OUNT the cost of drink! Where does it | pay? Think of the tired, worn-out nerves always demanding more as relief! Think of the good food, at the sight of which the seared and irritated stomach rebels! Think of the brain-fag and of the physical ills which are a part of every drinker's existence. Think of all the other evils which accompany liquor drinking, and then THINK if it were not an act of Providence when the Gatlin treatment was discovered to do away with all craving or appetite in THREE SHORT DAYS!

·Drink is sure death to business-sure death to responsibility and achievement. It ruins the home and is the cause of endless misery. The banker who drinks is no safer in his line than is the hodearrier who drinks in his. It is no respecter of persons-it kills the ambition, the capability and the responsibility-it renders normally honest, sensible men UNSAFE and IRRESPONSIBLE.

When a young man is looking for a position nowadays, the question that is first asked as to his character is, "Does- he drink?" If he drinks, he has no chance. The drinking man is no longer tolerated or trusted in positions or in business requiring BRAINS and responsibility.

Without hypodermic injections, substitutive stimulants or sedatives, in THREE DAYS the Gatlin treatment eradicates every trace of accumulated alcoholic poison from the drinker's system. There can be no appetite for liquor unless this poison is present. The Gatlin treatment takes the drinker, as regards liquor, right back to the day he took his first drink, with no more desire for liquor than he had on that day. That is to be the result of three days' treatment at the Gatlin Institute under legally executed contract or the fee paid will be refunded immediately the patient finishes treatment. The

Not much wonder they walted in bashful anticipation at the stage door to see their Phyllis come had the pleasure of loving. I can out of her dressing room.

And then I yielded too, and turned in toward her door. And there she was, all smiles and powder, just as we had left her, as the curtain went down on the last act. She was rubting cream on her face, to take her makeup off. I am quite sure when those girls saw her they would agree with me that Miss Keim is much more beautiful in her natural makeup than with the addition of the theatrical necessities. Her room was full of flow-ers, roses, peonies, nasturtiums, "From Miss Percy Haswell gave a Fourth of my girls," she said, waving a hand to-ward them. "I see Toronto has its to meet her company. Yet Miss Keim has received all kinds of things like this as well as well as the following guests: Mr. And a large picture hat. She shook hands with the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Hector Charlesworth, Miss Saunders, Mrs. Elliott, Miss Gianelli, Mr. and Mrs. Crimans, Miss Booth Chapin, Miss Harris, Miss Ogden, ing! Yet Miss Keim has received all kinds of things like this, as well as ples and cakes and things. However, this for a tip to all the Toronto matinee girls-Miss Keim has sworn off eating pickles. She told me so herself. So you must confine yourselves to the Mr. Smiley, Mr. Jack Rogers.

Second Week of the July Furniture Sale

JULY 9 1911

In a rapidly-growing Furniture business such as this; floor space is valuablefar too valuable, in fact, for us to allow of any part of the stock making a lengthy stay. Discontinued designs, oddments and incomplete suites, especially, must quickly give place to new goods, shipments of which are constantly arriving.

One of the objects of our July Furniture Sale is to make a clean sweep of Furniture that for any reason, or for no reason that we can discover, has overstayed its brief time limit. On such articles price reductions of a very radical character are made, as you may learn by reading this list of items, selected from the great number now on our floors, indicated by special price tags:

BY MARGARET LILLIS HART.

In the throes of house-cleaning, and in the hands of groups of men, all busy painting, repairing and renovating gen-erally, was the Hospital for Sick Chil-dren when a call was made a few days since. At the same time everything was seemingly so orderly and, on the surface at least, clean, that one almost wondered why in the wide world they were going to the trouble and ex-pense of so elaborate a process of mak-ing all things fresh and beautiful. But, or course, when one remembered this was a hospital, a prize hospital at that, and cleanliness and order were not to be judged by ordinary stand-ards when such a thing was in ques-tion. "Most children suffering from convulsions are sik from over-feeding, you know, and when they are brought in here and subjected to proper and regular diet they very often get better," said the nurse. "Yes, but this poor little thing looks so emaciated, "we ventured to remark, and our first lesson in the realms of hospital training was given when the nurse informed us that over-feeding and emaciation often go together. The reaction comes.. The reaction of the real estate boom has set in, and a great many people, unable to keep, up their property pay-ments, will lose their all, as has oc-curred to boom-wild people in nearly every Canadian city at some time in its youthful-history. Howaver, the big crop that is promis-ed for the prairies, the land that British Columbians were rather wont to look down upon, will have a sort of bracing financial effect on Vancouver. It also will relieve almost immediately the congestion in the labor market, for twenty thousand Vancouverites will by able to find work in the harvesting gangs. MONTREAL, July 8.—The Cordinthia Manufacturing Company, Limited, yesterday went into voluntary Mudd-ation, on an order issued by Mr. Jus-the Greenshields, and Mr. John Adams, secretary-treasurer of the company, was appointed provisional fluidector. This was decided upon some time ago, at a meeting of the chareholders and stockholders which the position of the company was out-the bareholders and stockholders which the position of the company was out-the day rest. Cuiff.

Ined by President Thomas Robb and Captain Robert S. Cliff. It was considered that there was no prospect for making a success of the company's business, and that it would be better to liquidate while there was a likelPhood of meeting all Machilities, and distributing any surplus among the sharcholders. And there rumbles back the answer Sad from yon lone biasted pine; "They are gone, those forest children, Left the poplars to repine." Soft a saddened note comes stealing Thru the whisper of the trees, And I hear no more the voices— "Twas the rustling of the breeze. —A. R. Macdonale.

Some remarkable facts regarding bird migration have been brought to light by the natural history depart-ment of Aberdeen University. That swallows, lapwings and other summer visitors are confirmed wanderers is well-known, but much has yet to be learned concerning their methods. Among the means adopted by the natural history department of the uni-versity to obtain reliable data of the future movement of birds is the placing of rings on the legs of a number ing of rings on the legs of a number of birds. sary to run day and night in order to relieve the congestion of business of the Toronto mill. THE MIDLAND KILL-A site for a new mill has been secured beside the Aberdeen elevator at Midland, Ont., comprising nine acres of land, including a water frontage of 500 feet, on which it is in-tended to erect the new mill, which will have a capacity of 1,500 barrels a day, with buildings arrang-ed to increase the output to 3,000 barrels per day, without structural alterations or additions. The Aber-deen elevator has a capacity of 1,200,000 bushels, and is one of the most complete and up-to-date on the lakes.

The Tiffin elevator, with a capacity of two and a half million bushels, is within easy reach. The The Tiffin elevator, with a capacity of two and a half million bushels, is within easy reach. The G. T. R. and C. P. R. have centralized in building huge elevators at Midland and Victoria Harbor. The directors, after full consideration of the many possible locations, have decided there is no bet-ter situation in Canada for milling for both export and enstern trade than at Midland, where all the advantages of low freight rates, cheap electric power (hydro-electric), and a low fixed assessment for ten years have been secured.

ASSETS.

The Company has acquired the business of the Campbell Milling Company, which includes the mills and elevators at West Toronto and Peterborough. The mills, real estate, equipment, good-will, etc., have been conservatively valued at $525,024, not taking into consideration the valuable site and concessions at Midland, and from the shares now offered to the public, the Company will have about $300,000 in the treasury to carry on the business and build the new mill at Midland, making total assets of $225.024 there being on bonds or more and build the new mill at Midland.

$325,024, there being no bonds or mortgages on the real estate or plants. The Canadian Appraisal Company have appraised the plants. On the investment of the two mills now running the Campbell Flour Mills Company, Limited, are earning eighteen per cent, after allowing for all expenses, depreciation, etc., and with the same experi-enced management and advantages enumerated in the prospectus, it is reasonable to suppose that when the new capital is invested it will bring equally good returns.

EARNINGS

Chartered Accountants.

The interest required to pay 7 per cent. on Preference Stock is $45,500. From the above earnings it will be noticed that this amount is earned by the Toronto mill in nine months, and with the added capacity of the Peterborough plant now in operation, and the Midland Mill which will soon be in operation. this will more than double the present capacity, so the earnings will be very materially increased.

ESTIMATED BARNINGS.

The mill at Midland will be completed early in 1912, and when the three mills are running, figur-ing very conservatively by past earnings, the net profits are estimated as follows:--

THE GROWTH OF BUSINESS.

The necessity for expansion is shown forcibly by the following figures, which represent the annual gross sales of the Toronto mill:

1907 $.545,103.16

EIGHTEEN YEARS OF SATISFACTION.

The new Company receive the benefit of the good-will and business, which has given eighteen years of satisfaction to the purchasers of their brands of flour, such as "Cream of the West," "Queen City," and "Monarch." It is the only large flour mill situated in the City of Toronto, and in eighteen years they have built up a tremendous local trade, besides being well-established throughout the Dominion. West Indies, South Africa, Newfoundland, and the United Kingdom.

MANAGEMENT.

The Management of the Company is in strong, practical hands. The President, the Honorable Archibald Campbell, has been in the milling business a life-time, and associated with him are his three sons, who have been managing the business for six years. The experience of James Playfair, of Midland, and Mr. James Richardson, adds strength to the Board of Directors. The Directors have been looking ahead and have extended all their lines and formed connections, feeling confident that with their present organization and all the advantages enumerated above, they will be able to dispose of the entire products of the new mill, in addition to their present output, at profitable rates.

MARKET.

Flour is an every-day necessity, and flour ground from our Canadian North-West wheat is finding a ready market the world over, and, with increasing home markets, it is necessary for our established mills to greatly increase their output to take care of the ever-increasing production of wheat. Subscription books are now open at our offices, and will close on or before Monday, July 17th, at

S o'clock p.m.

The right is reserved to allot only such subscriptions and such amounts as may be approved, and to close subscription books without notice. Prospectus and forms of application may be obtained from and applications forwarded to SURF, Cal., July 3.—Second Officer E. wrecked vessel were being taken ashore by the crew. Early to-day confirmed reports were that a number of passengers, various-ly estimated at from three to twenty, are missing. Owing to the isolation of the scene of the wreck, accurate in-formation is not obtainable. The known dead are: E. Heuson, second officer; Fred Johnson, seaman; John Posifier, seaman; E. W. Jebson, seaman.

The Santa Rosa went ashore just the Santa Rosa went ashore just before dawn, at the mouth of the Hon-da Creek. It is supposed that a power-ful searchlight used by a gang-of rail-road laborers, who were working near the wreck, is the cause of the vessel leaving its course, the quartermaster mistaking it for the light of Point Ar-guello lighthouse. The vessel lay about 200 yards from shore.

200 yards from shore. When the boat struck, the injury did not appear to be serious, and Capt. Faria, believing he would be able to again float the Santa Rosa, made no attempt to land the passengers. A sharp wind rising soon after 4 o'clock threatened to rack the boat to pieces, and hasty preparations were made to take the passengers and crew ashore. At 5.30 o'clock a heavy swell cracked the vessel amidships, and at 6 o'clock it split in two.

There were 275 persons on board, most of whom had taken refuge in the forward sections as the stern of the boat had received the brunt of the at-

John Haden, in T. P.'s Magazine John Olaffson Turl, reindeer watcher hunter, fisherman, dweller in the wilderness, and poet, is the author of the first book ever written by a Lapp Turi is also an artist, for he has drawn all the pictures of his people's life, so that men may know them as he knows, and if primitive, they are yet true and faithful to the life. They are only t slender number nowadays, something like 7000 souls, living in the far north following their herds of reindeer from the summer to the winter pastures When the first snow falls in the long Lap'and winter Turi puts on his snowshoes and disappears. The first snow means that the wild creatures can now be tracked by their footprints, and from the beginning to the end of win-ter no one can find the hunter save by accid. nt. Wrapped in his fur, he sleeps soundly and peacefully, with the wilderness around him, for altho he believes that there is evil in the world he believes that nothing can touch the harmless, the innocent. Turi himself is very good and very charming and believes that his own mildness turns away from him the force of hate.

The book that Turi has written was conceived as the only way of dispelling the ignorance about the Lapps. which, in his opinion, is the cause of the wrongs they suffer. Hjalmar Lund. hom, manager of the iron mines in Lapland, heard of the book and offered to get it published. Mme. Emilie Demant, who was an old friend. trans. lated the book from Lapp to Danish. Toronto Greeks Mme. Demant aided Turi with her cncouragement while writing the book, living far away in a miner's old woodshanty. But the book is Turi's own and is the first ever written by a Lapp

Is Our National Game on the Decline? Read What Lacrosse Men Have to Say

That being the case it is ed Local Men Who Have Been Connected With Canada's National Game for Years and Who Express Many claimed lacrosse for its own we can never expect a return to the following that in a peculiar and particular man-Different Opinions on the Present are prevention of the Game.

The fact that there appears a prevailing opinion among the general public that lacrosse, Canada's national game, is in the decline has led the lacrosse editor of The World to try and secure the opinions of a few of those closely connected with the game. It was decided to ask two questions: "In your opin-ion, is lacrosse on the decline?" and "W hat is the best way to improve the present standing of the game?"

While it was found very difficult in many cases to secure opinions, still a few were willing to state their views on the matter in question. One opinion which seems general is that not sufficient lacrosse news is printed in the press, at least, in comparison to one other sport, namely, baseball.

While this statement may be true, lacrosse men must remember that baseball-that is, professional baseball-is played every day, while lacrosse is only played on Saturday. If the space given to the two different sports on a Monday following both a lacrosse and baseball game is compared, it will be seen that in nearly every paper the lacrosse match will receive the larger amount of space.

As regards the two games from an amateur viewpoint, it must be said that the amateur baseballist takes a much greater pride in furnishing news of the doings of his team than ever do the lacrosse men. A baseball man, whether professional or amateur, is always ready and willing to give information to the press, while on the other hand the news has to be dragged from those looking after lacrosse. Let secretaries of amateur lacrosse teams note this.

President James Murphy of the National Lacrosse Union takes a very broad view of the matter, and has expressed his opinion in a most fearless manner, particularly so when he says that lacrosse men have themselves to blame if there is any decline. The opinion of Mr. H. J. P. Good, who was the first president of the C.L.A., and also the practical organizer of the Toronto Lacrosse League, of which body he was also elected president at the initial meeting, will be read with interest, on account of his close connection with the national game for so many years.

Opinions are also given by Mr. F. Thompson of the Torontos and Manager Querrie of the Tecumsehs, both these gentlemen refusing to admit the game is on the decline.

President Forsythe of the C.L.A. takes the most hopeful view, while Mr. F. C. Waghorne does not think the game will ever be bhought back to its former high standard. Mr. Fred Hambly of the Tecumsehs and Mr. R. E. Graham both offer most useful suggestions to help the younger generation in lacrosse, and their opinions are both good, and will undoubtedly start a discussion in the interest of the small boys. While making enquiries, The World man secured the opinion of a lady who takes considerable interest in manly sports. She thought that the reason why the ladies appear to be whether turning from lacrosse to baseball was on account of the rough play sometimes witnessed at lacrosse matches, which is decidedly repulsive to ladies. She, however, thought that when played with Mr. James A. Murphy, who came by two-teams capable of playing lacrosse as it should be played, from Cornwall and set to work to build and with the rough work eliminated, no game was more up a team, which was no small underinteresting to witness.

Were it not for the active work performed by such stalwarts as Mr. Lof Solman, Mr. Chas. Querrie. Mr. James Murphy, who have given their time and money to advance the game, lacrosse might have suffered a severe setback here. The recent change in the management of the Toronto Club whereby the Toronto always were with the lacrosse boys, are now devoting their time to lawn bowing or golf. Another reason is that lacrosse for Some time back has been played alto-gether too rough, which the general public do not like to witness. While Street Railway have assumed the running of affairs augurs well for the success of the blue and white. Mr. R. J. twenty-first (annoversary of the Battle of the Boyne. This is the day of all days for the Orangemen of the British Empire and tho more than two centuries have passed since the clash between King James of England and William, Prince of Orange, the memory of that epoch-making event has not faded. The history of the Orange Order did not begin with the Battle of the Boyne, as will be shown later. For a hundred years following the arrival of the Prince of Orange and Count of Nassau—a Dutchman who was invited by the Protestants of England and Ireland to accept the proffer of a throne—Ireland was torn by religious strife. The Defenders, a Catholic body, led mainly by the priests, and frequent conflicts with the Aldermen of Skinner's Alley. the Prentice Boys, the Orange Boys, the True Blues and kindred organizations but it was not until 1795 that the order as it is known to-day was founded by Protestants of Longhgall.

Wednesday, July 12, will be celebrated the two hundred and

Before, however, we turn to a brief outline of the Orange Order let us consider for a moment the event with which the association is chiefly linked. On March 11, 1689, William, Prince of Orange, and his wife; Mary, were proclaimed sovereigns of Ireland at Enniskillen. To defend his right to the throne of Ireland, King James landed at Kinsale with 2200 soldiers and in a short time had roused the Catholics to action. Tyrconnell. his supporter. ordered Londonderry to be occupied by McDonnell, Earl of Antrim, but a secret warning to a number of prominent Protestant families of the fate in store for them led thirteen Prentice Boys to close the gates of the city against the advancing army, and thus began a siege which lasted 105 days, the arrival of two ships with provisions causing the dispirited troops of the Earl of Antrim to withdraw.

On Saturday, June 14, 1690. King William landed at Carrickfergus and proceeded to Belfast, where he was warmly welcomed. After a stay of 4 days he proceeded towards the Boyne River with 36.000 men. The army of King James numbered, 46.000, according to a history of the Orange Order which is our guide and held what was considered an almost impregnable position. To the right was the town of Drogheda, held in force by the Romanists, to the left an impassable bog, and in front the dangerous fords of the Boyne. On the last day of June, old style, a council of war was held, and William announced his determination to force the passage of the Boyne. Many of his generals urged delay, in the face of the superior numbers and strong position of the enemy, but the king's choice had been made, and so at 4 a.m., on July 1st, old style, the armies were in motion, and early in the day the fighting was general. Both sides displayed great bravery and endurance. In a critical moment the town of Schomberg, pointing his sword towards the enemy, said, "There, men, are your persecutors." And onward went the Orange forces till victory crowned them, altho their gallant commander. Duke Schomberg, fell mortally wounded, and on that ever memorable battlefield the Rev. Geo. Walker. the hero of Derry, was mortally wounded, as were many others of the bravest men Ireland has ever seen. From the victory of the Boyne King William pressed on to Dublin, where he attended divine service in St. Patrick's ' Cathedral on July 6tr, old style.

From Dublin, William pressed on to Waterford, which was occupied and to Limerick ,which was besieged, but not then taken, and after he had arranged for the government of Ireland in a manner calculated to secure the lives, liberties and properties of the people, he returned to London on September 4th, 1690. In the summer of 1691 the loyalists succeeded in capturing all the strongholds of the Romanists. Athlone was taken on July 1st, old style. St. Ruth, the commander of the followers of James, with a strong force encamped at Aughrun Castle, a place ever memorable in Orange history, and lying about three miles from Ballinasice. On Sunday, July 12th, after a bombastic speech to his troops by St. Ruth, desultory fighting began and continued until 5 p.m., when, altho contemplating a postponement of the general engagement, the loyalists, led by General Ginckle, suddenly decided on a forward movement, and after a desperate struggle they gained a great victory, St. Ruth, with thousands of his followers, being killed. Flushed with victory, General Ginckle went on te-Limerick, which, after a stubborn resistance, surrendered on the 3rd of October, 1691. These three great victories in so short a time practically completed the conquest of Ireland for King William.

One should perhaps apologize nowadays for even suggesting religion to anyone, but I do not see why religion should not be as popular a ancient door and seek the that is never denied to the a topic as the weather or the crops or strap-hanging. Of course the obvious

If there be a real and a thing to be known as religion, or tuted of and embracing all reli ing. If the parsons could effect as much they would have all the people going to church, and society nce embraces all the as science embraces all the scien and philosophy all the philosoph then life must be the prime and ver-able exponent of the marvellous p-ciple that joins man and man, man and God in one relation, tremendous secret of the ages is close and near to all men that fall to perceive what is anigh the looking far off for a miracle or a m vel. In this view all that concerns takes on a new meaning. Artifi would no longer ostracise the man who made personal enquiries about his neighbor's spiritual welfare. The general effect would be undoubtedly beneficial. There would be an increase of good manners and of consideration for other people's feelings. I have met mpetuous missionaries who had no compunction about asking me if I were rites and cermonics are no longer r ed. It would only be good nature as well as good manners to take it for granted hat you had the same end in view as himself. With more evident truth; all drama represents a diviner spectacle. Life, and life alone, is carried on in the Imple not made with hands. Be sure that the true religion must be found there, if any-where. Destroy it, and it will be re-built, for the priest outlasts the Tem-ble, and builds many a shrine before he enters into the Holy of Holies. This is sheer mysticism some church-goen

As to drinking, I should drink chiefly water. I have had no objec-tion to moderate wine drinking, but I believe that that is better for youth and middle age than old age. For one of the banes of old age is gout and its close kin, rheumatism, and alcohol aggravates these ten-dencies. But while I advocate the plenteous drinking of water, I do not think one should be a careless wa-ter drinker. We should be sure that it is pure water. nama and the date. In the matter of sleep I should let my inclinations govern me. In general less sleep is needed in old age than in middle age, in middle age than in youth. Yet we see some old persons nodding most of the time. In these cases I have reason to believe it is when the tide of old age had risen too high to be checked. Yet scarcely have I writ-ten this thought than I hasten to recall it, for no one more thorough-ly than I believes that no state is hopeless but death. And the great French scientist, Flammarion, tells us how foolish is the old theory that our bodies are reconstructed every seven years. He asserts that that our bodies are reconstructed every seven years. He asserts that our bodies may be reconstructed in less than twelve months. To fend off old age we should exercise free-ly, moderately, but never with vio-lence. We should stop short in everything of growing tired. We must learn to relax, to think of the body as a soft garment like a cloak that can be tossed care-lessly upon couch or chair, not a thing of tense wires drawn into a thousand knots. When we rest we must untie the nerve knots. Loosen must untie the nerve knots. Loosen must untie the nerve knots. Loosen the fingers that have drawn into a fist, loosen the joints that have drawn tight as closed jackknives. The Warren "30" makes a distinct appeal to people who appreciate a good car. It has the lines, the looks, the strength, the power---the character that attract attention and admiration everywhere.

Its record on the race track-at Jacksonville-where it carried off the honors in the 5 and 10 mile class events-at Los Angeles-where it established a world's record in the famous 24 hour race, covering 1167 miles, averaging over 481/2 miles per hour for 24 hours without a single motor adjustment or tire change-proves that it has the stamina, the vitality, and the endurance that mean high quality.

MISS PERCY HASWELL IN THE GREAT UNKNOWN.

Augustin Daly's amusing farcical comedy "The Great Unknown" was played by Miss Percy Haswell and her clever company at the Alexandra last week to houses that would assuredly have been bigger had the weather been cooler. The heat centainly kept many away, but it could not depress those who refused to be frightened by it, and the play went to a sustained ripple of the laughter of pure enjoyment

She was treless and her au-dience were with her in every inflec-tion of her speech and in every one of her quick networks were with her quick nervous moments. She was irresistible—and indeed no one tried to resist her. Mr. William Orimans gave a clever sketch of an Irishman and Mr. they, who played the old man emilah, was amusing. The mouniting of the play was extremely good and as in all Miss Haswell's shows-everyone was conversant with his or her work, knew how to do it and did very well indeed. The Royal Alexandra is a cool theatre even in these days of heat, and a play of approved interest, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," is promised for next week. In this Miss part and an evening of much interest and cool comfort is assured to all who reminded of that evening spent at the Folles Bergeres when I saw Mr. H. V. Esmond's play "When We Were Twen-ty-One" at the Princess Theatre. The Trinity of middle-aged men who con-stitute themselves guardians of The Imp are very like the three artists in Du Maurier's play, and in various ways their trials and perplexitles bring rem-iniscences of Little Billee Taffy and The Laird, who concern themselves with the care of Miss Trilby O'Farrell. There is, as I say, a suggestion of this guardianship, but Mr. Esmond's play is essentially original and a remarkabiy good one. The story is a straight, ound, plain one. It deals principally with the love affairs of the infatuated Imp with a dafagerous music-hall art-ist. Kara Glynesk-familiarly known as The Firefly,— and the joint efforts of the Trinity of guardians assisted by Dick Carewe, to break this infatuation up and bring Phyllis and Dick togeth-er. The answeris very simple-the fascination is found in the exhilarating sensation which the rider experiences while gliding, as it were, thru space. He experiences this exquisite sensation without undergoing the wearing, tearing, tiring spirit which overcomes him while engaged in many other forms of sport. For example, the bicycle-rider is robbed of the sensation of exhileration by the

The Tomboy, who was none other than Miss Haswell herself, showed the same partiality toward the big green brute, which she did last week, not in such marked degree. The endall of her existence this week seemed rather to be a hankering after the things she ought not to do, and my soul! did you ever in all your life witness such a cakewalk? In this, Miss Chapin was a good colleague, with her witch-like hair and impish eyes.

But the biggest wonder which bulged right out of the theatre pockets and stared at one, was the frigidness of the atmosphere, which made one shudden at the stuffy rooms at home and wish to camp out perpetually beneath the shades of the sheltering Royal Alexandra.

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health. and to the happy, exhilarating frame of mind which accom-panies physical well being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY. In addition I have had the privilege and pleasure of induc-ing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic ac-knowledgments of the blessings it has brought to them. world-good because it was constant, cheap because it made for health and prevented epidemios, and useful be-cause it was in the hands of the people themselves. That supply now amount-ed to 225 million gallons of water per day, representing a river 33 feet wide, 8 test deep, and running at the rate of two feet per second night and day. As an engineer, he said that London's water supply was the best he had ever seen, tho he had taken every op-portunity, both in Britain and abroad, of inspecting such undertakings. From the River Thames nearly 60 per cent, of London's water was dnawn, the rest conting from wells and other twees, and it was important that they, as ratepayers, should know that all of as ratepayers, should know that all o it was now drawn from non-tidal waters, stored long enough to filter and to purify. Advance Australia.

Canada will still have to travel a bit if she proposes to keep her pride of place and not to let the rival overseas nations get alhead of her. There is not a doubt that this country is foundations in the second to be the second aboundingly nich in everything that goes to make a nation except popula-tion, and that is rapidly coming. India, Australia and South Africa are all similarly situated, except the first-named, which has population in addi-named, which des population in addi-tion to its wealth, which remains practically untapped. Australia pro-poses to build a two-million dollar palace in London for the housing of the representatives of the federation and of the different states. It will concentrate and consolidate Australian interests. Canada should do the same, and go Australia one better by building on a larger, more comprehensive and more imposing scale. Dr. Clifford's Stolen Sermon.

"Sermons," according to a corres ondent, are more liable to be appro priated than any other class of literary Their Yet this fate once befell a sermon originally delivered by our late visitor, Dr. Clifford. Dr. Alexander, the ex-Primate of Ireland, had been invited to preach at the Abbey, and it was noticed that the sermon bore some-thing more than a casual resemblance to one by Dr. Clifford. The archbishop subsequently wrote to Dr. Clifford ex-pressing his regret at the circum-stance. He said: 'My mind was so saturated with your rich, and nobly expressed thoughts that I really some how forgot that they were not my some until I had preached. We differ upon a good many details of theology, and upon the whole line of politics, but I thoroly respect and admire your thought, and remain your debtor."

Canada's Women's Blissful Place. Canada's Women's Blissful Place. There are now in England and Wales, according to the census report, a million more women than men, and over representation of the militant or female sex is increasing. In Canada there are half a million more men than women. Consequently here is the location for the superfluous Dianas of the Ephesians. Here are the total figures of the sexes revealed by the British census:

Men 17,448.476

TUDY yourself, your own character; ask yourself how many animals in this picture play a part in your mental make-up and which of them plays the most important part and does the most harm. The editorial and picture were suggested by the casual remark of a young human dynamo residing in Chicago.

This young man, who has achieved great success, was asked how he explained the failure of another young man. The reply was, "He never had the nerve to take an inventory of himself, and he found he was out of the race without any warning."

There is a good, energetic, American sentence, "He never had the nerve to take an inventory of himself." You will not find that kind of a sentence in the most refined writers of essays. But you will find it a useful sentence if you can apply it to yourself, if you can really sit down for an hour this Sunday and actually take an inventory OF YOUR OWN PERSONALITY, YOUR OWN CHARACTER, YOUR OWN MEN-TAL AND PHYSICAL STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS, YOUR OWN GOOD AND BAD PECULIARITIES. YOUR OWN TEM. PERAMENT.

You know that in modern business methods, every business properly managed takes an inventory at least once a year.

The greatest concerns in the world lay everything else aside at stated intervals and set heads of departments, expert bookkeepers, the best brains in the force at the great task of "getting out an inventory."

When that work is done, and not before, the man at the head of the business knows where he stands and where his business stands. He knows what has been sold, what remains unsold, what has deteriorated. He knows what his business is worth, how the period just ended compares with other periods. HE HAS TAKEN AN INVENTORY OF HIS BUSINESS, HE HAS THE BUSI-NESS IN HIS GRASP, AND HE STARTS FROM THAT INVENTORY WITH FRESH POWER AND FRESH KNOWLEDGE.

Why not do with your own self what the big business man does with his business? YOUR IMPORTANT BUSINESS IS YOU. Your real life is YOU. Your future success or failure is tied up in YOU. If the head of a business needs to know just what he has on hand, just what resources he has, just where his stock has gone off in quality, just how his business is running, then all the more YOU NEED TO KNOW THOSE VERY SAME THINGS ABOUT YOURSELF.

You are a business, a money-making and success-achieving concern on a bigger or a smaller scale. You may develop into big success as other businesses have done, when properly attended, or you may drift and dwindle down in a lackadaisical way, as a majority of all businesses do.

4 A. A Close down for an hour to-day, take an inventory of your own personality. Find out what you have done and left undone in the last six months, how much you have improved, if at all, how much deteriorated. The picture on this page is a suggestion, but only one suggestion in the taking of YOUR PERSONAL INVENTORY. You know that man stands at the head of animal life on this planet. He comforts himself with the belief-occasionally justified among very good men-that he has a soul far above the animals. Probably he has; let us hope so.

But there is not the slightest doubt whatever that he has in him many qualities that belong to the animals. If a real mental analysis were possible we dare say that in the brain of a complex man you would find something taken from the mental make-up of every animal that ever appeared on this earth, from the smallest live germ to the largest dinosaur.

Evolutionists tell you that our animal characteristics, mental and physical, were picked up during millions of years past when we used to live here in various animal forms. You are told that you get the construction of your hand from the five-toed salamander that crawled among the fern trees in the carboniferous era millions and millions of years ago. You are told that you get parts of your skeleton from the higher order of the anthropoid apes, and that your ears are put where your gills used to be in the days when you were a fish.

Believe all that or not, as you will, you cannot doubt that men contain in varying combinations the fox's cunning, the peacock's vanity, the pig's greed, the tiger's ferocity, the horse's ambition, the dog's fidelity, the snake's cold cruelty.

You know yourself how your mind changes, how to-day you feel a generous impulse and to-morrow an impulse that you would not willingly recognize as your own day after to-morrow. Whether the theory of evolution be true or not, there is no doubt that the man who does not deceive himself feels, working in his mind and his various impulses, hatreds, shortcomings, self-indulgences and weaknesses, conflicting emotions that might represent a whole menagerie of animals, big and little.

TAKE AN INVENTORY OF YOURSELF. Do it harshly, mercilessly, critically. The worst friend is the friend who flatters you, and many a man is HIS OWN worst friend.

Take the inventory of yourself as strictly and truthfully as if you were counting up papers of pins, lead pencils or the rolls of ribbon in a store.

* * *

Look over the animals in this picture, one at a time, and if you have a frank, truthful friend ask him or her to tell you honestly which of these animals are too prominent in your make-up, which figure too conspicuously in the inventory.

What about the chameleon, changing color, adapting himself to every shade of opinion? Is your mind of the chameleon type, no real color of its own?

What about the pig, whose face is simply the front door of a stomach? He does not go far in any race

The fox, unfortunately, in our days of semi-civilization is not a bad gentleman to have mixed up in your blood and brain.

Many a man fails who might have succeeded had he had a little more of the fox. Let us not forget, however, that many a man meets failure because he has too much of the fox in him.

Look over all of these animals. The opossum, whose only weapon is to "make-believe."

The monkey, tricky, foolish, infirm of purpose, imitative.

The sloth, lazy and looking at the world upside down.

The dog, faithful, kind, true-and very often kicked for his pains.

The tiger, cruel and cowardly. And the peacock, blissfully happy if somebody will admire his handsome feathers, . . .

Each of us knows himself better than the world can possibly know him. Each of us deceives himself more or less the greater part of the time, and forgets the harmful truths. But we can know ourselves if we will

Take a really truthful inventory of yourself once in a while.

You know perfectly well WHAT MAKES SUCCESS.

You do not need to read about "How To .Be Successful." The way to be successful IS TO BE SUCCESSFUL, TO WORK, TO DO THE VERY THING THAT YOU KNOW THAT YOU OUGHT TO DO.

Take that inventory, take a pencil and a piece of paper and write it out. Stick it in your pocket and keep it. Make up your mind to go systematically about your work during the balance of this year.

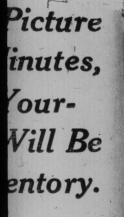

Wipe some things out of the inventory and add to others...

The young Chicago human dynamo said that one brilliant man failed "because he did not have the nerve to take an inventory of himself."

Perhaps by taking an inventory, harsh and truthful, you may succeed. TRY IT.

Oshawa to Be a Great Manufacturing

*, Oshawa, Showing Corner of King and Simcoe Streets.

Some of Oshawa's Many Fine Churches.

Will Oshawa be a city with twenty thousand population in five years? This has been freely predicted by men who have made a study of the local situation and are in a position to express opinions that are worth while. The Hon. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor for the Dominion, in a recent political speech stated that Oshawa within eleven years will have vessels. sailing in and out of her ports and will be enjoying the great prosperity that is essentially a part of a large manufacturing town.

Mr. J. J. Kelso, Superintendent of the Children's Aid Society for the Province of Ontario, in a recent lecture stated that Oshawa was rapidly begoming one of the manufacturing centres of the Dominion and that real estate men would soon be buying up the property, making it impossible for the town to purchase parks and play grounds suitable for the public and children. In his note of warning Mr. Kelso stated that advantage should be taken of the present low prices and that the town should follow the example of other large centres and make their real estate purchases while land was cheap. Already the wisdom of Mr. Kelso's warning has been seen and his predictions are being fulfilled. Oshawa has 'become prominent as an industrial centre and is favorably known for its many industries throughout the entire Dominion.

The McLaughlin Automobile and Carriage Factory is the largest under the British flag. The accompanying illustration scarcely does justice to this institution and will give the

First Section of King Street, East of Simcoe Street.

The Canada Malleable & Steel Range Manufacturing Co., Limited, one of Oshawa's new industries, is doubling its manufacturing capacity on account of being unable to fill orders.

The Eittings Company, Limited, is a new industry in Oshawa, but notwithstanding this fact it is the largest of its kind in Canada. Every year sees almost 100 per cent. increase in its output, and it has been found necessary to buy a large amount of property to provide for future growth.

The Williams Piano Company has a factory that occupies one entire block. Only a part of it is shown in the accompanying illustration. Pianos are being turned out at the rate of abut 2400 a year and several hundred men are employed. Their trade is showing a rapid and healthy increase.

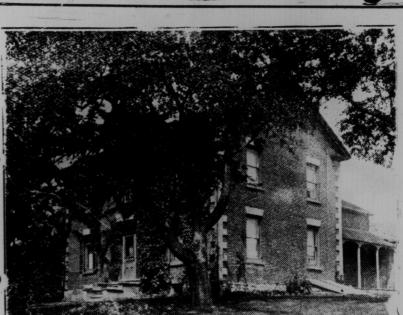

The Oshawa Canning Company does an extensive business with the gardeners and farmers in and Sectional View of Fine Orchard, Showing Lane Over Half Mile Long. around Oshawa. As a matter of fact the local supply is not nearly large enough to meet their requirements and it is necessary every year to purchase carloads of vegetables and fruit from other districts. The Robson Leather Com pany is another industry that the largest of its kind in Canada. They are spending several thousand dollars this year in advertising throughout every civilized country of the world. The illustration shown on this page does not by any means give an adequate idea of the size of this big factory. There are many other reader but a slight idea of the immense floor space that is cccupied. Forty acres of land have recently been purchased by this firm for the purpose of increased manufacturing accommodation and new buildings.

The Pedlar Metal Roofing Company, another institution, which is the largest of its kind in Canada, besides the big plant in Oshawa, has gained world-wide fame, having warehouses in England, China, Japan and other foreign countries.

The Malleable Iron Company employ over a thousand hands in their shops, and the end is not yet, for their factory premises are constantly being enlarged.

that nature provided him with he has built up one of the manufacturing industries that is helping to make Oshawa famous. At the present time he is shipping interior fittings to the three provinces of the Great West, besides doing a large business in Ontario.

Oshawa has been called the Manchester of Canada and it has to-day greater prospects than any other town in the Dominion. Four railways will soon be running either through or near the town, the C. P. R., G. T. R., C. N. R., and Toronto Eastern Electric Railway. The C. P. R. expect to have their new line started this summer, The Toronto Eastern Electric Railway will be running through the town and expect to have their line completed by January next.

The Seymour Electric Power Company have taken over the old electric plant and are running their power line from Smith's Falls. They have already built a large, power house in Oshawa and equipped their plant to supply a population of 20,000.

The manufacturers of the Matthew Guy Carriages have recently organized a company for the purpose of manufacturing a high-class automobile which will be known as the Guy 30. This Company is incorporated with a capital of $250,000.

Just as Toronto is known to-day throughout Great Britain as a great and prominent financial centre and one of the cleanest cities in the Dominion of Canada so will Oshawa eventually be known as a great manufacturing centre. Two of Oshawa's factories are 300 houses short of meeting the demand of their employes and they found it necessary to purchase many acres of "land so that houses may be erected and employes properly domiciled.

Oshawa is just thirty miles from Toronto and three miles from the lake front. Electric cars meet all trains and boats.

The writer has some splendid propositions in and around Oshawa to offer to prospective investors or homeseekers. The illustrations on this page give a slight idea of what has been and is being accomplished in Oshawa. Besides giving pictures of the manufacturers, some views are also given of one of the best fruit farms in this fertile section of the country, which is prominently known as the garden of Cana-da and one of the greatest fruit belts in the world. This farm of 43 acres is in the Town of Oshawa and only ten minutes' walk from the very centre of the town. It 4s on the Kingston Road just a few hundred yards east of the beautiful residences on King St. East, shown on this page. The house and barn as well as part of the orchard are shown here. The property consists of 17 acres of orchard. Fifteen acres of this is not less than 25 years old. There are 395 trees of this age and also two acres of younger orchard, half an acre of strawberries and quarter of an acre of raspberries. The soil is beautiful clay loam and on the entire farm there is only quarter of an acre of land which cannot be cultivated. There is also a running spring at the ex-treme end of this property with some excellent pasture land. The Northern Sples, trees are Greenings and Baldwins. The orchard is well pruned, sprayed and cultivated. Over 1,000 barrels of apples were packed from this orchard last year. There are other trees such as pears, plums, cherries, etc. The orchard alone without any work will yield sufficient to pay more than eight per cent. on the investment. This is one of the many opportunities that I have to offer the investor and nomeseeker. For some of you city chaps who desire to get back to the land and provide an ideal home for your family this fruit farm I mention is just a little bit the best proposition that I know of. If you desire further particulars write me or use the telephone. Full information will be cheerfully given.
