Contractors, Attention WALES AND THE G. O. M. The Prince's Tribute to the Veteran

> Statesman. London, June 29.—The reception of Mr. Gladstone at the installation of the Prince of Wales as Chancellor of the new Welsh University was an extraordinary tribute to the veteran statesman. The Prince said at luncheon: "Most cordially do I thank you in the name of the Princess of Wales and in my own for the kind way in which this toast has been proposed and received. You will join with me, I am sure, in thanking the veteran statesman and eminent scholar, Mr. Gladstone, who, notwith-standing his advanced age, has undertaken a journey necessarily fatiguing in order to pay a compliment to the University of Wales and to myself as its Chancellor. I may truly say that not accomplished so much besides which has rendered him illustrious. Nor do we extend a less warm welcome to Mr. Gladstone's ever faithful companion and helper during many years of his busy life." Mr. Gladstone's address was characterized by all his usual eloquence and force. Of wealth and education he said: The university, after all, speaking largely and generally, represents the principle of mental cultivation. Well, sir, there never was a time when it was more requisite, more urgently necessary, that the principle of mental cultivation should be thrust into the foreground and held up on high before the entire community, for we live In a period when what I may call wealth-making conditions are multi-plied to an enormous extent. The enjoyments of life among those who have the means of commanding those enoyments and the conveniences of life have grown around us ever since my boyhood in a degree that can hardly be conceived by those who have not witnessed the change. The meaning of all this is that wealth is acquiring a still greater hold upon us. hold of wealth upon mankind was always sufficient, but, my lord president, wealth, which is a good servant, is a bad master, and there is no master who has had the power of degrading a human being more than the unchecked dominance of wealth. university represents the antagonism which is offered to it by mental cultivation. The mind of man should be treated as it is-as a rich domain requiring only to be well plowed and to be well sown and to be attended to in order to yield the richest harvest and in order to make an effectual pro test against the unchecked pursuit of material interests, which, believe me, constitutes one of the greatest social, and, I may even say, one of the greatest spiritual dangers of the period in which we live.'

Very Excellent Pianos-Most Elegant Instruments Seen Anywhere-Singing Qualities all that an Artist Could Desire-Broad, Rich, Massive Tone-Nothing to Fear from Foreign Competition.

THE BELL PIANO COMPANY (LIMITED), GUELPH, ONT.

Dear Sirs,—It gives me pleasure before leaving Canada to testify to the very excellent Pianos of your manufacture which I have met with and used in connection with my song recitals in this country. The Upright Concert Grand which was placed at my disposal by your manager in London I unhesitatingly pronounce as one of the most elegant instruments that I have seen anywhere, and whilst its singing qualities were all that an artist could desire, it possessed in addition that broad, rich, massive tone which is absolutely indispensable for solo purposes. I heartily congratuate you on your latest achievements in piano construction, and believe that so long as the present high standard of your instruments is maintained I am faithfully yours, R. WATKIN-MILLS. your company can have nothing possible to fear from foreign competition.

Four Methodist Misters Preach Their Introductory Sermons.

day the recently-appointed pastors preached their introductory sermons, and, judged by their initial efforts, the Methodists of the city have reason to congratulate themselves on the acquisition to their pulpit power. The new pastors are Rev. George Jackson, of the Colborne Street Church; Rev. R. Hobbs, Askin Street; Rev. Eli Middleton, King Street, and Rev. Mr. Ferguson, Hamilton Road. Rev. Mr. Knowles also assumed charge of the Queen's Avenue Missions, preaching in the North End in the morning and in Kensington in the evening. He created a very favorable impression.

"A Speech from the Throne" was what Rev. R. Hobbs called the opening remarks with which he are openhis first sermon in London at the Askin Street Methodist Church. And in those opening remarks Mr. Hobbs spoke plainly, and doubtless set the hearts of some of his hearers who had opposed his pastorate at rest. "It is necessary for us to under-tand that everybody has a perfect ght to their preference," said he, erfect right. And you have a perfect ght to prefer somebody else who sent here. I want that if you have had such a ference, I do not think one fota less you for having that preference. Ined, I think that you were wise in having that preference. But, then, let us be willing that everybody should have their preference, and we must give and take, you know." Continuing, he warned them that preferences became carnal when one class would take none other than the person they wanted.

"And, now, another thing I want to they differed so about the present? be understood," added Mr. Hobbs, "and And yet men did arise, who by the "And, now, another thing I want to that is, I am not here to do everyto preach the Gospel, and to be your pastor. Mr. Hobbs afterwards preached short sermon from the twentieth ficial members or the flock generally, Psalm, continuing it at night. Mr. to aid in spreading and emphasizing Hobbs is an earnest preacher, plain and outspoken, as his preliminary remarks indicated, and a man of energetic pulpit action. His energy also follows him all through the week. He was introduced yesterday by Rev. Mr. Sinclair, who has acceptably filled the pulpit since Mr. Cullen's death.

REV. ELI MIDDLETON. Rev. Eli Middleton, the new pastor of Street Methodist preached a most edifying sermon in the morning. The reverend gentleman commented upon the changes that had taken place since the Sabbath morning, thirteen years ago, when he first occupied the pulpit of that small edifice. It was a great pleasure to look into the faces of some of those who were there thirteen years ago, and he hoped that all through his coming work he would have the hearty co-operation of the entire congregation, so that the interbetween them might be pleasant and profitable.

He took for his text, St. Matthew. 38: "He that taketh not his cross and followeth after me is not worthy There was a principle this sentence that applied to mankind upon every side of this complicated life of ours. The aim of every Christian man and woman should be the consummation of a perfection worthy of the cross of Christ. God had little use for the luke-warm Christian, and less use for the inconsistent man who was a Christian at all. The man worthy of Christ was a disciple of Christ's school, and ready to accept His word. They should lay hold of the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you.' were accomplished, every mistake. They believed in Christ for forgiveness, but did they forgive? Many forgave, but few forgot, This was not the manner in which Christ orgave, but he blotted out the debts and remembered them no more. To forgive simply because they were going to die did not count for much. Christians talked of self-sacrifice, but this was hardly understood by them. In the individual homes, the young people were reluctant to comply with the request of the parents—who seldom, if ever, asked anything great-because some slight effort was necessary. Oh, what paltry excuses! It was the little things like these that went to make the Christian life more Christlike. Continuing, he asked if they exemplified Christ in the quality of humiliation. The church sought the high and mighty, but when Christ came, He sought not the palace, but the lowest class. He was willing to perform the humblest service, and take the lowest place. People would perform services, provided they were allowed to choose the service. All should be like Bunyan, who searched everywhere in the Valley of Humiliation for the footprints of the Master. They must endure for Christ. The cross meant more than simple endurance. To Christ it meant suffering, agony and death. As Christians, they must be willing to take up the cross and endeavor to "walk as in the light of God, and to do that which is right in His sight." In the evening, the reverend gentle-

Rev. George Jackson was welcomed by a large congregation when he made his first Sabbath appearance as pastor of the Colborne Street Methodist Church yesterday morning. The reverend gentleman is thoroughly at home in the pulpit, and his delivery at rather of the colloquial character. He speaks in an easy, conversational tone, occasionally breaking out into rounded periods and heightened accents he wishes to emphasize a point sermon was lased on Acts ii., 17, 18, which tells of the outpouring of the Holy Ghost on the apostles at Pentecost, and Joel's prophesy of the same. Mr. Jackson pointed out the fallibility of human foresight and understanding by instancing the conflicting views of the public men of Canada on the requirements and future of the country. How could they expect men to look down the avenue of the future when power of the spirit of God did foretell what was to come, just as Joel, 700 years before the events recorded in his text, prophesied that they should some to pass. The prophesy of the past constituted the history of the present. to work miracles if she remained true to herself, and that if she had lost that power it was her own fault. In this connection some author had remarked that with the miracles of inventive genius the necessity of actual miracles had disappeared. There was some truth in this. The apostles on the day of Pentecost spoke through a miracle some sixteen languages. Today through the miracle of educational advancement, 400 nations heard or read the Gospel in their own language. The preacher earnestly asked his people to pray for the outpouring of the Holy

HAMILTON ROAD CHURCH. Rev. Mr. Ferguson began his ministrations in the pulpit of the Hamilton morning, preaching from the text, Luke xiv., verse 14: "Come, for all things are now ready." The sermon was an able exposition of the duty of church members, whether pastor, ofthe Gospel invitation. There is a work for everyone to do, which no one else can do, was the emphatic manner in which the duty was set forth. At the close of the service Mr. Ferguson was warmly welcomed by his flock. He begins his ministrations at the Hamilton Road circuit under the most favorable auspices, and as he is not only a good preacher, but a kind-hearted pastor and an energetic worker, a successful

The soldiers fired a "volley" when Commissioner Booth arrived on the stage, and they fired another volley when she arose to speak. In her soft and pleasing English accent she told them that since she had touched Canadian shores there had been poured upon her one continuous stream of expressions of loyalty, and it had been a matter of perplexity and anxiety to her as to how she should return the deep appreciation she felt for such manifestations of affection and confidence. A TERRIBLE FLOOD OF MOLTEN

LAVA.

Some idea of the terrors of a bursting volcano may be gained from the account of the last eruption in Hawaii. The crater of the volcano was filled from 600 to 1,000 feet deep with molten lava, which finally forced its way through a subterranean passage. It was 40 miles from there to the sea, yet this avalance of molten rocks reached the waters in less than two days, destroying everything in its track. It continued flowing for three weeks, heating the sea water twenty miles out from shore.

A REMARKABLE CASE. Julian Ralph, writing from London, gives some interesting details in regard to a remarkable case of "mistaken identity" that has just surprised the English capital. He says: "A man who was wanted for deserting his wife was approached by a bobby, who showed him a photograph and said 'Is that you?' The man said 'Yes,' and was ar-He protested that he had not deserted his wife, but the woman came forward, and positively identified him. A little later she took another good look at his side face, and said as postively that he was not her husband. Now, it turns out that he and the true culprit are both 37 years old, are both potmen, are both married, and both have three children. Here is a combination of circumstances ustifies the old adage that truth is stranger than fiction."

The Sting Within. It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real mough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a ever-failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and use no other.

The fielding on both sides was a little loose, the Asylum allowing 13 extras (107), 6 to 5, 1; A. B. C. (112), 6 to 1, 2; loose, the Asylum allowing 13 extras to be made and the H. H. Co. 9. For the Asylum, Heighway led the bowling with a total of five wickets, and Smeaton, for the H. H. Co., built up his average with the enviable record of having retired six men out of the eleven.

A pleasant episode of the game was: Batteries—Keener and Grady; Nichols and straight-away boundary hit into the trees, his friends decided to honor him, and to that end hastily secured one of Mr. Rennie's, the gardener, choicest bouquets, and as John, in all his bounding youth and beauty and consciousness of having done his duty, was retiring from the field, Mr. P. E. Bucke presented it to him. The recipient very blushingly and modestly, yet gracefully, acknowledged the gift amid vociferous cheering. The score:

THE TURF. RACING AT SHEEPSHEAD.

Sheepshead Bay, June 28.—Racing was continued Saturday under favorable conditions. There was a large attendance, the track was fast, and the programme an excellent one. The first big event was the race for the Zephyr stakes for 2-year-olds, in which there were seven contestants. Arbuckle and Winged Foot, the Mc-Cafferty pair, were coupled in the betting at odds of 8 to 5, while the odds on Scottish Chieftain was 9 to 5. The field got away in good order, with St. Bartholomew in the lead, but when they swung around the Bend Divide was in command. He was challenged by Scottish Chieftain in the stretch, but managed to shake him off, and won in a light drive by two lengths. The next interesting event was the Ceney Lend handi event was the Coney Island handicap for 3-year-olds. Glenmoyne went to the Post as favorite at odds of 9 The winner, however, turned up looking over the week's work of the in Hanwell, a 10 to 1 shot, who jumped away in front, and was never headed, winning handily by a length and a half. A feature of the day's sport was the excellent work of Jockey Sloan, who rode to victory the winners in the first three events: First race, 5 furlongs-Mistral II., 15 to 1, 1; Dr. Jim, 8 to 5, 2; Remp, 4 to 1, 3. Time, 1:03 2-5.
Second race, 7 furlongs—Tremargo, 2 to 1, 1; The Swain, 4 to 1, 2; Deer-slayer, 6 to 5, 3. Time, 1:29 1-5.

Third race, futurity course-Divide, 8 to 1, 1; Winged Foot, 8 to 5, 2; Scotsh Chieftain, 9 to 5, 3, Time, 1:13 1-5 Fourth race, 6 furlongs-Hanwell, 10 o 1, 1; Glenmoyne, 9 to 5, 2; Rubicon, to 1, 3. Sir Charles Tupper went to East Montreal, on his last visit to that city, and publicly denounced Mr. Laurier as a traitor to his race and religion. If the people of Montreal had listened to that incendiary appeal, and had given the Tupper Government a majority, instead of effectively rebuking his dastardly appeal, how different would the attitude of our contemporary be! In that case, the Quebec electors, instead of being dangerous to the commonwealth, as our contemporary foolishly argues, would have been voted by it patriots of the first water

Mr. Laurier is First Commoner of Canada by the vote of a united people-by the vote of the Englishspeaking as well as by the vote of the French-speaking-and the present attempt to cause dispeace and distrust between the two sections of the people will fail as effectively as did the race and religion cry of the discomfited Conservative leaders.

A Fair Voters' List.

A clean and new voters' list is one of the very first things which the Laurier-Mowat Government should present to the people of Canada. Up to date it ought to be. Non-partisan It must be. The Liberal party only wants even-handed justice. It wants no revising barrister appointed by its own leaders to defraud its opponents by disfranchising them. Every man having the proper qualification ought handicapped with lists made up, revised and printed by partisans of the Government-if a few county judges be excepted-and at both elections the lists were three years old, with thousands of names of absentees and dead men upon them, which opened the door to personation and all kinds of fresh, honest list; the Laurier-Mowat

Who is going to pay the railway which Sir Chas. Tupper, Bart., careered through Ontario and the Maritime Provinces during the election campaign? It ought not to be a public charge, and if the account is paid out of the Dominion Treasury, steps should be taken by the incoming Government to have the Treasury recouped. Mr. Balfour himself privately expresses himself disappointed over the situation, but says he will persist in carrying out his programme for the session against internal malcontents and external foes. The Liberal papers talk of the probability of a split in the Government ranks, and even of an early dissolution.

With fourteen pages of amendments to the Irish Land Bill, the contentious Scotch and Irish Rating Bills, and several other troublesome measures, it is not deemed possible, outside of Ministerial circles, to adjourn Parliament at the time proposed by Mr. Balfour. He will give notice of a motion to apply closure to the land rating bills on Monday. The motion will be fiercely opposed.

He is taking with him an extensive library bearing on the subject, including 120 English books and pamphlets, in addition to a large number of German, French and Italian works. Directions have also been left with the chief of the royal library at Berlin to forward his Majesty any new books, magazines or papers bearing upon the subject, and they will be sent so as to meet the Emperor at various points the will touch at. Baron Von liderlin-Wachter, the German Minister to Copenhagen, and a corps of Foreign Office employes, have been detailed to make extracts from the writings on the currency question and submit them to the Emperor, with remarks and a comparative glossary. It seems, however, that many secret proclamations of the Nihilistic order have been circulated among the strikers, and that this discovery of a way by which the police can be defied by the organized proletariat has created a great impressi in Russia. The strikers, simply by keeping away from the mills and even declining to go and get the wages due them, have baffled the authorities. The latter would have known well enough how to deal with any assemblage of the people-by turning loose on it the mounted Cossacks with their whips-but they are powerless to deal with a moujik who merely stays at The plan whose adoption is believed to be likely is to send all the strikers back to their native villages, with their personal rights to travel in the Empire abridged, but this will only spread the story of a successful labor emonstration all over the country,

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 29 .- The excitement at the twin shaft in Pittston, where nearly 100 miners are entombed, either dead or alive, continues. The scene at the mouth of the shaft beggars description. Besides the wives and children of the entombed men, hundreds of persons are present from Kingston, Scranton and Wilkesbarre. The grief of the stricken families is intense. Wives and children, many of whom have not left the mouth of the shaft since the terrible accident, stand near the opening to the death chamber and urge the rescuers to greater efforts. The situation is almost the same as that reported last night. Practically nothing has been accomplished toward the recovery of the men. There scarcely an old miner about the opening of the mine who does not believe that the men are all dead. The rescuing party, which went into the mine at 1 o'clock, came out of the shaft at 7 o'clock. The foreman reports that the timbering in the mine is going on as rapidly as possible. He said the work was necessarily slow, owing to the danger of falling rocks, which have been loosened by the terrible explosion. It is hardly possible late this evening. Any suggestions advanced as to the probable time the men will be reached are mere guessslope is choked up or not. If not, the rescuers may possibly be able to reach the men within the next 24 hours, otherwise it may be two or three days. The rescuing party is 2,000 feet from where the cave-in occurred. The gas continues to accumulate and the roof, which was weakened by the explosion is in danger of falling at any moment.

A survey of the interior of the mine this morning shows that the slope is badly blocked. It is blocked even worse than the officials are willing to admit. It is known positively that fully 60 feet that had been cleared up yesterday afternoon is again blocked by another fall that occurred before 4 o'clock this morning. Before any attempt can be made to clear this part of the slope again, it will be necessary to do extra propping and timbering. This will consume a great deal of time. A few of the more hopeful who believe that there might be a possibility of the entombed men being alive, now surrendered and no one can be found willing to admit that there is any life underground.

An Old-Time Tracedu.

What a Geologist Says of the Destruc tion of Sodom.

Of the 64 pages composing the last ssue of the Journal of German Pales tine Society, no less than 59 are filled by a single article on the subject of the 'Origin and History of the Dead Sea,' by Dr. Max Blankenhorn, a geologist from the University of Erlangen, containing the results of special researches undertaken at the expense of the society itself. The article is accompanied by four full-page maps and eight smaller illustrations. It furnishes a mass of instructive reading for Bible students.

The destruction of the oldest seats Of the High Court Judges - Western dan Valley and the Dead Sea districts, namely, that of the four cities of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboim, is one of the fixed facts of earliest tradition, and for the critical geologist the phenomenon presents no difficulty. The tragedy was caused by a sudden break of the valley basin in the southern part of the Dead Sea, resulting in Nov. 16.

The view of individualism he evidently inclines, but he rejects the doctrine of universalism with great emphasis. I do not salism with great emphasis. I do not that this sea did not exist at all be-fore this catastrophe, or that the Jorthe Mediterranean Sea, contradicts throughout all geological and natural science teachings concerning the formation of this whole region. There is no reason to accept the hypothesis that a volcanic eruption or a volcanic outbreak of the soil of any kind took place under the feet of the Sodomites, nor for believing that a burning lava stream destroyed these cities. Much more of a real question is the view that at that time only the northern and larger portion of the Dead Sea, which is 399 meters deep, actually sunk beneath the surrounding surface. But even this view Meredith, J.—Sarnia (jury), Tuesday, is not acceptable, as such a later origin of the Northern Sea would have made a sharper difference between the later terraces and the sea. The fact of the matter is that the difference COUNTRY. between the lower terraces and the upper is so slight as to preclude the possibility of this hypothesis. Remarkable Paper by the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone.

The Future Life, and the Condition of Man Therein.

In the North American Review for April, Mr. Gladstone, continuing his papers on "The Future Life and the Condition of Man Therein," gives his speculation on the future of the unthteous in the next world. Mr. Gladstone, who has one foot in the grave, sets forth his reasons for believing that the tendency of recent times has been unduly to discredit one of the great arguments by relying upon which the church has placed some effective restraint upon the lawless passions of men. Mr. Gladstone says: Therefore, the great Apostle of the grace of God sets before us this side of his teaching: "Knowing the terrors of the Lord, we persuade men." Menace, as well as promise, menace for those whom promise could not melt or move, formed an essential part of the provision for working out the redemption of the world. So far as my knowledge and experience go, we are in danger of losing this subject out of sight and out of mind. I am not now speaking of everlasting punishments in particular, but of all and any punishment; and can it be right, can it be warrantable that the pulpit and the press should adthe services. In the morning the ser-mon was addressed to the children, tablished by the Holy Scriptures, and not less uniformly by the earliest and ple. In the afternoon a service entitl-ed "The Dew of Thy Youth" was held tian teaching? Is it not altogether undeniable that these authorities did so handle the subject of this penal ele-ment, in the frequency of mention and in the manner of handling, that in their Christian system it had a place as truly operative, as clear, palpable and impressive, as the more attractive doctrines of redeeming love? I some-times fear that we have lived into a period of intimidation in this great matter. That broad and simple promulgation of the new scheme which is known as the Sermon on the Mount was closed with the awful presentation of the house built upon the sand.

FIXITY. Mr. Gladstone reinforces this argument by the history and tradition of to the slaughter like sheep, and were the church and by referring to the testimony of modern science as to the Persian soldier often butchered influence of environment. He says: "If there be one fact more largely controversy as to the relative weight of environment and endowment, that conduct is the instrument by which character is formed, and that habit systematically pursued tends to hard-

He says that the dispensation which associates sin with suffering is a supreme law of the universe, and he who moral order. Mr. Gladstone examines now occupies their territory. The view think that we need quarrel with universalism because some universalists are so illogical as not to include the dan before this period flowed into devil in their scheme. These all involve the ultimate triumph of good. EXISTENCE OF EVIL SPIRITS.

Mr. Gladstone is very emphatic in asserting his belief in evil spirits. He "But I presume that most Christians, who watch with any care their own mental and inward experience, are but too well convinced that they have to do with 'principalities and powers, the rulers of the darkness of this world;' that they are beset by a great personal scheme of evil agency, under which method and vigilance, employing whatever bad means, or even good, will serve their purpose, are raised in their work of seduction and ruin to what seems a terrible perfection." His chief objection to universalism is that it conflicts with the doctrine of the sin against the Holy Ghost. The theory, he contends, is neither more nor less than a flat contradiction of divine utterance: "To presume upon over-riding the express declaration of the Lord himself, delivered upon his own authority, is surely to break up revealed reli-100 meters in depth. "What is this but to emasculate all one time was situated in the southern part of the Dead Sea, which is now called Sebcha, is proved also, among restraint, a new range of license?" Mr. Gladstone is about to revise and republish these articles. Hawarden. "I have read the very interesting articles you have sent me, and in the revision of my papers I propose represents these places as having been thoroughly destroyed without of spiritism and psychical research." to make reference to the phenomena SPIRITUALISM AND RETRIBU-TION.

In view of Mr. Gladsto s observations it may be worth while to quot the following passage from the cur-rent number of Borderland:

"It is rather curious, if so be that all spiritualistic communications are the work of the Evil One, that Spiritualism, separating itself from the op timist views of those who teach that the Christian doctrine of future punscribes as taking place in connection with the catastrophe of Sodom, the last and only one of the kind experireality of retribution beyond the grave. The statements made by the 'spirit' may be grotesque, fantastic, horrible, or ridiculous, but to thing they are always constant, viz., that in the life that is to come there

rs ago a Presbyterian minister, was expelled from his denomination because he was declared not to be 'sound on hell,' told me that so far from seeking to destroy belief in fu-ture punishment, he regarded it as one of the most urgent of religious duties to rehabilitate the idea of hell which had become discredited by the in-human exaggerations of doctrinaire theologians. To make hell thinkable as a practical reality in our day, its definition must be readjusted to the mental meridian of our time, and with the idea of retribution must be associated the idea of redemption and evolution. In the three articles which print under this heading, the salient idea of each is retribution. The first represents retribution, as the shape of a fixed habit, tyrannising for torture long after it has ceased to minister to the lust of life; the second, an imaginative picture by a novelist, shows retribution in compulsory contemplation of the working out of our sins and shortcomings; the third, the dream of a medium, displays retribution in the perpetual renewal of the horror and alarm that follows the crime. But it is always Retribution.

The Sack of Delhi Was History's Most Tragic Event,

sack of Delhi by Nadir Shaw, March 11, 1739, was the most tragic event in history. History offers no parallel to this cold-blooded atrocity; beside it the cruelties of the black hole of Cal-cutta, the massacre of Glencoe and casion of the Czar's coronation shrink into insignficance. Nadir Shaw, the Persian conqueror, had occupied Delhi, and had promised to spare the city on payment of a heavy ransom. The magistrates were contriving ways and | their heads .- London Figaro. means of raising this, when a tumult arose, in which many of the occupy ing force were slain by the citizens. News of this was brought to the Persian King at midnight, and getting his men under arms he marched out of the citadel, and halting at a convenient place, waited for daylight. At daybreak the tumult had totally subsided, when a person from an overlooking terrace fired upon the King and killed an officer standing by his side. Beside himself with rage, Nadir Shaw ordered an indiscriminate massacre. Squadrons of cavalry were sent through the streets, musketeers scoured the terraces, and the order was executed with rigor. No distinction of age, sex or condition was made, and the panic-stricken inhabitants, throwing down their arms, submitted literally butchered in heaps. A single whole family without meeting with any resistance. Many of the Hindoos and solidly established by experience shut up their wives and daughters, than any other, it is, apart from all set fire to their apartments, and then threw themselves into the flames. Thousands plunged headlong into the which wells and were drowned. Death was seen in very horrid shape contrivable, and at last seemed rather to be sought after than avoided. Not until o'clock in the afternoon did the carnage cease; by that time upward of 100,000 had perished.

THE WALK OF WOMEN.

French Women Walk the Best-How to Improve the Carriage.

"How women walk" has recently been the subject of discussion in a Parisian journal. According to this authority, the paim must be awarded to French women.

The English woman, it states, does not walk; she travels. Her limbs appear to be moved by the engine of a steamer, and her feet have the proportions of an Atlantic liner. Concerning the gait of women of other countries, this interesting journal goes on to remark that the German is heavy; one feels the earth tremble man "prances," the American resem-bles the pendulum of a clock, the Italian "skips," the Russian "skates," the Dutch woman "rolls," and the Belgian tramps about. Now, although these remarks are un-gallant and uncomplimentary to our own nation particularly, we cannot but own that there is a certain amount of truth in them. Numbers of women do not seem to care how they walk, so long as they cover the distance they wish to traverse somehow. But if they could only see themselves as they appear to the casual onlooker, how very differently they would comport themselves! How often is a pretty face and figure spoiled by a stoop of the shoulders and a wriggling, bustling walk! Corsican women are models of queenly grace, and the reason is plain. They have a curious custom of carrying bur-As nearly all the water in Corsica is carried from wells by women in waterpots, the women acquire from youth

A MUCH ROBBED MAN.

Thieves Have a Grudge Against John Wallis-Their Latest Act.

John Wallis, of lot 32, con. 4, London township, reported to High Constable Schram on Saturday afternoon that he had been a victim of a series in his absence, ransacked, and some small money taken, but he was not in a position to state just how much. Then again about two weeks ago he missed a hand-painted quart pitcher from a field. Two men, supposed to be farmers, were seen to get out of a democrat wagon and take the pitcher. On Tuesday, June 23, he came home in the morning and changed his clothing, leaving his vest and over- damage to property, preferred by Tho- ing. alls hanging in the hall. The vest mas Impett. contained $3 05. He left the house —Yesterda at 8 o'clock to do some road work, and returned about 12:20. On Thursday morning he went for his vest again and found that his place had been entered and the vest and money stolen. A detective is on the case.

Miss Peekskills

By JULIAN HAWTHORNE.

When the maiden recovered her enses sufficiently to recognize that her interlocutors wore the familiar uniform of the force, she burst into tears and acknowledged her identity. Thereupon the first speaker informed her that he had a warrant to arrest her for robbery, and cautioned her that anything she might say would be taken down and used against her

At this Miss Peekskill fully recovered her self-possession, with a wonderful supply of outraged dignity thrown in. She scrambled to her feet and shook her fist in the face of her accusers, launching forth at them a volume of shrill denials and upbraiding which fairly abashed and overwhelmed them. The tion was as follows: The gist of her orautterly repudiated, scorned and hurled back the charge. So far from being a thief, she herself was the victim of brutal robbery and violence, and the innocent object of scandalous suspicion. She had never stolen so much as a lump of sugar since she was born. She had invented a hygiene instrument of more value than all the pearls in and out of the ocean; and the thieves were now doubtless on their way to Washington to defraud her of her patent. Did Mrs. Morford make this charge? Let them be set face to face, and she would soon show them where was the right of the matter! Meanwhile, she called upon the officers, at their peril, to instantly pursue and capture the depredators, and restore her her property. Fifteen minions were at stake, and if it were lost, she would take care that all concerned would regret

"Well, ma'am," said the first officer, as soon as he could pull himself together, "what you state may be all right; but the thing is just here-them pearls is gone. They ain't been seen since you left. They was there just you left. What's more, the butler he seen you carryin' them off. If you took them by mistake for your hy-gin instrument, why wasn't that left behind in the place of it? But you swiped 'em both, and that's will never again behold, and "THE FIRST VICTIM OF MISS what give you away. That is to say, that's the charge, and it's for you to disprove it if you can. Your yarn about being robbed is a good card, but you'll have to show it wasn't the pearls you was robbed of. One thief may steal another's boodle, d'you see, but that don't git the first one out of the jug. If you can get bail, so I guess you'd better come along of

Had Miss Peekskill been a man the chances are that she would have spent the night in duress. Certainly few men would have asked the person who caused their arrest to go on their bail bond. But this was precisely what Miss Peekskill did, and Mrs. Morford, being also not a man, but a woman, and a power in their neighborhood as well, caused a magistrate amount, and by 11 o'clock that night the two ladies were locked in each arms in the very drawingroom which had been the scene of the robbery; they were crying and comand forgiving each other, and yet affairs, from the legal point of view, were precisely in statu quo; neither of them in the least could explain how Miss Peekskill had con-The spirometer, too; and until the Dodd's Kidney Pills is the only mediproblem was solved Miss Peekskill cine in the world that has ever cured less she jumped her bail, which Mrs. stage. With the morning arrived the police captain of the district, and requested an interview with Mrs. Morford. The beautiful woman, pale from the agitation of the night, met him robed in a delicate satin-lined neglige, in the eastern boudoir, with the morn-ing sunshine falling aslant through the tuquoise-blue window shades. The safe deposit, and there was three of 'em in the job. But one of them, an old-timer, whom we know as Scar-Eyed Jack, gave these two the slip, and they'd figured out that he'd fixed up some disguise—he has a lot of 'em, and is specially good in clergymen"—Mrs. Morford gave a start—"and was going to have a try for the pearls all by himself. They had a description of how the case looked, and came on here after it by the first train. They saw nothing of him, but what they did see was Miss Peekskill, with the identical case in her hand going to the railway depot her hand going to the railway depot hot foot. Of course they watched their chance and pinned her. If they could have got to town they might have been safe, but we were too quick for 'em and nabbed 'em as they came off the train. Whether there's anything in their yarn about the third party of course we can't tell; was there any one called here yesterday afternoon besides the lady? "Only an old college chum of my late husband—a Mr. Glenn, a clergyman, who had lived all his life a missionary in India China and Corea." "All his life? The force of the concussion threw him with terrific force to the wall, and, more dead than alive, he crept to the foot and with great difficulty signaled to the engineer at the surface to hoist the carriage. The new force of men enlisted in the work were placed at a point beyoud that of the night hands, and the terrible news brought to the surface by the four men, who likely will be the only ones to live to tell the tale of the disaster, was that all of these 100 or more men had been caught and either crushed to immediate death or imprisoned to perish a death more

Four attempts were made to reach the scene of the cave-in, but without Officials estimate the number in the fatal shaft at from 80 to 125. The lost include Superintendent Langan, mayor of Pittston. Most of the lost were miners having large families dependent upon them. The accident is similar to the Avon-

WILL TAKE DAYS TO REACH THEM. At midnight, after looking over the situation carefully, the rescuing party decided that the best thing to do was to drive a gangway through the coal from the clear spring colliery adjoining into the twin shaft, when it is expected it will be possible to locate the entombed men. The work was at once begun, and is being pushed with all the speed possible. Four shifts of men, each comprising five experts, experienced miners and laborers, are employed in this task, which is expected to consume at least three or four days. In the meantime the work will be pushed by the rescuers in the fatal shaft also. It is now the opinion of the most able miners that it will take several days to find the entombed

They insisted or their party carrying them. How dif-ferent it is in England! A man who does something wrong, or is charged with wrong-doing, or with making even a mistake, doesn't wait to be asked to get out and relieve his party: he goes out, even if he is most unfairly of carrying him. The evil-doers, the makers of mistakes, the men of bad policy in the Conservative party for five years back have insisted on the party carrying them. They hadn't that poorest of all virtues, the virtue of resigning when found out." Mr. Maclean professes a regard for having things "as it is in England," that seems never to have taken posses sion of his party. Had it been otherwise much of the scandal and disgrace that have come upon Canada of late years would have been saved.

What is

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea-the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children." Dr. G. C. Osgoon.

Lowell, Mass

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves.' DR. J. F. KINCHELOE.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,

111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y. "Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it." UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
