Esbiopia, and to he rurn'd back again to Adcm; and went to the famous City of Ommar, in 27 degrees North lat. where and heard of the Screight of Per/ja, and of that Country, profer Fotin and there he palsd over the Red-Ser to Prefter Folm's Country. Country, where he was demiad till 1520 . that an Embaffador came there from Portugel. This Covillan was \(T\) he firt tate che firft Portaguffe thar difcoverid the Indics, and Seas faw the lm and Places adjoining.
In 1490: the King fenr back the Ambaffador of Conro who with fome ochers of his Company had been baptiz' \(\alpha\) part of \(C_{1}\) rid in Porrugal ; and when the Porruguefe came to Congo, the baptizis. King, and the greater part of his Realm, turnd Chrifians, and were baptiz'd.
In 1492 Ferdizando, King of Caffile, feat Chriftopher Columbus, with 3 Ships, to difoover Nooa Spama: He fer out from Palos in Auguff, having with him feveral Capcains, and 120 more in company; and 'tis faid they were the firft that fiild by Lacitudes. In his return Thefirt ihas home he took the lles of fiores, which offended the citlible La King of Portugal, bitr thefe Illes were given to the King of Caftile by Pope Alexander.
In 1493. the Gaid Columbus faild from Codir with \({ }^{1} 7\) Cownanis Ships, and 1500 Men in them, among whom were his vorage. two Brethren, and many ocher Genclemen, and on the tenth day after their fetring forch whey arrivid at the Ce.nerries, from whence in thirry days they faild to the Anribes, of which the firf Inand lies in 14 degrees North

\section*{270 \\ Bricf Colledions of Voyages, &c}
lat. and is ©diftant from the Canaries 800 leagues, and rallones, hard by the River Daricn, which is diftane frem Dofeadedir
soverci. they diforcid man where they calld vigines
Las Frisines. which are nam'd Caribas by the Natives, who poyfon their Ariows, fo that 2 Man dies like a mad Dog. From thete llands he wene to the principal calld Sc . Folm, and from thence to Hifpariola, where he found all the Men dead he had left: And leaving here the moft part of his Prople to plant ir, and his Brethren Gors, he went to difcover the ocher fide of the line Cubx, and from thence to Fameice; all which Iffes lie between 16 and 20 degr. of Northlat. But when he return'd, he found his Brethren, kad the reft of the company, diftrefsd by the Infurrection of the Natives, whercupon he went back to Sprin to inform the King of his Adventures.
In 1490. Tain Cather, a Venstian, was fent out by

Tie Dico. veitisot
citcert Men who file to Land in \(45 . \mathrm{degr}\). of lat. and then went Northward till they cameto 60 degr . of hat. where the Day is 88 hours long. There they met with greas Ines of Ice, and Coafting a'ong the Land which turnd Eat ward, they difoverd the River Defenda; and then fall back towards the Equinoctial to 38 degr. and to to Englimd.
In 1497. Ferdinando King of Spain fent out Cbriftopber Co'urmbus with 6 Ships; who carricl with him two Ships of his own, and faild to Crife Vithe, and running along by the line, the firt Land of the Anrilles they came to was an linand in 9 degr. of lat. which they calld Trini-dadi- and fo he catcrd into the Gulf of Paria and came our by the Drepons-mourb, and flecring near the Coaft he found 3 fmall Incs, which he nam'd Teftiges, beyond which lies the Ille C.b.ryne, where is fifling for MufclePcarls, and, as fome fay; a Well of. Oil. And beyond that lile they came to the lies Erailcs, Rogucs, &ec. with other finall ones along the Bay ; and at laft to the Point of Crife de Veic, having difeoverd along the Coaft about 200 leagues, whence they crots \({ }^{2}\) over to Hifpanion.
In the fame Year tig7. Vafquez de Goma fail'd from Fiflon, with three Ships and 120 Men , and in 14 days came to C.ape Kerde, and the llae of St. Fago, from whence he faild akong the Coaft bevond the Cape of Gcod Hope, and having erected there Pillars of Srone, he came to Mifambig:ce, in 15 degr. of South lat. and thence to Mombefa and Melinds, where the King gave them Pilots to conduct them to India, and they difcoverd the Flats of Padan:

In 1493. they anchor'd before Calecur, and failing from thence Northward, they difcoverd the Coaft all along till they came to Angedion: And in r499. chey. raild thence to Mrlinde, and to to Mofambique again, and the C.ape of Good Hope, and thence failing along the Coaft they came to Cape Verde, and ar laft to Lesbon, in 26 Months.
In 1499. one Pinfen wein from Palos at his own Coft, with the leave of the King of Ciffilc, to Cape Derde, and parsd the Line Southward, and difcoverd the Cape of St. Auftin in 8 degr, of lat. The chief places beffdes chis Sto luge.
Rivers has ramnoct, Smiat they to , were the Point of St. Lake and Terra de los Hamos, the Kivers of Maramon, Amazones and Rio Dalce, and other places along the Coaft, till they In is 10 degr. of North lat.
10. Pcaro Cabral haild from Lexbon with i3 Shaps and in fecking one of his Ships lot his way, and fell upon the Coaft of Brafile, and put into a Haven which he

SureHyven
in brys.

Sofyic.
Oferers. thence he faild towards the Cape of Good Hope, and crofid oucr the River Coctin, which was nor known be ore, and laded himfelf with Pepper, and in his repurn difcover'd Sofele, on the Coaft of Africa.
In the fame Year 1500 . Gafpar Cortereal went with two Ships ar his own Coft from Tercera, and faild to a land in 50 degr. North lat. calld after his Name, and returnd to Leffer.

In : \(50 \%\). Foind de \(N\) nosa went from Làbon with 4 Ships and parsd the line to 8 degr. and difcover'd the lle of \(A f=1 / f=\); and from Mclin.ic he crofs'd to the other fide, where he took lading, and fo came back and doubled the Cape, and found the Ifland St. Heiena.
In the fame Year \(x\) for threeShips were fet our by the. King of portugat, which pafs'd the Liee, and having Feen the Land of Brafie, in 5 degr. of lat. they went on arekic difor degree.

In 1502. one Roderigo Baftidas wemr with two Caravels, and ficcring Weftward from the Green Iflend in the tic Heven of Yarma, the corata, and xher fice of
Sr. Rern.merd,
ac. difo:
\(\underset{\rightarrow c i d}{\text { sid }}\) difo he difcoverd the Haven of Zamba, the Corcdar, Carthagene, and the Illands of St. Bernard, Baru and Arenos, and went forward to the Point of Caribena, at the end of the Gulf of Uratr, which is within fight of the Ea-the Cape de la Vela 200 lengues, lying in 9 degr. North lar.

In the Vame Ycar 1502 . Cloriftopher Columbus went a fourth time upon Difcoverics, and he wene firft to Hifpriniola, Famaica, and the Cape of Honduras; from whence be fail'd Eaftward to Gracias a Dios, and difooverid the Province and River of Veregua, and kio Grande, and to the River of Crocodiles, within four leagues of Paname, firighar.j. which tuns into the North Sca. And to he went to the \(C_{a}\), ifios Inc de Bafti mentos, Pucrio Bello, and Nicmbre de Dies, verit Rio Francifo, and the Haven of Reticert, and then to the Gulf of Cabefa Cartive, the lines of Caperrfa, and latty to the Cape of Marble, bcing 2 co leagucs upoon the Coatt; from whence he curnd again to the Ifle of \(C u b n\) and \(\mathfrak{F s}\);meica, where he grounded his Ships much eateli with Worms.
 with ten Carvels, and from Cape Verdche went to ho- tritious fombique, and was the firt that crofsd from that Ille to India : And he difcoverd another Ine in 4 cicgr. of latitude, which he call'd the Ifte of the Admiral, where he took his lading of Pcpper and Drugs, and left there one Sodre to kecp the Coalt of India with five Ships. Thefe were the firft Portugufe that with an Army run along the Coaft of Arabia Felix, which is fo barren, that Cattel and Camels are mainrain'd with dry Fifh brought from withlds Sca.
In 1 so3. Anrony deSoldania difoover'd Socotora, and the Sxwoe Cape of Guardefu adjoining to it.
In iso4. Baftides, with the lcave of Ferdinando King Terraftile, went with two Ships to difcover that part of Torra firma where Cartbigcna is, being in 10 degr. and half of North lat. and having. landed in Cadego, he took 600 of the Natives: And going further, he'cntcr'd into \(\mathrm{Gam}_{\mathrm{T}}\) the Gulf of Vraba, where they found Sand mingled with Gold, being the firtt that was brought to King Fcr-Gold Snd dinando ; from whence they return'd to Santa-Domingo laden with Slaves, but the Natives would not fell them Victuals.
In 1505 : Almeide, Vice-Roy of India, went thither Fortanatia with 22 Sail, and when he came to guinola he built 2 ines 4 an there 'a Fort; and beyond Melinde he crofs'd to Angedive. in Cananor allo and Cocisin, he builc Forts; to each of which he appointed a Caprain. And ar Sofala, Peter Anloga builr a Fortref, whereof he was made Captain. In this Year the Vice-Roy fent his Son towards the Ines of Maldiva, and he came to the.Incs now call'd Coflan, and having made Peace with the People there, he came back to Cochin, and failing along the Coaft he fully difcoverd it.
In the Year 1 506. Diego Columburs fucceeded his Father Chrifopber as Atmiral of the Wref-Indies, and Triftan de Actma went to Indin with 14 Ships, and by the way caft Anchor at the Town of Bezequiche, and before hear- Bramiox riv'd at the Cape of Good Hop= in 37 degr. he found cerrain ifles now calld the Ines of Trijtari. Alvaro Tele, Introntion ran to far that he came to the Ine Sumarra, and fo back. again to the Cape of Gurrdafu, having difoover'd many Ihes and Lands, and a Sea never feen before by any Por ruguefe. Emmanuel Teiez, being driven without the Inc Sc. Lampence, ran along the Coaft and came to Mefambique s from whence he faild to Melinde, and ran along that Coaft and entred into Brava, from whence he crofs'd over to Socotora, where he buile a Fort, and made A Forinsm one Captain of it.
In 1 s09. Lopez Sequeira wene with 4 Ships to St. Law-cati ence, and in the fame Year he arriv'd in Cocbin; from whence paffing between the INes of Nicubar, he went to the Land of Sumetra, and along that Coaft ro the Ine Polvorcira, and the Flats of Capacia, from whence he rdomian went orer to Malacca, in two degr. North. lat. but becaufe the Natives there. kill'd fome of his Men, he cum'd back to India, having difcoverd in this Voyage 500 leagues. Sumatra is the firf Land where they found Man's flelh to be caten. The flefi of Kine and Hens here is as black as Ink.
in 1 s08. one Alfonfo de Hoida went at his own Char- doin ges to conquer Daricn, and having difcover'd firm Land at Urabia, he call'd it the Golden Caftile, becaufe of the Gold found among the Sand along the Coalt; and they were the firft that did this. He went firft from the Infe Hifpaniola, and the City Domingo, with four Ships and 300 Soldicrs, and landed at Cartbajenc, where he was diftrefs'd by the Natives, who lew and ear 70 of his Soldicrs; but in the fame Year, Diego Niquefa having 7 Ships and about 800 Men, came to Carthagena and oin'd him, where having landed, they' aveng'd themretves of the Natives. In this Voyage Niquefa difcover'd \section*{the Coaft of Nombre de Dios, and went into the Sound of}

Darien;

Darien；and when they came ro Veragun，he went athore Golden Caftite，as they nam＇d the Countries of Darion． with his Army，having no hopes of recurning to \(\mathrm{H}_{1} / \mathrm{Pa}\) was the firtt the Spaniards built on firm Land，and ano－ ther in Nombre de Dios，and alfo the Town of Urabin．
In 1509．Colamlus wens to Hijpaniola with his Wife who carried with her many other Women，which were Ewed with there married；and fo they began to People the Country， which was afterwards much frequented by Spaniards．
He placd alfo a Lieutenant iver the Pcople of Cuba， which is a very large lifc．
In 15at．Alfonjo de alluqurrgue went from Cochin to Melacer ；and the Chinefeans leaving Malacen in the fame Year，to go to their own Country，he fent with them Ducric Frinandes with Letters to the King of Mansias， now call＇d Siam，who pafs＇d through the Sereight of Sin－ smint：capurc．and lailing North went to Odin，the chicf City suruprre：of the Kingdom，lying in 14 degr．North lat．Fernandes achect．bcing the firft Portuguefe the King had feen，was much honourd by him，who fent back with him Ambalfadors to Alviruerigue，who pafs＇d over the I．and to the City Tencierim，a Sea－Port in 12 degrece，where they cmo bark＇d，and faild along the Coalt to Miaircef．This Kingdom of Siam is 150 leaques long，and 80 broad； the King can bring into the Ficld 30000 Elephants．
After this，Albuqucrituc fent \(D^{\prime \prime A c u m a}\) with Letrers to the King of \(\operatorname{Pcg} k\) ，who went in a Junk of the Country to the Cicy Pcirt，near the River Solano，and many other Villages lying along this River；and to the Citics Tanc－ acrim and Martanan，in 15 degr．North lat．and Peru in 17．He was the firft Portuguefe who cravell＇d in that Kingdom，and gave an account of the Counrry，and of fin Fah the Rcople，who wear Bells in their Privisics as the Sia－ nemrar．me mires do．
citerickis．In the end of 1 sit．albuquerque fene threc Ships，with Tritsor 120 Men ，to the Incs of Benda and Maluce，which pafs＇d Eric，从s through the Streight of Salan along Sumatre，and other Ines，rowards the Eaft；which they calld Salites．They faild allo to the Incs Patimbam and Puparam，and pas＇d Fon sam，by the noble Ine of Fava，and fteering Eaftward faild between it and the Ille Madirat．Beyond Fawn they faild by anorhce Inc calld Bali，and came to many otber Ifles lying in the fame Parallel in 7 or 8 degr．Sourh lat．their Courke along thefellies being above 5 co leagucs． Beyond thefe there are other Illes rowards the North，in－ habited by whiter．People，\({ }^{\text {a }}\) who wear Shirts and Doblet．
Ansticnx de Bron the Admiral，went rowards the North whercof fall Sca－flakes like fire rom the highert place 0 mm, ，the went to the Ifles of Burre and Amborno，and anchor＇d in －the Haven call＇d Guliguli，and landed in a Village where the Natives are Man－eaters；and then croffing over to a place on the other fide in 8 degr．they laded Cloves，Nut－ megs and Mace，in a Junk broughr herc．
In 15x2．they went from Banda towards Mraincea，and the Junk being loft on che Flats of Luzapinbo，nine or ten Portuquefe efcap＇d to Mindanao，whom the King of Matureo fent for；and thefe were the forft that came to the Ife：of Cloves，in one degr．Norch lat．
In the fame Year 1512 ．Albuquergue went back from Malacca to Goa，and the Ship in which he went being lof，a few Men were driven to the Incs of Maldiva， where they firf faw Coco＇s．
In the fame Year 1512 ．Fobn Solis went from cifite to difcover the Coaft of Brafile：He came to the．Cape of St．Aufin，and Coafting Southward he wein to the Porr Lagoif，and in 35 degr．of South tat．fic found a grear indeich River，which he called Rio de Plesa，i．e．the River of Silver
In the fame Year 1512．Folm Rence went with two Ships to：find out the Ine Bomes，and the Well there which was faid to make Old Men young；but there was no foch thing：He entred into the Ine of Bimini，and difoverd a Point of Land in 29 degr．North，which he calld Floxida．
In 1513：Vafco Numes Valbor having heard of the \({ }_{\mathrm{ck}}^{\mathrm{Th}} \mathrm{So}\) Sth South－Sea，with 290 Min went from Darien，carrying fome Indians to be his Guides marci＇d over Land，and on St．Miciarel＇s－diy came to the South Sca；where he cm－ bark＇d，tho he was sold of grear danger，and came back to Laind in fafery，having taken there ftore of Gold，Sil－ ver ánd Pearls．
In the fame Year Albuquergue went from Goa to the enter＇d of Mecca，with 20 Ships：He batterd Aden being the firfe Porturge and winterd in the Ine of Camaran being the firft Portuguefe Captain that gave information of thofe Seas，and of that of Perfia．
In 1514 Pedro d＇Avile went from Lucar with his Wife and 1500 Men ，in 7 Ships，being the 4 th Governour of

Ciarthagena and Vraba；and Valloa was made Governour of the South－Sea of．that Coaft．
In 1515．Pedro Arias di Avila fenr one Gefor Morales Tha Guffor with 1 so Men to the Gulf of Sc ．Michrel，to difcover the \({ }^{5 \mathrm{~s}}\) ．Mishate． Incs of Tarcrequi，Chiapos and Tumáceus．A Cacique， fricod to Vallon，gave him many Canocs，wherein they faild to the 1ne of Pcarl；the Lord whereof at firft op－tac or Pourt． pos＇d their Landing，burt bcing afterwards pacified，he took them home to his Houfc，and was baptiz＇d Pedro Arias，for which he gave thern a Balker full of Pcarls， weighing 1 IO pounds，whercof fome were as big as \(\mathrm{Ha}-\) zel－nuts，weighing 25，26，or 3 ：Carats，cicry Carat being 4 grains．There was given for one of them 1200 Ducats．This Ine Tararequi lics in 4 degr．hac．towards the North．
In the fame Xear 1515．albuquerque fent from Ormur An Entarfy Fernando Gomes as Ambaflador to lfmacl King of Perfir，wesperian who rravell＇d in it 300 leagucs，and reporsed that it is a plcalant Country like Firmce，and that there are the fair－ eft Women in the World．
In 15x6．about 100 Years after the taking of Coutr， Lopez Suarez being Governour of indic，one ícrnando Pi－ rer was feat to Clizina，where he received much Pepper；Pepper a and after that to Bongala，to a Knight calld joinn Cato Brax Cmmo He was the firlt Portuguefe that Caw Gerges．

InTS17．the Came Perex went to the City of Malecen， and from thence towards China，with 8．Saih 4 Poirth－ciona fift nufes，and 4 Mitheynns．He went with Tiomas Perce the wifiovera． Ambaffador from the Ciry of Canten，by Land 400 icagues to the City of Pckir，where the King was；the foskn， Province whercof is the biggeft in the World．exten－ ding from 20 to 50 degr．of liturudc，i．e．jor 泡多ies in length，and i：\(i\) faiu to be 300 leagues briad．Pieren was 14 Months in the life of \(V\) oniapa，learming as mech as he could of the Country，of which he difcover＇d very nuch by land and Sea． made Peace with them ；and from thence to the River Genges，ioo leagues beyond Canton，and difecrer＇d the Country and Manners of the People．
In 1518．Folm Grifalver went with 4 Ships and 200 jucatm Soldicrs from Cuba，to difcover 3 ucaren；and in their way they found the Ine of Cofmert in 19 degrees North lat．and nam＇d it Sania Crura becaufe thicy came to it Sman Crusi the 3d of May．They coafted the land，and came to．an Illand calld Afcenfion，becaule they came to is on Afcex Afsmina fion－day，and finding no place to go our aty，they went round aboot is to another River，whith they calld the River of Griffown，in I 7 degrees lat．where they gor Gold， Silver and Feathers．
In rhe fame Year 1518．Frnncis Garay went with three Ships from Famaica rowards the Poine of El＇ridi，btet when they came on land the Narives kill＇d mana of them，fo that they duxf net ftay；whereupon they fatf ed along the Coaft，and came to the River of panuce，panus． 500 leagues diftane from the Point of Fioridi．
In 1 5199．Eernando Curtcs went from Cubr to Nowa Sprim nic，with in Ships，and 550 Men in them：and the Country of Tonich being ar War with Ahontenuma，fent ining of Mre： Ambarfadors to Cortez with Prefencs，offing him their ice Country and Friendmip；and they which went to Tute－Tateper． peck near the South－Sca，brought fome Samples of Gold， and prais＇d the pleafant Councry，and many good Hax－ butrs，bur nothing could be done ar that time．
In 1520 ．Lopex de Sequeir went to．ithe Sureight of Maic－ cef in the line of Macure in the Red－Sen，in 17 degrecs North．
In the fame Year，Vafiuci Aillon went with rwo Ships to the Ines of Lucefes to ger Slaves，and finding none， they pals＇d along the firm Land beyond Fioride io cerrain． Countries calld Chichora and Guadmape，and to the River chisforat of Fordarn，and the Cape of St．Helen，in 31 degrees \(\operatorname{josadumpr}\) ； North．The Natives came to the Sea－fide to fee the \({ }^{\alpha}\) Ships，having never feen the like before，and the \(S p\) n－ niards went on land and recciv＇d fuch things as they wanced；but having got many of them inro cheir Ships， they fer Sail and brought them away for Slaves．
In 1522．one Gilgonanles went with four Ships from the Inc Tararequi in the South－Sea，to diftorer the Cöaft of Niceriagur，and efpecially the paffage from the Sourf inceregwi inro the North－Sea ：And failing along the Coaft；he came to a Haven calld Sr．Vincent，and there landed St．Vinemt 100 Foor rand fome Horfemen，and went 200 leagnes within Land，and brought with him 200 Pefo＇s of Gold， and fo came back to St．Vineent，and thence ro Painama． In isi2．Gonazalo Gomez went from the Ine Tidore to－ wards Noor Spania，and wanting Wind they fteerd to wards the North－caft into 16 degrees，where they found two tores which chey nam＇d the flaes of Sc．Fobm，and in \(S\)
\(\qquad\)

\(\qquad\) ，P．nuwos．
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\)
\(\qquad\) \(\lambda_{1}^{2}\) detye．
\(\qquad\) Sanca Cru＝： nompax that Courfe they came so another Ine in 20 degrees, which they mamd la Griega, and after four Months they came inno 42 degrees of North lat. where chey faw Seafincs call'd Seales; but the Climate was fo cold, that they turn'd back to Tidore.
In 1 122. Cortez defirous to have fome Havens on the South-Sea, and to difcover the Coaft of Noum Spamia on that fide, that he might bring the Drugs from Malucco and Bandn, and the Spicery from Gava, with lefs trouble, fent four Spanicrds with their Guides to Teco antepec, and other Havens, where they were well reccivd, and brought fome of the Natives to Mexico; and Correz afterwards fent 10 Pilors, who went 70 leagues in the Sea, but found no Haven. One Cacique, or Lord, fent with them to Corsez 200 Men , with a Prelenc of Gold and Silver, and ocher Goods, the Product of the Country.
In 1523. Cortez fent to the Aid of the faid Saique 200 Foor and 40 Horfe, who went through the Country and wile the City of Sr. Fames, and the Town of Segura, leaving People in them. The Saiques wondred much at the Monfters of the Sca, as they calld the great Ships.

In this Year 1523. Simnn de Breu was fent to learn the way by the Inc of Borneo to Malecera: They went thro the Streight of Treminao and Tagui to the Inles of St. Mi-
The tifes of
St. Mithosel and Burnce danel, in 7 dearees, and from thence difcoverd the llaes of Borner, pais'd through the Sureighr of Cincapura, and to to Maiacce. to to Meiacce.
In the fame Year 1523. Cortei went with 300 Foor, and 150 Horfe, and 40000 Mexicms, to Panuce, which 2 focr fome refiftance was conquer'd, and upon the River near Cbila, he buile a Town calld Santo Stepiorno del Pucro, leaving in is 100 Foot and 30 Horfe, with a Licutenant. This Journey coft 76000 Caftilians, befides Spaniards, Horfes and Mexicans, who died there.
In 1 s23. Francis Garay having 2 Grant from Cbarles the Fifth, of the Coaft of Florida to Panuco, went with Ships and 2 Brigandines, carrying 850 Soldiers and 140 Horfes to Panuco; bur hearing that it was Peopled \(\qquad\) one up that liver, he travelld by Land, and having pafs'd Rio Montalto, at laft he came to Panuco, but finding there no Victuals, and baving loft 40 Horie in an Ambuh, and 4 of hisSbips, he gave over the deign and hearing that the Government of Noon Spania and Panuco was given to Cortes, he yielded to him.
In 1523. Gonzales d'Avila difcoverd and Peopled a Gif de beene Town, callid Gil de buena Vifta, in 14 degrees of North Byy or inc \(s\).
Bay ot Afcenfint, which he knew to be a rich Councry.
In 1522 . Aloarado was fent from Mexico with three hundred Foor, one hundred and feventy Horfe, and four Field-pieces, to difcover and conquer Qualiutemallan, Xochuuxeco, and other Towns towards the South-Sea. He went by Teco antepec to Xocbsuuxco, and other places and difcover'd and frobud all the Country: In which he found fome Hills chat had Alom, and 2 Liquor like Qil and Sulphur, of which he made Gun-powder. He travell'd four hundred leaguos, and pafs'd fome Rivers fo hot that they could not well wade through; and built 2 City calld Sr. Fago Quabutemallen. 'Tis faid he had
In 1523 . Gadoy that Counrry tor his labour. ritu Santo, whofe Caprain joyn'd with him and went to takea all the Councry fubmitted.
In 1524. the Zapotecas and Nixticas, and other CounSpaniards.
In the fame Ycar the Country of St: Martha was difcover'd and conquer'd by Baffidas and Villa Forte.
In 1524. Cartes fent one Cbrijfopber Olid to difcover and People the Country about the Cape Higueras and the Honderas; but this Olid, when he came to Cubr, leagu'd with Volafquez againt Cortes, and landing hard by Puerto de Cavallos, in ten degrees North latitude, built Trium-Triumpio do do li. Cruz. Cortes went from Mexico to feek Olid, with three hundred Foot and Horse, and carry'd with him the King of Mexico, and other Lords; and coming to DelSpiritu Saner, ten Guides were fent him, who gave him a Mzp of Cotron-wooll, flewing the firuation of the Councry from Xicalanco to Naco and Nico, and as far as Nicaragua. But when he came to \(t_{i}\) ancanao, he underftood that the Mexicens and their King confpir'd againft him; whercfore he bang'd the King and two of the chief Leaders; and fo he came to Mazatian and Tinca, and to Nito, and the Bay of S5. Andrew, where finding a good Haven, be buile a Town calld the Nativity of our Ledy. From thence he went to Truxillo, where he heard the News of a Sedition in Mexico, and he wemt thither by Sca, afrer he had travell'd five hundred leagues.

In 1525. Garfia de Loaifa went from the Grome with Ships to the Ines of Ma/ucce. He pafs'd by the Cencries and came to Brafil, where he found an lile in two degrees call'd St. Mattiere : A Iinnace of theirs pafs'd the sh Memb Streight of Mrgellan, and rnn along the Coalt of Peru and New Spain. The Mnhtucco's werc kind to them.
In the fame Year Stephen Gomez went from the Grome, to difcover the Streight to Maluceo by the North. Tis raid he came to Cape Rão in 46 degrees North, and \(c_{i}\) ata thence came back laden with Slaves.
In 1525. Gomez Sequeirc going from Melucco, found ome Ines in 9 degrees North, and calld them after his own Name.
In 1526. Sebeftian Cabor, Son of a I/inetinn, born at Brijtol, went from Serjil with four Ships rowards MalucCh, which they could nor reach becaufe the Admiral Ship was loft in the Bay of Pator, where they made a Pinnace to go up the River of Plate; and having run up fixty leagucs to the Bar, they left there their greatShips, and with their Pinnaces row'd up the River Parann one Rive \(b\) en hundred and twenty leapues, where they buile a Fortrefs, and flaid above a Year, and then row'd further till they came to the River Parafior, and perceiving the tromem. Country yielded Gold and Silier, thes kept on theis Cousfe; but hearing that a Brigantine which he had fenc before was taken by the Natives, he faild back again, and return'd to Sevil in 1530 . having difcover'd abour two hundred leagues in this Kiver which is rery Navigable.
In 1527 . Corres fent three Ships to difcover by the way of Nems Spain the Ines of Melucco, with his Coufin Saavncdrr, who fail'd from St. Clriftaphers in twenty degrees North, to the Illes calld by Magelian the Plenfures, and thofe difcover'd by Segueirn, which he nam'd the Iles of Taxiou Kings ; and having loft two Ships by che way, he faild mame to the Ine of Candiga, and in 1528: arriv'd at laft ar the Ines of Malucco, and anchor'd before Gclilo, diftant from New Spain 2C5O leagues.
In 1528. Corses having difcoverid and planted the Country of chichimecas, which was faid to be rich in Gold, went to Ciffile in great pomp, carrying. with him 250000 Marks of Gold and Silver, and was nobly receiva by the Empcror at Toledo, who made him 2 Marquis and Governour of Netp Spain.
In 1529. Sanvaedra returning towards New Spain, had fight of Land in two degrees Sourh, and ran along it above five hundred leagues, where he faw Peopie of black curled hair call'd Papuas; but having faild form p or five degrees to the South, he recturn'd towards the North, and difcoverd an Ille which be calld the Ife ef trefxis painted People. And a litrie beyond it, in ten or twelre \({ }^{\text {end }}\) 市 degrecs, he found many low fmadl Iles full of Palm-itors. qees and Grafs, which he pelfd los fardines. The Na tives wear white Cloaths made of Grafs, never faw fire, car Coco's and Filh, dig Boars with frells. Sacunedra perceiving the Weather to be good, fail'd towards the firm Land and Cisy of Panamn, there to unload the Cloves and Mcrchandize he had, which might be carry'd in Carts four leagues to the River Cbagre, which is Eid to be Niavigable into the North-Sea, not far from Nombre de Dios; by which way all Goods mighe be brought a horter way chan round about the Cape of Good Hoope.
In 1529. one Tavarez went from the City of Ormur unto Balfera. and the Ines of Gifara, with fome Ships of War, and went up to the place where Tigris and Enphrates mect; and cho' ochers had fail'd through thar Streight, yet never any before him faild fo far upon freth, and difcoverd that River fo fully.
In 1531. Dacugne with ten Ships, rinne hundred Foot, Rine kr and one hundred and chisty Horle, went to the River rym Marragnon, in three degrees South, being fifteen leagues broad at the entrance; having many Ifles inhabired, wherein grow Trees that bear Incenfe, bigger than in mactam Arabia. Gold, rich Stones, and one Emerauld as big as a Man's Hand, was found there. The Narives make heir Drink of Dates as big as Quinces.
In 1531 . one Gu/man went from Mexico towards the North-weft, with 250 Horfe and 500 Foor, to difcover and conquer the Conntries of Valifoo, Ccimtili quipac, Gc. He went through the Couniry of Mecbuacan, where satana he had much Gold, ten chouland Marks of Silver, and fix thoufand Indiams to carry bardens. He conquerd many Countries; call'd thar of Valifoo, Nosa Gallicia. Noovisom. He built 2 City which he calld Compoftelle, and another which be nam'd Guadalaiarc, being the name of the place as of his Nativiry. He built alfo the Towns de Sento Epirito, de la Conceprion, and de la San. Miguch, in 24 degrecs North latitude.

\section*{Brief Collections of Voyages, &c.}

In \(x\) 533. Franci Pizarro went from the City of Tumbez to Caxamalca, whete he took the King Attabalipa unume of Abarado found Mountains of Snow ic cold, that feventy sow whder of his Men were frozen to death, but when he came to ixcrinc. Quito he begun to inhabit it, and calld it \(\mathrm{St}_{\mathrm{s}}\) Francis.

In 1534. Carticr 2 Britain went with three Ships to Cortereals, and the Bay of Sr. Lawrence, and fail'd North to 51 degrees, hoping to go that way to China, and bring thence Drugs to France. The next Year he went into thofe Parts, and found plenty of Victuals, many Houfes, and grear Rivers. He faild in one River S. W. three \(\qquad\) hundred leagues, and calld the Country Noon Francia but finding the Warer frefh, he perceiv'd he could not go that way to che South Sea.
In 1535 . Trifatua faild three hundred leagues from Teco antepec to the Inc he call'd St. Thomas, in 20 degrees latitude.
In the fame Year d"Aczma, Governour of India, built 2 Fort ar Diu, and fent a Fleet to the River Indus, which is diftans from it about one hundred leagues North; he fent allo an Army againt Barlu King of Cambuia.
In 1535. Alcazawe went- from Sevil with two Ships, and \(24^{\circ} \mathrm{Men}\), and entred the Streight of Magellin, withour rouching at Brafle, he went to a Haven in 53 degrees South, and was killid by bis Soldiers.
In. 1535 . Mendo \({ }^{a}\) a went from Cadiz with 12 Ships and 2000 Men; he died, and his Men built in that River a great Town, whercin are two thoufand Houfes inhabited by Indians and Spaniards. They difooverd and con-querd the Councry till they came to the Mines of Porof and the Town la Plafa, diftane from them five hundred leagues.
In t536. Corter with 3 Ships faild to a Point which After this he came into the River calld Rio San Pedro Atter whio wher ySan Paulo, where having loft two of his Ships by a Tcmpeft, he entred into the Gulf now calld Atar de Cortei, or the Gulf of California, and went fifty leagues with as Anchor ro fuccour him. While he was at Acapulco being inform'd by Francis Pizarro that Mango Inga was rifen againtt him with i 2 hundred thoufand Men, who had kill'd his Brocher Fokn, he fent two Ships wirh Men and Victuals to Tangarara in Pera, to fuccour Francoss Pi arro, which faild from thence along the Line to M6, and tus faid they wrent above a thouland lcagucs withour fight of Land, and in two degrees North they difcoverd an Ile narnd \(A f e a\), which feem'd to be one of the Illes of Clooes; and having 'Eail'd abour five humdred leagues more, they faw another which they calld the her lile towards the South calld Hrome, and two others calld Apia and Seri; but turning towards the North one, degree, they anchor'd at the Ine Coroa, from whence they came under the Line to Meoufunn and Bufu, lying in the fame courfe. The People car Mens flefh, and are Witches in all thefe illes. Here is a Bird as big as 3 Crane, which flies not, but runs on the ground like a Deer. From thefe lles we came to others calld Guelles, jing one degree towards che N.E. and Weft from the Ine Tencrate, where the Porruguefe have a Forr, being diftant from ic about forty leagues, and from Moro 124 From whence they went to the the of Moro and the

\section*{from Gactoano}

In 1537. Vedillo, Governour of Carshagenc, went with 2 good Army from Scbrfitian in the Gulf of Traba, and from thence to Rio Verde, and thence by Land, without knowing any way, to the end of the Country of Peru, and the Town of ia Plata, being twelve hundred leagues. Fromothis River the Counrry is full of Hills, Trees and to die Mouncilns or Abibc, which are faid to be Mons broad, and mutt be palsd over in the firt four Months, before the Rains. fall which fwell the Rivers. There are in thefe Mountains Herds of Swine, Lyons, Tygers, Cans, Monkies, and vaft Snakes; and alfo Partridges, Quails, Pigeons, and orher Fowls, and plenry of Finh, which they could kill with their Scaves. They pals'd through many Countries, and made great Difcoreries by Land.
In 1 538. Galvano fent Francir de Caftro Lowards the North, to convert as many, as he could to the Chriftian Faith. He himfelf chriften'd many Lords, of Celebes, Ambornos and Moros, and other places : and Francis \(A_{e}\) Caftro at Mindanao causd 6 Kings ro be baptiz"d, with their Wives, Children, and Subjects; moft of which were call'd Fobn, after Fohn the Third King of Portugal. In 1s39. Corres fent three Ships with Villon, to difcover the Coalt of Culuacan to the North, which went from Acapulco, and extred into Cortes's Gulf, and Gail'd to 32 degrees, which is at the further end of it; and calld the place Ancon de St. Andres. When they came innom io sit ous of it, they doubled the point of Californin, and go- Anden, ing between certain loes and the Point, and fo fail'd along by it till they camero 32 degrees, whence they teturnd to Nict Spain.
From the Cape Enganno to the Cape Liampo in Spain, the failing is a thoufand or twelve hundred leagues. Cor: res and his Captains difcover'd New Spain from 12 degrecs South to 32 North, being feven hundred teagues. In Nep Spain are many Trees, but the chief of them is thebrxcfi? the Meth, which hath forty kind of leaves like woven ciat The Cloths: When they are tender they make Conferves, Paper, and a thing like Wax; of which they make Mandes, Mats, Shoes and Cordage. The prickles ferve for Needles, the Juice of the Root is like Syrup, the Fruit is Cocoes, the Rind roafted cures Sores, and the opes expel Poyfon, being mingled with Incenfe. There a Bitd that are zifo Birtis calld Vicmalim, which live of dew and the diex and rea juice of Flowers: They die or fleep every Year in Otho- vives in spring ber, and revive or wake in April, when the Flowers pring.
In 1538, and 1539, Pizerro fenc Baldivia with many Chili Men to difcover and conquer the Country of chili, who difcover'd much Land, and the Sea-coaft towards the Sourh-caft, to 40 degrees and more in laritude. Abour this cime Aluaredo went to conquer the Prorince of Guaunco, Chaver to lubdue the Couchincos, Vergera to the Bracamores; the Pizarro's to fubdue Collan rich in Gold. sollan fictita And thus they fubdued feven hundred leagucs of Coun- try.
Brafile and Peru are diftane almoft eight hemored cagues Eaft and Weft, lying both almoit in one fa ralle.
In fome places of the Andes the Earth is of divers colours, as black, white, E'c. wherewith chey Dic. On statrotiont. here Mountains grow feveral Roots, whereof one heals Sores, but cats found fiefh to the bonc. Thofe who live peopk blind on them are for the moft part blind of one Epe, by the of one Ej e. great cold and heat. There grows in the Fields good Maize and Potatoes, and an Herb call'd Coca, that's always in their Mouths, as in the Eafl-Indies the Herb calIed Beerle, which they fay fatisfieth both hunger and thirft.
From Tumber Southward, they fay it neither Rains nor Thunders for five hundred leagues of Land, but at fome imes there falls a little fhower; and that from Tumber to Cbili, there are no Hens or Cocks, or Birds of prey, but Dacks, Gcefe, Es. There are Bitterns which tight nitans fyo with the Seals, and pick our their Eyes, that they may w.ta Salh. not fee to ger into the Warer; and dincos, having Wool likeShecp, and aSaddle-back, on which Man ride.
Erom the River Plare and Lima Southward, there are no Lizards nor venemous Vermine, but fore of good Fifh. On the Conit of St. Michael on the South-Sea, are many Rocks of Salt cover'd with Eggs. On the Point of Rooks of Salt Helena, are Springs of Liquor which ferves for Pitch and fovg. Tar.
In 1540 . Gonfaloo Rinaro went out of Quito, to difico ver the Ine of Cimamon, with 200 Spaniifrds, and 300 indians to carry burderss. He came to Guixos, the latt place govern'd by the Inga's, and pafid over fnowy Hills, where many Indians were frozen to death, and found much Snow under the Linc. Thence they wenr to Cumaco, where they tarried two Months for the conninual Rains. And beyond they fiw the Cinnamon-trces, whofe leaves are like Bay-leaves, and the leares, bran-Cinnanm ches and noot, tafte of Cinnamon ; but the beft have certain knops like Acrons, which is a good Commodity It appears to be wild Cinnamon, and chere is much of is in the Eaft-nndies, and the Inie Fava. From hence they went tothe City Coca, and forwards along a River"-fide being 60 leagues long, without either Bridge or Ford which in one place had 2 fall 200 farhoms dece ; and a little below this fall they made a Bridge to pals over to the other fide, where they came to a Councry calld Guema, which had only Fruits and Herbs to ear. Going from hence forward, they mer with a Pcople in Cloaths of Corton-wool, and found Canocs wherein they put cheir fick Men, and their Treafure, trufting hem with one Orellana; and Pizarro went by Land along the River's-fide, 200 leagues, going as Night with his company into the Boats. When Pizarro came to the place where he thought to find the Canoes, and could pizaro's nor hear of them, he was fo diftelsid, thar they were forc'd to eat their Horfes and Dogs, the Country being poor and barren, and the Journey long to Quito; in which, 'ris faid, that they travell'd 500 leagues withour fecing the Sun, and being out 18 Months, there were not of 200 that came out, above to that returnd to

\section*{Momanenr}

Qurico．In rhe mean time Orellana went 500 leagues down the River，and faw divers Countries and People on both fides of it，which is calld the River of the Amazons．
In 1542．Diego de Frcitas being in Siam，in the City of Dodra，chasd 3 lorrugurfe in a Ship towards China， who direeted their courfe towards Liannpo in 30 degrees， but there fill fuch a Storm uron their Stern，chat it fer
Jupandifo． but there fll fuch a Storm upon their Sten，
32 degrees，calld 子apan．
In 1542 ．Mindōna Vice－Roy of Neto Spain，fent Cap－ tains and Pilots to difcover the Cnaft of Cape Eugenno， who faild to the fnowy Mountains in 40 degrees North， where they fiv Ships which had the Yards of their Sails gilded，and their Prows laid over with Silver，which fem＇d to be come from the llacs of fapan or Cbina，for they faid＇twas but 30 days Sail to their Country．
The ines St．In 1542 ．Merdoze fent unto the lilles of Mindenro \({ }^{2}\) The hese clote Fleet of 6 Ships，with 400 Soldicrs，and as many In－ ar lifent di．ans，under Liri Loper as General．They fer fail from the Ha：en of Nintividet，in 20 degrees North，and itcerd cowards the Weft，where they faw the Ine of St．Tho mes，and another which they nam＇d the cloudy Ife，and a thixd calld the cliven Rock．They faw the Illes difo－ vered by Roci，Sequeire and Sarocdia，and beyond them they fourad other Ines ftanding round，in io degrees．
In fitn．1943．they departed from the faid lines with all the Flect，and faw orber lles，out of which came Men in Boars with Croffes in their hands，who faluted them in the Sperifl．Tongue，faying，Good morrow Compa－ nicns，who were fome of thofecthat had been Chriftned by Ceflec．
In Fibruary，the fame Year，Loper faw that noble Inc Mindanar，lying in 9 degrees，butcould neither double it，nor caft Anchor there，being oppos＇d by the Chriftned Kinissisuvho had promis＇d Obedicnce to Galzano whercepon he faild along the Coaft，and in 4 ＂or 5 de－ Anionia．gress rook a fmall Inc perforce，which he calld antonia． In the fame licar he wenr to many other lifes，inn 11 or in degrecs Nictth latitude，where magellan and Cafero ad leen，which were calld the Philippenes．He faw allo the llles calld the Evil Ronds，the Two Siflers，the Vul－ canc＇s，and Earfara，beyond which there is a high Rock which eatts our fire in five places．They found alro an

Archipelagus of Illes，in 15 or 16 degrees，where the 13 1545．Rui Loper and Giraldo，with the Caftilimens came to the Ific of Morr，and the City of Camafo，where they were well recciv＇d by the Kings of Gilolo and Tidere， and the People of the Country．

In the fame Year 1545．Rui Lopeit fent from the Ine of， Tidove a Ship rowards New Spain；by the South－fide of the line they faild to the Coaft of Or papuas，bur knew not that Snavedra had been there before．
In 1545 ，there went 2 Junk from Borneo with a Portu－ greffo，which by contrary Winds was driven Northward， where be found an Inc in nine or ten degrees that reach＇d to 22 degrees of Latitude，which is calld the Inc of the Lucones；it xuns from North to S．W．and lies between Thictice of Mindanao and Clizm．

\section*{A Lettcr fromi Trigantius a fefuit，concerning Afairs in China and Japän．}

IHree Ships fail＇d from Lisbon＇，Aprii 1618．In one of them，call＇d Sr．Mauro，were 12 Jefuits for Fapen：In anothcr were 22 for China，whereof I was onc．After five Months and a half fiiling we came to Goa，whicher the St．Mauro came a Month after us．A Fortnight after that the Admiral arriv＇d with Difgrace， becaufe falling in company with 6 EnglifhShips，he chofe rather to pay them 80000 Patacas than engage in a fight；for which Cowardice，he and fome other Officers were fent back Prifoners to the King to te Funimid．
－Ar Nänquin Chriftianity flourifh＇d and encreas＇d， until \(x i n\), a chief Judge in the third Tribunal， opposid it，by fending many reproachful Pecitions fe．
cretly to the King，and engaging the chicef Prefident of che Gaid Tribunal againtt us，to which Court belor；s． the Cognizanice of Foreign Affairs and of Religion． Yet this did not more the King to write any Anlwer， （which with the chinefe is Interprcted a denial）until ar laft the Prefident wrone to the King，that he would banifa them all out of the Kingdom．except fuch as were in the Royal City，as by his Office he was ob－ lig＇d．This he did，butnone of the Magiltrates exe－Perfuri cuted his Order where the Chriftians reliuded，execfor ifticion Xin at Nizu：quin，who Apprehended two Pricts，a fines， Brother，and others，but durft not fend them away before the King＇s Anfwer，tho they were often cruelly whipr，and one orswo of them died in Prifon．Ar lalt Xin of Nanguin，having brib＇d the Eunuchs with 10000 pieces of Gold，obrain＇d an Order from the King that the Chriftians thould be fent to Canten，which was their own．And two of Pcquin were honourably dif－ mis＇d，but two of Nemquin were carricd in Cages， and all the reft continued in the Kingdom．After this the Magiftrate of Pequize was deprivd，and he of Non－ quin fell fick
＂As to the \(\mathrm{Fapran}^{\prime}\) Church ：After Daifofome obrain＇d the Victory over Eideri，and tranfmitted the Empire to his Son Combrfama，the Church was quict for a Yeas and a half；but by the Indifcretion of fome a：Nane gafague the Pcrfecution was begun，in whech twenty have died for the Faith，and orhers have been banifh＇d．
 anain there was an unufual Tempeft；and rwo Comets were fecn，whereof one directed his Courfe to the North，and fo is feen this 2oth of Dicember， \(1 G_{1} 8\) ．

\section*{Extracts ont of Trigantius＇s Martyrology．}

T
HE Emperor of \(7 a p\) an is he thar pofforicth Tenfa －the Imperial Province，fo calld by the Clisinef，of whom the Frpen Illands are a Colony；for that which the Cliniffe call Thicinbia；i：e．whatever is under Hea－ ven，the Faponefe term Tenfa，exprefs＇d with the fame Charatters，however differing in promunciation．Trico－ Jama died 1598．and left Fideri his Heir；but Daifura－ ma，with others，being appoinred his Tutors，quarrelld for themfelves in x600，Ar laft Daifufama getring the better，entivled himfif Cubcfama，but left Fideri in the． beft Forr of Fapan，with 2 tolerable Revenue；and ha－ ring removid the Imperial Sear from Meaco to Sururge，， he married his Son to the Niece of Naburanga，which was unext Emperor before Tricofama，and Aunt to Fiderr＂， whom he befieg＇d and killd in ofacca，fearing left he ofrasi \(\cdot\) ． thould divert the Inheritance from his Son．For which froma：it end he fer Fideri at work，to build his Father＇s Temple which was confum＇d by Fire，hoping shereby to exhauf his Treafures；bur when be came before ofacca，wish an Army of 200000 he loft 30000 ，and was forc＇d to raife othe Siege，in 1615 ．Yet after this，he return＇d with another Army as great as the former，to which \(E ;\)－ deri＇s was equal，and in two Battels was defeated； 50 that Daifufamn defpairing of faccels．defir＇d fome to dif－ parch him，rather than he fhould fall into the Encmics hands：－Bat at laft，Fideri＇s General thinking the Victo－ ry fure，fent for him to have the honour of it，who lea－ ring his Captains in bafte，fo provok＇d them by that reeming contempr，that they fet fire to Ofacca．Where－Fiurri wila upon Fideri，to lave his Relations，return＇d to the Caftle，amd DF；＂： in which both he and they perifh＇d．Ofacta was de made E．jp ftroy＇d in 1615 ．and the Emperor return＇d Vietorious to \({ }^{\text {ron }}\) Surumga，and prais＇d his Idols for this Succels，which he attributed to his Perfecution of the Chriftians．－Bur in Marcls，1616．this Triumph was turn＇d to his Funerals， and one of bis Sons fucceeded．The Chriftians had fome hopes of more liberty after his Death，and performd their Religious Offices fecretly，left they fhoudd feem to carfurnim Infule over the Dead．For under pretence of Injuries Cbutarara done by Portugel－Merchants，and Contempts of his Im－Jqem perial Edias，and the Reports of worfhipping fome Chriftian Malefactors that were Executed，（becaufe fome ar their Death had commended them to Chrift）he had banifh＇d many，and put many to feveral cruel kinds of Death．But one true Caule was Fefurtical FJypocijfy，for they，under pretonce of conversing Souls，were become Esittors for the Portugal Mercbants，as will appear in part：ly sbe Letters which follow from Captain Saris and Cock．

\section*{A Letter concerning fome later Tranfactions.in Japan, from Mr. Cocke to Captain Saris. Written at Firando, December 13. 1622.}

\section*{Captain Saris,}
- am inform'd of the greateft Confpiracy that ever was heard of in Fapan, againft Shongn Samma the 'prefenc Emperor, carry'd on by Nine of the greareft 4 and richeft Kings and Noblcmen in that Empire, wiz
- by Convano Figen the Emperor's Kinfman, having the
- greareft Revenue in fapan, being worth per Annum 200 Mangocas, i. c. 1875000 poundsSterling, as Mr.Sa ars caft it up.

\(\rightarrow\) Mangocas per Aninum.
yet all of them affume the Royal Stare and Dignity. There are but five of them of the Emperor's \({ }^{\text {Privy }}\) Council, who are very vigilane in managing all StareAffairs. No Caule is broughr before the Emperor till firt the Council is acquiainted with it; and if they approve of it he fhall know it, if not, it is drop:. The the EmpeEmperor lives in great Sate, and feldom gocs to Hunt m; sente or Hawk withour a dooufand followers. He is muith ad- and chatity. mir'd for contencenring himfolf wich one Woman, his Wife, whereas his Subjectsare feare conrented with a hundred Women; of which they make their boaft This Emperor hath grear flore of Silver and Gold: And 'tis reporred, thar from of acer-Caftle were broughr to his Court fome Balls of Gold, fo grear, rhat is or 16 Men can fearce carry one of them.
The Princes of Fapen imporerifh themfelves to en- The Prefnas rich the Emperor with Prefens, and cach of them madicect bymuft be either in Perfon, or by a Dcpury as his Court to give an account of all Matters relating to the feveral Kingdoms, and keep them quier. The Emperor, to requite his Princes Prefents, gives comnoon'y fome Kerrimoons, or Coats, for Gold, Silver, and precions Commodities ; and to prevent cheir growing Rich. he raifes Taxes on them for building his Caftles, and repairing his Fortifications.
Ofacea is the moft famous. Cafle within the Empire, ofecen, Fnts being compalsd round with three feveral Walls: The. very finvus. Caftles at \(E d e\), and orher places, are Walld and Moared about, being two Miles in compals. The Noblemen live within there Caftes, and in each of them there is a Srore-houfe of Rice. At Falcate there is a Wood of Pinc-trces three Inches fquare; in the midft of whicla there is a Tcmpleadorn'd with gilled lanages, and all forts of curious Works.
-ThePcople are gencrally courtecis, and very gunta- Cufoms of al in their Cercmonics to frangers: Their comaie: tic keugle Dies is Filh, Roots and Rice; and rarcly thay kill a Hen, Pig or Duck, to treat their Ericnds. Their common Drink is Water, which is commonly Beared in the fame Porthat Seeches their Rice. They have Wine and Rack diftilicl of Rice, of which they drink largely at their Fcalts; and being heated with is, they are very obtinare and wilful in their anger. Their Laws are \({ }^{T} e^{\circ}\) Lame ftrict and levere, and know no obher punifhment bur Dearh or Banifhment. Murder, Theif, Treafon, Violence of the Emperor's Ediets, are punimid with Death; and fo is Adulecry alfo, if the Parties be ta. ken and conficted, which they feldom or never are. In all Caufes, Civil and Criminal, they procecd according to the Verdict of Witneffes; and Sentence being once palt is cerrainly exccured. Criminals fuffer Dearh either by Beheading or Crucifing; the Hex 1 is cur off winh a Catan, and after that the Cavaliers rry their weapons, whether they can cut off a Leg or a Limb at a blow. When any one is Cracify'd,-his Arms and Legs are fpread on a Crofs fer uprighr, and then one runs him through the Body with a Lance or Spcar, where he muft hang rill he rots off.
Every one may change his Name three times, when he is a Child, a young Man, and when he is Old. They hare had Writing and Printing for man: Ycars; a fingle letter ftands for a Word. and, as is is variouly. plac'd, ftands for Gx or feven. They have feven forts of letters, and each Alphabet has forry eight; they cannor pronounce \(D\).
-They obferve no Sabbath, but cerrain Fcafts-days, as the ift or rych of the Moon, bur the gth is held accurfed; and therefore they never begin any bufinels of importance on that day.
- They keep the Day of their Parents death fo frictdy as a Faft, that they will not rouch nor car any thing that has Blood.

From Wingham in Kenr,
Nor. 25. 1623.
Arthur Hatch.

Tre Gi. It is govern'd by an Emperor, who hath 65 Kings num of Jo: under hirn; and tho chey bave but petty Kingdoms,

\title{
An Abfrat of MIr. Cæfar Frederick's Indian Obfervations for Eigbteen Years.
}

The wiviy
The whiy
formicnise

I\(\mathrm{N} \cdot \mathrm{t} 563\). be went from Venice to Aleppo, and from thence, with fome Merchantes of Armenia, to a City call'd Bir ; thence to Bagdar, and fo to Brfo\(r a\) and \(O\) rimur.

The Election O:mu亏 hath a Moor King of the Race of the Perfians, of the King who is created by the Captain of the Cattle in the Name of the King of Portugal; he is chofen out of the Blood Royal, and fweareth to betrue and faithful to the King of porfugal as his Lord and Governour. After which, he is brought with grear Pomp to the Rgyal \(\mathrm{P}_{2}-\) lace in the City. He kecps a good Train, and has fue ficient Revenucs, and is defended by the Captain of the Caftle; without whofe Leave he cannot go abroad.
From hence, going for Goz, I camero Diu, a frong City, of grearTrade, in Cambaia, where the Clwiftians and Heors (with the leave of the Porturuefe) lade many cambsitta. Ships with Guods brousht from Cambriette, another Ci ty in Cambitia, in fmall Barks, becaufe no grear Ships can go thither for the tholes in the water, which are 100 miles abour, in a Gulf calld mescerco; i. e. the race of a Tide. Caminicttre is a fair City, and when'lie was there was in fo great Calamity, that the Pagans were forcid to feil thear Children to the Portugueze for 8 or to Latins apicce, i.c. 10 or 13 s. \(4 \%\). There in a vaft Trade as the New and Full Moon, when the Tides are higher, for then very many Barks come in, and are laded with all forts of Spices, China Silk, Elephants Tceth, Velvets of \(V\) crsini, chickinos, which are picces of Gold worth 7 s. Sritiling, and other Commodiries; fuch as Cloth whire and painted, Indigo, Ginger, Myrobalans, Agats, Hematites, and natural Diamonds.
When he was ar Cambrictsc, hefaw an infinite number of Axtificers employd in making of Bracelets for the Womin, who break them off when their Relations die and buy new ones.
Coso tree
ere come eycty Ycar to Chaul, from Cochin and Lamancr, ten or fifreen Ships laden with Nuts, and Sugar made of them calld Giegra. The Tree on which they grow is calld the Palm-tree, which is the moft pro ficable Trie in the World, for with the Wood of it they build Ships, with the Fruir of it, which are Nurs, they make Wine, and of the Wine Sugar. Our of rhis Tree thicre runs a white Liquor in the Spring, which being diftilld with Fire makes a ftrong Liquor, and being pur into Eurs with a quanticy of fibiluo, in a little whind becomes perfect Wine. Of the Nuts, afrer this, they make Oil; of the Bark they make Cables; of the Boughs, Bedfeds; of the Leates cut fmall and woven they make Sails and fine Mats; of the ourer xind of the Nut they make Ockam to caulk Ships; and of the hard Bark, Spoons and orher Veffels for Mcar

In. 1567 . he went from Gon to Befeneger, the chief Ci 5y of \(N a \sqrt{1}\) sas, 8 days Journey from Goa within Land, in company with two other Merchanes, which carried with thenn three hundred Arabien Horfes to the King of thar Country; 2nd as they went our of Goa, the Horles paid Cuttem \(4^{2}\) Pagodies apiece, i, c. 6 s. 8 d . for in thele Countries Arabian Harfes are valaed from 300 to 1000 Discars.
In 1569. the City of Bezeneger was fack'd by faur Kings of the Moors, who could not take it but by the treaitiery of two of the chicf Captains under the King of Bermorr, who commanded abour 80000 Men; and afier thef Kings had fearch'd the City fix Manths the letrit.
fiter thefe Montifh Kings were gone, one Temiragis a Tyrant came to the City to rereople it, and anvited all Merchanss to bring Horfes to it, promifing to give hem what price they would; upon which account the two forcfaid Merchanss brought cheir Horfes, bur after he had got grear numbers be paid for none.
Wive berme
thatheir
White he ftaid at Berencerer feven Ycars,' he obferiv'd mong orher Culfoms of the Gertices, that when a Noble man or Woman dic they burn their Bodies; and if a married Man die, the Wife muft Durn her felf alive with the Body of herHusband. which is done with much
A"tr what लa, ner. pump and ceremony. For the ha"ing appointed a day for her burning, goes out that Morning carly on an Ele- Fhant or Horle, apparel'd like a Bride, and is carry'd round alout the Ciy deck'd with Jcwels and Flowers, round about the Cisy deck'd with Jcwels and Flowers, having Looking-glals in onc hand, and an Arrow in we other, finging all the way, That the is going to lletp with her dear Spoufe. Thus accompanied with her Re lations, abour One or Two 2 Clock the goes sur of the City to the place for burning of Women, where there is a grear fquare Cave full of dry Wood, and hard byit a Pinacle four or five fteps up. When the company is come there, they make ready a grear Banquet, where the Woman eats with the reft of the company as joyfully as if ic were her Wedding-day; and theFeaft being ended they fing and dance for forne time. But when fie is cer tified the Fire is kindled by her Order, the leases the Feaft, and goes with her Hustand's neareft Kinfrnan to the Bank of the River Nigondix; where the ftrips her felf of her Jewels and fine Cloaths, and gives them to her Parents or Kindred; and then covering her felf with a Cloth, The throws her felf into the River, faying, 0 pretcies, wish awory your fins. After fic is come out, the ooss with her Husband's Kinfmar to the Pinacle of the quare Cave, where the Fire is made, and having talk'd o the People, another. Woman anoints her Head and all her Body with Oil, and then throws the Por and Woman into the Fire; whereupon the Reople round abous he Cave, chrow ar her great pieces of Wood to baften her death. And after this, all their mirth is turn'd into bitter howling and weeping. When any great Mandies his Wife, with all his Slaves, with whom he has had Aneter vom Carnal copulation, burn chemfelves with him. Among in winhtro the meaner fort of Pcople, the Wife clafps the dead Hubmis. Husband aboir the Neck, uncil a Maton builds a Wall round about them; and me being ftrangled, the Wall is finith'd over their Heads, and fo they lic buried bath rogether.
Abour fix days Journcy from Beaeneger is the plact where they ger Diamonds, which is a large Plat of ground compafs'd with a Wall, which they us'd to fell for fo much a foor fquare, and dig for Diamonds; where-of-the lefler are for them, and the bigger for the King. But they have nor got any there now of a long time, becaufe the rightful King being put to Deach, there is, grear divifion in the Kingdom, and Bezeneger is left almoft defolate. This City is 24 Miles in compafs, in which there is a very farcly Palace for their Kines, ha ring nine Gates, which are kept with a Guard of Porters. After two Months he went for Goa, in the company of wo Portugel-Merchants, with two Palankins or Litters and eighr Falchines to carry them, He boughr two Bul locks, one to ride on, and the other to carry his Provi. Ballosis, 3 , fion, which they ride on there like Horfes; bur the Bur- fe mina den-Bullock grew weak and cou'd not go, and the orher going through a River, gor to a littic ine in the middle. where I could nor come at him, and fo I was forcd to travel on foot till I net with some Falchines to carry my Victuals. At laft be got fafe to Ancola, which is Tri butary to the King of Bejencger to Gea. TheMerchandize from Befenegor. are Arabian Horfes, Vclvers, \(\mathrm{Da}_{2}\) masks and Sartins, Cling, Saffipn and'Scarlets. And for their Commoditics, they have in Tarky. Jewels, and Pagadics, which are Ducars of Gold. The Apparel in this Ciry is Velver, Sarrin, Scarler, and long Hats made of them: They have Breeches like the Thiks? and at their Ears grear jlenry of Gold hanging.
At Ancole, one of my Companions itaid all Winter, Therryime which begins there in May the isth, and lafis to the isoms end of ocober, but I went for Goa with fome Mcrchants and Soldicrs in a Palankin, with cight Falchines to carry me; and from Gon I went for Cochin, which is a Voyage of 300 Milcs. Between thefe two Cities there lic Forta ofts three Forts belonging to the Portuguefe, calld Ono- and Pmmonta Mengalor, and Bazeior, where is good fore of Rice that's carried to Goa. And from thence you go to Cinantr, our of which Kingdom, when they are at peace with the Portuzuef, is carricd Cardamomum, Pepper, Ginger, and grear quantities of Arclo, a Fruit about the bignefs of a Nurmes, which the Indians eat with the Herb Bertel, , , made up with the Lime of Oyfter-fhells; which, they camin. fay, makes the fpirtle red, and gives them 2 ftomach. From Cananor you go to Crangenor, a Conntry full of Thicves, who divide the Spoil with the King of Calicut o that there is no failing.there bur with grear Ships wicll arm'd.

Fram

\section*{Cæfar Frederick bis Indian Obfervations, &c.}

From Cringanor we came ro Coctin, 15 Miles diftant, Fhe chief place that the Portujuefe have in the Indics where is the greateft Trade of Spices, Drugs, and all other Merchandize ; and within the Land is the Kingdom of Pepper. In Cocluin there are ewo Cities, whereof one belongs to the King of Portugat, and the other to the King of Cocbin, a panan, in whole Country are many Chriftians of Sr. Tiomas's' Order. All Chriltians through the Indics, that come from the Weft, are call'd Porsuzuff: and they that marry in Cochion have Offices, and sreat Privileges, in the rwo Commoditio they deal wish in that piace, which are Silk thar comes from Chine, and Sugar char comes from Beng.ili, for the marricd Citizens pay no Cuftom for thele Commoditios and for others only + per Cent. whereas all ftrangers pay 8 per Comt. to the King of Portural.
The King of Crisin keeps but 70000 Men in Arms, whereof fome are call'd Anochis and Nairi, who are de fperate Follows, and min uron any danger for the honour of their King. They go naked from the Girdle upwards, with Targets and naked Swords, and have their Wives in common. The King's Children here do not inherit afer their Father. becaufe perhaps they were begot by fome other Man, but the Sons of the King's Sifter, or fome other, who are certainly of she Blood Royal.
The Nairi and their Wives make fo grear holes in their Ears, that one may pur his arm into them.
The Ships go from Cacion so loorrugal every Year, on the gth of December or 7 fenuary. From Coclorn we went 10 a Fort calld Coulam, 72 Miles diftant, and.from thence to Cape Comori, where endeth the Coaft of the Indics: And along this Coaft to the low Land of Chi-
The Sea that licth berween the Coaft from the Cape Conori to Chilco, they call the fithing for Pearls, which begins in Marci's or April, and lafts so days, bur every Year they change the place. When the time of Firhing draws near, they fend good Divers to difcover where the greateft heaps of Oyfters lic under water, and righe a gaintt that place they make a Village with Houres, and 2 Bazazo of Stonc, which ftands as long as the Fifhingtime latts, and is furnithid with all Provifions. The Fifhermen are all Chritians, and pay a Dury to the King of Poretral and the Friars of SE. Paul, and are defended from Rovers with three or four Fufts. I faw the manner of their fining, which is this: Three or four Barks go together, with 7 or 8 Men in a Bark, and anchor in 15 or \(x 8\) fathom water, the ordinary depth of chat Coaft; and then they caft a Rope into the Sea with 2 flone fafterd to the end of it, and one that hath his Ears and Nofc well fopt and anointed with Oil, and a Baskec under his arm, goas down by the Rope 10 the botiom of the Sca. and fills the Basket as fart as he can, and when it is full he fhakes the Rope, and his Fellows in the Bark hale him up with the Baskec. And thus they go one by one, unal they have laden the Bark with Oytters, and ar Evening they come to the Village, where they lay their heap of Oyfters diftant from one another, and when the filhing is crided. cvery company fits round their own heap and opens them, and gather all the Pearls cintish by they can find in them; on which the clitini, being exofmidis pert in them, fct a price, according to their Caracks torgrins Beaury and Goodnefs, thole thar are round and large being of greareft value, and there are Merchants ready to buy them all at the prices fec.
In this Sea of fifing for Pearls, there is an Ille call'd Manar, between which and चeilinn all Goods are fart carried in fmall Ships for the fhallownefs of the Chanel, and then laded into greatShips to go for the Indies; but thole thar go thither Ealt ward pals by the Coaft of Coro mendel.
Zeilen is an Inc bigger than Cpprus, diftant from Cape Comori 120 Miles over-thwart, wherein there grows fine Ginnamon, Pcpper, Nuis and Arochoe. There alfo they make grear ftore of Cairo for Cordage, and there grow cryfal Cats-cyes. I law the manner of gathering Cinnamon, which is this: We went to a Wood about shree Miles from the Ciry, where was ftore of Cinna-mon-trees among othcr wild Trecs; and in the Month
The eriner of March and Aipril, when the lap gocs' up to the top, widgaten they cut the Bark off the Tree from knor to knor, and Tree dien away, laying it in the Sun to dry, and the ech not, but has a new Bark againft the next and that which is gather'd every Year is the beft Cinnamon. And in chis Wood there groweth allo much Pepper. Pepper.
From zeilan we went to Neanpatan, and from thence the miny Miracles which are reported to be done by char bleffed Apofle; near to which Church the Rorsm gucje have built a City, which is one of the faireft in that part of the Indies.

As I return'd in \(\begin{aligned} & \text { s } 66 . \text { I went from Gox to Mclacta }\end{aligned}\) which is 1800 Miles, and paf'd through the Chanel of Nicular, and from thence ro \(l^{\prime}\) eg"; there is an infinitc with Savage Pcople that cat one another, and if any Ship ancemblt. be loft on thefe lles, every Man in it is eaten up: As I came from Malacca through the Chanel of samb:orc, I pals'd that way, and there came two of their Barks lacien with Fruit to our Ship; they would neither come into our Ship, nor take Money for the Fr:it, bur when we let down into their Bark fome picces of old Linen, they faftned to the Rope fo much Fruit as they thought them worth, which we hal'd into our Ship.
Siam was beficg d in 1567. by the King of Pegu, 21 simm
Manths, with an Army of 1400000 Men. and was \(52-\) ken by treachery, one of the Gates being left open for him to cnter in : Whereupon the Emperor of Siam poyfan'd himfelf, and his Relations and Nobles wecre carried Captive to Peru, where I was when the King xecarn'd in triumph, with many Elcphants laden wach Gold, Silver and Jcwels, and Noble Prifoners.
I went from Malacea to Sr. Torne, on the Coaft of Cch romindet, but going away in the Night wichour Leave, we made no Provifion of Water, and could not rake any in for: \(4^{2}\) days, zill wa arrivid atoriza, soo Muiles beyond Sr. Time. and many of our Men werefick, and died for wanr of Water.
 30 Ships were ufually laden every Year in thac Yort ot orimine of with Rice, white Clorh, Butcer, Lacca, Pepper, Girt the Rive: ger, Mirabelans, Cloth of Herbs; bur fince that timeris wana. aas been conquerd by the Grect wiogel who fees a great Cuftom on the Commodities. From Oriñ I went towards Bengaln, and having row'd along the Coalt 54 Miles, we enterd inco the River Ganges; and we row'd to Safarinn from the mouch of that River, when the Tide strong Tise. flows, for there is no rowing againft the itream, which is very fwift. By the way there is a Port call'd Burcor where they make a Village for Trade, and burn is when che Ships yo off.
In the Port of Satagan 30 Shins arc ufually laden eve- The Commo ry Year with Rice, Lacca, Sugar, Jong Pepper, Oil of dicics ladin zezetme, and other Commodines. Here the Merchants insuasm. buy and fraighe Ships, wich which ther travel down the River Ganges to Fairs, and make great profir. The People here within Land worflip the Ruver Ganges, The Prople for when any one is fick be is broughe to the Bank of it, worbip \(\mathrm{Gm}_{\mathrm{m}}\) where they make 2 fmall Cotrage, and every day wer geto him with the water, whereof many dic; and when they The oxreme are dead, rhey helf roaft their Body with a Fire made of ny of thini Scicks, and then, with an empry Jarr ried abour their Burial. Neck, they throw them into the River.
From Port Piqueno I wenc to Cockin and Malacea, and thence I faild for Pegu, being 800 Miles diftant ; and after three Months our Ship was without Victuals, and the Pilot told us we were not far from Takafoy in Pe: \(\mu_{;}\) which we found not to be trne.

Tana/ary is fituate on a Rivers-fide, which runs into tanafar. the Sca; and there is a Village call'd Mirgim, in whofe Harbour every Year they lade fome Ships, wich Ver-ine, Nype, Benjamin. Cloves Nuemess and Mace, which come from the Coast of Siam. Bur the greateft McFchandize is Verzinn and Nypa, which is an excellent Wine made of the Flower of a Tree calld Nyper, whofe Mper Wine Liquor chey diftid, and the Drink is clear, good for the kox. Stomach, and is a cerrain Remedy for the Frencl-Pox: For tho' the Perfon be rotten with it, this Liquor will cure him if he drinks good ftore of it, as I fisw prov'd in a Friend, whoic Nole began to drop away. From the faid River, having endurd great hardmip for wane of Vietuals, and chence to Martazan, from thence we went in Barks like our Pilot-Boars, which go as fwift as an Arrow out of a Bow when the Tide ruis with chem, Saranectide but when ic tums they draw to a Bank, and lay the Barks on high in the Land. The fudden cacreafe and decreafe of the Water makes a horrible poife, which they call a Macarco. Ar laft we arrivid at the City of Peg", in the Kingdom of the fame Name, where the Merchants have all one Houfe calld Gacion, in which they pur their Goods of value. There is a new City be The zi is", Gides the old, in which is the King's Palace, Walld and 12 laci in se. Fides the old, an which is the King s Paiace, Walld and Moated about; the Lodgings within are of Wuod gilded, with finc Pinacles, and mach curious Work, coverd with Plates of Gold. The King of Pesy, among Four whire his other Tities, is calld the King of the white Ele-E.chtantr phants, whereof he keeps four, cvery ope of which is keph kept in a Houfe gilded all over, and is fervid in Voffels of give it to a publick Weighor, and ewo Byar's a Month;

Silver and Gold. He his 4000 Elephants of War, and to their uriper Teeth is faften'd Pikes of Iron, wherewith they fisht. They hunt. them by riding on Female Elephants, who draw in the wild Malcs by the fimell of their Tail inito 'A Trap; and when they are atone, they rage till they are weary, and then are forc'd into a Houfe, where they are ram'd.

The'grear ftrength of the King of Pegn confifts in his fick \(\mathrm{kin} \mathrm{n}_{\mathrm{a}}\) of Rem. Elephants when they go to Battel, for they for on their backs a Caftie of Wood, bound on with Bands under their Bellies, and in this Caftle four Men fie to fight with Harquebofes, Bow and Arrows, Dares and Pikes. They keep sood order in their Armies, having 4 feveral Squares of Elephants, Horfemen, Harqueluffers and Pike-men, but their weapons are naught except their Harquebuffes which are excellent, and fome Ordnance of good Metal. He is the greateft King on Earth, for he hath 26 Kings

He is the grenceft King on Farth for
On Earth for Armiss
Nishers. nalf. of Donalf Men. He has no Navy by Sca; but for People, Tort Tork; for he hath-divers Magazines full of Treafure and he is Lord of the Mines of Rubies, Saphires and Spinels. Near his Palace there is an unvaluable Trea fure in a Court Wall'd round, which every one may fee. In one Houfe there is a very large Stanue of a Man in Mafy Gold, and on' his Head a Crown of Gold befet with Rubies and Saphires, and round abour him are four litule Children of Gold. In another is a Statuc of Silver, which is as high as the Roof of a Houfe, and has a Crown on his Head like the firt. In the third there's a Starue of Brals, with the like Crown on his Head: And in a fourth there's a Stacue of Ganza, (which is a mixrure of Copper and Lcad) with the like Crown on his Head as the firt.

The Oruct of
jutico
The King firs every Day in Perfon on a high Tribunal, to hear the Suits of his Subjects, who bring their Supplications, written with a fharp. Iron on long. leaves of a Tree, and Precents according to the value of their Suit. The Sccretary reads their Petitions before the King. who commands to take the Prefents if he granes their defire; bur if he refufes ir, he takes no Prefenc.
The moft valuable Commodity that's brought to Perax The Common . Pesw. fo woven and painted, that the more ir is wafh'd the colours are the more lively; which is fo highly valu'd in Pegu, chat a fmall Bale of it is worth one or two thonfand Ducats. There goeth alfo from St. Tome 2 Shipladen:with Yarn died xed with a Root, fo that it never changes the colour'; and if in fets our September 6. they make a furc Voyage, bur if it fays fome days after the 6 th, they are catch'd with concrary Winds, which blow in one place three or four Months.

There goes allo from Bengala another Ship laden with Bombaft of all forts to Pega. From Majecter to Martcvan, there come fmall and great Ships laden with Pepper, China, Camfora, and other Wares. From Mecca the Ships bring Woollen Cloth, Scarler, Velver, Opium and Chickino's. From St. Tome going to Pegu, (which is 300 miles) they fail up a River to Cofmin, where the King's Officers come and take the nore and marks of all the Merchants Goods, and convey them to the King's Houre at Pegu, until they have receivid the Cuftom. All fornsbecaur Merchants that trayel through the Indies muft take all manner of Provinons with them, for there are no Inns in that Countrv. From Cofmin to Peguthey fail in fix hours with the Flood, and in cighr days to. Macceo, 12 miles from Peru, where they lade their Goods on Cars drawn with Oxen, and the Mcrchants are carried in a Litter calld Deling. The Guftom of Pegu, and Fraight thither, is abour 20 or 22 per Cent.

Mertianas
Carty
Prov
There are in Pegueighr Brokers, who are oblig'd to fell all Commodities that come there ar the currens price: they have two in the hundred, and are bound to make good the Debts of the Goods.; and if payment be not made, the Creditor may thur up the Debror in bis Houfe, and if he is not able, the Creditor may take his Wifc, Children and Slaves, and fell them. The current Monéy in this Kingdom is call'd Gania, which is ftamp'd not by the King but the Subjects; and with that Money you may bay Gold, Silver, Rubies, and Musk; for there is no other Money current among them.
This Genza goeth by weight of Byin, which makes a Gama rise
mioncy, and hundred weight of \(G \mathrm{~cm}_{2}{ }^{\prime \prime}\), which is abour half a Ducat tix way of and this \(\mathrm{By} \boldsymbol{i}^{2}\) is alwaws che fame, tho the price of Gold and Silver varies. He that Winters there moft take al his payment in Garz', whorewich he may buy and fel every thing: and when he takes this Moncy, he muft and he is bound to make it all geod, otherwife the Merchant may be deceiv'd in the weight and falfencts of the Moncy.

This Money is fo heavy, that 40 Braz's is a gond Mrem Porter's load, and is mult be paid by the Commen ofre Weigher of Moncy for the Merchant that tuys any thing. The Mcachandize thar go out of Pert, ate Cold, Silver, Rubies; Saphircs, Spinc.'s, Benjamu, Lons Fepper, Lead, Lacca, Rice-Wine, and fieme Sugar: for tho they have abundance of Sugar-canes, many of them are earen by the Pcopie and the Elephants. Behdes that, many of them are fpent in making a Covering for their Pagods, which they plaifter with Lime, and over-lay with Leaf gold every fifteen Years; which makes Gold the dearce in Regu.
There are four Brokers of Jewels and Rubies, who Rusiocm have them all in their hunds, and in fuch quancitics, that they fell them very cheaf. When the Mexchant has agreed for them he may carry them home, and take the advice of other Mcrchants; and if he dees not like his bargain he may rerurn them, withour any lofs: Which is counted fuch an affront by the Brokers, that they commonly afford good Penniworths, cfpicially to thofe that underftand not Jewels, to kecp up their Credic.
Ai the buying of thefe Jewels, many Merchants arcterise prefent; bur the bargain is made between the Broker worim and the Merchant, by holding their hands cinder akriman Cloth, and touching the Joints of their fingers, to fig nify whar is ask'd and bidden, which the itanders by know noshing of, becaufe it mighr breed a Coniroverfy among then.
Intcreding io ieturn en Venice, I went aboard 2. Ship of \(T_{\text {wesue }}\) bengaia, and met with a crucl Srorm calld Tiofen, grestran (which happens cvery ten or twelve Years in chefe Scas) \(\mathrm{S}_{\mathrm{S}}\) which carried away our Sails, Yards and Rudder, and forc'd us to throw our Miat over-board. Afrer this Storm twe difcover'd an liland call d Sondici, Afrer this had plenty of Ealted Kinc, wild Hops, Hicns ard Rice, at cheap rates. From sonditer we wens to Cbroiren, and thence ro Ormis, where. I and vir. Berction fraighed a Bark to go for Piffori: for fevenry Ducars, and there we ftaid forty days wairing for a Caravan of Earks, which confifts of rwenty five, or chirty, becaule in the Night we fatten our Barks to the banksof the River, and then we muft keep a ftrong Guard to fecure our Gonds from Thieves; and ar laft we arriv'd at Batyion in fifty days.
 rady to go over the Defers for Aleppo, and bought apoivan Tent, and Horfes and Mulcs, and Victuals for them. D.kmen We had allo thirry rwo Camels laden with Commodizies, stymon at two Ducats a Camel, and three Men to ferve us by siph \(^{2}\) the Way for five Ducirs a Man. Thic Caravan trave wenry Miles a day, and refts abour Two in the After noon. We wanted no Warer becaufe is taind, and we eat frelh Murton every day, having boughr rwenty Shecp at Bebylon, which the Shepherds that came with us with their Flocks did keep. and kill for us. In chirty ix days we palsd orer the Defert to Babtion, and Gaw neither Houfe, Trees nor People. The Caravan has cercain Seations where the Weils are; and there always gocs with it a Caprain to do Juftice, and every Night a Warch is kepr abour ic From Aleppo we went to Tripg , and thence to Venice, where we arriv'd Noocmber 5 . 158 x .
When you travel in the Indies, you muft always keep Trand our Will about you; and there is a Houfe of the \(P_{n-}\) reanrep suguefe, calld the School of Santa Mif fricordia, where it the cood dio may be Regiftríd. Among the Mocrs fi.e. the Mcho merection metans) and Posans, there goes a frays zeaprain along cia with you to do Juftice, who has Author? so reconer the Goods of thofe that die in their Voym if their Wills be Regintred in the faid Schools.
There goeth alfo in thefe Voyages fome Merchants, who are Commiffaries of the School of Mifericordia, that if any Merctianr dic, and hath given Order in his Will that the School of Mifericordia hall have his Goods to fell them, they fend the Money by Exchange to the School of Mifericordia in Lisber, with that Copy of his Will; and from Laंbon they give Intelligence to any Part of Cirijfendom, and the Heirs of foch a one coming thither, with a Teftimonial that they be Fieirs, fhall receive there the value of the Goods withour loks. But every Chriftian that dies in Pegu, loferh a chird part of his Eftate to the King and his Officers, but the rett is honeftly paid.

\title{
Galparo Balbi bis Voyage to Pegu, and Obfervations there; - gather'd out of bis Italian Relation.
}

IN r579. Balbi, a Jewelter of Venice, travelld withihands, and having Baskets full of Rice and Milk, tbey the Caravan from Aleppo rowards Bnefdar, and caft the Meat behind them, and fays che Devil ears is ; came by the way to Bi, or Abir, on the Banks of but they nerce look back left they die, as they think Euplrates, where we mer wich grear Cold and Snow in Fanuary, and there cmbarkid our Gocds for. Fclugia, and thence to Elder, the River Gabur of a red Pitch, wherewith the Narives build thicir Houfes, daubing it on the boughs of Trees, and 25 latt ro Felugia and chence paffing by the Ruins of Old Babyion we came to Begdat in 49 days from Bir.
In March 1580 . we embark'd from Bagdat towards Balfora; and ar Encaforami, each Mariner caft a whole Bisket for Devotion to one buried there: And there the River Tigris had a very_noifome fient, and we were in danger by a Whirlpool. Ar Corno we met with a very danger by a Whirlpool. Ar Corno we met with a very Wind, which ftrangled four of our Company; and Nigaperan is here omitted.
In May 1582. we fail'd to St. Themas, fituate in In May 1582. we eaild to S. Tbomas, huate in Churcen degrees and haif, wherein are three Chriftia finilh'd by 2 Miracle, for when Money fail'd, the Sea caft up 2 piece of Timber, of the fame length with the Church, which ferv'd for thar end. Without this City is another Inbabited by Pagans, who bury the Wife alive with the Husband, and worlhip the figure of a Cow and a Serpenr. And the Bramins, with rhe athes of Cows-dung barnt, daub the Pagans Forehead and Nofe which our of Devotion to the Cow they wall not wath off that day. The worfhippers of a Pagod having livid 2 whole Year in carnal Pleafures, are wont to cut off pieces of their own flefh, and fhoor them up in the air; and when they can live no longer, they cur their own throat, and to facrifice cheir Body to the Pagod, Some People from Chiava ftand in the way with 2 weapon, and kill as many as they can, unill fame bedy kills them, being weary of their Life.
I kaw one Cuftom there which is us'd by thofe who make a Vow to a Pagod, and they are drawn up with hooks faftned to their thoulders to the top of a high Tree with 2 Crols-bar, where having faluted the Pagod three times they let them down, and colour the Tree with their Blood, in reverence to the Pagod which they do to obrain health; or any thing elfe.
They have anocher Fealt by Night: Whien in a Street hey thall.
On the sth of ociober we came to Cofm: in fixteen Dangeroue degrees one third, where are many Parrois, wild Boars, Tyrre: Apes and Tygres, which ofren devour Men and Bealts by Night.
After this I came to the Old City of Pegur, in fixtecen Audienetiondegrees one third, where I and the Druggerman, or \(\ln\) - fuetteriibs. terpreter, having three times fallen proftrare on the ground, were admitted to the prefence of the King; where I prefented fome Emeralds to my Inrerpreter, who having made his Rombec, i. e. his Reverence, gave them to the King's Interpreter, and fo they came to the King's hand ; and chen being ask'd I rold him my Name. whence I came, what Philip King of Porragal was, and what a Vietory the Verefinms had obrain'd over the Turks, making a Rombec ar every word: And the King gave His Bounrs. me a Cup of Gold, and five Pieces of China Damask; and order'd me to be paid outrof his Treafury, and that my Goods fhould be Tax-free:
The King of Avna confpird againft the King of Pegu, his Nephew, with his chief Courviers, who fent to Avna one of his Domefticks, to clear himelf from all fufpicions conceiv'd againft him; bur he was murder'd by Aona, who trufted to the Grandees of Pcgu for Vietory. Whereupon the King of Pegu declarid War againft Terible Exdima, and Order'd his Grandees to be Imprifon'd, and to ecution. be burni alive on a large Scaffold, with their Wives and Children; which I faw, hearing with great piry their amentable fhrieks and cries. And after this, he encamp'd withour the Ciry with 300000 ; where I faw the King upon an Elephanc cover'd all over wich Gold and Jewels, with 2 Sword fent from Gor, and while the Guards foughr one another, he fought the King of Avna Combat of and to hand, firft with Harquebuffes, then with Darts, Kirge. and ar laft with che Sword, and his Elephanr having broke his righr Tooth with charging rhar of Aona, be o engagd with the other Elephanr, thar the King of Pigu killd che King of Aona, and mounced on his Elephant his own being kill'd. And when the Army of Avna law their King dead, gave over fighting and "O0so ven eeggd Pardon, which the King of Pegu granted, and daiif found upon a Mufter that he^kad loft 200000 Men; which lofs was litcle lefs than that of Awora.

\title{
The Voyage of ©Mr. Ralph Smith, Merchant of London, to Ormuz, and \(f_{0}\) to Goa in the Eaft-Indies; to Cambaia, Ganges, Bengala; to Bacola and Chonderi, to Pegu, and Jamahay in the Kingdom of Siam, and back to Pegu; and thence to Malacca, Zeilan, Cochin, and all the Coast of the Eaft-India.
}

Ormezbar-
ren, bur or great Trade

Woraens

N 1583. I Ralph Firch, Merchant of London, went with Mr. Nemberry, Leeds and Storey, for the Eagt? Indies, and having pals'd through Tripoly, Alceppo, Birra and Felugia, we came to Bablon, or Bagdat, which is a place of great Traffick for Arangers, being the way by which che Caravans pals to Perfia, Turker and Arabia. Here are great fore of Viftuals which are brought down the Kiver Tigris, upon Rafts made of Goars Skins, blown foll of Wind, and Boards laid upon them. From thence we came to Brfora, which tands near the Gulf of Perfia, and is a Town of grear Trade for Spices and Drogs that come from Ormuz ; and chere is great ftore of Whear, Rice and Dates, wherewith chcy ferve Bathon and Ormuz, and all the Parts of india. From Brfore we came to Ormuz, where there grows nothing but Sals, being furnifhd with all Necelfaries from Perfic, about twelve Miles diftant; yer here is a great Trade of Spices. Drugs, Silk Tapettry of Perfia; fore of Pearls, which come from Beharim, and Perfaan Horfes which ferve all India. The Women here wear on their Nofes, Ears, Necks, Arms and Legs, many Rings fer with Jewels, and a long Bar of Gold on the fide of their Nofes. Here we were pur in Prifon, and fent to Goa, and by the Way we came to Na-Mnlucco, 2 place of grear Trade for Spices, Drugs, Silk, Elephanss Teech, Cbina-Ware and Sugar. Here they worlhip 2 Cow, and will kill nothing that has life, and burn their dcad Bodies, for fear that the Worms that are bred of them thould lack fuftinance.
When we came to Goa we were caft into:Prión, and examin'd before the Juftice, who charg'd us to be Spics, but could prove nothing againft us: whereupon we were fet at liberty finding Sureties, to whom we paid 2150 Ducats, which we could not have again, but were threztned with the Serapado; and therefore we ran away, and went on foor two days in great fear, having no Guide. The firft Town we came to is calld Bellar\(z^{24 n}\), where is 2 grear Market of Diamonds, Rubies, Saphires, and many ocher foft Stones. From chience we weart to Bijapor, where che King keeps his Court, and there is grear ftore of Gold and Silver; and then to Gulconda, where be the Diamonds of the old Water.
In thefe Parts is a Port calld Musultiparani, whither come many Ships ont of Jrdia, Pegu and Sumarra, laden with Pepper, Spice, and orher Commoditics: Thence we went to Bellapore, 2 populous Country, where is good fore of Corton-cloth, Corn and Rice. Here we tound Boys of cight or ten Years, and Girls of fire or fix, married, who feaft, pipc'and dance, on the Day of Marriage, but lie nor together till chey are cen Xears old ; which they do for this reafon, That if the Husband dies, and the Wife be bưtod widtr him, the Children may have a Father-in-Lzw to bring them up. Thence we came to Mandoiga, and fo to Agra and Fatefore, Ciriesthe Great Magor keeps his Court. In there two Gand Horfeng keepsa thouland Elephancs, thirty dred Concubines; cither of them is bigger than London. Hither is a great refor of Merchants from Perfia and India, and much Merchandize of Silk, Cloth, Rubies, Diamonds and Yearls; Mr. Newbert went homewards, and I left Mfr. Leeds, the Jeweller, in Fatepore with the King, who gave him a Houfe, five Slaves, and 6 s. Day.
From Agra I went to Satagem in Bengala, in company with 180 Boars laden with Salt, Opium, Lead, Carpers, and other Commodities, Jownthe River fencena. Here
Superficiots the Pagans cat no fleth, nor kill any thing ; they pray in the water naked, drefs their Meat and eat it naked, and

From Agra I came to Prague, where Fomern enters in: to che River Ganges. Here be many Beggars highly valued by the People : I faw one who could cover his Privicies with the hair of his Head, and his nails were two Inches long; waited on with eight or ten, who will not fpeak to the King. Thence we went to Bannarus, where is grear flore of Corton-cloct and Safhes; hisher come Pigem, Pagan Pilgrims from far Countries, to worfhip their Ima- \({ }^{\circ}\) tin ges ftanding in Houfes by che River Ganges, which are \({ }^{\text {ioges }}\) made like Lyons, Leopards, Monkies, Peacocks and Devils. They walh themredves early in the River, and give fomething to the Oid Men that fir there praying; and chen they go to their Images, and give them of their Sacrifices, while che Old Men are praying, and fo they are Holy. They throw warcer upon great carved Stones, and then lay upon them Rice, Wheas or Barley. They alfo go down into a Well to walh themfelves, that their Sins may be forgiven, for they fay God wafk'd himfelf there. They never pray bur in the waser, and then wailh themfelves over.Hend, and drink of the water three times, and to go to the Idols in the faid Houfes; and rome of them are fanin'd in warm Weather, efpcially. one, who chey fay gives shem all things.
From Bannaras I went to Patmion down the River Ganges, where they dig deep Pis in the Earth, and walluing the Earth in great Bowls, they find Gold in it. Here is a great Trade of Cotton-cloth, and Sugar, which they carry hence.to Bengala, mach Opium, and other Commodities. Fron Prtanaw I wentio Tand , in the Country of Bengaln, where cherc is a greas Trade of Cotton, and thence to che Country of Couche, 25 days Journey Northwards, where they have much Silk, Musk, and. Corton-clorh. They kill nothing, but have Hof pi- preme tals forSheep, Goats, Dogs, Cats, Birds, and all living soxim Creatures, and keep them when old ill they die. If Man bring any thing alive thither, they give Money for ir, and keep it in their Hofpirals. Their fmall Money is Almonds, which they often eat. Thence I return'd to Hugeff, in 23 degrees North Latiude, call'd Porto Pi queno!; whence I went to Angeli in Orixn, where there is much Rice, Cotron-cloth, and Cloth of Grafs calld ccat rerva, Sugar and Pepper, whither they come from Indie, Sumatra, Malacen, and lade with therc Commodiries.
Abour four days Joumcy from Couche is a Counrry call'd Boctanter, and the City Bostia, where are Merchanss that come from China, Mufooy or Tartery, to buy Musk, Cambals, Agars, Silk, Pepper and Saffron. They Coums cur the Tails of their Kinc, and fell them very dear, for chey are much us'd for bravery in 户िegu and China. From Cbatigan in Bengala I went to Bacola, Serrepore and Sumergan, in all which places chere is grear fore of Cortoncloth.
From Serrepore in 1586. I went to the Bar of Negrais, and fo to Pegi, and within three days we came to Cof min, where the Houfes are high built for fear of Tygres; here are great Figs, Oranges, Coco's, and orher Fruit Within the Bar the People live in Boass, which they call Paroes. From Cofmin, paffing by Medon, Detu, Cirion, Maccao, we came to Pegy, which was defcribed before. In Pegu chere are a great many Tallipoics and Priefts, which preach againft all Abures in cheir Kiacks or primid Churches; when the People enter inro them, they wafi par their feet with Water that ttands at the Door, and then lift up their hands to their Heads, firft to the Preacher, and then to the Sun, and fo fit down. Afree they have trio as been atSchool dill they are twenty Years old, they are unim examin'd by Rouli the High Prieft, whether they will lcave their Friends, and the company of Women, ro take apon then the Habit of a Tallipoie? And if they be content, they ride upon a Horfe richly Apparell'd, with Drums and Pipes ; and after thar they take the Habir of 2 Tallipoic, and become Priefts. They go abour with a great Por, and ask nothing; but when they come ro the Door, for their Penance they lie flat upon the Earth, rife up and turn themfelves thirty or forty times, life up their hands to the Sun and kifs the Earch. The Bramins mark chem felves with yellow pouder, and fo do their Men and Women nark chemfelves in the face.

\section*{Indian Obfervations, &cc.}

\footnotetext{
Iner wiy of Door, the People give them fomething or orher. They and thence to Cochin, where I took Shipping, and went xaging \({ }^{2}\), keep their Feafts by the Moon, and the greateft when it to Bengala and Coylon, where the King keeps a Guard of tre Non. is New-moon; and then the Pcople fend Rice, and other a thouland Men, and the People burn Cinnamon-woot things, to the Kiack, with which all the Tallipoies of and have fore of Rubies, Saphires and Spinels, of the Rubics and that Church feaft. When they preach, the People carry beft fort; and thence to Cnitha, Cocbin, Gon and Ormu, Suphires. Gifs into the Pulpit, which one firting by receives from them.

Caplan in Peru is the place twhere they find Rubies, Saphires and Spinels, which are dug out of fome high Hills; bur none may come near the Pits but the diggers.
In Pegu, and all the Countrics of Ava, the Men wear litde round Balls in their Privy Members; for which primast they cut theSkin, and put on in one fide, and another in the other, when they are about 25 Years old. This is faid to be done to prevent Sodomy, to which the were before addicted.
The Bramas, who are of the Kings, lave a black foo in their-Skins, which none but they ufe.
They have no Beards, which they pluck our with Pincets; they black their Teech, becaufe a Dog's are whice.
If they have a Suit in Law which camot cafily be determin'd, buth Partics go into the water with Poles and he thar dives longeft under water wins the Suit.
When the Partugucfigo from Macao in Cbine to fapan, theje carry murch white Silk, Gold, Musk and Porcelane, and bring from thene nothing bue Silver. They have a grear Carack which goes there crery Year, and brings from thence above 600000 Crufado's; and ail this Silver of Fap.an, and 200000 Crufado's more, they employ with great profit in Chima, from whence they bring good Musk, Silk, Copper, Porcelane, and many other things. When they come to Canton in China, they mult remain but certain Days; and mult lic at Night in their Boats. Laban is an life among the Froa's, whence come the Diamonds of the new. Water, which they find in the River, for the King will not fuffer them to dig the Rock And the King hath a Mafs of Earth which is Gold, that groweth in the middle of a River; and when the King wants Gold, he cuts part of the Earth and meles ir, out of which comes Gold.
From Malacea I recurn'd to Mertronn, and fo to Pegt,

Pepper grows in many Parts of the Indies; efpecially 1 eppes about Cochin: The Shrub is like our Ivy-trec, whicti twincs about fome Tree or Pole to kecp is up. They gather it green, but when dry "tis black.
Ginger groweth like Gatlick, the Root is Ginger, and Ginger. groweth in many Parts of Indic.
Cloves come from the Molucce's; their Tree is like ourclors.
Bay-trec.
Nutmegs and Mace grow together, and come from the Numess mat
Ines of Banda; the Tree is like our Wallinut-trec.
Nace.
White Sandol is a very fweer Wood; is comes from the Ifle of Timor.
Camphire is very precious among thic Indics; that Camptite: which is compound comes from China, bus the beft from Bornso.
Lignim-Alocs comes from Cochin-cbing; Benjamin from Siam and fangomes.
Long-Pepper grows in Bengala; Pegu, and the Ines of he farn's; and Musk comes from Tartary.
Amber is thought by moft Men to come from the Sca, Amber. and they find it on the fhore's fide.
Rubies, Saphires and Spinels, are found in Pegyn Rubics, Diamonds arc, found in Bifngarr, Agrr, Della, and in Diamones the Incs of '7ava's.
The beft Pcails come from Baberim, the worfe from Pifcrrin and Agnem, on the South Coaft of China. Spodium, and many other Drugs, come from Camarir.
But to tecurn to my Voyage: From Ormux I went to Bafora, and fo to Babylon: and thence by Land I came co \(M u f\) fil, which ftands near to Niniveh, wholly ruin'd now. And thence to Merdin and Orfa, wherc the Moors have a grear Opinion of Abrcham, who they fay did once dwell there. Thence I went to Bir, and fo to Alcppo and Tripoly, where 1 found an Englijh Ship, in which I came to London in 159 I.
}

Indian Obfervations, gatberd out of the Letters of Nicolas Pimenta, Viftor of the Jefuits in India, and many others of that Socisty.

WE went for St. Thomas in 1597. una velling twelve days in a pleaxant Countiy; bur fo many and prodigious were the Idols we met with in their Temples, that Superfition feem'd to contend with Ambition. And by the way we fiw Cidambaran, the Mothcr-City of Superfition, whither the Naichus, or King of Gingi was come, who commanded us to be Atimecte broughr into his prefence. Two hundred Brachmans trate Khig went before us to fprinkle che Houle with Holy water, reOigi and prevent Sorcery againft the King; whom we found lying on a Silk Carpet, with a grear Chain hanging from his Neck, fet with Pearls and Gems all over his Breaft and his long hair ty'd up, and adorn'd with Pearls. He entertaind us kindly, and offer'd us Beetle to chew, and difmirs'd us with Gifts of Cloth wrought with Gold.
The King of Pegu, Father of the: prefent, was the mightieft King that ever reign'd there, for he fubdu'd twelve Kingdoms to his Empire, and coald bring into the Field 1060000 Men, taking one our of ten. He reignd 36 Years in fo great plenty, that a hundred Strips laden with Rice would not have been mifid in his Store ; and he had fuch plenty of Gems, that a Man might have haid our in one Month many Talents of Gold on them. Bur in his Son's rime by the Murders and Opprefions of his Subjens ande, by whurders and Enemies, there are foond in that Kingdom only a ofew Men, who, with the King. have betaken themfelves to the Caftle, which, with Women and Children, are Faid not to excecd 7000 . And in late times they have been Man's flefh, and fold it at the publick Shambles; Pat rents Ipar'd not their own Children, and Chiidren devourd their Parents. For Martrus.m, a fruifful Councry, which yielded ycarly a threffold Harveft, is now made defolate by the Sitmites ; and Ceclin and Malizci, 2 bounding in Grain, Gold, Silver, Brafs, Rubies and Gems, are loft. And the King of Regub being beficg'd by the Kings of Tangu ind Arracan; deliverd himfelf up (being unable ro hnld out longer) to the King of TanIt, who catis'd him to be beheaded with his Queen and his Son. And after this he went to the Tower, where the King's Treafure was kepr, which was fo grear, char \({ }^{\text {The }}\), mift he loaded fix hundred Elcphancs, and as many Horres, dreatruro of with Gold and Gems only, leaving the Silver behind Pray fixidi him, which the King of Arracan feiz'd, exceeding three Millions, befides many Brafs-Guns in the Cafte.
The fefiuts fay there is a Temple of Perimal, in which he Pafgins wornhip 2n Ape, whom they report to have been 2 God, and for'form Offence to be transformid into an Ape; and that he leap'd over the Waters upon fome occafion, and at every leap unade a Hill of Sand for himfelf.
Another Fefuit mentions cheir Superftitious Opinion An Ape wor: about the Sun's Eclipfe, caus'd like that of the Moon mipt. hen the Dragon, one of their Conftellations, bitech hem ; and therefore they faft all thar day, crying our, The Dragon devourech the Sun.: Ar the Feaft of Peri- Erat of Rerit mal herer was fuch a concourle of People, that that days mat Offering amountcd to 200000 Ducars, the King, Queen Courtics, being prelent. The idol calrd Perimal, hich is a gilded Poll, with an Ape ar che foro of it, was drawn by ten thourand Men, abour Midnight, a Mile and a half. The Feaft of Corps was folemnizd a Month

- Month before, for they hold Perimel to be the Son of a tred it, his three hundred Concubines being buried with Cow. 'Twas faid the King of Bifnarar would make him, who willingly leapt into the flames. War upon the King of Tanngor, but his Death preven-

\title{
Linfchotten's Voyage to Goa, Indies, \\ and Obfervations on the FaftAbridg'd.
}

G\(O A\) is the chief City of the Oricntal Indies in the poffefion of the Poorcigucfe, where the Archbifhop, the Viccroy, the King's Counfel and Chancery refide, and govern all other places in the Indies fubject to them. It is the Sraple for all taition Commoditics, whither all Merchants refort to buy or fell, from Arabia, Armenia, Perfia, Crm-
 \(\because\) Sic. it lich in" is degrecs Norkh, and is above three Aites in carcumfercace, being compalis'd abour with a Nirer ; on the North-fide is the Land of Bardes, which is high lanat, under which the loortuguefe anchor, and lade ard untade their Ships. This Land is fubject to the Poraguef, and is full of Villages inhaliered by Censor:, who for the moft part are Chriftians, bur go nakat, only covering their Privy-members, and is full of Palm-rres whercon srow Coco's. On the South-fide is the land of salfote, planted with People and Fruit like the 1 and of Bodes. Thefe two lands are Lett by the King of Peritget, and the Rents of them pay the Yearly Stipends of the Archbithop, Cloyfters; Priefts, and other the King's Officers. The Town has fair Houfes and Strcets, with Gardens and Orchards full of Indien Fruits, and harh all forts of Cloyfters and Churches as Litlon, on'y it wante:h Nuns.
This tuws of The Pertiogefo here ufe the fame Laws, in Spiritual and Tomporal Caufs, as in their own Country. Therc diwell and trafick in the Cicy fome of all Nations, as Indi:ans, Heaticne, Mahmettans, Fews, Armenians, &c. and cuery one mijoys the liberty of his Religion, only tice Protis are forbidden to bum their Dead, and many publickity : Bur if any onc hath been Chriftned, and after that ifes Paran Superftition, or reaches Heref; he is liable to the Inquifition.

The liti is very hilly and barren, and bath nothing to Tine sit. minintain it felf but a fcw Catrel, Hens, Goats, Doves, E.. All their Neceffarics come from Selfette and Berdes from Cimboris, and the Coaft of Malabar. They have lur one tiell of frelh Water, a quarter of a Mile withour the City, which is carried by Slaves and fold, to ferve a! the lnhabitants.
The Portegucfe there are many of them married to Inatr. Women, and the Children born of them are caild Arof:'s's' bue the Children of the Portugucfe are call'd Cificst, and they incine to a yellowith colour, and in the third Gencration they become like Native Itdiens.
There is daily Traftick to Bengala, Pegu, Malacea, Cam beir, Cibiur, and there is a Mecting of all Nations like a Ftir, whither come Gentlemen, as well as Mcrchanes, to buy or fell Indian Commodities. At this Leylon or Ourcry, there are Cryers who go abour with Gold Chains, Jewels, Pearls, Rings ; and Slaves, Men and Women, young and old: all which are daily fold there ar a cerrain price. As allo Arabian Horfes, Spices, Drugs, fivect Gums, fine Coverless, and many curious things unt of Cambiric, Benrala and Clina.... And when any one dites, his Goods are here fold, to do Juftice to Otphans and Widows. Somie ger their living by their Slaves,both Men and Winmen, whereof Come have 12, 20 or 30 , for the Men fell frelh Water abour the Streets for Money, and the Women make all forts of Cenferves, and fine Wiedle-work, and fell thent, and the ufe of theirBodies too, for Money; all which rhey bring home to their Mafters. Orhers trade in the exchange of Moncy, and hoy Rials of Eight when the Ships come from Portugat, which they fell in 'Apri/, when the Ships go for Cbina, at is or 30 in the Hundred profit: And then they receive 2 Morry brought from Orimur calld Larrins, which they cxchange again with the Portugufe as is per Cerrt. proit for Rials of Eight, who cariy thefe Larrins with them to Cockin to buy Pepper, and other Wares.

There are tur two forts of People in Indie, married aion and Sollicrs, as they call all the common fort of Yoplic. The mariod Men kecp 5, 10, or 20 Slayes, in their Houfe, according to their Quality, who wait unon them with a Hat or Veil when they go abroad, to keep off che Sun or Rain. They are very nicc intheir Ceremonics of faluting one another, and if any one fail in thofe Punctilio's, they cither bear him unmercifully, of caufe him to be ftabb'd by their Slaves; for which nore drefs is to be had.

When any one is marricd, there are fifty or a hur-oftremdred Horfe that ride in good order to the Church, and orioner ind then follow the Parenes and Fricnels; and in che laft row cinforn the Bridegroom between two Golfips, and the Bride Ee-timerome tween two Commeres, upon whom, as they return and hesike home again, the Reople looking our of the Windows throw Rofe-water, with Rofes and Sugar-comfirs. Their Slaves having plaid upon Shalmes and Trumpers all the way, take their leave of the Company when the married Couple come to their Houfe, where they fit at a Window and fee the Horfemea run fevcral courfes. Af ter which they go off with the Gotips, who winh them much Joy, leaving only three or four of the neareft Friends and Relations to dine with the Bride and Bride. groom.

Thi fame Cercmonies they ufe ar a Chriftring ; bur then one on foot carries a Silver Veffel full of cracklings, with a Wax-candle ftuck with Gold or Silver, for an Offering: and another carrics a Silver Salt-cellar and Lamp, wirb rich Towcls; and the Commercs, with the Midwife and Child, are carried in Litters:
The Soldiers live ren or twelve in a Houfe, and have but one Suit of Cloaths among them, which is wore by one thar goes abroad, and then the reft ftay at home. They getMoncy by ferving in the Flect, or by revenging che Affronts done to Gentlemen, or by fulfiling the Lufts of "the Women, who reward them weil.
The Port, Gat, Moffico's and Indien: Chriftian Women, ofthions feldom go abroad- cxcept ir be to Church, or to vifit a sumend Friend, and then they put on very coftly Apparel, with sefan tixa Bracelets of Gold and Rings upon cheir Arms. befer mantran with precious Jewels and Pearls. The Men are fo Jea-cublaris, lous of them, thar they fufficr no Man that comes to their Houfes to fee their Wives or Daughters, or to dwell in the Houle where they are, tho he be a Friend or near Relacion: But moft of the Women have one or two \(\frac{\text { The wre }}{\text { The }}\) Soldiers for their Gallants, whom their Slaves fetch to skinimpa them by night; and fomecimes they Lie with them in the fom prefence of cheir Hasbands, to whom they give the Juice of Deutron, which makes them fencelefs, but as foon as their feet are wath'd with cold Warer they revive. They are very Skilful in preparing Poyfon to kill their Hulbands, which fomerimes lies in the Body for fix liears. without doing any hurt, and fometimes kills them in one, rwo or three Years, Monchs, or Days, as they de-by their Husbands every Year, if they be cither taken Reres. in Adultery, or ftrongly fufpected of is, yer this does not hinder them from purfuing their pleafures; but, on the contrary, they efteem it a grear honour ro die a Sacrifice to tove- They are very cleanly, and wath their Bodies all over at leaft wice a day, and rub them with fweet Herbs, and Sanders fteepd in Water; they are no great workers, but are continually chawing Becte and Arrcqua by Day and Nighr, which they allo give to their Husbands, with Cloves, EJc. ro increafe Lerchery.
Every three Ycars there is commonly a new \(V_{i}\) ecoy or the fent to Goa, where be gathers a great Treafure, pardy monatb by the Revenues allow'd him by his own King, and \({ }^{\text {Trasirc }}\) partly by the rich Prefents that are fent to him from the In the City Kings.
In the City of Goa there are many Heathens, Moors, cituriae (who are Malumerens) 3 ews, and many ftrange \(\mathrm{N}_{2}\) - hers, ma tions, which have every one their feveral Cuftoms and framain Superfitions. The Moors cat all things excepr Swincs- ow, fieth, and when they die are buried like the fripi. The Heathens, as Dccinyrs, Sc. being dead, are Lurnt

\section*{Linfchotten's Voyage to Goa, 6c.}
to afhes; and if they be Gentlemen or Bramens, their have Hofpital:s to cure them of any ails, and when Wives are burnt with them. Some of the Merchants ear all things, except Cows and Buffes, which they efteem Holy; others cat not any thing that hath Life or Blood, as the Gufazates and Banians of Cambaia. Mof of them pray to the Sun and Muon, yer acknowledge a God that created all things, and that there is another ife after this, wherein Men thall be rewarded accor ding to their Works. They have Images call'd Pagods, cur in uggly hapes, to whom they Offer, and fay that and were holy Men wben aive, and thar they are now werveen them and (rod. The Devil ofren aniwers them out of theie images, whom they honou for fear he thould do them hurr. When any Maid is married, they bring the Bride before their Pagod, made with a Pin of Ivory-bune, and there the neareft Kindred by force make the lmage take the Bride's Maiden-head, which the Bridegrooin takes as 2 great honour done to him. They common'y pray the whole Day to the firft thing they meer with in the Morning be it a Hog, or any thing elfe; but if a Crow happens to be the firft thing tbey fee, they look upon it as fo bad an Omen, that they will nor Ritir out of doors all cthat day upon any account. . They pray to the New Moon when the firt appears, and in their Travels offer to their Pagods on every Hill, after chey have wath'd their feet in a Ciffern that ftands always near them Fruits, Rise, Hens, E's. which the Bramen takes away, and makes toe People believe the Pagod hath caten is Thicy fealt them with found of Trumpets, and great Fires, for fourreen days, before they go into a Ship that they may have a gcod Vovage. The like they do \({ }^{25}\) cheir Return, at their Feafts; Marriages, Ơc.

-There are in Goa many rich Heachein Merchants, who fell all kind of Silks ard Sattins, and Banians who have all forts of Wares from Cambria, and of precious Srones but thofe who Till the ground are a Yort of Chriftians, who retain ftill many of their Pagan Superftitions, and all the Money-changers, or Xaraffo's, are Chriftian fens.
Winter begins through the whole Coaft of Indin, from out in the Winter are made ready to fail to all places The Ealt-wind which cometh from the land, blows al ways from Midnight to Noon; and tinen the Weft-wind which comes from the Sea, blows conftantly until Midnight. When it is Winter from Dis to the Cape of Co 位, and are bur a fiw Miles diftant; and Cockin to St. Thomas, which lies on the fame Coatt thet find it clear Sun-hiny Weather on one fide of the Hill of Ballegute, and ftormy Wind, Rain and Thumder, on the other fide of the Hill. So it is alfo on the Coalt of Arabic Falis, clear Weather on one fide of the Cape of Rofalgate, and. Rain on the cther. The Days, an hours difference at the Change.
The Bramens are the moft efteen'd among the Trdion King, and they ferve in the chierelt places aboat- che any thing thar hath life bur fur and will not be let Blood for any: Sicknefs, but hea themiclves by Herbs and Ointments. The Women have but one Cloth about theirBodies, which reacheth down to their Krees, and have Rings through their Noics, abiout their Legs; Necks and Arms, and upon each Hand feven or eight of them, which are made eithe of Silver, or more commonly of Glak. When a Bramen dies, his Body is burne with fweet Spices and much Oil, and commonly the Wife is burne wich him:
Ofthente. The Guzarates and Baniens are of the Councty of ragan Be. Canbain, and mainy of them divell in Goa, Dia, rumiscom Chand, cocbin, and other places. of Tnitic, for they iraffick in all kind of Wares; ass Corn, Cartons, Linen, Rice, Ec. butchiefly in all corts of precious Srones, in which they have greatSkill. They eat not any thing that hath Life or Blood in is, neither would thes kill any fuch thing for all the World. They will give Moncy to Cliriftians for Fowls and Beats, which are to be killid, to Eave them alive. In Cemiotian they fot Pots of Water in the High-ways, and caft Corn on the ground to feed the Birds and Beafts; nay, they have Holpital: to cure them of any ails, and when they are beald lec them fly or rum away. They eat no kind of Herbs chat hath any red in iF , and drizk norhing but Watcr. If their Prosifion happons to fail when they go from Gor so Crelin, they will rather Itarve than cat with Chriftians.

The Cinaras and Decan)ins are cf the Country oforth cinc live in Goa. They eat all thins except Kinc, Fiogs and Buffes, Flich and Fifh. They accouns the Ox, Cow or Buffic, to be Holy; with whom they car and acep in their Houfes as if they were rational Crcaturcs, and thereby think they do God good Service. Elcry one follows his Father's Trade, and marries with the Daughters of fuch Tradefreen, to whom they gire Braceles and Earings, for the Srere inherir all; and in other Cuttoms and Coremencs they refemble the Bramens. They commonly farm the King's Recrerucs, in Bardes, Salferre and Gar, and whera any quection arifes in Lave, ther plead their owa Caufe withour anjo Councl. Aidd when the\% take an theina: Oath as a Wiencts, they fiand in a Circle of Ahes, o:ti. ftill laying thes on their bare Heads; and with canc Hand on their Head, and the other on their Ereatt, they fruear by their Pagod to, tell the Truah.
The Canrryns and Cortembens are thofe tiont Till the Tre comen Land, and live very poorly. They fow the Rise upoi and wim, low grounds, which in the Winter-ince is cover'd with Water; and upon that the Canaryes to amatain ticmCelves in their litele Straw-houfes, whici, ate fo low, that a Man muft crop in and out. Their tyomen are commonly deliver'd of a Chidd all alone whe lay the Child upon a Fig-leaf, and then go about ther bufinefs. Their Chituren go naked rill they are feren or eighr years old, and nothing is dere to them bur only wathd in a litde cold Water. In chcir Marriages and Reiigion they follow the Canares.
There are many Aratians and sibexins in Thiticn. The The aros. Arabiens are melometans; and of develuterins, fome mind ats: are Mahomerans, fome a fort of Cinijiant of prefter Foim's Councry. The Chriftian allexirs have on che:r face four burnt marks in the form of a Crofs, orie in their Forebcad, cne on cach Check, and one under the nether-lip. Thefe dichbians and abioxins ferve as Sailors in Ships for a fmall hire, and commonly bave cheir Wives and Children in the Ship with them, and drefs their Meat by themflelves, which is Rice todden in Water with Sale Filh. They dare a chief Boarfwain, who is cail'd Mocadon; tee bangains with the Owners of the Ships for to many Sailors, and receives the Money monthiy for cheir Wages, whicla he pays to cvery parricular Sailor.

The black Peopie, or Cefficres, of the Iand of Mc- Of the cufs. fambigue, and along the Coalt of Ethionic., go com- ta, thair monly all maked, and have all the:r Bodies feard can with Irons like rafed Sattin; and ferme of them file sheir Teeth as fharp as Needles. They account theinfelves very fair, and defpife all whire Mcn as Monfters and nggly Peopie, in whore colour thicy repreens the Devil. When they kill any of their Enemies in a Battel, or ake Men Prifoners, they ent of their Privy-members, which being well dry'd they lay ac the King's feer, and the King orders them to be deliverd again with thanks, and thar they Thall be accounted as Knights: , 11 which MemB'ers they tic upon 2 ftring like a Braceler, and when they marry or go to Weddings or Feafts, the Brice, or Wives of thofe Knights, wear the Chain of Men's Meinbers Aconty about their Neck, which iss counted with them as whincon, grear an Honour, as with us to wear the Garter.
Great numbers of thefo Cafitues are cartid into Indie, and fold at lotv rates efpecialiv in a time of Dearth, when they will exchange Children of cight or ten Years for five ur Gax Meafurcs of Rice, or Cell them for three or four Ducats 3-picer; ;ind fome come. with their Wives and Chideren, to feli themfeives for Slaves
The Malaburs dwell on the Sea-coast berween Goan of the nais and Cape Comonins they are very black, and of a rars and mooth Skin; which they arioins with OiI. Their Nnominst hair grows very long, which they tie up on their the w,miles Heads with a Lace.; and the laps of rheir Ears being ant citor. opend hang down: to their houlders, which with them is a great beaury. They are fo leicherous, thas few Girls of feren or eighr Jears o'd have tinet Maiden-heads. Of thefe Msfiburs there are two furs, one calld Nairos, who are Gentlenen and Soldiers and are oblig'd to carry Arms night and dar, thes they may be always ready to ferve the Ning. Sọice 002 carry a maked Rapicr or Cutlafs in their Right; and 2 Targer in their Iefs Hand, or a Bow and venemons Arroves upon their thoulder; others carty long Pikes, or Aluskers, with a lighred Match wound about their Arins. None of them are married, but they frecly Lie with the Neyru's Daughers, or any ofther Women, rhough they be married; and learing their Arnas as the Door, they fo into any Howle where they have a mind, and lice with the Wife or Daughter, and then conne and take their Arins at the Noor, which fands open all the xime, none daring to hinder them, or trouble the Wo man with whom they have so co.
As they walk the Strect, they cry PA, Po, i. e. nand our oi the ray, for if any of the pobyefles, (who are the other fort of Melabars) or any Man of another Nation; happen to touch them, they rum him through, and then wath themelves with much curcmony before they cat, of converfe with other入isroo's.
Eitr a portugtufe haring flain a Nayro, in a Dinel fought on purpofe to decide the quartel, it was arred betwecta the two Nations, That the Nagro's dhoud give place to the Porturacele.
The "A<jro": wear the Nails of their Hands very lons, the better to gripe a thing in their hands, and to thow that they are Gentlemen, The Captains and Oficcrs amour them wear a Gold or Silver Bracclet arove their Elhows, to diftinguifh them fran others, and are guarded by other Ningro's when they go abroad. If they deferve Death, they are fecretly difpatchd at tha King's Order by other Nerrc's.

At their Duclling-dlace, they have a Well of Water dug in the High.way, whercin Men and Women wah inemfelves every Morning from Fece to Head, which though green and finking, yet being Conjur'd by the Branens with many Ceremonies, is thought of fo grear Vervie, that withour it they would be Unclean and full of Sin.
Their Sons are not their Heirs, for they ufe all Women when they will, and know not who is their own Son ; and the Bramens alfo have the King's Wives at their pleafure, and do him great Honour when it pleaieth them to Lie with his Queen; but cheir Siffers Sons are their Heirs, beeule they are fure of their Mothers.

The common Pcople of the Melabars, calld Rolyes, are the Labourcrs, Fifhermen, and fuch like; who live poorly, and wear no weapon. In other things they follow the Cuftoms of cther Indians:
There are freat numbers of \(\mathcal{F e}\) eps and Moors at

\section*{Of le heors} andione: Go.t, Cochin, and in all places of frdin: Amongt the Indians they have their Churches, Synagogues, and Mefpuita's, wherein they ufe all Ceremonies according to their law; bur in places where the Protuguefe gorern, they muft nor openly wife any of them. And if it be found that they mingle any Chriftian Ceremonies with theirs, both Men iand Women dic For it; uniefs they rarn Chritians. Moof of them are of a white colour, and many cone from \(P\) eleftime, and focak good Spanifh.

The Mrors alfo have cheir Mefouitos, whercin they pray: Thcy waffi their Feer before they go into the Church, in a Ciftern of Warer tinar ftands at the Door, and in the Church they falt down proftrate on their faces, and with their hands lifred up make faces. They are Circurncis'd like the -jews and eat no Swines flefh: They have no lmages in their Churches, bur only fome round:l Piltars, on which fome Cbaldean Letere, taken our of the Alcoram are graven. They will not fufer Chriftians to encerinto them, uniefs they pat off their Shoes, and if you ack what Saints they pray to, they will tell you, Thar they do not pray-io: Stocks and Stoncs, but to tie living God \(\div\) and thar the Portiguef and Heathens, who workip Images of Woed and Stone, are all of one Religion.

Oftinci: 2 m In the Kingcom of Natinga, or the Coaft of Cion0 romendel, there ftandeti a Pagod very grear and rith relves in the way for the Cart to run over iticm, and are crumid to picses; who for that are accomced Holy Martyrs, and all the Parts of their Bedy are kept as Relicks.
In all the Villages where the Inficus dwell, there are carred Pagnds of mofl hellifh hapes; but we found in one Village a Church of Sronc, whercin chere was nothing but a Table hangian in the midde, and the lmage of a Pagod paitited, having ma ny Hows and long Teeth hanging cown to the: Knecs ; and bencath his Navel, fuch another Face with Horns and Tusks, haring a Triple crowni: Mitre on the Head of ir. It hung before a Wail which made a Partition from anorher Chamber, and in the middle of the Wall there was a little Door, before which ftood a Calf of Sronc, on which one of our company leapd and fell a laughing, for which we begged parden of the Brencen to preverit mifchicf. This Door being operid, ve faw what they count their Quire, whici is clofe Vaulted lite a Lime-kiln, and admits no lighe bur by the Deor; on each fide of which there is a Fumace within the Wall, having certain holes to let the frome of the Fire enter:into that place, wherein the Offerings are made of Rice, Fruits, Hens, Eic. vhich mahics the place very foul and finking. But in this Quire there hung at leat a handred burning Lamps, in the middic whereot ftood an Alar cover. firtt with Cotton, and over that with pure Gold ; under which fate the Pagod of Gold, abour the bigners of a Pupper, which we faw brought out of his Cell, and fet in a Palankin, born by the chicf Men of the Town, all the reft following with great Devetion, with found of Trumpets, and other "Inftruments. And having gone round abour a Field, they brought him to the Stone Ciffern that Ilands Before the Churchdoor, and wam'd him in thar ftinking water, and then hur him up in his Cell, with all his lampr to make good cheer with the Offerings they left behind them, wherewith the Bren:en featted infend of the Pagud.
All the way as we want we found Ragods of ellat Stone, xinder corrain Corcrs, before which all Tra-tan: vellers fall down and hay their Prayers, and Cinternswinit of Watce to wafh their feet. By. thefe Pagods commonly ftand two little Fumaces; with a Calf or Cow of Stone, before which the; fer their Offerings of fuch things as are to be eaten, of which we found fome ftanding in every place, bar had no ftomach to tafte of them, bur we could nor fufficiently adaire the monfrous lhapes of their Idols, which we found every where.
All over Indin there are great fore of Catte, as Oxen, Kine, Sheep, Hogs, Goats, Kids, EF. which are very cheap; but the felh, by reaton of the hear, s not fo well cafted as in Europc.. There are Sheep of five Quarters, the tail being as grear and fefiy any of the other Quarters, but dheir fleff is nos counted fo good as that of Hoss.
They have fome Bats fo: vattly grear, that the \(\mathrm{C}_{3}\) norms are forcd to watch them for the mifchief they do to Trees and Herbs.
There is a prodigious number of black Crows which came in art the Window, and take the Meat out of the Difh when the Reople are at. Dinner one of them, in my: fight took the Cocton out of my Ink-horn, and blotred all the Papur upon the Table. They lit upon Buffes backs, and pick all the hair off them, fo that they are fored to ftand in the water up to the Neck to get rid of them.
There are fome Rats as big as young Pigs, fo that the Cats dare nor touch them, which dig down Walls and Houfes : "There are allo orher lime reddifh Rats which fmell fwect like Musk.
There is an incredible number of Ants, which defrom all the Meat and Clothes they cone at, So that they are forc'l to fet their Cupboards and Chets sp on Cifterss full of water tö kecp them off The like Cifterns fome ufe under their Beds and Tables; and to prefive their Canm-Birds; and other Fowls.

They are allo plagud with Aoths a:d Whorms, which defroy all their Ciothes and Parcis; and with Bararta's, twice as big as-Bees, which car, up; all fwect and far things, and ftion ail their Clothes with their Egas.

There is a Bird calld Noyras, which comes from Molucce, that furpaffeth all ocher Birós for beaurt, and Spaks Like a Parrot; it clarts Men winh the Tonguc upon the Head and Beard, the.Ears and Tecth, io mase whict is to highly efteen'd, that many Pilgrimages are made so it from all the Coantries round about. Unon a large Cart drawn by four Elephants, therc is 2 Sart whercon this Idel firs, amd under it fir the Kings Wives, which play upon all Inftruments; which Cart is drawn Eorth with grear Devorion at Fairs, Frafts, and Proceffions, for iome of the People out of Zeal cur out picces of their own feef. and throw them before the Pagot. Others loy :hem-them clean ; but they cannot be brought alive intoland better tafte. It ferres for food to the common portuyal.

\section*{Linlchotten's Voyage to Goa, vic.}
They have Elcphants in many places of India, which the Merchants hire of their Kecpers ro draw. Pipes, Burs, or Piacks of Goods. When they are chid for not drawing ftrongly, they will fometines refufe help, and burft themfelves wich Atriving. They are mad all the Winter when. it rains, and are kept tici to a great Tiree till the rain ceales, and then ther come to themfelves. Their Docility and Ingenuity is to well known that I need not defcribe it
The Rhinoceros is not in Indiat, but only in Bengela and Parame; it hath a fhore horn upon the Nofc, whereof the binder-part is bigger, and towards the end it is harper, and fo by forne it is thought to be the right Unicorn. The horns in India are much cftecm'd, and usid againft Poyfon, and many Difcalcs: His Tecth, Claws, Elelh, Skin and Blood, nay, his very Dung and water, are usd for curing many Difcales, and I my felt have found them sood by Experience. Bur there is a great difference among People and Slaves, being falted in Pots; and caten with Rice ; thes are tife the white Spenifh Olives, and much of the Rafic alte.
Caions grow on Trees; and are in fize and mape like Pcars, bur inftead of a Sralk they have a Chefnut, which muft be roaited before- it be cater, clic ir makes your Tongue fanar.
Jambo's grow on Trees like Palm-trecs, are white and red, of a fweet imell and rafte, borh pleatant and wholfome. The Tree bears, Fruic threc or fout times 2 Year, and when the leaves fall of on onc hide, and the Fruit is ripe, the other fide begins to bave leaves and to bioffom Jangomas grow on Trees, azit are in fize, colous and tafte, like our round Plums.
There is a Fruit that came out of the Spanifh \(\Gamma_{\text {r- }}\) dies calld Papaios, which is tery like a Melon, an will not grow but when there are two togecher, \(i\). Male and Female. The Maie Tree never yiclds brun. bue only the Fcmale; and when biney are partec the Rhinocerots as to their value, which the Indians chey yield none at all. Oranges, limons and \(\mathrm{C}_{i}\) can difecrn, which is fuppos'd to arife from the dif-trons, are very good and plensiful. lizey heve vers ferent Herbs they feed upon in Bengalr, which gives few Grapes, and fweer Herbs and Flowers, but they hem great vertuc, for fome of them are fold for have great abundance of Cucumbers, Radifies and two or three hundred Pardaws, and others for three Melons. or four Pardawes a-piece.
Fifh in Indin is vciy plentiful, as Shads, Soais, Ebc. fome fmall, fome great. That on which chey grow and are commonly eaten with Rice, which is initced may be rather calld a Cane than a Tree, the Bark of Bread. Crabs are very grear and good; and con- of it being like a Hair-Siece; which within is full rary to what it is with us, chey are empty at Full of large leares, that by degrecs hoot upuards; till Moon, and full ar New Moon. Eilh is to cheap, the Tree comes to its full growth. Dut of the midit that with the value of a Stiice one may buy, as of thefe leaves grows a Flower with a long Stalk, much as will Serve five or fix Men for a Meal.
When our Ship lay at Coclin, we let down one of dxed in clufters like Grapes. The Tree bous her our Sailors, with a Rope abour his middle, ro place one bunch at a time and being cur down out the Rudder on the hooks, and while be hung with the roor prefently grows another, which within a kalf his Body in the Warer, there came a Shark Month bearech Fruit, and fo continueth to do all which bit off one of his Legs ar-one bire; and when the Year long. They are very plentiful in all pla the pur down his Arm to feel his wound, ir bit off ces, and yield the greareit part of che Food of the his Arm above his Elbow, and alfo a piece of his Butcock.
There was a monftrous Fift takicn in the River of Goa, of the bignels of a middle-fiz'd Dog, with a Snout like a Hog, and Your Feet like an Elephant, wherewith it rua on the. Floor, grunting like a Hog The whole Body was cover'd with. Scales of a Thumb's breadth: harder than Iron; and when we fruck him, he roul'd himfelf up like a round Ball Soclofe, that we could nor by any meanis open him again, which ar laft he did and run away.
When a Ship was friling from Mcfambigue into indsa, with a fair Wind, fteering their Courfe towards. the Equinoctial Line, is was much wondred at by thofe who took the height of the Sun for a Fortnigh, that inftead of leffcning their Degrees, they. found themfetves every. Day further backward than they were, until at laft the Boarfwain ficed a great broad tail of a Filh, that had winded it felf about the Bcak-hcad of. the Finh, the Body of it being under the Keel, and the Head of it under the Rudder, fwimming in that manner, and drawing the Ship with her againft the Wind and their iighr Courfe, which we, with much ado, ftruck of with Staves, and then tic Ship went right on.
There are by Malicea certain Shell-filh, fo greas and beary, thar two ftrong Men can hardly, with a Ecver, draw one of rhem after them: And to the South of Goa, ar a place calld St. Petcr's Sand, there are Crabs fo grear: and numerous, that Men are for ced ro keep 1 good Watch to defend themfelves for if they ger one in their Claws it cofts him his Iife. Rif. which is a Fruit of the : beft cufte in all India Biafl? and planted there bur now is grown very comition : They are as big as a Mclon, of colour red and grecnilh, and "grow about one rhird of 2 Fathom high from the ground. When they ear rhem they pull off the Shell, and the Juice taltes like fweet Mask.:
Jacicas grow on Trees like Nut-trees by the Scaade, not upon the fmall branches, but upon the trunks or great branclies; they are as big as a grea Melon, and much like it in thape, the Fruit within is in husks, like Chefnuts, each of which has a Nur white and ycllow, and very fwiect.
Manga's grow upon Trees Iike Jaaci's, in fize and colour like a great Peach, having a bigger ftonc Country. When ther are caten, they pull off the Shells; the Garden Figs are thicker and more common, but thofe thas are thincer are beres for fincll and raite. The Figs of Canmor are dried, and carryd over all India.
 tudia; it grows tall and Atraight, is a SFan thick, were w:-cour and hath no branches bur in the ton where the the sutrot eaves grow, under which grow the Coio's, cont- Norwasersi monly ren or twelve together. Thefe Coco's are fint fianted, our of which tpring the Tices; aud when they are, about a Matis height they plant them again, and duug them with ames; and they yicld Fruit in a few Years.
The Wood of this Tres, dho' it be fpungy, is ood for many: ufes, for in Maidion they make whole Ships of it, wiskout any Ircr-nail, for they fow the picees of Wond together with the Cords that are made of the Cocas;: they make Ropes and Cables of the fame, Tree, and Sails of ture leaves, calld olas. They ferve allo to make Canargns Houfes, and Hars to carry over eheir Heads, and Mars to corcr. Palankins. The Nurs or Coro's are as greaz as an Oltridge-Egg, and are cover'd-wich iwo misks whereof the outmoft is hairy, and of it they make all their Cables and Ropes, calld Caira; and ir feryes intead of. Ocam or Tow, ro frop all Crerices in Ships, and keeps them clofer in Sait watex. Of the nner husk they mate Drinkingi Cups; of which we have fome bere. The Cables ferve as well as thofe of Hemp, if they be wain'd every Fortnigis in the Sca. The Eruit, when it is almoR ripe, is calld Leala, and within is full of water white and fwect, which increafes the longer the Cocus in on the Tree but when the Fruit is ripe the water thickens, and s not fo pleafant Drink as that which comes of the Lanta. With the Milk of thefe Nurs they feethe he Rice, which is the Sauce of their Meat; and Cometimes they dry it, and carry ir out of Mrlabar to Cimbeia and Ormuz, and orher places, to traffick with it.. And fomerimes they make Oil of it, which is vary good to ear; either of the gréen Nuts tamp'd with water and pres'd, or of the dried Cc us, which is calld copra, borh which aree accounted Medicinal. When they have no mind to any Cocus, they cut the Bloffoms 2way, and bind a round Por fo clofe to the Tree that no air, can enter in which in a ficle time is filld with Water calld Surc; tha: tuftes like fucet Whey, If this Water

47zinds

Atands but one hour in the Sun it is good Vinegar: when it is diftilld it is excellent Aqua-oite; and is very.. good Wine, and is the only Wine in Inalia The Portspiefe put to 2. Pipe of it three or four Hands of Raifins, (every Hand being twelve pound) and tcaving the Bung open, and the Pipe noc full it bopils like Water over 2 .Fire for fourreen or fif teen days; and chen becomes in colour and cafte like red Portugal Wine, wherewith there is a grear rade to Bengale, Shalacen, Chine, and ocher places, every Ilipe in Goa being worth chircy Pardawes Of the forefaid. Surn being boild, or fict in the Sun, they alro make 2 brown Sugar. The innermoft part of the Tree is calld Paimito, which is thin and white, having many plaits and folds. which is usd by the Encicins for Paper, whercon they wrise when it is green; and after it is dry, the fame follds contume, and tis impoofible to get the letters out which are prinsed in it with an Iron-Infrument calld olla. And thus are all their Wrirings made.
of tice \(D_{m-}\). Daryoch is a Fruit that groweth only in Malac ryenia fruic ca, and is eftemid the beft for rafte in the World or Maiace. tho' it frsells like rorten Onions when firlz operid It is ou:wardly like 2 Melon, and like ir in is par rizions within, whercin is the Fruit which conrains the Nuts as big as Peach-ftones: It zaftes like Mangiar blance, made of Hens flefh diftilld with Sugar.
Of: : Trie When Arbiec de Rays groweth and fpreadeth branfreere 4 ches, they are full of Roots, and grow downwards, por, rothe and take faft roor again in the ground; and ftill the more the Branches fpread, the more Rones hoor downwards, fo that fometimes is covereth forty paces, and, as fome fay, cxtends to a Mile's compars, and is fufficient to thadow a thoufand or three thoufand under it. It hath no Fruit good for any thing but for the Birds to eat.
Near Cachin there are Trees calld Angelinn, fo thick, that of the Wood in one piece, withour feam or joynt, there are made Skiffs calld Tones, which will lale twenty or thirty Pipes of Water; the Wood is tarder, and will laft longer than Iron: There are alfo Sugar. Canes and Bamboo's, which have a pith that is Medicinal. There Bambeo's grow very high, and are as thick as a Manis Thigh.
Ofin Tre A: Bore trifte is fo call'd, becaurf
ral Trytit: ets there is in the Night-ame, for when the Sun taif an hour there are as many be feen, bat within haif an hour there are as many Bloffoms: as the Tree will bcar, which frell very foeer ; and when un riles the Blofoms fall off and and when the themfelves. clofe together. : If you cat off a branch and fet it in the ground, it prefemly takes root, and in few days has Bioffoms.
Beetle is a Leaf a lirtle larger ctian Orange-leaves, planted-by Sticks, upon which it climbs up like Ivy The-leaves kecp long green, and are fold by the Dozen, and every Man and: Woman in all Endin cars every day a dozen or two of them, for thiey are continually chawing them by night and day: And becaufe they are bitret, they are eaten with 2 Fruit calld Arecon, which is like 2 Nutmeg, and groweth upon Trees like Falm-trees, vhereof one fort being cur in the middle is white and red, another makes the. Mouth black and red, and a third! fort makes them. light-headed for a little cime. With this Fruit they mix alfo. a Cake of the Tree calld Kaate, and fome powder of Oyfter-fbellis, which they fprinkle upin the Beetle, and when they chaw all this, tiey fwallow down the Juice and fpit our the ref:' They think they canmoc live a Day without ir; and they fay 'ris good for the Maw, the Teeth and Gums, and againt Scurry.
of on thet Dutren is an Herb very common in India, and or row, and gioweth in every Field; the Leaf of it is fharp prioand form hrouthat of Rofemary, our of which groweth a bad like she bud of Poppy, wherein are fome kernels like thofe of Mclons, which being ftamp'd and pur into mates or Meat, whenever it is eaten or druak, makes a Man fomecimes laugh like a Fool, withour any fenfe of what is done before him'; and fometimes makes him fleep for 24 hours as if he werc dead, but if in that time his feet be wall'd wich cold water he comes to himfilf.

There is another Herb in India calld the Senjsive' Herb, which mrinks up and clofes the leares if any Man touches it, as long as he ftadds by it; but as foon as he is:gone, it opens the leaves anduricoixs.
frem again. Ar one kind of Cattel are killd fore Oxen, Sheep, and all kind of Cattel are killid for Mear, there is a place where all the-floms of Beafts lie fcattered up and down; for befides that no body ufes them, "tis counted \(a_{\text {nigreat }}\) affront to the Spaniards and Portaratefe to have any Horns, or to flow a Horn to anorher or vhrow ic before his Door, fur that is to call him Cuckold \({ }_{x}\) which he would revenge by killing the Offender, fand Juftice there will fee crely punifh. Now hefe Horns having lain a cerrain cime ftick faft in the Earth, and the inner-part of rhe Hom taketh roor, as if it were. a Tree, whereof I have feen maay puilid up that had Roots two or three Spans long, which was never feen in any other Place of he World.
Pepper is planted at the foot of another Trec, ortherit like Beetle of Ivy. The Leaves of it apon the Trec soivity harp poimed; it grows le bes of it are green and innimen harp poinred, it grows in bunches lita Grapes, but Ans, thinner, and ripens in asecmber and fanurer, when it Aninatits is gatherd. The long-Pepper grows in Eerpisic, and is as long as a Needle, bur a litte thicker; withour is of an Afhy-alour, bur withis fomewhar white with fmall Seeds.: The White aind Black Pepper in tafte and form are alike, bur the Whire is ftronger and lefs plemifu! than the Black.
Cinnamor-trees are commonly as great as Olive-cime: rees, with leaves. like Citron-leaves. They have white Bloforms, and a Fruit as big as black Portugal-Olives, wherecf Oit gat-Olives, wherecf. Oit is made, which is us'd for many things. The Tree kath two Barks, whereof the fecond is. the Cinmamon, which is cus off in four-fquar'd pieces, and fo laid to dry; if it be nor well dried it is of an Afh-colour, if it be too much dried it is blackifh, but when is is well dried ir is reddifh. After chis Bark is taken away, within three Years the Tree bath another bark as ir bad before. The Trees grow of chemfelves without planting, in the open Fields, like Buthes: The beft is in the ifle of Sollon, but thas in the Coaft of Malabar not half fo good; in boch places there are whole Woods full of Cinnamonitrees. There is an excellent Water difitl'd from Cinsamon while it is half green, which is very pleafant to the Tafte and Smell; but very hot and Itrong. It is much us'd in India and Porfurcal againit the Cholick, and other Difeafes; the Warer made of the Blofforis is not fo good.
Ginger grows in many places, bur the belt is in G ro the Coaft of Malabar; it grows like thin Reeds, wo or three Spans high, the Roor whereof is GinThey and is mach us'd for Sallads while it is green they dry it. by covering it with Por-earth, to fop up the holes, and preferve it from Worms, which wouid deftroy is. Tho it is lirtie efteem'd in Indic, chere is much of it fhipp'd off to the Red-Sea, as 00: romuz. Arabia and afia.
The Trees' whereon Cloves grow are like Bay-com thees, the Blogloms at firf whire ; then they have the plealanteft finell; and are green, and ar laft red and hard, which are the Cloves. They grow very thick, and when they are dried thieir right colour is: a dark. yellow, bur they are fmoak'd to make them black; and chofe thar are leff on the Tree ungutherd, are calld the Morher of Cloves The salks are commonly gatherd and mingled with them, but they are feverd in thofe that are fens to Porrugat. The Cloves are of fo hiot 2 natare, ckat no Grals grows near the Trees on which they grow; and when they are made elean, 2 Pail of Waret, or any other Liquor in the Chimber where they are deans"d, will within two days be dried up, as I hare often feen: And fo whenever unfpun Silk of Chinn ies upon the Floor', which is 2 Foor or two above ground, it fockech up quickiy all the Water' chat covers the Floor, tho is touches not the Silk, whick is trick usid to pake the Silk heaty when it is 2. tri fold:

The Numeg-tree is romewhat lefs than a Peach-Nu= ree, which hach round Leaves, and grours in Biand and Fion; from whence thay are carried to China and Malacers, and Indite. The Fruit is like a great ound Peach, the inner-part whereof is the Nurmes which hath 2 hard Inell /oover'd over with the Ficwer calld Mace, wherein the Nur lieth loofe.
Cardamoman is a Spice much usd in India to drefsicmaen Mext withal, and'chaw upon': The husts are like thofe of Panick; having ten or twelve grizins of Ber-Linfchotten's Voyage to Goa, oic. ries, which is the Cardamom ; whereof fome is great fome fmaller. It grows on the Coaft of Malabar, and in 3 tova.

Lac is brought from Pegu to Sumatra, and from thence is carried to the Red-Sea, Perfia and Arabia.
In Pegu there are very great Pifmires, which fly In Pegu there are very great Pimmires, which fyy up the Trees, on which there is 2 Gum which the up the irees, on which there is ack up, and then make the Lac round about the branches, as Bees make Honcy and Wax; and when ir is full, the Owners break off the bran ches, which being dry'd they thrink, and the Lac re mains behind. The Crums that fall upon the ground they melt rogether, which has fome filth in it, and fo is nor 50 gond. The Lac as is comes from the Tree is of a dark red colour, bur when is is beaten to powder they mix all forts of Colours with it, 2 red, black, green, Efc.
Benioin groweth much in Syan; Sumatra and Faon upon high Trees full of Branches, with a upon high Trees full of branches, with a thick Sten in the middle; whence proceeds the Gum calld \(B\) mioin. When the Tree is young ir yields the beft which is of a blackin colour, and a very fwe fmell, and is calld the Benjamin of Flowers; bur the fecond, calld Benjamin of Almonds, is nor to good, being mix'd with white Flowers. being mixd wint white Fiowers. which grow in Arabia-Felix and Alexin White and yellow Sanders, which are the bet come from Tymor near 7ava, which hath whole Woods of them, from whence it is carried to India, and other Countrics ; but the red Sanders grow moft in Choromandel. The Trees of Sanders have Fruit like Cherries, of no value, but the Wood is the San-Snakewood is the Roor of a low Treet of a whi-Saikewood. tifh colour, and bitter in rafte, which being bruis'd Cholick, Worms, and foecially againft the ftinging of Cholick, Worms, and ipecially againit the finging of out by 2 little Bealt call'd Quil, which is of the fize and nature of a Ferret, and being bir by 2
Snake, heals it felf by this Wood in Scyon, where there is grear ftore of thefe Ferrets and Snakes. Lignum-Aloes abounds moft in Malacca; che Trees Lipmos-are fomewhat greator than Oliver are fomewhat greater than Oliverrees. The beft, the Wood, and is calld Calambia, which is heavieft and yields moft moifure, and is to much eftcem'd, that is is fold by weight againt Silver and Gold. The Palo daguilla is next to in in efteem; but there is anocher fort call'd Wild Aquilla, which is us'd for burning the Bodies of the Bramens; and being coftly, is accounted as great an honour with them as with us to be baried in Tombs of Marbel-ftones. Thefe Woods are much us'd in India for Beads and. Thefe Woods are much usd in India for Be Crucifixes, which are held in great Veneration.

a

\title{
Navigantium atq, Itinerantium Bibliotheca.
}

\section*{Book. III.}

\title{
A \\ DESCRIPTION \\ OF \\ AFRICA, andallits 3 peobintes.
}

\section*{Taken from John Leo and Marmoi.}

\section*{C-h A P. I.}

Containing a General Defcription of the Limits, Soil, Product and Climate of the Country: Together mith the Original, Tribes, Cuftoms, Language, Religion, Confitution, Vertuss and Vices of the refpetive Inbabitants.

AFRIC.A, is by the Arabians calld ypbritbit, dir, and by the Arabicns Belcduigerid, of the Land of either from the Wood Faraca; i. e. ro Dates, as being the Country of Africa, that pioduced, divide, with regard to its being divided moft of that Fruic. Its Boundaries are, on the Eaft the from Europe by the Mediterranean, and City of Eloacat, about 100 . Miles diftanr from Egyp, on from Afir by the Red See, or elfe from the Weft the Town of Nom, on the North the Southifde Ifricas, a Prince of Arebia Falix, who of Ailas and on the South the fandy Defarts of libya. being difpoffefs'd of his own Country, by the King of This is the forrict Country in all iffice, anid by reaforn Afyria, crofs'd the Nile, and fettled rith his Troops in of the Remotenefs of its Inhabitanrs, is fearce dignificed the Neighbourhood of Cartbage; for which Reafon, the Arabians and Ancient Geographers took chat part of 1 frica for the whole
As to its ancicnr Bounds, 'twas reckon'd to have fome Rivers \{pringing from 2 Lake in the Defart of Crogo; on the South, Niliss on the Eaft, on thie Norch, the Coaft exrended from Non, the out-moft Sca Town of Lydic, to the Mourh of the Nile, and the Ocean to the Weft.
Anciem Africa was commonly divided into four parts, namely, Beibary, Numidie, Libyn, and Negri-land.
Berbery, extendsis felf from theout-moft Point of the Mountains of Athis (near \(M c J_{4}\) ) to the Streight of Gibralter, and paffing along the mediterrencan Sea, to Mount Meies, \(2 b\) out 300 Miles from Alexandria; is bounded on the South with that fide of the Atlas, which faces the ricditerremean. This Country is the beft part of all Afies, its Inhabitants being brown and tauny, but wishal 2 civil and well-govetn'd People. 'Tis divided into four Kingdoms, namely, Morocio, Fizy, Telenfitip or Tremizen, and Tunis. The firft of there Kingdoms is divided intofeven Provinces, namely; Hea, Sus, Gurunifa, the Icritory of Maroco, Ducorla, Axtcora, and Tedles Thefcoond into other Seven, mamely, Tomefre, the Territory of Fex, Augera, Elabir, Errif, Garet, and Elcian: The third inso thrce, \(v i=\) the Mourtains, Teren, and Alyezer: And the fourth into four, namely, Buric (which was a Kingdom of its felf, rill its Pripcipal City wastaken by Eerdinando, King of C.ftite ) Conflamtina Inipalis in Barbary, and EEzaba.
The fecond part of Afica is calld by the Latins Numi-with the Name of a Kingdom; particuially Tefert; one of its Citics, lies at almoit 300 Nailes difance from any Intabitants, and does not contain in it felf 400 Families. However. its three principal Regions are, Segelmeffe, upon the Confincs of Maturztania; ; Zeb, oppofitc :o Bu; and the Territory of Biledulgerd, extending to the Kinydom of Tunm. The firft has but onc City of the lame Name; the fecond includes thefe five, Percerra; Ethorh, Nefta, Taolze and Deulin: and the chird as many, namely, Teozar, Caphefa, Nefreca, Ellbimid and Cbatbis.
The chird part of ifficer is calld by the Latins Libre, and by the Arabians Sarre, i e. 2 Defirt. Its Bounds \(i t\), e. are the Ocecn on the Weft, the Niiz on the Eaft, Numitio on the Norch, and Negre-Land on the South. 'Tis 1 invided ito five parts, namely, ancega, Ganziza, Terga Leuts and Berdeoa, fo called from the five Tribes of Numidiens that inhabitit.
The fourth and last part of africe, viz. Negre-Lend, is bounded by Gcagaonthe Faft, Gulath on the Weft, and Nzroter. Libyr on the North, Butits Southern Bouniaries are yet anknown. In this Country ther's a famous River, calld fiom it Niger, upon the Banks of which its mon fertile Councrics are frated. This River, which empries its felf into the Weftern Sea, rakes its Rife Ealtward, "our of a Defart calld Nigros Sci, or elfe out of a ccrain Lake, which fome will have to fpring from the Nile, after its confinement under the Earth for a confiderable fpacc:. This Negro-Land contains a great many Kingdorrs, fiftecn of which I vifired ms felf, na:mely. Gunlota; Cbiner, Melli, Tomburf; Gers, Gnler, Aradizis

\title{

} and Nub : There Itingloms had formerly their re- Fort there to lecurcthat Trade. From therice we ad upon wied mofe of 'cul lic, or clfe b; fome fandy Dc- Defarts, and two Capes, namely, Care, there ane and Cate fist. Thay lic don by che another, and ate the com- Peror. Having patsd rhe Cape of Ged yope, we turn has cother Kingtoms we th the South Fronticrs, mancly, B.:n, Jemim:, Dama, Mel, and Gor'm, whichare in tombited by a rich indurions and juft fore of leco ph.

Riarmorsheo siarmotsice This pare of thedtord which is calld Afisa, takes nermbecrip its Name from onc of its own Rovinces, wace Certione The crice foct. Some trien: Authors fay, the Name was darived from Mifle: Ifi: itith, an Arainan Prince, who beins outcd of his cown. Councr:, fertid inthe Eat Parcs of Liabiary, as leing a fertic Connery, and fit, for Pafturare.
Arement
priminy gave this whole Country the Name of libun, atd diviued it into twelre parts, namely, Matritania the Mmince of 1 hitior, Cyecmack, Libor, Narmarico, Sarre Erypt, Timbati, Tince Liby:, and the two Estizo ais. The mon Sutulicrn Part of Africt; knowe to Prohnay was Moremterk, which lics in 14 Degres Soath I atitude ; fo that what we cail Niop Africf, extending fom that in the Cape of Grod \(\bar{i} \mathrm{p}\), was unknown to Plechmy arid the \({ }^{n}\) nowledge of is was owing to the Porigrife Difeoveries. As tor the Afrisan and Arabian Geographers, they werejet lels arquainted with thetru: extent of this Country; ter they not only join lisype to A/ar, calling is Mener, but leare out all that Tract of I and chat lies berwen the Nille, the Red-Ser, and the Occan. In deicubing the Ecundaries of Africe, they lesin with the Exremity of Nabsa, ard the firt Arm of the Nile in riethicpian near If \(s\) yat, following that River down to the Hediterrimear-Sea, aiout 1.5 Leagues to the Eati-ward of alc: andice; and from thence coafting on to the Sercighrs of Gituater, fom whenee they ran aions the Weiteru Occan to the Cape of No, that feparares the white effic:en: frem the wack: After thar they coaft on till they arrive ar the Mourh of the River Zaye, and then trace thas River on so a Lake in the Defart of feren, whence it rifes: Frem this Lake they return to The - Aficinn Nitha, add the Nile, Where they firft fer our. 'Tis tientrapiuss likewife oi fervable, that thele Gcographers gure quite differ Aum ditcrent Nimes to the Provinces, Gults and Capes from firomy. hole reconued by Protem:. The Occafion of the At tomation may he this, Wiacn the Arabians. feald in \(A\) frier, tiecy thacrd the NTances of places, in order to exLinguilh the :cry Mrnoty of tic firt lnhabirans; and upon the Dacletion of their. Einpire, the africens revirting suainft then and recovering their former Sats did the fanc withrefpest to them. Betides, feverelPro vinces have beer laid wafte, and feveral Cities de ftroy'd, that had a locing in Prolemy's time, not to masation, thatfercralodiers hape becnbuin and planted Sarce.
Tine Rimita Tinodeta

The tres Zundsof Afr:relies duns: From the Mountain of yoruacci', call'd by the rolcmy, the Giecte Aelus, you pals to the City of Profi: in the Province of Sus, then to Cape d' \(f\) uner and Cape inon, and afier that to the River Sinere, which ferers the Whites from tie No groes. Next comes Cencoa, and the Provinec of 9 alofes which cxrenitins a great way aloug the Oenen, leads you 10 Mrfola, innabited by Lie La: itraines or Eperberes its the Arabia. Authors call 'em ) thrcugh which thece numsa frear Kiver, that cuters the Sca by two Mouths, and gives an Opportunity of failing farup into the Country. The next in onder is G,ambr', call'd by protemy Gfiecher:e, and watcis with another ciecp River thas recives Vetels abore 300 J.cagues up; thentic Prowince of Cefíminnt, and thar of Papari, waterd by a great River caild the ffetics, from swo litele Ifands, peopicd with Nerrocs, rhat ftand in its Muath. After chefe we mecer with the Province of biatier, where Riegrente craptics i: feif into the Sca, being fo calld for chat it is the greateft of all and reccires feveral Navigable Rivers. Having pariud Biajer, we came to Cocolis, inInlited by the ifrluce, and 10 the River tregues alias ratite which ebe portagucfe Vafjls fail feveral Leagucs up. From thence weprafs to the Country of Sric, watered by two gron Rivers, nameiy; Calur and caceres, where the Irhabienars of the Canntios come to traffick :whth the Negrecs. Next ate the Rires Marive and Siorytion:; and beyend thar the Goth Conf, whence the with Cape Arguiltar, the Eiver Fumos, the Frovince of Alcros Cape coricurs, Cape St. Scheflisur; and farther up \({ }^{S i v f a t i s, ~ a ~ i o n g ~ P r o v i n c e, ~ f u m r o u n d e d ~ w i t h ~ a ~ g r e a s ~}\) River, calid 7 ambere, that diviles it fejf into two Arms, and inclofes ic like an Jhand. This l'rovince is Collowd by the Kingden of hares, and then by tic Cape of itczantick, called by Prolrmy the Promiontory of Pref, in French Cape Verd. In this place the Porsuruefo havea ?orefor refrething the Ships that go to the E.jftindics. Paling Monambick, we'coaft on to the Province of Rugla, and rhen to thar of Mambaric and Melind, where the erear River Obii, call'd by Proicmy Rutr, falls ins the Sea, Next in order ari Magaduchzo, Adec, \(1 d \mathrm{del}\), and Cape Gutardefu, the muf Eaftera point of Africic Beyond thefe are the Province of Dcbas, and the Mouth of tixe Sircight of the \(R \cdot d^{\prime} S \in a\), from wheare the \(1-\) Gulf and thic Counds to Sues, the uppermolt Pors in that Gulf, "and thic Roundaty of Egrp' to that fide. Then we crols an Ifthmus abour i 6 l cagues long, reaching from the bortom of the Arebian Gulf to the Medicter Matian Sea. This done, we defeend by the \(i \cdots!\) to to the City of Demierte, where that River enters the Sea; then curning to che Went-ward, we fais by alexandrif, the Coaft of the Defart of Barea, Cape Xiefurate Tripolyof Barbary, Carolage and the' Coant of Tums: A litule fartherate Gigery, Tilicese, Algiers, the Ruines of Confarer, Serrici and Qigred, all Maritime Diaces of the Kinądom of Tiemofon. Then weadvance to the Streights of Gibraliar, and entring the Occan from whence we fet our meet with the Cities of Tengier, Araile, ifechemer, and the orther Ports of the Kingiom of Fca. Advancing thence to Auraice, we camein fight of the Cities of Aut Drmor; Maragnen, Scf, Tefrani, and Meffi, where this Decription commenc'd. And theis you have a CircumItantial Account of the Circumfercace :and Limits of siricr.
Being thus bounded, it is divided imo fix parts, viz.
 and biligh-Erliopic.
Berbsy is fcparated fromRilcidu'gerid, by a long Tract of farm Mouncains, rumning from Eaft to Weft, calind by Prolomy the Great ArLes, and by the Natives rydiatal? Proomy placesir in 8 Degrees Longir:xde, and \(20:\) Dc-arces-Latirude. The Litcle ititas is anoticer Ridge of Mountains, running from the Streight of Gilurntra to the Neighbourhood of Ronc. Barbary is fo call'd, either from Ber, a Name giece to that Country before it was popled, whenee the Inhabitares were afterwards call'd Bercieris, or from fome of the Inhabitancs, who calld themfilves Rarbares, and are fill poffefic of a City calld dererre, and a large Traet of Lande in Gercioc and \(Z\) ingen; or, as fome will have ir, the Name muft ce cerived from che Remans, who chrifterid it fo by trafon of the Bariatity of their Language. This Country contains four large Kingdcms, namely, Murcco, Eci. (both izoluded in Xratitenie tiagitenn) Tiemefin ur Murritenir Cujazicitc, und Tami, which contains the Country diar was rioper'y called Afr:cs.

Bilcdulserit, the recorid part of Arrice, was calld by siaterixh the Ancients Cernlify or Nimidic. from vomatco, \(\vdots\). c. Shepherds; for the Inmajitance of that Coumty, are always mandring afice their Flocks, and live in litede Sheds made of the Brancies of Trees, call'd by the Arcients shapinaiji. The mon ERatert Parr of Numidia was by potiomy callid Líbya Cirenaica, or Pcntaplotis, decauf it contains Sye large Citics.
Simera, the third fart of Africe, fignifying D.frite, sia is the moft incenflucrabie part of Libye Intirior, which according to Proicmy, included likewife Nimmidia and Lower Sichiopic.
The fourti part of Africa is call'a Lower Sthiopin, or Beled-Alc-alid, or the Land of Negrocs. , Tis largei Linith chan all tie above-mention'd parss pur together, and is nor only well poop'd; bur watcr'd with very large Rivers that empty tramidece into the Sea. Its Bound arc. the Occan on the Weft, the Country of the Aiflines on the South, on the Eaft Cesiviopia neas Esyp: and on the Nerth the Defarts of Sctar.t.
Egypt, the fifthopzrt of Afrise, is by Ptolom, jcin'd to Eeres Marmarica, bur the Sfican Authers crelude is or at lealt iss Eaftern Parefrom Africe. 'Tis calld by the Arabianis Me*ra, by che \(\mathcal{F e w s}\) Merraim; and by the Na tives Elaublet. lts Limits, according to the Africons, wre, the Defarts of Barca, Libya, and Marmaricn, on the Weft, thofe of Afia on the Ealt, the Meditemanean Sea on the North, and. Eebiopia hear Egypr on the South.

The laftpart of Africr, call'd Higher Efbiopia, comtprehends the Kingdoms of the Abilines, and all the Provinces terminating upon the Arabick or Red-Ser, together with that Country which is calld Ashiopia above Eerpr, where the Kingdom of Nubia or Neuba lies. Thypr, Whare Country extends it felf from the Mouth of the RedSen Southorards, to the Mountains of Telme, or the Golden Mountains under the Equinoetial Linc. IrsNorthern Limits are the Nile, Nubin, and the lower and moft Weftem part of Genecor: ; to the Weft it borders upon Niegro-lend or Lower/Ethiopia. There arefeveral Kingdoms in this Councry, the Prince of which, tho' diverfify'd by their Sects, Language, Cuftoms, and Colour, are alltributary to the Emperour of the Abifines, who poffefes the greateft part of it. It concains above 700 Loaguesinlength, and is very near as large as all Spain and anciemt Gaul.

3 jan tins
In ancient Times Negro-land was the oinly inhabited Councry of Africa, at leaft Barbary and Numidxa were for many Ages deftitute of Inhabitants, till the Tawny Pcople fetted in that Country, who were calld by the name of Barbre, an arabick Word, mrobably deriv'd from Barbart, i. e. to Murmer, becaufe the Arabians look'd uponthe African Language as an articulate found of Beafts. Others will have Barbar to be only the Repctition of Bar, i. c. Defart, fuppofing Bar Bar, To the Dffart, To the Defart, to have been the Word among ufricus's Followers, when they ficd out of. Arabia Falix.
Thefe Tawny Mores are divided into five Tribcs, in Thbe namely, the Zanhagi, inhabiting the Weftern and Sonif Twny them parrof Mount Aclas ; the Mufmudi, inhabiting the Provinces of Hea, Sus, Guifula, and the Terriory of Maroco; the Gumert, polieling the Barbiry Mountains upon the Mediterrancan Sca, and the River Rif, which cakes its Rife near the Streighrs of Gibralter, and runs Eaftward to Tremefen, or Marritania C.eferienfis; the Hanari and zeneti, who are difpers'd all over Africa. Thefe Tribes aredifingaifh'd from one another by cermin Marks, and wagecontinual War among themiclves. In former Times riey had thcir Habirations and Tents inche Fields, every one favouring chofe of cheir own Tribe, and labouring for their murual and common Bcnefits Thi Governours of the Country attended their Droves and Flocks, and the Citizens followed Husbandry, or fome manual Art. Ibnu Racco, who writes of the Genealogies of the Africans, divides thefe People into 500 feveral Families. Tho' their Pofterity is ron out into innumerable Branches, and at that great diftance frean one another, yet they retain one Language, calld by them Aquel Amarrig; i. . . The Neble Tongue, which is the true African Lanpuage and branded by the Barbarians for abarbarous Tongue. The Gumeri, and moft of the Haoari, undertand the Arabick, by veruae of their long Acquainance with the Arabians.
tran un:- As for the Negroes, they have feveral Langrages; particularly the Sungai, which is current in Gunlata, Combuto, Guinta; Melli, and Gago, and another calrd G:bbir, commonly lpoken in Guber, lingrhat of Gaogr, as well as Nube, whole Speech bears grear affinity to the Caldean, Arabian, and Egyprian Tongues. All the Sea Towns from the Mountains of roco and the Intind Numidians, who \{peak the Barbarian Tongue. Abour Tums and Tripoli, they \{peak Arabick, but for the j . Tery corraptly.
form ibes. To underftand how the Arebians came to fetcle in to iande Africa, we mout know, that in the 400 th Year of thie Shime Hegiira, Hutmen the Mahometan Califa and Patriarch of Arabic; fent an Army of 80000 Merr to Africa, unider the commiand of one Hinchr H:bru Naficb; who to avoid the People of Tunis, whom he dreaded, travelld into the Delarts, and built Cairoan; about izo Miles from Carthage. Tis true, the Mehometan Priefts forbad the Arabians to crofs the Nile, bat this factious Califf permitted them to go, becaufe ore of his Noble-men had rebell'd againft him, and ufurpंd a great part of Barbary. After that, the Califa Elcain fent 2nother Army of 80000 Men, under the command of one Geboar, whom of 2 Slave he had made a Counfellor. This Geborr conducting the Troopsthrough the Defarts of Eypp and Berbary; defeated.the Vicc-Califa of Esppr, and recoverd all Nu:
midia and Birbary; and to cover the Garrifons he had left in Barbary, from the Incurfions of the Califte and Badget out of Afir, built a City calld Alcl:air, and afrerwards Cairo, which he walld round, arid which is csire buil; faid to have increas'd fo prodigionly, thar it our-ttip'd all the Cities of the World for Buildings and numbir of Inhabitants. After that, while Califf Elcain was preparing fora War againft the Califn of Bagder, trie ViccRoy of Barbary betray'd all B trbary irito the Hands of the Califa of Bagder, who thercupin made him King of all Africa. Elcain being much difoourag'd with his Lors, was rold by one of his Counfellors, that if he would fuffer the Arabians to invade Africe, they wotitd not only dohimgood Service, but likéwife prefent himi with a large Sum of Gold for their Licence, cfrecialy conidering, that "they were then grown fo populous'; that Arabia was not ableto maincain them. Eliait: kncw very well, that the Arabians wouid fo waite all Afrita, as to render iteqgally unprofitable, either for himfe!f o? for his Enemies. However his Kingdoms beinis in great danger, he permitted all the Arabians who would pay him Ducars a piecerogo and invade fficic.t. Upon whichten Tribes of Arabin Dcfirte join'd by fome of the Tis trecercis Inhabitants of Arabia Falix, itlvaded Africr, amounting ot ibc 1 , atiin all to abour sccoo Men in Arms, beficis their Wo ans in in men and Children, and innumerable Dro es of Cattic. frica. Thefe Arabiens having mavers'd the Defart betwecta Egopt and Barbary, firtt laid fiege to Tripy/r, a Ciry of Barbity, which being Maftrid, the: ncw a greatpart of the Citizens, the relt efcaping by hiyph. Tien they took the Town of Capes and after a Siege of fix A cmiths Cairroan, putring all to the Sword. By this means they came to poffels all that Councry, and coritinued their expelld the Arebians out of Cairaon, and prefred the Friends of the late King of Africa to the Governineme However the Arabians poffers'd the adjacent Regions; and liv'd upon robbery and foil. Bur Marfor the f. urth King of Mo.occo, oppos'd the Friends of the late King of Africr, and in conjunction with the Batbericns, fubdu'd 'cm. This M.mpor fettled moft of the Aralicins in the Weftern Deminions of Africi, allotzing to the betrer forr Duccala and Azoara, and to the reft N:m:t:r But afterwards he planted the Numidian Slaves in that part of Numidin which-he had allorted to the Arabians, and brought rhoic of Aizare under his Subjection. For the Arsbians being then out of the Defarts, were like Fifhes out of the Water; and the Biarbariens planted upon the Mountains of Atlas in the Plains. prerented their Return rothe Defarcs; tohith they ofrea crideavouid. Be ing thus humbl'd, and confind to Villages, Coriages, and Tents, they apply'd themfelves to Husbanidry, and pay da large Tribute to the King of Morcico. Indeed the'Arabians of Duccrla, being a grear body, cicmpted themfelves from the Tribute. When Manfor firt tranfplanted thefe Arabians to the Weft, he leff a Body of 'cai ar Tumis, who after his deach, became Lords of Tunis, and continned fuch, till they refign'd their.Governmerit to the People calld Abm-Hnf, upon condition of receivitig from them half the Revenue thereof, which Condition is ftill oblervid. After thar thefe Arabians multiplying in innumerable fwaims, and not being able to live apötu the ftipulated Revenue, betook themiclves to Robberies, Murders, and orher Ravages, infomuch, thar no Merchants could pals thar way, without ctidangering bork his Goods and Life. Some of chi indeed are ini pay with the King of Tmis, for bringing the Merchants lafe through, which they do effictually; bur then they of-ren-cithes conftrain thè Merchants to give them great furkis of Moncy over and above their Pay.

To be thort, the Arabians that intabit Africa are drawn ap in three Claffes, viz. Cectin; Hilt, and therribe of Macbil. Cashin is divided intothree Tribesor Nationsita afirea viz. Etheg, Sumair, and Schid; and Erbeg is fubdivided into the Families of Dellor, Elucuntcffo, and Subair which are difpers'd inro réveral plices. Hilcl is branch'd out into the People of Benihemis, Reiin, Sufien, and Cizufain; ander Benibemir are the Liticages of H:iroam; Hacben, Habratm; Muffein; under Reiio, theif, of Dcocad, Sunid; Ajgeg, Elelprith; Enedri atd Garjema Machil has thtee Tribes; viz: Maffar; Hucmen; גjuld Hoffous ; under Mafter are Rucben 2nd Selim ; under Hetrmen, Elhafi anid Cbines; under Haffau, Dewighyf=n, Dewigmarifor, and Dewibubaidulla; and cach of thefe have their refpeftive Subdivifions. All chefe Iribes are fo tridely dilpers'd, that it is not poifible so mace theit diftinct Seas.
cachinandia To begin with that of Caching. Eshog was the no pofte to Sogelmes, where the. Plenty of Dates alone is Subdivifionx bieft and on illaftrious Tribe of all the Arabiens. Being planred in Duccale and Tedles, by Almanfor. Tho thes are able to raife 100000 Men, many of which;are Horfe, yet the Kings of Portugal and Fcz. have often mauld them. The Tribe Sumait poffeffes that pare of cbeLibyan Defart, that's.oppofite to the Defart of Trifoli. traifes 80000 Mcn , moft Foor, and frequently invades Barbige. Saljid poffefics the Libyan. Defart, is frielly allicd with the King of Guargela, raifes 85000 , mott Foor, and fupplics all the Cities of that Country with Flefh, being mew'd up in their Defars in Wincer. Moft of the Tribe Dellig inhabits Cafarea, fome of cm ic Fromirs of Buic who have a Ycarly Allowance from their nexr Neigbbours, and a fraller number Acdes and part of Mount it/cs being fubject to the King of Fex. Eimunlofg, calld by latter Writers Elcenturh, inhabirs \(A_{\text {A }} g .2 r\), raiks 8000 Horfe, and pays Tribute to the King of Fr -. Sobsir enjoynsagreapeart of Nurmidia, takes pay of the King of Tremefen, is able to raife 3000 Warlike Horfes, and having many Camels lies all Winter in the Defarts. Part of this Family poffeffes the Plain between Sala and Mecnes, being 4000 Warlike Horfe frong, and applies it felf to Husbandry, paying 2 yearly Tribute to the King of Fe .

As for the fecond Principal Tribe calld Hitel; Frituend it Benibemir poffeffes the Fronzicrs of Iremefon and Oran, has always in readincts 6000 Horfe, takes pay of the King of Tremefen, and fcours the Detart of Tergorain: Harja are Savages, Strangers to War, but devoted to Robbery. They have 2000 Horfepoffefing the Borders of Muftuganim, bur never peep our of the Defarts. Hucban: lives in the Neighbourhoot of Melin, and takes pay of the King of Tumis; they are an inhumane Peopic, and their Strength fies in 1500 Horle. Hatram are planted between Oran and Muffuganim; they are Tributary to the King of Tremefen, and can farce make roo Horfe: Mufom poffeffes the Defirt of Muflata, and purfues Thefeand Robbery. Riech; living in the Defarss of Libfr near Confantinn, is a Warlike Nation, that poffiffes Ample Dominions in Numsidia, has 5000 Horle ar command, and receives pay of the King of Tintis. Suacd poffeffes the Defart adjoyning to Tener, and receives pay of the King of Tremefen, being a Peopie of grear dexterity, both in Wars and ocher Actions. part of Argeg inhabits Geres, and part of em poffeffes thas part of Duccala that joins Azapins. Elcheret, 2 barbarous inhunian Tribe, poffefes Heliu, in the Plain of Saindim, and commands Tribute from Hea. Enedri inhabirs the Plains of Hea Garfa having neither King norGovernour, are difpersd among the other Families, and are employd in carrying Dates from Serelmus to \(F_{n}\), and bringing Commodities from \(\mathrm{Fe}_{2}\) to Scm gelincs.
Maccril and

pofte to Sogelmes, where the Plenty of Dates alone is Tarbelbels and Dast under Contribation, and bring ibto tho field 3000 gallant Horfemen; Menelibo in the fasne Defart, a moft valiant Nation, able to raife 2000 Horfe, that commands the two Provinces of Metgara and He solve, and receives Tribute of Segelmes. Hutein, poffefing divers Caftles and rich Cisies, upon the Mountains of Atlas, which tis chought the Vice-Roysof marini garc 'em in conflderation of cheirService, a rich toner lort of People, able to raife 6000 Horfe, and ufing many other Arabians for Servants; and Alluaimfein in th Defart of Eddara, living in great mifery in chcir Tancs where they hare fcarce fufficientSuftenance. The Tribe of Demilubridullf has the following Branches wiz Gbartag in the Defarts of Benigoni and righig, a Pcople given to Theft and Robbery, Sripendaries to the King of Tremefen, and able to raile 4000 Warlike Horfes Herdeg, poffefing the Defart calld Haugad, near Tre \(m c / c \pi\), able to raife 500 Horfe, and minding only Rapine and Stealth, and having neither Jurifdiction nor Ray of any Prince; Teleb, confifting of 3000 Horfe inferiour to no orher Nation, who inhabit the Plain of Algeier and were Mafters of thic famous Cirics of Aloiers and Tedelles, till in our Days Barbaraffa, the Tark difpofefs'd chem, and cut off their principal Heads; and lafty Geloan, featter'd among the Pcople of Glorrag and Hedis in the quality of Scrvants.

So much for the Branchesof the three Principal Tribes of the Arabians, wwo of which, namely, Cacbin and catina: Hilel, being originally of Arabia Deferte, derive their Hilut ic. Pedegree from lsmal the Son of Abralmam, and the other forde ind calld Machil, fpringing from Arabia Farlix, traces its 0 , \({ }^{5, m}\) riginal to Sabr. Tho' the Mribometans give the Preference to the I/maelites, yet Ieveral Epigrams and Dialogues have been wric both proand con upon the comparative Nobility of thair Extraction. The Ancient Araliens thar were before the time of the I/maelites, were calld by the Ancient Hiftorians Aribi-Arabia, i. e. Aralians of Arabin; but the I/maelites ware calld Arebi-MurAraun, i. e. Arabians ingrafted in Arabia, as being bred and born elfewhere. Thofe which came after them to Africa, were calld Mnfenligemi, i.: c. Barbarous Arabians, becaufe they joynd in with Strangers, and corrupted both their Speech and Manners.

Of all the parts of Africa after the Deluge, Egrpr was arft inbabited by Mexraim, the Son of Ham, and Adeix, Grandion of Noab, and was calld after his Name. Docrimin Sometime after Et thiopia was peopled by Clase another of of tha and Clam's Sons, and Libyaby Fath, a chind Son, from whom on : ish it derived the Name of Furteia. Sabrathat the Son of ce, onnore Chis, pcopl'd the Defarts berween Numbidic and Nofro-deram innd,' as Tut, another of Cham's Grand-childerndidt thar of inatericania Timgitana. The Africen Authors affure us, that Barbary and Nussidia have becn long inhabited, but they are not agreed. upon the firft Inhabitants. Some fay, an \(A f\) fatick Pcople expelld their own Conntry, and finding no Sccurity in Greece, went and peopled Barim. Others alicdge, that the People of Pbanicia in Pelefine, being expelld their own Country by the A/frians, and coldly receiv'd by the Egyptins, palsd on to the Defars of Africa, where they fert'd.
Eut the African Authors of the beftinate affurd us that the firft Inhabitants of Barbary and Nitrmidia, now \(\begin{gathered}\text { cosompors }\end{gathered}\) call'd Barbarians, were fise Colonies or Tribes of Sansciout becns, that came thicher along with melec Ifirqui, 2 Prince of Ryabia Frrix mentiond above, to which 600 Families of Berebers, and the greareft Linesof all Africa, owe their Original. Thefe Tribes did firf people the Eaftem Parts of Barbary, from whence they difper'd themfelves over moft of Africe, recaining the name of Berebers from Berbary, their fiff Habitation; whereas the former Inhabitants of Timpiranai, Numidia and Libya wacrecall'd Cbilobes. Tho' thefe five Tribes liv'd furf of all in Tents of the Ficlds, yet when they came to War with one another, thofe who were defeated and rob'd of their Flocks, fied from the Plains, where the Conquerours remain'd to the Mountains, where mising with the Ancient Africans, Chilabecrns, and Getriarns, they built Houfes to Ccreen themfelves from the Weather.
This occafion'd the Difference Eetween the Brebirs that live in the Fields and thofe that dwell in Houfes, nmen the former of which, have the Preference for Riches:-tre: and Power, tho borh of 'emare equally zealous in kecp- mors in ing up their Ancient Cuftoms, and celcbrating the Honour of their Orignal. Threc of thefe five Tribes, namely, the \(M_{2}\) fimudi, Zeneti, and Zenirgi; have reignd feveral times in Barbary, Numidit, and Libra, for Arms, but few Hories in che Spring they ufually tra pobfelfes hhe Decrarts of Tagacmeft: It raifes above sooo Micn, moietts she People of Nom, and purs the Neigh bours under Conaribution. The Tribe of Demimanfor fäs five Branchics, namely, Debeucrum, ingheDefart op upon the Declenfion of the Empire of the Arabians; for before that they were only govern'd by Heads or Leaders for cach Community, calld Cobeila's, and were feveral times worfted by forcign Nations. The Kings of Tunn and Tremefin are defcended of thefe Tribes, and theie Crowns continued in that Line till the Turks was poffersd of 'cm. The other two Tribes, namely, Gomeri and Hronri, were Mafters of feveral Provinces, tho' they did not arrive arthe Dignity of Crowns: So that it is manifeft, that all the Kings that reign'd in Africa, from the Declenfion of the Empire of the Arabiens, were defeended of thefe five Tribes.
tie reople. Befides thefe, there was a nored People in Africa called Azuagues, who are now featrcr'd up and down the Prorinces of Barbay and Numidia, and moft of 'cm are Shepherd's, tho' chey have fome Artizans among 'em, that make Linen and Cloth. Theylive upon Mountains and Hillis, and neftle in litele Holes and Chinks; and rotwichfanding their extream Poverty, are commonly ETTH: Tributary to the Kings or Arabians. The Africen Authors fay tincy are Phenitians cxpelld by Jofhuc the Son of Nim, who being deny'd Admifion by the Expp:iens, pals'd on to Lilyr, where they built Cartbage 1268 Years before Cliriff: And a long time after that, if we credit H/ri:-Abragty, a great Stone was found there with thefe Words engraven upon it in the Punic Language, Wic fled Wither from the Piefence of that Notorions Robber, Jofhua fir Sor of Nun: Bcfore the Amrival of this People, Afclepius and Hercules bad reign'd in Africa. But after the firt Deftruction of Carrhege, before it was rebuilr by Dido, this Reople retird to the Weat part of Barbery, under Hannon their Leader, and there builr LibyTPhanicien Cities, in which they ftill continud when the R:mansinvaded Africa: Some fay that Country was call'd sauritanian from them, becaufe they calld themfelves Maurior Maurrphori. However 'tis ccrtain the Ajaguc are a warlike indufrious People, and very formerly very puiflant.
Theirim
TheirLanguage is that of the Berbers, tho they likewifc fpeak Aravick, efpecially thofe of 'em thar frequent the Neighbo: Thood of Lorbus upon the Fronriers of Tuni, where they have a perpecual Traffick. Their principal Refrdence is in the Provinces of Trencfor cipal Refidence is in the Provinces of Tremefen and \(\mathrm{F}_{\text {F }}\).
Tinta:
But the mort paiflant Branch is feated between the Kingdom of Turn, and Biledulgarid, from whence they have feveral times had the confidence to attack the Kings of Tunis, and not many Years ago defcated the Gover nour of Confrantinc, who meand to fubdue them. By vertue of that ViAtory, their Lcader became one of the mott puifine Soverains in aficti. As prefent he is knomi by the Name of Cuco, and wazes perpctual War with the Turks.
This Reople boafts of being originally Chriftians, 2 Fa and diftinguih themulves from the Malometans, by not having their Beards nor cutting their Hair as they do. Byan ancient Cuftom they make a blew Crofs upon their Check or Hand with an Iron, which they take to be a Mark of their Original. Bur the true Occafion of that Cuftom was this, When the Romens and Goths reign'd in Burbery and Numidir, they cxcmpted the Chriftians from all Tribute; And for as much as every bodyhada trick of calling bimfelf a Cbriftian whets the Commiffaries came to colleat the Taxes, to avoid al chinimand: Miftakes, thore who vere really Chriftians, were or crucuik of Hand. Upon that Occafonthe A \({ }^{2}\) ung tes did fo, and coftinuel the Profefion of Chriftianity till the Arrival of the Arslicens. There are other Africans that likewife carry fuch Marks, but by the procels of time, inftead of Croffes they make other Figores, with no ocher DeGign but to denote the Antiquity and Nobility of their Extraction. The Arrbian Girls alfo have, by way of Omament, upon thcir Breafts, Hands, Arms, and Legs, fereral Finures of a blew colour made with a Lancer; bur thefe Figuresare differeni from thofe of the Azuagues. As for the other Inhabitants of Africe, we muft call to mind that ñbutbas the Son of Clous, peopled the Defarts of Lition Interior, and the linhabitants were calld after him Sabatheans, and are divided into five Tribes, viz Senegr, Zurnizigar, Terge, Berioa, befides a poor mifeable fortof Pcople, that inhabit the rough and barren places upenthe Confincs of Negro!and. Thefe the Grosions call Nomat-:, and the Lesins Nai-Tisitumperes mides. They live in Tensalihe the Arcibians, and run up and down atter their Camels. Thofe of Serega live upon the Weftern Coaft, extending caftward to Tegaza, northward to Sus, Hicijn, and Ders, and fouthward to Guatata and Tonestr. Thefe pucrifizues or Gnemezerics, caterd from the Frontiers of \(\mathrm{T}_{\mathrm{g}} \mathrm{cz}\) a on the Weft, to the Defart of Hair on the Eaft, on the North to the ProVinces of Scgelmes, Tebelveled and Beniporey, and on the South to the Kingdom of Guber. Thofe of Terga cxtend from Hair on the WCA, to IMuil on the Eaft, and from the Defarts of Agadez on the South, to that of Tumt and the Province of Tegorarin and Mcfalb on the North. Thofe of Lempraxexiend from Iguidi on the Werlt to Berdoa on the Eaft, and from Caro in Nicgioiand on the South, to Tecourt, Guerguelau, and Gredemsi on the North. Thofe of Berdoe, run from thence Eaftward, to the. Fronticrs of Angeln, and are bounded on the Niorth by the Defars of Fiz and Barcr, and Beme on the South. Some Afric:on Hiftorians fay, the race of Semezr did and coos Atill reign in Meli, Tombur, and Agader in Acarchad. Each of the fe Families has areffective Clropue or Prince; ard, which is very remarkable, they never War or quarsel with one another abour the Divifion of their lands.

Thefive Tribes of the Numide are equally Strangers to Civility or Laws. They coverabour half their Body with and Mnaners 2 ficce of narsow courfe Clorh; forme of 'cm wrap a of tie -fri: picce of black Cloth about their Heads, in the form of ran feqple, Tcurkilh Turbant, part of which, like a Mask, covers 7 ther \(G\) a all the Face but the Eyes. The better fort weara Jacket ments, of bluc Cotoon, with wide Slecves, the Cottonbeing imported from Negroland.
They have no "Beafts fit to xide upon but Camels, wanner of which Nature has furnilh id with a fort of. Sad lle betwect thinictheir Necks and the Bunch upon the hinder part of theit Backs. Sometimes they lay their Legs acrofs upon the Camel's Nack; and fomerimes they make ufe of a Rope caft over his Neck for Scirrops. Their Spurring confifit in pricking the Cammel's Sboulders with a Goad fafter'd to the end of a Trunchcon of a Cubit's length. Their Bridles are a Ring of Learher fatten'd to a hole boar'd thro' the Gritte of the Camel's Nofe, with which they curb 'em very cafily, as fome do the Buffloes in Italy.
Their Bcds are Mats made of Sedge-and Bul-B.ds. rufhes.
Their Tenssarecommonly covierid with a coarie fort tesc: of Cambler, or with a rough fort of Wool, wich commonly grows upon the Boughs of their Date-Tres
Their only Food is Camel's Milh and dry" Fieth way of as: frecpid in Burter and Milk. For their B-cakfaft they ing. drink up a great Cup of Camel's Milk; and for S:peer they take a piece of the above-mention'd Fletin in their Fith, and fo cat it up, drinking afterwards out of the Palms of theirHands, the Broch in which 'twas fecepc', in order to promote Digction, and afrer thar a Cup or Milk. The berier fort who cover their Heads and Faces with the black Cioth mention'd aboye, remove the Mask when they put the Mcat into their Mouths, and immediarcly covertheir Mouths again; for which Cufrom thicy ofier this Plea, that as Vomiting is undecent, \(\mathrm{C}_{0}\) is cating with an uncover'd Mouth. While their Milk latts, i. e. for the Spring of the liear, they never mind Water, nay, fome of "cm swafh neither Hands nor Face; and in like manner their Cammels nercr drink any Water fo long asthey can feed upon Grafs.
Their whole Imployment is Hunting or Theiving; gufinef but they cannot tarry above three Days in one place, for want of Pafture for their Camels.

Nowwithfanding their unacquaintedncts with Civility Govemmcot or Laws, they tender Homage and Obediencero 2 Prince that governs cm.
But they're altogetherignorant of Learning, and de- Leamirg. ftitutic of Vertuc; nay, fuch is their contempr of Iiberal Sciences, that they can neither condefrend to purchafe cm atche Expence of quitring their Defarts, nor brook the Converfation of Learnca Mcn. A Man of Scnek and Prudence is a Plicisix among them.
If any one means ro commence a Law Suit againft his Ncighbour, he mult ride five or fix Days before he can meer with a Judge; Tho'afrer all, if any Judge woula condcfend to live among it em, they d make bion a good Allowance, perhaps 1000 .Ducars a Year, fome aiore, fomelefs.

Fheir Women are grols, corpulent, and fwarthy, womon frall wafted, and fat abour their Breafts; they are modelt in their Spech and Geftures. Whocver offer cm more than a bareKifs, endangers his Life; for the Mín canby no means brook a whocilh Wife; ner, fuch is their nice Jcaloufy, that it frequently prexepts em to murder one anotherin a very favagemaniner.
This Pesple are nored for their generous Liberalizi When any Travellers pals the Defars, they neither re Liver ior pair totheir Tents, nertravel upon the High-way. Iflity. any Caravan or Company of Merchanis parfes thofic Defarts, they mult nay to the Prinec a piece of Cloth worth a Ducat for cyery Camcl's Load. I remember I once rravel'd with Come Mctchants thro' thic Defart Arron, and there met with the Prince of Zanagn, who after the Reccipr of his Cuftom, carry'd the Merchants to the place of his Refidence, and there eatertain'd 'con very handfoncly. We ftay'd with him two Days, and convers'd with him and bis Courticrs frecrucntly, by the Intervention of an Interpreter. He cnrertaifi'd us with grear plenty of roafted and boyl'd Fledh, particularly roafted Oftriches (which he had huneed and taken by the way) Kerv'd upin Wieker Scivers, and feafon'd with feveral Herbs and Spiecs; befides the Flefh of Camels, of which he kill'd feveral cvery day, notwithftanding our Remonftranecs to the contrary, alledging. That fmall Cartle was roo mean Entertainment for fuch uirfrequent Guefts as wc. He regal'd us likewife with Bread made of Milk and Panicke, the Tafte of which was very pleakant and favoury. For the King had laid upgrear fore of Corn for the Entertainment of Strangers, tho' hus own Counrry bears none; and for that Reafon neitber he nor his People cat of it, unlefs it be when they facrifice ac the Fcaft of the Paffover, and other Fcafts. He did not cat with us himfelf, but order'd feveral Religious and Learned Men ro make us welcome who fed only on the Flefh and Milk withour Bread; our conftant Defert was plenty of Milk and Dates: On the third day wetook leave, and he accompany"d us to the place where we overtook our Camels and the reft of our Company that we had order'd to go on while we went to the King's Refidence. What we have faid of the Cuftoms of this Nation, may be apply'd to the other four Tribes of the Numida.
The Cutums As for che Arabians, their Cuftoms vary according to of the are their refpective Scars. Thofe who are feated between Gians in Sfrica. Numidia and i-ibyn are very valiant, but live in grear Want and Mifery. They commonly exchange Camels in Negro-laud, and have grear plenty of Horfes, call'd by the Europeans Baibarg-horfes. They take great delight in hunting Deer, Wild Affes, Oftriches, and the like. The irabians which inhabit Numidia, have a peculiar Talent of ferting forth their Love Intreagues, Hunting Adycntures, Combats, and other memotable Actions in Rhime. They are naturally generous, bur dare notmake any fhew of Wealth by their Liberality, for fear of the daily Inconveniences that opprefs cm . They dillodge the Native Numidians of the Defarts they now polfefs, \(i\). c. chofe which border upon the Land of Dates or Bilcdulgerid, and about that time the Getuls and Numidians fled to the Frontiersof Nogrolend.
The Arabians berween Mounr Atlas and che MediterThe Srabi- ancen, are much wealthier than thofe. Their HorfeMount dila meat is better, as well as their Cloaths and Tents and hendedi- Their. Horfes are better thap'd and mote corpulent, tho' not fof wift. Their Husbandry is rewarded with great increafe of Corn. Their Flocks of Cattleare almoft innumerable, to that they can't live juft by one another for want of Pafture. Bot after all, they are far from being gencrous and liberal, and are more barbarous than thole which inhabit the Numidian Defarts. Part of thefe, dwelling in the Territory of \(F_{\tau}\) t are fubject to the -King of Eez. The reft in Morocco and Duccnla, continued a long time frec from Exaction and Tributc, till being attack'd by the King of Portigal on one hand, and the King of \(F c_{2}\) on the other, they were reduc'd to the extremity of Famine, and thereupon offerd to fubmic to any onc that would fupply their Necelfities. Thus they became Slaves to Portugal, and were almoft totally excirpared out of Duccela.
Thofe who inhabit the Defarts borderingupon the The Arabisn Kingdoms of Tremizen and Tunis, may be call'd Noble Aporders of men and Gendemen, upon che compaxifon with the reft. Trunifen and The King of Tuntrs pays grear Revenues cycry Year to their Tanis.

Their Women are very gorgionfly attir'd, according to The hati the Cuftom of chat Country. Thicy wear Linen Gownts theirthoned dicd black, with excceding wide' Slečves; over which they formetimes caft a Mantle of the fame Colnur, or of blue, the Corncrs of it being very artificially faRen'd ibout their Shoulders with a fine Silver Clafp. They have Ear-rings, forthe molt parr of Silyer, befides many Kings upon their Fingers, and fome Scarts or Ríngs an bout their Arms and Ankles. Their Faces arc cover'd with Masks, which they pull off only to their Rclations. They accompany their Husbands to the Wars, in order to chear up and bearten 'em, and to ayoid the Trouble and Affliction of their Abrence, and ride upon Camels, having Wicker Saddles fo contriv"d, as to be fit only for one Woman to fit upon. The Maids paint cheir Faces Breaft, Arms, Fingers and Legs, for Ornameyt's fake; but the married Women abftain from counterfecir Colours. Sometimes indeed they make ufe of Hen's Dung and Saffron, to painit 2 round for abour the breaddh of 2 French-Ctown, in the Balls of their Check, a riangle upon their Eyc-brows, and the refemblance of ang Olive leaf upon their Chins. But upon the Ufe of thefe Ornaments, which are highly efteem'd by the Arabian Poets, and reckon'd Incentives to Venery, thex: arefecan by none but their Husbands and Children.
Thic Arabians inhabiting the barren Defarts between thentraie Barbary and Egypt live in grear Mifery and Want. They beswenem. are not without Camels and other Cattel, which they berm mat exchange for Dates and Corn, but they have very litule 5 : Fodder. The Soil produces no Com; and all the Iabour and Induftry of the Inhabitants of fome few Villages is only rewarded with a plemiful Haíveft of Dates befides, they are a numcrous multitude. When they come to Sicily to buy Gorn, their Moncy falls fhorr, thicy lave their Sons in pawn in grear numbers, many of which turn Chrîttians; and if the Money be not paid on' a cer tain Day, the Sicilinns claim their Sons for Slaves, and pur a Ranfome upon 'cm, amounting to the riple of quatriple of the Dcbr. For which Reafon they rake all the Strangers they meer, and after faving ftrip'd 'cm of all they have, fell 'cm to the Sicilians for Comn; nay fometimes they pour warm Milk down their Throats, and hang 'em up by the Heels to make 'em vomit up their Gold, in cafe they have fwallow'd any to prevent heir coming arit; and upon that account the Merchants which Traffick to Africe, kecp above 500 Miles off of their Country, efpecially towards thie Sea-Coaft. In fine, they are a rude, Forlorn, beggarly and flav'd Crew:
There aremany Africans who are difpers'd abour the surphate Mountain Atlas, living altogether the Life of Shepherds inkbit 13 or Drovers, which pay Tribute cither to the King of ihe Manmian Country where they dwell, or elfe to the Arabians; cxcepting only thofe which inhabir Temefna, who are very powerful and independant. Moft of 'cm fpeak the fame Language with the other Africens; only thofe who lie. near Vrbs (a City in the Neighbourhood of Tums) fpeak the Arabian Farther, the Region which divides Namidia from \(A\) puifar Tunt, is intiabited by a fort. of People, who ofrentimes propletc. wage War with the King of Tuns, and in the 915 Xcar wimn mimin of Mabomet's Hegeira, routed the King of Tuns's Army, and Iew his Son who commanded 'cm. From thar time Their Fame fread ir felf into all places, and many of the King of Tuni's Subjects revolted from him to them; infomuch that the prefent puiffance of the King of this People, is fearce ro be paralleld in all Africa.
The Ancient Africens had magnificent Temples, de- The Revinia licated ro the Honour of the Sun and Firc, which the andemmor worlhip'd, and kepr a perpetual Fire in 'cm. Thofe of the \(n\) mimi Libya and Numidia wormip'd fome cercain Planet, with Sacrifices and. Prayers. But thofe of Negro-land worhip'd Guibimo, i. e. The lord of Heaven, and that by a natural Inftinct without the Influence of any Teacher. After char, the Jewilh Law prevaild among 'em for fome Ycars, till they imbracid Chriftianity; which aclaft they exchang'd for Mahometanifm, in the 208rth Year of the Hegeira, being at that time inveigled by Mahcmet's Dif ciples, infomuch that they pur to death all the Jews Chriftians, and Profcffours of the Africen Religion that were then found among 'cm. But in procefs of time, their Civil Diffentions mov'd'em to neglect Mabomer's Law, and revolt from the Califa of Badget; for which they wate feverely punilh'd by the Mahometan Califa's. However the Africens thar dwell near the Ocean; are, ail of 'em very grofs Idolaters. The Arabian Hiftorians agree, that the Africaris us'd only Reman Letters, but 0 thers alledge that they had peculiar Letters of their owni, which were loft when the Italians firt fell upon Africa; For, that when the Africans reyolted from the Cralifa of Governours, who deftibute the fame among the People and that renders their Pcace and Mutual Concord firm and inviolable. They have a notable Dexterity in mak ing Tents, and in breeding and keeping Horles. They concimue in the Defarts all Winter ; in the Spring they hunt with wondexful fuccefs; and in the Summer they approach to Tunis, in order ro have their Pay, and to pro vide thempelves with Bread, Armour, and other Nc ceffarics. I have feen in their Tents, tho nor without danger, greater quantirics of Clnath, Brals, Iron, and Copper, than the richeft Ware-houfes of fome Ciries can match. They have fome thew of Civility, bat up. on occafion will fteal very dextcroully. Their Lan guage is pureand elegant. They take grear delight in Poetry, and indeed their Verfes are very fine; and the Governour treats thicir beft Poets with a diftinguilhing Refpest and bounty, Br.thef, the Mahomeran. Califi's caus'd all thic iffrican Books to be burne, upon the apprehenfion that the knowledge of Ares and Scicnecs prompted 'cm to contemn Malcmer's Law. And athe fame Fate befel the Rerfith Books and I citers, their knowk dge in Nataral Philefuphy and D Jolatrows Religion being reckon'd bethe Maarmern Prelates, an Incentive to: the contemprof the Precepts of Mablomer.

Tis truc, all the Cities of Berbery ufe only Latin Letters, wbecther in Verfe or Profe; bus thas does nor argue that the Africous in times paft imighe nor have peculiar Chameters, by which chey deferibd their Exploits, cfpecially if we comider with Ib:m Rachich, that as 'ris certain they Lad a peculiar kind of Speech, fo tis not to beimagin'd that they borrow'd Characters unfuitable to their Mother Tonguc. Probably the R-mans; when they fu' dued Berbary, abolibid the ule and memory of the ancicnit African Charaeters, in order to raife the Fime and Reputation of tha Rooman People, by introdecing Roman Letters.
Aditions:o The Arabians of Namidia and Llbre are of a frank Infweging hof irable Humour, and value thair Reputation; but Namme they are mifcrabiy poor, as well as the Natives of that Councry. They are nor only Lovers of Pocite, but likewife of natural Philoíphy and Eloquence. The Pocms they make, are fer to thicir Tabors, Lutes and Violins, and fung along with them; ray, many of can fing, flay and compofe all at once. The Arcbiens that live in Bartary, between Mount atlis and the Mediterranent, are a Penple of lefs courage, and more barbarois, than thofe of the Defarts; tho at the fame time they entertain and regale Strangers withour any Reward. The arabians in Morcceo being divided among themreives when the King of Portugel took the Towns of \(S_{n-f i}\) and Azamor, moft of 'cm ware forced to offer themfelyes as Slaves to the Porsuruefe, and fell their Wizes and Children for Brcad. A fmall tiandfui of 'cm retirid. further into the Country, under the conduct of Ciserif, who at latt made himfelf Mafter of a Province, and ar prefens. all the Iniabitants of that and the ncighbouring Provinces are his Vaffals. The drebiats who inhabir the Defarts upon the Frontiens of Tremizan and Timts came to Tumt in the Summer, to have their Pay from the King of Tumis, bue continue with their Flociss in the Defarts all Winter, becaufe they afford Grais in that Scaicn. In the Spring they are much caken up with Huncing and Hawking, being furnifld with cxcellent Dogs and Fal. cons. Their Wounen accompany "cm to the Field when they are engag'd in a War.
The Girls adom Reveral places of their Body with Thecaiont bluc fpors made with Vitriol and the point of a Launof the wramen cer, And the 'African Girls follow their Exampic in that in.ofrise poins. But the married Women do nor difguife their natural colour; only the" blacis their Eyebrows, and make fome black foots upon their Checks, Forchead and Clin, with the Soot of Gall--iuts and Saffron.
Ttesman All the Arabians that live towards the Weit, where tha-rations the Kingdoms of Fr and Mareco Lic, do comeconly carry Speats about twent; five hatads long, whith are made of Becch, for they have none of Alh but what are brought from Eu ope, and are fo much valucd, that they are fold for rwend Crowns. They likewife make ufe of Eucklers made of a fort of Buif, of which they have a Eucklers made of a fort of Buif, of which they have a grear deal Their Kings are very curious in naking Mayazines of fross, in which there are a grear many Coats of Armour and Heacpicess, Mortoitheir Swords are imported from Cliritindom; and are very dear; for thofe they make in the Country are ncither of good Steel, nor well temper'd for want of Water fit for that purpofe. There are fome Horfemen among em that carry Crofsbows, and manage 'em very dexteroufly. They ufe no Mufquets or Piftols, ncicher do the; los c'em. When they go rpan a Skirmith, they take the Saddics or Coverings off their Horkes, that they may fit with more freedom, and be lefs incommoded by the Wind when they whed. They affect rich Hainets and Trappings mighrily, and shote who have cen never ride without 'em. Some Herfemein carry fist or feven Javelins, which they throw fo dextcroully, thas they'li hit a fmall Mark at forty paces diffance; and cincir Horfesturn and whecl winh an tuinaginable celcri:y.
The Arajiens wholive towards the Eaft, from the Kingdom of Tichisecn to the Defarts of R,area, carry Pikes about forty or fifty hands loag, which are ftecl'd at both ends for pulhing both backwards and forwards, and the moft dangerous Wounds they give is upon a Kerrear; for when' an Enemy purfues 'enz clofe, they lay the Pike upon the left Arm, and dart is Eack upon him when he leaft thinks of is: chis they do with fo miuch agilit,", that ne of 'em would be hard enough tor twalye Horfemen upon a Plain. The feter for of thete Pike are made of a"black, hardy and wcighry Roct, whati they bing fropi the Defatts of Lityn, and which this hravier it is, is reckon'd the Eetes for thas whe. Thetac who rfe thefe Pites cirry no Budhers, l wi forterime the Javelins I-mentiond alowe Headpieces and Coat; or Armour are oniy us'd by the Spearmen, becanfe dic. would hinder the Pikemen to turning fo mian! they commonly do. Sone of 'em carry Crofs' oves, iut they ufe riv Fire-axms, efpecially uponkiorenack.

Thofe of Tremeren and \(F \because\) so beyond all the reft the Goodrefs and Crmanents of +i, ir Horfes; winl then who lite further to the Fie?, are more nimble, and have Comewhat in 'em ilares nober and erater:

They comenonly igh on Hotuback; bue for: their chepues, edpecially thofe of Tromat, have of la: ycars made fome lifufyuctiers, wion ferve only on frigi ten the Arnuians, wat ate wondefilly afride of lir. for they cannot make ufe of Gums without rathing :hen diforder: And indeed they have a pectiar say of foring upon all occalions, for they nevor firte in a Boct but as foon as they axe attarte'd, they dipere and cha, the Encmy upon feveral Qartcrs., in a word, hy ate So nandy and cxpert in the mamgencne of their trms, rhat thcy fall prefently in withthe kinany tpen ain hencs, and ectire or advanoc with incredille rater
When they cegage with the firftem: tic: aim ciac Ay at their Horics, as knowing that themfitics, be ser in Armour, are not fo eafily wounded.
As for the ancicat Cuftom and Supertition of the In- Thas: emer till the Xear 349 ; (the 387 th of C.far's - Talcuda:; at which time they were converted to Chrifianity. This Pcople, affer long Wars and many Batecis wish the Aravicus, were ar laft tanguifn'd by'cm. The Negroes of lower Eethiopia wornipi'd fome the Sun, others the Moon, others the Stars, others again Wate or Fire, anif fome the firff living thing they mer upon' their goon abroad. Thofe of erthiopiat the hagher worfhip'd the fiod of Hearen, under the name of Guirum, till they cmbraced uc \(\mathcal{F}^{\prime}\) mifl Relision, which hapmed when the thel aiv of infoes and the lrophits. Some of the inhat-Religion, and continuad in it till the Quen of catdiac's Eunuch, baptiz'd by St. Phile', taughe 'em the Chriftiars Faith. Affer that, in the Year tof, (the vading lower Etstopit, gave an oppoctunt: to the Mahomeran Doctors to impare their Religion, particulur! to the Inhabirants of Libyn and Gensecit, bordaring upon Cavet and the Defarts of 1 ily, amorg whom there are cecral Aftanuis and Alcironifls to this day. Thofe of the lower ethippe, that lize rewards the sei-fite, atemota ther than that of Men; tho' forne reve of 'ent have beca converted to Chiftianity fince the Poratenf: cxtended their Naseration to that Con't. The Egepoitas were firit Holarcri, then Cbriftians and Monerbelires, afer which he treateft pare of 'cm tiook up with riticn:es's! awt.

Astor the Lecters in afe amongit the ancient sivicars, thain ante: tho' all the ancicna Wixitings to be found in sifrica, be fora the arrival of the finsians, arc in Lasin or Gomhick Characters, as the modern are i. Arabick, yet thar does not argac that the ancient Aficents had to pecuiar Ler ters; for it cannot be tho.ght ftrange, thar they atould Dole their Letters, after. paffing fo miny Ages und ar the Yoke of davers Nations, who were of different Relisions.

After the Cuftoms and Mianners of the Africms; we Losiscoirs come to their Climate and Soil, and the natural Conic- of ches Soit nicncies er Inconvenicucies of thein Coantry.
larlay ard its. Mountains are more fubject to coid than hear, for Snow accompanies aloon every gate of the moun Wind. Thefe Mountains have plenty of lofy Trices, hate. Fruirs and Eeafts, bue little Corn, to that the Inhabiranss live motly upon Birkey foread; and the Sorians ot Rivulers detconding froin them are muddy, and fin prefent the quality and tafte of the Ground they glide from. The lirte Hills and Vallers lying between there Mountains and Zooinn atlas abound with Conn, being watctd with Rivers; which run from the At/:s to the Miediceranacan Sea; thisy are nor fo plentifully rephenifl'd with Woods, bue are more rruifful than the plain Countries between the \(A t h\) and the Occan.

The Mountains of zelas are very cold and barrea; befisi chey are cover'd on all hands with Wood, and afford but ditule Corn; they give aife-re almoft all the Rivers in Africa, and cheir Springs are cold even in Surimer, info- weather, that it changes perhaps five or fix rimes a day much that they'll ftupitie ones Hand, if ir be held there for any timc. Some parts of thele Monnrains are leds cold chan others, and well inhabited; but the inhabited places arc ciclice cold to an extremiry, or vety rugged: Such are thofe oppofice to Tcmefor, upon which the Winter Noreh-wind is fo furicus, and the Snow fo copious as to deftroy ail the Poople and Cattic ; for which reafen the Mcrehants carefully avoid that Road in the Winter time, for one Nights Snow will drown not only Men and Cares, but even the very Trecs.

Snowy pluece
diviguvid.
: I remacmber (fays \(7 c / n L e 0\) ) tiatar as I travel'd to wards the Arlas, in the company of fercral Merchants, a cold and frowy Hail fell upon us in Ofiober, about Sun-ferting, upor which mecring with eleven or twelve Horicmen, whom we took to be Arabiens, upon their perfivation we left our Catis, and follow'd them, in hopes of leing conduated to a fecure piace- We rode on quictly tillimidnight, as which ti:nc one of the derabinns flripp'd me naked in ques of my Money; but finding none about me, (for 1 had buricd is in a certain place by the way) they fide in a jocote way, That they had firifp dane urily to cy how bardy \(J\) poas in cnduring Cold. Afrer that, ive continued our wandring Journes, and in a Thort time heard the bleating of. Sheep, upon which we dirested our courfe to the place from whence the found came; and leading our Horees thro' thick Woods, and over fteep and craggy Rocks, to the great hazard of our Lives, carme at lait to a Cave where fome Shepherds had witi much labour nelter'd themfelves and their Cattel, and had kindled fivinging Fires to guard off the extream Cold.
Upon our fort arrival the Shepherds were afraid the Arediens meanc 'em harm; but afterwards' being conyincid that the extremity of Cold forc'd us thither, they entruain'd us tery kindly; with Bread, Flefh and Cheefe, and after Supper we all wenc to fleep before the Fire. Our Horfes the lodg'd in anothicr Cave, and gave 'em good ftore of Hay. After two days the Snow ceas"d, and the Shepherds cleard the Door of the Cave, which the Snow had block'd up, this done, we monnred our Horfes, and were directed by the Shepherds how to avoid the Snowy depths; however, the clear Sunfline of that day difel'd the Snow and Cold of the preceding days. Ar length we came to a Village near \(E c_{2}\), where we receiv'd Advice, that our Carts were left drown'd in the Snow: Upon this, the Arabians who bad defended our Carts from Thieres, and conducted our felyes, took my Horfe from me; and carried off a \(\mathcal{F} \mathrm{cm}\) of our company as their Prifoner, till they fhould be rewarded for the painis they had taken. To retarn," the Counury beyond the Atlas is hot and dry; it aftords plenty of Dates, bur no Comn; what Rivers it has fpring from the ratias, fome of which are dired up by the Sands, and others gather into Lakes.

\section*{Frople kill:d} In bir of v , thirt in mer with barren naked Hills, the lower parts of which by Thirft in met with barren naked Hills, the lower parts of which the Defarts. afford only unprofitable Thorns and Shrubs; thefe Hills aford only unprofitable Rhorns and Shrubs; there Hills unlefs i: be in fome fow Pirs and Wells, which the yery Inhabitanss fcarce know of, for moft of their Water is broughe to them by Merchants, upon Camels Backs, efpecially in thofe parss which lie upon the Road from \(F c_{n}\) to Tcmuluto, or from Tremizan to Agad or Aordex; fo that 'ris dangcrous travelling thar Road for far of perifling by Thirith. 'Tis rrue indecd, that between \(F_{2}\) and Timbuto there are Pits furrounded with the Hides or Bones of Came's, but whea the South Wind blows, thefe are of rentimes ftopt up with Sand. In this Extremity fome have a way of relieving themfelves by killing their Camels, and queezing Waternar of their Encrails.
In the Dclart call'd \(A\) in \(20.1 d\) therc are two Monuments of Marble, the Infcription of which fers forth, that a wealthy Mierchant traveliing that way, gave ten thoufand Ducats to a Cairier for a Cup of Water, but that not being fufficient, both of 'cm died for thirft.
The Land of Negroes is extream, hor, bur weil moiand Libjo. Iten'd by the River Nifer, to that it abounds with Catrej; Corn, Cocao's, Cucumbers. Onions, and feveral other Herbs and Eruits; it has no Trees bur fome great ones, which bear a bitter Fruir like a Chefnur, calld Goron. Neither this Country nor thet of Libya have any Mounrains, but chey, prefent us with feveral Fens and Lakes, occafron'd (as 'tis reported) by the Inundations of the Nile.

After the Soil of \(A f r i c a\), we come to the Climate: of Earliary. Barbary the ftormy cold weather begins abour the middle of Otober; in Decomber and Fenuary the cold is greater but not tery tharp, unlefs it be in the Mornings; \(F_{0}\) branty mitigates the cold, bur brings fuch incoritans

In March the \({ }^{\text {r changes pernaps heve or fix times a day }}\) are adorn'd with Bloffoms : Jia April die Fruir are form'd and the Cherries ripen rowards the later cnd of it: In May the Figs are gatherd, (tho the grearcft pleaty of Figs and Peaches is in Figs and Peaches 'is in Scpromber) and the" Grancs aro ripe about Midfumntr : 'Abour' the midnt of Ayoidt the besin to dry their Grapes in the Stm, in order to make Raifins, and if the rifforionable weather overtakes cm before they have dried all, they make Wirc and Mum of the reft. Their Harvett for Honey, Pomegtanares ayd Quinces falls in Octobci, as their Olive-harvet does in November; their Olive-trees are fo tall, that they conning get at the Olives by a Ladder, bur beat off the very Boughs with long Poles. Some grear Olive-trees befr Olives which, being unfir for Oyl, ars cateri when ripc.
Their Spring begins on Febr. 15, and cnds May 18, all which time they have moft pleafant weather. They take ir for a fatal Omen, if no Rain falls from Apr. 25 to Mry 5 , for the Rain of tha: feafon is call'd Naifan; i.e Veffer lis. Vcffeis.
Their Summer extends: from May 18. to Auruft 16, and forthe moft part is attended with hot and clear weather unlefs it be rometimes that a faral Rain falls in Finly and Augyf, upon which a mortal Peftilence enfucs.
Their Autumn, in which the hecat is moderate, commences Ahgu/f 16, and terminates November 16, from which time they reckun it Winter till Febr. 15 .
They fix their Equinoxes npon March 16, and-Sept. x6. For their Solftices they reckon upon Fune 16. and \(D_{12}^{\circ}\). 16 . The Interval of time between Aug. 15 . and Sept. is: is by them call'd the Furnace of the Xcar, in regard is brings to maruxity their Figs, Quinces, and fuch other Fruits. They hold in for a firm nuth, that every Year thas forty exream hot Days, commencing from Junc 12, and as many extream cold following Dec. 12
Upon the Mountains they begin to plough in Oceber, Thes: but in the Plains they delay it till the beginning of Yifnoof the rer. In fine, they bave fuch friled Rules telacing to che tictir 4 Seafons of the Year, as are nor only regarted in the bu griai. fines of Hushandry and Narigation; bur in that of finding the Houfcs and Places of the Planets; and thefe are the firft Documents they give to their Children. Thefe things they ate fo well vers'd in, that many Country People, that know nothing clife, can difpute learnedly of Aftrology, and all their compurarions xclating to Law or Religion, are raken from the courfe of tre Aloon, However, they ow'd their firft Knowledge of Afrolcgy to the Latins, as appears from their calling the Months of the Year by the Latin Names; and from a grea; Book calld The Storefoufc of Husbendry, that was trangated one of Latin into their language when Murfi was Lord of Granade, 'tho' indced the latian Tongue, as is tands as this day, does not afford words. for a grear many particulars conntain'd in the three Vclumes of that Book,
Their \(\bar{Y}\) car differs eleven days from that of the \(R p_{0}\) mans, for they allow to fix Months rhirty Days cach and to the other fix but twenty nine, which meakes in all threc huadred fiffy four days, At divers timiss cher: have Feftivals and Fafts.
This Country ( wiz. Darbary) is infetted, abour the end of Autum, all Winter and a gxear part of the Spring with boiftcrous Winds, Hail, and terrible Thunder and lighening, and in fome places it fnowerh very much. The Eaft, South and South-Eaft Winds happening in May and Func; prcjudice their Corn and Fruit mighrily, and To doestic Snow, efpecially if in fal's in the daj-time, when the Cora begits to flower. So much for the Climate of 5 arlimit.

Upon the Mouncains of Athes, where Snow continues the riter all the Ycar round, they reckon it Wirter from Cabber of tic cilie to April, and Summer from, April to Oaber; fo thatchey divide the Year only into two parts.
In Numidia they have Winter from September to fa-ot Nimitic nutury; they reap their Comin inty and gather their Dares in ofoter, unlefs the Seprember Rain fooils them. If there falls bur. litue Rain upon the Monmains of Attiss, the Numidian Rivers grow dry, and the Fieidsareparch'd and barren for want of their dine watering; fo that 2 dry OCiober antl April fignific a forry Crop: and indced all the Corn that grows in Numidia in one Year, does fearce fuffice the Inhabitants for half a Year: Bur they hare grear plenty of Dares, which fucceed beft in a Droughth, and thefe they give to the Arabians in cxchange for Corn.
In the Libyen Defarts they have incredible plenty of of lign Grals and Milk, when a change of Varther happens for all Dccember, Fanuary, and foinc pars of Ecbruary, the Councry boins then well tor'd with Lakes and Fenns, 'uis the beft Scafon for the Barbary Merchants to travel to Negroland.
Negroland is neither bencfitred nor injur'd by rain. -Tis render'd extream fruitful by the Water which falls from certain Mountains, and by dhe overflowing of thic River Niger, which increafes for forty days from \({ }^{7}\) unc 15, and then decreafes as many. During its inundation, one may go over all the Country in a Bark, tho' not without grear danger.

The Confititution and Humosr of the Africans; the Difeafes they are fulbject to \(;\) together moits their Vertucs and Vices. From John Leo.

\(\mathrm{I}^{\mathrm{N}}\)IN Bathary 69 or 75 Ycars is the common texiod of their Lives; only in the Mourrains fome live to 100 and above, retaining all the while, a vigorous, activc Conftitution of Body. In Numidia they live a long rime, only cheir Eycs become wonderful dim, and they loofe their Teeth very foon ; the firt of which Infirmities perhaps is owing to the Duft and Sand chat the Eaft Winds tofs in the Air, ase the laterer may be to their comtinual freding upon Dates. The Libyons are fhortex livd; perhaps the moft healchy among 'cm may live to 6o Years, but at che fame time they are very lcan and thin. The Negroes live nor fo long as any of the other Africans, bat are very ftrong and active; they are ffangely addicted to \(V\) cnery, and their Tecth continuc found till their dying day. In fine, the Brrberians are of a weaker Conftitution than any of the reft. The Chil dren, 'and fometimes the ancient Women of Barbary, are fubject to an incurable fledding of the Hair.
The common Difeafes of that Country are the Headach withour a Fever, the Toocthach, which fome impute to their drinking of cold Warer immediately after hot Potrage. Pains of the Stomach, calld by them Rains ofthe 'Heart; Gripings. procceding, perhaps, from the contimual ufe of cold Water; Pains in the Bones, and the Gout, occafiond by their going barc-foot, and fitting upon the bare ground. In the Spring-time thicy fir very much upon the Ground; upon which thofe of a fan guine Complexion, are frequencly fiezid witha Cough.
Upon Fridays on which they affemble to bearthe \(M a-\) homexten Sermojis, if any one neezes in the Church, cvery one neczes to bear himi company; fo that thry ncverleave neczing till the Scrmon is donc; and he that goes to hear the Sermon, gets bur litule good of it, the Noife bcing fo very grear.
In Barbery the French-Pox is for the moft part fatal. ThisDifeafe begins with a fwelling and languithing, and athaft breaks out into Ulicers. Sonc of the Barbarians have beencur'd of it, only by travelling to Numidia or Negroland, where the Air is very temperate and whol: Yome, and the ame of rhar Difeafe is Ycarce known. It was nor known among any of the Africans, till the \({ }^{F}\) Feps being expell'd Spiin, fled to Africa, where cthcir Wives receiving Promicuous Embraces, cenirracted the Ditemper, and fo is fpread all over the Country. For this Reafon they call ir the Spaniß乃 Pox, tho' in Tunn, Egppt, Syria, and Icclly, it gooss by the Name of the rench-Pcx.
The Women gf Barbary and Negroland are fubject to the Falling-Sicknefs, which they, by way of Excule give out for Poffefion with a Spirit.
The Rupture or Hernia, is not very common among the Barbarians, but the Egyptians are mightily troubled with it, probably by reafon of their eating fo much Gum and Salt Cheefc. The Eryptian Childien are fubject to the Falling-Sicknefs, which leaves'em when chey grow up.
The Plagne fwecps off great numbers of che Barbarians, every renth, fiftcenth, or twentieth Year; for which they have no other cure, but rubbing the Sore with Oincments no othe of Armenian Eath. But if fcarce

The Arnbians in Barbary who
crrancan Coaft, werc in former times priar Pue Medi- The Yerrure Mathematicks, Philofophy, and Aitrology, buc thefe cefins. 1 fria Arts werequitc exringuillid alout 400 Xears ago, by Knnowtedge he chief Profeffors of cheit Law and Religion, whona ticks. Cry honour as Perty Gods. They go frequently to Church to repeat fome formal Prayers, efteeming it ur lawiul to walh fome of cheir Members on the Day they fay thefe Prayers, tho' at othertimestiny wath theis whote Bodics. They are very ingenious in Mathemacical Invencions and in Building.
Some Latin Authors do 'cminjutice ini charging them with Fraud and Guile, for they are very honctit and fin- sinceritys: cers, and grear Lovers of Simplicity and Truth in others, and for theirown part will rather dye than break thei Promife. No Nation in the World is fo fubject to Jealoufy, for they will rather loofe their lives, than fuffer any Affront upon the foore of their, Woncn. Rich.-" and Honour they coyes infariably.
They travel all the World over, and trade in Eer, firabra, Ethiopin, Perifia, India, and Tmary, mecting every where winh eftecinf for they never profeis any Art without being perfectly well vers'd in it.
Baudy and Indeceur Exprefions are heinous Crimes 2i-madefy mong them. They will not fuffer a Youth to fpeak or hear any thing of Love Matters, effecially in the:Company of his Superiours.
As for the Arabians which dwell in Tcnts and bring up nacgriry. Catile, Their Derocion, Valour, Civility, Hofpitality, Veracity, and Integrity of lifc, is inferiour to none. And the fame is the Character of the Morss and Arabians that inhabit Libya. The whire or tawny Morel are ficudy Fricnds, and all their aim is to lead a pleafant caly life, upon which fore they are as happy as any People of Africn. They give honourable Allowances to Profeflours of Religion and liberal Arts. Such are the Vertues of the Africms; but their Vices are jet The
The Inhabitancs of the Cities of Barbary, are very The ticcs of proud, cholerick, needy, and coyctuous, and never for- wesifficend get Injuries. They always fpeak with an angry loud Voice, and are always quarreling' with one another. They are fo unmannerly and clownifh, that no Seranger can obtain their Familiaxity or Ericnd hip.
Their Credulity is fuch, that they'll beliere ImpoffibiTities; and fugh is their Ignorance of Natural Philofophy, Creduity that they impte all Natural Phenomena's to a Ditina Power. They are Men of no rearki or headjona are ry'd to no Laws or Rule of Life, being wichout cither Judges or Lawycrs. Their Governours treat 'em like Dogs; and for wanc of Money-Changers, no Mcrchann can trade with them at a diftauee.
They vouch fafe no Entertainment to Scranger; upon pecris any Confideration whatfoever; and are very apr to for-Gucf. ger Bencfits.

In fine, they are fo a varitious and coveruous, that they ingrasitude, are erernally peevilh and uncivil. The Shepherds of that Councry are a miferable, poor, wretched. Crew, addicted ro norhins bur Tbefr, Deceir, and brutifh Cur ftoms. Their Batchelours keep company with feveral Ladies, till they light upon one that they like for a Wife: fo thar few can pretend to marry a Maid.

This People have no Religion; Charches or Prayers trecligion: they know nothing of; In a Word, they lead a favage and brutilh Life.
As for the Numidians, all of 'cm are quite deftiture of Robbery. any fociable Principles; Trcafon, Treachery, Murder Theft, and Robbery, are the Bijfinefs of their Life Their mean@avilh Temper prompts 'cm to ferve the Barbarians, as Dung Farmers, Scullions, Oftlers, or in any other other Servile Capacity. In like mannex, the Inhabitants of Liby, neglecting all Arts and Sciences, apply their Minds only to Theft and Violence. The fcene of their Lives is only miferable, lawlefs, and dif orderly. There is no Villany fo black, that they wivl nor undertake upon the Profpect of Gain. They fpend their Days in Hunting, Warfare, or lewd Practifes; and ufe neither Shooes nor Garments. The Negroes are likewifeStrangers, not only to Arts, but to Senfe and Reafon: Their life is a Copy of that of the wildeft Bcalts, moft of their Women bcing common, unlers it be in the Principal Towns and Citics, where, 'tis probable, Civility may in fome meafure take piace.

\section*{Additions to \(\mathbf{C H A} A \cdot{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{D}\) ．}

\section*{Containing a \(\mathcal{D e}_{\text {ecription }}\) of the Rivers of Africa．Taken from Marmol．}
the famour At Rurcs of Barbofy．
Sus River

SUS，the firft Ricer of Barbiry，licson the Went in the Kingdom of \(F_{c i z}\) ，and falls into the Ocean near di：le of chat Kingdom，and the Province of Sus takes its Name from ir，which fome take for the Inand in which the Palace of Aushets and the Gardens of the Hefrerides were feared：However it fecms very probable，that this was Prolom）＇s T＇na，which he places in cight Degrecs Longirude，and 28 Degrees 30 Minutes latitude．This River xifes out of the great Athes，between the above－mentiond Province and that of Hea，and gliding to the Scuthward，traverfes the l＇lains of Sus，from wherice is repairs to the Sea near Guereffen．It warcers the moof fertile and moft populous places of that Councry，and lupplies the Inha－ bitants with Trenches or Dirches，with which they moiften the Sugar－canc Fields．In Winter if fwells to that height，shat＇tis fearec fordable in any part；tho＇in Summer＇ris fordable almoftercry where． Near to the City of Animmey，in the Rrovince of Esffet River．Morocio，there Springs from the great Aflas another Ri－ ver，call＇d Tenfif，which cravetics the Provitice of Duquela，and fallsinto the Occan ncar Safer being firtt join＇d ly feveral Rivers from the Mountains，namely Eicifcimel，Hucducfufa and Agmer．The Tenfift is deep buc in Summer is fordable in fome places not far from Morocco，＇ris cover＇d with a Srone Bridge，which has fiffeen great Arches，and is one of the fracclieft Suructares in all Africe，being built（as＇tis faid）by Facob Almanfor King and Pontiff of Morocco．Budobus，the laft King of the Almoljafe Family，mudld downthree of thefe Arches， with a Dcfign to pravefterfacol the firf King of the Bencmerinis，from befísging Morocco，tho＇is did not avail him；and thofe Arches are not yet rebuilt．＂Peofomy calls the Mouth of chis River Afima，and places it in feven Deg．Long．and 32 Deg．Lat．In Mount Gugidrine，a part of the great Athe，there forings two Rivers，which rraverfang the Plains of Efcura，difembogues in the Ri－ ver calld Hucdela－dbid．Each of thefe Rivers is callid Teccuf，and when they join，they affume the Name of incrinRiva．Tevecin，i．e．Limits．The Gutters and Ditches drawt from＇cm，render the adjacent Fields very fertile．

Huedala－Abid，i．c．The River of Negrocs or Slaves
Hoedata－
Abid River prugs from dnimme，a Mountain of the great Atla between the Provinces of．Efcurn and Tedhs；and tra－ verfing rugged Rocks，and deep dark Valleys，runs to the Northward，where its Chanels finks fo low，that it affords no moifture for che adjacent Fields．After that， cis fwelld by the Accellion of the Tewsin，and other fmall Rivers，and difembogues in the Ommirabi，not far from a vexy broad Ditch call＇d Mcgerar Effa，i．e． The Flat Dirch．This River is very decp，cipecially in May，when the Snow meles off the Mounraims：
Berween the Province of Tedla and the Kingdom of Fcu，therecifes from the great Acles，a grear River call＇d Ommircbi，which runs thro＇the Plains of Adac／am，and palling thro＇a narrow Yailcy，is adorn＇d with a Bridge buils by Abuchaften，the fourth King of the Bencmerina After that it curns to the Southward，and travering the Fields which feparate the Province of Trcmif／ci from thofe of Tedla and Duguch，empties is felf in the Ocean near Azamor，being firlt join＇d by the River of Negrocs， and by Derne，another River that falls likewife from the Mountains．This is only fordable in Summer，and that where it freads ouruponthe Plains；in other places the Inhabitants＇fwim，a－crofs it upon bundles of Reeds bound up with blown Balls of Lcather，for there＇s no Bridge uponit．It affords fuch plenty of Shad－filh，as ferves to fupply the City of aloroccoand the adjacent Pro－ rinces，befides．whar is exported to Andalufic and pertugal． The Sealon for filhing in this River，falls commonly up－ on the middle of Micy：and it rutnd to a great account to the King of Porrugal，while he wasMafter of Amazor But atpretent the Xeriff appropriates the Right of that Fithery to the Chriftian Merchants＂＂Psolony calls this River R Rfibiales，and places its Mourh in 6 Deg．\({ }^{2} 40\) Min．Long，and 32 Deg． 30 Min．Iat．The Entry of it is fo difficult，thar it obligid the King of Portugnt to aban－ don Azrmor．
Burregreg，a gtear River，frings from the great Attas

Gibratsar．Peolorny calls it \(S_{\text {ala }}\) ，and places it in \(6 D_{\text {c }}\) 10 Min．Long．and 34 Deg． 10 Min．Lat．Its Mouth is fo foul for Ships，thar it derves for a Barriar to guard the Fromans from che Chriftians．
From the great Aclus in the Kingdom of Fre，there But min with a rapid Currenc over ftcepMountains into the Phains of \(A_{i}\) gar，and there are turnidinto Lakes full of Fin Uponthe fides of thele Lakes grear numbers of Arabians feed cheir Cattel，and by the frequent cating of Butcer and Fifh，which they have in grear plenty，are coverid with a fors of Leprofy．Seyeral of the Inhabitants of Frin and．Mequinez refort to thefe Lakes to drink of the Water，which is of excellent ufeagainft the Stone． Sulr，onc of the greatelt Rivers＇in all．Barbary，d ives its Source from Cililro，a Mountain of the Atlos in the Province of Cus．After its Delcent Atlos in the Province of Cus．Afret its Delcent into the Plains，it paffes ar the Diftance of a Mile and half from \(F_{r}\) ，and having fever＇d the Pro－ vinces of Habat and \(A_{1} g e r\) ，falls into the Ocean near the City of Memor，nor far from the Streighe of Gi－ braliar：
It is jois＇d by feveral Rivers，particularly Guarga and \(\epsilon_{\text {wanerita }}\) Ador；but thofe who affert，that it receives the River sur Riri \(F_{n} ;\) ；and feveral others，from the Country of \(T_{c i z} a r\) ，are much miftaken；for they falfely fupnofe，that the Sulu takes its Rife from the Mountains of Gainfia and zarc－ brmumi．Tho＇the Sulu be a very grear River，yet＇tis fordable infome places，unlefs it bein Wineer and Spring， ar which time the Inhabitants crofs it ín Barks．This Ri－ rex affords fucti plenty of Fijh；efpecially Shad－finh；thas ir fupplies Fciz，and Cereral ocher Towns in thar Pro vince．Its Mourh is capable to receive very lange Veffels， and if the Inhabitants of that Councry were induftrious， thcymight make it mavigable up to．Fê，and to fink the Price of their Corn，which is now broughr over land from \(A_{\sim}\) Jar．P＇folomy calls is Subura，and places its Mouch in ixx Degrees 20 Min．Long．and 34 Deg． 28 Mini．Lar．
Lucus，a great River，fprings fromalic Mountains of Gomera，and rurning to the Weftward，traverfes the Provinces of A／gar and Habar，afterwhich it runs niear Afcifar－Quivir，and afterforming Lakes that abound in Fill，falls into the Occan near \(l^{3}\) Arays，where thefe two Provinces join．The Port of Arnys lics in its Mourh， and is reforted to by theChriftians，who import thicher Europcai Commoditics；bus the Entry is fo difficulf， har they run a grearrifque，unlefs they have a very ex－ pert Pilor．Pfoiomy callsthis River Liffa，and places its Mouth in tix Deg． 20 Min．Long．and 35 Dcg． 15 Min． Lat．
Melulo，another great River，rifes out of the greas Msimatire Athes near the Town of Dubuck，and waverting the parch＇d Defars of Teoreft and Tefrate，falls into the Ma－ ucan，which is likewife a great，Rirer which ferings shenen from the grear Aclas in the Province of Cus，and pafing？ o the Werward of Tofefa，falls into the Occan nor fir from that place．This latt River is verybroad，but ca－ fily fordable in Summer in feveral placcs．The Chrifti－ answere wont to row up this River in Barks cover＇d with Leaics，in order to furprife the Moorilh Filher－mcn， for its Mouth is plentifully fock＇d with crcellent Fith， Ptolomy call＇s it Molocat，and makes it to lie in ten \(D_{\mathrm{cg}}\) ． 55 Min．Long．and 34 Deg． 45 Min．Lat．
Muluye fprings＇from the siths，and directing its courfe Northward，difimbogues in che Mediccrranean Sea near Onus ；Prolemy calls its mouth Mela，and places it in it d． 10 m ．Long．and 35 d .50 m ．Lar．
Zin and Hued－babra are two Rivers，the firt of which \(z_{i}\) nd prings from the great \(A t / a s\), and the fecond rifes in the Amather Kingdom of Tremefen，near Molifforr：they fall with 2 Riren joynt Stream into the Mediterrancan，near the Ruins of the ancient \(A r\) rece，and affume the niame of Sigat，from the Plain thro＇which they pals．The puiflant Arabs， call＇d Bemamir，live upon the Banks of Siraf，and fre－ quently make Excurfions as far as Oran：
．
\(\qquad\)
\(\square\)
號＂

Huwdict
dfga River

\title{

}
\(\square\)

\section*{Chap. 1. A Defription of Africa.} A fmall River calld Fefuc fprings from the ercat Allas near the ancient Numidita, and joyns the Mcidicrrancaii
abour fcren leagucs to the Weftward of Or, abour Ccven leagues to the Wceftward of Or,tn. Itaffords gives it the pame of spicant is calld 1 refgol. Procemy \({ }_{21} \mathrm{~d}\). Long. and 34 d. 40 m . mouth bcing feared in \(2 x \mathrm{~d}\). Long. and 34 d .40 m . Lat.
Strakive. Mira is a pretry great. River, which runs fromp its Source in the grear Atlas thro" the barren Plains in thic ncighborhood of Bathaban, and ruming Northward, falls into the Medicerransan not far from Areca. Of lare years the Moors call it Cenn, from the manc of a Muarhice that repeopled Batbatba aftcr its being deftroy'd by the Benimerims. Protcmy calls it Quilemer, and allots to its monch 13 d. of Longe and 34 d. of Lat. Mountains of Guencervis thro' the De irs fource in the Tenes and Tronefen; and rurning Eaftward, joyns the Mediecrrancan neax Moftagan. Therre's very good filhing in its mourt, which Prolemy ranks in 14 d .15 m , Long and 33 d .40 m . Lat. under the name of Cartcina. Cltef is a great River, that fprings from the great the Mediterrancan abour fire Ficlds of Mctigia, falls into of Ahtits Ir ffole five lagucs to the Wcotward mouth, which Protery che manc of Afofran, near its Ceforn, znorher River in Barbaty, takes its Rife from the geat Athar, and traverfing the Fields of Metigai, entersthe Medimerranemon the Eat enersthe Mediterranermon the Eaft fide of algicers, not farfrom the Ruines of Mitafus, calld by the Africans Tmendafuft. Ptolomy ranksits Mouth, under the Name of Scon, in ISDeg. Io Minutes Long, and 33 Dcg .20 Min. Lar.
Hed-fter, is a great River that rifes out of the great Ahlas, upon the Fronticrs of Numidia, and running from thence Northward, cnters the Mcdicerranean Sca, outhe Eaft fide of the R Rines of good Fifhing. Prolomy calls it Serbef, and places its Mouth in 19 Deg. 30 Min. Long. and 32 . Deg. 50 Min. Lat.
bumde. Hued-al-Qaivir, fprings likewife from the great Atlas equirRive, in Ae Province of Mounrains, falls, into the Nicditerrancan near Bugia When it rains, or when the Snow melts, it fwells very much. -'Tis full of Finh, bur the Inhabitants of the adjacent Country love the Sca-fink better. The Chriftians call it Zing anor, and Ptolcmy gives is the name of Nafaove, placing its mourh in 22 d . 10 m Long. and \(32_{i}^{\prime} \mathrm{d}\). Lar. Among the remaining Rivers of Ba-brry, we meet with Sef-Gemar, a great River that fprings from Mount Walls of in the Province of Bugia; and after wathing the ranean Sea. This River feparates \(M\) into che Mediterranean Sea. This River Reparates Mcuritania C.ofariana from the Province of Africa, Prolcmy calls it Ampfagus and places its mouth in 26 d . 15 m . Lons. and 31 d 45m. Lat.
Iuten River. Thitock is another River that rifes ont of the Aflas near Conftantina, and falls into the Mediperrancan about a league to the Eaftward of Bma. Abour a quarter of a league above its mouth we meer with-fome Remains of Hippona, of which Sc. Auguftine was Bilhop, and which Har Rirco. the there's another great River in Barvary rhat gooes by Aflas near Lorlus in the Kinghom of Twnis, makes fo many: windings and turnings thro thefe Mountains; that thofe who travel from \(B_{n n e}\) to Tunis are oblig'd to crols it twenty five rimes, without the conveniency of either Bridge or Boat for to long a courfe; at laft it falls into the Mediterranean ncar the Porr of the Tcburc, about tox places its mourth in 30 d .45 m . Long. and 35 d .20 m places its mourh in 30 d . 45 mm . Long. and 35 d . 20 m . Lat. Great quamtities of Coral are found upon the briṇks of this River.

fhall memion our Account of the Rivers in Barbary, we and Magre. thegerada is a very grear'River; its'Source lics in the grear:Aitas, upon the Confines of \(Z \mathrm{cb}\), not far from Tebfa; it runs with many windings to the Northward, and falls into the Medirerranean thirteen lcagues to the Weftward of Tumis in the time of Rain in twells mightily, which fops. Travellers fometimes for five.or fix'days, for therc's meither a'Btidge nor a'Boar' upon it. Prouth gives in the Name of Bratada, and places its mouth in 38 d .40 m . Long. and 30 d .45 m . Lar. of Cmpes takes its rife fromMount Bacdita, in the Defarts of Litha; and fills inro the'Sea near the 'City of capes: The Water of:chis-Rixer is falt, and when 'ris drawn up an trour before" cis dinkable. Protemy callsir Triton, anid aligns to its mouth 38 d .40 m . Long. and 30 d .45 m M defcends from the great Athes near Mount Mroes Mrave kive near Trifolif in Barb.ary. Defarts, difimbogues in the Sca ncar Tiffoli in Barbary. Psolcmy calls ic cinife, and fla ccs its-mouth in 42 d. 25 m . Long. and 31 d .30 m. La: So much for the Rivers in Barbory:

\section*{Tire Rivers of Biledulgerid}

The moft noted Rivers in Biledulforid (alias Numbia: or Gerulic) are Dara, zin and Guiti.
Darn is a very grear River: is fprings from. Arkes upon the Confines of the Province of fifaura, arid directing its courfe to the Sourh, cravetfes the Province of Dara, to which is owss its Name, being pleafandy haded on each fide with very rall Date-tices ; after that enters the Defart of Sabors, and fpreads our into great l.akes, round which the Numidi.c tragele with theis Catele in the Spring-time, upon the account that theis Camels find there a grear deal of very good Grafs. In Summer this River becomes 10 dry, thar one may fars it on foos in feveral places without being wet; but after Foor it fwellds fo high, that tis nor fordable by cicher Foor or Horfe, and runs fo rapidly, thas a Boar cannor crofs ic. Its Chanel is very hollow and uncten, and in the time of the great heat the Water is bitter and解
Tiz is another great River, that frings from the fame 2 te Euser, Mountains, and paffing from thence to the neighborhood of Garci-kum in the Kingdom of Ee- traverfes the Teri torics of Ruencna, Matagara, Retab and Segchmofe; after which it cnters the Defarts of Safiara, and runs chro' the Palm-trees, till it comes near the City of Sugaybila, where the middile of the \(S\) ands. , and forms a grear lake in the middile of the Sands. This Lake has no Habutation ound it, bur is reforted to by wild Beafts.
Guir is. likewife a great River that Iprings from Mounit Guir Rirer Atlas, and paffing thro' the fandy Defarts of - Libye and Sabara, is there converted into a Lake, round which a great many Societics of Arabs and Africal:s are wont to traggle with their Flocks.
Salara, the third part of Africa has no Rivers. As for he fourth, wit. Negro-land, we there mer with the f: The Pivers of mous River of Niger, call'd in Arabick Hzuch-Nichar, or the black River. Some alledge, that the Nizer and the Nigro-atand. igtor Rives. Nílus are. two Branches of the River Gecn, which defends from the terreftrial Paradife; and thar the firft of thefe Branches deriv'd its Name froma the Nerroes ar mong whom it paffes: But the Arebiars tate the Nifet to be a part of Nizus, which runs under-around to Lake of Nubia, and then running Wentward, forms ano ther Lake calld Nigritis; after which it is fwell'd b the acceffion of Several Rivers, and marches with orca windings to the Weftern Ocean, inco which it falis b two Chancls, the one call'd Senera, and the other Geim bra. The firt of thefe feparares Saberat from the Niegroes on the Weft fide; and, which is very wonderful the People that live on the South fide are black, robun and proper Perfons, and the Country is fercile and ad mirably well flaaded with Tress; whercas on the Norih fide the Inhabitants are listle and Mulartocs, and forme of 'em white and puny, the Soil being nothing but a barren dxy Sand. The mouth of the firft Branch (namey, Scnega) is very decp, and abore half i leaguc lioad but the other is fomewhat fmaller. Thefe two Branches form an Ine, which has grear Banks of Sand before ir that fooot, out a league into the Sea. The Tide, which flows and ebbs cycry fix hours, runs above twenty five icagues up the Country, and no Ships can come up without the Flood, becaufe the Sand-beds are then con verd. The moft confiderable Negroes live, upon the brinks of this River, and of the orher Rivers which fall into it. It overflows and decreafes at the fame time and after the fame manner with the Nilus; and when the overflowing feafon comes, the Ncgroes so up and down n Barks, which are neither to well built nor fo ftrong as thole of Egyt. Ptclemy affirms, that the Nige; in coniunction with the Mandrus and Thalaman tis, forms the Lake Nigritis; and that it divides to the Northward ino two Arms, that march towards the Mountains of \(U_{r}\) figula and Sagapula; after which ir forms (according to im) a third Arm, which runs to the Eafward above he Lake of \({ }^{}\) Liby: : But Leo Africanus afirms the con- This Lhe go up this River from Gualaite and the Gelofes to Granit and 60 d . go up this River from Gualata and the Gclofes to Grani Cairo, for they affure us that all its Branches rum to the Wefward.
The Couniry of the Negroes is watcr'd by feveral other Rivers, molt of which were difiover'd by thi Porfagu:f, who fail two or threc hundred leagues up the Country, in order to trafick. Of thefe elfewherc.
Nibriver.
Ni/u: reanins the fame Name borhin Africa and Eit ref:; 'tis the greateft of all the African Rivers, and for that reation the letiontions call it Abanhi, i. c. Father of fiseres. The Ancients took it for a Branch of Geloon, which defecods from the retreftrial Paradife; and indece that Opinion is countemancd hy fercral Authors, particuharly by luct, libiso. who brimes in the ligyptian Priats difouringeat larfer ponthat Head; bur, it fecms, the Ancients were net well ampuainted with its Source ; Fir fome precead that the 1 akes from which it fprings acrise their Original from the Snow that falls from the Mruntains of the Mcon; others alledge; thac there Lakes rife at a grear diftance from eachotherin the Defart; others aga'n manein, that the Head of the River comes from the above-mention'd Mountains, and falling off the fteep Rocks with a violent thock, makes a Gap in the Earth, and conveys if Celf to theic Lakes by fubrerrancan Cbanels. But Experience baffles all thele Opinions, and our modern Difcoveries make it our, that the Water which fally from the Mountains of sLume are the true fource of the aith, and that the Snow and Rain is the occalion of its Inumation.

Thele Mountains are at prefent calld the Mountains of Brte, i. c. e Conflumece of iffarcrs., They are a ridgeof Momatains, cetcoding from the Equino tial line to the Kingtom of fifeen, and rumug acrofs the Kingdom of Cirginat, both of which Kingdoms lic in upper Efliopi,i They are higher than any other Mouncains, whether in AGig: or Eurape, and are perpctually covcr'd with Snow and lee: Forafmuch ass they lic under the Tropick of Copicorn, when the Sun thincs upon'em in a perpendicuar line, the Snow and thic Ice melts, and falls with a precipitant current into the abovemention'd Takes. Now the acecflion of this Water joy'nd to the Rain that falls very plentifully in upper Echimpia in the Month of May, ocations the overflowing of che Nilus; but the Inundation does not appear in Egips till towards the middle of Fime, by reafon (as the Alyffins fay) that this acceffory F'ood mult have fo much time before it can reach Eryjr. The Eitiopin: Merchants cliat trade to Nubin and Egype tell you, that the exact Soutce of this River cannot be fount ont, by rcafon that Mount Bebr and the adjaceir Fields are furrounded by large bufhy Forchts, and Defarts teplenifid with wild beats; fo that one cannot approach 'en without the hazard of their lives. They add, that the Waters run from that Mountain to the Southward with a concinued encreafe, and form a great lake that fems to have no current: That feveral Rivers iffue from the South fide of this Lake, fome of which dixeft their courfe to the Eaft, and others to the Weft, and form fo many Arms and Lakes, that one would wonder from whence fuch a quantity of Water fhould fpring: That the Etbiopians, upon the lofs of their Camels in thofe Defarts, purfue "em fometimes two or three hundred leagucs to the Southward, and fill find tine Nivers fpread out into. Atms and lakes after the fame manncr. Upon this purfuit the Efthopians mect with defart and barren Mountains, in which (according to Mofandi) they fund the xichef Emeraulds, call'd by them Outent;, and Savages that avoid the converfation of other Men.
The firt Cake form'd by the Niic is calld Snfa and has abowe twenty llands, inhabited by Abyfins, whoare Viffals to the Emperour of Ethiopia. The Nile glides gently from this Like, and afecrwards with a rapid current traveafes the whole Country of, that Emperour, and grazes upon Negro-land, without being confin'd to a Chancl, till it arrives at cortain Mountains where the Cataracts of Mefar or the ancient Cefradupes are placid: 6 Each fide of it is inhabited by feveral Nations of Negrocs, who fow upon its Banks the Grains of Binfue, commonly calld che Nils Grains, and by the Arabians, Beladrr.

After the paffeng of the abovernicntion'd Cataracts, the Nile fpreads out in breadth, and runs with a gentle frcam, but is not cither fordable or navigable in any place, tillif arrives at the Illand of Meroc, call'd by the I: inptirns, Ninulcbanl, i. c. she Motber of good Ports; by the Natires Stula, and the Abyfins, Saba; in which place tis faid) the Quecn of S/sbre, that vifited Solomon, had her refidence. Some Aurhors alledge, that the could not reign here, becaufe there was a Law in Ethinpia againt the Succefion of Females to the Thronc ; ftor this reafon, 'tis probable, fhe was nor of Esfiopia, but of Arabin, which gocs by the name of Ethiopia in Scripture; and hence 'ris that Mofer's Wife is call'd an Ethiopian:] but tis anfwerd, thar the night be a Qucen by Marriage, and not by Succefion. The Queca of Candacis was likewife Soveraign of this Country, and fent her Eunuch with Offerings to ferufaicn, where St . philip bapriz'd him.

The Inand of Meres is very large, and conntains at tionm: prefent three Kingdoms, the Soveriugns of which differ from one another in their Religion and Cuftoms, and fomerimes wage War one againit another with incredi-: ble Cruelty. The moft puiflate of thefe Kings is a Mai formeran, and has his refidence on the Weft lide of the fanan; the fecond, being a Negro and a follower of Idolatry, lives on the Norch fide; and the third, who rcigns on the South fude, is an Alyjfinian Chriftian, fubject to the Emperour of Efliopic.
Afrex the Nilc paftes this Inand 'ris navigable, and in the fpace of fifteen days the Boats go from thearce to the City of Guazuera, calld by the Ancients Sicna, where, according to the allegation of the Pocts, the Rays of the Sun fall in a perpendicular line, and caft no thadow at Noon. This is the firt Fronticr of Egyp upon the Confines of Nubia, below which the Nite affords a vcry fafe Nayigation. In fine, the Nile falls into the Mcdirecranican. by fevcral Chancls, oppofite to che Ifland of Cyprus. As for the Inundation of the Nilc, and the other circumitances that attend ir, we xefer the Reader to Foln Lee's Defcription of Egyp.

\section*{Chap. II}

\section*{Containing a particular Account of the Kingdom of Morocco from John Leo.}

Tise 3 imits

rN defcibing the fercral Kinghoms of Africh, we hall|the Connriy, whicin fome few pretend to. Ther have fot our from the Weft, and fo adrance Eaftward. The ncither Phyficion nor Surgeon, unlefs it be a fort of moft Weftern Province of Moroceo is bounded with the Occan on the Weft and North, with the Mountains of Stis on the South, and on the Eaft with the River Effuralo, which fringss out of the'forefaid Mountain, and falls into the River Tenfff, dividing Hen from the next Province. This Country is uneven and rugged, full of rocky Mountains, Woods and Rivers; 'tis very rich, and well Pcopled, and affords plenty of Deer, Hares, Goars and Affes, bat few Sheep, Oxen or Horfes, and very litthe Fruit: Tbe Inhabitants feed upon unleaven'd Barlybread, baked in a fort of an Earthen Pan inthe form of The Intabirancs their rood, Attire.
and Qualitics. a Cake. Their Cloathing for the moft part is a Woollen Coverler (call'd Elchife) nor unlike the Italian Blankers, wrapt ahout'em, and girt with a Woollen Girdle

Surgcons who are imploy'd in circumcifing their male Children: When any illnefs reizes 'em, they caurerize the affected pare with red-hot Irons. They have no regard to Juftice, and when any of 'em travels abroad, he takes along with him a Wife or a Whore, or a religious Perfon of the Country he goes to. The few Horfes this Country affords are fo nimble and mettled, that they will climb like Cats over the ftecp and craggy Mountains; they are always unthod, and together. with the Affes lerve to uill the Ground.
The ancient City of Tedneff (one of the Cities of tadmpicif Hen) was built by the Africans upon a moft beautifulof fich large Plain, and furrounded with a lofty Brick Wall. Ir affords no Inns or Publick Houfes, fo that a Strangeriandopizin (being a Merchant, mult find our an Acquaintance to lodge with, or if be has none, the Inhabitants caft lors whofhall entertain him; and let his Condition be neverfo mean, he meets with a hofpitable and honoura- abour their Hips. The Batchelors always keep their Beards thayen, but the married. Men fuffer their Hair to srow. Here is nothing to be found of Virtue or L'earning, unlefs it be fome Imall knowledge of the Laws of ble Keception; only upon his Departure he mut bettow a Compliment upon his Landlord, to make him the morewelcome at his next Recurn. A Stranger that is nora Merchant, may pitch upon any great Man's Houfe to lodge in, and is obligd to make no Complimene ar his Departurc. If a Beggar or Pilgrim paffes that way, he iscegtertaind in a Hoppital, built as the publick Charge, for the Relicf of the Poor.
 nifiednt Temple of a huge bigncis, which is faid to hare becir founded when the King of Morocco was Soveraign over that Country. This Temple has a grear Ciftern in thémidft of it, ath a great many Prients and Religious Piople beleng to it. There are feveral other Tcmples iinthis, which are but litele, but withal very neat and. can. Abput ioo Familics of Fems livid in it; but in the 920 th Y car of fregeira, ic was feen to lie in xuincs, being only reforted to by Ravens and other Birds.
At the Foot of an'Hill, 13 Miles Eaftward from Tidmef, ftands Teculce, a Town containing about 1000 Houlcs, a natcly Temple, four Hofpitals, and a ReligiousMonaftery. It has a famous Port upon the Ocean, calld Coos, which renders it richer than Tedneft. The adjacent fertile Fields fupply it with great plenty of Corn and lulfe: 'Twas deftroy'd by the Porsugucfe int the Year 1514.

Hudrcki, Eight Miles fouthward of Tconlet, fands the City of Hadecths upon a Plain, conraining 700 Familics. Irs Walls, Churches, and Houfes, are all buils of Frecftone. Irhas yearly Fiairs, lafting for is Days, ar which they fell great ftore of Cartle, Butrer, Oil, Iron and Cloth to the neighbouring Nations. The Women of this City are white, far, and very comely; and their Husbands are fobrutifhly jcalous, as to artempt to murder wholocver does bur talk with "em. They have no Judges, no Lcarning, nor anyDittinction of Worth among Their Rens; fo char he who is richeft rules as a King. Their Religious Matters ate manag'd by Mahometan Pricts, who are exempted from all Taxes. The Portuguc/c lackd this Town in the 922 of the Hegcirn.
Eight Miles to the South of Hadeclist, on the top of a hugh Mountain, ftands Iknfugaghen, containing 200 Families, which carries on a perpecual War with its Neightours in a moft Neightours in a moft bloody and barbarous manner. Tis utterly a Stranger to Juftice and Honicity; for it has neither. Priefts, Judges, nor Lawyers. In a word, no People ander Heaven are more treacherous and wicked Their Mouncains, tho deftiture of Fruit, afford grear plenty of Honcy, which ferves em both for Food and Trafick, but the Wax of it they throw away, being ignorane of its Ufe.
TwelveMiles to cheSouth of Teyenf, ftandas Teffgdeis upon the top of a Mountain, fortificd naturally with a Families. Tis furrounded whe containing above 800 and Orchards, repleninded with all forts of Trees, efpecially Walnut-Trces. The Inhabitanss are rich, and pay no Tribute to the Arabians, with whom they wage \(e\) ternal War. They have great plency. of Horfes. For Civility and Hofpitality, they come lhort of no Reople whatiocver, there being Watchmen fer at every Gate, to conduct all the Strangers chat come, cither to the Houfe of their Acqaintance, if chey have any, or ro a publick Inn, where they are cnrertain'd according to theirquality, upon the publick Charge. They are religious Obfervers of their Words, bur mightily fubject to Jealoofy. In the midat of the Town chey have a fately Temple, to which a cerrain number of Mabome tan Pricfts belong. The ncighbouring Villages lodge their Corn in this City, where 'tis defended from the Excurfons of thcirencmies.
- Having pals'd Tceedicto 14 Miles, we come to Tagrefs, an ancient round City, ftanding upon the top of a Hill, which has winding Steps hewt out of the hard Rock, upon its Sides. The Inhabicants haveno other Water, but whattheirWomen ferch from aRiver that runs by theFoot of the Hill abour fix Miles off, tho' when view'd from the City, it feems to be not above half a Mile off. The way lcadingto this River is very narrow, being cur out of the Rock in the form of a pair of Stairs. This Country is much infefted with Locufts, which devour their Corn, and fometimes cover the whole Surface of the Ground.
Fifteen Miles to the South of Tagtes, ftands Eirdeuer, 2 Town inhabited by feps, who derive their Extraction from King David, tho they have exchang'd their own Law for the Mebometer. The Lawyers of this placeare admirably well vers'd in their Laws and Confticutions, which are collected into one Volume, call'd Elmudouana, and commented upon by a famous Author, calld Melic.

Eightecn Miles from Eitdouer, and about half a Mile The Canth: from Tefogdele, there fands a Caftle callid Culuibat of bist. Elmurid, i. C. The Rock of Difcipler, buile on the top of a Mountain, which is furrounded with divers orher Mountains, of equal height with it felf, and cover'd with craggy Rocksand huge Woods. The Caftle is only acceffable bya narrow Path upon one fide of the Mountain. 'Twas buile but lately by Hemar Scerffi, a Mmfio- A nsied Afs metnu Preacher, who by making fevcral Inmovations in br wisn a. Religion, drew after hima a great number of Difciples and Sectarics, and at last became a cruel Tyrant His and vernment lafted twelve Years, and at the end of which he was Aain by his own Wife, for lying with her Daughterby a former Husband. Upon that his Ipnoranee and Country ilcw wall histected, and the Inhabiants of the Country ilcw all his Difciples and Sectaries, cxcepting Grand-fon, who defended the Cafte, norwithftand ing a whole Xcar's Sicge, and to this Day (ays Len) molents the Pcople of Hea with continaal War, Jiving upon Robbery and Spoil, which he affects, partly by fome Horic-men, who purfuct the Travellers tiat pafs by the Caftle, and partly by Gunners, who fire upon citi the Caftec, the Gigh-way being almoft a Mile off fiom the Catte. However he is fo hated by the Pcople, that he has no footing without the above-mention'd Moune tain. He has carry'd his Grand-father's Body to be honourably inter'd in the Caftle, and ador'd by his Pcople as a God. a God
The greateft-part of the People of Hex dwell upon The ththiniz Mountains. One part of 'em (call'd Idenacal) inhabit thens of the that part of Atlec, which rums from the Occan Eaftward Mountains of of drlimrigil, and divides fica from Sus. The headeh tha of this Ridge is chree Days Journcy. 'Tis well fteck'd Ahe Ridge of with Country Villages and Inhabitants, who feed upon Barlcy, Goats-Flelh, and Honcy; and wear neicher Shirts nor any few'd Garments, being altogecher unacquainted with Ncedle Work. What Apparel they have hangsby a Knot upon their Shoulders, being faften'd with Silver Buttons of an Ounce weight. Their Women war three or more Silver ? ings upon their Ears The richer fort of Pcople wear Silver Rings on thei Fingers and Legs; bus the poorer have only Rings of Tron or Copper. This Country affords korfes, of a fmall rize, but wonderfilly fivift; and great fore of WildGoats, Hares, and Decr; and yerthe Inhabitantsarenor gircn to Hunciug. It abounds with Fountains and Trecs, cfpecially Walnut Trecs. The Inhabitans frequently Whift their Seats, for moft of 'em live after the Arabier: Way. Their Arms are broad crooked Daggers, and Swords as thick as Syches. 'Tis raid they are able to lead 20000 Meninto the Field upon cecafion. They ha;e ncither Judges, Priefts or Temples; and being altogether unacquainted with Learning, perfue nothing bur Lewdnefs and Villany.
Anocher Mouncain in the Country of Kice, call'd Drmenfcra, is likewifcpart of Arlus, and runs Eaftward from the above-mentioned Ridge abour so Miles, dividing paxt of Hea from Sas. .Tis well frock'd with moft barbaroús Iniabitants, who have Horfes in grear plenty, and frequently wage War with the ancighbouring Arabiens. They have a grear many Noblemen or ©o cenours, to whom the xeft are very obedient. They have no Towns nor Cafles, but only fome Villages on Comages, where the betteriorrrefude. The whole Coun ry abounds with Springs, which run into a Rivercall'd Siffait, Their Apparclis decent; and they are very in duftious. They poficis gtcar Quantitics of Iron, which is exported to orher places.: There are a great many fows in this Councry, who ferve as mercenary Souldiers, and ate call'd by the other Fows in africa; Carranm, i. e Scripture-men, for they rejected Tradition. It affords plenty of Box. Maftich, and high Walnut-trees. They liave a kind of Olives, calld \(A_{\text {rgans, }}\) from which, together with Walnuts, they exprefs a very bitter Oil, and ule it both in their Lanips, and by way of Sauce and their Meat. 'Tis faid this People can lead into the Ficld 25000 expertSoldiers.
The Mountain of Iron, commonly call'd Gebekelbadith, Gubcictredit andlying within the Tcrritory of ifer, is not to be accounted any part of Atlas. It cxtends from the Ocean Southward to the River Tenfff, and divides Hea from Duccila and Morocco: The Inhabitants are calld Regraga, This Hill, which is full of wafte Defarts, abounds wich clear Springs, Honey, and Oil Arganick; but it affords lictle Cora or Pulfe. The Inhabitanss are all very devour and religious, but few of 'em are rich. A great many Hermites live upon the top of the Mountain, who drink Water, and feed only on the Fruit of fome Trees; and whatever thefe Hermites do, is efteem'd a Miracle. Their Punflment of Theft or asy other Crime, is immediare mediate Banifhment for a certain fpace of Ycars. Bcins of a quict peaccable Tcmper, they choofe rather to may Tribute to their Neightours the Arabians, than to erpulfethcir havalions by War. So much forthe Region of ller.
71. rinu:

Neat in courfe is the Province of Sus, beginning, Wefward from the Occan, Sonthward from che fandy Detarss, Northward from the utmoit Town of Hea, and Eaftward from the River Sus. To begin from its Weftern Poins. Upon the Sca-thore, where Athes takes its Rife, the ancicat ifricans buile threc fmall Towns, as the diltance of a Mile from one another, which were all calld by one Name, viz. Miff. (i.c. Fouferf ferayer and firrounded with a white Stone Will.
Through thefe three runs a great iv cr calld Sus, which gives name to the Country, and in Summer is fo low, that one may paisit on foor. The greatelt Wealth of che Intalitants of this Country (where the chice Towns ftand) confitsinDates; for chey have plency of. Palintrees; but their Dares are not worth mach, becaufe they will nor kecp above a Xear. They all apply themíclves no Husbandy in dpril and September, as which times the Kiver iwells, or if is docs not, uncir Harveft is good for nothing. Their Corm is ripe in Mny: Their Grounds are very fandy, fo that Cattle is very fcarce among cm.

Its Temple nuch e-

Not far from the Sca-fide they have a Temple, the Rafters and Bcams of whichare made of Whale Bones; for Whaley of a monftrous fize are oftencimes caft up dead upon that Shore. The common People imagine, that by a Cecret Power beftow'd by God upon the Temple, nowhale can pafs by it without immediate Death: But the Truth of the Matter is, chat on either fide of the Temple, there are Rocks that fhoor two Miles into Monntojis Thedi: and wound the Whales when they ighr upon cm. They kcep a Whale's Rib of an incredible length for a Miracle, which lying upon the Ground with its convex part uppermoft, makes an Arch, the Head of which cannor be reach'd by a Man upon a Camel's back. This Rib (fays Folin b:o ) is faid to have layn there a huurded Y cars before I hawir. Their Hiftorians affirm that a Propher who prophefy'd of Mabomef, came from this Temple; and fomedo not ftand to affert, that the Propher \(\mathcal{F}\) onas was caft forth by the Whale upon the Shoar of Me/fo. Upon this Shore there is great ftore of Amber to be found, which the Portuguefe and Feffan Merchants buy very cheap (i. c. Icfs than a Ducat per \(\qquad\) Ounce). Some fay 'tis made of Whales Dung, and odiers of Sperma Cati, which being harden'd'by che Sca is calt upon the nexr Shoar.
Not far from Sus, fands Tcücnt, which contains 4000 Families. The adjacent Country produces plenty of Grain, Barley, Pulle and Daces, as alfo of Sugar, only for wane of the being acquainted with the way of pocifing, boyling and preparing is; what they have is black and uniavoury, and the Morocco, Fec , and Negroend Merchants buy up what they can fpare. The only Moncy they ufe, is the Gold dig'd out of their own Grounds; for thcy have noSilver but what goes rowards their Womens Ornaments: The leaft Fron Coin they have weighs almoft an Onnce. Figs, Grapes, Pcaches, and Dates, ate the only Fruirs that thitive upon that Soil.

The famous Gordoum Leather of Norcicon, is drefs'd here, where 12 Hides coft fix Ducats, and eight ar Fez . The South parrof this Country is difpeopld, and fubject to the neighlouring Arabians; but the North part lying towards the atlas, is well ftor"d with Towns, Villages, and Hamlets.
In the midft of this City, there ftands a ftately Tem-
A River ram: rle , calld Tioc Grecteft, or The Chiefeft, thro' which rans iog hroi 2 branch of the River Sus. Each quarter of the City has its peculiar Goycrnour, chofen every three Months; and thefe Governours act as States of a Commonwealch. They are perpecually engag'din Wax, which renders \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{cm}\) tourh and unpolifh'd.
Thenext Town in Sus is Tarodant, which contains above 3000 Houles. When the Family of Marin fway d the Secptex of \(F_{e}\), this was the Sear of the King of \(F_{c}\), his Vicc-roys. Their prefent Government is lodg \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{d}\) in tinc Hands of four Noble-men, eleited eqvery fix Monchs.

Ac the diftance of \(j^{\circ}\) Miles Eantward from Tarolant, 60 from the Ocean; 20 from Arlos, and chree from the River Sus, we mect with Tedf, a very great Town, built many Yearsago by the Africans, in a moft pleakant fertile place, abounding in Corn, Sugar, and wild Wood, ant reforted to by many of the Negroland Merchans. The Cirizeis cultivate Peace and Civility, and have a tery fourithing Commonwealth, govern'd by fix Magi-

Atrates, who are choten by lot cvery fixecen Months. There are a great many Joips in this City, who are very expert inthe Goldifinith, Carpenter, and fuchlike Trades. It hasa weckly Market crery Munday, which draws in great numbers of Arabinns, buth from the Vallicys ind Mountains. It is adornit with a fatacly Tample, and maintains at the publick Charge, many lriefts and LoCtors of the Law.
The greateft City in Sus is Taranoft, containing above 8000 Fanilics, furrounded with a rough Stone Wall tirmoth and lying 60 Mijes from the Oecan, 50 tothe Southwa of Aflar, and en Miles of the Sus River. 'Tis fuid the Africans buile ir. 'Tis never without Ciril Wars, the Inhabitants being divided into threc Factions, one of which the Arebians always fide with, according ts their Pay goes. They have grearplenty of Corn and Catir but their Wool is very coarle. They make a fore of Garments, which are exported once a Year to Tombutr, Gualata, and other places in Neproland: They have a, Market twice a Weck. Their Átrire is in fome meafure decent; and their Women are beautiful; but the Men being defecnded of black Fathersand white Mothers, are of a tawny Swarthy Complexion.
As for the Mountainous parts. The Mountain Hacli: Ca, ftretching from the Aelas almoft 40 Miles Eaftward Teno is inhabiced by yallians Foom-men, one of whom will monem encounter with two Horfe-men. It produces Badts Hancert. and plenty of Honcy, but no Corn. 'Tis never withont Snow, and yet the lohabitants are fo hardy as to wat but one fingle Gament all the Year round. The Mountaia Liflcm beginning Wettward from that Mountain, runs Eaft to the Region of Gu亏urf, and Mounda Souch to the Plains of Sus. 'Tis furnith'd with , and \(H\), of Horfes, and inhabited by a vallianr l'sople, who wage eternal Civil Wars, upon the accouns of Tome Sil ver Mines, out of which the prevailing Party digs Sit ver, and diftributcs it cqually among the Partifans.
The third Province of the Kingdom of Morccec, is the cimis that calld Toc Region of Morocce, cxtending Eaftward min siliol rom the Mountain of Nc/iff to the Mountain Hadimes, Nmax, and Northward no che Eaft Border of Hen: Its Form is almoftuiangular. The whole Councry is a moft fertile grecn Plain, well ftock'd with Catrle. As for its Towns and Cities.
Abour eighr Milcs to the Eaft of the River Affinual ftands Teneffa, upon a Hill of Atlar, call'd Glisdmin. Tment Mountain, and pill the Ground npon the fide of the Mouncain, and pay a third part of the Product by way of tribute to the Arabians. . Bur they dare nor till th excellenr fertile Plain ar the Foot of theHill, for far of the plundering Arabs.
A large and impregnable Fort larcly buile, calld Now Delgumucha, furrounded on all hands with Moumains, im ris. Atandsabout 40 Miles from Morosia, upon the top of a Mountain, under which fritings Afinnucl, i. c. The River of Noif, fo call'd, becaufe is breaks out of the fide of a Hill with a hidcous Noife, and makes a very deep Gulf. This Fort conrains almoft 1000 Families, being well tock'd with a civil People; that wear decenr Apparch and cudtivate Mechanick Arts. About 14 Mifes to the Wet of Delgumabn, upon a part of athas, fands a Ciry calld mimit: Imizmixi, near to which lies the Rojad over the Mountains to GuTuhn, known by the Name of Burrir, i. c. A Way Firewid mitb Ferfliers, alluding to the Snow that \({ }^{\text {Enrmb }}\) often falls there, apparcouly in the form of Feathers rat her rather than Snow.
Not far from hence there's a fair large Plain, of 30 Miles extent, producing incomparable Corn, bur a great part of it is uninhabired, by rafon of the Depredations of the Arabians, and the Souldicers of Mc-
About 14 Miles from Atlas, and fix from the River remfft, upon a very large Field, Stands Morocco; one of Marmect the greateft Cities in the World; founded (as'tisfaid) in the 424 Year of the Heguira, by Fofeph the Son of Tesfin, King of the Tribe of luntuna, when he march'd to the Region of "Norocco. The Buildings of this Ciry are ftarely and artificial beyond expreffion. In the Reign F King Hali, the Son of Fofeph, it contain'd above oocoo Families, being adorn'd with 24 Gates, and a very thick ftrong white Stone Wall, befides a grear many Temples, Colleges, Bathing Places, and Inns, builc after their own Fafhion.

The mof magnificent of all their Temples, is that in he midft of the City, brilt by Hnti the Son of fof cph, The pred the Temple of Hali ben jofepls. Abdul-Atumen hisSucceffour pulld down this itately Edifice, and rebuilr is more fumptuoully than before, in order to fink his Prcdecefforar's Fame, and cternize his own ; bet he mils'd

Chap. I. A Defcription of Africa.
a his aim, for it fill bears the name of Hali. The fehis aim, for it fill bears the name of Hali. ine te-cond Tyrant buile another Temple near a Rock in the Ciry, which his Grandion Manfir enlarg'd to the cxtent of 50 Cubits every way, and adornd with Pillats imported from Spain. The Roof of this Tcmple was covcrid with 1 cad, and at every Corner werc Icaden Pipes, which convey'd the Rain Watcr down to a Cifteris or Vauld below the Temple, of equal bignefs with the Temple is felf. . The Stecple is buile of hard finooth Stone, in the form of an Amphithcarre, being above 100 Ells round, and higher than the Stecple of Bononia. ThicStairs of the Sceple are fevenHands broad, and well lighted with Windows, that are contriv'd to be wider within than without. The Srecple rifes to a Spirc, in the form of a Sugar-loaf, abour two Spears long and 25 Ells in compafs, which has three Gallerics that they get up by rooden Ladders. On the top of a Spire ftands a Gold Half-moon, upon an Iron Bar, with chrec Golden Balls of different fizes underneath, the greateft of which is plac'd loweft and the leaft higheft. From the top of thisStceple one may deccry the Promontory of Aicpti, which liss 130 Miles off, and carry his Eye abore so Miles into the plain Country. The infide of this Temple is but ordinary, but the Arches of the. Roof is very artificial. This grear Temple is never freguented by the Pcoplcbur on Fridays; and that part of the City where ir ftands is now uninhabited, whereas in former times (as 'tis reported) thefe were above 100 Bookfelicrs Shops under ies Roucci: In fine, the third pare of the City isat prefent unimfabited, and there is not now one Bookfller in the whole Town Tho' 'ris not above 500 Xears ftanding, yer the Inconztrocafon venicnce of concinual Wars, and the frequent Altcratiof whe ons of their Magiftrates, have brought it to decay. In thic Reign of Abraham King Hali's Son, one Eiluabali, a Highlander, and a Mabonectan Prieft, rebelld againft his Natural Sovercign, and having levy'd his Army, inretcepted his Recturn ro the City of Morocen, and oblig'd bim rofly to the Mountains of Ac/as. After which the King came to Oran, and finding no Relief there, mountFromsted his Horfe, and taking his Queen behind him, fled to Quxon a Rock upon the Sca-fhore, where he threw himfelf, threm head his Queen and his Horfe headleng. In the mean time Elmatheli dy'd, and Abdul-Mumer his Succeffour befieg'd the City of Morocco for a whole Year, and ar laft took it, with his own kill l/aac the Son or King Abraham, great part of the Cicizens to beput to the Sword. This Man's Potterity reign'd from the \(5 \times 6 \mathrm{ch}\) to the 668 rh Year of the Hegeira, ar which time they were difpoffecs'd by a King of che Tribe calld Marin. This Fami\(l_{y}\) of Marin kept their Court at Fe , and gorern'd Mcrocco by Vice-roys. They conxinued in the Government till the 785 yeat of the Fegeira. This Ciry of Morocco has ines, Palin-trecs, large Gardens, and very fruitful CornFieldswithin the Walls; buc the Ground withou the Wallslies unmanur'd, upon the account of the Excurfions of the Arabs 7xcatico of 10 has an impregnable large Caftle within ir, the Walls Withs and Gates of which, are of pure Marble. Steeple, and a Golden Half-Moon with with a lorty Sphears on the top of it, weighing rogether 130000 Dut cars. Some Kings have attcmpred to takedown theic :rich Sphears, bur their Dclign was always baulk'd by likewific a grear Colledge, thar has 30 Halls belonging to it, one of which otanding in the middle, is very large, and admirably wol painted and carv'd, being the place allotted for the publick Lectures, while Learning flou-rifh'd-among 'em. All their Porches and Roofs tvere of painted glitrering Stone, call \(E_{\hat{n}^{2}}^{\text {ullein. }}\) In the midft of this Colledge they have a moft pleafant clear Fountain, caclos'd with Walls of white polilh'd Marble. In formercimes there were a grear many Students in ir, who had cheir Diet and Cloathing given them grates, and feveral Profeffours, who had, fome 100 , fome 200 Du cars a year, and admitted of no Hearers, bui fuch as were perfeally woll versid in the Arts they profefs'd. Further, The Cafle has likewife rwelve Courrs of cunous Buildings within ir. The firf was che Apartment of above 500 Chriftians, who always attended the King, carrying Crofs-bows before him. The fecond was call'd The Houfe of Affairs, being the Lodgings appointed for the Lord Chancellour and the King's Privy Council. The third was calld The Courr of Viatory, in which the Armour and Ammunition was lodgd. The fourth was allorted to che King's Mafter of Horfe, having three Scibles adjoining, etch of which contain'd 200 Horle, and large Convenicncies: for the keeping of Sunaty, Baricy and Corn. . The Corn is lodg'd in feveral Rooms, eacin of which will contain above 300 Bunkels. Thefe Rooms have a whole in thes Roof,co which the Bcafts ladenwithCorn,afecnd by Sone Steps, and fo the Corn is pur inatothat hole; and whenthey want to take our any Corn, there are other heles bu: low, out of which it runs upon the firf opening. Thr: other Courts are employd for the lodging of die King's and Noblemens Sons, the King's Cuncubines, and outher Ladies of Honour, and the King's Guard, thic Recpption: of Ambaffadours, Efc. Among thefe there's a fyuare Building, conraining feveral Ciallerics with ftately Giats Windows, in which fevcial Hiftories are curioully. paintFields, You have the profrect of a the that is riest the Ficlds, you have the proffect of a very flealant lates Garden, adorn'd with all Korts of Trees. Not far from the Garden there's a Park walld round, in which Elcphants, Lions, Stags, and all kinds of wild Beats were kept, only the Lions had, a peculiar Apartment, call'd to this Day, The Lions Den. This fumpenous Strusture had the Pantio of which a lion of Marble ficed Marble, in the midft the Call:. of which a Lion of Marble fiood upon a Pillar, and thirow out of his Mourh clear Chriftal Water intoa Ciitcrn. Each coricrof the Porch was adorn'd with a Lcopard of party colourd Marble, that naturally rcprefents its fpots. This iort of Marble is not to be found any whercbut in a certain place of Atlas, abour 150 Miles off. Such was the Magnificence of this noble Stru@urc, in the rimic of Manfor, who builsit, which as this day affords only Nefts to the Fowls of the Air. Such an Edifice became fo grear a Prince as Manfor, whole Do minions reach'd froin Moffa co Tripois in baibay, and nefs of Rex. who was Lord, not only of all the Kingdom of Grancilc in Mmfor. Sprin, but of a great part of Cafile and Roo tural.' 'Twas in his Son's cime that che Succels of the Chrititans made way for the decay of Morcce; and after his death the Civil Diffentions between his tea Sons, gave the Pcople of \(F_{1}\), call'd Marimi, an Opportuniry of ufurping the Government, and leaving this famous City exposd to the Infults of the Arcies, who-have reduc'd is to extream Mircry.
Anocher Town in the Region of Miorocen, is that agms calld Agmet, built by the ancicat Africans, upon the top of a Hill, about 24 Miles off Marosco. While Muachidin was Prince of it, is consain'd 6000 Familics; the Pcople were noted for Civility, and dhe Town boalted of Plenty and Magnificence, having in iss Neighbourhood plenty of Vines, pleafane Gardens, a River as the Foot of the Hill, the Water of which looks alwars whire and a Field by it chat yelded a tify fold Increare every Year. Bur nowit's only Inhabitanss are Wiolves, Foxes, Deer, and other wild Beafts.
The mon Weftern Part of the Rcgion of Merace, is:ric Mo:i:the Mountajn of Nifffe, which divides it fromzHer, and uns of als which is boch well pecpled and exceeding fertile in reers. Barlcy, norwithatanding that iss tou is continualiy co- ipfo. verd with Snow. The lohabicants of this place are Strangers to Civility ; chay gaze at any Stranger that comes among com: I fay'd there rwo Days fays our Author, and being clad in whire, which is the ufual Gaxb for the Learned incin'cf our Councry, the Mob canc abourme, and being furpriz'd at the white Garmenc, handled it foofien, chat inttead of white is became black in a littletime.
This Mouncain is feparated by the River Seffanc from another Mountain of 20 Milcs exrent Ealtward, calld \({ }^{\text {E. }}\) Semedi. Somedc, inhabited by a Pcople unacquainted with good Laws, Civility or Honefty. Irenjoys plenry of Springs, and is always coverd with Snow. In this Country (kays our Aurhor) I was forc'd to cat Barly-meal mingled with Water, and.ftale tough Goars Fledh, and to lyc upon the bare Ground; and irbcing the Cuftom chere, thar wharcrer Suanger comes amongf 'em, he is conftrain'd o decide the Controverfies of the Inhabitants. I was Sramgeren forc'd to ftary therf nine Days to decide their Quarrels, fter which, by we ay of Recompence, they plac'd me in Church Porch, and after a hort Praycr, prelented me, Come with a Cock, fome with Nuts and Onions, fome with a handful of Garlick, and the richerfors with a Goar, or there is nor a farching of Moricy in the Country. This done, they hent 50 Honfe to conduit me tupon the Road, and defend me from Robbers.
Where Semede ends, the Mountain Scufana begins, msomams: the top of which was never withour Snow : It kends forch a River of the fame name. The brutin lahabitants wage eternal War with their Neighbours, But their only Arms are Slings, out of which they throw Stones with a wonderful dexrerity. They feed upon Barley, Honey, and Goats-Fleft. The Walls of their Houfes are of rough Stone and Lime; and the Roofs are thatchid. A gicar many Fews lite among' cm , and exercife Mechanick Trades, fuch as Mafon Work, making of Soap, Iron Hooks, and Horle-floocs. Neither do they want learned Men and Lawers, whofe Comfel they ufe are all times. This Mountain is much infeited with Rebbers as well as the latt I menciond.
18. Hantea:

The ligheft Mountain I ever faw, is that call'd Hancera, which at the firt view I took to be Clouds. Its top is always coverd with Snow. The fides of it are dettitute of Herbsor Trecs, and might afford plenty of excellent white Martic, if the Noathful ienorane Inhabitants knew but how io hew and polish it. Here are many: fumperors Pillars and Ar hes defiguid by the King's of Auroce, for fupporting Watet Conduits; but the Violence of the Wars hinderd 'cm to pur their Defigns in exce:tion. Man: of the Carrain Gitps follow Mechanick Therrosice The fourth Province of the Kingdom of Moroceo is Sume Eatt, Ariss ro the North, and H-a to the South. 'Tis inhabited by a numerous favage Toop.e, that abound in Cartle, but want Moncy. Some Villages in this Pro-: vimce contain above 1000 Families. It has excellent Iron and Copper Mines. Ha: ing noking nor Laws, nor form of Government, they are continually ar war one with another; only they obferve three Days truce cyery Week, which a Hermitc that they rever'd, cojonn'd to 'em and once a Xcar they have a Fair for two Monchs durins which rime they cive free Entertaiumene to all Mcr chants that come either to fell or buy, and obferve a Truce among themflves, appointing Caprains out of cach Faetion, to preferve the Peace and Security of the fair and to punilh Thicyes, who mmedately upon their Conviction, are Aain like Bruits, and their Carcaffes are thrown our to the Dogs and Fowls.
中rovince of
Duccala. Ins- Towns coó \(h\), upon the Shore of the Ocean, containing 4000 Kamilics, of a barbarous ignorane Reople, that know \({ }^{2}\), Centum Purei, fanding upona Reck of excellent Marble, fo call'd from the number of Pits or Caves in iss Suburbs, which preferv'd Corry 100 Years from corupption; and inhabiced by a floathfiul Pcople, there being no Mechanicks among cm, excepting a few ferps.
And anamur, feated on the Mouth of the River Ommirabil, by the fide of the Occan, containing 5000 civil and decently apparelld Familics, who live in peace one with anocher. The Inhabitants of ATamir are mightily givento Sodomy. The'Fews furrender'd. this City to the King of Porcusa', upon the Condition of Security to themfelves: 10 that this is now the Refidence of the Porrugurfe Merchants. Tho the Gardens and Orchards abour it bring forth nothing bur Figs, yer they have plenty of Pulfe and Corn, and fuch abundance of Fifh, as brings cm in 6 or 7000 Ducats a Year. Their Scafon of Fifning lafts from Octaber to April.
In this Province we mect with a very high Mountain, call'd The Green Mountain, which extends from the RiDu Duccela from fome part of Tedles. Tis rough and woody and afords grcat tore of Acorms, Rine-apples, and red Fruit, call'd africano. It thews a great many Fountains. Mahomesan Alcars, and the Ruins of ancient Houfes, built by the afficans. Several Hermites live opon ahis Mountain, and feed only upon what the Woods afford, forthey lieat the diftance of 25 Miles from aav Town.

The fixth Prowince of this Kingdorn is Hancora, in Theprorince which we meet with Tofgodaft, a Town ftanding upon the oi Hozcora. top of a Mountain, Gumrounded with other four, the which they export to the adincent Citics, and cxecllens Honcy, both white and, cllow. Their Fountains ate very numerous, and joining in one Stream, ferve their Water-mills. The Inhabitans have fome meafure of Civility. Their Women are handiome and fer out with Silver Jewels. They have among 'em Judpes, Pricts, great numbers of Gentemen, and a grear many Tradefmen. Their leather, of which they have atunidance, they expore to Fiz and Mechañ. Unter the Town lics a fertile l'ain, almoft fix Miles long, for which they pay tribute to the irabiens.
Within five Miles of that Town, Atands E'R iume: on the top of a high Mountain, containing 500 Familues, befides as many more in the Villages upon the Mountains. 'Tis carich'd with innumerable Springs, pleafant Garuens, tail Walnus-trecs, and excellent Iron Mitow which attord cm plency of Horlc-1hoocs. A great many Trades-men live in this Town, fuch as Smiths, I.ca ther-dreffers, eec. The adjacent Hills yield Barly, and Olives in great abundance
As for Xedes, the laft Province of Morsceo; its chi.f Town is Teffat, buile by the africans upon the fide of the Mroms its Name from the cxcellear Marble ( \(\mathrm{T}, \mathrm{i} \mathrm{A}\) ) of which its Walls are buile. Many rich Mcrechanes rectide in it, befides 200 Families of Jewifh Tradefmen and Mcrchants. Several ourlandith Merchants trade to it for lack Mantles with Hoods, call'd Illurnus's. It cnterains many Judges and Priefts, and has feveral Manome. ran Tcmples. The Inhabitants are decently cloathid; their Women are handfome and graccful; their Coins of Gold, bears no Image or Superfeription. They pay the King of Morocco 20000 Ducats a Ycar.
Luthis Province is Mount Megran, having the Region of Earcali on the South, Mount Seggheme on the Weit M Mern and Moune Dedes on the Eaft. Tho' 'ris always covcr'd with Snow, the Inhabitants have fuch Droves of finall and great Cattle, that they are oblig'd to move from place co place, and carry their Houfes along with 'em uron Mules, for they are made of the Bark of Trecs, fupported with ilcnder Spares: Only during the Spring they continue in oneplace, and to defend their Cartle from the cold, lodge eminathe night time in Cottages coserd with the Boughs of Trees, near which they kindle great Fires, and if the Wind blows hard, the Cattle are fome times endanger'd by the Firc. Lions and Wolves never ceafe to moleft 'cun.
Another high and cold. Mountain in this Province, is Mount Dedes. It cxrends from Mount Magran on the M D.at Weft, as far as Mount Adefor, and on the Sotath Borders upon the Plains of Todga, being almoft So Miles long. tis full of Fountains and Woods. The Ruines of old City are to be feen upon the top of ir, with fomelnfriptions upon the Srones that the Inhabitants do not underftand. This Itake to have been the fame City, that Scriffo Effachli, an Hiftorian, calls Tedfi, and placesnear to Segelmoffe and Dara. The lnhabirants of this Mounrain are very barbarous. Moft of 'cm divell in Caves under ground, and likewifelodge their Cartle in Caves, which are full of Salc Perre, bur they know nor the ufe of it. Some of "cm have Houfes buile by pailing one Stone above another, withour any Morter is but there's no Town or Cafte in all the Country. They bave no ching to feed upon but Barley Meal boyl'd with Water and Salr, which they call Elhafid. They have large numbers of Alfes and Goars, and their very Houfes are rainted with theftench of Goats Their Garments fcarce cover half their nakednefs. They are woniderfully haunied by prodigious fwarms of Fleas. Having neither Judge, Prieft, nor Governour, they feal from one another, and quartel upon the leaft occafion. Few Merchants vifit " cm , becaufe they have, no Commodities to fell; and if any one imports Goods among 'em, he muft pay a fourth part for Cuftom, and runs the rif que of having all taken from him, unlefs the be conducted fafe by their Caprain. Their Women are a dovenly miferable crew, and their Toid and Slavery is greater that chat of \(A f f\) fes. fpacelectwecnithefe and the Town being full of large, pleafant and fruitful Gadens. Here the Quinces are incredibly big, and the Vincs thooting round the Bough of Tres, make moft delicious Walks. The Grapes. are red, and for theirbignefs are calld Hens Eggs, in the Language of the Councry. They have plenty of Oil,

\section*{Additions to C. H A P . II.}

\author{
Collected out of Marmol.
}

-MOrocs, the moft Weftern Kingdorn of all Brelart, is bounded Hyrthe Occan on the Wert, the Riverof Sus on the South, Mounc at/as on the Eaft, and the Kiver of Ommirabi on the Norch.

Her, the moft Weftern Province of Morncco, is 10 cracky and motntainous, that it nourithes few other Beafts befides Goats, very large Hares, and Affes, which are very numerous there. are very numerous there.
It produces grcar quantities of Barlcy, but no Corn. armant. Whar traffick the lnhabitants have, is owing, not only to their Goats, bar tocheir Bees, from which they gathera great guantity of Wax, and fell it to the Etrropeans. The Nativesare 2 warlike Pcople, but withal very brution and uncivil. Tho their Valleys being well watered with Springs and Rivers, might make good Vincyards and Gardens, yerthey neglect both. Neither dothey plant Olive-Trees, for what Oil they ufe is made of the Kernel of a certain Fruit that grows upon a thomy Trcecall'd Erquen: This Fruit is as big as a large Aoltstymin pricock; it contains nothing but a Stone cover'd with a Skin, and when "tis ripe, Mhines like a Starin the Nightrime. The Goats feed upon it, but are nor able to break the Stone; fo that the Natives gather the Srones in their Folds, and from the Kemels draw an Oil, that boch Ainks and taftes very rank. The Inhabitants are fo brutifh, that nut one amon's 'em can read, excepting a few Alfagui's, whole Example and Precepts are a ftanding law to the reft; for thu" they are all Malometans, yes they know nothing cirher of Malvomet or hisSect. They wear no Shirts, becaufe they have no Lincn, but what is bought up at Morocco or Safi, for the ufe of the Coursiers and Ladies of Qrality. They have neither Hars nor Caps upon theír fleads, bur only wooken Rowlers about haIf a Foor broad, which they ran fivecox fix times abour thcir Heads, in the form of Turbants. The finct of there Weits or Fillets are of Cotron-Cloch fripd with red, with Taffels hanging down on each Tanb: of fide likea Fringe, bur the Alfagui's wear, by way of ditixumy finction, red Caps imporred from Tolcdo or Cordour The young Men thate cheir Face arrdHead, bur marricd Manluffer not only their Baards togrow, but likewite a Tuft of Hair upon the Crown of the Hcad, by which (say the Arabiams) the 'Mabemetrms will be diftinguin'd on the Day of-Judgment. Thofe who live in Cities havea decentex. Gatb than the reft; for they wear Doublers of colour'd Clort, with long Skirts and half Slecres, with a great many Buttons upon the Breaft, and over is a Caffock thar's fomerwhat fincr. Their Women bave long and large Limen Shifs, and a fort of Veil or Mantle. call'd Hartu:. Within doors, if chey are Ladies of Qnality, they cover thermiflves with a Cloth that's half Linen half Silk, and faften it upon their Breafts with a Silver Buckle. 'Uponthcir Arms they have Silver Bracelets, and large Silver Rings upon their Ankles, befides chree or four large Ear-xines of Gold, or Silver, or Iron, according ro their Ability. The People of Fathion lie in Coverings of fhag'd Tapiftry, lying leveral Plaits of is underneath' cm ; and leaving a piece to cover 'em : But the common Pcople have nothing to lye upon but Mats made of Bulrufies, or fome Goats Skins, and cover themfelyes with their Ctoaths. The Menare of a roburt Conftitution, and infinitcly jealous of theirWives, who are commonly'handfome, and of a clean, white and amorous Complexion.
Their ordinary Food is Barley Meal, which they eiThis Dic. ther bakeinto Cakes, either in an Oven orin an carthen Pan, and car it hor with Butter or Honey; or the Oil of Eraten, orfomerimes with Goars Flem itew'd." Soinerimesthey boil the Meal with Milk or frefh Butter, and fo mas ir; calling it tracur: Bur their Hacida is a piece of Pafte or Dough boild with Water and Salt, and Having a hole in the middle of ir, fill'd with Butter or Oil, in which they dip their Bread when they cat ir, and then drink up the brath.
When they ear. they fit down, both Men and Women, wh their upon the Ground, and the earthen Veffels being plac'd hand accole, grappleup the Victuals with their Rightor with the Leff-hand, that bcing the Handwith which they wafh themelves when ther goabeut their Dewoun when they have done cating, they wipe ther lingershy rubbins 'cm againft the 6ther Mand or their Arms; for they ale neither Napkins, nor lowel, nor Handker chicfs; and whon they walh their Hands, they hein emin the Air cill they dry of themfelves. There Womenare commonly imploy'd an grinding their Meal in little Stone Hand-mills; for notwithttanding the Ad vantage of excellent Rivers falling down from the Mo:ntains, they have no fuch thing as Water-Mills. They know no fuch thing, as Soap, for they whiten their Lirien with a fort of Herb call'd Giñul.
All this Province is very well pcopled, beiny full of large Villages ftock'd with a turbulene Cort of Pcople, wholiv'd incternal war with one another, till the Government fell into the Hands of the Xeriffs; for they liv'd at large, and neglecting the Meafures cither of Law or Juftice, werc impaienic under Controul.

Their Arms are three or four Darts' with fharp Stecl Thcir Asms: Points, and a fharp Poinard bow'd like a Sickle, which cuts on the inner fide, and threc or four Slings ty'd about their middle. They knew nothing of Guns of Crofs-bows, till within there few Years, that the Xrriff call'd them to affift him in the Wars. Their Horfemen carry Spears with Leathern Targets, and Cutelaxs's made like Sickles.
In fighting they always benke themifl:es to fteep and unacceliable places, from whence they rumble down Their wny Stoncs upon their Encmies; and upon an Atacke they make fuch a noife, that one would take 'cm to be much more numerous than chey are. What has been faid of the Manners and Cuftoms of the Inhabianuss of Hen may be apply'd to all the Monntanecrs of Barbiary.
The Metropolitan of all \(\mathrm{H}=a\), is the City of Tcineft, The ciry of wafh'd by a River that rifes in irs Nrightourhood, the The cenel. Banks of which are beaucify'd with fruirful Trees and all forts of Kitchin Herbs. Forh irs tioufcs and Walls arc builc of Wood and fquare Lays of Earth, cernented wich Plaifter.
Moft of the Inhabitants of this City are Shepherds and labouring Men, who fpend their time in the Fields. The reft are Trades-men, particularly Shooc-makers, Taylors, Carperiters, Lock-finiths, to which we man add fome Jews that are Gold-finiths, and fonc Merchants, who fell the coarfe Cloch made in the Councry, and riade in chelinen Cloth imporred from Seff, where the European Merchants cxchange it for Wax and Leather. This Ciry has lefs Podity than any other City in all Barbary, for ir has neither Baths, Inas, Colleges nor Hof picals, excepting one for the poor People that pals that way.
Abour 200 Families of Fows live in a feparate quatrer of: the City, where they are allow'd to oblerve the SevereTaxe Meafures of their own law, and pay a Ducar 2 Head pown th to the Govemuur, bcfides the extraordinary Taxes which are ren times heavier upon each of: them, than upon the richeft Merchantof the Ciry; and after all they are uncapable of being the Proprietorsof Houfes or Lands, or any orher immoreable ching. Tcdneft has been deftroy'd feveral rimes, particularly when the Almubades mafterd Morocco and Abdulmumen, after an obtinate Siege, reduc'd it to fuch extromity, that it be came a Reccpracle to wild Beafts. Bur the adjacent Country being fertile and pleafant, twas foon after rebuilt and repcopled, and render'd it felf famous by declaring firft for the Xe:iffs. Upon which Xcriff Mabomer pirct'd upon is for the place of his Refldence, and adorn'd it with a fumptuons Palace, with fine Gardens and Water-works adjoyning. 'Twas his place of Arms againft the Chriftians of Safi and Azamer, who infefted his Provinces under the conduct of Tabayn. Aten Tiffuf, an African Captain, and Vaffal of the King of Portugal.
This Captain being a morital Enemy, to the Xeriffs, and a particular Friend to Nupno Fernander de Atryde, The Porm General of the Porruguč Atmy, and the braveft Officer mach rak ing againft Xeriff Monvme, who was then at Tcdueff, accompanyd by his two Sons, arjd the Flower of his Army: Upen their Approachit the Head of 4ro

Chriftian Horfe, 3000 Morith Horre, and 800 Arabian Foor; the Xeriff march'd our of Tcdurft with 4000 Horic, and mesting the Van-guard, comnanded by the Africon Captain, was routed before the Portugucze Gcneral come up with the Rear. In this Battle he loft 800 Men, befides 200 Prifonces, and upon that, he and his two Sons betook themettyes to flight. The Victors hav ing poffers'd chemfelyes of a 3 Boory of 3000 Head of Catcle fmall and great, befides a griat many Horfes Camels and Mules, march'd up tothe City, and took i Camels and Mulles, march ap rocke Cicy, mut Hands of the King of Portugel, as well as many ocher places in that Country, till the Xeriff having drawn to gether an Army, recoverdid it; fo that his l'oftcrity onjoysir to chis Day.
Arobsh, a finall fortificd Town, not far from Tedinft, was likewife taken by the al:ove-mention'd Gencral, who was the firft that feal'd the Walls, and by his Perfonal Braverics, nor only animated his Mca, bur aftonifh'd his Enemics: But the Xeriff has fince xetaken it, for ic al wars followid the Fortuncof Trduct.
Aiguc/, a ftrong Townin this Conntry, fanding on the tap of a ftecp Mountain, was attack dby the Pertuguc/c, but they did not carry it.
Teculeth, another City in this Country, has a fmall Harbour, with an old Cantle calld jgur, upon the Miouth of the Diura, which Prolomy places in 7 Deg. 20 Min. Long. and 3: Dcg. 40 Min. Lar. Both the Houfes and Walls of this Town are buils of Earth. Twas firft fack'd and difpeopled by dibdulmumen, and afterwards ( \(A . D .1514\) ) by the Porcugucf. But fince that the Xeriff have repeopled it, and indsed the Inhabitants are borh civiler and richer chan thofe of. Tednef; for the adinecnt Plains are very fertile, and the Mountain atf:risgrat Hives of Bees, the Wax of which they fell to the European Merchants.
Tefodelt is look'd upon as the Key of the whole Pro-Tersstri:- vince; and the Governour appointed by the Xeriff, to collcet his Revenues and admuinifter Juftice, refides in is.
The Caftle calid Culfibat Elmubayden, buile by Omar the Mabomefan Preacher, was a great annoyance to the Neighbours, by reafon of the Robberies and Excurfons of his Grandfon, till at laft he came to ant Accommodation with the Neriffs, and paid cm homage.
Upon the point of the Promontory of Hec, that fhoots out into the Occan, there ftands a little Town call \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{U}\) Tcferne, with a precry good Habour, where the European Merchants ufe to land. 'Twas formerly call'd IfercuLes's Port, which Psolomy places in 7. Dcg. 30 Min. Lon. and 30 Deg. Lat. It has Walls and Towers built of Brick and Frec-itone, and was once a Sovercign Republick, and maintain'd a Garrifon upon the Cuftom of 10 per Cent. of the Wax, untannd Leather, Indigo, and orber Goods that were exported or imported. Ar pre fint 'tis fubject to the Xeriff, and kepr under by a Governour and a Gartifon. The Inhabitants are very white, and liberal to Strangers. They have large places fet apart for bec-hives.
The fecond Provincs of Morocco is Sus, which contains the greater part of the wholeKingdom. The beft part of this Country is a Plain, lying to the Weftward aInng the River Mars,rib, which waters ir, and is convey'd by Conduits to the refpective Villages.

The lnhabitants of this Provinee are richer and more civiliad than thofe of Eex; for befides their large focks of Cornand Gatele, they have deale in Sugars, being providec with Sugar Mills cver fince the Rexen of the Neriffs, which is the moit profitable Trade in all Morocco. When the Xeriffs conguard Mauritania Zingisana, the eldeft Erocher gave the Kingdom of Sus tothe younger upon the condition of paying lomage; which he did fora while, till ar laft he outcd his clder Brocher, and madehinfelf Mafter, not only of all Mauritania Tingisana, but of feveral Provinces in Nimidia and \(L_{i-}\) in..
This Country affords good Indigo, Allum, and the beft fork of I accin, which goes by the name of Suff, not to mention the Ginsove Slaves, and the Tibar Gold, calld by the Negrocs Niarnaqui, which are brought from thence by Caravans every Year.

Among the remarkable places of this Province, we meft rate noticc of Tciart, or Techeit, where they make grear quanciuics of fne Sugar, crer fince a \(\mathcal{f c o w}\) that was rurn'd Mort, taught 'em bow ro preparcit, by the Allifance of Come Prifoncrs that the Xeriff bad rook at Cape \(d^{\prime}\) Agucr. . The Inhabitants of this place are very proud, and were always quarreling among themfelves while they enjoy'd their Liberry. Bur about 100 Years ago fome of 'om ufurp'd the Governments and upon the Commence:
ment of the xeriflian Adventures, the then Governo:r marricd his only Daughter so at Genouc/a Mcrchant the had turn'd Matrmeran; and this Merchant was fo mued belov'd by the People, that after the Deatio of his Fa-ther-in-Law, he fucceaded to the Crown, and being a Fricud to the deriffs, allow'd 'cm to pafs chro' his Counry uponthcir march to Hca. The chleft Son and Sur ceffour of this Mcrehane was the braveft alive that the Xariffs had, and they confided moit in him. His Grandfon is at prefent lord of chacinct. Thefe Prinecs imbellinh'd the Ciry very much, and ar this Day the Inhabitantsare very rich, and live at cheir cale. However they have among cem above 200 Jewifh Merchants aid Tades-men.
Twelve Leagucsto the Euth of Tcjenf, we fall in withTruart Terudanf, call'd by the Mores Teutranf, which is not in criour to the reft in Magnificence and Commerce When the Benincrins mafter'd Maritania Tingitena they imbellin'd is, and made is the Scat of their Viec roys, After their fall, it recorcr'd its Liberty \({ }_{2}\) and was rovern'd by four Magiftrates elected cvery fix Months ill the Xeriffs poffisisd themfilyes of it, under the Pretence of waging War with the Chriftians as Cape d. Agucr. At prefont ( fays our Author) 'tis well fortified, and one of the principal Citics in all Africa; in which the גicriff lodges his M:agazines, his Arfemal, and the greateft part of his Treafure, as being the fecurelt place in the Councry. Some fay the Xeritts were the ounders of it, but the Antiquity of its Walls anc Buildings, and che Teftimony of Hiftorians, are fufivient Evidence thatit was buile by the anciens 1 Ifricans.
Ted/f was likewife much improv'd hy dhe deriffs; fur is fubmitred roluntarily to thicm, when is was gor crn'd by fix Magiftrates chofen cycry fixtecn Months, upon which shey cftablifind a Court of Judicature in the City and renderd it one of the richeft and moft confiderabit Towns on that fide the Athes. The fame was the Fatc of the grcat City of Tagracf.
Wirhinthefe few Yearsthere was a fimall Town buitr cretion at the Foot of the Capcof Mount Ashas, calld Cape a Aguer, and formerly Cape d' Uffgre, which Piolemy places in feven Deg. 30 Min . Long. and 29 Deg . 15 Min. Lar. This place has a good Harbour, where large Ships may ride. It owes its Original ro Diego Loper de Seguera, a portusueq Gentleman, who builr a Catte there to fecure his Filhery. This Cafle wascalld Saint Croix, and by the Mores-Dar Kumia, i. C. The Houfe of a Cbriftiana Bur K. Dom Menual percciving that this Cafte might be Scas and cartying on the Conguef Navigation of thofe Scas, and carrying on the Conqueft of Africa, bought is of the Gentleman, and havinga cnlargid it, fortificd it like a City, with Stone Walls and Bulwarks. Herc the Portugucat kept a Garrifon, which affifted by cheir Arabian and African Vaffals, made many fuccefsful Excurions imro the Country: And indecd nothing has conmbured more towards the aggrandifing of the Xeriffs, than the Porrugucze, their loofing thisand thcir other Pofefions in Africa. Muler Hemelb laid ficgerothis place, inthe Xcar 1536 for feven Menths rogetber, and after the Lofs \(T_{\text {mam }}\) of 13000 Mcn , took it uponthe acciciental blowing bp siny of a Barrcl of Powder, which was under a Bulwath, and made a grear breach ini the Wall. At that time the Pcrouguff Governour had a Daughter that was marricd roone Den Fon de Cervel, a Man who fignaliz'd his unparcllid Courage, by killing 30 Mores with his Sword none Engagencnt, and fighting ùpon his Knees after he was wounded in both his Legs, infomuch that the Mores were forc'd to kill him at a diftance with Darts, for no body durft venture to come near him.
When the victorious Xeriff faw his Lady (Dcrna Mencia by Name) he was fo charm'd with her Meenand indicm Beauty, that he inftantly offerd to lie with her; and up-cgei on her refuling to grant thar Libenty, he threarn'd romath make two Negroes hold her by force till he fatisfied his Pafion. In this Extremiry the Lady confented, upon condition that he fhould marry her, and allow her to continue a Chritian. After that, the Mores were uncaly upon her enjoyment of the Priviledges of a Chritian, infomuch that he was forc'd to defire her to pretend to be converted to Mabrmetcinifin. She being then big with Child comply'd with his Requeft; and after her Delivery (as the Report goes) both the and her Child were poyfon'd by the. Xeiff's other Wives. But before her Death, the protefted in tie prefence of fome Chriftian Slaves, that ofe dy'd a Chriftian, and had ever becu fuch, but that the could nor refufe to make a Shew of the contrary, upon feveral Confiderations tending to the Bencfir of the Coriftians, and efpecially of ber Father who was then in prifon. This fic defird them to make known to the World: Asd fince her Death, the Xeriff fene her Father-in-Law and fome Chriftian Slaves back; Pcople imputed his Misfortune to his Sacriledge, fo that to Porrugry, and furgilh'd hinn with Horfes, Equipage and Moncy.
Thethird Province of Morocco bears the Name of the Tuxfluprince whole Kingdom, but formeriy 'rwas call'd Bucano Emero; andits Capital City was Agmer, before the building of Morocen, which is now the Metropolican, nor only of tharProcince, but of all Weft lindary. The Inhabitants of this Province wholive in Towns and Villages, arc a cunning leople; they carry on a fort of fmall Traffick, and are cloartid decently cnough in their way. They have numerous Troops of Horfe, befides Muskatecrs and Crof-bowmen on foor. But the Lnhabitants of the Mhountains are of the fatne Kidney with thofe of Heo. dmmi. bapof Ruines is calld by Prolomy Emarre in his Map hcapof Runes, is cauduby Prolomy emare in his Map of Libyn, and plac'd ing Deg. 20 Min. Long. and 29 Deg 30 Min . Lac The mot remarkable thing about that phace; is' a Lake thatreccives all the Water that defcends from the Mountain, and is equally deep allover, norwithftanding that 'tis prodigions large and extram deef, which renders it very obnoxious to Storms.

The City of Moroco is the pleafinteftand beft fruated The cirs of Clity in all Africi.
Nrtse Infome of its ancient Buildings we find Tables of Atheorigind labatter, with Infcriptions in Arabick Letrers; impors-Ecign of Fofeph Abu Tect,jifict, who to carry on the Work with more expedicion, imploy'd 30000 Slaves in the luilding of is, and made is the place of his refidence. This furrounded wich delicare Wallsmade of Chatk and Sind mix'd with a fac fort of Earth, which renders the Cement fo harch, that if you frike uporr it with a Pick2x, it cafts fire like Fline: And confidering the uncommon heigtit of thele Walls, 'Eis, very remarkable, that, there is now lo much as one breach in 'em, norwithftanding that the City has been feveral times fack'd. The Conci ivance of this Town fpeaks theSkill and Ingenuiry of its Architects. It has 27 Gatess and oncecontain'd 100000 Inhabicants. He a word, in the Reign of the Luntumes and Almiohectes, 'rwas, withour difpute, the greateft and richieft Cits in all sfrica. I have lecn (fays our Author) a piece of Alabafter as high as a Man, plac'd upon an ancient Tomb, with this Infcriptionin Arabick. Imas Alik fis Son of Atia, whfo commonded 500000 Men, poffecid 50000 Horfs, and in anc Def cateded xoi Piss to be digrod for wosecring of them. Imarricd 300 Girls, and almins fnithfub and wiftorious; being of Jacob Almanifor's 24
 Mry whoever rends this Epiteph, pray to Gad to pardon me.
Therifferce This juftifies what Hiftorians affert of the Puiffance of umburcter thofe Princes, who have crofs'd over fo often to Spain with fuch numerous Armies; for here we fee one Gencral commands 100000 Men.
Nor to mention the grear Femple of Hali and the King's Palace; , there's 2 large magnificent Temple in this City, which was buils by Abdximoumen, and much improy'd a madbeaurify'd by Facob Aimanfor his Grandion, who carry'd the Gates, and fereral other Ornamencs of the great Charch at Seritle as Trophies to Morocco, and adorrid this Temple with 'em, as well as with two Bells that he brougint out of Sprin; for the Mores ufe no Bells. The Spirc of this Temple has apon it four Balls of Gold faftend upon an Iron Spike, the lowent and largeft of which will hold eight Meafures of: Corn, the nexefour, and fo on in proportion. The Body of the Ball is of Copper, which iscorcrid with a chick plate of Fibar Gold; and the Atricom Hiftorians alledge, char one of Facob Aimnifnts Wives fold her Jewels, inx order to make cmi. But the valgar Peoplefancy; that Come Spirits brought them thicher, amd ftill guard' cm , which has fardd fercral of their Kings from medling with ean in Cafesof Extremity. When King Nacer Bucherituf was attack'd on all hands by the Arabians, the Porturyusfe and the King of Fcz , he would fain have taken 'em down, atrd payd his Troops with em ; bur the Inhabitariss remonftrited, that rather than the Honour of their City flould be fo far funk, they and their Children thould be expos'd tofale. However the Xeriff Muley Hamet took down the uppermont Ball but larely, and Fold the Gold of ofte Ariffit for 25000 Piftols of pure Gold; after which, to appcafe the Pcople, he caus'd the Copper Body to be guilt, and put up in its place, and hangd up upon the Spire of Trespocifti. tinonporthe - Gold by his Orders. Bur the Alfurui's gave it out, that Ropits. taken up the Jew and hang'd him there. Nor long after, that Prince loft both his Crown and his Life, and the
to body has finceoffer'd to rouch ' cm .
In ancient times chere were two large Apartments in The Hinory his Cit5, which were fet apars for the Chriftians that of the chey calld Mufarabians, whoin the King of Moroscoim-M (Jirabian. ploy'd to fervehimas Souldicrs, and allow'd colive there with their Wives and Children, in the fice Exercife of their Religion. Thefe Chriftianswere calld Mufarebicnt nor from their ferving Mufa after the defcat of Kint Roderick, bur from their Knowledge of dhe arabick Tongue. They were broughr frum Spain by facob simanfo:, for a Guard rohis Puron, and commonly their namber amounted to 500 Horfe, well mounted and well paid. They continucd a long time in thisService, tillf stmi King of Caftile, recalld'd'cm ro Suain, and beftow'd on'cm large Poffelions and Priviledges. The Name of ithua rat is itill made ufe: of in feven Pariih Churches at Towerto where che Mufarabian Service and the Gothick Ceremonies do ftill rake place.
In the Year 1219, S. Beiaid and five more went to severusain: Morocco to preach in this place, but the Morcs condemn'd fulfer Marcm to mairtyrdom, becaule they invcighcd againe the tyrdom. Mabometan. And Don. Pcdra, the King of Pouti's ri's Son, being then as Morocce, carry'd their Reliques to Caimbra. Since that, the Mufarabians had fuch an lntecelt with the King, that choy obtain'd leave for erceting a Convent of Grey Friars; upon which, fevcral Fanticifanns came from Spain, and preach'dihere; bur by the Inftigation of the Alfagni:s, they all fuffer'd marryxionn
In the fame phace where thefe two lajaces ftcod, arc The Kira weight of lowder, and heveral forts of Arms, every Month. Bur in che Xear 1.569 , a clap of Thinder et fire to the Powder, and burnt, not only the Magazinc, but feveral N'cighbouing Houres.
Formerly the \(f \mathrm{cms}\) had a place allotted 'cm to live in war the heart of the City, but che prefint King, tranf- parated from ported cen to a remoter cormer in order to feparate com the Aores. from the hores. The place of their prefent Refidence is walled round, haringonly one Gate thar "Icads to the Ciry, and ancther that leads to their Church-yard. Mof of thele \(\mathcal{F} \mathrm{cos}\) are Gold-finiths, and fome are Mcrchants and ocher Tradefinen. The richeftamong 'cm are chore har manaze the Revenues of Gcvemorrs aind of the King's Children; forche Mares love to cuntruft the management of thear tacomes to the 7 cms , and find theis account in it. All the foms pay a Ducat a head, befides the ordinary Taxes.
About the middle of the City we mect with a larg wide plare, with a Plor of Earth in the miduile of i , The fise rais"d higher than the adjacent Shops aud Houfts. Thiss nsrof the man is the place where che Criminals are execured, and'tis nc- cirion. ver without feveral Gybirs, upon which fome hang by the Feet with their Throats cur, fome are left to dye in that pofture withoutcutring their Throats, and others ate hang up by one Arm wich cheir Bellies ripp'd open. This is the way of punitbing Criminals when there isno Plainiff; bur if there be any Plainciff, he excelites-Juftice himeif, either by fmorhering the Criminal, or curting ons Throat, or rumning him rhro with a Spear, or reling him for a Slave, or fuffering him to buy his Life for fom of Money.
One of the moft remarkable things in this City, is a offy Edifice containing a general Ciftern for Water, Noble A which thews how puilaine the Ce Infidels hare been in for- quaduas mer times. Irreceives 400 Aquaducts, which lye very deep in the Earth, and were digg'd (as fonc fay) by \(20 c 00\) ChriftianSlaves. Some fay, che Water of thefe Aqueducts come fix Leagues off, from a River thas prings ont of Mount Atias, the Channcl of which is corer'd all the way to the Ciry, fo thar no body can difcover whence the Watct comes. To difcover thetruch of the matter, feveral Kings have put Mon into the Aquadrets: with Lighirs in their Hands, in order to crace the fource, bur all of 'em pretended they could norget along, fome for one obftacle, and fome for another. However the prefent Xeriff has within thefe few. Years digg d great Pits about two or three Leagues off the Ciy, whexe the Ground begins to rife; and having gather'd all the Water into a Ciffern, conveys it by an Aquaduct into the City, the Pits and their Avenues being hut up; fo that in cafe of a Siege, no body can trace the Aquxduct, or know whence the Water comes, in order to cur is off; and probably all the former Aquaxducts wexe of the fame nature. The Xeriff that now reigns, has lately drawn a Canal upon the Eaft fide of the City, from Mount Agmar to Morccco, which ferves above The-Andam 50 Mills in a plain onc afrer anorher, and Waters feveral Gariens kept by the Andalufian Mores on its Banks. For the Xeriff parcell'd our Lands to 'em upon thas quarter,
quarter, allowing'em pay like Souldiers; and 'ris frum thence, that they come to salf, and infeft the Spanion Coatt with the lighr Galleys that are commonly in that River. Theirl cader is an Andalufinn Morc, calld \(D\) gani, i. e. The Chat; and at Marocoo chey have a feparate guarter for themfelves, which is call'd New Orgive, be catife the firft that came thither were of that City.
The Inhabitatats of Morncer are a proud fort of Pcople, and Cufoom and mortal Enemics to the Chriftians They ferak the of the cits:
bereberes language. They wear Callocks of colourd Cloth, embroyderd down to the Fect with finall picees ent our like Letures ; over theic chey have Vefts of fine Camlet or Silk, and worfted Stuffs. They have Shirts and Drawers of white Cloth, and Sarler Cans with finat Turbanes. The women are very ci il and airy. Their Gaments are cither of Silk, or of fine Linen and tench downtotheir Fent. They wear no Drawers as the Wemen of \(F\) indo, and neter ftir abroad, unlef is beto Church, cripon a Vifit; and when theygo to 2 Bach, they cover their Faces very sarefully, that they may nor lof focn. Bur afterall, they are very coquetre and their Husbands are vcry jealous. The Citizens feed higher than thofe of Sus; for befides plenty of Corn Mear, Rurter, and Dater, they have grear fore of Fow's and Venifon, and all the Niccties that Europe affords Atprefent the Town is very populous, and improves every Day, by vertue of the Prince's Favour.
The next Province is rhat calld Gc/pla, the Inhabitant of Gerprinice of which arc a barkarous guarreliome crew.
A cerciurated They have a celebrated Fair once a Year, that comFalr. mences in Mormbirth day, and lafts for two Months During this Fair, they encertain above 10000 foreign a ry very regularOrder notwithand ing, that at other times they are the moft bruitilh turbulent Pcople in all Aficin. They are moftly Copper Giniths and Tinkers, and were the firft that difcovcrd to the ifficms the way of melting and cafting lron. They liv'd formerly without any form of Government, butat prefent they are fubject to the Xeriffs, who favour 'cm upon the account of their frithful Serviccs, and their keepins Foot-Gvards which carry Firclocks. Their Cuftomsare much of a fiece with thofe of Hm
The fifih Frovince of Morocce is Dugucle, which is \(3^{\circ}\)
cagues long and a broad. Its. Limits are the River of Tanliff on the Weft the Rivcr of Ommirabi on the Eaft, the Ucean on the North, and Merocso on the Scurb. It affords plenty of Comand Car:l. Moft of ir lics in Plains intabited ly wandrins Aralions, and by BereLe.cs fome fom likewife wander from place ro place, and orhers fix in Hourcs and Villages.
One remarkable City in this Province is Safic, call'd by the Afizchis, and by the PortuguefeAfapbi. Some affinm, an General brity in Libre ty the Senare's Onder aid n Gem rad buir in Lilere fild Liby-Ples Order, and which from chetke walls, bur is of po grearicien Cities. It has very good Walls, bur is of no great Strength, by eafon that it lies under the view of leveral rifing Grounds. In ancient times ic was fubject to the Kings of Morocso, and in that Srate its Trade was better chan afterwards, for the SpanifoMarchants imported Cloth, Linen, and other Goods, in exchange for their Wax, Indigo, Gums, and other Commodities. Bur upon the Declenfion of the Reign of the Menimerivi is hook off their Yoak, and one of their own Cirizens ufurpd the Government; opon which thcy fell into Civil Wars, and one of the FaOtions calling in the Rorrufuefe to their affiftance, occalion'd their Subjection to the Crown of Portugat. Tho the Garrifon of this place reduc'd a grear park of the adacent Country and carried fercral importanr Victorics, set the Portugucfe, afice thelofs of Cape d Agner, being apprelendive of the growing Power of the Xeriffs, thought fir to abandon it efpecially confidering that twas a place commanifed by the neighbouring Mountains, and that it condd notbe well relicyd by Sea, by reafon of its bad Harbour; and not to mention that itcoft more than twas wortit. While the Portugucfe were Mafters of Safic, they deftroy'd Ceme Miarbir, and feveral orhor Villages and Caftes in this Province, that depented upon Safia.
Afemer, anothcr Ciry in this Province, is by fome rec
Aitmor, anothcr Ciry inthis Province, \({ }^{3}\), whas former

Iy calld Cuff, and plac'd by Polomy in fix Deg. 40 Min. Long. and 32 Dce. 45 Min. Lat. Before the Portuguefe were Mafters of it, 'rwas a rich near Town; for is drove a great Trade, efpecially in Filhing. It concinued in the Prortuguefs Hands 32 Ycars; after which they deferred ir, and removd their Troops, Artillery, and Ammunition to Matagan. Their Plca for their Abdica tion was, thas twas orer-aw'd by an adjacene Hill, and the Mouth of the River was very dangerous for their Shipping; befides, that the kecping of it was very chargcable. Upon their Removal, the Xeriff repeopled ir by fending two Alfagu's to dwell in in that wers ingreas repute for their Sanctity. Bur foon after the Governour of Mn \(\bar{z}\) afen furprizidit in the Nighr-time, and fent the two Alfaguis and the Governour Prifoncrs to Rortugn!. From thar time the Meres durft not offer to replant ic, fo that it berame a Receptacle for wild Beafts; As this Day the Xeriff farms the Filhery of the Shads to Come Chriftian Mcrchanss at a very dear rate, but they are not infafery if they come ahoar.

Abour foytr Leagues to the Eaft of Safia, there's a high momt Mountain, calld by the Ancicnts the Mountain of bhe Mramy St n, at prefcur Benimiger, where 300 Mores upon Horfeback fhelicer'd themfelves for fome time, when the Porthgucfo were Mafters of Srfic, and made Excurfions upon the Chriftians; but at laft they were reduc'd. Ar this Day the Inhabitants of the Mountain are fubject to the Governour of Safin.
Another Mountain in that Province, is that call'd \(\mathrm{Th}_{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{Gm}\) fulel Hadra, or the Grcen Mountain, which was very Manam well peopled in the xime of the Aimoliade, but-fince the Deraftations of the Benimerini's, is only inhabited by Hernites and vifited by Pilgrims. The many Springs thar iffue from its Rocks, form a grear Lake at the Foor of the Mountain, which is wonderfilly fock'd with Eels, Trouts, Bartels, and a fort of large whircFinh call' \(\alpha\) Bognes, which tafts very fucce. But the moft remarkable thing of ail, is the multitede and diverfity of Fowls and Venifon, for sertainly there is not fuch plenty of Game in Africn, as upon this Mouncain
Having difpatch'd Duguch, weprocceded in order to Haizcora, the next Province, which was formerly calld itheryina Dominer. Its Limits are the Greetim Mountain on the of tiatent North, the River Animncy on the Weit, the Negrolend River on the Ealt, and on the South fome Mountains of the Atlax, which it reccives into iss Bofom, and which furnifles the City of Morccco with Vines, Olives, and all forts of Fruits, that Ciry being 20 Leagues diftance to the Weftward.' Tis inhabired by Africans, who are defcended of one of the Branches of the Tribe of Mufanncdts, from whom is took the Name of Hazcora. The Inhabitants are richer than chofe of Duguele, as being lefs difquicted by the Arabians; and cultivate a ferile Country, a bounding with Corn and Cattle. They carry on a conflderable Traffick; for they make good Cloth, and drefs Leather very well, They ufedthe fame Arms with the Bere bersupon theMounrains of Her, till of late, that they have leannd the Ufe of Crofs-Bows and Fire-locks Such of "em as live in Towns, refemble the Citizens of Morocco in their Habir, Cuftoms, and way of living; But the Inhabitanss of the Mountains are more brutih Upon the Declenfion of the Empire of the Bencmerini's, the Towns of Almedine and Elemedin, (tothin this Province ) fer up for two Soveraign Republicks, 'and wagd damin continual War with one another, till the Year. 1 16, at which time they fubmitted to the King of Fer, who pu an end to thcir murual Jars

Tedln is the laft and moft Eaftern Province of Morecco. Tho' ris fmall, yer'tis entich with good ftore of Com, treporin Oil, and Catrlc, and wealthy Inhabitanrs. Thofe who inhabit the Mountains, are Bereberes of the Tribe of Mufamoda; but the Valleys are poffers'd by two Lines of Arabians, each of which will raife 9000 . Horfe. The Province is of a triangular Figure, and lies between the River of Negroes and the River Ommirabi. 'T was fubieQt to the Benemerini, while they were Mafters of Masritenia Tingitana; bur uponthe declenfion of cheir Reign, ic fell into the Hands of the King of \(\mathrm{Fe}_{\text {, }}\), tho at the fame time it belong d to the Kingdom of Morocco. At prefent it peaceably obeys the Xeriffian Family.

\section*{С н a p. ílí.}

\section*{Containing John Leo's Defription of the Kingdom of Fez.}

Ine Liminix
nd Divificon \(\alpha d\) do Kinfo
don of Efos.

THE Limits of the Kingdom of Fe ; are the River Onmirabibon the Weft; the River \(\mathrm{M} u-\) wia on the Eaft, the Ocean and Medirerranean on the North, and she Ridge of Atlos on the South. It owes the Title of a Kingdom to the Family of Marin, who gerting the upper hand, fix'd their Rendence in the City of fre. 7 his Kingdom is di - ritory of E:Z, ATigar, Elbaler, Erna,Garet, and Elchanz, of thefe in order.

The Fronticrs of Temfne, are, the River Ommirabib on the Wet, the River, Baragrag on the Eaft, the Atlas on the South, and the Occan on the North.'Tis all cr a plain Country, heing in length from Weft to Eaft 80 Miles, and in breadch 60 . Ir concain'd 40 grear Towns and 300 Caftes; and was always reckond head of the feven Provinces of Fcz. In the 323 d Ycar of the Hegeira, one Chenlim a Mahometan Apoftate, letting up for 3 Propher, perwaded the Pcople to pay no Homage to thcir Primes; and after a War with the King of Fex, had his Title to the Province confirm'd by a Treaty of Peacc. Accordingly be and his Succeffours govern'd in almoft 135 Years; till fofepb King of the Tribe Lur.suna, having buile Moroccr, fent Mabomercn Doctors ro retain rbe Governour and his People, and perfwade'em to pay Homage to the King of Morocco. For upon that, the Peoptethandizimbaffadours, and the Governour march'd-with 50000 Men againft Fofeph; but \(\mathcal{F} f(\mathrm{ep} /\) in the mean time invaded Temefine, where he pur Man, Woman and Child to the Sword, and levell'd all their Towns and Caftles with the Ground. On the other Hand, the Governour of Temefne with his 50000 Men fled to Fct, upon the News of which, the King of Fexfurrounded 'em ncar the RiverBuragrag, and they being conftrain"d to run up the craggy Mountainsand Rocks, moft of ' cm ' were either drown'd in the River or thrown head-long from the Rocks, the havock lafting for the face of 10WMOnths. Temefne being thus bereft of her Pcopie, beetrmac the Habitarion of wild Beafts, and continued fuch rilh iso Years after that King Manfor returning from Thmr, gave the Pofferfion of it to fome Arabians tbar he had breught with him.' Fufy Ycars after, King Manfor being oured of his Kingdom, thefe Acabians were difpoffefs d of Temefne by the Tribe of Lumsuna, and reduced to extream Mifery. Afterwards the Kingsof the Family of Marin gave it to the People of Zeneta and Hroarr, who enjoy it to this day.
Among the Towns of this Province, the moft famous Incura ofis Anfa, the moft pleafanteft Town in all Africa, buils by the Romans on the Coaft of the Ocean, 60 Miles Northof Arlas, and Eaft of Azamur. The Inhabitants are civil and wealthy. They wear a decent Apparel, and trade with the Portuguefe and Englifh. The adjacent Country is very fertile, the Plain round it being almoft 80 Miles over. In ancient times it had many learned Men, and was adorn'd with fately Temples and Palaces, rich Shops and Ware-houles, and charming Gardens, which to this day yield grear plenry of Melons and Citrons, and thefe being ripe by the midule of April, are carricd to Fer, whiere the Fruits do not ripenfo foon: Butnow the Portuguefic have laid is walte.
The next Town is Rebar, feated on a Rock upon the Coaft of the Ocean, jult by the, Mouth of the River Beragrag; fo that it has the Ocean on one fide, and the River on the other. 'T was buile buc lately by Manfor King of Morocce, while he poffers'd Granada and a great purt of Sprin, as being a convenient Fronticr, from whence hemight, upon occafion, pour in Forces upon the Chriftians, from whom Mornciolay atagrear diftance. He adornd ir with Temples, Palaces, Colleges, Hofpitals, Baths, Shops, EGc. and built a Tower without the Walls on the South frue, the height of it exceeds that of any Building I ever faw; fo that from the rop of it, Ships may be defory'd at a vaft diftance. 'Tis built aftet the fathion of the Tower of Mroces, only its winding Seairsare broader, for three Horles may go up abreaft: He gaveall Trades-men and Merchanes a yearly me:ps Rebar came in a litde theime to be better furnifid wich Artifans and Merchants, than iny other Town in Africa. Here us'd Manfor to remain with his Troops Mrom April to September, and in regard the Sea runs ten Miles upthe River, which makes all the Water in the Town brackith, he fupply'd the Town with frelh Water archwife like thofe of Rome, and difperfing the Water ter cooduito over the Town in feparate Pipes. Bur after Manfor's death, this noble Water-work was demolifh'd in the Wats between the Marin Family and Manfor's Succefors, and the Town has dwindled cver-fince, infomuch, that carce the tenth part of it is now ftanding. The fame.Manfor caus'd Sella to be wall'd round, and for the conveniency of his Army, built in ic 2 noble Hoffiral, a itarely Palace, and a magnificent Temple, wirhin which was a pretty Chapel, where heorder'd his Corps to te inter'd. Accordingly he was buried there, and not only the honoumable Branches of his own Family, but even the Kings of the Marin Family lie inter'd in the fame place.

The next Town in chis Province is Thagia, which is Thasia famous for the Sepulchre of one that is faid to have wrought many Miracles againft the fury of Lions, and was accounted a great Prophet. Afrerthe folemnizing of Enftcr, the People of Fez make an annual Vific to thia Tomb, which lies at the diftance of 120 Milcs from Fex. They perform this Pilgrimage in 15 Days, carrying their Tents and orher Neceffaries along with' 'emm and the Pilgrims are fo numerous, thar one would take em for an Army.
The fecond Province of this Kingdom; is that call'd The Teritory of Fcz. It extends almoft too Miles in The Tenitory length, from the River Buridgrag Eaftward, to the River of Fita Inauen. Its Northern Limit is the River \(S_{u b u}\) or \(C_{b} b u\), and the Southern is the Arlas. It abounds in Corin, Fruir, and Cartle, as much as any other Country.
In this Province the firft Town we mect with is Sella, Solds, y, buingngs of which have a ftarely fhew of Antiquity, being fupported by Marble Pillars: The Temples are very magnificent, and the Shops are builc under large Porches, withan Arch at the end of every row, to divide (as 'ris reported) one Trade from anocher. The Genour \(f_{r}\), Venerians, Et glifh, and Dutsh, are wons to trade with them. The adjacent Grounds being fandy and unfit for Corn, yield plenty of Cotton, and the Inkabirants weave it very fine. Fine Combs are liketwife ani Ifeful Commodiry in this place; for they have a great deal of Box and other Wood fir for thar Purpofe.: They have Judges, Arbitrators, and a very regular form of Governmonr.
The principal City of this Teriitory; andindecd of all Barbary, is Fez, which was built Ar. Don. 786. by onc The ciry of Idris Antimathmitan. Some think the occafion of its Fra Name was the finding of Gold (in Arabick \(F_{r}\) ) where iss Foundation was laid.
Idris the Founder, liy'din the time of Aron, a Mabomatan Parriarch, and deriv'dhis Extraction from Maho \(\begin{aligned} & \text { tario in }\end{aligned}\) met himfelf, toth by the Father and the Mother's fide: Founder For after the death of Mahomet, when the Wair commenc'3 between Umene and the Family of Hali, one of the laft Family continued at Elmadina, and left behind him two Sons, who growing into favour with the Pcople of Elmanin; were chercupon perfecuted; and che one being takeniznd hang'd, the other (whofe name was Idris, madehis efcape into Mauritania). This Kiris dwelr upon Mount Zaron, about 30 Miles from \(F_{c}\), and govern'd that Couniry both in Civil and Religious Matrers. Ydris dying without lawful Iffuc, left one of his Maids big with Child, who had becn corerted from the Gothick to ithe Moris Religion. The Maid being brought to bedse the Poopte chriten'd him Idris, after his Father, elected him for cheir Prince, and rook care of his Education. The Child being rrain'd up by a skilful Caprain, came to be famous for valiant Exploits when he was but fifteen Years of Age. This enlarg'd his Dominions and Family, upon which he took up a RefoluGround where \(F\) cor , and for that exil pitch'd upon the Ground where \(F\) ez now frands, by reafon of i:s plenty of Springs, and the Conveniency of an adjacent River and Wood. Accordingly upon the Eatt Bank of the Riveta Town was built, that might contain 3000 Familics. Afrer the deach of this Idrs, his Son built another Town onthe oppofice Bank of the River. Abour 180 Xcars after, a Civil War broke our between the two Towns, that lafted roo Y cars, at the end of which, \(F 9\) /ceph King of Moroce, Fur the two Princesto danth,' Acw 30000 of the finhabicants of the ewo Toyns, and having demoliffd thcir Walls, united cm into onc by a Bridge. This being che Merropolitan of all Africa, 'twillbe proper to give a particular Account of the State "cis in ar this day, i. c. A: D. TF2 0.

A prrimatar fr flands uporm great and lievle Hill's, withour any \(A\) protitutar Plain rount it. The River enters the Town by rwo the Town of Branches, onte ontlie South fidec; the orher on the Weft. Thusis difperfes it felf allover the Ciry, and isconrey'd in Conduits and Pipes, to every Tenfyle, Colledge, E.:

The:rHouris Andmont of the Flourcs are buitio fine Bricks and Stones curioufly painted. Their Pertals and the fites of the \(\mathrm{W}_{\text {'indows are }}\) made of party colour'd Brick, like sirfrres Sroms. The Roofs of their Houfes thicy adom with Gold, Azere, and other ine Colbursi.. The Roofs are of Wood, an. 1 fguarc; fo that Carpetsmay be laid upon'em in Sumner. Sonic Houfes are two, and forre three Story high; the middle part is uncoverd, and the Chambersare built oncrety fite with' fine Staix-cafes, The Chamler Doors arc very high and wide, and ingreat Houles are made of finc carv'd Wood. Earli Chamber hath a Prefs or Cabinet contriv'd in the Wall, and carioufly painted: In like manncr, the Bearns and Joyces of the Chambers are all curiouny painted:
Some Houfs hate fquare Cifterns of Brìk, about feen Cubits broad, twelve Cubits long, and feven Hands Figh, uron the fictes of which are Cocks that conrey the Thater into Marble Troughs: When rhe Conduirs arefull, the overthowing Warer ruts by ecrain Pipes into theric Cifterns, ant when the Cifferns are futl, 'tis carryd hy ocher Paffages to the Commons Sewets, and for to the R'ter. Thefe Cifterns are always kept fweet and clean, and are never coverd but in Summer, at which cime Mcn. Wemen and Chitdren bath in 'cm. Upon the topis of thiir Houfis, cominoily they have Turxets; with picafint Rooms in 'em, where the Wofien divert themfictues in having a view of atimof the whole City.
In this Town there arc 700 Mabometren Temples and Chapels, fify of which arc yery fumpraous and flately their Roof arc of Joyccs and Planks, like thofe of tite Eurcpana Churches; the Floor is cover'd with Mats neatly fewd togecther, as well as the Walls for 1 Man's heighir. Each Temple tras a Steeple, wherc a.Man fand and calls the Reople to Prayers. Thofe thatcall to Prayers in the Day-time bave no Profit, but that of being cz empred from Taxes; but they who call in the Night time, receive Wages from the Prieft of the Temple, a well as the Door Kecpers. For the Prieft of the Tem ple (who is always but onic) receives all the Revenues, and defrays the occafional Charges of L.amps and Ser yancs.
The chisf
The chicf Mahcicrectn Tcmple, calld Carrucm, is a Mile and a half about, including the Buildings that retainte it. It has 3 r very large and ligh Gates. Its Roof. is 150 El'rintinc Cubirs long, and 80 broad. The Stecple, which is very high, is fupported bp 2oPillars in the breadth, and 30 in lengeth. It has Galleries on the Eaft, Wiff, and North fides, which are 40 Cubits long, and 30 broad; and under thefe Galleries is the Storehoule for Cil, Candils, Mars, and ocher Neceffaries There are yoo Liglrs in it crery Night, and fome Brafs Candlcficks, thar have Scckess for isco Candles, which are faid to ke madc af the Bolls that che King of Morococ took from the Chriftians. Several Pulpiss are fet round he Walls of the Tempie, from which the Maboneten Doctors inftruct the People, not only in Matboince'sLaw, foon after Sun-rife, and concinuc for the fpace of an Husband is nor admitred to fee his Wife in the Bath.
Hour. The Summex ones continuc from the goins When Menencer Hour. The Snmmer ones cotitinuc from the going/When Menenter, they cover cticir Privities with a Linen down of the Sun, till wishin an hour and a balf of Cloth. Bcfore any one bachs, he is laid upon the Night. None read in Winter bur the noted Doctors, Ground (or a Carpet for the richer fort) and anointed but in Summer pri: ate obfure Perfons read. All thefe Le- with a certain Ointmenr, his Body being elean'd with this great Tcmple, his Bufinefs is only to read Prayers, and Men and Women together diverr themfelves with, the diftributeCorn and Money to thePoor every FeftivalDay. fick, Singing and Fcafting Tivert themeleves with MuSThe Treafurcr of this Church has a Duccat a Day al. Temples and Colleafting. Thece Baths belong to the low'd him, and eight Clerks under him, with the Al-Ducaisa Year. The Servants and Offccis atcending hice lowance of fix Ducars a piece per Month. There are o- Baths, have a peculiar Cuftom of marching on a cerruin ther fix Clerks, who rcceive che Rents of the Houfes. Fefitival Day out of Town with Trumpers and Pipes, part of what thcy collcct for their Pains; befides 20 Brazen Veffch covcrid with a Linen Cloth dip'd in Lcec, ma managing the Lime Kilncs, and Brick Kilnes, Éc. elonging to the Tcmples without the City Walls, who Thres Ducass a
The Revenues of this Tcmple amount to 200 Ducats day,agrat Rart of which is haid out upon theParticulars aroverncention'd, and upon the: Repararion of che Tenalic and irs adjoning Hourcs. The Suppluffere: is imploxid in the maintenance of tlic other Temples bhat waurling and promoting the good of the Coinmon-wcalfit. Ins, our time the King demanded an immenfe Sum of the Pricft of that Termple, and nevert repay yis.
There axc feveral tataty Colieges in this Cit mrtide curioufy painered and caryd. Otre of theie, areffed by King Hajut/inon, Has ann excellent Marble Founain, wi:halarge Ciittern, and a ftrexm of Wateri frmung thro a Corrt in a Channcl of Marble and Mf: joren Stonc. The Gates of this College arco of Brafs cuiounty gravid, and the Doors are of Wod Tcar that arc three conoors are of Wood well carv'd. overlaid with Gold, Azure, and other Colours. In fome places there:are Varics in greaz black Lecters, ferting ounder. The Chapel has Pullege and the Merit of its Sounder. The Chapel has a Pulpit, with nine Stceps or this nolh'e Strineture ttood the King in computed that The other Collcgcs are fomerwhar ike 480000 Ducars. being furnith'd wirh Lceturess and Proferfoans, who read, fome in the Forenobn and formic in the Afternoon. in former tiness ille Studen:s hiad Diet and Cloth for feven X ears, but now thicy have nothing gratr beffiesthir Chamber, for the War of Safid deftroy'd Chamber, for the War of Safisd deftroy'd many Roftow the grantef Coltarning was encourag'd; io that Ducarsa Ycar for the hasnot 200, and the next 100 And 'tis probable the Supprefion of \(L\) of the Profeffors cafion of the ircegular Government, nor orly of ocvur of all the Cries in Afvernment, nor only of this, but of all the Cries in Africiz. At prefeint the Colleges Charity oftents burs strangcres, and fuch as live upon the Chy. When the Profefinur: goces to rcaa , upon is. Sonerimics the Students have Difputcs bciors the Profectours.
Borh the Town and Suburbs have noble Hofpitals, in Thesthit
Charge every Suranger is enterrain'd upon the publick ofitim th Incomes of there Hofpitals. were ver old this Pe ar with Sakid, at which time the Kin his Predeceffors, and pron.inging to make Reparation upin the conclufion of the War; but the King dying fud denly, there was no Reparation made: So thar ar this Day there are no Strangers entertaind, but fuch as are Scholars or Gexatemen'; and'cis only the pcor decar'd Citizcus thar meet with any \(R\) clief from the Hofpitals. There is one Hofpital indeed for fuch Strangers as are ck, where they have theirDier and Women to attend 'em, bur no Phyfician andno Medicincs; and one Acartment of this Hofprial is allorted for lupaticks and Aparmenn where they are bound in frong Iron Chaius, and fevercly
The next thing tent
thich are both protry and magnuficerry; beingeir Baths, tach of which has four Higes. . Here are two Baths, saisd four or five Stepshipher, winh Gallerics withour, temfelves. When any Perfon bathes, he goes firt thiro a cool Hall; where the Water is luke warm, then thro' hotter Room, where he is cleans'd and wath'd and at aft is put into 2 third Hoc-houfe, where he hecars 25 long as he pleafes. The fire that heats the Water, is made only of the Dung of Beafts parchid in ther, is The Womers baths arc feparate from parchid in the Suis if they bocth ufe thè fame Bath, 'ris ar difforent Hours; over the Door, as a lucky Omen to the Bath. Thas I take no be the Remainsat Comeancient Sacrifice, among the uncivilis'd Mores, This Ciry contains almoft 200 Inns; the grearent of thefe are in the principal part of the City, ncar the great Tcmple ; cach of which is three Story high, and contains above s20 Chambers, wich a Gallery to cach Chamber. "Every Inn is accormmodared with a Fountain, Watcr-pipcs, and Sinks to carty off, the Filch. But aficr all, the Entertainment they give to Strangers is but very forry, forchey have no B-ds, unlefs it be a coarle Blanket and a Mat, and no Victuale, tullefs she Scranger gocs to the Market and buys it. The Offce of Chamberlain and Cook is perform'd by Poor Citizens Widows, who are cntertaind din the Inns upon Charity. The \(\operatorname{Inn}\) Krcepers are all of onc Family, calld E'cherra. They fhave thicir Beards, and nor only wear the Habit of Womcn, but imirare them in thecir Specch and Actions. Every one of thefe has a Concubine, that he cntectains as a lawful Wifc: Thefc Concabines are not only ugly, but notorioully Lewd, and nonc but lewd Perfons do citherfrequent the Inns, or kecp company with the Inn Keceers; for they buy and cell Wine opcoly, and are probibited to enter the Tcmple or Exclange, or any Barb.
do all belong to the. ftands in alarge Koorn upona atrong Poot.
Each Trade has a peculiar placealloted to it, and thar montly abour the grear Temple. There you may fec8o Scriveners Offices togechcr, 30 Book-fellers Shops, 50 Fruit Shops, where all forts of Fruic are to be had, 50 Shocmakers, befides Shoc Merchants, fercral Braziers, and Wax Mcrchants, who arc very ingenious in cheir way. Here are a few Merchant Factors, and next to themis the Herb Marker,, wherc moft of the Taverns are, becaufe Pcople love to drink Wine under che green and Ifadic Boughs; after them come the Milk-Sellers, who tent 15 Tuns of Milk a day ; then the CotronSellers, then thole who deal in Hemp and Ropes, then the Girdless, the Sadlers, (who cover Saddles with incomparable L cacher) and the \(S\) word-curlers, nexr are the Poters, and thofe who fell Salt and Lime; paffing thefe you conce to the Porters Strcet. Thefe Porters arc Colov ing a Corporation, that they maintain the Widows and Orphans of their own Members: They have a Conful of Governour, who parcels out fome fer Bufuncis to part of 'em every Weck, and at the Weeks cand, the Profit of the Work is cqually divided annong rhe Wrik-men. The Cooks and Victuallers arc next. Then you come to 2 \{ quareHoure covercd with Recds, where 500 Sacks of Peafe and Turnips are fold in a day. Every one cannot buy therc of the Country Peoplc, there being a particular number qualificed for that Office, who pay Tole and Tribute to the Cuftom-House Officers. On the North fide of the Temple, they fell Friteres aut Cakes fry'd in Oil, whence the place iscall'd, The Rlace of Smoke Atthe fame place they fell roafted Flefh, fry'd Film, and a fort of Bread bak'd with Honcy. The Flen is nor roafted npon a Spit, bur in an Oven, with another Oven undernearh it, in which the Fire lies,fo thar the upper \(O\) ven is fres from frookk and exceffive hear. They fell of thefe Fritters and Cakes to the value of above 200 Ducass a Day. Then follow the Stambles, where the Burchers fell their Flech. by wcight. They kill no Beafts within the Shambles, there being a piace allored for tharufe enear the River; and afrer the killing, they cannor bring if to the Shambles, will they, have fhewn is to the Governour of the Shamblers, who fets down the Price of each Joint in a pices of Paper, the Burcher being oblig'd to thew char Paper when hefticws his Mear and nor roask more. Then you pals on to the Market for coarfe Cloth, there being 60 . Criers, who carry the Cloth abour, relling the price of it, as 'tis adjufted by the Cuftom Hourc Officers, who receive Cuftom for it After tharto the Cage Makers, who make Coops and Cayes for Poultry, of a certain hard Reed; for every Citizenbrings up a great many Herrs and Capons, whick are always scand up in Coops, to precent the fowling of their Houfes. Next to them is the Marker for Thread and Linen Cloth. On the Weft fide of the Temple, are iso Taylors Shops, feveral Laundrefles, Stirrup-makers, Spur-makers, Pipc-makers, ऊc. Bcyond them there ftands a Rock or Mount, with a Walk leading from thence to one of the King's, Palaces, whete the King's Siffers or fome of his Relations arewonts live. In :he next piace you advance to the Exchange, which may well be calld a Ciry, for tis walld round, and hastwelve Gates, with an Iron Chain before every Caxe, to keep out Horfcs and Carts: Tis divided inrol
\[
0 \text { are }
\]
ecreral Parts or Wards, two of which are ailotted to Kuch Shos-makers as ferve only Noble-menand Geatlemen with Shoocs, and two to the Silk Marchants and Habcrdathers of fimall Warcs. The other parts are taken up by thofe who fell European Linca or Woolen Cloth, Silk, Stuffs, Caps; Mars, Cufhions, E'cu and cipecially by thofe who fell Smocks, and other chings for Women, who arercekon'd the richedt Mercianss in ali Fen. On the North fide of the Exchange, there's a Palace appointed for the Grocers and Apoticecarics, fortiacd on both fides withtwo tröng Gates, and guarded in the Nighe-rime by amed Vatch-men withI anchoers and Mantives. The Apothecarics can mate neither Syrum; Oinements nor Electuarics, thofe being made and fold by Phyticians, whofe Houres for the arlaft pare joina to the Apochecarics; but few Peoplemind cither the Piny lician or his Medicines. However the Apothecaries Shops are the gloricitcit Shops [ [aw any where. ]uft by the Aporhecaries, follow the Comb-makers; Turnets, Upholncrers and Poulterers, who, tho' they are but fow, ane provided with all forts of Fowl ; then the Maliers of Cort Slippers for the grear Man to walk abroad it "when 'tis foul weather; thefe Slippers bave very fine upper Leathers, and being trim'd with Silk, will colt, fome onc, Come ten, Comic twenty. five Ducats a pair. Their fineft Slippers are made of the black and white Mulbeny Trec, of the black Waintit Trec, and the Jujuba Tree; bur the Cork ones laf tonget Adjoinint ro thefe are ten Shops of Spcuifh Mores, who make CroisBows; and thofe who nake Brooms of a certain wild Palm Trec, which are carred abour Streces and cxchang'd for Bran, Athes' and old Shoocs; the Eran issCold againd to Shepherds, the Alhes to the Blechers of Thread, and the old Shoces no the Coblers. The.nexr re the Smiths and the Coopers, who makeand אell grear Veffels in che form of a Eucker, and Coun Micatures. The Corn Mealures muft be try'dand approvid by an Officer appointed for the Rurpole, who receives a Farching a piece as bis duc: Then you come to the diakers of certain Langolsor Withs. which the Aficans put upupon their Horics Fect. TheDyers live by the River fade, and have cach of 'can a closr Founcaina or Ciftern to wafh theirSilk Sruffis in2. The Makers of Bulwarksand Trenches, live over againft the Diers in a very large place, which being planted with thady Mulberrics, is very plealant in Summer. Nexr to themate the Faxricts, then the Black-Smiths, and ar latt che Whitfters of Lixeca Cloth. And hercends the Waft parr of the City, which in former times was a Keparare City from that on the EaAtern Bamk of the Rirce, that was firtt builc.
The Ealtern part of \(F e \pi\) is benurify'd with nobic Palaces
Temples, Collogesand Houfes - but ir bas or 0 , An Accoms Shops and Trades-men as the Weftern parc: Some it ftern pate of has, but then they are of the meancr forr, and are dif \(\mathrm{E}_{\mathrm{F}=\mathrm{m}}\) pers'd all over the City. Here is a Corn Market with divers Granaries for Corn, and 520 Weavers Houles handfomely buils, which yielded grear Kents. By report, there are 20000 Weavers and as many Millers in ir, anda a grear many Honkes forrhefarving Wood, in which Service the Chriftian Captives are cmploy'd, their Eamings being rerurn'd to their Owners. Thele CiriAtian Slayes have no Days of reft but Eridars, and cight Days of the Year, on which the Mores Colemaize theis Feafts. In chis Eaftern parr there are feveral publick Bawdy Houles, which. the grear Men, and fonnecimes the Governours of the City countenance; and grear Taverns, where Whorcs are kepe for occalonol Scrvice. It has above 600 clear Fountains, wall'd round, and carefully kepr-up, the Water of which is convey'd by Pipes to each Temple, College, Hofpital, and Honfe. This Foumeain Wacer is preferrable no that of the River; or oftencimes in Summer the River Cilternsaredry, and when the Conduirs are cleans'd, the River Water mult of neceffity be turn'd off. Befides; 'ris cooler and pleaamer in che Summer-time, cho' in the Spring "ris quire otherwife. Thefe Fountains have their Source for the moft part from the Weftand South. The North part is Mountainous and full of Marble Rocks, in which are Caves where Corn may be kepr for many Years; fome of 'embeing to largeas to contain 200 Buthels. The Proprieter of thele Caves lees them our cvery. Iear, for one por Cent. of the Corn they'tl hold.

As for the South part of Fer, 'tis not half inhabired but its Gardens abound with Fruits and Fiowers of all deas in thaCorts, and the Noblemenchoofe to live here from April Scuct puse. to Scpsember; for every Garden has a Houfe belonging 0 it, and a Chryital Fountain encompals'd witn Rofes and odorifcrous Floviers.

The catic. Weftward, that is, towards the King's Palace, there ftands a noble Cafte, built by the King of the Luntrune's Family, where the Kings of Fer kept their Court before that Palace was built; but now 'tis the Refidence of the Governour of the City.
The frifon. In this Caltle there's a large Prifon for Captives, fupported by many Pillary, which will hold 3000 Men in one Koom ; for in Fiz one Prifon ferves for all, withour any diftinction of Rooms.
The Gavern- To give fome Accounr of the Government, Confticumens of ds sion, and Cuftoms of this great Ciry. The Governour Ciry.
Thcir judges. of the City is Judge both in civil and criminal Matrers, and proncuncesthe Sentence by word of mouth, for he has no Clerk. Befides him, there's a Judge of the Canon Jaw, who adjufteth what relares to the Malameton Relinion. A third Judge fits and gives Scatence upon Marriageand Divorce; from thefe there lics an Appcal
The Punian. to the High Advocare. The Criminal is punifid in this zinenc of Crimamer, After he has recciv'd ivo or \(20 n\) Scripes before the Governour, the Exccutioner puts an Iron Chain alour his Neck, and leads him flark naked (his Privitics only excepted) thro'all parts of the City, from midnight till two a-clock in the Morning, and a Scrjeant follows the Executioncr, proclaiming his Crime to the People. This denc, they pur on his Cloths and bring him back to Prifon; Sometimes feveral Offenders arc led thro the City together. For every Criminal the Governour receives a certain Dury upon his firlt Imprifonment, and one Ducat and a half upon his Condernnantion; fo thar he gets a grear deal of money by condemning Prifoners. Befides thefe Perquifies, he has feveral Poffedions, one of which yields him 7000 Ducats 2 Xear ; upon which account he is.oblig'd upon occafion, to levy and mainrain 300 Horfe for the King's Lfe. The Judges and Bartifters of the Canon Law, are prohibited by the Law of Mahomet to take \(\mathrm{an}_{3}\) Fce, or to carn Moncy ochenwife than by their Priefthood and the readins of Lectures. A great many Adrocares and Proctors of this Profeflion are very bedull and illicerate The Serjcants or Officers who lead the Criminals about the City, are tut four in number, and have no other Sallery bot a certain Fee from the Criminal, pro porticn'd to the Crime, bating that they are allowid to fell Wine and keep Wheres.
The Cuform The Cuftoms and Taxes of the Ciry are collected onand Texe. ly by one Nian, who pays the King 30 - Durats a day, and has his Subftitures to wath at every Gate, and fometimes to go out and mecr the Carriers; fo that nothing can pafs without paying the Cuftom. If any thing be carch'd upon conceaimenr, the Owner pays double. The gencral propartion of the Cuftom is two per Cent, of the antrinfick Value; Bur Onyx Stones, great quantities of which are brought hither, pay a fourth part, and. Wood, Corn, Oxen; and Hens, pay nothing. The fame Collieter is Gorernour of the Shambles, and if he finds any Bread fhort of the due wcighr, he caufes the Baker to be foundly drub'd, and led in contempr up and down the City.

The Citizens of Fer wear a decent Habit. Over their The Cufom Shirts chey have narrow half fleev'd Jackets, and over of the anhat thefe a wide Garment clofe before, which in the Spring bitant.
Thrie Ap. is commonly made of outlandifh Clorh Upon their paret. Heads' they have.thin Caps, which do nor cover their Heads'thsy have thin Caps, which do nor cover their Ears; thele Caps axe soverd with a Scarf, which is trwice wreath'd abour, and then hangs down in a Knot. They wear neither Stockings nor Breeches, but when they ride a Journey in the Spring, they pur on Boors. The Doitors and ancient Gentlemen wear a Garment with wide Slecves, not unlike that of the Gentlemen of Venice. The common forc of People are for the mont part clad in coarfe white Cloth. The Women have nothing but cheir Smocks on in Summer, bur in Winter they wear a wide Garment like the Mens. When they go abroad they pat on long Breeches that cover their Legs, and have a Veil hanging down from their Heads, that covers their whole body. Their Faces are mask'd, their Ears adorn'd with Gold Earings and precious Jewels, and their Arms and Legs with Bracelets and Rings of Goldor Silver, according to their žuality.
Asfor theirDiet. The Gentlernen have fref Meat every Day, and the common People twice a week. They take thace Meals a day; they breakfart upon Frit wa bread, or upon a thin Pap made like Furmety, fpent in dancing, the Women dancing alone, and all of or in Winter upon the Broch of falt Flefh thicken'd with 'em one by one. Ac the end of each Dance they reward coarfe Meal. For Dinner, they have in Winter, Mear, the Muficians; and if any one mcans to honour the Sallers, Cheefe and Olives, but in Summer they haveber- Dancer, he bids him kneel down, and faftens pieces of ter Cheer. They fup in Summer apon. Bread, Melons, Money all over his Face, which the Mufficians take off Grapes and Milk, in Winter upon boyl'd Mear, and up- for their reward." At the fane time there are Minftrels on \(\mathrm{Cu} / \mathrm{cufu}\), i. e. a lump of Dough fer firt upon the Fire and Singers prefent, who entertain the Company, fomein Veffels full of Holes, and then tempcrd with But- times with Initrumental and fometimes with Vocal Mu:
fick;
eat, they firge; fome have roant Meat. When they Table, andupencither Kround at a low uncoverd nadty Cufcufu is fery'd up atl inone Dith, they take it out with their enn Talons. They tear and devour their Victuals like hungry Dogs. They feldomatrink rill rheir Paunch is well ituff'd, and then they'lt fwill down whole Bowl full of cold Water. The Doctors are a litde more orderly at their Meals, but nor much.
In the Butinets of Marriage, the Bride and Briden groom, accompanicd with their Parcuns and Re- Cerrorry n ations, and two Norarics go to Church, where the Matrage Narurc of the Dowry and tic Parser Narurc of the Dowry and the Particulars of the Concracts are fes forth before ail that are prefenc. Then the Bridegroom entertains all the Guefts with a noble Feaft of Fritters, or Bread fry'd wich Buter, and temper'd Father makes fuch another Enc. Afrer that, the Bride's ather makes fuch another Enfrrtainment.
As for the Bride's Dowry, among the mcaner fort her Facher ufually gives her 30 Ducars, a Woman Slave Dire firy of 15 Ducats price, a party colourd Garment cmbrovder'd with Silk, fome Silk Scarfs or Jags to wear upon herHcad inftead of a Hood or Vcil, a paur of fine Shooes, two pair of finc Starnups, and a grear many dittle Trinkers made of Silver and other Merals, firt tle Trinkers made of Silver and other Metals, fuch as Combs, Pexfuming Pans, Bellows, OG. Tho athe Father promifes but 30 Ducats for her Dowry, yet fometimes they'll give her the Value of 200 or 300 Ducats in Cloth and ocher Ormaments, for Houres, Ficlds and Vineyards are feldom difposid of that way. Befides the a-bove-mention's Partictulars, they beftow upon the Bride chrec Gowns of fine Cloth, rhxce Gowns of Silk or Camlet, or fome other valuable Stuff, Smocks curiouny wrovght, fine Veils, and other embroyderd Garments, belides fine Pillows and Cuthions, four fine Carpets or Coverlets, to ipicad upon the Preffes and Cup-boards, two coarfe ones for Beds, and two of leather to lay upon the Floor of the Bed Chambers; fome Rugs 20 Ells long; and threc Quilrs ftuft with Flocks, about 10 Ells long, one half of which they lay under em in the Night-rime, and cover thernflelves with the other balf. To theie add eight Silk Coverlers, cmbroiderd on the upper fide, and lind underneath wich Linen and Corron, and fome woolen Hangings, with picces of gilo Leather, and Jags of party colour'd Silk fow'd inon'cm, and a Silk Bution on cycry Jag to faften the Hiangings to the Wall. In finc, they fitive to out-do one another in making rich Prefents to thcir Daughrers, and fome Genclemen have ruin'd themfelyes by lo doing:
When the Bridegroom is ready to carry home hisBride ith they put her into a large wooden Cage cover'd with Silk, of mes wom in which the is carry'd by Porters, the Bridegroom's Re.loox. lations going before her with Torches, and the Brides Kins-folks foltowing after her with the found of Trumpers, Pipes, Drums, and a great number of Torches. Having thus made a Procetion thro" the Market-place, and pafs'd the great Temple, the Bridegroom thecrs off and makes the beft of his way home. Upon the Bride's arrival, her Father, Brother, and Uncle conduct her to the Bridegroom's ChamberDoor, wherethey deliver her oo his Mother. As fcon as the enters the Bed-Chamber, the Bridegroom toucheth her Foor with his, and fo they o togedrer.
In the mean time a Woman ftands at the Chamber Door, to whom the Bridegroom reaches a Cloch fain'd Tie Tipld with the Blood of the Bride's Virginity, asfonnas he has. betrignt enjoy'd ber. This Cloth fhe fhews to all the Company, proclaiming the Bride's Purity and. Innocence; upon which the and her Companions are honourably entertain'd, finft by the Bridegroom's Parents, and then by the Bride's. Bur if no Marks of Virginity appear, the Bride is ruan'd home to her Father with difgrace, and the Marriage declar'd Null. As foon as the new married Man goes abroad (which commonly happens on the feventh Day after marriage) he buys a grear many Fithes, which his Mother or fome other Woman fupertitioully catts upor his Wife's Feet. The next Morning after the Bride's going home, a Company of Women dreffes and combs the Bride, and paints her Cheeks with Vermilion, and her Feer with a black Dye. Then anocher which Then
Then and \(G\) and When his Far and Honfe
Houfe
by the fing di
The \(G\)
his Fat Relatir
\({ }^{i} \mathrm{~cm}\) ma School
whent
their \(F\) : Qualit
orcaifio
Wirth
the Mr
the ste Pro
the Pra
food as
fick; but if the Bride be 2 Widow, the Solcmnity i not near fo great.
Thy their Birth ; uponaro which on the 7 day afte fan to the Circumcifipner, byilaying Money on a Lad's Fice that comes along with him; after which, the Youth calling every one by his name, returns 'em chanks; chis done, the day is ipent with all the Mirth imaginabte The Pcople of this Country, on their Feitival Days ob Serve a grearimany Ceremonies inftituted by the Chriftians, wichour knowing their Original or meanimg.
Upon Chrietmas they car a Sallad made of divers drey feed upon as nice Food. Upon New-Year's-Day the.Children fogs ar Gexetemons Doors in Masks, and have Eruic given em for a Reward. On St. Fofm the Baptiffs Day they make Bonfires of Scraw. When the Childrens Teeth begin to groiv, they folemnize Fieaf call'd by the Latines bentill.. Intike manner their Rites of Divination and Soorhfaying feem to be borrow'd from the Chriftians.
When Husband, Eather, Brother or Relation dies 5x. Fi. a Company of Women xclated to the Perfon deceas'd put on Sack cloth and corer their Faces wich Dirt; then having calld fome Men drefsd in Womens Apparel. with four fuare Drums, they fingat the noife. of rhefc, Steeks at the end of every Verfe, and tearing their Hair, and beating their Checks and Breafts, till they are cover'd allover wich Goar. This Superfition, which prevails more among the commonPeople thant the Gemtry continues for feven Days together, at the end of which they intermit Mourning for forry Days, and then renew is in the fame manner forthree Days more. In the mean time the Widow's Friends come to comfors her, and in the Mourning Houfe, till the Corps are carried off The Womand her felf that looreth Husband, Father, of Brother docs nor atrend the Funeral.
The proft ufual Game among the Citizens of \(F_{s}\) is Thificmas the Cheffe, which they hate had cime our of mind.

The havevery good Pocms in their own Language, Txit Pees. moft of which treat of Love. Their Poets write comon his Birch-day, on which, early in che Morning, the recire their \(V\) erfesto a numerous Audícnce from the Go remours; and the whore Verfes ate moft applanded, is proclaim'd Prisec of the Pocrs for thar Year. During the Profpcricy of the Marin Family, the King us'd to re gale all the Yearned Men of che Ciry, and frear the Reciral of cheir Verfes, mpan which they gave so Ducat apicee to all the Pocts, excepting the very beft, who received as a Royal Gify 100 Ducats, a fine Horre, a Wo manSlave, and the Robes that were then upon the Splendour of the Fizizan Kingdom; 150 Year ago.
In chis City there are ahmot 200 Schools, fike grear Inei Gnm. Halls, forthe Inftruction of Children \(;\), there they are mirs shook tanght to write and to read, not only out of a Book, tamy Mores but our of a corrain great Table, and go over the Alacren again and again, ull they have gor ar by heart, which they ufually compafs in the fpace of feven Years. Then their Mafters. read rc'cm forne pait of Orthography and Grammar; but this is 市erter tanghr in the Colleges. Whena Boy has perfectly learn'd the whole atcoren, his father invites all the Boy's'School-fellows to a Trear, and his \(S_{n a n}\) rides thro' the Strcets to the Banquetting Houfe, in rich Cloaths, upan a fine Horfe, accompanied by the reft of his School-fellows on Horfe-back, who fing divers Songs to the Praife of God and Mabomet The Governour of the Royal Cittadel is oblig'd. to Iend his Father the Horfe and the rich Apparel. The Farher's Relations are an prcfent ar the Feaft, and every one b 'em makes fome fmat Prefent to the School Mafter, but the Father gives him a new Suir of Cloths; for the School-Mafters have but fmall Salleries; and cven when the Children havelcarn'd but part of the alcorän, their Fathers reward their Mafters according ro their Qrality. The Boys' of theif Schoolsufe likewife to celebrate a Fcaft upon Mabomit's Birth Day, upon which occianon every oure bringsa I orch to the School. There twith dirersfors of Wax, andbeing dighted berimes in the Morming, burntill Sum-rifig. In the mean time the Praifesof itchome arecelebrared in Songs, and as foon as the Sun rifes, the Solemnity is at ant end. This Dny's Solemnity turns to a good acconint to the SchoolMafters, for fonctimes thcy (ell the temaining Wax of the Torches (which the Boys Farhers provided) for ion Ducats, and fometines for morc. Both thefe Schools and the Colledges have twoHoly Days cycry Weck. The and the Colledges have twoHoly Days cucry Weck. The Mafters pay no Rent for theii Schools, they being erected for thar ule many Xears ago.

The Fortunc-tellers and Diviners are very numerous in giree fors this City. There are threc forts of ' cm , one fort wfes on Divintin Geomanticalfigures, othérs pour a drop of Oil into a to fee whole Armics of Devils, fome traveling, fome fighting EEc. and to receive Refponfes from thefo Devils, by a nod of their Head, or fome motion of ahcir Hands. or Eyes. Many of the Citizens are fo infatwated with thefe Vanitie:, that chey frend great Sums upon ecm. The third Cort are Wirches, who pretend to Famili- wither!
arity with Devils, calling fonc of cm red, Come white, andy with Devils, calluggiome of cm red, fome white, and fome black; and when they read ones Fortunes, perfume chemfelves with cerrain odoriferous things, alledging, that then they are polfefid with the Deyl they callid for. Afeer which, they change their Voice, and counterferit the Devil fpeaking withinn em. Thef countertent the Dewi deaking withmi em. Thece Cheats ate by che wifer fart of Pcople calld Sabacit, i.c. Guch as commit umatural Venery with thofe of their own Scx; for they make it their bulinefs to inveigle landfome Women, and perfwade'cm to receive their unnarural Embraces, apon the Plea of obcying the Devil's Command. Nay, fome Women are fo taken with the abominable Vice, thatchey'llfeign themfelves fick, and. read their Hnsbands for thefe Monfters, under the Pretence of traving their Deftiny read to 'cm : And of ientimes the Witches will perfwade the Husband that his Wife is poffefs'd with a Devil, and cannor be cur'd withongenring into their Sociery; upon which the crodulous Husband entertains the damn'd Crew at a fumptuous Feaft, and with a Solemnity forfooth, commits his Wife to their brucift Management. Bur other Husbands arefo wife, as to bear the Devil onr ffrheir Wives bands are fo wile, as to beat the Devil one of their Wives with a good Cudgel, and underthe precence of Poffifion, to deccive the Wirches chemfelves.
There is yet another kind of Juglers or Conjurers, Conjuress. calld dabazafeim, who are faid ro caft out Devils with Words, It is an Airy spirit. They draw cerrain Charactersupon a heap of Afhes, or fome fuch place, then. they draw cerrain Signs upon the Hands and Forehead of the Party poffefsd, and perfume. him after a frange enterd the Perfon, whar he is, and by whar name he is call'd, and at laft commandshim to come forth.
There are orhers thar work by a certain Cabalitical cibalisw; Rule, calld Jairagia, which is thought to be natural Magick. They draw many Circles within a grear once, and drawing the Diameters of the firtt Circles, mark bour the circumference of the firit Circle, they paincthe four Elements; then baving divided thisCircle and the nexr into four parts, chey durided cach four parss into feven, diftinguiff"d with cerrain Arabick Characters. In the third Circle they mark down the eeven Planess, in the fourth the twelve Signs of the Zodiack, in the fifth the rwelve Latinc Names of the Month, in the-fixth the 28 Houles of the Moon, and in the feventh the 365 Days of the Year, and about the convexity chereof, the four Cardinal Wines. Then they rake one Letrer of the Queftion propos'd, and multiply it by all rhe above-mencion'dParciculars; the Product of all they divide after a certain ticulars; the Product of all cthey divide after a certaing the quality of the Character, and as the Elements rcquireth wherein the faid Character is found withour a Figure; chis done, chey mark that Figure which feemch to agree with the raid Number or Product, and proceed with it as they did with the former, till they have found 28 Characters, of which they make one Word, and of this. Word che Speech is made that rcfolveth the Queftion. The Speech always curnd into a Verfc of the firft kind, which the Arabians call Ethanil, confiting of cight Stipites and i2 Chords, accordiny to the Aribita Metre. This Art of the Cabbile (lays our Author) never crrs, and tho ir be accounted natural, yet I never Gaw any thing thar has more affinity with fupernatural Knowledge: Hawever the Cabbalifts are in great cfleem, and their Ars is very difficule to be learn'd. Narble Court, (in King Abaloman's College at Pave har was 50 Ells fquare, riken up with one of their Figures; and ar Tunis l mer with jutt fuch anocher Figure. never Kaw but threc Profeffours of this wonderful ooks of the two Expofitions of the Precepts of the Art, with a ComCabbalitick mentary wric by onc Margian, and another by Ibnu Caldim anHiftorian.. Any of chefe Men may fec it if he will but go to Thes. Howeree the Law of Mabomet prohibits this and allother kind of Divination, and the Cablalifts are perlecuted by the Mabometan Inquifirion.

In this Cicy we meet likewife with fone learned Men, a nood strotht call themfelves Wizards and Moral Philofophers; and arereverd by the common Pcople as Gods, notwith-估anding that they de part from Mribemet's Lave in feveral things, for inflance, in allowing the Exprefion of Love Marterstin Songs. ThisSect (which is bur one of a great many among the Mebometens) (prang up about 80 Years atice Matecmet. The Auchor of is was Ellicfon thus Alelboftr, born in Bofrit whogave hisFollowers certain Precepts, but left no Writings hehind him.
 ded, a famous Doctor of that Scet, left his Dikciples whole Volumes of Writings: upon that the Malomeran Patriarchs condemn'd his Followers. About 60 Ycars after, a famous Proffliour that headed the Sect, being condmin'd to dic as well as all his Followers, wrote to the lacriarch, defiring leaverodifpute the Cale with the Doctors of the Law, and offering to undergo Dath willingly if they convicted him of an Errour. Accordingly a Free Conference was granted, anduche Profeffour put the Doctors to filence; upon which the Pa triarch revers'd the Sentence, and caus'd Colleges and Momfterics to be cretted for him and hiskollowers; But afrer soo Xearsithe Enperour Mabiçah of the Turkjh Iinecame thither, and perfecuted the whole Scet. Upon which they fed to Ciairo and Arcbia, and were difpers'd hacre and there, till the Reiga of Cafolfah, Grandifon to Malicint, whole Favourite Nidam Eimule reltord ' cm , and by the help of one Eigenali, a very leaned Man, who had writecn upon that Controverty, reconcild em with the Lawrers uron thefe Terms, That the Lawyers Thonld becally the Perfocers of Mabonce's Laws and the Scctarics the feformers of the fame. This Union lafted till the 756 İear of the Hegcian, when Barasadel was fark'd ly the Turtars, an which time thofe Sectarics fwarn'dover all Afin and Africa, and had ftrengthen'd their Parry, by admizting none into their Sociery bur Menof lcarning, but now the Cale is altcrd. They defife all learning as fupcrfluous, deriving the Knowledge of the Truth from Revelation alonc; and departing from the Meafures of their Anceftors, who obferv'd the Law very ftrictly; purfue Fcafting, Lakivious Songs, and all fenfual Plealures.' 'Tis true, they'll rearand rend their Garments, pretending to be ravifh'd with a fic of divinc Love; but that's rathex owing either to their Glurtony, for every one of 'cm devours more Meat at a time, than is fufficient for three Men; or che to their unlawful and filthy Paffions, which they difplay too openly when invired to Feafts; for if any one happens to Eall down drunk, their Difciples prefently take him up, and ply with him lafcivious kiffes. Hence che Hermits Feaf. became a Proverb among the Pcople of \(\mathrm{Ec}_{3}\), pointing as thofe Mafters who make their Difciples their Minions.
There are fome Mabometan Sects, that depart not on1y from the l.aw bur from the Creed of the other MaSometans, who brand thern for Herericks. Some affert, chat a Man by good Works, Fafting, Éc. may attain ro the nanure of Angels, and purify himfelf beyond all pofibility of finming any more. This Pitch of Purity they do nor pretend to reach, till they have run the nonds of 50 Difeiplines or Sciences: alledging that God will not impute to ' cm what Sins they commit, tefore they artive at the fifieth Degrec. This Seat upon iss firit: appearance, wafted themfelves with fasting and Pennance, butfoon afier they gave way to licentious Humours. Effelreuar de Scluranard, one of their own Parry, has publifh'd their form of living, which is very fevere: And Innul Farid has given an account of their Religion, by way of Allegory, in excellent Verfes, which they alwaystepeat at their Feafts, and which are, reckon'd the moft retin'd piece that has appear"d in their! Language thefe 300 Years. They takcthe Heavens, the fix'd Sars, the Elements, and the Planets, to be one God; they allow evcry Man to worfhip whar he pleafes, pleading, thatno Religion wharfocver iserroneous. They plledge, that God pitch'd upon one Man call'd Elcorb and by infufion; made him equal to himfelf in Knowledge. When this Etcorb dies, another is chofen in his oonn, outof a Company of 40 Men , whom they call Elauced, i. e. A Stock of a Trec. "Therc are 7 - Electors Elauted, is. er A Stocrof 1 . and 765 Candidares, who are capabic of being qualifed as Electors, when vacancy tappcras among the an. \(^{\circ}\)

By an order of the Scet, thefe 765 arc obliged to live Onacem incognizo ; fo they range almont all the World over, in a natty beggarly Habir, as if they were Srrangers to all Humnnicy ; aid without any regard to. Shame or Mo defty, ravim Women in publick Places, tho at the fame time their, Hotinefs is cry'd up by the People Tunis and all Egyps is fullof thefe Mifcrcants. In Alcaic 1 faw one of 'em ravifh a very handfome Woman in the Market-place, as the was coming out of a Bath; upon which the infatuared Mob poffels'd with a notion of the Adultercr's Sanctity, who, as they thonght, did not Greative commir, bue fecm'd to commit the Sin, crowding abour the Woman to rouch her Garment as a holy thing, and even the Cuckolu her Husband returnd thanks for the Advenerure ro his falfe God, in feating and Acts of Cha rity. The Magifirates wonld have punifh'd che foul A dulcery, bur chey were afraid of the Mob.
There are other Sectaries, who may be properly 4 note calld Cabbalifts; chece fatt very friety, and abitaia from the Flefl of Animals, confining themfelves toapar ricular Food and Habit. They have very for Prayers for cvery Hour of the Day and Night, calculared according to the varicty of Days and: Montiss, and thefe they are oblig'd to rehcatic. They carry about with'em fquare Tables, with Characters and Numbers engraven upon 'cm; and pretend to derive the Knowledge of all Things from the Angels, with whom they have daily Confercnces. They haveamong'em a Caralogue of 99 Vertues, which they are concain'd in the Name of God.
Another Sect among the Malometens, are Obfervers of Manish Rule call'd Surach, i. c. The Rule of the Hermits Thefcinhabir Woods and folizary places, and have ro orherFood than whar the wild Defarts afford. In finc Elefacni has publih'd a particularAccount of all the pripcipal Makomesan Seds, which are 72 in number. At this Day, therc are butrwo principal Scets of Mebemetanss s. bamely, that of hefloari, difpers'd oyer all Afice Memen Egypr, Syria; Arabic, and Turkey, and that of Iniania, which theSophis of Pcrfich has eftablitin'd in his Conntry by force of Arms.
In dis City of Fr, , there is a for of Men that make sambit t their Bufinefs to fearch for Treafurc under the Founda- Tresure, tions of old Houfs. They are concinually ar work abour the Caycs and-Dens withour the City Walls. for they arcperfwaded, that when the Romans were forc'd to retite from Africa ro Spain, they bid much of their Treafure in the Bowels of the Earth, becaufe they could not carry it off; only they apprchend, that this hidden Treafure is to enchanted by the Art of Marick, that ivithout that Ant ir cannot be found our. Theyill rell you they faw Gold or Silver in fuch a Cave, bur could rot dig it out for want of Perfumes and Enchantments. fit for the Parpofe. Upon the Influence of this Deufion, they turnup the Foundarions of the old Houfes and Seprulchres, paying for whar Damage they do, and look uponall Books of the Art of digging Gold, as divine Oracles
The Alchymifts in like mànner make a noife in this place. They are 2 parcel of nafty Fellows, that fink of Sulphur and orher Steams; they aifemble creet Night ar the greas Temple, where they difpute of their falle Opinions. A grear many learned Books of their Arts are in grear efteem, particularly the Works of one Geber 2 Grecian by birth, who lived too Years after Maomet, and renounced his own Religion. This Author has a cark allegorical way of writing, Anorher Auchor f that Faculty, who was Secretary to the Sold \(6 x\) of Ban gnded, has publifh'd a large Volume, entituled Albogreli, and one Mulairibi of Granade, bas wric the Principles of their Arr, upon which a learned Menmuluch of Damef. us wrote a Commencary more intricare than the Test is elf. There are two Families of thele Men at Fez; one bears cheir Bains for che Elijfir, i. c. 2 Marter which colours Brals and other Mctals; the other feeksafter the nuitiplications of Merals.
Burtheirtrue Trade is coining of falfe Money, and for that Reafon therc are bur few Alchimifts in \(F \in E\), that ave not their Hands cur off
There is \(\overline{\mathrm{y}}\) et another fort of rafcally Fellows about \({ }_{\text {mo }}\) his Town, whom the Isalians call Curmatori, who fing buma comical Songs in the Strects, accompanied with Drums, Harps, and Citterns, and fell Charms to the People under the Nocion of Prefervatives.
Of the fame Kidney are another Gang in this Town; who carry dancing Monkcys up and down, and hare Srakes round their Necks and Arms: They likewife pretend to foretel Fortunes, and lead Srone Horfes up and down the a corrin price.

Such is the State of this beautiful City, in which the Gentlemen, Doctors and Judges, kecpara great diftance from the common Cirizens. The City is moft commodioully firuared; for, tho in Winter the Srreets arc fo durty that one cannot walk in'cin withourStartups, yet their Condaits throw in abundanceof Water to walh-off the Dirt; and where there areno Conduirs, the Dist is carry'doff to the River in Carts.
The chicf Suburb of this City lic at the Wcet end and comain almof 500 Familics of poor Trades-men Day Lalonrcrs, Water-bearcrs, Monntcbanks, and Whores. In chis place there are above 150 Caves or Cellars of fine Marble, where the Noblemen of Fit us'd to lay up their Corn ; for the leaft of cm will contain abore 1000 Mcafures of Com: But at prefent they lic cmpryand open, and Walls are built before 'em no prerent the Peoples falling into 'em. This Suburh is the very Sink of che Ciry; for there any one may frecly fell Wine or keep a Baudy-houfe. After the 2oth Hour the Tradesmens Stiops are thut up, and every one goes to for in the Tavern.

There is anorher Suburb feparate from this, where 200 Families of 1 epers live, under the management of \({ }_{2}\) Governour, who collects fome yearly Revenues from the Noble-men for their Ufe, and fuffers 'em so want for nothing. This Governour is by his Office oblig'd to purge the City of all Leprous Perfons, and fur'cm up there. A Lepers Children enjoy his Eftare afeer his Death, buc if he dies withour lifue, part of his Eftate goes ro the Lepers common Stock, and part to the Govemour.
There are likewife without the Walls of the City, Sevcral Fields, appropriated by fome Noble-men for the burial of the Dead. "The common Graycs have a long riangular Stone upon'cm, but the Noblemens has one Srone ar his Head and another at his Feer, wiṭh Epitaphs infcrib'd upon'em.
The Tombs of Screral Kings of the Marin Family, Tantof of marffully made of fine Marble, with Epitaphs upon "em, cimofofra are to be feen in 2 Palace that ftands upon 2 Hill on the North fide of the City, and indecd they are Majeftick and Pretry beyond expreffion.
New \(\mathrm{Fe}_{2}\), is a place added to Old \(\mathrm{Fs}_{3}\), by King \(7 \leqslant c o b_{2}\)
mofre for the accommodation of his Court. 'Twas divided by King facob into three parts; one contain'd his own Palace and the Noble-mens Houfes, to ciery one of which he allotred a pleafant Carden; not far from his Pala: he buile a ftarcly and fumptuous Temple; in another part of the City he builr a large and fair Stable for the King \(s\) Horfes, and appointed a Marker place, extending from the Weft to the Eaft Gate, which is 2 Mile and a half, Shops being plac'd on cach fide.
The third part is now the apartment of the \(\mathcal{F c}\) cos ; for Coulminim moftof the Goldfmiths in New Fry are Jews, who carry their Plate ro OLI Fex, and there fell it at a higher rate thanthe Weight, which isa Priviledge not allowed in OL \(F_{5}{ }^{5}\) to Melbemerans, as being ufury,
There \(\mathcal{F}\) ews dweitonce in old Fex, but being all robbid by the Mores upon the death of one of their Kings, King Abujauid order'd em to remove to Ncwo \(F_{i}\), anad doubled their ycarly Taxcs. Accordingly they at this Day poffefs a long Suecr in Niw Fcr, and have many Shop and Synagogucs, their number being wonderfully enharg'd fince they were expel'd Spain, The Street where they now live, was the place allotted for the King's Guard in former times, but now thic Kings have no Guards. Thefe \(\mathfrak{f c w s}\) are difpis'd by cvery body; they arenot allow'd to wear Shoes, bur only a fort of Socks of Sea Rufhes. They wear black Turbants on their Heads; or if they ufe a Cap, they muft tack a piece of red Cloch roit. They pay the Kings of Eezz 400 Ducats a Month. Abour 140 Years after the building of this new City, it was furrounded with impregnable Walls, and adorn'd with Temples, Colleges, Palaces, and other Buildings Without che Walls, the River Warer is rais'd by huge Wheels and Engines, invenced by a Spaniard, which carn round but once in 24 Hours. By the means tis carry a over the Walls into Cifterns, from win nce 'tis convey'd in Pipes to the Temples, Pilaces and \(G\) a demonewitiswas' effetted fearce 100 Years ago; for before that the City was fupply'd with Warer from a Fountain ten Miles off, by the means of a Conduitinvented by a Genouefe, that was the King's Favourire. To conclude, there are few Gentlemen in this new City, cxcepting luch as retain to mep, who contemn the. Courriers fo much, thar they men, who contemn che. Courciers to much, thar they wifity no means. fuffer them to marry their.DaughHers.
lates immediately to it, 'rwill be proper, before we difinifs this Subject, to give a brict Account of the Kings of Eez, and their Court, which is kope in Nicip fer.

Africa knows no fuch shing as Elective Princes, or the calling of a forcign Princeroa Throne. Mahomer's Law confinidall fecular Rower to the Malometan Patriarchs and Prelates; bur in procefs of time, the Aurhority of the Patriarchs declind: and the Ringleaders of the Peopic, that ranged up and down in Uefarts, invadedelviliz'd places, and by force of Arms, gave 'cm Princes contrary ro mabomer'sLaw. The Familics of Zereta, Lintu\(n a\), and Merin, are Inftances to this Purpolic.
As for the Kingdom of \(F i=\), as foon as any Princs is 7 , ons proclaim'd King there, he fangles out one of his Peers orthe kint: tor a Chicf Counfellorir, and beflows on hum one therd court. of all the Revenues of the Crown. Then he nomimates another to be Sccretary, Treafurer and High Steward of his Houlhold. Afrer that, he appoints a Cap rain of the Horfe or of the Guards, who commonly live withrheir Horfes in the Fields: In the laft place he nominates a new Govemour of the City. Some time after, he fends Commillioners and Derouties to go vern the LFighlanders and IInabinnsthat are fubjeet to him and appoincs Collectors of che Revenucs of the Crown; and nominates a certain number of Kiepers or Guardiams (as they call em ) giving to cvery one of 'cm a Caftle or Village, by which they may maintain thencelves in Peace, and beferviccable to him in time of War This King maintains, befides his Guards, a Troop of Lipht Horje-mech, who live upon the King's Provifions while they ferve in the Field; but in time of Peace, the King gives 'cm Corn, Butter, and powderd Fich ficr the :\%hole Year, Money they feldom finger; but the King provides entixely for their Horfes, and Clochs them once a jear. Thofe who look after their Horfes, aro Chrifian Captives, who go fack'd in grear Chains, and when the Army removes, are carry \({ }^{*} \mathrm{~d}\) upon Camels Backs The Camels are taken care of by an Officer appointed for the Purpofe, who difpoles of the Pafture as he pleares, and looks after the King's Furniture, thar's carry'd apon their Backs. Another Officer is the Purievor, who provides and diftributes Corn to the King's Hourhold and his Atmy. In time of War he has ten or rwelve Tents to lay up Corn in, and Cends evcry Day frefl Cameis forncw Corn. Ancthes, Officer is the Groom of the Stables or Mater of Horfe, who provides for the King's Horfes, Mules, For. being furnim'd with all Necelarics by che Steward. There is likewife an Oveferr of the Carn, who provides Provender for the Beafts, and being acconntable to the High Secward as Clerk under him, who keeps an exact Acrounr of what is laid out. The King of for has alfo a Caprain orer 50 Horle-men, who may beca!l'd Farfuivants, for they execute the King's Orders; an Officer of grear Authority, who in the King's Name, can force the Judges to do juftice, and pur their Sentences in exccution, and can both imprifon and punith the Principal Noblic-men. A Chancellour, who keeps the grear Seal, and writes and figns the King's Letrers. A Governour of the King's numerous Foormen, who always atconds him. A Commiffary for the Bagrage of the Army who rakes care to carry the Temts of the light Horfe-men upon Mules, and the Tents of the ocher Souldiers on Camels. A Malter of the Ceremonies, who firs at the King's Fect in the Semare Houfe, and commands cach Member to fpeak according oh his Dignicy. Add ta chefe a Company of Standard Bearers, who upon a March, carry their Colours rrap'd up, only he that gocs before the Army, has his Bamer difplay'd. Every one of this Company is par icularly well acquainred with the Fords of Rivers, and the Paffages chro' Woods; for which Reafon they are for the moft part the Guides of the Army. There are a grear many Drummers in the Army, who bear with a Bull's Pizzle, uponcertain Drums of Brafs as big as a grear Kertle, the lower part of which is narrow, and the upper broad, being coverd with a Skin. Thefe Drummers ride on Horfe-back, having always a grear weight on one fide to counterpoife the weight of the Drum on the orher. TheirHorfes are very fwift, for the Moris account it a great difgrace to lofea Drum; and the Drums make not only a lould bur a ierrible noife, fuch as affects both the Men and the Horfes. The Muficians that atrend the Army are not pay'd by the King; for the Cifles are bound to fend a certain number of "em to the Wars, who are admitted or not admitted to the King's Table according to their Behaviour in the Field. All the Women Servants in the King's Houfhold are Negro Slaves tho the Qucen is always a White. Some Spaniff and Portugucfe Women Caprives," agc likewife kepr abour the Court, having Eunuchs who are Negro Slaves, chat
\(\mathrm{U}_{\mathrm{U}} 2\)
warch
watch 'em very narrowly. Notwithftanding the King of Fet his large Dominions, his Revenues will fcarce amount to 300000 Ducats a Xear, the fifth part of which does nor come ro him. Moft of his Incomes are paid in Corn, Cartle, Oil and Butter, which fetch but little Moncy. In fome places they pay 1 : Dueat per Acre, in other p'aces a whole Farm pays no more. "Families doc ons cyery head pays as much as itizens of \(E\) and are more diffatisfiedat the Payment of the Taxes chan atany thing clic. By tie Law, a Mabometam. Prince (unlets he bea Prict) can exact no more than what was fetuled by Mabo mer, viz. \(2:\) per Cent, of the ready Money, and \(:\) of al their Corn: And of that a part is to be imploy'd in ris licving the Poor, and carrying on neceffary Wars. But the fecular Princes neplect Mabomer's Model, have not only confurd thefc Taxes, but exacted greater; and at this Day all che Tubabitants of africa are fo opprefsd with daily Exactions, that they fcarce have where withal to fecd and cloth themfelves; and upon thar Confideration no Man of Senfe or Honefty will either con erfe or cutertaina Courcicr, of accept of a Prefent from him, prefuming that all his Pofferfons are the Product of Theft and Bribery. In time of Peace, the King maintains \(60 c o\) Horfe, soo Crofs-bows, and as many Musquetecrs, who lic within a Mile of his Perfon whenhe foes a Progrels; but ac \(\mathrm{Fex}_{2}\) he has no occafion for foftrong a guard. When he wages War with the frabians, heobiiges the Arabians that are fubject to him to find him a great Ammy of Men upon their own Foor, and thefe Men are better Souldiers than his own. There is but little Pomp or Ceremony about his Perfon, neither does he carefor it, unlefs it be upon Feftival Days, or when necefity requires it.
When the King is to ride out, the Mafter of the Cesemonies Rend Meffergers to give notice to his Relations, his Nobility, Senators, Captains, Guardians, and Genrlemen, who immediatcly draw up in a Body bcfore the Palace Catc.
The order Upon the King's coming out of doors, the Mcffengers Rectious.
lics a noted Mountain call'd Mount Karlion, which isten \(^{\text {and }}\) Miles broad and 30 long. It bears plenty of Olives, but at the fame time is crowded with wild. Wcods. There are abour so Shecp-folds and Caftles upon it, and the Conveniency of iss firuation between \(\mathrm{Fc}_{3}\) on the Ealt and Mecraff on the Weft, renders the Inliabitants very rich. The Women of char Country are clad in Wolen, and adorn'd with many Silver Rings and Brace crs. The Menarebrave, and noted for the raking of Lions, of which they fend a great many to the Kingof Fci, and thefe the King humts in this manner.
Sevcral little Ceils in which a Man may ftänd up-hmian a right, are made in a large Field, and fecurd with ftrong Liom Doors. In each of thefe an armed Man is plac'd, who thewing himielf to the Lion, and upon the Lion's af proach Chutring himfelf up, inflamies his Fury; upon which a Bull is let loofe upon him, and if the buil kills the Lion, the Sport is at an end, but if the Lion kills the Bull, all the Men in the Cells (who are commony tweve in number) jump out upcn him; being anned with a Javelin and a Tike of a Cubit and 2 half long If the armed Menfeem ro be too hard for the Lion, the King orders their number to be diminith'd; and if they appear to be too weak, he and his Company thoots at the Lion withtheir Crols-bows, from a high Hill wher they ftand to fee the Show. But it oftentimes happets that fome of the Men die, and all are feverely wound ed before their Crofs-bows kill the Lion. Thofe who encounter the Lion, reccive ten Ducats apiece and a new Garment; but 'ris only the Men of known Valour, and fuch as come from Mount Zelagi, that are honourd with the Employment.
A Town calld Gualiti; fands upon this Mountain; Gutat which became very populous after it was xepair'd and replanted by Idrex the Elder, who lies buried there, and whore Sepulchre is fuperfticiounly vifited by almoft all the People of Barbary; for they look upon him as a great Parriarch. Afrex the death of that Idres, his Son being wholly bent upon the building of Fcz, negleeted Guaili.

Upon the fide of the Mountain, therc's a fmall Town piman call'd Pietra Roffn, which ftands fo acar the Foreff, that the Lions come rame in, and pick Bones off the Streer, without hurcing any body.
Ar the Foot, of the Mountain near the high Road, celbsean leading from \(\mathrm{E}_{2}\) to Macnef, there flands Caftle Sberme, fo call'd from the fhameful covetuoufuefs of the Intabitants. Tis reported, that the Inhabitants invited the King to diner as he waspafing by, in order ro get the ignominious Name alcer'd, and nexr Morning prcpard for his Breakfaft a couple of Rams, and fome large Veffels full of Milk and Water, prefuming that the King would not know but that it was all Milk: Upon which the King perceiving the Milk ro be half Water, fmilld and faid, What Nature bath given no Mran can take amint.

The chird Province is that of Aqgar, in which ar many Lions, and thofero timerous, that the Voice of a arext Child will frighr'em; whenec The Lion of \(A_{j g a r}\) became a Proverb, fignifying a cowardly Braggadocia.
As for the Province of Ellabet or Habat, is containspromina within iss Boundsthe grear City of Arzilla, buils by the twea Romans upon the Shore of the Ocean, about 7o Miles from the Streights of Gibraltatr, and \(140^{\circ}\) from \(F_{c i n}\). In ancienr times it was fubject torhe Prince of Ccuta, who was tributary to the Romens, and aftetwards was taken by che Gotbs, who reftord the Prince of Ccuta to hisformer Government. But in the 94th Year of the Hegeira, the Mebomitans took it, and kept ir 200 Years, till the Englifh (a) upon the Sollicitation of the Goots, bc-(a) fieg'd it with a huge Army, and pur all the Civizens ro the Sword. The Defign of the Gotlos was only to draw the Mabometans out of Europe, for they being Chrifti- inffede 5 ans, were Encmiesto the Englif, who worhip'd ldols. Iad, inm Some time after this'Difatter, the Malometan Patri-m, mitan, archs of Cordoua being Sovereigns of Marritania, rebuilt, bimef: enlarg'd, enrich'd and fortified Arzilla; the Inhabitants inm: cunt of which diftinguifh'd rhemfelves by their Riches, Learin ound wint ing and Valour. The adjacenr Fields are fertile, only cilis their diftance from the Mountains, occafions a greartan. want of Wood, which is in fome meafure fupply'd by Coals brought from Harais

In the 882 Year of the Hegeirn, this City was fur- Tikath priz'd and taken by the Porrugueff, who carry'd the In-Pritumg habitants Prifoners to Portugel, and among the reft, ha bumet the prefent King of \(\mathrm{Fe}_{\mathrm{Z}}\), together with his Sifter, both of 'em being Children. Mabumes continu'd feren Years in Portugal, and leam'd the Porturucte Language Years in Porrugal, and leam perfeetly well; a a laft his Father ranmon' Language grear fum of Money, and che Son being aitcrwards preferr'd to the Throne, endeavour'd to retake dratila from the Portuguefe, and gaind his Point fo far as to from the Portuguefe, and gain'd his Roint fo far as to mafter the Town; and oblige the Porruguefe to retire to the Caftleand promifero lurrender in rwo Days. But in the mean tume Pedro. rent Flect and rais d the Siege. After that the Porruguefe fortified the Ciry on all fides, fo that the King of \(\mathrm{Fr}_{6}\), whoofrenatrack'd ir, wasalways repuls'd.
The nexr Town that comes in our way, is the great and ancienc City of Tangin, callid by the Porrugucfe Tiangiarn, which che Remans buidt, upn the Shove of the \(O\) cean, when they: fubdu'd. thic Kingdom of Grannda o Boerican
Then comes Sepra, call'd by the Latines Civitar and by the Portuguefe Ceuff, and built by the Romans upon the Streights of Gibrairar. In formerrimes is was the Mc tropolitan of all Mauritonic, and beingmuch valued by the Romans, was both civiliz'd and well pcopled in thei time. Afrer that, the Gorhsmafter'dir, and kept ir, till the Masomerans invading Maurirania, furpriz'd it, 25 the fanctime that the Miores conquerd Sprim. After shar, is came to be the famoufeft City of all Mnurifania, both for Civility and number of Inhabitants. It was adorn'd with Temples and Colleges, and reforted to by Men of Learning, Suadents and Trades-men. Their Merhanicks, efpecially the Braziers, went beyond all others. The adjacent Fields are bur baren, which makes the Corn dear: but they are well for'd with presry Villages, efpecially in that part which from the abundance of Vines, is call'd The Vinemrds. From hence you have a noble Profpect of the Spanifh Coaft, and nay even difcern movingAnimals there, the diftance being but 12 Miles.
But in late times this noble City was raz'd by Habdultiks sumblat mimen, the King and Partiarch, who likewife banifh'd makf. the principallohabitants; and norlong after is was fack'd by the King of Granadr, who carry'd the Nobles and chicf Citizensin captivity to Granadn; and atlaft, in the 818 Year of the Hegcirt, 'rwas' raken by the Porfugal Armida, and all the Cirizens abandon'd it. The coward \(y_{y}\) and unactive King of \(F \subset z\), who neglected no fucTir fing of cour it, was by the juft Judgment of God, broughe ro fra and his condign Punithmenr, he and his fix Sons being murther'd fis mins. Soon after = y his own Sectecary, whofe Wife he had endeavourd to debauch; and theBaftard Son, who was fpard and finceceded him, was in like maniner llain by his own Pcople, and was the laft of the Merin Line. Mount Qitain birth of Hcilich, who diftonguilh'd himfelf by his valiant Exploits againft the \(S p\) iniards, and at laft was kill'd in C.talonic, A. D. \(1 \times 60\). at a Battle, in which 60000 Mocs fell, and nonecfeap'd eut the King and a few No-effn- Afrer that Battle, the Spaniards were ever fuc againit the Mores.
We comie next to the Province of Erif, the ancicnt monax of Town of Bedis, calld by the Spenniards, Villes de Gumera, Province ing Warer and contains 600 Families. It has no drink pulchre of but one Well in the Suburbs, juft by the Se and this Well they was once very famous among them time, becaufe 'ris full of Leeches. However ' is adorn'd with a ftately Temple, and fo overffock'd with Filh, that they give "cm away gratis, efpecially to any one that helps to draw upa Net, for oneMan is not able to do it The Filh they take are Pilchards, and stefe ribey fale and fend to the Mouncains to be fold. A long Street in this Town is intabired by Fews, many of whom fell excellent Wines; nay, in a calm Evening the Citizens are wont to divert themfclves with finging, and the drinking of Winc in their Pleafure Boars uponthe Sea.
Alixpon Bcing expos'd to the fire of a Forr that King Ferdidankin by the do of Spain, built upon an llaind within a Mile of the according implord the aid of the King of \(F c z\), who accordingly fent out and Army, moft of which never re-unrid. The Spaniards kcpr the 1 Inc for feveral Y Yars Governour, who had taken his Wife from him, berray'd it into the Hands. of che Mores, and all the Speminirds. were pur to the Sword, excepting the Traytor, who was well rewardect.
The Province of Frict is divided into daree parts, of the firt contains the Towns and Citues, the fecond the Morintains, and the ihird the De:aris.
 differsily well pcopled, and provided with many Judges and Lawyers, and all Turts of Trades-men, particulariy I.ince Weavers. The adjacent Fields are wonderfully ferrile in Grapcs, Quinces and Citrons, which are all fold at \(\mathrm{Fen}_{2}\). This Town has a good Market, frequented by the Lnhabitants of the Neighbouring Mountains. 1495.

On the top of this Mountain, there's a Cave that perpe-
The Ihrows up Firc, and confu:nes Vood to Allcs
The Inhabitants. of Mount Beut : Meforoh ha mainain many Doctors of the Malmmetan Law, andid fiveral infic- Youm peni riour Scudents, for which Reafon their Taxes are bur vey dimallin comparifon with their Ncighbours. Thefic Doctors drink all the Wine themfelves, and perfwade he Rcople thar 'ris unlawfilf for shoin to drink is.
Among the Towns of thisProvincs, we murt trake nocce of Mcelile, the Inhabiranss of which beeing the atned by the Spanib Armadr, and finding the Kinis- of F ; wis Succeffours bur weak, deferted the Town, and fled which thcir Effects ro the Mountains of Butboin; upons which the Feffon Gencral, in refenemenr of thrir cowardice, and in order to leave nothing for the Spengiards, burne downall the Houres and Templiss. However the speniards porfers'd thenncelves of the Town, wafte as is was, A. D. 1487, and buils a ftrong Caftic upon it, fince which cime they have rcpaird the Walls and continuc in polfeflion of it to this Day.
The Defarts of Garet are bounded by thic Mcditer. Tancan Sca on the Notth, the Defiats of Chauर on the Tre Des. Sourth, the Mountains I mention'd but mow on the Weft, of cerct. and the Kivez of Mulvin on the Eaft, being to Milics long, and 30 broad. There's no Warer in thefe Defrims, but whar of the River Mulvia us'd to retirc in Summer, uppon which many Arabians as well as a fierce lecoile call Bratilja, have grear ftore of Horfes, Camels and other Cartce, and wage perpetual War with the Arabians torder upon'em.
The laft Province in this Kingdom is that of Checur. Province
The Town of Dubdd ftanding inthis Province, was poff Chenz.
Buildings, and reform, who the Goncrid it with many fine buildings, and reform'd the Goicrnment of the Jown malh dintinguifh' by his Civility to Strangers. This Mabumect having 2 Defign to wreft \(E=z=6\) out of the Hands of tho King of \(F_{c}\), and to go dify is'd in a Councry Habir to che Market-place of thas Town, in hopes that the Towns-mien would make an Inturrcition, the King of Fc ccame to know of the Pint, and marching againft Dubdu with a vaft Army, encampid ar the Foot of the Mountain. In the mean time cooo of the Inhabitantsof the Mouncain lay in ambuth among the difks, and aftrer the \(F\) :Tititn Souldiers had gone up the dificult Paffages of the Mountain a pretry way, tot that and killd noo conveniently get back again, alliced our and killd 3000 of 'ein. Buathe Kinz of Fe: nor mov'd, advanced with 500 Crofs-bows and 300 Firclocks to make a new Artack: Upon which wia :umere finding himfelf not able tof tand our any longer, difgursd himfelf in the Habit of an Ambaffadour, and went and Acliver'd 2 Letter with his own Hand to the King. Being, askid by the King whar he thought of Malumes the Governour of Dubdu; he anfwerid, thar he thoughr ho was mad in offering to wicthfand his Majefty. Then the King chrearncdro tear him in pieces as foon as he was Maiterof the Town; upon which the feign'd Ambalfadour ask'd if his Majefty would nct reccive him into favour upon 2 fubmifilive Acknowledgmenc of his Offence. His Majefty promi'd upon that Condition, nor only to forgive him, but to give his two Daughress in marriage to his Sons, and for his fürther Securify, back'd his Promife with a folemn Ocath, in che prcfence of four of his Principal Nobility. Upon this; Ma/umet fell down ar the King's. Feer, and difcovering himpelf, humbly beg'd Pardon for his Offence, and the King made good his Promife, This happen'd Amno Dom, \({ }^{\text {Feizina }}\) is another City winhin chis Province, which fands upon the Road from Garet to CAffafen , at the di R flance of 50 Miles from \(\mathrm{Fez}, \mathrm{I} 30\) from the Occan, and Seven frem the Medicer reven frem the Medizerrancan. In former times is conaind 5000 Familics. Its Palaces, Tcunples, and Colleges are infome meafure pretty, but the other Buildings are very ordinary. A fmall River runs thro' che chief Temple, tharfprings our of the \(A\) Aliss ; and fumetimies when the Citizcns quarrcl with rheir Neighbours, thefe incommode 'em very much, by curting off: this' River; and turning it into another Channel, for then they have nothing bur ftinking Water, and are forcd to ftrike un a Peace. For Riches, Civility and Populoufncts, this City is reckan'd the chird Ciry of the Kingdom. The Chief Temple is greatertian tharar Fez; , beffides which thas three Colleges, fevcral Baths, and a great mnany Hofpitals. Each Trade in this place has a peculiar place allotred toit, as well as in \(F_{c \tau}\). The Inhabitanis go beyond thofe of Fez; in Valour and Generoficy; and here are a grear many learncd and rict Men among cm . The adjacent Fielas are extream fertile. The Plains without the City Walls are very large; and emi richict with many plazant Bronks, that ferve to water their Gardens, which arc frock'd with all horts of Fruat. Their Vines produce grear plenty of weer Grapes, Whis City make as gon Winc as any in Africt. this City : make as good winc as any in a very ancient Anold Min en this phace, mered as a Gat infomuch, thar the severit. Man, that they reserdas a God, ho him, and this Pcopic of Frat came 5 muile ofr ors deluding the Peo ple, was prodigioully rich in Fruits, Grounds, and o pher Commodinics that they had given him.
Soffres is another Town in shis Comnery, which has a Temple with a River runnine thro it, and an cxcellen ountain at the Docr. There's a Foreft jult by ir where the Lions are very same.
Thercis a Town in this Counery calld Ham Lifnan,near to which the Africans had a Temple, that in \(h\) cam of their luolatry, they reforted to in whole Shoals in the Niphr time; and after the Performance of Sacri-

\section*{} ave, u'd to pur out the Lighrs, and diuert themielves nenopromilcuons Embraces. The Children that were Prin ris adultcrous way, were for fared Scr rice: Eu-the Women thar adcd a parrinthis foul Action, were prohibired ro lye with any Man for a Yca afier.
Nor far from another Town calld Numen Giunabe, cherc's a Road, which whocyer paffes wichout dancing
i, rentitber 2

Mouns Bent
Fighencri.
The Mountain jubjeqt to the Governour of Dubdu is calld Bcmi fef crten and is inhabited by a unhuman bafe, beggarly crew. Their Houles and Shoes are made of Sca-ruthes. Panick is the only, thing that grows upon the Mouncain, of which they make Breau and ocher Victuals; burat the Foor of it Grapes, Dates, and Peaches grow plentifully in Gardens. They dry their Peaches in the Sun, curting 'em inro quarters, and throwing away the Stoncs; and thefe are accounted a choice Rarity afer \(a\) Years kecping. They have fome Iron in Mines, of which they make blunt pointed Daggers and HorleShooes, which fometimes ferves cm for Money, for that's Farce Comodity upon the Mountain. Their Wo2 men are proud of Iron Kings on sheir Fingers and Ears, and are candaloufly nigg , for finc Fuel.
Woods, wherethey keep Goatsmogzuther calld Selelge, is Spring carring their Houfes of Sea-ruthes along with 'em, and continue there till abour the end of May, at which time the Arabians coming from the Delarts in queft of Fountains and moitt pazes for their Cattle, dillodge em. Bur in the Winter there Rivabins Woods, and warmi places to belter their Call fock'd with Lions lepards, and Apes. Ir gives rife to Subu the prearef River in all Mamitania, and has a ftream of Water that runs fo rapidy, as to carry a Store of 100 weight along with it
The River Subu feparates Mount Selelgo from Mount

Beni \(7 a j g a\), the inhabitants of which are 2 rich and civil Pcople. They have a way of purying tamper that will hold ten Men, thas being faften'd to a Rope which runsfrom a ftrong Poft on one fide, to another on the oppofitefide ; but this airy Bridge is not always very fafe, This Mountain affords plenty of Oil, great fore of Catrlc, and very fine Wool, of which the Women make Cloch as fine as Silk, and fell it ar Fcan for a great Price.
Mouns Ccuropo \(\tilde{x}^{i}\), boafts of a grear many ancient Houfes, and a botrombels dry Pir, into which fóme Pcople Mounc com have been ler down by a Rope with Torches in their Hands. who reporr, that below'ris divided into a grcat many Rooms, and thatat laft they come to a large artificially hewn ous of a Rock, and encompafid with a Wall that has four Doors leading to fome narrow places, where are Springs of Water. Some of thefe bold Adventurers have loft their lives, in the Difcovery; for if their Lights happen to be put out by any fudden blaft of Wind, they can by no means find the place where the Rope hangs, and fo die by famine. 'Tis faid tharoftrec Men being let down, came to the four Doorsitaboveincntion'd, where they parted, one going one way, and the other two another. After the two that kepr together had gone on one fourth of a Mile, one of their Lights wasput our by fwarmi of Bats ; at length they came to the Springs, where they found the Whites of Dead Men, and five or fix Candles, fome of which werefrelh and fome wafted wish long lying. Then they return'd the fame way chcy came, and were fcarce gone half way, when a findden blaft put out their other Light, upon which they were fcrambling among the Ropes, and free many fruitels Attemprs, loft all Hopes of finding their way. In the mean time their Companions that tarry'd at the Mouth of the Cave expecting their return, let down fome of their own number to fee what was become of 'em; and thefe Men having lights in their Hands, and making a grear Noife, found cm ourat last, and brought'em up. But the rhird that went by himGelf was not found at thac time; he wander'd up and lown in a forlorn Condition, and at laft hcaring a noife like the barking of Dogs, made cepro'cm, and mer four Itrange new-born Beafts, with a Dam nor unlike a the Wolf, which fawnd gently upon him with her Tail. Soon after that he began to perceive a glimmering of light, and fo found his way our. Bur now-adays thisfamous Pir is fill'd with Warer to the very Mourh.
Near this Mountain is Mount Gunaigel Gberben (the Mountain of Ravens) which is full of Woods and li-ganain ons. and has no Inhabitants, perhaps by reafon of irs extream coldnefs. Here is a very high Rock, the top of which is frequented by infinire numbers of Crows and Ravens, whence 'ris thought, the Mountain derivd irs Name. Somerimes the rexrible northerly Wind bring uch abundance of Snow upon this Mountain, that thofe whotravel from Numidia are loft in it. Every Summer the Neighbouring Arabians, call'd Beni-E/fern reforted to this Mountain for the Benefir of its cool Warer and pleafant Shades, notwithftanding its being o-ver-run with Lions and Leopards.
 inhabited by a parcel of Thicves and Robbers, who are continually molefting the Arabians. and are fo fipiteful as torhrow their Camels over the Rocks.
In this place the Serpents are fo inoffenfive, that they mmx & come to peoples Houres at dinner-sime, and gather the pana Crumbs under the Table, without offering any violence, unlefs they beinjur'd.

Glimerio In the Fields there grows an Herb calld Belima, that zurg atrb. fattens' Horles and Cattle in 12 on 1 ; Days, but kills cmafrer it thoots forch a hearded Ear, for which reafon they keep their Cattle from it in that Scafon. This Province was once beautified with numerous Towns and Caftles; but now chere remains nothing but the Walls of fome Towns without any Houles, within which thelnhabitants incamp in Winter.
Therrwines The Province of Far, is che next in order, purfuant Therryure to ourwonted Mechod, by proceeding from Weft ro Eant. Both the Mouncains and Valleys between \(\mathrm{Fc}_{2}\)-and Mrquince, are inhabited by Bercbercs, and by Holots, which is a mixture of Africins and Artibians, and nor to mention the other puifant Arcbiens, who poffifs all the Ficlds Fetween \(F c z\) and the \(\mathrm{Sea}^{2}\), where they wander up and down, and find cxeclicut Pafture fortheir Flocks. The Country that lics between the Ciry of Fex and the Great Ather, is not fo well peopled, being inhabiecd nonly by poor Arabs, who pay fome Acknowledgment to the King and the Citizens of \(F_{2}\), for what Lands rhey poif ficts.
fire is now the Mctropolizan of this Province, bur in the time of the Goolv, Fella or Sala was catituled to that Honour. The latter was built either by the Romans, or by Hinm the Carthnginian, and is corich'd with a tolcrable Harbour, the Mouth of which is forncwhat dangerous. Ir has been famons for Galleys or Rovers that infott the European Coaft, ever fince a Gremada More retir'd thither. In former tinnes 'twas tery rich and populous, and commitred feveral Ravages upon the fjuropsans, which provok'd alphonfus the Wife, King of Caftilc, totake it \(A_{1}\) D. 1263. Bat foon after'rwas retaken by the firt King of Fc , of the Benemerini Fanily. Howecer thefe fudden Revolutions brought it fo low, that it inever recover'd ís ancient fplendour: At prefene tis defended by 2 Govenour, with 300 . Horre and fome Firelocks.
Abour four Miles from the Occan, we mer with the Th. Runcs of the ancient City of Tamifitis, nowTiflefe, which Prolomy placesin 7 Deg. Long. and 34 Deg. 15 Men. lat. In has thick Forefts in iss Nighbourhood, wherc furious Lions reforr, and attack Paifengers, sffecially in the Night-ime; for which Reafon there is a Houfe cover'd with Earth upon the Road, where the purfued Traveller may be thelter'd from their fury.
At the diftance of 17 Leagues from Sella, not far Whis, from Mount Athas, lics a large City, which comtaining above 8000 Inhabitants, which is now calld Mequinez, and which Proiomy places under the Name of Silda, in feren Deg. 50 Min. Long. and 34 Dcg .15 Min Lat, It hasgood Walls and lárge Streets, and itands in a very fertile Country. The Inhabitants are prond and font, and mortal Enemies to the \(\mathrm{Fe}_{2}\) zans. They derive their Extraction from Mecen, and apply themflves for the moftpartio Traffick. The Kings of Fer are wone to beftow this placeas a Portion upon chie Caders of their Family, tho' fometimes they have had occafion to repent ic.
\({ }^{1}\) Fcy; the Metropolican of all Africe; is calld the Court
\(\mathrm{c}_{1}\) of the Weft, as Conftantinople is cntilled that of the Eaft
Twas calld \(F i\) from the River it ftands upon, which has fuch rich and verdant Banks, that it merired the Name of Huet-Fez, i. C. The Golden River.
Thar partof it which was firft built, and Atinds upon the Eaft Bank of the River, is the fame with what PtoLony calld Bulibi/f, and placid in eight Deg. 15 Min. Long. and 33 Deg. \(4^{\circ}\) Min. Lat. But that part which was buill fince upon the Weftern, is the chief Body of the City. It has feven Gates, and is divided info twelve Wards, cach of which is commanded by one of the principal Citizeñs, who like a Colonel, takes to fec them pronded with Arms, at the Peoples Charge.
Upon occalion they cari raife 30000 Soldicrs, amiong whom the Moorifh Spaniards that rerir'd from Grenad, and Andeloufa, are much the braveft, for the reft mind nothing but their Eafe and Pleafure.
The firt King of Fer vouchfafd to the City the diftingnifhing Priviledge of not being oblig'd to ftand out againftan Enemy, when the King is not able to keep the Field; fo chat they are noc.tyd up to a vain and darterous Fidelity to a Prince that is nor able to defend ema, but may prevent the Ruin of their City by an early Surtendcr. Forthis Reafon, their Kings are always very Atrong in Horfe, that they may be able ro keep the Field upon all Occafions.
This great Ciry has many fne Temples; Colleges, and other Structures. The principal Temple, calld caruoin, is the richeft and greateft in all' Africe.': Within its compars, there's a College, where rhey teach their Theology, and the other Arts and Sciences:

The Rector of this College, is: commonly the moft camed Man inthe Country his Titic is Mufri, and all Atme Gres orhor Aifmaida recsive thcir Orders froma him as from 2 Bifhop, and depend upon him for the Solution of their Doults and Difficulties. He us'd to receiveche Revenues of the Church, which amount on 8noon Ducices a Year; but the deriff that now reizns, five: him that Trontle, in taking up the whole Rerenuc, and providine hin with what isnccelfary for himfelf and the other Oficors of the Temple.
There are fereral other Coliegetia. Fez, in which the Golece tcarh Grammar, Rheterick, ikpiomemem Theolop: Philofophy, Orthography, Marhomaticks, and acher Sc-ences: In formic times they tatgit Ainrommar, but that has been prohibice thefe fevcral Years.

There are above ano Schoo's in che City, where they sehoob. learn to read, notwithfanding that the Aratick Grammar and Orthography are tanght in the thiverities.
Not on mention their Hofpitals; their Inas tor the Ac-:commodation of Strangers, are very large and well built: The beft of'cm are near the great Temple, where the Chriltian Merchants and the honcfice fort of People are loded. but the reit are Honfes of nerorious lowdnels ; their Kcepers are difolute Ruffans, and enrertain Whores, Boys, Robbers, Aflafins, and ail the Mifcreants of the City ; nay, which is very thrangc, they are free in thofe places from the Hands of: Juftice. The Inn-Keepers, who go by the Name of Redis, pay a tound Sum ciery Year ro the Governour for his lisence, and as ofernas the Axmy marches under the command of the King or the Prince, they are oblig'd to fund fome of their number, to attend the Officers of the Ketimue, and drelis their Mcat.

The River which pafics diro Fin, has a frosin man mat. Mills upon it, out of which the Kins has haif a Rial for cycry Mine (or two Buthels) of Corn that is gro:nd therc.

So much for the Weftern part of Fei; The Eatern is cap \(\mathrm{Fen}_{\text {a }}\). chicfly confiderable for its Mannfacture of Liren Cioth, and Silk.

As for Ne"t Fra, or the King's Coutt (which may be dimater call'd an chird part of this great Ciry)'swas chriften'd the PW,ate City by King Faceb, iass Founder; tho now it has aflum'd the Title of Nem Fstan. All the Inhabitaniss befides the King and his Court, are Pcrions of no grear Figure; for chofe whohave either Riches or Quality, are not very fond of being known at Contt: The Prince who built chis place, has fpar'd nothing to render it a place of Conveniency and Safcty, tho after all it might cafily be taken, partly becaufe ir lies expas'd to cafy Astacks in feveral places, and partly becaufe it wants Kamparts and Platforms for planting the Artillery, not to mention rhar ir consains fuch a niumber of ufelefs Mouths as would quickly reduce icto famine in cale of a Sicge. At prefenc 'tis conftantly gnarded by 2000 Firclocks on Foot, and 1500 Horfe woll mounced, and provided with Arrillcry and Ammunition.
The Weft end of old Fiz is join'd by a Suburbs, con-Tie subivis ainingabouc 300 Families, where Kuffans and Debauchess refort, and crape juttice; for the Houles are built juft uponthe brink of the River, and as ioon as a Magiffrateor Officer appears, they crofs over and ger into a thick Wood on rother fide of the River, where cis impoffible to find 'cm.
Nor far from this place. there's an Aparment of co Hources, with ar Hofpiral for leprous. Perfons; for Lcert, and indeedall Perfons that are ill of incurable Difeafes, are prohibired to walk the Streets; nay, the Lepers are not fuffer'd to conivinue ar their own Houfes, but forc'd into the Hofpital.
Aborc 120 Families of Whires live at a frall ditance from thence upon the fide of the River, where they have an admiral Green for blecching Cloth, which is green all the Year round, and wafh'd by a Cryftal Stream, forthe Water of rhe River is fo clear, that in Summer one may counc the fmall Flincs at the bottom.
Arthe diftance of a League from \(\mathrm{Fr}_{2}\); there"s a fertile Mountain call'd Zalng, which produces the beft Grapes Mount 2 angit in all africa. Moft of the Cirizens of Fez have their Effates upon this Mount, and the Inhabitamss are very rich; being for the moft parr Husband-mes and Gardeners.

The chief Town is Lompta, which ftands juft under Laintian the Ruines of an ancient City, that fecms to have been built by the Romans, and probably was Ptolomy's Aobrifis, which he places is nine Deg. 20 Min . Eong, and 34 Deg. 15 Min. Lat.
Zarton is aniother large and well peopled Mountain in the Neighbourhood of Fe , where we meet with a Town M. Zmbor. built by the Rpmans, calld Darel Hamara; that feeionsto be mart
be Prolong's Scpricenna. In this place ( Says our Author I fawalion come into the Town and fratch up a little Child; upon which the Child's Sifter, thar was not above twelve Years of age, xun after him, and bear him rill he drop'd the Child; So great is the Influence of Cuttom as to tame the fierceft of Creatures, and render Men farles of any Hurr from 'cm.
Upon the Road between Fciz and Mequiner, there wa 2 fmall Town, calld by the Inhabitants Geman, and b) Prolomy Gontiane, which was ftrong both by Art and Na ture, but was difpeopl'd and demoliin'd by the laft King, but one of the Beneme-ini's Family, as being only a Neft of Robbers and profligate Scoundrels.
Tagat, a frong and narrow Mounrain, to the Weft of \(F C=\), is the laft place I thall take notice of in this Province. That fide of is which faces the City of \(E c\), , coverd with Vincs, moft of which belong to the Citizens of \(\mathrm{Fec}_{2}\).
Some poor Fe \(\tilde{i}\) inns come crery Winter and dig in Findin?
 this Mountain in queft of fome. Treafure that they i magine the Rcmans to have left behind 'cm. They alledge, that this Treafure is ench: nted, and cannot be had without Magick, and are great Admirers of fuch Books as reat upon that Subject. So much forthe Ter ritory of Fc ? .
Algar is the third Province of the Kingdom of Fe .
is AEM. Its name fignifies; Flying sle Sca; for 'tis alledg'd; that twas onke cover'3 with the Sea, which has finice retir'd. Ir extends from the River Burregreg'on the Wcft, to the Mountains of Errif. Zarlon, and Zalag, on the Eatt and from the Ocean on the North, to the River of Butacer on the South, being in length 27 Leagues, and in breadth 2o. 'Tis the richeft Province in Africa for Corn, Cartle, Wool, Burter and Learher, and provides the City of Fer with thele Commodities. In former rimes is had feveral rich Towns and Villages, which are now demolith'd ; and is inhabited at prefent by two puiffant Races of the Arabians of Mauritania Tingitana who are the King of \(F_{i z}\) lis Vaffals; and oblig'd to furnifh him with a certain number of Troops. Their Ca valry is tery brave, but if the Campagn be tedious, and plunder farce, they commonly take the firft opportunity of liding home.
El Arays, an ancient Sea-Town in this Province, was 3: Uog. very populous before the Chititians werc pofefs'd of \(\operatorname{Ar}\) aille, at which time the Inhabitants deferted it, cill'rwas fortificd by Mulof Nicer, for a Frontier againft the Chrians of Tenzicr and Airilla. It has a good Harbour for frmall Ships, in which the Portuguere Governour of A1-1504. Moft of the Inhabitants are Collicrs, and the chicf Traffick of the place confifts in Coals, Cot ron and Shads, raken in the River Liffe, upon the Mouth of whichthe Town fands.
incrafor Orer Place fouth King of the great Prosince, was buile by the wasth King the King loit his way in haty. The occafion was this: The King loit his way in huuning among a tand under a Tree with his Horre in his Hand a great parr of the Nighr; at laft he fpy'd an Eel Fifher-man, who melrer'd him under his thead; and conducted him thro' the Marihes, to che grear danger of his life. Upon this the King ask'd him what reward he would have; The Finher-man reply'd, that the moft agreeable Reward to him, would be a Houle built in chat place, where he and his Eamily might be lodgd. Accordingly the King built a rich Palace upon the \{pot, where he came fometimes to diycr himelf with hunting, and made the poor Man Houfe-kceper. Ar the fame time hegave fuch Privilcdges and Immunities to all that would build abour it, that in a mort rime 600 Inhabitanes fettled there and the Town wastortified. 'Twas call'd Alcafar-Qui eir, i. c. Tilc Great Palace, to diftinguifh it from Alca fr: Sansucr, i. c. Tie Litcle Pslace. The Inhabitants are a geod humour'd fort of People, and fince the Abdication of Arâilla by the Porenguefe, are poffefs'd both of Peace and Riches. The River "Liffe runs to near the Town, that fometimes upon an Inumdation, it fweeps away the Honfes.
Habat, the fourth Province of the Kingdom of Fez Tbepnnince extends from the Fens of AJgar on the Wcit to the Mountains of Erriff on the Eaft, and from the Ocean on the Nornt, to the Rjver Erpuile on the South, being in length (i. C. from Eaft to Weft) 27 Leaguts, and in breadth 35. The plain Coumry lies all upon'a level iveingrich in Corn and Cattle, and watcr'd wich feveral reai Rivers that fpring from the Mountains and difemogruc in the Ocean. The Africen Hiftorians take great motice of this Proyince, as being the moft nored Diftrict of the whole Country, and known formerly by the name of Tinnitena, where the Rommens and Goth buile more Caties than in any other part. But fince the building of Fcz, the betrer fort of the Inhabitants are emovd thither, in order to avoid the lath of the War; the Portugicfe having poffers'd themfelves of the principal Towns all along the Coaft.
At the diftance of three Leagnes from the fute of Erguilc, there ltood a Town calld. by the Inhabitants imergue, and by Psolomy, Tocolofin Tenzert or Tebert, another Town in this Province, Trime plac'd by Patomy under the name of Trifidr, in nine Deg. Long. and 33 Dcg. 20 Min Lar. was buile by the \(R(\) mans upon a rifing Ground. Aben Gexar fays in his Gco graphy that'twas founded by the Giants, and that in tis ame, they found in fome ancienr Tombs, feveral Siulls that were two Foot every way
Another Town in this Province was \(B_{c} a t, B_{1} f i\), or Befarc, where the Kings of Fcz usid to fpend the Summer, uponche accouns of its cool Waters and thady Woods, and irs lying conveniently for Hunting. Bitt this and the two foregoing Towns were level'd with the Ground by Caim, the Schilinatick Califa, in the Wars with Idris.
Abour three Leagues from the Occan, we mect with an Iland in the Liffe, calld by the Porrujucfe. The Areeable, unon which the King of Portugni built a Fontrame but was afterwards oblig'd to abandon ir, when th King of Fr 2, purfuant to the Adyice of a Deferter Anppd the courfe of the River, by curting down the Wood that grew on its Banks, and throwing it in, and wrn'd the Warcr into another Chanmel that join'd the old one abour half 2 Mile below the Fors.
Arzilla, a very ancient ftrong and well firaated City belonging to this Province, is placed by Psolomy under Arat the name of \(z^{i l i}\), in fix D, 30 Min. Long. and 35 D. 10 Min. Lat. 'Twas a itrong Frontier for the Portsufit while they kept their Footing in Africa.
The next place we come at is the anc:cnt City of Tar aier, calld by the Romans Tingidic, which was built br the Romans, upon the. Month of the Sureights, and as terwardstaken by the Gorfis, who annex'dit to the Government of Ceutr. Is continued in.their Hands tillive taking of Arailla by the Mahnmerans. During that fpace of time, 'rwas a fplendid place, adorn'd with an Univerfity, and refortcd to by 2 grear many Noblcmen and Gentlemen. Ins Thoufes are very fine and feveral Governours of Mifuricoman Tinjicanc, chole it for the place of their R ctidence: The adjacent Valleys being Vdmirably woll warcrid, were imbelliflid with Gardens, Vineyards, and Floufcs of pleafurc. The Iuhabitants being a warlike l'cople, infeeted the : Coaft of Earope: upon which account the King of Portugal fent his Son, (A. D. 1437.) to beficge it. Bat the King of Fef coming to relieveit, and great mmbers of the Porturuffe Genrry.being lof in fevcral Engagementsbefore the. Town the Prisce was force'd to come to a Treaty with the Moorini King, and promife tofurrender Ceute, upon the Condition that the King of Fer fhould releafe ail the Chiritian Prifoners. Ar the fame time he coutd noravoid thedelivering himfelf as an Hoflage, till .tine King of Porrural Should ratify the Treafy. IHowevcr 'tisfaid, he privately diffwaded the Kipg from ratifying is, chooling rather to dic in captivity than to fee Chritendom berefr of the Key. of the Streights. :For this. Rearion the Sing of \(\mathrm{Fc}_{3}\) us'd him very roughly, upon which he ficken'd and died. Afrer that Alfonfus King of Portuga went in Rerfon to befiege Tangier (-A. D. 1463.) and fier feveral unforturate Engagements, was forcd to tecurn wichout compafing his end. But in the Year 147 m . the King of Fez being diverted by Wars in his ornn Country, and King Alfonfus Being Mafter of Arzilla he Citizens of Tangier faw themfelves expos', and dreaded thar King alfonfus would rake that Oppurcunity to revenge upon them the many 1 offes andMifad ventures he had fufferid before their City. Uponthis Apprehenfionthey pripacely abdicared Tangier, and forthe King offorzugnal becane the peaceablePoffeffour of a plac that had coft hin. fo muchiBloodiand Pains, for:fo many Years rogether. From char cime the Kings of Portugh affum'd the Title of:Kings, both of this and the otber fide of the Sear; ;ad the importanc Conqueft was cetebrated by Proceftions, noconlyin Portugal,' but in Andalaufia, Graxada, and-Cafile.

Alcafar-Saguer, is another Town in this Providee Atanding upon the nartoweft part of the Streights of Gilialetr, and enrich'd with 3 convenient Hatbour. Facob. Almanfor builrit for the conveniency of crotling from shence over to Spring which, is but threéL Leagues fajiding. Being provided with Woods allaboue:ic, "the Inhabiants Fctonthe South. This Conncry is ishabaiccd by Beree brec, who arc cry proud of their \(V\) alour, and crici'd widh firc Gaxdens, Olives, and all forts of Exvic There arc butfix Towns in the whole Province; for Hoofor the Inhaziezants live in finul Villages and Hankecs Fratteridd here and there, among thc Rocks and Mourtains, which arc unfufferably cold, in fo much, that booth the Mer and Womencthative there, have great fwoln Chops oceation'd by the cold. Their Houfes are built of Earth, and covcr'd withtic Lcaves or Rinds of Treces.
Target is onc of the Ciutes of this Province, which Prolamp culid Trgat; and which is environ'd by rugged cold Mounsains, and Forrefts replenilh'd with Apcs. Therlnhabiranss of this placc arc great Drunkards and very bruwith. They live by fithing, and fone fay they Warc einh cnough to fupply half fic Kingdom of \(E\) Ee? Iftands upon che Mediecramenan Shorc, but has no Hare bour, the whlole Coaft being nothing but an opecn Road.
 dich harterons Crcw, who being well accormmoCallerysto infert the Coaf of tariour, usd to fir out Thysso intef thc Coaft of E:rrope.
To prccenct dicire Excurfiens, the Spanierds buila Forr
 Turce of the Shorc. This Forr was afterwards be. , Piteftion of it till the Turks manter'd it, at the fame time that Salarracs, Governour of cligiers porfels'd himteff of \(E_{2}\).. Affice that, the Spanicrds attempred to rerekc it, and afier oncor two fuccellefs Expeditions took it at at hat, in the Year 1564; fo that "tis now in the Spanijh Hands, aund dcfended by a good Garriion, who arc well provided with Artillery and Ammuition.
The oblcr Towns in this Province are \(Y_{\text {eltect, inha- }}\) bited by por Finier-men, who fly to the Mounnains upOnthe cealt aprccheubon of an Invafion.
Togaze ftanding upona River of the fame name; , the Mouth of which \(P\) ercleny places under the name of Tecad, in cighe Deg. \(\hat{2}\) Min. Long. and 35 Deg. Lat.
Gchle, a fraul wall'd Town. opon thic Mediterrancan Shore, neart tow which the Capce of ofivis, Yo calld from the multitude of widd Olives clat grow upon it, and minat
Aud Megryma or Meécrme, calld by Peflomy Acrat Ihere axe many Mounrains in this. Country, the Inhalit untssof :which are all Bercterce, of the Tribe of Go nera.
mencm The moft remarkable of thefe Mountains is that calld Checchum, or Scfaven, theppleafincect Mountain in all \(A\) frich and adornid with a Town of the Game name, which is furrounded with feveral Springs, Gardens, and ferite:Fieds. This place isfannous for the Exploits of Al/ Bareax, who by his Valour, rendcr'd himicif MaAte of this and the neightouring Morinain, and bore Streights. In the Yearne to the Ships that paid the took icafter an obtinate Siege; and tho the King of Fei laid Siege to it rwice with geeat vigour, continued ftill Mafter of is, till he thought fit upon the confideration of the Charge and the fimall Profit that atrended fuch Conquetts, to quat this and all his other Poffertionsin this Country, excepting Cesta, Tangier, and Mazataty.
Near to this place a River difcharges it felf into the Sea, which Prolomy calls Valona, placing the Mouth of is if feven Deg. Long, and 35 Deg. 50 Min. Lar.
As for ceute, which was once the molt confiderable City, not only in this Province, but in all Mourit.onits Tingitana. Sometake it to be the fame with reotom's Effil: [fo, placed by him in feven Def. 30 Min. l.ong. and 35 Deg. 56 Min . Lar. Hiftorians fay, thar ris rhe bef ait d place in all Africt, and upon that Conliderarion the richef Familics repair to it from allgunters. There are fercral Moantains in this Province, inhabited by Bereberes of the Tribe of Ciomera, who live after the fame manncr with their Neighbours, bating, that they rink wine, conerary to waromers Law. There are hardy robutt fort of Pcone; but their heavy Taxes kecp cm miferably poor. They are mortal Enemics to the Chrittians, and were the bett Troopsthat the King \(f\) Cirmtian, and were we heopsthat the kings Grancat had in the Spamhe wars us'd to fit out Rovers that inferted the Conft of Europe, the like of King of Cticrchurn. He made teveral In roads upon the portugucf: Fromiers, and having obraind frequent Victorics, odgdall the Spoil in the Town of in and on has tume the poople (who are of a war and brave emper, were excunped from Taxes and he was confirm din the l'offelfion of that State, by Alun Sayd King of \(\mathrm{Fs}_{2}\); but his lofterry was confirmid by Abdain to Merece", where they live miferably, and the Scignory was Deftowd tipon the Grandfon of aimen erolelele, who fill pollefes it under the Titic of \(X\) erifi, and obliges the Pcople to may Tributc.

Garer, the fixth Province of the Kinglom of Fice, ate Theprov the Province of Cerriff and the River heciaic on the Weft, of wats Fan Kingdotn of Ticmrsel, and the fame River on the Eaft (This River fevers Maruiramia Cirforizna from Tingit,zna) the Mediceriancan on the North, and tioc Mounanans in the Defarts of Numithe on the Souch Tis a dry barren Country, nor wnlike the Defares of \(L\) :lyg Interier.
It hasbut few Towns, the moft remarisable of which nelite.
Honcy ond Mililn, taking its name from the plenty of Honcy and Wax. It ftands upon a plain at the bottom W a Gulph, being commanded by a Mountain on it Weft fide, and was calld Rufadir, by Ptolomy, who al lots it 10 Deg. 10 Min. Long. and 34 Deg. 45 Min. Lat It has large Territories and very contiderable Iron Mines and was-once a very rich and populous Ciry. 'I wa render'd famous by the Romens, while they wercmatters of Mouritanic Tingitana. After their departure, the Goths poffers'd ir, till the arrival of the Araticis:, who enlarg'd its former Splendour, by fetting a ereas many Merchants and Trades-men in the place. Many Years aftcr the Schifinatick Calif:t of Ccrooinen took it by Capirulation. And in the Year \(i_{4} 82\), His Cirholick Majefty perceiving thar the Citizens tirted out Privateers and Gallcys that infefted the Coaft of Etrop; . Fent the Duke of Medina Sidonis to take poffetion of the Town, which accordingly he did, and buils a Cittadel to decand ir. It concinued in the Spanifb Hands cill of late, that it return'd to the King of Fc - Abour half a League off to the Eaft of Aetiia, there's 2 Lake feven Leagues round, where roco Gaileys may ride very fafely. About 18 xears ago (fays. our Aurhor) there was a Paftagemade between this Lake and the Sea, at the Foor of a Rock thar makes a Barr. which in fome places is prerty broad. When the Tide hows, feveral Galleys abrcaft may enter here; but when tis low Water they muft enrer one by one, and be conducted by an experienc'd Pilot. When the Eaft or Notch Wind blows hard, they fometimes rife above the Bank, and leaves Water in fune hollow places up onthe top of the Rock, of which the Chrilitans ars wont to make Salt Pits.
Abouthalf a Lcaguc from the lake there's a place of Strengrh calld \({ }^{\text {jangerant, }}\) where the prefent derift kerps three or four huindred Firclocks to fecere the Acalans that feed their Flocks along the Lake, from the In rafion of the Chriftians, and from the Turkifh Py, rats.
The next Town in this Province is Ciffafa, built upon 2 Cape of the fame Name, which Protomy calls Mtetascmia, and placesin 13 Deg. 30 Min . Long. and 34 Deg . so Min. Lat. In has a good Habour, where the \(F\) weitill Galleys us'd to touch ; and the Merchants of this place carryd on fo great a Trade, that the King of \(\mathrm{E}_{2}\) was confiderably emrich'd by its Cuftoms. 'I was tation by the Speniards, and afterwards betray'd into the Hands of the Mores, by three of the Garrifon that the Governour had difoblig'd. Upon the News of which, the Gcvernour of Meilila fent fome Troops by Sea to recover it but the Mcres having pur the Spanifi, Garifon to the Syord pur on their Coats, and fo march'd our in difguile to mect the Recruits, who taking thern for Spaniards came on thore, and were all cutto picces. At prefent tis level'd with the Ground, and thete remains nothing bur a firong , Caftle ftanding upon a Rock, that cannot undermin'd.
Triote, a finall Town, ftanding upon the point of a teep Rock, about three Leagucs from Melita, is now the head Town of the Province, and guarded by 300 Foor and 60 Hore, under the command of a Governear for if the Turks inould take it, they would mafter the whole Province
The laft or moft caftern Piorisice of the Kingdom of theprovict: ex, is that calld Cutr, i. c. Much. It contains a larger of cirio Tractof Ground than any two Provinces in the Kingdom, and perbaps derives its Name from thence, being 8o Leagues in lengeh from the Rivar Gurcjgure to that of Efaga; for ic includes alithe Mountains of Greft istias chat lie betwe:n thefe Rivers, together with a great fatr
\[
\mathbf{X X} \quad \text { of }
\]
ef the Plains of Numidit, and the Mountains that border upon lilye Interior. Some fay this Province was dividul into three parts, which were confer d by the firt Kings of Fi , u:on thrce branches of the Bencmerini's that wereticir Allics, and fince that, hate defended then felves agnintt the Tw ks and the Power of the Xeriffs. However tis ecrain, that of larethey have made themfelues Allics, o: rath r Vallal to the K nes of \(F \cdot 0\), who has a particelar reficet for: "cm, upon the acoount of their brave Nofitioy, that has ail along kepe up the Indepenc of dhe Promine, in oppolation to the Lords of Ticmofan. The whoce Provinc lics anong Motmations, and docs net tow haponthe Sea
It on ans teveral Citics, particularly Teurer, an ancont lown buile by the ancient efriones on the top of a Niounsain, for unded with fertice Ficed, which was formerly one of the Prinipal Cates in hazintais, and reciva Tribute from all the A eliens in the adjacent Defates, bete is fince d.fecopled ly the Wars of Tircmis.
II:ifgia, a large City, ftanding upon an illand, made by the Rivels Mitutho and intlicnn, whish was defered by the Luabitants, when opprefs by the Min homent drabinne on onc hand, and the Aruics of Eiz and C. cmifre ca the othes.

And Garces or Gafali, a Town ftanding upon a Rock, Gaifa, n which the Bencmerini's lodg'd their Magazines before their Accefion to the Imperial Crown, and which they bave fince ruind upon a Revole of the Citizens. Prolic. my placesthe laft in che Maps of Libya, in a 1 Dcg. Long. and 32 Dcg. 40 Min. Lat ouludu, a greas ftrong City in this Province, was whit by the Benemerini's, upon the fide of a high \(D_{\text {monea }}\) Mountain, being only acceffable by a fteep and diffcul: Road; and was governd by the Defeendants of that Family, till 1563 , at which time the Acriff that now rcigns, pofief'd hinnfelf of ir.
The chicf City of this Province is Tinna, which PtoDomy calls Teyfor, allotting it nime Dcg. Long. and 33 Trxe Oes 10 Min. Lat. Not to mention Soffroy, which is minch by its Oit, and Timen Genuabo, which was buile for the Security of che Road, from Fe e to Niumidia
The remaning Towns in this Country are Mendagn callid by Plini Mu'uleca, and by Prolomy Molucar. Benibuhich, call'd by ['tolomy Ccurn; and Mebidin, founded by Mchedi, a famous Mabometan Preacher. As for the Mountainsin this Province, they arcall inhabited by the zoncta's who have all along wag'd War with the Turks Tremefor.
```

-

```

\section*{C h a p. IV.}

\section*{Containing J hn Leo's Defription of the Kingdom of Tremefert.}
: Sosmidon
Sotm. \({ }^{n}\) Defurt of Namidic on the Sourh, and the Maditerranem on the North; being 330 willes long and as brond. It was poferid for fome time by the itmans, bur aferwards renurniden its ancient Sovercigns, calld Eisn Haldag: Ah, who concinued in pofelfion of is for 300 Xears, after which time the Pofterity of Zeyen injoy'd it for almoft 380 Years, bur nor withour frequencMoleftations from the King's of \(\mathrm{Fe}_{2}\) and Tunis. I-slying fonerar the Nimidian Defarts, expoles it to the Inroads of the Araitians; and tho the Kings of Tremefen hate frequently endeavour'd by great Giffs, to procure the Friendihip of the Numidicns, yer they-could never tatisfic the Aimmidian Avarice. Tho" tis not fafe marelling thro this Country, yer a groat. many Merchanss tefude in it. either becaule tis the Road to Neqreturts, or becanfe is joins to Nimitiz or becance is joins to Nimidat.
It has two famous Pors, viz. Oran and Merfolenbir, which were much frequanced by the \(F\) enctians and the \(G c\) noor. \(F_{2}\), and which were beth taken by Ferdinend King of Spain. This provoh'd the Inhabitants to dethrone Aver cherme:t, who reign'd then, and prefer another, who was afterwards miferably fain by Barbaoffat the Tark, that conquer'd the whole Kingdom: However Aibuch mm: recciving Surcours from the Emperour Charles V difpoffelsad Rarbioffe, and retrice'd his Crown, allowing ibberal Rewards to the 5 sanifb Offers, and a large rearly Revenic to the Emperor as long as he liv'd. But ialadulla his Brother and Succellour, confichang in Solsman the Tur', refus'd ro pay the Empcrours Tribure, and cominussto this Day ( \(A . D .1526\).) in pofferion of the Kinedom. Fhe Sca-Coalt of this Councry is in the meature forsi'e, bur the Southern and greater part of is is dry, larren and unmanurd. The Defars of \(A\) nTad its Wellern Frontier, is ciphty imies long and five Groad, becing well ticok'd with Rocs, Deer, and Oatricines.

To give fome account of the Towns and remarkable places in this Country. Nid Rome (i. e. like Reme) ais aricient City, buile by the Remans while they werc Datices of ifici, llands uponia large Plain, about in Miles fiom the Medicerrancan Sea. Hetorians fay it reMikes trom the Mediterrancan Sca. Humorians day in reName: Bur at this Day the Ruincs of the Reman Build ingsare fearec to be feen; the Wallindeed is yer fand ine, and fome places of the Town are lately rebuilt, hiere being in it a tol:crable number of Inhabitants, paricularly Weayers of Cotron-Cloth, who are excmpted. In fine, the Citizens are divided into four Claffes, viar forsion frime all Taxes. 'Tis furrounded with fertice faclds, and The Trades-men, who live a fecure, quiet, and merry life; cieman a great many Garkensplanted with the Trees, that bear TheMcrchants, who are juf, generous and publick fpirited

Men, and very genteel in their Cloaths, and trade for the moft part withthe Negroes: The Souldicrs, who are perfonable brave Fellows, and honourably paid ; for they who livemeanly while chey are Scudents, but after the obraining a Doctor's Degrec, are preferr'd to be cither Profsflours, Notarics, or Pricfts. The adjacent Counrry is beautified with charming Scats, where the Citizens retire in Summer. There they cnjoy all the Pleafures that fine Paftures, clean Fonntains, and all forts of Fruit cangive. Almonds, Peaches, Mclons, and Citrons, are yery plentiful. As for the Fies, they dry 'cm in the Sun, and Kecn'emtill Winter.
\(\therefore\) Therking of this Couniry is nor to be feen or fpoken themmotife with by any, bur his principal Noble-Men, who fervein kin'sp. Offices proportion'd to their Dignity. The King's Licurenant is the principal Officer, who levies the King's Armies, and fometimes heads cm . The fcoond is chicf Secreary, the next is the High Trealirere, then the Almoner, then the Captain of the Kings Guard, who draws up the Guard at the Palace Gate, as often as the Noblemen are admirted to his Prefence. The meancr Officersare, the Mafter of the King's Stables, the Overfrer of his Saddles and Stirrups, and his Chamberlain, who never attends but when the King gives Audience to any of bis Courriers, for at other times his Office is perform'd by the King's Wives, together with fome Chriftian Captives and Eunuchs. Somerinncs the King rides outupen a ftately Horfe, with coftly Furniture; bur, unlefsic be in time of War, he has nor above tooo Men with him. Tho his Dominions arc bur Corrily peopled, ycthe rcaps great Profit of the Goods of that pais thro his Councry; from Earrope to Ethiopia.
The anxt Town is Hulbed, where the mumerous Inhabitants are for the moft part Cloath Dyers. One Sidi Bu Mediam, a Holy Man, to whom they pay Divine Reverence, was buried here, and has a Monument over him, so which rhey afcend by Steps. One of the Kings of Fra, builr in this place a ftately Collcge and a Holpital, for the entertainmentof Srangers.
The Plain of Sol ba, which lics l: kewife in thisCountry, was inbabited till iarely, that a fanous Hrmite fettled there, who pays no 7 ixes, and yct has in his Poffeffion 500 Horfe, 10000 fmall Carrie, 2000 Oxen, and reaps cvery Year Sooo Bulhels of Corn, befides four or five thoufand Ducats, thar are fenr him evcry Year from divers parts of the World. He maintains 500 Difciples ar his own Charge, who have nothing to do bucto read a few Prayers a day; for whicly Reaion Difciples come to lim from all parts of africa and Afi.t and return home afrer they are inftucted in fome Ceremonies. He has about roo Tents read: pitch'd, fome of which are delign'd for Strangers, others for Shepherds, and the rett for his own Family; for he has tour Wives, and a great many Women Slavesthat go very fine \(;\) and in like manner his Sons have thcir Wives and Families; fo that the whole Family may a mount to 500 Perfons. He is much refpected by the King of Temefon, and by the Arabians, and is a grear Admirer of Magick, tho he does not pratice thar Art
The Town of Oran was buile many Years ago by the Africans, upon the Mediterranean Coaft, abour \(14 \circ\) Miles of Tremefen. 'Tis grac'd with many fumptuous Temples, Colleges, Hofpitals, Baths and Inns; being furrounded wich highimpregnable Walls, and baving a no ble Plain on one fide, and Mouncains on the other Moft of the Inhabicants were Weavers, and the reftliv'd upon their Eftaces, being a courteous hofpitable fort of Pcople. They make all cheir Bread of Barly, becaufe the adjacent Connery produces bur litele Corn. In former umesir was much frequented by the Merchants of Catelonia and Genoun. The Citizens were always quarrelling with the King of Tremefon, and would nos acceprof any Governour, for they chofe one of their own Burgo-mafters, to be the chief Judge of Civil and Criminal Caufes.- The Merchants of the Town fitted upon their own Charge, our feveral Brigandines, which committed many Pyracies upon the Coaft of Cationion, Genout, Majoren, and Minorca ; 伤tharOran wascrowded with Chriftian Captives:
In order to fer thefe Captives at liberty, Ferdinand
More: fallied our upon him and left the Town defliture, his Mengorinto ir, and pur moft of 'em to the Sword inthe 916 Yearof the Hegeirn.
Thenext Town we mete with, is Merfalcalir, i. c. Merficionn Grent Haven, where an infinity of Ships may ridea grest. 1 Grent Haven, where an infinity of Ships may ride agrest fafcly in che greateft Storm ; perhass there is nor Cuch Habour. fafcly in the greateft Storm; perhaps thicre is.rior fuch another Hadibour un the World. Upon the Apprehenkion of a Storm, the Venctian Mcrchants us'd always to pur in here, and fend their Goods to Oran in other Veficls. The Spaninids mafter'd it ar length as well as Oran.
Another Town call'd Brefch, is well Atock'd with In- Bracit habitants, whoaremonly Weavers, and comutionly paint a black Crofs upon their Cheeks, and two upon the Palms of their Hands; which as Ifaid beforc, is \(\approx \mathrm{Cu}\) Itom as ancient as the Gothilh Invafion.
Serjel, buile by the Romans upon the Mediterrancian sefo Coaft, wasafterwards takenbythe Gochs, and at laft by the Mabomefans. Its Wall which is very high and ftrong, scight Miles sound. The Romans buile a magnificeins Tcmple in that parr of in which faces the Mediectranean, the infide of is being all Marble.
The City of Gcfar, i. e. \(\sin\) Ihand, fo calld from its mitr:, nearnefs to the Illes of Mejorca, Minorce, and \(\mathcal{F c n i} n\), was founded by the Aficinn Family of Mc/gano, whence in former cimes 'twas call'd Mre \(\sqrt{5}\) ana ; the Speniards call it Algicr. It contains 4000 Families, every Trade living aparr from theother. It has noble ftrong Walls and fumpruous Buildings. The Temples, Baths and Inns are all very tine; but the noblett Structure of all is the Temple upon the Shore. The Waves of the Sca beat upon a part of the Town Wall, unon which there's a very pleafane Walk. The Gardens in the Suburbs are clad with all forts of Eruir. The Warer they ufe is deriv"d from a River thar runs by the Eaft cnd of the Town, and has a great many Mills upon it. This Ciry has a glorious Profpect of plains about it, cfpecially of one calld Metcgiscic, which is 45 Miles long and almolt 30 broad, and abounds with all forrs of Grain. 'Twas many Xears fubject ro the King of Tremofin; bue thic Citizens perceiving that the King was nor able to defend cm , and that the King of Bugia, who lay nearce them, was morecapable of doing 'cm either anInjury or a Kindnefs, offer'd him \(a\) voluntary Tribure. Some Years after they beganto commir Pyracies upon the adjacencIflands in the Mediteriancan; upon which Feidinend King of Spain fitted out a Flect, and built a Fort upona Rock withith Gun-1hor of the City. Then the A/serinesfent an Embalfy to the King, and obtain'd a ten Recame rim Years truce upon the Condition of paying him 2 ycarly buary to Tribute. Burnoclong after, B.wberoffa the Turk being oblig'd to break up a Siege of Buria, becaufe the approaching Seafon of Sowing madeall the Husband-men of his Army deferthim, fer on fire 12 Galleys with his own Hands, chat lay inthe River but three Miles from Bugia, and recir'd to the Caftle of Gigel, in their Neighourhood; And it happen'datche fame time that Ferdinand dicd. Upon this, the Algcrimes perceiving Barbarofa to be a brave General, and an Enemy to the Chriftians, refus'd to pay any more"tribute, and chofe Barbinoffa to be Captain Gencral of all their Forces. Barbaof \(f_{6}\) being thus cnorufted, privately murder'd the \(\mathrm{Go}^{-}\) vemour of the City, and ufurp'd the whole Governmenr himfelf. Some time after, the Emperour Charles V. Rent two Armics to take Algiers, the firt of which was deftroy'd upon the Plain of Alricrs, and the fecond far'd bur little berter. Bur fince chat Barbaroffa was killd ar Tremencr, and his Brother Ceirndin fuccecded to the Government of Alpiers.
The Algerine Ships ride fafeft in the Harbour of Ti- Xemendifiz mendfy/f, that being a commodious Haven for them. The Town of chat Name was deftroy'd by the Goths, and the greateft part of the Wall of Aigiers, was buile with the Srone which came from the Wall of that Town.
As for Medun, 'tis inhabited by a Peopie of no lcarning, who give a very honourable Reception to any learned Man thatcomes among 'em, and oblige him to de- \({ }^{\text {Medan }}\). cideall their Differences. In chat Townt, fays our Author, I gor zbove 200 Ducats in the frace of swo Months, and was fo charm'd with the pleafantencls of the place, that if my Butinefs had nor calld me away, \(F\) had conkinued there all my life time.

\title{
Additions to \(\mathbf{C H A}_{\text {н }}\) р. IV. \\ Taken from Marmol.
}

The Limit or Tiemfen

TRemfen the third Kingdom of Barbary, is divided into four Provinces, namely, Termosen, Tenej, Algiers, which is the proper Maurisania C.fariana, and Buria, which fome throw in to the Kingdom of Timer.
Moft of the Country is dry, baxren and Mountainous, Thennture of the Counary Carts on larts, only on the North fide, or betwecn the Town and the Sca, there are good Ficlds which are fercile in Corn, Pafture and Fruirs. The Weft of all the four Provinces is crouded wirh Mountains abounding in Corn and Cartle, and intiabiced by a valiant Pcople.
A Chiramer of the Thlus. The Catics of the Kingdom of Tremefer are few in biants. honbour, bur well fituated; and the Citizens live very and other places. The Arabians in the Defarts are yerynumerous, and care but litele for the Kings of Tre\(m c / e n\), for they retire at pleafure to the Numidian Dcfarts, where the King cannot purfuc'em: So that they live independandy, and reccive a Pention from the King for keeping the Conntry in peace : and when they have a mind to't, they make an Infurrection, and fide with the Party thar hids higheft. The Inhabitants of the Mouirthins are Men of Bravery; their Arms, Habic, and way of living, are betrer chanthofe of Mauricania Tinfiten.t ; they are more acquainted with Mufquets, and Iefs invererate againft the Chriftians, with whom they havemore commerce; neitherare they fo bigored and ill nazur'd as the Mountanecrs of Morocco: Thefe Provinces werealways plagud by the Arabiens of the Defarts, and the Kings of Tuns and Fer; ; but at this Day almon allof 'cma are fubject to the Turks.
To begin with the Province of Tremefen; Ies Weftern
Thatrovince OiTtorifern. Duatio號, which is Road gabond. Arabicy Robbers and whoever pafes that Road minft bribethe Captain of the firf Gang he meers with, who will give him a Spear with a fmall Standard for a Patport. in Summer the King of Tremefon hires fome of fem ro kecp the Road clear; bus in Winter they retirc with their Flocks to Numidia, and go to gather Dates in \(\overline{\text { ajimina, }}\), upon which the other Inhabitanes of the Defarts have an uncontrould range, and render the Paffage very dangerous.

Atone fide of this Dcfart, 'there's a Town call'd ©c\(\tilde{z}^{i l}\), or \(I-i t\), which is faid no be buile by the Romans, and which Protcmy places under the Name of Gior, in 14 D .30 Min. Long. and 32 Deg. 30 Min. Lat. Fofeph the firt Prince of the Bencmerini Line, razd and difpeopled it; after which, 'rwas repeopled by tome Morauites, to whom, both the King of Fer and the Arabians are fo Kind, as to demand no Contribution; but after all, the Councry is fo very barren, that they baic but a miferable lifs.

Ned Romit, anancient City in this Province, is faid to be the ancient Salcma, to which Piolomy allors \(x \geqslant\) Dcg 13 Ming. Long. and 33 Deg .20 Min . Lat.
One was a Sca-pors in chis Province, where the \(\dot{V}_{e}\) - onc. \(\quad\) netion Merchants us'd to touch as they wene to Trenefen, but in the Year 1533 , the Emperour Charles \(V\), laid it in Alhes fer harbouring the Cor airs that infetted the Spaniff Coaft. It ftood in che Ncighbourhood of a Mountai:n char aftords good Iron Mincs
The Cape of this Mountain, which gocs now by the cipe one. name of Cape Olle, was by Priomy call'd the Great Cape, and plac'd in eleven Deg. 30 Min . Long, and 35 Deg . lar.
Arefgol, another Sca-port, was once the Metropolitan of Ticmicen, being built upon a high Rock, almoft furrounded with the Sca. Prolony calls it Sign Colonia, and moft Authors agrec that this is the ancicne Ciis.r; fo of onont Authors agree that this is the ancicne Ciif.z, fo of en mention din the Roman History. Twas firtt de mound by the Schumatich Califa of Caman; afte which, the brave alnanfor rebuilt is as a convenient Port for the pafiage of his Armics. When the dimoravide canc to be great hoth in Africu and Sprin, they laid in in dom Inhabitants againft him, and expell'd him the Kingubbin again; after which che Almaitales rebuile it, and of Since that time the Turks haic continued Mafters ar laft the Benomerini"s corrpleated its Ruin.

The Ruins of Algerofe gave rife to the great City of Tremefon, caind by Prolomy Tenriff, and by the Natives Tremfo Tclimicen; for before the fall of arefgol, 'twas only a Tort of a Fortrefs to oppore the Inhabitanes of the De farts. 'Tis pleafantly fituared upon a noble Plain, and its Streets and Houles are very regularly rang'd; for which reafon the Kings of Tremefen pitch'd upon it for a place of their Refidence. The Government of this \(\mathrm{Ci}_{\mathrm{i}}\) cy is much of a picce with that of \(\mathrm{Fe}_{3}\). The Merchanitrade chicfly to Guinen, from whence they import Tibm Gold, Ambergrice, Musk, Civer, and orher Commodiics, and commonly get Eftates in two or three Voyages, The Trades-men make rich Tapeftry, Caffocks, fackets and Mandles, fome of winich are fo fine, that they do not weigh above ten Ounces; befides the beft Har nels and Furniture for Horfes that Africa affords: By this means they eamn a very handfome Livclyhood. Their Habir, Dier, Feftivals, and other Cuftoms, arethe fame with thore of \(\mathrm{Fc}_{2}\). In former times the Kings of this Country liv'd very magnificently, and were the ancientent and moft confiderable Princes in all Africa. They neverexpos'd themfelves to publick vicw but on Friday, when they went to the Tcmples.
They never kept a fanding Army bur in time of War comes would nor wainctio onall, that three Years In- The Riment comes would not maintain one Year's War. The Cu - Remmans thems were the chiefct Article of the Revenue, which whereas the foyond the Precepts of their Religion; for whereas the firt Califa's demanded only two : per Cent upon all Goods, and ten per Cent. if they were Jcws or Chriftians, thefePrinces pleading Poverty, and the Ne ceflity of maintaining a War with the Chriftians, laid feveral Impoits upon the Import and Exporit of Goods. While the Venetian Galeaffes us'd to unload aroorer their Revenue amounted to above 600000 Crowns year, one half of which was imploy'd in paying the Troops, and the other in defraying the Charges of the Kings Hounhold; and the Surplufage was laid up to fupply the occafional Necefficies of War. But oflate the Revenues is wonderfully encreas'd; for tho'the Cuftoms of Orcen are funk, thofe of algiers have rofe fo prodigioully, that the Incoms of that Port alone, amounr to above a Million of Gold every Year; for all the rich Commodities of Barbary, Numidia, Libyand Ncgroland, are imported thither by land upon Camels and the Harbour is always crouded wirh. European Veffels broughtin by the Corfairs.
The Kings of this Councry pay'd Homage to the Emperour Cbartes V. till King Abdala being over perfwaded oncar of the ufual Tribute Afres, difcoritinued the Pay-thermin ment of the ufual Tribute. After the death of Abdala, tions of Tho his youngeft Son Hames being declar'd King by the Peo-mform. ple, the eldeft implor'd the Emperour'said, in reftoring him to the Throme of his Anceftors, offering the fame Tcrms of Valfalage as were before. Accordingly the Empcrour accomplih'd his Reftoration; ; but the Inbabitanssofy the City were fodifoblig'd by the Rayages of the Spaniards, that they took occafion to thut the Gates upon him, after he had march'd out to meet his younger Brother, who approzch'd at the Head of an Army: Thereupon Hamet was again declar'd King, who refus'd opay uribute to the Emperour. Bur in the Year 1546 , the Turks of Algiershaving taken poffefion of Treme/cn, the King was forc'd to ask Succours of the Emperour, which heobrain'd after giving up his two Daughters as Hoftages for the Performance of the Condition. The Spanifh Succours baving dinodg'd the Turks, Mulg Han met return'd to his Throne, and enjoy'd it peaceably. After his Death Muley Hafcen his Brother, was fet upon the Throne by che Aiffitance of Salbarraes, Governour of Algiers, who had ftipulated, that all the Forts inthe Country thould be pur into his Hands. But in four Years sime the Infolence of the Turks moy \({ }^{*}\) Mulcy. Hat ento beg the Emperour to diflodge \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{cm}\); upon which he Turks perceiving his Defign, rais'd the Arabinns, and om. this Country.

To recurn to the Citics and Towns in the Province of Tremefon. Here we mees with fillber, call'd by ketolomy Emmeniaria, and built by che Romans.
Tiffära, to which Ptolomy gives the Name of Effaith.

Beni-Atan, which is the fame with Prolomy's Villsbourgh.

Trícla, known formerly by the Name of Ariana.
Agobel, which is Prolom's \(\sqrt{2}\) ithori 7 .
Mijfagan, an ancient Sca-port Town, ftanding upon

\section*{} the fide of a Hill, which Count d' Alcandere, the Spenith General attack'd thrice, as being the Kcy of the Country, and in the laft Attack loft his life; and Arectalias Arcencris Colonia, built by the Romans.
Oran, one of the ancicnteft and richett Cities in all \(M_{a}\) ritanis C.ffarinma, ftainds upon the Shore.' Twascalld by the Africans Guabaran, and by the Remans Vnica Colonia, lying in 12 Dcg. 30 Min. Long and 34 Deg. Lat. Since the spaniards took it, they always repulsid the Turks, who arrackd it fereral fimes, and have made it a very ufeful Fronticr.
The fecond Province of the Kingdorn of \(\operatorname{Trcme} \int \subset n_{p}\) is greforinect that of Tenci. Ins Limits are the Provinec of Temefen on the Weft, rinat of Algiers on the Eaft, Mouns Atlas on the Sourh, and the Mediterrancan Sca on the North. The whole Councry is well fock'd with Corn and Cartle.
The Capital City bears the Name of the Province, Tricio of and ftands upon the fide of a Mountain, at the difance of half a l.cague from the Sea, being half way between Oran and algiers. The Inhabitanss are a rutick grofs fortof Pcople; however they fupply algiers and other places with Corn, Barley, Wax, Honey; Gic. When Mabumer Beniacren, King of Tremefon, his eldeft Son fucceeded ro the Crown, and the two younger Brethren rebelling againft him, the younget poffels'd himfelf of this City, and affum'd the Title of King of Tcuri: But his Succefour was oured by Barbaroffo, and the Tukks are ftill Mafters of ir; for tris one of the Dependencies of Algicrs, and enlarges its Revenue contiderably.
Brifcar, another City in this Province, calld by Ptolomy Campi Germani, was founded by the Romans. The Inhabitants of this place maintain'd their Liberty above 100 Years, in oppofition to the Lords of Tencis, till - Barbar of fubdued 'em, funce which rime they have been fubict to the Turks. The adjacent Country is well ftock'd with Catrle, Corn, Barley and Linueed, and produces the beft Figs in Africa.
The remaining Cities in this Province, are Sergel, or Ptolom's Camichri, the Revenue of which rifes for the moft parr from their Silk Worms, and which is famous for the having Braberoffa's Flece burne in their Hasbour by the Speniards, in the Reign of Cbarics the Vth.

Miliana, alias Magnana, built by the Romans, and enaich'd with numerous Springs, and grear plenty of excellenr Walnur, Citronand Orange Trces.

Meñun, or Prolomy's Colonic novi Caftri, where feveral Romen Antiquities and Inferiprions are to be feen, and which was reduc'd from a rich to a very low Condition, by the Sehifmatick Califn of Carounn.
And Cafarie, call'd by the Natives Tignidenf, which wasmuch imbellin'd by the Romen Emperours, and was once one of the moft populous Cities in Africa, the Track of its Wallsbeing three Leagues in Circumference. While the Arabslorded over Africa, Cafaria was much repured for irs riches, and for its Univerfiries, which produc'd great Poets and excellent Philofophers. After that it fell into thcHands of Idris's Family, who poffef'd iti \(5^{\circ}\) Ycars, till the Year 959, in which \(A 6\) dala demolifh'ditsHoures, Walls and Temples, and cruelly pur ro death all the C tizens that were of Idris's Opinion; fo that there's nothing of it now ftanding, but two ancient Temples, one of which has a vexy high Stone Monument, calld Coborummir, i. e. The Sepulchre of the Romen, where 'cis faid Count Inlian's Daughter was incerr'd. . From the top of this Monument one may defery a Ship 20 Leagues off. In the Year 1555 Salbarraes attempred to pull it down, hoping to find fome Treafure in ir, bur when they lifted up the Stoncs, there came a fort of black poifonous

Wafps from under 'em, which caus'd immediate death whercrcr they fting'd, and upon that Barbartifa drop'd his Decign. his Delign.
The third Province of this Kingdom, is that of \(1 /\)-Ticerrovisec giers, bounded by Tence on the Weft, Bugin on rhe Eaff, of . Litrr. the great Allas on the South, and the Meditcrrancan Sea on the North: This Country abounds with Corn and Catcle. TheValleys arc inhabited by priffans and rich Arabians, and che Mountains by warlike Berclers and Azuapucs, who have 隹eral Firelocks and a grear many Horle among 'em. Thereare burfew Cities in this: Province that we can give any account of; for the ancient Cities were demolifh'd in their Wars with the Arabicms, and with fome private Princes; and tho' the Ruins of 'em are ftill vifible ina fome Places, yer we are as a lofs to know fo much as thcir Name
The Merropolitan is Algiers, which, as fome fay, the the ciry us Cosar. This was a famous City in all times; the \(R_{n-m}\) mansimbellifh'd it mighrily, and the Tutks have fince enrich'd it with the Spoil of Chriftendom. Paul Diacre affiums, that in the cime of the Vindals, 'rwas demolin'd by a Tyrant, and foon after rebuilt: Ir ftands upon the fide of a very high Mountain:' Its Walls, which are of Stone, and furrounded with a very dcep Ditch and Bulworks, rife gradually along the fide of the Hill, and run to a poine upon the Souch end, where an old Cafte ftands thar is defcry'dat Sea at a grear diftance. Paling this Caftle you ftill afcend abour one fourth of a League, rill you come at a Fort with four Baftions, built by the Turks, where they have always a Governour and 300 Men. The Houfes of this Ciry beginat the Sea fide, and rife by degrees upon the afcent of the Mountain, which makes a noble thew; for one does not incercept the view of the other. They are very well builc, and the Strects are very regular. Upon the land fide the Ciry is fuxrounded with rugged Rocks, the South fide of which givesa noble Profpect of wide fertile Plains. Juft by the Harbour chere was a dinall Inand, upon which Ferdinand King of Spain, built a Fort call'd Pcgnoñ; bur to render the Harbour fafer and larger, Sallarrees has fince join'd that Ille to the Continent by a Peer, built of the Stones of fome ancient Baildings broughr from Metafur At prefent algiers is the richeft City in all africa, and improves cycry Day upon the wreck of the Spanifh naval Forces, and the Spoil of Chriftendom; for the very Cuftoms of its Porr amount to an immenre Sum, more than all the Revenucs of the Kingdom of Treme\(\mathrm{s} \quad \mathrm{T}\)

There are feveral Mountains in this Province, inhabited by a warlike People, who being rich in Corn, Cartle and Hoxfes, own no Soveraign, and pay tribute ro none.
Among there Monntains, which are all deriv'd from The Mour: the Grect Aflos, that call'd Cuce alias Eguiliondelus, is the crin ind mott celebrated. Tis only acceffable by one Pals, which Town of may be defended with Sroncs againit a whole Army, It has aftrong wall'd Town abour it, that gives name to the whole Mountain; and feveral ocher Villages inhabited by feveral Clans, which are only fo many Branches of one Line, and have each of 'em cheir refpective Heads. One of thefe leading Men being deifended of a good a king of Family, and allicd to that Governour of Algiers that amco. Barbarof 2 killd, proclaim'd himfelf King of Cuco, and wag'd perpetual War with the Tarks, till Barbaroffa manried one of his Daughters. After that he made Peace with the Turks, and became vory powerful; for he maintains 500 Furelocks, and 1500 Horfe, befides agreat many Foor-Souldiens, anm'd after the famion of the Country. The Inhabitants of this Mouncain have a particular averifon to the Fews. It affords good SaltPerre Mines, from which the Nativesuake Powder, being fupply'd with Brimftone from Europe. They have likewile good Iron Mines, and make Swords, Spcars, Gec. only they haveno Steel, no more thin the reft of Barbary. Several Monkeys frequent the Woody parts of the Mountain.
Bugia, is (according to fome) the fourth Province of the Kingdom of Tieme/en; for the Defcription of which, we refer the Reader to the-Additions to the enfuing Chapter.

\section*{С hap．\(^{\text {V }}\) ．}

\section*{Containing John Leo＇s Defcription of the Kingdoms of Bugia and Tunis．}

IN ancient times Bugia was under the Government of the King of Tuntr，who at his death，left Bugi to one Son，Tunis to another，and Biledulecrid to a third．Habdulbaziz（ H the Son that inherited Bugia was call＇d）reign＇d formany Years in Bugia，till －Ferdinand King of Spain difpoffefs＇d him．
The Ciry of The ancient City of Butgia was built by the Romans untain ncas the Mcditerranean Sea，and furrounded with high ma－ jeftick Walls．If it were all inhabited，it might contain 24000 Families，whereas the part that is now inhabited has not above 8000 ．The Houres，Temples and Col leges have a ftarely afpect，and the Town maintains a great many Profeffours of Law，and of natural Philo tophy．They havea large fair Market－place，and Mo－ nafteries，Inns and Holpitals，built after their faftion． The Streersare all upon the afcent and defeent；and at the uppermoft part of the Town there flands a ftrong Caftle，well wall＇d，with fuch curious carving upon the Paifter and Timber work，as is faid to have coft more than the Wallit felf．The rich Citizens us＇d to fit out

\section*{Taken by sh} Galleys thar infefted the Spanifh Coaft，which provok＇d
 of 14 fail againft them．Upon his arrival，the People， together with their King，being diffolv＇d inluxury，and un－ acquainted with War，deferted the City，and left all its Riches and Plenty for an cafy Booty to the Spanifh Admiral．
The Town of Gegel ftands upon an impregnable Mountain，by which means the Inhabicants always a－ voided the paying of Tribute to the Kings of Buga and Tunis；but as length they furrender＇d themfelves to Barb－ arcffit，who demanded no other Duty of＇em，than the Tenths of their Corn and forne particular Fruits．
Nic：us，another Town in mis Country，is inhabiced by a rich gencrous People，thar go very neat in their Cloachs．They havea magnificent Temple，a publick Hofpitalfor the Entertainment of Strangers，and a Col－ lege，the Students of which have their Dier and Apparcl gratis．：Their Women are black hair＇d，and have deli－ cate fmooth white Skins，by vertue of their frequencule of Baths．Their Houfes，which are bur oneftory high， ars very near，and have each of＇em a Garden water＇d with pleafanr Fountains，and adorn＇d with Damask－Ro－ res，Myrtles，Camomil，and ocher Herbs and Fiowers， befides thady Arbours．
The City of Conftantina ftands upon the South fide of avery high Mountain，and is furrounded with ficep Rocks，under which runs the River Suffgmare，that ferves for a Town Ditch．The ftrengti，height，antiquiry and beauty of the Walls，is fufficient proof that the Romans were the Founders of the City．It contains above Sooo Families，and Has large ftately Gares；but＇ris only acceffable by two narrow laffages，one on the Eaft and another on the Weft．fide．It has a great Temple，two Colleges，and threc or four Monafteries that are built very fumptuouily．＂The Inhabicants are a frank fort of Men；they affign a feparate place for every Trade，and have among＇cm a Company of Merchants，fome of whom fell Cloth and Wool，others fend Oil and Silk to Niumidic，and others trucik Linen－Cloth and other Goods for Slaves and Dares；for this latt Commodity is cheaper here thandinany ocher part of Barbary．The Kings of Tunis commonly confers the Goveriment of Conftantina upon bis eldeft Son．
Triampial
About a Mile and a half off the City，there＇s a Tri－ Arctrorakon umphal Areh，of the lame form with thofe at Rome，
Pevilis．of which the vulgar People take fora Caftle where Devils had their refidence，till the Mabometans came and ex－ peilld＇em： Snaxt raken Thercis likewvire a hot Bath among the Rocks，in the Neighoourhood of the Ciry，whicth is full of Snails （Marmol calls cm Tortoifcs）and thefe Snails the credu－ Tous Women take for Devils，impuring all Difoafes what－ focver to their influence；and pretend to avert their ma－ Fign Influence，by kifling 2 white Hen，and carrying it on＇d Rlater with the Fearthers on to the Barh，where they cave it：But fome that are harp fer will watch till the Women are gone，and rob the precended Devils of thei Hen．
Another remarkable thing is a Fountain of cold \(\mathrm{Wa}_{2}\) rer， 2 prerty way out of the Town to the Eaftward with 2 Marble Monument juft by is shar has fuch Hic－ Toglyphical Emblems upon it，as are to be feen ar Rome This the Mob takes to have been a Grammar Schoo cransform＇d into Marble，upon the akcount of the Vice and Lewdnels both of the Mafters and Boys．From the City to the River chey defcend by Stairs hewn our of the Rock；and．juft by the River there＇s a little Houfe cut out of the Rock To artfully，that the Roof，Walls and Pillars are all one continued Subftance；and here the Women of Conftantinn wafh their Linen． AftcrConftantina we come to Bona，alias KLippo，where St．Auguftine was Bifhop：Twas fubdued by the Gorths and afterwards laid in Ahes by Hurmen，the third and afterwards laid in Aftes by Huemen，the third Pa－ triarch after Mabomer．

After many Years，the Ruins of this City furnint＇d Stones for the building of a new Tcwn，abour two Miles off，call＇d Beld－Ellouncb，i．e．The Cíy of fujubes for that Fruit is very plentiful thereabouts，and the In－ habitants digit inthe Sun and keep it till Winter．It contains almoft 300 Families，bur all the Buildings are very pitiful excepting one Temple which ftands next the Sca．The Inhabitants are Merchants and Trades－ men，and have a weekly Marker every Fridny withour the Walls，which is well frequented．Herc is a grear deal of Linen－Cloth wove，moft of which is carry to Numidir．There＇s a place in the Sea nor far from this Town，that affords great quandities of Coral，which the Genouefe procur＇d liberity to filh for from the King of Tunts，upon the Confideration that this People knew nor how to filh for it；but they would never fuffer the Gcnouefs ro build a Caftle near the place to defend em rom che Pyrares，whichthe King had allow＇d＇em to do for it feems the Genoucfe didonce beforemafterthe Town by fuch a Sratagem as that

The next Town is Tedcfa，the Buildings of which are very forry，tho＂it has the beft high Wall I cver faw，Terna the Srones of it being much lite thole upon the Cchof a ar Rome．A great River runs thro＂part of the City；and there are Marble Pillars in divers places，with Inferipti ons in Latin Letters，befides other iquare Pillarsof Mar－ ble that are＇cover＇d with Roofs：The adjacemt Plains are dry，but very ferile in Corn．There＇s a Hill near the Towni，which is full of great Caves：and thefe the cominon People take for the ancient Habirations of the Giants：Bar＇tis certain the Romansmaderhcle Caves by caking the Srones of the City Walls our of the Rock．Wal nut－trees grow as thick as a Wood within five Miles of thie place．The lntiabitants are an unhuman，covetous， brutifh Gaug：for whichricafon Eldabag an elegant Arc－ ick Poet，falls very foul upon cin with Satyrical In－ vectives．They ever rebell＇d againft the King of Tuns， and kill＇d all the Governours he fent＇em．For which Reafon；the prefent King，upon his Journey to \(\lambda\) ikmidit， ens Ambarfadours to fee how they ftood affected with him；and they inftead of faying，God face－she King， niwerd，God fave our Cics Wratls．This provokd the King fo far，that he fack＇d the Ciry，put feveral of the nhabitantsto death，and made fuch havock，that ir has remain＇d defolate ever fince．
The Town of Urbs in this Province，is likewife full of Remen Antiquities，i．e．Images of Marke，and In mirtatit Friptions in Latin Chiaracters．Tho＇it had excellemr rumern． Walls，and was a place where the Romens lodg＇d mont of their African Treafure，yer the Goths allitited by the Mores tookit，and laidic wafte．＇Tis now inhabited a－ gain，but deferves rather the Name of a Village than 2 own．
Here we meet with the famous and ancient Ciry of The cirt Carthage，built，according to fome，by the People thar cartius came our of Syria，according to others，by a Queen，or as fome will have，by a Colony thar came from B．arca The principal Romans and Guths，together with the Inhabitanys of Tripoly and Capes, retird to Carrboger, when the Maflometans mafterid thcfe two places; and affer many Skirmilhes it was taken. Affer that it continucd defolate, till one Elmabdi a Mahometan Patriarch brought in a new Colony, which did nor take up the 2oth part of thas valt City. The Ruines of its Walls are still to be feen, as well as a Conduic that conveys Watcr to the City from a Mouncain 30 Miles off. The Gardens on the Wett and Souch part of the City are numerous, and clad with. all- forrs of Fruir, which is vented as Tumis. The adjaccur Plains arc very ferile, but por large ; for the Norrh" fide is hem'd in with a Mountain, the Sca, and the Gulph of \(V_{\text {cnice }}\) the Plains of Bery/rrt give bounds to the Eatt and South fides. At procure (i. c. A. D. 1526 ) this City is mighty low, conaining abour 500 forry Houfes, and not above 25 Sliops. Thie miferable Iuhabicants, who arc opprefs'd widh fevere Taxcs, are great Pretenders to Religion, and wichal unfufferably proud, moft of 'cm being cithicr Gardencrs or Husband-men.

The decay of Carrsege occafion'd the xife of Tunis, in Latin Tanctum, which was buile by the Africans upon a Lake, at che Dittance of 12 Miles from the Mediterraican: In ansicne times 'twas call'd Tarfis, after the name of a Ciry in Afic.
Soon after the 'Carthagsinians had remov'd to Tunis, upon the Aprchenfion of an Invafion from Eurcpe, they were over-perfwaded by Hucbe \(V_{\text {tmen }}\), the fourth Mahomectu Parriarch, to fubmic to the Priuce of Cairon. Afice 2 great many Y Cars ic fubmitred to \(A l\) diul-Mumen King of Morocioptand continued peaceably under the Government of the Kings of Morocce, till the deach of King Fisph, the Son of Mabunce Ennafir, who was deffeated by the King of Spain. Ar that time 'twas beficg'd and half deftroy'd by the Arabians; , upon which Occalion the King of Morccco fent one Hibldutuabidi, a brave General, Bornar Scoillicin Spain, who relicy'd 'cm, ris, an cloguent wifc Man, fuccecded him, and buits a Caftle'upon a high Ground, in the Weft part of the City, which headorn'd with fair Buildings and a beauufful Tonple. This Prince lefr great Richics to his Son Abu, who infolcuxly refus'd to be cributary to the Kinss of Morocce, becaufc he \{aw 'em decaying, there being ar thar time mutual Diffenfions between the Kingdoms of \(m e f\) and demanded Tribute of the Inhabitanss, and upon the carnet Sollicitation and large Precints of the Kings of Morccco, enterid into a league with him.
Upon that he return'd to Tunis in great criumph, and Tin xinof wastalured King of all Africa, there being no Afican Kimot 1 Prince equal to him at that time : And crer fince, Tunts has throve fo well, that 'ris now accounted the richeft Town in all Africn. The Son and Succeffour of this King, added lofyy Buildings to the Suburbs, and built two Screets, onc wichour the Srracc:a Gate, containing 200 Families, and another withour the Bedcl menern Gate, in which che Chriftians of the King's Guard have their abode, and which conrain'd above 1000 Familics. Wirthout the Gare call'd Bcbelbablar, which lies next the Sca, there's a third Street, where the Genouef, Verneriaus, and all ocher Chrittian Mcrchants reforr.
\(T\) Thermber Ciry amouncer of the lanhabitants of this populous nemmban City amounst to ruooo Fanailics (Mermol makes 'em fim Ci: 20000 ) cach Trade baring apeculiar place allotred roit, but few of em arexich. - Herc the Linen Weavers are very numirous, and their Linicn is much valued all over Aficic. The Women liave a ttrange way of Spinning for they les down their Spindle at. a Window, or thro ahole in the Floor of an upper-Room, and the weight of che Spindle makes the Thread very cican and cyen. The Merchants, Priefts, and Doctors, are decencly cloath'd wirh Turbants upon chcir Heads, covcr'd with Linen Cloth, but the Courtiers and Souldiers have no Linen upon thcir Turbants. All forts of Giain are very fcarce in this place, becaufcthe Incurfions of the Arcbians fare the Inhabitants from cilling the adjacens Grounds, and they arc fupply'd with Corn from Tiris, Brggin, and Bona. They low a fmalle quantiry of Barley and Corn on fome fewFeelds in the Suburbs thararc wall'dround; but the Ground is fo dry, thar they are forcd ro raife Water out of Piss, with a Whecl rurn'd round by a Mule or a Camel, and differfe ir over che furface of the Ground by Troughs and other Convcyances. They bakc excellent Bread in Mortars, leaving the Bran and the Flower together. All the Water in the City is rain Water; in the Suburbs indeed thcre's a Fountain of. falt Water, which is fold up and down the City, and reckond wholfonicr and fitter to be drank than rain.Water; and fone ocher Wells of good frell

Watcr, whictrate cefervid only for the ufc of the King and his Courticrs.
Here's a flacely Tcmplerichly endow'd, belides fevc-Their ral ocher Tcmpless that have fmaller:Revenucs, and Col-byations: Onge and Monatterics maintain'dat the publick Charge. Onc of thefe Monatterics wis built and provided with large Revenucs by che King of Tines, for the Benctic of a holy Socicty, calld Sidicel Dalri, who go up and down the Strects burcheaded and barc.Coosed, carryng Stones abour with em. Theirthoufs are well painced and carr 't, and buils of excellear:Stone; bur Wool to carve upon bcing very fearce, moft of thair laincing is dorse upuns Phaiter, and their Chamber Flooris are pard with a lhining fort of Sonc. They arc but one fiory high, and have all of 'cm two Garces, one leading to the Strees, and the other to the Office'Houtce, with a large Court berween, wherc the Merchants receice their Friends and talk cf Bufincs. Thair Women have a decent Habit, and when they go abroad, are weil'd or mask'd, having their Forc-heads coverd with a Linen Clocth, which is join'd to another that dhey call Seffari, They wrap fo much Lincon about their Heads, that they fecm like Giants Heads. Wharcerer thcy have or can carn, they befow it upon Pcrfumis and kuch other Vanitics: Some of cm are forcid by poverry to turn Whores. The Intabitants of this place make frequent ufe of a compoundea Confection, call'd Lhafis, anOunce of whicin is a grear incentive ro Venery, and icts cma a laughing and dallying asif they werc half druink.
Befurc wedifinifs this Subject, twill be proper to take dics, his Son or.nexxHeir fucceds so the Crown, and ail Thumicours cheNoble-men, Pricts, Doctors, and Judges, take an Oath of Allegiance to him. Tinen the chicf Uficer of the Courr, who gocs by the Tirle of The Munafi.l., i. c The Vicc-rey, gives tothe ncw King, an Accourr of all thar hedid in his Predcectfour's Reign; upon which the King orders him to beftow Ofices upoa the Noble-men, according to their refpective Dignity. Another piancipal Officer is che inceurare or General, who at his pown pleafure, raifs, pays, and heads the Army. The next is the Cifferlm or Governcur of the Cafte, who guards. the King s Perfon, and inflicts Punithment on the Prifoners in rhe Caftle, as if he were King himfeff. The fifters Officer is che Governour of the Ciry, who adminecrectraryfice, and punifhes Criminals. The fifth is the Scerceary, who writes and gives Anfwers in the King's Name, and has the Privilcge to open all Lerrers, exxcept ang fuch asare \{ent to the Ciffellan, or to the Governour of dhe City. The fixdh is the Cbief Comemberlain, who provides Furniture for the Ralace, gives Orders to all the Houftold, calls the Cound Hountold, calls the Counfellours by a Meftenger, and has aceecs to the King when he pleafics. The fevench is Tise Hiot/ Treffurer, who reccives the Revenues of the Crown, and with the King's Confens, pars'enn in to the Munafide. The prefent King has many Devicesto forew Moncy our of his Subjects: He lives tometimes in his Palace, and fometimes in Gardens among his Concubines, Muficians, Stage-Playcrs, És. bur the Muficians are always broughr into his prcience hood-wink'd dike a Hawk.
Paafing Tunir, we artive at \(E l\)-Mabdie, a Town upon he Mediremancan, founded in our time by wabdi, rhe emaceicin irft Parriarch of Cairen, with a nobl: Harbour, and forrificd with ftrong Walls, Towers, and Gaxes. This Mahdi, pretending to be defcended of Mabumet, ingratiarcd himiclf fomuch with the People of this Country chatby their affititance he was made Prince of cairacn, after which, perceiving that fome were unceafy under. his cyranny, andready to confpire againft him, he kuilc chis Town for a fafc Refuge ing cafe of necectiry. Accordingly, when Beiczid, a Malometran Prclate appear'd before Cairaon, he fled ro this new Town, whicre he made a brave defnnce, and kill'd Bciczid.
Now Caitran alias Caroen, is a great City, ftanding upon a fandy Plain that bcars neither Trees nor Corn at the dittance of 35 Miles from che Mediterrancan, and 100 from Tunis. 'T was built by Hucbe, Gcneral of the Army chat Hutmen, the third Mchonettm Prelate, fent out of Arcbia Deferte; and was defign'd for a place of fafery wherecthe Arabians might lodge their fpoil. That Ge neral furrounded is wich a very ftrong Wall, and adorn'd is with a fumproous Temple, the Pillars of which arc rery farely. He goverr:d Cairaon, till punlid the Ceflia, who thear rcignd ar Damafico, fent Mufe in his place \(M_{u} / f\), after many fucceffful Adventures againft the Afri:ans, and againft the Goctss in Spain, who was curn'd out upon the dcath of thar Califa, and one Fezul fucceeded him; after whom, hisSon, Brother, and Nephews fucceeding in order, governd Cairaon, till the Family of Lualid were deveited of the Califa Dignity, at which time the Mahomeran Califi's remov'd from Damafoo vo Bagndel.In that Juneture, one E/aglel, was appointed Governour of Cairaon, and his Pofferity enjoy'd that Government for 170 Years. In Eleghli's time Criram became fopopulous, that a Town calld Rechedn was built juft by ir, in which he and the Court refided.

Sisiti con.
earerithy sh
The fame l'rince added the Ifland of Sici:y to the Do-Governour Cimons of Catrout ; fo that in histime twas a redoubled of cisiresh. City. This City was once very famous for the ftudy of the Mabomerm law, and produced the freareft Lawyers in Africe; liut ar laft 'twas delfroy'd, and tho." tis now rebuilt, fet 'tis far thort of its former fplendour; for its only Inhabirantsare Leather-Dreffers, who Iend Leather to the Numidian Citics, and truck it for Eiaropecn Cloth Ellamma. Another remarkable place in this Country is ElbamA horkiver. ma, thro' which there runsa River of hor Water, that The Lake of inakes a Lake not far from the Town calld the Lake of tenpers, from its fivereign verrue in curing all forts of Leprofics. This Warer has a fulphureous rafte; and does not at all quench thifft; however the Inhabitanes ufe it for drink, having fet it a cooling almolt a whole day. The fource of this River lies a Mile and a half to the Sourh of the Town.
The tas of. Herc we mutt take notice of the Illand of Gerbi which is a plain fandy Ground, abour 18 Miles in com pals, lying near the African Continent, and prodecing greatpicnty-of Dates, Vincs, Olives, and other Fruit.
We preteced in order to Oid Tripols, which was built by the Rominns, and afretwards taien by the Goths. At laft the wabenetans rook it after a Siege of fix Months, and the Citizens were either kill'd or carry'd Prifoners to Egypt and Arabir.
old. Tripolis being thus deftroy'd another City of Tertritelis, that name, was built upon a fandy Plain that bears great plenty of Dates, and furrounded with a Wall. In this new Cit'the Houfes exceed thofe of Tuwrs, and a peculiar place is affign'd to each Trade. Here Corn is cxtream dear, by realon of the barrennefs of the adjacent Ficlds; and they have roother Water than rain Water. They have feveral ftately Temples and Col leges; and an Hofpital for the entertainment of Strangersas:wellas their own Poor. Their Fare is ont Dumplings made of Barlcy Meal; for he's a rich Mar there that can command a bufhel or two of Com. The Citizens are molt of 'em Merchants; for its ncarnefs to Numidir, Turis, Sickigand Malre, renders it a Convenient place for trade : It has likewife a great many Wea-

This City has always been fabject to the King of Tur nis, but ar the fame time that the King of Fe a forcid the Ciry of Conftamrinn to open their Gates to him, and carry'd the King of Tunis Prifoner to the Cattle of Cert ta, the Genourele fack'd Tripolis, and caryd off the Inhabitants in captivity. Upon this the King of \(F_{C=}\) gave he Genoucfe so000 Ducats for the Town; bur after they had furrendex'd the Town to the King, they found moft of their Ducats to be Counterfeit. After that Abufelim King of Fez reftor'd the King of Tunis to his Throne, and his Poftcrity enjoy'd it, till King Abuim was kill'd in the Cafte of Tripol: by his own Nephew, who afterwards ufurp'd the Government, till he was kill'd in a Battle with Hab:dul \(\mathrm{Mrmm}_{7}\), who chercupon became Lord of Tripolis. He was fuccceded by his Son Zrcheriats, who withina few Months dy'd of the Plaguc; and after him came his Coufin Mucemen, whom the \(\mathrm{Ci}_{\mathrm{i}}\) rizens expelld upon the account of his tyranny, and prefer'd to che Throne a Citizen. This Citizen govern'd or a time with a great deal of difcretion and modeft but ar laft prov'd a Tyrant, and was murther'd by his own Relations.
Thenthe Cicizens forc'd the Government upon a certain Noble-man that had retir'd from the World and liv'd like a Hermic, and his Pofterity continued in it, til Pedro de Nnvarra the Sprinifs General, took the City, and fent che Governour and his Son-in-law Prifoner to \(\mathrm{Aef} / \mathrm{h}\) na. Afrer fome years imprifonment, the Emperonr Charics V. reftor'd the Government to his former if berty: But fince that the Chriftians have deftroy'd the Town.

\section*{Additions to \(\mathbf{C H}\) н p. \(\mathbf{V}\).}

> Taken from Marmol.

The King. omsat.

BTigin, the mont Eaftern Province of Mantitania C.ifarizna, is bounded by Aloiers on the Wctt the Provincc of Africa on the Eaft, the Mediterrancan Sea on the North, and Numidia on the Sourt. Prolomy and fevcral other noted Aurhors, make it a Province of Tremefen; and others again, npon the confideration that the King of Tunis gave the Crown of Buyia to his Son, look apon it as an Appendage of the Kingdom of Tuni. Thebulk of the Country is mountainons, aid moft of the Intabitants taking the Advantage of sheir \{tcep and almoft inacceflible Seass, maintain anindependane liberty. They are net only ftour, and Affetters of Magnificesce and Honour, bat likewife rich in Cartle, and have a greac many Firelocks and Horfemen amons 'em. The Valleys are poffers'd by the Arabizns, who fraggle up and down with thcirTenss, and have many Firc-atms.
Buzia, the Merropolitan of the Kingdom, contain'd in the time of its fplentour, above 20000 Families. 'Twas frit deltroy'd by caim the Schifmarick Califa; after which 'twas repeopled, but could never artive ar ies primitive iplentour. However the Citizens liv'd in peace and cate while Abdatazis (the King of Tumis's Son) Was their So ereign, till they provok'd the King of spuin totake potieifion of the Ciry. The spanierds contmed Maficrs of infor 35 Years; bur A. D. 1555 , SalIratrate Governour of Alyiers, rook it by capitulation, for which the Soanig Covernour was beheaded when he rerurn'd to Spain. Since that time the Turks have ftill kepria Govermor and a gond Garifon in the place.
On the Eaft fide of Buria a fman River enters the Sea; caitd by Psolomiy Najacova, and by Pliny Navar. This River paffesbetween fre Mountains of Cuco and Aber, and uponthe melting of Snow, fwells prodigionify: Tis wellftock'd with Fin, bur the People have fact pioneyof Fiblupon the Sea-fide, that they do not mind thefe. While Bugie was in the Spomifi Hands no Veffel could enter the River, by teafon of a Bank of Sand inirs Mourh : Burthe very tame Year chat Sallwarraes took the Town, is rain'd fo riolently, that the \(W_{3}\) ters fweep'd off the Bank, fo thar large Veffels may now fail up the River, and be helcer'd from all Winds excepting the North Wind.
Necaus, another City in this Prorince, fo well fruared and adorn'd with Gardens, Fountains, and all forts of 1 ia Fruit-Trees and Flowers, that twould be one of the pleafanteft Cities in all Barbary, if the ryxamnizing Turk did not opprefs it in an ourragious manner. Prolom plac'd it under the name of Vaga, in 18Deg. Long. and \({ }_{31}\) Deg. 40 Min . Lat.
Among the Mountains of this Kingdom thatcall'd La-mom Abes is moft noted, which derives its name from the mana plenty of Rufhes that grow uponit. In the Year isse this Mountain was commanded by one Abdelafis alias \(L\) Abes, who was oneof the braveft Warriours in all \(A\) fraca.: There being an everlafting hatred berween the Inhabitants of Mount Cuco and choife of Lactbe;, Abde lafis join'd with the Turks at the time chat Cuco declar'd againft 'cm ; and his Affitanice prov'd of great Imporrance to them.At latt the Turks being inform'd by La-Abes mis.Valfals, that he mean'd to revolt and make an Infur rection, defign'd to emprifon him; bur he feeing thro the Defign, made his cicape upon a vcry fwift Horfe After thache made tread againft the Turks, and fortified the Avemues of bis Mountain, and after feveral fuccelsful Engagements, was at laft kill'd in battle, by the united Forces of the Turks and the楽ing of Cuco. Such was the end of that brave African, whoalways wore two Coats of Ma:l one above another, with a Spear, a Buckler, and a Cutelax. He was fucceeded by his Brother Mocoran, who at this day puts his Neighbouss the Arajuans under concibution in fine of upon a lake or bay, and inhabited by Eilher-men, who are very poor, bur at the fame cime ftubborn, sproud and rebellious, which has frequently occafion'd their ruin. rcbellious, which has frequently pccafiond their ruin. When Barlareofa took Tunis, they revolred from their King, and recciv'd 2 Turkifb Garion; upon which the Emperour Charles V. being follicicased by their King, befieg'd'em both by Sca and Land, and punith'd 'em feverely for their Rebellion. Mulg Hafeen faid of them, that neither Love nor Fear could influcnce chem to be fairhfal.
Tedeffa, an inland Town, goes beyond all che Towns uhara of Bertary in good Walls, plenty of Walnuts, and excellent Fountains, and is valuable for nothing elfe.
Inc cin of The chief City of this Province is Conffansina, which Iniming of revolted frequently from cheir Governours, appointed by the King of Tunis, and in the Year 1568 , refenced the Infolence of the Turks, by curting the Turk; 洛 Govermour and Garifonin pieces. After that, the Governour of Algirrs took irby itorm, and oppreffed them morechan ever.
The hatom-
unn of 6 mm
The Mouncains of this Province are inhabised by a umof cm bravc warlike Preple, that have always maintaincd geaim their liberry, but are never withour Wars among themfelves, occafioned by a Cuttom allowed of by their Religion, of unmarrying Womcn in one Mountain, and marrying chem a pain in anocher. They arc able to bring 40000 brave Fellows into the Ficld, and if they were unanimous, mighr conquer a grear parts of Africa.
Tererovince The Province of Tunis, or Africr, pinperly fo called, is bounded by Confantinse on the Wect, Tripoli on the Eaft, Mount Atlos on the Sonth, and the Mcdicerrancan Sean the North. This is a large Province, and contained fevctal Towns and Villages, moft of which were deftroyed by the Arabians when chey invaded \(A\) frica.
Near to a Port called Porto Farina, where the Empesour Charles V. his Army landed when he atracked Tunis, we perceive che Ruins of an ancient City, which fome take to have been Utica, fo famous for the death of Cato.
Upon the fame Coaft are the Ruines of Carrbagr, arrury. which food upon a Plain, bur included within its Bounds a Mountain, where the chief Forreefstood, and where there is is ow a Tower, called by the ChriftiansTbeRock of Mailizincta, and by the Africans silmencre. The Greck andLarinAuthors give fuch jarring Accounts of therime and manner of is, Foundation, that it can farce be determined. It was deftroyed by Scipio Africanus, and afcerwards by Genferick King of the Vardats. In the process of time theSucceltours of Mathonct razed it again, after which, if was repeopled in fome meafure by a matometen Pa .
Turks and the King of Cuso, with whom he wages perpctual War.

The fourth and moft eaftern Kingdom of Barbary, is The \(\operatorname{Ring}\), that of Tumis. If you excludo Bugin, its Limits are Mauritania Cefariana, the Province of Bugir, and the 'River Amfaga on the Weat, Eirypr on the Eaft, the Mcditerrancan on the North, and Mount Atlas on the South. 'Tis divided into four Provinces, namely, Conflantina, Tanis, Tripoli of Barbary, and zab, which includes part of the ancicne Numidia. .The greatef part of the Councry, is only a vile excended Plain, upon which feweral powerfal Socicuics of Arabians and Ificans follow a vicious life. The Kings and Lords of the a-bove-mention'd Provinces, have always endearour'd to kecp up an Alliance with theie Strowlers, and have enough to do to fatisfie em, by giving them part 0 their Revenue. To rake a fiew of the Pro;inces in order.

If we fer out from the Weft, the firf Province of the therovince four is Coniftantinn, called by Prolumy New Numidia, nimpanims and bounded by Bugia on the Weft, Africi, properly fo called; on the Eaft, the Mcditcrranean Sca and the Gulf of Numidia on the North, and Mounc Achas on che Souch.

The remarkable Cities inthis Province arethefefol lowing.
Col, an ancient Ciny built by the Remans, called by Prolany Coloffir, and inlabited by 2 courreous civil Pcople, who trade with the Eurcpans in Wax, Leather, and other Commodities.

E/tora, or Prolomy's Ruficada, the Port of Comfaminua ftanding upon the Gulph of Numidia.

Sucajcsidn, builc by che Romins upan a high Moun-smonu, tain, between which and conftantinn therc's a Cauley twelve Leagues long, pay'd with black Stones.

Ncw Bona, or Bedcl el Agncb, where Charles V. kepr rriarch, and at laft totally ruincd by the Arabians, in their Wars with the Kings of tunis: So that now there remains nothing of that ancient and glorions City, but a pitifu Village called ma/f, which one of the Kings of riumis has lately adorned with a ftately Temple and a College, there being in the Neighbouriood of is a Palace and Gardens, where the kings of Turnis divere themiches in Summer.

The grear and ancient City of Tetris, the Metropoli- Tine Citr of an of the Kingdom, was built by the Arcb:ais that firft mine unvaded Africa, under the conduct of Melec Jjisigui. The Inhabicanes are yery civil and tractable, but few of them are rich. They fced commonly upors Raxley Meal knceded and beiled wish Water and Salt, and afreiwards foaked in Oil or Butrer. Abourthis City there aregreat Nurferies of Olive, Cicron, and Orange Trecs. The Kings of tunis had a very fplendid Court, and many Officers of the Houmold: Within the Palace they were ferved by Women and Eunuchs. Their Life-GuardiconGifted of seoHorfe, and 100 Firciocks, mof of thein hhuf-Arabians or Rencgadoes; whom they rrufted and encouraged yery much. They were likewife by 150 old Genclemen, experienc'd both in Civil and Military Affairs, of whom the King took advice in Matters ot Importance, and who Cerved in the Army in the quality of Ma/bais de Camp. Their way of catiog, giving Andience, and orher Cuftoms, are the . Same with thof of the Court of \(E: \tilde{n}_{-}\). But the fplendour and grandeur of this Court was extinguilhid by Barba offa; wiken he rook poffetion of Tumis; for after that, when Muley Hofcen, by the affittance of the Emperour Charics V. recover'd his Throne, he was farce able to fatisfie che Arabinns; and now thatche Turks are again poffels'd of "ums, his Son Hamida is forced to recire to the Fort, upon the Neck of the Lake call'd Goleff, and Coticit Pbilip II. to reftore him to his Throne. The Lake upon which Tunis ftands, receives the Sea by a narrow Nicck, that a Galley cannot pals with her Oars fpread. Upon the mouth of chis Channel, there was a fivare Tower of Cuftom-houre, which B.a-barcffa fortified when the Emperour Charles V. appeared before Tunis: Par the Ciry is clf is exposid on feveral quarters, efpecially to the Weft, and irs chief Atrength conlifts in the number of the Inhabitancs. The Lake is three Leazucs long, andinwo ceagucsbroad, and is full of Banks of Sand.

Sufa, anorher Sea Town in this Province, ftands up-Supa ona rifing Ground, and is cover'd by 2 ftrong Caftle upon the Land-fide. Some fay 'swas tounded by the Rmens, and was formerly a very populous and nored place, known by the name of Sag:t, to which frolnmy allots 36 Deg. Long, and \(32 \mathrm{Deg}\).20 Min Lat. 'Twas the rafidence of Occubrothe itarometon Gencral. and hi Palace, with feyeral oriher noble-Edifices, and a magnificent Temple, are ftill ftanding. When Berbarolfa cook Tunis, it fubmitred to the Tiriss, and afterwardste fus'd to obey: Mulcy Hafien, when Barbarrffa was diflodg'd. Upon this the Emperour Charles \(Y\). Kent ous Fleer that befieg and took \(S u\) fo, and reducd it to the King's obedience. Soon afier, the lighr unfteaddy linhabifants revolted, and being once more reducd, revolted a fecond cime, cill the arrival of the Spanith Fleer upon that Coait, upon which they expelld the Turks, tho they aftorwards xecciv'd chem again, and are now fubject ro them.

Coasting along from Sufa to the Eaft, we fell in upon Monefter, an ancicmit Ciry, buile by the Romanns, upon a alomiter pleafane spor of Ground, and defended by noble high Walls. Its frequent Revolts from the Kings of Times occafiond itsbeing fack'd by the Spaniards; and the repeared Depredacions of the Mores, Turks, and Chriftians, have reduc'd itso a poor condition. Ar prefent 'id fubject to the Turks, as well as the ocher places upon that Coalt.
The greatand famous City of Africa ftands upon the fame Coaft, at the diftance of cight Icagues from Mc rifter. 'Tivas fortified by the Chilmarick Califa of Carourn, whochriftendit Mehedic, and is the fame with the Adrumertum of the Romans. It ftands upon a point ff I and thar hoots our inro the Sm and joins the C cinent by a fmallNcek, which is bur 350 Paces over, and hasa Cafle upon it, with fix Towers; theWalls of thisCity are 40 Foor thick. While the Romans polfefs'd ic,'rwas a place of great fplendour; after which, the Succellours of Mabimet raz'd it to the Ground, and rebuilt it, and adorned it with the above-mentioned Fortifications. Upon the Declention of the Califa's of Carouan, the Sicilian Pyrates rook pofferfion of it, and chriftened it Africa. Then the Chiltians werc Mafters of it, till is was conquered by a Morocco King, of the Almohada Line: After which, it was fubject roche King of Tumis, bur frequently revolecd, and had actually fhaken off :he Xoak chis City was in its Cplendour, it wats reckoned equal to when Dregut the famous Admiral of the Pyrares fur- Tunid in riches. Prolomy places it under che Name of this, the Emperour Charles V. finding that the l'yrates were much cncouraged by having Mcleclin for a place of thelter, ordered his Gencrals to beficge it; accordingly they tookit, and laid both che Townand its Atrong Fortifications in Alhes.
The laft Ciry we mall take notice of in this Province, is Caroman, call'd in Arabisk cograven, which is not only the fineft City in all Africa; but the firft that the Mathomerans built in ir, for which reafon the Kings of Tunis are inter d there in the Great Temple. When ilburbaroff rook Tunt, this City being mifcrably oppres'd by the King of Tunie, recciy'd a Turki/h. Garifon; and when Berkuroftr was worfted, chofe the chicf alfaqui of the Grear Tample to be their King.' This new King contracted an Alliance with the King of Tunis, and allifted the Empcrour's Forces in taking Mehedia, and refus'd to afint Dragut. In refentmenc of this Affront, D"aput with fome of the Alfinqui's and Citizens, conflir'd together, and having kill'd the King, brought the City inO fubjection to the Turke, whom ir now obeys.
Tripof, the third Province of this Kingdom, is of \(\mathrm{T}_{\mathrm{r}}\) oif. Gounded by Tunis on the Weft, the Mcditerrancan on the Norch, the Province of Cyrece on the Eaft, and Numisia on theSouth. Moft of this Province is nothing hut fandy Defarts, tho' indecd it has fome Mountains inlintited by Bercbers: The whole is now fubject to the Ters. To give fome Account of the molt remarkable Towns.
Cefen, che firf City that the Romans buile in Africa, fands upona Gulph of the Mediccrrancan Sca, near the Mouth of a River of hot Watcr, which Peclomy fettics \(3 n 38 \mathrm{Deg} .40 \mathrm{Min}\). Long. and 32 Dcg .45 Min . Lat. 'Twas ruin'd, firft by the Succeffours of Mabomet, and afterwards by the Califa of Carcuan, and fince char, 'rwas prefene tis inhabited by a few Fither-men and Days. At bourcrs.
T. poli, alias Trelclis, or Towatilis, the Mecropolitaid of this Province. was built, as fome fay, by the Romans, or, as orhers will have ir, by the Planicians, in memory of a Town in Syric of the fame Name. The Arabiansrazd if after aSiege of fomeMonths; and a grear many Years after, the Africans built Neep Tripoli, which is faid to ftand more to the South than the old : for it is alledged, that the Sea being higher than the Land, has encroached upon all the Coaft of Tunis, and overflowed large Tracts of Ground that were formerly cover'd Houres, and a fertile Product. Upon the fame Plea ir is affirm'd, that tho the Country round Tripoli is now to barren and fandy, that it produces nothing but Dates, jet in former rimes, the Banks of Sand to the Souch, were fertile Plains. After chariks V. had taken Tripoli, he gave it to the Kinghts of Melta, who were then diffoffersid of Rbodes: and in a few Years the Turks took it from them, and are ftill Mafters of is Whils Abour four Leagucs to the Eaft from Tripoli, there's a large Plain calld Tachore, which is replenin'd with fevc- Tacherc ral Villages and Fruit-trees. When the Chriftians maAtcred Tripoli, the Citizens fed to this Plain, and one Mor,terga a Turk, declared himfelf King of ir. As prefent is is one of the Dependancics of the Goxernment of Tripoli.

Another Province annexed to Tripoli, is Mecellat, call- Menem cd by the Ancients Great Syzis, and by the Arabians Coyrer el quivir. Add to thar Mefrate, called by the Ancients Cyrcuaica, or Pomerpolis, which runs along the Coalt of the Meditcrrancan.
Before we take leave of this Province, we muft take notice of the Inlands of Querquenes and Gelves. The ine of 2 m former is a dry Soil, and the Current about it is foftrong that a Galley with Oars can fearce pur in into the Shoar. that a Galley with Oars can fcarce put in into the Shoar.
Count Pclrode Nicvarre the SpenifsGeneral, pur in here after a violent Storm, and having orderd a Detachment of Men to go afhoar and clean fome Wells, in order to draw Water our of "cm, one of the Mcn being beat by the Colonel who commanded the Party, made his efcape in the night-time, and while the reft werealleep, broughe down the Mores upon'em, who cut in pieces the whole party, confifting of 450 choice Mcn .
As for the Inlands of Gelocs, ir was called by the An-tre of and Prolcmy places it under the natme of Lotofazima, in \(39 \mathrm{Deg} .30 \mathrm{Min} . \operatorname{Long}\), and 31 Deg. 20 Min . Lar. The Succeffors of Mithomet ruined this lland, at the ame cime that they deftroyed Tripoli and Capez, which belonged tothe Romms; and the Walls and Ruins of the two Citics (viz. Guerre and Menifa) befudes feveral Fortsbuilt by the Romans, are ftill to be feen upoin it Since that time is was repcopled, and fome Hamlets or Villages were buile upons it ; and in the Year 1284 Reger de Loric, the King of Arragm's Admiral conquered it, and his Pofterity, adiffed by the Kings of Naples and Sicily, concinued Mafters of it for fercral Yars, tho' not without frequent Moleftations from the Natives and from the Kings of Tunis. In procefs of time, it became tributary to the Kings of Sicily; bur che Morss alfifted by the Gencuefe and Nenpolitans, took off that Yoak, and foon after became tributary to the King of Arcigon: At laft they revolted from the King of Arregen and when the Síniardstook the City of africi, Drayu: the famous Turkih Pyrate retired to the Ialand, which is till fubject to the Turk.
As for the \(Z c b\), the fourth Province of the Kingtom of Temis, which lies to the South of Tunis, and fhoors into Numidia, we thall take occation to feeak of it under the head of Niumidia; for tho' the greateft part of it is fubject to the Kings of Tunis, yet 'ris not properly any parto Barbary.

\section*{С н a p. VI.}

\section*{Containing John Leo's Defcription of Numidia and Libya.}

The Tuwns
of Ammidia Tjfis.

N defribing the Citics and Towns of Numidia, I Thall hegin with Teffer, an ancient Town not far from the Lilyan Defarts, contaiuing 400 Families it is furrounded with Brick Walls and fandy Plains Some fow Fields juft by the Town hear fome Dates Millet-feed, and Barley, which the wretched Inhabi tanes ufe for Food. They pay a heavy Tribute to the Arcbicms in the adjacear Defarts, and urade with NegroLand and Guiula, in fo much that they are feldom at home. Their Men areBlacks, and void of all learning; indeed their Women, who are fomewhar whitex, take care to teach their Children che firf Rudiments of Knowledge, bur before chey can artain'to any Perfection, they are purour to work: Solne of the Women fpin and card Wool, and the reftliveidly: The richeft Men in the Country have but very few Cattle. All oucr, Numidia, they plough the Ground with ai Horfe and a Camel.

The next Town is Gucden, inhabited by a wretched barbarousPeople, who are black, and live in fuch en-c mity with their Ncighbours, that they cannor go abroad with fafery. They ear no Flefa bur Oftriches, and certain wild Beaft call'd Elamt/; which they take' br hunting ; for they keep their Goats for the benefir of the Milk: The Ground produces nothing bur Dates. In this Councry wemeet with the Province of Dara which is very narrow, extending it felf from Mount Theprovia Atlas almoft iso Miles Sourtward. The Inhabitants \({ }^{\circ}\) f Dow dwell upon the River Darn, which in Summer is fo that one may pafs overit on foor, but fometimes overfloweth likea Sea.lf this Inundation happensinthe beginning of \(A\) ril, it is a ccrtain forenimner of grear plenty, if otherwif, a grear fcarcity of Corn cufues. The Villages Hamlets, and Caftes upon the Bank of this River, are furrounded with Brick Walls, and all their Planks and Joyces arc made of nothing elfethan the fpungy flexible Wood of Dare Trees. The Fields on cither fide of the River, for the (pace of \(;\) or 6 Miles, produce gyeat plency of Darce, fome of which are worth 2 Ducar plr Bulled, and others with. which they feed their Horfes and Camels, are fcarce worth a quarter fo much. 'Tis obfer vable of Dare-Trees, that male; That the Male bear only. Flowers, and she Female Fruit; and that the Dare Trees prove flark naught unlefs the Boughs and Flowers of the Male be joind to the Female. The Inhabitants of Dara ear no Bread but upon Feftival Days, and feed only upon Barley and inch ocher courle Mcat, particularly the unpalarable Flefh of Camels and Goars, and that of Oftriches, which taits roc unlike our Cocks, only it is tougher and ranker The. Caftes of this Province are inhabited by Gold friths and other Trades-men.

The principal Town called Beni-Sabib, and inhabired by a brave generous fort of People, is divided into two parts, which are headed by cheir relpective Govemours, and oftentimes quarrel with one another, efpecially when they moiften their Arable Grounds, by realon of the fearcity of Watex. When chey happen to fall our, they have the neighbouring Arabians to atift them, allowing thein half a Ducat a Man per Day. In rime of peace, they apply themfelves to the ufe of Guns and other Weapons, and indeed they are very expert Gunners. If a Merchant come among them, they'll entertain them for 2 whole Year, withour asking any thing onily if he makes then a Prefenc, they'll for refule ir. Indico grows very plentifully in this Province, which is an Herb like wild Woad, that they exchange with the Mexchants of Fcz and Tremefen for other Goods. Moft of
 They have a few Goats and Horjes, and feed the former with the Powder of Date-Stones, which fattens them, and increafes their Milk. Their Horfes are fed with Dates, and a fort of Herb, called by the Neapolizans Farfa. Their Women are fair, fat, and eafily couxted, and keep feveral Negro Slaves.
We come nexr to the Territory of Segelmeff, extending it felf almoft 20 Milesfrom North to South, along the River of Ziz, and containing, befides Villages and Hamlers, about \(35^{\circ}\) Cafties, one of which, call'd Teneent; contans above roco Families, moft of them Trade-men, a another calld Tebubafen, is the mof populous place inall the Country, and much frequented by Merchants; and the chird calld Mamure, is relorted roby Ceveral Mierchants, both Fews' and Mores. Thefe three Caftles have chree feveral Governours, who maintain a marual enmity, calling fome lewd Arabians to cheir afiftance; and frequently deftroy one anothers WaterChannels which water cheir Fields, and fell down their Date Trees. Thicy coin both Silver and Gold Money; their Silver Coin weighing four Grains apiecé, beats the Proporion of eighty to one of their Gold. The Fews and Arabians in this Covantry are burdened with heavy Taxes. Some of thicir principal Men are exceeding rirh, and trade very much to Negroland, where they exchange the Commodities of Barbary for Gold and Slaves. Their chicf Food is lates, excepting fome places where Com grows. All this Country is over-xun with Scorpions, Fut there are no Flies in it. In Summer it is cxceeding hor, at which rimes their Kivers are fo dried up, that they re forc'd to ufe falt Water-drawn out of Pits. Afterche Deftruction of Segelmeff, they furnounded the whioie Territory with a Wall that was. 80 Miles in compals to prevent the Incurlions of Horfe-men. While they were united among themf.lves, ther rimin'd their liberty, but upon their Ip'ring into Factions, their Wail was demolifh'd, and each Party calling in the Arabians to theiraufiftance, became fubiect to them by degrees.
Tintwon of As for the Towns of Segelme \(/ T e_{\text {e }}\) it is faid that \(A 1\) xander spiongh the Grear, built it for the xelief of hisfick and wounded Souldiers, burl cannot find that eier he came intothis Conncry. Ir food upon a Piain near the River \(\overline{Z i}\), and was farrounded with fately hiph Walls. It had yood Baildings, maguificent Temples and Colleges, and a grear many Conduirs fur the River Warer, which was raifed by Wheels. The Air of chis place is very moin in Winter, but otherwife it is remperate and wholfone eniongh. It was fab;ect to the Family of \(Z\) ntena, till King \(\mp o f i p h\) of the Family of Lantume difpoffers'd them. About 25 Miles from Serelmeffe; upon the Road to Dara, chetc ftands a forry Cafte, built and granded by the \(A\) rabians, who exact one fourth part of a Duciat for ever! Camel's Load, from all the Merchans that pafs that way.
necalle Cat the diftance of 150 Miles from S-gelineff; ate three Rivimig, Cafles of Fighsing, ftanding upona Defart chas abiounds wonderfully with Dates: The Women of this place weavea kind of Cloth in form of a Carpet, which is fo fine that a Man would take it for Silk;, and this, they rell at an excelive rate at Fe a and Trmifon. As for the Men, whoare xery ingenious, part of them trade ro jegromati, and the rcft fuuly ar Fcz till they artain the Degree of a Doctor;' "pon which chcy returin to Numilia, where they are made cither Priefts or Scmators, and prove moft of them Men of great Wealth and Reputati-
The Numidian Defart contains likewife the grear and large Country of Tegorarin, in which there are so Ca- Province of thes, and above 100 Villages, and grear plenty of Trgorertn. Dates: The lnhabitants are xich, and trade ro Negrol und: Their Fields are very fit for Corn, but at the fame time they are very much parchr, infornuch, that fcarce any Catule can live upon them. A few Goats indeed are kept there for the bencefir of their Milk; but there is no Flefh in the Country, excepting that of Camels, which hic Arabians import, and which the Inhabitancs ear, aferit is mingled with falr Tallow imported from \(\overline{E c}\) a and Tremefen. They allow Strangers Houfes to dwell in, requiring no other Rent bur their Dung, which being voided within doors, iskepr very carefully, as wcll as thas of their Camels, EGc. for the bencfit of their Ground.
Abour 300 Miles from Tegorarin, we fall in upon the Tatror. Hill; by the Foot of which runs the Numidians upona Hill; by the Foor of which runs a River with a DrawBridge over it: 'Tis defended by a Rock on one fide, andiz Stone Wall on the other. Allthe Buildings, ex cepting a magnificent Temple, are of Brick dried in the Sun. The Inhabitancs, amounting in number to 25 co Families, are moft of them either Gentlemen or Tradesnen. Having grear plenty of Dates, they exchange them for Corn imported from Conftanzina: They entertain all Strangers grafs, and are very liberal in cheir Gifts to them; nay, they have fuch relpet for them, that they'll rathex marry their Daughers to them than their fellow Citizens, allowing fome portion of Land by way of Dowry. Hubdulla their prefent Pxince, is a brave, generous and contreous Math.
Pcfcara (another Towh in the Numidian Defart) is Prfaer: remarkablefor the abundance of Scorpions, which oc cafion prefent deach wherever they fting, and apon that account the Intabitanes live our of town in the Country all Summer. The Kingsof Timis, were Soveraigns of thisplace, till the death of Hutme, upon which it fell into the hands of a Mebometom Prieft.
Denfen is likewife remarkable for forme Mommems of Antiquity, nor unlike Sepulchres, in which picces of iliver money are found.
The laft place I Thall take notice of is Capl \(f\), , at an- crsb cient Town built by the Remans, and hieaded hy a pecular Governour, till the Califa frurmen facked it and de molifhd irs Walls: But the Cafte remains ftill, and is a place of grear ftrength, for its Wails are 25 Cubirs high; and five Cabits thick, and are built of fine Sronc fuch \(2 s\) is in Vefprfinn's Amphitheatre at Reme. At this day the Town, which is very populous, has nothing in it but forry Houfes, excepring the Tcmple and a fewother Buildings. The Irhalirants are a barbarous unhof pitable Crew, and upon that fore, defpis'd by all the other Africans. They are nor only opprefs'd by the daily Exactions of the King of Tirn, but contimally fubject O Fevers, occafion'd by their unhealthy Air: They wear Shooes made of Bucks Lcather. The Streets are pavid with black Stones like chofe of Naplesand Fiorence ; and in the middle of the Town, there are feveral large and quare deep Founrains, the Water of which is 10 hot chat it is not fir to be drunk rill it has ftood two ot three hours to cool. The ad acent Fieldsabound with Ciruons, and the beft Dates and Olives in the whole Province:
Having thus difparch'd Numidin we proceed to Libya. Lihia: The moft weftward of its Defartsis rhat of Zanionga; ex-Zanhese: tending in length, from the Ocean to thie Salt-pits of Tegata; and in breadch, from Sus to Negr-lend. I' is fo ry and barren, that in 100 Miles; you will fearice find a drop of Water, and what you have is fall, and drawix out of Wells.
Not far from \(x\) Town calld Agadex, there isgreat fore of Mania, which the Inhabitantsgather in mall Veffels; the mingle it with Water, efteeming thar a noble Lig or and put it into their Portage, in which cafe its rerigerating Vertue is fach, that it prevents the Difeafes which the unhealhy, corrupt Ait would otherwife occialion.
In the Region of Tegnan, there is a great deal of Salt, whiter than Marble, which is dig'd by Serangers our of its, and fold to Merchants, who carry it upon Camels co Tomburo; where Salt is very farce. Thefe Miners or Diegers live in little Hurs placed at the Mouth of the Pits, and are oftentimes ftary'd if the Mcrehans hap pen to come too late with cheir Victuals, for they work as the diftance of 20 Days Journey from any inhabired place. Sonterimesthe South Eaft Wind Blinds them, fo that they are in greas danger of cheir Lives.

In the heart of the Libyan Defart, we meer with a Repion calld Berdeo., containing threc Caftes and five or fix Villages, abounding with excellent Dates. Thefe three Cailtis were difcoverd thus. A Caravan of Mcrchents having lof their way, were conducted by 2 blind Mann, who knew the feveral Countrics by the fmell of the Sand, and when be came within forty Miles of this Region, prodicted by the fmell, wat they were not far from an inhabited place. Accordingly within three Days, they fell in wich the threc Cantes, and forcing oren their Gares, got a fufficient quancity of Water to relieve their Necerfoy; for the Inhabitants were fo aftonifh'd at the fight of them, that they fthut their Gares and refivid them Water.

The moft eaftexly part of the Libyan Defart, is thax Lenee, calrd Lenntr. extending from Angela to the Nile:
Another Region of rhis Defart, is Alguechet, lying at noment the diftance of 120 Milcs from \(\mathrm{Eg} v p\), and inhabited by barbarous but very rich Blacks, for they dwell in the way erween Eoypt and Gnogn. They have three Caftles and many Villages, abounding with Dates. Tho chey are ributary to the neighbouring Acrbimis, yet they have a Governour of their own.
Between Numidia and Litya, there's a Region calldrim. Num, which borders upon the Ocean, and is inhabited by a begerely People, in many Villages and Hamies. It produces only an unfavoury fort of Dates, for itbears neither Corn nor Barlcy.

\section*{Additions to С C a p . Vf.}

\section*{Collected from Marmol.}

THE Inlabirants of Gerutio or Nmomidif, were always inflam'diaSummer, by reafon of the extream hear call'd by the Grecks Pbexicians, and afteryards The Town of Scgalmegfe fecms ro havebeenbuilr by 2 Aianandes, among whom thofe whole live on the weftern fode are mot confiderable; but \(\qquad\) there arefewcral other Nations of Berebers and Arabian amongthen. Their riches confift in Dates and Catthe, fur shat have very litie Corm the Defect of which is Supply'd by their Dates for chey are the beft in Africu, cipocially upen the Eaft Quarter. Perhaps Homer pointed to thele Dates, when he fpoke of a Tree in this Coimury call'd Looth, the Fruit cf which is no fooncr talted, than is makes People forger their Country. andunwiting to return, like Thffes's Companions. The Aralinns of Aumbdin frequens che Defart of zanara, and pfrcatimesmake Incarfionsinto Barbary, for they live difefly by:cobbery, and for thar Realon the Kings of Morocco, \(\mathrm{Ee}_{2}\), Tremafon, and Tumer, keep frong Garcifouss zupu che Fantiers of thar Defert

The Wcftern part of Numidin, extending frema Cape Aguer to Cape Nutn, is calld \(U_{\text {pper Sus. This Countrig }}\) is iuhabicce by Berebers, divided into Tribes, who lodge thenfelves in Forts and places of ftrenert, being 2 warlike Pcople, and breed great numbers of Horfe and 2 warlike Prople, and breed great nambers of Horfe and Catile. It affords plenty of Corn and Bartey, and in fame places, Cirrons, Oranges, and ocher Fruirs.
The ancicur Africans builta fmall Town calld Teffer, upon the Weft of Zahara, in which the Xeriff char now rcigns, maincainsa Garrifon to defend the poor Inhabitants from the dincuifions of the Arabians in thorc Defarts so when they paid Tribure and Homage in former tipacs.
To.the North of zabern they buils four wall'd Towns, ar the diftanceof a League one from anocher, upon a friall River, chat never runs bar in Winter. Thefe Towis arecall'd Ufaran, and ate notonly in fome mear fukcicivilizd by esading with the Chrifians, bat likewife inhabired by feyceral Trades-men, who make excellicrs Copper and Lawin Yeffels; for the fineff fort of 1attin, ethar they cail Criny, is made from fome Copper Mines, in © Mountain of the Great Athas, upon the Souch tide of thisplace; and the prefent xerijf has a Calle bere, thic Governour of which receives that Mecal, end gives it our to the thork-men.
\(\mathrm{U}_{\text {Fon fine Frontier of of the Scongucs, there are chree }}\) Atrong Towns calld Acci, and inhabited by the Hibeles, or 2:Race of Aratians chat arrip'din Africa in the Reign of Crinin tic Califa of Carount. This quarter, which was formeriy rich, tras difpeopled by Civil Wars, till 2 Mc rabirc appeasd their Heats, after which, he and his Poftcrity govern'd is ander the Soveraigniry of the \(x\) criffs.
Oura, z-naved Provisice of Numitia, was formerly oweraw \({ }^{2}\) d by-the Arabirns of Xlrid Celion, a rich and puयfant Peopte, that fqead- xhe Winter in the Defarts, and ftraggic un and down Numidia in the Spring; but at prefent'ris feciur'dfrom cheir licurfions, by a Gerifon which the Xeriff keeps in Bexi-Sabib.
The Province of Segdmedf, which is above Ao
he hown of scgamege lecms to have been buntr by 2 Rewna Captain that conquer d all Numicia, as far' as Meffr, i. e. The Sent of bis Congujf.
- Upon a Sandy Plain in Numidia, we fall in with a walld City, calld Tafiler, inhabited by a rich genteltyife. fort of People, who make the finert Learher or Buff Targuets, as well as Silk-Stuffs, and finc Tapeftry ; and arade with the Europern and Barlary Merchanfs, in Indi go and Goats Learher. All the Datcs imported tospoin, come from this place, for the Xcriff does notallow cheir being exported from any other quarter.
The Province of Tegorarin was formerly inhabited by rich Jewila Merchanss, whom the Nacives meffacred A. D. 1492. When I was in Africe (Gays our Ather) this Province was goverra"d by its peculiar Covernoans, who wexe perpertalty jarring with one anorker; for whe Xeriff who had mafter'd che whole Country from Nimn uponithe Ocean to Tegorarin, had not then poffefo'd bian Celf of ir, Techert, was subject firft to the Kings of Morocto after that to the Kingsof Tremefen, then wo thole of Tratatron nes; axtaft it had alifiace of its Owin, namely, Abdala, whore Rewemuecame to 200000 Ducars a yrar; for this Town receives Conaribotionfromallihe Villages andCaftlesfound it, to the extent of 30 or 40 Leagues. This. Prince was rakenotif by an Infurrection of fome Turles whom he had taken invo bis Service ; upon which they were fubicet to the Twirks, till the Xerif Mahamet reduc'd 'em so bis former obedience.
Querquelen, a very ancient Numidian City, was andt imbellibied and enriched by chefirt King of che L mexumets, 2 who fet out from thence in purfuir of the Conquef of Barbaryand Spain. The Intubicants of chis place area yory civil People, atde acquainsed with comemerce; for the Conmedities of Barbary are bere excbang dor chofe in ported from Negrolend. Mul of 'em are Blacks, not that the Clizaze occafions it, bur thar they lye with Negroe Slawes;' who bear black Cbildren.
- This City, and the Councry berween it and the Befart ef Libya, was the Kingdom of that Furba, who jutimi fided wich Ponppeg ia oppoficionta caffir, and laid triolent dan. hands on bimielf, to prevent his falling into the Hands of the Conquarour.
The City of Xmm , in which that Prince lodg'd this Treafure sumen he aecompanied Pompey-to the Field is now call'd Bifore or Pefcera, and pays Homageto the siran Turks:
And the Tanct of ground, rexteoding from Bifiara to from tutrich all indumidin derives'its prefent Name, and propety which is a doot doy Country, affording a vaft product ofio culld Dates, butero Coms.

The mof ,xernatkzble Cixty in Biedutgerid, is Caffa, an gncient-Cify bundtriy the Remans, who defended is againft the Arrbians, sill the arrival of Occuba, wiop

The Province of \(\widetilde{z} b\), which we mention'd under the head of Tunis, as being a Dcpendancy of that King dom, is a part of the Defart of Numidici "I in bound ed by the Defart of Maziin on the Wett, the Mountams of Bugin onthe North, the Province of Rilcdulyerid on the Ealt, and the Defirt berween Tesbort and ouicripucls? on the Sourt.
The Capiral Ciry was call'd Mofzit, and ow'd both its Foundation andies Deftruction to the Arabian Schif macicks The Counary is cavcrid with burging Sands and infetted winh Scorpions and ocher strperas, the bires of which are mortal Bifcorra, which we mentioned but now, is one of the Cities of this Pro virce nermer, or Defart, producipg peither Trecs nor Fruit, and una bired io iome places by 2 fcw milerable sayages, who feedupon Mamıa and Grathoppers dry id in rhe Sun. Thefe Grathoppers are fopumerou*, that they darken the Skie like 2 Cloud, and leave ncithex Cofn nor Yerdure bechind 'eani and when they mean to fly away, stecy lay thair Egss in the Ground, that give rife to etbers without Winges, which were worfe than the formef, for they Waw the Barks of Tress and occalion a Famine wherever they tefart. They come from \(A\) rabic, from whence they pals, firf to Eyypt, after char, they crofs the Defartsof 6 Libya, and invade Numidia and Barbary, and fometionca Spain: But after all, Libyn is noc barren all oves, it has some places and lakes, upon which the Hatecbes or Abyffors dwell. The reft of the Country is fequepred by Axabiaxs, who chriften the feveral places they vifit, according to the nature of the Soil. They. give the Name of Sebel 1 a \(a\) Sandy Ground chat bears no Verdure, and Azgar to thar which affords Buftees or Greens, and \(\mathcal{Z}\) abara to che grear fony Sands. The mont popplous part of the Country, isthat towards the Niger, by reafon of their Compnerce with the Negroes, clpecally thofe of Tomburo. In former tines the lahabiapits of Libga were calld Sabatbeconf from Zapatha tha Son of Cbus, and Grand-child of Niach, and the ancienteft of them arc thofe calld by Strabo, Abacbis, and by the Natives Habutber or Habectoes; howeyer they area azy provih People. The Counery is dry and parchid, affarding neicher Rivers nor Fountains, nar indeed any Water, excepring that of fome few Takes and falt Wells, which are fof farce, that che Mercliantos who trerel from Numidife to Negsolotand, have Camels along with them that carry nathung but Warer; and oftentimes when they come to thefe Wells, they arecoverd and filld with Sand, upan which they are forc'd to kill their Camels, and drink the Water that'sfound within 'em; for 2 Canel deinks as much ate a cime as feryes him for 12 . of is Daps. Ta prevemthe filling of the Water-pics, the Merchants urj to line them on the iuflide with Camel Bones, and cover the Mouths wirh Camel Hides and they have fucch expert Guides, as can find our the Pits tho' coverd with great heaps of Sand; for fometimes he Eaft Wind blowing in theSumpuer, riifes fuch a De luge of Sand, as drowns notic only the Wells, byt the Men and the Camels, to the peigh of a Pike. If it rions in this Counny from the middle of Angut till Fe truat, the Grafs grows plencifully upon the \(\mathfrak{\text { ides }}\) of the Lakes, and the Merchants have nor orily the Adpantage of mefing frequenty with Wacer, Bur likewife with Milk and Butrer ar eafy razes; buytif is bea dry Seafon boch che derchbancrs snd che Inhabiranots Guffer very much tor the Drought is always accompany'd with great Winderthat tas up Mountains of Sand.
Thene We come now to the chird part of Af:ica, callid \(L\)
The People of Libya are divided into fipe Tribes or Societies, the fift of which fruing out from the Weft quarter) it spat call'd semega, an apciens and puiffani Pcople, who have reigrid in Etbipiza, and of whom fome of che precicut Negroland Kings are defcended. Thefe areblach, and feorch's by the Sua which pafles thro cheir \(Z\) exith when 'ris in the Tropigk of Cancer; and fced for the meff part upon Milk and widd Goars. The Conntry wbich they inhapis lies upon a level, and af:forts ncither Houfe, Mountuin, Wood, wor River, by which Travellers floupdd rake their Mariks'; to that. they wrs pebig d to follow the Canduct of the Winds, Stars apd Fowls, efpecially Rayens and Vultores, which rechat双 ighabited places for she fakcof Carion.
Uponthe Ceaft of this Copurery there's 2 Cape calld AFiader, where che Partuzufe" forid for a long time, when they puffucd the Dicorefry of this Coat; for at the head of the Cape dicy met with an Ebb-Tide, that surry d theon Gx Leagues back, and we Water caf up by thc keqkis.ff Sand, madece papife like thar of a boyling Po. At that time our Navigarours were but Coafters and durt notkecp fo wide of the Cape as to avoid the Tyde; for which reafon, when they mect with an inacceffible Coalt, they cry'd our, that the Sca was mavigable farther; and the doughry Pretenders to the KnowIcdge of Nature, alledgd forfooth, that thefc ficorchid Scaa were nog fo deep as the frozen or cold oncs, upor the Plea, that the Sua exhald the fweet Warer ariing from the Centre of the Earth, and that the falt Water came from the North. This pur a ftop to all further pufe, were driven bya Storro upon the Thond of pote which priom calls Ganarim, and which he cheiftenid Bojador, with reference to the lands: thooting back 2bave 40 Lcagues more to the Noth, than the Coaft It leaves behind it, The Difcovery of this Cape was in thofe days reckond a mighry bufnefs.
Art the diftance: of 54 Leagues betond the Cape, thic Sen thooss upa grear way into che land, and is calld the River of Gold, Decaulc the Portupuefe gor fome Xiber the Riv of Gold in this place, by way of ranfomie for fome Mores cioid. they had raken Prifoners, and this was the firft Cold they had met wiff if that pari of the World.
Bejond that is the Whitec Cape, which was diffover'd whire Cafe. A. D. rtyt, being a poiur of Sand that appears white at a difance. From this place the Coaft begins to take another Courf, and makes 2 Gulf to which the Cuxrent tends
At the diftance of 12 leagues from the Cape, we meet with the lies of Arguin, fo calld from a Fort that \({ }^{\text {taxs }}\) of the King of Porrugal buitt upon one of them.
Pafling farther we meet wirh the Mourth of the N:ger, in 15 Deg. Tat. diftover'd by the Portuizucf: A. D. \(14+5\) This is a Branch of that River that ferarates the Whites from the Blacks, and the Defarts of Litiga from thofe of Benbans and Cpelofos. Tis calld Sencga at iss Mourth, Serran Recr. deriving its Name from a Lord among the Natives, with whom the Poresuguefe had their firft Traffick ; but with in the Country is has feverad Names given is by che feveral Inhabitants upon iss \(\not\) 解ks, particularly Sencdec, Dengnect, Maye, Colle, Pce, which laft it retains to is very Source. Potomy rakesthe xife of this River from the Lake Quelonides, and that of Nutba; and, which: is very ttrange, norwithftanding that it runs io far, it has not fo large a Current of Water, as another Branch calld Gamber, which runsby the way of Centor, and has feveral IIAands \(\pm\) xepleniftid with Animals and Repriles, but is not navigable all over, efpecially in one place \(2-\) bout 150 Leagues fromi irs Mouth, where therc is fo great a Warer-fitl, that one may pais underneath without being wet. The Senceg Water is whire, but at a place calla Buftembo. (i. e White and Red) is is jorn'd by a River call Lebamer, the Water of which is red : And the Negroes alledge, thar chefe two Waters arc of fich contraxy qualities, chat they prove Emetick when shcy'rc mix'd, tho' feparately they have no fuch effect.
Anocher Libpan Territory is thas calld Trgait, in \(T_{\mathrm{g}}\) man which there's a a alt Quarty among Mountainous Rocks; and perhaps tris one of thcfe Mountains that Ferondtitis pointsto when he freaks of a Mouncain berwecn the \(\alpha-\) ricenf Tobebos and Fercules's Pillars.
Iguich is mpocher, where Cats winncrid afree his long tssidit. Joumey.
Angela is the only Lityan Textitory that faill reazins its /aste, ancient Alame, being plac'd by Pellomy in 52 Deg. 30 Min. Long. and 28 Deg.Lat. Ir exends ir eeff like a lip to the Mediterranean, over againft the \(\bar{y}\) rres, and twas theice that Cito palsd with his Troops in 7ucf of yba after Pompog's death. Herodotus places bis fecond Galt Pits in this Territory. Ir atounds with Palm Trees, and is mightily incommoded with Serpenss, which fome of the Natives can kill with their Spirtle.
Upon the Frontier of this Region, facing towards \(E\) - Perateotit gpt and the Sea, we meer with the Province of Crene cT Pentrapots, allthe Ciries of whichare now deftroy'd, cxcepring Prolemaic Creric, which gives name to the whiote Province was built by the Greeks under the conduat of Arceflis thc Son of King Betus, whe by the Affifiance of the Eyptio ans, fubdued the Cerrbhaginiansthat mean'd to expel him and enlarg 4 his Einpire. This Province is now frequented by a puilfart flock of Arabians, who make above 30000 Horreand an infinite number of Foor, and deAtroy. dall the Cities and Villages. Cyreac was the firt Ciry that Cafo took by torm after the deach of Pomper, bur he did no injury to the place. The whiole Provins? is now callt Leibya Cyrnaitc, but in axcientrimes it went by the name of Futblece, from Fath the Son of Cham fopm whom the Eaftern Lithans derive their Original.

\section*{C.h a p. VII.}

\section*{Containing a Defription of Negroland : From John Leo.}

The fift dif.
covery of

MOST of Negroland lay undifcoverd, till the \(3^{80}\) oth Year of the H egeira, 2 t which time 2 certain Mabometan madet the Difcorery. At that cime "rwas inhabited by a numerous, barbarous, and brutifh People, who were equally ignorant of Govcrnment and Husbandry, whole onit Employment was to keep Catte, whoreGarments and Beds were the Skinsof Beafts, and who obferv'd no Reftraint upon promifcuousEmbraces: The Negroes keep ar home and wage War with no other Narion. Some worfhip the Sun, others the Fire, and fome (paricularly the Inkabitants of Ganga) approach nearerto the Chriftian Faith. The firft who broughr "cm under fubjection, was, Foffph King of Morocto; ater whom, they became fubject to the five Libigan Tribes, and learn'd of them the Mabomettan Law, and feveral Handicraft Trades, as well as the Barbarion Language, from the Barbary Merchanso that craded thicher. Bur the prifent King of - Tembuto, beinga Negroe by birch, new the Lilijan King, ufurpid the Kingdom, and by 2 x 5 years War, conquerd large Doninions ; after which, he concluded a League with his Neighbours, and exhaufted his Treaure by 2 Pil grinage to Mececa. Negroland lies between two Defarts one rowards Numidia, and anocher extending in felf fouthward ro the Ocean, which is inhabited (Lays our Author) by an intinity of Nations unknow to us. Our Knowledge of this Country extends only to is Kingdoms, which are chefe following.

Gralate a
Gunlata contains only three great Villages, with fome Kingtom. Granges and Date Ficids. It lies 300 Miles Sourh from Nun, 500 North from Tomburo, and 200 from the Ocean. 'Twas once the Refidence of the Libyan Go:ernours, and at that time frequented by the Barbary Mcrchants, who in the Reign of Prince Heli, remov'd to Tormbuto and Gagr, and upon that Gualata was reduc'd to extream mifery. Ac prefent it has 2 Prijce of its own. who is criburary to the King of Tominuto. The Inhabitanss are black, and very friendly to Strangers: Thiy fpeak a Language calld Sungai, and cover their Heads, fo thar the Face in both Sexesis almoft hidden: They hareno Form of a Common-wealch, but lead a very miferable life. Fleth is very farce among them, but they have plenty of Millet, and a fort of round white Pulfe, the like of which 1 never faw in E\({ }^{\text {rop }} \mathbf{T}\)
\({ }^{T}\) To the North of Gualata, lies the Kingdom of Gheneon, alias Senni, or Glinea, extending from the Mcuth of the N: \({ }^{2}\) er, 250 Miles along it. it abounds with Barley, Rice, Cattle, Fith, and Cotton, which latt Commodity they cxchange for Eurofax Cloth, Armour, \(\mathcal{O}^{\circ}\) TheirCoin is motlly of Gold, without any Infcription inthe way of retail they ufe Iron Pieces, weighing, fome a Pound, fome half a Pound, and fome a quarter. This Country produces no Fruic; for what. Dates they have is imported from Gunlete or Numida. Here is neither Townnor Caftle, Bur only a large Village, where the Prince and principal Men refide, their Houfos being buile of Chalk, and coverd in the Roofs with Scraw. The Inhabicanrs are clad in black or blew Cotton, with whirh the dikewife cover their Heads; bur white Corron is the Garb of rhe Priefts and Ductors of the Law In \(f u t\), Auguf and Sepeember, the over-lowing Nile furrounds it as an Ifland; and during that Seafon, the Tinkita Mcrchanes import cheir Goods in Carous made of one Plank, which they row all cay, and at night make falt to the Shoar, iodging themfelves upon land.

To che Northwand of Guinea lies the Region of Mell: which ruan almof 300 Miles along a River that falls into the Nige. It takes its name from Me";, a large Village, concaining above vooorainitics. The Country a- bound with Corn, Fleth, and Corron, and is well repienilh'd with Trades-men and Merchants, who are ri th and well freck'd with Commedities: The King entertains all Scrangers very honourab:y. There are a great many Timples in che Courrity, as weil as Prietts, and Profufle urs, who reat their I ceares in the Templis, there being no Colieges in the Cuntr:- In tine this Pcople go beyondall the ather Negrues inSenfe; Civility and Indufiry ; and embrac'd Mabomet's Law, while rhey were fubject to the Uncle of foffep King of Morocco, whofe Pofterity continued in that Soveraignty, rill \(I_{i}\), chia pur'em under a fevere tibute.
- Tomburo is another Kingdom in this Country, fo calld from Tamburo, 2 Town, founded ( as they lay) by King \({ }^{\text {m }}\) Menfe Sulciman, in the 620 Year of the Hegeirn, at the diftance of i2 Miles from one of the Branches of the Niger. As prefent this Town has no Houfes, but only Cottages buile of Chalt and thath'd. Cotrages buils of Chalk, and thatch'd. Indeed it has a ftately Templebuilt of Stone and I ime, and a Princely Palace, buile by an excellent Work-man of Granade Tis well ftock'd with Merchants and Trades-men, ef. pecially Weavers of Linen and Woolen Clorh, and en ven the European Cloth is imporced hitherby the Barbmy Merchants. All the Women of this Country, except ing the Maid-Servants, cover their Faces, and fell all orts of Vietuals. The Merchants are fo rich, thar the prefent King married both his Daughters to two of them When the Niger ovcrflows they convey the Water of is by Conduits intothe Town; however they have great plenty' of freh Water Wells. They have grear plenty of Com, Cartle, Milk and Butter, but very little Sait, that being imported by land carriage from Trgaza, which is 500 Miles off, infomuch that a Camel's \(10 a d\) will coft 80 Ducars. The rich King of Tombuto has a fplendid Court, and a great many Plares and Srepters of Gold, fome of which weigh 1300 Pound. When he goes abroad or to the Field, he rides upon a Camel led by one of his Noble-men, and all his Souldiers are on Horfe-back. Whocver is admitted to an Audience of the King, muft fall down at his Fcet, and throw Earth about his Head and Shoulders. His ordinary Guard is 3000 . Horfe-men, and a great many Foor; that hoot poyfon'd Arrows. He not only banilhes ; all \(\mathcal{F}\) cws from his City, but confifcates the Goods of the Merchants that deal with them. He gives large Allowances to Judges Priefts, Doctors and orher learned Men; and the dearef Commodiry in the City is Mantfripts brought from Berbary. His Coinis of Gcld without any Inicription, fix pieces and \({ }^{2}\) weighing an Ounce; bat in pettv Bargains they ufe Shells imporred from Perfix, 400 of which are woith a Ducar. The Citizens are a joily. genteel fort of People; they keep a great many Siaves of both Sexes, and Ipend a grear pan of the Nigbr in finging and dancing up and down the Sercers. The City is much exposid to fire, for in five Hours sime I have feen above half of it laid inathes: is has no Gardens nor Orchards ro:nd it.
Ato'nt 12 Miles from Timbrito, we fall in upon Cabra, a large unwalld Town, ftanding upon the N:ger, where coper the Merchantsimba K for ciuminis and . M. lli. The Inhabitanes and Builcings of chis place are not inferiour to thofe of Tumbirt. They arc govern'd by a judge' or Vice-roy, aprointed by ule King of Tombuto. The ordinary Food, binch inchis place and Timbluto, is a naufeous mixture of Feen, Filh, Milk and Barter, which gives rife to many Difeafes, and fo leffens the number of the People.
Abour 400 Miles to the South of Tombute, ftands 2 kinglase large unwaild Town cal: d Sirge, from which the King-aighe dom of Gagor takes irs Name. All the Houles in this ort place, excepting the King's Palace, are very mean, but their Merchants are very rich, for they ha:c a grear Marker for Barbaryand Europerm Cloth. Here Corrand Flefh Melons, Cirrens, and Rice, are very plentiful; bur Wine, Trees, and Fruir, are fcarce: They have excellent Springs of fweet Water. On the Market Days they have a place appoinred for the fale of Slaves where a Child or one of is Years of age will go for fir Ducars. The King has a Guard both of Horfe and Foor, and entertains a great many Concubines and Wives in a privare Palace, which are kept by Eunuchs Hedecides all their Controverfies in Perfon; but at the ame time has about him Treafarers, Secretaries, Audiors, and orher Officers. All lorts of Commodicies are mported thither in great quamtities, and fetch great prices; an Eur.pern Horle bought for ren Ducats, will Clorh will ferch four Duears an the coarfeft Eurnpean Cloth will fereh four Ducars an Ell; and the Venice or Turke Scarler Cloth is worth 30 Ducats. Swo dis, Slaves ufually travel ren or twelve Miles a day, and carSpurs, Bridles and Spears, are likewife very dear: Int ry a prodigeous weighr, nor only of Merchandile, bur above all, Sale is much the dearett. Befides this Town of Provifions for the Merchanes and the Souldiers that Gugne conrains nothing bur Vilages and Mamlets, unlabited by Husbandmen and Shepherds, who in Winer cover their Bodics with the Skins of Beatts, and the: Feer with Shocs of Camels Leather; tout in Summer are Al over.naked, excepting their Privisics. The: ate kepr miferable by heayy Taxes, and are mancquainted with Learning or Civility.

The Kingdom of Culer lics almoft 300 Miles to the Eatt of Gagn ; tisfurrounded with high Mountains, and ialabited ly Shepherds. Here is great ftore of Catrle, only they are fimaller than in other places. Upon the Inundation of the Niger, the whole Country is under Watcr, and at that ume the Inhabitants fow their Sced in the Warer. The chicf place of this Kingdom, is a great Village, containing alınott 6000 Families, and frequcnred by all furts of Mcrchants, where a certain King kept his Court, who in my time was fain by lichin King of Tomburo.
The Kingdom of Agradei is inhabired by Shepherds who dwell in Huts made of Boughs, and carry "cm upon Oxen from place to place. Whoever pleaics the Inhabitarss of the Defart beft, is fure to be King of this Country.
About 500 Miles to the Eaft of the Niger, we come up with the large Kingdom of Cinn, inkabited for the moft parr by Herds-men. It abounds with Corn, Rice, and Corton, with Dcharts and wild woody Mountains, well for'd with Springs of Water, and with Cirrons and Lemons, which talte much like thofe we account the beft. In the heart of the Kingdom thereftands a Town of the fame name, inhabited by rich Merchants and a civiliz'd People, the Houfes of which are for the moft par built of Chalk. In ancient times their King was a Puifiane Prince, but now he pays a third part of his yarly Revenuc rothe King of Tombuto.
Thenexr King domis Cafenc, lying to the Eat of Cano, arintom which is a mouncainous and barren Councry, yielding dicifor mething bur Barley and Millet Sced. The Inhabitanss of this Kingdom are very black, having large Nofes and blabber Lips. They are opprefs'd with famine, and dwell in rery forry Cortages, and have nor above 300 Families in any one Village. Formerly they had a King of their own, whom \(f_{2} \int\) chia \(^{2}\) King of Tonburo llew, and upon that they became rribucary to him arims The Kingdom of \(\tilde{\lambda}\) eqzet lies at the diftance of 150
Tamime Milcs from Cafena; iss South Eaft pars borders upon Cenc. Tho' its Dlains are intolerably hor, yer íts Mounmins are extream cold, infomuch, that in Winter, the Inhabitants (who are a rich trading. People) are forced to kecp preat dires under their Bedfeads whensthey go to flep. Their Fields being well watcrd, are very fertile. They have been fubject to the King of Tombufo cver fince he kill'd their ownKing.
The Eaft part of acgacg is join'd by the Kingdom of anfara, which abounds with Rice, Miller and Cotton; and isinhabited by a tall fort of People, who are cxtream black, broad fact, and very barbarous. Their King was likewife kill'd by lifchia, to whom they are now tuibutary.
The remaining Kingdoms in the Land of Negroes, arc Guanjara, Bemio, Gaota, and Nubic, of which in order.
ximpoan Guantara joinstheS. E. part of zanfara: Being inby lrchin on the Weft, and the King of Borno on che Eaft, if has now loft all irs Trade with foreign Nations. Howerer there lics to the South of it, a Counury chat affords great ftore of Gold, from whence the Gunargera Merchantsbring large Burdens upon the Slaves backs, the Ways being unpaftable by Camels. Thef

Thelarge Province of Borno, cxtends Eatt from Guantra 500 Milcs, at the diftance of 150 Miles from the \(\begin{gathered}\text { The King } \\ \text { on }\end{gathered}\) fource of the Niger, and joins the Delarr of Set on the Soucth, and that towards Barca on the North. The Inhabitants of this Country have Garments and Beds of Skins in Winter, but in Summer thcy only covertheir Privities with a picce of Leacher. They are not diftinguifh'd from one another by Proper Names, but by Nick Names taken from their Starure, Fatnefs, or fome other Quality; for they have no profefion of Religion: their Wives and Children are common, and in a word, the whole Scene of their Lives is brutifh. They are govern'd by a puiffanc Prince, who is lineally defeended from the Libyan Pcople, call'd Bardon, and is prodigious rich; for all the Veffels at his Table, his Spurs, his Brid/es, and the Collars of his Dogs, are all of pure Gold. He wages perperual War wich a cerraim Pcople chat live beyond the Defart of Sen, who in former times invaded his Kingdom, and wafted a great part of it; but foon after the King made his Reprifals, by purchafing great numbers of Horfes from the Barbary Merchants, ar the rare of fifteen and fometimes twenty Slaves in exchange for one Horfe; for then he invaded the Enemies Country, and brought off Captives enough to pay for his Horfes.
The Kingdomof Garga has for its Limits, Bormo on thringdean the Weft, Nubia on the Eaft, Egypt on the North, and a of Goges. Delart cxtending to the Ni/c on che South. The Inhabitants, efpecially the Mountanects, cover nothing bur their Privities, and are a very inhuman barbarous Crew. Their Honfes being made of Boughs and Rafters, are much exposid to fire. They have grear flore of Cartle and attend them very carcfully. The Prince of this Country pays a grear deal of Refpect to all leamed Mcn, efpecially chofe defecnded from Mahumer. While l was at this Court ( fays our Author) a Noble-man of Damiaria prefented him wich a fine Horfe, a Turkifh Sword, 2 Royal Robe, and fereral ochicr chings, that coft abour \(15^{\circ}\) Ducats ar Caioo; upon which, the King rerurn'd him a Complincone of five Slaves, five Caunels, 500 Ducats, and 100 very large Elephanss Tecth.
The Limits of Nubia, are Gaega on the Went, che Nilc on the Eaft, the Defartof Goran on the Sourh, and Ibekingbect Egypt on the North. The Nile is not navigable between this Kingdom and Egypr, for in fome places a Man may wade over is on foos.
The principal Towninchis Counery is Dangala, which contains 10000 Familics, and affords plency of Civer and Saunders. The whole Country abounds with Irory, being well ftock'd with Elcphants, as well as with Corn and with Sugar, which the Inhabitants know not how coufc. It produces a fort of ftrong Poyfon, a Grain of which divided among tun Perfons, will kill them all in \(\div\) of an Hour. An Ounce of this Poyion is fold to torcign Merchants for 100 Ducats; but whofocyer fells it without the Kings Knowledge, is immediately put to death, and the Buyer pays noronly as much to the King as to the Seller, But likewife is obligdupon an Oath not to ufcit inthe King dom of NuLir. The Inhabitanes are calld Buribe, and are a bafe miferable Pcople, living only upon Milk and the Flefl of Camcls, and of fucts Beafts as are raken in the Defarts.
In former timesthey bad a rich Town, with a convenienr Haven upon the Red Sca, callid zibid, juft oppofite to the Harbour of Zidem, which is 40 Miles diftant from Mecen. But abour 100 Yearsago the Solion dentroy'd ir upon the account of fopping fome Goods that thould have been carried to \(\begin{aligned} & \text { Meccer. }\end{aligned}\) acicud.

\section*{Additions to \(\mathrm{C}_{\mathrm{h}} \mathrm{ap}\). VII}

\section*{Containing Marmol's Account of Lower Ethiopia Negroland.}

Geriapipia

EThiopit furpâfes alit the other pates of Africa, not only in the extent of Provinces and multitude of Inhabitants, but likewife in the diverfiry of Animals and plenty of Golit. The ancient Geographers xeprefenc monftrous Mcn as the tnhalitanes of this Country; but thcir Reprefentation is fabulous, unlefs they meand to point to the monftrous Barbarity of their Humour. The ffectross call is Cus, and the Ancienssdivided ir inno the Lower and \(\overline{\text { ITppr}}\) ©erbiepia. Twas calld - Kichiopian rather from the black colour of its Inhabitants, thanfrom Eefsiope Vuican's Daughter, as the Poers alIedge. In Lower EEtiopici, or the Councry of Negroes (which Prolomy comprchen:s in Libya Iutrior) the african Gengraphers takenoticc only of Qucquin and Carnim, from whence 'ris probable they had no perfect Knowledye of the ret of the Counrry. All the Provinces adjoining to 7 athara are ar this day Malbometans, for in the Ycar 990, during the reign of the Almoravids, feveral Mitbomesian Doctors planted their Religion among them The richett and moft civiliz'dPeople among' cm, are chofe call'd by the Arclians, Gerreczo, who live along the Niger, and to have theBencfir of converfing withForeigners that come thither to trade. Thofe who liyc along the Coaft, are likewife in fome meafure civilizid. fince the Portugucfe hare dealt with them, as well as the Inhabitants of Mrniconns, who have embrac'd the Chrittian Religion But the Indand Frovinces (many of which are unknown xo us) arc ininatied by a parcel of Brures in a human Shape. Thefs maltiply fo prodigeoully, thar their Off-fpring would in time cover the whole Face of the Earth, were is not for a Wind that wifirs them once in 60 Years, and fweeps off whole Shoals of them in Bcds of Sand. Thefe Aicgroes are perpetually at war one with another, and whatever Prifoners they take, whecther Men, Women or Cbild ren, tincy fcll them all to the \(A\) fricans, Arabians, and Portuguefe that trade to that Coaft, rceeiving in exchange, Horfes, Cloch, Linen, Oil, Winc, and other Europect Commoditics.
The Nature
As for the Councry it felf, 'ris hor and in fome meafure moint, by reafon of the ncighbourhood of the Niger, and feveral other, which make large Lakes when they orertlow. Alongthe Niger and towaids the Fron-iers of Jabara, therc's neither Hill nor Mounazain, buc great Lakes furrounded with Woods, where Elcphancs and ocher wild Beafts refort in prcar numbers, and cxacel lent Pafture along the Lake and River fides. In there places the Negroes Sow a grcat deal of Miller, tho' indeced bheir chicf Food is the Roor call'd Gname. The Counry produces no Fruit, fuch as Barbary affords; tho' is has fome Yery tall Trecs, that beara Fruit like Chefruus. Corn and Barley will not grow herc, for befides that the Soil is too hor, it never receives any Rain bur in three Months of the Xcar, viz. Fulr, \(A_{u}\) gu/f and Septeniler: Bur it produces plenry of Peafeas bis as large Filleards and party colourd, Bcans of an cxtraordiuary large fize, and of a mining red colour, Chiches, Cucumber, Gourds, Citrons and Por Herbs. They fow their Seed in 7 uly, and have their Harveff in Septentber, for at that time the Watcr orerthows and decreafes again. When they go abour their Husbandry, four or five of them ge: ogether, and with a Spade or Shovel, raife upthc Ground very fuperficially, this done, they throw in the Seed. They lave no Vines, but they make a fort of Wine of a Liquor calld Migol, that diftils from certain \(D_{\text {atc- }}\) trecs, and refembles your pale red Winc. Each Tree being wounded in threc or four places with an Ax, will yield threc or four quarts in the fpace of 24 Hours. When this liquor is firt drawn, 'tis very fweer, bur after threc or four \(D\) ays, its \(S\) wcecrefs abates, and is becomes more palatable, bur if it ftand longer, 'rwill turn foure like Vincegar.' Tisan agrecable Liquorcnough and if is be not. diluted with Water, will findele one.
As for the Kingdoms of Negroland, that lic along the Niger, or between the Ocean and Egrpt, viz: Gunatatr, Guince, Mclli, Tomburo, Gago, Gubcr, Agaden, Cenc Caffent, Zggics, \({ }^{\text {Th }}\) anfurc, Gangara, Bormo, Gsopa, and Nubia; There, I lay, are fufficiently accounted for in Fohm Lco's Decicription; fo rhat is remains only to give lome account of thar parr of Lover /Eetsiopia, chars lice upon the Weftern Ocean, and the Difovery of that Coaft made by the Porturucfe, which the Readex may expect under a feparate

\section*{Cortaining John Leo's Defcription of Egypt.}

The Lizits

EGypt is a noble and famous Province, bounded on the Weet by the Delares of Bauce, Numidia, and Libya, on the Eaft by the Defars that lie berweenit and the Red Sec, on the North by the Maditerirancam Sca, and on rhe South by the Rives Nille and the Territory of the Bugihn's, being very narrow in breaddl, bur 450 Miles long. Iess narrownefs is occalion'd by the Nile ics Divifion into e everal Streams and Channcls, for the Intervals berween the Banks of the Nile and the foregoing Limits, are very narrow. Tis a plain ferrile Province, adornd with pleafans Greens and Meadows, and abounding, in Gecle and orher Fowls. Theufual Food in thas Country is new falt Checfe, and foure Milk which does nar go down well with Strangers, tho" "tis much valued by the Natives. The Country People are of a browni (warthy Colour, but the Citizens are whitc. Their Garments are long withs ftrait Sleceres and Waftes; their Turbants (call'd by the Itclians Dulipens) are round and high: The common Pcopte wear Gaxments of parry colour'd Cotton in Summer, bur in Winter rhey uie a ertain Carmenc lin'd with Coton, which chey callchelre: As for the Mcrchants and chief Citizens they wear European Cloth. In gencral, all the Inthabitants are of an honet, cheaxful and liberal Difpofrion.
The whole Province is divided in three parts, namcy, Erriff, extending from Cairo to Referto, Salisd (i. c the Terra Firma) extcnding from Cairo to the Land of che Buriba's, and Maremna or Bechria, lying upon that Branch of the Nite that walhes Damiarte and Temefre Sabid gocsbeyond the orther two in plentry of Corn, Catde, Flax and Fowl ; bur its Inhabitants han ing no Converfarion with Strangers, undefs ir be a few Lithippiant are much lefs civiliz'd than thole of the ocher Provinces adjacent to the Sca, which are frequented bytic Merchants of Europe, Berbrart, and Afyria. Marcmurs abounds with Cortor and Sugar.
Egypt is calld by the Hebrews Mcfraim, from Mcfra im, the Grandfon of Cham the Son of Noah, of whom \(\quad\) tratim the Inhabitants precend tobe defcended, by the Archinns s.micic Mefre, and by the Natives Chibitb, upon the Plea thax Chibich was the firt Mancharbuilc Houfes and cftabliah'da met,
that,
dom'd
the Re of whi ty, no
and fea
Haren
\(\mathrm{C}_{\text {affic }}\), nabic
anothe Clain, metan I cxport ro, wh habited
King o time, by deg with fe high \(M\) opof cer wat of the his Int
he pays Wis pay
-

Form of Governmentinit. Moft of the trne Epyptians itn large Vaules or Cifterns, of whicheach Houfe in she are now gone, for lince they cmbrac'd the Malomeren ; City has ons under ir; and oftentimes the Corruption Religion, they have blended theinfelves with the Arabians and Mores. The Kingdom was firt govern'd by Kins and of the Egyptian Race; who bore the Title of Plosesaol, and after fome time Prolomy, and feem to have beengreat Princes. After that, 'twas fubdu'd by the Romens, and under their Governinent embrac'd Chrittianicy: Uponthe divifion of the Empire, it came ino the Hands of the Emperours of Cmffintinople, and was frerwards wretted fromthem by the :Mabometans, in the time of the Califa Homar II. who allowed the People a liberry of Confcience, and demanded nothing from then but tribure. Before the Conquett of Egypt by the Rommus, the Nobility dwelt in the Citics of Salbid, after which, they remov'd to the Maritime Province of Erriff and dwclt in Alcxandria, Roferto, and other Citics that Hill renin the Latin Names: But when the Mahomestan gorthe Afcendant, they recir'd to the Inland Province to avoid the Defecne of thic Chrittians.

TheClimare is hot and unhcalthy: It rains thete but very feldom, and when it does is occations darigerous Rheums, Fevers, and a fwelling of the Privy Members, impured by Phyficians to the frequegt cating of Salt Checfe and Beef. The Plague is Cometimes very rife, efpecially at Caira, where it fometimes fiweeps off 12000 Souls a day. And as for the Frencl, Pox, no Country under Heaven is more molefted with le. In Summer the heat of the Sun is fo unfufferable, that no Man could live there, if they did not build high Towersoppofite to their Houles, which being open at ropand botrom, draiv down a Wind that refreches and cools she Air. They reap their Corn in spril and thralh is immedïardy.
Abour the middle of \(\mathcal{F} u n e\), the iile comantinces iss Inundation, which increafes \(4 \circ\) Days and decreafes as mant; and during that fpace, the Towns of Exype are only accedible in Boats and Barges, and the Stream or Chanricl of the River is then navigable by large Veffels, conming 6 or 7000 Buihels of Corn, befides fome hundreds of Cattle; but at the fame time thefe Veffels mutt only goalong with the Stream, for that they cannot fail againf it.
As for the Cities and Towns of Egypt, I thall only Tixcisis ofefcribe fuch as ftand upon thic principal Channcl of the St: Nitc, for the ortice part of EgJpf ( faysour Author) are not included in Africa.
Bffri, an ancicnt City, buile by the Egpptians upon ghti. the Medicerranean Sca, had once ftrong Walls and fatarely Buildings, bue upon the taking of alexand ia by the Chrifianis, 'twas abdicated by the Intabitants. It has a gricat many Date-trees about it, but at prefent there's no body to take care of thicm.
Alexandria, founded by Alexander the Great, upon 2
unatie, Promontory that ftretches into the Mediterrancan, was in former times, a large, frong and beautiful City, bur afteric became fubject to the Mabometans, it lay in a manincr delolitec, till a crafty Malometan Patiarch made the vulgar People believe, that by 2 Prophecy of Malomet, amplelndulgences were granted to fuch as woild inhabitor promote the Intereft of that City; for upon that, Atrangers crouded inro it from all Corners, and adorn'd it with Houles, Colleges, and Monatterics for the Relief of Pilgrims. The City has four Gates, one of which facing the Mediterrancan, is always befer with Scarchers and Cuftom-houfe Officers, who exact a Duty, notonly upon Goods, but upon all forts of Money, and fearch Strangers to their very Shirts. It has two Havens, one calld Merf.t el Bargi (i. e. The Port of Caftic) upon the Key of which there ftands an impregnable Caftle, and in which the Eiropern Ships ride; and another call'd Ma: \(\int\) ia Effal Scla, i. c. The Pore of rbe Clain, where the Berbary Ships rake thelter. A Matiometanpays \(\frac{1}{2}\) and a few \(\frac{1}{2}\) of all Goods imported or exported, exceptins fuch as are carried over land to Cairo, which pay nothing atall. At prefent the only inhabited partof the City, is that next che Haven, and that which faces Cairo; for 'twas laid defolate by the King of Cyprus, who was mafter of the Town for fome time, till the Solden diflodg'd him; after which it rofe by degrees to irs prefemt ftate. In this City we meet with fercral Earthen Veffels of great antiquiry, upon a high Mount form'd like the Teftacicio at Rome, upon the top of this Mount, there ftands a Turret, where an Off. cer watches in order to give notice to the Cuftom-honfe of the arrival of Ships, and has a certain Allowance for his Intelligence; but if any arrives and efcapeshis vicw he pays double to the Exchequer for his Negligence. Without the City chere's a largeSluice, which lets in the Water of the Nila upon its Inundation, and conveys it of the Water in thefe Cifterns occationmany Difeafes in the Summer. In the Neighbourbod of this Sluice, there are fome finall Gardens, but the Fruic thcy prodice is a great Inftrument of Sicinnefs; and inderd the Ground aron which dicxandria ftands being very fandy, is equally unquallifed for Gaidens Vines, or Corn; for the Ciry is Cupply'd with Corn from places 40 Miics diftant. Six Miles Weft from Alcxandria, we mect with a very rall and thick Pillar, call'd by the ardians Hemaduffocer, i. e. The Pillar of Trees, and fanding utom a poine of Land that flooos out beyond the Haven. Among fome ruinous Monmments within the City, there tands a liecle Howe with a Scpulcher, which is much rever'd, and frequently vifired by Mrlometan Pilgrims. upon the plea, that according to the Alcoran, it containc the Body of Aicxander tio Cirect, the High Proplact and King (as they tcrm it). Patt of this Ciry is inhabited by Sevcral Chriftian Mcrchants and Mcchanicks, who have a Church of cheir own, that was once honour'd with the Body of St. Mark, till the Venctigns Pirited it atway to Venice. Thefe Chriftians are call'd jacob ites, and pay aribute to the Governour of citiro.
Roferto (the next City in order) ftands upon the Eaft Rofeto aliac Bank of the Nite, not far from its Mouth. 'Twas Rufid. built by a Slave of one of the Mahometan Parriarchs thas govern'd Esppt, and is famous for its excellent Baths and Springs whether hor or cold.

The bes has fately Houfss, bur not alore 300 Fami-taces hes of Inhabiraurs, moft of whom are. Hushandmetn To that in the day time there's nothing to Le feen in the Strectsbuthandorm Women. Tis we!! tock'd with Corn, Rice, Sugar, Grapes, Fies, Peaches, and a de licious fort of Eruit, call'd \(M u f_{c}\). In the Out-parts of this place we mect with many ancicnt Monuments, bearing Latin, Greck, and Egprian Incriptions, and an infinity of suinous places, not to menticn iss Srone Walls of a great depth, from whence we conclude that in former times 'twas a icry large City.
At the diftance of 40 Mulss from Roferre, we fall in Fwee with Eion, in the Neighbourhoud of which, there's a Plain well ftock'd with Sugar Cancs, but their Produc is not true Sugar, but a fort of Honcy:like Soap, which is us'd all Esypt over. In this place the Women have fuch liberty, that they may range abroad all day, provided they serurn at Night.
Ovicr againf Froat, the Niic nakes an Illand calld the Golden I!:and, which produces all forts of fruitful Trers, except Olives.
The moft noted place for Sugar is Derctic, the Inhabi-Dtertr: tanss of which are very rich, for they pay 200 Saraffi's orpicces of Gold per Day, to the Man they imploy in boyling and preparing the Sugar, and 100000 Saraffis 2 year to the Soldan, for the Liberty of refining ic. Thic City is adorn'd with a very pretry Temple, and a great Houfe like a Caftle, where they boil and refine their Sugar.
We come next to the City of Crito, which is repured The famous to be one of the greateft and moft famous Cities in the U. City of cairs: niverfe. The Word Gairo is a Cormaption of the Airabick El Chahira, i. e. A Commandinv Mijtrefs. The Ciry was built in ancicut times by Geloorr Clestib, 2 Del maticn Slave, who likewife built the famous Temple call'd Gemi-Hafhare. Acprefent (A.D. 1526) it conains only 8000 Families, of Noblenien, Gemulemen, Gmifatare and Merchants, that fell and import Goods from allom Tmpering places. If ftandsupon a beautiful Plain, in the Neighbourhood of Moune Meceatum, at che diftance of two Miles from the Niic.' 'Tisfurrounded with dtately Walls, and fortify'd with Iron Gates. The principal Streer is adornd with magrificent Palaces and Colleges, pleafant Baths, and fumpruous Tcmples, particularly che Tcm ple of Gimith Ellechim, the third Schifmatick Catifa of Cairo. The next Strect, calld Beinsl Cafrain, is fill'd with Cooks, Victuallem whofell delicate Warers mado of all forts of Fruits in fine Veffels made of Glafs and Tin, Confectioners, Fruitcrers, and others who fell Eggs, Cheefe and Pancakes, fry'd in Oil. The rext Streer is allorted to the chicf Mechanicks, bcyond which rtands a Collcge built by Gbouri the Soldnn, that was killd ina Bartle with Selimn the grear Turk. Nor far from the College are the Shops for the finett LinenCloth, particularly that call'd Mofcl, i. e. of Ninoon, which is exceeding broad and fine, and of which the Noblemens Shirts are made, as well as theScarfs they wear upontheirDulipans. Next are the Mercers, who fell the richef Italian Stuffs ; then the Woolen-drapers, who fell Eyrofern Cloth. Upon the Way that leads to the Gate \(\tilde{n}^{\text {naila }}\), which fronts the Nile, there's a famous Exchange

Z z
threc Story high, calld Camen Halidi, in which the Pe, - in effect worfe than their Preciction. The fatme place is finn Mcrchants refide, and vent Spicces, precious reforted to by Feucing-Mafters and Ballad-fingers. To Stomes, and wich other ceatly Wares. Afrer that, you come to a Strect, where the Petfumers fell valt quantitics of Civer, Musk, Amber, Efic. andthe Stationers fell delicate fmooth Paper. The next Street is inhabited ty Gold-finiths, moft of whom are \(\mathcal{F}\) ens, and very xich but paffing that you come to the Upholferers and Brokers, who fell things of great value (not Coars or Cloaks, but tich Furniture for Houfes, E. © ) at fecond hand: I faw (fays our Auchor) a sich Pavillion bought out of onc of the Shops, the very Pearls of which were fold for 10000 Serafti's. Among the other remarkable things of this City, we mult not forger the itately Hospiral built by Piperk the soldet, where all fick Perions are entertain'd, and provided with Phyficians and all other Necelfarics. The Revenues of this Hofrital amount to 200000 Seraff's a ycar, and the Hofitital is Heir to all the Sick thar dic in it
This City has very confiderable Suburbs; one of 'cm the Suturb call'd Bed zaxile, commencing from the Zurile Gate contains 12000 - Families, and many of its Intrabitants kept Shops in che City: as well as there. 'Tis adorn'd with a ttately Colledge, which is fo strong, that the Manters of it have of centimes rebell'd, and pretended to hold our againgt the City and the Soldin's Cafter which is bur half a Bow thor off. This, Cafte ftanding uponthe fide of Mount Muchactim, is furrounded with loty impregnable Walls, and conrains fuch 1'ataces as are fine beyond exprefion: They are pavid wirh excellent Marble, their Roofs are guilded and cariouly. painted, their Windows areadorn'd with divers colours, and their Gates are neatly carv'd, and beautified with Gold and dzure. Some of thefe Palaces are are fet a-part for the Solatn and his Family, and others for his Wiftes Family and for his Concubincs, Eunuchs, and Guards. But profent they lic in Ruines, being deftroy'd by Selem the Gterat Turk.
Crmet Taibn: Anorher Suburb call Gemels, Tailom, was buik before the Foundation of Cairs, by one Teylon a very wife Man fubject to the Califz of Bagder, and Governour of E:gypt, who leaving the old City, adorn'd this Quarter with an incomparable Palace and a magnificent Templc. A great many Merchants and Tradermen, efpecially the Barbary hores, dwell here.
The next pars of the Suburbs is Bed Elloch, whick lics at the diftance of a Mile from the Walls of ceirc, and contains almont 3000 Families, and is adorn'd with grear Palace and a ftately College. When the M.abometran Sermonsanid Worlhip are over, the common People of Cairo, with the Whores and Bauds, xefort to this place as well as the Srage-Players, and thofe whoteach Cameds Alles, and Dogs to dance.
The dancing of Affes is diverting enough; for after he has frisk'd and caper'd abour, his Matter wells him that the Soldan meaning to build a great Palace intend to imploy all the Affes in caryiug Mortar, Stones, and o ther Matcrials; upon which the Afs falls down with his Heels upwazd, cloting his Eyes, and makiag his Bolly to fwell asif he were dead: This done, the Mafter begs Come afiffance of the Company to make upthe Lofs of his dead Afs; and baving fpung'd as much as he canges, gives cmin to know, that truly his Afs is not dead, but only heing fenfible of his Mafter's neceitity, play'd that trick to procure fome Provender. Then he coamnands the Afs to rife, who ftill lies in the fame polture, notwithftanding all the Blows he can gire him; till ar laft he proclaims, that by vernue of an Edikt from the Soldren, all the handtome Ladics were bound to ride out as next day upon the comelicet Affex they could find, in onder to fee a riumphal Show, and to eutertain their Afles with Oatsand Nile Water; for the Words areno fooner pronounc'd, than the Afs farts up and prances and leaps for Joy: But imnictiately the Mafter gives out, shat his Afs was pitch'd upon by the Warden of their Strece to carry his deform'd and ugly Wife; upon which the Afs lowers his Earsand Himps with one of :his Legs as if he werelame: Then the Nafter alledging that his As has a kindnefs for handrome Women, commands him to Angle our the pretieft Lady in the Company, and accordingly he makes his choife, by going round and cor:ching one of the handfomett with his Head, upon which, the Company divert themfelves by laughing and pointing to the Alfes. Sweet-heatt.
Arother fore of Fugless that fequert this place, are thofe who carry Birds aboutin Cages, which after the receiving of aFce, bting out a Scroul in their Beaks, de termining the good or ill Fortune of the Perfoin that addrefles emp; and even I (fays our Auchor) having ill Forrane predivied to me by thef Divincrs, tound it tobe - Ae the the Appendages of cairo.

Ale the diftance of two . Miles from the City Walls upon the Bank of the Nite, ftronds Bulach, containing amin \(t^{+000}\) Familics, many of whom thade in Oil, Corn, and Sugar, and adorn'd with flarely Temples, Palaces, and Colleges.
Its beft Houfcs ate rang'd along the River fide, where Acy have a noble polpect of Barks, pcrhaps 1000 in the Aurumin this being the Port for C.airc, and the refidence car prat of the Cuftom-Houfe Officers, for the Goods imported from Aic.,xndria and Damiatn, tho indeed the Cuftom of thele Goods is bur litele, in regard that they havepaid al ready upon their firf unloading, whereas the Commodi tics imported from the inland paxcs are taxed to the full.
About two Miles from the City Walls, juft by Mount Familios, ftands Creruf.2, which once containd 2000 arence moft of is laid walte, and is ches, which the Citizens of Caivo adore as the Monuments of Saincs, and vifit cerery Friday, beftowing tberal Alms, and covering the Pavements with Carpets:
In this Catalogue, we may lift the ancient unwalld \(\mu_{\text {min }}\) City of Mifrullesticl, built upon. the fide of the Nill by Hrmare, Gencrifito Homert, the fecond Mabonstan Ratriarch, being thic firft that the Mabometans built in Eigpos. Ir conrains snoo Families, and is adorn'd with the bulky and lofty. Temple of Hetriarc, befides feveral ftately Palaces and Noblemens Houfes. In this place chere is a Cufom-houle for all Goods imported froin Sachid. Tis famous for the Scpulchre of Nicfiffa, a \(M\) :This Sain Seeinefended of Heli Mabomes sfirft Coullo This Saint feeing her Family deprivid of the Mabonetn. Patriarchrhip, left Cufu a City of Arabia Frlix, and came to live here, where the Pcopte canoniz'd her for 2 Saint, our of regard, partly to the innocence of her iff, and pardy to her relation to Melxomer, and when the Schifmatick Farriarchs of her Family mafter'd \(E\) grps, they built her a nobic Tomb or Shrine, adorn'd with Silver Lampsand many ocher coftly Ornaments. All che Mrhomerans in this Country pay their yearly Oblh tions to the Shrine, and no Sranger comes ro ciairo with out adoring and prefenting it with an Offering. There Of ations amounting to 100000 Sarafti's 2 ye2r, are given partly for the relief of Mabomet's, poor. Relations, and partly for the maintenance of the Priefls atrending the Shrine, who delude the People with counterficir. Mira cies, in order to ferciv up their gencrofnt: Whea Selim maitterd coire, he rook our of chis Scpullher 100000 Scraffis in ready Moncy, befides the Silver Lamps Chaius, Caypets, EEc. Nor far from this place arc the magnificeur Toubs of the Solitans, the Arches of which ate rery lozty, and from which, one of the lare sodun has made a Walk inclos'd by two high Wants leading to tbe City Gate, with Turters of a greatheighthat the ends of the Walls, calculated for directing the Dasrchanss bat comefroun the Porr of Mpunt Sinci. At the diftance ot a Mile and a half from thefe Tombs, we coine to a Garden in aplace call'd Amaltrbita. which is furrounded with a ftrong Wall, and which noMan is allow'd to enrer withour a particular Licence from the Governour, becaufe the only Balm. Tree in the World grows in it, in the midft of a large Fountain, having a fhors Truak, and Leaves like Vine-Leavcs, only they are. nof folong. tis faid, that if the Water of this Fountain Mould hap pen to be diminifh't, the Tree would decay and wi.
Over againft the old City, tie Nile makes an Ifland ure, in which the ancicnt Espprians found an Invention to forefec the plenty or fearcity of the infuing Ycar, from the inundarion of the Ni/c. This Inand is wollinhabited, containing soo Familics; The poiut or end of it is beantify \({ }^{d}\) with a fatcly: Palace and a protry Tcmple. Upon the other fide thereftands a lonc Houfe, with at quare Cittern 18 Cubirs deep, into which the, Nile Wacer is convey'd by a Sluise under ground, and there bring a Pillar in the middle of it which is divided by Matk; Ono,2s many Cubirs as the Ciftern has in dypth, fome Officers appointed by the Scpate; attend , there swhen the Nile begins to orctfow, in order to obferve bow much ithes every day, the Meafure of the Increare being puiblinied. in the Strects by Boys. with yellow Scarfs upon heir Heads, who reccive daily Rewaids from all furts of Perfons while that-Scrvicelats. Now 'tis oblerv'd, thar the Warer tifes to rhe 15 th Cubir of the Piliar, a tenciful Year infues, if it ftops between the 1.2th and sth we may expest but a forry crop, if it fops berween the cthand 12 th, Corn will be fold for ten Ducats a the icth and 12 th, Corn will be fold for ten Dutats a Buthel, but if it rifesto the 18 Cubit, the oyerbcaring moifture willoccaliona great fearcity, and if the 18th be firmounted, lisypt is threatned with an univerfal deluge; fo that during the lnundation, the People are inployd in prayingand giving of Alms, and the Boys directed by the Officers to prochaim dhe daily increafe, fitll charge the Prople to fear God. Forafonuch as the Nile increafes forty Days and decreafes as many, when the Soch Day pafes, the price of Victuals and Com is regulated by the Clerk of the Market according to the foregoing Signs, but while the Inundation lafts, every one may full Corn as what rate he pleafes, for which reafon'tis very dear in that Scafon. Afrer the adjufting of the Marker Ratcs, a grear Solemnity is celcbrated over all Cairo, with Torches and a thundering noife of Trumpcts and Drums. Each Family fealts upon Confuctions and Daintics in a Barge of their own, fer out with rich Carpets and Coverings. Ar the fame time the Soidnn arrended by his Courtiers, repairs rothe grear Conduit or Sluice, and breaking down the Walls with an Ax, givescnerance to the Water of the Ni/h, which runs fo imperuoully thro that and all the other Sluices, that Cair looks like another \(V\) enice, and then one may row in 2:Boat all orer Ezypr. This Solemnity of feafting in Barges continues for feven Days and reven Nighrs, during which fpace, the Tradefmen, purfuant to a Cuftom of the Exyprinns, Epend in Perfumes, Flambeau's, Confcetions, Mufick, EGc. all that they favid the pre ceding Xear.
Therome The Citizens of Cairo ate a joHy chearful People,' but The Humprapr to promife more than they can perform. Tho zuobfoin. yer chey never traycl. All liberal Arts and Sciences they neglect in a manner, excepting the Law, the Students of which fill all their Colleges, but few of "em atcain to any perfection in that way. The Citizens wear in Winter Cloth Garments lin'd with Cotton, and in Summer fine Shirts, with Garments of Linen curioully wrought with Silk or of Cambler ovex emn; upon their Heads they have great Turbants cover'd with Indian Cloth. The Women adorn their Fore-head and Neck with Pear Frontlers and Chains, and cheir Heads with a rich fmall Bonnet, about a fpanhigh. Their Gowns are made of Woolen Cloath with ftrair Sleeves, and curiounly embroyder'd with Needle Word, and over them they caft Vails of the fineft Cloch of India. Their Heads and Faces are cover'd with a kind of black Scarf, thro which they fee orhers, themfelves being unfeen: Upon their Feet they wear fine Shoes and Slippers, fomewhat after the Turkiff fathion. There Women are fo ambitious and haughty, that they difdain to Spin or drefs Meat, which obligestheir Husbands ro buy their Vistuals ready dreft at aCook's Shop, for very few drefsMear in their own Houfes, unleds it be fuch as have a great Family. The Wives are allow'd the Liberty of going abroad in their fine Apparel andrich Perfumes, and goliting where they pleafe. They ride for the moft part inpon Affes, which are broken to fuch a pace, that they'll go cafier than a pack'd Horfe, and adomn'd with rich Furniturc, being led by a Boy and feveral Foormex running by em. In this City, as wrell as in divers ochers, a grear many Haglers fellall forrs of Victualsup and down, and fome fell Warer, carrying it about in l. cathern Bags aponi Camels Backs, for the City lies two Miles off the Nite; but the Water that is to be drunk, is fold for a Farching a Draught, out of handfome Velfels, that have a Brafs Cock upon 'cm, and drunk in a cup of Myrrh or Chryital.
Others fell Chickens and other Fowls by Meafure, which they hatch after a ftrange manner ; for they put the Egss into Ovens moderately hor, which in the fpace of feven days turn them inco Chickens. Themeafure by which they fell them is bottomers, to that when tis full they liftric up over the Basker of the Buyer, into which the Chickens fali. The Cook-lhops are open very late, bur the orher Tradefmen thutip thop before ten a Clock, and then walk abroad to diverr thernflyes. Their common Difcourfe is ycry rank, being tainted with Smutand Ribaldry. Ofrentimes the Women compiaining before of their Husbands incapacity to fatisfie their Paition, obtain a Divorce purfuant to Malomet's Iaw. If any of the Artifans invents a new and ingenious picce of work, he is carri,d in triumph from Shop to Shop, and reccives fome Moncy at evcry place, being clad with Cloth of Gold, and attended by Muficians. I faw one (fays our Aurhor) that was thas honour'd for the making of a Chainthat would bind a Flea.
Among the fevcral religious Seetsinthis Ciry, there is oneof the Mores call'd Chencfia, which lives upon Horfe- The rcligioum fleth, and for whofe ufe che Burchers buy up all the se: founderd lame Horfes clicy can hear of. This Scet prevails wery much among the "ukk, the Rremel:kes, and the People of sfie, howeter the Ta \(k\) s do nor innure themfelves to the eating of Horfe-Flen, tho they lic under no prohibicion to the contrary. In EXypt and the C: ty of crioro, four feveral Sects are tolerated, which dir for from one ancther both in Caron and Civil I aws, tho' all of them are Retaincrs to A-iticmer: For there were four Men in the Wurld, that by verrue of their great learning and fubelety, pretended to make particular Inferences from Mabomer's general Prceepts, and wretting them to dheir own refpective Senic of thing:, gaic rife to four Malometan Setts.
As for the Government of Ciniro; It has four chicf Judges who decide Caufes of imporiance, and four in- The jom, of reriour Judges in cach Screct, who take cognifance of perty Quarrels. From the four principal Judges there ies an Appeal to the Governour of the Sect \(1: / \int /\) fichia, who is che nigheft Judge of all; for cvery Sect has a fubordinate Judge of is own, who inntict fevere lunithmenes upon all that tranfgrefs the Rules and Canons of their Religion: Bur ar the fame time the four Scets are very charitable and refpectful to one another; and to fpeak the Truth of the Materer, tho' they differ wery much in their liturgy and other Relpeets, yer they all agree in following the Canons of Maftari, the principal Doctor of the Matometans, which are recivdoicrall aficice and mont part of \(1 / \sqrt{1}\), execpting the Dominions of the Sophio of Perfit, and for that fance very Reafon the other Mabometans arcount him an Hercrick.
Asfor the Punilhments inflicted in this City on Ma- puniameners lefactors, Thicves archang'd, Murderers are cur in two of Crimuratis thro' the middle, and the upper part of the Body is thrown intoa Fire of unflak'd lime, where is remains alive for a quarter of an Hour, fecaking and giving Anfwers in the By-ftanders; Kebel's or feditious Perfons are dead alive, in which cafe the Criminal continues a long while in unexprelible Tormenc, for he doss not die cill the Execurioncr touches the Navel with his Knife, and that be dare nordo till the Magiftrate 估的ing by gives him orders : After the flcaing of the Criminal, his Skin is fuffid wirh Brantill it refembes the Shape of a Man, and carcicd upon Camels Backs thro' evcry Street. and there the Crime is publin'd. As fur Perions imprifon'd for Debe, and uncapable to pay ir, the Goveracur of the Prifon paysthcir Creditours, and fends them bound in Chains and accompanied with Keepers to beg from door to door, the Alms redounding to him, and they being allowed a very forry mainterance.

1 hall conclude with one remarkalle Cuftom in this City, namely, that of fome ancicar Women, who cry up and down the Strects in an unintellig:ble manner, and arcimploy to circumeife Women according to Majemer's Law; bur that Ceremony is only obferv'd in Egype and:Syria.

Before we take lcare of chis Subject, 'rwill be proper to take notice of the Dignicy and Power of the S:idinn, The Digrity whichinded was yery great, tho in the Xear 1517 , twas uttery funk by Selim the Great Tank. The Disnity of Soldran was wont to be beftow'd upon one of the nobleft Mamalukes ever after the fall of the Family of Saladin, whofe name was fo rerrible to theChriftians. Thele Niemalukes were orizinally Chriftian Childacn ftole out of Circafice by the Tartars, and fold at Caffe, a Town in Taurica Cbatfoncow, where they were brought by Tome Cairo Merchancs, and afterwards fold to Saladin the Solden. TheoSoldan obliging thefe Slaves to abjure their Baptifm, eaus'd them to be inftructed in the Arabick and Turkjolanguage, and traind up in Military Difciplíec; and bcing thus qualified for Pofts of Honour, they ar laft arrivd ar the Dignity of a Soldan. This Saladin, originally an Ariatick Prince, was calld in, together with his Facher, by the City of Cairo to protect them againt the lait King of Ferufficm, who threatned 'em with Deftruction ; and having difldefd the Chriftians of \(\bar{F} \mathrm{c}-\) ruffem and all Syria, made away with the Schifnatick Califa of Cairo, whole Predeceffours had continued Lordsof that City for 230 Years running, and reduc'd the City to the obedience of the Califa of Bagdet, who was iss true and lawful Goocrnour. The Schifmatical Califa's being thus fupprefs'd, Salatin quarrelidd foon after with the Califa of Begdet, and made humfelf Soveraignof Cairo; and in regard thata great part of his Forces was cut off by War and Peftilence, apply'd himfelf to the Euying of Circnflian Slaves from the King of Aimenia Thefe Slaves having abjurd Chriftianity, and being raughrthe Turkifh Language, which was Salediz's Mo

250 Mik＇s from Caire，is very remarkable for the huge and who live in the Field after the Aralian way，being Bulk and variety of old Buildings and Epitaphs engraved（fubjeat to the Pcople calld Buzion（alias Troglodyec） in Erpprian Letrers．Ar prefeat inoft of it lies defolate，for Afman is the utmont Limit of the Soldar！＇s Jurif： tho＂＂is Atill inhabi：cd by Nobicmen and wealthy Citi－diction．
ther Tongue，increas＂d fo much boch in Valour and Num－ ber，thar they became expert Gencrals，and upon the decay of the Salndin Family，chofe Piperis one of their own Number，to be their Soveraign Soldan．This Cu－ ftom was afterwards obfervid fo religioufly，that neither the Soldni＇s own Son nor any other Mannalit could at－ tain to that Dignity，unlefs he had firft lecn a Chriftian， and abjur＇d his Faich，and kearn＇d to fecak perfectly the Circalim and Turkifh a anguáges．
Under the Sold． 1 there were ten grear Officers：The next to him was the Eddaguadare or Vice－roy，who no－ minared and turnd our Magiftrates or Officers．The third was the Amir Cabir or Gencral，who leyy＇d Ar－ mice，and appointed Garrifons for the Caltes and．Citics， and was empowerd to lay Moncy out of the Soldan＇s Trcalure as hefaw occafion．The fourth was the na Bi：ff，or licutcimat of Srin，who pay＇d the Soldan fome thoulana＇s of Sarafti＇s a Xear．The fifth was the Oftadar or Steward of the Houthold，who provided Vist：als and other Nec cfiaries for the Solden and his whole Family The fixth was the \(t m i n i\) ilhor，or Mafter of the Herfe and Cameis．The feventh Office was that of Several Mromaink Colonels，who conducted his Forces againf the Encmy．The sighth was that of fome Centurions over the Memathk，who always aternd the Soldan when he rodealroad？or exercis＇d his Arms．The ninth Officer was the Treaf res；The tenth the Admir Sileh，of the Solden＇s Armour Kecper．The eleventh the Tofecane，or Mafter of the Wardrone，who diftributed Retes of Gold，Velver．Silk，Gi．according to the Soldan＇s ap－ pointment，for the Soldan always gave Cloaths to thofe whom he prefer＇d to any Dignity．
Somuch for the famous City of Cairo．Upon the Road from Cairoto Mounc Sinai，we come up with Cbanca， a City ftanding upon the enrry of a Defart，about fix \(M\) les from Cairn，and adorn＇d with Atarely Houles，Tem－ ples and Colleges．All the Fields berween Cairo and Chmata produce great plenty of Dares，bur between \(\Rightarrow\) Cinmen and Mount Sinai，which extends to \(14 \circ\) Miles， there is no place inhabited．Two great Roads，one leading to Syin and the cther to Arabir，pafs thro＇this City Is has no Water bur whatremains in fome Chan－ nels after the Inundation of the vilc，and when thefe Receivers or Chancls are broke down，the Water runs our inte the Plains，and there makes a great many froll l．akes，from whence＇tis convey＇d back by cerrain Sluices into the Citterns of the City．
The City of Munin，built by the Malbometans，fands upon the fanc fide of the Nile，at the diftance of 180 Miles from Cairo．It abounds with Dates and all forts of Fruit，and the Inhabitants enarich themfelves by tradingto Gapga in Negroland．＇Tis adorn＇d with fine Temples and other Buildings，and thews to this Day divers Ruins of the ancient Eerraim Buildings．

Monf－loob，another Esyprian Town，there are fome vcry large and high Pillars and Porches，bearing Egyp－ sian Inferiprions：Near the Nile we fecthe Ruins of a ftarely Building，which feems to have been a Temple in rimes paft，where fome Silicr，Gold and Lead Medals are fometimes found，bearing Hicroglyphick Nores on！ one fide，and ancient Kings on the reverfe．The ad－ jacent Fieldsare fertile，bur the hear of the Sun is very frorching，and the Country is much．infefted with Cro－ codiles，which perhaps was the occafion that prompred the Remens to abandon thar place． excepting a few Viilages of Blacks，whofe Speech is a zens，and concains almoft 100 Familics of Chriftians， befides a Monaftery without the City，where 100 Mcnks refide，that eat neither Finh nor Flch，but only Hertbs Bread and Olives，and fome liquorith Morfels made up withont Fat．This Monaftery is very rich，and enter－ tains all Srrangers for three Days，being provided for that and with great fore of Pigeons，Chickens，any he liks．
 dimie，the Son of Mifraim the Son of Clus，upon the mannete Afiatick Bank of the Nilf，at the diftance of 3 co Milcs gyt： Eaft fromi Cairo，and raz＇d to the very Foundation ly the Mabometans，when they firft began to wiurp the Govern－ ment of Egypr，for they tranforted the Iillars and beft Stones to theorher fide of the vile，where they built Mun \(\sqrt{2.1}\) ．
Gscrrit， 2 famous Chriftian Monaftery，to calld from St．Georts，ftood at the diftance of fix Miles from Moriate Mun／ia．＇Twas inhabitcd by above 200 Monks，who cnjoying large Territorics and Revenucs，were very kind to Serangers，and fent the Surplufage to the Patriarch of Caire，ro be diftribured by him among the poor Chri－ fians：But about iso Xears ago，all the Monks died of the Plague；upon which，the Prince of Murfia furround－ ed the Monaltcry with a Wall，and leing charm＇d by its plicafant Gardens，firuared amidft beautiful Hills，went and liv＇d in it himfelf．Ac laft，upon the Sollicitation of the Parriarchs of the Jacobites，the Scidnn caus＇d another o be built in its room，for the maintenance of ching Monks．
Chian，a litde City built by the Mabometans near the Nile，is now inhabitcd only by the Chxiftians calld Ja－ J ． cobites，who imploy themfelves in Husbandry，or in bringing up Chickens，Gcefe，and Doves．
Barbanda，founded by the Egyprians upon the－Nilc，Bromita was laid wafte by the Romans，and moft of its Ruins were carried to afura alias Siene，where we find divers huge Structures and Sepulchres with Egyprien and Latin Epitaphs．Several pieces of Gold and Silver Medals， and Fragmenrs of Emeralds are found in the Ruins of Barbanda．
Over againit Barbanda，ftandsthe ancient City of cane buils by the Egtrians，furrounded with Brick Walls，and （m， inhabired by Husbandmen，by which means it abounds with Corn，and furnifhes Medinn and Mecca with thas Commodity．The Gcods fent from Cairo to Mecca， are brought againft the Streamto Canc，from whence they are carried by Land over the Wildernefs to Cboffr， 2 Porr upon the Red Sca，which is at leaft 120 Miles off．
The laft City I mall mention，is the grear and popar－isu lous City of Affuan，builr by the Egyprians upon the Nile，about 30 Miles Eaft from Afna．It ftands upon 2 fertile Country，and its nearnefs to Nubia gives the Ci－ tizens the opportunity of a great rade．If joins like－ wife to the Froncicrs of Aibiopia，and is not far．from the Defart that lies upon the Road to Suuchen， 2 Port upon the Red Scr．The Citizens being cxrrcamly forchid ith the Summer Sun，are of a fwarthy brown colour， and mingled with the People of Nulia and Etbiopia he City Ihews many Buildings of the ancient Esppsi－ ns，and very high Towers，which the Natives call B6r－ r．Beyond this City，the Ni／e difperfing it felf into very fmall Lakes，becomes innavigable；and there we meet with neither City nor Habiration of any account，

impair'd. The City liss, according to Prolomy, in \(63 \mid\) B.llylon, in digging up its Foundation, they found Deg. 30 Min . long. and \(3 . \mathrm{Veg} .8 \mathrm{Min}\). Lat. Ar pre- a Crocodile of lead with Eapricn Letters upon it, imKent the Grand Seignier kecpis a Rurkifh Garrifon in it, porting, that chis Statue was made under cerrain Confteland func Galleys inthe Harbour for the fecurisy of the Coant. lations, to prevenc the Crocudile's derouring of Rojuir, a Sca Town, lying three I.cagucs Eaft of \(A\) he adds firther, that now the Statuc is oroken, the Crolevermbin, fems to be Prolims scianopm, which he ftates Anoong pernicious to Mankind.

Anong the Citics of Egyes that are fituatex and the sman tis now in ruins. The Conf upon which ie ftend is very stiopirn inde, which has she bet Marbour in the Red Sce dangerous, for ieveral Ships coming from the Coaft of for iss Mourh is yery naxrow, and afrerwards opens into Sy,in are caft away upon it in the night time.
a great Lake which has a fmall Mand upon it. This place
The Ronnes buile a Town calld Antisu, formerly was formerly govern'd by a King of its own, bus at preAntadon, upon the Eaftern Bank of the Nile, where fene 'tis fubject to the Baff of Cairo, under the Tuhk. grear Ala! alter Tables with latin lincriptions are ftill to \(D=\) feen.

Cigir, a fmall Town upon the fame Coaft, inhab:ed cofn
The aucient City of Tiscles, mention'd by Homer in by poormilcrable Arabisns, is the Pork from. whence the his lliads, ftood uponthe weftern Bank of the Nïls, and of the Marifh Rilgrims imbarque for Mecea or Mawas onecthe place of Kefidence for the Kings of Eegpt.' dine.
 munt, bue 'ris mof probabere that the Eagpticus were the true Founders. This place ftands in one of the two Tice lris's mention'd by Proling, who gives the Capital City the nance of L-yropoli, in 6. Deg. 46 Min. Long and 25 Degrecs 1 ar. (in this Province ftood Thebes and that of the other Diofputs or jupiser's City, fituate in \(b_{2}\) Deg. Iong. and \(=5\) Dcg. Lat. This laft I take to be Sinne. tre fane with Sienur.
Upon the Weft Bank of the Nixc the Succeffours of ho lomet buita City calld Mc.juellat Cays, which ftand fo high, that the Nive docs not overflow the adjacent Grounds, and for that reafon they are all planted with Yues, which fupply Cairo with Grapes one part of the Ycar.
The ancient Mcmplis where the Pharaol's kept their Nemet: Court in Mrfce'stime, is now defiroy'd. It ftood it L.cagucs Sourh of Cairn, and fome l'yramids are ftill to befecn near the place where it food. The rwo Branches of the Niic rejoin in the Nighbourhood of this place, and upon their Confluence there ftands an old Building, which is faid to be fofeplis Tomb; and the Grecians alfurc us, that hemples was buile in the time of frfcpl. Asfor Pcmpe's Tomb, it ftood fix Leagues to the Wert of Alexandria, where the high Steeple is, and 'cis faid the Empcrour Adrian imbellithid at:
Others fay fof cpl'sSepulcbre was at Flium, an ancient City, buils by the Ploaracij's upon a Tmall Branch of the Nilc, in the building of which, 'tis fail, the Children of \(1 /\) iach were imploy'd:
Near Menfoch, there ftood a Temple, of which an Manais.
As the furthermoft Point of the Red Sea, we mece with smes Sucs, Itanding upon a fandy Ground, that affords neither Spring nor Founcain, infomuch that the Inhabitants have no Watcr bur what is brought upon Camels from fome al Wellstwo Lcagues off. Formerly they had a Canal that convey'd the Nile Waterinto their Ciftcrus, but the Arabians have fillid it up with Earch. If thews the Reliques of anciens Walls and an old Cafte, and the Niz tives fay'twasonce agrcat City, and was ruind by the Succeffors of Malomer. At prefent no body lives in ir, but fome Work-men that are imploy'd in building the Grand Scignior's Ships, the Wood and other Marerials being brought from Tarky. This Port lies at the diftance of 22 L cagues Eaff from Cairo.
Palling a I cague further we come to Pbarroli, Poinr and feren L cagues beyond thar to the Wills of Mofer, which they fay he digg'd upon his pafling the Red Sen and for which the Arabs have a great Veneration; and 20 Leagues yer farther to Corondolo, where tris faid the \(c_{i r}\) Children of Ifract pafs'd.
The urmof Limis of Eghpe upon the Arabien fide is Tor, a fmall Town, that goes beyond all the reft 1 pon \({ }^{\text {Tr }}\) this Coaft in Commerce, Buidtioss, and Politeon 'Tis inhabited by 7 ccolites, and maintains fome Pricts ina Monattery of Sc. Carberine, in order to ksep upa Correfpondence with that of Sinay, where that Saint was inter'd. The Pcople of that Country Fay; Mopes crofsd over at this place when he fled before lif aires. Some are of the opinion that Tor is the ancient Elem, thas all the Gropraphers mention, upon the Plea, that the Gulf before is bears the name of Elamirick. Arcbian Hiftorian fays, that in the time of the Califfis of

\section*{C H a p. IX.}

\section*{Contaiuing John Leo's account of the remarkable Animats, Minerals, and Plants in Africa.}

THE Forreft of Nigroland nourith grear numbers of El: ph ans, which keep together in Companics, and either thun or give the way to a Man when they meer him by chance, bur if they mean him tharm, they knock him down with their lrunk, and trample upon him cill he's dead. The Ethiopian Hunters catch cm after this manner: They makea ftrong Enclofure with Stakes and grear Boughs in that part of the Woods. which they frequent, lealing an open Entry, with a Door lying flar upon the Ground which may bepulied up wich Ropes fo as to fop thcPaffagc. When the Elephant comes to reff under the flady Boughs of the Enclofure, the Hunters skulking upon the Trees, draw up the Door, and having thus emprifon'd him, kill him with cheir Arrows, in order to get his Teeth. In Tipper EEtijiopin and India, they decoy them by a tamc Female to an Enclofure, or fer a tame Malero fighr with a wild one in the Wood, which gives them an opportunity of cramping his hinder Legs with Ropes.
aire Giraffa.
The Ciriraffa, a Beaft headed like a Camel and car'd like an Ox, frequents the Dcfarts and Woods where no orther Beafts refort, and always flies from Men, fo that the Hunters feldom catch 'em, and indeed 'is a rarity to fee ' cm .

Camcls are vcty numerous in Africa, efpecially in the Dcfarts of Liby;, Numidia and Barbary; and tis by thec: the numberof them that the Arcbians meafure their Riches and Strength ; for be wibo poffeffes many Camels, can refiute in barten Defarss, where no other Prince can rcach him. The Africen Camels are very gencle and tame, and will travel inuch longer without Corn or Barley chan thofe of \(1 / 3\) in, who always carry their own Provender along with them. I have feen (fays our Author) an African Camel travel \(5^{\circ}\) Days withour any Grain, only at Nighr 'twas rurn'd loole to fecd upon Grass, Brambles, and the Bouqhs of Trecs, which an Afratick Camel could never have born. I have feen them travel in chis condition till they've waited, firft the Flefn of their Burches, then their Bellies, and ar laft their Hips, infomuch rhat they have fcarce been able to carry 00 pound weighr. Now there are chtce kinds of C mels; the firt calld Hugiun, are thick and tall, and the firtert for carrying Burthers, but for four Ycars they are ufclefs, after which, the leaft of 'em will carry 1000 pound of Itstian weight. When they mean to load any of thefe Camels; they give him a (wirch upon the Neck and Knees, upon which he kneels down, and when he finds himfe'f fufficiently loaded, rifcs up again. The

African:

Afrioans ufe to geld moft of them, and leave only; onc| numerous in Libys; and fcarce wo be feen elfewiere; he Camel for renFemalcs. The fecond kipd calld \(B_{c}\) - they liaye fome \(W^{\prime}\) ool apon then, but tis very hort: chrri, have a double Bunch, which renders cun fit borh Foria Frolick (hays our Author) I once rode a duarici for camizge and for riding, but thele arc only bred in 1 - of a Milc upon the Back of one of them
fin The third calld Ragnaibill, being of a flender low ate, are unqualitied for carriage, bur go beyond the for rea days togecher with little or no Provender. Thefe the Numbidian Arabe and the Lilyran Mores commonly ride upon. Offentimes the King of Tombuto, fends Expreflics upon one of theic Camels from his Scas to Seccimes, which is 900 Miles off; and comnonty they perform the Journey in eight Days ar mott, only he thacr rudes is munt be well acquainted with the Defarts, and his Reward is never lefs, hatan ppo Ducats. Aboxt the beginning of the Spring thefe Cartels sall a rutcing, and not only hurt onc anothct, blutartack all Perfons that have done them the leaft iniury while the Vencecall Purion conrioucs, is e for 40 daye When thcy affulte 2Man, they lay bold on him with cheir Tceth, and aficr tollurg him up, throw bimdown agzia and qrample himp under foor.' They caniot cadure Hunger fo well as Thirft, for thcy can jabtaia freme drinking for is 5 Days withour any anconverience nay, if they are waterd oftence than once in fix or nine Days, ic does them a grear deal of injury Whent theix Maters ride con beyond their wonted rece, thes turan tefly and difobey the W'lip, till their Mafters fing chern cerain Songs; with which they are fo pleas'd chax they performetheir: jouracy with urwonted celcrixy This (chys our Author) isan Argument that this Creaturcis poffer'd of a kiypd of hupman Realon. At caire they aie saught to dance, by accurtoming a young Camefl totread upon a red hor Floor, while a Drum bezts by him, for the heat makes him lift up his Legsaltcrnately; and afterwards when he bears a Drum beat, be calls to mind the bor Floor chat annoy'd bian under chenoive of the Drum, and folifis his Fece as if he wete actually чров ік.
TheHorfes of Bavbry are the fame in cyery Refpect armen with octher Horfes, only thcy are incredibly fwiff; in Egpr, Symia, Afia and Atrbian, they are calld Arabian Hented for tis raid, that the did als broke and these ever fince thecime of 1 fonat, auid thele have multiply'd fo prodigieutly, thax moof of Africa is feoct'd with them: And jnlecd 'ris certain, thas boch the dfricomand Arabian Defarts are to this day.tock'd with grear pumbers of wild Horfes. However, few of thefe Horfes anebred in Barbary; but the Arabiaus rhazrange io the Defres, and the Libyans breced greac numbers of them, not for wravel or waftare, but for hunciop, and to rendef 'em cican aud cliver, feed chem only with Canels Milk swice a day; allowing them Pafture in the Gras Seafon, duriag which rime chcy do nor side rhew. Thes: are inceredibly nipbbe, and if oncy can outrun a Dane or Canels. As for 审e widd Hories, uhey are feddom fecn, Waitura and can hardly be catchid, cither by Horfes or LDogs. The Axabians of the Defarts ear their Feefh, reckoning we poungeft de fycecref. They carch them by laygag a Gin cover'd wish Sand in the Watcrs wbere they ufetodrink, for the Horfe's Foor is aps to be enanollad in the Snare.

The Lant or Danfrefembles an Ox , only his Legs are Theor. finaller, and his Horns pretricr. His Hair is white, and his Hoofs as black as ject. He ourruns all Beafts cxcept the Burbary. Horfes, and is carch'd more eafly in Summerthan ia Winter, for then his Swiftuels is abated by the fcorching heat of the Sand, which hurts and cracks his Hoofs. Shiedds and Targecs are made of his Hide which are Prows agimf any. thing but a Bullet-hiot, and are extream dear.
The wild Ox is test instature than arame ane being trurion of an Afh colonr and cratream fwift. İ haunts. the Do Grtsor their Borders, and its Flefh is very favoury. The came Oxen upon the Meuruais of Africa, are no bigger than a Hiefer in ocher places, but they are frang and baxdy, and innurd to the Plow.
Itrouthe The wild Afsisof an Afl colootr, and frequents the Defare. When iricesa Map ar 2 diftance, it brays kicks and wincest till be compes up, and then frawes a way, being fwiter fhan any ocher Boaft excepting a Becharg Hoffe. They feed it Troops, and che Aroliuny czafc, butbecomes plexfanter by flapding two days after "isboyld.
Fhe Adimamane is a; trape Creeture with long dangle Mix Ears; - tis htop dike Re Ramendas higas an Ais. The Libibus ufe: in inftead of Cows, and make a grear deal of Butter and Checfe of their Milk; for they are very

The Af,ican Rams differ from the other öliy in their Tails, which are very large, efpecially if the Ratns are Rnon , tricich an; fome of them weigh ten Pounds, ever wheri they nomes ini Fced, upon the Mountaius ; but in ligyp: they arcefed with Bran and Barley till their Tails are to overgrown, that hey cannooftir withour litele Carts under their Tails io bear chem up. 1 faw one (fays our Author) that weight 8 c Round, and heard of fome that weight iso Pound. In finc, all the far of chis Creature lics in its Tail, and they arc only to be found in \(T_{4 n \dot{x}}\) and \(E\) spr.
The African Lions cxceed all other Brafts in frengeh the tion and cructry, and fpares neither Man nor Beaft. In fomic laces onc lion will enconnter 200 Horicmicn. They re fictrefl inhor places, fich as the Fronticts of Tcnifne and Ftaz, the Decart of Amgad, &cc. fot thofe which frequene cold Mountains are nor fo crucl. 1: he Spring, when the Lioneffes are hot, they have bloody Confilts one with anothicr, cight or ten lions couting hefame Miltrefs. Thuownot what Truth is in the comnon Report, that if a Woman hews a Lion hier Rriiities, he will cry and roar and runaivay; but this 1 aun ure of, that whatcyer 2 Lion gets in his Patw, if it were a Caracl, he will eatry it off.
The Leopard does noo difturb the ramic Catt.c, and Ficchorars. iflers no Injury to Mien, unilets he be provok'd or incets Man in a narrow Paflage fo that he cainor avoid him, in which carche fiics at his Face, with his Paws, fle romicimes crulhes his Skull in pieces. He fpares no Dors, ur deyours them wherever fic can come at them. In the Region of Comfantina the Mounrainccrs hupt the Leopard upon Horfback, and plant Horifemen at all the Avenues to hinder him to ger' out, ufon which. be winds and rurns within the Circle, till stic Horrcmen hoot him withicheir Arrows: and if he happens to make his efrape, the Manchat lets him pafs is oblig' \(d 6 y\) cuftom Torcat all the Company.
The Datuh, call'd by the Afric.ans Feffef, refembles a Xhe Dabmb. Wolf in bulk and ghape, only his Lecs and Fcce arelike a Man's. If iniures no ocher Ecaft, Bcing an abject filly creaturc; but twwid rake the Corps of Mcn ous of thicir Gaves and de:our them. 7 ie Hunffinch acquaziured with his Den, bear Drums and fing before is, by which means he is To wranfported thar he fies fifl, arat in the mean time chicy cntangle bis Licss, avd So he is drawa out and killd.
The Civer Cars frequent the Woods of Ethicpit, be-cive Cass. ing naturally wild: but the Mecthants take their young. Kijdes and put chem into Grates or Cages, where they fcedhem upan Milt, Bran and Flefh, and rwice or thrici it day make them rum up and down the Cages till ticy fweat, upon which they gather the odoriffrous Swicas from their Groins, Shoulders, Nocks and Tails, and recryitinder the pame of Civer.
The Apes are found in the W cods of Mauritan:r, and Axa Mrinupon the Mountains of Bugia and Confiantinn. Thofe heys.bocal which have Tails are calld the by Aftuchis Noone, and thoie withour Tails Becuini:" They fced upon Grafs and Corn in great Companies, leaving onc to litand Contimal to give the Alann when the Hustiandinzia comes, and when char happens he crics cur, upon whuch the whole Flock flies to the next Woou's; and gess uron the Trecs, the She-Apes taking their Whelps upon their Shoulders, and to leaping from one Tree to anortect.
The Sea-horfe is allogether deftitute of Hair, te- Thesia found in the Rivers of Niger and Nizus, whicre hic liyes all day, tho" he fiwims to the Sthoar 2t night: He frequexdy anks Boars upon the Nizer.
The Sea-Co thas a very hard Hide, and is not bigger the som than. 2 Calf of fix Months oid: He is that late a ox. Cand-Ox, and is found in the ante and the \(\bar{X}\) iorr bur whenthe Fibiemen take him he will live a graar while ypon Land.
A grcar many Tortoifs as big as to many Tuns are Tortoif . ound in the Lilgen Defarts: They hie jtill all day, and crecp up and downitin the Night time in queft of Food, but Io lonvty thar their Pace con hardif be percect d. Brizi in his scouput of afica, tells is of a Trayelicr hat Rept all Night upon a Tortoife, takiug it to be a Stone, and next Moring found himpelf dirce Mills off the place where he lay doyn.
The Nizer and the ilie are famous for Crocodiles, crocodilo. omeof which are above 12. Cubits long, the Tail being qualin lengeh to the Body. They po opon four legs line a Lizud, and are nocabove a cubir ana a haff high:

Their Tail is full of Knots, and their Skin fo hard, that no Crofs-bow will pierce it. Some prey only upon Fih, others upon Mon and Beafts, by wrapping their Tails round them as they pafs by the River fide, or as they fland carclelly in a Boar, aind to pulling them into the Water wherethey devour them. In cating they move only the upper Jaw, the nether Jaw being fix"d to the Breatt Bonc. Upon the Ranks of the lland they bask themfelvesinthe Sun with theis Jaws wide open, and 1 faw ( Cays our Author) litele Birds about the biginels of athrufl hy into their Mouths and come piefently out again. Now to oolve this'tis alledg'd, that the Crocodices teding continually upon Beafts and Filhes, are toubled with picees of Flefh ficking betwenn "rheir Tecth, which turn to Worms, and thefe Worms the Birds pick out fortheir own Food, the Crocodile being feard from dhutring his Jaws upon "cm by a prick ufon the Bird"s Head. The the Crocodi'c laysher Eges upon the Shore, and covers them with Sand; and as foon as the young Crocodiles are harch'd, they crawl into the River. Thote which continus in the Niice are noc venomous, but thofe which thiff their Refilence from the River to the Defarts, affume a foifonous narure. I faw (hays our Author) above 3 co Crocodiles Heads plac'd upon the Wallsof C'ann, with their Jaws wide open, that they mighr have fwallow'd a Cow at once, and fet round With huse flarp Tecth.
In the Caverns of Atlas there are many monftrous Dragons, which are thick about the middle, bur have fender Necks and Tails, fo that their Motion is bur now. They are fo venomous, that whatever they bite or touch, certain death infues
In the Libgan Defarts we find the Ifydra, which has a Acnder Tail and Neck, and a hors Body. If a Man is bir by this Crearure, he cannot cfeape death otherwife, than ky curting off the wounded part, before chemortal Poyfoninfects the whole.
The Dm.
In thefe Defarts we mece with another Creature calld Dili, which is thap'd like a Lizard bur is fomewhar bigger, being a Cubic long and four Fingers broad. crinks none, for Water pour'd down its Throat kills i immediately. It lays its Eggsas a Tortoife does, and is not at all renomous. It equalsa Lizard in fwiffncfs, and whicntis hunted, if it inrufts its Head into a hole, no when tis humed, if it thrufts its Head into a hole, no force whatoever can pull it our withour enlarging the holc. The Arabiains take many of them in the De carts, and whicn their Throat is cur they blecd but very litule. After they are chrec days dead, if you pur them To the fire, they'll fir as if life were nor quite gone. When they are thead and roafted they tafte fomewhat like a Frog.
The Guarel is bigger than'a \(D u b\), tho' it refembles it in Alape, and has Poyfon in its Head and Tail; but when thefe arc cut off, the Arabians car it notwithftanding its ugly flape and colour.
atecumtitur. Whe Cemclion has the thape and bulk of a lizard, being an ugly, crooked, meager Creatrice, with a long innall Tail like a Moufe: 'Tis flow pac'd, and fecds upon Air and the Sun Beams, for ar the rifing of the Sun it gapes and rurns it folf up and down. Its colour is fometimes black and fometinics green, for it hasno Hair, but only fors which underge an alteration, according to the fiace where ris. When it fics a venomous Serpent Acering uncera Tree, it ciambsupthe Trec, and fqueezcs out of its Mouth a long chrcad of Spittle, with a round drop like a Pearl honging as the end, conducting is fo that is falls exactly upon the Serpents Head and kills him immediazely.
the ofrich. I The oftricis is 体apid like a Goofe, only its Neck and Less are longer, for fome of cm aie nor above two Cubits long. It has a large Body, wich Wings full of black and white Feathers, which are nor calculared for Aying, bur contribute with the Motion of her Train, to accelerate her- Pace rogether. 'Tis a filly deaf Creature and feeds upon whatever ir finds, tho'ir be as hard as Iron. It lives in dry Defarts, and lays ten or twelve Eggs in the Sand, which are not bigger than a grear Bullct, and yet weighs \(: 5\) pound a piece; however tis fuch a heedlefs forgefful thing, that it quickly forgers where it laid its Eggs, and if another. Ottrich finds them, fhe faftens them as her own. The Chickens prowle up:and down the Defarts for their Food as foon as they creepout of the Shell; and beforc their Feathers are grown they are fo fwift pac'd, that a Man can farce overtake 'em. The Numidianstake up the young Oftriches and fatten them for food, tho' their Fien, efpecially that of their I.egs, has a fimy rank tafte. The Oftriches wander up and downthe Defarts in regular Troops, and appear ar 2 diftance filie fo many Horfemen, which has ofrentimes alarm'd whoic Caravans.

Wc come now to sive fonie accolint of the moft re- Eran markable Fowls in Africe. The Afirenns trach their Eagles to attack Foxes and Wolves, which they do, by fixing their Bulls upon their Heads, and their. Talons on their Backs ro avoid the danger of biting ; and if the Fox or Wolf thus attack'd werns their Belly upwards, the Eagle will not quir 'cm till it has peek'd oute-there Eyes or killd em. Many Aticion Writers affirm, tha: an Eagle ingendring with a She-Wolf, begers a Uragon, which has the Beak and lVings of a Bity, the Fect of a Wolf, a Serpents Tail, and a Skin freckled and parti-colour'd like a Serpents's, and livesin Caves, for that it canfer open its Eyc-lids.

The Nefir is the largef Fowl in all Africa, and cxeceds a Cranc in bignets, tho its Bill, Neck and Legsarefrme what florter. In flying up it mounts our of light, bu deficnds with a jirk when it fics a dead Carcafe. It heses very long; nay, many of this kind live till Age bercayes them of all their Feathers, upon which, they returin to their Neft and are nourind by the younget Fowls. They neftle upon high Rocks, and the top of unfrequented Motinnains; efpecially upon Mount ithos where thofe whoare acquairted with fuch places come and take "em. The Ienlians take it for a Vulture, but 1 am of another mind.

Upon certain Mountains of the Niumidien Defart, thic Africans take excellent whire Hawks, with which the purfuc the Cranc. Some of thefe Hawks flic at Par tridges and Quails, and others at Hates, according to the diverfiry of their kind.
They have likewife Parrots as kigis Doves, fome red, re Fome black, fome Afh colour'd, which hare fweet frrill Voices, tho indeed they cannor imitatc Man's Specch fo narurally.
Sometimes they have fuch fwarms of Locufts as ob Lexte. frure the Sun, which devour I caves, Fruits, and all fors of Grecns. At their departure they leave Eggs behin' 'cm, out of which young Locelts foring, that confuth: all things, and cren the very Barks of Trees, and occafion 2 great fcarcity of Corn, efpecially in Mcurisma ; bit the Inhabitants of Libya and hrisbia Deferta welcome the Locufts whenthey come, for they dry them in the Sun, and pulverifecthem for Food.
As for the Minerals of Africa. All their Salt is diggrd ontof Quarries and M:nes. like Stone ; 'tis cither \({ }^{\text {st }}\) red, white or Grey. Barbery has greas plenty of Salt, and Numidir does not want; but in Nregrolania and the inner part of 1 ethiopic, 'ris fof farce, that a Pound is worth half a Ducat. The Africans do not fet Sale upon the Tabie, bur hold it in cheir Hands and lick of it at evert morfel. Thers are fome Lakes:in the Neighbourhood of \(F_{t}\), where good white Sale congeals in the Summei cime.
They find Antimony in their Lead-Mincs, and purify wime it with Brimftone, of which they have grear quanrities. ne:m That part of the Aclat that makes the Fronticts of Ninmidia and Fct, affords a large Product of this Mineral.
Among their Vegetables, the moft nored is Euphorti-Emisime Pm, which is the Juice or Gum of an Herb, full of fharp Prickles, that grows like theHead of a wild Thiftc, and Thews between its Branches, a Eruit.as big as a Cucumber, and an Ell long or more. This Fruirdoes nor fpring out of the Branches of the Herb, bat from the firm Ground, and fomerimes one Stalk bears 20 or 30 of ' cm . Whenthe Fruit is ripe, the Inhabitants prick it with chei Knives, upon which a whire Juice iffues forth, that congealsby degrecs, and then they put it inco Bladders and dry is.
Their Pitch is either natural or artificial. The former istaken our of cercain Stones in Fountains, that reain \({ }^{\text {ri }}\) its tafte and fimell; the latter iflues out of the Jumiper or Pine Trees in Mount Athos in this manner. They cut the Foughs of the Trceinto fmall picees, and put them into a Furnace cover'd above, which has a fire underneath. and a hole at the bortom, thro which che Pitch diftills into a hollow place made to receive it, and then they rake it our and pur it in bladders.
Among their Fruirs Muffa deferves our norice; 'Tis \({ }_{\text {Mrfa }}\) o: 2 delicious Fruit, as big as a fmall Cucumber, and grows mam in: upon a fmall Tree chat has large broad Leares of a Cu bits length. The Mabometan Uoctors affirm, that this was the Forbidden Fruit, and that ourfirft Parentscover'd their Nakednefs with thefe Leaves, as being the fitteft for that Purpofe. Irgrows plentifully as Seln in \(\mathrm{Fe}_{\hat{2}}\), but yet more in Damiara in Esppr.
The Caffa Tree grows only in Edppr, beinga very big caju ree, with Leaves refembling thofe of a Mulberry. Tree. It has a broad white Bloffom, and is fo overcharg'd with Fsivir.

\footnotetext{
\(-\)
}

CAmels are calld by the Arabians Gimect, i. e. The R Richere of Heracte. They arc usid for Carriage boch in Eumpep, turky, and Jfara, as well as in \(A\) frica. The Africic Camels that ravel withour Oars or Grain, foould be icry far before they begin a Journey; for they melt away upon a long Jounce, fince they only chew their Cud all day upon the Grans that they atc over night: 'Tis mue, the \(\mathrm{C}_{2}\) rivans that go to Attriopia, commonly choofe meagre Cammels, becaurectcy bring no heary Commodiry back with them; but the \(A j a t u\) is \({ }^{2}\) Camels that canty their Pro vende along with them, will goand return loaded withour lofing thicir Fac. The beft Camels for carrying are the gclded ones. When the Seallions rage with Luft they call to mind drce. leaft Injury recived beforc, and refent ic, and fometimes encounter Lions. The Arabian, fered for the greareft part of the Year, upon Camels. Milk and Dates. As for their Fleft' 'is lazik and infipid, crpecially that of the Bunch, which raftes like a fat Cow's Udder, and bc:h thc Africans and Arabians fry it with far, and fo keep ic in Tubs and Poossall the Year for their ordinary Viatuals. In finc, of alll Creatures, a \(C_{2}\) mel gives leat troublc to its Manter, and brings him moft Profic. They trixie mightily in hor Councricis, but dic in cold Counrries whenit frows, or when they are congtrind to winter cherc. Several Camels have been fent to spein by the Governours of the Fronticrs, bur the cold Climarc quickly kills them. For this Reafon they are alwwys kepri in the hoc Plains and fandy Places, unlefs ic be when they come loaded from Nizmidia to Bartary, in which Journcy they frend two or threedays in croffing the Mourrains of the Grate Atlus.
The Barbery-Horfes bred in Barbary, are nor fo good Courcers as thorf brought up by the Arabians in the Defarts, but they are handfomer, by teafon thax they are betertrearcd wish Oats The Princes of Barlary have alwwys 2 Breed of 'em, to make chlcicire ecrape upon 'em in cafe of nceeffiry. When the Xerifif Mahammer was King of Moroces, he had one, that by his furpafing f Wififnefs, refcrid him from great dangers, when his own Brocher rebelld againft bim. He wasa bay-brown, bill Age made him peffectly whire; and that Prince frid he would crect a Tomb for him, as Alexender tbe Great had done for his Horle.
The Widd-horfes are lces chan ocher Horfes, and for the moff part of an Ahb-colour, tho' fome of 'em are white. Their Mancs and Tails are very:ffort, and fand up like Brifils.
The Sea-horfes are of fte camc Colour wich a Panther: They have fonec fiort Hair upon the Manc and Tail, tho nor upon the reff of their Body. They arclarge:Animals, and have cery large Tecth, which thc Porruy gezec buy of the Nesroce, and import to Portuystl, in ordec to make Riurs of ' em , which are fied to be good againft the Piles. Upon the Land they run like the Wind. Some of the Negroes catch the young ones and rame em ; bur thcy dare not lec' cm come neax any deep Water. for they precendy jump in. They carch cm by making large and deep Ditches upon the fides of the Com-Fied ds or Mcads where chcy come our to feed, and cover 'cm wish green Turf aid Boughs, upon which, the Horfes rumning that way, are forod, and the Men have an opporuunicy to froor cm. The Femalcs and Colts indeced they rake alive. Their Fleftifeats welh and theic Hides: are very fervicealice, b ing as shick and hard as a Buffes.
The Do: irc, calle by the iff: ctezs Lanpes, has fioter

Goar's, and he has a black Horn in the middle of his Head, which rurns round like a Ring. The Flefh of it cats like Beef, only 'ris fweeter; and the Moors fill their Poudcring Tubs with ic. The Defarts of Numidin and Libya are the Places which this Creature frequents.
The Guabex, calld by the African Chriftions a Wild-Genisx. Cow, is of a Chefnut Colour, having black and very. harp Horns: "Tis fomewhar lels than a fmall Ox. In Barbiry you may fec 100 or 200 of 'em together, runa ning up and down like Harts. Their Flefh cats very well, and their Hide when curry'd, makes good Shoes, with black Horiss, nurnd like a Goat's, excepring that they are round and very harp. They frequest the fame places with wild Cows, and have whitc Belliss; and never lie down bur where the Ground is very cican. They are very fwift, and cautious of coming neara Man; for they becake themeleves to fight a s foon as they fyy him : Hovever, the Arabians make, 2 nifif to kill a greas many cm.

The Sea-Ox, calld by the Arabiens Tamblaberei, is sca. ox: much ralued, becaurci is Fleth raftes very well.
The Sca-Affes are very common in Niwnidia, Libya, ScaAsf. and the Neighbouring Countrics.
The Lions, calld by the Arabians Aced, are fometines Liom tunted by the Arclizisis, and the Grandites of Conntrics, nourned npon Horr--back, wich Drumis and Trumpets. When theididrabians hara of \(a\) furious \(L\) ion in the \(C\) ounry, they march our in chis mannect ro his Den, for he ncver comes abroad in the Day-dime, the Night being the Safon in which he forrag gs for Pref. Having furrounded his Dens they floor thicir Darts and Afrows upon him a 5 a diftance \(;\) and when he fands himfelf wounded, Te comes out roaring, and falls upon the Men and Horres. Upon that they make a noife with hhici Inftrumenss ro fighth him, and if is were not for the danger they encounter, bave the beft hunting in the Worid. However, he always kills a grear many Horics, if not Men In \(E\) er the Kings divete themfleses with Lionbaiting, as shc Spantiards do wirthiBull-baing, as 1 inimamed in the Defripiotion of that Councry. This fierce Animal teals in among Flocks of Shecep, and carries off what he pleafes, fometimes to the Mouncrins, and fometimes to the Caverns, where his lirthe ones are ledg'd. Ofentimes heenters the Shepherds Huts, and if he finds any one aflece, he gives him the famc urage; butif they make bead againft him, he fcours of. The Captives thare make their efrape our of \(\mathrm{B} a-\mathrm{b}\) bry, and fie acrofs she Mouncains to rhe Coaft wherc Chrititizns refide, affirm, chat if one metes a \(a\) lion in the Night-time, and concinues his pace without altering his countenancc, the \(L_{i}\) on will not atrack him, but on the contrary looks down when he mects him ; bur if he fhews the leaft figm of frar, the Lion precencly firss ar him, and pulls him in pieces. Offentimes hc follows the Capdives that he finds thus undaunied, expecting to furprizc 'em afeep. Tis very hazardous for 2 Man to mect a Lion in Wianter, when theirt turt is zalofy; for then they are always cen or rwelvc in a Company. Bur afticr all, the Licon, as bodid ashe is, is faraid of Fire; and for that crafon, when the dialicans pars che Nigbtin any open place, tlicy kincle a greac fre ta, hinder his approach; and if they percecive one drawing near, ftop hiun by throwing hor Firc-brands in his way. He felltom approaches withour Becing ferciv'd, becaufe he is follow'd by cerrain Animals litric bigger than Foxes. and of the fame colour, which eatip his Orts, and howl like Doiss, audd fo sive the alarm. The lion hates thefe Creatures mortally, and tears 'mn in pieces whente mests 'cm ; but they are fo cunning as rokecp ons of his sway and never conc near him till he has filld his Paunch, and lefs his Frey.

A2 2
The Daunth has an cafy Opportunity of turning up the Corps of dead Men, becaufe the Moors bury all in the Fichls: Befides, that its Fle1h is good for nothing, the Moors abhorit.
The Civet-Cats are of a greyith white colour, inter lacid with black Srripes like the Roman Cats; but the are larger and ftronger
Apes have the Fect, Hands and Face (fo to fpeak) of a Man. They are full of active Vigour and Malice. They are very pernicious to all forts of Fruit, for they pull and throw down much more than they eat or carry off. The wild ones will bite, but they arecafily tamd Eleptians. Animal of ants, calld by the Mfresns Fon, Histize. He Fond has no Neck (properly fpeaking) For his Head, which is very \(b i ;\), is fattened to his Shoulders: His Ears are like two Targes; his Mouth is placed in his Throar, and corcrid with a Trink, with which he teeds himelf, and Jits whatever be takes up. Sometimes when he goes into the Water, hell fiock up iso Pinss of Warer in his Tiunk, and fer ur it above a Pike's length high into the Air. He goes very fuife, and if he le purto it, will go fix days journcy in ore. In lmin and Cipper Ethopta, they are caken up when they're young, and bred up rame, and are fo wife as to underftand every thing that faid to "cm. Some of the fmaller fort have becn brough into Europ:; but there are others folarge, that they cannot be embark'd. When the Ethiopians are at War, they Fer ren or twelve Men on the Back of an Elephant; wher they thoot Arrows and Datts, and Iling Stones. The lyory made of its Teech and Tulks, is the chicf Commodity that the Portugueje deal in with the Negroes.

As for Tortoifes, the Africans fay their Fleph is of foveraignule againft a Leprofy, if is be caten feven Days to gether, and if the Tortoife be not above feven Years old The Ba lery Merchants trademuch in their ShicIIs, wbich are as bis as a Target, and fo ftrong, that the Shor of a Crofs-bow cannot picrec em

Of the iddimain, 'ris oblervable, that the Maleshare no Horns, but the Females bave. 'Tis 2 R
pos'd for a Shew in Numidia and Berliay
The Africrin Rzims bave fire or fix Horns, fome bend ing upwards and fome downwards.
Cropdiles. providet by arure becaute is Feer becing very thort

2t. II found, that chofe which are neareft the Sca, meet with a fufficient quantity of Fib to fatisfy 'cm; whereas thofe whicli lie upon the Country get bue few.
Whein the oftrich, runs, it whips and (purs its felf on athe ofic with its large Feathers. The Aratians fell thefe Feathers to the European Merchants, who dyc em into all forts of colours, and then fell 'em to the Beaux, as Ornaments for shcir Heads.
The Unicorn is found in the Moumains of High Eethi. Thetaiw opin: Tis of an Afi colour, and refembles a Colt of two Xears old, cxicepting that it has the Beard of a Goar, and in the midele of its Forchead a Horn thrse Foor long, which is fmooth and whitc like Ivory, and has yellow ftreaks running along from top to bottom. 7 his Hom is an Antidore againft Poyfon; and 'ris reported, that other Animals delay drinking sill it has roak'd its Hom in the Water to purify it. This Animat is fo mimble, that it can neither be kill'd nor taken; but it.cats its Horn like a Staf, and the Hunters find it in the Defarts. But the Truch of this is calld in gucition by fome Authors.
In the Country of the Abyfines there are grear numbers भide \(x\) of Wilu-goats, among which, the He-goars are as big as alarge Calf, and their Hair is fo long, that is trails upon the Ground, beìng as thick and grots as Horle-hair The valuable Ieather calld Charequici, is made of is Skin, curried with thic Roor of Allfgnin, which grows plentifully in that Councry. Abengeasar fays, fix Mcnamed may be placd in the Branches of that Tree, fo that they cannot rouch one another with their Hands.
In the fame Country we mect with large Cows which have no Hair, but have a long Tail trailing upon \(\operatorname{cosmin}\) the Ground, and a parti-colourd Neck. The Edppians give'en the Title of Demniet, i. c. Ferrilc.
Thar Country affords likewife a Drug of grear Medi cinal Yertues, which refembles the Grecian Pirch.
There is a part of Geneova calld Limes, which turns Pitch or Bitumen into Balm in 2 few days time afier 'is Pithetart brought thither. In the fame Country there are feveral \({ }^{20}\) a Lottery Stones refembling the Members of a Man, fome his Fect, fome his Arm, lome his Head, Eic. which Mca carry about with 'em as Inftruments of good fortanc And 'tis faid, that whoever lights upon an cntire Stone that refembles the full proportion of a Man, may by vertue of that, fecure the Favour of Kings or Princes, or any Perfon he converfes with. Such are the Fables that Authors hand down to Pofterity, together with 2 grear many more of the fame nature, which we choore to pafs over in filence.
ln the Weft pars of Mount Athes, we find a \({ }^{\text {fet }}\) calld Surnar, which proves an Incentive to Vencty; not thens. only when kis ate, but when one makes water orce it.
In Numidia a certain Fruic, or rather a Roor is found among the Sands, which the Phyficians call Combic, and the fra: entitle ro a cooling Vartue. Ir has a white Rind, but cimm no Sralk; and forme of the fort are as big as Oranges. The Arabiens roaft 'em upon the Gridiron, or boil 'cm in Watcr or Milk, and find 'cm a very delicious Food. In Numidia, Libya, and part of Negrolind, there ase iarge thorny Trees, which have I_caves refembling thofe of the Juniper-rree, and from which a Gum iffucs, that has the fame colour and froell with Maftick, and is of rentimes made ofe of to adulterate is. The Trees of this kind that grow in Numidia, have white ftreaks like Olive-trecs; whereas thofe of Libya have ftreaks of an Azure colour, and thofe of Negroland perfectly black. Thofe of Niegroland are call'd Sangu; and the Whod is made ufe of in the making of Luttruments, or any. polifid work. The Wood of the Litgen fort is tranfporred all orer Africa for the curc of the Pox, and is calld by the Natives Ehalca. the motion of the under Jaw wou'd incommode if. I has rexy marp Teeth, and a Throat fo wide, as to receive 2 whole Cow. Several of the Ezyptians cat the Fleth of a Crocodile, and find it very good; and its Fat is fold ar a great rate, upon the acrount of its being a fo veraign Remedy for Ulecrs and Canecrs. The Fither men rake the Crocodiles by this Stratagem ; They ralta 2 big Rope about \(250{ }^{2} 3^{\circ}\) Fathom iong, to a large Irce or to fome Pillars fer up on purpofe on the River fide on the other end of the Rope they faften a grear Hool as big as one's Finger, and a Foor and a half long, with a Ram or 2 Goat fticking upon it: When the Goar or Ram bleats and makes a noife, the Crocodile comes ou of the River, and fwallows it, and fo is hookd; upon that he leaps and works till he falls down as it were dead thro farigue and torment; and then the Fifter-med com up, and wound him in the Throat and Belly, and between the Legs, where the Skin is tender; for upon the Back tris almoft proof againtt a Mulker fhot. The Head of the Crocodile thus kill'd, is put up upon the Walls of the Town, as a Trophy. Tis remarkable, that whe Chereas thofe abore the City devour every thing they can come

\section*{C н a \(\quad\). X .}

\title{
The Rife and Progrefs of the Xeriffian Family in Batbary; mith fome Remarks upon the Policy and Trade of that Kingdom: Collected from the Writings of Ro. C.
}

THE Family of the Mereincs poffef'd the nuc. He alrays kept peace wich Cirififendom, and pat Kingdom of Barbary for a long time, till ticularly with Spain his powerful Neighbour: But faill Mulcy Hamer Xariff came out of the Country he had the preateft regard for England, as appcars froin his refpeet of Darr, and with bis Mountaineers fubdued the many Lerters be wrote to Oiven, asparas from to the orecn
 (ime. Conqueft from the Mountains of Aches to the Streighass of Gibrilter. Having made fuch Advances, his nexr Ambicion was to prove himfelf a Xariff, \(i\), \(e\) : one of Mchrmer's Family. But after all, he injoy'd not his new Acquiftions long; for foon after Sus rebell'd: and while the Xarijf, at the Head of fome Turki/s Troops, attempted to reduce the Rebels, thefc Aurxiliarics mntined, and after bchcading him, pillag'd Xaradant, ant ravag'd the wholc Country. Having ipent two Montth in lay ing the Country dafolace, they begun their March back to Trems/ñ, and indcavouring to take the fhoreft cut o ver the Mountains, werc orrack'd by the Inhabitants, whom, either Revenge, ora Profpet of Spoil, had animared to thar degree, that few or none of the Turk. cfap 'd Trccestat This Hamet-Xariff was fucceeded, after a Reign of uirmd hu war with the. Marcines all his life time. He rcign'd fifsmetcat reen Xcars, and leff bechind him thirteen Sons. Mulo Sntulum abielfa the eldeft, fucceeded his Father, and immediazely Nitkere orderd ten of his Brethren to be pur to death in one day efcap'd into Turk. The chird, namely, Muley Hameet \(X_{\text {arijf, }}\) was pard, as being not fcar'd; for he was fonder of Books than of Arms. Abdela reign'd forty Years, and left thrce Sons, namcly, Mule Mchamet, Mulg Sbeck, and Melles Nicfar. The two laft fled into Spain, where the eldeft of the rwo rumn'd Chriftian. The youngeft recturn'd to Barbry in the ; 4 th Year of Mulf Mehamet's Reign, and at his landing 2000 of the King's Souldicrs revoled to him: But cheir Lent approaching, and the Souldicrs being recolv'd to keep their Eaffer an home, Naffar mittrufting their return, was conftrain'd to give battel to che King's Army, in which he loft his life Muserch Abdelmelkel, Frecond Brother to Aldela, obrain'd of the Kimaniu Turk 2000 Souldiess, by whofe help he dethron'd his Nephew Mchamct, Abdela's eldeft Son, and wore the Crown of Barbary two Ycars. Multy Meliamer, thus difooffers'd of his Kingdom, fled to Porrug n l, and made his Addrefs to Sebaftian King of that Country, who went to Barbary in Perfon wich 30000 Mcn, and gave batcel to Abdelmelech." In the beginning of the Fight the Morrs Acd, and the Chriftians to draw 'cm into a Snare, xetir'd t00: upon which the Morss advanc'd a fecond time, and the Van of their Horfe was put into diforder; but the Rear of their Horfe being fo numerous, that the adranced Troops had nor Field-room to fly, they werc forcd to fight itour, and thereupon a bloody Bartel enrum Krage ued, in which the three Kings, Muley Mchamer, Abdet kin onst melcech, and Sclofficn King of Portuoal were all kill'd.
 inticze Hanmes Xariff, third Brocher to Abdela, rcign'd in great therios. peace 27 Years. Having fecur'd the Quriet of the King dom by fercral adrantagious Regulazions, his next Care wasto provide himelfe with abte Gounfellors and expericncd Souldiers. His Subjects being divided \(q\) into two Claffes, namely, the Larbies and the Brebers: The firf minding only Tillage and Agriculure, were of a peaceable Difpofitiont;', and ovex them he fer Officers to adminiffer Juftice, and determine Controverfies of Civil Rights; and at the fame time pofted Guards to fecure cm from the Robberies of the Mountaineers. This Rank of Reople ( 1 mean the Larbiss) payd to the Crown the fifth Penny yearly. The Breters or Mowntainecrs, being of a fiercer and more undaunted temper, he divided cm into Cantons or Diftricts, placing o're each Canton an Officer, wish Souldiers, to fuppeiés any fudden Tumult; and, for 2 Pledge to their Ioyaity, he took care to have the chicf Men's Sons at his Court, under pretence of Education: Fromn this Ranl hedrew buta frall Revo

Cn Eliznbech, the In-and Kngilom Couragement he gave to Englifh Mcrchants, and the of Engluand. Tplendid Embaffy he fent to that Qucen An. Cr. 1601 This Prince was alfo a greas Favourer of Marhcmaticians.
Towards his Subjects his Carriage could not he calld disis verrinous yramical: The abfolute Power he had over them, be ond man:T Fwecten'd with an obliging Clemency. Ho was carcful to Qalifios. fill his Trcafury, and for that end he always had his Duties cxacly paid him by the larbics. He trafficked much Garo, whence his Profits were return'd him in Gold. His Maferapes or Ingencess wherc his Sugar-Canes grew, werc hutbanded with great Induftry; fo rhat fuci of them at lay about Moruecos, Taradant, and Magado, wcre compurcd ro yield him yearly 600000 Ounces. He Hdmir'd any thing that was magnificens, as appcar'd by his buying the richeft lenlian Marbles, and hiting Isticin Workmen at cxceffive Rates, to rcbuild his Houlce as Moruccos, and by che numcrous train of Womcn he kept, nor for Lutb bur Stare, according to the fathion of thic Country The Pleafures which fuired beft with his own temper were rhe Menagc of Horfes, Hawking, and fuch like manly Exercifes.
He had five Sons, namely, Mulky Mchamet, com-his sone monly called Muly Streck, the Title always given to the King's eldeft Son: The fecond Mu'ce Befferes: thefe tivo he had by one Woman, a Negro Concubinc. The third Muley Sidan, by a lawful Wife; the fourth Mules Naffrr; the fifth Muly Abdec: : there rwo by a Concubine the Gift being nineteen and the laft fourreen Xcars of Age at the time of their Father's deach. Ths eldelt of thefe ave he made Governour of \(F_{E T}\), the fecond of Sus, and Marig Strect the third of the Province of Tedula. Mulcy Shock gO - Governout vernid with great appalufe by virtuc of the Advice and of Fe. Cocnd with great appaiufe by virtuc of the Advice and Counfel of Bafba Muffapha, a Spanib Rencrade, who grew fo much in favour with him, that the whole Gocrnmens was intrufted in his \(H\) ands. The \(O\) fecrs of he Country, who were nativg Moors, being difobligd by che diftinguilhing Refpect thewn to this Favourite, rade their Application to the old King, reprefenting hat this Renegado debauctid Muley Sbeck, tcaching him oodrink. Wine, contrary to the Doctrine of Mebormer, and that he intended upon the firft opportunity to feize the Treafure of thcir Country, and fly with it to fome auto Chirifendom: Ar laft they prevaild wish him to Hcis fored End to his son for the Head of thar \(B a f a\), who after to bencod Tome Delays, was conftrain'd to obey bis Ordets, tho' ricat Faz wish grear Reluctance.
While chis \(S_{p a n k i a r d ~ l i v i d, ~ n o n e ~ o f ~ t h e ~ K i n g ' s ~ S o n s ~ g o-~}^{\text {go }}\) ern'd fo much to cheir, Farkicr's fatisfaction as Mulcy Sheck; fo that the old King pleafed with his Behaviour, made all the Alkrids or Officers in the Kingdom, to take in Oach of Allegiance to his Son commencing affer his dearh. About thar rime the Plague raging at sus, oblig'd Muly Boferes to return home ro his Farher. Muig Siacon govern'd his Pro: ince in great peace, cyen in the rime of he greazeft Troubles in his Brocher Sthcck's Kingdom, of which hercatiter. He was feverc upon all Offcriders, efpecially Thieres withour diftinction of Perfons. His Temper was ambitious, and being the eldeft Son by a Lawful Wife, he never could be brought ro refpect either of his Brethren, looking upon the Right of the Crown Mabume: after his Father to belong to him, contrary to the Law of Law and che Moors, which prefers chceldef Son, wherhcr by Wifc or Concubine, to the Succeffion.
To return to Muley Sheck. After the death of his Fa- Muxto Strock vourite, he abandoned himfelf to Drunkcrnefs, and other paromereficio. Vices, neglected his Gorcrnment, and fuffered his Soul- vemour. diers and ocher Followers to plander his honeft Subjects Sy this carelefnefs the Country became to infefted by Robbers, that there was no liafc crayclling bur in Companies of three or four hundred at a time. The Larbice not being able to bring home the，Corn and Fruits of the Ground，refufed to pay the King＇s Taxes，and nortind－ ing any other way to lubfift，practis＇d in the Plains what the nchers did in the Towns；in finc，they robe＇d all that cane near them．Befides，he grew to protigal of his Treafure，that so give you one Inftance，a \(\downarrow\) ctpifb Mufician that pleas＇d him in his drunken Fits，gor under him \(40 c 000\) Ducats，which is about toone founds Stcrling．
This Altcration was no fmall rouble to the f 隹g his Father，fo that linding Advice by Lecters and all other fair means to be uncapable to reciaim him，he rook the Fic＇d wath Soeo loutand soco Horte，leaving his fecond Son in govera in his abrence，and made fuch lung Mareh－ es，that lue was withina Day＇s Journey of Fr a betore his Son reccirid Alvice of his March．Muly Shece Being worrovilcad；would dercupon have Red to．Tafter，but was purficil fuc dofe，that he was forced to take fandua－ was．pirticel Muchor，That he was，his Father sequired him to come forth，and fubmitio his mercy；but he refufing， the pruc was takenty force，and 5 Sock inade Prifoner， whi carric！on diknezt a ftrong Town，where here－ man＇d jithis Father＇s death．
Inh ：way to Fiz the old Man had taken with him
datut wh．his thind Sci，intinding he thould fueced Muley Sleck． fut this was prevented Ey the Father＇s death；for pirch－ ing his Tcnt without the Gates of Fer，with a Defign to retunhonc，he was akenill on Thurfay the a ith day of Aury，and dict on Sundiay the 14th following，Aumo suest，
secy． Meto Sida＇s Motiacr govern＇d the King＇s Family，by whint means lier Son had immediate notice of his death and removing all the Jewels and Treafure in his Father＇s Torts he vas proclaind King in Feت．Muley Boferes hal inewife feedy Adrice fent to him，who mmedate－ Anoweos：As foon as be had done thar，he proclaimid himfelt there，and by his order the fame was done at Ta－ warne in me．
N \(I_{0}\) the f，urth，Son of the deceas＇d King，fed in：o the Morntais ro his Mother＇s Relations， am mining \(\varepsilon=0\) or \(10=0\) Men，marchd into the Plains of ar．ad orderd himfelf to be prochaimd in Taradant： but his Orucr being dilobev＇d，and he wanting Money to pay his Men，he was forfaken by all，and dicd of the Playue，or，as fome fay，was poifoncd．Mulsy abdelc， clect Son ra Mulcy Sbick，choie rather to depend upon his C iele Nitu＇ry S：Ian，than to add to the Difturbances cith Ccuncry
The Army that was left at \(F=n\) ，began fo mutiny toth The Fthers for Astears of Pay，and for want of returning to Mo－ asuejifres atoces to their Familics．Thercupon Muler Siden lent then large Promifes by the Gencra！that commanded them in the King his Father＇s time；but this General in－ ftead of pacifying them，advis＇d them to ftrike up their Tenrs，and march home：Accordingly they march＇d， and by the way were join＇d by the Ba／ba，who had the cufto \(y\) ：f Maloy Sheck：This Bafha deliver＇d up the Prifoncr，and the unised Forces ；oin＇d Mulcy：Boferes in Breructs．Where sidan chus difappointed，fent a trong Force to the Province of Tedula，to raife the Asrears of Taxesowing from the Larbies so the late King，and to stop the Conmunicarion between \(F e\) and Moruecos，and made all Preparations to take the Field．
On the other Hiand Muly Bofercs loft no time，but dif patch＇d a Riflan to provide all neceflary Provifions a－ nions thie Letbes，and afterwards fent sooo choice Mcn with four Piceses of Artillery to Tedule ；upon whofe ap－ proach Muily Sidnn＇s Forces retir＇d，leaving the Country crposid to the Encmy，who plandexed and pillag＇d all fuch as would not own Bofires for King：Upon this Ahter Sidten tuok the Ficld with 9000 Foot and 12000 Horre，and 22 Picces of Artillery．He committed the Charge of his Artillcry to two Englifh Gunners ；bur the kains were fo great，that the Artillery came nor up rill tiwas too lase．

Bye es to coter hisPreparations amufedMulerSidan with A．aid ni has him are fact of his Souldims as were Natives of \(F e_{2,}\) and to My premine Agrect 1 with his whale Army，he made be caving their Artillcry and Paggage behind them， joined the seft of his Arny which lay eticamped，over againt the Enemy，with－a Kiyer only beeween dem． Sidan followed in Perion with 7 or 8000 Mcn，defigmig co give Bartel to the Forces of Boferes before Shercs at rival；bur the other was too nimble for then，fo that caring Sheck＇s Prefence on the oppofite fide might thook the loyalry of his own Mcn，mot of whem had fir－ merly ferved Sbeck，he refolved upon an Engayenent lefore his Souldicrs cculd know of his Arrival．The Fight hap－ pea＇d on the oth of 7 churry， 160 ，and upon the Di：－ charging of three or four Piecess of Artillery three or four times，muft of Nialcy Sidan＇s Men left the Ficid，exceps thofe commanded by the Muley in Perion；but his Ca－ nopy being fior down，himfelfand all his Followers ficd On shecks fide，few－or none were flain，and sidian loit but Goo Men．Sidan was cenfured for an Over－fight in having furprized the Enemy＇with his fudden coining， and guving them rwo Hours afterwards to put themfeives， in array，whercas he thould have atrack＇d them immed－ cely．
the Effect of this Contention was，that Roblerics fres： increas＇d，infomuch that afrer the Bacele，all Trade was der in is： nterrupisd，and old Quarrels berween Families came to \({ }^{\text {coinery }}\) be decided by the Sword．Befides，Muley Befferes ivas for． of fir for Action as he that loit the day，which the Kina dred or Chan，called Ifeled Ensid，raking advantage of， Travcliers，and made Prize of Mercfiants Goods；fhere as the Exemplary Punibinenc for fuch Offences in Mulcy Sidan＇s cime，kept them in aw．Muley Sidan now fends o treat for Peace，and in the mean time was is deavouring to make Head againet the Purfuers，when the unvelcome news was brought him thar his Brother． sheck was at hand with the Lighit Horfe，and the whole Army nor far behind：Now there was no confulting of any thing but Flight；but having fut gooooo Ducats in Allarocha，be thought it the beft way to take that with him：However，they purlued him fo clofe，that he was forced to fly direcalg to Tromefinc，and to that Treafire cll into the Fands of Muley Sheck：
In thefe his frowning Misfortuncs，all the Men of note eft him，but two，who had ferved him in his Father＇s time，and now ftuck clofe by him．His Bravery was fo great，that tho he had but 20 ．Horfe wich him，he turn＇d and Mkimith＇d very often with the Purfuens． Alkeia Umbilis，a Commander of Boferci＇s Forces，ad－ miring his Refolution，requefted him to kecp on his fray，with affurance that he would purfue him，no fur－ ther；fo he continued his lourney to Tremefine，and the alkeid return＇d to Fe ．

Muley Sidar thus expelld，sheck prociaim＇d himaldf stant pm King in Frin，not Vice－roy to his Brother．It being Lent chand int cime，the chicf Offcers of Moruceos went home，fromin \(\mathrm{Fr}_{\text {－}}\) whence they were afterwards fent againft the Larbies， who in rhis confufion，refufed to pay to any of the three contending Princes，and were fplit jato inteftine Divifions among themfelves．The Souldiers that went to fuppres here Diforiders，fuffered exccedingly by the Plague then raging at \(S u\) ； ，To that they were obliged to return home． In the begining of Fune News coming thas Muly \(S_{i-}\) ann was return＇d from Tremafine to Tafiler；all the Come manders who．were difper＇d about the Country，were fummoned a fecond rime to join againft him．Sitan had lived a feiv Monctis near Tremeffine，wich abont fifty Horfes and advancing to Tafilet，was join＇d by \(1=00\) more．In this place we gor a perfect Account of we Srate of the Country，by which he perceiv＇d chere were grear Difcontents in teveral Parts againft the prefent Go－ vermment，and chas many will＇d his Return．＂Muly Bom fret，to ftop his Progrefs fein four thoufand Foor and fome Horfe to prevent his marching to \(s_{u}\) ；but simn Sidam hiaving Intelligence of it，haftemed his Journcy； and pafing by Alcatouj；the Horfe on each gide jkirmilt－ ed，but no Man of nore fell，one Alk＝id excepted．Si－ dan＇s Forces being too few to encounter the Enemiesina pitch＇d Eattel，he was oblig＇d toencer Sus by the way of Sakara．In the Sands of this Country his Troops endar－ od much mifery．At Aca be met with Sidie Abdeta Im－ bark，the great Foker，whote Friendhip he courned；for thele Church Men haye fuch an Infucnce over the Peo－Eis pe ommitted the Command bur with fuch a Limitation committed the：Command，but wimm ander in che Army， as to keep himferf tife．Mudey Sheck had Directions，if rictoriots，to proclaim Bafers in Fer ；and Boforer pron nifed Soze the Vicc－royaly of that Kingdom．Mula Fitur to prevenc the ill Effeds of this piece of Pokicy， goc rogether in bafte zoco Mules and Horfes，and mount－ ed two Souldiers with their Accoutrements upon each Inve and Horty．The 4000 Mea thus mounted， te char they will obey none bucby cheir direstion fortarfindia he knew all his Brother＇s Forces could not bear him our ction fen of Sus，if this Prieft were hearry in his Caufe．
The Foker was to far prevailed with，that he fent to Boferestro defire that a Ireary mighr be commenc＇d be－cultapmo tween the Bretbren；which fucceeded fo well，char： 2 buwen ix
 King lom of Sus，and Boferes the Refidue of the Empite． By sidan＇s pradent Goycrnment，surg，which till then was the moft unfertled place in Barbary, was formed into the mof orderly guier Country of the. Empire. He was hamed for impofing heavy Taxes, a faule which che Eoker, by whofe means he obtained the Kingdom, chargcod him with. The Munntaineers refufed to pay them, and their Habiations being frong by mature, and the Men accuftomed to tighting, they flighted him and his lower: Befides, they were under-hand cno ouraged by Bofcres. The lerbich had nee this advantage, and fo knowing cheir Throats lay ar his mercy, athey paid quistly.
Bfecs was now bury in contriving to get fituley Shech into his pover again, wion was araing, himelf with his Friends no tix him in bis Gosernment, relolving rather than fail, to call in tiac sirmions ro hesafitance, at lealt by thefe means hethought to fecure a lietreat in cafe ot a Dilafter. To kep Ninicy Siecte the more ith aw, Bofores took care to have Sila \(: 9\) s ddeft Son, Abidia, ver: carcfully watchd: but the l'lague raging in Markecos, the King orderd his Son Ablometcol to pitch his Ten:s as the ditanace of five Miles from the City, and to take abm Wirn with him, who took an opportunity one Night, to make his chape out of the Cimp, and Hy to his Father:
This oblig'd Boferes to cotirt the Fricndmip of Sidin, manitreat ham to brines his Forces to Moruccas, to join wth has againt the Facther and Son : S:drn came within hat' a Day's Journcy of the place, but was loch to hazard has Proton in the Hands of his Brosher till the following ans "ry Sintagem was tried. He counterfcired a Lic from a print Efal Perton in the Country, offering Bateres to Kend him lis Bro:her's Head, who received the Melfage very joyfully, wich Promifes of great Reward upon the Exccuann of the Delign. Uron this Siden track up his Ten:s, and march'd back ro the Country of Darat Bicites chern chmmiteed the whole Command of his Army 10 Aticincteci, his Son: bue here Fare frownd upon him suim: ifcoo for when the Arny came within a Day's foumey ot \(F_{c j}\), which is twenty Day's joumey off Morucios, chrec thouland of the Sauldiers terolted to Sbeck, and the reft were to difaffected so Bofoics, that Abdelmelecio riturned home wiblout attcanpring any thing.
Whanal Encourafed by this Addirion to his Forces, the King Town he won, but the Cautle titll held out; and the Alpeit or Governour icent to his Mafter, toaffure him that he coukimuinzain the place, if he thad fufficiens tore of a Perion of great worth, and wonderfully beloved by the Merchants of all Nations rrading to thele Countrics, took care to fend to S.liti in an Engiifb Bottom, fome Corn himifelf had boughr ip at Safius, another Port in this Country ; bur be:ore they arrived the Caftle furrendred. Grear Marters wees expzited from this grear Man, towards'? Reconciliarion of the Differncmes ia B.abery, by reafon of che vaft Credic he had with all the fores had for him, but I don's find is canc to any thing.

rex. Sicc had got fucin a Surfeitof Confinement in his larc Troubies, that he card not much for hazanding his Perfonagain: Wirh that view he fent his Son Aidela with the Army towards Mioriccos, to try the fate of a decifine Batcel : He provided him with 27 Pieces of Ordnance to nake up which number, he difarm'd all the Ships in Allerece, Stly, or Leriarch; ; and oblig'd all the Mariners, as well Officerts as carmion Sca-men,to go inro the Army, which together made 10000 Men. In the mean time Steck provided himfalf wirt three I:alian Ships, to conver him to Flornce if his Son lof the Batrel. The Fight Eappened fix Miles Sourch-calt of Meruces on the eighch of 'December 1606, and the ctriffian Mariners being better acquanised with the ufe of Firc-arns than the Moors, and furnithed wich a Itxin of Axillcry, to unufual in thar part of the World, wonthe day. Bfferes loft' 600 Men in the Fight, and fled to Moruecos to lecture his Treafure ant his Woinen: but for fear of 2 Surprife, left the - Managencne of borh te his Aikeids, and went poft himfolf to the Mounrains. Howercr the Treafure fell into the liands of the Lervies, who to the number of soo, fer upon the Guard, pillayed the Carriages, and diihonour'd the Women, inor fparing the King's own Daught ter. Upon this the alkeiz.s retarn'd to Moructos, and rook Sanctuary, and didide: pardoned them upon their fibnition; but atter thcy came out, he pur 'em all to deach, and that fo fecretly, that fending their Heads in a Sack as a Prefent to his Father in Moruccos, none kncw they were dead. till the News came that their Heads werc eron \(\mathrm{F}_{\mathrm{I}}\) Gatcs.

The Itenlian Ships chat Sheck had hir'd in cale of nen ceffiry, finding themiclves neglected upon this Succist, faild home, and fecurd for their Pay what Treafurc had becn aiready ihipd.
The Slaughter of the riliciots by Alcicin, and the horrid Outrages ocmmited by his Souldiers, gave greas Difeontencs; fo thar many iled to Miul' Sian who bad itaid t!! now at Dart, hall way to Fcy.
He at the firft news of thele Diforders, marcha dh rectly to hovecers, defigning to sive profar thatel. The firt Night of his Arrival, there was a greit yprome int e City, in which Confurion fome of S, dur:s Sisilicts por into the Town, and furprized the Artilery: but the Cin if:ians foughe fo foutly to regain ir, that they Leas 'sen out of the Town. Neat day was a gencral Figh:; Sidenis Horfe beran with a very mallant Onicr, lur the Cinon oblig'd them tortite in diforder, which ilhichi's Men obferving, gallop'd too rathly before ticu own Ord nance; butsiden rakneg the Advantage of their forwardnels, drove tbem upon cheir Guns. The Clrificim would have fired upon thair own Mento prevent the Diforders going further ; but this being deaicd, Sidin's Men puriucd in zoodorder, lurnrizid the Artillery, and Acw thole who oppoied them. The Slaughter was bo:h great and cruel, no lefs than leven or eighe thoufand I cing flam in che ifield, and the featerd Remains molly maflacred ty the Citizens in reveage of therr patt Difuders. What was left of the poor Chrittians afterwards, had their Throars cur, a juft Punithmene for moft of them hat lived unon Pirace, Rapine and Mhander.
Miety Sidern beiag thus Maiter of the whole Field, Ablela Aled to Fc a, there being nor 100 Men lefte alive of his whole Army to accompany hime. The Catie of cileruces was gariifor'd by Mhiria betore che Fight, and re- sian's set. fus'd to fubmit to the Conqucrour: bue Sidn's Micn, hav- has. ing gos upon the to of the Wall, by fomeHouics thas join'd to it, the Garrifon took fanctuary; Afecr that, upon promife of their Lives, they laid down their Arms and came forth; but were all immediately butcherd by siLin's command, to the number of 3000 .
Sidan fent an Army to reduce Fia, bur the Souldiers finding neithercheir King, nor any of the Dlood Royal with chem, when Abstela approach'd, they fubmitted upon condition of Pardon, which was granted; but diftrufting the Performance, they all drew away afterwards, exceprethree shoufand, who were butcher'd in scvenge of Sidan's cruclty to the Garrifon of the Caftic of Moruecos.
Sidan had in pay fox hundred Siracicis, Subjeets to the the Sirasceis King of Congr, and excellent Souldiers; thele with fome mutiny. orbers hefent to retrieve his lare Lolfes, by raifing a frefh Supply of Men and Moncy fromsthe Larbi.s; but they in cheia way mutined, and cut off cincir Commanders Head, thinking it a welcome Prefent to ilideict. Upon this Sidan ifued Orders, thaz any Slraces whatever that thould be found in his Dominions, fhould be put to deach.

The Sherecis irritated by this incqual \(\lambda\) ictiod of Pu-abacia denilhing, prevaild with Alde! once more to rry a Battle trats Sidan. with fidin, who was join'd by 200 Eurgijh, wich faxty Ficlu Pices, and fome good Erg!ifi Commanders. Before Sidan took the Ficld, the Fortunc--cllers told him he ihould loofe the Fight, which poffeds'd him with fuch car, tho' he was fo itrong, and had no reafon to doubr Succels, thathe did not exert bis ufual courage. His Canoniers alfo difcharg'd before Abicle's Men were in reacb, and the Enemy were up with them before-they could charge again. The Shraccis never difcharged a Piece till they came clofe up, and thenfell on fo fiercely, that chey difordcred the Moors, and the King thercuponfled, rend- sithe f..sa. ing advice to the Englifh to fave themfolves, and a good Horif to Caprain Giffard their Commander. The Eng- The valour ifb returned anfwer, thar they came not thicher ro run, oithemerigh and accordingly they food very firm, not above 30 being left alive.

Abdela continucd not-long Mafter of Morucces; for being in want of crery thing, he had much ado to kecp bis Army rogether, and molt of the Shracies went home.
To the furprize of the three Rival Princes, a Coufin of Htere scion. theirs, Mutco Hance Bifonne, who had been all this timene freenst: hoarding up of Treafure, baving watched his opfortunity, to thise went to his Mother's Kindred in the Mouncains, wherete muftered up 20000 able Men. HisPay was good, and all be ing in readinels, he began hisMarch from the Toffcoor. Mounains to Moraccos. This was bad News to dibdetc: His bracies werechen gonc home, and the Meurecens deferted in grear numbers to Hamer Bofonnt, fo that he tefolved o take the ufual Courfe to \(F c i\), which the did in hafte, eelieving his Counin to be much nearer than he really was. Muley Siltar's Mother hoping this new Stir wasiai himfelf King, and difmift all the Favourcrs of Sidan His Treafury he difpers'd largely among his Followers: he compell'd no Man into his Scrvice; nay, Lome Chritians who defir'd leave to be gone, he fenc home at his own charge. Bofomm's Mother hearing of this Succers kroughr hiin fome more Forces, and in her way beficg'd the place where Boferss was; but he made a hhift to cocape to Sally, and when the mif'll him in the Morning, the cut off the Governours Head out of revenge
Mis Morther
 The Mother of Miulo Sidan was nolefs zcalous for the refetting her Son in the Thronc to furnalho refettling her Son in the Tbrone: to furnifh him with the neceffary Charges of an Army, fhe fold all her Plate and Jewcls. Hamet Bofinne march'd againft him; both Armics mer near Morutos, and a principal Pcrfon in Shí at the Head of his whole Family, confiting of five hundred Men, charsed Bofome alone with grear valour ; to prevent their being mafter'd with numbers, Sidan fent ofive hundred more to his affiftance, and with this thoufand he chafed Bofonne out of the Field. Sidan entred Moruecos, and continued there in peace three Monchs till Bofinne faw fit to tempr his Fortune once more by prefenting himielf before the City ; bur upon the failure of the expected help from the Townfomen, who he thought loved him, he was routed a fecond cime, and thed into the Mountains, and in four days after was poifoned by the procurement of sllkeid azus. a Man that had been of great note in the Reign of Muley Hamet Liariff, but is the prefent Diftractions of the Kingdom, was retir'd to a Caftle of his own in the Mountains.
Proporalis to By this rime Muley Shrek grew apprehenfive of Sidan, and thercfore difpatch'd ant ifnlian Mcrchant, one Foomm Elinin, to the King of Spain, offering him the ports of Allereble, Sally, Aicafar, and other Places, if he would affift him to recover his Righr. This Propofal fucceedcd: but when the Galcons and Gallies of Aipples, being in all 100 Siil, came to taice Poffeffion of Allirochs, with Pioncers, and all things neceffary for railing Forts, 30000
The Gulcy Larbics came down and oppofed their landing, which ectarn home. Difappointment obliged the Speniards to xeturn home.
The Degres The Degrees of Nen in this Kingdom are Atulys, i. c. of Mis Country. ine Kings Sons or Blood Royal: Bnfha's or Captain Generals over Armies: Aikeids, or Governours, as well of Garrifons as of Provincics: Ferres, Genclemen retaining to the Sword, bur of lefs Command than the -Alkeid Bathaia, the Alkcid's Licurenant: Brakbahbi, a Sergeant Dcluyfi, a Captain over thirty: Remie, the common Souldier. In the rime of Hamef Xariff, there were fifty thouland Horfe kept in pay, fome of which ferved with the Lance, others with the Spear, called Spaijaias; fome particularly thofe of Fci. on Horfeback, with the Crols bow; and fixteen thoufand Foor. The Larbies are th beft Horfe, and the Brebics fitteft for Foot.
Befides thefe, there is the name Sbrck, fignifying the prime and beft Blood of the Kindred: this is commonly given to the Eldeft Son of a Family, or Clan, and they are fo powerful, that fome of them are able to bring \(10000^{\prime}\) Horfe of their own Clan into the Field; the Humour of there People-inclining to a profound Veneration for the Head of their Family. The King's eldeft Son does not difclaim to make ufe of this Titie Oncea Month on Fridny altrer Praycrs, the King hears her Accels to plead bis Cauic when the King fits, than natural born Subject. The inferiour Judges are all Church-men, and fuch as are the ftricteft Livers, and leaft inclinable to Agarice, or other Sins which byafs Judges are the firft preferied. Nexr the King is the Mufti, ro whom Appeals ly from the lower Courts There are thisee Muftit's, one in Moruccos, another in Fe , and a thïrd at Teradant in Suis. He ar Moruecos fits with the King, and every Fridg in the Afternoon by himfelf Tho' this be an eminent place, yet he is but poor in refpect of what he mighr be if he frain'd Jultice. The common Judge firs every day two hours before. Noon and two after: Every large Town has a Judge who detcrmines the Caufes of the Town and adjacent Country. Every Man pleads for himfelf, and when both Parties have done, the Judge proceeds to fentence; To thar a Caufe may be ended in a Day. If either Party defires to call Witnefles, threc Days are allow'd him to do it, and the oypofite Party has the fame time to difprove what they depofe: Bur if a Witnels be infamous in his Morals, or given to Dronkennefs, Adultery or the like, or if it can be proved that the Evidence doos not lay his Praycrs fix times in 24 Hours, he is not capable of being a legal Witnels. Thus feven Days par a Coinclufion to the moft tedious Law-Suite. If an Obligation be brought into Court, he that is bound, mult either pay the-Debt, go to Pxifon, or give a Pawn to the value of the Debr or more, and nine Days are allowed for the redecming of his Pawn; bur if 'tis not redecmed in that cime, the thing pawned is fold. ime, the thing pawned is fold.
The Scrivano's are affiftant to thefe Judges, and genc-Thes rally fucceed them. Their Bufinefs is to draw Wricings, which are plain, and to thort, that if you bargain for 10000 Rounds, your Contract. ihall be comprifed in ten Lines; and this Price is folow, that for drawing an Obligation, they have buttivo Pence Iinntifh.
Next are the Steryes (like our Sheriff's Officers) who te execute the Sentence of the Judge, and call upon P'cople to anfwer the. Writs againft them, and always attend in the Houfe of the Judge to be ready upon occation.
The Muffreb's Office is to examine Wcights and Mea- The:: Gires: If they catch any faulty, all the Wares in the Shop are given to the Poor, the Party prochain'd an unjuft Man, and feverely whipt juf 'Man, and fevercly whip't.
The Hackam is Judge of Life and Death : The man- The dam ner of Exccution, is by cutting the Throat of the Offender, which is done immediarely after Senrence. Murder, Theff, and Adultery are Dearh, and by Proclamation the King can make whar he pleales Capital, which the Hackam munt foc execured on pain of loofing his Head.
The Muckadens are the Hachams Deputics, and in his Nemed Abfence are invefted with his Auchority.

The Fckers or Saints live in the beft places of the Coun- Fetern try, and oblerve great hofpitality rowards Strangers There Men do much good by their Example, their 1 berality to the Poor, their Readinefs to compofe Differences, and their good Offices in quicting Diforders: By this they gain fuch Loye and Refpeet, thar their Hourcs are repured Sanctuaries; nay, the King himfelf will nor violare them bur upon grear, necefiry.

The Forec of this Kingdom is chicfly Horfe; for in the em all their Axmics you thall have threc Horfomen to incot ene Foot. Their Armour is a Buff Jerkin for the beter fort, and tann'd Ieather for the reft: fonic bave Coars of Mail. Their Wcapons arcia Horfe-men's Scaff, Target, and Sword, or a Horfe-man's Picce and Sword. The Succefs of a Battel depends gancrally on the Adrantage of the firt Onfer, for they feldom bold is long. The Larbies will ftand more firmly in 2 Fight or cafioned by fome Fewd berweci their Familics, than in the Service of their King; for upon fuch 2 an Account romerimes 10000 Men hate fallon ar a cime. Their way is, when che Affront is given, to mount the faireft Virgin they have on Horf-back, with 2 Flag in her Hand to follicitc her Kindred to reienge. She goes forcmoft to the Fighr, which cmboldens her Par. y for if the Enemy wins her, "tis counted a Difgrace to the Aggreffors to the feventh Gencration.
If one of a Tribe is kill'd, the firit Man of the Tribe that llew him, they fer upon, and that fatisfics the Lofs. ors.
The Brebers maintain thefe Quarrels too: when they so to fight, their Women keep clofe behind, with ttaining colour in their Hands call'd Hanna, with which they daub any of cheir Men that they obferve to give ground ; and chis Policy makes'cm fight to the iaft.
When the old King (Mulg Hamet; was quitly fixed Ther The on the Throne, he warr'd againft the Negrocs, defigning when he had conquer'd 'cm, to eftablifh a Trade bewween that Country and his own, in fending Sals and other land Commodities for their Gold, which he rather choofed to import than to dig the Mines in his ownKingdom; taking care ar the fame cime to cus the Throars of the Difcoverers, left the Secret fprcading, fhould temps his Enemies to an Invafion.
His Souldicts took Gago from the Negroes, a confiderabe Town, firuate on the River Synegar, 300 l eagucs up be Continent, and built there 2 Place for Barbarien Merchanrs, and a Cuftom-houfe for the King. The Merchanss to that Councry make it fix Months Journey from Moruecos, two of which they travel thro uninhabired fandy Defarts. Their Guides fteer thicir Courfe by the Sun, Moon, and Srars. If they mifs thcir way, they feldom get thro' alive, in which cafe their Carcafles confume nos, but turn into Mummi, in all refpects as phyfical as that which comesfrom Alexandria. They go in Companies of two or three hundred at a time: their temat Beafts; and if it fails, they kill their Beafts and drink to 6 their Blood rather chan perifh. If the Wind blows at Northeaft, they cannor unlade their Camels, left the Sands fhould cover them. The Commodities they carry are great quantities of Cloth, Amber-beads andCoral ; but the chief Commodity is Salt, which is boughr at Tc gaiza and other places, for four Shillings a Camel's ALgier is an ancient City, fituate upon the Me- place is wonderfully peopled, confidering the bignefs of diretranean, on the Brow of a Hill, encomparsd with ftrong Walls, Ramparts, and Ditches; its Form almoft uriangular: 'Tis broad towards the Sea, and extends it felf up the Mounrain to a very marrow Point: Ar the top of the Hill ftandsa Fort to command the Town and the Entry into she \(\mathrm{H}_{2 \mathrm{zen}}\). The Buildings (which exceed the Palace Royal) are handfome enough.. Here are 2 great many Baths and Cook's Shops. The Streets are fo conrrivid, thar erery Occupation has its particular place affign'd for it. At the Foor of the City, which is towards she North, jaining to the Walls, which are waltid by che Sea, is cheir principal Mof \(\mathrm{Maxc}^{\text {a }}\) a piece of good Arćchitecture. A lirtle below chat ttends the Arfenal, into which they baul up the Gallcys and ooker Veffels to tefit. This) cafion of it was, to gain fome Silver Mines innthic Mountains of Cehambe, which are faid to afford better Silver than thofe of Porofi, aidl as large a quancicy. If the An Errees Rorrupuefo had followed this Defign, they mighr have zc Perin found more Riches probably than in their more diftare and chargeable Conqueft of Indic, Malaccin, and the Maluctecs No Countries in the World abith, and the Gold and Silver; than Manding a, Ethiopia, Contr, Angols Burua, Toron; Maticuo; Borc, Quiticui, Mcovemotapr,, Cafari, and Bobenemuly:

Between the Capes of Gocd Hope and Gu.rdeffu, thc Tirisma:
 zambigue; by thefe chey maintain their Trade with thofeconceng to rich Countries, and there their Ships may wurth thorecoon. refit. The King of Melinde is shaps may pur in and Ryiloa and che adjoining Ifes pay vribute to rhem. And Porruguefe want nothing but Mex to cultivare thef Porruguefle want. nothing but Men to cultivate thefe Inands. They ufed formerty to fear no Sea Force bur Turks, for whom they werc hard crough Burce but the Englifh and Durch begun to rrade this way, their Incercit is much decayed in thefe parts.
The Turks are poffers dof all the Coait from Velce de The 7 turt Gumera to the Red Sea, except Oxan, Merfalauibir Potefition in Milithf and Penncr, beforc-mentiond. Upon this Coadt this parn of belonging to thic Turk's, are fituated Ticmafine, Alficr, we wett. Tenč, Buzia, Confantine, Tumis, Tripotis, and allgict from Alkxandria to the City of Afra, with parto of Arabia Trogleditica, from Sucz to Suachen. Ac Algier, Tumis and Tripolis, the Grand Seignior has Governours caltd Big lerbogs or Baffa's. Hc has alio onc ac Miffr for Esppt, and lerbegs or Baffas. He has allo one ac Mifift for Eigpt, and another at Suachen for the Country adjoining Ar another at Suachen for the Country adjoinings. As Susci' is his chicf Arfcnal for building or whicre 25 of ' cm may lie corcr'3.

\section*{Снар. Хї:}

\section*{The Defcription of Algier, with the Hiftory of its falling into} the Hands of Barbaroffa; and a hort Account of Malta and Tripoli : Taken from Nicolas Nicolay.

Hibit of the The Mnors are generally naked, except abour their Hibit of the The Mon's are gencrally naked, except about their Prople: Privitics, and a I, inncn Cloth rolled about their Heads, and ty'd under the Chin.
wepons. Their Weapons are thece Darts, which they throw with great ikill ; to their leeft-hand is faftened a crooked fort of Dayger, which they ufe in a clofe Engagement Moft of the Tubs of whicr are Rencgado Cbriftians, given to all bealty Vices, as Sodomy and the like: The get mont by pirating. They fell char Clirifian Captive to the Mor's for Slares, who cither fell them again, or imploy them in their own work, and give 'cm very hard ulayc.
Without the Ciry outhe Weft, are pleafant Gardens, the Ground hereabours heing very fruittal. On the Eaf runs the River Sav, which urives fome Mills, and is fir to drink. The Mooriff Women, Maids, and Slaves, wath their Linnen in the Sca, being quite naked, execpe a fimall matrer to coter the Privitics, which you may icw for a Trifle if you be difos'd. Their Ornamenrs about the Neck and Arms, are sreat Bracelets of Latten fer with falic Stoncs. But the Turks or Moors Wives are covered from Head to Foor with a large black, whire, or violer coloured barnulic, which is made of a Blanker.

The.fecond Day afrer I got to Alpier, 1 hired a Remecido Stinicrit to flacw me the Town: He carried me so an high Mounsain a Mike diftant from the Town, to view the Situation of a ftrong Tower builr upon another on conuiry, he told me the Dit an atruts that lower were two Spear's length deep, hacre hat Tower nine great caft Picces, and cighteen others. Jn the midide of the Tower is a Well of good Water; near that ftands a Wind-mill, befides another withour the Gates. The ufual Garrifon is 30 Souldiers. This Tower defends the Heads of the Fountains that fupply the Town with Water, the City being fupplied from this piace.
Algier was a long time fubject to the King of Tcenfin, till the Men of Bugic clected a new King, to whom this place fubmitted, as being nearce at Hand to protect them than Tcimjin. As laft finding chemrelves undifturb'd and fiec, they firted out Shipsand turn'd Pyrates. Ferdinand King of Spnin, to curb the growing Mifchief, befieged shem with a grear Army, and built a Fort in a lietle Ithand thas lics againt the Town, which obliged them to Suc for a Truce of ren Years, they being oblig"d to pay during his Life. Afretwards taking their Opportunity they broke the Truce, chofing Cairadin Barbaroffa their Captain, who after the Siege of Bone, retir'd to the Caflle of Gecsill, fituate on the Coalt of the Mediterranean, from bop of an high Rock, at the diftance of 70 Miles demolifid. is drorethe Speninras ousof the Foxt, and roully tlow Solim. a Pince of Ardio in a bath becaur he had declar'd himfelf Lord of the City. After this, he affum'd the Title of King, coined Money, and ma naged fo well, thar moft of his Nighbours became at butary to him ; and this was the beginning of the great Power of Barbarafla. To him fucceeded his Brother Dreviadine, who left is to his Son Caffem, that reign'd when we wore there
To purfuc our Voyage, when we left Cape Marefuत, we ticre oblig'd by contrary Winds to caft Anchor ar Cape Tid!ct, ar which place we faw a decp Inlet by a greatR ock, the Botrom of which is waflid by the Sea: We entered with our Skiff hall way, but were forced to. rerum, by rea ton of mulumdes of Armge Micc, whore pifs is vemo mous; fo we were glad so return fafe, covering our felves in our Cloaks, for fear of any hurt of thar kind This pare of che Sca is full of Rocks and Mouncains.
Tedici is a City containing 2000 Houfes; it lies on the fame Confa the bottom of a Mountain and a great Rock. On the Mountain is buile a Cafte, which has a Wall iteiching to che Town-Wall, to fecare a Communication with the Town. The Africars firft builr it The Inhabicancs live chicfly by Filhing, and dying Woot and cloth. There Pcople are very mufical moft of them delighring in the Harp and Lute. Their Government is the fame as that of Alieier. We had a quick Rafige from hence so Gizcri: Near that place we met with a Borafque or Flan, which had drown'd us all, if the Sailors had nor beftir'd chemfelves nimbly to take in the Sails. Our Frigar was lort by it, but moft of the Mfen favid. Thefe whiri-winds are very frequent and dangerousitast the Coaft of Barbiry; bur they are foon ancto

The 2sth in the Evening: we" arrived at Port Bonc, sim and a Compliment was fent to the Caddy or Governour of the place for the King of Algicr. He was a Rencgado ibriftian, but behaved himfelf very courtcoully to us, and fent us very handfome Refrefhnecris.
This Place was founded by the Remans, and called then Hippon; St. Ayfin was Billop of it tormexly. It siment tands upon high and ragged Rocks. It has a very fump Thous Mof juc , to which the Houfe of the Caddy joins The South part of the Town is fituate much lower, and well accommodared with Wells and Fountains. This place has been twice pillaged by the Speniards, fo thas ts Buildings are mean, and it contains not above 300 Hearths. Clarrles V. when he had raken the Town, built a Caftle upon an Eminence on the Weft lide, which the cen commanded all round, and provided ir well with Warer, which is fearce here upon fuch high Grounds: bu he Turk's and Moors chas'd and difpoffers'd the Sp wirrd thortly afeer, and rafed the Works. To the Eaft of the ard fini Town you have a finc Champion Country, abounding Corn Fields and Paftures, which feed luch number of Catalc, that nor only Bons, bus Tin mis and the life of Gerces, is furnin'd with Butter and Milk from bencs. There are very plealane Gardens hereabouts. A little from this Town is a Church berween two Rocks, faid to have been the Church of Sc. Auftin. The Country here about is peftered with chicyes, called Alerbes: I faw fromin a Hill a little Troop of them fark naked mounted on Horfc-back with their Darts in their Hands Grear quantities of good Coral are found in the Road be ore the Forrefs.
The 26th we left Bone, and having pafid the Capcof Rofe, we came in fight of the Ihes De lis Galite, and Des Symboles, where a Fiff flew into our Galley of the Length Colour, and Bignefs of a great Sardin; in had two Wings before and rwo behind: this Fifh the Moors call Indole. The 28th we arrived at Pantrliarce.

This lfland is hilly and full of Rocks: It producespmen Cotron, Capers, Figs, Mclons, and Raifins, and is well 4. ftor'd with Cifternes. Here are feveral Houles built under Ground, like Caves; which was done by the Mors when they poffers \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{d}\) it: Along the Shoar there are black Stones, glitering like fine Jet. They have no Horfes, bur Oxen enough. They ferch their Corn from Sicily, to which they are fubject. Here grows a Tree like Nerte, which produces a Fruir that's red ar firf, and turns black when it is cipe. The. Inhabicants make Oil of it, which they ufe both for Vietuals, and for thic Lamps, and the Women anoint their Hair with it to make it long and fair. Both the Men and Womenare dextcrous Swimmers. I have known a Woman fwim aboard our Gally with a Balket of Eruit ro fell. . This Ifland is 30 Miles long, and abour ren broad: the People that live in it are very poor

We went from hence with a fair Wind to Melta, ane Bat where we mer with the melancholly Stories of wat the nipx Turks had done there, in ravilhing the Women, plondering, buming, and deftroying all they met with. Thus had they ferved Augufta a Town in Sicily, Micherto in Malsa, and deftroy'd the Suburbs of St. Paul, the Ciry being too hard for them. They took alfo the Caftlein the lle of Goar, carrying from that place, of Mers Women, and Children \(\sigma_{300}\) Slaves.
The fuxch of \(A u g u f\), we came to Tripoli, 2 Ciry which Thesinis Charles V. gave to the Knights of Malts. Ifaw the Timai. Marker where the poor Captives of Sicily, Malta, and an Budder having leave to ftrip thon quite naked to fee if they have any lnfirmity, upon which Occafion they inpeet their Mouth, and look at their Eyes as if they were Horfes. The nexr day the Turks (who had fare down before chis place after their hate Ravages) began to fire upon the Caftle with great fury. The Befieged made Offers to capitulate, but the Turks havinginveigled the Governour of that Place into their Hands, by a feeming. Confent to moft of the Aricles demanded, and affuring the Governour of Safety, only defiring to difcourfe with him upon fome Parriculars of the Treary beween them; tho' I fay they had frift broke their Faith with him, the credulouts Defenders were norwithitanding deluded into a Capitulation; but the Town was no rooner deliver'd chan the Agreement was violated, all the Knights and others being made Slaves, and 200 stoors, who ferved them, cut in pieces.
Tho' the Buildings, within this Town are moftl) ruined, it has fill very tair and ftrong Walls, with many Turrecs, doable Ditches, and falfe Breaches, environed on three parts with theSea: Wirthin the Walls are plenry of. Wells and Foumtains. In the middle of the Town is a Triumphal Arch of white Maxble, with fout Faces The Turks repard the Caftle, and Atored it with all apon four Pillars, of the Corinthinn Ordet. In the forts of Ammunition and Ordnance. There were, of Front on the Eaft, is a Charior drawn by rwo grear Knighes and Souldiers, 600 in the Cafte when it was Griffins, and within it Victory with two Wings. On the taken; a great danone to furtender fo tancly, withour Weft another Chariot, with Prllns fitting in ir, and a Roo any apparentreafon of Wat for it. The Terkifs Gencral man Infeription round ir, bur now not legible; only thus deliver'd ar datt soc of his Prifoners, and zo more in much may be learne, that it was made in the time of exchange for 30 Turks taken ar Malle. The Tuks made rue en Lentulut The Infide of the Arch was full of Orna-monitrous Rejoicings for their Conqueft; and to coown ut in firt ments, and aboye, it had the form of a fquare Gurret. the Triumph, they por to death, in a batharous manThe two orher Faces looking North and South, were cut! ner, a Gunner of the Cafte, becaufe he happened, during in the Fonn of the upper part of the Braly down to the the Sicge, to thuor oft the Hand of the Clcrk-General of Wafte, Withour Hends: The reft was adorned with rife Army. They cut off his Handsani Nore, and fes Trophy Work. Nor far from hence is a fquare place bint alive in the Ground up to the Watte; and fere they furtounded with Pillars in two Rows like a lorch, and had tormented him with thooting Arruws at him, they rear it ate the Ruins of an high Tower, which is faid to put an end to his wretched Life by wati: \(\frac{1}{}\) his Throat. have been the great Mofque of the City: There are nia-1 nj ocher ruinous Antiquitics.
Cн в х. XII

Ais Account of the mof remarkable Occurrences in the Voyage of the Englifh Fleet, /ent again/t the Algerines and Otbers, under the Command of Sir Robert Manfel, Knig't.

THE Forec and Burthen of the Shipt was as follaws.

The Adurural's Ship, the Lyon, 600 Tuns, -50 Mco, 40 Guns.
Sir Tiomess But:om, Rear-admiral, his Ship che Rainbut, 650 Tuns, 250 Mef, 40 Guns.
Sir Richerd Hamkins, Vice-Admiral in the Vanguard, 660 Tuns, 250 Men , 40 Guns.
In the Conftant Reformation, Mantparing Capr. 660 Tuns, \(290 \mathrm{Mcn}, 40\) Guns.
In the Antilop;; Sir Henry Ralmer Capt. 400 Tuns; 160 Men, 34 Guns.
In the Convertine, Love Capt. 500 Tuns, \(220 \mathrm{Men}_{7}{ }^{3} 6\) Guff.

All thefe Ordnance were Brals: Befides the King' Ships, there were ren Merchant-Ships, whofe Force was as follows.

The Goiden Phoni: 300 Tuns, 120 Men, 24 Guns, The Semiuel 300 Iuris. \(120 \mathrm{Mca}, 22\) Guns,
The Marysold 260 Tuns, 100 Men, 21 Guns
The oumil Phenix \(\approx 80\) Tuns, 20 Men, 26 Guns. The B:abasy 200 Tuns, 80 Mcn, 88 Guns. The Ccrestianzoco Tuns, \(100 \mathrm{Men}^{2} 22\) Guns. The Rrimofo x 80 Tuns, \(80 \mathrm{Mcn}, 18\) Guns. The Tercules 300 Tuns, \(120 \mathrm{Mcn}, 24\) Guns: The Nepeure 2 So Tuns, \(1 \approx 0\) Men, 21 Guns. The Merciuant Bonacicurure 260 Tuns, 10 Men, 23 Guns. The Neflor 130 Tuns, \(30 \mathrm{Men}, 12\) Guns. The Marmiduke 100 Tuns, 50 Men , 12 Guns.
Thie Ordnance of the Merchant-Ships were all Iron: The Flect thus equip'd, fet fail from \(h^{1}\) lymourlh the 12 di of OEfober, 16=0. Thi 31ft in the Morning, we entred the Strciylars of Gibraliar, where two of the King of Spain's Ships of Warlay ar anchor: When they Gaw us, they waighed Anchor, Reer'd to the Leeward of the Admiral, ftruck their Flag, and faluted us with their Guis, which Cercinony was rerurned by all our Fleet in good order. Nexr we dalured the Town, which rerurned it to us. The Spranifo Captain came on board us, and told us there were a great many Pirares abroad; that Tis cinity two of them had fought feven Spemifs Galleys, and killd cimsporsthem 400 . Men: that they had been at a Town calld fithe our :Steria, with 30 Ships and ten Gelleys; had rook it; and carried of many Priloners, and that they threatned Gibraitor. : The fecond, the Wint at North-ealt, we weighed Anchor, and keprour Courfe Northeart and by Eaft, and the third we came into the Road of Mirlage. The fixth we weighed anchor again, the Wind ar North-weft. Before we faild, the Fleet divided into chree Squadrons; the Admiral kept \({ }^{\text {fix }}\) Leagues from the Shoar, the Vice-admiral three Leagues withour him, and the Reat-admiral three Leagues within him. The 27 hh we calt Anchor in Algicr-soad, as 27 Fathom

Warcr, out of the reach of the Guns of the Town or Catte. We faluted them with our Ordnance, bur they Our Artia:
 Gemetcman afhoar with a whice Elag, to let :he Vice-roy know the Caufe of our coming, who returacd us anfwer, By four Micn wish a whire Flag, that he had Orders from the Grand Signier to ufe us with all reipect; that our Men might have the frec liberry of the Shoar, to buy whar Provifons they wanted; Proniling withal, chat if the Admiral woukd fend any Gentleman of Q \(\because\) ality athoar with the King's Letters, that upon the difcia' ging of a Piece of Ordnance, he thould have fuficicur Hoftages fent abnard them. This Night the Pitates brought in three Prizes, one Eleming, and two Englifh.
The oth of December, after many Debarcs, they rent us 40 Captives, preocnding they had no more in the Town: The.nexr day the Admiral fent a Lett \(x\) to the The Admal Brfhem to complain of this treacherous management. difplcasid The eighth we fet fail, and the \(14^{\text {th }}\) we came to an At- winn werese chor in she Road of aticotljer, on the North fide of the of the \(u t\) inIlland: Here we provided our feives with Wood, Wa-serinss. rer and Ballaft. The People were very civil, bringing us all manncr of Rrovifions at cafy Rascs. The 24th we Faild: the 29 th weput into Majorea to rake in frelh Warer.
The. Town of Alajuca is large, and well fortified, and the Pcople ane induftrious, boch Men, Women, and Children, being given to Labotir. They are excreamly civil ro Strangers, and have all mannicr of Victuals in Nejerec. plenty, and ar caly Rates. Their Commodities are Oil, Wood, and Cheefe, of which they have great plency.
The 2 it of May, we came to an Anchor in cigier, and foon after the Admiral order'd fx of the Merchane Ships to ply to and again to the Weitward near the Shoar, to prevent any Pirates from gerting in; and Pre- Return to pararions were made for crecuting a Defign of firing the Aisit: Ships in the Mould. Two Ships we had taken fromg the Tarks, wereto go on this Enterprife. They were filld with all combultible matter, and provided with Chains and Grapling-Irons, and Boats to bring them oft; next them three Brisandins followed, with. Fire-balls, Bucketo of Wild-fire, and Fire-pikes to fatten their Fire-works to the Enemies Ships. They liad alfo a Guntori firted up with Fire-works, Chains and Grapling-Irons: The Gumbod was to be fired in the midet of the Ships in the Mould. There was alfo feven boass, mann'd wich arm'd prepprotione Men, to tefare the Boats of the Fire-lhips if purfued: wire the They had fome Fire-works too, to fre the ships withour M Mold. The Wirm ior offering the Autemp was pur off till the \(24^{\text {th }}\), the Wind being ciken ar. S. S. W: the Ships advanced to che Mould, but when they were within a Mulke-flor: of it; the Weather grew fo calm, they could nor emer: Howeverthe Boats and Brigandines went on, as being inform'd by a Chriftian Slave, who fwank aboard of thern; that the Tumbs not expecting fuch anx Attempt, had tcfe no guardi in any of their Ships, exdifperfe the Fire, the Fire-works rook no cffect. The the Port; tho one of our Ships came fo near as to exAttempt was made under the Walls of the Town, from whence they fired furioully upon our Men, both with preat and fmall Guns. All the daniage we fuftain'd was incoming off; for our Men were got into the Mould before the Town was alarn'd; and when there. they kept the Enemies Ships between them and the Town. In this Adventure we loft only fix Men, befides four or five dangeroully wounded, who died thortly after, and 13 nlightly hurt.
The 25th, four Sail of Pyrates got into Algi \(r\), notwithfanding the Merchant-Ships that cruiz'd near the Shoar to prevent them; for the Wind being Weft ward, and a ftrong Current to the Ealt, drove our Ships fo far to the Lecward, that they could nor cut them off from / the Boom for a Guard, hange fome Shor, but withour doing any damage: Th
The 28 th, the Bonadventure num 2 Pirate alho The 28th, the Bonaduenture Run a Pirare, alhoar, A Pits who had 130 Turks aboard, and 12 Chrifian Captives: Alous. They were all drown'd but 12 Turks, who Car'd themCclves by fwimming. The 3 if our Boars took up rwo G.mouefe Slaves, who had the Courage to fwim from the Town to our Ships. They told us, that the Night we weighed Anchor, fercn of the belt Ships belonging to digier, came in, and if we had ftaid, it had been impoinible for them to efape: Thar the Turks had boom'd op the Mould; that all the Ships were fill of armed Men, and three Ganlies and fifteen Boats lay continually befurc

\section*{Снир. XIV.}

\section*{A Relation of the Taking and Recovering the Jacob of Briftow, and Jome otber Adventurers of Englifh Sbips.}

The Ship
y.itiss.

NEar the latter end of efiober, 1621 , the Fan cot' of Brijoro, Burthen \(120^{\circ}\) Tuns, was, after a flarp. Fighr, over-powcr'd and taken, by a Curnir of Ilgier. The Turts took all we Mcn out of the Ship but four, and feat thirteen of ,
The wretched Capives thar were left aboard the Engijh Ship, were under difmal Apprehenfions of what they muff fuffer in cafe they were carried to Algier. This pur their Invention upon the frretch how to frec themiclyes from fo recrible a Slavery : And Providence favoured them with an Opportunity in the following manner The fifth Night after cheir being taken, they had a great Storm ; the Captain in the Diftreef lending his Hand to

They re-
decm the feiver in felven in Siorm. ftikectch Sails, two of the Engitif gave bim a oofs overboard: He had almoft gocin agzin, by the help of a Rope he carch'd hold of, bur was knock'd down again with he Hande of the Pump. In the confuifon of the Stornt the reft of the Tirks did not mindit. This done, ore of them fitep'd to the Mafter's Cabin, paffing by fix or feven Turks, and fetch'd two Currlaxess, with which furperizing the Pirates, they drove them from one part of the Ship fo another, killd wwo, and made 2 third leap over-board, the other mine they drove bewwixt Decks All the Miichief the \(T_{w}\) tes did them, was the unflipping the Whiptaff which they gor 2gain and purting the Turke ( many of which were wounded) under Harches had occafion, they brought the Ship intro St . Lucus in Spain, where they fold the Turke for Slaves.

\section*{C hap. XV}

\section*{The Particulars of the Recovery of the Exchange of Briftow Publifoed by John Rawlins.}

ON the firlt of Nooember, 1621 , the Nicholdes ral pur afhoar twelve of the Bonaventure's Crew, with of Plmouth, Burthen 40 Tuns, Fobn Raw- fome other Englifh Captives taken before. The Vicelins Mafter, fet fail from that place for the admiral knew better how to difpofe of his. Prifoners, fo Seraiss, in company with the Bonaverturfe, of he-order'd Rawins and five more to be broughr aboard the fame Port, burthen 70 Tuns.
The: 8 str of the Came Monch we came in fight of Gi- aboard the Prize. The Night after we had a Storm, in Gratar, whete the Watch difcoverd five Ships making all which we loft fight of the Englith Prize the Nithola. ene Sail they could rowardsus, for which reafon we en- On the 22d we arrived at Alyier, but heard no news of deavour'd to keep off from them : At laft our Sufpicion the Bark. Here we learn'd the moft dreadful Sufferings increafing, we made the beft of our way for Timriff of which we were to pafs thro'; how many Chrifians had Gibrattar, but to no parpofe, for cre half the day was bieen forced to turn Turks, and others to profiture their fpent, the Admiral of the Pizates came up with the Bo-
Araship
Tixisul by after oblig'd Rapotins portrike. The fame day the Admi-

Chap XV. The Recovery of the Exchange of Briftow.
 Market, and-ifrady feem'd backward, the Officers cithe bear them, ora prick'd them with Cords. To force them to turn Turk, or fubmit to their Filthiness, they difplay'd their Cruelty after this manner: They laid pofure till they bled at Nope and Months and if. they thill proved conttant, they beat ours their Teeth, prick'd cm by the Tongue, and try'd many other Tortures. Sometimes they laid them at full length in the Ground, as in a Grave, chrearning to fave then if deny did not turn.
The 26th, Raplin's's Bark came into the Mould, and the Prifotiers were carried all together before the Baprat, except one Man and the Cabin-boy, who were perfivaded to turn. The Befloanp chafe one of can for himbartering, we were all fold.
Holm lenwlins and his Carpenter wore bought by the Captain that took him.; Renp/ins, by reason of his lame Hand, came very chap, viz. 1 So Doubles, that is, about Seven Pounds ten Shillings; but perceiving that Rankling procure is Pounds of the Engliff there for his Ranfome he mint be fold high up into the Country, beyond all poffibility of ever facing Chriftendome again. When there dismal Tidings wecrebrought to him, this happy Accident wrought his Escape: One John Goodal in Linglifo Turk, with his Parencts, had bought the Exchange of Briform, a Ship formerly taken by the Pirates, which ar this time lay unrigg'd in the Mould, and for which, they wanted \($\) Nod pin home skilful Sailors; fo underfariding Rattlings was to be ramble fold, they fought for him, and purchafed him with two of his Men.
The feventh of \(F\) anuary che Ship was fitted up, and the fame day haled ont of the Mould; they had in cant Guns, 63. Moors or Turks, nine Engtijh Slaves, one Frenchman, and four Hollanders, that were free Men for their Gunners they had two of our Souldiers, one an Engtifh, and the ocher a Dutch Renegado. Fobs Raiding brook this working under Hatches, and other Symptoms ing his Liberty, as put him and the whole Company of bis fellow Slaves in danger; however no great notice was taken of it at fist.
The is th of \(\mathcal{F}\) anuarj we came up with a Pollack. which Thy uk s a run her pelf amour to avoid us; upon that we feat out our Boats, which lightning the Ship by throwing over board her Ordnance, got her off. A Turki Man of War had bore us company molt of the time we were out; but. our Men and they quarrelled fo about the dividing the Spoil of this Ship, that the Man of War returned wo Algicr, and we went out of the Strait's Mouth. We pit nine Turks, and one Enghifh. Slave out of our Ship aboard she Prize; and here the Turks mutined, as anwilling to go into the Mar, Graneda, as they. call the Ocean; but in tic conclution they referred it to their Hoffect, or Prophet, a Tort of Men much eftecm'd among 7 Tranin them; for no large Veffel goes to sea without one; and when they are in the Ocean, he Divines every Second or third Night; the Ceremony he unfed when I aw hut at his Conjuration was thus. Upon the fighrof.two great Ships, feared to be no Spanish. Men of War, a deep iidene is commanded in che Ship, after that, all the Compang gives a great Strick; Comerimes the Sails are all taken in, and perhaps presently after hoofed out again, as the Conjurer presages: There are aldo 2 Callas and two Arrows laid on a Cuftion, one for the Turks, and che other for che Christians, and 2 Cartlaxe: then this wisc Man reads, and forme one or other takes che two Arrow, in his Hand by their Heads; if the Arrow for the Cbri flans comes over the Head of the Arrow for the Turks, ir forces' they'll be taken; if the Arrow for the Turk comes over the Head of the Arrow for the Cfriftian, then they think themselves fare of facers. The Cuartaxe is taken up by a Child or rome Perron chat is a Stranger to the mater, and'ris munch minded if in lie upon the fame file or no. They obrerve Lunaticks too; for the Conpurer writes down their Sayings in a Book, groveling upon the Ground as if he whifpecid to the Devil.

He had farce done when we difcover'd a Sail, which proved to be a Tirkifh Man of War: Our Commander made his Complains to the Captain, of the Backwardnets of the Turks to proceed in the Voyage; and he perwaded them 'twas for their Honour mather to do it, chian go home; fo they were all well fatistied.
Foin Rewind in the mean time was providing himicte with Ropes with broad Specks of Iron, and Iron Grows, 7 in : ming, to invt up the Captain himfolf, and all his Company m , 5 , auer and fo to manage the matter; that upon the Warch-wor given, the Li Li, b being Maters of he Gun-rom, Ord-: wives. nance, and Powder, they might cither blow them up, or kill them as thicy carrie our of their Cabbing. He difover'd this Plot by degrees to he four hollander:, who offence to join with him ,s the Holan!ers brought: over the Dutch Pron after. All this time Raving periwnicd the Captain fill to bear Northward, affuring nim he could apo miffs Prize, which happened accordingly; for on the Sixth of Feliuay we took a Bars of Tor hay, that carte from Aver ne, laden with Sale: We took out all that Men, the Mate, and two more, and pus ten Tull \(k\), and Who were ins the Confederacy, aboard the Prize; blt before they went aboard; Rumpling allured chem, that ho would attempt it chat very Night or che next, and they should fee a light on a certain past of the Ship if it went forward, and advised them to acquaint the Fnytift in the Bark with the Defign, and to ftecr towards the English Coat; for the Turks being Souldicrs, and unacquainted with Sen Affairs, 'twas no hard matter to put that Trick upon chem. The Matter of the Bark, and the reft of the new made Slaves, were foo made acquainted with the Deign, and rciolv'd to adrift in it.
Next Morning the Prize was our of light, which made the Captain form and Swear ; fo Rexplins being afraid he might return in that bumete to Allier, went down into the Hold, and brought the Captain word that there was a great deal of Water below, and that it did nor come. to the Pump, because the Ship was too far after the Head; fo Orders, were given for quitritig the Cables, and bringing four Guns aftern: Accordingly we brought two of them, with their Mouths right before the Birice, and twas concluded, that we that did belong to. the Gur-room; Should be all there, and break up the lower. Deck; the Englif Shares in the middle Deck Should do the fame, and watch the Scutzels. Refiling got as much Powder of the Gunner as would prime the The Success: nieces \(i\) and pretended to the Captain, that top ut the Ship of their in order, all Hands mint work ar the Pump; while chis \({ }^{\text {Design }}\) was doing, two Marches were brought one between two Spoons, the other in a' Can, for Secrecy', and immediately one of the Guns was difcharg'd, which broke in pieces che Biricle ; this noife garberedail our Mich tonethee, who cleared the Hold of what Moors and Turks had been left below : The Turks at the. Poop were ftrangely furpriz'd at ir, and endearour'd what cher could so break in upon us; but we having fired the Powder, new many. of then tho' little. fcoir-holes with -rineir own Mullets; So chat as. hatt:they cried for mercy, and were order d to come down one by one ; but the Rage of our Men was fo great, they iill'd dome of them after they came down; which made a great many others leap into the Sea; fro chat of 45, we brought but the Captain and five more into England: Our Company confined. of 24 and 2 Boy. The Captain and malt of the Rencerdoes were afrewards recomild to the Clarifian Faitli. As foo as all was over, Fobs Rapolins got all his Men together, and gave praife to God for their wonderful Deliverance:

The Bark of Torbay ( above-mentioncd) arrived at nnoticieng: Penfence in Cornmeal: They bad all along perfwaded ale Anoshiripers Turks that they were going to Algin, rill they canine in sfapostfin light of England, which one. of w he fur e was they hid him was howe was pot Che Sale to Windward, and they Could know more. to Morrow, and aston as he and his Companions were gone down, they nailed down the Parches. The Turks that were thus made Prifonersin that Bark, were brought to Exeter:

\section*{C н a p. XVI.}

\section*{A Colledion of what relates to Africa, in Mr . George Sandys bis Hiltory of the prefent Scate of the Turkifh Empire.}

RHodes is now inhabired by Turks, or \(\mathcal{F e w s}\), nor leffen in weight till the a 7 ch of \(\mathcal{F}\) une, when it grovis only; the few Chriftens that remain, who are Grecks, nor beins permitted to ftay in the City after Sun-fer: The Suburbs are utterly razid. I've heard that the Monuments, Statues, and Inferiptions formerly belonging to the Knights of the Order, are all preferyd entire by the Turks, thofe cxcepted which the War deftroyd : The Gicind Signior maintains five Gallics here.
We faw tio land till the third Nighe after we left Riades, when we difcover'd the Coalt of Erypf, buc durft not come nigh che Shoar that Night; next day we entred the Slaven of Alcx mintia, where we faw a tatal Inftance of the Unfafcners of the Harbour \(;\) for not two Nights before the North Winlls beating full upon the Mouth of the Porr, drove the foremoft Ships from their Anclors, which dathing againt the reft, funk all for company, bring \(2=\) in number.

\section*{The Com-}
 repures Soin of cogyp is incredibly truitful, being formenly the Romaz Empire could nos have fubbifted, if not atifted by the Plenty of Exypr. The chicf Commoditics of the Country are Sugar, Flax, Rice, and all forts of Grain, Linnen-cloath, Hides, Salt, Buttargo, and Cavia.
All the Riches of this pienriful Country are owing to the Niic: Four Miles below Cairen that River divides into two Navigable Branches; the Eaft Branch runs into the Mediterranicen by Demiata; the other called Cenopus, falls into the fame Sca a little below Referte, making of the bett partof the Jand a triangular Inand, call'd from its fhape Delta: The frefh Water keeping togecher, and changing the colour of the Salr for a greater dintance from tine Shoar than can be difeemed. Two other Branches which are very thallow; run between thefe, befides feveral Canals cut astificially, which are no mail advan tsecto the Country. Of the feren Branches mentioned by Hercorus, and nine by P:olemy, thefe are all I could hear of. Nor is it a thing etrange, that the Channel of a River itould be choak'd up by grear quantities of Gravel or the like. The moft umaccountable thing is the fwelling of this River, confidering that Rain never faleth hace bus inWinter, and even then but feldom. The over-Tre fwelling fowing of this Stream and Waters, inriches the Ground, Co that they do not find the want of Rain; and it confevencenth of func cucry Ycar, and mounting by degrees fometimes \(=4\) Cubits, which is the very higheft: It fwell'd this Year ar Cairo 23 .
Abour two Miles above the City, at the end of O'd Cairc, in the beginning of \(A_{\text {ugreft }}\) they cut the Banks to let it out. The Befferw is always frefent at this Ceremonj, and gives the firft ftroke, accompanied with great numbers of Pecple in Gallers and Barges, rejoicing and feafing for feveral days. At their teturn they are met by the Pcople out of the City, who ftrew their Heads with Flowers, as the welcome Fore-xuners of what they have lons wifh'd. The Plenty or Scarcity of every thing lears proportion to the greater or leffer fwelling of the River; for the Councry is fandy, and of it fel not fit to produce any thing; and 'tis by this Inundation that i: is manured as well as warcied, the Water leaving a grear deal of Slime and ocher Scuff behind it which fa:tens the Grouid. Tis remarkable too, that the Plaguc rage in Cairo, ir ceafes the firt day of the Flood, cren tho' soo died of it but the day beforc. 'Tis no wonder then, that an ignorant fupertitious People formerly adord this River under the name of ofiris, fince they received fo many Benefits from it. Its a pretty fight when the Water's lip, to fee the Towns look like To many inands, and Boats paining and repaffing berween them.
When the Rivor is retir'd within its bounds, their heavier as the River fwells, and lighter again when it decreafes : By rhis they have an infallible knowletge of the Sate of the Deluge, procceding no doubt from the moiftnefs of the Air, which increafes every thing as is increafes in humidity.
Their way ct
In the soch and anth Xears of Cleoperara, the Hiftcriantste of thofe rimes fay the Ni/c fwell'd not, which Deficien- tultion cy for two Xears together, is faid to have prefaged the fall of two great Potentates, Anthony and C/eoparra. It alifo pro duces abundance of Fifh, of a different niape and cuality from ours, which are nether fo favoury nor whol rome.
There is no Wine in this Comntry, nor do the Inhabitants defire any. Trees are very rare too, unlefs it be in Orchards, and abating for the Palm-trees which grow in Deferts, and which are very ferviceable to them. Of thefe there are Male and Female, the Female inclining her top to the Male, and mixing his Seeds with hers, both being contain'd in little Cods. The Eryetians ate very careful to fow thefe Seeds in the Spring. The Fcmale only is fruifful, and not to unlefs it grows by a Malc. Their Dates are not ripe till abont the cnd of December. They open the rops of fuch as are barren, and take from thence the whire Pith, which they fell, and it whery refembles in tafte, but far cxcceds an Artichoke. Of mikeor the Branches they make Bedfeads, Lartices; and 6 ftha Web of the Leaves, Mars, Fans, Bafkets, EEt. of the outward Hupk of the Cod, good Cordage; of the inner, Bruthes, Evc. all which thcy take off ycarly, withort damage to the Trec. By this Tree they always reprefented a Man; for that it fiuctifies by Coition, has a Brain like Pich in the upper part, Strings like Hairs on the top, Branches extended like Hands, and Dates like Fingers. They have no great quantity of. Wood. bur yet cnough for their ufe, for they eat licile Flehh. Fref Checfe, foure Milk made iolid, Roors, Fruits, and Tors. Herbs, cifecially Coloc.7fin, formerly called the Es, aticn in \(\mathrm{E}_{2}\) Bern, being their chicf fuftenance. They bake their Bread on the Hearth, mixing Coriender Sceds with it Gold they're Strangers ro, the Refule of Palm-rtecs, Sugar-Canes, and the like, furnifhing fufficient Fucl fir rhcir Occafions. Forcigners that have more ufe for Fcwel, buy Wood by weight, as it is brough: hither by Sca, and the Galeons of Conftansincpis go to the kiack Sea for Timberbefore they begin their Voyage to Catio. muft nor pafs by the Sedg, Recus, which grow intic Marlhes of Egypr, which they made Paper of ; thefe were ipe. call'd Pafy uc, whence the Word Paper took its rife. They divide it into Flakes, into which it narurally parts, then laying them on 2 Table, moiften them wi:h the Glutinous Water of the River, fo prefs them together, and dry them in the Sun.

Egype is now govern'd by a Buflame, who has his RenteG… Gdence at Cairo i under him are 16 San Spabers. The Revemue of this Country armountins to 3000000 of Sheriffes, the Grend Signior tias cus of riar me 1000000 ; 40000 of which is laid out in Sugar and Rice, and fenr to Confantinefic, the teft being fate over Iand with 2 Guard of 600 Souldiers: The fecond Million is frent in paying of Oficers Civiland Military, and the like, as allo in fitring out the yearly Caravan to Aicces: The thind Milron is for the Support of himelf and his Attendants: But this is thort of what it was in the Reign of cinietes, who 'ris faid raifed feren Mullions and a half of Crowns; and the Proident Romans perhaps made yet more of in.
The prefert Bay/a is calld Mefbemier; he is \(2^{\prime \prime}\) pretry The afit Man, well fricken in Years, and of a fitf inexorable tremen emper. At his firt coming, he cur off the Heads of lutice 4000 Spahes, for having committer ercat Outrages; fuch as bore too much fway, be fert to Celfentincops; and fuch as would not go, he Arangled, making ue of the Arabians (who juftly hated the ecthers; in all his Exccutions. If a Thief cfapes, they thar were appointed to guard that quarter when the Crime was commited, fufter for him; for thisReafon they ofren feize thelnmocent to deliver chemfclys. Their Punimmone is thus: They

\footnotetext{
Whang
}

\footnotetext{

}
- fad frecthone the condemind Criminal's Arms upon Sraves, and lore Holss in their Arms, in which Candles are put, that burn duwn to theFlefleand in this manner are they led thro' the City to the place of Execution. Others are fiead alive, and continue living for fome time, unlefs the Executioner rakes off the Skin of the Niavel. Drunkenacfis death, and all other Diforlers are fo marrowly looked into, that I think I never faw fo fcw in fuch a multitude of People. His Scucrity has gor him furb illwill, that for a Ycar before we came to Cniro, he had Gut himelf up in the Cafte: Howerer the Grand simio likes his Condrel fo will, that to do bim the eore Honour, he gave him his Daughter (a Child of about four Ycars of agej in marriags, which was perfcrm'd with a gicat deal of Ceremony. Another thine, menemmended, is, he will fearee fuffer a Cbriftion to tom Manmietan, which proceds cither out of dillike to his own Relig:on, or fufpicion that fuch Converts generally change out of a fimifter worldly Defign, rathier than any real Conviction
The incors make up the greateft part of the linabitants of Eepr: : The Turks and pers live only in Cities. Here re Archioms conugh, and not a few verress: Of Clurifi us the 入arive Captice are the modt; there are alfo fome Grels, and a fcw Armenints.
The litptian Mors are defonded of the Arabians, and feak the fame Language: They are Men of a mean ftature, and rawny Complexion. very lean, mrill tóngurd, iwifr footed, and very induftrious: tho' they are por riotous, they are none of the belt Hurbands of their Monv. As for their Religion, they are more deyout Munnerams than the Turks themfelves: Learning they have none. They bave no fuch thing as Nobility, few of them being admitud cither to the Magittracy, or fo much as to be'Souldiers, or ceven to wear a Weapon in a Town. Their Merchanss were rich formerly, when the Indien Wares pafs'd thro this Country. Thcir Habir is much the fame with the Turks, fome few excepted, who main the old Garb, vit, a fide Coar of Linoen girt to their Waftes, and a Towel of the fame Cloch chrown oreether Necks: Same of che Negroes wear Vefts lik Surplices: the pooreft of them wear Garments of Hair freak'd black and white, and in the Winter fide-Coans of Cotton. The Begears do by finging and drumming both get Charity, and make themelves merry.
Grear numbers of thein are afflicted with fore Eves occaioned either by the Reffection of the Hear, the fai daft of the Soil, or cxcels of Vencry. The Rox is a common Difemper among them. The Women when they go abroad, are wrapt from Head to Fror in Linnen, breading thrir Arms underneath to lecm the more bulky mots of them are pretty fat, which they feck to pro more by frequenting the Regnios, and ufing a particula Die: for that purpole : They cover cheir Faces with black Ceprefs, with real Spors: their under Garments are of lighter Stuff than thofe of the Tw' \(k\), bur of the fame falhion. The becter fort wear Hoops of Gold and Silver about the: r Arms and An:les; the ochers have Copper Hoops, wish pieces of Coin covering haif their Foreheads, and Plares about cheir Necks, ©e. They colour themiclves, pricking the'Skin, and rubbing in with Ink, and the Juice of an Herb which nceer wears our, and fach like Spors. They have quick and eary Labour, and formerly w'd to have two or three as a birtin; their Childrealive, tho born in the eighth Month. They have a Plant near Macario, which it pur in Water in a Corner of the Room, they fancy procures caly Deliverics. The Conntry Pcoplc follow Hufbandry , their Drefs is only a. Ruffer Mantle: the Women have lietle more, and hide their Faces with nafty Clouts, with Pcep-holes for the Eyes, which is a lintle too much to be leen unlefs there werc cicanlicr: the Men have fome whatapon their hea to dcend their Brains from the Hear. This Reople: certainly matchlefs for Natinefs, as beins crufted with dirr, and ftinking with moak; for their Houfes generally have no Chimne;s.
The Cipstes ate the true Egpprians, fo calld from Coptus, an ancient City a.Jittle below, on that fide of the River where Tiebes ftood againft the Ifland Tenterites. Thefe are Ciriftions, tho Circumcis'd, which chcy arc now aham'd of, presending for their excufe, that the Mars force them to it in the Country; and indeed in Towns 'ris not ufed by them. Tho' in feveral things they are Heretical, yet they own the Divinity of our Saviour, norwithitanding their odd enersabout his haring but one Nature, Efc. Their Children are not baptized tiil they are forty dats old. After Mid-night on saturdoys, this go to Church, and ftay there rill Sundey at Norn, fipporting themfeives all the time with Cruceles. The Prieft is veil'd in Limen, ard has two or three Boys feparated from the reft of the Pcople, in the fame babir. They fing moft of the Pralins of David at cuery Mecting, with feveral Portions of the Old and New Teftament, the latter as written by Nicomodes, part in the Coptick I.anguage, which few of them materttand, bur moft of is in the Mercfco. The Prieft and Pcolle offen join in a ftrange'Sarage noife, which to me feen'd nor to be Articulate; and now and then the Prien lifes up a red Cloch, under which I furfoic was sbe Sacra ment, which they adminifter in both kiads, and pite it to lnfants as foon as they arc lartiz'd. They have our Saviour and the blefled Virgin pictur'd in their Churches but not over their Altars, nor could I perceive. that they wormipped him in the leaft.

They preferve in Cheits, the Afhes of furh as have turn'd Maliomstans, and for recanting again, have fuffer'd Martyrdome; at their entrance they kils their Hands and lay 'em over one anocher: The Women fir in grated Galleries, difinft from the Mcn: Eattcan Untion, Prayers for the Dead, and Purgatory, they difllow, and told the Remen Church to be Herctical : they reecet all general Councils lince that at lopirfis. Yeit the In: duftry of the Friars has feduc'd many of them to Popery, having their Service and Bi!le funs them in the Arabick Tonguc. Their Patriarch, tho' calld the Parriarch
 Ri:erabove C:aire, they ha:e a greas Cicy calld Saich Tha phece where Ciriff and his Morher are faid to hure Baid -ill have Head. When they grow old, they Ecneraly hand fancy to go there to lay their Bonce. Therc's a hand lome Church chere, buils by Helm, the Mother of Conftemtine. In Lent they never cat by day, excent 5 , turdays and Surnday:. They warar round Caps, Towels about the:r Ne:ks and Gowns with wide Slecers of Cloath, and lighter Scuffs. They live in more fubjection than the Moors, and pay ycarly a ccrain cribute by way of Poll, to the Beffe: They retain the Vicss of their Anceftors, tho unacquainted with their Excellencics thofe that profefs Magick now are but Jug!ers to chem of nld.

The Lake Mercoris, made formerly another \(\mathrm{H}_{3}\) ven \(\mathrm{re}^{\text {a }}\) Alcxandria, by which ahe Indian Commodities, and thofe of Arabier, and the up-land Parts of Eygyt, were broughe down by the help of Channels, now quite fuined: Is was joind alfo by a narrow Cus to anorher effer Lake nearer the Sca, which at this time affords plenty of Salt-petre. Between the lefer Lake and the City, is a Channel, from whence during the Deluge of Che Ni/c, Water is convey'd by Condu:ts into large Cifterns, and preferyd till the next Deluge: this is an occafion of much Sicknefs in Summer-rianc. This Ci:y is all built upon Vauls, fuppored with caricd Pillars ined with Sture: But at prefene 'tis very ruinous, only the Wails are fill ftanding, which tis faxi peocmin fundd, and adorn'd with 8 Turrets, which are rather fate y than ftrong, if compar'd with the molern Foriticaons: After this Town was detro:cd by the Siterens it lay wafte a long time, till a Mitomerei lriefn prophecying great advan=ages to bech as frotild rebuld and inhabitit, Poop'c flocked to.is. It was atterwards de froved by dhe Corse:, Frre, and Vinticus, who anow the time that Lemis the fourth was colareded by the Su.an, furpriz'd and made a groas Daughterin is ; but har ing of rhe Sulter's Approach to xelieve it, thay bu ne and eft it. The Sulfan: repaird the Walis, and built the Caftle that ftands on the Piantw to defend the Haven and broughr it to the condition it isnowin. Several high Hills are made of the Ruins, bxt no rifrifien is luf ferd to mountrbem; left rincy hould take an exact Surrey, of the Iown; in thefe places, efpecially afrex a Shower of Rain, arc frequertly fuund rich Stones and Medtes, engraven with the higure of their Gods and Men; cmr with focleart, than what is noms. done of that kind, looks like bungling Counterfeits to them. On the top of one of them; ftands a Warch-cower, where thare is a conftant Sentry to give notice of Ships when they appar in fight. Herc are not many Antiquities lefr, only a Hicroglyphical Obelifk of Triban Marble. almont as hatd as perriy., but of a despet red, and foeckled like: they call it Pierris Necde, and is frands where he Palace of wicrodric once flood. There is anoher mana hard byit, and like it, ha'f buried in Rubbifh. Wirhour che Walis on che Sourh weft dide of the City ftands 2 Column of the faric Marble, all' of one Stone. S6 alms high, and 30 round, a ialm being nine Inches and a half, aceradar co the Genculf Mcalure: I mention rhat Mafiere, becaufe the Dimenfors wete tak:n by one of that Cocntay for \(-2, \operatorname{Di}\) Ban. ls is placed upona quare Cube, and which is rexy odd, not half Go large is the Foot of the Pillar, call'd by the Arabians Hemndeflecr, that is, The Column of sis Arabinins. They tell you this Fable of it; that one of the Prolemics crected this Pillar at the moft cxitream Poine of the Haven, to defend this City from being infuled by Sea, having put a Magical Glais of Stecl at the top, which if uncoverd, would fire any Ship that pafsid by it ; but being thrown down by thein, it Joff its Power, and thercupon they crected the Column in this place. Amoug the Weftern Clorifti-7 her riliar of ans, it bears the Name of the Pillar of Pompey, faid to Fimes. Be fet up here by ciefar in memory of his Succels againft Pemey. The Yatriarch of mexanibin has a Houlc here, joining to a Church, where the: fay St. Mred their firt Bettop and Marryr was buried, who in the days of Trajai, wa, draggd along with a Rope about his Neck, to the place caild Angeles, and there Burned. His Prones were afterwards renoved to Venice, he being the Saint and Patron of that City. There are now two Patriaribe, one of the Grecks, the other of the Circumei/cd who is the univerial Patriarch of the cofsies and Abaffines. The Name of the prefenc Patriareh of the Grecks, is Crrif, a Man of approved Virtuc and Learning, and a Fitenit so the reformed Religion: He ufed to fay that the Differences between us and the Grecks are bue Shells, but riofe are Kernels betwixe them and the Papifts. The Euildings notw ftanding are but mean and ferv, crected on the Kuins of the former; that part of the City which I upon the Shoar, is inhabited; the reft is defolate : the Whlleare almolt quadrangular. They have four Gates, erie of whlich leads to the Nite, another to Mareotr, the thict ro the Detars of Bacilen, and the fourth opens to the Haver.

Thus Port is inhabited by Moors, Turks, Fews, Coffies, min ficcians, more for Merchandize (for 'tis a free Porr for Friend and Enemy) than for the Conveniency of rhe phace: 'ris feated on a Defart, where you have neither Tillage nor Pafturage, except what borders on the Lake, and that's burlittle, and nor well Hufbanded; yer chey have good ftore of Goars, which feed among the Ruins, and have Ears hanging down to the Ground.
iaconform
Ontie Inle of Pijarus, which is now become firm Land tands the Caftle before-mentioned, for the defence of the Haven. They have no Wacer in it, but what is brought uponCamel's Backs out of theCiry : All Ships faJute this Tower with their Guns. As many of us as came Iral aftoar; :werc brought to the Cuftom-houle, to have our filves and our Pormanteau's fearched : ten per Cenr. is paid for all Commodities, and that in kind, nor Mgney: what Moncy you bring, pays only one and a galf per Cent. They nake an exagt account of it, that they may thercby guefs ar the Value of the Commodities recumed Gir them : then you pay elcven per. Cens. more for fuch Goods, as arenor fo much as alterd in property: At is dear a rate is this free Trade purchafed: the Mabomeran pats as much here as the Chrijlian: The Fews farm the 7en Cuftoms, paying to the Baffa twenty thoufand Madeins a cay. chirty Madsins making a Rial of Eight. W lujg'd in the French Conful's Houfe, who undertakes the Protcction of all Strangers. The Cane is lock'd up at Ninons ani Nights, left the Franis fhould attempt any cifturbance. : The Vice-Conful keeps a Table for Merchanrs, and tho'he expects grear Refpect to be paid to him and is recy thy in granting his Company, yet he has the good-will of mott. He provided us with a Janizary to guard us to Cairo, whofe Hire was five Pieces of Gold, befides his Dich, and his Mens, and a Provifion of Powder. fities in this Country are not inferiour to Horfes for traveling: We paid half a Shariffa piece for them, and a wholic one for our Camels. Ar the Gate chey took a Madein a Head for our felves and Affes, thro which we could not pais without a Gefcaric from chesCadere the chief Oficer of the City.
'Twas on the fecond of Februcry that we beganeme Journey, paifing chro' a Defart which produces bere anit shere a tew unculrivared Yalms, Capers and a Weed call d Kiti dy be Arasiass: they ule it for Fewel, and icll the Ahs to the tractians, who make thrir Chryftal Glates of there Athes mix'd with the Stones they ferth from Pitire. On the Lefe we faw many ruinous Builimgs, one of which is faid to be the Royal Manfion of clepra. Beyond thefe is Bucharis, once a little Citr, bue now only the Foundation left: Many Palms grow berenbouts, which fublift the wretched Inhabitanes of the beggarly Yillages. A Tower is buile here upon a Rook to kive Light to the Sailers, by rearon of the danere of the Ccait. Soon afrer wre pafsd by a Guand of Souidicrs. placid lere for the Secuity of the Paffage, who made us par a Madein a Head. Sevenor eight Miles berond, we ferricd oier a Creck of rue Sca On the ortier fade ftands a handfome Cave, built not long aso by a Apor of Cairo, for the Relief of Travelless, conraining a quadrangle within, and arch'd underneath. Under one of there we refted, making our Fardelis ferie. for Bolfters, the Stoncs being our Beds.- In fich places as thece tis ufual to unload the Camels, and to poret both Men and Beafts, as being there fecur'd from Thieves and Violence. Giving a Triffe for Oil, we fer forward again about Midnighr, having met here with a great dcal of Company, who were bold and refolute, travalling with their Matches lighted, in a pofture to receive any Onfer. The Moors to keep themielves awake, would tell you a Story ahundred times ovill By the way again, we flould have paid the C.rphat, but the darknefs of the Night excus'd us.
Keeping aiong the Shoar, and \(n\) trning a litrle to the Right-hand, before day we enered R.Jesta, repaising to \({ }_{\text {p }}\) a Cave belonging to the Franks, where the beft Enertainment we could- ger, was a muity and dark GroundRoom, and the unwholfome Floor ro ly upon.

This City ftands upon the principal Branch of the Nile, formerly call'd Canipliws; it diffharges it felf into the Sea abour three Miles lower." The Entrance : cros'd with a Bar of Sand, which thifts according to the Winds, and beating of the Surges; for which reaion the 3 erlics that pals over, are made withour Keels, being round and flar bortom'd. A Pilos of the Town continues founding there all day; by whofe Diredions they enter, and that fo near him, that one leaps out of the Pilor's Boar into the other, to receive Pilotage, and frvims back again. The Jerlics that can pafs over this Bar, might, if well directed, go up as far wis Chire Roferta was buile by the Slave of an Egrpticn Caltat: The Epgprians call it Rafid, derited perhaps from Roas, which fignifes Rice in the Turk: \(\beta\) Language ; for this Country abounds in Rice, and affords no lef's than 300 Quarter every Year. The Houles are all of Board, not old, ctio chey fcem fo, but flat Roof'd, as all are in thofe ho Countries: for the Moors ly often on the tops of their Houles: they jet over like the Poop of a Ship; to Ihadow the Street from the Reflection of the Sun. Rofetra has to manner of Fortificarion about is; 'tis no very little Town, and I believe the beft furnillidd of any place in the World, with Grain, Fleth, Filh, Sugar, Roors, Fruits, © c. they vend a great many of raw Hides to aly.
Next day but one we embark'd in a Ferbjfor Cairo, Thige aving hired our Ferby, with ieven Water-men, for came welve Dollars. This Arin of the Nile is as broad as the welve dollars. This Ann of the Nite is as broad as the and in many places fo thallow, thar we were oficn in danger of ficking faft on the Flats: the Water is as chick as if ir had becn lately difturb'd, and glides along wich a hufh, llow Current. Ton Miles above Rofets is that Cur of. che River which rins to Alexcndrin. In our way we bought oftentimes as much Finh for Six Pence, as would ferve cwenty reafonable Men. On each fide of the River, there are feveral Towns generally oppofite to each other ; built of part Brick, part Mud, Mary of the meaner. Houles appear like Bec-hives, caft up to preferye the Intiabitanr and his Cattle, during the Deluge of the Nile: All along the Banks are intinite numbers of deep and fpacious Vaules, into which they letrhe The River, drawing the Warer up into large Cifterns, with her Wheeds fer round with Pirchers; and rurnd about by 6 mon Buffaloes, from whence it rums along little Trenchios made on the Ridge of che Banks, and to is convejed into each Man's Ground, the Counrry lying all on a level. We had the Winds favourable fo feldom, that the poor Moors were.forc'd, moft part of the way, to hale along the Boar, fomenmes wading up to thicir middle, to fet if over the Shallows, and crying ar cvery tug Elough, as moch as to lay In God's Name: chis Exclamation in their Opivion, leffens all Dificulcies, procures God's Adiftince, and conjures the Devil away. The Labour of thiefe People is fo hard, and their Food to mean and beardefs, that they abound with decrepit Perfons. The Sboar furnin"d us with pleafant Walks, which made our Paffage feem lets tedious. The wonderful fruifulnefs of the Soil furprizd us, as did the carly maturity of things. Matters being as forwaril with them at char time, as with usin \(\mathcal{F}\) unc: \(:\) their Reaping begins at the end of Marct.

The Sugat-cines afforded ios borh Walking-ftaves, and a very refrelhing tiquor. We met in our way feveral Troops of Horfe, appointed to fecurc the Roads from Thicyes, who are ycry numerons hereabourst, they rob fomerimes apon the Warer too in litule Friganes: this made our Janizanies very vigilanc, they being afifted by two others to whom we gave their Pallage to kcep watch every Noght by zurns, dichargits their Harquebuftes in the Eveniug and banging our kindled Marches to tarify the Rogues: Thefe Janizarics are generally very careful of the Charge they undertake. Five days after our firt imbarking a litde before Sun-fet, we fail'd by the Southern Angle of the lale of Detra, where the River divides inro anothcr Branch, not much inferiour to this, which enters the Sea, as has been faid before, at Damiatr. Geographers are not agreed among themielves whether this fland belongs to Afia or Africa.
About twilight we arrived at Bolac, the Porr Town to Cair, and not two Miles diftant from is: Every Frank at his landing here, pays a Dollar.
Leaving our Carriages in the Boat, we hired fix Affe with their Dri:crs for Six Pence, to conduct us to Caito, where an Ensti/h Merchant cintertaind us gritts in his Hourc very kindly.
This Ciry is feated on the Eiff fide of the River, at the Foot of the Rocky Mountain Muitac: It winds along with the Hill in the fhape of a Hall-Moon, ftretch ing from North ro South, the Suburbs being reckoned five ltalian Miles in length, and where broadect, not otherwife: Yet the City is very Atrong, as appears by the thrce Days Fighe continued within ir by Selymur, and maintain'd by the poor Remainder of the Mama luch:; fir the Sercess are narrow, and the Houfes high builr: At the End of almoft all of chem is a Gate, which being fiut crery Night (as they are) makes each Strect as ftrong almoft as a Caftc. The Houles are more beautiful on the out-fide, than convenient within, the Entrance to them being generally troublefome; yet the Roofs are high; the uppermoft is a litele open to let Walls mounted higher than the Roof, and being at top ofen but fingle Brick, they're a lirtle ruinous at the upper part - this makes the Profpect a lirtle confus'd : think it's beft compard to a Grove of flourifhing Trees, with perifid Crowns. Their Locks and Kcys are of Wood, even to Doors that are plated with Iron. But the prirate Buildings are not ro be compair'd with the publick oncs, of which the Mofques are the moft resoroqum markable for Magnificence; the Srones of many of them are very curioully carved on the out-fide, fupported with Marble Pillars adornd with what Art can conrrive, or their Religion tolerate. They differ in form from thofe at Conffantinople; fome being fquare, with open Roofs in the middlc, of a huge bulk, the covcr'd Circle tarraft atote; others ftrcrehing outin lengrh, and many of them are fuited to the place where they re built. The greareft was built by Gehor, and called Gemifh Hafbaw, the Calipi having given him the name of Hafharr, as much as ro fay Niotic. Of thefe inthis City, 'tis faid there is fuch a number as is incredible. So I fhall nor mention ir.
Joining to them are Lodgings for the Sentons, that is, ry abour his Body in proceffion, with grear rejocior for they fuppofe his Soul to be withour doube gone ro Paradifc. Here are feveral very good Hofpicals, boch for Building, Revenuc, and for Artendance.
Next to thefe for beauty; are the Seraglio's of the great Men : If a Chriftian xide by one of them, they'll pull him from his Afs with great contempt; you muft know they prohibir us Horfes, as unworthy to ride them. The Streets are unpar'd, and exceeding dirt after a Shower; for it rains here fomerimes in Winter; and then 'tis moft liable to the Plague. Crofs the Sureers upon the cops of the Houres, are laid Beams covered with Mats, to fhelter them from the Sun. There is the fame Covering between two high Molques in the chief Street of the City ; when the Ba/bew or others of Qualit paffes under ic; chey thoor up Arows, moft of which will ftick above: the Occafion of thar Cuftom I cannot tell.
Lithrom. While we were herc, the Feaft of the litule Byram was folemnized; at this time they kill great numbers of Sheep in their Houres, which cut in pieces, are diftributed among their Slaves and poorer fors of Teople. They daab their Doors with the Blood, perhaps in imitation of the Paffover.
The Nill, which is a-Mile off, during the Overflow, comes into the City by feveral Channels: When the Conduit is empty, or the Warer corrupted, they have it brought on Camels from the River. They have many Wells, but the Water is good for nothing bur to cool the Streets or walh the Houres.
In the middle of the Town ftands. 2 large Cave, which they call Beffftan, in which; as in thofe ar Conffantinople, arefold all your finer forts of Wares; they fell 'em by the Cry of Wbo gioes more; like the Venetians.

This City has chrecchicf Gares: Bele Nanfre or the The ecte Gate of Vikior, opening towards the Red Sca: Rab Zueita, leading to the viile and the old Town; becween thefe rwo lics the chicf Strees of the Ciry: the third is Bebel Fusuli, or the Port of Triumpit, on the North of the City towards the Lake Estrgeic. Three files of the l, ake arc inclofed with handfome Ruibldines an! Gallories for Pleafure, fupported by Pillars, and jetting over On the other fide, now nonglic but Ruins, tood the ftately Pudace of Dulsibe, Wife to the Sutfan Cairict. on which were Doors and faums of Jvory, the Want and Paicments checancr'd with difollourid Marble, Colums of Porphyr, Alabafter, and Serpentine; the Cori ings flourilld with Gold and Amure, and intayid with Indian Elony, a Tree which when cur, cquals a Store almoft in hardncls: In a Word, is was as magnificent as a Woman's Curiofity could dcfirc, or the Puris of a Monarch afford; 'rwas levelled with the Griund by Sclmus, the Stones and other Ornaments being remot'd - Conftantimople.

The Lake is fquare, and pretry large, but has no Wa- Thictres ter in ir, except when the River fwells ; 'ris joined to the River by a Channel, in which the Moors are rowed to and again in the Evening in Barges for Pleafurc; ar wach rimes they nade themelves with Damalks, and 5 :dian Stuffs. When the Water's gone, the place changes, but does not lufe its Picafure nor Company ; 'tis frequentir, ir yery much in the cool of the Day, and for Rro- Fivetrovefe here by a Reggatly Moor (the others are generally prerty aril) we had. no remedy but to addrels our iclies to another, who feem'd to make a Figure, and by kiting his Garment, we infinuated inno his Favour, fo that he cproved the unmannexly Moor for his Rudencefs; bur we were not gone far till he becanc much more Affiontisc than before, making us the Jeft of all the Company, who account of Chriftians no better than Dogs, and interpos'd between us and the other to prevent a fecond Complains; at laft we got to him that had befriended us, who in a scat paffion fent his Slaves after him that had affronted , and they beat him in a moft mercicis manner all保 lee the Juftice done us; afterwards they carried him to the place of Correction, where I fuppofe he might rcceive a hundred good Stripes on the Solcs of his Fcet for Sererity uphis Frolicks. Beyond this are a grear many ftraggling for abuling Houfes, reaching almoft as far as Bolec, which is the us. Key to Cairo, a large Town, ftretching along the River in rome part the Buildings are nor inferiour to thofe of airo.
Within and without this City are great numbers of Excecilens delicare Orchards, abounding with all variery of Fruirs, Orchard as Oranges, Limons, Pomegranates, Apples of Paradife, Sicamorc-Figs, and orhers; the Barks of chefe they bore full of holes, the Trees being as large as the greateft Oaks: the Fruir grows not out of the Leaves, but out of the Bole and Branches: they have allo Dates, Atmonds, Caffia fifula, leafed like an Alh; the Fruir hangs down like Saufages; Locufts flar, in the fhape of a Cycle Galls growing upon Tamerix; Apples no bigger than Berries; Plantanes there have a broad flaggy Lcaf, growing in clufters, and ihaped like Cucumbers, the Rind like 2 Pefcod, folid within, having no Stones or Kernels, of a moft delicious tafte: shis the Mebomerans fay was the Forbidden-Fruit, and char afeer the Fall, our firf Parents made their Aprons of the Ieaves of ir. There axe many other forts, which Inever faw elfewhere, nor knew their Names; fome of thefe Trees bear Fruit all the Year, and moft of them keep their Leaves.
There are abundance of Cameleons in thele Orchards, camelen: but nor cafily found, becaufe they generally fear themrelves apon fomewhat of their Colour: They're about the bignefs of an ordinary Lizard: the Head unproporrionably big, great Eyes, his Neck is inflexible, he cannot turn withour moving his whole Body; his Back is crooked, his Skin fported with little Tumors, nor fo obervable upon the Beily as elfewhere; his Tail is ilender and long; on each Foot he has five Fingers, rhrec on the outfide and two on the inflede; his pace is flow, but he's very nimble with his Tonguc, which is of a wonderful length, confidering the proportion of his Body; with this he carches Flies, the End of his Tongue being hollowed by nature for that purpofe; fo that "ris a Mittake that they feed only upon Air; yet it is obferved, that when they fuck in the Air, their Bellies will fwell with ir, which fecms as tho' it were part of their Food, and rome thar have kept chem for a Year together, could no: perceive that they had any thing bur Air to fubfirt upon. They're of a grecn and duilky yellow colour, brighter and whiter towards the Belly，yet footted with blew，white， and red：they change not into all Colours，as is report－ ed．；laid upon Green，the Green is molt bright ；it upon vellow，the yellow appears moft lively；laid uporn red blew，ت̛O the Green retains iss colour，liut the fpors of the fame dy，with whate it is laid upore will receive fonc－ thing of a brighter colour ：they are nit colourd alike in
The：r Fumi－ all paces．They are faid to have fogreat an Enmity to the；＂ll from the Branches that hang over him，let fall a Thrad like a Spinflers，having at the End a little round orop，which hines like Quickfilucr：this drop falling up－ on the Mead of the Serpent，kills him；and af the Bough hang：fo that this Threat cannot fall perpendicular on the serfents Heal，theyll direct it fo with their Fore－ fee that it thall not mits．
On the rep of the Hill againf the South fide of the City，farus the Caltle，once the fately Manfion of the Mimatiuct Sultan＇s，detroy＇d by Solym：s，acretible only one way，and that heva our of the Rocks；but the afent is fo caly，that a Man may ride up．From the we the Ciry yiuds a moth beautitul Rrofpect，by reafon of the Palmis here and there in it ：the Cafle is of large， it fecms a City ir felf；the Walls are very high ；＇ris di－ tilen into feveral parts；the Gates are of Iron；the Ceurts ipatous，furricrly places of Excrife：the anci－ a，Dublitgs on＇y finw that they have been ftately； thete are bine P：llars of Marble Ptill tanding，of Co monीrous a lizz，that cis to be wondred how they yot then hither．Hece the 3 for keeps his Refidence；the Duan is kept here on Sindays，Munders，and Tuefdays； Suits of their carccates on thole Days，prcariestor a Cuits of their Clicnts ：in the fame Habitas they ar conltantinople ：the ather Janizaries arc imploydaboutrhe Country，and few of ihem are the Sons of Cisiffians：they are very faith－ ful to their Charge；if they thould happen to trip，they＇d at nuly loofe their Lives，but all the pay due to their Conterity．
The ind． This is one of the fairet Cities in Turky ；tis now in－ habitul by Mors，Te ks，Nerces，Fews，Coptics；Greeks， and drnecinens，who are here the Poorcht，and every where the Ho：eftett；they labour hard，and live par－ ingly；they are ror fubject to the Tink，and if raken in War，are freed from Slavery；they live freely，and pay no Tribute of Childen，as ocher Chrifians are compelld misin，foretuld the Greanels of Malomes；they were once under rhe Patriatch of Conftantinopt，bat abour the Herciy of tuicilics，fill from his Government，and now bhor che Ce ecians above all others，rebaptizing fuch of theinas rum to chair Sect；they believe but one Narare in cob \({ }^{2} f_{n}\) that it is nor mingled with the Divine Natyres，
Trir opini－aceoting to Eucydres，But joind to it as the Soul is to the Body． t they deny the real．Prelence in the Sacrameat and admimiter if as the copeice co，with whom ala they agree as to Purgatory and Prayers for the Desa；bur only from the Father，and that the Dend ftuatl neither fed Toy nor Tormene tull the Day of ludgment．

Ther latriarch refides at Thers in Pofin，in which Country they are rich，and live in good eftem：there are zoo Bjhops of that Nation：The Priefts are noral－ low on to marry twice；and ear．Flem but five cimes a Xeit，and tien they only eat to prevenctre Pcople＇s mif－ takimethe eacing of Fien to be a Siin，the true dicting upon it fo feldoun being for Temperance fake，＂tis an＇ E ros chat chey abitain from all Mcats prohibited by tee Mofaicit Lav；for they Crople nor to＇feed upon Hog＇s Flelh，where is is to be had，withour offendins the ama bometeils：They keep Lens very ftrietly；bus between Effer And Wirfantate，they allow Flefh mon Fritups： Tnages they do inot wormip．Their．Aleerings ate inot－ fraxe Chanices；when ive went in on Sunidy ac．Fois noon，cherervas one realing the Bible in the Cbititen Tongue ；he differd not in tyabir from the reft：A 1ti－ He after che Bilhop came tin，with 2 Hood and Vef of black，and a Suaff in his Hana，to which they afcribt much Hultines．Firt，he：praya，then affifted by wo or thiee，fang fome PCinins，then the whote Affembly fung tonether，at times praying to chemelves；the Po fure of their Bodies＂and＂frequent proftrating them－ felves in，they referible the twof the Bifhop excepred， whoall whe white tood with his Hatids lified up，and His．Face to wards the Afcax．When Secvice was over they allope afrer anorber，kitsd Mis Fland，zod befowid Alms，he taying tother Hand upon then Reads，ma bleitis dhem；their feappoints the faceeding Featsiza Fefts，and tis to be oberved，thentuponthe ony ofoth Savour＇s Nativity they fart．

Here is alfo a Monaftery of Greck Coloyers Leftong： ing to the Capital－Menaftry of Moqut Sc．Karlorine of nutuy Sierta，eighe Ulays Journcy from Cairo，over the Defarts； the is repurted to have becis the Danghrer of Cifla，King of Cyprus，and to have converted manv to the Chiriftian Religion in the time of Maxemsius：She was pir upon the Wheel，and at laft behcaded at Alexar driy．Iwo handfame Pillars of Theonn Marble，now alouct iwal－ lowed in the Ruins，preferve the Mernory of the Place： they tell you an Angel convey＇d her to Mount Sinat．It Moat：man has three 4 cry high Tops；that on the Weft lide called in old cimes Mount Horch，where God appear：1 to infoles in a Bum ：this affords gond Palturage ：That whicte the Law was given to Mofes，is much．lower，and thatowed when the Sur rifes by the middemolt of the threc．When Monaftery itands at the Foot of the Mountain ；it looks btocs like a Catte，with Iron Gatcs，where they thow the Tomb of the Saint，which is much vilired by Pilgrims： Fron tiftryou mount to the top by fourtecn thoufand Steps of Stone，where ltands a ruind Chappel．A plen－ tiful Spring falls from the cop of this Hill，and after it has watered the Valley，is drank up by the Sand．This ftrong Monattery is deligned for the caterainment of Pilgrims，there leing no othernear is：It has a yeary Revenue of 60000 Dollars from Chrifiaa Prigees； 26 more depent on this Foundation，difiersid in other Countries：They give Alms cvery Lay to the Arabr，to fecure themfelves from violence：they ler is down to them from the Batelements，not daring to admic them within the Gate：Their Orchard is full of excellent Fruits；one Ratity is Apples；which are fcarce in thefe Counrries：they ferch the Trees from Dannofye，and ate fubject neither to the Pope nor Patriarch，but have a：Sut perintendant of cheir own now in Critc：They mads us a Collation of Wine，and I conld not butobferve thgir gluting duwn of Wioc with greediness：It is imported Trit from Candy．
While we were here a Caravan wem our with greatfo－ lemnity，to meer and selicue the great Carasan now coming from Mecci，which confints of many thoufands of Pilgrims，which traiel there civery：Year for Devori－Therma on and Merchandize：every one with his Band soll in his Hand，and cheir Camels nicely trind：the Alcoman is cartied upon one in a precious cafc，covered with Needle－work，and laid on a rich Pillorr，furrounded． with a parcel of chanting Priefts．The Caravan is guarded by Ieveral Companies of Souldiers，and fome Field－pieces．Mecen is forty ealy days Journey from this place ；part of the way lies thro a fandy Defart，which lies in drifts，and fometimes the Wind moves it very dangeroufly；in many：parts of it they have no Guide ur the Srars，like Sailere at Sca．
No City can be morep populons shan Cairr，nor berter Erved with all forss of Provifion．They hatch Egss by arificial hat here in great numbers，fomerimes no les than fix thoufand in an Oven made for chat prapofe．A－ bout eight Days after they＇re per in，（duang which time they are very careful to rem them ofren）they diftinguill berween the good and the bad，the bad gencrally makes rWoparts in three；bas this is a Desronattration chat ithe mitation of Nature never equals the Original；for the Chickens are moftry defective in fome part，or monftrois： Moft of the People of Cuiro：are Mcrehaniss of Acif． cis but the Merchaons frequentino forcign Marts．AH of a Trade keep their Shopsin one place，which whey frut ap abour fixe in the Evening，and enjoy themedege tfterwiards Cooks excepted，who kecp theirs ppeninill premylates for fow but fach as havegreat f puilies，
 Aient：Womer are too prond and nice tomeddte with Houfvifry s they ride abrozd a pleafuring appon
 Family－Duty from their Hulbands；if they neglect it， they＇re notimim＇d so complain to the Aingiftacy in hopes of procaringa Divore．Thece ase many Rrati． fes of Phyjack here，occaifoned by the grear vasiery of wiples growing in the Neighbourhood，and brought nither，the Eigptian all along excelled in the Ant of Simpling：
A fort of Rre is mach eftemal bere：－they perfume ficmolves：with ic in a Mornuxg as a Rreferyanye againt Intection；and chink ir ichafos awivy evil Spixiss noo： to the Briblariansufed to do with the Roor of with： Gikingol．
Some．Men in this Ciry ger their Living by frowing

 Tongues in \｛peaking，which ocher Binds dos pos，and conlequendy more of for the Bufinels．Sciaiger the Chap. XVI. Mr. George Sandys bis Hifory of Africa

Elder fays, be knew one kept in a Monaftery, which would, when hungry, call fo plaisly upon Connade the Cook, that it has been often miftook for a Man. I bave feen them make borh Dogs and Goars fet their four Feer upon a littie turn'd Pillar of Wood, about a Foor high, and no broader at the end than tric Palm of your Hand, and climb from one to two, placid one upon forher, and fo to the third or fourth; and there turn about as ofven as their Mafters bind them. They teach Camels so dance by purxing them when they're young, on a hot Hearch, and playing on a Fiddle or orther Inftrument at the farne rime: the pain makes the poor Creakure lift his Feer oire affer another: this is practis'd for fome Months, and \(x t\) any time after, upon the ftriking up of che Inftrumems, he falls a dancing. Likewife diey make Affos do fuch odd tricks; youid fancy them endued with reafon.
We pat off our departure fome time longer, and went so Masaren, five Miles North-eaft of the Ciry : As we pars'd along, we faw Sand caft apoo the Earth to mroderate isf frricfulnefs. Herc they fay our Saviour and the Befled Virgin, with 7 ofeph, refted themfelves in their Flight from Heral, and being afllieted with chirlt, 2 Fountuin burft out at theirFert, very feafonably to relieve themWe faw a Well furrounded with 2 pitiful Mud-wall; the Watcr is drawn up by Buffob's inro 2 lirtle Ciftern; from whence ic ran into 2 Laver of Marbles within a small Chappel, by the Moors, in contempt of cimiftians, firiefufTy defiled. In the Wall there is a Concave lined with Sweet-wood, pieces of which are carried away by fuch as are fond of Relicks; tis fenoaked with Incente; ar the bottom is a Srone of Parpligr, on which they tell you the fer our Saviour. Of to many chouland Wells as rhis Country affords, 'ris very ftrange that chis ondy is fin for drinking; and 'tis fo excellent, that the Baffa will not rate any other: when they fortear dräwing moch of it for fome time, ir fends forth a Stream plenciful enough rodrive a Mill; after is has paft the Chappel, ir waters an Orchard, where is a large Fig-tree, which, as the or Smor Report gocs, opened to receive our Saviour and his ning fun Mocher, when in danger of being taken by the Parfuens, clofing upon them till their Enemies were paft, and then dividing again to let them out, and to remaining. then dividing again to let them out, and 10 remaining.
There's a large Hote in the leaning part of it, which no Baftard, if you'l. believe them, can tread, bur frall ffick faft by the middle. The Tree is all to be cot for the Wood, which is fuppofed to be of foveraign vetue.
In an Inciofure adjoining, they flow a Plast of Baire, the whiole Remainder of the Soore chis Orctand prodarid: It was deftroy d by the Terks, or, as they to excafe thermelves fay, by the Fews out of Envy : 'rwas uranfported from fewy in the time of Herod ebe Greas, by Amonin's Command, at Clropacta's define Ortress fry 'rwas brought bither out of Ardiais Felix, at the cot of a Saracen Suliam.
Wirhin a day op two after we pafid the Nile, we left dree Mites to the Left-hand, the prace where apon Guad rriday, the Arms and Legs of a grear many People appear firectid forth, to the wonder of the Peopie thar $oct hitier to fee them. I hove heard this corfimid by Fews, Cbriftions, and Matomerans, as haring feen in thenfelves: bur tis not impolfible that it may be a Conutivance of the Warermen to get Money by ferrying over Paffepgers, of which, thoufands come to fee chis tup pofal Miracle; for there are an infinite number of Morim mfer kimbs, of which they may fetch and ftick ower Night in the Sand. Three or four Miles farther, on the Right-hand crofs the Plain, ftands a Canicy fupported with Archee, five Furlongs Long, tan Prces high, and five in breadth, of fmoorh and figured Srone, buirit by the fame Perfor that erected the: Pyramids, for a Pallage with heary Carriages aver the foft and finking Grounds; and now having rode thro a pleafant Plain about melve Milisower, we csinse to the Foot of the lityan De farts.
Directy: Weft of the City, hard by there Defarts; on a high rocky Ground, flands the three Pyramids, the Monuments of Prodigality and Vanity, fo univerally famed. Their Name is caken from the Shape, intimarsing a Frime of Firt broad: ate ric botom, and drawing to a Point at top. This Figure was mactr. ufed by the Anciens, for by this they thoughe the Dixinicy well rejrefented; for \(2 s 2\) Pyiramid froma narrow Point freads it feff in a great Extir downwards, fo the Divine No ture, being of ir felf att undivided Sobftance, comme ticares Being to feveral multirudes of Beings and Forms; tif which defcent from the ofiginal fingle Fountain o Life:
Fis plain, thaturefe, as well zrethe other Pyratinids were the Royal Sepalchres of the Kings of Eg:pf; the grearet of the thres, and chicf of what wors generally call the Scven Wonders of the World, is iquare at thic botrom, and fuppofed to take up cight Acres of Ground, every fide of the Syeare being 300 fingle Paces in lingut: the Square at the top confits but of thice Stones, bue large enough for three forire Men on ftand upon. You alcend it by 25 ; Sicps cach Sicp threc Fuon high, and proporticazabie breadth: No Storic of the whole Fabruck is lietle enongh to be diawn by one of our Carriages, ;ce thefe ware hewn out of the Trejut Minuntain, a preat way off in Arabia; which Namis was giventhem upon account of the Tiojat, bruught by Men.aias into hi:ir. and there planced. 'Tis vociderfill how they conh initus them fo far, and more ftrange how they could uct them. Twenty Xears was fpens in the Euila:as, nild which time 366000 Men were continually cmployw ibour is, who in Radithes, Garlicis, and Onions, ine is ported to bave confurned 1800 Talenco. In fuction jike Fancies they walted their Treaure, and employce? the Pcople, left wo great ftore of Money might cormipt theit Succeffors, and an unreftrain'd Idiencts make che Sibjects wanton and muinous.
- Time, which devotin the proideft Struaures, has not humbled this lofy Edifice, tho' tris con cuturd very probably to have ftood there 3200 Years, and row it is raber old than rainous; the North fide is moft woris becaufe of the moiftefe of the Norticrn Winds. Witi much difficulty we made a fhift to reach the rep, whicre We had the pleafant Proferet of this moft excelient Country, and the noble Srream ou whi.an it anco. iss Rif choos Southward, and near the Mummcs, we rui If fee otherlarge Pyramids, which any where elfe might pals for Woaders. This Pyramid caits in thadorv for a great part of the Day, bur is at once illuminared orr all Gides On the Eaft hode, defending again, we came near the Entrance, which feems to have been formerly clos'd np: Into this our Janizaries difcharg'd their Pieces, left any Go wld have lculkr there to do us 2 mischicf, and guard ed the Mouth while we entred, for fcar of the wild Arabs. To have the betrer footing, we pur off our Shois and most of our Cloaxhs, becaufe of the leat winhius which we were cold was nor much thars of a Scove. Our Gride, a moor, lead the way; every one of us wich Lighes in our Hands: "cis a ducadfur' Paffage, and yery troublefome, not above a Yard broad, and four Fec high, ach Stone conczining chat meafire; fo chat we were fonc'd to froop alworys, and fometimes ro creep, be canfe of the Rubtbage, our Descems being nor by Stairs but as down the brow of aHill for an hundred Feet where the ugly Defceut conrinues, but che way is a litile larger: shey fay none durif ever attcmpt any further; but that 2 Baffo of Crivo to facisfy his Curiofiry, mado feveral conderan'd Perfons underiate ic, and focridd them well with Lights and Proviforns; and that forme of them came up zgain neary ahirty Miles off in the Defarts: this I rake ro be a meer Fable. Oihers rell you, star \(x\) the bottom there is a lange Pic, cighry fix Cubits decp, fill at the time of the Nile's Overflowing by feveral Conduirs: In the middie of ic is a liccte liland, and on that the Tomb of Cbenfs King of Etpr, and Founder of this Pyramid, which is che likfler Srory of the two; for I hare been oold fince by oace that faid fre faw it, that as the boum of all there in a lasge fquare place (tho withour Water) inco which he was led by an Entry opening to the South, kaown to few, being hat up fince by fome order. A Turniag on the Right-bandi carries you to a little Room, which we mould not.go into ahere was fuch 2 noifume fmell in in. Climbing over the above-mentioned Dangeon, we mounted aboar 120 Feet, as tho' upon the bow of am-Arch, the Wry no larger chan the former : Here we pafid thro' a long Eintry, which led direftly forwards, much lower chanthe ochers; this brought us to a litrie Room, with 2 coropaet Roof, more long. than broad, of polin'd Marble; but ics Grave-like linell obliged us to retirn quickly We went over this Entrance about 120 Fect higher. This lat was exceeding high, yerfonarow, a Man tright Gachom it, bench'd on both fides, and clos'd at top with admirable Architefture: the Marble is fo great, and fo artfulliy join'd, it looksas tho' is were hewn ant of the Rock. Ar the rop we enured 2 large Room, twenvy Foor wide, and 40 in length; the Roof is of a wonderful height, and the Slomes are folarge, that eight. Fcrves for tie Floor, either for the Roof, eight Flags the Ends, and finteen the fides; all of well wrought Thoban Marble. Croif tre Roontracthe upper end, flands a Fiomb, unco ver'd and empty, all made of one Stone; 'cis Breaft' high, feven Boorlong and not fout broad, and founds like 2 Bell: In thisno douke, lay the Body ar.che Buinder. Vaint Ecc glois was not the fole end of fuch lafting Monuments bur thcir.opinion was, that after 36000 Years, the Soul would be rejoin'd to the fame Body, which would be refored ro iss former condition: this they collected from thar Aftronoiny; fo they would preferve the Body altogether, to reccive the Soul at its return. Againft one End of the Tomb, clofe to the Wall, opens a Pit, with long and narrow Mouth, which leads into an UnderChamber. In the Walls on each fide of the UpperRoom, are rwo holes oppofite to each other, their Ends not difccrnable, nor are they large enough to creep into, 1oory within, and they fay were made by a Flame of Firc which darted thro' them. - This is the Subftance of what we could difoover within this dark Fabrick.
The Effats
Herodorns \{ays, that King Cierops became fo poor by the
of this pices Building of this, that neceffity obligd him to proftitute his Daughter, with a Charge to refure nothing the could get; The being fomewhat of her Father's humour, demanded Stones of every one of her Cuftomers, with which the built the other Pyramid, much lefs than the former; 'ris frooth withour, but has no Entrance. The third, which ftands on the higheft Ground, is the leaft; but Herodotus and Strabo fay, not inferiour in beauty nor coft, being all built of Touch-ftone, hard to be wroughr upon, and broughe from the fartheft Etsinopi,n Mountains ; but that I cannot believe: they defign'd to have cover'd it with Thebrn Marble; there's a great quantity lies by ic. This was made by Mycerimus, the Son of Cheops: Some fay by a Curtezan of Nuncrafr, calld Dorica by Saplop the Poecrels, much loved by her Brocher Caraxus, who ufed to fail hither with Wine from lesbos. O'thers lay 'rwas done by Rbadope, another of that chatt Calling, who was ar firft, fellowi Slave with, Efop, the Aurbor of the Fables, and lived here after the obtain'd her liberty; but if fhe gor fuch'a Treafure by whoring, the Trade was then more profitable than ever it was fince.

Another Story goes, that when the was walhing her IcIf, an Eagle fnatch'd away her Shoe, and bearing it to Memptis, let it drop into the King's Lap, who furpriz'd with the Accident, and the beautiful Shape of the Foct, order'd fearch to be made thro' all his Territories for the Owner, and having found her in Neucratis, he made ber lived in the cime of \(A m a / s i\).

A more ex-
This lcarned Man tells us in his Preface, that he went twice from Alexandria to Grand Cairo; and from thence prion "of the into the Defarts, to view there Pyramids, viz. in 1638 Erpr, wike and r G39, and "arried with him feveral Inftruments for form the the more exact difcovery of the Truch.
Leaned The chree great Pyramids which arenow extinn, are
Mr. Cirreve
Ithe finuati and
on of the.
hares groze
powam extan
The carce great Pyramids which arenow extang are fween the Ciry Memphis and that place warren is calld Delte, from che Nile lefs than four Miles, from Memphis fix, near to Bufiris, a Village from which chey ufe to af cend up to them. Plin. L. 36. C. 1.2.
Thefe three Pyramids were not erected by the If \({ }_{2}^{2}\) The Aus Founders of chem.
ed by time: Bot thene are many now fanding in the Whiters Dave, whore Founders none of the ianciem Writers have narrid.
As to the time when the Pyramids were erected, 3 of ibe Mr. Greaves finds it o'refpread with Egoptian darknefs, time in becaufe he cannor find in any ancient Authors when the phith ite aforefaid Founders liv'd, and thereforc he endeavours to promidi fix the Epochs of the Migration of the Ifrselifes out of Egupt, which he thinks happen'd in the Reign of Amenophss, coctanequs with Mofes, being the laft King of the I8th Dymafy, and the Epocha of the Deftruction of the 1 it Temple, in the rime of Hezekich, which he thinks happen'd in the Rcign of Apries, being the cighth King of the 26 Dynafy (as Euftiviss out of Manetbes reckons thefe Kings). And between thefe two Epocha's, amounting to the fpace of 904 Years, he fixes the time when the aforefaid Founders liv'd, by having recourfe po thore Dynafties of Manethas, as they are preferv'd by Africanus and Eufcbius; where finding that all the intermediare Dpnafties have their peculiar Kings, except the 20th, he places them in that vacant fpace of 178 Ycars which that Dineffy contain'd according to Eufebius: and o. Cheops the Founder of the firt Pyramid, legan his Reign in the Year 3447, of the Fulian Period. and 1266, before the Birth of Cbrift; he reign'd so Yeata fays Herodorus. After him fucceeded Ceqliren, the Builder of the fecond, who reign'd 56 Years; and then Mycerinus the Erclor of the third, who reign'd feven Years, making in all 113 ; and the Remainder of the Dymafly may be divided among the thice next Kings who were Afychis, Amyjis, and Sabachus, who reign'd so Years fays Herodocus. This is the beft Account of the time Mr. Greaves conld difcover, which the Curious. may read at large in his own Book abour the Pyramids.
That thefe Monumenss wree intended for Sepulchrio and Monuments of the Dead, is the contant opinion of 3 par mim moft Authors, and is piainly prov'd from the Tombtranam that is found in the Pyramid of Checrss to this ciay, and prame rom the Tefimony of an Arabian Writer, who rejates, ratal that this Pyramid being opened about 8 so Years ago,there was found in it a hoilow Stone, in which there was a Statue like a Man, and within it a Man, baving a Breaft. Plate of Gold fet with Jewels, and upon ir a Sword of a very grear Price, and athis Head a Carbuncle of the bignefs of an Egg, flining like the Light of the Day. Almac. Hiff. Arab. ex edit. Erp. Bur the true seafon why they buile fuch ftately. Monuments, was not mecrly Ottentation, or State-Policy; but the Religious belief of the Egrprians, that as long as the Body endur'd, fo long the Soul concinoed with ir, as an Attendant, wishour:going into any ocher. Body, as otherwife ir would; upon which accoune they did not only falt and embalm their Dead afeer che manner defribid by. Dioderus Siculus, Lib, durable as Brafs, bur allo entomb them in farcly Motuments. Such were at firf their Mercurial Sepulchres, made of hard Marble of a Spherical Figure. Such were the Dormirories cut our in the Lybian Defarsby whe Egprians of Jower qualiry, which are now alld the Moommies: And of the fame nicare are the faxely Pyramids builr by their Kings, all which are defign'd mo fecure their dead Bodies after they are emibalmid, from the Injuries of Men, or the Wearher, that fo the Sould may beftill obligd to attend them. Bur befides this gene al Reafon why thefe Reconditories wcre builc, whictwas to preferre their Bodies dead from all external Violence, chere were two fpecial Reafons why they were made: in 2 Pyramidal Fonn. Fift, becaure this Figure appears m be moft permanent and durable, as being ncither fo liable to be overprefsd with its own weight at rop, nor to be undermind by the finking in of Rain at bottom, as other Buildings are. Secondly, Becaufe thefe Suro Cures were intended to reprelenc fome of the Gods of che Eyprian's: for in the mott ancient times, Pyramidal Columns or Obelisks, were worthipp'd as Images of the Gods, before the exact Arr of making Sratues was found our; and fo as Ifis Cornigera reprefented the Horms of the Moon, fo thefe Pyramids might reprefent the Rays of the Sun, which they wormipp'd under the name of Ofriss. Other Nations were womt to ereet Pit lars over their Dead; bur we find no fuch flately Pyrnmids out of Egypt, unlefs it be the Sepalchre of Porfenng, King of Eeruric, which yet was far inferiour to them in magnitude, tho it was admirable for the number and contrivance of the Pyramids, as ic is defcrib'd by Ptis, 36. c. 13.

The firft of the three grear Pyramids is fircated on the 4 a top of a rocky Hill in the fandy Defart of Libja, aboutcit mex onefourth of a Milc from the Plains of Egpts, the beight of the limation giving beauty, as the Solidity of the Room, being fpeckled with black, white, and red Rock dees firmicis to the Superfiructure. The Bafis is exasty four-fquar'd, and the North fide of it being meafurd by Mr. Grecies with a Radius of so Fece, was found to be 693 Englif, Fect, and the Alcitude being rocafur'd by its Perpendicular, was found to be 43 i Foce; but if it Le taken as it afcends inclining, then it is equal to the Latitude of the Balis, which is 693 Feet. To give a true nocion of che juft Dimenfions of this Pyramid, we mutt imagine upon the fides of the Bafis, which is perfe:tly fquarc, four equilateral triangles mutualt properding, till they all met at the rop, as it were in a Point; for fo the Perimeter of cach Triangle comprotenling 2079 Fece, and the Perimeter of the Bafis 2772 Feer, the whule Area of che Bafis will contain 480219 fquare Fect, or about elcyen Enslifh Acres of Ground, which is a Proportion to monftrous, thar is mighe feem incredible, but thatit is attefted by the Ancienss ro be as much, and jy fome of them to be more. The afene to the top of the Pyranid from all the fides withent, is by degrees or S:cps; the lovermoft Degrec is rear fo:r Fons in heighe, mud 3 in breadth, which goes abour the Fyramid in a lesel: the fecond Degree is like the tirft, onl it retires inward from the firft near threc Fect: after the fame manace is the third row, and fothe reft, riling like fo many Sraibs one above anorher to the rop, whith zuds notina Koine, but in a little Flar, which is alour 13 Fcer broad, being coverd with nine Sones, befices tero which are wanting at the Angles. The Digrecs by which we afecend, are not of an equal depth; for fone are near four Fect, others wane of three, and the higher we afecad, the depth grows the lefs; and fo in proportion does the breadth alfo deercafs. Thef Rows of Swincs are much impair'd by rhe Weather; Yer every Step, which is broone lingle Stone, is at leaft 30 cubical Feer. The number of Degrecs from the botton to the rop, is 207 or 208. Some of the Ancients have reported, that titis Pyramid calts no thadow, which muft be meant in the Summer-time, and at midday; for in the Wincer Mr. Grecres 反aw it caft 2 lhadow a: Noon.

After Mr. Greates has taken à view of the Oút-hide of this Pyramid with its Figure and Dimenfons, he gives a particular Account of what he found within it, of which the eAncicnts were filent, our of a fuperfitious regard to the Sacerednefs of the Place, and the Arabians have given us romantick Deferiptions. And firft, He tells us how he afcended on the North fide 38 Fees, and there hie and his Company cnter'd into it with Tapers in their Hiands, thro: a fquare narrow Paflage, chree Fect broad and 92 lang, the Declivity of which was giradu ally 10 ftraitned, thast they wetc fored, at the further end of it, to creep upon cheir Bellics. Affer this, having paf'd chro' a place in which they found ugly large Bats aborc 2 Foor long, they eatred aro intricare Windings into many fpacious Galicrics, built with polifi'd Marble, white fpeckled. As the cad of one they found cine Well mention'd by Phixy, which is circular, being three Foor broad, and ar that time 20 decp ; che lides of it arelin'd with white Marble, and the Defent into it is by fattoning the Hands and Feer in littic open Spaces, cut in the fades within. After we had pasil, fays he, thro feveral Callerics, whiti lic in the fame contimid line, and lead to the midile of the Dyramid, we obFerved the firange Eecho mencinned by Pha, acio, ly dif charging a Gun; for die Sound hing carried in chofe frooth Paffages, and finding no vent omwards, reflects upon is felf, and cuufes a confinsid noife, which by degree vaniffes. But that which is mot adinisable, is the rich and fpaious Chamber, which lies abour the Center of the Py tamid, in which, Ant may feem to bave contended with Narure, the curious Work being not inferiour to the rich Materials; for the Floor, the Roof, and the Siles of ir, ate all made of vaft Tables of Thebaick Marble, veiy gracefully fiz'd and placid. The mine Sones which cover the Roof. are of a prodigious iengh, like fo many huge Bearza -averfing the Room, and fupporting the intinite Mafs ot the Pyramid above The lengrta of it is abour 34 EnTt: \(\beta\) Feer; the breadth abour 17 ; and the neighth is and a half. Within this
- glorious Room flands the Mrnumene of Cheress or Chemmis, of one piece of Maribe, hollow within, uncoverd at the top. and found -y Mic a Bell, without any Sculpturc or Embenfmene. Bur it is the common opinion, after Diodorus, that neitint \(C\), masis nor his Succeffor Cefiren were burical in tier Pyemids, becante, fays he, the People being c:erpreisd by them with hard labour, arceatend to tear their dead Bedies in picces, and throw then out of ther. Sepulchres. Died. i. I. This Monuthent is of athe fime Trebrick Marble with the whole

Spors, and refermbles wo Cubes fuely fet together and hollow'd within. It is fevert Fect three luches and a half long, in breadth and depth three Fect threc Inches and threc quarrers on the out-fide, bur within is is fomeching lefs, which fhows that the Mcn of this Agc are of the Fame Stature with thofe that liv'd near 3000 Years ago, tho' fome famous' Mca have choug he the coneraty. If tho' fome famous Mcin have choughe the concrafy. If any alk how this Monumenc conld be conveyd into this Chamber, fince it is impoffible for it to enter by theie narrow Paflages in the Pyramid which lead to it : I an(wer, that is mult bave been rais'd and coavey'd withater up by fome Enginc, before the Clhamber was finillid and the Reof closd.
The fecond Ryramid is fearee diftane the fight of an 5 the ere on Arrow from the firft, and is all buile of Stoncs of a white pian:a colour, nothing to great as thofe of the firt ; the fides domerio. rife not with Degrees or Steps like that, bur are fmooth and equal, and the whole Fabrick feems to be very entire, crecpt on the South fide. Tho it is gencrally thought to be inferiour to the firf in magnituds, yer by Mr. Gresuce's Obfervation, the Heighth and che Sides of the Balis in both are equal. There is no Entrance into it, and thercfore none can tell what Cbambers are within. It is bounded on the North and Weft fides with rwo very flarely and cleborate Structures, being 30 Foot decp. and more than 1400 long. cut out of the hard Rock, ind rquar'd by a Chizzel, which are Suppos'd to be the Lodgings of the Pricits.
The third Pyramid is diftant from the feconid about a 6 The third Futiong, and tho' it appears at a diftance to be of an yramiat equal height with the two former, beca:fe of the ad:rantage of iss Siruation upon a higher Rife of the Mill, only 200 Fcer long which wand fide of the Balis being only 300 Feer long, which wanss near 400 Fect of the two former. All the Ancient and Modern Weiters gencrally agree that it was made of black Ethópic Marble, whereas Mr. Gre:ves aftures ws upon his own Infpection, thar the whole Pyramid feems to be of a clear and whise Srone, fomewhat choiecr and brighrer thain that in either of the orther two Pyramids: but what the Sione withina may ice, no body can tell, bince there is no Entrance into is.
Among the reft of the Pyramids in the Libyan Defart, which be about is, there is one no lefs worthy of memory than any of the ahree former, which ftands abour 20 Miles diftant from them, more within che Sandy Defart, which appsars to have the fame Dimenfions, the fame Steps without as the firft : It appears alfo to be of the fame colour, and to have an Entrance like that on the North fide, which is barred up wirhin; and o whatever is faid of the firit in refpect of the Out-fide, applicable to this.
As to the manner of erecting thefe ftupendious Srructures, Mr. Greaves didiking? what is faid abour it by Ferodorur, Dicdorus, and Pling, is of opinion, Thar the Builders 6ort made a large and fpacious Tower in the midat, xeathing to the rop, and that to the Sides of this Tower che reft of the Building was applied, piece affer picce, like fo many Burtuefes and Supporters, fill icffoning in heighth rill they came to the lowemoft Degrec, which is a difficult Work, but very lafting:
No- Far fromi thefeftands the Coloffers; up to the Mouth tbe Cajafm: is all natural Rock, as if nacurc had form'd it fo on purpole; the reft iscomposi of huge flat Stones haid uponit, and wiought to reprefent an Et/jiopicn Woman, adored formerly by the Country Pcople: Under this they fay lics the Body of Amafis. The fize is nor formonftrous as reported by ltiny, who makes the Head no2 Frer in compals, whercas the whole is but 60 Fcet high: the Face is fomewhat disfigurd by time, or the fipite of the Moors, whoabominate Images. P/imy and others call it Sphinx. The upper part of the Sphinx refembled a Maiden, the lower a Lion: by this Figure the Esyp:ians meant the Increafe of rtheir River, and confquently of \(\qquad\) their Riches, which happens when the Sun is in the Signs of Leo and \(\sqrt{1}\) igo This is but from the Shoulders upward, tho' Pliny gives it a Belly. which could never be, unlefs the Belly be now covered with the Sand. Bva Sphi,sx in their Hiereglyplicis, they cprefented anHarlor alfo, having an amiable, and an alluring Face, but withal the Tyranny and Danger of a Lion, which the makes ufe of over the willingly feduced Cully. Such for of Figures they erected alfo before heir Temples, thinking that the Myfteries of Religion and Philofophy ought to be contained in たmigmatical Exprefions, tinar they might be kepe from the Knowledge of the giddy Mulirude.

Five Miles South-eaft of thefe, and two Weat of the \({ }^{\text {bles }}\) of that nature., When the dear Body was coniry Riyce, towards which the Brow of the Mountain licans a little, fod to the other fide, 'twas brougbr before certain Judnce, little, Atood the Royal City of Memphri, the Sercurth where if the Deceas'd was convicted of an eindife, and Glory of old ERypr, buile by Ogdon, and calld fo af- they refufed it Burial, otherwife'twas interid as aforster his Daughter, whom they fable Nilus lay with in the faid. Thus did the fe Pcople endeavour to fiemen an ufishape of a Bull. In this was the Tomple of Apis, the ters miltaken Eternity to their Names and bethes. Ganc with ofivis; and Nilus, Batachus, Apolle, Sec, are Returning the fame way we came, and haviny repan all the fame. There is farce cnough of Ruins left to the Nif, we rurn'd a little to the right to view ike ku-fome few Remains are to be fecn fill, and fome Statucs the South part of Cairr. If had its name from fome birof montrous Refemblances, which ly in a ruinous condition.
This has made fome miftake old Memphis for the now itands defcribed beforc, which was a grene this prefine Cutiro: Cur fuch as lave both fecn and wrote of after a Garrifon Town of the three 1 egions, Folted here fometimes feven and a half, according to the diftering call'd Mijrublerick by the cirabiant, laid to have bee Cuffoms; this Souch Angle of Defe is four Miles dittant built by Omar, Succelfor to Malomet' ; bur it muth be fro:n Cairc. Befides, thele Pyramids belonging to certainly rather xe-edificd than founded by him, having . Kempers, laid to have ftord five Miles North-weft cf had in it fo many Chritian. Chirshes, as dhe Rums the City, ftanding directly Weft, and full twelve from Wirnefs.
this. Bue the moft convincing Proof is, the Mummies. We pafs'd by a mighty Ciftern within a Tower, and As as lying in a place, where many Gencrations have had their ftanding upon a place where the River comes in, rais dride Burying Piaces, not far above Mempiois, on the Skirts as is faid by the fems to moderate the Anger of the King, if the Libyan Defarts, and Atreightning of the Moun-whom they provoked to fill out with che innocent Chritains almoft 20 Miks from Cairo: 60 that it would be ftians, and they by ronoving a Mountain (which will the rery odd that chey flould carry their dead fo far, if they Prince impos'd upon them as a Tryal of theirlaith) hid bi convenicnt a place of Interment near the City.
We wenld gladly bave feen thefe; but the chargeable G:ard, and the fcar of the Arab;, who were then folemnizing their Fealt there, and the Inconvenicnce of lying our all Nighr, made us be fatisfied with what we had heard, having feen before feveral of the cmbalmed Bodics, and fonnc broken up to be bought for 2 Dollor a picce ar the Ciry. In that place are fome pretry large, and many little Pyramids, with Tombs of feveral tathions, icreral ruin'd, and as many violated by the i.foors and Arals, who make Money of the dead Bodies. Here the ancient Egyptians were ufcd to be interr d, and Vorage to were fond to be buried thers, as fuppofing it to contain the Body of ofris. - Under every one, or wherefoever Stones lic which are not natural to the place, if you remove them, are difcoverd Deicents like the narrow Moudhs of Wcils, having holes in each fide of the Walls to go down by inftead of Steps, yet fo uroublefome, that many refufe to go down that came there on purpofe; fome of them are near ten Fartom deep, to parricular Familics, hiwn out of the Rock, with Pillars for it. Between each Arch the Corps ly rank'd one by another, throwded iu folds of Linnen, fwath'd zyiti Bands of the fame, the Breafts of fevcral being fain'd with Hicroglyphical CharaEters; in cheir Bellics arc paintcal Papers, and their Gods inclofed in litule Medals of Srone or Metal, fome of the mape of Men in Coar Armours, with the Heads of Shecp, Hawks Dogs, Ec. others of Cats, Beetles, Níonkeys, and fuch like I I brought fereral of thefe with me: the Linnen pull'd off (which for Colour and Subftance refembles he inward Film between the Baik and the Bolc, when long dried, and brittle) the Body appears folid, uncorrupred, and perfect in all its Dimenfons; whercof the Malculous Parts are moft brown, fome black, hard as Stonc-Pirch, and in Fhyfick works fomewhat alike, tho accounted more foveraign. When they prepare thefe to keep them from Purefaction, they draw our the Brains with 1 oftruls with an fron intrument, flling the bame with Exticician Srone,and taking out the Bowvels, they cleanfe the Infude with Wine, and ftuffing the fame with a Compofitios of Caffa, Myrrhe, and other Odours, clofe it again. Thic fame the foorer fort of Pcople did with Bin:noca, as the Infide of their Skulls and Bellies ftill did they allo with the Juice of Cedars; which by the extream bitternefs and drying faculty, not only forthwith renored alic Cavic of interiour Corruption, but to this da;, which is about 3000 lears, has preferved them uncorrepted: So different is the quality of that Tree, procuring Lite to the Dead, and being very dangerous to the Living. After this they wrap the Body in a grear many. Folds of Limen, befincar'd with Gum like Sear-cloath. When they bad performed their. Ceremonies, which Ferc very numerous, they pur the Corpice in a Boat, to be wafted over sistrufic, a Lake on the South of the City, by one cartain Perfon only, whom chey called Clatron ; this gave Opplises the hint of his Infermal Ferryman. Narar this Lakefteod the frady Temple of Hecate, orith the Ports of Cocreess and Oilivipr, leparated by Ears of Brals, which became the Original of the Faconverted him to their Religion, and turnd his Difncafirce ufon their Accufers. This runs along an Aqueduct fupported by 300 Arches, and fupplies the Caitle with Water. The Ruins of the City are grear, and fo arc the Buildings, among which are many Ctriftian Monafrexies and Temples; the laft thar was left was thrown down by the Baffa, becaufe as it thould fecm it froiled his profpect; but then I mould think he would fcarce have given the Patriarch leave to rcbuild it; the Mors abusd bim with their Tongues for it, and threw down what that worthy Man Begun. Upon this Crril madea Voyage to Conftantinopic, to procure the Grand Signior's Order for doing it; when he was upon this Bufincts, he was, but nor thro' his own fecking, chofen Parriarch of he Grectes, and alitrle afce-, by the Briberies of anothor, being difplac'd, he return'd to Cairo. Here is a litule Chappel fill ftanding, dedicated to the Virgin Mary.
they can conveniently. The Mcrchants had with them many Negroes, a good Commodity: They buy them of their Parents, 30 Miles higher on the Weft fute of the River, who part with thein without any concern; for as others look upon their Riches to confift in the Mulsitude of their Guttle, fo thefe couns their Wealth by the nuinber of their Chiidren.
Abour tes ar Night we fer our, and arrived the next Mcrning as Billbefb, in die Land of cofben, frum chence continuing our Journcy, we arriven in che Neighbourhood of Catara, whete we mer with Cotton-rrees, and a Trec calld by the dirths, Alcian ; the Powder of its : dried Leaves, being a Dic fer a reddini-ycllow. With this and Nails, and Somerimics their Hands and Fert, and the other parts of their Rody, rempering it with Gum, and laying is on in the Pagnio, thar is may penctrate the decper. Some Ciriflatus uhe it as well as Matiomerans, and indeed the Confumption is fo univerial throughout the Tarkifs Empire, that the Value of what is ufed, amounts ro 80000 Sultanics.
Theke Next day we came to Sellia: : A little lower is a Lake call'd anciently Sibbenis and now Bayrena, which divides Eyprt from Syrin. In former times 'twas called Barath:um, from its fucking in, and fwallowing up whole Atmies ; for it had then a Paflage into the \(S\) ca (which is now choaked up) and run our to the length of 200 Fur'ongs, in a narrow Trough, guarded on each Hand with Hibls of Sand; which being driven by the Wind into the Water, fo as to thicien it to the feeming confiftucy of Earth ; fo that when People came upon it unawares, the fintt Sand they trode on feem'd firm enough, bur after a further Progreis the Sand gave way, and giding ftill further into the Body of the Lake, made it impoifible for the Traveller to retreat. Now 'tis only a littele Lake, and grows daily lefs. Meni this i,ake is the Moumain Caftur, or a huge ic Pand, famous for the Tcmple of fupitcr, and Emperour Adrian. The North Fide of the Lake is borderd by hetuncen (or Edom) So calld from the Idumeans, a People of drabia Felix, who abdicared their own Country, and here incorpoxated by the Fiebrewi.
The Sulaffec of Sallisin invited himielf to our Tent and after feeding upon our Provifions, would have fallen upon our Perfons, if we had noc been fortificd by a Paffport from she Baffn of Cairo, and our Captain's Interef. Herc our whole Caiayan afiembled, confifting of 1000 Horfes, Mules and Affes, and 500 Camels, a Camel being a Beaft created for, is not only ufeful bus neceflar nifiribi. ry in the Arabian Detarts: He"ll carry \(k\) coo weghe, tho mofne 1 t 600 be the ordinary Load. In loading or unioading he lies on his Bell \(y\), and when he is loaded proporionably to his Serength, will (as is faid; rife up and refufe to take morc. He'll aravel for four Days (or fourtecn upon a Pinch) withour Warce: for in his frecucur Belchings, hecthrufts up a Bladder, which moiftens his Throat and Mouth, and commonly upon 2 Journcy he is cram'd with Barly-dough. - Some fay the Camels are the oinly Creatures thar ingender backwards. Their Pace is now and unfufferable hard; and upon the leaft uneven, or flippery Ground they are apt to ftumble. They are very mild and tractable, abating for the time of their Vene ry, which lafts 40 days, and which is fo furious, that they birc and fcratch threir Kecpers. Abour their Necks they have certain Charims wric by the Dervifes, and inclos'd in Leather, to preferve from Mifchance and the Poyfon of ill Eycs.
On the tenth of Marcis we entred Arabia Petrata, a batren defolate Country, which bears nothing but a few reatred d Palms, and a little wild Hyifop, with which the Intrabitants fecd their Camels, the Milk and Fleth of Camels being their principal Suftenance. The whole Country is a Wildernefs of Sand heapd up in Mcuntains, acrording as the Wind blows.
The Particulars of the Author's Journcy thro' this Counrry, the Holy Eand, Es. are referr'd to another Province; only tis thoughe net smproper to take in here his Obfervations upon Milten.
On the 2d of Func Feing Sundar, weenter"d the Haven which lics on the Eaft fide of the Ciry:of Velifra in the Ine of Melta, which we faluted with 18 eighteen Guns, but we twere not allowed to cnter, tho' wee had a Patent to ihew that we. were free from the Plague, nor fufferd to depart when the Wind ferved, which was withintwo days after; forthe Gallies were thenferting our upon fome Enterprize on Barbary; for which reaton they would not let us go, let if we were taken, we fhould make fome difcovery nay, they were fo cautious, as to hinder any of their own Ships to pur our, zill fometime afier the Gallies were gone, for feat of a Surprizal; buca large Ducc: Ship putring in to fece for Company; and the 1 Emplifb being al ready foftrong, they were licenced to-1ail thic fixth of fune, the Mafters having the Night before in theirlong. boats, waited the Return of the Greas Maller, from viewing a Forr, which wasthen buikding, zad weiconied him home with 21 Guns.
I whonever could be reconciled to the Sea, chole rather to fay behind alone, and undergo an confiole Difficultice than cutcrain the Thoughre of for redicus a right againtt the City, remote from the Concontie of Pcople, and ase lofi now to difpoic of my felf: At laft a littele Proas made rowards me, rowed by an Onitor, whofe buluess it is to attend on Strangers that have not Pratricke to prevent any Infection by Companics poing ncar them. This Man rarricd me to the hollow hanging of a Rock, where for thar Night I was to take up my Quarters, and the next day he was to carry me to theLafarettc, and there I was to ltay 300 . 40 Day's before I could be admitted into the City. In this melancholly condirion was 1 , mufugg on my Hardifips, whele miv Guardian roas gonic for fome Victuals for me; bur aii the mean time this lucky Accidene offer d, A pleciucco came to the place with two old Women in it, wha fpread ayturky Carpet upon the Rock, and xpon that a Table-cloath, which they furnilhed with taricty of the choiceft Mears: A litdé after came anorher Pinituce which feta Gallant afnoar with bis rwo Miftrelies, aref.d like Nymphs, with Lutes in their Hands, fulf of fondling rricks, fearce giving the Spark Icave to cat a bit, burwhar they puc into his Mouth: Scmetimes the one would play upon the Lute, whilet'rother fung, and laid his Head in her Lap, thus aping the Pawinns of I overs: The old Hags bad no fmall fiare in the Comedy, with their ridiculous Moppings. Thefe, as I heatd afterwards, were the young Women's Mothers, who had brought them from Grecece, to trade with the unmarried Knighthood : at laft che Genteman, who was a French Captain, invited me to take part with then, which I wanted not to be much intreated to, and he froke to them to make much of the Forgifir : but they necued not to be fpurr'd; for they grew prefently fo fami'i.iar, as was loathfome to us both: both he and they, in piry of riv hard lodging, offered to convey me into the City by Nighr and bring me back in the Morning; a Crime which if difeovered, is punifhable winh death: While they were perfwading me to ir, my Guardian rcrurned, and a Maltefe with him, whofe Fasher was an Ensiiftman: As foon as he uncerftood what they had propofed to me, he diffwaded them; fo the Captain having promifed me his good Offices, departed. When they: were got a pretry way from the Shoar, the Whorcs ftrift and leapt into the Sca, where they violared all che Ecunuts of capt into the Sca, where they violated all the Ecunds of Modefty. The Captain did not forges his Promifr, and aving follicited the Grear Mafor on miy behaif, as he are in Council, Pretticke wasgranted ms, by the confent of the great Croffes; fo I came into the Ciny, and was kindly entertained in the Houre of she ithateje lade menioned, where I faid threc Wecks.
Malsa lies in the Libyan Sea, exactly be:ween Tripolis manta, in Barbary and the South-caft Angle of Sicily, an furn-Detaribe! lred and fourfcore Miles diftant from she one, and fixty from the other; it contains three fore Aliks in circnit, and was formerly called Melite, upon the account of the plency of Honey there. The Councy is all orer Champion, being no other than a Rock covered with Earth, not exceeding two Foor where decpeft. There are few Trees here bur fuch as bear Fruit; which they are well provided wirh of all forts; Wood fot theis Fuel they fecch from Sicily, excepi what is ufed by the meaner fort of Pcople, which is a kind of great Thifte and Corv-dung : but they confume not much, the Climate is fo exceffive hot; for tho' it is fometimes moderated by the Winds, to which it is expofed from the Sea, 'ris horter than any place in the fame Parallec. Here are no Rivers. bur feveral Fountains. The Soil produces no Grain bur Barley; the Bread male of that and Olives is the ordimary Dier of the Villagers, and the Straw fuftains their Cattle. Thicy have plenty enough of Cumin-Secd, Aunis-Secd, and Honcy, which they merchandize with; befides, they have fon:e Cotron-Wool, which exceeds all orhers. The Inlabirants dy rather of Age than Difeafes, and had formeriy the name of Fortunare, becaufe of their excelling in Arts and nice Weavings. They were originally a Colony of the Phenicians, who trading as far as the main Orean, fertled upon this Inand, and by the Convenicacy of the Haven, gor grear Eftaies; in the midft of it is built the City of Maltr, now called Old Minlex, either giving a nanc to the whole place, or borrowing one from ir.
Their Lin-
Their Language difersnot much from the Morefoo, tho" it retains lome Print ftill of the Punick Tonguc. I cannot decide, whether is came into the Poffefion of Spain; together with the Kingdom of Siciiy, or the Spaniards conglicr'd it from the Mrors, which is likely, boch by the Refemblance of Languages, and becaufe tis accounted to belong to aficicit: however that be, Spain had is in the time of claaries the firt, who beftowed it on the Knigits of Rbodes.

\section*{Thelespin.}

This Oracr of Knightrood looks uron Sr.foim Bapriff as Peir Parron, but was nirt inftituted by Folm the Charitable Patriarch of mexamarie. Their firit Seat was the Hofnital of St. Foln in Ferufricm, which gave them the Name of Knighes Hofpitallers: Thar place was built by one Gerr.a d, about the time whicn the fusceffful Expeditions of the Chriftians againft the Holy Land, were fo fanious: The Renown of thofe Adventures won many worthy Perfons in that Sncicty approved by PopeGelafiis the fecent. By the Allowance of Honorius the fecoins, they wore Garments of black, fign'd with a white Crofs; Raymonal firt Mafteref the Order, cnlarged th: ir Canons ; his Srile was, Tie peor Serount of Chifo on cium:dian of the inf(pisal in. Jerufalem. in svery - Cumry in Clniflendon they had Hofpitals and Revenues ationd them. with Concributions from Pope Innecene the fecond. Thicir Vows tied them to entertainall Rilgrims with lingular Humility, to guard their Roads from Thieves and Incarlions, and raliandy to defend their Tives in defence of that Cornery. Whenthe Chriftians wece beaten out of Syria, the Greck Emperour gave them Fiodes for theis Setticment: Others fay Clemene the fifith \section*{Siven Scri.} did. They cont:er'd ir from the Turks, but as aforeFat, toft it again, and then fixd in Matre. There are here feven Alowges or Seminaries; one of Fratice in general, cne of terme, cate of Presener, one of Caftile, one of Arreton, onc of Italy, one of Germany, and an eighth there was of Enghand, till diffolved by Henry the cighth :- Yer there is one ftill that fupplies his pace, in the Election of the great Matter. Of every one of thefe Countries there is a Grand Prior, who regulates the Atfaits of the Order, and lives" in great Reputation in his Country.

St. Frlms Dear Smit/field, was the Refidence of the Grand Prior of Englamd; and an Irijh-man now living in Niaples, bears the Titl, and receives a large Penfon from Spaim. Sucli as are Candidates for tris Dignity, ftay heréa Year for Probarion, and muft prove their Gentility for lis Defcents, which is tried by the Knights of Women
cupati:: as appears by a Starute made in the Marter-lhip of Hegg Revilus ; perhaps becaufe one donis, a noble Lady, was Auther of the Order, as they affirm; bur I could not hear of any now chatare Memters of it. The Ceremonies ufed in Knighring are chefe: Firt, The Knight Thecuremo carries a Waxen Taper in his Hand, and kneels before nies ot lnfe- the Altar, cloathed in a long loofe Garment, and retution. quefts che Ordinary to invett hiri with the Order : then he receives a Sword in the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Gooft, to defend the Catholick Faith with it, to repel and varquilh the Encony, to relieve the Oppreiled, and, if occafion be, to expore himfelf to death for the Faith, and all by the Power of the Crofs, which is fig--nitied by the Crols-hilt of the Sword. Next, They put a Belc about him, and frike him three cimes on the Shoulder with a Sword, which is to inftruat him, chat for the Honotr of Chrift he mutt chearfulls undergo any Hardhip: As foon as he has received ir, he flourithes ir chrice over his Head, as a challenge to the Adverfary, and cinen lbeaths it again, wiping the Sword Girt upon his Arm; as an Emblem of the undefiled Life he incerids =o lead for she furure: Then the Perfon that performs the Ceremony of giving him the Knighr-hood, lays his Hand on his Shoulder, and exhorrs him to be vigilantin the Faith, to alpire to Honour by couragions and praife-worthy Actions, Ec: When thar's done, iwo Knights put on his Spurs, gilt, to frgnify that he ought to fpurn and contemin Gold like Dirr, and never be corrupted with is : Then he proceeds to Mass wich the Taper in his Fland, the Works of Piety, Hofpimality, and Redemprion of Captives, being commended to lim, and the Queftions are put to him, If he be married or a Barchelor, if he never yowed to another Order, if he be of any ocher Profetion, if he defign to live among them to re:enge: their linjurie, and quit the Authority of fecular Magitracy. His Anfyers being giThe Tow a vern: upon recciving the Sacrament, he vows as follows belpof God, ro be sruly obedient so all my Sipperiours, appoinced by God and chis Order, so live withour any thing of \(m y\) own, and mitbal so live chafly. Upon this he is made a Partaker of their Prittredges int Indulgencies, granted them by the See of Reme. Befides other Prayers they are commanded to fay 150 Pafer-Nofters cvery day,for fuch as have been dain in their Wars. They wear Ribbands abont their Necks, with Branches of the Crofs and black Cloaks, with large white Croffes of fine Linnen, fer in the Shoulder of them: In time of War, they twear Crimfon Mandilions crofs'd the fame way, behind and before over cheir Armour.

They come here very young, that they may the roner ger a Commendiam at home, many of which are of great tralus, nor gor by Eavour, but by Seigniority: They are obliged to live here five Xears (bur that need not the all regether) and to go on four Expeditions. If one/of theni be consicted of a Capital Crime, he is firf puolickly degraded in the Church of Sr . \(\mathrm{Fo}_{\mathrm{ol}}^{\mathrm{m}} \mathrm{m}\), where he reccivd his Knighthood; then ftrangled, and thrown into the Sca by Night. Every Nation fecds by themrelves in their ceveral Alberges, and fit at Table like Fryats; butfuch as upon petition, haveleave to car alone have 60 Crowns allowed them by theReligion yearly; all of ciom receive 25 for their Cloaths.
There are 500 refiding here, and as many difpers'd throughout Chriftendom, who repair hither upon any Summons, or the News of an Invation \({ }^{\prime}\) where thicy will, the Religion is che univerfal Heir, only one fifi part of their Subitance, each Kniebt may difoce of Sixteen of them are Ccunfellors of Stare, and of chief Authoricy called the Great Croffs." Thefe wear Tippets and Coats under their Cloaks Ifgned with them. linthe number of thefe are the Marlhal, the Mafter of the Hofpital, this Admiral, the Chanceilor, Ecc. When ore dies, another is cholen by thic Great Mafter and hiv Knights, who give their Votes (if I remember right by Ballots, as the Vencticns do: by which means thcy aroid bo:h Envy and Faction. If the Grear Mafter fa: fick, they fiffice no Veffel ro go out of the Hiren, till he is either recovered, or dead, and another chofen in his Room, leit the Pope mould intrude into the Election which they fay only belongs to themalelves: The Eiection is performed thus.

Every Nation choofestwo Kuights of their own, two Tix ram being chofen for the Englifg alfo: thefe fixtecn our of ticnain their own number name cighr; chofe eighe appoine a me Grad Knighr, a Prict, and a Fryar Servant. who wears Arms roo \(;\) and there three choole the Grear Matter our of the Gisteen greas Croxes. The prefent Mafter is a Picard borm abour 60 Ycars old, and has governed cight Years. His Title is, The Hlluftrious.and moft Revercid Princr; m Lord Ergar Alofius of. Wignian Court, Grecte. Mefter of tbe Hof pital of Sr. John's of Jerufalem, Prince of Malta: ame Goza. For tho he is no more chaña Fryar, as the ocher Knighas are, he is an ablolute Soveraign, and has brave Attendance of gallant young Gentlemen. The Clergy wear che Badge of the Order, and are fubjeet to the tame Laws, except in Military Affairs.
There are 60 Villages in this IMand, under she Com mand of ten Captains; and four Ciries; Ol 1 Malta, as was faid before, is feated in the Center of the IIfand up on an Hill ; "tis thaped like a Scutcheon. They do no eftermit ro be of greas Importance; however chere is a Garrifon kepr in it. They dhow a Grotro here, in which they fay \(\mathrm{Se}_{\mathrm{w}}\) Peul lay after he was hipwrack d, reverenced by/them with great Devocion. . The Refin'd Srone of it they calt into Medals, with the Effigics of St. Pcal on one fide, and a Viper on the other or an Azrus Dci, ani che like, which they fell in great numbers to Forcigners. They repert, that when "ris drunk in Wine, is curcsthe Vcnome of Serpents; and tho there are many Serpents in this place, they give it our, that cho" you handle or vex them, chey have no Power to hurt you, having lott their Venome cver fince the Arofle was bere The other three Cities, if ticy may be fo calleu, are ahout cight Miles diftant, and nor above a Mufquet-fhor from cach orher, near che Eaft end; and on the North fide of the Inind you have the double Haven, dividec: by a Tonguic of Kock, which reaches no fartherthan che Entrance, whofe largeneis prakes it convenienc. The Eaft Haven refembles a Siag's Horn; the firit Branch afforns: an excelleat Harbour for the ratheft Ships; the Second for Gallits, the reft are fallow. Clofe ro the uppermoft top is a Fountain of freth Warer, which plentifully fupplics all Veffels. On the cip of the Tongue (as one may rall ic) Atood the ftrong Caftle of 5 t Hermes, the firlt that the Turk befieged, which aftre many defperare Aftaulss, Tis chither and 20000 Cannon-hor /pent, the noife of which was heard as favas Mefint they took in 7 une 1505 , after they had loft ren thoufand Men before it, to the great honour of the Conquer'd to have made fo fout a defunce.
On the Point of the Promontory, which lies between thofe two Branches of the Haven where the Ships and \(\therefore\) Gallies have their Station, ftands the Caftle of Sc. Angein on a fteep Rock ; this Fortre's gave a fufficient Proof of its ftrength, by obliging the Turks to raife the Siege, this being the nexr, after Sc. Hermes, which was attack ; it retains fill the Scars or Marks of the Shor. Ar the Fiot of the Rock fome Cannonare glanted, which command the Enery into the Haven. A Malvomeren, def cuided, as 'twas thought, of Chriftian Parents, leap'd into the Sea here, in the height of the Siege, and in fite of the great Fire that was made ar him, lwam to the CaMle, receired Baprifin, and was of no finall ufe to the \(B e\) firged, difco: ering moft of the Defigns of the Tirks; and pulht bravely forward in all Actions. The gallant Bebariour of the Knights, and the Report which was ipicad abour of a Chriftian Army coming to their Relief, difcouraged the Tifles fo much, that they faw fit to draw off ; however, all the Illand but Burgo and St. Anrelo, beirg reduced to Ames, the Knights confulted about laring it, rather than repair the lamentable Kuins to refift againit an unequal Enemy, efpecially confidering the back warduefs of the Chitiftian Princes to affift them, the laft Succours beind by the Circumpeect Vice roy of Sicily, unreafomably delayed : But is lay too conrenient for the Turk to annoy the Neighbouring States of Chriftendom; for which reaton the Pope, the Flocentine, and the reft of the Italian Princes, encouraged thein to continte there, Fupplying them with Money and necotlary Provifions; but more efpecially the King of Spain, who lent them 3000 Pioneers from Niapies and Sicily, by whofe belp they xepair'd their old Works, and- Legan a new Ciry upon that Tongue of Land, which divides the two Havens: This City isnow almoft finilhed lo bears the Name of Valesta in honour of folm de \(V\) Viltti, then Great Mafter; 'ris nor very large, bur bandfoine, well concrivid, and the ftrongeft of all the Fortrefes, being firuared on an high Ground, and not capable of being attack'd from the land, any where but at the Souch End: The Walls of the other Parts of the Ciry, join to the Rock as tho they were of a piece with it, and are wath'd by the Sea. It is join'd ro the Land by a narrow Ifthmus, where the Rock docs rife natural ly ; the Ditch on the out-fide is cut exceeding deep and broad; 'tis ftrongly flank'd and wants nothing that Fortification can give: The only Gate of the Ciry opens this way, and immediately upon your Entrance, you face nwo great Bulwatks, moonted with Cannon: The two Gates which lead, one to Se : Hermes, and the other to the Haren, are but little pofterns: At the other end, but wichour the Wall, ftands Sr. Hermes, which is now fltonger than ever. Of that of Sc. Ampelo, no Frencir men is allow'd to be Governour. Almoft every where there are Platforms of Guns on the Walls. On the infide the Walls axe not above fix Foot high, being anfencid and thelving on the our-fide : The Buildings all along are at 2 good diftance from the Walls, to leave room for the Souldiers, and fecure them from Bartery.
On the Weft fide near the Sourt end, is a great Pit bewen into a Rock, withour which a Port is cut under the Wall into the Welt Haven; 'tis not yer finilh'd, but defignd for an Arfonal to reccire their Gallies, being a Work of grear difficalty: This Harbour is too khallow int Ships of Burden. The Market-place is large, and from it the Strects point directly to the Walis. The Builditgs are moftly uniform, of Free-Stone, two Srories high; and flat at the top: : The Upper-Rooms generally have Tarraffes ourwards. The Grear Mafter's Palace is a noble Scructure, atlornd with a Tower, which orer-looks the whole Illand. The CouncilChamber is curioully painted with their Fights by Sea : and Land, both abroad, and in defence of sheir own Territaries.

The feven Allergas of the Knights are not comempti- Altrin: The Churches of \(S\) among them the City is quartered. Edifices; thes of St. Paul and Sc. Fohn are magnificent Prior. rior.
St. Fom's Hofpital is worthy taking notice of, both forst 7otris the Building and Aftendance: Ath that fall fick are ad- Hotpirad. mited on is: the Krights chemfelves lodge there whent diftemperd, for they're provided here with Phyfick for Body and Soul too (fucis as it is). Attendants they do not want for, bcing ferv'd conitandly by the funior Knighes in Silver, and cvery Eisiday by the Grand MaAer and the grear Crofes, to this the Rules of their Conflintion otlige them, and hence ther derive the Ti cle of Knight-Hofpicallers: The Beds in this Hofvital are coiered with handfome Carpers: Their I.imen alfo is chang donce a Fortnight: The Jexuits have a Co!ledge now building here: There are three Numneries to, one for Virgins, one for Penitent Whores, and nare other for their Baftards:
The Barrennefs of Malta is fufficiently recompens'd Tincir Pros plies Ncighbourhood of Sicily, from whence/their Sup fions from plies come : The City is provided always with thrce whences Xears Stores ; and as the Old xears Stores; and as the Old confumes, they imporr more to make good the Deficiency. Wiar More to make good the Deficiency. Whac itheir frefh Water-Fountains fall thorr of, is supplied withthe RainWater preforvid in Cifterns.
The Forces of this land, Knighrs and their Depen-The numb: dants, Citizens, Ecc. (which arc inclucied inthe Mutter) \({ }^{\circ}\) or Min. amounts to abour 20000 Men. They are salmoft conftantly tolling the Bell, which is anfwerd from the next Forts in order. The Religioushave five Galites, to which number ('ris faid ; they are confin'd, and but one Ship: what there are befides, lelong to private Men. Thicir Expedirions are generally for P'under, cither to furprize ome Village on the Coattof Africa, or if they mect a mall Ship they rifle it, bring the Men away for Slaves, and let the Ship a drift. They make adrantage of the Rlaves; either by their work, or by admitring them to Ranfome, which brings hither frequenti: Boats from Africe, with Flags of Treaty. While I was therc; a Bark was broughr in by eighr Engiof:-men, who had long Cervd the Tinks, but in this laft Voyage, feizing Weapons; they drove the Pirares, who were double theitrysifn number, into the Srern, where two kept guard upon them, couriso and the orbers drefs'd the Sails for Mielta. The Inqufirion is of little Aumhotity here, not being allowed to come into the City: They refideat Durgo.
The Malt \(/ \sqrt{c}\) are almott as rawny as Peafants efpecially, who as tawny as the Moors, the the con: miferable People. The City -obferves your are aplexion of Modes, the preferir Grand Mafter and moft of nights being frencbmen. The Women cover their Faces, converic not with Men, and are as jealoully guardedas in Etay; but thole that are afraid to marry may ferve their turns withour the pain of jealoufy ; for here are Curtifans in abundance, moft of thembeing Grecians.
Now were the Gallies recurned, bout the Feftival of The Patrone cheir Paron toopt my Voyage, no Boat, while in lafts, Fentival being fuffered to pur to Sca. The Nighr before the Palace. Temples, Alberges, and other chief Buildings were illuminated; and next day all the Arillery TEas \({ }^{\prime}\) de chargid; the Forts huigg out their Banners ; each Ai berge the Enfign of their refpective Nations, and as Nighr Bonfires before them; in a word, they made as pompous a Show as they could. The Fires before the Palace, and Habitations of the chicf Men. were for greater State fer fire to by the grear Perfons themielves.
Onche 24 th of fune I left Malis in a Phalucco of Na ples, a Velfel abour as big as a Wherry, rowd by five Men. They fer forward generally two Hours before Suner, and if they difcover not a fulpected Sail, shey reach the Coaft of Sicily next Morning

\section*{C н a p. XVII.}

\section*{An Ab/fratt of Mr. Richard Jobfon's Voyage for the Difoo-- very of Gambra, and the Golden Trade of the Ethiopians.}

THE Englifh-Barbary Merchanes having enquirid of the Moors from whence they had that Gold of which rhey made their Cher quins, and being affur'd that chere was no cott to be found in Morocco or Fcr, but thar it was brought by the Natives over great Defarts of Sand by Land, concluded from the Information given, that it muft come from Erhiopict, and therefore refolved to fit out fome Ships to feek for this Golden Trade, in fome of chofe Rivers that fall into the Ocean on the South-wef fide.
'To this purpofe in seprember 161,8 , they rent one Cicolge Tiomion in a Ship to cnter into the River Gamm bir, and to fail up that River with fuch Shallops as be had; which he did, and in his abrence the Ship was aken by fome vagrant Porrugiuef, who were admitred reely to come aboard, and all the Engliß-men left in her were kill'd; and Thomfon himfelf, having gor up the River as faras Tindr, and being full of Golden Hopes was killd in a Quarrel by one of his own Company.
Thom/nn being kill'd in March, whereby all his La bonr was lolt, the Advemairers in Oqober next fent our a Ship of 200 , and a Pinnace of 50 Tun, with Mr. Folfon, who ran in 20 Days from Dartmoutb to the River Gnmber, and caft Anchor tour Leagues wionin the Moutin of ic, where ic fpreads it felf into to many Riress, Bays, and Creeks, thar for 30 Lengues up to Tincrowally it is very intricate, bur ellewhere the main Channel is cafily difcern"d. It flows from the Mouth so Branconda, which is near 200 . Leagues in the lowet Seafon: But this Tide is abated by the Land-Floods, caus"d by the grear Rains, which fall with great Winds Thunder, and Lighening, fromi the latter end of May to the larter end of. Auguf; after which chey haveno Rain xill Miay comes again.

From Barnconda forward we faw no Town mor Plantazion, but we found in the River many River-hories, Crocodiles, or Allegarers, one of which we fannd, by the limprefition made on the Sand, to be 33 Foor long The Natives are much afraid of the Crocodiles, which thicy call Bumbo's, and think they have devourd many of their Friends; yet \(k\) onver found any of thema affiault us but their mulky feent fpoils both the tafte of the Waree and the Fifl. The River-horfe in the Shape of his Bo dy and Head, is exacty like a Horfe, but he bach four short Tegs, and his' Foor is divided invo fire parcs, and fometimes is 20 Tnches over; he frores and neighs in the Watcriby day, buf at Nighs feeds in the Marthes
In the Riter is ftore of Malker and ocher Filb and one of thiem thee an Enitifl Breme, being pouchid by a Sailor; he piefently loft the ufe of his Hands and Arms, and anorfier the arc of his Lers but their Senfe came to then again'; and:we were totd he benums all the Fint hie roüchics, arad then devours them, bir being dead, he was rexy good Mear.
There is forie of Fowl, fach as Geefe, Duck, Mallard, Herns, Cörfeivs Storks Plover, Gic which dare not come into twe River for feár of the Crocodile, but fit on the Baintis of it, and feed on the Marfles. All thic Men of a' Town go mogether and fint che Ponds and Lakes, each with a Bafket holding the open-Mourt downwards ; for by going into the \(W\) Fill, and fo ctach them in cheir Bafkets.
Ar the Mouth of this River dwell the Mandingo', who brought us Bonano's, with Becves, Goats, Hens, and Grain: They ate very civil and kind to the Englif, bur hate the Portaryiefe that live among them, for their ricachery and cruelry to the Englif , in fiezing their Ship and killing the Men, for which they banifid them.
Befides thefe fugitive Portuguef, chere live, among the Nhandingo.s, a fort of People calld Fulbies, who wander up and down, keeping thicir Herds of Goars and Beeves where there is good Pafture, as they agree with the Kirg, and removing to the Mountains when the Rains fall. They conflantly watch their Herds to keef them from fraying and the Crocodiles Haunts, and are fuch Slaves to the Mandingo's, who will fharc with them in heir Beef, and their orher Conmodities, if they know when they are fold : Bur higher up the River they are Lords of the Country, excluding the Blacks, with whom for the moft part they are at war.

The Mandingo's lead an idle life, cxcept two Monith in the Year, which are Sece-time and Harveft: They know nox how to cacch Flefl or Fib and fpare their Cocks and Hens to baticr winh ws ; and to they commonly feed after day-hipht upon Rice or fome other Grain boild: And in thole pars tis moft whollome to cat early in the Morning and affer Sun-fet.

They ufually drink Water, tho' rbey bave Wipe of Trees, and Dullo made of Grain like our Ale. Their Houfes in meaner Towns are made of Reeds, or of Loome; a reddilh hard Earch; bur Cafan and other Ciries ate ftrongly fortifed with Turrets and a Ditch and compaffid abour with Pofts faftened in the Groumd five. Foot high. They have ftrange Ant-hills, fome of them 20 Foor high, and will contain 12 Mcn. Tberi Arms are a Javelyn, being 2 Reed of fix Foor, with am Iron-Pike, and Bows and Arrows
1 did eax and drink with Gux of their Kings, who are fubject to che Kings of Cantoric, Burfale, or Woollo; bur there do not appear abroad but in Pomp. Wben the People come before ibeir King they kneel, and ihrow duft on their Head two or chree cimes, and then having laid their Hand on the King's Thigh, they rctire: Andif 2 Maerbuck be prefen, they knecil and he prays for him, or which be often anfivens Amena, i. e. Amen. The King anfwers chePeople with podding, and wears Cloastre of Costom whereof they plawi great Fields like Rofebulbes. They are for the moft part bare headed, \(x\) cept when they are bedeck'd wish Grgorics, which arg made of Leather, feeming hollow, with Writings in them, receiv'd frem the Mart-6ucks, which are reputed \(f_{0}\) toly, that noevil can beride them while they. wear them. Borth King and People, Men and Women, weas then n their Heads in the form of 2 Crofs, from the Forehead to the Neck, and from Ear to Ear; abour their Necks, Shoulders' Arms, and Middles, Eoc. thar each Member: may have 2 Biefing; and if they hare any Sicknefs or Sore they apply thefe Gregories, and neice we any orther Pbyyick that I could perceive.' Theit Horfos are fomecimes thuis bleft, wearing them about their Necks.
The King hath feven Wives allow'd, belides Concubines; bit cannoc carmally know one of them after Conception, nor afier delivery, till the Child is wcand None are purco death for any Crimes, but in the Cafe of Adultery; Men and Women are boch fold and ranf ported ro tbe Wef-5ndics. Other Men have pluraliry of Wives, if they agree with the King and che. Woman's Friends, and their Moncy is kept for her to buy a Huff band : for as the Maid is bought, the Widow buyceth
The Women Iive in great bondage, who drefs Mex for their. Hoflayder, bus never eat wish them: They go base from their Wafte upward, to fhow their painted Skios.
Their way of Marrying is very comical: The poung Man widh his Fitendscomes to the Maid by Moon-light and carries her awnay purieking, being adifted by the young Maidsof the place: And when fome joung Men of the Townendeavour to refcue her, others carry ber off with great Shouts to the Bridegroom's Hourc.
The Succeffion to a Kingdom here, is not to the Son of the deccas'd, but to his Brethren in courfe, and then Tothe Son of the eldeft, the other Brethren bolding fome place in the Government, whoreof the youngeft is call'd Bo-jobm, the fecond Ferran; ;he third Ferambra, and the eldeft is Manfa or King. Thcir greateft Richos is ihe number of their Slaves, and from the King to the Slave they all begg dof us; but a fmall mater.fervd them, x cept of Aqua Vitce, for which they would fell all, and with whichitheirKings would be drunk : And indeed the Life of a King wirh them is to ear, drink, lleef, and keep company with bis Women.

The Mary-bucks or Balfarens are their Rriefts, Keparated from others in their Habitations and Courfe of Life. They talk mach of adam, Eve, Noal's Flood, and other things mention'd in the Old Tettament. Like the Levitikal Tribes, they have their Towns and Lands proper to themiclves, where no fecular Perfons live but their Slaves, whofe Ilfue is their Inheritance They marry in their own Tribe, and breed all their Children to their own Profeition; for they bave as many Wives as the reft, according to their degrec. By their Habir and Work they are nor dittinguith'd from the Vulgar; for they are hir'd to do fervice, and we agreed with them by the Moon. They worthip one God, whom they call Alle ; acknowledge Malhomet, are circumcisd, have no Churches for Worthip; Friday is their Sabbath, on which they follow their. Ociafions. They have no Paper, but reach their Children to write on 2 fmoorh Board, with a Pencil; and cheir Law is written in a Language different from the Vulgar.
My Mary-buck, Fodee Card \(\cdot\), told me when we came :nto the Port of Setice, that their High-Prieft, Fodec Bram, lay fick in the Town, whom I vitized, and found him firting on his Mat, fupporied by threc Wives, to each of which I gave a Pewter-ring, which he took fo kindly, thar he treated the with a Dinner, and prefented me with a Hide and an Elephaur's Tuoth. After he was dead, he was laid in a Houfe, where 2 Grave was digg'd for bim; and after much crying, the Women running about like mad People, he was laid in the Ground. The Marr-bucks affembled near the Grave, where the People firting in a Ring, one Mary-buck food in the middle after ano:her, and fung his Praifes in Verfe, the Peo ple thouting and clapping their Hands, made 2 Prefent to the beft Pocr, who mingling fome of the Earth dug for his Grave, in a Watcr-for ftanding in the Room, made chercof a Relique-ball: And then his Son wasfolemnly inftalld his Succeffor.
They have great Books, and MSS. wherewith we nuve fect fome of them laden. The Vulgar are inuch grren to ftrung Liquors, bur thefe drink nothing but Waret, and meitherthey nor cheir Wives or Children will rafte any hot Liquor or fweet chings, but chufe rather to die than do ir.
They rravel with their Families, Books, and Boys, thro all Countries, however ar War with one another: And when they beg of us, 2 Qaire of Paper, is 2 greaz Gift to a whole Company, on which they write their Gregories. All the Inhabicants of Setice are Mary-bucks, and carry Slaves to the King of Burfal, to buy Salt, which is there by the Sea-fide, like Sea-coal Afhes, which they ufe bur litrle among themfelves, bur carry it tas up into che Country, where they batter it for Gold and Cola-nurs: Bur cheir Gold is hid to be buried with them, or hid in the Ground by themfelves for their ufe in the nexr World. They buy alfo Blood-ftones of the Prruguefe, which their Women wear abour their Mid des ro prevent Blondy-iffues.
After we arriv'd from Baraconde ac Tinda, we fent duree Moors alhoar with a Prefent to the King, and to Buck \(\boldsymbol{r}\) Senn, a famous black Mexchant, entreating him to come aboand with Provifions. In the mean time we kill'd an Ancelope, which was bigger rhan a Stag, and a Fowl call'd Staller, higher shan a Man. In a few Days Bucker Sano came ro es with 40 Men, and he broughr us a Beef, and the other People Goats and Com, Cocks and Hens. Afterwe had reated him, we thewed him our Commodities, which he lik'd very well excepr Iron, which thicy can have nearerhand: But above all the reft they valued our Bay-falt. After we had refus'd to buy their Women-laves, a Marker-houfe being buils afhoar we barter'd with them Salt for their Elephants Teeth, Corton, and Negrocs Cloaths, which was made the Sta ple by which to valuc other things. We faid noching of Gold, but Buckor Sano taking notice of our guilt Swords, told us that he could bring us fuch 2 quantity of Gold as would buy all our Commodities; and that in 2 greas Town above, diftans about two Moons travel, the Houfes were coverid only with Gold. After chis, when I rook notice of the Biade of his Sword and the Brafs Braceless upon one of his Wive's Arms, and afked him whence he had them: He told me, That a People call'd Araicck, brought them thefe and feveral other Commodities, whom he defcrib'd as Tawny-Moors, that came in great Companies with Camels: That the next Mioon they would come to a Towncall'd Mambar, within fix Days Journcy of the place where we were, and bring with them Salr and orther things, which they would exchange for nothing but Gold: This People we rook to be the Murs of Berbary.

On the other fide of the Riter, upon notice given by one of our Blacks, came son Men and Women ro trade with us, who had never feen white Mcn before: The Man "ore raw Hides, with the Tayls of the Beaft Earging down behind; but the belt of the Wumen wore Ear-rings of Gold, who ask'd for feveral Commodities but the Men chiclly for Salc: Among the reft came 2 Mary-buck of Mr. Thomfon's acquauntance, born in 7ay, where he faid there was grear tuure of Gold, which the Arabecks came for, about niuk days Journey op the River; and that he could carry us chither, and to wiomar, whence many People would bring us Gold, if we would leave thefe People, Eic. and go higher up the Kiver, and carry up fotce of Salr with us: But we made baft to be gone, the Water being funk fix Inches, hoping to retarn in May.
Bucker Sano would necds be ftyld the white Man's Alsaide, whereupon I gave him a ftring of Chryitaland a double ftring of Coral;, and another gave bim 2 Silver Chain; and fo he was proclaim'd Aici.ide with thooting of Mufcets, his Fidlexs attending with Mufick. This he rook for fo grear an Honour, that be went with me to the King, and pray'd him to ufe us Wheng, prefenting him with the Coral and Chrittal; Whercupon the King did noc only give us leave so thoor any thing by Land, but gave that Land where we wer oo us for ever; of which we rook pofferfion according to the Ceremonics us'd in that Courntry.
When we came to Butro, and heard Shours, Drums, and Country-Mufick, our black Boys rold us it was fo cutring of Pricks, ad World of Pcople being gathered to gether as at an Eng/th/ Fair. Under every grear Tree and befides the Doors of their Houles, there were Fires, and in fome places chere was dancing with Mufical InAnuinence, the chief of which are call'd Ballards, and contain feventeen Keys, like to , Virginals; whereupon one plays with two fticks, which have round Balls of Leather at the end. We faw our black Boy circumcis"d not by a Mary-buck, bur an ordinary Feliory, and our Surgeon was nor fuffer'd to heal the Wound.
Ar fome diftance from the place of curting, we Yoard a great roaring noife, which they taid was the Voice of Hore, i. c. a Spirit that comes to great Fealts, for whom they provide ftore of Rice, Corn, Beef, and other Flefh ready drefs'd, which is inftancly devonr'd. And if he be not Carisficd; he gets into a Boy's Belly Or nine days, and chen the Boy muft be redeem'd with Beef, and concinue mute fo many days after. This is Trick of the Priefts, who were hoarfe with roaring at that time, which continued all thar Night to fright the People to Circumcifion.
1 hey have three principal Trades, the Smith, which of. Iron brought to chem, makes their Swords, Daris and barbed Arrows, and Inftruments of Husbandry.
The next. Trade is the Sepasiro, or Grigor-Maker, which be makes in all fhapes: They make alfo Bridles and Saddles very near, by drefing their Deers and Goars Skins.
The third Trade is of thofe who remper the Earth for the Walls of their Houfes, and Pots to boyl Meat in ufing for other Services the Gourd: They make alfo Tobacco Pipes, abour two Inches long, neatly glaz'd, with which Men and Women continually fmoak. Mars. to eat and @eep on are their ftaple Commodity, by which orter things are boughe and fold; for they have no Coin, and fo at Marker they fay How many Acets fhell I give you.
The general Trade of all but the King and grear Men is Hubbandry, and nor knowing how to lerve themfelves of Beats, they make Furrows with a Srick abour 2 yard long, having a broad Iron at the cnd like our Paddle Staves, which which Iron fer in che Ground, one leads che way, cutting the Earch before him, while orhers follow in the fame Tract with their fevcral Irons, fo as to make a fufficient Furrow.
They have fix feveral Grains for Food, of which we know none by name but Rice, which they boyl and eat warm; the other are like Seeds, which they boil and roll up in Balls, and car inftead of Bread. They plant Tobacco, and whole Fields of Corton.
Near the River's Mouth they have Bonano's, as delicious as any in the W'ft-Indies, and likewife fore of Letaons and Oranges. They bave whole Groves of Palmita-Trees, whence they draw a pleafant and wholfome Wine, by carting floping holes inro the Body of the Tree, into which they pur a Cane which receives the Sap, and conveys it inro Gourds. Ir taftes like Whitewine when it is firf drawn, but will nor laft above 24 Hours. Their Dullo-al is kepr in grear Gourds, and when the King makes a Feaft, they never fart till they bave feen as the Mouth of their Dens, and Givet-Cars have made an end of it. The Gourds grow like our Putnions, fronn the bignefs of an Figg to that of a Burfel, of which they make fercral forts of Veffels to eat, drink, and walh Cloaths in. They have great ftore of Locult-Trees and Wild-loncy : The Cola is 1 keour bigger fort of Clefnur, flar on lothi fides, yet withour a hard Shell, the talte is sert betece, yet caufes that which is raken next after it on tafte very fiweer; for fol found it made Warer tate like whise-winc and Sugar: 50 of them will buy a Wife. They havea fonfitive Plant, like our great Rramble-Bufh, on the River's Bank.

Ddd
They have many Lions, which are cafily known at Night by the Cries of the Jackal, when be hunes for his Night by atc Cries of the Jackal, when he hunis for his Prey, and Ounces and Kiscards, whofe Foot-Iteps we and Porcnpines, thath humf their Poultry.
They have Elephauss, who thed not their Tect Stags their Horms; wild Bulls and Boars, Antclopes and Dcr, ; and alfo Monkeys and Baboons in great Herds, and fome very big.
They have alfo force of Iand Fowl, as the Stalker, who has more Flech than a Lamb; the Wake, which makes a great noife whenh he fies; ; the Guinnce, which like our Pheafant for Beaury and Bignces, cxecllent, meat; Partridges, which conninue ncar the Houfes for Rcons, Tharrots, ans; Qunils as big as Wood-cocks; Pi-is which harh no Lrgs, but two Strings by which he hange with his \(H\) cad downvard, refembling a dead Les with his Head downvard, refembling a dead Keaf hangs ing on the Trec, and is of the fame colour.

\section*{С н я р. XVIII.}

\section*{An Account of. a Voyage made to Cape Verd and the Coaft of Guine,, by James Lange: dore from the Low-Dutch.}

THE rwelve Xears Truce betwixi the Spmiards and the United Provinces being cxpired, 1, with the reft of the Dutch, was oliliged to Jcave Sevilin Spain, and to return into Halland. In the Bay of Bifcej we met with an Algerine, who having taken a Fronch Prize, threw all the Sca-men belonging to that Ship ovct-board, and among the reft a certain young Frerch-man, who having certain Jewels to 2 conficiceable value, ty'd in a Bag betwixt his Legs, had his Life offered to him by the ilgerines, affer be was throwninto the Sca, provided he would farrender the Jewels; but he chofe rather to be drown'd, than to redecm his I.ifc by fo confiderable a Prefent.
After I had refreflid my felf for fome Months \(2 t \mathrm{Am}\) ferdam, being surious to take a vicw of Capc \(V^{\prime}\) crd and the Coatt of Guimen, of which I had heard wonders, 1 agreed with Mr. Marrin Papsubroech che elder, to go in the Quality of a Super Cargo, firt to CapeVerde, and fo further to Guinea. Accordingly, being provided with what was thought neceffary for follong a Voyage, 1 embark'd in the Texel aboard the Ship calld the Moor, Nichestss Hendricks Maftex, and in company of anocher Veffol, commanded by Mr. Nicholan Keete, I fet fail the 2oth of Nosombir, 1621 . We had not fill'd many Days in the Spanifs Sea, Beering our Courfe towards the Canary lilandes, when a violent Tempeft did to unmercifully thake our old Veffel, that we expected erery moment to be fwallow'd up by the Waves, which took away one of our Sailers fron the Deck.
At laft we came in fight of the Salt ! 1 ands, and afterwards amived Lafely at Cape Ved, at it Deg. 40 Min. Latirude ; which Cape is a neck of Land jurting our from the Continent of Africk into the Sea, betwixt the Rivcrs of Gumien and Smngno. We had no fooner calt anchor in the Road of Portendaclia, but feveral French Ships, and among the reft two Privarecers, hoifted their Sails, and were purfued by Nicholas Keted, but be could not overake cheno. Soon afrer coming in their Conors arrival we faw many of the Moors coming in thcir Ceners or Boats, made of the Trunk of 3 Trec, hollowed out, npon which they threc Sails, one alour then which they had pur two or whom we werc forced to - pay a certain acknowledgmisent, before they would permit ns to come athoar, and rrafick therc, which for the moft part confifts io Hides and Elcphans Tecth. Wc met thereabouts with divers Purturerife and Moors, whofe Anceftors had bcen banifid Spain, and fonme Fews, who had their own Pricts. Thcir Wonncn, of whom they marry feveral at a ziunc, go thalf nakcd, having only 2 piecc of Stuff hanging dowa before, from the Waft to the Knees: the Men wcar it wrapt round about their Middle; and the Boys \(6 n^{3}\) Girts, even to the 15 th or 16 th year of age, go quite tintred. The Ornaments of the Women are certain Chains of Caryftal Beads or Corats, which they wear abiat the Wafte ; and their Foreheads are mark'd by Cectial Incifions, as cheir Arms, Leos, and Bellies are with the Figures of Serpents and luch like Creatures: they ancint tbemflves every Morning as foon as tacy rife, with greale, to make their Skin thine: The Mcn wear a picce of red Leather langing alkout their Necks whinhthcy call Plositic, and has cerrain Charactersen-1 Wars, as bclicving that thay contain 2 fecret Virtuc off iticus with their Neipbulncrable. As they are offen jarting with their Neighbours, So they are icry expert in the management of their Arms management of their Arms, which are che Bow and Arrows, and a Lance or half Pike.
Their Wives they kecp like Slaves, who are forced to do all the druggery both at home and in the Field, the Men being gencrally intent upon their Axans only, and Hunting. Hunting.
They have no other Beds than Mats fpread upon the Ground. The firft thing they do in the Morning is to moak Tobacco, both Men and Women having confancly two or chree Tobacco-Pipes hanging down from abont their Necks: Tobacco is their Brcakkaft, befides which, they cat twice a day, but very moderately; and chey are fo enured to bardhip, thar upon a pinch they can live ethree days without drinking, tho elfe the Men are grear Drunkards, which is chictly to be of ferved at the Funcrals of their Fxiends, when they commonly Spend fuye of fix days in driyking and weeping by In

Thcir common drink is fair Water, or a kind of Bect
madc of Miller and Palmcrinc: from the Coco-Trecs, in the uppermoft Branches of which chey bang ! an Incifion being firft made; Mormings and Evenings, certain Pitchers, which being filld with Liquer which iffues thence, they take down again and fell ir, beforc it wurns eager; beims otherwific fweet of tafte, and of a whicih Colour like Whey. They have a way of adulteratiog in with fair Water. We woce introduced to one of their Princes, bordering upon the Sca-fionr, where they entertain'd us with feicral Fooleries; bur their Wine bcing very ftrong, their main aim wasto make us drunk, which wc avoided as mach aspofibly we could, being forewanned by the Rortuyufe of the. Exceffes they commit in thicir Debauche.
They have a certain fupcrffitious Cuftom, thas if any one, whether Foreignex or Native, it matters \(n x\), (wears by the King's Head, his Efate is forfeited, and he condemi'd to Banillment; of which they gave us an Infance in a cercain Parruguef, who bad lately been Ored wh fly the Country upon char accourt. Affer the King's Deach, none of his Children can inhcrit the Crown, bur his Braticr's or Sifter's Sons; and his Wives are regarded no more than private Pcrions in thcir Widowhood, bar their Children arc educared in the Royal Palace, and numbred among the Fizala \({ }^{\circ} \mathrm{S}\), which is the Nobility of the Country.
Near the Sca-thoar they pay their Devotions io the Trees and Rocks, but I have fecn certain Negro's there who, as chey tcld me, came decper our of the Courtry, and ufed a quite different Language from the reft, who, before they laid themfelves afcef, or iuft kefore Sun-fer, werd adore the Sun won their Knees, beading their Faces to the very Ground，and Atrewing Sand upon their Heads．In their Huts，where they ufed milcep，they had made a kind of a Trench abour three Foor high，which ferved inftead of an Altar，and before which they faid their Prayers for half an Hour roge－ ther upon their Knees，turning their Heads in the Even－ ine towards the Weft，where she Son fets，and in the Morning to the Eaft．where it rifes．I was very curious to learn from what Country they came；bur as the Intia－ bitance did not in the leaft underfand their Language， 1 could getno certain account of them．I faw alfo di－ vers 3 cto ft Priefts here，who had married NegroWomen： Ohey abtain from Wine，and Adulcery is a capical Crime with them as well as Theft．Meft of the Negroes near the Sea－floar，they adore the Devil，not burt that they are fenfible there is a God；but fay they，he being ve－ fy good，and confequently not inclined to do harm to Mankind，there is no occafion to pay，him any Devo－ tions；whereas the Devil being naturally inclined to mifthicf，inuft be appeafed by Sacrifices：This is the reafon they never venture it Sra in their Canoes，unlefs they have tirt facrificed to the Devil fome Branches of Trees，Horns．or Shells painted red；which they lay up－ on！a kind of an Altar，and knecling before it bare－ headd，kill a Fowl，which whilft it is a bleeding and ftrugeling for life，one of their Papn＇s，or Priefts，mut－ ters oit certain Words till the Fowl be expired，whillt he thar performs the Sacrifice，proftrating himedif upon the Grount，berprinkles the Altar with the Blood，and havs the two Wings upon it．They beliere the Immoral－ lity of the Soul，and that the dead Bodies Nall rife a－ gain，but white，like the Europeans．
The Cappe Verd：produces Ambergreafe，tho the Coun－ ITY near the River Sencgal affords it in greater quancity； 2s alfo．Civet Cass．There are here divers forts of Birds； thofe thev call Aplsaprappen；are very large，of a bright blackith Colour，their Heads being adomed with 2 ve－ ty fine Tuft，on each fide of which is a Crimion co－ lourd frot mix＇d with white：they make no noife．They have alfo a kind of Bird noc unlike the Pellicans，and of frall Birds．vaft quantities；efpecially of Turtes． Provifinns are very cheap here：you may buy a good Sheep for a String of Coral，and an Ox．for two quars of Brandy．Among other Fifhes which arefound ingrear quantitics on this Coaft，the Sword－fin is none of the leaft：I faw once one of them engaged with a Whale in a Moon－light Nighr，and he parfued fo clofe－ ly，thatat laft he got under him，and rip＇d up his Belly with the Terth which are on borh fides of the Sword milht a which iffucs from his Snout，and is moveable on which fide he pleafes．The Whale was no fooner killd，but he fwam upon the Surface of the Water，and the Negroes at laft catch＇d alfo the Sword－fifh，and prefented me with the Sword，which I brought along with me to Am－ fierdam：
The Negroes hercabouts are rety dexrous ar Filhing， which is their chicef livelyhood：Twenty or，thirty Cf－ noss go commonly abroad towards the Evening；and hav－ im ranged themfelves together in a Line，they fer fire to fucin combuftible materss as they have broughe along with them，in the Night time ：this done，the hang a thin Cord abour their Necks，on which being faftened many Lines with Hooks，they are feifible as foon as any Fifh which are drawn thither by the Fire，do touch the Bait，when they pull them up．There are abundance of fiagens（Schars）on this Coalt，of an cxcefinve bignefs， which prove often mifchievous both to Men and Beats， as one of our Ship＇s Crew found by woful experience， who，whilft he was a fwimming；had his Legs bit off by one of them，above the Knee，which coft him his Life： When they intend to fnap ar any thing，they lay them－ fires upon their Backs，beazufe the upper part of theis Mouth is longer than the undermoft．I narrowly efcap－ cdonce my felf the fame danger for I was no fooner got into our Boar，bur I faw onc of that kind，call＇d the Kruss broye（Crofs Scisar）pafing onder it：This Finh had upon bis Snout a kind of a Crofs，abure feven or cight Foor long，which had an Eye at each of the two Extremities，the Bulk of his Body being proportionable to the bignefs of the Crofs；we obferved a Imall Eifh to fwim conftently before him as if he had been his Pi－ lot．Thefe Seas produce alfo a certain kind of Filh calld Sackers，with very flat Hcads；and Doredes nor unlike the Dolphins，appearing with various Colours un－ der water，fuch as yellow，green；blew，and white． They carch them with Hooks，on which they fatten fome frnall Shreds of white Linnen，which rhe，Dorades miftaking for the Flying－fifh，they are catch＇d by the Bair．

After I had difpatch＇d my bufinefs at Susilen and Por－

Clanfie Mafter，in order to profecute my Voyage to the Coaft of Guinest．After we had failed about 300 Leagues，we loft our Compais by Itrefs of weather，and being frequently furpriz＇d by Travado＇s，or Whirl－winds， we were reduced to the greateft extremity，nor knowing what courfe to ftcer：Thefe Tinvady＇s arife from a Cloud，the 1 yithr which is difcovered fometime before，and breaking out erpored io of a fudden into 2 moft furious Tempeft，with horrible ar Sen， Winds，andThandring and Lighening，are very dreadful to thofe that frequent thofe Seas．We had at laft the good luck to find an old Compats in one of the Comers of the Ship，but ir being nor a true one，we fail＇d up and doivn he main Sea，without any fure Guide，without difcover－ ing any Land or Sail in three Months time，which ac－ cording to the rrue Courfe，we might have faild in three Weeks time．The wort of all was，that all our Candles and Oil being confumed，we wanted light in the Nighr－time；and after we had thus rowled up and down for two Months，all our Water was gone，fo that or feveral Days we were forced to drinkthe inuddy fet－ ement of rhe Cafks，which we frain＇d thro＇a linern Cloch，and had foch a nauleous Sent，that we wexe forced ro ftop our Noftrils when ave drunk it；fo that fome of our Crew chofe rather to drink their own Wa－ ter than this．In this extremity God＇s Mercy relicyed us with an agreeable Rain，which made us fpread our Sail over the Ship＇s Deck，and throwing a good piece of Lead in the middle of it，fet 2 Tun under it to receive the Water，which ferred os for fome time after；and as we were jutt beginning to want again，one of our Ship＇s Crew cry＇d out Land，Land，which proved true to our great fatisfaction；for ftecring our Courfe that way，we found our felves near a fmall ine call＇d Crifquen，which being not above a League in Compals，lies at abour threc Comes oo the Leagues diftance from the Continent．Ir is uninhabited，ane nf crif． nothing being to be feen hete but Rucks，Forrefts，wild wmon Beats，and Serpents，which made 2 very dolefill noife． We had no fooner fet foor athoar，but we made a ftict fearch after frefh Water，among the Rocks，and having found forme that was very good，we filld all rour Veffels，and whillt they were carrying afhoar，we ventured fomething deeper into the Inc，bur could fee nothing bur an oid black Hat，and not far from thence fome Mafts，the Remnants of a Shipwrack＇d Veffel，and the dead Car－ cals of an Elephant，ftuck in the Mud，who had que－ fionlefs perin＇d there，as he was fwimming from the Contincent over to this Ifland．As we werc making all he Sail we could towards the Continent，a fudden Travado overturned our Ship，which funk inftannly be－ fore our Eycs，fo that we had farce tinee enrugh to fave our felves in our Boars，wherewith we at laft react＇d the is mip Shoar，after having been expos＇d to the danger of the wrock＇t near mercilefs Waves for 24 Hours withour earing or drink－me conti－ ing，all our Provifions being loft in the Stip．We were \({ }^{\text {nemi．}}\) no fooner gor athoar，but ouc Mr．Mios，belonging so our Shif，told us chat the Inhabitants were Mian－eaters． hur as he had traded in thofe parts，and underftood fomething of che Language he hored to have to much Infuence over them as to faveour Lives，which he did in effect，bur could not prerent our bcing ftrip＇d guite naked．＇Among the reft there was one Nichrlar Krm， who fecing one of the Nioroes，who keld him by the Arm，fharpening his Kinife upon a Tree，he pointed to his Throat，intimating thercby，whether he intended to cut his Throat？The Negroe appretending his meaning， cply＇d no no，and at the fane time pointing with the Knife tiwards his Breaft，Nicholas Kan ftruck the Nic roe down to the Ground，being refolved to fell his Life at the deareft rate he could：Bur Mr．Mols beter under－ tanding the Negroe＇s meaning，presented the danger which was likely to befal us upon this accoums ；for having inbuttoned bis Walcoat，he pull＇d it off，which the Nogroes perceiving，were well Gatisfied，to fave them－ Celves the latoor of cutting them，which they thought they mutt infallibly have done，as bring not apprehen－ ve of the way of loofing them by the Buttons．Thus hey divefted us of all our Cloaths，leaving us as naked we were come from our Mothers Womb；and what strip as the worft of al，being come altoar，near a poor Vil－a aked age call＇d．Rio Recel，where they had neicher Rice nor Millcr，we wereallin danger of being ftarved，half our Company being perinid for hunger already．The be－ fore－mentioned vichelos Kin roaving up and down in Fearch after forme Viduals，happencd to lighr upon a piece of Carrion，which he broughe to us，of which the Ma －nivery to pos fter of che Ship，whe was very hungry，made a good rim for Yoom meal，but foon after paid for it with his Life：Being re－ger． duced to this extremity，we were preparing for death， when eettain Negroes having difcovered ar a great diftance 2 Veffel，put us in fome hopes of relief：Yon rendatia，I embark＇d aboard 2 fmall Veffel，Dranken may believe we were all eager to go to the Shoar，where Ddd 2 having ha, ing defcryd the Veffel at a vaft diftance. we were not be would make the Veffel come near the Shoar ; fo, that looking upon hise as a mad Man, we recired from the Shoar; but word being brought us within an hour afect by the fanc Negroe, that the Ship was advancing towards the Continens, we. did sun with full fpeed, and finding his Words truc. look'd upon him no otherwife than a Sorserer, till we were convinced of the truth of thematice, by their ancwing us a groat heap of dry Wrod, which they had fer on fire upon one of the Rocks note th: Sra-fide, the Smozk of which is an infallible Sumil to Ships that come that way of the willingnefs of li: luhabiants to rraffic with them : Nothing could be more joyful to us than to lee (after the mifery and danger we hat pinderyruc for above Elaree Morths) the Slip acvaice with full fail to the Shoar, which proved ont of bur own Country Vedfels, bedonging to Amferin, ben:ind to rhe Coatt of Guinea: we appeared ttark naked on the Slimares imploring the afifitance of our Country men to relicve usin this utinof extremity. The Mafter of the Ship having orderel the Ship to caft Anchrit in the soad, went into the long-boat himfelf, and as he wis coming near the Shoar, afk'd us what Ship we cionest to, which we having told him, he gave for anfiwer, that it was impofible for him to take us aboard, huring remonfrated to him, how rnchritian-like two hioc for him tolcave us in this mifery, he was at ait fome fmall quanity of Coral, fome Knives and Brafs La'ins tu dic Norroes for our Ranfome.
Thers we fer fail again, and chooing the main Sea, I was murh furpriz'd thar we hould nor difococr Land in a wiole Fortnight, till finding that our Mafter was miftaken in his Obfervations and Calculations of the Declinations, I corrected his Error, and in four days, after difiovered Lard, but inftead of the Guinen Coaft, found our feives acar Intola, which is 600 Leagues beyond it: Having provided our felves with frefh Water, Some Frait, Oifter;, and other Refrefhments, we fet fiai agai:) for the (iuinon Coaft, taking our Courfe betwixe the Inc of Inallon and Ifade Principe; but by the unskiifuliefs of oar Mafter of the Ship, came unexpeetcdit to the Coalt of Quaqua, not far from Cape Verd. We had no foonct cat Anchorin the Road, but the Niczroes came in grcar numbers in their Canoes all abour our Yescl, but would not venture aboard, till by the advice ot our Matter, I haring taken fome Sea-water in a Bafin, and let fome Drops of it fall three times into my Eycs, fryiss crery rime Quagua, they freely came aboard us; but fecing our Guns ready. mounced, and fome Mufquets at hand, they would enter no further chan tien fides of the Sliip; where being fer down, 1 prefemed thern with fome Bread, which they thankfully ascepted of. Thele Negroes had many Incifons macie in therr Faces, and thro' ticir Noies a large lvory Ring, which reach'd beiow the Chin; fo that whatever they phe in thei- Mouths, went thro this Ring. Their way ri. Eatins was, to make up the Miller or Rice inro a Pafte, winch being form'd into imall Balls, they throw chera at a sood cittazece thro the Ring into the Mouth. Their Hair was of fuch a lengch, that it reactid to the very Ground: for which reaton they have a way of rwifting it round their Hoads, as the Turks do their Turbants They broughe us fome Elephants Tecth to fell, and a roung Thinch of abour fourteen or fifteen gears of Age buewe would not buy the latt.
We left the Coatt of Qucgu: after a ftay of a few days, to go once more in fearch of the Guinee Coaft, but cither by the neglect or igmorance of our Mafter of the Yeffel, we once more pafs'd by that Coaft unpercevt, and found our felves beyond our hopes at Benrin There being not one Man in the Ship who did not find him'clf alnof woris ous with thefe needlefs Fatigues it mas retilied so keep within fight of the Land all the day tine, and to caft anchor at Night, till we frould conc ro che io-murn winth for Guinea Coalt, which being done accordingly, after fome days fail, as I was coming one Morning eatly upon the Deck, I found a Shippior far from ours ar Anchor, and fufpecting her to be \(k\) prosigufle, gave the alar:n ro the reft, who began to cicit the Deck, and prepare every thing for a Combar Butbefore we went to work, it was thought fit to alk one of their Ship's Crew who they werc ; he anfwer'd, to our no limill larpize, that the Mafter of the Veffel's name was fames Ruy-baver, a Native of Hiarlem; fo that our Martial Preparations were foon changed into Dcmonfrations of joy, and it was refolved, that we thould together Ict Buth his Shipp being bearicr than ours, we out-Gaild him, and as we were parting along the Coaft, 2 Negroe canc aboard of us to cnchange a Civet-Cat for fome Corai, which done, he offered me to carry ase to rinine, in his Boat, which 1 not thinking fit to accept of, I pare him bowever 2 Letter to Mr. Martin Stuarlimtr, the chict Director in thofe parts, who being rejeiced at our irrival, came aboard our Veffel as toon as we had caft An- iotice chor in che Road, where he was enterained with what he Ship afforded, and gave us a fpiendid Treas abonat his Veffei the next day. Some days after I weut anour to Carmentiin, and thence to Morce, where the .1r\%.\%. ders havea confiderable Fort, of which Mr. dic: fot colfon was Governour at that time; who treated uitery handromely ar Dinner. Afterwards Mir. Stimule: unfired me to his Ship, where he eatertained ane with more than ordinary Civility for eight days tugethet at the Expiration of which, he proposd to me in go along with a Ship which was ready freighted to \(B=\), ibin which I refuling to do by reaton of the unheaithfuind of the place, he fent four young Factors in my ftead, but no more than ane retuenced of the four, tho' be did nos ftay above fix. Months.

This Scricment, calld Beniin, lics upon a River, emm which exonerates it felf into the bay of Guinea, where the Dutci, Factors are obliged to ftay fix Months; but few return from thence, by reafon of the unwholfomnefs of the Air, without which, the place would be pieafant enougb. I was credibly informed by a cerain Factor who had refided there, that the Negroes of tic phase had affur'd him, that, if he would tarry only fis Weeks longer with them, be would fee certain Negroes who come out of the Inland Coumtrics, and have no more chan one Eyc in che Frome; which we muft leave to the credit of thofe who gave the relation of it. Mr. Stumbout finding me rcfolure not to ago to Beniin, fens me aboard anorther Vefcl to Acara, where we were forced to fell our lron Barss, which was our chief Cargo, in the Nighr-cime, their King having prohibired the Importation of Iron therc. Afrer I had difpofed of my oading there, I serumed to Mr. Stuurbout, who then lay ar anchor in the Road of Morce, not far from Mett rice's Forr ; but this being 2 dangerous Station, be wert with his Ship, tho much bigger of the two, before Carmanritin, leaving us exposd to the danger of the Negroes, who are very mifc'uevons here; for fome of thefe Negroes belonging to the Caftle of Demina, having not long ago furprised one of our Chaloops, delivered up the Men to the P, orruguefes, who had clapp'd them in Irons, and throamed them cerery day with deach; and, as I was credibly informed, had promifed a reward of 64 Guilders to any of the Negroes who could bring them my Head. Being forewarmed of this danger, I withous more adoe followed Mr. Stuurbout, and came ic an Archor juft by him; and being ask'd what made me come there, I anfwerd, That if that Station was too danger ous for his grear Ship, it muft needs be fo for mine unlefs he would provide me more Men, to defend the Ship againtt any furprize; which he baving done ac cordingly, 1 returned to the Shoar of Morce, and can anchor as near the Shoar as I could ; bur was advifed by Mr. Aremt facolfon, the Govemour of the Fort, to bo conftamly upon iny Guard, épecially in the Night time; and that if neceffiry required, I thould give a Signal by the Dilcharge of 2 Mulquer, when he woula be fure to affift me with fome. Souldiers from the Fore, which was the rafon I ftrictly fonbid the difctiarging of any Gon aboard us, for fear of raifing a falfe alainmo Whilft we werc here at anchor, 2 Portuguefe Bark/coming from the Ille of St. Omar bound to the Cafte of Mina, being difcovered by fome of our People then an anchor near Carmention, a fravill Dutch Frigat was fent in purfuit of her, which was no. fooner come up with the Portugueff, but they cry'd for quarter, tho" they had 14 Portuguefes and 150 Negroes aboard her, wherias ours was mann'd with no more than 25 Sea-men in all This happy Encounter proved vary lucky for, car Prifoners detained in the Caftle of Mina; for the Porruiuefes who were in our Hands having fens tha Governour word that they muft expect the fame. Treament here, the Dutth Prifoners reveived at Minit, be begin in be a little cooler, and foon after agreed upon an exchange of the Prifoners on both fides and as focn as our Men were come aboard, we fent back the Portuguefes in an old Cbaloop, we prefented them with
As I went frequencly athoas whilft our Ship lay in the Road of Marce, 50 being curious to fee the King that rules hereabours, I. Mr. Rarcheoer, fames Lior; a Setecant of the Fort, and his Brocher being 2 Licurcramt and Fames Hawnerf, refolved to go to Sa/ve and fiomba which we did accordingly, raking along with us fir ous Guide a certain Negroe, who had bieen in: the Qualiry of

\section*{Chap. XVII. Woyage to Cape Verd and the coa/t of Guinea.}
a Deporty from that King in the Hirtwe ; two Cerabing for our Defence, and two Bortles of Brandy for a Pres fent to the King. Coming hear the Town or nather Villate, whictim the King? Refidence, we fentour Negroci before, no give notice of our surival, and to tell the King, that there were feveral Eurapeans come to. fee him and after his return, went to the Court, where finding the King firting wich about welve of his Fidat \({ }^{2}\) 's, or Nobles, we did not ray him the leaft Lepeet, which he perceiving, arofe and ask'd us who was our Captain or Leader, and having been told that it was I, he defired me to fir down, and the reft after me, upon very low Benches. I prefented him the rwo Bortles of Brandy, which he accepted very courreounf, and uad wis whac had brought us thicher, unto which 1 hiving anfwered him, that we came on: purpofe to be merry widxhist, he took one of the Bortes of Brandy and rook a good draught, but being cold that is would make his fiend die, heferit down afiac, and alluy for fome of the beft Palmerine: whilft we were bufic in Iercing the Cup go round, we faw a Negroe coming with his naked Cymerar in one, and 2 Man's Head in the ocher Ftand; which he layd \(n \mathrm{my}\). Feet, kneeling, defiring neto fund with my right Foot thece cimes upon it, zind miny Comerades weite obliged to do the fathe whichidorte, the King ordered it to be boil'd. Upon engunty what corld be chie mearing of it, We werc rold that this was the thead of 2 Traytor, who hating the day beforeendenvourd ro kill the King as tie was a.go in to do hisi Neteds ( which they do behind the Houft in orthers with his Dart, in fis fiead, and being taken id tic Fact of out of the Kinis's Geards, who had circ of his Head: Whitf Dinitre was gectuing rekdy the King gave we leave to kill as many Deer and Boufets as: we would, but no ather Yenifon; ind ac our tecum welt a D,antron comid us with a Cup of Wine min'd Winf Egss. By thi time the boind Negro's Head being broughe no the Tably the Fing urged us ro tike pars of it, but finding us umwilling He laughiz, fellitg us thar there wis no greater Daioty fian ones Enemies Fleft; however, we bad feveral Difhes of/blation and Vemifont fexved up, ppon which we did feed with 2 rery good appecits, and drank To pleinifutf, thar the Eietitemans and his Brother, the Serjeart, wish one or two more belonging to the Form, eommitred divers Out-rages, for which they pay'd dear in the eid. The Lientenami going crolsithe Mankei-place cúdown- certain Tree of \(250 v e\) 100 Years ftanding, dedicaied so their idolacious Worlhip, being a kind of a Baximas Tree, and confequéntly eafie to be cur thiro' Writia good Cymerar: Fis Brocher ufie Serjeanc comint into a Houfe, and finding the Math and his Wife togatier in Bed, woudd needs force trim chence in order to rake his place; winch we other refufing the nion him thro", and the Woman crying dit muirder, a Neighbour that came to Fer affifance, underwemt the faime fare. Bur nor firistied thus, both he aind his Brotier coming to the King's Aparmestr, che fiuft prefented his Caribine ready cock \({ }^{2}\) againft fíc King, which 7 omex Howearr perceiving, ftruck the Carabin winh his Etar out of his Fands, which fred juft 2sit was falling oponiche Groind; but as good Formime would hree in wishout the leaft datrape, tho the whole Aparment was filld winh Poople. The while Vilfye being pur inco an alarim by thefe Ourrages commitred againff thieit Idof, anit the marder of their Companions, the King thoughit is beft to keep Mr. Hucwart, Mr. Regcbaryer, andimy feff ar Court, cill the Fury of the Negrocs fiould be alforiged, who followed tixe othersour of the Village, and hiving woumd ed'the Serjeant uithis Dart in the Hip, thes follow'd the Trait of the Blood, which led them into an adjacemi Wood where he had hid himfelf among the Eryars: they cut of his. Head withour any furither Ccremony and hist Comerade a Leg and an Arm. His. Brother the Eieutenant being affifted'by the Negroe, made fhifi to getaway to the fort, where hewas clap"d in trons, bur the poor Negroe, who had no other thate inithis Ditordertitan to hive prorected and affifier the others in their Flight, was allo óveriaken and afturleed, athi, afier having kill'd one with hisCarabin, wascat to pieces, which with the reft were brought to the King, who ordered then to té broitd and earen. The Negroes beingitomewhat'appeafed, the King fent us tiree moder a ftiong Guard to the Fort.
Nor long afier, we had die oppormity of feeing the Cetpinony of one of their Imermens; for a ceroain Negroe named fabm Grootendrif, who was a grear Devier in Gold, came aboard our Veffl, but being broken bel Ifed, wís feized wich fo violent a pain, char not able id endive it longer, beripp'd uphis Belly widhaKnife; and dy'd the next day. He was forrd upin a picce of Suff, An fro: the Elead, Arms, and I egs being covcred with the fame' in of of io andiadorned with Colden.Medals; reprefenting char fierieffer; of ldoks. About' a League from the Village theymad ang a Grave, pound abour which were ftuck into the Ground, feveral Green Branches of Trees: The dead Corps was carried upon the Shoulders of six Men, whorunat full foced with it for a l.ftic time, and then topping on a litdden, a Horn was blown, which fer the Women and Children that afilted ar the Ccrimony, 2年wling and crying, making a dorctial noile with the Bells thate were faltened to tirir Fe.e. Thus after a while, the Bearcrs began to fetch their !ong Sicps a fccond time, and werc followed by the reft; and fo afeer fevcrat Stops, Blowings of che. Horn, and Howlings, cance the Beticers lering, into whichency put the Corps, and the Bewrers lexping in afier it, took this opportunity to rake away the Golden Mcdals, (of which I was an EycWithe在, as fariding very near is) tho thicy made the Pcople believe they were buried with the Corps: In hort, after they had laid a cuarter of an Hour allecp, at the Head of the deceas'd Perfon, they laid over the Erave. Bramehes of Trees, which they co cred with Earth to a Man's beight; upon which they lit a large Flaggon foll of Palomaribe. I faw fome of their Tombs made of Enth iikethis, which excecded intheigls their or dimery Houres; and tbe Relacions, efpecially of the Fc mate Sex, come at certain rimes evcr; Year thers, to bewait the death of their deccas'd Friends.
The Intabitants hereabouts are docilc crough, bur Taris Rut zuvofed in groofs ldolatry, wornipping almoit every gion ubingehey fee, evento the Rocks and Whalc-bones, and the Trees dedicated to their Idols, are wormipped with a great deal of Cercmony at certain davs, and Scrved wht Waser and Meatby their Rrients. But among all their fapernticiotas Worrtip, nothing is fo abominable as the: peruliar refoet they thew to the Deril; which makes Sorcerers and Sorcery to be in grear requeft amang them. Of this i faym Iniftace in one Virck \(S c \cdot p: n 5\), who wasa rery toedtray Perfon in chofe Paxts, and having inyited me to his Houfe, I I \(^{\text {I }}\) found him l, ing upon a Mat all lame oponefide from Head to Foor; atter we had taken 2 Cup two or three of Paim Winc, I ask'd him the osaflon of his thaefis of which be gave me che following Accourc. Having plow'd op 2 piece of Ground belonging ro, the friejeje or Idol, and: foiv'dit with Com it produced a very good Crop; but Harveft-ime approaching one day a great Fiert Serpent was feen to conte abour Noon inoothe Field, which fer all the Com on firt, and thence coming to my Honif, got upont the Houles are in this Comonry) and fer ic on fire alfo in the fight of feveral of my Neighbours; and as I was going to fave my felf. I was ftruck with a Palfic on one fide of my Body, which coatinues to this day. They had given him the name of Serpent from this odd accident, and I found the Houre to have been bur latels built.
Afrer a ftry of chree Years on this Coaft, having re- pecurns wo ceived orders to teturn home, we let fail from Morce, bumk and feering our Confe betwixt the two Ifands of Acmas von and St. Tiomef, made 2 lituleftop at the Cape de Loop, ©eps ho Laps to take in foms Refrefments: We faw nothing re: markable on chis Coaft, bat that the Papa or Ptieft every day is Mid-night ofed mo go into an adjacent Wood, wich 2 crooked Serick, with a Bell faftened sorbiecnd of ir, to confult, as: he faid, the Deril about fecrer mata ters, tho" the poor Fool as the fametinite was igmosant of what palfid at home; for we ured to make his Wife drank. The River of Oliberte produces abundarice of Seathointes, which is an amphibious Creature, wirih Feet Fike thore of the Swans, being chielly eftecm'd for its two Tong Teeth, which in beauty exceeds: Ivory is felf. The Counry near the Coatt abounds in Cameis, Tygers Lions, Bonffers, Civet-Cats, Monkeys, and Par= roxs After a ftay of fome days here, we-prarfued our Vojage, anid coming under' che Equinoctial Tinc, direded our Courfe to the Salt-Thands, and thence to the candy-Iffes, and fo making the beft of our way; caine withouttany finifter Accident to the Coast of England, whers when we thourthtour relves paft all dangers, an unerplected biat of- Wind forted our Ship in the Nighttuine berwixt rwo Rocks, where we was faved to pieces: However, we had the good forcume wo IVve all our Men and diex next day a Cheft full of Gold, valucd at 260000 Gidery, and a good quantity of Elephanes Teech. The Freighiters of our Veffer being exreamly fatisfied wing ourindoftry in having faved lo mach of her Cargo; in vited us tip to Eonidom, where being emplayed in viewing ill what fasitwth a Traveller's oblervation in fo grear City' I duce itforcinatiowly efcaped deith ; for being willing to go into the French Ambaffador's Chappel, whole Scructure fell and buxied 90 Perfons in iss where they were then at High Mafs, I was kepr back by whole the Guards thar were placed there, to my fingoiar good From London I went to Gravefend, where I cmbark'd Arino in Fortunc; for bcfore Mafs was ended, a Pillar which abibard a Dutch Veffel, which carried me with a pro- \({ }^{2}\) ecinu. fuftaind the Roof of the Chappel, giving way, the 'ferous Gale to Middleburgh in zealand.

\section*{C h a p. XIX.}

\begin{abstract}
An Abfract of the Hfory of Ethiopia, or the Kingdom of Abeffines: Written by Mr. Job Ludolphus, mith wobat is obfervable from the Autbors of that Country in Purchas.
\end{abstract}

INeorpeline this Hifiory, the Author declares, that hi was chiche anifice by Gregory an Athefin, who came into fermaty, and was bonourably enier taind ly the Duke of Sixamy, from whom he did not only reccice liformation as to the Country, bur al to the knowiedse of the E:biopick Language: That as to Authors, he defended uron the Erhiopian Hiftory of Bir \(\therefore\) are Tillice, writen in the Pertugal Language, and Wi.cted ou: of the Acts and Infructions of the Jefuits, to whom he was previncial; with a Commentary of I:mmonat: Ahragde, written in Ethiopia, and 2 M. S. Hitiory of Aipiont, Ms Merion, the Lertin Erbiopian P2triarth, atefted by Germ Liapus, a fwom Witnets; and that he the rather gave credit to thefe Writers, becaufe be tound all chines in them to agree with the Relations of rivgoy tive de efire.
The Nom The Pennic are now generally calld Habefires, or of the Nioflines, from ahe Arclick Habef.; which fignifies a mixture ot Perpie; bur the Natives choofe rather fo call was furmes Estriptatrs, from the Grecks, tho that name ais well as them. Their fpecial name is the Counery of AT-sti, or Firce-men, as the Germans of old having paft the Reire, calld themelves Frenks: For that they came as firit foom arcbia the Happy, adjoining to the Rea-Sea, appears from their Language. which is very mear 2 -kin to the Arabicic; from their Circumcition and other Cuforms eommon to them with the Aralions; from the Name of iliaferies engraven by Scoerus on his Coyn, i. mong the conquer d Pcople of Arabie.
Tusiasien la tritia beyond Nubir, lics Habaff:a, very near be4 , buads ween the isch and 16 th Deg. of North Latitude, and a: Aospuis. is calld by fome Tape-Erhionic: It does not cxtend to the Equinotial tine, much lefs does thar dine crofs is as has been gercrally affirmed by Gecgrapbers and Hiftotians. The Portunucat reckon this Kingdom where it is bromett, to Leagues, i. c. From the R-d-Sce to the farthets 1 imits of \(D=m b e r\); for after thar, the bounds of it frem South to Weit do conically leflen: Towards che No:th ypon the Kingdom of Eund or Fingi. Towards the Eât it was formerly bounded by the Red-Sca, bur now the Port of arkike and the Lac of Mariua are fubject to the Terk, who is Mafter of that Sea; toward the Sourt, Aleba and Fender, Kinguoms of the Gonsior, bound Abefinia; and latly the River Meirs, and Nizus is felf rowling along thro the feveral vait Decarts, clof up the Wefiern Limits.
 of sirTr-a by Pauius Fovius. Telenixs, and others, by confounding imonime their Prefectures, which are under pecuiax Governeurs with Rrxecturs tioned. reckoned 30 Kingdoms beionging oo it by ancicar Richt, and we may fafely reckon 20 , includiag thofe which the Galtizns have fulxuid. The names of the Principal are:hefe. Amberre is the noblet Kingdom of all fithopia; mpon the account of thofe inaccefible forificd Rocks, Ghe'cn and Ambecefs, wherc formeriy the King's Sons being excluded from the Kingdom, were Gecurd, and is thercfore accounted the Native Country of the prefent Kirgs and all the Nobility: It has 36 Proriace belonfing toyit. Barembder or Pagemizti, is a lare fertic Kingdon; watcred with many Rivers: It is dintinguiflid into 13 Territorics.. Cambara, whofe Inhabitants are cailic Nediems, is the laft Kingdom towarws :he Sorth, not far from Enerrea: The Inhabitans are for the moft part Ciriftiens, but mix'd with Pazans and Mitiometian. Denter is a Kingdom now famous for the Royal Camp continually pischid there, and has 14 Prefectures belonging to it. Eniarres is inhabited both by Cimiftians and Gentiles, and was fubdued by Metech, Segted, who conversed the Governour to the Chriftian Faith. Geegory aforefaid very much cemmended the Inhabitants for their Probity and Integrity, and laid it was a fertile Soil, and abounded in Cold. Gojam is a Kingdom wondcrful for its fircation, and famous for he Fountains of Nile now difcoverd in it; for the Riser Nile almoft furrounds it in manncr of a Peninfula Sera, or, as the Porrugueze call ir, Xer, is 2 very large and rich Kingdom, formerly much frequented by the tbefine Kings, and then more famous than Ambarre Tcgre or Tigra, is one of the principal Kingdoms, and the firft as you enter inte Ethiopin: the Native Country of the former Kings, who kept their Courts at ixuma, from which City all the Natives were call'd by the Grecims Axumites. The Prefecturers belonging to ir axe \(2-\) all which are inhabired by feveral Nations; but there are not fo many Governours as Prefectures, for fometimestwo or threc of them are under one Governour.
Of the 30 Kingdoms reckoned by Mr. Gregory, the prefont King of the Aicefines enjoys at prefent only nite, which are Ambire, Bajemdra, Cambata, Demote, Dimvea, Eneirea, Gojam, Sumen, and pars of Seroa, with other Kingdoms of lefs note. And of the Provinces be has only Give, Eumfras, Maraga, Tragade, Watar. Welkajit; which Kingdoms and Provinces comprehond the beft part indeed, but not the half of the anciont Abefla, thereft being by the Galans either fubdu'd or ui terly laid watt.
In fó many various Regions, the Conftitution of the oftrentres Air is as various; for in low and open places che hea: of of the soand the. Sun is intoicrable, as in both the Coafts of the R-c'. Tempea Sen, as alfo is che Ines, efpeciaily Suaquena; bur then the than Ai, higher jou alcend the Mourtains'of Eflioppic from the 1 mopeth, Coaits of the R-d-Ser, the more temperate is the \(A\) is; \(c\) e. Nay, in furne Mountainous Countries the coid ismore dicaded than the heat, tho' there is very fridom any Snow there, bu: only a liode fmall Hail; which remper ff the Air makes the Country foheaithy, that fornclive to 2100 Xears of Agc.
However, this variety of Air is the caufe of moft dreadful Thiunder and Kighening, with violent Rains pourd down like Streams, which make the Torrents twell. and the Rivers overfow; which are cocreasid alío by the Earth, which vomits up Water; for there is 2 Fountain in cicry Man's Houle if it ftands low: And their Wincer-weather, which is very unplealant, lafts for three Months.
There are but riaree Seafons of the Ycar, properly fpeaking, among the sierfines: Firf, thic Spring, which begins on the 2 sela of septemiet: Then the Summer, which may be divided inro two parts, the hirft and beit call'd Tradai, which begins the 25 th of December; and the iaftand worft calld strget, which bergins on die asch of fune, and ends upon the facceeding Winter, whicin is the third part of the Ethiopick Xear
But tho' the Winds upon the Mountains do frequendy render the Air healthful and temperàte, jer all are nor equally grateful ; for there is fometimes a Whirlwind, caild Serit, i. c. a Smoak fo furious, that it throws down alibetore ir, as Houles, Éc.
As foon as you have travelld nwo days lourney from the Red-Sea, yon muft climbower the high Mooneains of Tigra; among which, Lamalmonis is the moft lofry, whofe Steps are fo dangerous, and the Path no narrow, that if company meer. Men and Horles giving way, fall headig into 2 botomlefs Abyis. And nor only chis

Region,
?

\section*{Chap. XIX. An Abfriact of the Fitbory of Ethiopia.}

Region, but all the reft except Dombea, are but one concinued Chain of Mouncains. Here are alfo many Rocks of incredible height, to which the \(A / P s\) and \(P y-\) rences are but low Hills; and fo ftecp, that there is no way of getting to the rop without the help of Ladders and Ropes, by whichthey crane up their Cartle and other Necelfaries: And yer fo fpacious at the tor, that they concain Woods, Ficlds, Meadows, Founrains, and even Filh-Ponds, and all other Neceffaries for human life, which Rocks are call d by the Narives, Amlin, &c. Such is that high and feep Reck in Ambara, where the Erbiopick Princes were formerly fhut ip from all things but Air and Earth, in 2 lofty place of Exile. Thefe high Mountains cool the fcorching heat, and are a defence againft their Enemics.
They afford alf
They afford alfo planty of Metals and Mincrals, efpecially Gold, which is found in the Shallows of Rivers in great quantities, abour the bignefs of a Tare, which is carry d down, as is believd, from the Mountains with the Sand, by the force of the Stream. Drmota, and efpecially Ewarrer, enjoys this Advantage, it being the chiefeft tribute they pay; for they are defticute of Silver, tho' they have Lead, which is faid to be the Morher of in. They are ignorante of the ways of fearching the Bowels of the Earth for precious Mctals, and of refining them; but Iron they find in grear plenty on the Sufface of the Earth without digging for it
In a place call'd the Land of Salt, on the Confines of Tigra and Aigora, there ate natural Mountains of Salt, of 2 whitiln Subftance, which being foft, is catily fliter'd off, but in the Air it hardens. From thence it is ferch'd by Merchants, who convcy it away in Caravans calld Cafita and fell it thro' all the NeighbourNations, and with ic,as with ready Coin, they purchafe all Neceflaries; nor Gems or Jewels, which they value not, but fuch things as conduce to their health, and chicfy Black-lead, calld coliol, which they ule to preferve their fighr, and for an Ornament to befmear cheir Eye-brows, when it is mix'd wirh Soor moiftened.
But Gifts of Natu
The Rirts Buc Gifts of Nature more precious than Gold, and dxixili fors, fow from the Mountiosof the Neighbour-Natitowis, it fans, tow from the Mountains of Abefinia, which are its zamith fumous Rivers, efpecially that of Nile; for the Rainas corfe water foaking thro the Pores of the Earth, after it has pafs'd thro' many fecret Conveyances, at laft breaks farth at fome hollow place, or being preffid by its own weight is forcd to teafeend, and feek 2 Paffage at the tops of the Mouncains, which is the Reafon, that in Countries where there is little or no Rain, there are few or no Fountains; bur where there are fer or po Fountains; but where there are frequent Rains, the Rivers are large and Twelling; the Effect demonfrates che Caufc. But Nilus for plenry of Water, fweetnefs, wholfomnels and fertility, excei's all other Rivers in the World. In facred Wrir 'ris call'd Sbicbor, and by the Greaks Niger, becaufe it runs with 2 black and muddy Stream ; by the Natives \(A b a m i\), by the Egpprians their God.
Ths 2 thing to unafual for any other Rivers to overflow in the mont fultry Seafon of the Year, and this Inundation of the Nile, which arifes from the exceffive Rains that fall in Etpiopia, when the Sun returns into the Winter-figns is foprofirable to Egypt, that the Anciens defired nothing more than to know the \(S_{\text {pring- }}\) head of that Rirer; for which end fome Kings have fent great Armies in quef of fatisfaction to their Cu riofty; bur all cheir Endeavours were unfuccefsful, untilitwas difooverd by the Portugucie, who agree with the Ellowiug account of Mr. Gregory' The Spring-head of Nile is in a certain Land calld Sectr, upon the top of Dentla near Coiam. He faid is had five Spring-heads, rectoning in the Heads of ocher Rivers which have no particular Name, and fo are taken for the Nite: But it palfesthro the Lake Tziricium, preferving the coloar of insown Waters, like the Rbofne thro the Lake Lemane. Then winding ro the South, it wathes on the Left-kand the principal Kingdoms of Habefl Inia, and takes along writhit the Rivers of thofe Countrics: and on the Righrhand encompaffing Gcjam, and fwelfd with the Rivers of that Region, it curns again to the Weft, and with a prodigious mals of adventitions Rivers, learing Abefinic, ontbe Righr-hand, it rowls to the North thro' : Ceveral thirfy Nations and Fandy Defarts, to make Egype fertile with irs Inundations; and there makes its way thro fereral Mourths into the Sea. Bar the River Nile does not flow entirely into Egpp, but afterit has pafs'd by Senner in the Country of Dengula, before it arrives in Nubia, it is parted into two Streams; the left and leaft whereot is called the River Niger, which defcends towards the Councry of Elooth, and fo difembogoes is felf into the Weftern Ocean: For befides, that vitus it cell into the
by the Hebrews and Grecks, the River Nizer agrees with it iir the colour and tafte of iss Warer, produces the fame fort of Reed of Paper, and Animals, and encreafes and overfows ar the fame Scafons. Some have thought the Courfe of the River Nile may be diverted another way, but thofe places where 'rwas to be done, are not now fubject to Esliopia, and the King has no I: clination to fuch a Proicct.
The Soil in Abiflinia is fo fertile by reafon of the lone thar rerr Summer, that in the fame place you fanll find Sed- of ca bull rime and Harveft, which in fome places is donble, in orhers threefold. They have not only Whear, Bazict Miller, and the like, which are known to us, but al:i, another fort, which is cail'd Tef, of which they make good Bread. They have no Rye, and value nor make for Barly and Grats is che gencral Food of their Hats; which laft abounds fo much in more temperate places; by reafon of the perpetual hear, and the moifture diftilling from the Moumains, thar they never Mow it, tho' thic Locuits in that Counery occafion frequecnt Famines. amines.
They have Herbs of all forts, and forne of adrimablc an vertuc. The Amadmagda cures broken and disjointed rable and Bones; the Herb Affize is of that rare vertue againft places, the bitring of Afps, that the mott hurrful Serpents rouch with it, lie for dead, and he that eats the Root of it, may walk in the midnt of Adders, and even handle the moft venomous Snakes withour danger. Theit Vine and Grapes are excellent, yer. they never make Wine of them, cither out of ignorance, or becaufe the cxceffive hear fowres the Liquor before the Lee is fetted.

The Indian Fig is very plentiful here, and you finall matis: have 5o Figs hanging on one falk of a delicious odqur F:\%: and tafte. They have alfo Pome-citrons, Apricosks, Peaches, and Pomegranates, which grow to full Per, fection. The Enfete is a Tree, which being half cur down, renews again by means of many moors that fpring from the Trunk, which being flicid and boild allays the thirft, and the Leaves being broisid and boil's with Meal, are inftead of a Hafty-padding. There is another Tree menciond by Godignom, very good again? Worms in the Belly, to which the Abefines are much Bet, by reafon of their feeding upon rav: Flem.
By reafon of the plenty of their Grafs, and the beat of heir Country, their Beafts are of a mach lareer fize big other Conneries, their Bulls are fometimes twice big, and may be calld Bull-Elephants, and their Horns areproportionable, being four Foct broad. Their Horfes are bold and ftrong, bur are never us'd unlefs in Batzel and for Races; for their Mules ferve forburthen, and to travel loing Journeys, being fure-footed in chieir rugged ways. Camels are never us'd but in the plain Countries, where they tread upon the Sand tho' fcalding hot, wichour any harm to their Feet. They have pery large Sheep; whofe Tails weigh ten or twelve, and cometimes above forty Pound, to that the Owners are furce and preferve the Wart behind them, to cafe the Crcaure and preferve che Wool.
As for wild Beafts, Abofinia brecds more and larger offulffur:
 or balk and docility, which herd together in great their civest he gers, fometimes a hundred in a place. They thake Fing. he great Trees rill they break their Trunks, or tear Trees, bur efpecially certain car the Strubs and FruitTrees, but efpecially cerrain Trees like our Cherry-trees, ull of Pich, like Elder, upon fwich they banquer. They come neareft to Human Underftanding, and oblerve the Laws of Hofpitality; for when a Female is permitted to odge in a Corn-field with her Cub, they racither deltroy he Corn themfelves, nor fuffer others to do it. The vory is made, nor of their Tceth, bur their Horns, which grow our of their Head and nor cheir Jaws, apon, the Brows of the Males only. Here is alfo a PantherCamel, as big as an Elephant; bur fo rall, that a Man an reach only to his Knees. He has a long Head and Neck, and is fported all over like a Panther.
Zecors is the moft beauriful thing in the Worls, of the bignefs of a Mule, having Circles abour his Body of racious colours, fome broader, fome narrower ; one of them was fold for 2000 Venetien Pieces, for a Prefert to the Mogul.
The Lion is gemte to a Man, but terrible to all other Crearurs, who cremble to fee him. Tygers and Parthers never fpare Mankind, and by Nighr make grear tavock of Carde. The Hyzena is the moft voracious of all beatts; for by Night and Day they deftroy all the Men and Beafts they meet with, and fometimes dig down Houles and Sables to come at them. Of Apes there are infinice focks, a thomand or more together; who help one another to rurn over the Stones for the Worms that lic under, and lick up all the Errunets they can find; and having fent Spics before to fee if the Conft be clear, they teftroy whole Fields and Gardens. When they cannot cccape wild Bealts by flight, they fill their paws with Duft or Sand, and fling it in the Eycs of their Aftailant, and then to their Heels again
Fig. \(n\) There is another Beaft very harmiefs, call'd Fonkes, in Latin Cersopithecn/us, which is particolourd, and is fo tender, that it cannot be brought into thefe parts, un leis it be wrap'd very warm. Here is allo another Bealt calld dripliart, with one Horn, fierce and ftrong, of which Unicorns feveral have been Seen feeding in the Words.
of amphi- Of amphibious Crearures here is the Hippoporamos, o of antshir the Kiver-Horic, which feems to be the fame Beaf that is def tribd in 706 by the name of Bebemots: There are many of them in the Lake of Tiana, which deltroy the Corn in the Neighbouring Fields, and lometimes orerturn fmall Boats, but are frighted with Fire. The Crocodile his Companion is yer more mifchievous which ieems tn be that which \(7 a b\) cails the Leviathan Water-h:zards are very frequent, efpecially one for calid Angueg, which is hap'd like a Dragon, as big as a Car, bur has a Tail that will cur a Mans Thigh in two. Ber fetring aficic thefe ftrangc Creatures, the Lakes and Rivers abound with Filh, and among the reft is the Torpedo, whi h being touch'd with the Hand, caufes a fcarful orembling, and with it the Abcfines cure Tertian and Qunicen Agiles, by tying the Patient 2 Iable, and applying the Fith to his Joints, which caufes a crue pain over all his Members, after which, the Fit never crurns again; and yet if you touch this Filh with a Spear or Wand, the Sinews of is prefently grow numb, and its Feer, tho otherwife a fwift Runner, hie as if they wers bound.
In this Country are Birds of the largett fize, fuch 2 he Oitrich and Calawaw, which never file, but are ocry wift in running, being able to out-ran a horic. meity againgt the biting of Serpents,' which was found our by obicriug how greedily they devour them withour harm. There is a litte Bird calld Pipi, which leads the Huncers to the places where the wild bealts lie hid, ever caving the Nore of Pipi, till the Hugrers follow and kill thedifoover'd Prey.
The Dragoins here are of the largeft fize, very voracious, but rot venomous; in India they are faid to be fo big as to fwallow whole lofants, Pigs, or Lambs Here are alfo venomous Snakez call'd Hydri, which fend forth fuch a poyfonous breath or fmell, as proves quickly mortal without an Antidore, but is cur'd by drinking Human Excrement in Water, as the Panther is obfervid to do whan he ears poyfund Flefl haid for him by the Hunters. Among oiher Serpents the Natives walk and kill them with a crooked Stick; fonecimes they drive their Cartle into places ftrew'd with Serpents Eggs, to deftroy them with their Hoofs. The Locnfts are more pirnicious than thefe, who frequent the beft manurd Places and Orchards in fuch vaft numbers, that manur d places and orchards incure the Sun: They fpare neither Plants, Shrubs, nor Trecs, whole Barks they fometimes eat, fo that the Spring cannor repair the Damave ; and then 2 general Mortality enfues, and Regions are laid wafte, becaufe the Natives never keep any flores-of Provifion; yet for fome cime they fapport themfelves uith cating the Locutts, which are a wholfome Diet, on which Fobn Bretijlt fed. The Beesfwarm here, and make great quantities of Honey, which they Secure rinjer ground, wanting Stings, and fuch was the Food of Zolm Baptiff. They have Ants of feveral forts whercof one is calld Gunden, which always march in Milicary A'rray, and bavc others char aresheir Slaves, and rome with \(W\) ings.
The Abclines are witay and good-natur'd, not given to quarrels; but if any do arifc, having coffd a while, they refer the Difference ro Arbirators, to whole Sentence they fubmir, being naturally Lovers of Juftice and -Equity, and very defirous of Learning, for which chey admire forcign Chrittians; bur their Civil Broils and Wars with the Gallatis will not ailow the Nobility leafure to mind thefe Studics. . As the Natives of Enarrea are minear for Courage and Fidelity, 保 thofe of Tigra are faithiefs and inconttant, bloody and vinditive above any ocher Nation. 1 hey are generally black, of wellthapd Boties, wirhout blubber Lip and lat Nofe, like the reft of che ficicrns, yer fome of them are white, whoie breath is counted. Infecticus, and therefore they are avoided by the other Ethiopians. Their Bodies are sef ftrong, and they live to a great Age, unlefs they fall by the Sword or wild Bealts. Their Women are ftrong and lufty, and commonly bring forth withour a Midivifc. Mendea the Portugal Parriarch found in one Province 40000, and in orhers 100000.

Befides the Natives, here are \(\mathcal{F e w s}\), Melometans, and Pagans mix'd among them. The Jews formerly had all Denben, and feveral other Provinces, till they were driven thence by Sufnens, but now they are difpers'd, and get their liviug by Weaving and working as Carpen get their liviug by W caving, and working as Carpenfirins, and drive the greateft trade with the Turks and Arabians, and in all Parts of the Red-Sea, exchanging Ibefining Gold for Indian Wares. There are many other barbarous Nations, that wander about in the Sandy Defers, having no knowledge of God, and living withour Government, or any certain Habitacion, who devour Dragons, Elephams, and whatever they mect in their way. There are allo other Pagans, as the Igami and Gailens in Grjam.
The War of the Adelans againft the Abeffimes, undes Grainus in the laft Century, to ruin'd cheir Affairs, that they could never ricover their Loffes, and gave grear advantage to the Tulks and Gallans againft them; for the Turks having conquer'd Egyps, that they might fort up all the Ports of the Red-Sea, made themfelves Mafter of the liles of Suaquene, and Mariznc, which formerly belong to the Abeffines; fo that now neither Men nor Merchandize can be admitted into the Gulf, unlefs they beg it of the Balha with rich Prefencs.
Bur the Gallans are more terrible Enemies, who have fubdu'd many Kingdoms and Frovinces, and thirft after all the reft. They firft broke out in the Kingdom of Bali, while the King, firmamed David, was engagid in War with the Adelans; and having fubdu'd Bali, ther over-ran the Neighbouring Kingdoms. They ase 2 fierce and warlike People, ambirious of the Honour thar is got by laying their Enemies, and bringing in their Heads, and divide the plander equally among them all They fight with a Refolurion either to over-come or die; and have for their Weapons at 2 diftance, Lances and Darts, and Hand so Hand, Clubs and Scakes, and for their Shield the Skins of Oren. They Eormerly, fought a-foor, but now more frequently on Horfe-back; and are commonly too hard for the Abefores, tho they are more numerous and better armod. They never mind Agriculture, but only grazing of Catrle, which thes drive before them as well in War as Peace, thro de moft fertile Paftures, whofe Milk they drinic in Wooden Difhes, which is all the Baggage they" carry wish chem", and raw Fleh shey ear without Bread. Every cight Years they choofe a Leader, call'd Luror, whom they obey in time of War; and his fint Encerprize is to invade Abefinia for Honour and Booty.

They fay that Heaven is the God that governs the Earch, and yet they give it no fulemn, Worfhip, beither have they any Ido!s, and but very limie Divine Worlhip They are a tharp-witted People, and Ceveral thoufands of them were converted and bapuisid under Bafilides. This is that formidatle Nation which hach ruind the Dominion of the Abeffres, having torn from their King above half thefe Territories which his Anceftors enjog', and were diverted from making further-Conquefts by Divifions among themfelves. They are now divided into two Nations, whereof that which lies Eafterly en: circies Abaffa, and harafs it with frequear Incurfions: They hare allo partedicambata and Enerrea from the reft of the Body, having fubdued the Kingdoms between them, which makes it very difficult for the King to bring hame his Tribute from thefe Kingdoms: Thus the Abefines are always in was with there Pcople.
Another Neighbour Kingdom is Zandero, which was but lately dircovered, whole Natives are bur a firtle more civil than the Gallans. Their King being dead, the next a-kin retires into 2 Wood , and being tollowd by che Nobiliry, who are guided by a Bird of the Eage kind to the place where he is, they find him farrounded with a Guard of Lions, Dragons, and Panchers (affembled there by fome Incanration) who at Girfe refifts the Electors; and wounds thofe be can, that he may feem to be forc'd to take the Government upon him. .They fight one with anorher, who fhall fare the Elonourn of feting the Crown on the King's \({ }^{\text {Head, }}\), and fometimes kill one another, thinking to atonst the Devil with Human Blood. Fernandez having view'd this Lybian Sovernign, compares him for Colour and Gefture to a Rampans Monkey, and if their King be wounded, 'ris their Cuflom to kill him after the manner of Monkeys, who cear 2 wound till they dia

Abeffrin to the Eaft is hounded by the Kingdoth of becanfe Spices, Gems, and Gold, which were the Pre-

Alsba, and to the South by the Kingdom of Serner or Fand.
Gamex brought to the Succot of the Aboffines in the Adelan War, about 170 Portugueff, who in orie Age were able to mutter 1400 fighting Men. Afrer the Adelan War they had certain Lands gramed them by Claudith, which were taken way by Menas his Succellor: And in this laft Cencury they flourin'd for fomecime in pletry, but the Fathers loofing theit Credit, they were again reduc'd to extream Milety.

\section*{Of their Political Gooernment.}

citrons
The King of the Abefines has been commonly known to the Europeans by the name of Preslyrer Folm, which fint given him by the Partuzueze upon the following sinco, Occafion. Peter a Portugal Prince retuming home from ins Venice, brought him a Treatife of the Paulus Venetus of the Affairs of India, wherein many grear things were fiid of Prestuver Fobn, which was one grear Morive to the Porrugal Kings, to profecute the Defign of the Indian Navigation. In purfuance of this Defign, 7 ofm die fecond fent two Portugueze, ikilful in the Arabic-Tongue' to try what they could do, and gave rhem aftric charge to find out Prestyter-Fohn, that wealchy Chriftian Prince, as he was repured to be, eitheir in Afia or In dia: Ar length; one of them calld Peter, after a long and vain féarch, heard of a moft potent Chriftian King of the Abefines, whom he believ'd to be the Prefter-Fobn fo much lought after, and thercupon gave Inteligence of it to his own King, who quickly fpread the News wer all Earope, where it was cafily belicv'd, That the King of Eefriopin was the famous Preffer-7obn.
This was che Orignal of that vulgar Error, which has fogenerally prevaild; but the Truth of the matter is; There was long ago. a Chriftian Prince in the utmoft parts of Africa, who was calld by the Neighbouring Perfians forhis eminent Sanctivy, Prefter-Chan, or Prince of the Adorits, i. e. Cbriftians; who was driven out of his Kirgdom fome Ages ago by Cenclu King of the Tartars: But the ignorant Vulgar having learned the Name from the Lealians, who were then grear Traders into the Eaft, chang id in into the Lealian Name Pretegianni, which corrupt Name hath fince prevaird with all the People of E:rrop:- Mof certain is is, that the all the People of Eeror:- Mof certain it is, that the Name of the King of the Abeflines is no more in the Eshiopic Language than Nergus King; Bur his common Title is Negnia Neguff - nityopia, King of the Kings of E:thiopia, to diftinguish him from the Rulers of fome Provinces, who are honourd with the Title of Negur,upon which account he is calld by the Porturuse Emperour of the Abefones. Among the ancient Arabiams the Kings were always called Nagifhi, as the Kings of Elppe were call'd Pharo's, and the Rmmen Emperours Cajars. .Bur there is 2 new name commonly given to the Kings of Ettriopia at their coming to the Crown, which generally Egnifies Reverence, as Meiech Sathead, a Venerable Ruler, and fometimes a Gcm , as uranleg \(^{\prime}\) Sadbed, a preciousGem: which was the name of King Droid, whence his Embaffador being fent into Porrugatl, calld him Pre cious Jobs, inftead of Preter Giammi. Befides thefe, he had many orher Tirles, as the Pillar of Fait's, the Virgins Incence, &cc. which variety caus'd great confufion in their Hiftory, and therefore they are now quite difus'd for the King writing to the Pope, ofes pone of thefe lof ty. Titles, bur fays onily, Ler tbe little Book of the Letser of Malec Saghed, King of tbe Kings of Eithopia, come so the Hands of she Holy Roman Patriarch.
The King's Seal is a Lion holding a Crofs, with this Moto, The Lion of the Tribe of Juda hom mon; and the have 2 Tradition, that their Kings are defcended from Solomon, which feems ro be uncertain, but they may de rive unquettionably cheir Succeffion from Aszbehe and Abreha, two Brochers, under whom the ixxumites firt receiv d the Chrifian Religion, which equals them with the moft ancient Royal Families in Eurape for An iquity.
Yessah We find in Sacred Wric, That the Queen of Sbeba, an mide or, as our Siviour rells us, 2 Queen of the South came , wid from the ends of the Earth to hear the Wifdom of Solo min \(0_{i n}\) man. The Echuicpinns affert her to be their Queen sifre calld Mayueba, who went with 2 grear Train of No staof bility and Royal Prefents to his Court .ar Ferufalem fsath, where fhe learnt from bim the true worlhip of God Sinns That aftecther return, the brought forth her Son call' Meriteber, begor by Solomor, and named by him David Some of che Fathers, as Origen, Auftin, &ec. are of opinion, that the came our of Etbiopia; but orhers, as fufin, Cyprian, &cc. think that the cane out of Arabia, fenes of the Queen of Shrba, are the common Prodnc s of Arabia; which rwo Opinions are cafly reconcilld; if with the ancient Wricers we extend the ancione Ethiopin imo Arabin: For they affirm the Saberns and Homerites to have been Nations of Ethiopia, which withour queftion were formerly feated in Arabia the Hrppp: And ris certain, that Region which the Hebrexs. call \(C u / B\), is by the 70 Interpreters rendred Erfiopin, and yet.thar Coun try is 2 part of Arabin, whence the Aralians are calld \(C_{\text {ufbices': For the Eelsiopin of the Aucients was di:ided }}\) into Afiatic and African; fo that the Queen of Sbebe may be faid to come out of Et/ripia, tho the Salc.nns were 2 Reople of the South Arabia.
Several things are alledg'd to confirm this Tradition of the Abefines, that their Kings are defiended from Solommn, as the Confent of the Nation, the common TiMe of their Kings, who are call'd Ifraclitif Kings, the Mocto in cheir Coat of Arms, Tive Lion of the Trites of Judah barb avercom:, bur chiefly the continuation of cheir Officers both in Civil and Military in the fame \(\mathrm{F}_{2}-\) mily, and the obfervation of other Cuftoms and Cercmonies usd in the Hebret Common-walth: Yer Lendol fors doubts of the Truth of this Tradition, becaufe the Ifraclitifs Rites mighr be introduc'd afrer Solomon's time upon anotheraccocnt; and the Title of Ifracitiol) Kings Toes no more prove cheir defcent from them, than the Title of King of the Romens proves his defornt from the ancient Romans: And no account can be given how the true Workhip of God could be preferv'd from Solsmon's cime among them without the Sacred Volumes, which they have not either in the Helrew Language of heir own: why they were not more earnett to vifit the Temple of ferufalem, and to give affiltance to their Brethren, efpecially when Reboloofm the Brather of Meneteboc, fufferd that great lofs of the revole of the ten Trikes, and when he was invaded by Sifak King of \(E\) Jpt, whom the Kings of Ethiopia could eafily have direrted; when the jows were rein'd by the King of Affria, and carried away caprive inro Bathion: when hey were fubdu'd by the Remens, for then the Paffages wcre frec chrough Arabic, or Egrf?, and the Red S:a was open: And laftly, no account can be given why they bould not receive from Solomon together with their \(R e\) ligion, his Human Learning, fince Leaming and Reli gion generally yo together ; burcheir manner of Wrixing nd Reading differs very much from that of the Hebreas no fome Letters feem to be borrowed from the \(S\) tho
 leveral Kings, of whom we know nothing certain; and hisfontebut 'tis very probable, that in the 18 ch Year of Brfen's rity sill chectron Reign our Bleffed Saviour was born: And fince it was was intion forbidden by the Laws of Et/riopia, that a Woman ruptol. hould Reign after Menibclec, "is moft probable thas Candace, Queen of Esbiopia, whole Eunuch is mention Aat 8. 27. was Queen of that part of Esthopia which borders upon Egypf, and is calld the Ine of Meroc, be caufe plimy reftifies in that lland reigned one Candare and ther fucceeding Quecns affum'd that name for many Ycars. After Befen, furthe pace of 327 Years, there is no certainty until the cimes of Abrehia and At-beline, two Brochers who rcign'd; of whom there is mention made in the Efbiopic Liturgy; in their Commemoration for the dead, and in the Erbicpic Poet, who fays they raught the Gofpel of Chrift, and built him Temples. Their next famous King was Caleb, who rereng'd the Blood of the Chriftians ihed by Dunewos, as all Hiftorians agree This Dubutwes was the laft King of the Scbeans, who were afterwards call'd Hamerites, who bcing a Fex, perfocured the Chriftians moft crueliy; for he caus'd large Pits to be diged, and then commanded the Chriftians to be burnt dhercin in heaps: And thus 340 perifli'd together with St. Arets, being all entom in fire. Caleb being advercis'd of this barbarous Cruelty by the Parriarch, went with an Army of 120000 Men, and a Navy of 423 Veffels and crofs'd over into Arabia; and having ranquith'd Dunatras, he ntterly deftroy'd the Kingdom of the Hanrites, reftord Niagre to the Chriftians, and made St. Acera's. Son Governour of the place. This Victory of Crleb and che Martyis of Nagre, are celebrazed by the Erbiopic Poet, who alfo mentions his Siceffor Getra-Mesthel, or the Servant of the Ciofs, to whom fucceeded Conftansine Frefennr, and Deino.nd, who reign'd about the Year of Ciriff 960 : After whofe dearh the Scepter was ufurpd by another race, which of tie \(z_{-5}\) : wasthe Zagemn Family, who enjoydic 540 Years. Of an Line, an, this Race was Newaja Cbriftes, or the Wealth of Chrift, tefce nicki who is prais'd by the Poet for building the Houfe of God, fromes is and empoveribing binfelf so adom it. But the moft Racr.
famous
famous was latibris, whofe funure greaunels was portended by a fwarm of Bees, which lighted on this render Body while an Infant; withone doing him any hurt : and afrer he came to role, having fent for ArtiAs our of Eg ppt, he built ftately Structures after-a wonderfol manner: for he did: not cement Stones or,Bricks together with Lime or lome, nor join the Roof together with Ritficrs, but hollowed whole folid Rocks, leaving +Pitlars where they were requifite for Ornament, the Afches and Wallsbeing all of the fame Stone. Abserezatcits upon Oach, that he faw ten Temples tramdexter his wortertul manner by this magniticent King who rigni? to Years. The laft of this Race was insacesero f th', in whom the Zascan-Family was extinet abour the Yais: 3 uce Afrer his death, die Nobility of Sierers refor'd FomLithe, a Prince of the Snommean Race, to the Scepter of his Ancoltors, whofe Pofteticy bave contigured in He of lelinin to our ume. Telle fies reckons up 16 Kings to Ambatia:'ors to the Council of Forence. Baedn Mimm atm enine to the Crownalrour 1465, and died ten Years alter. !cariug his Widow Hekwr helind him, who had the chat management of Afrairs suring the minoticy of EAami 0 :ig: colld aftervards ly his Inquguration name Deoid, he loing tut eleven Years of age when be was made Kins. She was a Woman of great Prudence and Courape, and famous among uhe Europerivs for ho Lerters to immmeta t the fort, King of Portugal. Deoid was icry frofferous in the beginming of his Reign, bat aficrwardsgiving himielf up to Luxury, he was forced to thy to the Kock D.um, where he died in the 4th year of his age.

His Son C!audius came to the Kingdom when it was micra'dy flaricr'd by the Gailens; bax by the affittance of 3 oin the fecond, King of Porrugat, who fent the valhiak (lyifopher Gamen, wroh a fmall vand of 400 Foor, the overthew walt Armics of the Babariens, and haid the Foundation of regaining the Abefinian Empire He ras sory liarnd and ftour, and gain'd great Adrautages apaintt the Adeims in his Wars; but at haft in isif, fighring againft chem, be was killd. To him! inciceded iienes his Brother, who was of a cruel difpoition, \(\mathrm{an}^{2}\) deny'd the Porrugucfe that liberty of Relizion which Cirk!',"s had granced, whereupon his Subiects reooltrif from him, and one Baliuggaftus 2 grear Captain, caling: in the Tarks to his affiftance, overcome him añal lew h:m in Battle; tixce which time the Tarks bave Even Maters of the Coaft of the Red-Ser. Sarra DengEi, Sm fuaceeded, who was fout of Hand and wife an Conniel: And firft he drove the Tarks out of Tigra, and would have driven them alfo from Arbike and Matrue, lut that he was recalld to defend his Dominions from the Ciellens, who by the Rapines of 25 Years, were now sncriasid from feattering Troops to corlpleat Armics. He was profpercus in his Wars, and 2 Kdu'd Exarrea, and cais'd the Prince of it to rum Chritian. He was fifm to the fiexentrinn Religion, and granted Liberty co the Jcfuits, whofe maneress be approvid, and not rheir Doutrine. He left no Iffue Male behind him, but two narual Sons, whercof \(74 c o b\) the youngeff and moif, beloved was but feven Yeais of age, which occafion'd a buoody Civil War abour the Succelion, tho the King do prevent ir declard in the prefence. of this Nobility, that he recommended Zordengel his Brother's Son to be his Succeflor: Bur the Nobilicy being ambitious of having the Ruic in their own Hands during the Misporisy of 7 frob, confpired againft zadedigel, and remov'd him from Rock to Rock, left any of his Subjects thoadd jinin to afilt bim, and fex the Crown on frabe's Head. But after he came to be 15 Yearsold, growing imparicne of any curb from his. Tmors, he affom'd the Rains of Government into his own Hand, and, which his, Guardians took to ill, that they chofe rather to obey their lauful King, than fabimit to an illegitirate lntant, cons tary to their Conftitution: And therefore ther recalid ar-l.ngel, then lurking in the remotef Moamtains of the Empirc, and falnted him Kires by the Name of AfonffSiniod Womblerfal was his Ciemency at his firf Acceition to ris Thame; for ncither did he cut of the Nofe and Eyes of 3 and, as is ufoally done wo Rirals in the Empire; neither did he punith any of his. Enemies asby Jaw he might have done; brat as he was mild and gente to 2 fault, in he behav'd himfelf wich undaumed. Couragein ail ferssof danger; which he lbewid in his irit War with the Galinus, who underfanding the Dirifions ar Coisr, broke into abefinia with three Armies, and fo orernowerd the King's Forces, that he was ad--isd to an car', flight: But he difdzining the motion, riry'd our, Hexe will I dic, you mag. fly af, you pienfs, andid scape sbe furn of the Gallans, but never the infamp of leferting your. King; which words to animated the Souldiers, that they broke in among the fiellans like defperate Men, and gain'd fuch aglorious Victory with fuch 2 Claughere of the' Enemy, as was never known before And prefenid ywith a fwiff March, be led his Army ove Mountains and Kocks, 2gainft-another Body of the Ene my, which with the fante Succefs he put to flight. The chird Army not daring to fland againtt the Force of the Aleffines, fled into their Faftnctles, of whom the Abef fines drove 400 from their Holds, and ficw them every Mother's Son. But at laft by the Petiviation of l'etr Payr, he embrac'd che Larin Religion, which he rettified in his Lerters to the Pope and King of Spain, Pisip the chird, and pretercing the Porrygrofe beforc hrsownSubjects, he fo entiam'd sthe hatrell of his own People, that hischief Minitters, and the Nobility of his Kurgucn confpised againft him : For the Retels .pretended, that the Por suguefo would eftablith their Relipion by furce of Arms, and ochers take polfetion of their Kingdum: and the Patriarch on cncourage them, by an unheard-of-PruGident, thfolved tioe Rebels from rheir Oaths, to ther Lawful Prince. The King was advis'd by Peter Pryst promact the War, till the heat of the Rebck fury wer coold: Eor ( fayshe) Scdision ¥ like a Torrent nivici:
 heatof his Youth being impatiene cf delay, join'd Barde wich shem, in which, though be foughe bravely for a ong tirne, jerar laft being forlaken by his own Soultien he was Dain with feveral Darts thrown at a diftance, which was:a fed Aiemento to all Kings, how they change; their Retigion, and thruft themfelves ramly into 2 Batthe, efpecially when there is no cerrain. Succeflor.

After his Deach shere was a Conteit between Sunnewotirio the Grand-chith of David, and Facob aforementioned fratce about the Right of Succeition, which was decided byinion he Sword; and Sufneus obtain'd the Victory wieb the Raughter of many of his Enemics, and particilarly of Facob, and Peter the Patriarch, who had chnodred our as Anarberne againf Sufneus. The Enerry fled with fo grear precipitation, tho' sufnezus did nor purfue ticm, yet many of them igporant of the Country, threw thenrelves head-long from 2 tteep Rock in the Night-ime Among the rett, 2 certain Parengucfe perceiving his Horfe as it were flying in the Air, quirting his Srirtope lefr him, and by chance took hold of the Eranch of a Tree, where be lare all Night upon a Bough, and when day appear'd, he difcorer'd ar a prodipious diftance un derneart, a vaft beap of Men and Horles, with theif Limals and Members broken all to Flitrets.
Euc. Sufnews to eftablifh himfelf in bis Dominions, courted the Friendalap of the Perrogurfe, that he mighe learn of chem the Art of Gunnery and Fire-Arms; and to this end he did nor only kindly receive the Jefums bet fet up the Latin Religion, and fwore obedience to the Pope, which was the occation of many bloody Wars bercafies deforbid. A Counterfeit 9 frcob Garted up the next Year after he was made King; who was by the belp of two Nablemen, who pretended so be his Friends, afprehended and puc to death. A litule afrer this, another Counrefeit came inno France, in 1635, pretending ro be felf Ton of Facob, 2nd Heir to Entiopia, who calld histfelf Tragax; and having Certificaten from the Monks of Paleftive, he was there entercain'd as a'great Prince, with 2 large Penfion from che King, and having a graceful Prefence and, magifick afpect, he gaind grear Credit to his Pretenfions, and was never desected till be killd himfelf with debanchery.
Sufncus was a courtcous and warlike Prince, bat very anhappy by his continual Wars, and the frequent Rcbellions of his Subjedts, upon the account of his chante of Religion. He died in 1632, leaving feveral Sors and Daughtere behiod him.
Bofflides fucceeded his Father, who banilh'd the Jerits and their Patriarch, and would not allow the Yoraguefe a Prieft wo fay Mass: And we know nothing mose of certainty abour tim; for he refus'd any further Commerce with the Europeans, for fear of the Forces he heart were coming from Rem? and Porezati, to revenge be Affromss put upopghem: Neither do they knowany hing of all the Race of Kings chat fucceeded him down o. this time, froce all. Cormarce berween Eiro, and Erbiopia was broken off.
The uncertaisy to the Ruie of Socceffion to the ofthing Kinguow, is one greac-caule of the many Rebellions inimition Etbiopin; for the they pretend that rheir Monarchy ispaisr: cereditast, in which no Woman or Baftard, but ondy ciminity the nert 2-kirrtawtal Male-lifine 15 to feccerd, yet by ezin the Cabals and Inxereft of the Nobilicy, and chief Offrix \({ }^{\text {pa }}\) ders of che Army; fomerimes the younger Brother is sifn preferid before the Elder, and fornetimes an illegitimate Son before a legitimate Kinfman. And becaule in this uncertainty the Polfeflor of the Throne is commonly jealous of his Rival, therefore to fecure himielf from any Artempts, the Rocks of Gefhem and Aminftel were lee apart for a late, Cuftody to his Brorhers, till their turn frould come to aicend the Throne. And this Cuftom continu'd as a Fundmental Law in Etthinpin, Cuttom continud as a Fundamental Law in Ethinpin, for the frace of 230 Xears, until 1590 , when King , Nood was fent for from the Kock to fucceed, who was fo tenderiy affected towands his Son, that he prevail'd with the Nobility to abolifh this Cuftom, not confideting shat private Affection is to pive place to the lafery of the Publick: For tis cercan that thofe exild Primes were keptaclofe Prifeners in thefe Rocks, and whofocrer atrempecd to ger away at was affiting to their Efcape, was fevercly punifh'd; by which means the Reignung Prince was fecured from Civil Wars
The Power of the Abeflimina Kipus is abiolute as wedi
ix in keccliaftical as Civil Aftairs; whieh Power they ex-Ragmes. ercisid, when thef pur forth Edicts for recciving the \(R_{c-}\) ecisi, when they put forth Edicts for recciving the Re-men Religion, and abrogating the Alexandrion Ceremonics, and which sthey alferted againtt the Romen Parriarch Alphon/w, when they difpens'd with certain indifferent Cercmonics, and enjoyind him to kecp to the Rules of the Netrupoliters. of ancieut fithiopia. The fame Prerogative in Ecolefiaftical/matters, was exercis'd by making a Decree for abrogating the Latin Worlhip, and reltoring that of Alexandrif. The King alfo Gummons Sypods of rbe Clergy, when he chinks neceffary, fends for the Mertopolitan out of Eeppt, exercifes full Juridiction over him, and all the reft of the Clergy, and pouidhes them according to the mature of their Offenses But in this he diffcrs from our European Kings, that he percr nominares to Ecclefiaftical Bencfices; bur he admitred the Merropolitan fent from the Patriarch of Alexcudrif, and the Patriarch fent frown the Pope, tho he namd neither: And indecd in Ethoopia where thcre are no other Ecclefiaftical Dignitics, the Prerogarive of nominating Arch-bilhops and Bilhops is of litule worth.
His Power in fecular Affairs is bounded by no po fitire Laws, but fometimes he difpenfes wish rhofe that fitive Laws, but fometimes he difpenfes wirb thofe that ate counted the Fundamerral Laws of the Kingdom: He has the fole difpofal of War and Peace, and all she Precogatives thas 2 King can claim, tho the makes not ufe of many of them, bcing ignorans of them, as of that in reference to Merals, the coining of Moncy, and the like. One thing is ro be admir'd, which is rarecven among the Turks, thax no privare Perfon, whether Peafant or Lond, except fome few, can call any thing his own; bur all the Lands and Farms of the Councryare hedd by the Subjects ar the King's pleafure, and no man rikes it amifs that his Lands are raken from him and given to another, tho' he potiefs them but a thore cime. This Cuftom makes them rery fubmiffive to their Kings, lor chey lerve him in Peace and War, and bring hirn Precents according to their Ability, in hopes of obraining new Farms, or for fear of looking thore they hare: Yet there are fome ancicnt illuftrious Families, who enjos not only Lands but Prefoctures, by righi of Inherivance, 25 in Tigra and Demjen, over whom the King claims no ather Authoriry, but to confer the publick Employmente yearly upon orhers, foris they be of the fame Family, ojippur The. Power of the Esliopicin Kings, being fo abfolure, zithrow and vartly great, was formerly teribie to the Neighribethe bour Nations, as afpears by their Expedirions inno Arabia; but after the Saracens grew Aronger, they relinquiß'di Axume, and turn'd their Arms against the Upland Parts of Africa, which they fubda'd: And in athis Greanefs chey concinued till they were tore in pieces by heir Wars with the Adelaws and Gallans: However thici Power is fill fo grear, that they might nor only con quer thefe Berbarians, but recover dheir lof Dominions if they would make ufe of the Ares and Arms of the Earopecoxs, and encoumate them by building Towas, and peopling them with Trades-men If the King would give to his People and Souldiess fope Inhericance in the Lands-chat are won from the Encmy, and leatic out of then Dukedoms and Earluoms upon his Nability. And to this end he lhould beaflitted by the Eurapean Princes, not only out of Ctarizy, but to leffen the Power of the Turk, by wrefting the Dominion of the Red Ser gut of bis Hands, and fpoiling the Commerce of Efyrt, which in the end will be very mifchien ous ro. chem. Tis a sreat Defect in the Erbiopians, that they permit the Twils to be Matters of the Ports and Mandsjur the Red-Sea, whereby it is left to their pleafure whatPentons and Commodities thallpals in and out, becaure they do not underfand that no Nation can betruly grear, without fome Sea-Toynos.

As for the Revenues of the King, they are not paid in ready Moncy, bur in the narural Produets of their Country ; for fome Provimes afford Gold, which they find in the Sand of Rivers, or at the Roots of Trees, or lying upon the Earth; others have Hories, Catile, Shicep, Corn and Ox-hides, and fome few where the Wicavers live, fend the King' 'Garments. Enarren pays isoo Ounces of Gold: Cojim pays every year 1100 Onnces, and Come Gartents to the value of 3000 fir man Déllars: rogether with 200 Futtion Tapeltrics: Out of Tigra the King reccives \(25^{2000}\) Pataches: out of Dember 5000 and fo proportionably out of the other Kingdoms. The Tolls are gencrally gramed to the Nobility for their fubiftance, except thote of the high Mountain I.cimaimma; ver which all the Merchandize mult pals from the Red. sea into Habeffimia, whith the King referves to himfelf. His Table is ferved alfo with Provifions from his own Lands and Farms, befides thar Dember, Cicirem, and Bagendra find him Corn and Flefh. But his chicf Triute is from the Graziers, who pay him every 1orh Ox or Cow every three Xears, i. as 2 3oth part every Xicar. Every Clrijfian, Weaver pays him yearly, a Fultion Garment, and cvery Mehownctan 2 Patach, which amovints to sono Imperials 2 Year. The Prices of all things there are very low; for a huge \(\mathrm{O}_{\mathrm{x}}\) may le boughe for balf a Dollar: The Soldicts lise upon Flem and Fim, without any Btead; and Servanes Wages are paid in neceffary Commodities, and not in Moncy.
The Royal City of Axuma was of old adorn'd with of the :uy, many boautifut Screctures, a fair Palace, and 2 ftately \(i\) is of Cathedral, but now there remain only furh Ruins as the theverreftify it was once a great City. It lics in 14 and \(!\) ration ut North Lar. and is diftant from the Red-Sca 45 Porturaitherr K ng Norch Lat. and is diftant from the Red-Sea. 45 Poetronai Leagues. Here the ancient Kings of Erlinpi: were won' to be crown'd, at which time the Armv being drawn up the Foot march firt, and then the Horfe, and after thein the Courticrs in rich Habits, and laft of all the Emperour, who alights off his Horfe near the Church of 1.cuman, and going forward on the Ground fprcad with tich Carpers, tic is Hopp \({ }^{\circ}\) d by a filken Cordt bell crof the Street by fome Virgins, who alk him thrice who he is he replies, \(I\) am the King of Sion, and then drawing rorth his Cymitar, curs the Cord ; whercupon the Vir gins cry out, of a certainey thon ars otir A ing of Sion: And prefently the Guns are fired, the Air is filld with loud Acclamatious, the noife of Drums, Flutes, and Trumpets: Which done the Metropolitan with all the Ecclefiaftical Orders, finging Hymns, conduat the King to the firt Porch of the Church, and there fer the Crown on his Head, which is nothing but a Hat twice doubled, with an Azure-colourd Silken broad Brim. crimd with Gold and Silver Plates, in the likenefs of Lillics, with a row of falfe Srones glittering between ctery Plare.
Befides \(A x u m\), , there are no Cities in \(A b r / j\) inia, and bur few Towns. In tigra there is Dobaria, the Scat of he Vice-roys; and in Dember, Gubay, the Reffidence of the Queen, and a few more nor worth the mencioning for the Aloffines choofe rather to live like Villagers, in places that are fertile and villd, and pitch their Tents up and down the Country, where they rake what they ftand in need of, withour confideration of the damage or re ard to the future. They hare neither Cattles no Forts, and the Mountains of Ambare are their only Cit tadels, where the King's Children were formerly kepix They neither mavigare their own Rivers, nor do they know whar belongs to Catriage or Stores, living without any care of to-morrow.
After the Kings of Abeffnia left Axumn, they liv"d inothy Teors, will Peter Pors, builtrthe King a Pallace after the Caurt, is? Europern mannex, in a pleafant place calld Gorvorf, be- Tints mid ing almoft furrounded with the Trianic Lake, where the Cours King was ro take up hisWinter-guaiters; theNiarives were amazd to fec one Srory above another. whith they calld Houfe uponHoure Tbe King dines alone, and after hefifes, the Nobility that are invired take their places, and eat of his Leavings, which is look'd upon as a great Honour; yetthe Jefuits were admitred ro dine ar anothict Table in the fame Room, with Surneus. Inttead of Ta-be-Cloths or Napkins, they ufe thin Wafers made of Whear, or Rice-Pafte, which ferres them for Bread. They have no Tranchers Knives, Forks, or Spoons. wo Salt-celler, Pepper, or Sugar-hox, and fo in time of War they are easd of fo many Kirctin-Utenfils as twe carry along with us. Their Mcar; which is Flem, and Broth of feveral furs boild, is fervid up by Womet in road Earchen Platiers, cover'd wilh Straw nearly woen and paizted. As foon as the Dithes are fet on the Table, the thangings are let down, left any one -fhould fee the King eaping por both he and the Nobilicy are fed by Children, who take the Meat and fur it into their Mourhs; and if the Gobbets be too big, they thruft thern in, and if any Crumbs fall by, they put them again into their Chops, after they are foakd in the Broth: Bue this is common to the Lord and Pcafant, that they never drink till they have done cating. Before and after Meals they commonly repeas the Pfalter, the only frook shey have for daily Praycr: And the whole is reid over at great Fcafts, in a very fhore time, be ing diftributed among a great many feveral Readers.

Ecéz
fed
At the Audience of Embaffadors, they formerly us'd a great niazy tedious Cercmonics, which now being humbled ty many Lolfes, they are laid afide: for now an Embalfador is quickly admitted to fee and falute the King, it he bring Prefenss along with him, without which, he may not appear before the Eaftem or African Kims.
The chicf Minifters of Statc, who manage all Affairs, were formorly two, calld Bairudt: ; but the re abufing their Power, another was appuinced, calld kir, i. c. a Head, whe at firft was delignid only for the Command of the Army. but in a little time was athanced to the manage nent of all Affizis: Such a one was Pas itinanafue, whoderesid zadengiol and füch. Next to hiun there are two Comptrollers, whereof the ufpermoft is over all Viec-roys and Govermouss; the other is oves the Howhold Servants. Next to him are the Viceroys, Camp-maters, and Senators, who are call'd the leffer Indges, and have an equal Jurifdiction as so all Crimes. The Captain of the King's Guard is calld the Guardian of Fire, the King being to them like Fire, from whom they receive heat and warmeth; but they may chance to burn their Fingers.
Ofthenemin The firt Camp-matter goes before to take up a conthere is fore of Wood and Grafs; and having fet up a P. Ic with the Rojal Bamer at the the, the King's Provifion is pichid in the madule of the Camp, with 2 large fpace of Ground about in, for receiving the Horfes of the Nobility, and thofe thar bring Provilions. Next to timn the Grandees, and the reft the Courtiers pirch thicir: Teiss; ard afere them the common Souldiers, every, one in their Orice, and at their due diftance. When the: Crycr froclaims the jay of Removal, every one knows how to pank up his Baggage, and in what order to mar. 1 , and wiere to pitch his Tent again. Thefe Cars:-is sake up a grear deal of room, becaule they containh..inonly rhe Souldiers but their Wives and Chil: dren, wiofe bufinefs is to bake their Bread, and make their Hydromel. The Camp-mifters carry a great fway in materrs of greareft moment, and generally are the frift Springs of Faction and Sedition.
ofthe mili. There is no making War in Erhiopif in the Winter, try Afiai:s by reaion of the grear Falls of Rain, and Inundatiors of the -1. of Rivers: But the Abefines aré a warlke Pcople, ride boftres. a fiorfe well, endure hunger and wint beyend belief and ferve without pay, being content with Honour, and fuch Lands as their King is pleas'd to give them. Bur: the Povert; of the Souldiers empoverifies, the Countries thro' which chey pals; for fince they cannor carry Proviluons along with them over their rugged Mountains, they take by force what is not.freely giventhem, and fo lay wafte their own Councries no lef'sthan their Enemies: And this hinders them from purfuing the Gailins, becaufe they find nothing left behind them bur Lands untill'd, and empry Cortages. They have about 1500 Murguets, bur not above four Mufquereers, and thefe bur bad Fire-men, and very lirtle Powder.
The biggeft Army that the King now brings into the Field, hardly amouns to 40000 , among which thereare not above four or five thcufand Horfe.the relt are all Foot. Their Weapins are Swords, and Darts, and Lances, and hort Jasciins, with which they fight at a diftance, and afterthem Hand to Eand, with their Swoids and Beck!ers. They ride on Nules and lead thrir Horfes, which they nee: mounc till they are ready to charge the" Encriy. Tiny are commonly arm'd with two Spears, whereof:they. dart one at a diftance, and maintain a clece Fight with the other. The fury of the firf Onfer forise moft \(p\) ars wins the Field, for they know not how to rally wien oace they are diforderd. They hate to avoid a Bazte, and rire out an Enemy by delay, which has been the rin of many of their Kings, To. Couniry is rery much infetted with Robbers," who Th: Conniry is rery much infeted with incielan Kint Davaid in the beginning of his Reign, vanCititr. of quat che idelans in feveral Ratiles, bat after the Turk pital was had comqucrid Espp, and taken foine Ports of the Red withe.. Sor, the Atains frengtherd, by their affifance, turn'd the Scale, and were always Viftors: For King Adelx having font one Grainus a Malomefian to invade Hnhefinin with an Army, in 1526, Tic fubducd all Fremara : And tho the War was carry'd on the firft two Years with various fuccefs, yet for the next twelve to 1640, when King David dy'd, the Abeffines had the worf of ir, informuch that they began to defpair of their Country. The chicf canfes of thefe Difatters, were firt theKing's nuggith humour, who was wholly given up to pleafure: Next, the Turks, who furnith d their Mibumetan Friend with Fire-Arms, whofe Thunder the Aleffines had never heard before, and was very remible to them, whofe Bullets gave them incurable Wounds: Behides, that the Melfomerens in Abcfinia received favourahy thofe of theirown Sect, and many of the Abeffores themfelvesjoin'd with the Victor: So that every thing hrearend utrer diftraction and defolation, natil chrifioplice Genes was fent from Portugal with 450 Mufquerecrs, whofe Succefs had been already memtion'd in icfcoing Ethirpian from the Aleciums. In the firlt placs he afGaid the Rock Ambr-Sence, which was thought to be in vincible, and forc'd the Enemy to quit it, which mighdily encourag'd the Abefines; and when he came to 2 Battle, the Metcmetans were fo terrified with the Fielddets of their Captzin ind \(^{\text {and }}\) by rel of Powder raking fire, their Horfe were firft ftartled and put to flighr, and the Foot quickly foillow'd, and their Camp was taken and plunder'd. After that he at tack'd'a ftcep Rock in Semel, garrifond with 1500 Ad:ans, and being conducted by a 7 ew who had formerly veen Governour there; fie flew all-the Barbarians, roo 80 Hories, 300 Mules, and orher good Plander. In the mean rime cirainus fent to the Piftanss of Aratin for Gums and Fire-anms, onc of which fipply'd him with 700 Mufqueteeis and ren Field-Pieces. Gome- knowing nothing of this gave the Encmy Battle, but being overpower'd by the Tark, he was flot in the Thigh with 2 Mufqucr-Bullet, whercupon he fled, accompanied only with 14, who were apprchended, and he being opbraided by Grainus, he gave him 2 ftern Anfwer, who cansd him to be tormented to death. claudius the King being corric into the Axmy, and hearing that the Turks were all rerurnd home but 200, by the advice of the Portiguffe fell upon the Enemy, and vanquifid them Grainus himfelt being hot to death, whole Head was expos'd to the view of the People, and they recoverd new Vigour and Ccurage. Bur the Adelans. hearing the Abeffnes wecre fccure, broke in and defeated chem, and lew Claudius.
The Kings of Ethiopia have feveral tributary Princesof thin onder them, whereof Gregm the Efhiopian kncw bur corisas four, vin, the Kings of Semar, Datacala, Garagi, and Enrrrea : All the reft, whether Kings or Governours, ate by Etmond the King himfelf appointed to govern protempore at the \({ }^{\text {de }}+\boldsymbol{n}\).
King's Pleafure, that by this dependance they may be moximan kept more faithfulto him. They are calld and accounted his Servants, tho of the higheft rank, as his Brothers and his Queen; for the Word in their Language fignifies ner only Slares, bur Sabjects and Domefticks: And indeed chry are lirtle berter than Slaves, who are tound at all times to ferve the King with their Body, and have no property which they can claim; and the Ceremonies by which they teftify their Submifion to the King, are no lefs Gavih; for the Babruded his chief Minifter fands before the King's Pavilion, naked to his Thighs, with his Head and his Right-hand down to the Ground, crying our thrice Aver, or, hofl merciful Lord, 1 am she merneft of :be Coirt that fadli'cs yoir Horfes. Other Suppliants inftead of prefenting written Petitions, ftand in a certain place early in the Morning, crying with a loud Voice, My King, my Apple of my Eyc; and ufing different tones, whereby their feveral Countries are diflingiuilh'd : And as foon as day appears, fuch and fuch are commanded to be admitted and heard; or if ir be a bufinefs of Moment, the King himfelf gives them audience, and returns him their Anfwer.
The manner of theirJudicial Proceedings is very plain, \(\alpha\), for all Contmperfies are determin'd by word of Mouth, dicing is without Writing, of which the moft part of the Nati- rediman on is ignorant:- The Plaintiff produces his Wirnefles, which the Defendant may refufe if he have any reaton to forpect them: Bur fince they know nat how to cxamine or fift 2 Witrefs, Juftice muft be but ill adminiAred; and tho it is lawful to appeal to the King and Court Tribumals, yet few will do it by reafon of their Poverty, and the litcle Hopes they have of redrefs; bcFides, that it is counted an Affront to the inferiour Judges, who think chemelves accus'd of injuftice by there Appeals:-

For Capital Crimes, they ufe Bcheading, or Hanging, Frumentius; which Story bring well grounded, and or Sroning the Offenders ro death; if the Crime be not agreed to ty the Acefine, Grecian, and Latin Writers, capiral, they purith with drabling. The Nobility for any Offence are banifid to the anic-Lake, or their high and feep Rocks. Homicides are deliver'd up to the nexr of kin, to the party murderd, who may either pardon them, or fell them to foreign Merchanrs, or put them to death. If the Homicite cfeapes, the Neighbourhood death. If the Homicite cecapes, the Neighbourhood are obliged to pay a Fine, by which means many Murthers are cither prevented or difooveri!. The Law of an Eyc for an Eyc appears to be jut. yrit becanfe fome Men have more ufe for one Memier ti:an another, ac cording totheir feveral Callings, this Iown mifusd in civillizd Nations.; and ir feems unjuf to furrender the Offender to the fury of the Offended Party, when they lave unbyafs'd Jndges to give Sentence witiout \(\mathrm{Fa}_{2}\) vour and Affection

\section*{Of the Religion of the Abeflines, end the Eicclefiaficat Afairs.}

Pating by the fabulous Reports of Mathere the Arme وimernian, the fift Embalfador to Portugal, and Damiamusa soc Gota, thet: are various Opinions abour the Original of the Religion of the Abefines. They who admit the Tradirion of Queen Marvedia, think that the Abeftures had the true knowledge of God ever tince the Reign of Solomon, and yer chat their Fudric Rites, fuch as Circumcifon, abftaining from Meats forbidjen, o'serration of the Sabbath, Marriage of the Brother's Wife, Gec., had their Original from thence : But thefe chings being commonly practis'd in other Nations, and fome of them by the Primitive Chriftians, it is notcertain that they were re ceiv'd from the Gewr. As ro Cirçumcifion, it was in ufe among the Eryprians, Phenicians, and Homrites, and many other Nations, who only round the Skin with 2 Knife, whercas the 3 ews llit it with their Nails till the Proputium falls down; neither do the Abelfoes perform ir with any Cercmony; for it is done privately by ant poor Woman, without an: Staniers-by ; and therefore King Clatelius in his Confeffrn fays with Sc. Paul, That Circumcifinn protecth nething, bur is usd like the Cufom of their Countri. And is ured to Females, nor only by the Abeffines, but the \({ }^{E}\) Eyptians and Arcabians, where the Women count it a Reproach to be calla Uncircumcis'd. As to Swines Flem the faid ciaudius cells us, That they do not abftain from it out of regard to the Moffic Law, neicher do they abbor him that feeds upon it, upon a religious acceunt, any more than we do the Tertars for eating Horfe-Flefh, bat that they account all kind of Mear dean; only thei abftain from Blood and things ftrangled, by verrue off an Apoffolick Decree, which was always in force in the an Apoffolick Decrec, which was always in force in the Eaftern Church, and for manv Ages in the Weftern. As to the Sabbath, they do not oblerveir as the Fews did, who would neither drawWaternor kindleFires.nor drelsMeat on that day, but they oblcrue is for pious ufes,according so the ancient Conftitations, calld Apoftolick ycr ; fo that they ftill preferve the Lord's Day, on which our Saviour rofe from the dead before it As to marriing the Brother's Wife, it is not emjoyn'd, bar onfyronnived ar by the Magittrates, yet fo, that their Wives are debarr'd from the Communion. They do indeed abfain from the Sinew mutilated, which they might learn from the fews ar home.
oficion. The Converfion of the Eertinpinns happened in the mande ime St. Atbanafius, under Cinflantine the Grear, in the Year of Cirifi 330, and was begun and carry o by Frumentius and-Ed-fius, Iwo Sons of Meropius on the Coaft of the Red-Ser. - Theie two Brothers being highly favour'd by the King for their Ingeruity and In duftry, were by him' preferr'd to be Keepers 'of his Sooks and Papers ; and being very kind to the Chriftime Merchants that rraded into chofe parts, they becameto fumous for their Piety and Vertue, that the Coriftian Religion was highly efteem'd by all. Which Foundation being laid, Framentius took a Journey to St. Atbainafurs, Parriarch of Alexandria, and was by him for his Partsand Conftancy in the Faith, creared the firf Bi Thop of Etbiopia: Whereupon reruming into Erbiopia he initiated the Natives by Baptifm, and then ordain'd Prefoyters and Deacons, buile Churches, and fo introducd the Chriftian Religion into Ethropia. Agreeable to this, is the Relation which the Erliopians have in their Book of Axume, and the account given by the Ethiopic Litargy and Poer, that in the time of St . Atbanefius, in the Reign of Aribeha 2nd Abreba, two Brothers, the Gofpel was firft prachid by Abba Salma, as chey cali agreed to by the Aleflene, Grecian, and Lertin Writers, plainly fhews, that the convertion of the Aleefims was neither fo eariy as the Days of the Apofles, as fome have thought, nor to late as the days of +1 liminin, as caderem and Nicephorus Cillithes afirm ; whofe acconnt is alfo dif provid by the 36 Nicenc Canon, which athigns the fiut Scat of Dignity in the Council to the Piplate of \(1:\) hriopia.
 mentius, many Monks came from liverallyarts of the cruct. Roman Empitc, to atfift him in propagating the Cinititi-in w...... an Religion, whereof nine were mott famons, who pru- at ou bably came from the nciphbouriug larss of prope minn ane where this auftere way of living was hrff practisid by thir and Pr. Panl, Antiomy, and others, that tled thither from the Perfecution of the Heather) and feared thenifides in Tigra, where they crected them Chaprels. Cinc of them calld Aragamoi, or Michecl, is celcbrated by the Ethis: pic Poetfor dettroying Arwe's Kingdom; which may c:ther fipnifie che Kingdom of Satan, or a Serpert preriy ocalld, which the ancient Esficipians tworliforic as ine fupreme Deity: The Cells of thefe Monks dre to be feen in Tigra to this Day, and particuarly the Call and Sepulchre of Pamentoon, celebrated by their Pect fot rcftoring their dead to life again. Belides thefe, there are feveral great Dotors, Martyrs, and Saunss, fav:ous for woriking Miracles, who mightily promored the Chiftian Religion; burnone more renowned for Sanctity than Gabre Menfes Kridda, the Servant of the Holy Ghoft, in orour of whom they keep 2 Holy Day cery Nenth Next to him is Tedn Haimanot, who fucceeded ir: anfi, ceive frit Abbor of Monks in Etijiopia, from whom lie receiv'd his Monafical Habit, and reftor'd that way of Ering about the Year 600 . He is mentioned in the Eftropic Charch-Regifters, and his Life is extaut in Eiti:opia, fuffd with fevcral Miracles and Apparitions. Hic gave new Rules to his Monks, and order'd them to fubmir to a Governour, who does cither vifit himfelf, or Cent fome others to reform Errors and punifh Trantigrefors. The orher Abior calld Euftathius, is no lefs famous than he ; but he impofed no Governour upon his Followers, and therefore every Abbor is fupremic in his own Mo paftery, who in cale of death is cholen by the icft of the Monks. Their Rules are mach different from the Grecks and Latins; for neither do chey wea, any peculiarHabit cxcept their Croffes which the; carry; ncithe do they. live in Monafterics, bur in fcat:cr'd Cottages near fome Church. They place cheir Piery chictiy in faying many Prayers, and in repeating the Pfalms of David with fo much haft, that none is able to follow hem. Every one manures his own Greund, and lives upon the Product of his Labours; fo that they are mither unmarried Hufband-men chan Monks. They are counted infamous if they marry. Wives, nor are their Children capable of being admitted inro the Clexpy er rhey bear Civil Offices, and areframetimes made Govermonrs of Provinces. Their Villages, which are in tead of Monatterics, are very numerous, and difpers'd over all pats of che Kingdom : There are alio Nuns in cthopia, verf ignorantrand devone.
The Abenlines torether with the Chritian Reigion, orthere:e eccir'd the Holy Scriprure. which was tranNated into Ea ko ot :th ho Ethiopic Idiom of Tigrafrom the Girech Vardion of the Mies Just: 70, according to a Copy us'd in the Church of Aicxeridrian. They have the Nicw Teflament tranlated from the Authensic Greck Text, which has not yetbcen broughs into Earope pure and encire; for the Rmen Edition is prinred from a lame, imperfect Copy, for want of di= Etbiopic Original, as the Compiler Trffa Taxion confelfes, and begs pardon forit, tho' ir is printed in the Polyglor Bible; becaufe no other Copy could be procur'd.
They have the Holy Scriprore entire, and reckon as many books as we do, but civide them after a different mannef'; for they diftinguifh che Old Teftament, which concins 46 Books, inro four Parrs, and join with shem other Books; befides, that thev, minx the Apocryphal with the Canonical. The firt Tome is call'd Oreth, or the Law, and contains in it eighr Books, from Gencfis to Rush : The fecond is calld Niggaft, or Kings, and conrans in it 13 Books, from Simuel to the Pfalms, including the swo Books of Tobia and Fuderb: The thard is calld Solomn, and contains five Books, including the Book of Wifdom and Sirach: The fourch Tome is calld Ninbijat, or the Propliets; and comains eighteen Books, including Berucb and Sophonia, of all which there are only a few at Rome in MS. and a few only printed : to there they add the two Books of Maceabees.

The New Teftament contains 24 Books, and is alfo divided into four Parts; whereof the firft comtains the four Evangelifts; the fecond, the Acts of the Apoffles; the third, the four Epiftes to St. Paul; and the foutsh the feyen Bonks of the other Aponles, ending with Sr. Furde's Epittc, to which shey' add as a Supplement, the Kevelations, calld the Vifion of St. Folm.
To the New Teflament they generally annex a Volnme, call'd Synodum, or the Book of Synods, which contains the Condtitusions of the Apoftes, as they are call'd, which are very much different from thofe difpers'd among us: Thefe they divide inco cighe Parts, and add them to the New Teftament, as if they were of the faunc Authority, and containd the Pandects of Chriftianity. Next to thefe they reverence the three Ocumenit Councils, the Niscne, Conftantinopoliten, and liphefinc, with other Provincial Conncils reccivid in the Church, till the Comnilof Chalcedon. Pue belides the 20 Nicene Canons, which were always recciv'd in she cireck and latin Chiurch, they admir alfo of 84 other Canons, which are cxtent in Arabick, and were fent by Conflementine their Emperour in 440 to \(\mathcal{F c r u f i l c m}\), and thence broughr to Rome in 16+6. This Book of Synods contains, firtt the Synod' of the Holy Apoftes for ordering the Charch; which is fide to be written by clencen, after which folwhich is and to be written by cienent, ater which Golgra, intiochia, Leodicen, and Sardir. Then follow the Acts of 315 Holy Fathers; a Treatire of the Sabbath, a Declanation of the Doctrine of the Law, and a Decree and Canon of Penance. The Book was whitten at \(A x\) unia, with the King's Preface. To this Book is annex'd their general Lirurgy for Prayers, and Miniftration of the Communion; befides which, they haveother liturgics proper for Holy-1)ays; vin. the Liturgy of our Lord, our Lady, the Apoftes, and St. Mark, which Liturgics are fuppofed to be vritten by fome Holy Men, as that of our Lady by Criacus. They have alfo a MS. Liturgy, calld the Thankrgiving of Oblation; which is read at the Sacranent. But their Symbolic Book, which is call"d the Fairh of the Fachers, is collected Our of the Homilies of St. Arhanafius, Bafil, ( \(y . i^{\prime}\), and the four. Gregories. & & and is of very great Authority: They have alfo Books of Martyrs, and I.ives of Saints, and Hymns in praife of the Virgin Ma, w, whereof thar writren lately by Abha. George is highly effeem'd. They affect unccuth Wordsin melt innätise we, after the manner of the 7 cmos.
Of the Reli- Since the Symbolical Book afore-mention'd, which gion of the Conrains the genuine Doctrine of the Ethiopice Church, Athisfary. \({ }^{25}\) is not to be found in Etrops, and the Confelition fer forth by King Claudius, tends only to clear them from the Charge of \(\mathcal{F}^{\prime} \mathrm{dai} i f n\), we fhall gather from their. publick 1 iturgics. the Wricings and Sayings of Perfons, the fum of the albeffimian Doetrine.

And firft, they owh the Holy Scriptume to be the fote Rule of Faith and Manners, and delighr in nothing more than the Reperition of it in their Sermons. They pay 2 griat deference to the three firft OEcumenical Councils, and generally make ufe of the Nicenc Creed; for ncither they nor any of the Eaftern Churches, krow any thing of that which we commonly call the Apoftle's Crecd. Whatever therefore the Catholick Church belicr'd, before the Council of Chalcedon, concerning three diffinct Perfons in one Effence, the Erernity of the Son of God, the exiftance of the Holy Ghoft, the Abofincs admit and confention -Thus they declare in their Liturgy, thar thefe three Perfons are one God, whereof none is clder or greater thanianother, bur all the three are equal, having one Glory, one Kingdom, and one Power. Bur as to the Holy Ghof, they fay he proceeded and - prong from the Fathet, but never add from the Son, as was falfely printed tnthieir Liturgy at Romi, tho cticy Son. They fo abtor the Neftorian Herefy, afferting two Perfons in Chrift; that they will nor admir of this \(t\) wo Nitures and two. Wills, tho they affirn him to be perfot God and peifect Man withour coofufion and commixtion of the two Natures. They own the facred Metits of Chrift to be moff fifficient and efficacious for the Sins of all Mankind. As to the Sacraments, thiey make ufe of Baprifm, zcoording to the Inttiration of Chrift, and with the Ceremonies anciently us'd by che Church; and they adminifter thie Communion to all, both Lairy and Clergy, as is che Cuftom in all the Eaftern Churches. They have not the Word Sactament, nor do chey ufc amy other bèfides thefe two, being utterly ignorant of Confirmation and Exireme Unetion: They acknowledge the fral Prefence, when they pray that the. Bread may be made the Body of Chrift, and the Cup chang'd into bein Blood, and belicve that the Bread and Wine is chang'd into the myfterious Reprefentation of Chriffs Body and Btood; but deny any fuch change of the Sutbftance as is mulcipliced in Tranfubftantiation, and therefore they do nos Cay at the Confecration, This is my Body, which Words only, arcording to che Papifts, can produce that Change, bor, Tim Breadin my Body, Tly. Cup is my Hhood; which Words have in them no fuch forse Neither do they atrribure to the confecrated Elemenass thofe divine Honours, which the belief of Tranfubitan. siztion requircs.
As to the Soul, they belicve that it is immortal, and was firtt infpir'd into Man by God; but they think is ablurd, that God thould bery'd to create every day ncw Souls for adulterwus Births. As to the flate of the Soul afrer death, they have feycral Opinious; bue this gencrally believ d, that the Souls of pious men thatl nor enjoy the bearifical Vifion before the Refurrection, bur remain in fome thind place, expecting thar Refurrection which fecams to be implied in their Prayers for the dead, Fuch as thefe, Remember l.ord the Sculs of thy Selzants, and releafe o l.od our tectice, Sce. Whence fome have inferrd, that they believe a Puirgatory, which they do utterly deny, and affirm theie Prajers to be only a Commemoration of the happy Eftatce of the decessid, after the Cuftom of rhe antient Church, swho were wont to read the Names of clece thattyrs out of the publick Kegifters, in loonour to their menory:- Bue if they were to pray Meri out of the pains of Purgatory, they mould rather pray for Men whofe Tives were loofe and vain; whercas che Perfons they commemorate, were mof innotent and holy, and died many Ages ago, and ir would be a great Injury to their Memory to belicve that rhey had been fo long tormented in Purgatory. They deny that they give Divinc Honours to the Saints. departed; for they call their Holy-days Remembrances and not Solemnities; yer they invoke them, tho they know not how thty ean hear them, and alfo beg their Intercefion, efpecially of the Vixgin Miny, whom they honour exccedingly. bur ereat no Statues to her, being hanour exccelingly, bur erect no Staturs to her, being conrented widh her Picture. They invoke alio. the At gels, becaufe they are faid to appear to good Men and Womeh, and hear their Prayers: Of thefe they reckon nine Orders, whore Names they rake from Holy Inturc.
In their Catechifm they firft reach, their Youth to beliere three Perfons, cqual in all thingsin one God, which chey ikuftrate by: the Sun, which being one in fubtance, has chree diftinct thiriss, aiz. Rocundity, Lighs, and Heat: Then they inftruct, them as to the Refon of Chrift, that he was.begottcin of his Father withour time, and boin of the Virgin his Mother in time, that he is both God and Manin ove Perfon, and as to his Baptifm, his Fatting, his Paflimn and death, and the orher Articles contain'd in thic:Apontle's Creed.
As the Churches of the Primitive Chrifitians were of buit after the-form of the Temple ar Ferufalem, having nd thim a wide Porch, where the Excoriaic Renirents and dici of th Novices tarried, and the Body of the Church, in which crifo were the Faithful, and a fecrer place Inreen'd with a of ticult Curtain, calld the Sacrificatory (to which the Choiffim Trmp now anfwers inour Churches) to wcre the more fampous of the Ethiopic. Churches, built after the fame manner: But whereas none bat Ecclefiaftical Picrons were-admit ted into the Choir, ar the entry whereof the. Lairy receivethe Communion, the Ethiopians, by creacing their Nobiliry and their Children Deacons and Sub-deacons, admitred them into the Choir, And their King's Children affumed the Dignity of courfe, carrying \(2^{\circ}\) Crofs as the Badge of it, even after they conte to the Crown, which may be one reafon why the. King is call'd PreshyenFobm. They neicthtr fit for kneel in. their Churches, but alwazs ftand during Divine Service, bur they are allowed to tean their Bodies upon: Crurches. They have fo great reverence for pheir Churches, whar when they come near one of them, they adieht: from their Mules, and walk afoor till they are patthem, sand when chey erter, they pat of their Shots atithe Door, and neter fpis upon the Pavetnent. They admit Pictures anto their Churches, bur abominare Seatues; and it is counted - 2 heinous offence' for any one to carry abour-hima Pidure of Clrijt crucified, tho thein Clergy bear Croftcs in their Hands, which are reverencid by all who meer them with a. Kiffs; and they ofren fign themfelocs, and the things chat belong to them, with the Signof the Crofs, as atic ancientChriftians usd to do.
Asto Baptifm, che Prieft being to Baprife an adult Perfon, begins-wich-che \($ 2\) Pidm, and then having perfam'd him with lncenfe, he encuises-his! Name, anol dfter thic:recital of cerrain Praycrs, he anoines Several partsof his Bedy with Holy OHy and days bis fetaryd upon his＇Head．Then the Neophites lifting up thein Kight－hanas and topking towards the Weft，abjure Sa KIght－hand，the makea Vow＇to．Chrit；and then fay over the Creed，and anfwer the Prieft that they＇do be heveit：Which ended，the Party is＇again znointed，zne fome pieces of Scripure read out of：Sr：Fobn＇s Gofpel the Acts，and the Epitles：Ar length the Oyl is fo pour＇d imothe Water prepar＇d for Baptitm，as to refem－ blein falling the Sign of the．Croos；2nd the Pricit＇hav－ ing defended into a Pool，wherher the Perfins are con－ dncted by the Deacons，Plutges them three tumes over Head－aind Ears，rayity，Irbuppife thecth the Name of the Father，Son land．Hituy Grooft：Affit whicth，they arc afifted by xteir Frictas in sotig oat of the Pool，who werctherefore call＇s Sufceptores or Upliodiders by the Ancicms．Being then wafh＇d，and oncemore anointed，they anc：firfteloath d with a white urd＇ce Gainient to fignify the Putricy of thicir：Mind，and ofer that with a red Veft mem，it roken of their Salvation parefias＇d by the Blood of Cfiritts＇and fo introduc＇d into the Cburch，where the partake with：other Caritians of the Holy Comfinuni on：At their depariure they ate prefénted with Milk and Honsy，and fo the Preft layng this Hand upon their Heads，difmites them with this Beriedictiont，Son if Berp rifm：so in peace．
The Cectmonies of Baptifirs lifants are minch fhorrers for thes ate xot plang＇d in Water，bur only frinkled and dippod，wid the Gomps．make anfwer in their behalf：And lealt Infants mould be in a worife condition than thote of ripcr Years，rley give them two or chree drops our of the Sacred Cup，having crumbled a liale piece of the Holy Bread into it before．Many Mave believ＇d that wite Ethiopiants wete branded with a and the butnity of the Temple－Veitis of ：Children newn bbrm ；to precetve them from Catarrahos，which is ufed in Afriter，mas be the occation of the miffake．
As to the Story of their Anmiveriary Baptifin，the trati of the tratter is this：Upon the toth，which is our 6th of Finuary，being the mida of their Sniminet and the Feaft of Eplpiany＇，they kecp \(\dot{2}\) ooyful．Feftival in commemoration of our Saviour＇s Baptimi：The CTergy begin by break of day with loud Hymins，and before Sun－rif，the King，Nobles；atid Vólgàr，foung aña old，with the Metropolitan and tis Clergy；thiroing into Ripers atra Porids＇，and dive ovel Head and Ears a and if any micet a Prieft；they crave a Blefting of him，to whom he fays，God blefs thec．Hence mány hàve thought that they tenew＇d their Baptifn eycty Year；，whereas the oung People by their Sports rather make is a day of ollíry chãn a Chiritián Feftival．
They make to queftion bur Sinriers are reconcild to God aftet Baptifm upon their Repentance and Confer on；bur they do not córmímóny confés particular Sins buto only fay in genctal；we brie finned s and rich the Offender is abrolva ania few Words with fome genitr tripes upon thè fide with an Ohye twig But when any of them confofes Adultery，Homitide，or Theff，they are feverely fooutrged，unlifs fome of the Laties be tre mitted at the Intetceffion of the Standers－by．One of hiem being ung＇d by．the Mecrópolitan；confeffed－pub icky he tiad ftolen Oxein；and the Owner of them beith there prefent，he was oblig d to reftore them zegain：añ dís fevercly panifita befides：A＂s foom as they cominit any totable Offence，thè profently，run to their Con－ feffors，ànd conferfing they hiave finned，they defire to rective the Communion＇for the quiet of their ConTci ences，bur this they do not till they are is jearsold for all the Yelrsbefore chait are reckoned a rime of Imo cericice．

The Divine Service of afic Eefrop opansis compleated 5 y the adiminiftrditoo of the Sacrament after they hâve red their Liturgites drid＇Homilies of the Fathers，and lome parcels of Scripture out of the New Teftament for they ncither make tue of Sacred＇Ey mins nor Preach ing like ours．＂In the Canon of the Mefs，all their Cetembintes are to be fóuría，with in＇their feveral Pray－ ès，and the matimér of caretif ing their Inftumentsania Vefiels．－In the Sanduaty ftands＇the Haly Tabier，co ctiner；uppor which they place fitf the Tabotor Cheft Which is made in che Fathion of a Bier，and therefofe feems to be a Cuftomiderived from the ancient Cbiriti ans，for tfie thice firff Ages＇，wha being forc＇d to méct io Caves or Cturtheyariss，m the Night－tinfe，did proba－ Of carry the Bfezd；aria Winf；and Drenfis，to the

Communion－ine Communicants fatc and receiv＇d the the Martyrst hat which，they allo put any Bones of cution，thefe Chet they found．After the sime of Prerce－ by degrees they wy degrees thicy were made like Tables，and at leng：h were quite laid afide infone Churches，where they ha： only a comferated Table or Altar；luat che Eiflioopien： the rerain hoth，tho＇shey have alter＇d the form of the Cheftind a Table．There Chefts were ar firt made of Wood，but a frecwards of Stoine were ar frit made of Márble Monument dig Stone，of which fort was a ike tin ardod Bat dig un an a Church－yard，benis which chare Bucr，covered with a linct Cloch，in gried with－were the facred loaves for the Communioni his day；and of die froms，which the fithon is the Wooden Che to Rame，on which nome bue the Pope may celcbrate．The other Holy Urenfils are the Difh，the Can，and the spoon，calla the Spoon of the Crots becaute the Hy de cads in a－Crols，wherewich they diftribute the Winc． They have allo confecraced Uris and Cenfers，which they we roperform with liccife，as the ancican Clirifti－ ns．Were forted to＂o in their Caves．They commonly eleavend：Bread，tharkd with a Crofs，which they great：Wewerery they ufe bure on the sth Holy－day of the Chreat：Weck；they unc unleavend toaves ia memery of Chritt i，pieces of which the Prieit diftribures to the Commanictints：：And inftead of Winc they ule a \(h\) icuos made of the bruifed Stones of Raifins ftecp in Water which the Deacon giyes ín a Spioon to all，as well Laity as．Clergy＇zfter which；the Sub－deacon pours a Spoon－ fulor two 6f．Water，into the：hollow of the Compini cant＇s Hand，wherewith he frft wallies bis Mourh uni－ hen fups it up．The time of receiving the Sacrament defr to every one＇s liberty，Toine receive cvery Week ome every．Monrth，bur allwithin the Church；for they are harear sin to recelve the Holy Myfteries in pri They always receive Faftion Aund to the Kinis himiflf They always receive Faftirig，and nicyer fpit on that day Hey thave reiéved：When ihey：give the Communion and Sularthes ffie Priefts are affiffed by Sub－prefbyters and Sub－deactoris in reäding the Prayers，and recom－ mending both the heving and dead to God，which they Oil receiving the Dintrich；and then föme bring bread， he Poor．Thiey Fuísts，Efec．which are given among fithe Creation buip tae saturdar in commemoration hey have rio Bells of Brafs ox mixad Mexal，but ony tollow Velfels of trón，Srồé G＇whict make a noile： Their Church－Mufick böth Vocal and Inftrumental is very harf：yet they flid anif dancc in imitarion of De－ vit，ro their Cymbals and Kentle－drums；which they call rejofing before the Lord．Fafting－Days are very trictly kepr，without Mear or Drink，fometimes sill the hird Evening，and every Week they fât the fuarth and axth Holy－Dzy；and all the forty Days of Lent，except or Sundrit；but afier Eafter for 50 ．Days they incuige tiemfelves in Feafting and Mirth：－Thiey obferve alfo all tie other Feftivals of the ancient Church；and particu－ arly the Narivity or the fame day wish us，wlich with them is the z8th of December．－Tho＇Polygang＂is tole－ ated by the Magiftrate，yet it is nor allow＇d by the Charch；for thofe thar marry toincore thin none，are débarr＇d rom the Communion；ficither are fuch married in tha Church；birbefore theDoors ofitior achome；burthel re divored from their Wives when the \(y\) pleafe，which die Clergy cantor be＇，unlefs they renờuce their Function．

Ther dead Bodies being wàn＇d and fum＂d：with．In cenfe，are wrap＂d up in proper Garments but if the party deceas＇d be of a oble Family＇he is taid uponi a Bier covered with a Bulls Hide，and then the Clergy cary him to the Grave taden with Croffes，Centers，and Holy Water，amo which be is nor lee down，but thrown， fter the reading of a Paragtaph out of St：folin＇s Gofpel．
The 12 premepower in all Affairs being vefted in the of the Form： King，all Ecclefátical Cauife，excep in very fighi ofEcclefith： an the Clergy or Monks pleananj Exemprion，＇bur they opis，unt of re punithas well＇as Lay－Perfons for＇their－Offences she pivile by the cecular Jodges．As to what concernis the Dioce，ges of ne w，thole things are leff to the Cletgy，twiofe bief＇Head is the Metropolitin，＇furmag＇d sbrint；i：e： our Father：He by ancient Coftom is confectated at che Kung defire，By the Pairiarch of Mlex́ndria，and ferit ar of Eopr；；tho now he and tis Cletgy beins Slaves othe Turke are very poor and itnorant；；it－being fuffi－ cent to qualify hin for thät Offee，that he can trad Aralic：And fach are the Farriarchs be Fends：iniro aty in ect form of Words che drain Uhider－Clerts at as unde af cheinfelves：Bat＂in none of their King－ domas or Provinces have they Bifhops or Arch-bimops; ic that the whole care of their Church lies upon the Icegut or Abbor, and his Monks, withour whom, their Church had becn long tince ruincd.
As to their Cathedrals, they have their Over-feers, who are to take care of the fecular matters of the Church, and to compore the Differences ketween the Clergy They have allo Canons, who are particularly employ'd in thofe Officss which require Hymns. The Nebrat fecrns to be their Deani, under which are the Presbyte7 and Sub-Presb, ter, Deacon and Sub-deacon. All their Clergy marry oxce, except their Monks, but if they marry twice they are degraded.
Of the Sepe- The Alexandrian Church temain'd in Unity with i ration of the felf and with the Greck Church, till the Council of fionarmes the Cloalcedon, call'd by us the arh gencral Council, wherein Grekecharth the Hersfy of Eurycbes was condemn'd, who afferted inthe cime there was but one Nature and one Will in Chriff, whofe of the Co:p- Foliowcrs were thercfore calld Monotb:lites: But the Ib: fin:s reject this Council, as believing they wentabout to divide the Subftance of Chrift, and concrary to the Council of Epheflus, to make two Perfons of one, which they think is the juft confequence of afferting two Na tures and two Wills in Clorift; for which reaion they cxtol D:Ifcurus, as a Martyr, who was fcourg'd, had his Tcech pull'd out, and was banilith for ftanding to this Truch: Yet thēy condenn Eutyches and applaud Timorlons, by whole Doctrine the Followers of Eutycles were convicted. They own the Divmiry and Huma nicy to be in Cirrift, and that he is true God and crue Man, which is in effect ro.acknowledge two Natures in him, tho in Words they deny ir: So that the Difpute feems chiefly to be abour fome equivocal Words, which the Erisiopians us'd to exprets Nature and Perfons, and by what name the Divinity and Humanity in Cbrift which they own, are to be call'd; for Nature with them is commonly applied to creared things, and cherefore they are afraid to artribure it to God.
ofthe Diffe- In the former Century Aluarez a Prieft to the Portugal retccs which Embaffadors, Sent into Ethiopia, brought Letters from ha; nud be- King David to Clement the Keventh, which he deliverd to Wherfime and the Pope in a publick Afembly of Cardinals, charles the the church fifth being allo prelent, promiling obedience to the See of Reme in the name of the King of Ethiopic, as they underftood it, tho the Aveffres made another Interpretation of their King's Intention; whereupon Reul the third-did not only tolerate the Abcfines at Rome, who printed the New Teftament with their Liturgies in the Eebiopic Language, buraffifted them at his own expence. And fo great appearance of Friendmip there was, chat Fulius the chird fent one Barref. a- Jefuit, with the Title of \(\mathrm{Pa}-\) triarch, with one Oviedo to be his Succelfor: in cafe he died; who Sent Envoys from Drdia to Cleudius, who bad now fucceeded his Father David, to whom the King gave no great Encouragement, fearing, left the Porrugats under pretence of Religion, fhould pour imto his Comtry a great Force of Souldiers, with Fire-arms, and Cubduc it : However he promis'd, that the Perfons from whom they were fent, Thould have a fiting Receprionat Mafizu, and be conducted from thence to his Court'? Whercupon Ovicdo was difparchid with five Affociates (leaving Barres) who wcre kindly receiv'd by the King; only he rook it ill, that they foould talk to him of yiclding Obedience to the Reman. Pontif, which the Bilhop nor content with the frce exercile of his Religion, continuing ftill to urge the King, permirted frequent Dif pures not yer made publick, wherein Claudius himfelf did many rimes argue againft Ovicdo, as he did alfoin his Writings againft him. At laft ovicdo impatient of bis iITSuccels, out of indignation left the Court, and publilh'd a Writing, wherein he branded the Abefines with Ceveral Herefies, which gave great offence co Claudius ro fee his Subjects traduc'd for Hereticks within his own Dominions.
Norlong after Cloudius being dain in Bartle, his Bro ther Menas fucceeded; who revokd all the Indulgences granted to the Papifts, and publified many Severe Ediats againft them; ard having fenr for Oviedo, he drew his Cymetar in a rage, and had like to have killd him, if fome of the Nobilisy had not prevented him: Whereupon the Bilhop Hed to Freniona, and there taught the Porsuguefe 30 Ycars, withont further, srouble, Menas's Succeffor being more mild to the Portugucfer But at length all the Avcnues into Abjfinia being thut up by the Tark, and the Farhers thar were fent thither being all Mithion and to the Portugucte.
its Succeffr, The Archibihop of Gon hearing that the Portugucfe in ing of the Abefinic wanted a Priet, abour the begining of che \({ }_{\text {Romms }}\) Putriarch.
quick and ready wit, well ifill d in the Ihberal and me. chanick Arrs, and famous for his happy way of inftructing Children, who being invited by the King Zadengei, camit to Court in 1604 , and was honourably receivid. The King having heard fame Difputes about Religion; and Mals faid after the Koman manner, and a Sermon preachcd, was fotaken with them, that he declar'd to fome of his Friends, his Refolution to fubmir to the Pope, and reveal'd it as a Secret to Perter; which lie quicily made publick by letting forth an Edict, That no Perfori hout any longer oblerve the Sabbath as a Holy.day; and by writing Letrers to Clement the eighth, and Pbilip the third, of Spain, wherein he offered, his Friendhip, and defird fome of the Jefuits ro inftruct his Subjects; which things being known to fome of the Nobility, they conpired againft their Prince, and new him in Batle sufneus who fucceeded, receiv'd Peter kindly, and finding his own Metropolitans very ignorant and negligens and the Jefuits very diligent in iniftructing Youth, eloquent in their Preaching, and holy in their Lives, he wrote to the Pope and King of Spain, for the affiftance of the Porturuefc; and having receiv'd an Anfwer from Paul the fifth, in-6eLetcer dated Fanuary the 23 d , he promisd himobedienceas Univerfal Paftor, and thar he would admit a Patriarch from Reme: The King's Brother and many of the Colonels and Captains in the Army publickly profefs'd the Roman Religion; and there wet ew that oppos'd it except the Monks, who are fill bafled in their Dilpures. However the King to thew that he had nor ramhly givert way to 2 new Religion, appointed a publick Difpuration abour the rwo Natures in Colrift, at which the Jefuits obtain'd an cafy Victory; whereupon he King publifhed an Edict, requiring all Perfons to hold,. That there were two Natures in C/rift, but united no one Divine-Perfor. Simeon the. Mctropolitan having complaind to the King of there Difputes which were teld in his abfence, another was appoinred, whercin he was baffled; and then the King pur forth a more fevere Edic, making it death for any one to deny the rwo Natures in C/rifa; which fo incens'd the minds of the Pcople, that Simeon, with one of the Kings Brothers, rome of the Nobility, and all the Clergy and Monks; combin'd togecther to live and die, for the Defence of their ancient Religion; and Simeon, to fhew his Zeal for it. fixd an Excorication upon the Doors of the grear Church, againft all that embrac'd the Religion of the Frants. The King being highly offended; publinh'd an Edict, piving tiberty to every Perfon to embrace the Romifh Religion ; which fo litde terrified'Simern, that he thundred our his Anathema's againft all that mainrain'd the two Natures in Cbrijs.
The King's Mother and reveral great Perfons forefeeing that thefe things would end in flaughter, together with Simeon and many Monks, came and implorit the Kings that he would defift from what he had begun, and nor znnovare any ching in Religion; which Requeft they renew'd again after: a fruitlefs Conference for fix days; bur the King being immoveable, as laft the Sword was unificath'd, and fhed much Blond. The chief Confpi arors were: Famanaxus, 侯/ius the Kiny's Son-in-Law and che Eunuch Calfo; and to give the beter colour to he Rebellion;, Simeon once more publickly excoricated all that were of the :Latin Religion. But che Fefuir relying upon the King's favoor, tranflated Maldonnt and other Commentators into the Erbiopic Language, while the Alcxandriens purfued them with bitter Invectives: At laft Elius by an Edict, commands all the Franks to depart out of Tigra, and having mufter'd up his Army, he openly rebels, refolv'd to fight his Farher-in-Law, and being drunk with fury, having only a fmall Troop about him, he leap'd into his Father's Camp, and rode ip to his Pavilion, where the Alarum being taken, he was fton'd and ftabb'd to dearh; after which, the Souldiers fled, and Simeon being known, was Hain; the Eunuch Caflo was beheaded, and Famanaxis pardon'd. The King embolden'd by chis Victory, by an Edia, rohibited the Oblervation of the Sabbath as Judaical, and commanded the Hulbandmen to plough and fow on that day; which occationed Foncel the Vice-roy of Bagemara, to revol, with all thofe who were difguted with: che Ediat; and then the chiefeft of the Court, both Ken and Women, befought the King with Tears to rake pity upon the poor ignorant Pcople, and not diffurb their Minds with unreafonable Changes: To whom the King made anfwer in a grave Oration, fetring forth the Realons of his paft Tranfactions, and upbraiding them for their Sedition: And afrer that, 2 Letcer being bronght him from Jonael, containing haughty Demands, and amongtie reft, the Expulfion of the Je16 Ch Eentury, fent to them one Poter Rays, 2 Map of a fuits heprefenty coupuatided the nimblef of his Aimy to march ; Whexcupon the Rebels ficd for flicleer to the inaccedible Rocks, whom Sufneus had block'd up ac a diftance: So rhar Jonnel being weakned by Deferrions, was forc'd to flce to the Gallans, who kept their Faith to him bura flort rime; for being under-hand tempred by Rewards from the King, they nciv him to whom they had promis'd protection.
Yer this bad fuceefs did not cerrify the Inhabitantsin the South of Gojam, who upon the news of profaning the Sabbath, with all their Hermites ran to Arms ; tho Ras-felax their Lord exhorred them to continue their obedience, which they refus'd, unlefs he would burn the Books tranlased inro EEfbipici, and hang up the Fathers, whercupon Ras-Sechax.rcfolvd to fight them, knowing his Souldiers morc experich 'd and better arm'd. and indecd the Victory fell to che King's Party, but it cont dear, becaure about \(40 n\) Monks having devoted themfelves to dic for thcir Religion, fought moft defperately, of whom 180 were flain. And now the King being encourag by to many Victorics, laid all fear afide, and publickly renounc'd the Alcxandriand.WOorthip, confefing his Sins after the Reman manuer to Pecter Pays, and dif mifs'd all his Wives and Concubines, except the firft, to which he was law fully married, ;-and not long after fig. nifed his Converfion to the Roman Religion, to his wholc Empire in a Manifefor, declaring, That he now reverenc donly the Reman Sec, as infallible in Faith and Manncrs, and exhorted his Subjetts ro 0 do as be had done: But neither his Exanmple nor Exhortation could prevail upon many; for his Son Gebriel began to forment Sedition, bur was fore'd to fliy to the Rocks, from whence he was allurd by the fair Promires of a well-brib"Gat lar, to a neighbouring Wood, and there Rain.
titcen- Safintus, in his Lecter to the Pope, having made pubti.4 implick Proteffion of che Romifh Religion, and requefted him manive io fend a Patriarch; Alphonfur Mcendez; a Porrugucufe Jetruusid fuic bcing creared Patriarch; fet fail from Lisben in dithistry Dios, and being forewarn'd by the King not to come niear Sunqena or Matzun, he made to rights for Bryluz, a Port of, Dencella, where he arriv'd in \(A\) pril with four Fathers and three Friars, befides thirteen Servants, who at haft wirh much dificulty, arriv'd upon the Confines of Tigre, where they were mer by fome Portuguefe, who furnilid them with Provifions and all things neceffiary. In Decimber they came to Gorgore, where, upon a day appointed, the Patriarch entred the Camp, and after Mars faid, was conducted to the King's Pavilion, and commanded to fir down by him in a little Chair, where itwas agrecd, that upon the eleventh of February the King fhould publickly \{wear obedience to the Pope. On which day the King, with his eldeft Son Bafilides, his Brocher, the Vice-roys and Governours of Provinces being met, the Parriarch frtting on the King's Left-hand, made a lofty Pencgyrick in praife of the Pope : to whom the great Chamberlazn made anfwer, Thar ir was now the King's.Intention ro fulfil the Promires of his Ancefors, by yiclding.obedience to the Pope of Rome; whom dhe King intexrupred by laying, This was nor the firk day of his Intention, for he had long ago promif's'd it to the Sppeciour of the Jefuirs. Whereupon the Patriarch opened a Book of the four Evangelifs; and the King knecling apon his Knees, took the Oath of Obedience rothe Pope in the ufual form. After the King had done, hisson Baflides, the King's Brocher, all the Viceroys and Peers, and all the Clergy and Monks then prefent rook che farme Oath; to which Ras-Seelax added this Claufe, Thax he would be faithful to Baflides as long as he protected the Rimijh Fairh, otherwife he would be thi frt of his Enemies; and to thew his Zeal, he drew lorth his Cymerar, and raid, WVovever for tbe fuskre Bath notelesp his Oath, hazil feel the weight of thes: And fo the Solemniry concluded with an Anathema upon alt thof who fhould break their Oath. Immediately after, feve ral Ediefs were publift'd, that none for rhe furure flioula lay Mals, or exercife the Priefly Office, except fuch as were licens d by the Parriarch: Thereupon the Atexan drian Orders being accounted unlawful, moft of their Priefts were contrain'd to receive new Oxdinations, upon thiscondizion, that they fliould oblerve the Roman Torms of Worthip, and not give any Succour roRebels: It was further enjoyn'd; That Lent and. Eafter fould be obferv'd according to the Canons of the Romif Church and the Ladies allo were requird te: take the Oath: Supremacy to the Pope. In the next place great care was raken for building 2.Seat, and fercling a Revenue frimble to che Digniry of fhe Primare; and Refidences were builr in feveral Provinces of the Ent fore, to ftock it with Jefuiss. In the mean time they wére bufy in bapizing the Convected, and ordaining Ecclefiaftical' Per

Tons, many of whom thad been already baptisd and ordaind : Sermons were alfo preach'd after che'manner of Europe, by which meanis the Jefuiss made a great progress; to that the number of Converts to the Romif Re ligion amounted to many thoufands. Abouic two Ycars after, the Patriarch made a Vifitation, whercin fome were rebaptiz'd, and many confrrm'd with the great ap plante of the King and his Peers, tho' others foughr \(O \mathrm{Oc}\) cafions of Difturbances, and the Country-prople frill lik'd thcir old way beit. Befides all this, a Scminary was fet up for the Education of the Abcfin: as well as Portugueff Children; and the young Lads being taught the Staze the Stage, the ignorant Pcople thinking them rtal' Sputits, run out of the Schoolina grear fright, cring our, 0 dacr ther have bronght us Devils. But the wifer fort were more terrificd with the real Tragedies that follow'd for Tw Gerre, oncof the King's Sonss in -L. L w, confirid with two Noblc-men, anddeclar'd for their ancicirt way of Worhip againft the Roman: And to thew that he was in catnett, he caus'dall the Crucifixcs and Rofarics to bepublickWhyran, and 7 faco \(\langle\) his Popilh Chaplain to be pur to denth: Whereuponthe King fcut Kglex Viceroy of Tipre, withan Army, who defcated the Rebels, and rook him and his Sifter Prifoners, who were both hang'i on a Tree
After this, fevcral Accidenrs concur'A ro render the Jefuirs odious ; for the Patriarch to hew his Authority, Guards our an Anathema againft the Capitain of the Guards, for taking polfetion of certain Farns which he Monks laid cliam to, and refuning to reftere them, who was. fo frightned with the Curfes, that he fellinto a Swoon, and lay.fordcad ; bue the King by his Mcdiarion quickly obtaind his Abfolution: However, is was aken heinouny by the Nobility to fee their chicf Councllors fo cunlav'd do a forcign Prieft, for the fakc of a Farm, which the King mighir take from the Monks when ne pleas'd. This Flame was fed by morc Fuel ; for the cecguc or Abbot being dicad, and buricd in a Church onfecraied after the Reman manner, the Parriarch pronounc'd the Church profan'd by the burial of a Hererick in ir, and that Mars could nor be faid there. The Rector dreading the difinal Thunder-boit, prefenty caus'd the Carcafe to be dug up; and thrown by ; which gave oc cation to the Abeftruss to cry our, That the Franks wer more cruel than their bittercft Encmies, to deprive their dead ofdecent butiat; and thar by this the Living might fee what they were to expect Thus the minds of the People being gencrally incens'd, the Kingbegan to look upon there Acts of the Parriarch as Diminitrions of his Prerogacive, which made him give ear to his'Adverfarics, who as fret dcfired only that the ancient Forms might be mended where it was neceffary, wishout abrogating the whole for fo the Reoples Minds would Ex more quiet, who Would nor diftinguiffr berween the old and new form of Worthip. This being granted by the Parriarch, the Report was fpread abour, that the King was returnd to his old Religion ; and the Conrtiers were daily whif pering in his Ears, that he would be in great danger unlefs he forfook the \(R\), unlefs he for fook che Roman. Religion, which was grown very odious to the Peoplc. Thelt Whiter wor very odious to the People. Thele Whifjers were back'd by an Accident which gave occafion to feveral Reporss for an Enthufiall came into the Palace one day, and cry'dour, thar unlefs the King forthwith return'd to the ancient Religion, he mould within a Fort-right be feverely. punim'd: And tho' the Fellow was laugh'd ar and drubb'd, yet the Vulgar reported, that an Angel was fent from Heaven to the King, to admonifh him to curn to the ancient Fainh : In the pean time the barred gainft the Jefoits was encreas'd by the Envy of the Courriers, who incers'd the King againft Ras-Seclax, the chief Friend of the Portuguefe, upon a Jcaloufy left he fhould invade the Royal Dignity, which was encreasd by his purting Lecrnax to death for his Slanders againft himfelf, which they faid was done to remrove him our of the way, becaufe he was privy to his Conpiracies: Whereupon the King depriv'd him of a great part of his Lands, and his Military Commands. But tho' Tecia Grorge had fuffer'd, yer the Rebellion fili contineed; for the Agawi had nor yet laid down their Arms, but chofe one Meicax, a Youth of the Royal Blood, to whom all that were difaffected to the King and hated che Reman Religion, reforted, who were calld Laftencers, from Laffin, an invincible Reck; the chief Sear of the Rebellion. Againft theff che King marctid in Perron with an Army of 27000 Men, but with ill fuccefsiat firft ; for the Country-Renple being in a fecure place, rowld down whole Quarries of heavy Stones upna the Heads of the Royalifts, whichi put them into fuch diforder, thar the King's leff wing being furrounded Fff by the Rebels, had like to have been cut to pieces, if Kebix with 300 Men had not come in to theirRelief. The King leaving part of his Army, went home and recall'd Selicx, who drove the Laftansers back into their former holes, after they had ravag'd the Counrry, and "quell'd another Rebellion in Bayendra, by deltroying LucaMarjam that headed it. But the fame good fortune did nos atend Ketrax, who finding the Avenues Mighey guarded, choughthe bad a fair oprortunity, and march d in, but was precenty befer before and behind by his Enemics, who after a great Raughter of his Men, at laft Alew himiclf:
This Lad fucceff furnifid matrer for new Argumenes to prefis the King to forfake the Jefuits, and fo putficd up Molcax, chat he affum'd to himfelf the Titles and Prerogatives of a King, being daily encreas with numbers and cneouraged by thi Nobility of Tigra; to whom he fent a Vice-roy, with a felect Band of Souldiers for 2 Convoy, who being furprizid in their Jollity, left 4000 of their party Rain upon the fpor; whole deadh the Lontimers reveng'd by killing an equal number of the Ropa'ifts; for which haughter Rus-Scelax was accus'd of negligence, in nor fendiang timely Succors, and condemind; and his tiands and Offices were granted to \(B\) jilides. This gave a new oppormnity for complaint againft che Jefuits, that as they had fubjected the Empire in Ecclefiafical Matters to the Pope, fo they in tenaded to bring it under the Dominion of the King of \(P\) retura' in Seculars; and to this cnd, chey buils inftead of Timples and Relidences, Caftles and Forts, from which they could not be driven by Spears and Arrows to which Complaines, the King growing jealons, begun more calily to lifien: Yet Rill he Earied it fair to the Icfiits, and reccivid kindly a Bilhop fent from Rome. But when he granted Indulgences for the Jubilce in 1625 , fonc faid, iTVo can firgive Sins but God only? To whom the King anfuer'd, That she ufe of che Kos given to Pe ter, beirni'd so the Pope.

Howerce, the Succefs of the Laftaneers encourag'd the Vice-roy of Gojam to revolr, bur being taken, he was drubb'd to deach, and many cured, which made the colstifininiers delpair of Pardon, and onore refolute in chcir Rebellion: Whereupon the King marchd againft them with all his Forces, bur the Kocks where rbey lurkid, till they fell upon a Releat Party of the King's Forces, and defroy'd them. After which, the King fearing to be clos'd up, retired in haftc to Dember.
And now the \(\mathcal{F} c \int\) uits Enemies redoubled their Complaints, That there would never be peace in Ethiopin, fo long as the Romifs Religion bore fway; and that it would be more expedient ro retain the ancient Ceremonies which werc not contrary to Faith: By: which, and fuch-like Suggeftions, the King was at laft prevail'd upon to prefs Aletaden, to remir as Ear as he could; which to fave all, he confented to, bur upon condicion, that nothing fhould be remitred by publick Acts, buit by tacit Connivance. But when che King put forth an Ediet granting the ufe of all ancient Ceremonies not repugnant to Faith, he was fliarply reprovid by Mcndez for meddling with Spiritual Affairs: At latt it was agreed by fome of the Fathers, Thar the ancient Liturgy but corre 3 cd, hould be read in the Mafs, that their Feftiwals thould be kept at the ufual time, except Enfter, and thofe that depend upon it: That any one inftead of the Sabbath, might faft on the fourth Holy-day: And the King anfwer'd Menden, that his Religion was not intro duc'd by preaching and Miracles, burby his own Edies and therefore he had no reafon to complain of his. Edict But thece Conceffions did, nor pacify the Laftanecrs, nor any orher of che difiontented Parties.
We have feen the great Progrefs of the Roman Religior che de creat of the on nemun Reli. ro the highett pitch, the Jefuics favourd by the King forraion of his Brocher, aud many of the Nobility, exercifing thei the alkxan. and Chappels, encreafing their number to 21 Compani ons, and corverting many thoufands of the People But while they were thinking of abrogating all che ancient Rites, behold a ivaden changeenlued, upon which they pere barimd, and their Kergion lubyerted: For the King. tho otherwife moft addicted to them, yer be ing wary with the Complaints of his People, and the Importunitics of his Friends, rooubled witha Jealoufy o his Brocher, the Contumacy of the Lajfaneers, the \(D_{i}\) minurion of his Prerogative, and the dread of lofing his Kingdoms, at length began to think of abrogating the Roman and rettoring the Alexandrian Worthip: And which was to be admird, a profperous Fight againt the Cataneer, was chat which fetted his wavering thoughts or having given them a sotal rout by killing 8000 upon dic place, he was carried by fome of the Favourerio the old Religion, to fee the multitude of the than, who chus berpake him.

- Thefe Sir are neither Henthens nor Nithomerans, whom yor fee herc llain, bur Chrijkians, onec your Subjects and our dear Country-men, and with the fane Sword thar Raysthem, you ftab your own Eowels, for they bear no hatred to you, but only are avcres to that Worthip to which you would compel them: Therefore forbear we beicech you, to conftrain them to Novericis for which we are calld Apoltares.

To thefe Importunigics the Queen join'd her powerful Charms, conjuring him hy the common Pledges of their Love, nos to suin his Kingdom, himfelf, and his Family, with whom his cldeft Son Bnilidics, and his Brnher famentex, joind by This sarnett Prayers. At length che King's Mind being mollified, Binfitides fummond a Meering of the Nobility and chief Councellors, whercin it was concluded, that there was no othetRemedy for the procent Diforders of the Kingdom, but liy retoring the Alexandian Relipion; and the berter to perwade chofe of the contrary Opinion, they gave is out, that the Remans and dilexantirians agreed in peins of Faith: Thar both affirmid Chrift was rue God and cruc Man, and the Difference about one or two Niatures, was only a Queftion abour words, and not worth the ruin of a mighty Empire; whereupon the king gave berty to every one that pleasd, to return to the mexanitan Worfhip. The Parriarch with the chict of the Fathers hearing of thefe things, came and defired Audience of the King, which being granted, he rebuk'd him for aburing the Victories he had gaw'd by the Porrugur/c. to the prejudice of the Romifh Religion; for granting Tolera tion to che Alexandricn Wornip; for Apoftacy from that Religion which he had frecly cmbrace, and thiscatned him with the Indipnation of God, the Pope, and the King of Porsugal. To all which the King faid, That he had done what he could, bue nexer incended a total Alceration of Religion, bucisonly a Concefion of fome Ceremonies.
On the 24 th of \(\mathcal{F}\) une, the Favources of the old Religion address themfelves to the Emperour, and ben Rech him, That by a publick Edict, he would give his
 the King affented, and ordered cerrain Commifioners ofignify his pleafure to the Pacriarch; who xecurn'd anFwer, Thar a Difference thould be pur betwect thofe who had not embrac'd the Romi/h Religion, who might be connived at, and thofe who bad mabraca it to whom the libexty of returning to the old form of Wormip could not be granted without Sin. By which means Mender thoughr to pur a Bax upon the King and all we Court who had protels'd ue Remifh Religion. But the King made no other aniver than this, Hune san then be done, I amn uwo no norre Lord of my Kingdom: and prcently the Drums beat, Trumpers founaed, and Rrociamation was made;by the Crier. We firft propounded o you the Roman Religion, efteeming is the beft : but an innumerable multituce have perin'd thro' difike of it, and herefore we grant you che free exercife of the Religion of your Anceftors. 'This Edict was recciv'd with an univerfal loy among all forrs of People, and hencefonh the old Ceremonies were made ufe of in the Communion, and Grape-ftone Liquor infticad of Wine. A few days after a general Circumcifion was appointed, and the ancient manner of wathing upon the Feaft of Epiplany was us"d by fome to cleanic them from Romifh uperftition.
Afer the King's Edia was publifh'd, the Jeinits oftemb Churches were taken from them; and they were forc'd iniont:2 to leave their ftately Cathedral at Gorgora, from which pad demit bey carried - \(2 l l\) tbeir facred Furniture; having foild man witu heir Sculpeure and Pictores. Sulneus dying an December jivet: 1652, Ras-Seelax, the chief Favourer of the Remifh Religion, in which he concinued firm, was banifh'd, and his.Goods fequeftred, and all thar favoured the Jefuiss were eirher feut into exile or pur to death. Bur till the Laflancers. would not be quiet until the Fatbers were all rurnd our of Erbiopin; and therefore they were firf fent to Fremona, where their Goods and Arms, efpecially their Fire-arms, were taken from them; and aftror chat, being commanded by the King to remove from Fremone, they lurk'd for a while in a private Houfe, till thoy were pulld our thence by the Ears, and deliver'd 50 che Turks in May, 1034: For the Abofincs had heart, that they had fent for a Military: Power from hadia to orphtimp. Tho the King's Command to depart was general, adedfertix yet Mendezi lefr behind him reverral Jefuits, who lurk*'d. mporture of for fome time, but ar laft were raken, and moft of them meprinch hang'd. Mende: fpent a whole Xear among the barbaad ferfinim rous Turks ar Suriqucnm, in grear anguifh of mind, which was encreas'd by feeing the new Mecropolitan pals by, whohad in his Train one Pcter Heyling, a Lutheram, of grear Learning and Probity : When he mer Mendex at Sugquenn, he oppos'd feveral Opinions of the Romi/k Church, and expounded in Aratic to the Standers-by, what was faid on both fides; and being come to Abeffria, he was very acceptable to the King, who gave bim a Tcrn and all things neceffary. Thi Patriarch, after a long Captivity, redecm'd himiclf arid his Companiogs with 4000 Gciman Dollars, and ar hatt gor fafe to Gö́s; from whence he fent one 1 . clo into Porizyat, to give an astount of the Cad eflare of EEthippic, and decired a Military Aid to reftore him to his foft Sce. But all his Nepociations provid incffetwal, becaufe there was no confidcrable Parry in the King dom to alift any Forces thar flould be fent; for the King pur all to deach that favour'd the Rmman Farhers; which occafioned the tuin of many of the Nobilitity, and feveral Pricfts; and fearing lett the Porturuefe. Ihould invade his Dominions, he bribd the Bafthis foff Surquenc and Matzur, to deny entrance to any of the Franls. Thic Congregation for propagaring the Faith, hearing thar the Portugusfe were gcnerally od:ous, fent Gix Capuchin Friars, all Erencl-micn, with Letects of fafe conduct from the Emperour of the Tuwks, whereof four being killd in their Journcy to Atrfirita, the other two that ftay'd as Matzun, chofe rather to retrarn home shan fuffer Martyrdom to no purpofe. Yec hrice other Caparchines ventured to po to Suanuena, whence they fenr a Leetter to the \(A b\) fifine King, to congratulare him, and he in requital wrote to the Batha to fend him their Heads, whofe Skins being flea'd off, he fens, that by their colcur he mighr know them to be Frants, and by cheir thaving to be Priefts. \(M\) mader died in Indis in 1056 , fince whofe dearh we have no cerrain Relacions out of Abefinia: : But the Report of Tellez thar their King had embracid Turcifm, appears to be a Fiction, fince his Letters of the laft dare to Betroia begin witha Chriftian Preface, affer this Repor was rais'd.

Sectle their Religion, which fome of them had imprudently threarnce, and cherefore their Removal was baften'd.

\section*{Of the private Affars of the Abeffinians.}

\section*{of thir}

Befides facred Books, they have but very few' orhers, kexis and ane of which is calt'd the fitor of Kimgs, which feems ins to be that which is highiy. effecm'd as a fectond Gofpec, and is preferv'd in the Palace of \(A x u m n\), , whercin is \(x\) recorded che Hiftory of the Qucen of Sheba. They have allo a Chronicle cired by Clmendius in his Confetion of Faich; 2 Book of Philofophy, which is mach efteen'd; and a Vocabulary, whecrin the difffuit Words are expounded in the Aminaric, or Arabic Tongue. They meddle with no Studies, butthofe of their own leaxned Language and facred Marters. Mof tof them think is enough if they can read or write, which Children learn either Grom their Parexits, or che Monks, for a fmall Stipend. Theix mapner of adminiftring. Phyfrck is very xidiculous: They corre the Yellow-Jaundics by applying a red hor Iron to the upper-end of the Arm. In mont Diftempers cery onc ufes fuch Herbs as he has learnंd from his Pa Jeniss to be uffful. If the King be fick, they akk him what he ails, and if any one has been fick of the fame Difeafe', hc tellstrim whar did him good ; for they value not Phyficians and Apoothecaries. If a Plague breaks out, they fly from the Conragion with their Herds inro the Mountains. Terriam-Agucs they cure by applying the Cramp.Fifh, which is an unfpeakable torture to the Pacient. Wounds they cure by Myrrhe, which is very pleniful. They bave lintle fiell in Logick and Natural Phitofophy, as appears by cheir Drganum; but thej bx lieve the Soul immorral, becaufe it proceeds out of the Mooth of God, who breath'd it inco the Face of Adam: They deny Antipodes, fancying that fuch Reople would drop into Heaven; and when the Sun rifes and fets, they think that he gocs and comes thro' a certain kind of Window ; bur how ir gets under the Earth thcy ate not follieitois. As to the liberal Ars, they love Poefy above the reft, but only that which is Divine; for all proplane Verfes they hate, which treat of Heatheci \(F_{2}\) hes, as being the Foot-fteps of Idolatry: They covet learnag, and were earneft with the Jeffirs ro tcach theieir Children the 'Latin Tongue; but thicy penerally team Langrages by Converfle, efpecially : the Arabic," in which Language the King writes his Letters to foreign Princes. Privarc Perfons feldom write Letters; Lint if they bave a mind to write, they 80 to the Scribe of the Province, who writes an Eipinte for a finall rmater.
The Abefines marry every cne of their Wives iafterion the Cbrititian manner, neither is Pulygam", prohitited dite by the Civil, but the Ecclefiaftical Law which doci, admar thofe who have more Wives to the Comuminan min... and the fame liberty they take to pur away their Wise, as to marry them. They have no nuptial. Curenomiss worth the mentioning, only the Sacertoial Bencdiction is nececfary to cyery Wedding. Their Dice is very dinitirenc from ours, for they feed cither upon raw Fleth, or that which is half boild. Inttcad of Sarce theytufie Gall, which pleafes thern betrer than Honey. They covet, as a Daincy, che Grafs and Green kerts, which ther find in the Maws of the Beafts thicy kill. Thicir Rtcal they bake upon Embers, made in the Eanion of tha Tancakes. Many of them live only upon Grazitp; hcir Fiocks and Herds arc.rncir only liidhes; they lat their Flefh and drink thcir Milk:, When they retire tuth Rocks they carry with them threc or four Goats,n whitis. Milk they fubfint. Thair Women grind their Corn wid a Wooden Pettle, and make Brcad of the Flower; ahd where the Air is remperate they have good Butcer and. Checfe. After Dinner they fall to drinking, and never give over till the Drink be all out. They inake excellenc Hydromel, by reafon of their plenty of Honcy, and for chcir Families they mix Warcer with it. They havte another fort of Liquor, made of their Fruits, which is like Alle, being white and fweec.
Thcir Apparel is very mean and poor ; thcir Princes only wear Silk, the Clergy and richer forc only make ufe of Cotton; the poorer fort cover themfelves with Skins, which hardly hide their Privitics, which is commonin alfo among fome of their Nobility and Priefts, who thiuk it no fcandal ro appear in Church or Chancel withour Brecches.-The Boys and Girls go fark 1 naked, rill riper Xears calls upon them to hide their Shame. They are very curious in dreefing their Hair, for they not only curl is, but anoinc it with Butcer, and left is flould be rimpled in the Nighr; they reft their Heads on a forked tick, preferxing their Pride before Pain. Nor does thcir Poverty appear lefs in their Houles; for they chat follow dhe Camp, live cither in, Tencs of Huts made of Reedsand Rubbifh, daub'd over with Clay or Lome, and corered with Straw or Sedge, which they leave behind them, when they remove their Caunp, and their Villages are built afrer the fawe mamper.
They make a doleful Lamenration for the dead; for when they hear of thic Death of any greac Perfon or dear Friend; they proftrate themfelves on the Ground, and knock their Heads againft ir: Their King and grear Men are buried wich much pomp, and evcry one ufes all means to excitce Tears, and che Relationsare clad int tarter'd Habits inftead of Mourning. They afe nio peculiar Service before the Body is haid in the Grave only fome Monks fanding before tite. Church-donr, read few of. Drvid's Pralms.
They want very mich Handycraft-Trades, whercby they are deftiture of many Conveniences of human of theri \(M\). Liff, which we enjoy. The fechs are almoft the only chanickAris Weavers of Cotton and the beft Souichs among then and Trade. who make the Heats of Speiss in wral ong them of Iron. - As for other things, every one takes carc to fupply his own Wancs, either 6 b his 'own, or the Pains of his Scrvants, which is cafily done where they ute 10 itrcle. They have no Guilds of Tradefmen among them, but whatever any one profeffics, that he rcaches his Children, and to the Trumpecers and Horn-winders are all of the fame Family, and live apaxt by themifelves. They were formerly fkill'd in Archirceture, as appeaxs by their magnificent Temples, and the King's Palace ar Axuma ; but fincerthey were engagd in Wars, this way of building is quite difus'd. but the Jefuirs, having rought Archirects. wich them from It:dits builc many Churches and Crappels of Stoine and Morrar, to the great dread of the Abefincs, who look'd upon 工hem as \(\sigma\) many Fores ant Caftles, and Peter Pays builcã̃iadmirable Palace for the King.
The Abeffines care not to titir out of their own Coun-of their TT, being ignotant of foreign Languages, and the waysiouncess and of Exchante, and keeping Correlpondence. Formerly Tavelilig They is'd holy Pilgtimages to Ferufiltm, and foback apain to Rome, when the Mamalulyeswere Lords of Egyof; burt fince thè Tarks were poffers'd of ir, thcy fo opreefsed Travellers with. cheir Exactions, thar the Aboffines very rately rifi 3exufatem. In their traveling they only thike que of Milutes, for tro other Createre can climb over the "ctaggy Roctos and Mountrians; bur cheis Horfes

Fff: \({ }^{2}\)
they frefrrve fur War and Racing. The Great and to Suefo, a Port upon the Red-Scr, from whence they fril and Ricll carry all thcir Houllold scuff along with them, to cidda, another Port, and thence they fail again for and kindle Fircs altout them to fare the wild Beaffs. \{o long, they fail againf the Stream from Cutiov to Coblyed The poorer fort when they travel, beg upon the Road, then by Land they travel to Gidda in two Davs, and for there is neither Inn nor Cook's Shop to be found, thence to acciry in which gave nccation to a pleafint Rallage at Rome. for Gidda, and fo to Surquenc. This is the way the McsWhen the db fiecs newly arriv'd from the Ealt, they were tropolitans take, with whom is the fafeft travelling, if invited by a Cook into his Shop ; who bclicring all Invitation to be made Grate, wens into the Shop, and checrfully accepted what was fet before them; but at lengrh, when they were gningaway, they confulted liow to recurn thanks to fo kind an Hoft for his noble Trear, which one of them did with a very good grase in a fet Speech : To which the Cook lifted a while, but hearing nothing of Moncy, withont any refpeat to their finooch l.anguage and graceful Delivery; Gentlemen, faid he, wlop pays? the ALefines like Men altoxillid made anfwer, Thes tbey came not into bis Sbop of ticicir own ac-and Mcat before them, he never bargaind for cny Money, for that pes the very tiing they wanted. But all this would nor fatisfy the Cook, who fore'd them to leave their Cloaks in pawn, which were aferwards redecen'd at the Pope's Charity. The dbefinesthemfelves are very hofpitable ; for in their Villages they appoint the chicfect of ethe Inhabitants for relief of the Roor; which Cuftom Was ancicnely wis'd in feveral Chriftian Countrics.

The way from Erppe to Abefiniz is troublefome to Travellers, and fubject to many Dangers. by the Extortions of the Turk.s, and the-Robberies of ceveral vagabond Narions thro' which they muft pals \(:\) Yer there are reveral Troops of Merchants, who fetring our from Grand Cairo, are carricd up the Nilc againft the Stream as far is Monfallof, and thence rravelling in Caravans firft come to Sijut, and fo in order to the following Towns, Whach, Mcks, Scheb, Sellim, Mof Chn, Dungala, which laft is accounted the Mextopolis of Nubia: Then they come into the Kingdom of Sermar, under a Mabrmetem Prince. From Dungala therefore they wavel to K-shabi, Korfi, Trere, Gerri, Helfage, Arbarg, Sennar. In travelling from Wracha to Sennar, the Merchants ftaring in many places about the Affairs of thcir Traffick, commonly (pend three whole Monchs, tho' it mighr be done ina far thortectime. From Sennar in i4 days they arrive at the Confines of Abeffinia, into which they enter by Thelga: But the fafeft and fhorteft Cut is thro' the Red-See, if you can agree with the Turks; which Paffage is two-fold ; for either the Merchants fet our from Cairo any Eurgopeans defixe to vilic Abaflia. A Man may reacli rom Gucndra to Sungucna in a Fort-night, and from thence in 40 or 50 Days to Grand Cairo by Land 6 that to cravel from the Royal Camp to Cairo will take up direc Monchs.
The Arabians who inhabic the Rorts of the Rect-Sec, of efpecially the Mabomernus, are the chicf Merchants in man Vbefinita; for bcing of the fame Religion, they have the rextres rree liberry of all the Rorss of the Red-Sef: Nexs to them the drmenians, who do nor much differ from its Sbefines in their Worthip, bave the greatee Trat ocing the grear Dealers in all parts of the World. They umport fundry forts of Commodities, bege carry out all the Gold : And becaufe there is no Moncy coin'd in Eithicp:ar, the filly ignorant fort of People, finding theiz Gold among the Sand, or at the Roors of Tres, les go again ar low rates; for if the Merchants deny ist to oc good, they exchange is for as much as they can ger, withour quectioning the Merchants Exception. But the Nobility and richer fort carry a Touch-Srone alwais abour them, with which they try their Gold, weigh it our, and fay it by the Ounce; which in Etriopiz amouncs to the valac of a Spanib Pectacsoom, or an lm perial Dollar. The Exchange in Absfinia is made with ron formetimes, bur chiefly for Sale hewn our of the Mountains, with which you may purchafe all things; and in che remotc parts you may buy a good Mule tor and in the temmotc parts you two or three Bricks of Salt.
The Commodicics imported are Bablonian Garments of alt fors, Velver, Silken, but chicfly Woollici and Fuftian, which the grear Men wear inftead of Purple, having now loft the tkill of dying it. Spices, and cipco, cially Pepper, they covet to feafon rhcir infipid Diet. Wares for Exporration they have few befides Gold, Skins, Hides, Wax, Honcy, and Ivory; many more they might have if their Kings did encourage Traffick and Merchandizing; for which end they flould learn the Letin Tongue, with the Addition of our Arrs and Handicraft Trades, which would advance the Affais of thefe poor Chrifians to a more flourihing ftate, and weaken the ftrength of the Barbericons.

Sir Thomas Herbert Baronet, his Travels, begun in 1626, into divers parts of Africa and Afra Major, in which the two famous Monarchies of the Mogul and Perfan are principally defcrib'd, with what is remarkable in thofe places from other Authors in Purchafs, &c.

\section*{Chat XX.}

\section*{Sir Thomas Herbert's Travels from England to Goa in the Eaft-Indies.}

SIR. Tlio: Kierbert, Bar. with five Ships befides Cornvatl, from whence to the Cape of Good Hope, theF. his own, embarked at Denl near Dooer on Lady- compure their Longitude, and not from the Azores, which day ( famons that Year for being the Feaft as' is the firft Meridian. well of the Son as Mother) in the Year 1626.5 On April the third, they gor gight of Porto Santo, or partsian. In a few Hours coafting the Ine of Wigbe (in Brittifh, the Holy Port (calld Cerne by Prolomy) commanded by decribit, Gwidth, i. ecut off or feen ar a diftance, and by Plimg the Spaniards, and lying in 33 Dcg as alfo of the Vedir, as it is by Eutropius call'd VeEta) they came Mndera's (i.e. Ifes of Wood) twelve Leagues S. W. from to the Lizard's Point, which is the utmof Promontory of Porto Sando, and 70 from the Canaries. Porto Santo was difcover'd hy Pereftrallus, Anno 1 149, and kiven himn to people; but he found is difficult to build there, hecaufe the Concys had fo caved the Ground. It is 25 Miles in compalis, and fruitful in Wheas, Rye, Rice Oxcn, Shcep, Boars, Concys, Sanguis Draconum, Fruirs, Flowers, and Grapes.
The Canarics, fo call'd from the Multitude, Mannorum fiartid Canorum, laith Pliny, L. 6. C. 32. wore firf difoycred by one Machan, an Englifh-man, by whofe Dixections it was conquered two Ycars a feer by \(L\) cewo de Corricio, in 1230, fent thither by the Commifion of Pedro, King of itragon ; bur Fohm MI. King of Caflitc, foon wrefted then from him, and loft chem a litele after to the French, from whom Doin Henrico, Lufane of Spain, zook dlem, and united them to the Spanib Monarchy, in whofe fubjection they ftill remain. Thecic lllands ( calld by Plazo, rid.c. ) are from the, Morocco, or Lilyan Contingnt 20 Leaguss, and from Spain 200. They are cordmonly numbred feych, and were ancicnely called Canaria, Ciprarian, Nivcria, Junoma, Ombria or Rliuvialin, Apf/ita, or Fratiz Lancect, and Cafp.tia, or Fortsunnta; but now ticy are denominated, Canaria, La Palma, Teneriffra Lentecocef; IHicrro, La Gomera, and Fortevennturra. In an ciens cinics the Prople knew no God but Nature, werc ig. noraur of the ufe of Fire, fhaved wich Flinr-ftones, gave their Childeren to be nurfed by Goats, tilled the Earth with Ox's Horns, hated the laughter of Bcafts, ufed Women in common, had no propecty of Goods, lived in Woods, eat noching but Herbss y yer fome had glimmerings of the Immorcaliey of the Soul, for they wathcu therr. Dead, and pur chem in a Cave, with a Scaff in one Hand; and a Pail of Milk and Wine fet by chcm ro comfors and fuppors rhem in their Journcy to Paradife. They are now civilized, and profects Popery, and treppisis the Inquifintion keeps all Protectants from them. The arbid abounds with Goacs, Beeff, AIcs, Hogs, Barly, Rye, Rice, variery of Flowers, Grapss, and ocher excillent Eruie, as allo Ingenio's; or Sugar-houres, wherc they grind their Canes, and make Sugar. It is abour 50 Miles Diammerex, and has at the Sourth end a large Bay and 18 from Lancerota.
G. s.Crue canary tor thabiranes. Its chicf Tawns are tom of the Hill called Gagrua, which nlands at the bottam of the Hill called Garrachicr. This Town excceds Grapes, yiedding yearly, as fome fay, 28000 : Buts of , Mhe. Mouncain is faid to be 15 Miles highby moft, but by Scatiger 6o, and by one Nichols an Englifoarif. man, who lived there fome time, 47, bur they mult mean by the oblique Afcent; for Varennius fays, tis bur four Miles 15 Furlongs perpendicular. Nevertbelefs it lits up its lonfy topen cota, 1ohigh, that it is fcen inclear weather 120 Miles. Af the bottom of ir is plenty of Wood, in the mizdle Snow, and on the top Flames, the Vcins of Brimftone buming, which the Pcople call the Devil's Cauldron. It is about thirteen Leaguc's from Grend Canary, and 20 from La Ralmas; five from Gomera, 75 from \(A\) frick, and 70 from Madert. In old times they ufed to embalm their dead, and lay them in deep Cayes, fome ftanding; ochers lying, and in fuch likedif ferent Pofturce. Their Dormitories were reputed very venerable, and rarely fcen but by permifion.
Hicrro or Ferrain bears S.S. W. from Grand Cenaria, and appears very high to the Ships thar pals by: Ir ister Leagues from la Raima, and not above fix Leagues in compals. It is famous for one Tree, call'd by the N jives Garo, and by the so fref Water to all che Inhabiants: Ir is darkenned with a cloudy mift fome part of the day, which cafts fuch a plentiful. Dew upon the Leares, as diftils in Streams of clear Iweet drops into large fone Cifteris, capacions enough to furnith not only the People, but all the Cartle in the llland wirh water ; to that they never drink o Rivers or Ponds. This feems miraculous, but in \(S\). Tho mads Illand, which lies under the Line, moft of the Tres have the fame property
La.Palma is very high and woody
Fortecenturc is is Leagues long and 8 broad, and near Lancerotef, which is lefsthan Teneriffe. Thefer wollands were taken by the Exglif. in is \(\mathrm{S} \varphi 5\), and the other by the Dutch after, which has orcafioutd them both to be berter foritifed.
Twixera is fix Leagues from Teneriffa, and eight long called Lobos, and by Lancerota, two other finall lacs and
```

iRes offalosi irititufu, x.d

``` Aiscrumb. O On the Eart of thele lifles ly Frivand and Morcreo, which are part of Mauritani. Xingsitana, io calid froin Tangier, a confidcrable Tówn upon the dirican Coant, oppofite to Gibratar in Spain, which refemble Doner and Callis, and ave a like influcnce upon that narrow Streight.
The nindh of April they crof's'd thic Tropick of Cancer, the Tr pite which is of like diftance from the 应guator, as the ut-or C hitr. moft Limits of the Temperate Zone from che Pole. It is fo called from the Sun' srcturning from that fign in - \(w\) like a Crab, which gocs backward.
On the xuth they cance under the Sun, being in 1 Degrecs North, and on the 18 th were in fighr of Cap Verd, called by Pliny, Hefperion Cornu, or Heferi Kcr Cripe verti and by the Eerbiopians, Bifcicer and Manidanfar.
On the anf, he came fo far in the Torril Zone, that the Sun darcing our its ffery Beanns, the Air fecnicd it oc inflamed, the Sca warm, and Sliips fulphurcous, fo that they all fwcat and broiled, and were unable to fleep reft, car, or drink, which continued frven days, and then an abortive Clond fenc downa a ftinking Rain, not in moderate Drops, but fo imperuoully, as would fink \(x\) Ship, if it came under the Dins of it; and immediatcly as foon as it canc into the Sca, a Whirlwind aroof which much endanger'd their Ships, bur a prof ferous gale con pofted them ont of harm's way, and carried then beyond the Equinoctial: under the Line the hear is nor o unfufferable, as in many places more, remore, becaufe here are contant Breczes roward Sun-fet, and the Nights being equal to the Daxs, are ordinarily very dewy, which much abates the hear of the day; herides, they have two Winters, and in their hotectit Weathicr they zail not of orher Breczes at ninc in the Morning, an? four in the Afternoon, and rainat Noon.
May rhe 6th, they came to Santo Croix, Thicre the Santo Creix entcr into the Manzoon, or Anniverfary Wind, which blows for fix Months togecther conftandy from one Point, begianing cxactly from the Sun's entrance into a fign uf he Zodinct, and fo continuing, till it enters info the conrary Degree,when it begins to blow che contrary way, and olds au long.
May the sth, they came into cight Deg. Antarctick Latitude, having the Monomotrpan Coaft on the one hide, and che Braffitan on the other: The /ffrit' Shoar Tis iffim ninc & Manicongo, Loanga, Monomo:cpe, Bencmoortha Meple un Rad Caffena, full of black Wrecthcs, without Law and jese it, a. Religion, bur rich in Earth, abounding with the beft Mincrals and Elephants, living wpon Rapine and Villany and worlhipping Mckijfes, Fetcfiors, and desiomes loals of Deviis, in hapess of Dragons, Goars, Owls, Bats, Snakes, Dogs, Cats, and whatcercr their Wirches urge them to, in the moft infernal poftures, garing hooping, groveling, foiling and difcolouring their Car kafies with Jvice of Herbs, Rice, Roots, and Fruit. The Women defic the New-Mooin cvery Month, by hewing thcir naked Bunns to her, and the Men complying with them, thootheir Arrows againit it. A Dog was of that value once with them, that 20 Negroes rexe raid of werc exchanged for que: but now chay make a berters extirgsiaref: Marker of them, to Rend chrir Slaycs to the Choribce Mands, and orher parts of America; a Trade by which tis to be feared Chriftians will make bur lietle gain, fince they have no care of converting their Souls, fuch Mer cliandize being a great Sin among Chriftians, tho prattis'd by fropsand Geniles. Their Coin is a fort of Tampom, or Shells, Glafs, Beads, Stoncs; and fuch like ralh. They marry nor, and bury thus: They wanh pant, and apparcl the Dcad, and lay them in a foacious Dormitory, with their Armolets and Bracelces. They circle the Grave with mimick Geftures and Ejaculations, concluding with the Sacrifice of a lutty Goat.
In Locnga and Anziguiz, which lie under the 厄fquaror, he Pcople are, as mi Colour to in Conditio ther than Devils incarnare ; for not fatisfied with the ood Nature has provided for them, they derour Man's Ieh with a Vultur's Appetite, killing their Neighbouring Nations; and if they fail of them, Alaughecring heir Friendy who fometimes to cafe themflel ves of Troubles or Difeates, will offer chemfelves to the Knife; and as thicy delight in it themrelves, fo they offer it to their Gods. Nothing is fo commendable in them 25 thcir Theirarctia Archery, in which they excil. for they'll moor up ar ard other dozen Arrows before the firt falls to the Ground other Arms are Clubs and Darts, long and Tmall, Ind other. Arms are Clubs and Darrs, long and fmall, barbed with frca, very faup and bright, and lometimes poifoned with the Sap or juice of the Quacumbirren-Tree, which is like Milk, but very venomous.

THesmond．The Miconda－Trec is high and thick，rwelve Fathoms bour，yot \(\mathrm{GO}_{0}\) porous as to be of no wic for building． The only Ornaments they have is to dath and pink their Faces and Skins．The Sun and Moon are repurcd Man and Wife，and the Stars their Childsen，in their Reli－ gion；the Devil is their Oracle．They bave ftore of Gold，but we Shells for Coin，which they call Simbo． they are foumt near the Mand of Lannda，in cight Deg． Soith，and tho＇they are of fuall value elfewhere，yet here they are of great price． the renpiak Miay titr．They croft the Tropick of Capricorn，in \(2+\) Degrees of Sourh Lariende，and were driven upon the Coalt of \(\dot{s}\) effil．
Runtres．
In a ferenc，Air，a Bird called a Fonby，pearched upon the Yard－arm of the Ship，and fuffered the Men to rake them，which noahes their fimplicity a Proverb；but they foon came uncer a Storm，int which the Lighraing hung abous the Tards and tarkling of the Ship．Of old，the cirokecallad fuch Fircs Cathor and pollux，and beliced， that ree or three of them betokenct Stoms and Ship－ wark，hut two forctel blalcyon Weather，and fafcty； but litt＇c can be gathered from fich Exhalations，which are natural．
Fine 24，they raifed the Pole Antartick 36 Deg．at whith rime their Longitude from the Liander was 25 Lee．withinetrice Min．In Englithd is was then Mid－ fummer，bue there Mid－winter，being near the Ah－ Hall ：Berimes in the Morning they difoovered by the s．is．fer，or Sea－Weeds they faw athoat，they were near the Cape，which they difcricd next Morning，tho ir Mules diftant，being an high Land：but the Wind not favouring them，they could nor reach ir，bur caft their Anchor it Leagues fliort of Soldenic－Bay；before a fimall inc calld Concyline，fo called from the abunange of bi．e tirong Micar：Here arc alfo found abour this Ifland out frong Micas：Here are aloo tound abour this liland an ab：ndance of Pengwins，or whice Birds from their Corm：Thefe Birdsof all other go the mof exact in Ge：motion，their Wings＇or Fins hanging down like Slecres，covered with down inftead of Eeathers，their I cestleing of more ufe to them than their Wings；they ced on Fihnar Sea and Grals on Shoar，and have Holes in the Farth to live in like Coneys．They are a degene－ rate Dîth，uting both Sca and Land，the one to breed in and the orince to feed in．They are very oily and far， and fome adventure to cat them，but not wifely．
Sak，or On thene Coafts are allo great numbers of Scals on fort of Matilives，and fomerhing like them in vifage lut heir barking is like the bellowing of Bulls．They alfo are amphibious Animals，and cqually ufe the land and Water：\(\because\) and tho＇they are eafily killd if one inter－ pole between them and the Sea，yet being patt one，they bave fuch an Art of cafting back Stoncs upon their Pur－ Sices，that they endaneer chem．They are too oily to be nod Food，but cheir Skins being tanned，are very vifeful
I，caving this Ille，they came to another called Pengrin－ ule，from the multicude of thofe Birds．In their way they faw many Whales forting in the Ocean，and in waitunnefs fuzzing up the Water thro＇cheir Pipes and Vents，which nature bas placed on their Shoulders：Some hacy guctied ro be 6 c Foor long from head to tail，their Heads being well rieigha fourth，their Mourchs being little lefs than ten Foot wide，and their Tongue proportio－ nabie ；but their Eycs no bigger than an Apple ：their Body＇is thick and round，and the Savages eat them， but Merchants cover them for profic，one ufually afford－ ing twelve Tun of Oyl．They engender by applying Belly to Belly，and bxing forth but one at a Birth，like Eleplants．
－ramiatay \(\mathcal{f}\) tuly the firft，they came to an Anchor in Soldania－Bay defetred．To call＇d from intonio Snliania，a Portugueze：It is 12 I cagues thort of the Cape of Good Hope of a femicir－ cular form，hoth large and fafe，and affords good An－ chorage：The I and near the Shoar is low and fruirful， but five Miles from the Cape it is mountainous and bar－ ren，and from the Hills＇tis cafy to fee to the end of the Cape，as alfo the Capes Falfo and D Aguilles，wifich are feparated from each other by large Bays，but incon－ Fenicnt to anchorin．From there Mountains defcends a friall but pleafant Stream of fweer Water into the Bay of Soldanic，which is very refrefling to the Bowels of the Sca－men intlicfe hor Countries：
The whole Councry of Africl is a Peninfula，joind to Dinticat the Concinent Ey an Ifthmus of Land of 20 Leagues， which divides the Rid－Seafrom ric Mediterranean．The Equinoctial－Line divides it into two parts，the inwardand cutward，as Homer calls them，bur as others，the greater and lefler，which are cither of them near as hig as \(1 / 2 \mathrm{~m}\) ropr．In length is rans from North to Soluth，from Tangicr（called anciently Fulia Traducta，and Tim，n C．cfaria，from whence that part of Meturitanis is．callid Tingitma）to the Cape de Boni Speran？- ，from the \(3 i\) Deg． 50 Min．Northern Latitude，to the 34 Ucf．So： thern， \(4^{200}\) Miles；and in breath，from Cape \(V_{c o l}\) in the Atlantick Occan，to Cape Guardefu in Eirincio ia neat the Red－Sen，2000．The name Africa is taken cither 1 wa 1 from＇Aplier，one of the pofterity of Abraban，by Wretrat，or from eo aqurn，cold，becat．fe it feels no Winter，as other Countries do．The \(H 1\) lirems call it Cham and Clims．Leo divides it into four parts；Ba lay， Numidia，Libra，and Nif itarumi frat：To which we muft add Fchiopin，which contains the bigect loft of Africa，as well as Afia；for it comprehended the three Araluas and India．That in tfritk is divided into the
 the North，the Rad－Sea on the Ealt，and lifhat on the Weft；and che Infetior，which extends it feif from the庆quinoctial Southerly to the Cape of Gand Hp：buin on the Eaft and Weft circumfriicedby the Occan．This vedem， famous Cape ciectecs the Antaretick Pole 34.0 cg ．and 3 Min．Laticude， 28 Longitude，from the Meridimiof the lizzard，and 43 from the Azores．From the Lan＇s－ end of Cornwatl＇＇tis 6600 End／f／4M：les，from the greater Tave \(55^{\circ} 50\) ，from Suras 5400 ，and from Sr．Hilent，which is S．E．from it， 8800 ．This Cape was firt difooverd by Vefode Ciama or Barthelatneos de Dyns，an eminent Pa－ turuefe，in 4977 ，feveral Xears before Celumiens Eare－ ition．
The Soil abour ir is exceeding good，being covered at the tath aft rimes with Grafs，and diapcred with Flowers and Herbs，as Agrimony，Berony，Mant，Calamint，Sonrel， Scabious，Spinage，Thyme，Cardus Bencdictus，Colo－ quintida，and many others．
The Rivers yicld \(\mathfrak{r a r i c t y}\) of Fifi，as Troars，Peke， Pickerel．Tench，and Ecls；Shelfin，as Crabs，Lob－ ficrs，Rock－fifh，Craw－fin，Cockles，Mufcles，I ympir and Tortoifes，which are finall，but curiouly coloured， very good Oyfters，Thom－backs，Gudgeons，and other Sea－filh，which are taken at the Flood in the freft \(W_{2}\)－ The Moantains are nor without Marchafits and Mi－Mire nerals，but they are to be gained only by clofe fearch．
The Country affords alfo plenty of Beafts of divers bis Corts，as Buiffalo＇s，large Cows with bunched Backs， Sheep with long Ears like Hounds，red Dear，Antelopes as large as Srags，Apes and Baboons of extraordinary fizes and colonrs，Lions，Panthers，Pards，Jachalls， Wolves，Dogs；Cats，Hars，Zebrxe or Pide－Hores， Elephants，Camels，Unicorns．
Grear ftore of Birds，as Hens；Geefe，Turkers，B cis Pengwins，Crows，Gulls，Thrufhes，Phefants，Pelicans， Srorks，Oftriches；Pintado＇s，Altacraces，Vultures，Ea－ gles，Cranes，Cormorants，or Sea－Crows，which harefo quick a fmell，thar after Battles they will fcent the Car－ kaffes many Miles．Here are－alfo ftore of thofe beanti－ ful Birds call＇d Pafobe－Fteminnocts，but by the Arabiens Pafthe Rechamis，whofe Feachers are crimon and whire，as Ezmingi， pure as can be imagined．
The Narives are propogated from Cham，and inherit 1 nepep his Curfe；their Starure is mean，rheir Colour blackifh，Fidifin their Faces very thin，bur well proportionate in thcir Limbs，which they pink and cur in feveral hapes，as their Fancies lead them for Orniment；their Heads are commonily long，their Hair wooly and crifp．Some mave all cheir Heads，others half，and orthers teave only thir orn a Tuft on the Crown for ornaménit．but moft adorn their mati Heads inftead of Thaving！with Spur－rowels，Brais Bur－ tons，pieces of Pewiect，Beads of fencral forts，which they get of the Saylers for Mution，Beef，Herbs；Oftri－ ches Eggs；and Tortoife－mells．Abour their Arms and Legs they wear：Chains of Copper，Braf，and fron， with pieces of Ivory，and about their Necks they war the raw Guts of Beafts，which they affo ear；the reft of their Body is naked，Gave that about cheir Wafte they have a Thong of leather，which like the back of a Glove，lenves to cover their ：Pulenta．The better fort Tharichas wear Liods and Panthers Skins，as allo Leopards，Ba－ing： boons，Calf or Sheep Skins，with their Hair tumed in－ ward：Upon their Feer they wear a Sole，or piece of Learber tied with alirtle ftrap，which trey bold in their Hands while they fir，thar they may fleal with their Feet，which they win do very dextroully，white they look sou in the Face，and think it no Crime．Sone of them are Semi－Eunuchs，and fome Women ufe Ex－

\section*{cifon．}

They live in Caves，car Locufts twith Salt，and will thei min riffe the Graves to feed on the dead Bodies：They ne ther antion and when dead，to avoid the Shark and other voracious Fill，carry them athoar and bury thein：they were glad of the company of there Ships，and purfued them many hundred Miles．
Six Leagucs from this Land，N．E．is one of the Incs of Cinmero，c．lled Meyortcy，fcared North of Madagifear， and by it are four more，which bear the fame mane hut are cilld parricularly Mcottr，jo jeama，Moholio；and riazitit．Each of then is very ferviceable for retienth－ ing Sea－men，in that they abound with delicare Fruits and Catele，which they cell at cifice rates．Nons of them ate above an hundred Miles in compars．
Cumpre．Cibumro is the higheit and bect land，and is full of D＇alneto－Trees；but the P＇cople are perficious；for fome Eenglifl－men being invited a－hoar by them out of the Ship Penciope，for Warer and other Refrelhments，were treacheroufly flain by the Inhabitants．
Joonna．\(\quad \mathcal{3} 3 n n \pi\) is inlabited by a berter Pcople，that may be trufted，and governed by \(a\) King，tho foncthing tyran－ nical．About this lde are Sca－Tortoifes，which differ arty．not much from the Land，bur their Shells are fomething flatur：By orerturning them they are cafily raken，bus their Ficth is waterith，and caufes Fluxes．They have neither Tongue，nor Teerh，fuperabound in Eggs， fone of them having near 2coo，palc and round，and not cafily made hard by much boiling．They cover their Engs by the Sand，and the Sun harcheth them： fuch as have froing Appetites will cat them，but there can be no prevailing motive to is but famine or no：elry．
The Mar．The Mannates，or Cow－Fith，is allo found in thefs
 fich tafte，xcfembling Veal，which alfo it thews like； the Face is like a thrivelled Buffalo or Cow，the Eyes are fmall and round，and has hard Gums inftead of Tcedh ；the Intrals alfo are like a Cow＇s：there is a Stone generated in the Head，which is very valuable，be－
A Phypical ing a foreraign remedy（as fome reporr）againft Cho lick，Sronc－Cholick，and Dyfentery，being bear fimall，infured in Winc，and drunk fafting ：the Body of this Fifh is three Yards long and one broad，thick－ 1 kinned，and without Scales，narrow cowards the Tail， which is rery nervous，alow in fwimming becanfe in wants Fins，in liew of which it has two Paps，which it can ufce cither to fuckle its young withal，or creep afhoar，where is grazes，and where it delights to lie and ncep；for ir can＇t kecp half an Hour under Water．It is yery teachable and apt ro be made tame，being famed like the Lizzard for their love to Man，whofe Face they delighe to look upon，and in weaknels have refrefhed them：
The Carvel Thic Caryell，or Sca－Spider floats upon the Surface of oryst－Spider the Ocean like 2 Foam，is of a globous form，throw abroad her ftrings like to many lines，which fhe can fpread at pleafure，and angle with them for fmall Fin ， which by them the carches；when the finds her Web too weak，he blows an infectious breach，and feems armed with，fuch a Sting，as if the had borrowed is of the Scorpion．

September the itth，they came to an Anchor on the Weit fide of Mabelia，a Bow－fhot from a fmall Village of Straw，callcd Merianguy，governed by a Sha－Bander， named Alicufary，a black big－boned Man，and i．Mabo metan by profefion，ly and crafty in bartering Victuals and Eruits for Commodities．Mobelis lies in 12 Deg． 15 Min ．Sourhern Latioude，and 24 Deg．Longirude from the Meridian of the Cape of Good Hope：In is about 60 Milesin compals：the Coalts rife gently，bor the Int lands are mountainous and woody．The Villages lic difperfed up and down the Country，bur the Houles are tharched with Reeds and Straw，fitted to the Torrid Zone．The Inhabitants are a mixture of Mabometan and Gentiles，who worlhip the Sun chiefly．The Portr－ gueze have lately preached Christianity here，but have bur fow Profelytes ：they call their King Sultan ：their I anguage is 2 mixture of Arabick and Portigueze＝the People are perfectly，black as a Raven，which proceeds， as fome think，from the heat of the Sun，drawing the Blood tothe outward：parts；others from the Soil，and orhers from the Seed，which they fay，is black；but whecher from any of thefe or no，is uncertain．The Mobelims have big Lips，flat Nofes，fharp．Chins，and large limbs．
Their
They content chemelves with Adam＇s Guarb，a few Leaves to cover their hame，but：cut and pink the Skins of cheir Face，Arms，and Thighs for ornament，ftriving to cxceed each other in variery．．Our Habit and white Complexion is as ftrange to them，as their blacknefs and makednels is to us．

The Meccan Zalobs bave here a fow roor Niofic made of Straw and Bambo＇s without，bue matted incady within，and none may enter them with their Shocs on．
They deal fome of them leaft in Marick is w had a proof in one，who in a fturm of Thunder and Rain，flood tremblins，and now and then lifring up his Hands ard Eyes，mutcered certain words，then leaping up in a kind of raprure，unfleathed a long Knife，and baving brandifhed it abour his Head feven or cighe cimcs，and mutrering fome words svery rime，pur it ip again，then kiffed the Earch threc times，and then arofe，and on 2 fudden the Sky cleared，and there was no more Rain．
Two Kings command this Ille，called Phancomn！and Tire Syrat－bey，the one a Native，the other an Arabicr，both made great by their Wives，the Daughers of．Sulten Shss ipls Booboocisarce and Narnngalla，who with theis Huf－ bands，live in sentinual defiance of one another．The Pcople arelong－livid，the Firuits are excelient，and the Air tolerable．
Tobacso grows here plenifulty，and is of good ac－Tex，ese count，tho weak and leafy，they take it in long Pipes of Canes：As the Irif／and Spaniai ds ufe fnerzing Powder， To do thefe Savages Aroun，which refembles the Nu：－ mog，and being rowled up in Leaves of Berel，which are like our．lvy，and mixed with a chalky fubftance， made of burnt \(\mathrm{Oyfter-hells}\), they chew it almoft cori－ tinually，and find it very good in che operation；for it difcolours their white Tecth to a pure crimfon，perfures the Bicath，kills Worms，intoxicates the Prain，drics Rheums，helps Nature，and begets an Appexite．
This ille Eroduccth many ufeful things，as Buffalo＇s， Goars，Turcles，Hens，huge Bats，Camelcons，Rice， Peafe，Cufcas，＇Honcy，and the Sea Breams，Cavallo＇s， Oyfters，Mother of Pcarl，and good Pcarl，Toddy， Coco＇s，Plantain，Oranges，Limons，Lymes，Pome－Ci－ trons，Anana＇s，Cucumbers，Sugar－Canes，Tamarinds and red Indian Dates．In fine，＇tis always verdans，the daily Rains and Breczes cooling their Hears，and nationg 2 perpetual Summer．
Three forts of Fruit are very remarkable in this tife Firf，The Plancain is a Fruir in tafte and ocour fecond Thes to rone，and covcred with a broad l．cal．It hangy in clufers like Beans upon a Branch or Stalh；the fhape is long and round，much like a Saufage．If you pecl of the Rind，the Fruit appears of a Gold ycllow，and is clifined like a brindfor Pear，to delicions，that is mejes in oncs Mouch，leaving a delightiful guts．＂Tis good for Urine，burbad for Flures，if it mects with cride Sro－ machs；and if liherally caten，defpofes to Dyfenterio－ Sccondly，The Coco，another excellenr Fruit，is covered Th：\(c_{i=2}\) with a thick Rind，and is equal in bignels to a Cab－1rem bage：the Shell refembles a dead Man＇s jkull，a mark of yes，Nofe，and Mouth being cafily difcerned on it It yields a quatr of Liquor，coloured like new White－ wine，bur of a far more aromatick rafte：the Mar or kernel，like ocher Nurs，cleaves to the Shell，and is nor cafily parted ；the Pith or Mcar is above an Inch thick， and berter relifted than our Philberrs；and one of them affords enough to fill the Bellies of two reafonable Men． The Trec，which is ftrcighr and lofy，having no Bran－ ches，but a Plume at rop，beautified with thefe large Nuts，is good cimber，and of it they make Canocs Mafts and Anctiors．The Rind is drefect like Flax，and rerves for Sails，Mats，Cables，and Linen；che Shell for Furniture，as Difies and Veffels，the Leaves for cover－ ing of Tcnes and ciling Houfes．Thirdly，The Toddy－ tree is like the Date or Palm；the Wine called Toddy The Tult sot by wounding and piercing the Tree，and putting a far or Pitcher under ir，fo as the Liquor may drop into it．At the rop it has a Pulp，which being boiled，eats ike a Cauly Flower，but being cropped，the Trice dies， ecaufe the Life of the Tree fecms to confift in it：Thefe Trees（ like Dates）thrive nor，except ar fome cerrain time the flowering Malc and Female be united，or grow near to each ocher．Toddy for colour refermbles Wher， bur taftes like Renifh；at the firf drinking＇tis unplea－ fain，but fcems to tafte better and berrer every draughr： A little makes Men merry，and much inebriates：In the Morning it is found laxative，in the Evening contive， and at Mid－night dangerous．Thefe．Fruits and all other chings are calily purcrafed；they \({ }^{7}\) give \(3^{\circ}\) Oranges or Limons for a Shete of Paper，ten Coconurs for two Sheets，an Ox for a Piece of Eight，and a Goat for fix perice．
Ships and Boars they have none，but Cano＇s，hewed out of one Tree，yer capable to hold three Men；if they fermem fink，they help themfelves by fwimaning．

Thrilatacin．

\(\qquad\)
．

\section*{Chap XX．Sir Tho．Herbett＇s Travels into \(A\) fia and Africa，©rc．} Csion.

Scetorer is an Inc well known to former Ages，to forme
 it Topaziof from the sreat plenty of Topaze foumd there Itlies in 13 Deg．Northern Latitude，and is abour 15 Legues long and reh broad：It ities ncarefl hfriko，but belongs to Arabia Felix．It affords plenty of all things for the fuifterance of the Inhabitrants，as Com；Fruit， and Catre，as alfo Oilive，Ccro＇s，Dates，pittacho＇s， Oranges，Limons Pomegrinates，Pomecierons，Mcloins， Suqzac：Canes，and the like Fruits．If produces alfo the beff Alos，called by the Spariorrds Semper vioum，and Smangui Drccounum，or Dragon＇s Blood，which is a Gum produred by a fmall Tree，at certain Sciffrese made in it forthat end．Civet－Cass are alfo bred here，and thoे they fell the Civer chap，yer the plenty of it corichs the \(O\) wners：The Inhabiants a area mixture of Curifit－ ans and Matlomeztans，their Complexions black，the Sun twice every Y Yar dartring bis R：Rars perpendicularly uron them，and then no place inithe Worid is horter．They arectefonably civil by Nature，and arcetaid tob bea CO loaxy planed theere by Altxänder the Great，by the ad－ vicie of Arifoterel his Mafter，who mect him there，when he was recurring from fulce to Batyltm．
Thar they were carly converted to Chritizanity，tho by：whom is noo known，is certain by Ecclefaificical Hi flory，bur they were infected wirh the Errors of the Neftorians and J Jacobires，which laft ufe both Circumci－ Goo and Bapifím．Their Churches exprecis no lefs，be． ing buill in the form of a Crofs．They had a Patriarch telident among，them tillof latic，and now they bave
Sepromber the 15 th，they took their lcave of Movetin of the itquinoctial．
On Supernter the ：9th，at Night the \($ \mathrm{Sa}\) abour them fecmed as white as Snow，contrary to the ufual colour， whach is azure or blew，but from what caufe our Author could nor guefs．The bext day they had the Sun on their zemith，aidd coalted along the tich and fampus part viand of South Africa，called Soffale，part of exy fimba，where the Portugreze bave a confiderable Fort and Caftle to awe the Negro＇s ：this Country has ftore of Gold． Upon thefe Coalts lic the Itles of MomLu JJa，Megadoxo morninn Tanzitan，Pata，and Brave，places very hot fometimes， becaule the Equinoctial cuts them．The Shoar from them rends to Barnageffo，a Port，once under the great Neguz，who till of Tate，held all thac tract of Land fom Cape Guardefue to Sunctem in the Red－Sen．This Prince， who is called by the Chrittians gencrally Preslyter－Zolm， by the Moors Afich Abeff，and by his own Reople＂Ícegue or \(N\) eg \(W_{T}\) is fuppofed inpower not to be inferiour to the greatent Prince of the World．He is faid to be able to raife 100000 Menfor War，and to be of fuch Wealth， thas he offered the Portugueze a Million of Goid to aid him againft his Adverfarics．His Dominion exteñds as far as Niubit and the Confines of Egypt Norchward to che Red－Ser and Barlarick Gulph，as far as 1jaman and Dangali Ealtward；Kingdoms of Esthopia Exicrior to the Montes Lane，Sourhward；and as fax as Nilus， Nifer，and Manicongo，the two greatent Rivers of Africr， Wetward So that this Empire confifts of 70 oributary and fubordinate Kingdoms，and reaches from one Tro pick to the other．He is faid to be defeended of Ma－ furdn；the Qucsa of Stelen，which gave Solomon fo kind vifir，and brought home to her Subjects the fermin Religion，in which they continued，till Qucen Candnces Eunuch，brought them home the Chriftian，in which they were farther inftructed and confirmed（asisfaid） by Thomes the Aportle，and continuc in that Profeffion to this day．His Country is in the moft unpleafant and forching part of Afrik，of which the greareft pari is rowling Sands，which permit no Foundations of Towns or long Srations，and therefore he and his Pcople lead a vagrant courfe of Life，and dwell in Tents after the old Numidicm manner，which makes fome queftion his Pow eror Cournge，that he will be penn＇d up in fo bad a Country，and not by his Arms make way for a bette Habiation for Himenelf and Subjects，or as leaft prefefve bis Ports for Traffick and Correfpondence with other Chrifian Princes，which he has nor of late done；for the Savages have taken from him all his Porrs，and com mand upon the Cgifgmbar Coafts in Ethiopia Interior， from the Kingdom of Adell to Cape Guardefue；and Sultan Solyman has expelled him from Ercoat and Suachem his only Ports upon the Rect－Sca．
Coming under the 8 Deg．the Menjoon became adverf to them，and their Ships cut their way dowly， tho fecurely，thro＇the Waves，till at Iength paffing by the Cape of Babelmendel they came to the Inic of Soci－ tora in the Mouth of the Red－Sed，where they waired ora，in the Mouch of froutrable Gale he Channel，where the grcareft Veffels in far treathe may fail boldy． Formerly thete wete upon the Shore of ir，fundiry fa－Towas by it． mous Ports and Harbours，Jhis，Schar，Alcazar，Sur－ chem，Mafus，Dalicilug，o！d Pistleteras，Tifram，and Kyla，on the AEtheopick Shore；and Tro，Elana，or Elotl，Perra，Efiongelar on the Arabian；ye：new alke－ ha is moft traded to． hewnche places wherc mofes firft carred into the Red－Sco and Perra，which the Hebrews call． 7 ach flaur，now Arach is the place where Rurb was born，and is lranded for bafe ingratitude to their Princefs Cliopatra，becaufe the People fer on fire thofe Ships，which the had with grear pains haled to Suek from the Nile，in order to make her Clape with M．Anthony by the Red－Ser into the Effe－ finies，after：the Victory of Naupaitum or AGtam． From 5 weiz to the Nill is not above is Leagues；from Grent Cairo to Toro five days eafy travel．The lithonus berween the Mediterranean and R：d－Sea is not above 80 Miles；and tho \({ }^{4}\) Several Kings of Esrpf，as Sefoftriss 1. then Deriuls，and after fome of the Ptolcmyes made feveral Attemprs to cut a free Patfage for Ships thro＂it，and horen the Voyage to the Indies，yet they coald not effece t，tho＇the Councry is low and very fir for ir；but God，who has fer the Ocean its bounds，would noor fuffer Manto en． large irs Limits．

G． 33
The

Exhiopin in. The warm part of AEthiopia Interiorfocing the neare ured. Exypro, and lying on the Weft-fide of the Red-Sca, was (as Come lay) firft planted by Cbus the Son of Clim; afier his departure our of Arabia, but as others hold) by shaba the Son of Rhegma; the air is extremely hor while the Sun is rertical, which inftruets the Inhabitants to feek Sun is rertica, which intruets the shabicants to fee that thade. and take up theirthabitations under ground that thade. and take up theirtiabitations nuder pround for their (o.ntry extends 20 deg. on each fide the Line 1 From the Red-Sea towards the Weft, for above \(60^{\circ}\) Miles; tis tull of Hills, and towards the Eaftharen the Midland being covered with a loofe Saind, which makes it unpaffable.
Upon the Banks of the Red-Sea, on this fide thefe Towns, have formerly been Ports, wiz. zogley, Sticition Matuc, Tueran, and fome ochers, and were much frequented hy the Esypian Mcrchants, and ochers; obu fince the principal Marts have beco trandated to Gen and Ormus, Mertin and Aden, on the oppofite Coaft, are mon frequented.
Noucr (in'
dued
This Councry, whether through its poverty, or Natural ftrengeth, was never fubducd cither by the depypticn Kings the: Neigubours, or any of the fout grear Momarchies; Cambylfos indeed, and Nebuchainezazer, fent them Earth and Water by their Embaffadors, as S:mbo's of theirSubjection to them, buethey rerurned them with fcorn, as knowing that chofe Monarchs couid not cnest thcir Countries with any advantage to themfulucs.
The Trate so The firt Commerce that we fund upon the Red-Sea was began by solimon, who traded from Ezion-g.ber to R.int for Gold, bur the King of Edom revolting from Rehnoonm this Trade was difconcinued, till \(\mathfrak{F}\) eiog haphat that Traffick, but it was fhipwrack'd in the to renew cauk he took Alon-ich King of I/rac/ for his Parmer, be Am:zin iah lofing Edom again, this trade for Gold was laid ande for aloore 300 Years, till Ptolomy Philadelplous, abour 27. Years before Chrift, revived this Ophirian Trade whith continited under his Succeffors to stheir great advantage, for the Eypprian Fleet was ufually 120 Veffels great and fmall, and tho' it was a two Years Voyage, et the return was furable, for the Fleet brought in fe ucn Millions of Gold, and the gain to the Exchequer was commanibus amnis 1200000 Crowns.
When fulius cafar, and after himn Anguftus, bad reTucd. Erype to a Provirce, 'ris probable the Golden Trade was ftill continued: but when the Arabians and Gotis, from adverfe Quarters, like Inundations over-ax: - \(\because\) fowed moft part of the Univerfe, and eclipfed even the Nomen Grearnefs, the Indian Trade ceafed, and was litthe ued by the Conffantinopolitan Emperors; being wretted from chem by Omar the fint Caliphof Babyion in was removed from place to place, till being broughr to pa-mab \(m a / c u s\) and Alcppo, the Venetians Monopoliz'd it for fome time, to the great enriching of their Seigniory. But Viafa de Gama, in 1497. haviug difcover'd a paffage into the Indies, by compafling Africk, the Venerians were for ced to leave it to the Porsuguef, Durch and Englifh, who now cnjoy it.
The hoteret Colnmies in elves by Ob the Wind being fair, they found rhem 19 Longitudervation in:17. deg. Northern Latioude, and tremely hor 0 rom Mobelia. The Weather here is ex the Summer Solftice, the places about the Red. Sea and Perfinn Gulph are the hotreft in the World, for the Earch equally inflames as the Air.
OAt \({ }^{2}\) er 26 . being in 20 deg. Longirade, the Calm

Fiying Finor vida
turir form, t:xcir forn
Tig. E.
E. Weather incroafing the heat, they diverted themfelves in viewing large fhoals of lying Filhes, which by their mody of rining together out of the Sea, darkened the Body of che Sun: 'Tis a Filh beautiful to the Eye, but the Body is no larger chan that of a frall Herring, but having large Fins, it makes afe of themas Wings to avoid the purfuit of Sharks, Dolphins, Boneto's, Abjicores, and other ravenous Fihes. They can fly no longer than cheir Fins are wer, but in char time will mount cleape their Water-ricuice they oficn fall while they cleape their Water-encmies, they offen fall into the mouths of others, which thicy hinet with in the Air, for ufually Ofprays, Sea-Vultures, and with in the Air, for ufually, Ofprays, Sea-Vultures, and othcr Birds of prey, Mifery, and fomerimes take them. True Emblems of Mifery, who no fooner cfeape one danger, but they fall into anorher.
Here thry faw a perfeft Rainbow in the Night, which ions not ro common as Solar by Day, fet \(\alpha\) ifturt: mon-in in in Comment on him himiclif faw and \(V\), fommeacis, in his Comment on him, rells us the like happened in Germain. Howbeir, the Colours of the Lunar are nor fo fiem as thote in a Solar Raint thote in a Solar Rainbow.
Nouember 17. they came in fight of the Ind:cm Coaft, and faw Land in 15 deg of Latirude, and 32 of Longicude, the very place where Gon of Oid Barigaza) is Eaged. It is the bravelt and beft defended. City in the cante Ealt, the, Magazinc, Refuge, and Seat of Julticc, of the Eant Enter Victorious Portupuefc. The Ciry is being three hours Journcy within Lis not vifible ar Sea, the Seat of the Canarins, and ftands in an Ille called Tijforr, 30 . Miles in compans, a fwces place furrounded by a frefh River, which fall from the mighty Mountain Bellafunt:, encompaffed with a ftrong and beantiful Wall, beautified with Turrets, and armed with mand Corts of roaring Cannon. Her ftrencth and with many began by the Decian Kings anbrym and litacen, from \(^{\text {and }}\) whom Alluquergue, the Victorious Porsugucfe, took it in 1509. and after defended it againft 70000 Foor, and 3500 Horfe, which Idul-cann broughr againgt it to to dace. It was much enlarged and beautificed by the \(P_{0}\),ufuefe.
The grear Bazar, or Markctiplace, whish is in the The日.ai many of the Town, is gallantly and regularly built; Mode, are narrow, and fufticienily nalty, but the Buildings are generally fpacious, and nor uncomely, builand dark within, and terrafled abore uncomely, thick Climate. It is Watered with a delicious Stream, which refrefhes the Ficlds, and cloaths the Earth with Flowers, The Gardens are filled with variety of delicious Fruis, and the whole Ine abounds with Grafs, Groves and Corn, Cartle; Fruits, and all delights which Man can reafo nably require. Above 20 liccle Towns, all planed the Porrugkefe, are feen within 30 Milcs compars, as alfotdarm? the Ruins of 200 Idol-Tcmples, which the Vice-Roy Anfonio Norogac utterly demolifed, that no Memory might remain, On Monuments concinue of fuch grofs Idolarry.
At Selforte allo were two Temples of Prophane Wor Rock) one of them (by incredible toil cor out of an hard Rock) was divided inso three lites or Galleries, in which tood many deformed Figures of their Pagods, which would have affrighted an European Spectator: Neverthelets this was a Celcbrated place, and fo abundantly frequented by Idolaters, as induced the fortuguefe out of a meer Zeal, with a confiderable Force, to Mafter the own, that they might demolifh the Temples, and reak in pieces their monftrous Deities.
In Goo, the mof obferyable now are the Fortifica Churches. The Peroy's and Archbilhop's Palaces, and the Churches. The Palaces are very ftrong built of good tone, furnithed and adorned within with rich Aras and Paincings; the Churches are large and neat, and of them, the beft and fineft are thofe dedicated to the Virgin Mary, in which tis faid that the Bones and Skull of St. Tbome the Apoftle, brought from Meliapcre, are kept). St. Paul, St. Dominick, St. Katharine, and St. Saviour-in which the Grear Albuquerque lies, who died at Goc 1516 . as do alCo the Bodies of D'Acugna, Don Erancifoo, and the Clinn Saint Franci Xavier the Jefuit, who died December 4.1552 . aged 55 Years, and Canonized by Pope Gregory XV. March 12. 1622. The City is compaffed with a thick a Counrericarp, and and moated about, having withad a Councericarp, and 300 Pieces of Brafs Cannon, fo mounted upon the Bulwarks and Ravelins, as renders Eparting thence they hafted towards \(S_{\text {woilley }}\) Road, keeping the In-lian-hhore in view all along, and were overtaken by a furious Wind called in the Att Euroclydon, a kind of Hurrican or valt Tumour in the Air, which caufes fo tertible a Tempent. that Houfes and Trees are bur like Duf before it, and Ships by its violence are blown alhore and broken. Once in 9 Years it ufeth to Thunder chus here and it is prefaged 3 or 4 Days before by the Birds and Beats, who with ftrangenoikes run abour and hide themfelves, as if the World were to be overturned: bur Providence favoured them with an efcape, only the Srorm drove them out of their way 10 , as they were a litcle :axin te puzour their Ships, and foon after they deferied Land in is deg. 35 min. La titude, and 29 Iongiude, which they found to be Dapange or bul, or Dunga, by the high Land, and then they came 5 fimara in fight of Sr. Folm de Vacas, a Town likewife fubject to the Poreuguefs, at the South-end of which is Sc.Valentine's Peak, from whence the Land continues high to Gundavir, an Hill 6 Lcagues thorr of Swalle-Road.

Neocmber 27. affer long toil, they came to Cbaul, and from thence to Daman, a lo:ely Town inhabied by the portuguef., and famous for being the utmoft extent of he Mrecelonian Conqnefts. Ar che North-end of Daminn is a large and ftrong Cafle, built of a whire Chalky Stone, flank'd with Ordnance, mounted to play at advantage. and at the South-end is a fair Church, with whire Battlements of the fame Stone, as are alfo fome of the Houfes, bur ochers arc of unburne Brick; and alfo three other Temples, affording pleafure both to the Eye and Heart. November 29. they came so an Anchot "near the Bar at Smatly-Rord, which is from the Equator 20 deg. 56 min. North, and is in the 28 dcg . Longicude from Mobotif. December 1. with fome Pe-unes, or Olive-colourd Iudian Foor-boys, (who can pratde Englijh very pretrily) they rode to Suras in a Chariot drawn by two Biffaloes, who by Cuitom are made managable and nimble in their trol, pafling through Swofley, Bett) (a place famous for good Toddy and Danken in the way thither.
con defai: So. lefs great and rich than populous and fang this day no.lefs grear and rich chan populous and famous: Ir is the chief Factory of the Effl-nndia Merchants, whofe Prefident has his Reffidence there. The Air and Soil are troublefome to ftrangers, the one being inflamed with the torridncts of the Zonc, and the orher being Sandy and Sulphureous. The Arcick-Pole is here elevated 21 deg.
lumpleser 3 min. and in Seprember the Clouds finower down continually an unwholfome dev, and that in fuch plenry as caufes grcar Floods, and ruans Summer inro Wiprex. It is accounted the thitd beft Town in Guzurar Kingdom, ynesti. Amodabad and Ccmbryn having the precedence. The whole Provinice is fubject to che Mogul, and is fo proftable to him, that che Annual. Tribute of it amounus (as Merchants (ay) to an 550 Tun of Gold. 'Tis of late become a Town of the greareft Note and Trade in India; tho "tis fcarce 100 Years funce Antonio Sylverio, a Portugucf \(f\), wish 200 Mcn encred into it and burne it; but tis now much increafod in Buildings and Inhabirancs.
In 1566, and of che:Hegyra 946. by the Valour of Kan Azem it was made fubject to Ecbarr the Grear Mogul. Now it is under a quier Government, warer'd with a fweet River called Tcppec, or Tindy, (as broad as the Tjames as Whindifr) which rifing in the Mouncains of Decen, runs through Brampirc in a Courfe of 220 Miles, and warhing the Walls of Suraf, glides through the Country for 22 Miles in divers Windings, and at lengch falls into the Scz a League from Smallo-Roaid. 'Tis encompaffed with 3 Mud-Wall, and hath a large. Caftle of Srone buils on the.S. W. fide, planted with Ordnance, and ftrengtbned by a Gariifon, who will hardly admit any ftrangers to fee their Forcifications. The Weft opens su to the Bizar throagh a fair Stone Gate, where the Bazra Toll-gatherers are daily bufie to gather the Monul's TriSute. The Mcidan is of no grear beauty, nor do the Mecizai." Shops make any great fhow, the Banians chuling racher to berhought Poor than be accounred Rich. The Houfes are indifferent beautiful, fome of Caryed Wood, others of Brick dried in the Sun. The Engli/h and Dutci/ Houfes exceed all other in largeness and furniture. The Suburbs have three Pofterns leading thrce feveral ways; one to chird to Nan!ary. The Town affords no Monuments nor Mofques of note. The Engligh have a Garden with pleafant Walks, and great varicty of Flowers, bur is inferiour to another there for profpect. By the Nianfary Gate a migazinu is a Frank or Magazine of Water, an admirable Work: of Watr. It is of Free-flone, has above, 100 Angles and Sides, which are 28 Ells long berween every Angle; fo that ir is which are 28 Ells long berween every Angle; fo that ir is near a thoufand ordinary Paces in compafs. I is leffen'd to the bortom by 16 Sreps, and receives a grear quantiry of Rain-water, which the Indiens prefer much before their River, which they chiefly uffe to wafh themfelves in while the wadore the Sun in its rifing, a form of Wor- Woraip of hip much uled in the Eaftern Parts of the World, and the sun, it feems to have crept in amiong the ferps by the reproof which is given to fuch Idolaters by che Propher Ezckicl, c. 8, 2.16 .

Indoftan, as it is a fruifful Soil, fo it abounds with manden dePcople, and rhat of divers Nations and Languages, who fretibed. differ much one from another in Habir, Manners and ris nnat. Religion: For befides the Natives of the Country, thexe are \(\mathfrak{F}\) cms, Turks, Arabians, Ammenicns, Chrifians of Sr. Thomas, Tartars, and orthersiso witich the Banians are the greateft for number, buf てne zayss command.
They have a peculiar Language of their own, but the Perfian Tongue is underfood by thofe of the beft tank, and is Idoked upon as moft Courtly.
TheiTnitian Melhometens are People not lefs Crafty than the LeroValiant; the Soldiers by Profeffion are eicher Refhboors giage. or Perfians, and delight to go armed with Sword, Buck-ler, Bow, Arrows, and Dager. Thir Habir is a Quil. red Callico Coat, ried under rhe Left Anm, a fmall Sallh upon their Heads, and large Srockins; but fome wear Sandals. The other fort of People are Merchants, Breli- The inhabin mins, Gentiles and Perfees; which laft are the Original monly fants. When any Ships ride at Spallty, which is compmony from September to March, the Brim Chinn-Sartin, Porcellan, Scrutores, Cabiners of Morther of Pearl, Ebony, Irory, Agares, Turquoifes, Hiliotropes and Cornelians; as alfo Rice, Sugar, Planiains, Aroca, \%.
There are alfo many litcle Boys or Pc-unes, who for Bops. two pence a day are ready to ferve you, cither to Interpret, run, go of Errands, or the like. Thefe vill not eat nor drink with a Chriftian, nor out of the fame Leaf The B in Toddy.
Eaftern Cummian and Indian Women, according to the Women, up by their Jealous Husbands.
Here are Elephanss and Horles, bur Oxen do the moft Beats.
abour, for from Town to Town they ride in Chariors drawn by Oxen, bur in che Towns upon Palankins, with Sambrcro's de Sol over them.
The Current Money here is Pice, which is an heavy Mores. round picce of Brafs, 30 of which make our Shilling. The Mamoudy, which is of good Silver, round and thick, ftamped after the manner of the Sernacens (who allowno Images) with Arabick Letrexs, only importing the King and Matomef, is in value one Shilling of our Coin ; and the Ronpee, which is made allo Coin; and the Roupee, which is mate allo of hike pure Silver; is 2.5 and 3 d . and a Pardow 4s. The Dina is a piece of Gold worth 30 s. ani SpenifR Rials and Pifto lets, and Perfian Larees, Abyffees, and Englifh Gold, are Ggg 2

\section*{412 Sir Tho.Herbert's Travels into Afia and Africa, (rc. Lib.ll} here Cursent at 26 s. apicec, tho' in Perfia they will go but at 20 s. An hundred thouland Roupces make a Carron) one Areb Again, in Silver 4 Roupes makc 2 Mafs , 150 Maffes make an hundred Tolls, ren Tolls of Silver make one in Gold. In Brafs, 30 Taukes, or Picces, make a Roupee in Weight; the Barman is \(82 \%\). Englifi, but only 55 of cheir Pounds, and the Maund as much.
The E.pnian
The Banians (as Crafty as the Devil, according to their Acr and \(\mathrm{H}_{2}\) rion, finoorth Dealing, or rather Hypocrify, and Moral Temperance, pus great Chears upon the unwary and credulous Trader; they are of a tawny Complexion, and for the moft part fpare of Body. They let their Hair grow long, and yer, according to their Country Mode, wreath a fmall whise Safh abour their Heads : their Habir is a long Coat of whire Quilted Callico, of the Dalmatick forr; their Shoes of fevcral colours and fathions according to crery Man's fancy, widhoutLatchces, tharp and rurxing at the Toe, thin Soaled, high Heel'd, furrounded with Siecl, faft and durable.
The Wonen. The Women are of a whiter colour chan the Men becaufe they are kept more from the Sun, but wanting a mixture of Blood, Cupply ir with a Vormilion Dye They likewife wear their Hair long, and covering is with a thin tranfparent Lawn make is thew lovely. Their Nofes, Ears, Armin and Legs, they load with Manillio's, or Rings of Brafs, Gold and Irory. Their Behayiour is Gilently modelt, but Speech larcivious.
Marriage is in fo great Fionour, that they moft times Contract at feven Years old, and are Parents as ren; and they will not let any dic unmarried, tho they hire 2 Wife only 8 r a Night.

\section*{Rolygany
odoun.}
 ny Wives. They burn their Dead to athes in an holy Fire, compounded of all forts of colly Wood and fweer Spicss; the Wife allo (in expectation to enjoy her Husband amongit incomparable pleafures in anocher World) throws her felf inso the Mercilefs flames, for Which affection the obtains a living Memory.
Tie Brah Their Pricits are called Brabmins, or Braclmini, the fame with the ancient Gymnofopbi: Their Tenets in Re ligion are, "That the whole Frame, or Eody of the - World, had a begimning, being created by a God of Thic firtman. ' Immenfe Power, Eremal and Provident. Afrer he had made Man, he creared Woman to affociate with him, and fympathize with him both in Body and Difpoftion. Thefe he named Pourous and Parcaity, a Couple

- Co innocent, that they reputed it a Crime to sut any
- thing that had a Senfirive lifc, feeding only upon Herbs s and Fruits, and the like Vcgetables, agreeigig with thofe who belicve that \(A d a m\) had no liberty to kill any
- Creature, but lived upon the Herbs and Fruits only of - the Eartb, which all Mankiad followed, rill God en-- larged his Granc ro Noab of all Creatures for Food,

\section*{nis Chiduren:} - excepring the Blood. This abftemious Couple had four Chilaren ; Bremmon, whofe Conftitution being melancholy, he became a riett. Cutrer, who being Cho‘ lorick, was a Soldier. Sbuddcry, who being flegma' rick, loved Merchandize; And Wis, being Sanguine, - betook himfelf to Husbandry. And from chefe pro-- ceeded the four chief Vocations of Mcn: bur becaufe - fuch an holy Generation thould not defiend from In-- ceft, cherefore (cheir Shafter, or Book of Law) rays,

Their wives \({ }^{\text {' That God revealed to them, that he had formed four }}\) andiontericy. & Women for them, on whom to propagate, and order'd - Brammon to travel to the Eaff, Cutici,y to the Weft, - Sbuddery, to the North; and \(W\) Wife to the South, to find - the Wives deftined for them ; which being done, they - propagared Mankind, and filled the World with Men and Ars ar once: When thefe four had fene fome time in thoic comerary Quarters of the World; where - fare directed them, they all became equally mindful of returning home, defirous to vifir their Parents, and people their Narive Soit; and accordingly, with large Troops of their Children, remurned home, and were - received with grear joy. Some Ages they lived with
- their Parencs, but in procefs of time began to lofe their - Virgin purity, Difcord, Pride and Rapine, mingling amongft them; fo as Brocherly-love being laid afide, - there was no appearance bur of Violence and VolupG thoufnefs, for Brabman grew carclefs of Devocion, Curtcy lnfolent and Arpiring, Siuddery Difhoneft and God being provoked, lets forth the Sea upon all Man-- kind, to purge away the nafty fmall of their Po thution, and refolves to fill the Earth with a more perfect and the high Mountain Meroparbertee, and commatuds Dics man to rife up our of che Earth, which was acerrding ly done, and he immediacely wormipped him: H. had power giveh him to create other Creatures. Then Gui called \(u_{p} V\) :ftiey and Redilery, and to the former he rino wo gave a power to preferve, and to the lattera power to deftroy his Crcatures ty Death, Plaguc, Famuc, Dif cafes, War, and she like Mifchiefs, appointing them certain time to live upon the Earth. Firom Bromo who.falling into a deep ilecp or trance, his Body fvelIcd, and became full of anguifh, he broughe forth two Twins of cach Scx, who by Miracle immediately grew up to the perfect ftacure of Man, and were iniraculoully furnifhed with Language and Education. Bicmaw named them Manaw and Cetcroupa, whom after he had bleffed, he fenr Eaft to the great Mountain Mowderpurvool, where ftraightway Cctcroupa brought forth three more Sons, and as many Daughters, who going to feveral Quarters, foon Peopled the Earth; bus mulritude produced ill actions, and Mankind fell inco all fort: of Sin, which God obferving, Ieft flaven for a while to give them directions how ro live virtuouly, and avoid temprations; and calling Bremaw to the top of the Mountain Meropurbate, fpake to him many things our of a dusky dark Cloud, now and then.fina hiing glympife of his Majefty, and delivered to him the Book of his Laws called Shafter; which was divided Thet, into three Tracts dedicated to rhree great Cafts. ICon taining Moral Precepts. 2. Containins Cercinonio of Wormip. And 3. Containing peculiar Inftructions to the three Cafts.
The Moral Law has eight Commandments, agrecing The sim for the moft part with thofe feven which R. Solcmon fays hiwo Mat Shalt nor deftroy any living Creature, for thou and are both my Creatures. 2. Thou fhalt nor fin in any of thy tive Senfes, in thy Eyes by beholding Vaniry thy Ears by hearing Evil, in thy Tongue by utering any Filchines, in thy Palate by drinking Wine, eating Flefh of living Creatnres, in thy Hands by handing any filthy things. 3. Thou male daily perform icttimes of Devotion, as Praying, Walling, Elevating. Proftrating, EEc. 4. Thou thale not- Eyentior Diffemble. 5. Thou thale not be hard-heartet . une, heipful unto orhers. 6. Thou thalt not Opprefs or Tyramize. 7. Thou Thalt obferve Feftivals antid Fafting-days. 8. Thou thalt not Stcal, Thefe 3 I'recepts (as wemay plainly feethey are darived from the Bible, the Names and Srory beits only a litcle corruperd in delivering them, fo thicy) are lubdivided into four Parts according to their feveral Cafts. The the setere Brabmins and Banians are tied to a more ftrict obrer. mm. vance of them than the Soldiers and Mechanicks. The Bralimins are of 82 Cats or Tribes; the Verfoes are of an higher degrec, but fewer in number, their Habir is Tinir Girdic of Aneclope's Skin about their middle, a Tiong of the fame Hide reaching from the Neck to the Left Arm being elfewhere naked. Some of them wear a thrcefold thread, reaching from the RightShoulder to the Left Arm, others threc fmall frings of Silk upon their Flefh, as low as their Wafte, which ferve as a Badge of their Profufion. Upon their Heads they wrcath fome fine white Callico, in which their Hair is nearly plaited; in their Ears they wear Gold Rings, Cometimes fer with precions Stones. They Marry but once, Faft ftrictly, Tarimence and Drink moderately; Walh verv often, and are much riages reverenced by the other Sccts. The Shadderies, or Bit- Tite Briat nians, are Merchants, and contrary to their Name, which fignifies harmiefs, are the moft crafty Peopte thioutghour all India, full of flegmatick fear and fupertition. Thicy thier mas' wailh ofren, as they are commanded, and as is obferved thairs in all the Pagan Religions of thofe hot Countries, firft dawbing their Bodies with dirt, as an Emblem of Sin, and then diving three times in the Water to wath ir off, cheir faces being turned to the Eaft, and adoring the Sun, and fhaking a few grains of Rice info the Water, is an Euchariftical Offering to the Element for purging hem.

They axe indeed Mcrciful, gricuing to fee other People theirmen oo hard-hearted as to feed upon Fifm; Fleh, Radillics, \({ }^{\text {ro }}\) B Onions, Garlick, and fuch chings, as either have Life, or a refemblance of Blood. They, for their parts, will not kill fo much as a Loufe, Flea, Kakaroch, or the like, but on the contrary, buy their liberty of fuch Sailors and others as of necefinty mutt cruth them; yca, they have Horpitals for old, fick, lame, or ftarved Creatures, Birds, Beafts, Cars, Rats, or the like, and have no worfe Men to overfec them than the Pu/helans, the beft refpected fort of Brabmins. They hold Pythagorets \(\pi\) mainont Doctrine, belicving the Mtctempfycofis, or Tranfanima- ian of ais

\footnotetext{
anc 8 .
}

nindir Mid has tion,

\section*{Chap. XXI. Sir Tho. Herbert's Travels into Afia and Africa, סrc. 413}
tion, or Paflage of Souls into Beafts; wiz. The Souls of Drunkards, or Epicures, into Swine; thel.iffful and Inceftuous into Goats and Dogs; the Diffemblers into Apes Crocodiles and Foxes ; the Lazy into Bears; the Paffio pare and Cruel into Tygers, the Proud into Lions, the Blood-chirfy into Wolves, Ounces, Snakes; the Pcrjur'd into Toads, and the like; bur the Souls of good Men, abitemious, pitiful and coartcous, inro Kine, Buffaloes, Sheep, Storks, Doves and Turtles. Prehagoras invented innure this Fiction, only to perfwade Men that the Soul was mmorral, and to thew that there tras a Puniffmenr and ans, who by way of Derotion, have ufed to cut our part of their Tongues for a Sacrifice, and thereby to Kpeak the Sibbo!cts the berrer cyer aftex." In fogitnnot, a Town in - Bengri', is another of cheir Idolarrous Temples; where for feien days rogerhor, a Feftival is yearly obrerved, when the Pagod is by che Toruers exposd to publick view, and in rriomph carried thro' the Serecrs in a Chariot wich eight Wheels, draws by above an hundred Indians, who flock thither in great mulcirudes for Devotion, and Come of chem out of zeal, caft themfelves in the way, and are cruthed to death, is a voluntary facrifice to the Devil.
AcTmaf/a fometimes anchundred thouland Indirns go he Wanto Ganges, and Bovizugtheir Bodies, they throw the Warer up with their flinds, as an Offering no the Sun, whom they worlhipe. Other places of note are ar Bennaras upon Ganges, Eibarporc, Jallanexa, Elabes, Sibal, and other places. Part of their Religion condits on in nocating Holy Men famed for their Yirfue. Howeir, the Cow is of moit citeem with chem. They have the Cyrarian or Exyprian Goddefs for an Example, the Image of a Cow, which fagnificd the Tillage, that preferved chem, by the Prudence of Screpts, i. e. 70 opl from the memorable Famine menrioned in Gene/is. In Wars the Cucteries or Rediect, only cail upoi Bemobom, the Rich upon MycafIar, the Poorupon Syer, the Labourcrsupon Gunner, and the Married upon Hurmount: &ec Moreover they effect Pilgrimages so Rivers, cfpecialiy Ganges, becaule they fay Broman frequented is, and it has an Head in form of a Cow, which rhey, worhip for her fruitfulnefs, and in imitation of the \(\langle\) Evyprian Apis, They wath ofren, and thereby fuppofe mhemfelves purified from allSin. When they are fick, they dofre their Mouths thould be wathed with the Warer of Ganges which they value as much as if it flowed out of Paditc
In Baptifm the Priefts or Bramins anoint their own Children, and the Baniars or Merchants wich Oil, and cleanfe them wish Water, but ro chofe of the prophaner fors, as Men of War, and Mcchanicks, chey apply Water only with the Point of a Penfal. to thim Forchead wifhing that God would write good things rhere, 5 which the Company fay \(A m e n\).

Their Marriages are at feven Years, bur cóhabir no till ten. If any die unmarried, they condude him unhappy; fo that oftentimes they marry them when dead, before they are buried; an Opinion probably borrowed from the Hebrews, who hold from Gen. 1. 28. That she Unmarried bave no Portion in the World to come. The Marriage Ceremonies are not inany nor frivolous: The Boy rides about the Town one day, and the Bride th next, attended with erains of Children of the fame Age and Sex, with Kertle-Drums, Trumpers, and Pageanis, being diftinguifhed from orhers by Coroners. The Brid has no Moncy-Rcrtion, becaufe thcy hold it contemptible, only Come Jewels and Dina's of Gold-in her Attire.
The Wedding is thus celebrated: A Fire is put be-The wedtwecn them to thew the Purity and Heat of their Affecti-ding how ese ons'; 2 Silken String circles both their Bodics, as the birch \(^{2}\) Hieroglyphick of Wedlock; them a Liinen Cloath is pur between thém, in token, that till then they were unknown to one another in nakednefs; this done, the Brabmin bleffeth them, and prays that me may prove as gentle and fruitful as a Cow ; the Cloath is pulled away, and the Srring untied, and they areone anochers for ever They never marry out of their own Calts; for Bralmin marry the Daughrers of Bralomins, Cutreryes the Daughters of Cutrerges, Sbudderyes the Daughrers of Sloudderves and Wy/ce the Daughrers of \(W_{y}\) fes, and thefe in their fe veral Trades, Taylers with Taylers, Eir. and, cohtrary to the Cuftoms of the Mabometans, their Wives live not under much fubjection.
In ficknefs they call apon Marramn, the God of Mcr-Thrir fick cy, and when they perceive a Man a dying, they open nefianu his Hand, and moiften it with the Warce of Ganges which chey count boly; and when he is dead, they wafh his Carkals, and carry it to the Water-fide filencly, and having uttered two or three Words to the Element, burn the Body with Sweer-wood and Spices, and having thrown the Athes inco the River, think they have done their duty to the Dead, and depart well fa: lificd.
When this Ceremony is gaimed, the Prieft prefents mourning: the Son of the Deceafed with a Roil of his dead Fore Fathers, and bids him finilil the Ceremionial Law of deploring ten days, in which time he is ncither to we his Wifc, laugh, car Opium, or Berel, pur on any cleary Cloaths, or anoint his Head with Oyl, but that daymonth yearly ever afer, make a Feaft, and pay a complemental Vific to thar River which drank his Father's Ahes. Ofrentimes the Wife to exprefs ber Jove to her dead Hufband, burnsher felf with his Body. They affict no fecond Marriages, the Rnicris and 1 tyles excepted.
Now the realon why they burn their Dead, is either Burning their from an ancient Cuftom recorded in Scripture, Amios 6. Diad, ind the 10. or becaufe if the Body wercburied, is would breed Worms, which (forought they know) may tarve when the Body is confumed, and that they look upon as an inexpiable Sin.

The Cutreryes alfume a greater Liberty, for Bcing quacoutiontes Men of War, they frruple not to thed Blood, car Fieft, appear lewd; They are for che mott part called Raji's or great Men, and have 36 Cafts, of which all of them are defcended. They have of a long time been Owners of Indefan, but of late Aladin, a Rotent King of Delly wrefted Guzaraf from them, and mont of the reft hath beentaken from them by the Pofterity of Tamertain.
At this day they call themfelves Rafkposts (or Sons of eunprours Kings) and live lawlefs to the Moors; and the chief of them at this day are Reng Redgee Mardour, Redga Surmul Gee, Raja Berumpla, Mabobes Cban, Radia Barm mulgec, Radgea Ramm,gro, Radgia foob", frfinth, Tuita tcrfint, and Manjizs, &c.. All thefe bcing for the mon part Mounrainecrs, are rude, and of a more warlike difpofition than thofe cisiliz'd Indians, who dwell in Ci ties, and inhabir the plain Countries, and value nor the Poochis or Bullocies, who are the mof warlike of the Majomerans.
The laft Sect or Caft of the Genriles, are the Whts or Labourers: They are of two; firf, the Whese, propaly to called; fecondly, the Koices: The firft agree with the Banninns in Abfinence, the other of late car any Crearure chat is fit for Food: The purer fort of thefe is divided into 36 Cafts. All thefe four Cafts in time grew fo impious, that God required Ruddery to fend a blaft of Wind ro fweep away thar Generation, which he accordingly did, and all perifhed fave a very few honelf Men and Women: This was the fecond confufion.
Soon after God gave them a King propagated from the Seed of the Brabmins, called Ducerar. He begat Rocmainail Rem, a Man fo famous for Piery and high Actempts, that to this day his Name is honoured, inlomuch, that whenthey fay Ram; Ram, they wifh all good to you. In procefs of time the World again grew abominable, and then Ruddery Cormoands the Earch to,open and fwallow up the ungodlyat few only excepted on people the Earch. Then Vi/tney, the Medistor of Mexcy, afcendad into Heaven, and left R"ddery so over-rule the Iron Menne the Age, at the cnd of which he alfo mall be wrapr up into merty Paradife.
Theic four Ages they call Curtain, Duauper, Tetrajoo and Coilce. Touching the laft Judgment, chey hold if thall be more dreadful than the orter, the Sun thall thed his Lighr, and the Moon look red as Blood, and the fou

Elements

\section*{414 Sir Tho Herberts I ravels into Alia and Africa, ©c. Lib. If}

Elements fhall maintain a dreadful fight, cill all things fall into confufion.

The Souls of good Men Ruddery mall rranfport into Heaven, but the Wicked hall perim; but the Bodies of cicher thall never rife again, for they believe nor 2
No Refur.
restion. Refurretion. The Bramins honour Angels, keep a Mondaj-Salbath, love Chaftity; or'if rhey marry, feldom repear it. Forbcar Swearing and Blafphemy, thun Pleafures, drink Water, offer Money in all Sacrifices, drink not in a Pot, but pour into their Mouths at a diAtance, touch no Unclean; which Riresshow, thar tho they pretend that their Shafter or Book of their Law came from God, yer it is parched up from Tradition, the Holy Scripture, Jcpilb and Genfile Hißtories.
The Prffics
Abour Surai and Gujuraf, there are another fort of Gcnitiss, whofe Religion and Life is different from the former, called Rerfees, who arc. People defeended of the Perjans, and upon the Death of Valiant fazdgird the Fcffian King, who died dinio 635 . fled inco india to avoid Mathometanimm and Circumcifion, to which they feared that they thould be forced to fubmic by the Turks, whathen under Omer, fecond Caliph after Maboiner, fubdued Perfin. They came into India in five Junks from Frfquen, and arriving as Surat, upon a Trcary with che Rrias and Banians, obtained leave to fertle themiclves, anid living peaceably, to excrcife their Religions' which they had derived fromr one Guftafp, who lived 500 Ycars before our Saviour. [The Account of it our Author takes not only from his own Obfervation, but * from the Accouns of Mr. Lord, a Minitter, who refided many Years in the Factory of Surar, and carefully felected their Opinions, as they are written in their -undavaffaw, or LawBook to this purpofe.] Zerongt their Such time as Guftaff (who was the fourteenth King of Perfin from Kuyomarraz, who is by fome thought to be thfich Natb) reigned in Perfit, E E pintaman and Dodoo, two poor People of China, with cheir Son Zereonf, whom the King of china thought ro deftroy, becaufe he feared fome great alccrations in his Kingdom from him, whofe Birth had been atteinded with to many rare and fearful Dreams, fled into Perfic, and there Zertorf giving himfelf up to Meditations, an Angel appeared unto him, and asked him what he would have? He replied, The prefence of God, thar he might receive from him his Will and Directions how to Inftruct his Nation in them. His Defire was cafily granited, and his Body being purged, and his Eyes fealed and wrape up, he was taken up into the Heavens, and prcfented before the Supreme, who was arrayed with fuch refulgent Glory, that he could nor behold his Majecty, rill he had Angels Eyes put into his called zundaraftam, utered by che Almighty ; fuchLaws and Secress, as are fome of them not to be promulgated, and having Worfhipped, he rook the Zundavaftaw in his Left Hand, and Some Calettial Fire in his Right, and was again fer down upon the Earth by his gool Angel Baliminin Timpaufpari. Ferronfs being again returned to .the Earth, armed himfelf againft all temprations, and rraycls to publith his Laws. Saran feeing this, with envy labourcd to feduce him, telling him, Thar the other Angel had deluded him: That God was in no wife.plea-fed-with his defign: That his Travels to rechaim the World would be in vain, and his Book was stuffed with Lyes; burif תerfooft wou'd depend upon him, he would furnill him with all Delights and Honoars, give him a power to work Miracles, to that he fhould be worthipped: as God. Zerrooft perceiving this Tempter to be \(\cdot L_{H-}\) cifer bad him avoid; and told him, That as by his Impiect be had himfelf loft Heaven, fo through Malice he was defrous to draw others into the like Damnation, and that his Book flould condemn him; whereupon the Fiend vanithed. Zereoff then coming to his Parents, and declaring what had befaln him, Dodoo his Mother publifhed her Dreams and Vifions abour his Conception, and Zortrif preached his Law, which the People admiring, Gaftrip the Perfian King heard of them, and defired to fee the Man, and after fome Difcourfe with himembraces his Doetrincs.; and tho the Arch flamen oppofed them, yet be conirming them with Miracles, the King scfolved to adhere to his Religion, and his Zurdavafiapp, or Law, was opened and accepred.
The -indaveflam is divided into three Parts: The
The Con-tense of the firft treats of Judicial Aftrology, called Aftocdeger, and is \(\qquad\) committed to the care of thofe they call Fefopps, \(i: \mathrm{cc}\). Sages. The fecond contains Natural Philofophy, and is ftudied by the Fackenms or Phyficians; and the laft is compounded of Religion, named from the Author of it. The zerionft is kept by the Daroid'sor Pradicants, and conGifts of Precepts for the Archibihop, Clergy and Laymen for ctre Laity. The Precepts given to the Behedins, or Laymen, are five :
1. To cherifh Shamefacednefs as a Vertue, that keeps Men from all forts of ugly Vices, as Pride, Revenge Theft, Adultery, Drunkennefs. and Perfidioufinefs. 2. To cherim fear, 3. To premeditare what they have to do, that they may reject the bad, and obferve the good. 4. That the firt thing they do every day, be to remember God's love, and thereby quicken their gratitude. 5. To pray daily to the Sun, and nightly to the Moon, as the ewo grear Lamps and Witneffes, which be moft oppofite to the Devil, who delightesin darknefs.
The Laws enjoynd the Herboords or Clergy arcelc. Thed wr ven, (nor is the practife of them to excufe them fum the Curg. thofe of the Laity) a. To be confent to that fomer thofe of the Laity) A . To be conftant to that form of Worfhip prefribed in Worthip prefrribed in their Zundaviftame. 2. Not to covet what belongs to anocher. 3. To abhor Lyes. 4. Nor to be Worldly miinded. s. To learn the Zundan waftaw by heart. 6 . To keep themfelves free from Pollution. 7. To forgive Injuries. 8. To teach che Laity how to behave themfelyes in all Religious Worlhip. 9. To licenfe Matrimony. 10 . To be frequent at Church. 11. Upon pain of eternal Fire to believe in no orher Law than their own, which they are neither to add unto nor diminilh.
The Rules given the Diffoore, or Pope, (for they have the Ri'r ncver,more than onc) are chitreen more than the reft, far this becaufe as he precedes the reft in Dignity, fo is his Life'pop. to be moft itrict, for he is obliged to obicrve not only his own, but alfo the Precepts of the two former degrecs, 1. He muft not touch any profane thing, no nor the Laymen, or Daroos of his own belief, withour walhing, or purifying after. 2. He muft do every thing that has relation to himfelf with his own hands, as planting, fowing, cooking, Eic. 3. He is duly and truly to deceive the Tenth of all the Lairy poffers. 4 He is to avoid all Vain-glory, and with his great Income to cixercife Acts of Chariry. 5. His Houfe is to joyn to the Church, fo as thar he may be ofren there, and go and corne wichour being taken notice of. 6. His wahings are to be more trequent than ochers, his food purer; and he is to refrain his Wives company during her pollution. 7. He is not only to be perfect in the Zatatest but of the greateot knowlate in Judicial and Narural Philofophy. .. 8. That his Diec. be moderatc. 9. Thar he fear none bur God. 12 . Thar he rell cvervuman his fauls. 1ri. That in Vifions he diftinguin berwen fatie and true, and give righr Judgment about them. 12. That whenfoever God manifects himerff to him by night \(\mathrm{Vi}_{\mathrm{i}}\) fons, he fhould admire his Guodnels, and keep them fecret. 13. That be always keep the Fire which Zcrtoof brought from Heaven alive, that is never go our, till Fire deftroy all che World,
They have cerrain Rites and Cercmonics alfo by which \({ }_{\text {The Pers }}\) they are differenced from other firts, parricularly about min: their Meats, Fafts, Idolatrous Worthip of Firc, Bap nin iouit tifm, Marriares and Burials. They are allowed to cat Math any fort of Mear almoft; neverthelefs, thar they may not difpleare the Beninns and Moorrs, among whom they live, they abftain from cating Beef and Hogs-flefh, but the Raftbsors eat the laft. They feidom feed rogether, left they thould participate in one anothers impuriry, bur every one has his own Cup; and if any one of his own Caft chance to ufeir, he wames it three times, and forbears to ufe it 2 while after.
They obferve fix folemn Feftivals yearly, in memory \({ }_{\text {fetivis }}\) of the feveral parts of the Creation, viz. Meduforum on Eere, or Feb. x 5. 2. Petufaban, ipr, 26. 3. Xatrum, on May 26. 4. Medearum, Aug. 16. 5. Homefpciamedum, OÀ. 30. And 6. Medufan, Dec. 1 I. The fecond is kept in memory that God made Hell, to be a place for the Devil and his Angels, to pur Men in minid of avoiding that exil that will bring them chither.
After every one of thefe Feafts, thicy oblerve a five fant days Abftinence, earing bur only one fparing Mcal evcry day; and whenfoever they eat any Fowh or Flelh, they carry fome pari of is to the Egrarce, or Temple, as an Offering to appeafe God, becaufe for the suitenance of their Lives they are forced to take away the lives of thofe his Cteatures.
As no their Worthip of Firc, 'tis in memory of that Eirmeraiin. Fire which they Fable that Zertooft brought down from Heaven, in which they imitate the Veftals, or rather the Jews, who were commanded, Lev.6. 13. to preferve continually the Fire that came down from Heaven upon the Altar, and never let it go out. This forr of Worhip was very anciently ufed in Perfir, and 'ris probable both the Romins and Grecks had their Veftal fire from them. In Peifia there are ftill many Pref, tho' Heraclitus the Empcror deftroyed many of them in. his Wars with Corrocs, in which Army Mabomef fcried; and they fay. feYears.
roo,
a Clot
and drink,
- Tank
lock, woven loins, urters
\({ }^{i}\) the Si
\({ }^{\prime}\) That May

Cup, Belierex
Thirishe Thei

autribut
in this e is the \(M\) is, when whena may ma unhappy ties agree their Ch
oret-agai their hanc then on t ther they
To which mifes to ct are each and all he on tikie
as Rice,
ry, and th
with jovia

\section*{ximins. Place thei} Princ. Place whe \(d_{i}\) Fition Tombs bu gronnd, they are pa
is an hollo wafted: ' of Men and and left to ugly manne
ne
Treca dable Lifé mingov tome Fire, for mber The

In India, the Perfes have an Eggaree, or Temple at their. God-fire is nor compofed of common Combuftibles, as Wood, Straw, Coals, or the like, nor blown by any Bellows, or breath of.Man, bur compounded of fparks flying from an hor burning remper'd Steel, and kindled by: a Burning-Glafs, or Lightning from Heaven. If the Fire have need of cherilhing, the Diftore, or in his abrace the Heerlood, 2510 or 12 foor diftance, with an Afembly of Laymen, furround it, and the Prieft having added fome forr of fucl, returns to the Pepple, who fall to their. Worthip, befeeching them to. give due re verence to it, as a part of God, who is of the fame Subftance, and love all things that relemble it, as the Sum, Moon and Stars, yca, and common fire, 'which they bave fo. Divine an eftimate of, that they hold it an impious thing to fit uponit, throw water into it, orpat is to any vilc ufc, and revercme Wood, and all fuch things as give is life; and if by chance they caft 2ny filthy thing into it, they pray to God that he would forgive them.
Their Baptifin, or naming their Children, is thius performed : So foon as a Child is born, they fend for the Daroo, or Churchman, who being informed precifely of the hour of the Childs birth, catts the Nativiry, and with the confent of the Parents names the Child, and then haltning to the Eqgarer. or Temple, the Prieft haling pur fome Water inro the Bark of a Tree, called Holm, (which they fry Gertocf bleffed for thar end) pours fome Watcr on the Child, and prays, that by it is may be cleanfed from all impurity
Ar feven Years old the Child is Confirmed by the Daroo, and taught to fay his Prayers over the fire, yer with Cloth over his Mouth, that his breach may nor defile that holy Element. Then the Daroo gives him Water to drink, 2 Pomegranate-Pill to chew, wafhes him in a Tanke, cloaths bis Body with a fine Shuddero, or Caf fock, and cies a Girdle of Camels-hair, called Cufhee, woven by the Prict's own bands, like Inkle, upon his loins, (which he is ever to wear abour.hima) and then urters this Prayct: " That God make him a true Perfee 4 all the days of his life, of which thefe Garments are "theSigns. Thar he may believeno Laws bur Zertooft's. - That he may continue a Fire-worhipper. That he ‘may eat of no Man's Mear, nor drink of any Man's 'Cup, but in all things oblexve the Cuftoms and Rites ' of the Perfees; and to he is ever after repured a true Belieret trimptre Their Marriages are diftinguithed into five forts, modivis Shathan, when two young Children are married by their Parents withour their own knowledge. This they atribute much ro and hold, That if either of chem die in this eftare, chey go to Heaven. 2. Chockerfon, which is the Marrizge of a Widow. 3. Codefolbarafan, which is, when the Woman chulerh her Fonsband. 4. Eck fan, when a dead'Body \({ }^{2}\) s married to a Perfon alive. 5. Carron, whena Facher adoprs his Daughrer's Som, that he may marry hirn, as his own; for they account thar Man untiappy, who has nor a Son ro marry.
The Ritc or Ceremony is thus performed: The Par. is agred being met in a houl, (Kor they marry pot in orer-againft them rwo Churchmen, with each Rice in their hands, who pur cheir finger firf on the Bride's, and then on the Bridegroom's Forehead, and ask them, Wherher they will have one another for Husband and. Wife? To which, when they have anfwered Ta, the Man promifes to enfeof her in a certain number of Dina's, (which are each of \(3^{\circ} \mathrm{j}\) - value) and the Bride replics; Thar hre and all hers is his; and then the Priefts fcatter the Rice on ticir Heads, praying, That they may be as fruitful as Rice, tive in Unity of Mind for many Years in Wedlock. Thenthe Woman's Parenes pay her Dowry, and the Marriage-Fcaf is celebrated for eight days with jovial: Merriment.
In their Burials two things are obfervable, 1. The trmo. Place where they bury their Dead. They have two \({ }^{14}\) infrimita Tombs built of a round form, a pretty height from the gronnd, and fufficiently capacious and large; within they are pared with Srone fhelving, and in the middle is an bollow Prit, to receive the Bones confumed and wafted." Abour by the Walls are laid the Carkaffes hoth of Men and Worren naked, expofed to the Air and Sun, dind left" oo be torn and mangled by ravencus Birds in an ugly mamner (for they neither burn nor bury their Dead. The two Tombs are ar orme diftance one from another and the one of them is for fuch as have led a commen-Ince datle Life, bur the orher is for fuch as'ate notorious for min Tome Frite, or infamous Action 4 mber
one is fick unto Deach; the firbond or Cliurchanan is ent for, who prayerth with the fick Man in this mannci: O Lord, thou haft commanded that we fhould not of fend, but this Man hath offended; and thas we Roould do good, but chis Man hath donie cvil!, and that we thould worthip thee, but this Man hath neglected it Lord forgive him all his Offiences, Evils and Ner!ects When any Perfun is dead, they fortt pur his Body into a Winding-fheer, and the ficrboord or Churcluman appoints his Naceffelars or Bearcrs, who are to carry bis Bod" uponan Iron Bier to the Burying-place. All the way that the Corps is carried, the Kindred, who attend it, bcat upon their Breafts, but with listle noifes, till they corite within 50 or an 100 paces of it, where the 1ferloonir meers them, who is ufually attired with a yellow Scarf, and wears a thin Turbair on his Heid. The Neceffr. 1 The form of Chs, cr Bearers, bring it to a little.Shed and then the hurial Churchman ftanding as a diftance from it, uters the words of Burial in this manier: "This our Brother, while he lived, confifted of the four Elements, and now he is dead, let each take his own, Earth no Earth, Air to Air, Water to Water, and Fire to Fire, and then, pray to Sartan and Ifud, who have command (as they believe) over Lacifer, and all che cevil Spinits, char the would keep the Devils from their deccafed Brocher, when he thall repair to their hoty Fire to puriec himfelf, as allo that God would pardon his Sins, EFc, And thefe Prayers they consinue for thice days, Morning, Noon and Night, becaufe they believe that the Soul Wandreth upon the Earth thofe dags, and in them is dctermined to Reward or Punilhment. When rbefe days are expired, they make a Fcant, and fo conclude their Mourning.
The Country of India, which is to calied from the indopation River Indus, that bounds ic on the Weft, is one of the critiod, 3.1 ta mightieft Empires of the World, being the greater part \({ }^{12}\) Civitu an at leaft of Afic, if nor, as fome Eay, a third part. Strabo fays, Lib. 55 . that it had 50000 confidcrable Towris Ganges divides it inro two parts, which are chercfore called Intra and Extrf, wishin and withour Gerfes. The Io Producis Soil is for the moft pare very good, excepr where the Sun exhales its' vertue, and that lafts bur thrice Months . for che reft of the Year, by reafon of the long Nights, requent thowers and breezes, the Trees, efpecially in the Southern pars, are ever green, and hung with Fruir, which ripen rwice a Year; and for Minerals of the beft Sort, Gems of richeft luftre, Silk and Spices of greateft ufe and value, no Counry in the-World yields to grean plenty. If abounds with Catile of moft kinds; Ants are in perfection, as they are in Cling. It has excellent Horfes and Elephants, Larger and more docible than thofe in Africk. Inmumerable IDands furround it. It has an abundance of fair Towns, which furnilh the World with all forts of Merchandize almont. Irs Mines and. Treafure is infinitc. It is a yaft, but weil-compacked Monarcty, extending from 20 to 43 dcg . of Northerm Latitude. In is 2600 Miles Lome ways in. Diancter, and ces which were Kingionas of It has 38 karge Pxovinces, which were Kingdoms of Old, and of which the moft confiderable are Guzerar Pengab, Malofi; Bergal and Decian, which rogether comprebend 30 large Citics, and 3000 Walled Towns and Gaitles for nararal Defence; which feem impregnable. Nonh, 'cis theught firft inha- Noofi dwalt bited rhis Country, being fear the Mountrinis of Ararat, init. tho his Name is changed inro Bacciores; or Boacthus. It was to well inhabired in Alcxender's days, that when trac Conquerour overthrew Porus, and enrred his Counrry, he faid, He found greater Cities, and more fumptuous Buildings there than he had met withal in atry part of the World befide.
The Emperor's Revenue is counted 50 Crow of Rou-xtix Emps pies, every Crow containing a Leek, which is an hun ror's Revr dred thoufand Roupias, value 2 , s. 3 d. and fomecimes nec. 25.6 . . of which Cambiar, in which is Surar; is faid to pay 200000 :. Sterling; Dut his Charge is furable to his Income, maintaining 300000 . Horle, and 2000 Elephancs, befides the Sums he pays to bis Licutenaris of Provinces, and Governours of Towns and: Fors.
The Power of it appears by the Army which Bodur, his Dow King of Cambaia, carried to arist the King of, Mandio and Streverit: gainit the Tamtrar Mumut, being no lels than I 30000 Horfe, 400000 Foor, 200 Elephanes and 500 Wagons, which carried as many Chefts full of Treafure so pay hisForces. He is in conimal Wars with his Neigh bours.
The Defcenr br Pedigrec of the Moguls, or Mrgors, ,irpedigte o called either from the \(\mathrm{Mcg} / \mathrm{t}\), or the Sracimans Coun-of the mogut ty) called Gens Maforum, is reckioned fromi Cingis-Cbin, from cins or Cam, a Prince of Tartary He was (as Flititoon, and chim

but being chofen General of fome of the chicf of the Eloords，he with a Troiop of Magli，one of them，march－ ed Sourh，and fobdued the Countrics as far as the Moont Belyian， Taritar，and fignalized himelf by many Victories \(2-\) gainf the Ruftims and other Tarsars．
He died at Keton－Kotan，A．D．1228．and of their Hegira 608．and divided his Conguets between his four Sonsrviz．Tufha－chan，to whom he gave \(D^{\circ}\)／jaft，Capeclisa， R（bon，and Abugharr．Chagaty－capon，who had Mairrena－ bar，Ayor，and Chorā̂an．Thele two dicd Binother，Ogy and their Scigniories ho had before from his Father part of Bactria and Mount Caresfus．He gained part of the Perfim Monarchy，as far as Babylon，but dying in \(\mathbf{5} 55^{2}\) his Son Gave－chan an Infant under the Tuition of Mi－ nilonna his Wife，fucceeded him，but he living not above three Years，the Sovereignty fell to the younger Bro－ ther Tuli－cham＇s Son，called Manchro－chawn，whore Fa． ther was Heir only to Cing \(\dot{x}-\)－chan＇s Jewels and Treafures． This Prince perceiving divers Conipiracies againtt hirm， tho armed with Integrity and a Juft Tirle，he contracts an Alliance for Defence with his neighbouring Princes， to whom he cntruited the Command of Ceveral Provin－ ces of his Empire，on condition，That they mould hold of him in chief，and be at all times ready to atinit him； viatencejem but nor living to rry their Fidelity，he named Ulaknc－ camom，one of them，for his Succelfor．He delighted in Arms，and having quietcd all Domeftick Broils，he con－ quered Babylon，a great part of Arabin，and 1 Pppo ance Damafcus in Syria，which he ruled with grat to the Year 1270 ；when findicd his chrec Sons，and having exhorted them to Unity，

\section*{His Sint mad
Scouthorn} divded his Lands among them，rit．To his Eldett Son Hablay－ann he gave che Provinces of Brerre，Metndram thin，Hrcania，Bactria and Sogdiana ：His fecond Son Hyc：flowmet，had Aro and Aderbryon，paxt of Armenia and Iberia which has Salmast Coy，Naizivan，Marava and Merent，Cicies of Nore in it．To Tawdom－Kawn，were bequeathed the Seigniories of Diarbicke and Rabaion，or Mefoposamia ；and chat part of Syria which lies on the Banks of Euphrates．To his two Sons by 2 lecond Ven ter，Nortions Hablarecamon died the fame Year at Hamadan in Perfin，and left bis young Son Argon－camn to the care of his Brother Nicador－Oglan，who leeking the Life or his Pupil，obliged him to fare himfelf by night．Nicalar eftablithes himfelf in his Nephews Right by the Name． faft，that he died Mad in 1275．and was buried ar Ca－ fhan，and Argon－cizpn recurning from Banifhmenr reco－ vercd his Righr；and being joyfully accepred by the People，was crowned by the Name of Tangadar－habkay Zedd，x，i．e．Son to Hablat－cawo．This Man ruled five Years tyrannically，nox only Maflacring Nicador＇s Sons and Relations，bur many other innocent Pcrions，for which he became odious to all hispcople，who kured op the Parthian againut him，by whom being overcome in a Ser－Battle，he was upbraided with his Croeley， greatly rommented，and his Belly being ript open，his Guts were given to the Dogs．To him lucceeded his Brother Giviator－cban who in the fourth Year of his Reign was 』ain by Belduc－－ban his Uncle，who afier Give Years Reign died withour Ifue．
Badn the Son of Targake，younget Son of vlakuc－ clan zame to the Throne．with the Affent of the whole Nation，and fo well anfwered their Affections；that he was beloved，and honoured above all that were ever be－ fore him，but declaring himelf a Chrittian his peoples love abared，and many／I realons were was nain ar laft him through Satan＇s malice；frechat Coufin to Tangadar，

\section*{Gaxarchem} whofe rreachery God permitted lpeedily to be revenged， for when he leaft fufpected Treafon，he was wounded to Dearh in Carbin by his own Houfhold Servants，and no caufe is affigned in Hiftory for thicir fo doing，but it fays his Body lay for a long time unburied．This happen＇d A．D． 1305 ．Heg． 685.
His Brother Alicptu Abufaid（or Mabomet Ben－Argon） obrained the Throne by his Valour，and to bim fucceed－ ed Hobaro－Mirzr，or Abufaid Babador－chan，who Spen－ ding his time in Lewdnefs，and dying without lfue， his Kingdom became a Theatre of War，no lefs than 30 Perfors contending for the Sovereignty at once．
Things being in this Confufion，theopeople were for ced to look our for help，and invited Temeriane，Lord of Sanmichand，a Prince famous for Juitice and Succels， zgainf the Samintique Tatar，Piecip mifery．The Sro wich G：fs and Remonitranies of their mifery．The SF： thick Prince promifes them frecdy Airk and accordingly with 50000 Horfe enters Perfin，and having conquer d the Tyrants，fettled them in Peace within three Months． The People，thankful for this－Decircrance；arged Th merlane to accept the Crown，which he did，and mana－ ged it honourably 27 Years，in which time he fubducd all Afin，took Bnjazet the Turk，whom he put in an Iron Cage，and congucred more Kingdoms．and Provinces in cight Years，than the Remons did in cight hundred，viz． From Samarchand to Tirnace，which was the extcnt of the Macedonian Conqueft．
This great Monarch of the Afiatick World was yer for－ ced to fubmir to Death，and was buried Anno 140 ，an ingar in Catbayo，leaying his．Sons and Inherit，ziz．Fean Gwor，Hamari－Cheque，Myram－Sha，Ilisum：＝： and Myran－Sbarocke，by fome called Soutochio，and Lerro－ bio．Fean Goyr died much about the fame time with his Father in Palefinc，leaving two Sons，Mamet Sultan， and \(P\) Pr－Malomer，who was madc Governour of Gairc－ ben and Indefian by his Grandfather，and ruled ovcr chem，till he was perfidiouly llain by Rir－Ally．Hiamert－ cheque was Main in Laureftan，in his Farhers lat Batele wich Bajazer．Myram－fan was lain in tight，An．i4So． by Chara－Ifuft the Tuik，in Aderbatyen，but left Ifue Sul－ \(\tan\) Malumed，Father of Sultan Alnfaid，from whom the prefent Grear Mogul is lineally defcended． cd the reft，and held moft parts of the Empire till his Death，which happened \(A n_{\text {．1447．when he left Aderbai－}}\) on，or part of Media，to Myrann Foon－for，Son of Chara－ Ifjuft the Tirk，who was new entred Perja．Myramfan＇s Ifue to chis day enjoys the Tartarian Empirc，and tho it has been difturbed much by the Invafions of the Perfian， and Broils among themfelves，jer flouridijing under the queft of Indin，and tho＇that Prince could not compleat－ ly fubdue it，yer his Son LIamnyon，by the help of lamas Himm the Perfian King，made himfelf a perfect Mafter of it， A．D． 1550 ．Heg． 960 ．He died nor long after by a fall down Stairs，and was buried ar Delly．
His eldet Son Abdul－Fetta－Ge！adin－Mriomet，called Eftm：Ei； Ecbar，who had been educated under the care of Bytcimbi，Rivir： Jano－chewn， 2 Perfon of grear Parts and genercus En－ dowments，fucceeded him by the help of his Tutor，and his Son Chrwn－channa，and was crowned wirh all due Ceremony ar Dclly．From his very entrance on his Throne，he bent all his Endeavours to eniarge his Ter－ ritories，and thercby proved himielf to be the great Grandfon of the Victorious Tamerlanc．He revenged bicaqats himfelf in the firft place of Hemow，a turbulent Prince， and gained his Province，and then by Ally Collichan fub－ dued Doab，or Sanbal，a Province furrounded by Feming and Ganges，the nobleft Rivers in India．At that time By fangano－cawn，the King＇s Tutor，being tired with the troubles of the World，and Old Age，begged Leave of his Prince to fpend the reft of his time at Mabomers Se－ pulchre in Contemplation，bur in his Way he was flain by an obfcure Slave，whofe Father he had bcfore pucto Death，and by his Son \(A b d a l\) Radgee，and the reft of the afflicted Company，broughr back to Agra to be buricd． Ecbar laments his Death，ac leaft feemingly，（forby fome ne witito he is faid to have been an Actor in it）and to divert his call－ grief，he pulls down the Caftle of Agra，which was chen－tsta built of Mud，and rebuile it of durable Store well po－ lifhed，and much larger，being made fo fine and itrong， that it admits fcarce of any comparifon in \(A\) fir，and is fo pracious，that it takes up three Miles almott in Cir－ cuit，being buile upon the Banks of fcminy，compaffed with 2 Stone Wall，Moared，and fo to be entred by ma－ ny Draw－bridges，having four ftrong Gares，and fome Bulwarks and Countericarps to make is Defenfive． Agra liee Eaft of Surar 755 Miles，in the Navel of gna ackim Indoften，and is the Emprefs of all the Citics in the Mo－bad gul＇s Territorice．Is is fitnate in 28 Deg .38 Min ．North Lacitude，and is Watercd by the \(\overline{3} \mathrm{cming}\) ，which russ from Dely hither，and mixing with the Gangecs flows in－ to the Gulph of \(B: n g a /\) ．It is in form of an \(\mathrm{H}_{3}\) lf－Moon like London，the Streets are many，long and narrow， but very natty．It is 7 Miles about，part Wialled，and the reft fenced with a Dirch．Radgec－Rana，a noble and timatik his ftrong Caftle of Clrtar to him upon this Occationb）
Zmet Pudporm，one of Ecbar＇s Captains，fled to Radiges． upon a difcontent，and was entrufted by him with an Important Garrifon，from whence he made many ln － Todds into Gazirat co vex and provoke Ecbar．This was fair Occafion for Ecbar to fccure himfelf，and ：invade Radge：s Dominions；and thereupon marches agzinft amet with scoso Horfe；fome Months he atracked the． Forc by force in vain，which obiliged him to undernine

Etrantir
it, and blow ap the Walls, which he did fo effectually Sun-barnt Bricks, low, bur large and terrafted. Neeir is to make \(\mathbf{a}\) breach, at which he himfelf, and 20000 Men, immediatelf entred, driving \(Z\) emet into fo much defpair, that be gatherid his Family to him into one place, and burnc himfelf with them, but took the Fort which Aladin had endeavoured 12 Years in vain; 2 Vitory fo great, that Ecbar cauled is to be Engraven at Agra, which is fill to be feen in remembrance of it.
Ecbar had no time to rejoyce ar this Victory, tho' रo

Fmanitid from Recauce immediacely upon it he reccived Letrce yumpor mee Hegee his Brother, with 30 thoufand Horfe of Kauryminombil, had feized his Country. Ecbar delays no time, bu 4iv. fofuddenly offers himelf to the Enemy ro give him Bas de, that Mathomst was furprized, and leaving his Camp, it became a prey to Ecbar's Army. This Occafion drew the King's thoughts ro attempr the Conqueft of other places, and going himfelf to Pang-Ob, he fent Badu-kamn Allekoolisentm, and Zemaen, againft the Patanians, whom they vanquilhed at Dori, Samb I, Lacimown and Fompore, and got all the Provinces to the Morul, between Ganges and Tentra; but being puffed up with theic Conquefts, they zefolved to fer up from themicel.es, and dublue all India for themfelves. Ecbur was acquainted with chi defign by his Mothers Letrers from Agra, and with fpecdy Marches fo Surprized them, chas they Hed at his approach; but being taken, Allekooli-camon was trampled ro Death by Horics, and Bedur-camn Strangled at Ecvar's Command.
Things being thus a little ferded, Ecibar fancies that Pilgrimage to Afmerr, to In:ccate Mandec, a Reveren Scholar of Mahomer's, might procure him Malc-lfifuc and accordingly pexformed it, altho' 200 Englifh Milcs and there barefoot entreats Mandec for Children. This Prophet is of great Fame in thofe Parts, and through the Liberality of fome devored Princes, lies there Entombed in a ftately Monumenr, graced with three fair Courts; cach of which is paved with Stone, and the ounfide, af terthe Rerjan Mode, is plaiftred and polifhed in Mofaick Order.
Afmeer Lies in 25 Deg. 15 Min . NorthernLatitude, the Cafte is feated upon an high Hill, and City lics below it ; the Houfes are well built, and the Walls are of -folid Srone, but not of grearittrengch.
Not far from ir is Godab, once the Seat of the Vaful, and affords the Ruins of Buildings; which Time has buried in Dult. There Ecber had added to his Empire ; and now having ended his Oblations, he vilited an holy Derine in his recurn, named Sict Selym a Man in great Repure among the People, who rook is for fo grear a favour, that he forerold that the Moga! Mould have three Male Children in a fhort time, as it came to pals. Upon this account he named his firtt-born Sclyn, (who was afterward Mogul, and called himfelf Sham-S:lym, and to whom Sir Tho. Roe was fent Embaffador) the other two werc named ChanMorad, or imuratis and \(D^{\prime} / 3 a c n / h a\), or Daniel. The Prophefy was fo grateful to Ecbar, that in gratirude he erected a very magnificen Morque in the Town he lired, then called Tzicberin, or Sycary, and baving Walled is in, and enlarged is, be builr himelf a Palace in it, and a Bazar for Trade, as noble a one as any in the Eaft, and intending to make it the Sear of the Empire, he called ir Fertiporc, i, e. a place of Pleafure; but after finding the. Water unwhollome; he forfook it, and from finding the Water unwhollome; he forfook it, and from that cime is fell to decay, and now lies in Ruins. It is 18 Miles diftane from Agra.
While Ecbar was thus buficd ar Fettipore, News was Foon Chwn, who had Forraged as far as Barocl; and were marching to Amadabud to make a.prey of that Weaichy City. Amadabad feems to be the Amacaftis of Ptolemy, and Amadavifts of Arrian: It takes its Name from Ha met the King, who in the Year of Mabomet 275, enlar ged and beautified ir. Ir lies in 23 Deg. 18 Min. Northern Latitude, and is at prefenr che Metropolis of Cambaia or Guzurat: It is watered by a fweer River, and circled by a ftrong Wall, well and orderly built, with pretry Towers; and twelve Pofterns, which none are allowed to go through without a Pals. The Streets are many, precry large and comely, and their Shops are well ftored wich Aromatick Gums, Perfumes and Spices, Silks, Cotrons, Callicoes, and choice of Indian and Cbina Rarities, which are fold bere by the Banians, who Cath, taii are the moft numerous Inhabitants... The Bazar is of moft Note, being rich and uniform, and the Caftle is Cang, large, and moated, being the Habitation of the
it is the Manfoleum of a cornin Sclionl-Malter whom King Spa-Recr loved to dearly, that be fought to ren Building Immotral by this itately Monumenr. The Building is arcticd, and the Pavemenr is of well polithed Marble. In hatb three Courts, and in one of them are 400 Porpyyrian Pillars formad in the Corinttian way Joining to it is a Tanke of Whater, compaffed with Cloyfters, admaned with fraciais Wuidows, which af ord 2 delicare proppect.
As Sefques, or Sarkeffe, an hours Riding from this \(\mathrm{Ci}_{\mathrm{i}}\) The Spont ty, are the Scpulthres of many. Cambninn Kings, and cambatal Anfoboors, the Nobility of the Country; in 2 fititely Princti Temple, much reforted to by the Bannians, who decended from them; and two Mi'es nearer the City are the Gardens and Palace of Cbamu-Channa, who was the Son of Ryranclan the Perjian, which Esbri buile, and gave him in memory of she Victory his Father gained over the laft of the Cimbaian Kings, and added his Kingdum to Eshar. The Intelligence of Hefrin's Relvellion no fooner came to Ecbiar's Ears, but he, with incredible hafte, marches to give him Bartle, and having in four days paffed 300 Miles, falls upon him. and his Complices, carly in the Morning, and after a fmall refiftance rours them. Many were llain in the purluit, and among them Elrahim Hoffen and Miran Charm; Mabamcs diofion was taken Prifoner, and forthwith Peheaded.
This Vietory not only recovered Amelabat, and cauled Surxi and it to be better fortify'd, bue made Sara*, and moft part gutrad bo: of Gujurat, fubjectzo Ecbar. As a Moniment of chis Eikter. Victory, Ecbar, upon his xeturn, began the famous Caftle of igra, which now delerves the 7inle of the Pxinecfs of Afia. It is built of large and good Stone; and coft tweive Years to finith, tho 1200 L abourers werc commonly employ'd about it. It is faid to have coft 2500000 Roupees, tho' at the faractime he fperir 1500000 Roupees abour the Walls and Palace at Fertipore.
Ar Treckander, or Secandra, five Miles from Agre, is the The SepuiMatfoleum, or Burial-place, of the Grear Meguls, which chres of the Ecbar began, and his Son fanghecr continued, but is yet Mogma fcarce finimed, tho' there has been "expended on it 14 Millions of Roupees. The place where if ftand's is cal led Scandcr, i. e. Alexander, becaufe 'tis faid thar that Macedonian King ended his Conquefts chere. It has four large Squares, each fide being 300 paces long. The Walls are Free-Stone, and at each corner is a Tower of Chequered Marble. Ten foot higher is añother Tower beautified on every fide with three others, which refemble the famous Seprizonium of the Empcror Scuerus, o the famous Tower of Babylon, builr by Semiramis; and dedicated to the Memory of Jupiter Belus her Husband's great Anceftor; ar the top of it is the Mummy of Ec- Ecbant ber, who is there laid in a Coffin of Gold. This Tomb. Structure is built in a fpacious Garden, furrounded with a Wall of red coloured Stonc, and much ennobles thofe Parts, as well as keefs the Founder in Mamory. While thefe yaft Buildings were erecting, an opportuniry was given to Ecbar of adding Bcrigel to his Empire. by the Succeffion of Sha-Dower, a Patian Prince, both Effeminate himfelf, and hated by the Pcople; whiereitpon he ends an Army of so thoufand Horfe, 200 thoufanid Foor, and 600 Elephants, againtt him. Sha-Dmoes had no no-Estar cont. ice of the march of this Army, till is had palfed over quen Ampat the Genges, bur being affured of ir, he difparched Redgee \(B^{\prime}\) ban with 20000 Horfe to cncounter them. He mer therí between 7 Zotfia and Mobch-Alli-por, where he maintain'd a Skirmilh with them for 3 hours, buc Ecbar over powexing him with Numbers gor the Maftery, and forced them o retreat inro Pathon, which Dowes had fortifed. Eebri purfues them, and laying Siege to the Town, neither provoked them to Bartle, nor artacked the Town for three months, bur in the fourth violently affanlts and enters it, rakes the King buried in Drink; and beheaded him.
Ecbar, after this good fortune, returned to Fertipore Sererit ntitar thimfelf to Overfec his Buildings, but employitig his conquefth Caprains and Army to enlarge his Empire, who by their Copeain bie Valour and Vigilancy made confiderable Additions to it ; for Rgf:an-ccion, and Zadoc-c.amn, tok the Caftle of Rhantipore in Malon from the Rbadgect, who had held it 400 Years. Mohebally-camp, a Wife and Daring' Captain, gained the Caftle of Rota, or Reugbrai, called of old Orcopbenta, by this Stratagem: He prerended to be on a Journey to Bengal with hisSeraglio of Women, and being in hafte, fhews a Raja his Concubinies, who were in 200 Doola's or Cajua's, and Bribes him to procure leave of the Lord of the Caftle, that he mighr leave his Concubines in thic Caftle till his returii. Thic Redgee who kepr the Caftle, loved Women, and fcadily eviterthined the motion, but Ally-camn caufed the Worient change their Garments, and as many young Men to put them on, whobeing managed by a prudent Eunuch, leized the Catte, belicaded the Radgec himfelf, and fo be came Matters of thar Foitrefs. which was fo Atrong that all the force of Indin could nor hate taken it. Ec bar was much deligheed with the pleafant managemen of the Matter; and fo much the more, bacaufe of the great Mafs of Moncy taken in it.

\section*{418 Sir Tho:Herbert's Travels into Afia and Africa, (oc. Lib. HI}
Githey-sempalfo, an Apoftate Malcmetan, betrayed the Invincible Ca'tle of 'fcloer to him, tho' to his own Bro ther's confurfion. The fame of thefe Succeffes afticted many of the Neightouxing Raja's, mioft of them fecking to defend themifelves againft chis Invading Tartar bur fome were fo bold as to attack his Greatnefs, and endeavour to fupprefs him by force. : among whom was opporis. S tis is conques: Roop Mathij, a Lady both Fair anditaliant. She, tho' of Beauty cnough to conquer Ecbar foonce than by Arms, confided rather to the larecr, and fell vigoroully into his Dominions, but was oppofed in the midft of her carcer by Aldem-samn, an cxpert Soldicr, with a body of Horic who llow moth of her Patrans in the fighr, and rook her but fie, rather than endure the fhame of Imprifonment, the affaules of her Chaftity, and the feoffs of a Vistorious Encmy, poyfoned her felf.
Ropp. Mp,thij
Acs fifre
 \begin{tabular}{c} lion tuppret- \\
iod. \\
\hline
\end{tabular} in Guzkrat, railcs a Revedion againt Ecbar Vicc-Roy thangled Gotobias, Mamet-capn the King the Important places in and fome Omra's, fieizes upon all by Abidh-Radger, (Byrangano-crwns Son) he was vanquithed, and derpairing of pardon he killed himfelf, as the lare named Amarion did. Soon after this, Hirind-Ma/bomet-Hackim, Ecbar's Bro ther, died; by which manans he fecured to himfelf Cabut, which was impoffible for him to do while Hackim Was alive, for uling his Wiyes and Children with all due refpeet, and confering on Cbabrreawn Hamet-beg, and Mamist-Maxuct-camm, Stipends and Commands in Mcfin lipatin, Orixa, and other places, fuitable to their MMerit, he made zilber-cemp Vice-Roy of that Province, and fo made is fubject to him

This growing Greatnefs of Ecbar's raifed fo much rerror in the Minds of the lirtle Gentile Kings, that bordered on his Conquefts, viz. Rïdzia Thormich, Radjec Ramgiend Lord of Bando, and Radgec Bhrmicl, with fe veral others, that they prelented themfelves to Ecbar at Fettiporc, and Enrolled their Countries, as Mcmbers, or Appendixes of the Mgigl's Empixe, obliging themfelves Yearly (as a Symbol of their Subjection) not only to prcrent him with Earth and Water, bur their Daughters to be his Concubines; which was fo grateful a Tribute to the Mogul, that he built a Triumphant Palace to Court them in ar Paijc, upon a Promontory, where the 7 cmin cmpties ir felf into Ganges, of bard Stone, very artificial ly polifhed, and called it Elabaffe. And that it mighr ke more vencrable and famous, he repofited in a dark Cave fome deformed Images (as Sacred Relicks) of Babba Adcm, Mamma Evah, Sctb, Enos, and Mctbufclab, (whom they affirm to have lived thersabouts) to which innumerable Banians from moot Parts of India refor Yearly for a Bcnediction, having fift purified themfelves in Genges, and fhaved off their hair, as an unclean Excrement, fuppofing that they merired thereby: Ecbar fent a Myriad, and 200 thoufand Roupecs, on this Building. Near it is the ftarely Tomb which Fangbee ctected for his firlt Wife Raja Menifengt's Sifter, who poyfoned her felf as foon as the heard of hor Son Sulian poyfoned her Relf:
- Ecber's Affairs going on thus profperoully, he harboars

Conqueft.
ziew Projeets of conquering l'urop, Pafan, Cormande:, and all Bengal to the South, and fo tretch his Empire as far as Tartary. This defign was foon put in execation, by the News he heard that Mirina Sharopbin Badaxan had been injured by the \(v\) fueg-Tarters, whom he refolved to Revenge ; bur firf, as more confiderable, he bends his march towards Orixt, that he mighe ar once command entirely over Ganges. At Atsirk he Mufters his Army, and gives the Van to Raja Bymiel, and takes the other himfelf, and Fehan-cawn. Bymicl outfripping the reft of the Army. falls furioully upon the Pataniciy, who being led by ell-Ally, their Valiant General, received them with juch Bravery, and fought them with fuch Succefs that Byrmiel was forced to retreat with lofs; bur Ectar laving quick notice of it by fuch as fled, 'rallies hisMcn again, and with fome freth Supplies xenews the Figh Zell-Ally, and his Victorious Party, received him with a Narph Charge, and maintained the fighr for fome hours clofely, but being over-powered with Numbers loft the Day. zelli Ally, and Turcofs his Lieurenant, were Alain, and 15000 Of his Army lefr dead upon the place. EC-wh, by this Victory, made all Bengal fubsicet to him, pire ; but Abas the Parfian Merriber of the Manul'sEmpire; but Abas the Perfian not liking his Enlargement that way, wrefted it from him within a lirtle while after tho he held it not long.
Ecuar's Ambition fitopp'd not here, but carries him on tall to Conquer, tho he cares not how, nor where, for hearing of the old King of Mrurenabar's Death, he deSon's to bengish, he fend; and to that end, to difcover his Son's Atrength, he lends his Embaffadors Tžedder-crivn and Hackecm-caton, under a pretence of Friendllip, to condole and comforr him for his Father's Death, and hey rerurned at the Years end well Inftructed Ecbar proceeds in his defign, and becaufe Coffimir Which lay between, was not in his power, he fends Ally Mirzar in an Embafy to \(7 u / 2 f f\)-cawn, a fcarful King, with this Meffage,' That if he would do him Homage he fhould have his Kingdom eftablifhed to him, and himpelf his Friend to defend him; bur if he obliged him to wage War againft him, he muft expeOt perpetual Slavery. Fufteffenpon being of a timerous Spirit fubmits, but Facob-camn his Son, difdaining che Vaffalare mr fuiate of his Family, fhook off the Yoke for a litule time, till to hime Eclinr, by his Atronger Forces, having fubdued and taken him, obliged him to accept a fevcre Bondage.
Caflimir is part of the Ancient Sogdinnin, which was a car part of Scrbthia intre Imerum. It lies in \(4 x\) Deg. 9 Min. critbed. Northcrn Laticude. The Province is generally Mounrainous, Barren, Cold and Windy. The Metropolis of is Shyrenckar, watered by the River Bebat, or Pbat. which arifing in the Mountains of Caterfots, cmptics is clf inro Indus. In this Province is a lake is Miles in compals, which has an Ine in the middle of it, where is Palace feated moft deliciouly for variety of Sports, in Finking, Hawking, Rowing, Er.
Ecbar having done this, he aims at Tutra, and the Kinporime Countries lying on the Eaft-fide of Indus; feferring the tac crime Conqueft of Balriza for a time) Miráa-Fchan, King of bi Etide Tutfr, was grown odious to his Subjects by rcafon of his Tyranny, which he knew would make his Attanprto conquer it more eafie, whereupon he fends Geng.mm?, his Favourite, with 12 thoufand Men in Boass to furprize ir. Neverthelefs, the King of Tutta having Intelligence of it, maintained his City fix Months againft them, but in the feventh was forced to Sarrender upon Conditions which tho" favourable, yer Eibar. got all Syndse into his power.
Turta is one of the moft celcbrared Marts of Indit, fo Tunte dit ancompaffed with che River Indus, that it makes a Pe- bedi. ninfula. Loor Bander is the Port to it, bur the Ships chat lie there are fubject to the Worm, as at \($_{\text {iprellyr }}\), Dabult Goa, &cc.
About the fame time died Nezamfhaw, the Old King Etwrider of Decan, and Melec Amber his Son fucceeded him :on Damar Ecber, whofe Ambition carched ar all Opporrunities of nlarging his Dominions, refolyes upon a War wich of New King before be was kettled, and to that end fend Gangame, a Chofen General, with 30 thoufand Horf or Labor, and Orders Radgce Ally-chan to meer him with vee thoufand more ar Brampore; where having wade all necerfary Provifions for his Expedition they maich to Dean:
This Kingdom is large, and has manyy Ciries of Notc \(D\) dind dis in it, as Decan the Metropolis, which is diftant about ten x Miles from the Diamond-Mine, Onor, Batticala, Mong lir, &c.
Tziard Bicly, Daughrex to the laft King, hearing of cerresi the Mogul's approach, firtt fortifies Amdariivatr a Fron- valas bid ticr-Town, and having gotren fome Auxiliary Forces of forty thoufand Horfe, from the Kings of \(V t\) fape and Golconda, which the gave to be commanded by Godgec Shulfel, a faithful Eunuch, meets the Enemy upon the Confines: Afrer fomeSkirmithes a furious Barde begun, and continued with doubrful Success 8 hoars, vill Ganganna coming in with a freh Referve, forced the Decans, after three hours fight more, to give back, their General Godgee being left flain on the fpor." The Magrts purfue the Decans 15 Miles, bur the Princefs Bicby oppofing them with fome frelh Horfe, they were obliged to zetire out of Decan.
Ecbar having noticc of what paffed; Orders his Son Sha-Morad to reinforce his Army with a new Levy offifteen thouland Horle, and make a new Invafion inro thofe Southern Provinces from Brampcre. The Youth nerrily undertakes the Charge, bur indulging himfelf in Vnery and Drink too much, while he lay there, died, and Abdul Fazel is put into his place. He ina fmall time Wedues the Provinces of Sanda, Berir, and many other Wealthy Places, giving the King hopes by Lettcr of con mir ic.

\title{

}

\footnotetext{
\(\qquad\)

}

\section*{India, in a fimall rime. Ecbar in the mean time Orders} his Son Sba-Selim (afterwards called fangheer) with fif ween thoufand Horfe, to fall upon Rajin Rema Mardour, the only Succeffor of Porus, and the moft porent of the Radgees, feveral Omrn's and Mancebdars attending him wish what Forces they could, \({ }^{2}\) ather, and for quicker Inrelligence, Ecbar himfelf removes his Refidence from Agra to Labor, where he was received with all demonftrations of Joy, as-if he came to fettle among them, and enrich the Town.
undari- Lalor is agreat and famous City, vying with Agra for the Honour of the Metropolis of Magulifiam. Ir is fituate in 32 Dcg .15 Min . Northern latitude. The Air for 8 Months is very pure and reftoracive, she Sereets are gracefill and well payed, moft of them being cleanfed, and ferved by the River Ravec, a branch of the Indus. The Caftles; Palaces, Mofques, Hummums, Tanks, Gardens, ©广́c. are very obferyable : The Caltic is large, uniform, and nobly feated ; 'ris buile of white polillied Srone, and is cnered by twelve Gates. Within is a Palace with two Courrs. Onthe Walls are pictur'd ne. Andry Stories and Paftimes about the Moguls, and their difhevements ; and upon fome of the Dours is a Crucifix, and the Image of the Bleffed Virgin. It was a famous City in Porus' Time. The Province about it which is called Pengab, is warcred with five Rivers, which makes is as fruirful as any part of India. From hence to Agre is a continued Walk, thadowed with Elm, Ahh and Muiberry-trees, and ar every cighr Miles end an \(\operatorname{lnn}\) for Strangers to repofe in rrafr, tho' thefe Citics are 300 Miles diftance. Afaf.ctita abounds here.
Ecbar being returned to ATra, refolves to profecute the War in Decam in Perfon, and having made fuitable Preparations for it, A. 1597. Heg. 977. Fets out towards it from Brampore, buc, contrary to his expectation, as foon shat as he had paffed the River Nerebede, he had News that Badur \(/ 2 a\), a couragious Radger, had fortified the ftrong Cafte of Haffer againft him. The Mogul nor thinking it Gafe to leave fo confiderable an Enemy behind him, lits down before it, refolving to cake ic by force or famine; and to thas end blocked it up clofe. The Radgee not knowing any, that cither would, or could either raife the Siege, or fupply him wirh Provifions, thoughr in his bet way to treat berimes, and beating a Paxley accordingly, came to a Treaty with Ecbar, who granted him bis Life and Goods uponAricles, and upon the furrender of the Caftle made them good to him. The Radgee accepred a Command in Ecbar's Army, who hinifif marched more cheerfully at the thoughts of this Succefs, rill ing pore as News was brought him, that Sha-Selimn ha ing poyfoned \(T z 6 b 6 i-c r a w n\), and feized his Treafure, with which he made the Soldiers firm to him, was marching to Agra, intending to Derofe him. Ecbar was fo ching to Agra, intending to Denofe him. Ecbar was fo amazed at this unexpected Rebellion, that whar with fear of his Son's popularity, and what with grief to leave Decan unconquered, he fell into a deep Melincholy, till Abdul Enzel reviving him with feafonable Encourage ments, he left his Son Sha-Dhaen, with Abdul Faĩel, and other Omrie's, to profecute che Wars in Decan, and rerumed to Agra. Sha-Selim was gor rhither before him, with hopes of feizing his Fathers Treafury, but miffing his aim, he marched to Elinbaffr, by Reben and Annewars, many Towns and Provinces, fubmitring to him in the way.
theriter. The King being recurned to Agra, where he was made tude, in the Province of Chandys:or Sanidec, which is truifful where ir is watered by the River Tappec, but elfewhere is barren and fandy. The City fands upon. low ground, and fo is unhealtby, being Inhabited mort by Banninns. The Strectsare many; but narrow; and the Houfes high, bur not beauziful.' At the North-Eat fide flands the Cafle by the River's fide; which is large; and in the River is an Artificial Elephant; admitcd by Strangers, bur xevercnced by the Bamians. Is was aircien:ly the Sear of the Decan Kings, bur now the mont memnorable things are Chnn-chrnna"'s Houfe and Gardens; Waterned with all lorts of Trees and Flowers, with Water-Works, which mav, aford Pleafurc and Delightr: Ectar no fomner underitood how Cortunately Danicl Sha. Sclim had proceeded Sourhward, but God, ee Jelonn prefents him tiibmits, but with a Penirential Letter fronit Shat-selim (who doubtle:s "ganRerodita. Was friphted into this Submillion by his Brother's Succefs:) :cuar in a little time fends \(y\) ebren back with Promifes of Pardon, provided he would dilimifis his Army, and make a (pecdy Submilion. His ungracious Sna holding faft his formur Impiery, and being at the head of an Army of feventy thoufand Men, ypon whom he had conferred many Commands, refufed to do ir, unleis he would give 2 General Amnefty to all the Conlipirators, whofe Lives and Well-bcings were as dear to him as his own. This Anfwer incenfed his Father to a Denial, where Ecbir en: upon he difodges his Ammy, and maxched to Elabrff., gcid as ic: where he commanded all forss of Coin of Gold, Silyer and Brafs, to be ftamped with his own Niame and Moroo which, to vex his Farher. he fent to him, and beides, Courred his Father's Wife Anarkalc.
Ecbar, caraged at thefe things, Curfes him, and then acquains sibilci Fajec', bis Chancellor, with ir. He laboured all he could to moderate his Mafter's.palion, and with 3000 Horle haftes to do his Mafter fume Service. Sha-Selim having Intellipence of all that paffed, writes to Radgee. Bert/ingh, (Lord of Siry) through whole Counrry nand of sals, promifing lim a Gratuiry, and a Com-mand of 5000 Horle, if he would icnd him his Head. The Radige promifes his beft, and wilh 1000 Horfe, and 3000 Foor, liays an Ambulh for him near -Gmaler Abdul Fazcl nor fufpecting any thing marches fecurely : The Radger falls upon him, and having the advanrage Mbdut Fazel Noth of Men and Surprize, llew mont of his Men, and Mio. taking him Behcided him, and carries his Head to \(\mathrm{Sc}_{\mathrm{c}}\) lim, who received the Prefent joyfully: Ecber, who loved Abdal dearly, fell into fuch a paftion at the News of his Death, thar he withdrew three days from all Company, and refufed to be comforted.
This affiction was foon followed by another, viz. the Sha-Danict's Death of his Son Sha-Deniel, who killed himfelf by In- Dath. temperance, fo that he was at his Wits end. Bur neceffry obliging him to put a ftop to his Son's Rebelion, he marches againit him with chirty thoufand Horfe; bur before he would bring things to extremity, he refolves to try once more what perfwations would do, and to that end fends a patherick Letter to him by Myrad-§edda, the Princes Turor, who fo wrcught with him, that he brought him to AGra to Ecbar, who received him with fury, and sim-Saim. Thunder-ftruck him with a Storm of words, Atrikes him imbmitsprifund with his Fift upon the Mouth, calls him Fool and Afs, thar commanding fevenry thoufand Men, would forfake then to truft the Sugard promifes of any Man, and theń fends him to Prifon, with all the Com'a's that arrended him, except Redgec Batfo, who made his efcape. In this Imprifomnent, Sha-Selim, conrrary to bis Cuitom 2bftains 24 hours from Opium; but Ecbar, fearing he would thus make away himfelf, went the next day in Perfon to perfwade him to take it. The third day, by the Intercecfion of his Ladies and Concubines, Sclim was freed, and Sent to his own Houfe, where he behaved himfelf very dutifully, vifiting his Father every day, till Ecbar, upon fome new jealoufics, reftrained him again, but this Rancour had litcle effect, for the King taking diftafte againß Mi/fba-Gafhaw, his Favourite, for fpeaking a word which he ill Interpreced, refolves to have his Life for it, and to chat end ordcred his Phylician to inake two Pills of like flape, but concrary Operation, which Gaftaw bringing to Ecbar, he takes one himfelf, and orders Grfbaw to take the other. Ecbar, by mittake, takes Eibur pojn the poyfon'd one, and tho' he ufed all endeavours to pre- and \(\sin\), dided, vent the effeets, it proved in vain; fo that after \(1+\) days and facerds. torment he died, in the 73d Year of his Age, and 52 of his Reign. He, was buried with all imaginable Solemnity at Tzekander, in: a Monument he had prepared for himself, and Sba-Selim (nor withour fome opponition from Radgee Manfingb and Cban Af(m, who endeavoured to raire his Son Cufbroe to the Throne, becanfe they pretended Eebar had nominated him his Succeffor) was wit duc Ceremony crowned at Agra, by the Name of fangbeer in the Year 1604 , Heg. \(98_{4}\). Hhh2 fang Fangbecr being fettled on the Throne, began his Reign wich Nets of Grace, and by the Mediation of Morteze Chan, Cooly Mametzhan, and others of his Council, receives his Son Sultan Cufbroc, and his Affociares Radgee Menfingh, and C/san Afcm, into favour ; bur Cu/broc, fufpecting his Pardon to be Counterfeir, fied to Hafenbeg, Vicc-Roy of Cabzl, his Old Friend, being certain, that if he ftayed long ar Court, he Mould be put to Death. Fangher had immediate notice of his Son's flight, and fearing the danger of ir, fixft Orders Godges Mciec allelg g , Caprain of his Guard, with his Forces, to purfue him, and then followed bimfelf with 50 Elephants, and 8000 Mcn.

Cnptroe's Re-
The poor Prince being thus purfucd, was afraid he butrand is Thould be made a Prifoner again; bur fuch was the hafte of Haffenber, that they could not overtake him by fifteen Courfes, and on the gth he got to Labor, intending to enter the Caftle, bur Ebratim-chan, the Govcrnour, keps him our. The Prince, having twenty thoufand Men with him, laboured to take it by force, and fpent three Weeks about it; but all in rain; whereupon he leaves Lafor, and refolves to meer his' Father, and give him Bartle nearer home. In hismarch, he pirched one night where Mortofa-cinam lay inAmbunh with 600 Horfe, who fell upen him, but by the care of Haffan he was routed, and thad not Godigec Mcler, with the King's Standard, come into his Aid, proclaiming that the King was at band, the King's Army had been quite ruined; but the King's approach begar fuch tcrrour, that \(A b d u l\) Rija, who bore the Prince's Colours, cowardly threw them away, and fled, whofe Example the reft of the Army following, the Prince was left defencelefs, and his Baggaze feized by the Country Prople.
Frangioer was to Senfible of this good hap, that in me-Festipera
bititav 2 mory of this Deliverance he built at Trickeny a Cafte, monutsn of and names it Fertiporc, adding, after a fair Bazar, a Atatcthe vitory. Iy Mofque and Palace, and railing ir in ; fo thar had the Water been good, is had by this time triumphed over all the Cities of India.
The miferable Prince, after this, defeat, being accompanicd with Haffenbeg, Abdul Radgee, and Chrm Bederfora fly to Caljor, where Redgee ftaid, but the Sultan, with Badierfha, croffing the River, labour to arrive with fafery ar Rnnsas, a Caftle repurcd Inpregnable ; bur as they paffed the River Tzenob, the treacherous Watermen kepr them between Decks, and brought them into the Power of C.ffrm-chawn's Sons, who, without delay, conreyed them to Famgheer. The King, over-joyed with this good fortune, returns to Lebor, where he firft put to Death - many Omra's, the Prince's Followers, Imprifoned Haffcmler, Bedrfha, and Abdul Riadsec, after he had publickly Difgraced shem, and committed his Son to the Cuffody of zemanacbeg; called after mabobet-dien, it e. The Beloved Lord.
Bur his Tyranny would not fuffer him to live long Another Re. wichout Enemies; for fome of his Nobles of the higheft Locden difico. rerch. Rank, viz. Mirza Cbericfe, (Brother to AJaph-shan) him as he naffed over the Mountrinsito Cabul; but the King, tho fufpecting no fuch defign, was fo well guarded, thar they durft not attempt their Villanous purpore Yet wexe chey difcovered to fangheer, by Godgee Vehes, and Ethiman Doulef, the King's Treafurer, was accufed of affifting them with Money our of the King's Treafury. The King was ftruck with fear at the News of it, but throwing is off by Mirza Ombrave's Advice, he apprehended the Confpirators, and without delay commands them to be Executed. Ethaman Doulet was fpared upon the payment of 200000 Roupees to the King for his Life, but dircharged of his Place, and confined to Dianerchen's Houfe.
fangber remembring his danger in going to Cabul, which he believed to proceed from his Son Cuffroe, commands his Son's Eyes to be pur out with Juice of Reck: but one Eye, through the favour of the Poyfon, retain'd 2 litule fight. He alfo ordered Cban-A/em, Cu/broe's Father-in-Law, to be clad in loathfome Rags, and being brought into the Guzel-chan, that all the Omra's fhould Pit on his Beard, to be manacled and calt inxo Prifon, where he remained two Years clofe Piifoner, till by the importunities of his Wives he was releafed.
Currontidd
 zxin the Crowi, In the Year 1609, Currown, another of fangbeer's Sons, with his Friends, to fecure his way to the Crown, prevailed with his Father that his. Brother's Sons might be Chriftned; which was accordingly done by the Jefuits cordingly did. In che Way, the young Widow Mekre metzia, Ethaman Doulet's Davghter, and Sifter to Affaph hann, was mer by a Wizard, who rold her many Srories of her cofuing grearnefs, which foon after came to pais for being arrived ar Agra, they were welcomed by Reckin Sultrnna the Mother Queen, and the being one day in the Malbal with her little Girl, 7 angheer in merrimens lifted up her Veil, and became on a fudden fo ravified 1 log op . with her Beaury, that he foughr all means to ingratiare himfelf in her Affections. He advances Eitliaman Douler her dejected Father, and asks his good-will for hers gave Honour, Wealth and Command, to her Brother Afeph-chan, and her other Kindred, and married her with all Solemnity, changing her Name into NouphcBegem or Normabal, i.c. The light or Gilory of the Courr. In his Amours whe Court. In his Amours with this lovely Princefs, hs fpent fome Ycars without regarding any Publick bufinefs.
In 1610 , Heg. 990 , and 6 th Year of Fanghcer's Reign, Radiep Sultan Sherryar the Prince was Rent Vicc-Roy of Griziraf, under the Tuition of Mortefactian, and Cbaw-Fclian ro Bramporc, and Mahober-chan with an Army againt Radgec Rana, or Rabamme of Mandon, who ar that cime was broke out into Rebellion againft him. Mabobetchan went on Victorioully, and forced many flomg Holds and Caflcs from Holds and Caftles from thofe untameable Indions, but through the cnvy of fome ar Courr he was recalled, and Abdut-clian made Gencral in his Place, who profcured the War with the like Succefs, for he beat Rana in a pitched Battle at Si/s-mcer, and rook Syavend, his itrongeft Caftle, from him, whercin he found florc of Provifion, and many Pagods, which had food there, and been Surpertitiounly adored for aboye a thouland Years. Thefe be cauled to be burnt, and reared in their place a Stu pendious Mofque for the Mabomctan Devotion.
Fangicer hearing of this News, fent Abdul-chan particular thanks, ordering him to ftay a while in Gururat, thy the to extirpate the Rafcally Race of Cool's's and Bielfg rates, Robice or who robbed the Caffiln's and lived upon the Spoil of Raffengers. Abdul diligently obeys his Mafter's Orders, ferrets them out of their Holes, new their Caprain Edd after feveral Skirmithes, and happily finding them aftembled one time, falls upon chem, and new half their Rabble, with Laci-Cooly their Ring-lcader; whof Head he fent 20 Amadabat, where, as a terror to fuch Rebels, is was fet ona Pinacle. But Char-fcian in Dccan, tho' be waited all opportunities of Conqueft, was difappointed through the Difcord and Envy of fome Omra's in bis Army , and therefore acquaints the Mogul with ir, defiring him to fend one of his Sons downi to him, that the Army might be awed by his Prefence.
Fangheer, after confideration, fends his Son Sultansum Perwecs, but after obferving the Prudence of Mekc- mimetis Amber and his Rower, he feecds Cbrn-Afcm. after him, Drem, with 4000 Men more, to reinforce his Army. ChanAfem was no fooner come to Brampors, but he inurats Ganganna, Lieutenant of \(K\) boor, to joyn wich him; and o with an Army of 600000 Mcn, and 600 Elephants, penerrates into the hears of Decan, burning and plundering as they lift without reffitance. The Dccan King, Kinow aftonifhed archefe-Numbers, and unable to refif, flies anis sin o and fro, and having had fome fmall Skirmifics in 5 vain, as his Ambuthes alfo proved, he tled to the Cafte of Daltabet, conrriving to rid his Kingdom of them by Stratagem, which be chus managed: He writes fome Counterfeir Letters from the Redgees about Fangher's Court, containing a private Advertifement of the Ms: \(_{\text {- }}\) gul's Death, and Curroon's Advancement to the Throne. Thefe he gave to a Crafty Bannien, who traveling as the came from Agra, was taken as a Spy. His Leters being read, fo aftonifted the General, that he immediately idivides the Army withour any Confultation, quirs finch places as bad Garrifons put in them, and with confufed hafte marcherh back. into their own Country, Sultan Perwees to Brampore, Abdul-chan to Surat, and iffem-chan towards Agri, giving Amber an eafe.re-dimittance into his Towns and Caftles, which orberwife he could never have recovered

As foon as fangbeer heard of the Trick, he was angry Mebturix with them for their Credulity, and fends Mabotes-chan sumxal Governour 20 Brempore, where being received joyfully, cm be employed his Forces in fubduing Berar, and then Inwades. Decan as:far as Kerchy, where Abdul-cban had been with his Army the Year before, returning loaden with Spoils and Vi&ory to Brampore. This Snceés made amends. wich Föngheer for laft Year's failings. About the fame time Renin Radjea, tifed with many. Battles and purfaits, prefents himelf, Son, and many Gifts, unto aim ; among which was an Elephant valued at a hundred thoufand Roupees, fubmitring all he had to his Dispofal The King, by Curroon's Mediation, accepts at Agra. Soon afrer, Mirza Ombrave being Apoplectick Ifft his Office, and Tzalamohan was made Vicc-Roy of Bental in the room of Catopdy, with an Order to fand dp Affen-charis Family Prifopers to bim, which he achim, and heartily forgives him, embraces him, offers his Daughter in Marriage to his Son, and recurns bim the Government of Pormandel, (Porus's Country) Oodepore, and other places, bur he foon after died, and was buried in the Sepulchres of his Progenitors at Chytor with much Cexemony.
wind the Fangheer having fpent 18 Months in Pleafure at Manmuk forte de; departs to Aniadabat, where he remov'd Abdul-chan. entriche from shat Government, and fent him Vice-Roy of Calpi and K hoor. He alfo difplaced Chabeey Governour of Cmblalar, and made Badar-chan Commander therc. Tic-diat-chan was alfo fent to fucceed Tzalam-caron in Benynhl, at what tune Oiman-cicn, a putimian, with 2 numesous Army, befieged Daecke, the Merropolis of it. He and Ethaman-camph, with 15000 Men , gave \(\mathrm{O}_{\text {zinan }}\) Barric, bur by reafon of a Mad Elcphanr on which Oäman rode, Tícdiat-crion was difmounted and maimed, and the Mogul's Forces difcomfired; bur by a frange chance, 2 wounded Man thrulting \(\mathrm{O}_{\mathrm{a}}\) man through with his Lance. as he paffed by, the Putrans being difhearmed fled, and the Morits not only recovered Dacek, bur invade \(\mathrm{O}_{\mathrm{a}}^{-}\) men's Country, and taking his Wife-and Children Capises acturn to Agra, loaden with his Wealth. Abdutc.imn being arrived in 7 Weeks in his Government of \(K\) hoor and Calpi, firft quieted and deftroyed thofe fwarms of Rebellious Rafoboots, which rill that sime had infefted thofe Parts, felling fo many of them as paid the Charges of the War, and levelling the moft defenfible Places to the ground.
cmint Chan-Afem at the fanc cime went Embarfador to Abbas, the Emperor of Pcrfia, bravely atrended, and difpatch'd with Gifrs of great value, vir. 12 Chefts of choice Linen, 2 of rich Sallics, and Daggers with Hafis of precious Srones. Albus entertain'd hiln nobly, with Feafting and Sports, and difmis'd him with Honour, refenting the Mugul with 500 Horks, \(20 \mathrm{Mules}, 500\) Affes, 550 Dromedarics, 18 Chefts of choice Carpets and Bezars, 20 Camels load of Sclyras Wine, and 8 of Conferved Dates, Pittacho's, Eic. which were acceprable ro \(\mathcal{F}\) antiver, who that Xear took a progrefs for his Pleafurc to Caflimire, having firt removed Malober-chan from Brampars, to the Command of Cabul and Banges.
Cabul, called by Protemy Chabur.t, is bounded on th
Eaft with Cun, on the South winh Milan, on the River intas. It is cept where the River ious (all brothers Copbis) warces the ground by Prolemy Con, and Inhabited by Banians. The Houfies are low, and there are no Buildings remarkable in ir, bur fome Innsand two Caftes; in one of which King Babur; the Great Grandather of \(7 \pi n \pi b e c r\), was born. Sultan Cufbroc ar his Father's departure, was raken from the Cuflody of Afaplcapon, and trufted to Camn-fchan, but foon after, by the perfwation of she Qucen and \(A \int_{\text {paph-crwn, }}\) he was pur in to the kecping of Curroon, his Emulous Brother, to whom the gave allo the Command of 40000 Horre, and being sempux attended with many Omra's, haltens him to the Conquelt of Dccan, with Orders allo to harrals the Kingdomis of Golconda and Vifcapore, for neglecting to pay rheir Yearly Tribure of 3 pound weight of Diamonds Abour the fame time 7 fangber made \(\mathrm{Cbeq}{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{CaJcm}\). Licu tenant of Bergal, and foon afict Ebrebim-cam, Queen Normall's Coufin, was raifed to the fame Poft.
In 1619 , Heg. 1029. Abdul-Azies-capon fucceeded Ba-dor-cipon in the Command of Candabor: Catpn-Feban was conftiuted Lieutenant of Muleam, Sultan Parpees of Pathen, and Radree Beitfingt Bondela, and Abdul-cawn, Governors of Calp: Thefe Governors affift Curroom in his Expedition into Decan, which they managed with fuch Care and Succefs, chat they foon reduced Berar and Ebandyes, burning and fpoiling all the Country as far as Kerki, where tood the King of Decen's beft Palace which they demolifhed, and exriching themfelves with Spoil and Treafure: Curroon, exalred with this good for-mimen Ing of Hearts; and being Emperor in his own Opinion catts his Eyes upon his Facher's Diadem. His Imprifoned Brother became a gricf to him, and he feigns Sicknefs and Melancholy, that he might ftir up fome to inquire into the Caufe, and forward the Cure: Ganganna was forwardeft in this piece of Flattery, and by acquainting the Manceldars with the Difeare, eafily put Rajca Bensprex is dor, a nororious Villain, upon the Undertaking. : This Ruffin ar Mid Vilaia, upon the Underaking. : This pretenling a Meflage from his Father for his Deliverance demands admitrance, bur the Prince fufpeeting the TreaCon refufes; but he broke in, and after much ftruggling Srangles him. Cufbroe's Wife, Cawn-Afem's Daughter coming to vifit him in the Morning, finds him dead, and by his bruifed face knew he had been Murdered; an which the filled not only her Houfe, but the Ciry with orrow, for this horrible Treafon: Cuirroon was fufpect ed, but being removed out of the City for his health, and returning at the News of Cufhroe's Death, Thewed fo much gricf, that many were induced to believe him Innocent. Fanglser, who till retain'd fome Farherly Affection, entertain'd the News of Cuftroc's Death with much anxiety, and wrote a Letter to Curron and his Om as, that he would make 2 ftrict inguiry into the caufe of it, and if any Treafon were found, would revenge is onthem, when he leaft fulpeeted it. He withal commands the Body to be dug up again, and be brougtit to Elabalfe, to be Interred in his Mother's Monument. He Famite alfo fenr for Cban-Afcm, and his afflicted Daughter, and entaily eho takes them for his conftant Companions ; of whom ha- crown on Death, he forthwith entails the Imperial Crown upon Sultan Bullochy, or B'lociy, Cufhroc's Son, gives him the Command of ten thoufand Horie, and commits him to the Tuition of Cban-A/cm his Grandfather. Curroon per ceiving the Murder difcovercd, and himfelf diffegarded burit ant into open Rebelion. Ludul-cawn fecing his de fign, leaves the Army, and fies to his Government at Calpi, but the Mogul was angry with him, and mado him to return - yer within a little time he was recalled and fent to the Relief of Candehior, which was betieged by nlubus King of Pcry/i, who pretended it was a Member of his Empire, but tho Azief-camn, the Governour defonded it bravely, the Perfians were fo brisk and refolute, that they took is before he could get thither, and to be recurned to Lathor to Fangbeer, who received him indly norwirhfanding the lots.
Candahor lies in 34 Deg. of Northern Latioude, and Candsine 8 of Longitude. It hach aria on the Weft, drachoffa der :war: on che South, Scrathai, of Old called Bactric, on the Norch. The Country towards the Souch is reafonably Fruitful, and abounds with moft thitigs neceffary ; bus by reafon of the many Caravans that travel backwards and forwards from Laber to Prrfia, all forts of Provifion is dear, and the paftage, by rcalon of the thicvinh Putsans and Arabs, both chargeable and dangerous. The City is nor large but ftrong, partly by Walls on the Souds and Eaft, and partly by che Hills on the North and Weft. The Suburbs are large, and add beauty to the Ciry, an nothing is wanting bur good Water; for that there, and all dhe way to Spabarn, or Ifpalaan, is brackinh.
Fangheer, intatuated by the Crafty perfwation of enet Affaph-crwn, fends him with \(x\) peremprory Command to cuinis Tres the Irealurer of Agra, to remore bis Treafure to \(L\) dow dity roin where he then refided, and intended to continuc tor a hrectos Titan ime Ethabar-saen the Trafurer confdriing engel and danger of Crenth and danger of the Waj, would at firft hardiy Credir his Maftcr's Lerter, but ar lengith being fatisfied of che routh of that, fell to diffwade AIfrot-capon fron urging it, bur in vain, the Order muft be Obeyed, and o the Treafurce fubmits, While things were prenaring AJfapl-samen Pofts away a fivifr Menconger to his Son-inLaw Curroon, advifing him to lay an Ambull between rgra and Deli to intercepr it. The Prince joyfully received the News, and fending for all his Officirs thro his Govemment, with their Forces, which made an Army of fevency thoufand Horfe, marches rowards Mindo.
This City is feated on che fide of an Hill, on which var tands 2 very ftrong Cafte, which is as well the Orna-desition ment as Defence of it. The Wall thar encompaffes it is near five Miles in Circuit, and the Palaces, Fortreffes and Temples, are frelh and beautiful: In one of the Temples four Kings lic Eniombed, of whom Chan-Fchinn was the Founder, It has a Tower which is elevate 170 Sreps, fupported with Maffy Pillars, and adorned with Gates and Windows very obfervable. Curroon haring ftayed two days at Taxaporc, marches with great afte to Fettipore, and thar before Erbabar-iben knew he was in the Country; bur now drawing nearer him, the watchful Treafurer foon had notice of his approach, and eafily fufpecting the danger, unloads his Camels of their precious Burdens, conveys it into the Caftle, and having ortify"d it, fends fangbeer word of his Son's Traiteous marention.
The King was aftonifhed at the Nows, and prefonty ends cvery way for Afintance, while Curroon, with his alfulsis den \(^{2}\) whole Army, prefents himifelf before Agra, making fuch 2 Bravo, as if it were eafie to conquer it, fetting Radge Bickermanfe to aflault the Caftle; but Etbabri-chan, de Grous to Sacrifice his beft Endcavours to exprefs his toy alty to the King, afforded him fuch an Entertainment that atrer three hours difpure, he was forced to retreai with the lofs of soo Men. But to revenge himfelf upon che Place for this Difgrace, he plundercd the Howtes of fuch Omn''s as had any Booty in them, and trok above 60 Leek of Roupees from AJfapb-cban, Lafcbar-cban, and Nouradin Cooly Carroon being difappointed of his Farher's Treafurs

\section*{422}

Compon rea
Gelver to was not yet without hopes of getting his Kingdom, and hearing of his Facher's march rowards him, with an Army from Afaph-cenon, xerolves to give him Bactle, and to encourage his Soldiers, doubles their Pay, with proceftations of exeraordinary Reward if they continued faithful to him. Within five days they came near each other, between Pherrybaud and Dely, and Curroon feeing it now no tume to dally, commands Radgee Bickerman/s, with 8000 Horfe, to engage his Father early the next Morning. Fangheer having, by Matiobet-chan's Advice, divided his Army into three Brigades, commanding one part himfe:f, with Radgee Berffingh, and giving a fecund part to Sultan Sheryer his younger Son, with Matobetchan his Licutenant-Gencral, and the third to \(A l d u\)-chan and zuttos-canon, Pcrfons of undcubred Loyalry, fent to ach Commander fome roken of his Refpet to wear that day for their better Encouragement.
Bicketmanf Bickermar \(\sqrt{6}\), purluant ro Curroon's Orders, with a atien. Jung. Tmart Body of Horfe, charges Bertfingh and the Moguls Wing furioully, as did alfo Ganganna and Curroon Mabr-bet-ciorn's part, and Ruftan-cawn, with T/f/Jaly, Abdulcaton's. Fur three hours the Batrel was continued wirh cqual hopes and refolution, till the Victory ar latt inclined to Curroom, for Rajen Bickermanfe having made a ter tible Slaughter of the Mogul's Party, and corring Fangbece's Rojal Seat, arrefted him as his Prifoner; bur a Mancebda, being then in prefen'c with his Battel-Ax gave the Radgec fuch a blow, that he fell down breathing fomgler out his Soul with a Curfe. His Dearh fruck his Fol lowers with fo much rerror, that nor confidexing the Advantage they had they fled, and gave the Moguiopportunity of rallying his featter'd Men, and afrer a 1 hort Difpute to regain the Victory. Carroon, in this unexpected change, did all he could by promifes and threats to kecp his Men together, crying aloud, That tho Bickerman \(f_{c}\) was dead, he was alive, and many as good Offcers as he, but all his endeavours were in vain; they were feized with fuch a pannick fear, as it was impolible to revoke them.
Gurteon fice Curroon, in this diftrefs, not knowing whether he had Crer pur an end to his Mistortunes, by daying himiel or fly, at laft accepts Ganranna's advice to retreat ; and foleaving his Bagfage and Treafure ro the Enemies, he with forne few. Friends, tilics into the defolate Mountains of Mewat. The old A: g ul' being fo Victorious goes to Batini, where Sultan Perpecs, with a glad heart, mects him, to congratulate his Succers, which fo cheered his Spirirs, thai he became fcarlefs, freed his Seraglio's operid the Caftle-gates, and begins to Solace himfelf with Nicrmal, the Light of his Eyes, if not the Object of his Devotion.
This Voluptuous humour of the Mogul, gave 2 fair Currom in re- opportunity to \(A!\int_{\text {apl }}\)-cawn to mediate a Reconciliation curroon, and fo prevailed with the Mogm, deltrous o are, that Letters of Love and Forgivenefs were difpato hed from \(A\) fincer to the Prince, who, reading them with oy, went with Ganganna, abdul-cawn, Darab-camp Bcyren-keg, and., others; to Afmeer, and throwing himKelf down ar his Farher's feet, upon his Repentance and Vows never more to lly our is pardoned; bur his Sub infeniproved counterfeit, fcr Curroon having conftitured Abdulicamon Governour of Guzurar, Armadroat, Socet and Cambaia, who delaying to xepair thither, that he might free Curroon out of trouble, ferm Baffrdar his Depury. This Man growing Infolent in his Command, guarrelled with Nadel-Saffin-chan, an eminent Officer of the Moghl's, viz, the Chancellor of thore Parts, and was Impriloned by him, wich his Affociates Mirza-Madary Mcerifl-camn, and Mamet Haffen. Curroon having had quick notice of this paffage, firft vemes his paffion in great Anger; and then breaks out into frelh Rebellion, dho" Abinl-cawn made but fport of it, as not worthy of Curroon's pafion; neverthelefs, knowing that he could nor obrain Satisfaction withour blows, he calls together his Omra's, and relating to them the Prince's difhonour, and his own vexation, draws together an Army of 7000 Horfe, and 10000 Infantry, to chatize Sefi-rban and his Alfogiaes, who were nothing troubled at it, but throwint off all fear Forraged the Towns; and Plunlered Sultan Curroon's. Exchequer and Throne, newly fer in ai Amairb.at, and with the Money he raifes an Amy of 20000 Horfe, 500 Murqueteers, and 30 Elephants for War; and having by Proclamarion fatisfied the Country cf the Reafon of his making fuch preparations, wiz. to defend the King's Right againh Rebels, by which means above 20.0 mra 's of Quality came to his afliftance, he encamped at Boubantalopp, 6 Courfes from Amadnuar and Courageoully artended the coming of the Encmics

\section*{Abdu-camon received Intelligence of their Encamping at} at Anamogery, and in fcorntul manner acquaines them wantumin of his coming ; bur after hearing how ftrong the Enem was, endeavoured to attack them in the Rear, bur in vain, for chey difcovered him. Next day he refolved to fight, and accordingly having divided his Army into three Parts, one to Amer-cnmon and Tharlitect, another to Tzardi-camp, Maxntiveg and Mamet-Cooly and the third to himfelf, he marches to Zietelpore and Plecribeg, where Nahar-atwn, his five Sons, two Sons-in-1 aw, with 3000 Horfe begun the fight, and charged Abdui-cnmon fo hosY, that they forced him to retire, put their Cavalry in to diforder, and wounded his beft Elcphanr, which in his rage turned upon his own fide. T Tañ.ibg, in the ken Prifoner and Beheaded ; all which things Aruck fuch crror into Audul's Army, that each Man fled whither his Fancy led him, and abdul-camn himfelf was forced to fly o Baioch.
This Townkes in 21 Deg. 55 Min. Northern Latitude, in the Provinec of Guizuar, and is at place of Norc. As areme is ferted in a truifful Soil, watered by the kiver vierees. It ftands upon an high ground, which makes it not only vifible at a diftance, bur gives fuch an advantare to it Works of Aire, that it is almoft Impresnable. It is wel Poopled, hath a good Trade both by 1 and and Sea, but the Buildings are low. The Alrgu! harh from this Pro vince ycarly a Tribute of one Millit.n, two hundred and fixty thoufand Mamondyes (or Shillings.)
Twixt Ba och and Amadaler, lies Entombed Pollo Poin Medina, a Mabonctan Saine, highly repured by the Pro-Tomb. ple, who make their Pilgrimages thither loaden with Chains and Stones to obtain Children, Health, Wcalth, and whatever they defire. fangbeer, during the former Broils raifed by Curroon and Abdul-c.ron, lay at Fettipore, and being much difplealed at them, called Sultan Purwees his Son, and Orders him to leyy new Fories, to profecute his Brother Cwrroon, and the Omra"s his Accomplices. Purmeces having prevailed with Malobet-chan to joyn with him, moves againf Curroon with fifty thouand Horfe, by the way Imprifoned Mirza-chan, Abdulchan's Son. Curroon had early notice of thefe endeavours to reduce him, and leaving A/meer, flies to Mando to recruit his Forces, refolving to bid him Battle.
Purwees purfues him with the fame defign, and ha- sulon Im ving, after a long march, overtaken him, affaults bim, , wetrution and after a thors difpute vanquifhes them, Cuircon flying o Brampore his old Receptacle, and from thence into Decan to Melec-Amber, who gladly welcomed him, and feated him in Nafficr-Tirorm, his Elephants and Men being fent to Dialeabat so be Quartered there till be had further ufe of them.
Sultan Purwees, and Mchobet-clan, after this Roar, give Fangheer norice of their good Succefs, which wasen-Trmimin cerrained by him with no lels joy, than if he had cri-catm, umphed ovex the moft dangerous Enemy; but this. plea ure proved but thort, the Ncws being broughr him thas Iure proved bur hort, the. News being brought him that Ihbouz; an Ufbeck. Tartar, was entred the Mogui's Terxitories with thirty theufand Horfe, and was plundering the Country of Cabul. Fangheer was driven in oo 2 great paffion by the account, but foon recollecting himfelf, fends Poft to-Z aed-cimn, (Mabobet-cawn's Son) at that time Vice-Roy of Bange, to oppofe the Tartar with what force he could get rogether. This young Gallant having raifed twenty thouland Horle, hattens to revtrate find the Enemy without delay, and coming upon che Tarar's Camp before he was aware, gave him fuch a fucious Charge, thar after a mort Engagement he fled, and being loaden with prey, which they were loth to part with, gave che Indians an opportuniry to overtake them by which means they loft nor only their rich Spoils, and orher Baggage, bur were above half of them flain zacd-cavn profecuted his ViCtory fo far, as ro purhie the Tartar into his own Country, burning and fpoiling all before him as far asGafany, and recurning back with grear Wealth, and many Elephants, to Cabut, he rewarded his Soldiers well to encourage thern, and was received with wonderful Acclamarions of Joy as Cabu! Fangheer was fo well pleafed with this action, that be rends Zaed-cawn thanks, and enlarged his Command with 5000 Horfe. And being in Peace again, be bethinks himfelf of Solacing his Mind with Sports, and his beloved Normal, and to that end makes his Progrefs into Caflimire, a Counrry, tho' remote from his bufinefs, yer moft fuitable for that end
Curroon obferving this Advantage, with fpecal forfakes with 4000 Horfe, and 300 Elephants, into Bengal, Affapl-charrn's lovely Datugher only in his Company, where prefenting his Forces fuddenly-before Debaka, ordering Darab-chan, by Leter, to levy more Forccs in where prefenting his Forces fuddenly before Debaka, Ordering Darab-chan, by Letter, to Jevy more Forces in Abraljam-cawns, the Governour of the Province, fled to Mefuliparan. Curroon laughs at his fear, and feizes his Treafure ; with which, and fair words, he drew moft of the Omra's of the Country to ferve him, with uncxpected Recruiss of Horfe and Armis. Over-joyed with this good hap he breaks into Purop, whole Governour alfo, Makolidifchan, wanting Cousage to oppofe him, ficd to Elabaff, and fo gave him a free paffage over the Ganger, to a ccomplifh his defign of conquering Kerry, which he did not doube of. But in the way, at Radge Malal, he was affaulted to furioully by Alraham-chan from an Annbufn, that had noc Abdthl-chan interpofed he bad been rönted, and by him, after a long fighe, was delivered, with the lofs of 3000 of his Men; bur Abra bam-capm, out of an cager defire to recover his Honour, loft his Life.
\(\qquad\)

Curroon, tho' fenfible of his Deliverance, was nor lefs forward or crucl in acting Hoftilicies, Spoiling and robling that Wealthy Province ; and padfug-Giurnge, he forced all the Towns upon the Genges, and in Oryxe and Benfel, to become his Subects, requiring Oaths and Hoftages from them, ravilhing their Women, and taking away their Gold and Jewels. Then he marched to Pa thrn, where-Redrce Sifinm, with 5000 Horfe, and 20000 Foot, came to his Aliftance.
P*rmecs heaxing of his Brother's excravagancics, comta intur,miss Brampors to the Care of Ruffan-chan, and Lasker scion, and with fitry thoufand Horfe refolves to find him ont. In the wry Leia Bar fingh meers him, as he paffed his Territorics, and joyns him with 7000 Horke, offering him a Prefens of 3 Lecks of Roupces.
Gangheer alfo being alarmed with his Son's Rebellion, awakens from his Pleafore, and afrer Advice with his Council, commands Chan-Jelann to raife a confiderable Force out of Multan, Buckar and Guizurat, with the Tribute of thofe Provinces, and haften to joyn with Par pees, that he might be the better able to Encounter the Rebels. Chan-feban, forgecful of his Mafter's Commands, loyters at Fertipore and Agra, while Curroon takes Rentas, Tzimur Bomarce, and othcr Cowns, and draws an abundance of Treafure ous of them; and hearing of bis Brother's approach, obliged abdut-ciann, Radges Rbybem, and Brram-chan, to affande Elabaffe, which Rufianchan had well forify'd, añd as violently defended. Sulman Ptrwees, and Mabobet-chan, haftencd all they could to relieycit, but \(R u f t y\) had acted his Part fo wcll, that they were forced to retrear with lofs;' and fly to Curroon's Army at Bonarce; of Banaras.
Ganganna in this cime had joyned himfelf to Purbee Amy, but found no kind welcome, being Imprifoned for his Treachery; and tho M'bic Eebicm his Servanc, endearour'd his Keleale, yer being difoovered, his Cale became worfe, for he was more ftrietly guarded, his Eftate confifcated, and his Wifc, Son and Family, fent Slaves to Agrat. Puppees, Maiober, and their Army; after long marches; arrive as Elabnff, and were welcom ed by Ruflan-chan according no their Dignity, but no finding the Encmy, Mahober, eager of a Battel, could nor be cnticed to ftay, but pafling the Ganges, faces Curron's Army, which obliged that Prince to prepare for a fight.
 fuch Courage that bad 16 butch conded him as they were appointed; Contron had gained the Vifory; bur Abdul hared? Rhiem, and to neglecting his Dury, Mathobe-secovers his lols, wounds and enrages Redgres Elephants, which cheriupon turn upon thcir own Paty, and diforders Redgec whole Body, himelf being flain. Upon this, Permeces, with the Radger zand, and Bertzta, and the whole Army, enter, roon falls on, and does what was in the power of Man roon and \(A b d u l-c l e n\)
found it nar fafe to look on. The Bartel endured Give hours, with a great deal of Beavery ftewn on both fides. Curroont was hurt in the Arm, Par mecs, tho" upon his Elephant, was wounded in the Side by Derra-chan, and had perifhed bur for the ftrength of his Mail. In finc and the King'sArmy vanquifhes, the Rebels fly, and Curroon, umable to prevent his Deftiny, flies to the inexpugnable Cafle of Rantas with 4000 Horfe leaving the reft to the Mercy of the Enemy, the Honou of the Ficld to his Brother, and the Spoil of his Camp to Radgee Bertfingh, who found plenty of Gold, Silver Jewels, Elephants, Horfes, Eic. The Sultan Curroom now in his ftrong Caftle, ruminates in Mifery and Dif conrent, and hearing of Mabober-chan's approach towards him, difmiffes his Seraglio, and flies to Poran with hearing that he was fled to Relfro-Mnial, and that lif et Ghan was leyying Forces for his Adifitance, they perfwade Gangame, whom they kept under a Guard, to differide his Son Darab to deffif from his Entcrerize, and pronifife him the King's thanks if he would joyn with them but Darab, incenfed at the ill ufage of his Father, and Cuppofing his Letrers counterfeic, continucd his Levics to (upport the Rebellion. Prince Pw wees herespon proclaims him a Traytor, and promifes a Reward of 4000 Roupecs to any that fhould bring him to his Camp alive or dead. The Multirude knowing that Curroon was fled rew eager of the gain, and feizing Darat-abren and his Children, ftrike off their Heads, and fend them tof trrpses,s, who having by Maliotict-chan's periwation prefented them to the miferable Garganna, difparched thefin to Agra to be fer on Poles.
Curroon, at the News of this accilent, Iefr Redrec-Curtounfie Mabal, and fled to Oudce, or Olifen, in Benjafe and fo to ompen. crcaped Mabobet-chan's hands, who purfucd thea as fa as Meder-pors, During thefe Inceftinc Broils, Amber, King of Decaln, thinking, is a fit oprortunit' recorer yhar he had loft, Levies an Army of fifty \({ }^{7}\) fand Atn, and fo unexpetedly fell upon Miriza Mamothoir, and Ebrainim Ho \(/\) cn, the Megul's Go vernours in his Forts, that they furrendred the Forts, int were raken Prifoners, with the lofs of 19000 Men "and To Melec recovered all his Foris and Garrifons. Cimiong in the mean time, being purfucd by B.acher-chan to oit? cat, tho he had an Army of 5000 Horfe, and 300 Elcphanss, dare nor give him Bated, tho' not much fuperiour to him in Numbers, but fly for fear to the King of Golcondr, where be had but a coldreception, becaufe he knew be came with a defign to infpect tie Incrinnick value of his Diamond-Minc; and chercfore be doubled his Guards in Cundc-vicr and Cendr-poly, trwo Caftes where ha commonly pur his Diamonds, with much other Treafare.
This famous Diamond-Mine is diftane from Tityle- TinDino :t patan about \(n o\) Englift Miles. The neareft Town is minat Morcernde. It is a large Rock under part of thar Moun-te. tain, which extends towards bitlieruatc. The Soil for many Miles rounj is Barren and Sandy, but near the Mine 'ris of a reddifl colour, and the Vein it felf' is of a palc Yellow. No part of the World affords grearer plenty of Diamonds, or of a berter Water, than this Mine doch, rhofe of Socodanic in Bornco nor excepted, altho' many be yellow. The Quarry has allo many ocher tranfparent Sroncs of value, as. Topazes, Amithyfts, Spincls, Hiliotropes, Agares, Garnars, Chryftals, and the like The digging in it is a kind of lortery, the Advenrurers finding Srones fomcrimes to their advantage, but other times to their lofs. In digging, if a Diamond exceed 20 Caracts, (i. c. 30 Grains) it is by Law referved for the King; the reft are for the Adventurers, who borh in digging and travelling back, are forced to maintain fufficiens Guards to defend them from the Mourtaincers, While rob the Caravans.
While Curroonk remained with the King of Golcante, Nier antle Melec-Amber fends an Empaffador, with affectionate l.ct- winectarra rers, and a large Sum of Moncy, with ocher Neceffaries, to invite him into-Decon, whare heafured him all things fhould be at his Command. Cutrroon perceiving himfelf no welcome Gueft at Golcondi, and fuiding his Defign upon the Diamond-Mines fruftrate, accepts the Invication, and departs with. him to Decanf where he flaid three Months; and then projecting the recovering his old Eparchy of Brampore, prefents himfelf with an Army of 10000 Mcn before ir. Radgee Ruftan, who was made Governour of it by Sutitan Pumpecs, refuled to give trim entrance, at which Curroons was fo enraged, that he affauited the Walls with violence, but Rufan as churlinhIf anfwered him; fo that after teveral atremprs, all inn vain, hearing of Sultan Parmpes march to relieve ir, he was obliged to retreat again to his Old Friend Meles Am Ver, then in Kerki in Decian
In his way he atternpred \(H f f f e x\), a ftrong, and onc of Ewater cesti: the beft defended Caftes in Chandis, becauleit is built on bs the top of a fteep Mountain, is well Walled by Nature, hath Springs of wholfome Water within, and the Soil is fo fruifful, that is will feed as well as lodge 40 coo Men, and were not to be taken, were it not that fuch Worms breed in the Thighs and-Legs of fuci as drink the Water as often prove Mortal; by which means alone Ecbar tookit.
Fengkecr being pleafed with the Victories of Purroecs jatisee prem and Mchobet-cben, to thew his kind relentments of them, firs kitsen takes \({ }^{\text {chata }}\) sim.

\section*{42t Sir Tho:Herbert's 1 ravels into Alia and Africa, ©rc. Lib.Il} takes notice of the Valour and Loyalty of Gampa-ziedcatpn, Melobec's Son, late made Vice-Roy of Cabul; calls him to Court, and adds 5000 Horfe ro his Command" makes him Governour of Bengal, the richeft Province of fudia. Nirmal and Affaph-camon caft a Squint-cyc upon this new Favourite; and in the firft places to affront Mnbaure, they prevail with the Mogil to command him forthwith to icud Imprifoned Gangannat to him to Agra. Matiobet, tho' he faw the Plot to work his. Ruin, yce would nor thew any inclination to Difobedience, and fo fendshim. Gianganna was no fooncr arrived at Courr, bur he \{pirs his Maiice againit Mathober, acculing him of purting bis Son and Kindred to Dearh, after they had Iefic citrocen to ferve the King; with many other gricuous Complaints. There Acculations fomerhing moved the Credulovs Mogul : and being further heightned wish R. \(r\) arens Character of Maloober, by 1 ctrer, Thar he was an A mbitious Man, and foughtus Eclipfe his Honour with the Army, to incenfed him, that forgenting his good Seri ices, lic condemrs him unheard, and gives his Comniand to C.tme.Fehar, and calls him Home.

Mals tee admires at this Change, buc refolving to clear his Imocerency by a Dutiful Behaviour, goes en take his - Leaye of Putipecs, but finds him Coy and Starely, which ftrick him with amazement; 保 that he left the Camp With a fad Heare, tho with the love of all the reft of the Arme. Firom Bramfore he goes to Court, bue being Advired. From Branfore he goes to Court, bur being Admift cxrcof to be treated as \(\mathrm{a}_{\text {Itayror, he fecured him- }}\) felf in his Cafte of Renompore, refolving there either to reconcile himfelf to 7 fatheer by Letter, or fecure himlelf from the Spice of his Enemics.

This Difoord Ferween Purreces, Malbober and Normal mas grateful to Curroon, who hoped to advance his Ambit:on ly their Divifions, and to that end fends Godsze Fachan, his Son's Futor, with a Prefent of rare Coins, 2 hundred choice Elcphanss, and fome fine Pictures bought of the Portiotuct. The Old King, as an Indulgent Father, accepers his Prefent, invites him home, and affures him of Pardon; of which he Ordered \(A \int J a p h\)-camn to give him notice, who allo advifed him to come to Court, while his Farher was in this good humiour. In che mean time Maiobec-iban; at his Caftle of Ranfampore, receives a peremprory Command from \(\mathcal{F a n g h e e r}\) to deliver up his Cattle to the Qucen, who had given the Command of it to Baclor-carn, no Friend of Mabpoet's, and thould forthwith go to Orixer to his Son, who was che King's Licutonanc there. Matofet, careful ro preferve himielf, but
