INCREASED RATE AUTHORIZED BY COMMISSIONERS APPLICABLE TO ALL FREIGHT EXCEPT COAL AND COKE

New Schedule of Rates May Become Effective After August 26th On Five Days' Notice—Question of Granting Advances On Coal and Coke May Be Further Considered by Commissioners.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—(By the Canadian Press).—In an order handed out this morning the Dominion Railway Board commissioners grant the application of the American Railway Association for an increase in through rates in so far as Canada is concerned, to correspond with increases recently granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission across the line. The increase, however, it is specially stated, will not apply to freight rates on coal and coke. If there is to be an advance in the rate on these commodities, it is delayed until the decision of the board in the general freight rate case is made. The increase provided for in today's order is effective on or after August 26, upon not less than five days' notice.

The order of the commission, which is signed by Assistant Chief Commissioner S. J. McLean, sets forth that the Interstate Commerce Commission has granted certain rate increases which are applicable to the proportions of joint through rates to or from Canada.

POULICE APPOINTMENT MAY START A REAL RUMPU

Several Resignations On the Force Are Likely—The City Council May Take Steps As Soon As Possible To Reduce Salary To Limit Permitted by New Legislation.

The appointment made by two of the members of the police commission today may start a row that will have far-reaching effects. Several members of the local police force, including veterans of many years' service, stated to The Advertiser that in the near future they will turn in their uniforms and resign from the force. They have considered this course of action for some time, but have not definitely decided to quit. Their resignations, which are in course of preparation, will likely be dealt with at the next meeting of the police commission. The appointment is also causing considerable comment among members of the city council.

TORONTO OFFICIALS VISIT ST. STANLEY AND SANATORIUM ON RADIAL INQUIRY

Patients May Be Brought Here For Treatment Before Long.

A party of 35 civic officials from Toronto, including Mayor Thomas L. Church, arrived in London at noon today for the purpose of inspecting the London and Port Stanley Railway and buildings at Port Stanley, and the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium. The visitors proceeded to the lakeside via special train shortly after arrival here, and following an inspection of the sanatorium, the party returned to London about 4 o'clock, and then proceeded by auto to the sanatorium at Byron, where an inspection was made, with the object of securing data regarding the accommodation for tubercular patients from Toronto and district.

It is understood that when the military patients are removed from the sanatorium, which will be in the near future, there will be more than ample accommodation for tubercular patients from Western Ontario. On the other hand, there is no hospital accommodation available in increasing number of consumptive patients, and unless they are transferred to the sanatorium at Byron, a new sanatorium must be built near Toronto.

Following the report of the officials from Toronto interested in this matter, the surplus of patients from this city and district may be transferred to London, if accommodation for the same is sufficient, thus eliminating the necessity of a new hospital in the Queen City.

In addition to Mayor Church, the party included members of the Toronto city council, public utilities commission and board of health, and other officials. They will return to their home city shortly after 6 o'clock, traveling in a special car via the Grand Trunk.

DRUNKEN DRIVER MUST BE JAILED

Magistrates Given No Option of Fine Under New Act.

That the provincial authorities are determined to check the driving of automobiles by persons intoxicated is shown by the severe penalties imposed by the new motor vehicles act, copies of which have just been received by the city and county police.

Section 14 of the act states that "no intoxicated person shall drive a motor vehicle" and Section 24 gives the penalty for violation of Section 14 as follows: "Every person who violates the provisions of Section 14 of the act shall, for the first offence, be imprisoned for a period not exceeding 30 days and not less than 7 days; for the second offence, for a period not exceeding three months and not less than one month; and for subsequent offences, for a period not exceeding one year and not less than three months."

The magistrate is given no option in the matter. The act also provides that a person who is intoxicated and is driving a motor vehicle shall be liable to a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $20, or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding 30 days and not less than 7 days, or to both such fine and imprisonment.

MAY ANNOUNCE RAILWAY RATES DECISION TODAY

Board Arrived At Conclusion
Regarding U. S. Lines, It Is Understood.

CANADIAN LINES NEXT

Increase Means Direct Tax of $25 Per Capita of Population, Estimate.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press)—It was announced at the railway commission offices this evening that there would be no statement of the board's decision in the joint freight rates case today. It is understood that the board arrived at a decision this afternoon regarding the application of the American Railway Association, but it was not made public. It is possible that there may be an announcement tomorrow morning.

TO BEGIN WEDNESDAY.

(Special to The Aerialist.)
OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—The case for the railways having been submitted to the railway commission, opposing counsel will commence argument and cross-examination in the big rate investigation here on Wednesday morning next. The line of attack against the 40 per cent application of the railway association has been pretty well indicated already, but it will develop with examination.

The importance of the case to the people of the Dominion can scarcely be over-estimated. It has been calculated that the granting of the 30 per cent increase alone will mean an addition to the railway revenues of $137,871,654. As nearly as can be estimated from past years, this will be divided, west of Fort William, $52,264,609, and east of Fort William, $75,607,025. Calculating the population west of Fort William at two millions and east of Fort William at six millions, the additional tax per head of population, man, woman and child, west of Fort William will be $21.13 per year, and east of Fort William $12.60.

Doubled For Consumer.
This is the direct tax, but it is admitted that when the increased freight rates have been "passed on" and finally reach the consumer the amount will be more than doubled. Walker D. Hines, rail director of the United States, has declared that rail rate increases are replenished from three to five fold on commodity prices. Hugh Hain of the Wholesale Grocers' Association made a similar estimate, pointing out how the rate is compounded as it passes from the manufacturer to the jobber and the retailer, and finally to the consumer. In fact, the increased tax upon the people of the Dominion which will result if the increases asked are granted (and no account has been taken of the further application for a 10 per cent increase based on the hypothetical adoption of the Chicago award) will be equal in amount, if not in excess, of the total annual revenue derived by the Dominion from customs.

Take Canadian Pacific.
Opposing counsel have taken the ground that if there is to be an increase the commission must take the Canadian Pacific as the standard in deciding what is fair. The application is filed jointly by the railway association, but it is obvious that, in the case of one road whose operating ratio is something over 80 and another whose operating ratio is well over 100, a common standard cannot be reached. The Canadian Pacific has a comfortable nest-egg of something over $200,000,000 in reserves. Opposing counsel held that this should be drawn upon just the same as in case of any ordinary concern.

It is contended that the imposition of a 40 per cent, or even of a 30 per cent, increase in rates at the present time will delay return of normal conditions in the country for many years to come. It has been hoped that the high cost of living has reached its peak. To place a blanket increase in rates upon all of the railways by which from two to four hundred millions are added yearly to the burdens of the people cannot but raise the peak.

Increases Accepted.
Wage increases adopted by the United States are accepted by Canadian railways with nonchalance. This is natural so long as an increase in freight and passenger rates can be looked for every time a new wage award is adopted. It is the easiest way to avert labor troubles. But it is fairly obvious that there must be an end some time, and that the vicious circle cannot continue to widen in circumference without ultimately breaking.

Opposing counsel ask that there be a delay in considering increases until such time as normal conditions have returned, and that some consideration be taken of the whole question of labor and wages. Chairman Walker, on the other hand, desires—in fact, insists—that the inquiry be pressed to its conclusion, and if his judgment is prepared as expeditiously as he desires the investigation shall be proceeded with, the new rates, if granted, will apply to the present season's wheat crop.

DECLARE POSITION OF NORRIS IS STILL STRONG IN HOUSE

Supporters Refer To Conference of Independent and Conservative Groups.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13.—Supporters of Premier Norris in the Legislature, who were seen today, expressed the opinion that the Government's position in the House had not been impaired by yesterday's conference of the Independent-Farmer-Labor and Conservative groups. "As long as the three other factions in the House fail to come to an understanding the Government's position is unassailable," said one member.

"We recognize that an alliance between the Progressive Farmers and Labor will be the basis of future government, but the labor party has its principles and will stand by them," said W. D. Bayley, member for Assiniboia, today.

A. R. Boivan, secretary of the Farmer-Independent group, made official announcement this afternoon that no definite line of common policy was decided upon yesterday, and that there would be another conference in October.

OWEN SOUND GAS RATES SCHEDULED FOR BIG INCREASE

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 13.—The price of gas in Owen Sound will take a big jump very shortly. Just what the increase will be has not yet been determined. Last year coal could be purchased for a little over $6 a ton; at present the price is $12.55 per ton or just about double. At present prices it costs to produce 1,000 feet of gas about $1.50 for coal alone, without counting overhead expenses. The present price is $1.40 per 1,000 feet, with a discount of 10 per cent. Where the consumption reaches a certain fixed amount, it will readily be seen that a considerable increase will be necessary.

CHAIN OF WIRELESS STATIONS THROUGH EMPIRE IS PLANNED

An English Firm Proposes Scheme For Better Communication.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—(By Canadian Press).—An empire chain of wireless stations, free from private monopoly and possible alien interference is the prospect held out by an Imperial Wireless Telegraphy Company, headed by Sir Henry Norman, according to exchanges just received here from the old country. The report of the committee states that by the adoption of a plan it puts forward, a series of connecting stations can be established and maintained at an annual cost of not more than £100,000. This sum, the report goes on to state, would secure a system vital in its strategic and commercial potentialities.

Main Recommendations.

The main recommendations are:
That a scheme of imperial wireless communication be established connecting the communities of the empire by geographical steps of about 2,000 miles each.

That the wireless system employed be that involving the generation of radio-telegraphic energy by thermionic valves.

That the service of communication between Leamfield and Cairo by Poulson arc, shortly to be put in operation by the postoffice, be the first link in the chain of communication with the Indian communities in Africa, and that this communication be continued by a valve station near Nairobi, and by the alteration of the ex-German station at Windhoek, to a valve station to complete the connection with the Union of South Africa.

Erect Valve Stations.

That for communication with India, the Far East and Australia, valve stations be erected in England, near Cairo, at Poona (or other Indian station), Singapore, Hong Kong and Perth or Port Darwin in Australia.

That similar communication be established with Canada, subject to the decision of the Imperial and Canadian Governments.

That the scheme be governed by a wireless commission of about four members, and that its execution be entrusted to the engineering department of the postoffice and the corresponding Dominion and Indian authorities.

The committee claims that an Imperial wireless scheme established in this manner would afford reliable, expeditious and economic communication for commercial, social and press purposes throughout the empire, and that it would meet essential imperial strategic requirements. The total estimated annual traffic for the whole service would be about 10,000,000 words, producing a revenue of £225,000, of which £205,000 would be receivable by the Imperial Government.

You see, there's a little association of the merchants who appreciate to the full the benefit of giving something in the way of bargains. True, they do it all the time, but Dollar Day is the day when they all do it together, making one big day. Just as the Western Fair board says, "Weather is all we need now to make it bigger and better than ever," so is everyone praying for sunshine for Dollar Day—it makes it better for everyone anyway. Your best plan is to read Tuesday's and Wednesday's papers. You need many articles.

Make a list—and go to it! Here's hoping for real nice weather for London's Big Day.

SAME OLD PARTY.

Considering his political record, the record of the Union Government and the origin and make up of the new party, Premier Meighen's statement of his policy at Stirling was just what was expected. As Mr. King described it in his Paisley speech, the premier spoke for the old-fashioned Toryism which sees only itself and cares nothing for the rest of the community. In the address from beginning to end there was no intimation that anything direct and vigorous would be done to relieve the masses of this country from exploitation by the profiteers and oppression of the big interests that for five years have been running Canada and producing the dangerous unrest that is our one big social and industrial problem. The premier made it crystal clear that the new party is really the old Tory party devoted to the cause of special privilege. The people are not represented by the present administration at Ottawa. An autocracy, selfish and arrogant, is in the saddle.

NO ACADEMY WANTED.
Dr. Donald suggests that an English Institute should be established to do for the English language everywhere what the French Academy does for the written speech of France. It was on the occasion of his investiture with an honorary degree by the University of Toronto. As he said, "this being the first occasion on which I have had the honor of addressing an academic assembly," he ventured on an academic proposal. If we had some such Anglo-Austro-American Institute, it would be like the various Canadian commissions that simply "commish" (horrid, unacademic term!). That is, it might easily be a heap more active and conscientious than a Borden-Meighen Commission, but its acts would simply be ignored. If the late Seath-Whitney educational regime could not, in years of obscurity but obstinate battling against modernity, establish the spelling "honour" in our Ontario press, how expect an Anglo-Saxon Institute to regularize and control the growth of the English language all over the globe? And would it be a good thing even if possible? Prohibition is all very well in the case of undoubted evils, but an attempt to prohibit or even prune the free, wild growth of our language might do more harm than good.

Shakespeare with his "wood-notes wild," his luxuriant coinages in vocabulary, would either not have thriven under a dictatorial Academy, or more likely would have paid no attention to it. The classical pedants of France have never been able quite to get away with Shakespeare. Their rules won't measure him. We need not suppose that the English peoples are going to be any more amenable to a central literary authority than Shakespeare could have been. The English genius does not tend to centralization, but rather to local freedom and initiative. We want no academic Acts of Uniformity for the nations of the Seven Seas, more than a centralized political system. Dr. Donald fears that in a hundred years the branches of the race will need interpreters between them. No fear of that. Relations are ever closer, newspapers and books inter-circulate more and more around the empire. As we understand one another at least as well now as 100 years ago, we may trust the next century. The best road to good English and uniform English is not the direct road of rules and regulations, but rather the best way is the strengthening of common ideas, traditions and customs, the development of inter-dominion sympathy and the prosecution by all of the old English ideals of justice, mercy, fairness, truth and freedom. Out of a common life a common speech will continue to grow.

THERE WERE GIANTS.
The size of Adam and Eve is a topic of discussion in these dog days. Arabic savants have figured out a gigantic height, anywhere from 200 feet to a mile or so for the progenitors of the race. The great age to which they lived seems to favor huge proportions. An animal commonly grows for about one-fifth of its lifetime. If the original patriarchs grew for 150 to 200 years before stopping, they were quite out of our class. There were giants in those days. They had ichthyosauromes to contend with. Tall trees were mere grass to them. The little earth shook under the tread of her monstrous brood, and Heaven feared their tower of Babel.

A REAL SPORTSMAN.
Not in many years has the sympathy of baseball fans all over the continent been so stirred as in the case of Christy Mathewson, famous pitcher of the New York Giants. The latest news from Saranac Lake, where Mathewson went for treatment for tuberculosis, is that his physicians have ordered him to Arizona. "Big Six" is up against the toughest battle of his whole career. And this time he has to fight it alone. In many of his greatest baseball battles he was backed by cheering thousands. Now he is isolated. But Mathewson is game. One of the greatest things that can be said about any man can be said about him, that is that he was throughout his career a sportsman. He stood for the very highest ideals in baseball, and win or lose he took the um, ire's decisions without protest. Mathewson will live in baseball annals as one of the great outstanding figures of the game. There are fans who question if his pitching will ever be surpassed. Now in the fight he is waging against the disease which has fastened upon him he is showing the same fine spirit. He will fight for all there is in him and win or lose will be a real sportsman.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Western bandits who went through the Pullman passengers of a train secured only a few dollars. Evidently the porters had beaten them to it.

Lloyd George measures British temper aright when he says that war with Russia is not wanted. The only people who might want it would be profiteers, munition makers and the brassy young under-strappers of headquarters staff of whom Philip Gibbs writes so sarcastically.

Premier Lloyd George says that France and Britain warned Poland against the Russian advance. But the British Government has spent some quarter of a billion dollars in equipping the Poles. No wonder Moscow insists that Allied troops or munitions shall henceforth not come into Poland.

The Times says that a renewed blockade of Russia would "make little difference at the present time." So why should the Lloyd George Government annoy the Labor leaders by trying to enforce it? The Russians have now pretty satisfactory relations with Finland, Livonia, Esthonia and Georgia, so that trade may go on through Reval, Riga and the Caucasus.

Mr. D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railways, shows that freight rate increases will not cause any appreciable rise in prices. Such increases are commonly ascribed to wage advances. If the increases due to wage advance are generally so unimportant to prices as Mr. Hanna argues, then rise of prices has some much more important cause than advance of wages.

The British and French Governments profess as a reason for not referring the Polish question to the League of Nations that the League might lose prestige by a failure through its still incomplete organization. Yet, but the French and British Governments could back up the League's decision. There seem to be various niggers in the fence that the League "gets no forrarder." The Polish question is decidedly its business.

THE REASON.

[Halifax Chronicle.]

The fact that the Liberal party has been in control of the Government of Nova Scotia since 1882

is a fact which has not been taken into account by the Liberal party in its campaign for the elections. The simple truth is that during this long period, unexampled in the history of responsible government, under the leadership of Sir Hon. W. S. Fielding, and now of Hon. George H. Murray, the Liberal party has retained the confidence of the people because it deserved it, and because no reason could be adduced why it should be otherwise.

HOSPITALS AND NOISE.

[Ottawa Journal.]

By law, a silence area exists around our hospitals;

by practice, there is always a pandemonium.

Alongside where two or three hundred sick people are lying with their nerves raw, horses pound along the street at a trot, motor cars toll their horns, street cars bang their bells. Some examples are given. The police have been appealed to, but so far nothing has resulted. A constable in plain clothes should be allotted for a few days to the business of keeping watch in the neighborhood of another hospital, and making up some of the noisy people. The distress in the hospitals is entitled to every reasonable consideration that can be given to it.

THE EVIDENCE.

[Kingston Whig.]

You can tell we are Christian nations by our eager acceptance of the universal peace suggested by Jesus of Nazareth.

THE PRAYER OF FAITH.

[Hamilton News.]

Why should the services of James Moore Hickson

as a Christian healer be regarded with suspicion and even resentment by many orthodox Christians?

His services and the claims that he makes are scriptural. He does not pretend to effect cures by any healing virtue in himself. The cures, he says, are God's gifts, bestowed in answer to the "prayer of faith," which, the apostle promised, would "heal

the sick."

There is no reason to doubt the genuineness of some of the cures effected through Hickson's instru-mentality, any more than there is reason to doubt the genuineness of the cures wrought at the shrines of Ste. Anne de Beaupre and Our Lady of Lourdes.

Perhaps it is not so much the healer's "prayer of faith" as the exercise of faith by the sick person himself that produces the hoped-for result. Let it be remembered what Christ said to the sick woman who touched the hem of his garment and was healed: "Woman, thy faith has made thee whole."

The science of mental therapeutics is yet in its infancy.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

Canadian manufacturers may argue that domestic trade is booming, that their plants are fully occupied, and that it will be time enough to look for foreign trade when the home market is fully occupied. But by that time the foreign market may also have been supplied by other countries, thus the market for the goods they would have liked to introduce will be taken away from them,

CHAPTER XXV.

Mother Gutch.

Spargo, having exhausted the list of questions which he had thought out on his way to Baywater, was about to take his leave of Miss Bayliss, when a new idea suddenly occurred to him, and he turned back to that formidable lady.

"I've just thought of something else," he said.

"I told you that I'm certain that Maitland was murdered, and that he came to a sad end—murdered."

"And I've told you," she replied scornfully, "that in my opinion no end could be too bad for him."

"Just so—I understand," said Spargo. "But I don't tell you that he was not only murdered but robbed—robbed of probably a good deal. There's good reason to believe that he had securities, bank notes, loose diamonds and the like. He'd several thousand pounds when he left Cooledubeg, in New South Wales, where he'd lived quietly for some years."

Miss Bayliss smiled scornfully. "What's all this to me?" she asked.

"Possibly nothing. But, you see, that money, those securities, may be recovered. And as the boy you speak of is dead, to be sure, surely must, be somebody who's dead, to be sure, surely must, be having Miss Bayliss, and there's strong belief on the part of the police that it will turn up."

"This was a bit of ingenious bluff on the part of Spargo, he was not in effect with keen eyes.

But Miss Bayliss was adamant, and she looked at Spargo with scornful eyes.

"I say again, what's all that to me?" she exclaimed.

"Well, but hadn't the dead boy any relatives

on his father's side?" asked Spargo. "I know you're his aunt on the mother's side, and as you're indifferent, perhaps I can find some of the other side. It's very easy to find all these things out, you know."

Miss Bayliss, who had begun to stalk back to the house in grimy, half-dressed fashion, and had let Spargo see plainly that this part of the interview was distasteful to her, suddenly paused in her stride and glared at the young journalist.

"Easy to find all these things out?" she repeated.

Spargo caught, or fancied he caught, a note of anxiety in her tone. He was quick to turn his fancy to practical purpose.

"Oh, easy enough," he said. "I could find out all about Maitland's family through that boy. Quite quite easily."

Miss Bayliss had stopped now, and stood glaring at him. "How?" she demanded.

"I'll tell you," said Spargo, with cheerful alacrity. "It is, of course, the easiest thing in the world to trace all about his short life. I suppose the register and the birth at Market Millaster, and you, of course, will tell me where he died. By the by, when did he die, Miss Bayliss?"

But Miss Bayliss was going on again to the house.

"I shall tell you nothing more," she said angrily.

"I've told you too much already, and I believe all you're here for is to get some news for your paper."

But I will, at any rate, let you know where Maitland went to prison for his child would have been defenceless but for me; he'd have had to go to the workhouse but for me; he'd had a single relation in the world, a man, a physical man, a mother's side. And even at my age, old woman as I am,

I'd rather beg my bread in the street, I'd rather starve and die, than touch a penny piece that had come from the pocket of a man who'd killed his father. And without further word, without offering to show Spargo the way out, she marched in to the open window and disappeared. And Spargo knew he was about to follow her when he heard a sudden rustling sound in the shadow by which they had stood, and the next moment a quer, cracked, horrible voice, suggesting all sorts of things, said distinctly, and yet in a whisper:

"Sparrow turned and stared at the privet hedge behind him. It was thick and bushy, and in its full summer growth, he seemed to see the dark and nondescript shape behind. "Who's there?"

There was a curious cackle of laughter from behind the hedge; then the cracked, husky voice spoke again.

"Young man, don't you move or look as if you were talking to anybody. Do you know where the King of Madagascar public-house is in this quarter of the town, young man?" "Certainly not."

"No," answered Spargo. "Certainly not."

"Well, anybody'll tell you when you get outside, young man," continued the quer voice of the unseen person. "Go and ask the man at the corner by the King of Madagascar, and I'll come there to you at the end of half an hour. Then I'll tell you something, young man—I'll tell you something. Now run away, young man, run away to the King of Madagascar—I'm coming!"

The voice ended in a low, horrible cackling which made Spargo feel queer. But he was young enough to be in love with adventure, and he immediately turned on his heel without so much as a glance at the privet hedge, and went across the garden and through the house, and let himself out at the door. And at the next corner of the square he met a policeman and asked him if he knew where the King of Madagascar was.

U. S. Golf TitleEdward Ray Goes Around 72 Holes in 295, One Stroke Better Than Diegal of Chicago.

TOLEDO, Aug. 13.—Edward Ray of Great Britain today won the United States open golf championship in Indiana, with a score of 295 for 72 holes, thus carrying the cup to England for the second time, Harry Vardon having won the title twenty years ago, and lacking only two strokes of capturing it again today.

It was only by a stroke that the long-driving Briton snatched the honor, from Leo Diegal and Jack Hutchinson, Chicago, and Jack Burke, St. Paul, all of whom missed long putts by inches to tie the score of the winner. Ray also outplayed his countryman, Vardon, by a single stroke.

Vardon seemed to have the title clinched nearly all day. Starting only slightly behind this morning and leading by a stroke at the end of the first 18 holes with 215, while Leo Diegal and Jack Hutchinson had 219, and Ray 220, Vardon increased his chances by scoring 36 on the first nine, on the first nine of the last round, but he began to miss his shots both from the tee and from the green, taking six on the 52nd yard hole, and the 43rd yard hole, and three strokes for a 42 on the final nine. Ray also showed fatigue on the last nine, but his forty was offset by a par 35 on the first half. When he finished the long contest, Vardon was already in with 296, tying the score returned by Burke, and the enormous gallery that covered the hillside along the 32nd yard fairway of the 18th hole, was on tiptoe to see whether the find of Diegal or Hutchinson could hold the title in the United States.

Diegal was first to finish after Ray, and word was passed that he needed three on the last hole to tie the Briton's score. He drove 235 yards down the center of the fairway and crisply pitched a well-out approach hole, but with 18 feet to the right of the flag. He played the put well and it grazed the edge of the cup, but he refused to drop.

Hutchinson came to the last tee confronting the same problem his partner Hagen, having run up a score that all

AS YOU WERE

The project of a Canadian challenger for the America Cup doesn't look to be quite settled yet. According to an interview with Amelius Jarvis by a Toronto paper, the Toronto yachtman, whose name was prominently mentioned as a probable skipper of the challenger, is not entirely in favor of the scheme. Jarvis did not come out flat-footed and say what he really thought about the scheme in its present state, but he did say that, when consulted by Mr. Ross sometime before the announcement of a probable challenge was made, that in his opinion he thought it foolish to go ahead with such plans.

No doubt it would appeal to the public imagination to be in on a national sporting event, but whether it would catch the pocket in the same imaginative way is another question, and one that takes serious thought. The challenger would cost several millions under present day costs and the same true of a defender. As Mr. Jarvis points out the New York Y. C. would demand a guarantee that a challenger would be forthcoming.

If the popular subscription scheme was floated and failed to catch the public fancy it would be rather a costly fiasco if guarantees were to be met as well.

After all, like some other great advertisers, the best Sir Tom could say about Shamrock was "It floats."

The reason McGraw would go out and get tight and get into a fight isn't the same reason Shag would do it.

The Brantford Examiner: "Morrisette, says the London Advertiser, will be among the missing for the rest of the season." Sounded kind of bad at first until that first comma have into view, and the second one caused a sigh of relief.

Judging by the attitude of the loyal public to Cobb while Ruth is around the Georgia peach is about ready for the can and the luscious label.

The withdrawal of Great Britain from the Olympic games, which is seriously contemplated, will be a big blow to international competitions which the games centrally organize. It's hard to understand this attitude on the part of the directors of British athletics, but familiarity with Olympic games and being closer to the source may account for it. The charge of enthusiasm, it's probable that other reasons will be attributed by the Yanks, as continued victories for United States athletes in the games the last number of years.

THE KITCHENER TELEGRAPH. The deliberate attack made by Bill Morrisette on Jack O'Hearn in a London hotel on Wednesday evening, is a disgrace to organized baseball. Usually the events of a baseball game cease after the last out, but Morrisette's attack on O'Hearn was a disgrace to the game.

The force of the blow, according to Mr. O'Hearn, knocked him to the floor, and the latter turned around and guarded his head by holding up his left hand. Morrisette carried a baseball bat under his bathrobe, and if it had not been for the glass the eccentric pitcher would have struck O'Hearn over the head, which was undoubtedly his intention. As it was, Carroll had time to warn O'Hearn, and the latter turned around and guarded his head by holding up his left hand.

The attempt that is being made by the sport writers in Hamilton to protect Morrisette does not reflect credit upon their idea of fairness. It is claimed by the sporting writers that Morrisette used his fists on O'Hearn, and according to the Hamilton Spectator "administered a fine trouncing to the arbitrator." This is anything but encouraging for clean sport. No protection whatsoever should be given Morrisette, and if Mr. O'Hearn was considerate for the protection of his fellow-sporting men, he would have charged with intent to kill against Morrisette, who has proven himself anything but a credit to the M.-O. League.

Naturally Shaughnessy and the Hamilton sport writers are seeking to save Morrisette from that fate, as it is expected that he would be sold to Detroit at the end of the M.-O. League season. No matter whether Hamilton wants to get a big price for Morrisette or not, the duty of President Maines of the M.-O. League, is clear. The punishment for the cowardly assault should be his banishment from the M.-O. League for all time. There is no denying that Morrisette is an unsafe man to be in the game, and the M.-O. League will be better off without him, even if Hamilton loses all chances of winning the pennant, and a few dollars in the bargain.

Walter Winans dropping dead in his sulky after he had just driven one of his horses in a race, made a dramatic end to a great career of sport. Son of wealthy New England family, Winans early left for the continent, of which he was a member of the American Jockey Club. All branches of sport interested him, but the horse was his first and last love, and he had done more, it is safe to say, than any one man in upholding the standards of horse racing. Author of several books, a sculptor of equine subjects, whose work showed signs of genius, a lover of sports, Mr. Winans had a colorful career, vouchsafed to few men.

Two games at Kitchener today should make the London team lead absolutely commanding in the M.-O. League. The first game of the first part of next week, which series will practically clinch the pennant, even if straight wins do not result. A double-header is due down in the shadow of the mountain next Wednesday, and there will be a number of fans go down to witness the games. Hamilton making no wild promises of taking any of all of the games, so this humble attitude is a refreshing change from blatant prophecies.

No Arena For London This Season, But Assured Next

Iron For Structure Ordered, But Other Material Not Available—Princess Rink May House Hockey Next Season.

A nice cooling breeze swept around a group yesterday on Dundas street as they earnestly conversed. Humid as the air was and as brisk as the conversation, this group looked cooler than the sheer that leered by them as they talked. And no wonder! Arena and hockey were what they talked.

Several of the group had a long-distance acquaintance with the shades behind an arena for London in 1920, and the month of the month action was that the projected arena for London was not coming for the winter of 1920-21, but for a year from then. Those behind the movement to provide London with today's games have been unable to get the material they need this year, but have thus far got as far as ordering the iron work for the structure. It now happens that hockey will be in the same shape the coming season.

Ontario Hospital—Dr. W. J. Robinson. St. Matthews—A. H. Whitlow. All Saints—A. C. Thompson.

The draw: St. Matthews. Thistles vs. St. Matthews. Huron & Erie vs. Elmwoods. Rowing Club vs. Ontario Hospital. St. Marys vs. All Saints.

About the Shows

AT THE GRAND

An Extensive Array of Productions To Be Featured At the Grand This Coming Season.

Theatres, like most humans, require new dress in making an appearance to the public gaze, because the public of today is keenly critical, and a playhouse at today must create a happy, enjoyable feeling of home when one enters. That the house, its appearance, has indeed much to do with the enjoyment of the plays presented, has been demonstrated beyond doubt time and time again. With just this fact in view, Manager Minnichuk of the Grand closed the house for five weeks to "dress up" and make many new and needed repairs, to redecorate and install bright new fixtures, as well as give the house a thorough cleaning from pit to gallery.

When the Grand opens next with its first road attraction of the new season, patrons will note with much pleasure, that the management has spared no expense to create that comfy, home feeling that makes for more enjoyable evenings. The lobby, the interior, the stage, and the gallery have all had their "dress up".

"Vanity Fair of 1920," a snappy musical comedy production, with a bevy of Broadway beauties, all under 20, and a cast of super-excellence will open the new season Monday next. Replete with witty lines, clever repartee, tuneful melodies, clever dancing, and good clean comedy, "Vanity Fair" should prove more than score with Grand patrons for the entire season here. Elmer Coudy, the excellent cast, and the consummation is said to be out of the ordinary in attractions of this kind. The attraction comes here intact, and as presented at the Premiere in New York City. A special Wednesday matinee has been arranged, and the feminine patrons will, no doubt, take advantage of the first Wednesday matinee of the season.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" will grace the boards for the next three days of the week, with Saturday matinee. From this one Manager Minnichuk promises Londoners the pick of the theatrical world in the matter of better road attractions. Some of the biggest New York productions will feature the season's plays, "Chu Chin Chow," which created a furore last January, will return intact, and patrons will be assured of a continuous round of amusement from the opening night, Monday next.

The Trans-Canada Theatre, Limited, are now producing many of their own attractions, and many of them are slated to appear at the Grand during the season. Many new English productions with all-star casts will be brought into Canada by the circuit. Martin Harvey and Percy Hutchinson will both tour the Trans-Canada route

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" At the Grand Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," one of the greatest of John Fox Jr.'s novels, has been dramatized by Sidney Toler, an actor-playwright of distinction, and with the New York company headed by Geo. Simpson, Dorothy Dunn, formerly the Wendy in Maude Adams' production of "Peter Pan"; Dorothy Rafuse, winner of several beauty contests for the women of the screen; James Kennedy, Walter Carmen, Geo. Franklin, John Houston, Grace Fries, W. J. O'Leary, Jack Hawkins, L. Heron, Bert Kay, Arthur Wood and John Williams in the cast, will be seen beginning Thursday evening next at the Grand Opera House, where four performances, including a Saturday matinee, will be given. In adapting the story, Mr. Toler adhered to the Fox narrative pretty closely, although some changes that are believed to lend to dramatic interest were made. The management has staged the play with fine regard for attractiveness of scene and the settings of Kentucky mountain neighborhoods are photographic in realism. The scene of Major Buford's home has the charm of the South of 1861, and furnishings are typical of the period. Humor and romance preserve a balance and the scene in which the dog Jack is tried for sheep-killing is amusing and at the same time most stirring in intensity. Seats go on sale Monday morning next at 9 a.m.

AT THE PATRICIA

William Desmond comes to the Patricia Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "A Broadway Cowboy." It's the story of a tenderfoot in the West, only never was there a tenderfoot like this one, nor adventure and romance of quite the high-gallop power of this original, comedy-drama by Byron Morgan.

Desmond, a Jesse D. Hampton-Pathe luminary, plays the role of Burke Randall, a thrilling melodrama. When the company goes on the love for Betty Jordan, fair daughter of a tank town in Montana, gets him into the identical predicament, and she is the only one through in "A Western Knight." And Betty, taking a tip from the heroine of the play, rescues him in the same sensational manner.

The rarest being in all the world of the theatre is a pretty girl who is really funny. One of these "rare avies" is Miss Alice Morley, star of the spectacular musical comedy,

The wonder show of the season, "The Mimic World of 1920," big $10,000 musical comedy at Loew's all next week, starring America's foremost character comedienne, Alice Morley.

"The Mimic World," which plays Loew's all next week, is a beautiful and funny. In the show she plays the part of a fresh property boy in Hammerstein's famous vaudeville theatre. She wears overalls—but such overalls! Silk, they are, with black and white stripes, and they fit her—well, she has a beautiful figure. Instead of a property boy's broken shoes she wears dainty high-heeled slippers, and her costume throughout is designed with a view to accentuate, rather than detract from, her abundant physical charms.

But in spite of the fact that she does not depend upon grotesque clothes to help her comedy, she furnishes practically all of the comedy in the show. In addition to this, she has a wonderful voice, leads several numbers, and is a marvelous dancer.

While "The Mimic World" was playing in New York one of the world's famous producers of musical comedy saw Miss Morley's work and promptly engaged her, signing her to a five-year contract. Her present tour is the last in vaudeville, for next season she will open as a star on Broadway.

CHARMING ETHEL CLAYTON AT LOEW'S MONDAY, NEXT IN "A LADY IN LOVE."

The attraction of the Loew's Theatre on Monday next will be Ethel Clayton in her new Paramount Artcraft picture, "A Lady in Love." This was adapted by Alice Eytan from the popular stage play by Hargret Ford and Alice Duer, and is declared to be a thoroughly entertaining drama.

Miss Clayton has a role of Barbara, the heroine, who comes from a convent school with Burton Sedgewick, rascally younger brother of her guardian, George Sedgewick. Soon she learns that Burton has another wife and a child living. He fears arrest on account of some frauds in which he is involved and flees the country. Barbara goes to live with George Sedgewick.

Just supposing you were a millionaire, that you had picked up a little chorus girl from the door round the corner, and that after you were both perfectly comfortable in your apartment, you would do up a little business to whom you owed all your money. Now what would you do in a case like that? Well, this millionaire had ideas of his own, and he promptly turned over the apartment, fortune and everything to the little chorus girl, and went adventuring on the high seas of New York's streets as the driver of a taxi. He soon found out why taxi drivers have that know-it-all look. Through the little listening hole cut in the glass shield at the back of his seat, he found romance and adventure, and a great Wall street broker unconsciously gave him a million-dollar tip on the stock market—which he promptly used to such good advantage that he had a fortune of his own, and was able to go back and win the pretty little chorus girl for his wife.

The credit of the story goes to that famous novelist, George Agnew Chamberlain, the credit of the huge success of the picture goes to Taylor Holmes, who is starring in the special film adaptation of this famous comedy romance of modern Metropolitan life, "Taxi," at the Allen next Thursday, Friday and Saturday—and after you have seen it you will give a lot of credit to the Allen for showing such a highly entertaining and amusing photoplay.

most J. H.'s do—but turns out to be the best sort of a guy in the world, perhaps a darned sight better than the view there. And there is the lady in distress, who for the first time in the annals of literature, drama or movie, is sensible enough to refuse an invitation to visit a man's room—thereby ruining a perfectly good situation. We warn you not to come to see "Scratch My Back" if you expect the usual screen comedy. But if you like different things you'll love this innovation in modern drama.

A special musical offering by the famous orchestra and delightful organ music by Mr. A. D. Jordan, together with many added film attractions will complete the program.

Rupert Hughes Great Comedy, "Scratch My Back," Opens At Allen Monday. It's Really Something New in Pictures—Startling As Its Name.

"Scratch My Back," a picture taken from Rupert Hughes' famous comedy of the same name, is showing at the Allen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It is a hero, who performs a noble deed of valor on behalf of a lady in distress—and gets nothing for his pains but a "thank you" and a grateful smile. There is the villain who inhales spaghetti from a tin pot and wears paper dummies for shirts—surrenders to the hero at the insignificant price of a whacked chin and a poke in the ribs. There is the jealous husband, who storms and raves like most famous of all her plays, "Peter Pan," is to be filmed, and it is believed that Sir James M. Barrie has released it on condition that Miss Adams play the title role.

Upon his return to Los Angeles, where he will have charge of the making of the picture for Cosmopolitan Productions, Inc., for some time to come, Frank Borzage has been lionized by the great film colony. His sensational success in the making of "Humoresque," which had already run six weeks in the Criterion Theatre, New York, when he left there, had preceded him. On the strength of its record in the east some of the theatres in the large western cities are booking this screen version of Fanny Hurst's novel for four weeks with option of extension.

Edna Ferber, the magazine writer, has written a story for the screen which will probably be interpreted by Priscilla Dean or Carmel Myers.

More than 100 writers for the screen in the studios of Southern California have organized to assert the claims of their craft to better recognition. Many of them charge that directors are often receiving credit that more properly belongs to the creative mind of the authors.

A D. JORDAN, NOW PLAYING THE GREAT ORGAN AT ALLEN THEATRE.

Mr. A. D. Jordan, London's famous organist and musician, is to preside at the Allen Theatre all next week, while the Allen organist, Mr. Ireland, is taking his vacation, and Mr. Pouré, the leader, promises that he will have Mr. Jordan give a number of organ recitals on the different programs, which will be one of the best musical treats that Londoners have ever heard.

ALLEN THEATRE INTERIOR REGISTERS 64 DEGREES, WHILE OUTSIDE BOILS AT 85 DEGREES.

During last week in the middle of the hottest days, a test was made of the Allen temperature, and it was found that that theatre kept its interior atmosphere at an average of 64 degrees by the thermometer, while the register outside marked 85. You have no doubt noticed before this, the wonderful cool, air, and refreshing breezes which flow through this beautiful house whenever you enter it from a scorching outside.

JUNE ELVIDGE IN METRO PICTURES.

June Elvidge, who is now starring on Broadway as prima donna in "The Girl in the Spotlight," has been engaged by Loew-Metro pictures to play one of the big parts of the picture version of "Fine Feathered Frenzy," now being made at the Metro studio in New York. Miss Elvidge will work in the studio and play on the stage at the same time.

They Used To Strap On Spectacles!

Old pictures and collections show grotesque shapes in early spectacles.

In the earliest styles the lenses were round, very large and fastened in a rim of black horn half an inch wide.

They were strapped on with a leather thong over the nose and another about the head. Small wonder wearers of spectacles were ridiculed in those days. Obviously, the adjustment could not have been very good. Such crudeness makes those shudder who appreciate the scientific necessity of delicate, accurate adjustment, as practiced

OASIS TO DETROITERS

Likened To Barbary Coast in

City of Golden

Gate.

WINDSOR, Aug. 13.—Road houses in Macomb and Wayne Counties, along the river front on the American side of the international boundary line, for weeks past have suffered severely as a result of a general movement of troops from the Canadian side of the river. Coincidentally hostilities in the vicinity of Sandwick, Sunnyside in the Ojibway, and up the river along the shores of Lake St. Clair, have been thronged nightly with pleasure seekers from across the river, who cross by hundreds on ferries in automobiles and on foot for diversion such as the much-famed resorts of the metropolis across the waters cannot afford.

With the declaration of war on riverfront drinking houses on the other side of the line last night by Special United States Attorney Polioher, a greater influx of night parties on this side is now anticipated, and local, provincial and county authorities here, led by Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, are determined to continue the warfare started some weeks ago. When the Methodist minister opened the barrage on the liquor traffic here and across the river, he declared a "clean-up."

So great has become the rush for the Canadian oasis, in spite of many thirty Americans, in spite of huge quantities of whiskey being smuggled into the so-called Desert of Michigan, that frequently scores of automobiles are unable to get back over the river on the last boat, either because the ferries are unable to handle the traffic, or because they have missed the "night owl," and the occupants are forced to drive into side streets and sleep in their cars. Hotel accommodation is so limited as to be totally inadequate.

Small Cottages Are Resorts.

Numerous dwelling houses in outlying districts along the border have been converted into road houses, and here dancing parties and cabarets with regular habitués as entertainers assisted by convivial guests from Detroit are held, that rival the city of Detroit at their best in the old days. Music is furnished, and as the hours near midnight sessions approach, the height of merriment and occasional brawl, hostesses, investigators have declared after making rounds of midnight frolics.

For those who do not dance games of craps and roulette are operated quite openly in adjoining rooms where huge sums are won and lost mostly the latter by newly-rich bootleggers whose fortunes have been acquired recently in huge profits being amassed here.

As an indication of money being garnered in from the illicit traffic, the number of a small branch bank on a side street here recently told the writer he had five accounts all in excess of $5,000 deposited with him during the past few months and acquired during that time by bootleggers, all young men scarcely more than youths.

Big Road Houses Quieter.

Resorts commonly known as road-houses are growing gradually quieter, however, forced through publicity and activities of the police and special officers to tame down their entertainments in many, in which liquor laws only near beer and occasionally the real stuff is dispensed instead. Small cottages scattered along lower Detroit River, and in upper stretches along shores of Lake St. Clair are coming rapidly into favor, here admittance is gained through introduction to owners and quieter parties are the rule.
The kitchens are favored as drinking rooms, while privileged guests loiter and lounging around all parts of the house in many cases sleeping there till morning when they return to Detroit by early ferries.

It is these small cottages that are now baffling prohibition enforcement officers and it is a stiff battle the latter are fighting because of the remote location of many and the system of warning signals in use by neighbors who advise of the approach of inspectors.

So the fight goes on between a score of special Ontario officers stationed here, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, county and local forces on one side and get-rich-quick bootleggers on the other. The determination exhibited by Rev. Mr. Spracklin in wiping out the business apparently forebodes a final clean-up of the majority of the palaces of midnight joy.

Afraid To Go Home.

But the end is not yet in sight, in spite of assurances to the contrary from Attorney-General Ramey and other members of Ontario's officialdom.
"I want to be prosecuted, I've just spent all my money on whiskey across the river in Windsor, and I'm afraid to go home, because my wife is worse than Maggie Jiggs," declared a 35-year-old Detroitier when he appeared before Special United States Attorney Polioher
in Detroit today.

Mrs. Jiggs was called on the phone and notified of her husband's plight, and her answer was, "Come home, darling, I'm so glad you weren't drowned." Jiggs changed his mind about going to jail. He went home.

BAIRN IN DEREHAM

COMPLETELY BURNED

Formal Opening of New Ingersoll Park Indefinitely

Postponed.

INGERSOLL, Aug. 13.—The opening of the new park, which was to have taken place on Sunday, has been postponed indefinitely because of the wet weather, which has rendered the grounds unfit to accommodate the crowds expected to gather. It is only a short time since the park was seeded, and while there has been a splendid growth of grass, it was deemed inadvisable to proceed with the formal opening Sunday. In connection with the formal opening there will be a memorial service in honor of the soldiers who gave their lives in the war.

Honey Crop Good.

The honey situation is more promising than last year, according to information from the neighboring districts, where there is a number of well-known apiarists. The crop will be much larger than last season and the quality better. Last year there was very little clover in many districts, prices, it is expected, will remain much the same as last season.

A large barn on the farm of John Sheehan, first concession of Dereham, was struck by lightning early this morning and completely destroyed. It was well filled with grain and hay, but the farm animals were outside. An implement shed adjoining the barn was also destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Funeral of Austin Miller.

The funeral of Austin Miller, who died suddenly in Toronto Tuesday night, was held this afternoon from the family residence, Hall street, to the Methodist Church, and was under Masonic auspices. There was a large attendance, many of his friends and associates from Toronto and elsewhere being present.
Impressive services were conducted by Rev. J. G. Scott and Rev. E. Sheppard.
Interment was made in the Ingersoll Rural Cemetery and the pall-bearers were H. W. Ross, Toronto; Fred Miller, nephew, Toronto; Justus Miller, Hugh Miller, Warren Miller, sons, and Charles Roberts, son-in-law.

LISTOWEL MAKES

RECORD IN HIGH

SCHOOL EXAMS

LISTOWEL, Aug. 13.—Principal Archibald is much elated over the result of the provincial examinations and with good reason. Nineteen of his students tried, nineteen passed, and twelve with honors at the middle school examination. This is the highest record of any high school in the province.

FOREST FLAX CROP

LARGEST IN YEARS

FOREST, Aug. 13.—H. Fraleigh, proprietor of the Forest flax mill is now harvesting the largest and best crop of flax ever grown in this section. Owing to the scarcity of help the price for pulling has been advanced to $25 per acre, in former years from $1 to $5 per acre was the ruling price. Grain crops are all good. Wheat is being threshed, and is yielding well. The fruit crop is also very promising.

CANADIANS ARE FIT.

ANTWERP, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Associated Press).—The Canadians here took a last spin this afternoon. Manager Merrick, in an interview, said that despite indifferent training facilities, the team was as fit as smoke.

Phillips had injured his knee and MacDiarmid has strained his back, but all had recovered. Prospects are good.
Their nearest competitors are the Swedes, Fins and Americans.

THE HYDRO SHOP HAS A LIMITED NUMBER OF THESE SPLENDID MACHINES, AND WHILE THEY LAST THEY WILL BE SOLD FOR $68, WHICH IS ABOUT $30 CHEAPER THAN THEY CAN BE BOUGHT ELSEWHERE.
THE WHITE ROTARY ELECTRIC SEWING MACHINE DOES ANYTHING
ANY OTHER MACHINE WILL DO, BUT DOES IT BETTER.

The making of dainty shirtwaists, blouses, whitewear—the things that cost much money when you buy them ready made—is rendered easy by the White Rotary. Intricate jobs of sewing are simplified, and there is no labor in the process, because the operator simply presses the foot pedal, and hydro does the work.

If you desire, convenient terms of payment can be arranged by paying $8 down.

DEMONSTRATION BY EXPERTS ALL NEXT WEEK AT HYDRO SHOP.

Experts from the factory will be here to show you the superior qualities of the White Rotary. If you prefer a demonstration in your own home, phone 7000 for

WASHER

Demonstration
Next Week

"I'll do
the wash"

Experts will demonstrate the famous "1900" Washer at the Hydro Shop all next week.

This washer has exclusive features which will appeal to the woman of the house. It has no cylinder to lift out and dry after each washing. It is not necessary to wash the machine after you have washed the clothes. The electric wringer, which normally occupies a position over the tub, may be swung around between two tubs, a convenience that helps to make washing by the "1900" a pleasure. But come to the Hydro Shop and see for yourself. You'll want a "1900" when you have seen it work.
