At the police court this morning, Norman E. Peel, who keeps a news stand on Dundas street, was charged with selling cigarettes to a boy under 18 years of age. Peel took the stand and denied the charge. Liverman Sage charged George Ballantyne and George McGregor with refusing to pay a hired hire. The defendants hired a team for a day to go to Rogers' on their arrival there one of the horses took sick and could not be returned to the owner for the full three days. Sage claimed $13.20, pay for the full three days. The accused were given a week to pay Sage's bill and court costs.

Richard Ivey was charged by Sophia Cox with having a vicious dog at large. The dog was ordered to be destroyed. Fred Johnston, a colored man, was fined $10 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. Johnston is said to be a disorderly man who has been in the police court many times.

SIR WILFRID'S WESTERN TOUR

The Premier Speaks at Sarnia and Wallaceburg.

Ontario Will Be Liberal—Significant Statement of a French Conservative Newspaper.

"ONTARIO WILL BE LIBERAL."
La Presse, the most influential French Conservative paper in the Province of Quebec, sent its parliamentary correspondent, a capable and experienced journalist, to accompany Sir Wilfrid Laurier during his meetings in Ontario, and in an article dealing with the situation in Ontario, he says: "Toronto, the old Tory city, is absolutely transformed. It is well to say so, and not to allow our friends to wait in vain on unrealistic hopes. From what I can learn there will be no change of figures in Ontario. The Liberals will keep a majority of ten to fifteen. That is the position. It is useless to beat about the bush. The Conservatives are reduced to telling us, 'We rely on a movement in Quebec.' Where is the movement in Quebec? When down there they laugh and tell us, 'Ontario is going to rise in arms.' Ontario is not rising, and will not rise. The general wave of prosperity is against the Conservatives, as it would be under the present conditions against any opposition, even Liberal. The Conservatives are still a chance of winning—that is, by capturing Quebec. They ought to be able, since they say they can, and their friends in Toronto firmly believe it, and have full confidence in their ability to do so. But if they believe me, let them not count on Ontario. Ontario will be Liberal."

THE PREMIER'S MESSAGE.
Wallaceburg, Oct. 18.—Sir Wilfrid spent Thanksgiving afternoon at Sarnia, and on this day of national rejoicing, in the course of a non-political speech, addressed to an audience of mixed political views, the premier gave utterance to this message of peace to the Canadian people: "I look to the mottoes around me, and I see 'Unity, peace, friendship, fraternity.' This is the motto which we all ought to have as Canadians in this particular land of ours. We are a mixed community—mixed in religion, mixed in creed, mixed in many different ways; but although we may be divided in many different ways we have only one common heart, one common soul as far as the welfare of our country is concerned. I cannot forget that I am in the Province of Ontario, a province which has been the theatre of the greatest confederation that I come from the Province of Quebec. These two provinces are divided in many ways, but they are one in purpose, and I am proud to say that at this moment the union which ought to exist between the different parts of confederation has never been so pronounced as it is today. We have our little bickerings, we have our little jarlings, we have our little difficulties—that is the lot of human nature; but when it comes to the great interests of the nation we sink our differences, and we remember only the common soil of our common country."

DAY OF ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTIONS.
It has been a day of enthusiastic receptions for Sir Wilfrid, and Quebec will have to look to its laurels in the matter of ovations to the premier. Sir Wilfrid's arrival was greeted by the imagination of the people, and to have won their love in a manner unexcelled by any other public man.

THE MORNING IN STRATFORD.
Sir Wilfrid and his charming lady spent a busy morning in the Classic City. Soon after breakfast Lady Laurier, who has won the hearts of all by her amiability and graciousness, went for a drive with Mrs. G. A. Macpherson. Afterwards Sir Wilfrid and his consort held a reception at the Albion Hotel, to which the citizens of Stratford flocked in great numbers.

Richard Cavendish left much earlier in the day, having to attend a meeting in the county of Wellington this afternoon. At 12:30 the premier and Lady Laurier left for Sarnia, en route to Wallaceburg. At many stations on the way crowds gathered, in the hope of seeing Canada's great statesman, and raised hearty cheers as the train sped through.

AT FOREST.
At Forest the residents were out in full force, and they made the air ring with their shouts. During the halt of a second or two here Sir Wilfrid was able to express his thanks for the cordiality displayed by the people towards him, and the hope that they would do their best for the Liberal cause.

RECEPTION AT SARNIA.
Sarnia was wild with excitement over the premier's visit. Hundreds of people flocked down to the Erie and Huron station and swarmed in cheering crowds around the premier when he came in. A reception committee, headed by Mr. Jas. Watson, chairman, Dr. Johnston, the general Liberal candidate for the riding, and Mr. F. P. Pardee, the local member for West Lambton, bade the premier and his lady a hearty welcome to the town, and the Sarnia company of the Boys' Brigade, in full regalia, who were drawn up on the platform, presented arms.

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier were escorted through the open ranks of the young soldiers to a carriage, and driven slowly to the Boys' Brigade Hall.

Mems of the Merry War.

No idle factories now.
As a theoretical soldier, Major Beattie can't be beat.

The Opposition Journals insist on putting anonymous letters in their papers. They wish to continue the practice for two reasons: (1) In order that their editors may write letters to themselves, and sign them with such titles as "A Disgusted Reformer," "Once a Liberal," and so on; and (2) that they may permit a vindictive opponent of the Government to abuse the Ministers without his identity being known, or the animus of his venom exposed.

Mr. Hume Elliott—who is known to the Indians around Delaware as Big Thunder—in his convention speech included The Advertiser among the objects of his mutterings. But as he denounced Laurier and everybody and everything in sight, this great advertising medium, with the largest sworn circulation in Western Ontario, must just try and stand it.

Manufacturers are anxious—indeed, as to how they are to fill all their orders.

The workmen are everywhere rallying to the support of Laurier. "And why for no?" as Mrs. Meg Dods says in Scott's novel. Never before had the workmen of Canada as much work or as good average wages. They intend to do their part towards continuing the policy of the fall dinner-pull.

"We are national; they are sectional."—Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Laurier, who is none too British for us, will sweep Ontario.

Our good friends of the W. C. T. U. will pardon us for the pleasantry, but they will have to get after the tall chimneys. They are smoking more than ever.

Hugh John seems to have gold-bricked the Manitoba prohibitionists, but he cannot fool the farmers.—St. Marys Argus.

The Hamilton Times well asks if this is only the old N. P. tariff, why are the Tupper denouncing it?

A greater increase of marriages in Ontario in the Laurier four years after 1896, than in the eighteen years of those previously in power. Ring out, sweet bells!

Mr. Beattie says the teaching of the Presbyterian Church is not to bear false witness against your neighbor. Mr. Beattie should get some of the witnesses at his election trial to go to some church—for all the churches in this city teach the same doctrine as to morality. Mr. Beattie might with advantage take a look in himself, and he might cease to vilify Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The keenness with which supporters of the Government accept nominations shows which way the wind is blowing.

Soup kitchens have not been heard of in the last four years.

All the outcries on the part of the Opposition and the threatened destruction of the Canadian agricultural implement factories arise from the failure to re-establish the Red Parlor.

The Hamilton Herald, Independent, desirous, no doubt, to be on the side of the winner, has sized up the situation, and has reached the conclusion that the verdict on the 7th of next month will be in favor of the Government.

The Beattie convention speeches exhibited all the weakness of violence.

Major Beattie and Col. Leys.

At the Conservative nomination, Major Beattie said:

"You know the Conservatives were never convicted in any protest, but the little secret I am going to give is this: We had another protest a little while ago. It was Mr. Beck who was elected for the city at the time. He entered the protest against Col. Leys, but, unfortunately for the Conservative party, he was obliged to go to England. The election protest was paired, and the Grits paid over $1,000 rather than have the bribery exposed. Mr. Thomas Purdon knows who paid the money over, and he knows where it came from." (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Beattie tells more than he knows. If he will refer to Mr. J. J. Foy, Q.C., of Toronto, a prominent member of the Conservative party, he will undoubtedly have his errors pointed out. The speech of Mr. Beattie is intended to create the impression that Col. Leys paid $1,000 rather than have alleged bribery at his election exposed. Major Beattie knows, and if he does not, he is now informed, that Col. Leys declined to pay one cent to stop any investigation, and did not pay one cent. Major Beattie should be honest and truthful in his reference to Col. Leys' election and the protest. He has been referred to J. J. Foy, Q.C., Toronto. Col. Leys did not pay one cent; and Mr. Purdon cannot give him any knowledge that would enlighten him, nor did he pay one cent either. If, after interviewing Mr. Foy, Mr. Beattie is in any doubt, he can recall the meeting of Conservatives at the Tecumseh House, and he will have all the knowledge he needs.

Col. Leys asked no favors, either, at his election or at the protest.

The Keynote of Mr. Beattie's Nomination.

The keynote of Mr. Beattie's nomination was sounded by the chairman, Mr. Adam Beck. Mr. Beck endeavored to make the audience believe that the speeches at Mr. Hyman's nomination meant that Mr. Hyman must carry the election by any means, fair or foul.

Mr. Beck no doubt referred to Mr. Gibbons, president of the Liberal Association, whose remarks he endeavored to distort. All who heard Mr. Gibbons and every other speaker at the Reform convention, know that only fair means were referred to. Mr. Gibbons and all Liberals believe that Mr. Hyman will be elected this time, and by fair means. They believe, too, that they never had fair play from his opponents; that he was defeated last time because the machinery of the election was in the hands of his opponents. Not so this time; and Liberals therefore feel assured that with fair play at the polls, Mr. Hyman will receive justice and be the member for London in the next House of Commons.

Mr. Beattie and the Workman.

If there is one thing more than another that Mr. Beattie prides himself on, it is that he is a friend of the workman. But any one can see that he is simply playing for the workman's vote, and does not understand the workman at all. His remark and question, "I pity the men whom I see going to work at 6:30 o'clock, carrying a cold lunch in their palms that they must thaw out on a stove. Is there a man in this audience who would like it?" is both a misunderstanding of the workman and an insult to him. It implies an inferiority.

Mr. Beattie may keep his pity. He can go into thousands of workmen's homes and find a health and happiness that he cannot find elsewhere. He will find families bound together by the strongest family ties. He will find them rejoicing with each other and bearing each other's burdens. He will find an honest ambition and a manly contentment. As Burns says:

"And certes in fair virtue's heavenly road,
The cottage leaves the palace far behind.
What is a lordling's pomp? A cumbrous load,
Disguising oft the wretch of human kind.
Studied in arts of hell, in wickedness refined."

No, Mr. Beattie, you misunderstand the man of independent mind. You misunderstand his pleasures and his life. The workman is quite capable of judging which is the workman's friend—the man, C. S. Hyman, who gives employment to many men; or the man, Major Beattie, who is described on one of his banners at the nomination as "a soldier,

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

London, Oct. 19.—At a meeting of the British privy council at Balmoral today the Queen prorogued parliament until early in December, when it will be further prorogued until February.

The best informed men do not expect that the reorganization of the cabinet will be completed before February.

Officers in the army do not favor the appointment of either Mr. Chamberlain or Gen. Kitchener to the war office.

CROP SITUATION IN INDIA.

London, Oct. 19.—Lord Curzon of Kedleston, viceroy of India, reports to the India office that the situation is serious in the eastern districts of the Deccan, Bihar and parts of Belgaum and Dharwar, where, unless rain comes with the northeast monsoon, the area of winter crops will be small, and result in considerable distress. Elsewhere in India, the viceroy says, there are prospects of an excellent harvest.

INTERNAL CANCER

A Severe Case Where the Neighbours Thought Our Remedy Had Worked a Miracle.

It is one of the rules in our business not to publish in the newspapers for the gratification of the curious the names of those who have been cured of cancer by our Constitutional Remedy. Yet we will give the following synopsis of the case of a widely known gentleman, and we will gladly give his name and address to those interested. This man suffered from an internal cancer; the doctors, after consultation, said so, and told him he could not live. The pain he endured was terrible, he could keep nothing on his stomach, and lost control of his bowels. Our cancer remedy alleviated the pain, cured the cancer, and so restored his strength that when spring came he was able to do his farm work. The neighbors all thought his cure miraculous, but it is just such miracles as this that our simple and truly wonderful treatment is working, both in Canada and the United States. No matter how bad your case, it will pay you to inquire about our new book, "Cancer, Its Cause and Cure." Stott & Jury, Bowmanville.

SHOOTING AT THE COVES

Excellent Scores Made at the Annual Matches of the Seventh Rifle Association.

The excellent prizes that were offered at the annual matches of the 7th Regiment Rifle Association, which were shot off at the Coves yesterday, tempted a larger number than usual to enter. Some excellent scores were made, and, as a whole, the day was one of the most pleasurable that has been spent under regimental auspices. Pte. R. F. Fraser captured first prize, $15, and the Ontario Rifle Association medal, in the regimental match, and Lieut. Murphy took second prize, $12. Each scored the same number of points, 47, but Pte. Fraser made 25 at the 500 yards range, and Lieut. Murphy only made 22.

A Company had two teams in the team match. The only other companies represented were B and C. The first team of A company captured first prize, the Tracy cup, valued at $100, and $10. Second prize, a silver cup, valued at $40, and $5, went to B company; and third prize, a silver cup, valued at $20, and $5, went to the second team of A company. Major Hayes, Lieut. McCrimmon and Lieut. Murphy took the extra series, No. 1, and the tie will be shot off on Saturday. Each made a possible 24. The scores:

WHAT PEOPLE SAY

Is Not What Makes a Remedy Valuable.

Testimonials are good things, and we are always glad to get them, but they don't make our remedy any better than the others. The testimonials are good because they do good—because they cure.

Testimonials simply prove that the tablets have helped other people. If you are as much interested in it, and whether they will cure you is the question.

It is very easy to find out—try them. A full package costs but 50 cents at the outside. They are worth what they cost if they help you a little bit. The chance is worth taking at the price.

We put it on that basis because you don't know about the tablets. If you knew as much about them as we do you would have complete confidence; this advertising would be unnecessary. We have seen them cure the worst cases of stomach trouble. Cases of long standing and chronic cases that other medicines, and even high-priced doctors had failed to subdue.

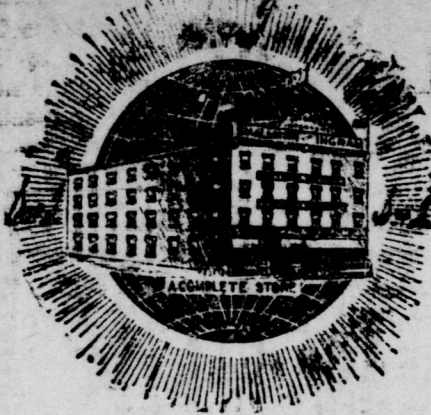

Here are some testimonials. If you care to read them we have thousands of them.

Rev. J. R. Hoag, of Wymore, Neb., writes: For six years I have been troubled with dyspepsia. Last fall I became very much alarmed at some symptoms of heart trouble and came to believe there was a sympathetic relation between the two diseases, or rather, that the stomach trouble was the cause of the heart disturbance. I hit upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for a remedy, and invested a dollar and a half for three boxes, which lasted me three months, and I can eat any kind of food I want and have a good, vigorous appetite. Although now 77 years old, I now feel perfectly well, and without being requested by anyone I make this statement as a compliment to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Mrs. Lydia E. Hartman, of Ashtabula, Mich., writes: "I have suffered from stomach trouble for ten years and five different doctors gave me only temporary relief. A Mr. E. R. Page advised me to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and four boxes did me more permanent benefit than all the doctors' medicines that I have ever taken."

We honestly believe that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best medicine ever made for the cure of stomach troubles.

Don't mistake our meaning. We don't claim them to cure anything, but we claim that they cure stomach troubles. Just the one thing is what they are made for, but that one thing is the cause—the starting point of nearly all the sickness in the world. Use Stuart's Tablets regularly. Keep your stomach right, and you can never be sick.

THE WEATHER TODAY—Fine.

We take this occasion to thank our many friends for the loyal support accorded us during this, the Banner year of the Grafton business in every branch, but, speaking from the London branch of this great business, we can only say it has far exceeded our most extravagant expectations, proving conclusively that we enjoy the full confidence of by far the largest constituency of buyers in this part of the country. This confidence it has been our constant aim to deserve. We have at all times sold goods just as represented, and if the material or workmanship guaranteed by us should not turn out as represented, we have always taken a pleasure to promptly adjust any claim where it was found to have been a just one. On these principles this great business will still continue to become greater and greater. On these principles we again solicit your support.

STRATFORD WAS EASY.

The Stratford Rugby football team was never in the game at Teumessah Park yesterday, being turned down by the home boys by a score of 22 to 0. The game was witnessed by a crowd of about 400 people. Jack Hobbs officiated as referee, and W. Forbes, of Stratford, as umpire. The teams lined up as follows when the whistle sounded for play at 3:30.

The ball had been in play scarcely two minutes when, after a short run, Peel passed to Hobbs, who, with his skillful side-stepping, passed through the tangle and went over for a try, which he failed to convert. Score, London 4, Stratford 0.

Shortly after, Peel made a splendid long kick to touch-in-goal, scoring one for London. The ball was then put in play at the 25-yards line. Stratford now got into the game with a will, and succeeded in working the ball well down towards London's goal, only to lose it from a poor pass, and giving a Londoner time to make a long kick. Capt. Gibbons followed up splendidly, and tackled the Stratford half before he got fairly started, thus bringing the pugnacious back to the visitors' 25-yard line. From a scrimmage here the ball was passed to Peel, who once more kicked into touch-in-goal, adding another point to the tally. Again, a few minutes later, Peel made a pretty punt pass the dead line, making the score 7 to 0. Both teams were now working hard, but the home team succeeded in keeping the ball well in the visitors' territory, and when Field got a chance to kick, the London wings followed up so quickly that Armstrong was forced to rouge. Score: London 8, Stratford 0.

Reid and Kerrigan now took a hand in the rushing, Tom breaking through the line, and after a splendid rush, passed to Kerrigan who took the oval for another 15 yards before being brought low.

Half-time; score, London 12, Stratford 0.

On play being resumed, Hobbs got his mitt on the pignikin. From him it went to Peel, and the inevitable happened in the shape of a try, which was converted. Score, London 13, Stratford 0.

George Hennessey and Filer then got a rest for rough play, and three minutes later, on being allowed to resume play, George was laid out with a badly twisted back, and had to stop. Peel again got away with the ball, and passed to Macfie, who scored with another try. Peel failed to convert. Score, London 22, Stratford 0. Two or three minutes' play brought the game to a close.

BASEBALL.

CHAMPIONS OF THE WORLD.
Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 18.—The agony is over. Brooklyn is champion of the world "baseballically," owner of the beautiful $500 trophy cup, and carries away one-half the gate receipts of the four games necessary to decide their supremacy over Pittsburg. The champions demonstrated throughout the series that they were deserving of the league pennant by playing better ball in every way than their opponents, who finished second in the race. In only one game of the four played did Pittsburg look to be in the same class with Brooklyn. That game was played yesterday, and the victory encouraged the Pittsburg players and the local fans that the 2,333 people who attended the game today really expected to see the victory repeated. The Pittsburg men went at their work today with great determination, and every point was worked up to the limit by both sides up to the fourth inning, when three hits and a fumble by Leever netted three runs to Brooklyn. After that the locals seemed to lose their snap, and while they played hard to win, it was conceded by the spectators that the home team was outclassed. Waddell was put in the box as a forlorn hope, but the handicapper was too great. McGinnity won his second game in the series by keeping the hits well scattered, and by receiving the finest kind of support. Cross was especially effective in spoiling hits by getting in the way of numerous balls speeding toward left field and making wonderfully fast throws to Jennings. The cup will be presented to the Brooklyn players at the Alvin Theater tomorrow night by Mayor Diehl. Score: R. H. E.

INDOOR BASEBALL.
The St. John's Athletic Club indoor baseball team scored a victory in the opening game of the City League series, played with the Memorial Athletic Club at the Westminster Rooms yesterday afternoon. Both teams played well, and the scores were close. St. John's making eight runs to their opponents' five. Mr. Walt Lancaster umpired with satisfaction. The team: Memorial A. C.—Corcoran, Watts, Lee, Jackson, Griffin, Smith, Gelles, Arthur, Eccleston and Johnston. St. John's A. C.—Woolley, C. McLeod, Friendship, Treblecock, McLeod, Grant, A. Woolley, Smith and Collins.

THE TURF.

New York, Oct. 18.—Alard Schreck won the Fordham high-weight handicap at Morris Park today a neck before Belle of Troy, and was then disqualified, as his jockey, Burns, was two pounds under weight. The horse was heavily played from 5 to 6 to 1, and his owner, John F. Schorr, figured up that the disqualification cost him just $14,400, outside of the stake. The event was at 7 furlongs, and eight horses faced the starter. The Ramapo handicap was the other fixture, and Killashandra, an odds-on favorite in 3 to 5, made all the running, and won easily from Alsike. Little Daisy, played by a few for a killing, won the second, ridden out from Fleet Wing. Alsike took the fifth. Turner scored his second win of the day, and Bangor beat the odds-on favorite, Intrusive, three lengths in the last race, which was a two-horse affair.

The Heather Is on Fire—Mr Beattie Nominated by the Conservatives.

The Conservative meeting on Wednesday night, at which Mr. Beattie was nominated, must have pleased Mr. Hyman's supporters.

The speakers were angry, and that is sure proof that they expect failure.

Probably the worst-natured speech of them all was that of the candidate himself.

Mr. Beattie resurrected an old joke of Mr. Hume Cronyn's at a meeting held a few years ago. The Major has evidently, like the old woman Burns talks of, been "nursing his wrath to keep it warm." Imagine a man (7) going back two or three years to quarrel with a joke. Mr. Hume Cronyn is well known as one of London's ablest and most respected young men. His speech at the Hyman nomination was largely a plea for fair play.

Mr. Beattie next takes Mr. Purdon to task, and if the Free Press report is accurate, says: "I am going to tell him something that the Reform party, nor the Conservative party, do not know. In regard to my election, I won it fairly, and I am going to win this by the same means."

Mr. Purdon said it was something that both parties knew, that the election had not been won fairly. There is no need of argument on this point, or to draw attention to what all honest Conservatives must feel was the most disgraceful scene in connection with any election trial ever held in Canada. All other election frauds sink into insignificance before that dark and gloomy scene in the London Court House. Mr. Beattie says it was an insult to the two election judges. Mr. Purdon knows, and Mr. Beattie ought to know, that judges are often imposed on by witnesses; that no judge lives who can distinguish truth, or half the truth, from falsehood. If witnesses are educated men, shrewd and capable, and willing to take the risk, how could any judge detect the false, and of what value is the certificate of character of which Mr. Beattie is so proud? The judges were imposed on, and they could not vacate the seat. Mr. B. B. Osler, Q. C., whom all will admit is as good a lawyer as any judge on the bench, was indignant at the conclusion. If Mr. Purdon's statement was an insult to the judges, Mr. Osler's feelings must have been something like those once attributed to Thad. Stevens, an American lawyer, who, much put out by a judgment, was tumbling his books around. The judge said: "Mr. Stevens, are you trying to show your contempt for this court?" "No," said Mr. Stevens, "I am trying to conceal it." Mr. Beattie ought to know that lawyers do not always agree with the judges, and that the judges are not always right.

Then, Mr. Beattie became loyal again! That part of his speech, in the light of Sir Charles Tupper's declarations, can only amuse. Mr. Beattie must have been in the House when Sir Charles Tupper declared that "No person who listened to the most brilliant and eloquent address that we in the House of Commons of Canada listened to last night (from Sir Wilfrid Laurier), can fail to appreciate the tremendous impulse that the South African war has given to this great question of the unity of the empire. (Cheers.) That address was cheered, not only by the ordinary supporters of the Prime Minister of Canada, but it was cheered with equal enthusiasm by, I might also say, all in the House of Commons." Which will the Conservative party take, Mr. Beattie, or his leader?

Mr. Beattie will likely be disciplined by his leader when he reads it, for, you know, like Hugh John Macdonald's abolition of the duty on agricultural implements, it will do more harm in other parts of Canada than such utterances by Mr. Beattie can do good in London. But a loyalty like that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's is not to be impeached. The whole nation acknowledged it, and Londoners will send Mr. Hyman to Ottawa as Sir Wilfrid's supporter in proof of their faith in his loyalty, sincerity and ability.

Rev. Mr. Sheldon, the head of the great Christian Endeavor movement, says that so far as the consumption of intoxicants is concerned, the people on this side of the Atlantic are living in a paradise when their condition is compared with that of the populace in England and Scotland. Mr. Sheldon says this country is many years ahead of the old world in temperance progress. It is, the people of Canada now drink less intoxicants than any other civilized nation the world over. Official statistics prove it. The improvement has been steady, and its growth has been in proportion to the growth of the Dominion.

Tenants and property owners want to make sure that their names are on the voter's list. In several instances they have been left off in this city.

Ontario's Marriage Record Under Laurier.

There is no more certain proof of the prosperity of any country than the number of marriages contracted in it. The statistics which we now give are the official returns, and show that during the four years of Liberal rule, the increase has been nearly as great as during the whole eighteen years of Tory rule!

The number of marriages in Ontario, according to the returns, are as follows:

In 1899 ..... 16,514
 In 1898 ..... 15,375
 In 1897 ..... 15,293
 In 1896 ..... 14,904
 In 1878 ..... 12,729

These are pleasant facts. They mean happy homes and happy firesides. The people evidently believe that "of all roads to pleasure that ever were tried there's none half so sure as one's own fireside." Long may that prosperity continue that causes in Canada an annual increase in the number of marriages.

Let the Laurier Government be sustained that Cupid's good work may go on.

The Two Cries and Their Free Press Echo.

The Advertiser says that the war in South Africa takes away any plea that the Tory party alone is loyal. We do not know that anybody ever made such a claim. But we do know that the only ones who objected to sending the Canadian contingents were Tories.—London Free Press.

No accusation could be more unfair than that made by our city contemporary. We have but to give a few instances to show how, while such papers as the Free Press have been trying to make political capital by unjustly attacking the Ministry because it took reasonable time to consider the question of sending a contingent to South Africa, its fellow Conservative journals in Quebec, and their allies, have been bitterly assailing Sir Wilfrid Laurier for sending a contingent at all. But a year ago the leading Conservatives of Montreal—the proprietor of the Star among them—founded a newspaper in the French language called Le Journal. This paper has persistently accused Sir Wilfrid Laurier of pandering to British sentiments and of treacherously sacrificing his own race. It quotes a speech made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier on June 25, 1897, addressing some Canadian troops at the Queen's Jubilee. The premier is reported as saying: "As Canadians we hope that war will not break out, but I express the general sentiment in affirming that if, unhappily, the empire should be involved, the Canadian troops would speed to the fight, and would do their duty as well as this morning on parade." This specially subsidized Conservative journal, the direct mouthpiece of the Opposition leaders in the Province of Quebec, says that this was a plain offer of a contingent, and that Esau had sold his rights for a mess of pottage. Subsequently the same paper has had a savage attack on Sir Wilfrid Laurier for being friendly to the federation of the empire, and it was from the office of that journal that the infamous Pamphlet No. 6 of the Opposition campaign literature was issued—a document which assailed Sir Wilfrid and the Liberal party without stint for sending aid to the Motherland in South Africa, and called upon their fellow citizens to defeat the Government for doing so. L'Evelement, another Conservative journal, attacks Le Soleil, a Liberal journal which had expressed British sentiments and defended the Dominion Government for sending the two contingents. Are we, asks this Opposition authority, to prove our loyalty to England and to deserve the effection of the English in Canada by playing the role of a slave, espousing all England's quarrels, just or unjust? Then we have Le Monde, edited by Mr. Mantel, a leading Conservative, attacking City Clerk David, of Montreal, violently for expressing British sentiments. These attacks on the Government for sending the contingents have been made by Conservative organs in Quebec, while our Conservative contemporaries in Ontario have denounced the Administration for considering, for a moment even, this vital departure from all previous usage in Canadian government.

We admit that there have been Liberals in this country who objected to Canada sending the contingents without a meeting of Parliament, because, constitutionally, all such enterprises should first have the indorsement of the people's representatives. We think such Liberals mistaken; as a matter of fact, though constitutionally they were right. There are rare occasions in which such an act can be undertaken on the ascertained strength of public sentiment, and the sending of the contingents, as after events proved, was one of them. We have not called anyone who objected to the sending of a contingent unpatriotic, because this is a free British country, and there ought to be room for reasonable differences of opinion. But we have no hesitation in condemning, and we believe the people will condemn, the rascally attempt to make a party question of such differences, and to campaign against Sir Wilfrid in Quebec on the ground that he is too English, while they campaign in Ontario on the ground that he is not English enough. There is hardly a parish in Quebec where today an Opposition campaign is not in progress against the Liberal leader because he sent the contingent. The political friends of the Free Press are the promoters of this campaign. They are the promoters of the equally unfair campaign in Ontario, the object of which is to make believe that Sir Wilfrid and his Ministers only arranged for the sending of a contingent because they were forced to do so by Sir Charles Tupper! Both of these expedients are most unfair, and surely if anything is unpatriotic they are.

From the evidence we have here given and which can easily be augmented from speeches by Mr. Chauvin, M.P., and other Opposition members, we have supplied convincing proof of the lack of fact in the declaration by our city contemporary.

Acrobatics Extraordinary.

In a moment of weakness, impelled doubtless by the conviction that in view of their discredited plight in the public eye, some new bond of union must be devised, the Conservative leaders imported Hon. Hugh John Macdonald into their councils.

The move was, of course, well understood by both Conservatives and Liberals alike as a desperate effort on the part of hard-driven men to retrieve their fallen fortunes, by attempting to galvanize into new life that warm sentiment of effection for their late leader which once formed the ruling passion of so many Conservative breasts.

Had they been content to treat the Hon. Hugh John and the bust of his late distinguished father in precisely the same manner, allowing speech from neither, but trusting simply to the exhibition of both to evoke the required sentiment, all might have been well.

So long as Hugh John remained under the tutelage of his venerable leader during their recent tour, all went smoothly. His utterances, if not marvellous either of wisdom or originality, were at least innocuous, and, so far as he could make them so, were in strict accordance with the views which are supposed to be for the present the views of the elder Tupper.

But, alas! the moment of parting came, and what must have been the indignant horror of the latter gentleman on discovering from daily prints that no sooner had his apt pupil, who had discoursed so glibly in Quebec and Ontario on the beauties of high protection, set foot on the prairie province than he broke out as a rabid free trader.

To be explicit, Hon. Hugh John Macdonald now declares to his Manitoba audiences that he is in favor of removing all duties from agricultural implements. The statement, coming from a professed adherent of the Idolized N. P., is, to say the least, startling. We have often heard it said that Mr. Macdonald has repeatedly declared that he had no taste or leaning towards politics, and that he wished his friends would allow him to keep out of them, and this astonishing pronouncement really inclines us to think that that statement must have some foundation.

We cannot believe that Mr. Macdonald could have realized the full significance of the attitude assumed by him. If he would remove all duties from agricultural implements, articles which are manufactured in large quantities in Canada, it must necessarily follow that he would also remove the duties from all materials which are required for the manufacture of such implements in this country. This would include the workmen's tools, the coal consumed, and the metals of which the implements are constructed, such as ingots of steel, pig iron, etc.

This would be a sweeping reduction, indeed, for one who professes strict adherence to the National Policy to make. And yet the honorable gentleman would be obliged to make it, as otherwise his position would be that he would be prepared to admit free the agricultural implements of our American cousins, and at the same time tax our own manufacturers of such implements on every article that entered into their construction. This would mean the destruction of our agricultural implement industry at one fell stroke. A statesmanlike deliverance, this, truly!

Our own belief is that Mr. Macdonald had not given sufficient thought to the matter he was discussing, and that he did not even realize the dire conclusion to which his statement was leading him. We believe the statement struck him as being a good "ad captandum vulgus" declaration, likely to meet the approval of his immediate audience, and he made it accordingly. Be that as it may, the statement as made, especially when contrasted with the statements of a diametrically opposite character that he had been busy making throughout Quebec and Ontario during the preceding weeks, and with the avowed views of himself and his leader on the trade question, seems to plumb the depth of his capacity to mould the trade policy and control the destinies of this great Dominion.

who could be guilty of such a faux pas, evincing utter ignorance of the first principles of political economy, to such men as Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. David Mills, Hon. Wm. Patterson, or any one of the tried and experienced veterans who stand at the head of the Liberal party, is apparent.

"Our Immigrants and Ourselves."

Under this heading Kate Holladay Cleghorn, in the October issue of the Atlantic Monthly, deals with the complex and interesting subject of immigration and immigrants. The article is well worth careful reading, as well for the spirit in which it is written as for the array of well-attested facts that it furnishes. The writer shows that it is now fashionable to pour on "immigrants" springs largely from selfishness and ignorance. Here, for instance, is a statement and a question: "Today the Irish element—both foreign and native-born—has arisen as a whole, almost entirely from the humble social and industrial grade it entered on its first arrival, and is now to be found in all grades above, up to the very highest. Is there any reason to suppose that never comers will not assimilate as readily? There are not wanting indications that they will succeed even better." The Germans, who are thought so highly of now, were, we are told, regarded by "our grandfathers as all that was dangerous and bad. Atheist Sabbath-breakers, drunkards—these were a few of the choice epithets lavished upon the Germans when they first came among us; and the revolutionist of '48, that mid-mannered exponent of moderate principles, created as much consternation in the minds of the people as the anarchist or communist of today, and was described in as heated popular language." This writer contends that the "scum of Southern Europe" that we have so much of today, is contributing much good material to the building up of a great nation; that Italians, Hungarians, Austrians and others, whom we are prone to despise, show their good side when they get a fair chance. The poorest Italian family manages in some way to make provision for a rainy day.

and it is seldom indeed that it is found a habitual dependent on charity. The Italians, like the Jews, are eager for improvement.

There is much information of this type, based upon wide observation and gathered in a kindly human spirit. The author of the article admits that the foreigner is too docile in politics, and becomes a too easy tool of the "boss." "But those who consider the immigrant the beginning and end of political corruption in this country have surely never read its history carefully."

We commend to the attention of those who are interested in this question—and it is one of great interest for Canada at the present time—this information here given. We must protect our own country from any direct and proved evil, but we must take care that under the pretense of so doing we are not shirking the duty of giving a kindly welcome to those who in the end may give as much to the country as they will ever get out of it. "Whether for better or for worse, the Anglo-Saxon race has taken up the mission of schoolmaster and protector of the whole world. Whatever meaner motives lurk beneath our expeditious conquests, this is the pretext that must be offered to meet the general expectation—a common benefit to leaders and led, to be wrought out by them together, and unattainable by either separately."

This may have a high-flying sound, but there is sufficient truth in it to keep it from being ridiculous, especially if we construe the phrase "Anglo-Saxon" in a broad, generous, English-speaking spirit.

Don't stop the growing time.

Free or Taxed Materials.

When Hon. Alexander Mackenzie was in office the duty on implements was 17 1/2 per cent, and the principal materials, such as iron and coal, used in the manufacture of implements, were on the free list. The net protection enjoyed by the implement industry was greater than that it is today, with the duty on implements of 20 per cent, and taxes on coal, iron, etc. But Mr. Mackenzie was not called a protectionist. On the other hand, he was denounced by the Tories as a free trader. The singling out of a particular industry for unfair discrimination, because the principal men engaged in that industry happen to be Liberals, betrays the presence of a spirit of vindictive Toryism in "the man with the nose" which will not add to his own popularity nor to the popularity of the Tupper-Macdonald party of opportunists.

Hugh John's Bad Memory.

Guelph Mercury: Hugh John says: "If I am elected I shall use all the influence I have to have every part of the duty removed from agricultural implements. I worked for that when I was in the house before, and I see no reason to change my opinion." During the session of 1899 Mr. D'Alton McCarthy made a motion in favor of tariff reductions and referred especially to Manitoba and to the burden laid on Manitoba farmers by a duty of 35 per cent on agricultural implements. Mr. Hugh John Macdonald, the member for Winnipeg, voted "No" to Mr. McCarthy's resolution. During the same session it was moved that the duty on agricultural implements should be reduced. When this motion was put to the house Mr. Macdonald was absent, and he neither spoke nor voted in favor of it. Mr. Macdonald sincerely believes that he is a man of his word. Only a man with such a horribly bad memory as he has can be consistent in such a claim.

GOLF.

"I tell you, golf is going to be the salvation of the nation. It is going to make athletic men and women out of our puny offsprings, and lengthen our days by decades." "But our ancestors didn't go in for golf." "And where are they now? Dead! All dead!"

Lola's Secret,

A Romance.

"What do you mean, Sir Karl? We shall be neighbors. Why do you say we shall never meet here again?"

"Perhaps it will be better for me to tell you," he replied. "Will you let me explain?"

She bowed her head in silent consent.

"The reason why I say that we shall probably not meet again is that I am going away from Scarsdale, and the time of my return is uncertain; it may be never."

"The sweet face of the girl by his side grew paler, and her lips trembled; but she spoke no word."

"I could not remain here," he continued, with a tremor in his voice, "and hear all that I should have to hear. Let me tell you why I am going. Will you?"

"Yes," she said faintly. "I will listen to you with the best of my heart. I await your consent."

"You will always remember, Dolores, you will let me call you Dolores this once—that, in telling you, I ask for no response, for no opinion, that I sought to win from you not even one thought that belongs to another. You will acquit me of any intention of the kind, I am sure, in an instant away because I find that I love you. I do not tell you this with the faintest hope of any return, with the least wish to win from you a word or a thought, you should not give me. You believe that, do you not?"

"Yes," she said faintly. "Then let me tell you once more that I love you. I did not know that I was learning to love you with the best and dearest love of my heart until I heard that you were going to marry Lord Rhysworth. The sudden shock startled me into discovering the truth. I found then that I loved you so well that I lost you would darken all my life, and make it almost worthless to me. You were going to speak," he added, for she had looked up to him with parted lips and eyes that asked a question.

"Yes, I am wondering, if this be true, why you chose the red rose in preference to the white one that night at Beaumont? It seemed to me as though you made a deliberate choice between Lola and myself."

"The circumstance, all important to her, had been of so little moment to him that he had almost forgotten it; but now, as she referred to it, he looked at her horror-stricken."

"Do you mean to tell me, Dolores," he said, that anything in my life gave you the impression that I liked Lola better than you?"

"I assure you that it was so," she answered. "I know, I have never doubted it until now."

"And now you know that it is quite untrue. So far as I remember the circumstance, you had done something that piqued me, and I merely took what I thought a little playful revenge. I never dreamed that you would magnify it into anything half so serious. But it is too late to undo the evil now."

"Yes," she replied, "far too late."

"I am not the first man," he continued, sadly, who has lost all chance of happiness from a little caprice, or from not knowing his own mind. If I had not been so heedless all would have been different. I must be grateful, however, that I alone suffer, and that you are spared."

"He looked keenly into her face as he spoke; but no sign of emotion was there; it was grave and still."

"I have found out my mistake now," he resumed, "but it is too late to remedy it, and I must pay the penalty. I am glad that I have had the chance of telling you this. Do you think that I am doing right in going away?"

"Quite right," she replied firmly. "I think it is the only thing to do."

"The one gleam of brightness about it will be your approval," he said. "Thank you for listening to me; and thank you for coming here today; it will be a sweet memory to me always, that of seeing you in my home."

She looked up at him with a curious expression on her face.

THE BAPTISTS

Change in Superannuation Arrangements—Church Edifice Report.

Woodstock, Oct. 19.—At the recent meeting of the Baptist convention the church edifice report was read by Rev. P. C. Parker, of Toronto. During the past year the receipts had been $1,128 and the disbursements $1,144. There are at present 28 churches receiving aid from the society.

The home mission report, which was presented by Rev. J. P. McEwan, gave an account of the work for the past 48 years. It paid a tribute to the great aid given by the women's board. The report was moved by Rev. Dr. Murdoch and seconded by Rev. W. T. Graham. Both speakers were of the opinion that the home mission work was slightly overlooked and exhorted the members to prosecute the work more vigorously. Mr. D. Bentley, Rev. W. W. Weeks and Rev. T. S. Johnson were chosen to fill the vacancies in the home mission board.

The superannuation board reported that it had been able to pay claims in full, and had a balance on hand of $10,000. An amendment was passed by which the insurance system, which has been in force for the past three years for the purpose of raising funds, was abolished. Superannuation will hereafter be on benevolent lines, the necessary money being raised through the churches.

The following were elected to fill vacancies on the publication committee: R. O. Warren, Georgetown; Rev. Dr. Goodspeed, Toronto; D. Bentley, Montreal, and Rev. W. A. Norton, Owen Sound. Rev. H. C. Speller, of Sarnia, said that he was well acquainted with the needs of the denomination should assume editorial charge of the Canadian Baptist. Rev. J. B. Kennedy came to the defense of the paper, and his statement that it was never more influential than at present was loudly applauded. Others added their praise, to which was joined that of Mr. Roberts, of the book room. Rev. Dr. Goodspeed urged the delegates to be forbearing, and each to do all in its individual power for the paper's good. It was decided by the convention to publish the paper another year under the same auspices.

SWINGING ROUND THE CIRCLE

Gov. Roosevelt's Great Reception in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 17.—This has been a day of triumph for Governor Roosevelt in Ohio. Tonight the city of Cleveland gave him a reception of a kind that has never before been made here. There was an immense parade. From the Union Station, riding in a gorgeously decorated carriage, drawn by four white horses, in company with Governor Nash and Senator Foraker, Governor Roosevelt was escorted, while bands played and cannons boomed salutes, along the route of the parade, a large tent, near Macelline avenue, Newburg, the iron-working district, where he addressed a large audience on the subject of prosperity.

"Tonight Dr. Curtis, the governor's physician, who will leave the train at Canton tomorrow, said: 'Governor Roosevelt's voice depends upon the avoidance of over-fatigue. He exercises a little more care than he has in the past. I think he may be able to fulfill his engagements, but I could not guarantee any voice where 25 speeches are made on two consecutive days with interrupted rest and under great nervous strain. Otherwise Col. Roosevelt is in superb physical condition.'"

Since leaving Chicago last Wednesday morning Governor Roosevelt's train has traveled 1,777 miles, and has been handled over twenty separate lines of road.

The report that an order had been received from Philadelphia for locomotives from the director of the South African railways is positively denied.

At Elkton, Pa., Erasmus Warfield, a negro, was lynched by a mob, who took him from the county jail, where he had been placed for attempting to break into a farmhouse.

The Brussels (Ont.) carpet weavers, who have been on strike for nearly eight weeks at the Guelph Carpet Company's works, have made a compromise with the firm and resumed work.

It is said orders for $7,500,000 worth of railway material will be placed in America by Major Girouard, the young Canadian who acts as director of railroads in the Transvaal, under Roberts.

Wm. Lane, treasurer and collector for the Emerald Beneficial Association in Toronto, was arrested Wednesday night on a warrant charging him with having stolen $1,492 from the association.

ex-postmaster-general, died suddenly at Lexington, Va., on Thursday morning, after a long illness. He was the author of the "Wilson tariff."

RICH GIRL KILLED BY GAS. New York, Oct. 19.—Miss Marion Wilson Rae was found dead, suffocated by gas, in her room at Mrs. Howard White's fashionable boarding-house, 112 Madison avenue. Miss Rae was wealthy in her own right, was highly educated, very fond of travel, and lived with her mother near London. She was a noted worker in the church mission fields of London. Miss Rae had checks and money to the amount of $5,000 in her pocketbook. The police are not satisfied that the death was accidental, and an inquest will be held.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE. Doan's Kidney Pills Rescue an Ottawa Lady From the Clutches of This Deadly Malady.

Bright's disease has always been considered incurable until Doan's Kidney Pills proved its cure after two years' malady.

No other medicine can show such a record of cures of severe kidney diseases as these pills, and none has been so shamelessly imitated by unscrupulous manufacturers.

But people who want to be cured of their kidney ailments, promptly and completely, always insist on Doan's Kidney Pills, the kind that cured Miss Dell C. Guertin, 108 Stanley avenue, Ottawa, Ont.

Read her statement: "I have been in very poor health for the past two years previous to taking your pills."

"I suffered so much at times that I thought there could possibly be no cure for me, and I was greatly discouraged. I was unable to work, and the pains were so severe that I thought I would be better dead; my appetite was poor and I could not sleep. Several physicians here said I had Bright's disease of the kidneys, and there was no hope for me."

"Doan's Kidney Pills, however, have given me a new lease of life. I am now able to work without fatigue, and have no pain. My appetite is splendid and I enjoy sound refreshing sleep."

"Many people here know of my wonderful restoration to health, and consider it a miracle. My great success goes with Doan's Kidney Pills in the 'good work.'"

(Signed) "DELL C. GUERTIN."

SHAM BATTLES

Marked Thanksgiving Day at Toronto and Ottawa.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Ottawa had a successful sham battle yesterday, which consisted of an attack on the capital by Lieut.-Col. Sherwood's force, the defense being commanded by Col. Vidal. The umpire decided that the attacking party had succeeded in the attack on the right flank of the defense, but failed on the left.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—The Thanksgiving Day maneuvers and sham fight here today were a brilliant success, and by the strenuous exertions of the Royal Grenadiers and the 13th Regiment, of Hamilton, the city was saved from the hands of the invading force, composed of the Queen's Own and 48th Highlanders. The idea of the sham fight was that a force was marching on the city from the direction of Cooksville, and that the defenders of the town had moved out to the ravines around High Park, blown up the bridges over the Humber, entrenched themselves in the cover of the woods, and awaited the enemy.

Col. DeLamere, Q. O. R., led the attacking force, which consisted of 930 men, with two guns, a troop of cavalry and a field hospital.

Col. Mason was brigadier of the defense, with 910 men, two guns, a cavalry patrol and a field hospital. The regimental strength of his infantry was 421 of the 13th and 440 of the Grenadiers. He was well supplied with entrenching tools, and, "theoretically," dug trenches that were impregnable.

Once the enemy got near him, and that was a charge by the Highlanders towards the close of the engagement. The Highlanders chased a company of the defense right up to a masked line of trenches, and were cut to pieces. That decided the action, and Col. Peters, D. O. C., gave the victory to the defense.

The Q. O. R. dug a real line of shelter trenches very cleverly to guard the rear of the forces, as it would have done in warfare. The action was watched by great crowds, and over 20,000 people saw the review afterwards.

WHILE BURYING HIS CHILD

Louis Whitehead Was Arrested in a Gloomy Swamp Near Simcoe.

During a portion of last winter Louis Whitehead and his family lived in a tumble-down shack on Oxford street, just beyond the city limits. The father was a worthless fellow, according to the reports of those who knew him, and the dirty, unkempt appearance of the place, the parents and especially the children, seemed to indicate that this falling was not peculiar to himself alone, but also to his wife. It finally became necessary for Inspector Sanders to bestir himself in the case and endeavor to better the conditions in which the little ones lived. He threatened to take them from the man and his wife, so in the spring, they moved away, and began to live the gypsy life for which Louis always had a liking. The bush near Niswong was their home for some time, and when they left, a one-horse wagon, owned by a neighboring farmer, also disappeared. Although detectives were informed, all trace of the Whiteheads was lost until the early part of this week. Detective Ward learned that they were camping in a large swamp about four miles from Simcoe. It appears that some time before Ward went north, they had a run-away, in which the 3-month-old baby was injured, and when he reached the filthy hut that they lived in, he found the mother and the children playing around the body of the little one, who had died a little before. When the father returned from the village of Delhi, whither he had gone, he was carrying a coffin for the dead babe, and when the burial in the swamp was over, he was taken in charge by the officer.

The young man who fails to see that his name is on the voters' list will be without a vote on election day.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

The dramatization of Anthony Hope's charming romantic story, "The Prisoner of Zenda," as presented by Messrs. Shipman's excellent company at the London Opera House, yesterday afternoon and evening, was witnessed by large and delighted audiences.

The company interpreting the play proved itself fully capable of its requirements. Mr. Elmer Buffham, who played the triple role of Prince Ralph in the prologue and in the play proper, is a young actor whose methods made him a most convincing hero. Mr. Buffham's only fault is his rather staid manner in speaking in the prologue, and his elimination of this would much improve his characterization of the part.

Joseph Selman brought to his portrayal of Fitz Von Tarnhelm a handsome presence and a cleverness of mind that won him the favor of his audiences, while W. D. Collins, as the gruff, bluff and plain-spoken old colonel, Sapt, displayed talents of no mean order. Miss Alice Taylor was a very handsome and capable Princess Flavia, and Miss Eugene Du Bois filled the exacting role of the adventurous, Antoinette De Maubian, in a distinctly creditable manner. The minor parts were all well taken. The handsome scenery and stage settings added greatly to the effectiveness of the production.

EXPRESSED

SYMPATHY

Committee of the London Methodist Conference Passed Resolutions of Condolence.

The following resolutions were unanimously passed at a meeting of the special committee of the London conference, held in the Dundas Center Methodist Church, on Tuesday:

Moved by Rev. George Jackson, seconded by Rev. Dr. Hannan, that a special committee be appointed to express our brotherly sympathy with our brother, J. Leary, in his recent bereavement in the loss of his beloved wife, and pray that the Great Head of the Church may sustain him and the members of his family in their affliction.

Moved by Rev. S. Bond, seconded by Rev. Dr. Philip, that this committee, having heard of the serious illness of Rev. D. Hamilton, we would hereby express our sympathy with him and his people in their affliction. We are more than pleased to hear that he has so far recovered as to encourage our hope that he will be fully restored to his work, and we assure him that we will continue to pray that this desirable hope may be soon realized.

From Near-By Places.

The death of Mrs. Mary Noyes occurred at the family residence in Denfield on Oct. 11, at the age of 80 years and 10 months. Deceased was a woman of pleasing character and held the highest esteem of a large circle of friends. She was a quiet and devout Christian, always ready to assist and sympathize with any in trouble. She raised a family of eleven children, all of whom are living except one son, William, and all in comfortable circumstances. She also had 33 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren. The family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their bereavement. The interment took place at St. George's Cemetery on Saturday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. R. Wilson, of Birk.

Mrs. Jacob McGee died on Monday morning of last week. Her health had been frail for several years, but the most careful nursing and best medical skill failed to ward off the end attack. She will be much missed by a large circle of relatives and friends, but much more so by her aged husband, whose greatest happiness seemed to be found in ministering to her comfort.

ROBERT M. BURNS, 180 Dundas Street, London.

St. James' Cemetery on Monday morning.

It was with deep regret that many of our citizens learned of the death of Miss Ruby Adams, of Sarnia, who was raised from childhood in this village.

Miss Adams was the eldest and only remaining daughter of Mr. J. R. Adams, who for many years managed the tinners of Mr. G. E. Jackson, of this place. Up to a few months ago she was a bright, healthy young lady, but now all that is mortal of her lies in Winham cemetery, beside the remains of her two sisters. The early bereaved parents and brothers have the sincerest sympathy of their many friends here in this time of their great sorrow.

How the Tory camp is elated over the "Cook letter!" Better investigate the credibility of the thing before becoming excited. Perhaps it will be found to be as reliable as the check for $30,000 given some time ago by a certain Mr. "Cook" to his daughter on her wedding day. The daughter was not in need of money just then, but on presenting the check some time after was told, "No funds," and on her interviewing her papa about the matter was politely told it was not likely she would have got the check had there been funds with which to honor it.

GLANWORTH.

Glanworth, Oct. 19.—The dwelling-house of Mr. Malcolm Buchanan, of Westminister, was burned on Tuesday, Oct. 15. William Trigger, jun., a neighbor, discovered the blaze and hastened to give the alarm to the inmates, who were unconscious of their danger. A high northerly wind prevailed, and the efforts of the bucket brigade, inaugurated by willing workers proved futile to save the structure, and their attention was diverted to the contents. The building and contents were insured in the Westminister Mutual Insurance Company for $500.

Cures

Ringworm.

"I had ringworm on my head for nearly a year.

"I consulted three doctors but derived little or no benefit from their treatment.

"I then commenced to use Burdock Blood Bitters.

"Besides taking it internally I washed the affected parts with it and when the bottle was finished I was completely cured." Elsie Slaght, Teeterville, Ont.

Burdock Blood Bitters cures sores, ulcers, boils, pimples, eczema and all skin eruptions of the most chronic type. It makes the blood rich and pure, drives all foul material from the system and builds up the tissues of the body.
