

HON. ADAM BECK CALLS COMMITTEE TOGETHER WILL LAY WELLS PROPOSITION BEFORE THEM

Actual Tenders Secured
For Entire Artesian Plant.

OVER 2,000,000
GALLONS OF WATER

High Pressure to Reduce All the Insurance Rates—Pumping
Cost All Right.

Hon. Adam Beck has called a meeting of the sixteen gentlemen who were behind him in January last in his water scheme, to consider his plans before submission to the water commissioners.

The members of the committee are Mr. T. F. Kingsmill, T. H. Smallman, C. B. Hunt, Col. J. W. Little, Col. W. M. Smith, Geo. C. McCormick, John H. Chapman, R. J. Young, C. E. Somerville, W. W. Thomson, John Labatt, ex-Mayor F. G. Rumball and Mr. Thomas Baker.

The meeting will be held in the board of trade rooms, and it is expected that all the members of the committee will be on hand, except Col. Little, who is in Europe.

What Will Be Done.

Mr. Beck is out of the city today, but it is understood that he will produce some very valuable information for the public.

He will furnish 2,500,000 gallons of good water, with a reservoir of 5,000,000 gallons capacity; a steam plant, and electrical plant of the most up-to-date make, and a high pressure system in the downtown district that will undoubtedly reduce the insurance rates for a sum not much in excess of $100,000.

These figures are based not on estimates but on actual tenders for the work to be done, from some of the best firms in America, as well as from local contractors who are to do a certain portion of the work.

Cost of Pumping.

The cost of pumping will also be given, and the figures will be an agreeable surprise. It is expected, to those who were informed that the cost of pumping would be quite excessive, as a matter of fact the pumping will cost but little.

In this scheme Mr. Beck gives more water than the scheme of last January with a plant just as good, for a cost of about one-third as great.

Mr. Beck has had in consultation with him some of the best water experts in America, and demonstrated that what Mr. Titus could do the city can do just as well without paying Mr. Titus for his experience and material.

The Water Commissioners will meet on Monday, and it is possible Mr. Beck will have his proposition ready to be submitted to them.

In the meantime he is going on with well No. 13, and it is expected that before the week is over, it will be pumping water, adding more to the already large supply to be obtained from them.

The McGregor well is being pumped. As was pointed out when the well was first sunk there is a large quantity of water to be obtained from it. The quantity is about half a million gallons.

No Analysis Yet.

No report has been received from Dr. Amyot, the Provincial chemist, as yet. Dr. Hutchinson sent the samples down some days ago, but the analysis has not yet been sent to him.

"I have heard no word from Dr. Amyot," said Dr. Hutchinson. "It takes some days before the return is made on the samples."

The Beck wells, when of them, are being pumped, and they show a fine flow of water, sufficient to convince any person that the quantity is there and the quality as well.

The McGregor Wells.

There is no probability, so far as can be learned, that the water commissioners will take in the McGregor wells without consulting the people about it.

The transaction would involve a considerable sum of money, as it would be necessary to purchase the McGregor farm, or at least a considerable section of it, in order to get the wells.

Mayor Stevens was seen in reference to the matter this afternoon, but he declared that he had heard no discussion among the commissioners about taking over the McGregor wells without consulting the people.

"We have not discussed it," he stated, "We are waiting on Mr. Beck, as we understand he has a proposition to submit to us. When that proposition is discussed we will do something, I presume."

"You will not take in the McGregor springs in the meantime?" was asked. "I do not think so," said his worshipful. "I have not heard that suggested."

FOUND WRECKED CREW

Sealer Just Returned to Halifax Visited Island in the Pacific.

Halifax, N.S., May 11.—The Nova Scotia schooner, Beaumont, arrived at day from the Indian Ocean, having made a catch of 1,200 seals. It is nine months since the schooner sailed from Halifax.

Fernando Noran, an island off the coast of Brazil, was touched at on Sept. 28 for the purpose of replenishing the water supply. This is an island where Brazilian convicts are kept.

At Prince Edward Island, in the South Indian Ocean, a shipwrecked crew was discovered. They were from the steamer Solent, a ship hunting whales and sea elephants. The ship had been lost on Oct. 5. The crew had spent a month on the island.

WM. MAHON WANTS A LICENSE COMMISSIONERS REFUSE IT

Alleged That There May Be Some Startling Developments If Mr. Mahon Does Not Get His Money Back—Reported Sale of a Hotel on King Street Takes a Peculiar Turn.

The license commissioners never seem out of difficulty on the license problem, and they are now again in difficulties from their old friend, Wm. Mahon, so the story goes.

Some time ago, he began negotiating to bind the bargain by Mr. Mahon. Then the commissioners were asked about a transfer of the license.

They did not take kindly to the idea, and so the bargain is hanging fire.

Both parties to the deal have a grievance. Mr. Thompson has been anxious to get rid of the place for some time, and now that he has a purchaser, he thinks that the commissioners should grant a transfer.

Mr. Mahon is equally positive that he should be given a license.

Really No Haste.

In the meantime, the commissioners are not saying very much, but there is certainly no haste in granting Mr. Mahon the license.

From what can be learned, the commissioners argue that they have done quite sufficiently for Mr. Mahon. It was remembered that he sold out his former license to the Canada News Company at a long price. The transaction was a good one for Mr. Mahon.

It was laid down at the time, it is alleged, that if the commissioners agreed to the transfer to the Canada News Company, Mr. Mahon was not to ask for a license again.

But he has, and there promises to be some interesting things said. The board are saying but little, and are allowing the other fellows to make a move.

In the meantime, the guarantee is up, and it may take some time to get it down. In the meantime, Mr. Mahon is alleged, is playing his high cards for the license, and it may be that some startling development will come of it. Mr. Mahon, it is alleged, has been in politics, and knows a thing or two.

This would give the Shuberts at least three solid weeks in Canada, and assist materially in stretching out their season to a full year with the houses under their control.

Associated with the Shuberts are David Belasco, Max Liebler, William Faversham and several others. Local theatrical men will not discuss the situation.

They state that there is talk of a war between the different factions, but have nothing to say as to its possible effect on London.

LONDON MAY AGAIN BE IN THE FIGHT

It Is Said Shuberts Are Negotiating for Bennett's Theatre Here

CANADA IS MAIN CENTER

Looks as Though the Theatrical Men Will Make the Fur Fly in the Dominion This Year.

According to latest advices there is every probability of another theatrical war between the Shuberts and Klaw & Erlanger.

It will probably affect London also. It was rumored today that the Shuberts were negotiating with the Bennett Enterprises for the Bennett Theatre.

The idea was to book these attractions at this house, and run pictures in the interim. That would give London the benefit of all the Shubert attractions.

The Grand Opera House, of course, would continue to book the Klaw & Erlanger attractions.

Mr. A. J. Small, who is the owner of the Grand Opera House, and who controls a very large number of houses throughout Canada, is a prominent member of the Klaw & Erlanger Syndicate, and was prominently identified with the last theatrical war between the rival organizations.

KIDNAPPER BOYLE SPRINGS SENSATION

Says He Was Dupe of Third Party Who Planned the Abduction.

That the threats of a double suicide made by Mrs. Boyle last night were not mere idle words was shown today, when it became known that a razor, which had been secreted in his clothing, was taken from Boyle today, and that Mrs. Boyle had taken what she said was "enough morphine to kill two people."

The morphine was taken between midnight and daylight. She was rendered partly unconscious during the night, and was very sick this morning. It is believed that it was the effect of the morphine which caused her to collapse in the courtroom.

Boyle's Story.
Boyle gave out a statement today marked "by James Boyle," in which he tells of an alleged murder at Youngstown, Ohio, several years ago, of Dan Reebel, in New York State, and of the finding of Reebel's body on the sidewalk, and says:

"Over the prostrate form was Mr. Harry Forker, of Sharon, Pa., holding in his right hand a package of letters that were gathered from the sidewalk near the dead body of Reebel."

"As he was about to descend from the vicinity he was interrupted by the writer and a man who has since passed to his reward, Mr. Dan Shay, a saloon-keeper, of Oak street, Youngstown, Ohio."

"In Mr. Forker's hurry to leave the scene he failed to find two envelopes that contained four letters. The same were picked up by Mr. Shay, and later taken to his place of business on Oak street."

"The writer and Mr. Shay examined and read the contents of same, which proved beyond a doubt the presence of Mr. Forker there at that time."

"The letters were written by a lady, two from a party in New York State, and the others from Cleveland, Ohio. At a later date Mr. Forker was apprised of the fact that the writer had these in possession and afterward had used the same."

"Mr. Forker acknowledged he would pay a sum of money for 'said letters.' The amount was not considered sufficient, and was refused, and from that day until March 10, the writer received at different times amounts of money from Mr. Forker to keep silent."

"About six months ago when I returned to Sharon with my wife, I met Mr. Forker and informed him that unless I received $5,000 he would leave the time I intended to leave Sharon. I would hold the secret no longer."

"He then informed me that some time in April, 1909, he was to come in possession of a certain amount of money, and would then turn some over to me."

"On my leaving Sharon on March 12, 1909, I proceeded to Cleveland, Ohio, and on the same evening I addressed to Forker at Sharon, a letter which read as follows:

"I have decided not to wait any longer in regard to the money proposition, and if I don't hear from you soon there will be some exposing."

The Kidnapping.
"On March 25, 1909, I received an answer which read:

"Friend Bailey—You know the promise I made you when you left here, but if you are really desperate, need of money, as you profess to be, I will outline a little plan which, with your co-operation, can be very successfully carried out, viz., the abduction of J. P. Whitla's son. I can arrange to have the boy brought to Warren, Ohio, and then to Cleveland. On March 22, I received a letter from Mr. Forker, stating that someone had informed Mr. Whitla that his son had been kidnapped. The boy was in Niles, Ohio, and James Boyle, of Sharon, was with him, also that Mr. Whitla was afraid to divulge the information for fear the boy might come to some harm, and to keep me to be careful and be on the alert."

"I immediately surrendered the Youngstown letters, and sent same to him (Mr. Forker) at Sharon, and on Tuesday, April 23, to return half of the ransom money to him (Mr. Forker), and he would turn over to me (Mr. Forker) the money to take the boy to Cleveland. ANOTHER VERSION OF TORONTO MEETING

The Daughters of Empire Who Support National Executive Give Their Side

Some of the local Daughters of the Empire take exception to the version of the meeting of the Imperial Order at Toronto, which was given The Advertiser by a London lady and published in yesterday's issue. The meeting, it will be remembered, passed a resolution approving of the action of the national executive in cancelling the charters of several of the London chapters owing to their attitude on the matter of the Queen and soldier's monument.

Several of the ladies representing the London chapters of the order who are in accord with the national executive state that the article was partial in its statement, and did not present the matter fairly.

"The article was entirely wrong in its statement of the facts," said one, "from the standpoint of the Imperial Order. Last night's paper that outside people were against the whole of London, while as a matter of fact the only four accredited members who attended the meeting in Toronto were quite in accord with the national chapter."

SMALLMAN & INGRAM LIMITED
DUNDAS AND RICHMOND STREETS.

Another 12-Yards-for-$1 Day TOMORROW 35-Inch Fine Bleached Longcloth

Very true, we have given some rare bargains in Cottons this season, and if you have shared in these it will be hard to make yourself believe (without an actual comparison) that this is the best 10c Cotton we have yet offered at 8½c yard. The fact is, this Cotton should have been delivered months ago, and would have been sold as intended at 10c a yard. But the demand for certain English makers' Cottons seems to be greater than they can supply, and sometimes we are (as in this case) inconvenienced through slow delivery. When cuts of this nature are made on fresh, new goods, there must always be a sound reason for it. Other 10c Cottons were procured to take their place. These coming now are surplus stock, but one day should clear the lot at this price, and tomorrow 20 pieces of this English 35-inch Bleached Cotton, stamped "Satisfactory Long Cloth," will be cleared at 8½c yard, or 12 yards for $1.00.

New Linen Shirtwaist Fronts Pretty Hand-Embroidered Designs

We have just received a few dozen of these direct from Belfast, Ireland. They are beautifully worked by hand, and six artistic designs to choose from, in sets including front, collar and cuffs. The linen for back and sleeves is all you need to complete your waist, which we have to match at 50c yard. Many have been inquiring for these sets this season, and we expect this little lot will quickly disappear. Four designs at $1.50, and two designs at $1.75 per set.

THESE ARE DISPLAYED AT LINEN COUNTER—SECOND FLOOR.

DISPLAY OF

Summer Millinery

While we follow Paris, we do not walk precisely in her footsteps. She is too whimsical for us, and most of her designs require the toning touch of our own artists to modify them to our tastes. Paris is always overjoyed when she has seized on an oddity, and we are informed that she is now wearing rooster heads, combs and all. For the present we will not introduce these extreme fancies, as the prize fowl pens might suffer if we did, but we would invite your criticism on the new models we are showing in our Millinery Salon Designs which have just arrived from Paris.

We've passed the border line between spring and summer. June has already blossomed in our Millinery Salon, and a magnificent display of summer-like Hats will delight you this week. Large and small, for both, have been ordered by Paris. The Summer Millinery is here. Leave your order early.

LONDON, TUESDAY, MAY 11.

THE POWER DIFFICULTY.

The City Council is going ahead with plans for the distribution of Niagara power. There is an assumption that when these have advanced a stage the city will be in a stronger position to deal with the London Electric Company, with whom negotiations are off for the present. There is no likelihood that the ratepayers would have voted $400,000 to acquire the company's plant and business, but it is highly desirable to get so dangerous a competitor out of the field. Perhaps if it can be done less expensively, when the company are faced with a municipal rival. The basis of the valuation should be actual worth of the plant to the city, plus a reasonable allowance for business and goodwill, but the city could not afford to take the earning power of the concern into account. It is said that even Mr. Beck favors the purchase at a certain figure. He should take the public into his confidence, as he is the man who above all others must be held responsible for the scheme. In the event of its failure, he should shoulder the blame, as the ratepayers have accepted it entirely upon his representations.

Faith in the Niagara power project has not been strengthened by the independent information and reports which have been forthcoming during the past few months. The Niagara power prices, which have been quoted in Toronto and this city, do not suggest such an improvement upon present conditions as to justify the enormous obligations that ratepayers have assumed. If the scheme of the hydro-electric commission had never been heard of, Niagara power would have been distributed through this portion of Ontario by private companies at prices fixed by public authority. Such was the intent and purpose of the Power Act. The Cataract Company and the companies operating at Niagara had to find a market for their output, and had been preparing to cover the field. Now, a load of financial responsibility has been thrust upon the municipalities, and there is no evidence that such economies will be effected as to greatly extend the use of electricity and add to the comfort of the poorer classes.

THE CANADIAN SWINE INDUSTRY.

The swine industry was the subject of an interesting discussion in committee of supply at Ottawa last week. A member of the Opposition suggested, as a means of aiding the industry, which has been depressed of late years, an increased duty on pork, so as to make it about equal to the United States tariff. Hon. Mr. Fisher claimed that it was not true national policy, or true statesmanship, and that the farmers of Canada, by their votes, have repeatedly condemned exclusive protection for a few people.

It has been only since the Fielding tariff was brought down, in 1896, that the bacon industry of Canada has grown to any appreciable extent. It is, to a large extent, through the information that has been disseminated in the country, that the swine breeders of Canada have been able to produce in the last ten years over one million dollars' worth of swine products for export. The present minister of agriculture is ready to go further and continue that policy of education and information which helps not only the people immediately concerned, but everybody in the country. Instead of desiring to raise the price of the pork which the laboring classes of Canada have to buy, Mr. Fisher's policy is to help the farmers to produce the pork so that they can sell it at present prices and make a splendid profit. The best profits in every industry are made by cheapening the cost of production rather than by raising the cost of the article. When the cost of the article is raised the consumer of it is hurt, though possibly for the moment the profits of the producer may be increased, but when the cost of production is lowered the producer is given his profits without the cost to the consumers being raised.

In this particular industry of swine breeding and pork production Canada's greatest rivals are the Danes and the Irish. They have beaten us in the English market in the sale of pork products. Instead, however, of raising the prices of these commodities to the people of Canada, who have to buy them, Mr. Fisher proposes to find out how the Danes and the Irish succeed in beating our people in the British market, and for that purpose he has asked and obtained the permission of his colleagues to bring down a vote in the supplementary estimates for the purpose of sending a special commission of farmers interested in the swine breeding industry of Canada to Ireland and Denmark to investigate the methods of production in those countries. Such a course is much more in the interests of the breeders, the consumers and the country generally, than the imposition of a duty "about equal to the United States tariff."

THE TROUBLE IN FRANCE.

The unrest in France among the employees of the state may culminate in a strike which would probably overthrow the Clemenceau ministry, though the republic is too firmly founded to be endangered, as some imaginative correspondents profess to fear. The movement began a few weeks ago when the postal and telegraph services, which are under government control, were temporarily paralyzed by the defection of public servants in Paris. The cable dispatches indicate that the strike is to be resumed, and that the railroad employees, who are also servants of the state, will join in it.

The immediate cause of the trouble is the introduction of a new classification for promotion of postal and telegraph employees. The men claim that M. Clemenceau has not only become intolerant and obnoxious, but has forgotten the workmen, to whom he appealed when out of power, and by whose votes he reached the premiership. The prime minister, while boldly declaring in the Chamber of Deputies that under no circumstances would the Government abdicate of the chamber conferred with the strike leaders, and assured them that there was a proposal to abolish the position of under secretary of posts and telegraphs, the occupant of which office was held responsible for the grievances of the strikers. Apparently the premier simply desired to gain time at a critical moment, for only a few days ago the under secretary declared that the Government would under no circumstances treat with the strikers or heed their demands.

Premier Clemenceau, by negotiating with the strike leaders, has practically acknowledged the right of Government employees to strike, an attitude inconsistent with democracy. Not only are all trades in France thoroughly organized, but every functionary of the Government belongs to some union, affiliated with the Confederation Generale du Travail—a well-organized and disciplined army. Even a revolt of the civil servants would be aimed at the ministry only, and not at the life of the state.

The life sentence given Willie Whitla's kidnapper will tend to discourage a flendish business. Mr. Fielding's supplementary estimates are unusually small. The entire estimates of expenditure show a reduction of $21,774,000 from the previous years. This is not the financing of a spendthrift, such as Mr. Fielding has been pictured by his opponents.

The Kingston Whig says the machinery of the courts was improperly used in the London conspiracy case. It was improperly used by the Attorney-General's Department, which is supposed to be the mainspring of justice in Ontario.

The Ottawa Government will send a commission to Ireland and Denmark to find out how such fine bacon is produced there. There is no apparent reason why the Canadian hog should not imitate the triumph of the Canadian cow.

Ottawa musicians have been forbidden to play in Sunday school orchestras except at the union rate of pay. The order is open to grave objection, but if these services are purely devotional, the performers will put their fees into the collection plate.

The Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs says that Italy had vainly tried to open commercial negotiations with Canada, and had at last succeeded. It tickles our national pride to have the great powers of Europe knocking at our doors. Canada is looking up in the world.

The St. Thomas Journal asks a question which has perhaps occurred to others. It says: "The London Free Press has, of late, been writing mysteriously of Niagara power and disrespectfully of Hon. Adam Beck. Now it asks what natural gas gives power a jolt? It is not more than the smoke that the Free Press considered it treason to question the wisdom of Beck's power policy and sacrifice to argue, with some 'Minister of Power.' Why this change?"

BAUM'S MISTAKEN CHIVALRY.

Jimmy Baum is getting much praise from the Canadian press for the "manly" and "straightforward" statement which he volunteered at the close of his evidence. He said, it will be remembered, that the murderer of Ethel Kinrade was the person of whom Florence was in terror during her sojourn in the South. Did Jimmy consider the significance of his statement? It was ostensibly made out of a chivalrous feeling for Miss Kinrade. But if it were true, it would mean that the young lady knows who the murderer is, and is shielding him or her. The statement might better have not been made.

EARTHQUAKE FEAR.

Mankind is strangely inconsistent in the matter of running risks. There is no danger that appalls the imagination more than the danger of earthquake; and yet those parts of the world that are most subject to earthquakes seem never to have been therefore shunned by human beings. An earthquake is an "act of God," and men are clearly helpless against it. Like death, no one knows when it may come; but, unlike death, it may never come at all, and therefore men fear it less than death.

THE REAL CONSIDERATION.

According to the decision of the court of appeal in the London bribery conspiracy, the real conspirators were the Attorney-General's department. The court holds that the trials before Police Magistrate Denison and Judge Winchester in Toronto were void, the judges having no jurisdiction, and unanimously condemned the taking of the cases from London to Toronto, contrary to the protests of the accused.

THE OLD-FASHIONED BONNET.

[Detroit Free Press.]
 How dear to my heart is the old-fashioned bonnet.
 The old-fashioned bonnet that Nell used to wear—
 Without any plums and red cherries stuck on it.
 The bonnet that didn't require phony hair.
 The disheveled effect may be stylish and stunning.
 The waste-paper basket that's lately come in.
 May be quite the rage, and recherche and cunning.
 But give me the hat she tied under her chin.

NEW THEOLOGICAL FUNCTION.

[Toronto News.]
 Hon. S. H. Blake, Rev. Dr. Harris and Rev. Dr. Carr, Ont., seem to constitute an interdenominational court of orthodoxy.

THE DECEIVING CLOCK.

[Toronto Star.]
 Another advantage of the daylight saving bill will be that the hired man who now gets up with the sun at 4 a.m. will not feel so badly about it when he sees by the clock that it is 5 a.m.

THERE ARE OTHERS.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]
 One consolation the people of Great Britain have as they contemplate their budget, and that is that the people of Germany are in a much worse condition. It may not be many such attempts, but human nature is sometimes easily consoled.

HEAVEN OR ALGIER.

[Success.]
 A celebrated Anglican divine, the late Bishop of Rochester, who had been ailing for some months, decided to consult Sir Frederick Trevelyan, the noted surgeon. After a careful examination Sir Frederick pronounced his verdict and added: "Your lordship must go to Algiers or some winter resort on the Riviera."
 "Impossible," replied the bishop; "quite impossible. I have too much work to get through."
 "Well," said the doctor, "you must make your choice. It is either Algiers or heaven."
 "Dear me!" exclaimed the bishop, with a sigh; "then I suppose it must be Algiers."

ANXIOUS FOR THE HORSES.

[Illustrated Bits.]
 A cavalry sergeant had endured the stupidity of a recruit for many days. One day the "rookie" was thus greeted when he had violated the sergeant's orders: "Don't ever come at the horses from behind without my permission," he exclaimed the sergeant. "They'll be kicking that thick head of yours! Then the first thing you know there'll be a lot of lame horses in the squadron."

LOVE AND SELF.

[Henry Van Dyke.]
 Self is the only prison.
 That can ever bind the soul;
 Love is the only angel
 Who can bid the gates unroll;
 And when he comes to call thee,
 Arise and follow fast;
 His way may lie through darkness,
 But it leads to light at last.

NOT TWINS.

[Scottish American.]
 Two new scholars came to a school the other day.
 "Are you brothers?" asked the teacher.
 "Yes," answered one of the boys, and as their ages were both the same the teacher remarked:
 "Then you must be twins."
 "No," said the boy.
 The teacher, in a minute's thought, said: "Well, if you are brothers, and both the same age, I'll admit you are more clever than I am if you can prove that you are not twins."
 "No," said the boy, "we're no twins. We're triplets, but the latter is dead."

WHY IT WENT.

[Cleveland Leader.]
 "Where's your watch?"
 "But that watch is silver. The one you used to carry had a fine gold case."
 "Circumstances alter cases, you know."

AN AGE OF KINDNESS.

[Figaro.]
 The progress of human sensibility is amazing; we give soldiers better food and lighter accommodations, and less work to everyone. The regime in prisons is milder; charity is ever increasing, and our children have less to do and longer holidays.

TOO TRUE.

[Brooklyn Life.]
 "Nevertheless," continued the giddy young bachelor, "I insist that woman is superior to man."
 "Nevertheless," continued the giddy young bachelor, "I insist that woman is superior to man."
 "Nevertheless," continued the giddy young bachelor, "I insist that woman is superior to man."

A TRYING TIME.

[Harper's Weekly.]
 Judge—Why did you strike this man?
 Prisoner—What would you do, judge, if you kept a grocery store, and a man came in and asked if he could take a moving picture of your cheese?

A CRUSHING REPLY.

[Boston Transcript.]
 "Darling," he said, as he hugged and kissed her, "Darling, can you see—can't you guess that I love you?"
 "Well," she replied, looking at him, "I should certainly like to think that this is just your natural manner of behaving in company."

CLACHAN MAN IS HEIR TO AUSTRALIAN FORTUNE.

Kenneth Martin Is Declared To Be in for a Good Thing—Large Estate Involved.
 [Special to The Advertiser.]
 Clachan, Scotland, May 11.—Recent reports received from Australia are true. Kenneth Martin, one of the best-known men in this community, is heir to a large fortune. Mr. Martin is, at present, residing in the city of Clachan, and he himself is confident that he will be able to establish his claim to part of the large estate which has been left in that country. It is said that if he is successful in landing the prize he is worth several hundred thousand dollars. The estate is valued up in the millions.

INJURED HIS KNEE.

Toronto, May 10.—A report that Sir William Meredith had sustained injuries to his knee by a fall from his bicycle, was denied this afternoon, by a member of the family, who stated that Sir William had injured his knee last week in an entirely different manner, and was in consequence confined to his house for a few days.

NO PUBLIC DEFIES FOR JAMES J. JEFF.

Managers of Reclaimed Champion Refuse Johnson Offer.
 PERHAPS IN PRIVATE

Boilermaker May Reveal His Plans to the Public in Chicago Today.

Chicago, May 10.—James J. Jeffries, "reclaimed champion," who will open a week's theatrical engagement at the American Music Hall this afternoon, does not wish to be bothered while delighting the dear public from the stage with any pestiferous challenges from Champion Jack Johnson, now sojourning in his midst.

A representative of the dusky conqueror of Tommy Burns yesterday broached the question of a public challenge directed at Jeffries with all dramatic and advertised stage settings to the advance representative of the Jeffries show. Nothing doing. If Johnson wishes to challenge Jeffries in the seclusion of the latter's hotel, well and good, but from the floor of the Music Hall. Therefore, Mr. Johnson, may not be many such attempts, but human nature is sometimes easily consoled.

The challenging business is all right in the newspapers, say Jeff's representatives, but why give the benefit of a public challenge to Johnson when the boilermaker is being billed as the three-ring circus and all the side shows, at a little matter of $2,500 per week?

PARI-MUTUELS BIG SUCCESS AT LOUISVILLE.

Managers of Kentucky Track Are Pleased with "Slot Machines."

Louisville, Ky., May 10.—Managers of the local course are enthusiastic over the success of Pari-Mutuel machines last week. Instead of the loss which was manifest last year, the end of the first six days of racing has displayed a substantial profit here. By many it is regarded as sealing the doom of bookmakers so far as this course is concerned.

GIANTS MAY LOSE OLD POLO GROUNDS.

Alderman Prepares Bill to Cut Street Through Present Park.

New York, May 10.—Alderman F. F. Mulcahy is preparing a bill, which, if it passes the board of aldermen, will force the New York Giants to seek other quarters than the Polo Grounds. The bill proposes to open a street through the centre of the Polo Grounds, and since it will enhance the value of much of the surrounding property it is receiving the strong support of property-owners near the Polo Grounds.

MIKE SULLIVAN SIGNED TO MEET WHITNEY.

Colored Weightwelter Will Go Twenty Rounds With a Twin on May 25.

San Francisco, Cal., May 9.—Mike "Twin" Sullivan and Kyle Whitney, a local colored weightwelter, are matched for May 25 here for a 20-round bout. The men are to receive 50 per cent, of which 75 per cent will go to the winner. Jack "Twin" will start at once from Boston with Mike and will train him. The weight and record of Whitney were 145 lbs. and 14-2-5. Whitney was beaten by Jimmy Gardner, but has a stiff punch and is a clever boxer.

The first of a series of heavyweight fights in England and France will come next Saturday at Paris, where Joe Jeantette and Sandy Ferguson, of New England, will meet for 20 rounds at the Cirque de Paris.

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys.

FUNCTIONS SUCH THAT EACH SUFFERS WHEN THE OTHER IS DERANGED.

Complicated Cases Can Only Be Cured by Combined Treatment Such as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver filters poisons from the blood. The kidneys also filter poisons from the blood. When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is given too much work by over-eating, the kidneys have to help out with this work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all this work to do. And this is exactly what will cause nine-tenths of the cases of kidney diseases.

The beginning is biliousness, indigestion and constipation, and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangements, and finally kidney trouble of some of its dreadfully painful and fatal forms.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the rational cure for kidney disease, just as they are the most successful remedy for the trouble at the root of the trouble and exert a combined and direct influence on liver, kidneys and bowels.

The promptly and thoroughly cleanse the bowels or intestines, by awakening the action of the liver take the burden off the kidneys. Then by their direct action on the kidneys bring about the natural and healthful working of these organs.

Mrs. Dave W. McCall, Lombardy, Leeds County, Ont., writes: "I was doubled with kidney diseases for eight years and doctored with several doctors to no avail until I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They entirely cured me. I believe I would be dead were it not for this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ROGER BRESNAHAN INSURED FOR $50,000.

Owner of Cardinals Takes Out Big Policy on His Manager and Star.

St. Louis, May 9.—Stanley Robinson, owner of the St. Louis National Baseball Club, has taken out a $50,000 insurance policy on his manager and leading player, Roger Bresnahan. The policy runs for five years and the annual premium is $1,300. Bresnahan cost Robinson four good players valued at $50,000 when he was bought from the New York National team. He is under a three-year contract to play for $25,000. This makes Robinson's investment $75,000 in Bresnahan.

DOINGS AT WOODBINE.

NINE OUT OF PLATE.
 The following are the declarations to the King of the Plate:
 Hon. A. Beck's Moorshot.
 A. B. Bremer's Gold Bottom.
 C. H. Butler's Perfection.
 J. Dymont's Courtown II.
 H. T. Pierson's Merry and Wise.
 J. E. Seagrave's Great Head.
 W. W. Thompson's Lady O'Connor.
 Valley Farm's Scud.
 Woodstock Stable's Table Bay.

The Seagrave Platers were all worked a mile. Courtier and Tollenadie did the distance in better than 1:50. Courtier's work was the best.
 Fort Garry, the Dymont plater, went the mile and an eighth in 2:04. The time for the mile was 1:49 2-5. This horse is much better than even his trainer thought.
 The plater Desert Star was not asked to do any work. He was galloped and dressed for a work this morning. The 2-year-old and Merryshores were just given the work.
 The plater Perlinax will be fired next week and turned out for a while. He has been turned out of the plate race. The Beck platers were galloped with the horse Elmhurst. They were not asked to stop.
 Many of the wisest horsemen, after seeing the work of Mr. Seagrave's Courtier, were of the opinion that he was the best in the Seagrave entry in the plate. He did his work so easily and plainly shows that he can go in any footing.
 The Hendrie horses look fit and ready, although the weather at Windsor for the last few days has been on the bad side. The mare Shimonee was galloped a half-mile yesterday with Ceremonious, going the distance in 1:50 seconds. Shimonee is the one whom the railbirds have been anxious to see. Charlie Gilbert was sent a half-mile in 1:49 2-5, while the others were breezed and given strong galloping. Trainer Nixon says the horses are all in fine shape and ready to stand the next week's hard drilling.

The work of the Dymont plater was not done until after the track was dead and heavy from the rain that fell. He was worked with Camille Maid, going a mile in 1:47 2-5. He beat the mare all the way. The work of Fort Garry was satisfactory to his trainer, Seagrave, and Uncle Toby were given strong gallops.

The morning trials at Woodbine were as follows:
 Brockmorton, mile in 1:44 2-5.
 Peachtree, mile in 1:47 3-5.
 Mendip, mile in 1:49 2-5.
 My Valet, mile in 1:49 2-5.
 Bouquet, mile in 1:46 2-5.
 Furslane, mile in 1:46 2-5.
 Courtier, mile in 1:47 2-5.
 Tollenadie, mile in 1:47 2-5.
 Seismic, mile in 1:47 2-5.
 Dog of War, mile in 1:48 2-5.
 Fort Garry, mile in 1:47 2-5.
 Fort Garry went on pulling up to the mile and a quarter in 2:17 2-5, which is the best time for the distance made yet by any of the Platers.

Chips From the Diamond

Gasper keeps on pitching for the Reds. None of the other fellows made him gasp yet.

How John Kling must have laughed when he heard Pitts had stolen six bases in one inning off Paddy Moran!

If Durham could only pitch against Lennox and Maddox on the same day the scores would sound like a bull market.

Frank Chance lays off in one game whenever his team plays a double-header. The team also loses every game in which Frank does not participate.

Mike Mitchell, who had a bad season last year, is just killing the ball this spring, and seems to have regained all his batting power.

Jimmy Sheppard is having an elegant season. He is doing the best work he has shown since he joined the Cubs.

Jimmy Sledge threatens to join one of the Chicago semi-pro teams rather than be relegated to a minor league. The Rabbit likes Chicago and hates to be driven away.

"What is this, a brewers' convention?" yelled a fan at Hilltop Park as Helmtiller, Schlitzler, Krause, Klei-now and Elfeldt were tumbling round the diamond.

Only Two Favorites Finished First—Cold Weather and Heavy Track.

Louisville, May 10.—Cold weather and a slow track kept many spectators away from Churchill Downs, where the favorite players had a bad day, as only two favorites finished first. Summaries:

PAPKE AND KELLY TO GO 45 ROUNDS.

Fighters Will Contest For Middleweight Title Relinquished by Ketchel.

THIS WEEK'S FIGHT CARD.
 May 11—Jimmy Gardner vs. Bill McKinnon, at Boston, Mass.
 May 11—Tommy Kilbane vs. Johnny Kilbane, at Baltimore, Md.
 May 11—Young Corbett vs. Harry Briggs, at Baltimore, Md.
 May 11—Young Barry vs. Al Kuback, at Philadelphia, Pa.
 May 11—Ad Wolgast vs. Tommy O'Toole, at Philadelphia, Pa.
 May 11—Sandy Ferguson vs. Joe Jeantette, at Paris, France.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 10.—The first of a series of five world's championship battles scheduled for the summer season drew right to the 15-pound title, Ketchel, San Francisco, promoter, is carded for settlement during the week, Hugo Kelly, claimant of the middleweight crown since the abdication of Stanley Ketchel, being carded to engage Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., in a 45-round combat next Saturday night.

Ketchel Out of It.
 Especial interest is attached to this battle because the victor will have a clear right to the 15-pound title. Ketchel, practically having relinquished all claim when he announced that he would not agree to attempt to make the middleweight poundage, Sam Langford, formerly disputant with Ketchel for the crown, likewise has advanced to the heavier grade so that Kelly and Papke now alone remain as the leading contenders.

With the title at stake it is certain that the coming encounter between the Chicago Italian and the exploded Thundebolt from Illinois will be fiercely waged every step of the way. Fortunately the route is to be long enough to insure a definite decision.

KELLY AND PAPKE.
 A Chicago paper says: Hugo Kelly and Billy Papke are commencing to fill the public eye once more. The match between the boys, set for next Saturday May 15, is attracting a lot of notice out on the coast and bids fair to draw a large crowd. Both are said to be gradually working down to weight.

HERE'S A MYSTERY.

Strange Disappearance of a Buffalo and a Detroit Businessman.
 Buffalo, May 10.—Considerable mystery surrounds the disappearance of two well-known men, one from this city, and one in Detroit. They are Frank S. Curtis, who does the purchasing of steel rails for several railroads, and an expert mining engineer named Grannis, whose home is in Virginia. Grannis' first name is not known to the police at this time. Mr. Curtis' home is at Cranford, N. J.

On April 26, Curtis and Grannis boarded a train for Buffalo. They were going to Mackinaw, Mich., to inspect some ore. Just before the train reached Buffalo, Mr. Grannis became ill, and Mr. Curtis took him to the home of one of his (Grannis') relatives here, and left him there. Who that relative is is not known. A short time later, Mr. Curtis left Buffalo on a train.

As the train was pulling into Detroit, Mr. Curtis became ill, and he went to the Wayne Hotel, where he engaged a room. He sat down and wrote a letter to his wife, containing the above information, and started another copy of his letter to his brother-in-law, with the purpose of imparting the same information.

The brother, Wm. S. Curtis, lives at 1010 Manhattan avenue, New York City.

CHAPTER XXIII. A Growing Horror.

"There are some men who fill you from the beginning with a feeling of revulsion. Such a one was Antony Harding. When he came into the parlor where I sat, I felt it difficult to advance and greet him with the necessary formalities, so for a while I shrink from his glance, his smile, his bow of easy assurance. Not that he was ugly of feature, or possessed of any very distinguishing marks in face or form to render him personally repulsive. He was what some might have called good-looking, and many others a gentlemanly-looking man. But to me he was simply revolting, and I could not then or now tell why, for, as far as I know, he has never done anything incompatible with his standing as a gentleman and a man of family and wealth.

Advertiser Patterns

DESIGNED BY MARTHA DEAN.

A CHARMING OVER BLOUSE MODEL—GIRL'S DRESS.

No. 8443.—The style here illustrated will be found most desirable relieved and softened by a dainty white collar or if made of woolen, with the under-waist of contrasting material; it will be very effective and pretty. The waist fulness is gathered under pointed yoke pieces, the skirt is straight and full. The cap sleeves may be omitted. The pattern is cut in four sizes—6, 8, 10, 12 years.

A pattern of this illustration will be sent to any address upon receipt of 10 cents in stamps or silver.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT OF THE ADVERTISER.

Please send above-mentioned pattern, as per directions given below, to:

features and took in the scar I turned towards him as a sort of defence. Then he let me go, but not before I saw in his face the beginning of that fever which made me for a while hate the very name of love.

"With a sense of disgust quite new to me, I rushed from the room to the laboratory. The name by which he had introduced himself was a strange one to me, and I had no idea my father would see him. But as soon as I uttered the word 'Hermione' the impatient interruption gave way to a sudden and irresistible joy, and jumping up from his seat, he cried:

"Show him up! Show him up! He is a rich man and interested in chemistry. He cannot but foresee the fame which awaits the man who brings to light the discovery I am seeking."

"He says he has some claim on you," I murmured, anything but pleased at this prospect of seeing a man whose presence I so disliked, inveigled into matters which might demand his reappearance in the house.

"Claim? Claims? Perhaps he has. I cannot remember. But send him up. I shall soon make him forget any claims he may have."

"I did my father bade me. I sent the smiling, dapper, disagreeably attentive man to the laboratory, and when this was done, went to the window and threw the man with some vague idea of cleansing the room from an influence which stifled me.

"You may imagine then with what a sense of apprehension I observed that when he came to the supper-table. From being the half-sullen, half-forgotten companion who had lately chilled our board and made it the scene of anything but cheer or comfort, he had brightened at once into a garrulous old man, ready with jests and full of condescending speeches in regard to his great experiments. Emma, to whom I had said nothing, looked her innocent amazement at this, and both of us started in amazement when he suddenly turned toward me, and surveyed me with something like interest and pleasurable curiosity.

"Why do you look at me like that?" I could not help saying. "I should think you had never seen me before, father."

"Perhaps I never have," he laughed. Then quite seriously: "I was looking to see if you were as handsome as Mr. Harding said you were. He told me he had never seen so beautiful a woman in his life."

"I was shocked, more than that, I was terrified; I half-rose from the table, and forgetting everything else, which made my life a burden to me, I had some wild idea of rushing from the house, from the town, anywhere, to escape the man whose presence I perceived forming itself in my father's mind."

"Father," I cried with a trembling in my tones that was not common to me, "I have never seen you before, and I am not at all the person of my greatest displeasure; I hate that man and abominate the very idea of his presuming to admire me. Do not ever mention him to me again. It makes my very soul turn sick."

"It was an unwise speech; it was the wisest speech I could have made. I felt this to be so the moment I had spoken, and stole a look of secret dismay at Emma, who sat quite still and helpless, gazing in silent consternation from my father to myself.

"You will hate no one who can help me perfect my experiments," he retorted. "If I command you to do so, you must even love him, though we have not got so far as that yet."

"I will never love anybody again," I answered bitterly. "And I would not love this man if you discovered and my own life hung upon it."

"You would not?" He was livid now. "Well, we shall see. He is coming here to dinner tomorrow, and if you dare to show him anything but the respect due to an honored guest you will live to rue it as you have never rued anything yet."

"Threats that are idle on some lips are anything but idle on ours, as I think you have already begun to perceive. I therefore turned pale and said no more, but all night the tormenting terror was upon me, and when the next day came I was but little fitted to sustain the reputation which I had so unfortunately earned from a distasteful man's lips the day before.

But Antony Harding was not one to easily change his first impressions. He had made up his mind that I was beautiful and he kept to that opinion the day after. I had guessed myself in my most expensive but least becoming gown and I wore my hair in a way to shock the taste of most men. But I saw from the first moment that his eyes fell on my face that this made no difference to him, and that I must take other means to disillusionize him. So then I resorted to the display of stupidity. I did not talk, and looked, it looked at all, as if I did not understand. But he had seen glimpses of brightness in me the day before, and this ruse succeeded no better than the other. He even acted as if he admired me more as a breathing, sullen image than as a living, combative woman.

"My father, who watched us as he never had watched anything before, but rising bubbles of gas or accumulating crystals, did not show the displeasure I feared, possibly because he saw that I was failing in all my endeavors; and when the meal over, he led the way to the parlor, he even smiled upon me in a not altogether unfriendly way. I felt a sinking of the heart when I saw that smile. Better to me were his frown, for the smile told me that love or no love, liking or no liking, I was to be made the bait to win this man's money for the uses of chemistry."

"Walking steadfastly into the parlor I met the stranger's admiring eye.

"You would not think," I remarked, "that my life at present was inclosed within these four walls."

"It was the first sentence I had voluntarily addressed him, and it must have struck him as a very peculiar one."

"I do not understand what you mean," he returned, with that uncanny smile which to me was so detestable.

"Something interesting, I have no doubt."

"Very interesting," I dryly rejoined. "I have taken a vow never to leave this house, and I mean to keep it."

"He stared at me now in some apprehension, and my heart gave a bound of delight. I had frightened him. He thought I was demented."

"My father, seeing his look of astonishment, but not knowing what I had said, here advanced, and unconsciously made matters worse by remarking, with an effort at jocularity:

"Don't mind what Hermione says! for a smart girl and a good one, she sometimes talks very peculiarly."

"I should think so," my companion's manner seemed to assert, but he gave a sudden laugh, and made some observation which I scarcely heard in my fierce determination to end this matter at once.

"Do you not think," I persisted, "that a woman who has doomed herself to perpetual seclusion has a right to be peculiar?"

"A woman of such beauty possesses not any rights she chooses to assert," was his somewhat lamely reply. He evidently received a shock, and was greatly embarrassed.

I laughed low to myself, but my father, comprehending in a flash that I was attempting, turned livid and made a threatening gesture.

"I fear," said he, "that you will have to excuse my daughter for being so misfortunate which has befallen her has soured her temper, and this is not one of her amiable days."

"I made a curtsey deep as my disdain. 'I leave you to the enjoyment of your criticisms,' I exclaimed, and fled from the room in a flutter of mingled satisfaction and fear."

To Be Continued.

MILLIONAIRE THEATRE FOR CLASSICAL PLAYS

Louis Calvert, Stage Manager, Enthusiastic Over the Prospects.

London, May 10.—Louis Calvert, who has been engaged as the stage manager and producer of Shakespearean and other classical plays at the Millionaire Theatre in New York, is enthusiastic over his work.

When Mr. Calvert was a young man he took an engagement with Osmond Tearle to tour on a salary of 35 shillings a week, when he might have commanded a much higher salary in a London theatre, just in order that he might have a varied experience in Shakespearean and other classical plays.

"Yes," he said, "I am looking forward with interest to my work in New York for various reasons."

"What a great advantage that great revolving stage will be to the production of Shakespearean plays, as, for instance, 'Antony and Cleopatra,' which I believe to be one of the best first I am to be called upon to produce."

"And it is to be a repertory theatre. That's a great thing. I'll just give you an instance of what I mean. I remember when I essayed the role of Hamlet, I felt that if I were to go on playing it night after night I'd lose my reason, because I really found myself stark mad at the end of the first act."

"I think it is bad for the actor, bad for the drama and bad for the playgoer, too, that the actor should be called upon to play a strenuous role like Hamlet or Macbeth, for instance, night after night, seven nights in a week. If he does not go mad he grows stale, mostly the latter. Our great singers are never called upon to sing in grand opera more than perhaps three times a week."

"I shall be glad to find myself among people who own the greatest writer on Shakespeare who ever existed. A nation that can produce a Furness has every reason to feel proud of itself. His 'Variorum Shakespeare' is the highest standard of Shakespeare that has ever been published. We have nothing like it in England."

I remember, too, when a young man, I learned something of the American Shakespearean actor which I have never forgotten, and I might have been here when I am today were it not for the excellent playgoers of the Dominion of Canada."

I refer to Joseph Wheelock, Mr. Langtry was producing 'Macbeth,' and as I had played the part of Macbeth, I felt before I had a chance of disappointment that I was cast for the Adriatic from Spain, where I visited in connection with the business of his company there."

"We hear no more of money stringency in America," he said. "In fact money has for months been much too easy with us to suit the bankers. Easy money has for months been much too easy with us to suit the bankers. Easy money has for months been much too easy with us to suit the bankers."

Here Mr. Calvert recited the speech from 'Macbeth,' in which he first gave his old rendering of it and then as Wheelock did it.

PAUL MORTON IS OPTIMISTIC

Says Flood Tide of American Prosperity Has Set In.

London, May 10.—Paul Morton, vice-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, always an optimist in affairs American, had just given here with the confident announcement that the flood tide has set in for the greatest financial prosperity that American business has ever known.

He came from the Adriatic from Spain, where he visited in connection with the business of his company there.

"We hear no more of money stringency in America," he said. "In fact money has for months been much too easy with us to suit the bankers. Easy money has for months been much too easy with us to suit the bankers."

Here Mr. Calvert recited the speech from 'Macbeth,' in which he first gave his old rendering of it and then as Wheelock did it.

WIN FOR DOMINION.

Ottawa, May 10.—An important judgment was given in the exchequer court today by Justice Cassels in the case of the Dominion of Canada vs. The Burrard Power Company, and the Attorney-General of British Columbia.

The case concerned water powers of the Lillooet River and Lillooet Lake, which plaintiff set out as being wholly within the railway belt granted in 1880 by the province of British Columbia to the Dominion to aid in the C. P. R. construction. In 1906 the water commissioners of New Westminster, acting under British Columbia enactment, granted the Burrard Power Company a record of 26,000 inches of water out of the river and lake. The Dominion alleged that this would seriously interfere with its property rights, and asked for an injunction, the attorney-general of British Columbia being enjoined. Upon inquiry by a referee, Justice Martin, it was found that the proposed diversion would interfere with navigation. An appeal was taken to the exchequer court. By the Judgment Mr. Cassels has given, the contention of the Dominion is sustained. This renders the British Columbia water act inoperative.

TO GROW GLADIOLUS MR. GROFF TELLS HOW

Flower a Favorite in London—Many Fine Collections Here.

The London Horticultural Society has presented a spring premium of gladiolus to each of its members, and they, with many other gardeners, will be pleased to read the following cultural instructions from the pen of Mr. H. H. Groff, of Simcoe, Ont., the world's master grower and hybridist of this truly wonderful and beautiful flower. The gladiolus is a great favorite with London flower-lovers, and there are some fine collections grown in this city. Now is the time to plant. Mr. Groff writes:

The request for brief cultural instructions being frequently made, I present the following suggestions and applications to the diverse local conditions prevailing in all parts of the world.

The questions of climate and season for planting in all countries must be determined by existing local conditions, as no rigid rule can be laid down that could be followed inflexibly in various altitudes, with local peculiarities of soil and natural drainage conditions existing in all parts of the world, and often these diverse influences exist within very limited areas.

The gladiolus is not exacting in its demands upon the soil. I have grown it on one block of land yearly for over fifteen years, the only fertilizer used being well-rotted stable manure and bone-meal applied before plowing in the autumn. No fertilizers are needed on strong new soils as a rule.

Profuse watering at intervals is desirable where local conditions of soil and limited rainfall prevail during the season of active plant growth and blooming. A brief period of ripening before harvesting is beneficial, if not too severe, as this hardens the plant tissues and assures flowers and spikes of increased durability and quality. Excessively succulent growth is not beneficial to plant, flower or corn.

The Best Results. For best results, plant in full exposure to the sun, the gladiolus having a free circulation of air, avoid crowding by other plants or overshadowing by trees, buildings or hedges. Plant from the middle of the corn, as a few inches in the soil—matured corns never less than four inches—two to four inches apart in double rows, which may be closed as soon as the corns are in the soil. The great satisfaction is secured by growing several thousand in the vegetable garden for daily cutting as the first flower opens.

Dig the corns before the ground freezes, cut off the stalk close to the base, and dry in a dry place in baskets or shallow boxes. The old corn may be removed a few weeks later when convenient. It is not necessary to wait until the plants die down before harvesting the corns, as a few weeks after blooming is sufficient to mature both for this purpose.

Care of the Cut Flowers. As our whole interest centres in the beautiful flowers of the gladiolus, which for beauty and diversity in the whole range of color have no equals in horticulture, and their durability in the vase, it is of course of the first importance to secure the best results. It is well to be fully informed as to the treatment that will insure the best results.

Cut the spikes when the first flower opens, and place in water without overcrowding. Remove the terminal buds soon, as this checks stalk development and directs the strength into the larger and earlier maturing flowers. The end of the stalk should be shortened and the water renewed frequently, changing of the vases. In shortening the stalk cut diagonally, to insure free absorption of water by the spike without the constriction and obstruction caused by sediment, if cut at a right angle.

The fact that blooming the spikes in the shade of room or piazza modifies the colors of the bright shades and tints to delicate flushes and shadings, and also reduces the latter types to the faintest tinge of color or white, is well known to experienced growers. The advent of new hybrid products, of the most intense and deep shades of violet, purple, crimson and scarlet, hitherto unknown, as well as new flowers and other bright colors, makes it desirable that these brilliant combinations be preserved when the spikes are cut for decorative purposes.

To Retain Delicate Tints. To insure this most desirable result, place the vases of these highly colored types in the early morning sun for an hour or two daily, preferably after renovation and renewal of the water. This practice will also enable the original delicate tints and shadings referred to in the preceding paragraph, if so desired.

As it takes about three days after cutting to bring the spikes into strong blooming condition, this should be allowed for in advance of the date of intended use. The spikes can be shipped a thousand miles by standing them on end in suitable baskets or boxes. On arrival, cut off the end of the stalk, and remove the terminal buds before placing in water, they will then receive quickly and with proper care give pleasure for a week or more.

One of the causes of the popularity of the gladiolus as a decorative flower, is the fact that it has no perfume, as there are few flowers used for this purpose that are not distasteful to someone—particularly in closed rooms—either from personal preference or painful association.

Where the pollen proves irritating to the tissues of the respiratory organs, the anthers may be easily plucked out during the daily renovation, when the faded florets are also removed. This removal of the anthers is desirable in the highly colored types referred to, where the shed pollen dulls the brilliancy of the petals on which it may fall.

ENGLAND TALKS PANTS

Expert to Criticize Portraits in the Royal Academy.

London, May 11.—The Tailor and Cutter, whose ruthless expert will shortly be let loose on the coats and trousers of the portraits of the Royal Academy, has told an interviewer that "Lord Avebury's clothes merely hang on him," while the trousers of Lord James of Hereford are "invariably much too short." In the same week the Duke of Argyll has publicly confessed to being "the worst dressed man in London."

But the duke's boast is not true. The Duke of Norfolk beats him easily, and there are other members of the House of Lords who can make even the Duke of Norfolk look comparatively smart. But these things have brought men's clothes into the columns of the daily papers during the last week, and one of them was much interested in the wardrobe of "a wealthy American," which happened to be discussed in a Paris court.

The American, whose name is not mentioned, had some trouble with the Seventh Chamber in Paris. "It arose," says the Morning Leader, "out of a demand by the Urban Cab Company for insurance premium on a motor car. The American refused to pay on the ground that a divorce suit is pending between his wife and himself, and that it is his wife who ought to pay, as she uses the car."

"The company therefore sent a bailiff to the Hotel Ritz to seize the American's belongings." His wardrobe was seized, and the following list was read out in court: "Fourteen pairs of linen trousers. Eight pairs of green-colored silk hose. Ten pairs of trousers, blue, light and dark grey. Fourteen dozen collars. Four dozen ties of various kinds. Three and one-half dozen handkerchiefs, white and colored. Twenty-two fancy and other waistcoats."

"But only eight pairs of socks!" says the Leader.

Three and one-half dozen handkerchiefs, white and colored. Twenty-two fancy and other waistcoats."

"But only eight pairs of socks!" says the Leader.

"The company therefore sent a bailiff to the Hotel Ritz to seize the American's belongings." His wardrobe was seized, and the following list was read out in court: "Fourteen pairs of linen trousers. Eight pairs of green-colored silk hose. Ten pairs of trousers, blue, light and dark grey. Fourteen dozen collars. Four dozen ties of various kinds. Three and one-half dozen handkerchiefs, white and colored. Twenty-two fancy and other waistcoats."

Knitted into its Perfect Shape—Not Stretched

Long after it is purchased—after numerous trips to the Laundry—Pen-Angle Underwear still retains its graceful, perfect glove-fitting shape, and looks as if it were done by hand yesterday.

Pen-Angle is an individual, exclusive Underwear creation. It is knitted into its snug, perfect shape—not stretched. The variety of styles, sizes and weights (for any climate) is almost unlimited.

Look for the Pen-Angle label—it's a guarantee of complete satisfaction or your money refunded. It means quality—removes the last straw between you and Underwear satisfaction. Remember the Watchword:

Does 6 Hours' Washing in 3 Hours—Without Extra Effort—Without Boiling

First—that each tablet of sugar will reach you unbroken and unchipped.

Second—that the sugar will retain its brilliant, sparkling appearance and absolute purity.

Be sure to ask your grocer for "Crystal Diamonds" in the attractive 5 pound cartons—obtainable also by the pound.

"CRYSTAL DIAMOND DOMINOS" are larger tablets especially for coffee.

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial burden? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

Write to me to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured. Write to me (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. P. E. CURRIE, Windsor, Ont.

IS DIVORCE TOO EASY IN CANADA?

Some Members Say the Senate Is Lax in the Matter.

WHERE CROCKET ERRED

Hon. Mr. Pugsley Explains Where His Attacker Was Wrong—The Scottish Report.

Ottawa, May 10. — In the House of Commons today, in connection with a third reading, Mr. Borden said he desired to concur in the protest made in private bills committee against any tendency to make divorce easier in Canada.

W. F. Maclean advocated a divorce court for Canada. He said that the evil of divorce had become great enough in Canada to require the creation of a special court to deal with divorce applications.

Mr. Carvell concurred in the proposal for the establishment of a divorce court. He said that divorcees had been granted in the Senate on hearsay evidence that would simply have been laughed at by a judicial tribunal. Mr. Lancaster was opposed to anything that would make divorce easier. It should be made clear to young people that when they married they should stay married and forgive each other's faults.

The Premier's resolutions regarding the organization and classification of the officers and employees of the House of Commons, the parliamentary library and the printing distribution office were passed first thing in the afternoon.

In committee there was a long discussion over the salary of Col. Smith, sergeant-at-arms. After 40 years' service his salary is $2,500. He is classified at $3,200, but $500 is charged for rental of rooms in the buildings. In 1898 his salary was $2,400. In that year the salary of J. B. Laplante, assistant clerk of the Commons, was $2,200. Today it is $3,500.

The Opposition made an effort to get the Government to increase the salary of Col. Smith, but the reply was made that nothing could be done at present. Mr. Fielding said he would be perfectly willing that Col. Smith should live outside of the House, where, probably, his rental would be less. But W. F. Maclean contended that the sergeant-at-arms was a member of the House and could not perform the functions of the office without offices in the buildings.

New Courts. Hon. A. B. Aylesworth's resolution to provide for one additional county court judge and one additional district court judge for Ontario and one additional district court judge for Alberta, was carried. The salaries will be $2,500 for the first three years, and $3,000 after that period.

Claude Macdonnell asked the Government whether or not the proposed waterways and boundaries treaty will prevent the construction of the proposed enlargement of the St. Lawrence River Canal, or the construction of the proposed Georgian Bay Canal without the consent of the commissioners under that treaty. He said that the fact that these works, or either of them, may reasonably be expected to affect the height of the water on Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth said that the matter was under consideration at the present time.

Monte Compliments Oliver.

Hon. W. S. Fielding informed Mr. Crosby, of Halifax, that no delegations had recently waited upon the Government to urge the necessity of a bounty being given to steel shinglers in order to establish that industry. The minister added that in view of the liberal assistance already given to the steel industry, the Government felt that it could not give the additional bounties asked for.

Mr. F. D. Monk, in committee on Mr. Oliver's bill on immigration, said a compliment to the minister, saying that since Mr. Oliver came into office there had been a change for the better. He discussed the discussion of a political character on this matter which Mr. Oliver had introduced. Mr. Oliver in his speech had pointed out that the Conservative Government in 1896 had only spent $124,000 on immigration, while since 1890 the Liberals had spent millions.

Discussing deportations, he thought they should avoid it by examination on the other side.

The bill was reported and will be considered further.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley opened in the morning and on a question of privilege, referred to the speech of Mr. Crockett, M. P., last week on the Central Railway commission's report, in which it had been suggested that David O'Connell had discounted a note for $500 for the New Brunswick Company, and it had also been averred that this was for some old claim against him (the minister).

Mr. Pugsley said that O'Connell had no claim against him. It was a promise made by the Central Railway, and the funds were used for purchasing steel rails. This matter was not even referred to by the commissioners.

Mr. R. L. Borden asked if the report of the commission of Scottish farmers who had visited this country had been received. He thought it might be laid on the table of the House and perhaps printed for the benefit of the members.

THE HAND OF DEATH

Struck Down a Man Who Was About To Kill Another.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 11. — The hand of death was all that prevented Willis White from killing Joseph Thomas here yesterday afternoon. White, armed with a revolver and a razor, went into the home of Thomas, who was employed, and demanded money. Meeting with a refusal, he drew the revolver. For several minutes Thomas managed to elude him by dodging in and out among the vehicles. He was finally driven into a corner, but just as White lifted the revolver and fired he was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs. The shot went wild. With blood pouring from his mouth White staggered forward several steps and fell dead.

CLOSING HOURS OF

CAPT. HAIN'S TRIAL

Prosecutor Sums Up Case for State Scoring "Impulsive Insanity Plea."

Flushing, N. Y., May 11. — The case against Peter C. Hains, Jun., charged with the murder of William E. Annis, was expected when court opened today to be given to the jury by noon.

District Attorney George A. Gregg, who had not finished his summing up of the state's case when court adjourned yesterday, expected to conclude his argument in about an hour, after which the charge of Justice Garretson to the jury would be in order. The justice announced that this would occupy about an hour.

Anxiety as to the verdict of the jury prevailed among the counsel for both state and defense before the opening of court.

John F. McIntyre, of counsel for the defense, said that from his study of the jury he was certain that eight of its members would vote for acquittal, while the remaining four were doubtful.

District Attorney DeWitt said that he expected a conviction.

In the event of Capt. Hains' acquittal, the grounds of insanity at the time he shot and killed Annis at the Bayview Yacht Club last August, the question of his present mental status arises. Mr. McIntyre had hesitated to say that he believes his client is insane at the present time. Should Justice Garretson share this belief, he might issue an order for the defendant to be confined in a state institution for the insane until he is pronounced cured.

Repeating his remarks to the jury today Mr. Gregg read from the testimony of the defense's witnesses, in which they said the defendant was suffering from "impulsive insanity" when he shot Annis, and that the attack subsided as soon as the act was committed.

"Now, what kind of insanity do you call that?" said the prosecutor. I ask you to use your own good common sense in determining whether this is insanity or not."

General Hains and Mrs. Hains, the defendant's parents, came into court after Mr. Gregg resumed his remarks.

The prosecutor declared that General Hains and Thornton Hains had taken refuge behind the answer, "I don't remember," while under cross-examination.

"We could never get any of the rational speeches of Captain Hains out of them," said Mr. Gregg. "Only the glassy eyes and the twitching face."

Mr. Gregg finished his argument at 10 o'clock.

THE LAW BARS RETURN

OF A DETROIT BOY

Crippled in England, He Is Refused Transportation—Citizenship Hard to Prove.

Detroit, May 11. — While Harry Beauregard, formerly of Grosse Pointe Township, lies in the Belmont Road workhouse at Liverpool, Eng., with both legs and his right arm, he has been refused transportation to this country by the immigration authorities, because he is a cripple and indigent, and in danger of being sent back at the expense of the company's expense by the immigration officers on this side should he be classed as an alien.

The public birth records show that Beauregard's sisters, the next older and next younger members of the family, were born in Detroit, but as the old system was defective, no record of the man's birth is found. The nurse who attended Mrs. Beauregard is dead.

Beauregard worked for Buick & Sherwood. His relatives hope to get affidavits sufficient to satisfy the immigration inspectors without the public records.

POLICEMEN MUST STUDY

FIRST AID TO INJURED

If They Intend To Be Promoted

—So Says Chief Williams to the Advertiser.

The time is coming, and is coming rapidly," said Chief Williams to The Advertiser today, "when a policeman who has not taken the course in the first aid to the injured will not be eligible for promotion. This course is one of the best things that any one, even private citizens, can take up. It only requires a very short time to learn, and once learned is never forgotten, and can be applied instantly in case of an emergency. For a policeman it is particularly valuable, as he is often called upon to take charge of the injured in the street. I have never regretted knowing it."

"In Toronto the course is practically compulsory, as no constable is eligible for second-class pay until he can produce his certificate from St. John's Ambulance Society. One hundred and ten men took the course in Toronto last year, and out of 418 men on the Toronto police force, 368 hold certificates. Our men have only started to take the matter up comparatively recently. Six secured their certificates a short time ago, and a number of others are now taking the course. I want every man on the force to do it."

Young Men Scare.

"People who are not in touch," continued the chief, "would hardly believe the effect the emigration to the North has had on the police force of the country. It is becoming increasingly difficult to secure young men. This is true not only of the North, but of the larger Canadian cities. A spirit of restlessness seems to pervade the younger men of the force, and very often after serving for a few months they are off to the west. Just in the last few years we have lost Constables Black, Smith, James, Robinson, High, Constable, and many others. The younger men whose names I forget, Constables James and Woolway have since died in the west, but the others, I believe, are all doing well."

Big

At the present time no man under 5 feet 10 inches in height is accepted on the force. The average height of the men on the force is six feet, P. C. MacEneaney, the tallest man on the force, measuring 6 feet 2 1/2 inches in his stockings. Constables are paid $1.40 a day for the first year, $2.00 per day for the second year, and $2.45 a day for the third year.

Chief Williams has been on the force 31 years next October. There is but one man on the force who has been there longer; that is Detective Rider, who last month completed the 32nd year of service.

WEDS FAMOUS MODEL

Kilvert, Hamilton Artist, Groom, Bride Beautiful Miss Bernardo.

New York, May 11. — The marriage of a famous illustrator and one of the most beautiful artists' models in New York was the most interesting topic among artistic, musical and literary circles in this city.

The groom is Mr. Benjamin Cory Kilvert, the artist and magazine illustrator of Hamilton, Ont. The bride is Miss Elsie Del Ora Bernardo, the most prominent artist's model in New York, whose beautiful face and dark greyish blue eyes thousands have admired in the pictures of Edward Chandler, an artist of Esplanade streets. The interior of the building was completely gutted. The losses: William C. Wilson, ship supplies, $8,000; White & Co., fruit auction rooms, $5,000; B. W. Box Company, $15,000 on stock, and $18,000 on plant; Ontario Novelty Company, loss unknown. William Weil, a fireman, while engaged in fighting the fire, had a wrist broken by a ladder striking it.

CRAWFORD'S WILL.

Sorrento, May 11. — The will of Marion Crawford, the novelist, who died here April 9, expressed the desire of the deceased that his yacht and the villa, Sant Agnello, be sold. It sets forth also that the remains of the deceased are to be laid at rest in the Sant Agnello Cemetery. This wish already had been complied with.

A SISTER OF KRAFT

VISITS HIM IN JAIL

Man Who Shot Windsor Police

Fears News of Arrest May Kill Mother.

Windsor, May 11. — "Oh, Richard, how could you do it? What shall I ever tell the folks?"

Disappointed in her hope that the young man giving his name as Richard Kraft, who shot up the Windsor police station, and wounded three persons when arrested for stealing a bicycle last Friday, was not her brother, Miss Kraft, of Berlin, Ont., broke down completely when she faced her kin in the Sandwich jail yesterday.

Miss Kraft stepped into the hall full of hope. She expected some time later with a heavy heart, and a sad tale to tell to her aged parents. The meeting between the brother and sister was an affecting one. Both broke down completely, and the prisoner expressed fear that the shock would be fatal to his mother.

Miss Kraft told the police that her parents had considerable social distinction in Germany, but had lived quietly since coming to this country. The mother is an only son, and has caused some anxiety in the past. She expressed the belief that her parents would return to Germany, but declared that if her brother should be sent to Kingston penitentiary she would go to that city to be as close as possible.

Her victims are improving rapidly. The bicycle, for the theft of which he was arrested, has been identified as the property of a Chatham man named William.

GREAT IS NAME

OF THE PARSONS

Toronto Paper Marvels at Gathering in Which London Alderman Took Part.

The Toronto Mail and Empire has the following to say of Ald. Robert Parsons, the well-known merchant of London, and his relatives:

"Yes, the Parsons are here." That was the sign that the clerk at the door of the Rosina House yesterday in self-defence on account of the numerous inquiries that were being made for the Parsons. It was not the delegates to the Protestant Synod that were being sought, but the members of the famous Parsons family that were holding their annual spring reunion at the Rosina, and incidentally laying in a supply of goods. The inquirers were mostly representatives from wholesale houses and manufacturers seeking to connect the Parsons in their particular lines of goods. There are sixteen people interested in the Parsons syndicate, and they are: John Parsons and wife, Orville Sound; R. Parsons and wife, London; Geo. Parsons and wife, Toronto; R. Parsons, Goderich; Jas. Bremner, Stratford; Peter Bremner, Walkerton; Robert Bremner, Strathroy; W. E. Brand and wife, Brockville.

SEVERS FATHER'S ARM

Desperate Act of Girl to Save Parent From Death.

Bowden, Ga., May 11. — For her bravery in getting the members of her family out of the debris except the girl, she was awarded the Carnegie medal is to be asked for 15-year-old Mamie Price, who lives near here.

The storm struck the Price home Friday night, wrecked it, and buried all the inmates in the debris except the girl. She procured an ax and, guided by the cries of the victims and a lantern, she began to cut them out.

Mrs. Price died as the girl cut the last timber from about her, but she rescued her baby brother and a young sister, who were unharmed. Her father had been caught by heavy timbers and his left arm was crushed.

The girl cut away the timbers from the body of her father, but the mangled arm was still held. Price realized that the arm held only by shreds of skin and flesh.

So he told the girl to sever the strings with the ax. The child objected, but when the father insisted she brought the ax and Price was free.

Under her father's direction the child made a tourniquet to stop the loss of blood from the severed arm, and then went through the darkness for assistance. Doctors at Bowden said they will give a handsome memorial to be given to the girl by citizens of Bowden.

LET RAGS ALONE

Arthur Lewis and John Collins

Go To Prison for Stealing From a Car

Collins, Because He Was Apparently Not So Much to Blame, Was Given Only Two Months.

For being an accomplice in stealing 20 cents worth of old rags from a Pere Marquette car last week, Arthur Lewis, a young colored man, was sentenced to ten months in the Central Prison this morning by Magistrate Love, and John Collins, who took the rags, was sentenced to two months in the county jail.

"Thousands of dollars worth of goods have been taken from cars all over the country lately," said the magistrate, in passing sentence on Lewis, "and the railroads must be protected. Lewis, you have been in Kingston Penitentiary and the Central before for theft, and I believe it was you who instigated this stealing. I warned you when you were out a few weeks ago after being found loitering around the laneways of Richmond street stores to be careful. You have not heeded my advice and must take the consequences."

Collins Disposed Of.

"You, Collins, I believe to be a somewhat stupid fellow," the P. M. continued, "but I have repeatedly pleaded with you to stop drinking. You would not, and you see where it has landed you. I sentence you to two months in the county jail."

The charge was laid by Israel Left, a junk dealer and the principal witness in the case. The other witnesses were Frank Vaughan and Robert Harris, employees at a nearby shop, and Joseph Adams, to whom the men sold the goods after they were stolen.

Charles Thayer stated in the box that he gave the men cents to take his wagon and go to an East End wood yard and get some wood.

Had a Few Drinks.

Collins picked Lewis up on the way and they had several drinks and then drove to the Pere Marquette siding, where the rags were being unloaded, and took two small bags. Messrs. Vaughan and Harris, who were working nearby, saw Collins and Lewis drive up and take the rags. As soon as Lewis saw Vaughan he started to drive away.

In court this morning Lewis tried to throw the whole blame of the affair on Collins and said he had nothing to do with the stealing. In view of his past record, however, on account of the fact that he had been in the Kingston Penitentiary for taking the rags and went with him to sell them and afterwards got partially drunk, Magistrate Love held that he was equally guilty and sentenced him accordingly.

TRIAL FOR CANON HENSON

Charged With Breaking the Anglican Ecclesiastical Law.

New York, May 11. — A special to the Tribune from New Haven says: Rev. H. H. Henson, canon of Westminster, and rector of St. Margaret's, London, left here yesterday for Boston, to sail hurriedly to England to face charges preferred by Bishop Gore, of the Church of England, who accuses him of having violated ecclesiastical law by occupying a non-conformist pulpit in a working men's institute in Birmingham, England.

Canon Henson is known in the religious world as a broad churchman, and he preached to the non-conformists after the local Church of England authorities had refused their permit. The statement was sent here tonight that the appearance in Marquand Chapel, Yale, was included in the ecclesiastical indictment against him. This was shortly denied by the university officials.

The trial of the canon is expected to prove a test case.

HANDCUFFED TO CHILD

A Quebec Lady's Novel Method of Fending Kidnappers.

New York, May 11. — According to a dispatch from Tacoma, Washington, Mrs. Edna Reed, divorced wife of R. T. Reed, a wealthy real estate man of Denver, created interest yesterday when she appeared in the street with her 9-year-old daughter Inez handcuffed to her.

Twice since the divorce was obtained Mrs. Reed says attempts have been made to kidnap the child, and she believes that sliver hand will guarantee the child's safety. Mrs. Reed is on her way to the home of her parents in Quebec.

THE SUPERIOR TRAGEDY.

Duluth, Minn., May 11. — F. L. Goodnow, captain of the steamer Berlin, and Fred Reno and Lester Elmer, special police officers, were released last night by a coroner's jury in Superior, Wis. The men were charged with complicity in the killing of James O'Rourke, a union seaman, on board the Berlin, when the latter arrived in port Saturday night with coal.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that O'Rourke came to his death at the hands of persons unknown.

CHARGED WITH USURY.

Winnipeg, May 11. — Mary Agnes Glynn, manager of Tolman's loan office, was arrested under the usury act on the specific charge of exacting a note for $148 in return for $100 loan. Up to midnight she had failed to secure bail. Tolman, who advertises that he has sixty agencies, recently circulated the city, drawing attention to his business.

IT'S BIG DAY TODAY

WITH THE TIGERS

The American League Championship Pennant Will Be Raised This Afternoon.

Detroit, Mich., May 11. — Baseball Detroit, which went to bed fearful that flag day might not be favored by good weather, and that the American League championship pennant might have to be hoisted this afternoon under unfavorable weather conditions, made happy with the first break of dawn today. For the first time in three days Old Sol came out of retirement, and thousands of fans, amateur players, baseball notables and visitors, who have planned to attend the second flag-raising of the Detroit Tigers, have a perfect day, and while Bennett Park has been soaked for three days, the diamond has been kept covered, and the bright sun and breeze are expected to go far toward drying the field before the ceremonies begin.

As part of the deal for the acquisition of Third Baseman Moriarty from New York, the Detroit club agreed that the Tigers should be their antagonists on flag day.

With Manager Stallings and Third Baseman Moriarty, both former Detroiters, the choice was a happy one from the standpoint of the Detroit fan.

A parade of amateur clubs, prominent visitors and the two contending teams was held before the game.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

BUTTER WAS EASIER IN LONDON MARKET

Oats Stronger—Butchers' Meat Was Slacker—Dressed Hogs Brought $10.

Despite the fine weather this morning the market was rather slack. There was a little of everything offered, but with the exception of hay, there was nothing that was offered in any quantity. Hay was somewhat firmer today ranging from $13.50 to $14.50. There was a good deal of poorer quality, but accounts for the lower price, but anything of a first-class order sold readily at the top price. There were about 30 loads offered in all.

Oats Strong.
Oats were very strong today, the price that has ruled as high for the past few days, now being the low price. The loads offered brought from $1.50 to $1.57, the latter being the prevailing price for first quality. The supply offered was not equal to the demand, and the price on that account seems likely to remain firm.

Butter was somewhat easier 18 and 20 cents being offered for crock butter by the pound, and 20 cents being the ruling price for roll butter.

Butchers' meat was slack, the only exception to the rule being dressed hogs, which found a ready sale at $10. Mutton shows a tendency to be easier in price, and as the supply will be increasing from now on, it will likely go still lower.

The prevailing prices are as follows:

Grain.
Wheat, per bu. $1.05 to $1.12
Oats, per bu. 1.50 to 1.57
Barley, per bu. 1.24 to 1.38

Hackett, a few years ago, cherished a great ambition to be a real theatrical manager. He got control of the old Lyric Theatre, which was built by Oscar Hammerstein, and renamed it the Hackett Theatre.
The venture was for a time successful.

About a year ago Hackett had a disagreement with his wife and it became very bitter. An application for divorce by her followed.

Dan Hanna, of Cleveland, son of the late Senator Hanna, is set down as a $10,000 creditor for money lent to Hackett, and William Morris and David N. Taylor are also creditors.

New York, May 10.—One stray little mouse almost broke up the dress rehearsal of "The Echo," at the Berkeley Theatre, and created wild excitement among half a score of young women. The young women, with as many young men composed the audience at the rehearsal of the musical comedy.

Everything was proceeding nicely, and Jack Scanlon, who plays a millionaire soap manufacturer, was singing a song telling what a nervous wreck he was when the mouse appeared. The young women were told across the stage. Several New York University students playing the chorus of chorus girls forgot their parts and rushed to the stage.

The mouse was chased to the stage and the audience, when the mouse appeared, and picking up the skirts of the chorus girls, and pursued by cast and chorus, while Frank Stammers, who is coaching the students, and Deems Taylor, who wrote the lyrics, and the arms and shouted for the collegians to stop the racket. The theatre was in an uproar.

Meanwhile, the young women in the audience, knowing intuitively that a mouse was abroad, had gathered their skirts about them and rushed to the stage.

There they remained awaiting developments before screaming.
Finally the terrified little animal jumped over the stage and out of the theatre before anyone had presence of mind enough to scream.

It was an hour or more before the students were able to stop joking, and finish the rehearsal. The half-scared young women left the theatre promptly.

WOOD LEONARD OFF FOR ENGLAND

Sails Friday to Represent Canada in the Big Military Tournament

LONDONER GIVES A CUP
Hon. Adam Beck Amongst Those Who Put Up a Trophy For Competition.

Lieut. Wood Leonard, of London, left last evening for Montreal, where he will take part in the horse show, sailing Friday for England. He will be joined by Capt. Douglas Young and Lieut. Proctor, his team-mates in the Olympic Horse Show, and military riding contests.

The three horses—Sir Frederick, Sir James and Sir Edward—were shipped to Montreal yesterday. They have been at Stanley Barracks several days being trained in military work.

The horses have been entered in many classes, according to the official programme just received, and at this show will be ridden by Lieut. Wood, Lieut. Proctor, and Hon. Adam Beck, provided he can get away.

The Entries.
From what can be learned they are entered in class 90 and 91 for qualified hunters; in class 92 for qualified hunters from any one hunt—the prize won last year by the London Hunt—also in classes 94 and 95, hunters, not to jump.

Then follow the cup competitions.
The first big cup for which they are entered is in a fitness the Canadian cup, presented by Hon. Adam Beck, and valued at £50. This cup is given for the jumping competition for officers only. In this class the horses must be ridden by officers in uniform, and be the property of an officer or the regiment. The prizes are as follows: £100, £50, £20, £10, £5, £2.50, and £1.25.

Then follow the competition for the Canadian gold challenge cup, open to three officers from the British dominions. The cup is a particularly handsome one and is valued at £200.

The next competition is the King Edward VII. gold cup, open to three officers of the same nationality, in uniform. This, of course, is open to the world, and is destined to prove one of the most important competitions ever held at the international. The Canadian horses will be ridden, as in the other competitions, by Capt. Young, Lieut.
Wood Leonard and Lieut. Proctor.

They are also entered in the Champion cup, donated by the Daily Mail, for a cup valued at £50, and cash prizes valued at £275 in addition to the regular prizes.

From this it will be seen that the Canadian boys are up against rather stiff competition, and to win any one of the cups is a most worthy mention.

The Riders.
Hon. Adam Beck, Lieut. Wood Leonard and Mr. James McNece intended originally to go and ride in the hunt club while Rev. and Mr. McNece, who was offered a commission, would also have ridden in the cup competition for officers.

He could not get away, unfortunately,
owing to the death of his brother,
Mr. Jack McNece. Mr. James McNece is one of the best cross-country riders in Canada, and his presence would have been a great asset to the team was to be regretted.

Mr. Beck may not be able to go,
owing to the fact that he is interesting in the horse show, and that may prevent his going.

Arrangements will have to be made for some person to take his place.
Capt. Young and Lieut. Leonard will form two of the team. Both are clever, daring riders, and should do remarkably well.

The international opens on June 5.
McNece and Lieut. Leonard will will continue until June 15. The results will be watched with great interest.

The Canadian boys have the ability, and they have the horses. With a good break in the luck, they should get some of the big prizes.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY
ELECTED OFFICERS

Annual Meeting Was Held in Wesley Hall Yesterday Afternoon.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church was held in Wesley Hall yesterday afternoon. As several of last year's officers are removing, the elections showed by a large number of new names. They are as follows:

Honorary President—Mrs. (Dr.)
Fowler.

HAMILTON PASTOR
FOR LONDON CHURCH
Arrangement Made Whereby Unitarian Minister Shall Divide His Services.

Dispatches from Hamilton state that the American Unitarian Association, under whose direction the Unitarian churches in Canada are enrolled, have instructed the Unitarian Church, Hamilton, of which Rev. W.
Delos Smith is a pastor, that in future he shall divide his time between the evening and London churches of the denomination. The plan suggested was that Mr. Smith should conduct services in London in the morning, and in Hamilton at night. This was found to be impossible, as Mr. Smith could not reach Hamilton again in time for the service, and as a result he was about to resign, when the church in Hamilton offered to change their time of meeting and hold their service in the morning, which would enable Mr.
Smith to get to London in time for the evening service. This arrangement was made necessary by the fact that the Hamilton church is not in a position to support the pastor itself, and the London church being without a pastor, it was thought that the ar-

THE HOME PHYSICIAN

SOME HINTS TO KEEP PEOPLE WELL.

Ninety-nine per cent of the ordinary sicknesses are caused by the bowels,
the kidneys or the skin.

As you know, these organs are the great purifiers of the human system.
They filter impurities from the blood and pass them from the body. If the bowels, bowels or skin system get tired out or fail to do their regular work—then the blood becomes laden with impurities and poisoned. If it be the kidneys, then the skin is overworked
