ASQUITH BACKS LABOR'S NO CONFIDENCE MOTION Thugs Rob Taxi-Man; Williams May Face Manslaughter

TAXI OFFICE IS ENTERED AND DRIVER ASSAULTED

Clayton Harris, Bound and Gagged, Pounds on Door To Attract Aid.

SAFE IS UNTOUCHED

Another Employee, Asleep in Adjoining Room, Knew Nothing of Hold-Up.

Lurking in a corner of the Marley-Hexter Taxi Service office, 483 Richmond street, two thugs pounced on Clayton Harris, taxi driver, at 4 o'clock this morning, robbed him of $12 and rifled a drawer in the building of $85 in bills.

Harris had just returned from a call. When he entered the office to report, he says, two men jumped out from the adjoining washroom and threw him to the floor. He was then gagged and bound while the robbers plundered an office desk of money. Half an hour later Harris attracted the attention of a passing constable by banging against the door. The officer investigated and discovered Harris on the floor, tied hand and foot.

While the robbery was in progress John Collins, another taxi-man was sleeping in the adjoining room, and knew nothing about it until awakened by Harris.

No clue to the identity of the thieves has been obtained. Police headquarters were immediately notified and Detective Walsh was detailed to make inquiries. He questioned Harris closely, but could procure no information which might be of assistance in apprehending the thugs.

Hydro Power Off.

Harris and Collins went on duty at 7 p.m. yesterday. Harris, who was in the office, received a call just before 4 a.m. to take a customer living on Pall Mall street to the C. N. R. station. He returned 15 minutes later. Hydro power was off at the time and two candles had been left burning in the office. Entering this room after parking his car and taking off his coat, Harris observed that the

BENNETT DISAPPROVES ALL TAX EXEMPTIONS

City Assessment Commissioner Advises Graded Scale in Making of Levies.

Absolutely no exemptions for income and a graded tax is recommended by City Assessment Commissioner Harry Bennett.

"Everyone should have to pay a tax upon property and income," the commissioner stated, "in proportion to their earnings or the extent of their holdings."

"I would have no exemptions whatever, and there would be less confusion. All would pay something, but I would have a graded scale of levy. For instance, a person whose income was $500 would not pay as large a per cent tax as one whose income was $1,000."

COUNTY COUNCIL IS ASKED TO ACT IN BANK MATTER

County Clerk John Stuart has received a communication from I. E. Weldon, secretary of the Home Bank Relief Committee, asking the Middlesex County Council to pass a resolution urging government assistance to Home Bank depositors.

MAN SLEEPING HERE

MILK IS NOW SELLING AT PRE-WAR PRICES

Reduction Brings Mark Down to 10 Cents a Quart—9 Cents in '14.

IN EFFECT WEDNESDAY

Abundance of Supply and Less Consumption Said To Be Cause.

A drop of one cent per quart in the price of milk and 5 cents per pint in the price of cream, in effect yesterday, brings the price of these commodities to a pre-war level.

Yesterday London milk dealers charged 10 cents a quart for milk and 20 cents a pint for cream. In 1914 milk sold for 9 cents a quart, and cream for 18 cents a pint.

Local milk dealers gave the abundance of milk on the market and less consumption as the reason for the drop. Several days ago, cheese and milk powder factories in Ontario announced a big slash in prices. Canadian cheese dropped 6 cents, and is now being sold at 17 cents a pound.

This directly effects the price of milk and cream, the dealers say.

A further reduction in milk prices is not expected until spring, several dealers said this morning.

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTING FOR BLOCK COST $5,500

Price Per Foot Frontage For Ten-Year Period Placed at 56.5 Cents.

An estimate on the cost of installing ornamental lights on Dundas street, from Waterloo to Colborne streets, prepared by the public utilities commission, and submitted to the city council, fixes the price at 56.5 cents per foot frontage for ten years.

The total cost of erecting the lights is $5,500 for the block, which works out at a cost per foot frontage of $4.158. It is understood that a petition regarding the lighting on this block has been received.

UNDERWRITERS REPORT FILED BY COMMITTEE

The fire underwriters' report for 1923 came to the finance committee last night and was filed without a murmur.

Ald. Leonard Douglass asked that the members first consider the fire department when the Britain report comes up in the regular order of business. It was time that this issue was finally disposed of, he added.

Fire Chief Aitken also entered a plea for a speedy decision as the affair "had been hanging fire too long." He thanked the chairman and members of the committee when they promised to give his department their early and close consideration.

RUGGLES CASE THOUGHT TO BE REASON OF CALL

Mayor Wenige does not expect to be able to go to Toronto until Tuesday next to interview Attorney-General W. F. Nickle, as requested yesterday.

The mayor understands that the consultation will be in connection with the Ruggles Motor Truck Company, and he states that the attorney-general has been making certain investigation to secure information that he desired.

ICE THAT FLOWS LIKE WATER.
With it comes a page on Canadian glaciers in the mighty Rockies and the mystery of solid ice which flows like a river—an article on Berlin's Battling Amazons, the women boxers of the cabarets—another on the Giant-Killers who handle the great trees of British Columbia's forests—and another on the possibilities of Polygamy in France.

"THE SEVEN VANISHED MEN."
Arthur Somers Roche has a mystery story, "The Seven Vanished Men," and there is more fiction from Juliet Wilbor Tompkins.

And humor? Read "The Janitor of the Clink," a sketch of army days—"So This is Chicago," and of course "Life's Little Comedies," by Frise.

EXPRESS TAX APPEAL REOPENS TOMORROW

Judge Talbot Macbeth Will Continue Hearing Against City.

Judge Talbot Macbeth will, tomorrow, continue his hearing in the appeal against city business tax assessment, entered by the Canadian National Railroad, Express Company.

This suit has already claimed attention of the court, adjournment being ordered several weeks ago to allow the submission of further evidence. In the meanwhile a Toronto judge has handed down a judgment in favor of the railroad, in a similar case. The C. N. R. express department is appealing in every instance throughout the province, against the business tax.

The local suit involves an assessment of about $30,000, the assessment commissioner reports.

PORCUPINE GIVEN TO ZOO BY BROWNSVILLE RESIDENT

Springbank zoo will soon be in possession of a porcupine, an offer of one having been made to the general manager this morning by A. D. Honsberger, Brownsville.

KING THANKS FALLON FOR SUGGESTION

Premier Makes No Attempt To Analyze the Bishop's Proposal.

UP TO PARLIAMENT

Considerable Interest Aroused in Ottawa Over Open Letter.

Special to The Advertiser.
Ottawa, Jan. 17.—The open letter of Bishop Fallon to Premier King on the banking situation has aroused considerable interest in Ottawa.

In the nature of things, it was not to be expected that Premier King would make any extensive reply or undertake to analyze the proposal set forth by the bishop of London.

The premier's reply is simply in the nature of an acknowledgment of the open letter published this morning, accompanied by appropriate thanks for suggestions on a difficult situation. Parliament will decide upon whatever policies it is decided to pursue in the matter.

PAIR OF TRESPASSERS REMAINED ONE WEEK

Skelton and Harrington Impress Court—Came From Detroit.

James Skelton and Edward Harrington jumped a train at Detroit yesterday and decided to get off at London to seek a job. They were arrested on C. N. R. property charged with trespassing.

The pair appeared in police court this morning with heavy growths of beard. They admitted they had neglected to buy tickets covering their passage here, but the quiet, even tone of their voices impressed the court.

"I don't think either of you is of the criminal class," Magistrate Graydon said. "Why did you trespass on railroad property?"

No explanation was forthcoming. Skelton said his home was in Ottawa but his wife was in Detroit. Harrington came to see a friend in London who offered him a job, but before he had a chance to communicate with said friend the police clamped him in jail.

"I'll remand you both for a week," the court decided. "We'll help you to get outside assistance."

Candidates have already been nominated and are busy organizing their friends to work in the drive for votes.

The Advertiser's Campaign Headquarters—a new office on the ground floor of the Dominion Savings building—was crowded with people seeking information before all the furniture had been moved in.

Twenty thousand dollars—eleven automobiles—cabinets of silver—cash prizes of $2,000, $1,000, $600 and $500, and generous bonuses in commissions and special prizes—a sweeping offer that has caught everyone's imagination.

It's a smashing, clean-up drive and the splendid start which it has made proves that people like The Advertiser's idea of spending its money with Advertiser readers and friends. It's a sort of big family affair, and The Advertiser is very happy in giving its friends a first opportunity to win the big prizes at stake.

SIMPLE BUSINESS PROPOSITION.
The whole idea is a simple business proposition. The Advertiser, after months spent in improving its quality and mechanical equipment, wants more readers, and to establish its daily friendship in more homes.

DOORWAY TO WASH ROOM

WHERE THUGS ROBBED TAXI MAN.
This is the office of the Marley-Hexter Taxi Company on Richmond street, where Harris was slugged and robbed at 4 o'clock this morning. Two unknown men grabbed and tied him as he came through the washroom door, shown in the picture. A policeman later found him lying trussed up on the floor. The thugs escaped after prying open the desk at which Mr. Marley is seated and securing a small sum of money. The big safe in the corner was not touched.

BANDIT PAIR MAY HAVE SEPARATE HEARINGS

Rigney Intimates That Charge Against Williams May Be Reduced to Manslaughter.

ADDITIONAL EXPENSE

City Pays 75 Per Cent of Costs, Rest Met by the County.

"Slim" Williams and Sidney Murrell now seem likely to have separate trials with the charge against Williams reduced to manslaughter and Murrell alone standing trial for murder of Russell Campbell.

Questioned by The Advertiser today, T. J. Rigney, K.C., who will prosecute both criminals for the crown, stated that there was a possibility of the men being tried separately and that the charge against Williams might be reduced to manslaughter.

"However, I would not care to say anything positive for publication at the present time," declared Mr. Rigney. "I have yet to receive all the information I desire in connection with the matter."

Should the Melbourne robbers and alleged murderers be tried separately, it will mean much additional expense to county and city. The trial will last from three to four days each, jury expenses being figured at $40 a day, for although only 12 men will be sitting on the case at hand, the others will be seated in the courtroom drawing down their $5 a day.

The city of London pays 75 per cent of the cost of the trials, the county paying the rest. It was the plan in this connection that the more crimes committed in the city than in the county and that the rate was looked upon by the city and county officials as satisfactory.

ACTION OF $5,000 IS FIRST CASE

Judge Riddell To Hear Breach of Contract Suit at Assizes.

The first non-jury action to come before Mr. Justice Riddell, who will preside at the winter assizes at the court house, has been set down for trial. Fred Howlett, Petrolia brick manufacturer, is suing the Peninsula Sugar Company, also of Petrolia, for $5,000 and damages for alleged breach of contract.

Mr. Howlett, in his statement of claim, says he contracted with the defendant company to supply one and a half million bricks at $18 per thousand, the agreement being drawn up on November 4, 1922. He states he manufactured 550,000 bricks and delivered 550,000. On October 12, 1923, he was notified that no more bricks would be required.

The defence alleges there was no contract made to purchase their total requirements and that all bricks accepted were paid for.

J. W. G. Winnett is acting for the plaintiff, and R. G. R. Mackenzie, Petrolia, for the company.

COUNCIL WILL CONSIDER ALBERTA COAL QUESTION

CITY WILL SOON NAME DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE

Question of Alberta Coal and Freight Rates Will Be Considered.

CLERK AWAITS REPLY

The Alberta coal question has been referred to the city council and will receive consideration at the next regular session, in view of the fact that Toronto has appointed a representative to attend a conference of Ontario municipalities to discuss lower freight rates.

The 1923 city council sought the support of Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor and other centers in this endeavor. City Clerk Baker reported last night that no definite reply had been received from any of them as to their intentions. The committee decided, however, to leave the proposal open for a further consideration.

It was suggested last year that a conference be called when the various communities interested would send delegates to approach the government. Now that Toronto has appointed its representative it is likely that London will do likewise.

STUDENTS PLAN FOR FRATERNITIES

Dean Fox Points Out Organizations Must Have Genuine Constitutions.

Fraternities and societies at the University of Western Ontario will probably be instituted when the new university buildings are opened this summer, but they will have to comply with rules and regulations laid down by the board of governors two years ago, Dean W. Sherwood Fox stated today.

A year ago a movement was on foot by many of the university students to organize a club with a view to being adopted by a chartered fraternity, whose constitution was approved with that of the club. The club was formed by students who had not the required scholastic standing and as a result the members were not able to obtain permission to function from the board of governors. "Had the students complied with the rules mapped out by the board they would have been allowed to carry on," Dean Fox stated.

"All fraternities or societies formed at the University of Western Ontario must have a constitution similar to fraternities in the United States," American universities will recognize a fraternity whose constitution is composed of a scholastic and a social element.

Although the need for fraternities at the University of Western Ontario has not been urgent, the large amount of city students attending the college of arts and medicine, it is expected that when the new buildings are opened many more out-of-town students will be attending. This will mean that students will desire suitable lodging at a reasonable price which, at other universities, is afforded through fraternities.

Plans are now being made by the university to secure dormitories when the new buildings are completed. Dean Fox points out that any definite plans for the building of dormitories will not be made until more urgent university needs are attended to. Huron College, it is said, will change the present arts buildings on St. George street into a dormitory for Anglican students. This will temporarily relieve the need for dormitories.

Should the students desire to form a fraternity, they would have to adopt a constitution and submit it to the board of governors for approval. The fraternity would be "on its own" and would have to exist as a club for a period before it was adopted by a recognized fraternity.

NEWSIES SAID TO HAVE STOLEN MILK BOTTLES

Residents of Mount Pleasant avenue, who left milk bottles on their door steps with money in them before they retired last night, awoke this morning to find both milk bottles and money gone. A search along the street revealed small pieces of glass strewn about, but the money could not be found. The theft was reported to the milk company, who investigated.

It was found that newspaper boys, during the course of their early morning rounds had "swiped" the bottles containing the money. The milk company reported the matter to the police, and so tomorrow morning a watchful policeman will be waiting for the newsies.

Is There a Fire-Trap Like This Next Door To You?

CELLARS LIKE THIS BOOST YOUR INSURANCE RATE.

Here is a picture of the cellar in a downtown store, close to Richmond and Dundas street. The furnace is surrounded by piles of waste paper, excelsior and boxes. It all makes splendid kindling at a time when the great percentage of fires in London come from overheated furnaces. Carelessness like this—a dropped cigarette—a hot furnace, and there is a fire costing thousands of dollars and perhaps loss of life. Such conditions leading to frequent fires mean high insurance rates. The only solution is strict enforcement of the law, by which the fire department may prosecute offenders who fail to keep clear cellars, so that inspections are properly made at regular intervals, and to insist that your neighbor's cellar as well as your own establishment is safe from fire. Prevention of fire is infinitely cheaper and more effective than all the engines and reels ever built.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING.
The annual congregational meeting of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church was held last evening, Rev. M. F. Cree, B.A., presiding. The reports presented by various departments show the church to be in a healthy state financially and in every other respect. Sixty-four new members have been added to the congregation during the past year, and the sum of $2,800 has been paid off the mortgage debt, both of which were received as encouraging features. The total receipts of the church during the past year amounted to $7,000. The W. M. Later the class enjoyed an hour of dancing.

LONDON CHORAL SOCIETY.
At a general meeting of the London Choral Society held on Monday evening in St. Paul's Cathedral, the president, Rev. Professor Frank Anderson, in the chair, plans were laid for work for the balance of the season. The choir will give a three-fold program, consisting of Gounod's "Gallia," Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer" and Stainer's "Madrigal" on the evening of Good Friday in the cathedral. The character of these works, it was thought, made them particularly suitable for presentation on Good Friday. It is announced that there are vacancies for new voices in the choir, especially of men. The society has been granted by the dean and corporation of St. Paul's Cathedral its use for practices, but the president asks that this be not allowed to obscure the fact that membership is open to music lovers of all denominations. Names of those who would like to join may be sent to the president at Huron College, or to the conductor, Mr. H. T. Dickinson at the cathedral, or to the secretary-treasurer, Mr. George Swadlow, 140 Maple street. Rehearsals are held as a rule on Monday evening. The entrance fee is $1.

The supper was given by the regular meeting, and the girls went over to the Central Collegiate, where they played basketball in the gym. for an hour. They are being coached by George Young for entrance in the City League.

PRESENT "DEACON DUBBS."
St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was packed to the doors last night, when the rural comedy drama, "Deacon Dubbs," was presented by the London Comedy Company, under the direction of John Elyton. The play was staged with a degree of success rarely attained by amateurs. The three acts, brimful of comedy and dramatic points, held the interest of an appreciative audience from the start, and the stage was well equipped with special scenic effects. Accompanied by the company's own orchestra, the comedy, punctuated by hearty applause, quite took the audience by storm.

WEY MAINTAINS "CAMOUFLAGE" IS TOO PREVALENT

Vice-President of Street Railway Declares Company Keeping Agreement.

ASSURES PAYMENT

There is plenty of "camouflage" in connection with the street railway paving question now occupying the attention of the council according to an announcement this afternoon from E. G. Wey, vice-president of that corporation.

Questioned as to the latest development in the city council relative to the payment of Richmond street, Mr. Wey said that the council had stated that while there was no doubt but that the work was accomplished, as claimed, under the penalty clause of bylaw 916 the members of the council were quite aware that this was the only way it could be done, if the company was to enter into the bargain.

"We all agreed to that," Mr. Wey said. "The councillors said that the work would be done under the penalty clause and then after the work was done, they would give us a payment whereby we would be allowed to meet our share in ten annual installments."

The company means to live up to this agreement, it would seem, regardless of the opinion of certain members of the council who demand an immediate payment of the entire debt.

"We met our first installment promptly," Mr. Wey reminded. "In fact the very day we received the bill from the city and we are prepared to meet the remainder of the payments right on the dot."

SLEIGH TRAFFIC COMES FIRST, SAYS ENGINEER
County Official Answers Criticism About Condition of Roads.

"It is a matter of opinion as to whether county roads should be kept open all winter for the benefit of motorists," stated County Engineer Charles Talbot in answer to criticisms leveled at him by a resident of the county through the columns of The Advertiser.

The engineer declared there was no particular county appropriation for keeping the roads cleared in winter. His instruction has always been to keep the roads in good shape during the summer months and free for sleigh traffic in the winter.

"We have always eliminated the bad spots in the roads during the winter and will continue to do so," continued Mr. Talbot. "The county cannot stand for any large winter expenditure. If we cleared the way for trucks, it would make it had for sleighs. There are not many trucks used on county roads in the winter time, while there are hundreds of sleighs in use every day and we have to look after this traffic first."

BANK MANAGERS NOT FAVORABLE TO BISHOP'S PLAN

Believe One Institution Should Not Be Responsible For Another.

EXPLAINS LOANS

London bank managers did not care to discuss Bishop Fallon's letter to a recent extent. They handed as absolutely impossible the bishop's method of making the banks collectively responsible for the money they accepted as deposits.

"Supposing you were a member of a large association, would you care to be responsible for loans or deposits of another association possibly 1,000 miles away?" asked one bank manager. "You certainly would not and neither would the banks or could they work with each other."

"Banking is largely a confidential business and rightly so. The sum and substance is that depositors must have faith in the men at the head of the bank they are dealing with. When the bank is insolvent, it must be men that direct."

"Bishop Fallon points out in one paragraph of his letter how hard it is for people to obtain loans from the bank. If it were otherwise there would be numerous bank failures. That is the best argument depositors could have in placing their money in the bank. When the bank is insolvent, the best of collateral before making a loan the depositors know that their interests are protected."

"I could say a whole lot about the letter," stated another bank manager. "However, I am going to leave any statements to the head office." When people have lost money they are naturally put on their guard and they will do some hard things. That is one way in which I view the statement.

Despatches from Toronto and other banks indicated the prevalence of similar sentiments in financial circles.

WEATHER CHANGE PROVES PUZZLE

Motions of Mercury Have Even London's Weatherman on Jump.

No possible explanation could be given by the weatherman this morning for the changeable weather London has experienced within the past week. From moderately cold weather on Tuesday to a complete thaw with rain and slush is a big jump. The 12 hours previous to 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer dropped 18 degrees. The lowest temperature recorded being 14 degrees below.

Weather seers contend their prognostications of the first of the year were right. "We are going to have an open winter," they said, and this morning they felt sure their prophecy would prove correct.

U.S. Tariff Did Not Hinder But Aided 1923 Dairy Trade, Official Tells Convention

H. Mannell of Woodstock was elected 1924 president of the Dairy-men's Association of Western Ontario at this morning's session of the annual convention in the Masonic Temple. New directors for the year are: F. Keyes, Elmira; F. A. Thompson, Embro; T. Ballantyne, Stratford; G. Bain, Lakeside; J. Newblight, Listowel; A. E. Gracey, Simcoe; H. Yorke, Harrietsville; C. Donnelly, London, and Charles Barber, Seaforth. Frank Hens of London is the secretary-treasurer.

J. A. Ruddick of Ottawa, dairy and cold storage commissioner for Canada, took an optimistic view of the future of the dairying industry in the Dominion and especially in Western Ontario. There had been a very great increase in the production of all dairy products in the last ten years in the southern hemisphere, so that, while in 1914 79 per cent of the butter and 44 per cent of the world's cheese had come from the northern hemisphere, in 1923 the figures were only 60 per cent for butter and 41 per cent for cheese. A general world increase in dairy products, however, he said, was more than offset by a greatly increased demand, largely due to the educational nutritional work undertaken in most of the big consuming countries.

As evidence of the increase in the dairy trade of the Dominion there was an increase of two and a half million pounds of butter fat in the export trade in 1923. Ontario alone sold the United States 2,875,000 pounds of cheese and 3,174,130 pounds of butter in 1923. The American tariff had helped, rather than hindered the value received for these products. A new department in the dairy division of the department of agriculture has been added in the inauguration of a science research division in charge of Dr. E. J. Hood, the duty of which will be to lend the aid of science to all the problems of dairymen and the cheese-maker. It was a department, he felt, which was long overdue and should accomplish great benefits for the industry in the Dominion. The year 1923, he stated, would ever be considered a milestone in Canadian dairying as it was the year in which all dairy products had been officially graded. He upheld grading from every aspect, saying that the only man to suffer from it was the incompetent and careless maker and operator. He looked forward to a successful year for dairy farmers in Western Ontario, laying particular stress on the extreme importance of the production of butter and cheese.

John H. Scott, official butter grader on the Ontario Department of Agriculture, speaking on butter grading in 1923, said that 61 per cent of all butter in the province was graded number one in the last year, but added that at the rate of progress in vogue it would take another 25 years to reach the desired achievement in butter quality. That the worst is past in making high-grade butter was his opinion, and he said there was no valid reason why Ontario should not turn out just as fine butter in texture and flavor as any other part of the world.

A new annual competition is to be held by the department this year in which creameries will be judged on their yeast and mold count. This, he said, was of the utmost importance as it represented the sanitary condition of the creamery and the creamery. The lower the yeast and mold count the lower the flavor depreciation after months of storage.

The winners in the butter and cheese judging competitions were: CHEESE SCORING COMPETITION. Individual Scoring. Garnet Bain, Lakeside, Ont.; W. J. Pickard, Mount Elgin, Ont.; J. Edlington, Mossley, Ont.; Jos. Skelton, London. TEAM SCORING COMPETITION. Cheese. Garnet Bain, Lakeside, Ont.; Jos. Skelton, London; W. J. Murphy, Thorndale, Ont. G. B. Brodie, Glanworth, instructor. BUTTER SCORING COMPETITION. Individual Scoring. T. J. Neenan, Lorneville; W. C. Johnston, Galt; R. D. McEwan, Lindsay; T. F. Corkery, Harwood. TEAM SCORING COMPETITION. Butter. T. J. Neenan, Lorneville; R. D. McEwan, Lindsay; John Almont, Smithville.

CANADIAN LAW TRIUMPHS OVER CUPID IN POLICE COURT

Young Woman Is Given Two-Month Term For Theft of Clothes.

FIANCE MAKES APPEAL

Offers To Marry Sweetheart If She Is Given Her Freedom.

Canadian law scored a triumph over Cupid in police court this morning and wedding bells will not peal for Violet Miller before two months as a result of the law's victory.

Declaring, through counsel, that he would marry her if she were released, Miss Miller's fiancé, and a strong plea for acquittal of his sweetheart charged with stealing $325 from the Dominion Ladies' Outfitters here. Leniency was granted, but not in full measure, and she will have to spend the next two months in common jail.

William Henderson of McEvoy and Henderson, barristers, asked the court's permission to change the plea of guilty to not guilty. He said the theft was her first offence and made a rather effective plea for her dismissal on suspended sentence.

"Her fiancé, a young barber from St. Jacobs is here this morning," Mr. Henderson said, "and he will marry her if she is released. Her parents are aged, respectable people who have not as yet been informed of their daughter's behaviour. The shock would be great for them."

Instead of being a menace to the state, through marriage, she will become a benefit. Temptation was a way at her finger tips. She only received $11 a week. Is it right that this young woman should be subjected to the shame and indignity of arrest and imprisonment when she can become a honest citizen by settling down with husband-to-be?"

Same Opinion.
Mr. Henderson added that the crown was of the same opinion and did not desire to press the charge. "I shall not press the charge too far," Acting Crown-Attorney Gilders said, "but I would not go so far as to ask for suspended sentence." "Why did you do this?" the court questioned the prisoner.

"I don't know why I did it," she answered. "I have considered the pleas for leniency submitted by your counsel and friends who have spoken in your behalf, and I will be lenient. But I cannot agree with your counsel when he says society would be sufficiently protected if you were let go on suspended sentence. Some sort of punishment is necessary to teach you the wisdom of leading an honest life."

"However, the representations made on your behalf will bring leniency on your behalf. I therefore sentence you to two months in the common jail instead of a term in the reformatory."

The young woman stole a number of fur coats and women's wear from the Dominion Ladies' Outfitters last week. This morning an official of the Salvation Army rescue home appeared in court and after sentence had been passed Mr. Henderson asked if the girl could not serve her time in the home. The court declined to consider the suggestion.

Miss Miller's fiancé offered to speak in the girl's interest, but the magistrate thought the plea of counsel was sufficient to lay before him the merits of the case.

Scarlet Fever Serum Found

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Jan. 17.—Discovery of a serum for scarlet fever was announced last night by Dr. A. R. Doche, associate professor of medicine at the college of physicians and surgeons, Columbia University. Addressing the annual meeting of the society for experimental biology and medicine, Cornell Medical College, Dr. Doche stated there was no grounds yet for saying the serum is a definite curative agent. He added, however, that in a limited number of cases dealt with "certain promise" was indicated.

MONEY EXPENDED TO ADVERTISE CITY GIVEN APPROVAL

Wenige States Step Should Be Encouraged To Boost London.

PROVES BENEFIT

City money expended by the Chamber of Commerce for publicity purposes is money well spent, in the opinion of Mayor Wenige.

Each year the city provides for a grant of $2,500 to the Chamber of Commerce, and the proposal has come to the council that this money should be placed under the control of the industrial area committee, another organization interested in the fight to bring new industries to this city.

Mayor Wenige opposes this scheme, however, maintaining that greater benefit to the municipality would be derived by having this money expended by the chamber.

"This sum would be of little use to the industrial area committee," he stated, "where, on the other hand, it can be used to greater advantage for industrial purposes by the Chamber of Commerce."

It is gathered that the mayor would even encourage a more substantial grant to the chamber, the money to be expended in the same manner, publicity, etc., in order to bring industries into London to locate on the city's industrial area, East London, or elsewhere in the community.

"I have always claimed that the city would be well advised to spend more money for advertising purposes," he said. "And the council could specify for the Chamber of Commerce the precise manner in which the grant would be expended."

AIRSHIP SHENANDOAH RIDES OUT TERRIFIC GALE

GIANT DIRIGIBLE SURVIVES STORM, RETURNS TO 'PORT'

Shenandoah's Crew Declares Great Airship Ride Out Gale in Wonderful Manner.

SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

COMMITTEE LOOKS UPON STOCKROOM AS UNNECESSARY

Central Room For School Supplies Not Favored by No. 1 Committee.

CONTINUE OLD SYSTEM

Associated Press Despatch. Lakehurst, N. J., Jan. 17.—The Shenandoah, largest airship of the United States navy, was placed in her hangar at the naval station at 4:24 o'clock this morning, after she had broken away and fought her way back to "port" against a wind that blew at 72 miles an hour at times. The gale twisted the giant craft from her towing moorings and at 8:52 o'clock last night and swept her on a mad chase up the Atlantic coast to Staten Island, New York City, where Captain Anton Heinen, her commander, was broken away, turned her nose into the teeth of the storm and manoeuvred her back to Lakehurst. None of the crew of 22 was hurt. The men took it as a matter of fact. The ship was damaged. Her front castles, or gas bags, had collapsed when she was torn away by the wind, the covering over upper fin had been stripped off, and wrapped around the rudder, making the craft exceedingly difficult to steer, while there was slight damage to her outer covering, the material being rent nearly up to her nose.

Sturdiest of Her Kind.
Captain Heinen, who had seen the Shenandoah built and who had tried out more than 100 other aircraft on their maiden voyages, said after he had landed that without a doubt the navy craft was the strongest constructed ship of her type ever made. "I do not believe any other ship in which I have flown would have successfully gone through the gale she did last night," he said. "There is not a bit of doubt but what she will flight planned for next month. We will not likely experience such a terrific storm as was raging along the Atlantic coast yesterday. If we do we can easily enough run around it."

Flying Conditions Unfavorable.
The flying conditions were unfavorable as it was raining hard. However, when we reached New York the weather cleared and we found we had reached the port side of the island. We landed over Staten Island and thenceforth nosed the ship against a 25-mile wind and flew to Perth Amboy. From there we drifted somewhat to the eastward, and then nosed the ship into the wind again until we reached Freehold. From there to Lakehurst we rode with the wind.

When the craft broke loose last night there was a furor of excitement at the station. She had been moored to the 165-foot mast which was built in the city of the Eiffel tower in Paris, and was undergoing a ten-day test of her actions in such position in preparation for a flight to the North Pole.

POPULAR LONDONER, T. O'MEARA, IS DEAD

Veteran. Resident, Formerly Employee of Civil Service, Passes Away.

One of London's most popular citizens, and a resident of this city for three years, died yesterday afternoon at his residence, 161 Maple street, in the person of Timothy O'Meara, aged 76.

Born in the county of Tipperary, Ireland, Mr. O'Meara came to London at the age of 4, and had lived here all his life. For 40 years he was a valuable employee of the civil service, being engaged in that branch of the railway department as a clerk. Born with a keen humor, a companionable, friendly, and kind disposition made him one of the most familiar figures in the city.

He was a devout Roman Catholic and a member of the local order of Knights of Columbus and of St. Peter's Holy Name Society. He is survived by five daughters, Mother Victoria, a nun in the Loreto order at Toronto; Mother St. Celestine, of the Loreto order, Chicago; Miss N. C. O'Meara and Mrs. L. A. Higgins, both of New York, and two sons, A. P. O'Meara and F. M., of St. Paul, Minn.

There Is Still Time To Exempt Students of "U," Treasurer Says.

Following the decision last night of the finance committee, no change should be made in the act, City Treasurer James Bell will move at once for the speedy collection of all delinquent 1923 statute labor taxes.

The question of establishing a central stockroom and stockkeeper was introduced at the meeting of No. 1 committee of the board of education yesterday afternoon when the matter of supplies for the coming year was brought up.

Secretary W. A. Tanner expressed the opinion that it would be in the interests of the board if a stockroom were established, where deliveries of all materials ordered might be made and from there delivered to the schools as needed. He stated that this would be necessary in order that the board might be sure that all materials received were equal to the samples submitted by the concern purchased from. He stated that in some cases the quality was inferior.

Dr. Grant asked whether it would not be possible for principals of the schools to submit samples of goods received, as is the case at present. He was supported by Rev. Quintin Warner and Mrs. John Rose, who were to be used in the interests of the pupils and not for the betterment or advancement of the official, the board would continue to pay for the material. Inspector Greer stated that there was adequate space in all the schools for the proper storing of supplies.

The matter of asking for tenders on supplies was left over for the time being, although the hope was expressed that they might be secured in order to permit the stock being delivered by June to be on hand in September.

The matter of magazines for officials produced some discussion, it being finally decided that the magazines were to be used in the interests of the pupils and not for the betterment or advancement of the official, the board would continue to pay for the material. Inspector Greer stated that there was adequate space in all the schools for the proper storing of supplies.

SECONDARY SCHOOL DISCUSSION LIKELY

No. 3 Committee of Education Board Meets This Afternoon.

The meeting of No. 3 committee of the board of education, to be held this afternoon, is expected to be replete with discussion on the secondary school question, following the report of the committee of the section of the chairman's inaugural address calling attention to the need for immediate action in this matter.

Chairman E. J. Grant, in his address, emphasized the need of increasing secondary school accommodation in the city, and urged that the committee, as soon as possible, in view of the fact that present conditions were not at all suitable.

Just what action will be taken by the committee is a matter of conjecture. Since his appointment as chairman, Dr. A. J. Grant has been giving the question considerable thought, and he is expected to advance suggestions this afternoon.

From discussion at the meeting of No. 1 committee yesterday it was learned that the board of education was considering the advisability of new buildings, of at least one, but whether this would be allocated to the east or south districts, where two abandoned public schools are now used, is not known.

SMALLMAN FIRE PROBE OVER, OFFICIALS LEAVE

Deputy Marshals Refuse To Give Out Information Before Return.

Deputy Fire Marshals Thermon and Bishop, who have been in London for several days investigating the circumstances surrounding the fire which completely destroyed the suburban home of J. E. Smallman, 4th concession, London Township, early Sunday morning, left last night for Toronto, where they will submit their report.

Yesterday more than fifteen workmen who have been working on the Smallman home were questioned regarding the fire. Neither the fire nor the deputy fire marshals would give out any information before they left.

SECRETARY CONDEMNNS QUALITY OF CHALK

At yesterday's meeting of number one committee, during the discussion on supplies, Secretary Tanner of the board of education, stated that he thought red chalk received supplied to the board had been white chalk dipped in red paint, as on the outside of it was red while in the center it was a pale pink. It was not satisfactory.

BACK IN HANGAR AFTER BATTLING GALE. The gigantic dirigible, Shenandoah, attached to the U. S. navy, which was swept down the Atlantic coast yesterday afternoon before a terrific 72-mile an hour storm. For seven hours the giant dirigible outfought and outmanoeuvred the howling gale and early this morning lowered into her hangar. All the men on board were in perfect condition despite their harrowing experience in the air.

Size of Clothes Puzzles Most London Purchasers

Underwear, Hats, Gloves and Socks Prove Mystery to the Majority of Buyers.

TAKE LARGEST SIZE

Women Insist Husbands Are Big Men, and Buy Accordingly.

Seventy-five out of every hundred persons, according to five local haberdashers, do not know the size of their underwear. Three out of every four people who purchased underwear in London stored this winter were ignorant of their size, and requested to be measured before they bought a suit. Approximately ninety per cent of people are dubious about the size they take and have to be measured anyway, retailers declared today.

According to the haberdashers the majority of men know their size in shirts and collars, but when it comes to underwear, hats, gloves and socks, they express almost complete ignorance. Nearly forty per cent of the buying public do not know the size of their socks or stockings, and the majority invariably insist they take some several sizes larger than they really need.

People who bought underwear, socks, gloves, shirts and collars for Christmas presents usually purchased a misfit, and many articles of clothing had to be exchanged. Women display absolute ignorance of their husbands size in all lines of clothing, the dealers say, but they generally insist their husbands are big men and would take the largest size.

Young men are the best informed in regard to the size of their wearing apparel, and although the clerks have little trouble fitting them, they are generally the most fastidious. They apparently take more time and care choosing their clothes.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MASKED BANDIT

Miss Frieda Foreman Held Up and Till of Store Robbed.

No new developments were reported by the local detective department this afternoon in connection with the holdup of Miss Frieda Foreman, 87 William street, where a masked bandit who entered her father's store and demanded money.

According to Miss Foreman, she was alone in the store when a stranger walked in shortly after 8 o'clock. She was busy reading and did not realize the type of "customer" till he brandished a revolver in her face and demanded her money. Some $5 was secured from the till, after which the man backed out of the door, still pointing the revolver. He was about five feet eight inches in height.

Police do not believe that the young man is a criminal of the hardened type, but are of the opinion that he was possibly out of work and funds and resorted to the cowardly holdup of a girl to secure spending money.

NAVY LEAGUE CHAPLAIN WILL SPEAK IN LONDON

Captain G. F. Morris Will Outline Work Accomplished by Organization.

Captain G. F. Morris, chaplain and representative of the Navy League of Canada, is to visit London within the next few days, it is announced by Cecil G. Williams, manager of the Navy League department.

Captain Morris will lecture in the city on the work the Navy League of Canada has done since the early days of the war. Pension checks are sent out monthly to wives of men of the merchant marine who lost their lives in the war, according to Mr. Williams, and some 160,000 seamen are cared for annually by this department.

The work of the Navy League is all done through voluntary contribution, no aid being given by the government. Captain Morris is coming to London to receive donations to assist the league in caring for all sailors' needs.

Airplanes Feed Ice-Bound Ships

Utilities Commissioners Will Discuss Request at Session Today.

INAUGURAL MEETING

The village of Byron is seeking fire protection by asking for a water supply, according to an executive of the public utilities commission, and the question is one that will be taken up at the inaugural meeting of the 1924 commission this afternoon.

At present there is no adequate supply with which to fight a fire, and it is hoped that the commission will be able to take some steps to remedy this situation.

The painting of the office building at Wellington and Dundas streets will also be discussed, and it is more than likely that positive action will be taken on the matter.

The appointment of two representatives to the Western Fair Board is also on the agenda, together with the election of a chairman and committee chairman for the current year.

Jared Vining, chairman in 1923, will probably retain his office, while Commissioners T. W. McFarland and Philip Pocock will retain the control of the parks and playgrounds respectively.

During the discussion, Ald. Drake likened bylaw 916 to a "piece of orange paper."

The committee ruled no action respecting the proposal to abolish or amend the statute labor taxation. Ald. Douglass felt that this tax was too hard on the poor, and he proposed for exemption as it affected the students of the university. Ald. McKay, however, stated that the city was contributing to the benefit of these students that their payment of $5 was not too much.

Vote No Action.

The city officials reported that about $5,500 was received annually from this source, and a majority of the members voted no action when Treasurer Bell presented his request for a definite ruling.

Major Weniga felt that a majority of the members want the city school again printed in the year book. Ald. Drake insists that this is a saving time, and a majority of the members want the city school again printed in the year book. Ald. The orchestra will then play "Evening Hour" followed by a reading by Mae Winter. Douglas Westman, will sing "The Open Fire," after which a folk dance will be given by the girls of Form I.

Mae Lowry will sing "One Fleeting Hour," accompanied by a cello obligato by Andrew Gillespie, with Evans B. Davis at the piano.

The classes being conducted by Col. O. R. Stott, who has been instructors and in physical training, for teachers of the public schools are meeting with success, some 10 teachers being enrolled in the former, while 30 take advantage of the latter.

The classes for cadet instructors are also attended by students of the Normal School and meet twice a week at the armories. The course will last for six weeks, at the end of which an examination will be held and a certificate issued to those who qualify. This examination is equivalent to that required for lieutenants in the military forces, but carries with it, in this case, no recognition of a military rank.

WILL OFFER DEBENTURES.

City Treasurer James Bell states that he could have available for sale during the next two or three months, or when the price is right, City of London debentures amounting to about $1,300,000. This would include more than $500,000 debenture issues coming over from last year. The others are hypothecated debentures expiring at intervals this spring.

PUBLICATION PRAISED.

The action of the scholars at Alexandra School in issuing a magazine, "The Alexandra Buzz," has been commended by members of the board of education, who feel that the idea is an excellent one and one that could be well adopted in every school. Principal Kirkwood stated that the publication would appear every two weeks.

CITY SOLICITOR'S OPINION ON RAILWAY IS SOUGHT

Members of Finance Committee Will Hold Special Consultation.

NO ACTION IS RULED

Students' Exemption From the Statute Labor Tax Is Dropped.

Once again City Solicitor T. G. Meredith has been asked to tender his opinion of the local street railway dispute.

At their inaugural session last night, members of the finance committee authorized a special committee to interview him today as to the best line of action. The delegation comprises Mayor Weniga, Ald. Leonard Douglass (chairman) and Ald. Frank McKay.

Chairman Douglass incidentally suggested that City Clerk Sam Baker acquaint the members of the board of works of the fact that the finance committee would initiate any action considered imperative in connection with the payment of the company's share of the Richmond street and other paving work accomplished during 1923.

At their inaugural session, the members of the works committee moved for a joint meeting of both committees next Wednesday to consider the problems, and which the city solicitor would attend. Chairman Douglass desired an opinion from the solicitor in time for the regular meeting of the city council Monday night next.

Until the committee meets with Mr. Meredith today, however, the checks just received from the company, amounting to more than $5,000, will remain unissued with City Treasurer Bell, who did not care to proceed without definite instructions from the aldermen.

Company Would Act.

The dispute hinges upon that resolution of 1923—now almost as famous as bylaw 916—when the council unanimously agreed that the company should be allowed ten years in which to shoulder its financial portion of the paving.

This was to be subject to an agreement, however, but none was ever drafted. The company seems prepared to act upon the resolution, and the first payment was made to the city.

Mayor Weniga and Ald. Drake insisted last night that the council should adhere to the resolution. Ald. Douglass insisted, however, that the work had been done under the penalty clause of bylaw 916. Mayor Weniga felt that the council should enter into the agreement with the company as to the ten payments, subject to the solicitor's direction.

But Ald. McKay believed that Douglass concurred, that the best plan would be to allow the case to continue through the courts, secure judgment and then collect the money.

During the discussion, Ald. Drake likened bylaw 916 to a "piece of orange paper."

WILL OFFER DEBENTURES.

City Treasurer James Bell states that he could have available for sale during the next two or three months, or when the price is right, City of London debentures amounting to about $1,300,000. This would include more than $500,000 debenture issues coming over from last year. The others are hypothecated debentures expiring at intervals this spring.

here for the delegations," suggested Ald. Douglass.

"With the boxing gloves," added Ald. Anderson.

"But the mayor know the cost?" asked Ald. Smith.

"Well, he wants them on Erie avenue," explained Ald. Drake. "He may know now."

Dealing with a motion on unemployment, moved last year by ex-Ald. Colbert, the committee recommended further action, with both the provincial and federal governments when City Clerk Baker reported that the former administration was still considering the request for a large loan, and that the latter had denied assistance.

"Both governments are unfair," Ald. McKay charged. "They are both very active regarding immigration, but they leave the municipalities to take care of the unemployment."

The grocers' early-closing bylaw was recommended to the council upon motion by Ald. McKay and Ald. Drake. A delegation of grocers presented their request, with a large number of signatures, to the council. Ald. McKay stated distinctly in the negative.

"What are groceries?" asked Ald. Smith. "In England the law defines them as groceries."

"This is Canada, however," reminded Ald. Drake. "And I think you are trying to stall this move with this red tape." He referred to the suggestion that the city solicitor's opinion be sought. Ald. Douglass also wanted to know more about the legality of the move. With Ald. Smith, he voted in the negative.

Fire Probe.

The committee ruled that the long-contemplated investigation of the fire department, in accordance with the mayor's inaugural addresses of last year and this would be first tackled when the Britain report was considered. In his report, Chief Aitken asked for an increase in his staff as it was impossible for him to carry on efficiently with the present number of men. This will also be considered at that time.

The committee ruled that the council include in the City of London bill a request for permission to guarantee Western Fair bonds for $20,000 additional for the construction of the new manufacturers building, in accordance with the promise by the council of 1923.

A formal request for the annual grant of $55,000 was received from the Western Union and referred to the estimates.

Mayor Weniga, Ald. Douglass and City Treasurer Bell were authorized as a committee to meet with the county authorities in connection with the annual agreement as to the payment of county patients at the Victoria Hospital.

The committee rejected unanimously the mayor's proposal to amend the procedure bylaw whereby city council sessions would cease at 9:30 p.m. in lieu of 11 p.m.

In future, money deposited with the police department as bail must remain overnight in the city treasurer's office.

At the instigation of Mayor Weniga, George Tustin, humane officer, will be instructed to "get busy and capture stray dogs."

It proposed that last night but you couldn't do anything," stated Ald. Drake.

"But he has an auto now, and he can honk out and get one now any time," Douglass said.

The question of reduced rates for the transportation of Alberta coal to the city was also discussed, with indication of co-operation from other municipalities is received.

ADANAC CLUB HEARS FINE TALK ON BUSINESS METHODS

The Adanac Club met last night at the Y. M. C. A. R. M. Brisco gave a very interesting talk on "Business and Business Methods." He emphasized the fact that there was a great deal more to business than simply the financial turnover.

Mr. Brisco showed the club a very interesting ledger dating back to 1816.

Next week the club will be addressed by Librarian Crouch on "Books."

It was suggested that the club meet for supper every Wednesday night.

President Elgin Speiran was in charge of the meeting.

HAPPY MARRIAGE BUILT ON CERTAIN FUNDAMENTALS

J. Aspinall McCuaig Expresses Views on Proper Attitude To Adopt.

CONCLUDES LECTURES

"Why Do Men Come To Love Women They Marry After Marriage?" was the subject of the concluding lecture of J. Aspinall McCuaig, the New York eugenicist, in Adelaide Street Church, last night.

The lecturer declared that physical affinity, temperamental aptitude and spiritual response are the fundamentals necessary to make a marriage relationship complete and happy. These three fundamentals, he asserted, are necessary in the attachment between man and woman if love is to endure the stress and strain of years of intimate contact.

Compound

"Branchton, Ont.—'When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken. I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' I worked on munitions, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing inflammation from which I suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines." — Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.

Sick and ailing women everywhere in the Dominion should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before they give up hope of recovery. C

BANKS BELIEVE DANGER EXISTS IN GUARANTEES

President of Bankers' Association
Replies To Bishop
Fallon's Criticism.

BOLSTERED BY GOSSIP

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Jan. 16.—"It is a very poor cause that has to be bolstered up by repetitions of rumors and petty gossip," declared Sir John Aird, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and president of the Canadian Bankers' Association tonight, in commenting upon the letter of the Right Hon. J. C. Fallon of London, Ont., on the suspension of the Home Bank of Canada and the Canadian banking system in general.

Sir John told a representative of the Canadian Press that he would not enter into a criticism of the bishop's letter, but preferred to quote his views on the guaranty system in answer to Bishop Fallon's suggestion for the enactment of "an effective guaranty for deposits at the forthcoming session of the Federal parliament." Sir John said that some people seemed to regard the guaranty system as the "cure-all" for all banking ills, but added that the consensus of opinion among a large majority of the bankers of the Dominion was against it.

History Discourages.

In his remarks on the guaranty system before the directors of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at their annual meeting, the president of the Bankers' Association stated that the history of plans for providing a legal guaranty of the safety of bank deposits was not very encouraging. Various plans of the kind have been tried in a number of the states in the union, he said, "but even their advocates are forced to admit that they have failed to fulfill the expectations formed on them. In most cases the systems have completely broken down, the state of Oklahoma providing one of the worst examples. In only one state has such a plan managed up to the present time to avoid failure. A recent commentator states:

"In general the system has not prevented failures; the failures in adjoining states which have not the guaranty system have been fewer in proportion, and so with the failures of national banks in the states concerned."

Premium on Bankings.

"National banks are not chartered under state laws and therefore do not share in such guaranties," continued Sir John. "The record shows that under such plans a premium is placed on banking. The incentive to watch over the security of loans is taken away from the safety of deposits is supposed to be beyond question. As has been said by a recent commentator of the currency, the most practical approach to an effective and safe guaranty of bank deposits would be found in such a system as would come nearest eliminating the danger of bad loans; in other words, if some plan of insurance against losses could be devised that would not operate as an incentive to carelessness in lending. "Parliament has shown signs of opposition to inside reserves, but it is certain that some provision for setting aside a certain percentage of earnings as a protection against prospective losses, in addition to providing for losses actually ascertained, is only a prudent matter to regulate by legislation, as the losses sustained by individual institutions must vary because of dissimilar policies and management."

CHURCH EXCEEDS MISSIONARY FUND

King Street Presbyterian Church
Shows Splendid Record
For Year.

In missionary givings for 1923 the congregation of the King Street Presbyterian Church exceeded the allocation made by the Presbytery for the missionary budget fund, according to the yearly report given at the annual meeting last evening. The amount contributed for missions alone during 1923 reached the sum of $1,542. The manager's report read to a large number of the congregation who attended the annual meeting showed splendid work for the past year. The sum of $5,000 was contributed and revenue and expenditures have been about equal. The church has been re-wired and new furnace pipes installed, and new chairs were furnished for the choir at a cost of $200. The latter being the gift of the Cradle Roll department.

Special votes of thanks were passed to the Ladies' Aid, to the choir and to the Sunday school workers for their share in the activities of the past year. The caretaker, Mr. A. McMillen, was given an increase in salary in appreciation of the excellent service he has rendered. A decision was reached with regard to the Lytle street property, owned by the church. Since it was judged more suitable for business purposes, it was arranged that it should be leased to the Superpet Gasoline Company, who are to use it for the erection of an oil station.

Arrangements were made to celebrate the anniversary of the church on Sunday, April 6, and Rev. Principal Gaudier, moderator of the General Assembly, will preach on this occasion. The Ladies' Aid were asked to provide a supper and concert.

The report of the roll clerk, Mr. C. H. Walker, showed that 56 new members had been added to the congregation and 41 removals were shown. The membership now totals 598, including nine guests. During 1923, there were 23 funerals, 32 baptisms and 35 marriages. The new members named for 1924 are the following: Hugh McKenzie, G. F. Forsyth, R. J. Blake, Dr. Snelgrove, R. M. Short, Alderman Frank McKay, E. R. Cottam and M. Drummond. The chairman at the annual meeting was Mr. J. J. McWilliams, the secretary, Mr. McIntyre.

WORLD'S LARGEST AIRSHIP BATTLES IN TERRIFIC GALE

Swept Along Atlantic Coast
At Rate of 72 Miles
An Hour.

WILL RIDE STORM

American Dirigible Shenandoah
Being Brought Back
by Crew.

Associated Press Despatch.

Lakehurst, N.J., Jan. 16.—The world's largest airship, the navy dirigible Shenandoah, twisted loose from her mooring mast and swept along the Atlantic coast by a gale that reached 72 miles an hour, was gallantly fighting her way home tonight, with her crew of 21 officers and men.

For more than an hour officials at the naval air station held out little hope that she would ever be brought back safely. Finally, however, wireless messages indicated that the ship was under control and would ride out the storm.

While it could not be learned definitely whether the attempts would be made to land her tonight, Lieut. J. C. Sanderson, meteorologist, said the huge dirigible had died down before daylight, and it might be possible to bring the ship back to her hangar. Every man and officer on the station was ordered to stand by ready to help with the landing. Should the ship return, while acres of land about the station were illuminated with huge searchlights. Last reports said the huge dirigible had passed over various New Jersey cities, including Newark, had flown so low at one point that the voices of her crew could be heard on the ground, had reached Staten Island, New York, and after hovering there for several minutes had turned her prow toward New Jersey again in the direction of Lakehurst.

EVIDENCE SHOWS YOUTH FORCED TO WORK LONG HOURS

Jury Continues Investigation
Into Death of Boy on Farm.

INQUIRY ADJOURNED

Special to The Advertiser.

Goderich, Jan. 16.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Charles Bulpitt, who was found hanging in a barn on the farm of Benson Cox, Colborne Township, on December 23, brought out that excessive working hours existed on the Cox farm. At a previous session it was stated that Bulpitt, a boy from an English institution, had been beaten by Cox on the morning of his alleged suicide. Reasons advanced for this were that he was no good and that he had twisted cows' tails. A dozen witnesses were examined tonight. The evidence was chiefly concerned with working conditions of the Cox farm, sworn statements being given by a number of witnesses as to the time and manner of the death.

The inquiry was adjourned until Friday evening, when Cox will be placed on the stand and Charles Robertson will be examined. Robertson was the neighbor Cox summoned by telephone to help find the lad the afternoon of the hanging.

One phase of the investigation brought out the fact that Bulpitt was not a Barnardo boy, as was first reported. He came from some other institution. G. M. Elliott, Huron County inspector for the G. A. S., replying to Cross Attorney Seager, gave his opinion that it would be well to have old country children under the supervision of local county inspectors in future to avoid the necessity of them having to work under possible bad conditions.

Many Interested.

The whole countryside was interested in the inquest. Despite a severe blizzard farmers drove to the town hall where the investigation was conducted in large numbers. Joseph Brophy, undertaker, was first sworn. He saw the body of young Bulpitt examined when it was taken to Goderich. There were marks on the chest and abrasions on the wrists, as well as a mark where the rope had been. There was also a mark of discoloration on the back. William Lippitt, Colborne Township farmer, told of working at Cox's place for some time and carrying boxes of oats to the bins with the dead boy.

"Was that too heavy for a boy of 16 who weighed 90 pounds," asked Mr. Seager.

"It was too heavy for a man," witness said. He added that he usually worked 12 to 14 hours a day. "One morning," Lippitt said, "the boy ran two cows into the door and Mr. Cox seized him by the throat and shook him. He said he would kick him."

"That he had been ill-treated while in Cox's employ in 1920 and had run away was the evidence of Thomas Mathers, next witness.

"Mr. Cox threatened to thrash me. He said I had broken some cows' tails, but I didn't think I had. He caught me by the shoulder and slapped my ears."

Brutally Treated.

Asked about a second occasion of this kind, witness said Cox accused him of breaking a cow's tail and called him a little beggar, caught him by the shirt front, backed him against a stable door and hammered his head against it till the blood started to come from his mouth and nose.

William Long and John Vanstone stated they saw Bulpitt and Lippitt carrying boxes which weighed 50 pounds.

A fortnight of labor on the Cox farm was then described by Charles Clarke, Clarke told of going to work with Cox at 4.30 in the morning and of being in the fields regularly till 6 o'clock. Clarke's son corroborated evidence indicating the hardship of the work.

Joseph Freeman, a veterinary, told of visiting the Cox farm and finding Bulpitt there. The boy seemed delicate and not fit to work on the farm, and was apparently afraid of cattle. Cox had whipped Bulpitt for lying, according to Cecil Baxter, a neighbor.

Further evidence showed that Cox had whipped Mathers and exhaustive testimony was taken on this point.

FINANCE COMMITTEE WILL DELAY ANY ACTION

Upon suggestion from Ald. L. H. Douglass, chairman, the members of the finance committee decided to take no action at this juncture with reference to the position from the Commercial Travellers' Association for assistance in donation to Dr. R. END OF BALDWIN GOVERNMENT SEEN BY MONDAY NEXT Government Will Resign Tuesday, Then House Adjourns

Three Weeks.

AWAIT AMENDMENT

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Jan. 16.—A division on the Labor party's non-confidence amendment will be taken in the House of Commons at 11 o'clock Monday night. It was practically decided today. This means that the Baldwin government will resign Tuesday. Parliament will then adjourn probably for three weeks, to allow J. Ramsay MacDonald to form a cabinet and get his ministers versed in the routine of their novel positions before they face Parliament again.

While waiting for the culmination of these developments, there is a sense of unreality and half-heartedness about the debates in the Commons. The prime minister himself is said to be showing signs of weariness and apathy.

Some of the Labor men today tried to hurry affairs, so that in the event of a railway strike materializing during the week-end the new Labor government should be in power to deal with it. But there are a number of Liberal speakers anxious to make their case for supporting Labor's non-confidence amendment clear in the eyes of their constituents, and their speeches will occupy most of Friday's sitting, when the division over to Monday.

Foreign Affairs.

The debate in the Commons today for the most part concerned foreign affairs, especially the relations with France and Belgium in regard to the French and Belgian claims for the return of the Rhine. The debate was adjourned tonight the way was clear for John Robert Clynes to move as the first business tomorrow, Labor's non-confidence amendment.

The second woman member to address the new House was Miss Susan Lawrence who, in her maiden speech, complained that the speech from the throne omitted any reference to the important subject of education.

Predict End.

The separatist movement in the Rhineland and Bavaria Palatinate are not spontaneous, and do not represent the people, but have been "engineered," in the opinion of the British government. This declaration was made in the House of Commons today by Ronald McNeill, under-secretary for foreign affairs, in answer to a query in regard to the situation by Former Premier Lloyd George.

Termining the question delicate, Mr. McNeill said he did not want to say anything that would make matters more difficult.

Gives No Sanction.

The government would not take the position that it could not sanction any separation which amounted to a declaration of independence of states forming a part of the German Reich territory. Foreign affairs, in answer to a query in regard to the situation by Former Premier Lloyd George.

"It is quite obvious," he declared, "that in the greater part of the Rhineland the separatist movement is not spontaneous and that it is engineered and does not represent the people of the district either in numbers or character."

Owing very largely to the influence which the British government was able to bring to bear, supported by Belgium, he added, the separatist movement in the greater part of the Rhineland had not reached the conclusion, however, that the movement, whatever it might have been in the beginning, was not genuine.

Great Britain had proposed to send as her representative from Cologne to the Palatinate to glean the facts and report independently so the British could form better judgment as to the policy to pursue. France, for reasons which he could not understand, though he thought they were foolish, objected to Britain's sending a representative. When the latter dropped the proposal and sent Mr. Clive, the British consul at Munich, to make a report, which was awaited. Mr. McNeill said this matter had undoubtedly caused a certain amount of additional friction between Great Britain and France. Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme, president of the board of trade, referring to a question put by Mr. Lloyd George, disclosed that the country had emphatically represented to France that Great Britain must be consulted in the event of there being any dumping here on a large scale of the steel obtained under the agreement between the French and German industrialists.

LONDON 'APPLEBY PLAN' MOTOMART WILL OPEN

Plan For Disposal of Used Cars
For Owners.

The London "Appleby Plan" Motomart for the sale of unused transportation will open in London Saturday, E. C. Shuttleworth will be manager and A. L. Leaman will be associated with him as appraiser.

"The Appleby plan," according to Mr. Shuttleworth, "establishes in each city which adopts it a public motomart, conducted without profit through a manager for the benefit of those who have used cars to sell or desire to buy them. This motomart is owned by the public. Its manager acts as a referee between seller and buyer, securing for the one the top market price for his used car and seeing to it that the other gets a guaranteed full-value car when he makes a purchase." The manager is advised and assisted by interested dealers and bankers, but that is their only interest in the motomart.

PROVINCE BLAMED FOR THE FAILURE OF HOME BANK

Ontario Took $550,000 From Home Bank Just Before Crash.

$1,150,000 IS LEFT

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Large withdrawals by the Ontario government on the eve of the Home Bank crash may prove to have been a factor, it is said, in hastening the end of that institution. The two last withdrawals, amounting to $550,000, were made between Aug. 13 and 16, and the bank closed its doors Aug. 17. The suspension of payment followed close on the heels of the presentation of the two checks at the Toronto clearing-house.

The first of a series of large withdrawals by the Ontario government was made June 28, when the government's balance stood at $2,100,000. That day the sum of $100,000 was withdrawn. On July 12, $300,000 was withdrawn. The third large withdrawal was made August 13, when $400,000 was taken out, and a further withdrawal of $150,000 was made the day before the directors decided to close the bank's doors. All these checks passed the clearing-house.

The Ontario government left a balance of approximately $1,500,000 in the Home Bank after it suspended payment. Although the province has a prior claim on this amount, it has been allowed to stand on the bank's books until the realization of assets, and in the meantime it will bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent annually against the rate of 5 per cent payable to the Canadian Bankers' Association for its advance.

DOMINION INTERESTED!

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Jan. 16.—That the Dominion government is keenly interested in the Home Bank case was shown by the presence in the appellate court at Osgoode Hall today of J. H. Scott, K.C., who, representing the Dominion, contended that section 225 of the criminal code, under which a speedy trial before a county court judge is sought by the accused, could not be intended to apply to an indictment by a grand jury. A true bill was not a charge, but a presentment of a grand jury. He considered the section of the criminal code under which the accused directors were seeking trial before a judge to be "utterly inappropriate to the proceedings taken in this case."

ALD. DOUGLASS FAILS TO BROACH THE SUBJECT

Ald. Douglass believes no doubt that it would be good business to sell the federal square but he didn't say anything about it at last night's session of the finance committee. Nor was the question of the new city hall even mentioned by any member of the committee, although a local organ predicted immediate action to dispose of the property.

McGUIRE AGAIN ELECTED HEAD OF LABOR COUNCIL

Makes Fourth Consecutive Year He Has Held the Office.

VOTE WAS UNANIMOUS

International Labor Officials Addressed Gathering, Urging Missionary Program.

Jack McGuire was re-elected last night to the presidency of the London Trades and Labor Council by a unanimous vote of the delegates. This makes his fourth consecutive term of office.

Jim Marsh, international organizer of the Carpenters and Joiners, with headquarters at Niagara Falls, and W. A. O'Dell, international organizer of the Boot and Shoe Workers, who were both present, urged on the council a missionary program among the locals to add enthusiasm to the work of organized labor in this city, and add new members from unorganized labor.

Mr. O'Dell said he recognized a general movement on the part of employers in Canada to flood the labor market and in other ways to disrupt the organization of labor in the Do-

ARE YOU ALMOST A NERVOUS WRECK

Stop Worrying! Be Restored By a Home Treatment. Costing Only Few Cents a Day.

Nerve exhaustion is the result of using up the body's nerve power—the energy that keeps you vigorous, strong. Without vital nerve force the body becomes weakened, the mind becomes tortured with worry and fears; your worn out nerves seem actually to cry out in agony.

Women with overstrained nerves grow thin, pale, haggard and are prematurely old. Men who have exhausted their nervous systems find their way to success blocked by their own weakness.

There is no magic way to restore the nerves. Nerve power—the vital force of life—is created only within our bodies. When the body is so worn out that it cannot store up nerve strength then it must have a restorative. Just as soon as we begin to restore our bodies so surely will we begin to regain nerve power and vitality.

There is a safe home treatment for nerve exhausted men and women; a treatment that is absolutely harmless and costs only a few cents a day. Get from your druggist at once a generous size bottle of Wincarnis, the restorative for sufferers from weakness and nerve failure. Take this Wincarnis treatment for 12 days, and you will understand what it means to regain nerve power and vitality.—Advt.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after meals. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas, or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

SCHOOL CROWDING CAUSES CONCERN

Several Organizations Join the Board of Education in Consideration.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Jan. 15.—A delegation comprised of the chamber of commerce, separate school board, city council, trades and labor council and the board of education will visit the Collegiate Institute Friday to inspect the crowded conditions. Three proposals are favored:

First, the erection of a large new technical high school, replacing the present collegiate; second, the erection of a 25-room junior, commercial and technical high school; third, the erection of two 10-room wings on the present collegiate building.

If either the first or second plan is adopted, the government will bear a part of the expense, while the estimated cost of the two wings would be $100,000 with no assistance from the government. The larger building is estimated at $400,000, while the smaller building, and the one apparently most favored in the city, would cost between $200,000 and $250,000. The board feels that some action is necessary at once, and that by gathering all the governing bodies in the city together some scheme for relief would likely be arrived at.

Fireman Hurt.

George Carroll, a C. N. R. and Wabash Railway fireman, fractured a rib, sustained bad cuts about the head and a scalded face when he jumped from his engine three miles from Ekfrid Wednesday afternoon. Hearing the crash when the front pair of trucks of his engine left the tracks, Mr. Carroll jumped free of the engine, although there was no serious danger. He is in Amasa Wood Hospital.

Technical Education.

Walter D. Sutherland, president of the trades and labor council, is preparing to call a meeting of the members and citizens at large to discuss the technical school question. The speaker will be W. K. Sutherland of the hydro-electric department, St. Thomas.

Boys in Trouble.

Two hours after the report was made to the police of the theft of goods from the store of Fred Pratt, 771 Leavelle street, George Fournier, 18, on parole from the St. John's Industrial School at Toronto, was arrested, charged with stealing the goods. He told of breaking the glass in the window and then helping a younger lad through to unlock the door. The older lad was sent to the jail for a week before receiving the sentence. The younger was asked to come to police court again in a week. The father of the boy was sentenced a month ago to the Ontario reformatory for stealing chickens from Andrew Mills of Yarmouth Center.

Infant Dies.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Duffin died in Amasa Wood Hospital Wednesday afternoon. The remains were taken to Williams & Sons' undertaking establishment. The funeral will take place at Union Cemetery at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Military Ball.

The military ball to be staged a week from Friday gives every indication of being the biggest event of the winter. This will be the first strictly formal ball since 1914. Woodstock, Stratford, Guelph, Chatham and London, along with other places, will be represented. A number from the headquarters staff at London will attend.

Signal Supervisor.

J. J. Killgus, of St. Thomas, has been appointed to the staff of the C. N. R. station at Stratford as supervisor of signal on the Stratford division.

Diamond Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hunt will celebrate their diamond wedding at their home at 52 William street from 4 to 6 Saturday afternoon and in the evening. Mr. Hunt will be 33 years old, and Mrs. Hunt 30, and both are enjoying good health. Mr. Hunt still continues his duties as County Police Magistrate.

Hi-Ro Officers.

Hi-Ro Shriners officers are: President, Walter Woolver; vice-president, Andrew Leslie; secretary-treasurer, Fred McCulley; house committee, P. S. Minshall, A. Leslie and P. A. Honsinger; auditors, W. U. Latorelli and H. E. MacDonald.

LAY FORGERY CHARGE ON CHURCH ORGANIST

Frank Pfunder Is Arrested in Detroit—Alleged To Blame Liquor.

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, Jan. 15.—"Liquor" is the succinct explanation given by Frank E. Pfunder, 27, for his fall from church organist in this city to check forger.

Pfunder, arrested today in the Strand Hotel, Detroit, where he lived, is said by police to have confessed a number of forgeries. A number of blank checks from several Detroit banks were found in his pockets when arrested.

Pfunder, until last November, was organist of the Immaculate Conception Church in this city. "After I lost my position with the church I went rapidly downhill," he is alleged to have told detectives. "I tried to find work but failed. Drink brought me to this."

Windsor police were looking for Pfunder for two forgeries amounting to $100. He is alleged to have passed more than twenty bad checks since November.

BISHOP FALLON DIRECTS OPEN LETTER TO KING

Denounces Whole System, Declaring Institutions Would Not Stand Pressure.

FAITH HAS VANISHED

Associated Press Despatch.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—"I feel that my reply should be given out by Bishop Fallon. It is for him to say," said Premier King tonight, when asked if he had any comment or reply to make to the letter written to him by Right Rev. Bishop Fallon, in reference to the Home Bank failure.

While admitting that he had received a reply Right Rev. Bishop Fallon declined to give it for publication. "I couldn't do that," is all that he said when shown the premier's statement.

An open letter addressed to Premier King from Bishop Fallon of London, has been received by The Advertiser.

Bishop Fallon's letter is a sweeping denunciation of Canada's banking system, including past failure and present circumstances. Bishop Fallon describes himself as spokesman of "the plain people," and writes as follows:

"To the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada."

"Right Honorable and Dear Sir,—Shortly before your departure to attend the Imperial Conference the Home Bank closed its doors. A few days after your return the liquidator issued his report on the bankrupt institution. That document, with its statistics of the most discreditable story of the most effect brought misery and suffering to hundreds of thousands of Canadian citizens. Despite government supervision, finance ministers, inspectors, auditors and the Bankers' Association, the Home Bank was able to go on unchecked for more than a decade of years in its career of incompetence, deception or dishonesty, until the whole structure fell to pieces and brought misery and suffering to hundreds of thousands of Canadian citizens."

Home Bank "An Incident."

"The collapse of the Home Bank, however, is but an incident in a financial condition that calls for immediate and effective action. By growing annual reports, by eloquent discourses from general managers, by empty resolutions of uninformed shareholders and by culpable negligence in the finance department the people of this country have been lulled into a sense of security concerning their surplus earnings intrusted to the banks of Canada."

"There is no doubt as to the sense of security. It is futile to allege that the banks that remain are so strong as to ally all mistrust and suspicion. Consider the history of the past ten years. One of our foremost banks was a universal subject of nervous comment; several millions of dollars went from the public treasury to its support. This action was either a measure of commendable prudence or it was plain robbery."

Then followed the unspeakable exposure of the Merchants Bank, an institution that was considered as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar. In recent months the Union Bank and the Standard Bank have written off millions of dollars of losses caused by the speculation of their officers, and which might just as well have been completely wrecked them. Then the Home Bank failed. Following quickly on the heels of that event came the disappearance of the Bank of Hamilton, which had reached the limit of its financial endurance. And only a few days ago the Bank of Montreal was saved by the wise decision of the provincial government of Quebec to assist it by a subvention of fifteen million dollars of public money.

The Present Circumstances.

"There is, moreover, nothing in the balance sheets of our existing banks to create a reasoned confidence. Our ten largest banks have an average surplus of assets over liabilities of less than $12 in every hundred. When one considers that in this small surplus are contained frozen assets, bad debts, loans from which no profit will ever be made, and the inevitable shrinkage in the value of real estate and equipment, it is too much to say that these institutions would under pressure pass from a condition of potential to one of actual bankruptcy. In that unhealthy condition 90 per cent of the population is vitally concerned, and it is a condition that the civil government is bound to effectively heal; the immediate end for which civil government has been instituted is the protection of person and property."

"But how can this end be reached in the matter under consideration? By the simple method of making the banks collectively responsible for the money they accept as deposits. The banks borrow our money without other security than the charters the people give them; they pay no, or a very low, rate of interest. When they loan us our own money they charge us the highest rate of interest obtainable, and every shred of security that can be squeezed from us is rigorously exacted. We are actually made financial slaves by the very power of our own savings. And the bankers gamble with our earnings, and tell us to go whistle when the crash comes."

Has Lost Faith.

"No further faith can be put in those who have been hitherto our financial guides. They have been weighed and found wanting. And they know it themselves. We are now being told that the banks have no objection to "government inspection," but that the government must bear the consequent "responsibility." The people of Canada will not tolerate the placing of any such "responsibility" on their government, that is, on themselves. They shall demand an effective guarantee for their hard-earned savings, and they will look to the forthcoming session of the Federal Parliament to exact that effective guarantee from those to whom these savings are confided. "It may be asked why I should have written this letter. Let me satisfy a very reasonable curiosity. I have noticed that every corporate interest has a mouthpiece. The plain people, to whom I belong, alone seem to be inarticulate and unorganized."

Failing a more fitting representative, I have ventured to make myself their spokesman. And I have strong conviction that I am voicing their sentiments. "I beg leave to remain, right honorable and dear sir, yours faithfully, "M. F. FALLON, "London, January 12, 1924."

Standard Drug Stores

ARE SIMPLY

Modernized Family Drug Stores

We are like the old-fashioned family drug store in so much as we dispense prescriptions, stock a big range of patent medicines, toilet preparations, toilet soaps and many other lines of drug store sundries. We, in fact, do everything the old time drug store used to do, only we try to do it in a more modern way. We have rearranged our stores differently, so as to make it more convenient for you to buy, more convenient for us to ever give you clean, fresh, highest quality merchandise at all times. In other words, they are arranged with this one viewpoint in mind—to give you prompt service. We also differ greatly in the matter of prices—this difference is all to your advantage. MUNICIPAL CHAPTER I.O.D.E. INDORSES DECORATION DAY

Supports C. E. F. Chapter in the Move To Set Aside Sunday To Visit Graves.

HONOR MRS. A. E. MILLER

Prominent I.O.D.E. Worker Is Presented With Life Membership Pin.

Mrs. A. E. Miller was signally honored by the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., yesterday afternoon, when she was presented with a life membership in that organization by the members. Mrs. Miller has been actively connected with the work of the I.O.D.E. in London for over twelve years and the gift of yesterday came in appreciation of her services. The presentation was made at the postponed meeting of the Municipal Chapter, held in Cronyn Hall, Mrs. Miller receiving the pin from the hands of Mrs. Cl. T. Campbell, while the other two to be presented by Mrs. Ross Thomas, Mrs. Miller, although taken by surprise, expressed her thanks by referring to her happy connection with the order ever since she became a member.

War Pictures for London.
The National Chapter, I.O.D.E., has voted to London three sets of the war memorial pictures, which will be placed in the London schools. One set goes permanently to the children's institute, the other two to be placed from time to time in each of the public schools of the city. This year Ryerson and Victoria schools are to be favored with the presence of the pictures, which will move on to other schools next year. Announcement of the gift of the pictures was made at the meeting of the Municipal Chapter, and will be received with interest by the members of the school board, for the pictures, which are eighteen to a set, have historic value.

The question of disbarring the War Memorial Hospital committee, which has accomplished such excellent work since its organization four years ago, came before the meeting, but no action was taken. It was pointed out that the committee had not yet completed its work and should remain a sub-committee of the Municipal Chapter until that task was accomplished.

The resignation of Mrs. F. J. Greenaway as honorary secretary of that body was received with regret and a standing vote of thanks for her appreciation of the members for her splendid services during the past four years.

Indorse Decoration Day.
The Municipal Chapter indorsed the suggestion of C. E. F. Returned Chapter, that London should have an annual decoration day. Mrs. J. B. Dunlevy, regent of the chapter, explained that the members had secured the support of the mayor in this move and that their hope was that they might eventually make decoration day a Dominion-wide event.

Three more names were added to the committee which is conferring with the Occupational Therapy Association with a view to securing a recreational side for the War Memorial Children's Hospital. The names added were Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. Ross Thomas and Mrs. W. L. Denny. The original committee includes Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway and Mrs. Cl. T. Campbell.

Mrs. E. B. Smith was asked to

MRS. VIVIAN REEVE, formerly Miss Wanda Jones, who received for the first time since her marriage at her home, Waterloo street north, this afternoon.

convene a committee to make plans for helping the Institute of the Blind some time during the spring. The wording which will appear on the bronze tablet in the entrance hall of the War Memorial Children's Institute was officially passed upon by the chapter.

Mrs. Allan McLean, the regent, was in the chair. Expressions of sympathy were forwarded to Mrs. Arthur Smith, who has suffered a painful accident, and Mrs. George Routhledge in the death of her husband.

REBEKAHS WILL HOLD INSTALLATION TONIGHT

Mrs. Frank Campbell Succeeds Mrs. A. E. Austin as the Noble Grand.

The I. O. O. F. Hall will be the scene of an interesting event tonight when Mrs. Frank Campbell will be installed as noble grand of the Victoria Rebekah Lodge. The officiating officer will be Mrs. G. E. Burridge, district deputy grand president, and her staff of installing officers will include Mrs. Charles Hemsworth, D. D. grand marshal; Mrs. Warren McRoberts, D. D. grand warder; Mrs. M. Malone, D. D. grand recording secretary; Mrs. M. Clargo, D. D. grand financial secretary; Mrs. George Shaw, D. D. grand treasurer; Mrs. Ellen Powell, D. D. grand inside guard, and Mrs. Ed. Slack, D. D. grand chaplain.

During the evening the past noble grand's jewels will be presented by Mrs. A. E. Austin. After the installation has taken place a social hour will be held, Mrs. W. H. Evans in charge.

The incoming officers of the Victoria Rebekah Lodge are: vice-regent, Mrs. Olga Eice; recording secretary, Mrs. E. M. Russell; financial secretary, Mrs. Dan Black; treasurer, Mrs. Warren MacRoberts; past noble grand, Mrs. A. E. Austin.

Gray Fox sat down and studied that old can.

By this time Gray Fox was frightened as well as hurt. That old can was a trap which had caught his paw. "Ouch! Wow!" he yelled again as he felt Danny's sharp teeth once more. The pain made him shake his paw. It sent the can flying. He was free!

For a moment or two Gray Fox thought of nothing but that paw. He licked it tenderly where Danny had bitten it and where the edges of that can had cut it. Then rage filled him. Yes, sir, rage filled him. Now that he was free he was no longer afraid of that can. But he had lost his temper completely. He blamed Danny Meadow Mouse for taking his paw, and he was more determined than ever that he would catch Danny.

He went over to that old can to make sure that Danny was still in it. He was. Gray Fox turned the can up on end, hoping that Danny would drop out. But Danny didn't. Then Gray Fox picked the can up in his teeth and shook it. My, my, my, how he did shake! Poor Danny inside was thrown from side to side until he hadn't any breath left. But he wasn't shaken out. The temper of Gray Fox grew worse and worse. He pounced on that old can and knocked it this way and that way. Sometimes it rolled and sometimes it went end over end. But Danny Meadow Mouse was still inside.

Mrs. Reeve wore her graceful wedding gown of white crepe romaine, with an overdress of georgette heavily beaded in crystals, and a corsage of sunset roses. Mrs. Jones was gowned in black tulle velvet, and Mrs. Reeve Sen. wore a handsome gown of black crepe romaine. A silver basket, filled with roses, centered the tea table, where Mrs. Lebert Jones and Mrs. Norman Keene nodd. Miss Minnie Stewart ushered the guests to the tea room, and the assistants included: Mrs. Norville Jones, Mrs. Floyd Jones, Mrs. Lillian Jones, Mrs. Mervyn Jones and Mrs. R. Newton. Miss Barbara Jones made a charming food attendant, wearing a pink frilly organza frock.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, 41 Roberts avenue, was the scene of a merry gathering Friday, January 11, when Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained in honor of their daughter Margaret, on the occasion of her 21st birthday. The living-rooms of the home were gaily decorated and the evening was pleasantly spent in dancing, games and music.

Especially delightful and interesting numbers by Mr. Vine and F. Aldridge. The supper room was prettily decorated in mauve and white, while roses and ferns, placed upon the supper table where the birthday cake, adorned with 21 candles, occupied a central place. Biscuits—made from inimitable old English recipes, now brought within reach of every household

For years, even generations, no biscuits made could even equal those created by English master-bakers from the inimitable Old Country recipes that demanded the purest of ingredients and the utmost in baking skill. Yet these imported biscuits, necessarily high-priced, were beyond the household purse of the average Canadian.

And now Weston's English master-bakers, by the use of these inimitable Old Country recipes, and with the same expert baking skill are making right here at home, biscuit confections that rival these famous English lines, long recognized as the world's standard.

Yet Weston's "biscuits as they are made in England" cost but little more than ordinary "fancy biscuits."

Why Hair Stands on End.

While the expression "hair standing on end" is merely a figure of speech, the fact remains that this is one of the involuntary effects of sudden terror.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

The Wife Who Exaggerated Her Husband's Faults to Her Mother—How to Choose a Wife—The Young Man Whose Fiancee Does Not Demonstrate Her Affection.

Dear Miss Dix—My family consists of my wife, a little daughter nine years old and myself. We have had a happy home all these years, until recently we made a visit to her mother. Contrary to facts and to my great surprise, I found that my wife had magnified every little unpleasant incident during our marriage, and told each one to her mother in such a way that I am placed in a very embarrassing position, and am branded as the meanest man in the world.

I cannot understand the reason for my wife's doing this, and the injustice of it all makes me feel like giving up everything and slipping out into the world alone. What shall I do in this case? X. Y. Z.

Your wife's conduct is certainly most reprehensible. It shows both bad faith and bad taste, but many women are guilty of doing the same thing. When they are angry with their husbands, or peeved about any little thing, or when they are sore over some family spat, they run to their mothers with it because they know that their mothers will always side with them. Furthermore, the women who do this do not realize what a disloyal thing they are doing because they have only told mother. They forget that mother is generally a broad-casting station that sends out lurid stories about what a brute of a husband her poor darling daughter has got, and how badly he treats her.

And mother exaggerates everything her daughter tells her. If daughter walls out that she doesn't believe that her husband loves her any more because he stayed out until 12 o'clock last night, mother leaps to the conclusion that he is leading the double life. If daughter weeps because her husband said he couldn't afford some extravagance she had set her heart on, mother put husband down as a tightwad. If daughter tells that her husband criticized the cooking, mother says that she knew all along that he was an unfeeling beast who cared for nothing but his own stomach. And long after daughter has forgotten what she was miffed with her husband about, mother still remembers and holds it against him.

Why does a woman do such a dishonorable thing? Because women love to be considered mothers, and to be kept over and pitied and "poor-dearied." And mother can always be counted on to turn on the tear ducts whenever daughter makes a bid for her sympathy.

It is no wonder that you feel hurt and outraged at your wife misrepresenting you to her mother in order to indulge herself in an orgy of being cried over and sympathized with.

But her excuse is that she did not realize what she did. When she sees how she has wounded you and perceives how despicable her conduct has been, it will give her a lesson that she will never forget, and she will probably never offend that way again.

Forgive her and set her faults down to one of the inexcusable weaknesses of her sex which craves pity as a drug addict does dope. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I thought I would write to you and ask you how I can get a good wife. Will you please tell me how to choose one? D. A.

Well, D. A., if I were going to choose a wife, I would pick out a girl who was neither too young nor too old, say between twenty-three and thirty—and who was good-looking and neat and trim and in appearance, because I would want some one who would be easy on the eyes if I was planning to sit across the table from her for the next thirty or forty years.

But I would pass up the beauties and fashion plates, because they are nearly always selfish and spoiled and extravagant. I'd be looking for a helpmeet, and not a baby doll that I would have to spend my time playing with and dressing up.

I would pick out a healthy girl.

Because I wouldn't want a wife who was nervous and neurotic and irritable and unmanageable all invalids are, nor would I want to see all of my money go to hospitals and sanatoriums and doctors.

I would pick out a cheerful, good-natured girl, a girl who always saw the funny side of things and who had a laugh hung on a hair trigger.

I would want a girl who took life as it came, without worrying, and who was ready to make the best of every situation.

I would pick out an energetic girl, a girl with a lot of pep to her, a girl who was willing to do her part of the work in the world, and who would make a good helpmeet.

Preferably, she would know how to cook and sew, but that wouldn't matter particularly, for any woman who isn't lazy can learn how to be a good cook and housekeeper.

Above all, I would pick out for a wife a girl who was congenial and companionable.

For I would want a wife who thought as I did, who was interested in the things that I was interested in, who liked to do the things that I liked to do, and would trot along beside me on the same hobby horses.

I would pick out a girl whom I could talk to or listen to for hours at a stretch without getting bored. Then I would know that my marriage would be like the old fairy tales and I'd live happily ever afterward. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young man and engaged to a girl with whom I am very deeply in love. But somehow she does not show me the affection I crave, although I know that deep in her heart she loves me dearly.

But lately I have met another girl whose ways are just what I enjoy. She makes a lot of fuss over me and pays me compliments and flatters me. Do you think that I should think less of these little affectionate ways of the second girl and continue loving the one to whom I am engaged? L. B.

Still waters run deep, L. B., and the girl that you think is cold probably cares a million times more for you than does the one who palavers over you. Furthermore, you will get mighty fed up on sentiment if you are married to a wife who is very demonstrative in her affection and who is always kissing you in season and out of season. I have seen men look at these kissing-bug wives with murder in their eyes.

The only men who ever get all they want in a wife are the gentlemen who keep harems, who can get a selected assortment of wives each with a special charm. So unless you are thinking of emigrating to the Orient you will have to decide between the true and tried reserved girl and the gushing girl.

My choice would be the girl who had proved her affection for me rather than the one who told me about it. DOROTHY DIX.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL TO HAVE AID SOON

Hospital Trust Has Given Permission—Appeal for Funds to I.O.D.E.

Although no occupational therapy nurse has yet been appointed to the War Memorial Hospital for Sick Children, it is expected that such an appointment will be made shortly.

The hospital trust has given permission for the sending of an aide to the hospital for one morning and one afternoon of each week, but the aide must be financed by the Occupational Therapy Society. A generous donation from Col. Wm. Garthshore will form a nucleus for supplies for the work which the aide will carry on.

An appeal has been made to the Municipal Chapter, I.C.D.E., for financial assistance in connection with the appointment of an aide to the hospital, and that body has appointed a strong committee to look into the matter, before action is taken.

CHAPTER LXXII. The Great Hope.

"Next Saturday at 3:30, then." Denny came down in the elevator repeating this to himself. "Next Saturday. Three thirty. Gee! His breath drew hard. He'd know. They'd know then. Another long, difficult breath.

He had been to see the doctor, a young Irish man, but as John Merchant told him, "as good a bone specialist as you'll find in the country." Denny had made an appointment for Kate.

No sooner was this done than he found himself on fire, the blood crowding about his neck. He walked swiftly, saying, "Well, it can't hurt to know. No harm in knowing. Won't make her any worse."

Yet there was something in this step he had just taken that crept over him with dread; that knocked in a panic at his heart. Suppose the doctor should say she could never be cured—she could never walk! Suppose nothing, nothing could ever be done for her?

All the thought and hope of his life was massed against such a verdict. Katy, with that happy voice of hers, her face prettier than any he had ever seen next to Queenie's—Katy, who all her rich, happy capacity to enjoy, doomed to sit always a spectator and not a participant in life. He didn't want to hear that. He wouldn't accept it.

Rather might it be that the dream would come true—the dream that had been before her like a beautiful star, that had swept with glory through the brightness of her years.

He remembered the day he had hired the horse and buggy and driven to the hospital to bring Katy home. He remembered the life going out of him when the doctor said: "Walk, lady? Well, I don't know. Well, probably not for a long while—probably a great while."

And when they brought Katy out in a wheel chair, he couldn't bear to look at her. But she had pressed her face against his arm, whispering, "Ain't you glad?" any more, Denny? Don't you see, I'm just as happy as you. And last night, now, what I dreamed? The loveliest angel came right up to my pillow and laughed and said: "Hello there, Katy-kid! Here, just such my wings. Now, you're all better. In the dream Katy touched the luminous pinions.

Eleven years she had waited for the angel to redeem the promise. Her faith was magnetic thing, for it reached out to Denny and won him. Saturday he would bring her over. And Saturday they were vacating the barn.

Denny had found an apartment with one big living-room that he intended to fix up as near like the one they loved as could be. For Stephen was coming with them.

Kate had written to tell him of the moving and to ask what they should do with the piano, the clock, the steel engravings and all the bits of color that had given a richness and a charm to their dwelling. Back came an instant answer: "Don't move a thing. Let it stay where it is. Say, where do you people get this stuff? What do you mean asking what I undressed with many a angry dash? What do you mean with MY things. I thought they were OUR things. Has the day passed when I'm one of Us? If this is a polite way of kicking the founding out, kindly remember the founding is now large enough to kick back.

"Kate, you wouldn't write such a letter to the Lord God, would you? Wouldn't write and ask him what he wanted done with the crazy quilt? Well, I'm hurt about it. Darn it, I thought where you and Denny were would always be home. Don't you love your adopted brother any more, Kate?"

And she wrote back, delighted: "Lovely. Mad Stephen. Convince you're one of us. You ain't thrown out or disowned, Stevie, dear. And I only wrote to appraise your royal highness of the momentous exodus forced upon us in your most deplorable absence. And to inquire in most becoming and courteous language your noble wishes. Forsooth to learn if it pleased you to join the march, bag and baggage. And don't be angry with me, dear Stephen, if the words I chose are not the ones I should have chosen. For we love you and as long as there's any glory hal-lalujah left anywhere we'll keep on loving our beautiful Steve."

So the new place would be as the old. There would be no moving done until after Saturday. They would stay with the dear old friend who was a mother to her, and Denny was to have the furniture brought over and the apartment in order before Katy should see it.

She'd scarcely notice the change. Just wait and get all the effects he had planned. Besides, there was a view from the window. That would take the breath clean out of her mouth. She'd really see the water, the boats and the islands now—see them close.

For two or three days Denny was stirred with an uneasy restlessness. By Friday night he was wishing for Saturday to come and be gone. Anything rather than this carping suspense. Gee, fate the thing and get done with it!

At 1 o'clock he strode into the barn, banging the door with a great shout of devil-may-care. "Lo! Ready, Katy-kid!"

"Yes—but come here, Denny." He went into her room. She stood leaning against the bureau, putting on her hat, but her hands shook so that the fingers caught in her hair and mussed it.

"Oh, there! Now I have to fix it all over!" That's the third time," Her lashes were wet.

"Say, Katy-kid, crying?" "Laughing, Denny, laughing!" The way she said that—the look on her face—the very way Queenie had said the same thing the night before she died. Why did he remember it?

Gee—superstitions! gee, fellow's pretty soft when a thing like that takes a twist in him!

"You're all worked up, Katy-kid. Here, I'll fix it for you. And as the weeks run down her hands whirled out a handkerchief, wiped them off, grabbed the powder puff from the bureau and flopped it on her cheeks.

"You're all right, come on, say, Katy, not afraid your angel's going back on you, are you? What's the matter?"

"Nothing. Everything. You?"

"Why me?"

Her lips twitched, but she tried to laugh. "You're the angel, Denny—

nobody else. You're just good enough angel for me."

"Aw, you little stupid! Come on, now. Just get time to kiss every corner and crack in the place good-bye."

"Isn't it singular, Denny, that you should be taking me to get all well on the very same day we leave behind us this dear old barn?"

"Is it so hard for you to be leaving, Katy?"

She laughed. "I'm dying to see the new place, so that takes away the pang of leaving. And then I've thought this—every change we've made has been a gayer one since that night He put us out."

The old childish antagonism stuck. Neither ever spoke of Matt Borley except as "Him" or "He."

"Your beloved Uncle Matt, Katy-kid? So, it was he started us on the road to happiness?"

"But it's true, isn't it? Let me say this, Denny, please. Let me say it to the end, and it's this. I think it was the luckiest thing that ever happened to me that I fell off that tree. Now, honest and true, I mean it. Because otherwise you would have left me with them. Look how different my life has been all these years. And you know, Denny, you've always made me feel in my insides that that you were glad to have me. Now that's beautiful. So it's been me that's helped to make you so."

He ran his handkerchief over his face. "Darn nice in you doing that, Katy-kid, finishing up God's own job."

They stood at the windows, where Katy had fixed the curtains that expectant day nearly seven years ago when they had first come to the barn. She opened her hands with a whimsical little move. "I'll write you a letter and tell me the rest. Denny, these dear, glorious old walls know it all. Oh, do you feel that this is a majestic day in our lives? I feel as if I were standing on a semicircle and I don't want to move."

"You're scared, Katy-kid? You half wish you weren't going?" He pulled out his watch. "Got to go. Gee—cast your eyes back, look at her."

He lifted her in his arms. She patted his cheek lightly. "Heigh-ho, Denny darlin'—and won't you be glad when I can sally forth to do the Highball at Third and Market?"

"Aw, gee! Well—did you say good-bye? Good Lord!" At the willow tree, he looked back. "Was a good old place, wasn't it? Gee whizz!"

When they were on the train Katy kept her hand folded under his arm. "I feel all trembly, Denny. I feel like laughing."

"Sally right with me if you laugh. 'Stupid!' I'll look after her. When they got off the boat, he called a taxi. Katy twitched his sleeve indignantly. "Extravagant, Mr. Denny."

He grinned. "Twelve fifty, Katy-kid. Thousand-dollar man!"

Never had his arms seemed gentler nor stronger than when he lifted her from the taxi to her chair—wheeled her into the building where the doctor's office was. She reached her hand to him in the elevator. He held it.

Denny—oh, Denny! He carried her to the small, white room. She looked up and laughed, and kept holding his hand.

Then he went outside and waited.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1924.

From 16c to $1.55.

In Oregon a number of farmers with a practical turn of mind had a banquet. They live around a place called Imbler. At their spread they furnished and prepared the food themselves, and it cost exactly 16 cents per plate.

The same menu, served in Portland, Oregon, just 250 miles away, is billed at $1.55.

Between the farmers' price and the Portland price there was a spread of $1.39 in a single meal.

In that $1.39 there is taken up freight or express charges, probably commissions, maybe cold storage, wholesale or retail profits—perhaps both—restaurant rent, the cost of preparing and serving the meal, and a certain profit to the man running the business. There is a long line of people in the space between the farmer of Imbler and the man who pays a check at the Portland restaurant. There is more than the mere 250 miles of space separating them.

The people themselves are not without blame in this matter. In many cases they are calling for service, more service and quicker service. There is a response to the call, and they get more and quicker service, more attention, more deliveries, and each time producer and consumer move farther apart.

It will be interesting to see what use the producers of foodstuffs at Imbler, in Oregon, make of the experiment they have been conducting. If they can close up the gap that separates them from the man who eats the meals made from their produce they will be blazing a trail that has so far been prospected by wishers but untraveled by doers.

One Costly Lesson.

The financial position of Canada at the 31st of December, 1923, shows a revenue in excess of expense to the extent of $60,689,000. That is for a period of nine months. It indicates that we are approaching a point where the growth of debt has been checked, and a movement toward reduction is now possible.

Expenditure in the same period shows a decrease of $3,370,966 over the same months in 1922.

The government has written off a large amount, $543,619,281, as investments that were "non-active." In other words, they yield no returns, and there are no prospects of them doing so.

The principal contributing cause for this large total is the fact that governments and parliaments, keen to have money spent in this or that section, had guaranteed the bonds in years past of non-profitable railways. The government of today is called upon to face the situation, and there is only one fair thing to do—write off the amount and take the loss now.

Canada should have learned its lesson by now on this business of guaranteeing bonds to please politicians, but the same forces that clamored in the past may clamor again, although the way in which the National Railways is now held and managed should head off most of this guaranteeing of lines running from nowhere in particular to a twin point.

There must be a cessation of calls on the Dominion government for expenditure that is going to call for more debt. And there must be a fearless attitude by the same government in tackling government expense for exactly the same reason.

It is already costing a population of less than nine million people $138,000,000 a year to carry the charges on the debt we now have.

The Two Varieties.

One of the London theatres had a very clever magician on its bill last week. The magician is not a faker. He practices deception, but the people knew beforehand that there was going to be deception. The mean thing is when one practices deception without any warning.

There is something honorable about the magician who advertises his performance, and charges a set price that people must pay in order to be deceived.

The world has a very large number of men who charge no admission price, advertise that there is no deception, and then proceed to practice it and collect afterward from the losers.

The magician who deceives you, and who says he is going to deceive you, is possessed of a hand that is stronger than your eye; he is versed in the arts and agencies that have your attention; he knows quite well how imperfect are your powers of observation.

Houdini, the greatest of living magicians, has stated he has never seen anything done by a spiritualistic medium that he could not do by his skill as a magician. He performed a service to the world when making that statement. By practicing his deception honestly and avowedly, he was able to step on those who were seeking to make something supernatural out of it.

Don't be alarmed of the magician who blares it forth that he is going to deceive you by his skill and cunning.

But watch for the man in business, sport, politics or religion who hastens to assure you that there is no deception in this, and that once begins to practice it. He doesn't even give you a comfortable seat and a good performance for your money.

Feeders for the Cities.

The Blenheim News-Tribune complains that some of the larger centers are already starting to bring in baseball players for the 1924 series. It mentions Chatham and St. Thomas, and intimates that as soon as a boy in a small town begins to show that he is a first-class ball player some of the larger centers come along and hold up a beckoning finger at him, and away he goes, making it just that much harder for the small centers to keep up their teams.

What the Blenheim paper says is true, and it has been true for a long time past, and it will be just as true in the future.

It is true in baseball, and it is true in business of any sort. The larger places are always on the look-out for promising young men, and it is a fact that they find a lot of them in the smaller centers.

And what of the young man himself who hears the call to come up higher in baseball or anything else? Is it not a good thing for him? He has the choice of staying where he is or of passing out into the larger field of wider activity, and the chances are that in the great majority of cases he is going to go.

It is one of the services that the smaller centers of Ontario perform for which they get not nearly enough credit. They are the feeders for the cities; they raise the boys and educate them; they give them a good foundation and a clean outlook on life, and then along comes the larger place with the more attractive opportunity and calls for them, and away they go.

Wesley and Eli.

Wesley Post is 84, and Eli McCabe is 83, and yet these youngsters had a skating race on the Bay of Quinte at Deseronto.

Too many people quit skating when they get about 40. At 50 the number has practically vanished.

And yet it is one of the greatest of all outdoor exercises. It is not expensive, neither is it exclusive.

London's great outdoor rink in Victoria Park, its arena for those who prefer indoor skating, the numerous places on the cove and at ponds—there's room for them all, young and old, fast and slow, fancy and plain. Don't make the mistake of getting old too soon.

This Craft Survived.

The world's largest airship, "Shenandoah," was swept from its moorings in a gale that made 72 miles an hour. The crew were able to start the motors, and outride the storm.

After hours of waiting a wireless was picked up stating that the craft was all right, and the 20 men on board safe.

It must have taken rare engineering skill and all the deftness and knowledge of the navigators to surmount the storm. It stands out as a highly creditable performance.

Note and Comment.

St. Thomas sends word of a freight that ran 120 miles in 170 minutes. Auto drivers say "that's nothin'."

Conscience is what makes a man take the loan he owed to a dead friend and buy flowers for the funeral.

Woodstock shows an overdraft of $7,659 for 1923. The city is at least prompt in announcing the results of the year's work.

The Hamilton Herald states quite a truth when it says "If the government costs too much it is probably because we have too much of it."

The move to reduce taxation will find many followers. The man who would prefer to pay $60 in taxes rather than $50 is a rare animal—in fact he does not exist.

The words "bourgeoisie" and "proletariat" are not heard as often as they were a few years back. Efforts to slice the population into sections, so that one class could hate the other effectively, were bound to fail.

To the Editor

Not Vote in Scotland.

Edinburgh Man Thinks His Native Land Able To Deal With Its Own Problems.

Sir: I note an account in the papers of January 9 of a talk by Mrs. Gordon Wright regarding the results of the recent prohibition elections in Scotland. Mrs. Wright's talk contains several statements, which to a person who knows the real situation in Britain, are not convincing. Mrs. Wright remarks that there is "a great advance in Scotland towards prohibition." This is not proven by facts.

I have before me copies of unbiased Scottish newspapers which are in touch with the situation. The results of voting show that the dry forces polled "many thousands of votes less than they did in 1920." In Edinburgh alone the drys polled 5,617 votes less than in 1920.

Herewith is an extract from Edinburgh Evening Dispatch: "For several months past the electors have been appealed to from platform and by poster. The issue at stake has been widely known, so that the results must be distinctly disappointing to those who have been working for a sweeping change."

Another newspaper extract: "The teetotal party have received a crushing defeat in the capital of Scotland, not only so, but on analysis of the voting they have lost ground compared with 1920."

Also I should like to mention that of the 13 small villages which voted dry in 1920, 50 per cent have repealed this vote and voted wet.

Mrs. Wright says: "Large meetings were held and crowds attended." True. To find an honest way (with-out prosecution of the majority) how to punish the man weak enough to overdrink, but who is in a very small minority. Scotchmen do not abuse drink, and have shown by their vote that they dislike the interference of outsiders in a question which Scotland is able to decide herself.

The Guide Post—By Henry van Dyke

THE GROWING CHILD.

And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit.—St. Luke 1, 80. The child, coming into existence, not by its own choice and will, but out of life behind it, becomes aware first of its physical being.

It takes its place among the creatures that breathe and eat and sleep, and adapts itself spontaneously to the laws of that existence.

A physical life has begun which will be continually dependent upon obedience to those laws.

But presently another life begins to dawn within the first life. The child becomes conscious of powers of observation, of comparison, of thought.

It becomes an animal who thinks, and this is subject to the higher law of reason; and it is only by following that law that the child is really lifted upwards and grows intelligent and free.

And then comes the opening of another world—the spiritual world—a disclosure so secret and vital that we cannot describe the order or manner of it.

But we know the three channels through which it comes—the affections, the conscience, and the religious feeling.

And we know the signs and marks of it. We can tell "when the child begins to feel the ties of love and duty which bind it to humankind, the laws of right and wrong, which are different from and superior to all other laws, the sense of awe and dependence and responsibility which is the evidence of God unseen."

We know also that the growth of that child into liberty and nobility will depend upon the recognition of these invisible things, and the allegiance to them.

It will rise, it will become a free and beautiful soul, only as it lives in love and duty and worship.

CAN EUROPE HOLD TOGETHER?

Chapter IX.: The Problem of Germany.

This series of articles is a simple but accurate explanation of world conditions, from the point of view of a distinguished specialist. These articles are the result of his most recent tour of Europe, made especially for securing the data—a trip on which he visited sixteen countries, talked with the premiers of half of them and the finance ministers of twelve, and in field observations secured a mass of facts. Mr. Sinclair says finance and economics can be told so simply a child can grasp them. His articles prove his claim.

By JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

Dr. Rudolph Thorpe, the new finance minister of the republic of Germany. Young, able and active, he has just announced himself in favor of a new currency based on gold.

"Inflation must be stopped or Germany is doomed," said Dr. Heiferding in reply to a question of mine. "Not only is it destroying our cultural life by taking away the material wealth of the middle classes, but it is causing the awful concentration of wealth of Germany into fewer and fewer hands. This is bad for Germany. It is bad for international trade and it is bad for the world. It must be stopped." Let us see the problem Heiferding faces.

Germany in 1914 was a world leader in international trade. With an area about the size of France, she had a population exceeding that of France by about 25 millions. Her currency like that of France was sound. Her government receipts and expenditures balanced. Eighty-two per cent of her receipts came from direct taxes as against 29 per cent of direct taxes in France. Her world trade, and the purchasing power of the gold points.

At this time she had outstanding 655 millions of dollars in bank notes and deposits, and 200 millions of dollars in gold reserve. That is to say, for every dollar of notes and deposits outstanding she had 40 cents of gold to pay with. During the war she increased her bank notes and deposits to 9,000 millions of dollars, while her gold reserve only increased to 570 millions of dollars. To put it in another way, the bank notes and deposits increased during the war 13.7 times, while the gold reserve increased only 2.1 times. For every dollar of bank notes and deposits outstanding at the end of 1919 Germany had 63 of gold to pay with. What happened? The same thing as in France and Great Britain. We need not repeat the experience in detail except to say that the purchasing power of her money went steadily down.

If we figure wholesale prices in Germany in July, 1914, at 100 we find them at the end of 1919 at 217. That is to say, it took $217 at the close of the war to purchase what $100 would at the beginning. Still she inflated her currency less during the war than any of the other great belligerents.

Public Debt.

At the outbreak of the war the public debt of Germany was $17.09 per capita—the lowest in Europe. Its annual interest charges were only 62 cents per capita. During the war, as in France, taxes were not greatly increased. Still her war taxes per capita per annum were $5.72 as against 12 cents in France—47 times as much. Yet only 11 cents out of every dollar spent by Germany during the war was raised by taxation. She got the other 89 cents by selling 24,500 millions of dollars worth of her bonds to her own people. She made 30 million individual sales. Today those government bonds are worth exactly $408.00. That is one thing the people of Germany got out of the war.

Germany in pre-war days was buying even at the height of her prosperity more goods outside of Germany than she sold. About 375 millions of dollars a year more. How did she pay it? She paid it in exactly the same way as France—by her so-called invisible exports.

She received about 350 millions of dollars a year on her investments owned outside of Germany; 125 millions of dollars more from her merchant marine services, and another 125 millions of dollars from tourists, remittances from abroad, etc. This gave her 500 millions of dollars a year with which she could square her purchases abroad and still have over 125 millions of dollars for good measure. So, as in the case of France, her problem was an easy one.

Now let us see what another thing the war did for Germany. Investments abroad. Her investments abroad were either sold or later confiscated. This reduced her 500 millions of dollars a year income. Invisible export No. 1 gone. Her merchant marine was either sunk or later confiscated under the Versailles Treaty, thereby taking from her another $320,000 a day income. Invisible export No. 2 gone. Her service fees, tourists, etc., stopped during the war, thereby taking from her $200,000 a day income. Invisible export No. 3 gone. In other words her invisible exports, which she had used to pay the excess of her purchases each year and amounting to $1,500,000 a day, were gone.

I want every reader to get the true significance of this. When Germany lost her invisible export account she lost the key to her international trade. She lost her business balance wheel. That practically destroyed her international business life. And when the means for carrying on international trade goes, the standard of living for the average man within that nation falls.

But this is not the whole story. It is not half the story. Not only has she lost her invisible export account, but she has also lost a very great part of her visible exports as well. She has lost under the provisions of the peace treaty 25 per cent of her coal (not including the Ruhr), 74 per cent of her iron ore, 68 per cent of her zinc ore, 15 per cent of her wheat land, and 18 per cent of her potato land. Such a misfortune would cripple any people in the world. In itself it might well cause social decay.

Study Figures. Just study these figures for a moment. Translate them into the lives of the people. What does it mean? It means Germany when she signed the peace treaty signed her financial death warrant. It means that Germany has three million dollars a day less income to buy goods with on the world market. It means that she has lost one-third of her income, while of the balance left of her other third goes to pay interest charges on the internal debt. Interest charges on her debt immediately after the war were 53 times what they were in 1913. It means her credit structure is ruined. It means that she can sell no more bonds to tide her over. It means her industrial machine, which she built especially for international trade, has been wrecked. It means a lower and lower standard of living for the masses. It means that she has left no agency except the government printing press. It means her doom is sealed and the printing presses will work until the end. It means that 20 million people today cannot live above the bread line, where 60 million lived in comfort before.

This tells the story. In 1914 a dollar would buy four German marks; in 1918 ten marks, in 1921 one hundred marks, in 1922 fifteen hundred marks, in August, 1923, twelve million marks, and September 8th fifty million marks.

The problem already has gotten on beyond her control. The financial dyke has broken. Germany is doomed. (Copyright, 1923, in U. S. and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

enough for the family, let alone a bed for the teacher. Such conditions are hard to realize by the present generation. A Methodist minister, well known, especially in Toronto, used to relate the following story of a family who had moved into the woods building a house 14x20, cooked, ate and slept in that one-roomed house, and in the only bed, and as years passed by the family increased, but the house was still 14x20, not had the bed got any larger. During the night the first member of the household to get tired sleeping in one position would get up, turn the bed and all turned over, and this process was repeated as often as was necessary during the night. A relative of the family made a visit. The lady said: "We will have some fun with dad," so stepping up quietly to his father's side he shouted "Turn," when the old gentleman quietly and competently rolled over and continued his nap on the log.

While no doubt the above is embellished, many living can recall the old log house and its scanty furnishings, yet where many a weary wanderer had been accommodated with a shake-down for the night and made as welcome as the flowers in May.

There were few, if any, playgrounds attached to schools in those days, but the concession lines were requisitioned for that purpose, and many a hotly-contested game of thirty was played on Glasgow street east of the schoolhouse during my school days. This game was called "camanachd." In Scotland, where young and old gathered at certain centers to engage in keenly-fought-out games at the New Year. Water for drinking purposes was lacking in connection with the schoolhouse in early days, and is not always provided for today. At Glasgow street we had to carry water three-fourths of a mile or more from a clear, bubbling spring on the banks of the Saubie above Lewis Cruickshank's bridge. That classic river was often referred to by the late Rev. J. A. McDonald, who was raised in its "murmuring stream." During the hot weather it took a couple of boys in relays almost continuously to be drawing water, and a painful did not last long among a school of 50 or 60 scholars.

On the Road

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

On the road on holidays! Gee, but it is tough! Portraits meet my lonesome gaze, But they're not enough! Everyone I love the best Many miles away! Only they can make me blest On a holiday!

On the road on holidays! There's the telephone. When we're far apart I can reach my own! I will call them up tonight—Both my little boys. Just one moment of delight! Just one joy of joys!

On the road on holidays With an aching heart. Loneliness steals in and stays When we're far apart. Other times it's not so bad. I can smile, but say! There's some reason to be sad On a holiday!

Charm!

Every woman can possess charm.

It is all a matter of keeping a cheerful, sprightly disposition, and making the most of the personal attractiveness with which, to some extent, all women are endowed.

The way to do this is to guard the health.

The healthy woman, with her lively, sparkling eyes, welcoming smile and tenderly glowing complexion, is a picture of alluring charm. She is happy, too, for a contented body reflects itself in a contented mind.

The easiest way to fitness, happiness and charm is the healthy Kruschen habit, which removes the cause responsible for both depression and faded looks. When you feel run down and listless, easily tired, it is because your internal organs are not functioning properly, and poisonous products are collecting in your blood. Six salts are needed to cleanse the body of these impurities.

Kruschen is a combination of these six salts, blended in just the correct proportion. The little daily dose of a "dimeful" speeds up the liver and kidneys, gently and almost imperceptibly removes impurities from the whole system cleanses and invigorates, fills the veins with rich clear blood, streaming to every part of the body, renewing health and happiness.

Try it for yourself. Just a pinch in your first cup of coffee or tea every morning will make all the difference in the world. You will feel fit and well, full of joyous spirits, bounding with radiant health.

And you will begin to look younger every day.

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

A 76c bottle of Kruschen Salts contains a day. Every drugstore sells Kruschen. Get 160 doses—enough for six months—a 76c bottle to-day and start to-morrow—which means good health for half a cent

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Jan. 16.—St. Patricks maintained their hold on second place tonight when they defeated Hamilton, 3 to 1. The losers scored their only goal in the first, but the locals took the lead in the second and increased it in the third.

The crowd was kept on their toes all the way because there was a feeling that a volcanic eruption might occur at any time. The clashes between these two teams are never pink tea affairs, and with the rivalry that exists, much excitement was anticipated—and not in vain.

There was a lot of excitement occasioned in the second period in which nearly every part of the equipment was used in a jam in which Red Green, Corbeau and Dye were the principals, but no penalties were handed out.

The affair started in a scrimmage in front of the local net, and Corbeau, while trying to grab the rubber with his hand while he was lying on the ice, was hit by Green, who was trying to slap it into the net a few feet away. Corbeau finally secured the puck, and then rushed at Green, who used his stick as a weapon of defence, but he was knocked to the ice by Dye, and continued to keep his body protected by constant use of his feet. Ross was on top of the argument, but calmed thing down by ringing the bell and facing off the rubber with six men on each team on the ice, much to the surprise of everyone.

CANADIENS VICTORS.

Montreal, Jan. 16.—Canadiens tonight defeated Ottawa in a first overtime game of the N. H. L. season here this year by 2 to 1. Sprague Cleghorn, study Canadian defence man, skated through the Ottawa defence, and when Bennett stopped the puck, took it on the rebound to give his team their first win over the Senators this season. The goal came after 10 minutes in the overtime period. It was a slow game, due to soft ice.

WATFORD JUNIORS WIN FAST TILT FROM FOREST

Special to The Advertiser.
Forest, Jan. 16.—Watford and Forest Juniors put on a snappy game here Tuesday, Watford winning, 2 to 1.

It was anybody's game from going to going. Only five penalties were given, two to Forest and three to the hockey haret in the clay-belt, where they give the boy babies hockey sticks instead of rattles.

McIntosh of Watford and Rawlings, the bandy-legged lake roaster, were the most aggressive scorers.

Both goalkeepers turned in star games, with Burke of Forest having the most shots to handle.

The line-ups:

Referee—Rogers of Watford.

Times—A. Doolittle of Watford.

MATCH ENDS IN DRAW.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 16.—Roy Moore of Baltimore and Bobby Wogast of this city boxed ten fast rounds to a draw here last night. When the judges disagreed, Referee O'Brien gave the decision. The men are lightweights.

Do Heavy Meals Begin To Tell?

Follow Your Meals With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They Give Stomach The Alkaline Effect That Prevents Gasiness and Sour Rashes.

Those odd-time, husky eaters, often fall down on a glass of milk or a doughnut, the stomach is heavy, fills with gas, is sour and woefully dyspeptic. Truth is, it had just such attacks always, but the doctor told him the stomach needs help and the best thing you can do is to fortify your meals with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They give the stomach the alkaline effect, they help it to digest food, they give it material to do this with, they absorb the gas, stop acidity, relieve pressure, and no matter whether it is pork and kidney pie and cheese sausages and backwash, or steak and onions, your stomach works without distress and you have none of those troubles due to indigestion or dyspepsia. Get a 60-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store. Then eat and be merry.—Adv.

Poke and Cross Checks

Ernie Dinsmore will take the place of George Arthur as manager.

George Hillier, who is going to handle tonight's game at St. Marys.

A certificate has been secured for Alfie Loughheed, Loughheed showed in his game in the Manufacturers' last night that his lay-off hasn't bothered him much, and he seemed to be in splendid condition.

Gowdy, the Bell Telephone man, who has shown so well in his two games with the Hello gang, has been approached to turn out with the intermediates. Gowdy, however, is a lineman, and out of town a good deal, and it is possible that he may find it impossible to get out.

The London juniors are still without a winning record. They were defeated in their first game, the Woodstock crew. They've got to win Friday night against Ingersoll and then the second leg of the group race will be on its way.

Intermediates, who were to have played in St. Marys last night, go to the Stone Town tonight. This game really starts the second leg of the intermediate group as the locals have already played one game in the Stone Town. The game at Sarnia Saturday night completes the first leg for the locals by Dye, and continued to keep his body protected by constant use of his feet. Ross was on top of the argument, but calmed thing down by ringing the bell and facing off the rubber with six men on each team on the ice, much to the surprise of everyone.

They can afford to be beaten in this game and still be ahead in the group standing, as the Glenora defeat doesn't count unless it would effect the group title.

In a replay at Glenora, the locals should be able to repeat their victory gained on local ice.

Stratford Indians are showing so far that they are really a stronger team than last year. Balance is what makes them stronger. Their forward line may be a bit weaker owing to Moore's absence, but Ashley's presence on the defence balances this up.

However, what makes Stratford fansite their lips is the thought of the team they would have had if Moore had stayed on in amateur ranks and they had their present defence.

Preston is going to be a hard team to beat for the Big Four group of the O. H. A. senior series. Not only is the regular team strong, but good substitutes are available. The weakness of last season in goal has been filled by Farrell of Kitchener. Skelley and Bowman form a strong defence, and Arnott, Woodley, and Clarke on the forward line are all fast. "Chuck" Roth, who played with Kitchener seniors last season, is one of the subs.

Among the teams playing in the intermediate Niagara peninsula group there are four artificial ice rinks, a record that cannot be equalled in any other parts of the Dominion. Niagara Falls, Grimsby, Port Colborne and Hamilton are the places with artificial plants, with Dunnville and Welland the only two to depend upon the natural kind.

The idea that because a man is a professional he is a good hockey player is rapidly being dispelled. The pro ranks contain several former amateurs who were disqualified. They are home pros, but that didn't make any difference. You cannot make a poor player into a good one merely by paying him to play.

PLAN TO MAKE DOG SHOW BIGGEST YET

More Than One Hundred Animals Expected At Competition Tomorrow.

Many more than 100 dogs are expected to greet the well-known judge, Mr. Bert Swann, of Long Branch, when he comes to the city on Friday evening to pass the rule on the entry of the first winter evening show of the London Canine Association. This show will be held in the Dodge garage on York street, near Ridout, not the Paige garage, as previously announced.

St. Thomas members of the London Canine Association are uniting with the London club to make the show the biggest on record. The fact that special classes have been provided in which the amateur fancier may show his dog without running in competition with the experienced breeders is a point in favor of the entries, for it is felt that many private citizens who own good dogs will be encouraged to bring them out for expert opinion by the judge. These dogs can also be shown against the winners of other shows if their owners so desire.

TILLSONBURG OSES TO RAILROAD CITY

St. Thomas Intermediates Administer 5-3 Defeat To Pan-Drieds.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Jan. 16.—Tillsonburg lost to the local O. H. A. intermediates here tonight by a score of 5 to 3. Had it not been for the work of Billingshurst in the St. Thomas goal the score might have been far different, as the visitors had by far the majority of shots.

Donahue scored a pair of tallies in the first period, Graham got the first for the locals, and Donahue the second on a rebound. Russell and Conn rang in two more from scrimmages in front of the local goal.

In the second Donahue and Bins secured two more on combination plays, while Russell took a swipe at the puck, rolling it clumsily over Barkey's stick for the locals' final point. Conn scored again in the last period for the Pan-Drieds.

The line-ups:
Tillsonburg—Goal, Barkey and Stillwell; defence, Thurston and Barrett; center, Russell; wings, Conn and Pollard; subs, Snell and Carlin.
St. Thomas—Goal, Billingshurst; defence, Smith and Graham; center, Donahue; wings, Croteau and Evans; subs, Bins and Douglas.

LEWIS TRIMS RAMANO.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, defeated Mike Ramano, claimant of the Italian heavyweight championship, in two straight falls last night. Lewis took the first fall with a headlock in 58 minutes and 25 seconds, and the second with the same hold in 6 minutes and 55 seconds.

Stove Leaguers' Chatter

It looks as if Miller Huggins were going to have some trouble getting his youngsters out of the American League and into suitable locations on various "farms." Some time ago Ed. Barrows sent out requests for waivers on no fewer than sixteen recruits, and up to yesterday ten of them had been claimed by other teams in the major leagues.

Things are a bit dull at the headquarters of the Yankees. Barrows is down at Atlantic City, fortifying himself for the forthcoming battle with the "gimme more boys." At soon as Ed. returns from the seashore he will send out contracts to every Yankee with the exception of Mr. Babe Ruth, who is due to start on the third season of a five-year contract.

That many of the world champions will send back their contracts with demands for more money is a foregone conclusion. So Demosthenes Barrows is breathing the ozone in double measure and sending a swipe at the puck, rolling it clumsily over Barkey's stick for the locals' final point. Conn scored again in the last period for the Pan-Drieds.

The 1924 schedules will eliminate all the fancy innovations introduced by the 1923 crazy quilt. There will be no recess of week in New York as there was last July. The season will be started on Tuesday, April 15, and it will be closed a week earlier than last year, so that the world series will start around Oct. 1. There will be no foolish hopping hither and yon as there was last year, nor will the Pittsburgh Pirates see the last of hot St. Louis as early as June—an other feature of the 1923 schedule.

Apparently a more liberal financial policy is being allowed with the Brooklyn players this year. This is indicated by Dutch Reuther's signing the first contract presented.

Eddie Roush, who has been opening the holdout season for many years, has celebrated the usual inaugural. We will now be regaled with innumerable conferences between the Oakland raiders.

While the Tigers are in training in Georgia the coming spring the Sabbath is to be rigidly observed. The Tigers will not turn a wheel on the first day of the week, observing the fourth commandment conscientiously, unless, of course, some pitcher needs a bit of exercise, in which event he will sneak into a uniform and toss the ball around a little.

The amount of credit due the Tigers for this laudable decision, however, is entirely problematical. The fact that there is to be no desecration of the Sabbath by the Detroiters is a surprise. The answer to that is often "No."

While good, hard common sense should be used in declaring whether to hit and run or not, it is a surprise that big league batters usually hit behind the runner for the simple reason that they are afraid of the ball between first and second—behind the runner. That is a big point in the play. If the ball is hit through to right field the base runner can go all the way to third. If the ball goes into left field it is likely to be stopped at second.

Must Be Sure of Direction.

Players to work the hit and run successfully must be men who are pretty sure of hitting the ball in the direction indicated. Many of them cannot hit into a certain field. As a rule ball clubs arrange their batting order so that the star hit-and-run men will be together and near the top of the list.

Willie Keeler and John McGraw were great hit-and-run men. In fact their club, the old Orioles, first made it a successful stunt. Kid Elberfeld did a good hit-and-run man. So was Miller Huggins. I never saw a better one than Fred Clarke, Claude Ritchey, though not a heavy hitter ordinarily, was very good at the play. Ty Cobb is a wonder at it. The former Boston Red Sox had it down pat. The hit and run, I think, is an ideal offensive play for try-out teams.

I leave the rest of the questions open for discussion. If any amateur is interested and can't find a ready answer, just ask any major league ball player.

Squeeze Play—Single and Double.

1. Is the squeeze play a good play in modern baseball?

2. Do you use the squeeze play with no outs, with a weak hitter? Good hitter?

3. Do you use it with one out and a weak batter? Good batter?

4. Do you advise the runner to wait until the pitcher is delivering the ball or to break as in stealing home?

5. Do you advise bunting to first or third base?

6. Why isn't the squeeze play used more in big league baseball?

I think I have given the younger players a good lesson there. All of them, though, are like the first reader to the recruits after they have been in the league for a month. The answers to those questions are all based on common sense.

Griffith Given the Credit.

For the definition of those who may not know definitions, the squeeze play is a runner starting for home as the pitcher throws to the batter. The batter bunts the ball. The runner is so close that there is no getting him at the plate. Often, in the confusion, the pitcher also fails to get the batter.

This first play came into general prominence with the New York Americans nearly twenty years ago. Clarke Griffith was often given credit for starting it. I don't know if that is true. All the clubs used it, and with great effect at first.

I have asked why the big leagues do not use it oftener. The answer to that is that if they use it frequently the opposition would expect it. Any good pitcher can beat the squeeze play if he is looking for it. In fact, it was impossible to work the play on some pitchers.

A fan who read a previous article has asked me to give my opinion as to the best method of beating the squeeze play. If the batter is right-handed the only sure method for the pitcher is to throw directly at the batter's chest. That will keep him from hitting the ball and when he backs off the catcher will have a free hand and open in space in which to touch the runner as he slides in. If the ball is pitched outside—away from the batter—the catcher may be turned around so that he cannot whirl and touch the runner.

Christy Mathewson used to say that he could beat the squeeze play any time he kept his eye on third base. If the pitcher looks at the bag as he makes his swing he can see if the runner has started. If he has started all the pitcher has to do is pitch the ball high, outside or at the batter—anything to keep him from hitting it. If the batter misses the ball the squeeze play always looks ridiculous.

It was practically impossible to work the squeeze play on Alexander. The squeeze play is great for a surprise, but as a regular stunt it falls down. When it does fall down, nothing in all baseball looks more stupid, correctly.

SUBMITS MORE QUESTIONS

Discusses Advability of Squeeze With Weak and Strong Batters.

By HANS WAGNER.

Continuing what I have decided to call my examination papers, I would like the amateur ball clubs now being organized in the colleges and on the town lots to get together and study the following group of questions. Also I would like some of the fans who are inclined to roast ball players on the spur of the moment to look these over:

The Hit-and-Run.

1. Is the hit-and-run the most important offensive play in baseball?

2. Is it advisable to hit and run in college ball, hitting behind the runner or ahead of the runner? In professional baseball?

3. Does the base runner get the same lead and start in a clean steal?

4. Is it advisable to hit and run with no outs and a close score? Not close?

5. Do you hit and run with one or two outs, close score? Not close?

6. Do you hit and run with a man on first and third?

7. Do you ever hit and run with a man on first and second?

8. Do you ever hit and run with a pitcher on base?

9. Is the best time to hit and run when you have the pitcher in the hole?

Generally speaking the answer to most of these questions should be yes. Some of them, though, are open to discussion. It is that discussion that we are trying to encourage. Nothing gets a ball club or any other business as far along as an intelligent discussion of the problems that will be solved.

I submitted that set of questions to the boys at Carnegie Tech and you would be surprised to know what a large percentage of them answered them correctly.

One of them answered, "I know the answer ought to be 'Yes,' but you have asked if we do these things that we ought to. The answer to that is often 'No.'"

While good, hard common sense should be used in declaring whether to hit and run or not, it is a surprise that big league batters usually hit behind the runner for the simple reason that they are afraid of the ball between first and second—behind the runner. E. V. BUCHANAN IS NEW CHAIRMAN FOR ENGINEERS

Head of Public Utilities Is Chosen Head of District.

NATIONAL BANQUET

That engineers should take a greater interest in public affairs and devote themselves more to the service of their fellowmen, was the burden of several addresses given at the annual meeting of the London branch, Engineering Institute of Canada, held in the Tecumseh House last night.

According to Walter J. Francis, Montreal, president of the institute, no one is better qualified than the engineer to take a place in the fore of all matters pertaining to municipal, provincial or federal government or control. The financiers and politicians of the day were beginning to realize this and turn to the engineering profession with more confidence, looking to the time when the engineering profession will be a power to be reckoned with.

Hold Banquet.

The addresses followed a banquet served in the grill room of the hotel, at which the officers for 1924 were elected and the report of the secretary-treasurer presented.

E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, was elected chairman for the coming year, while W. J. Miller, St. Thomas, was elected vice-chairman. E. A. Gray was re-elected secretary-treasurer. W. P. Near, H. A. Brazier, R. I. Olmstead, J. R. Rostrom and C. Talbot were chosen to act as the executive committee.

The report of the secretary-treasurer showed that a credit balance remained at the end of the year and that the membership of the branch had increased.

Mr. Buchanan, who occupied the chair in the absence of W. J. Forbes-Mitchell, in a short address outlined the aims of the institute, which were to facilitate the interchange of professional knowledge; to promote the professional interest of the members; to promote research and enhance the usefulness of the profession to the public.

He stated that humanity was learning more and more on the engineer and that therefore the engineer should take a greater interest in business and commerce as well as political government, thereby helping to solve the great problems of the people.

ELECTED CHAIRMAN.

E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, appointed as head of the London branch, Engineering Institute of Canada, for 1924 at the annual meeting held last night.

Engineer in charge of the Welland Ship Canal; C. E. Richardson, mayor of St. Marys, and Walter J. Francis were the speakers following Mr. Buchanan. The vote of thanks to them was moved by H. Craig and seconded by Major P. de L. De Passy.

A vote of thanks was also extended to J. W. Peart for officiating at the piano, and to J. R. Rostrom for the preparation of the attractive program in the form of a blueprint embodying some design of structural drafting, together with a fine sample of lettering.

Chipman Speaks.

Willis Chipman, in starting to speak, stated that in 1891 he had been called to London to assist in solving the sewer problems that faced the city at that time, and that he had made a recommendation that was just now being adopted, that of metering the water. He detailed the history of the Ontario Association of Professional Engineers, relating how the assent of the legislature was gained to the bill incorporating it. That was slightly more than a year ago, and there were now more than 1,000 members.

"The engineer should take more interest in public affairs," he continued, "but he should not go in for politics. He should educate the people in such questions as fuel, transportation, etc., and particularly guide the people and politicians out of the way of blunders. In the past the politician led the engineer, but in the future it will be different."

Declaring that the engineer should come out of his shell, F. F. Lazier, Niagara Peninsula, stated that the engineer was deserving of more recognition, and that the only way he could get it would be to place himself before the public.

Mayor C. E. Richardson, St. Marys, spoke briefly, attributing whatever success he had made of life to engineering and the principles learned in the study of it.

Mentioning that Mr. Francis, in 1923, had travelled some 78,000 miles, and that therefore he had honours London in being present Mr. Buchanan introduced the president of the institute.

Gratified With Progress.

Mr. Francis stated that he was gratified at the progress London was making in engineering. There were now 6,900 members of the E. I. C., a representative body of the profession in Canada, with 24 branches. Originally formed in 1887 as the Canadian Society of Engineers, it stretched from coast to coast.

Stating that there were 118 branches of engineering, Mr. Francis said it was difficult for the public to understand the engineer's position in public life. There had been great advancements in engineering in the past twenty years, and still greater were coming, but with it all, the engineer must take his place as a citizen of the community and more interest public affairs. Referring to Quebec, he said that the public there were beginning to ask questions regarding the work of the profession in that province, where it was now being made illegal for any incompetent person to practice without the possession of credentials to the association of engineers. This protected the public.

"The engineer is entitled to stand shoulder to shoulder with the other professions," he declared, "but we must stop cutting fees and seeking jobs."

One of the greatest things the institute was doing for the engineer was the cultivating of friendship and the mutual confidence it inspired. The aim of the engineer should be that perfection of character developed by service to his fellow-man, this being the greatest asset obtainable. An engineer must have a sound head, heart and physique to render that service that brings happiness. He that rendered service would obtain happiness, which consisted of love of fellow-man, a clear conscience, and enough money.

In closing, he extended an invitation to the branch to attend the annual meeting to be held in Montreal on Tuesday, and Ottawa on Wednesday and Thursday. The governor-general would be present, and two of the greatest problems facing the country would be taken up, fuel and transportation.

FARM INSTRUCTION URGED IN SCHOOLS

Hon. John Martin Declares
Rural Schools Should Train Farmers.

ADDRESSES DAIRYMEN

Annual Convention Hears Helpful Talk On Many Practical Subjects.

Stating that there must be more accuracy and less guesswork regarding costs of production on Ontario farms, the Hon. John S. Martin, Ontario minister of agriculture, told the members of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association last night that a start should be made in the rural public schools of the province. President J. E. Reynolds of the O. A. C. also addressed the dairymen, and handed out some valuable information and advice regarding their branch of farm endeavor.

"I have long felt," declared Mr. Martin, "that the trend and course of study in our public schools was not suited towards producing farmers. The teacher sets up a goal for pupils—the entrance examination. The boy isn't told about farming. He is encouraged to pass his examination into high school, from there into the university, and into a profession.

Farm Instruction

"Should we not frame a course so that boys intending to be farmers should get more instruction? We have got to make a start before it is too late. There should be more about country life in the readers. As a boy gets into the third and fourth grade he should understand something about the nature and chemistry of the soil. He should bring soil from his father's fields to school and find out if this or that field needs lime or phosphate.

"The average production of wheat per acre in Canada is about 13 bushels to the acre, while in Belgium it is 43. We can go a long way in teaching

Abandon Hope For Schooner

Canadian Press Despatch.
Lunenburg, N. S., Jan. 17.—All hope has been abandoned for the return of the schooner Keno, Captain Albert Himmelman, which sailed from here December 27 for Bay of Islands, Newfoundland, for a cargo of herring for Boston. The Keno reached Lunenburg eighteen hours after leaving this port and continued the voyage December 31. Since that date nothing has been heard of the craft. Captain Himmelman was listed as one of the best navigators sailing out of this port.

soil constituents in our schools.

"The boys and girls, too, can be taught a lot about seeds, good and bad. They could also be taught to test milk, bringing samples from their father's herd to the schools. The youngsters could be taught much that would be of great value in later years. We must have good farmers if we are to prosper.

Dairying Pays.

"The two outstanding branches of profitable farming today were dairying and poultry," Mr. Martin declared. Egg prices were satisfactory, there being more money in egg production now than during the war, owing to much cheaper feed. Poultry and dairying went hand-in-hand, in the speaker's opinion.

"All lines of farm endeavor are not without profit at the present time," stated the minister of agriculture. "Turn your attention to those where the money lies and go easier on those that show no profit at the present time."

Mr. Martin declared Western Ontario was teeming with agricultural possibilities, and the time had come for farmers of this district to pay more attention to mixed farming and special lines, for that was where the money was.

"One of the greatest possibilities of farming today is dairying," the speaker stated. "That is one of the branches that is profitable and prices satisfactory. The price of dairy products is pretty fair, compared with beef, which under present conditions would be foolish to go into extensively. I think the price of beef will improve and better figures will be obtained in the spring."

Brings Opportunity.

Mr. Martin thought the farmers were not making the most of dairying possibilities. The dairy cow was the mother of opportunity and the foster mother of the human race. The speaker told of a trip made to U. S. fairs and was interested in the way in which the importance of dairy products to the human race were advertised.

With President Reynolds of the O. A. C. he agreed it was hard to obtain good Canadian cheese. Compared with other nations Canada did not consume much cheese. Mr. Martin thought there would be increased Canadian consumption if the quality of cheese was more regulated. He didn't think Canadians were making the most of dairy opportunities, pointing out that Canada was at the foot of the list in butter exports to Great Britain. There was some reason for this, as the Canadian market had been absorbing increased production.

In cheese, Canada had fallen to second place, and the minister of agriculture warned his hearers that methods must be revised to again rise to a premier position.

Needs Quality.

President Reynolds declared the thing to be emphasized in all lines of agriculture was quality. He referred to large shipments of turnips to the United States, some of poor quality. These turnips were going to a market that demanded quality and was willing to pay for it, but repeat orders would not be forthcoming.

President Reynolds wanted to know why good Canadian cheese could not be bought in Toronto. Personally he did not rely on local stores, but bought a whole cheese at a time.

"You make large cheese, catering to one market, and lose a select home market for fancy cheese," accused the head of the O. A. C.

"More butter is consumed in Ontario today per capita because we have better butter. The consumption has increased with quality. There is less consumption of apples than 25 years ago, although we are growing better apples than ever before. They don't find their way onto our markets or local stores. The Ontario farmer dumps his second and third class apples on the home market and leaves the higher class fruit to be imported from British Columbia."

Helps Feeling.

President Reynolds stated that he had found that an agricultural section of a chamber of commerce always tended toward a better feeling between town and country.

Mayor Wenke and Major Gordon Ingram, president of the Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the dairymen to London in cordial addresses.

Musical numbers, greatly appreciated, were provided by the London Ladies' Orchestra and Dorothy and Sam Munro.

Roland Johnston, Princeton, president of the dairymen, occupied the chair at the evening session.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session of the annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario, attended by 150 members, was devoted to addresses by Professor Wade Toole of the O. A. C. Guelph, on the Relation of the Bacon Hog to the Dairy Industry, and by W. G. Crawford of the entomological department in Ottawa on "The Corn Borer and Dairying." Later in the session the cheese, butter and cream grading competitions were held in the exhibition room downstairs, in charge of Joseph Burgess of Montreal, chief producer grader of the dairy division of the Dominion department of agriculture.

Professor Wade Toole, though speaking very briefly on his subject, covered the ground thoroughly. He argued that the bacon hog is the natural concomitant of the dairying industry, and that it would yield just as profitable results as any other type of hog. He showed that from experiments carried out by the O. A. C. skim milk was the best adjunct to the ordinary grain feeds for hogs.

He said, "It is not disputed that the dairy cow is the most economical producer of human food on the farm, and it is a fact most thoroughly substantiated by a long series of experiments and years of practice that the bacon hog goes better with the dairy cow in Canada as a profitable combination than any other animal."

Need of Quality.

"The supreme need in Canada today in the bacon hog world is for quality. We want more select hogs and fewer second grade animals. We don't want more hogs, but better. In the Dominion only 8 per cent of all the hogs are select, though we do better than that in Ontario and have 20 per cent. In Denmark, where they go to great lengths to get quality, they are able to have about 85 per cent select."

"The market for the best grade of bacon hogs is practically unlimited. In Great Britain Canada is only supplying 10 per cent of the bacon needs. The breeds that I would recommend for bacon hogs are the Tamworth, the Yorkshire and the Berkshire. The last hogs are the Poland, the Chester and the Duroc. In selecting a boar for breeding of a bacon hog I would choose an animal with a well arched back, with a smooth shoulder and a strong back. For the sow I would have length and depth, for this means size and form in the litter. I would have smoothness and plenty of constitution."

Professor Toole said that bacon hogs had proved themselves more profitable than the hard type in a series of experiments in Guelph, including 650 animals of both kinds. He added that there was no one special breed for a Wiltshire side, but that with proper care any of the three bacon breeds would prove profitable.

Feed For Profit.

On the question of feeding and profit he said: "You can get 100 pounds of pork from 400 pounds of grain or its equivalent in feed provided you have a balanced ration, let the young pigs grow for the first three months and do not start to feed them too heavily as soon as they are weaned."

"We find that the right proportion of skim milk to use in a balanced ration is two and a half pounds to every pound of meal in the ration. That is where the ration is composed of barley and oats. I would not advise a greater proportion than this. It is better and more economical to buy more pigs to use up the extra skim milk. For the benefit of the man producing whole milk let me say that a fine substitute for skim milk has been found in high-grade tankage. We find that about 8 per cent of this fed with the usual barley and oats mixture makes an ideal ration for the growing hog."

"Don't feed your hogs too heavily with salt. They don't need it. Half an ounce a day per hundred pounds is enough."

One of the greatest hindrances today to the successful raising and profit of bacon hogs in Canada is careless marketing. Too many hogs are either sold prematurely before they are finished, or are allowed to go too long and get to around 230 pounds and so miss the select market. There will always be plenty of misfit hogs in the bacon market; what is wanted is the quality bacon hog, bred, fed and sold right."

The Corn Borer.

W. G. Crawford of Ottawa speaking on the relation of the European corn borer to dairying, stated that the insect made its first appearance in Ontario in 1920 in Haldimand County, and in some of the townships near Port Stanley. Since then it had extended its grasp all the way from Southampton to Toronto, covering an area of twelve thousand square miles. It was a most destructive pest, and was apparently on the increase. The most serious infestations were in the southern part of Middlesex and in Elgin. He reassured his audience that the dairymen was by his very methods of practice largely safeguarded from the borer.

"There are one or two means of fighting this pest," he said, "and you do all of them. First you grow a Dent corn that will stand up under the attack of the borer better than any other variety. Then you usually plant a little later than the men who are growing sweet corn, and that saves you, because the borer worms go to the first bait that is offered in the fields. Then when you cut the corn you cut it within six inches of the ground, and you put it through a cutting-box and finally into the silo. In this way you remove 85 per cent of all borer worms from the fields and kill them."

Plow Carefully.

"The way to get rid of the remaining 15 per cent is by plowing carefully in the fall so that you completely cover all the stubble with soil. By using a disc in the spring and not bringing the stalks to the surface and by burning any stalks that may be lying around your place in the spring. If you do this faithfully every year you will entirely eliminate the corn borer from your farm."

He said that in the corn canning districts the corn borer would be checked effectively if it could not be checked effectively. He said, "It is impossible to keep the worms out of the flint and sweet corn, and the packing companies are not going to put up corn containing a few worms. In the St. Thomas district the pest seems to have reached its limit of development, but the growth of sweet corn there has practically been destroyed. In the district west of St. Thomas it seems to be on the increase."

On Cream Grading.

Frank Hennis, in opening the dairy products judging competitions, said that the cream grading competition introduced this year, and for which the association is offering term prizes, is of great importance, because in a few years every dairymen in Ontario would have to be an expert in the work.

Joseph Burgess, chief produce grader of the dairy division in Ottawa, told the members that the fault with Western Ontario cheese was "gas." He said it was found in nearly every cheese. All cheese factories must have a new registration number this season, and all cheeses must be marked with the consecutive number of the vats in which they were made. He is holding a series of educational meetings in the first week of April in Woodstock, Stratford and Listowel for cheese makers.

BRITAIN'S ACTION PLEASES GREECE

Venezelos Newspapers Jubilant
Over Resumption of Relations Between Two Countries.

Athens, Jan. 16.—The Venezelos newspapers are jubilant over Great Britain's resumption of relations with Greece, and express the hope that the United States will follow their lead. The foreign office said this morning that it had instructed the Greek ambassador at Washington to sound the United States on the subject of recognition, and is hoping to receive a favorable reply before the end of the present week.

At its session last night the Greek cabinet considered the question of removing the ban placed by the latter revolutionary cabinet against the royalist newspapers. The cabinet decided, however, that inasmuch as the ban was a revolutionary decree it would leave revocation to the constituent assembly with the recommendation that it be abolished.

Announcing the Opening Saturday, Jan. 19th of the LONDON APPLEBY PLAN MOTOMART

A Public Institution Operating Without Profit for the Benefit of Those Who Want to Buy, or Have for Sale,

UNUSED AUTOMOBILE TRANSPORTATION

LOCATION:

London Appleby Plan
MOTOMART
Rear of Post Office
Telephone 7031.

THE London Appleby Plan Motomart opens Saturday.

It is located at 127-129 Queen's avenue, two blocks north of the market.

It is a PUBLIC INSTITUTION—operating without profit—for the benefit of those who want to buy unused automobile transportation or have some of it for sale.

Where the owner of a used car can sell it at top market price—

Where the prospective purchaser can select a used car from a large stock in absolute confidence.

Stabilized used car values, policies and selling methods at last!

The London Appleby Plan Motomart is in charge of Mr. E. C. Shuttleworth as manager, and is one of many Appleby Plan Motomarts in the United States and Canada—all in association with one another for the beneficial exchange of ideas.

The manager is not responsible to any individual automobile dealer or group of dealers in London. He is responsible to the BUYING PUBLIC only.

In order to insure a square deal for the public, all Appleby Plan Motomarts in the United States and Canada are under the direct supervision of Percy Chamberlain Associates, Inc., of Detroit, Mich., through its Canadian headquarters at 616 Federal Building, Toronto.

Thus the Motomart is, in fact, an institution operated for the benefit of the public. All of them operate under standard policies and friendly selling methods.

They take no profit, simply a nominal charge to pay for management and overhead expense.

Anyone can use the Motomart. Every car it sells is guaranteed to be in first-class condition.

It has the moral support of leading automobile dealers and bankers, but is conducted purely as a service organization—not for the profit of anyone.

How does it operate?

If you have a used car to sell, you may take it to the Motomart and receive full market value for it, as soon as it can be sold.

But you do not have to wait until it is sold for all of your money.

The Motomart will issue you a Warehouse Receipt which will be accepted as part payment on a new car by participating dealers.

You do not have to buy a new car in order to use the Motomart. Perhaps you want to dispose of your old one on account of sickness or other need of money. If so, you may do so without anyone taking advantage of your personal necessity!

The Motomart will charge you only 10% for handling and selling—not 27% or more.

If you want to BUY a used car, you will find, in the Motomart, a selection ranging through all models and prices.

EVERY CAR IS GUARANTEED.

Each car has been placed in good condition by the dealer who handles that make of car in London.

For the first time you can buy a used car—any one in stock—in perfect confidence.

Back of this Motomart guarantee are the sound policies of the National Organization of which the London Motomart is a part.

What is your used car worth?

Do you know? Does any automobile dealer?

As a matter of fact, no one knows its worth—except The Public.

The Motomart has no interest in price whatsoever. It wants to pay you as big a price as the public will pay for your car. And it gives you ALL OF IT—less the nominal charge for handling mentioned.

Some automobiles sell more readily than others. This is true of all merchandise. That which the public wants, it will pay top price for.

If you have a popular car and have taken good care of it, the public will Pay you well for it.

If, on the other hand, the public does not want your car for any reason, it will not give as much for it as one it does want.

Don't blame the public—or the Motomart—if you are driving a less popular car. You, yourself, bought it!

Certainly no one wants a car in poor condition. Repairs are simply TRANSPORTATION DELIVERED BUT UNPAID FOR!

YOU have had that transportation. If you OWE for it—you should pay the bill. The man who buys the UNUSED transportation remaining in your car is entitled to all of it.

If you were BUYING a car from the Motomart, instead of SELLING one through it, you would kick at paying for transportation which that car had already delivered to someone else.

Thus the Motomart acts as a PUBLIC REFEREE—protecting both buyer and seller.

The Appleby Plan Motomarts are Service Organizations in the true meaning of the word Service.

Its patrons are afforded a degree of protection possible only under a province-wide and national tie-up of this kind.

In the Dominion all Appleby Plan Motomarts are regularly supervised and assisted by Mr. J. E. Fawkes, the direct representative in Canada of Percy Chamberlain Associates, Inc., 1321-2 Book Building, Detroit, Mich.

The London Motomart is a link in a great national chain!

Every improvement, every idea which means greater efficiency and saving, no matter where developed, becomes immediately available to the London Appleby Plan Motomart.

And, since it takes no profit, its patrons get the direct benefits.

You are invited to visit and make use of YOUR Motomart.

You will find it a friendly organization.

Mr. Shuttleworth, the manager, is a man of considerable business experience and knowledge of automobile values.

The Motomart has no excuse for business existence EXCEPT TO SERVE THE PUBLIC, its sole owner.

You may buy in confidence and sell with every assurance that your interests are being fully protected.

SPLENDID YEAR OF WORK SHOWN

Dr. MacGregor Believes Success at St. Andrew's Greatest in History.

Outstanding success both financially and in the point of service marked this year for the various departments at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. This announcement was made by Rev. Dr. D. C. MacGregor who presided last night at the first session of the annual meeting of the congregation. In fact Dr. MacGregor thought it was the most successful year in the history of the church. Reports were received from several departments. It was announced that a total of $19,682, an increase of $3,500 over last year, was contributed to missions. Of this amount $11,142 was collected through the weekly envelope system; $5,500 was given in response to a special appeal. $1,637 was contributed by the Women's Missionary Society, while $1,115 was given to equip the MacKay Memorial Hospital in Formosa where Dr. Taylor the special representative of the congregation is working. The Ladies Aid reported contributions amounting in all to $2,152. The board of managers will bring in its report on Friday next, it was announced.

LONDON IS UNKNOWN TO INDIANAPOLIS PEOPLE

Peculiar Conception of Ontario Held by People in the U. S. City.

The majority of Indianapolis people and students of American universities have never heard of London, Ontario. A few have heard of St. Thomas, principally because it is on the main line of the Michigan Central Railway. This is the message brought back from the Indianapolis student convention by Cecil Snyder, of the University of Western Ontario. According to Mr. Snyder many people of the United States are under the impression that Ontario is a city, and that there are only two universities in Canada—Toronto Varsity and McGill. In a report of the convention in this week's issue of the Western U. I. Gazette, Mr. Snyder says he pointed out to the Americans their mistake, and assured them London was prominently on the map.

GRAND PRESENTS SENSATIONAL ACTS

Nine Big Vaudeville Acts From Keith's Circuit Start Today.

Manager Minhnick of the Grand Opera House announces an extraordinary bill of vaudeville entertainment for the last three days of this week, commencing with the matinee today, with matinees Friday and Saturday. Taking the big bill of vaudeville entertainment as offered last year by the Kajiyama and his all-star bill. Manager Minhnick promises that the current bill will be a bigger and better bill from every angle, and should just about take the honors as the treat of the season.

Whirio and Babe, a snappy chap and a winsome miss, will open the revue with a sensational and novel roller skating turn, and from press reports they are just about the best in the business. Sammy Clark, a versatile comedy chap, will tell some new gags and sing some odd comic numbers, and should get everybody in a happy mood with his merry patter. Yandis, Beverley and West will offer a happy turn of harmony and song, with a pianologue as a closer. The act carries special scenery and comes direct from Detroit to play this date. Ed and Flo Brown present a new turn of dances and novelty steps. Mosse's Big Circus will be a treat for every kiddie from two to seventy. The act carries a carload of special scenic effects, and dogs and monkeys combine in presenting one of the best circus acts on tour. George and Lillian Mitchell will offer an amusing playlet, entitled, "Fiddlersicks." The act is replete with clever lines and repartee, and should win favor with Grand devotees. Knight and June trio will present eighteen minutes of songs and harmony. Jack Allen, reputed to be the best piano accordionist in vaudeville today, will offer some new numbers and some old familiar hits that should take care of the music end of the program. The Ella Barr trio, in a sensational novelty balancing act, will close the show.

There will be daily matinees at 2:15, commencing with matinee today, the evening performances commencing at 8:15 p.m. Seats for the evening shows are reserved, but matinee prices are for any seats in the theatre.—Adv.

TORIES WILL HELP LIBERALS TO RULE

Sir Robert Horn Declares British Labor Will Be Defeated.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, Jan. 16.—While it seems inevitable that a Socialist Labor government must come into power in Britain, Sir Robert Horn, former chancellor of the exchequer, in an address to the Canadian Club here today, urged that even if the government must come, the two other great parties should promptly sink their differences and, as patriots rather than politicians, should join issue to dismiss such a government before it could do much injury to the country.

He predicted that a Liberal government would then come in, led by Asquith and Lloyd George, while the Conservatives would find sufficient support to insure a sane and stable government that would preserve British credit at home and abroad. Sir Robert was especially severe in his arraignment of the idea of a capital levy as a plan that would destroy both British business and credit.

"For my part I see nothing but disaster from the entry of the Labor Socialists into office," he said, "and conditions will be worse than they are today."

He stated that this was why he was at odds with those who say it does not matter and would let Labor form a government for a while. "There is no right to form a government, since they do not represent a third of the people," and he challenged their claim of alone having the right to form a government as a monstrous thing.

NATIVE WINES ARE UNDER DISCUSSION

Grape Growers and Manufacturers Have Talk With Nickle.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Jan. 16.—Growers of Ontario grapes and manufacturers of Ontario native wines and their legal business representatives interviewed Attorney-General Nickle this afternoon regarding native wine matters.

The conference was called by a letter issued by James Hales, K.C., chairman of the board of license commissioners for Ontario, and intimated that trouble had arisen over the issuing by manufacturers of circular letters and price lists advertising wines for sale. Other matters affecting the manufacture and sale of native wines were also under discussion after Mr. Nickle had outlined the attitude of the government.

It has long been contended that the section of the Ontario Temperance Act to prohibit the sending of circulars or price lists, and advertising in newspapers or otherwise, is ultra vires of the Ontario Legislature.

FORMER OFFICIAL ACCUSED OF BETRAYING HIGH TRUST

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Albert B. Fall, former United States secretary of the interior, was accused today in the senate by Senator Caraway (Democrat, Arkansas) of "betraying the high trust imposed upon him" by leasing the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve, "and that for a corrupt consideration."

YOUR SHOPPING SERVICE

If variety is the spice of life, my morning mail is certainly "seasoned to taste," as the cook books say. In witness whereof, you will notice the pleased expression of the complete correspondent depicted above!

For the mail may contain such diverse problems as a request for patterns for a baby's layette, new kitchen conveniences, a box of face powder, tea traveling for a shining kitchen, a warm padded jacket for somebody's grandmother, and a bright sweater and scarf which must be delivered in time for a skating party.

Letters from Nova Scotia, from Montreal and British Columbia mingle with letters from our next-door neighbors in dozens of nearby towns. It's such fun to see the increasing circumference of the circle of friends for whom I have shopped.

It's a very elastic circle, and it extends a joyful welcome to each newcomer!
