Alexieff Issues Warning to Conference at Moscow

Allies Standing Firmly For a Democratic Peace

Russian Armies Still in Retreat; Austrians Gain

Wilson's Reply to Pope's Peace Note Endorsed

REGENERATION MUST BE FROM WITHIN

Russia Must Instill New Spirit Into Armies In The Field
ALEXIEFF'S WARNING
Army To-day Well Equipped But Lacking In Morale

Moscow, Aug. 29.—At the third general sitting of the National Conference railway representatives, including M. Froloff, of the Engineers' Alliance, reported that there existed a state of utter disorganization of transportation which, unless improved, would cease completely by November. The representatives gave warning that the consequences would be terrible both at home and on the front, and that the army might turn on the country and commit unexampled excesses.

The extreme demands of the railway workers, the speakers said, played an important part in this disorganization. They called on all those engaged in the transport services to sacrifice personal interests for those of the country.

M. Grusenberg, speaking as the representative of the Jews, said that they loved their country, notwithstanding their persecution under the old regime, and had contributed greatly to the emancipation of their people and defense against the enemy.

Representatives of Ukraine and of western or white Russia said the people were ready to make any sacrifices for the good of the country. The spokesman for the Letts declined Gourland would never belong to Germany. Delegates representing the Mussulman alliances said all Mussulman citizens of Russia fully supported the provisional government.

General Grouzinoff, former military governor of Moscow, told the delegates the chief problem was to save Russia from the enemy and that to this end it was necessary to re-establish army discipline by eliminating politics, strengthening the authority of the leaders, limiting the power of soldiers' committees to economic functions and giving the commander-in-chief opportunity to exercise unreserved authority.

General Alexieff, former commander-in-chief, made a long address in which he recounted the history of the Russians military setbacks and their causes. He drew contrasts between the army of the old regime, poorly equipped with mechanical resources, but strong in warlike spirit, and the present army, well supplied with food and arms, but completely demoralized and imbued with ill-interpreted and ill-applied doctrines, which have been put forward, notably in the famous order of the day No. 1. These doctrines, he declared, had split the army into two opposite camps, officers and soldiers, which have become almost irreconcilable.

Speaking of the committees elected by the soldiers of the various units, General Alexieff said they were useful to the army from an economic standpoint, but were fatal of government commissioners whose appointment he asserted, created an extremely dangerous duality of power.

The general maintained that after publication by the government of the declaration of the rights of the middle states caused showers near the shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario, while the barometer had been rising steadily and is now above average. In all other parts of Canada the weather has been fine.

Light winds, mostly fair and cool to-day and Thursday.

AIR FLIGHT FROM TURIN TO NAPLES

New Record For Long Distance Flying Set By Italian Airman

FLEW OVER 900 MILES
Made Trip From Turin To Naples In Fourteen Hours

Paris, Aug. 29.—Captain Giulio Laureami, an aviator in the Italian army, has established a new world's long distance flying record by flying more than 900 miles without stopping, according to a despatch to The Temps from Milan. The Italian flew from Turin to Naples and return, a distance of about 920 miles as the crow flies.

Captain Laureami used a new Siam machine with a flat motor. He left Turin at 10.07 a.m., reached Naples at 12.30 p.m., flew over that city and was back in Turin at 8.40 p.m.

The previous long distance non-stop flight record was held by Second Lieutenant Antoine Marchal, a French aviator. In June 1916, Marchal flew from Nancy, France, to near Chelm, Russian Poland in a Nieuport machine. The distance covered was about 807 miles. During the flight Lieutenant Marchal dropped proclamations on Berlin. He was made prisoner by the Austrians at Chelm and was interned at Salzberg.

A.O.F. CHANGE FUNERAL AND SICK FUNDS

Important Alterations Made In High Court Session This Morning

Important changes in the sick and funeral fund were made at this morning's session of the A. O. F. after a lengthy discussion. The changes advocated by the special committee, consisting of Messrs. W. J. Vale, W. T. Wittle, S. A. McNutt, Alex. Wootton, P. Bach, Fred G. Butt, C. T. McMillan, E. P. Harbatt and Jas. G. Biggar, were finally agreed upon unanimously.

Two years ago, at the Ottawa convention, a committee composed of W. J. Vale, W. Williams and the permanent secretary was appointed to investigate and report upon the condition of the sick and funeral fund. They discovered that as the fund is now being administered, it would be depleted in the course of four or five years. Hitherto, very high payments have been made, $100 being paid at the death of a member, $50 at the death of a member's wife, $4 a week for 52 weeks in case of sickness, and $2 a week further for the next 52 weeks. Under the new plan, which goes into effect on October 1st, 1917, the funeral fund will remain as at present, but $4 a week in case of sickness, and $3 a week for the following 26 weeks, thus practically cutting the payments in half.

By the plan adopted this morning, it is expected that an annual saving of $8,000 will be effected on a basis of sixty members on extended pay.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST MICHAELIS BEING WAGED IN REICHSTAG

Attack on Imperial Chancellor Continues, Proving Him to Lack Confidence Of The Reichstag; Challenged on Question of Belgium's Status In Peace Settlement

By Courier Leased Wire.
Copenhagen, Aug. 29.—Attacks upon Imperial Chancellor Michaelis continue and Professor Hans Delbrueck now asks the chancellor: an embarrassing question concerning peace. In the Prussian year book, Professor Delbrueck inquires of Dr. Michaelis why, if he really accepts the reichstag resolution as the basis of his policy, he neglects to answer the inquiry made on July 26 in the British House of Commons by former Premier Asquith regarding Germany's readiness to evacuate and restore Belgium.

Professor Delbrueck, who openly questions the good faith of the chancellor in professing to agree with the terms of the resolution, asks whether his silence in the face of Mr. Asquith's summons does not show that those are right who insist that Dr. Michaelis takes another standpoint from that contained in the resolution.

If the German Government is ready to conclude a peace upon the basis of no annexations and no indemnities, asks the Professor, "why all this unprecedented apparatus of a joint committee of the reichstag and Bundesrat to assist chancellor in drawing up a simple answer to the Pope's proposal of peace on that basis?"

The truth is, says Professor Delbrueck, that Dr. Michaelis does not enjoy the confidence of the reichstag. He could not possibly do so, the writer adds, after last week's events in the reichstag main committee and his tacit submission to the assertion that he is in reality opposed to the resolution. Neither the German nation nor the world knows what the chancellor's policy is.

The reichstag's resolution, Professor Delbrueck concludes, would have had a different effect if it was not believed abroad that the reichstag is powerless and that the chancellor is double tongued.

In his speech in the House of Commons on July 26, former Premier Asquith asked if Germany was prepared to evacuate Belgium, to make reparation and to restore absolute independence to Belgium. He said he would like to know the German answer to these questions.

EARL GRAY DIED TODAY

Former Governor General of Canada Passed Away In England

ILL FOR SOME TIME
"A Statesman And a Philanthropist In The Best Sense"

London, Aug. 29.—Earl Grey, former governor-general of Canada, died at six o'clock this morning at Howick House, Northumberland, after a long illness. The funeral will be held at Howick on Saturday, when a memorial service will be held in London.

Lord Strathcona described Earl Grey as a statesman and a philanthropist in the best sense.

COMPLETE UNDERSTANDING WITH GERMAN PEOPLE ESSENTIAL TO PEACE

Allied Attitude Clearly, Concisely and Fearlessly Affirmed by Wilson; No Settlement While Hohenzollerns Remain on the Throne

By Courier Leased Wire.
Washington, Aug. 29.—President Wilson's note rejecting the Pope's proposals was regarded here to-day as finally settling the question of dealing with present German rulers unconquered or uncured at home. The President makes it clear that a lasting and durable peace can be negotiated only on a complete understanding with the German people and not alone on unstable grounds of the existing government.

The note indicates that the American Government does not intend post bellum reprisals on the German people, but desires in the interests of world peace that they be allowed to share in international economic opportunities "if they will accept equality and not seek domination."

The note with its unequivocal denunciation of German military autocracy is believed to reflect accurately the attitude of the Allies governments. The general tenor of the communication had been anticipated, but diplomats were surprised to find in it a virtual appeal to the German people to strive for emancipation from military control and become fitted to deal with a world democracy.

Among other objections to a premature peace, the note indicates that "it would result in the abandonment of new born Russia to the intrigue, the manifold, subtle interference and the certain counter-revolution which would be attempted by all the malign influences to which the German government has of late accustomed the world."

Press Comment
New York, Aug. 29.—The newspapers generally, in their editorial comment this morning applaud President Wilson's reply to the Pope's peace proposals.

"It can be compressed into five words: 'No peace with Prussian autocracy,'" says the New York World.

The New York Herald says: "President Wilson rejects the peace proposal of the Pope, and in language that will ring around the world, gives reasons. There can be no truce with Prussianism, no temporizing with evil. Peace cannot be based upon any such flimsy structure as the word of the present German Government."

"The President has answered from the great heart of the American people. It is an answer to the Pope, and, as well, to all advocates of a Prussian peace—in this country or any other."

The Washington Post comments: "President Wilson lays bare the inherent weakness of any proposal to make peace on any terms with the German Government. This weakness being the inability of that government to give any pledge or promise that other nations would accept. The German Government having destroyed its reputation for truth and honor, no one else can restore it. It is for Germany to seek peace from within, by setting aside the mad murderers, who have run her toward ruin."

SOCIALIST AND LABOR GATHERING

Inter-Allied Conference In London Enters On Second Day
PEACE PROBLEM UP
Stockholm Conference And Other Issues Are Being Dealt With

London, Aug. 29.—The Inter-Allied Socialist and Labor conference, which devoted itself yesterday largely to preliminaries, met to-day to consider the reports of two commissions, one appointed to deal with the general question of the international Socialist conference at Stockholm, the other to consider and report on the drafts of peace terms, submitted by the various Socialist parties. The views of the different elements were so widely divergent that it was considered unlikely that the commissions would have their reports ready, however, and when the delegates met this morning adjournment was taken until afternoon to give the commissions more time. The possibility of an extension of the conference for one or more days is being considered.

At yesterday's sitting the Russian delegates, who at first were present merely as spectators, expressed willingness to take part in the conference as it is merely "consultative" and therefore binds no party.

Fresh Advances By The Foe; Entire Division Quits Position

KERENSKY ASSAILED
Germany Denies His Statement of a Separate Peace Offer

Petrograd, Aug. 29.—A Russian division yesterday abandoned its positions in the region of Fokshani, on the Rumanian front, and fled in disorder, the war office announces.

The statement says that the enemy continued to advance all yesterday on the southern Rumanian front, reaching the line Trechty-Deus—Varnitza—Pitoneshti—Chyolantitchi. In the night Russian positions in the region of Varnitza were penetrated.

Peace Offer Denied.
Berlin, Aug. 28, via London, Aug. 29.—The newspapers denounce as wholly false the reference made by Premier Kerensky, in addressing the Moscow conference, to a recent offer of a separate peace. Nothing is known of such a move in any official quarters here.

Premier Kerensky in his speech at Moscow said:

"A little time ago we indignantly replied to a proposal to conclude separate peace." He gave no details.

Amsterdam, Aug. 29.—The semi-official Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung attacks Premier Kerensky for his remarks in reference to offers of a separate peace made before the Moscow conference on Sunday. The newspaper says:

"Premier Kerensky falsely attributed to us without proof efforts toward and offers of a separate peace. What Germany can do to pave the way to peace already has been done, but from Russia, where the peace movement originated, the echo came back dictated by Lloyd George, Poincare and President Wilson, destroying all the efforts of the Russian democracy."

"It is reported, moreover, that the revolutionary Russian Government again is fixing its mind on the possession of Constantinople."

Noting in Finland
London, Aug. 29.—Serious rioting at Bjorneberg, Finland, is reported in a private telegram from Haparanda to Copenhagen, forwarded by the Central News to London. It is said fighting between Finns and soldiers of the Russian garrison lasted for several hours, and that a number of persons were killed or wounded.

This is the day set for the re-assembling of the Finnish laadtag in defiance of the dissolution order of the provisional government. In his address at the opening of the Moscow conference, Premier Kerensky gave warning that the government would prevent by force the re-opening of the diet and the carrying out of the plan for a separation of Finland from Russia.

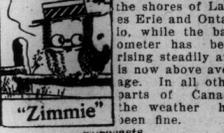

CASUALTIES IN THE CITY
Gunner W. F. Myring, of the 54th battery, has been admitted to the Tenth Field Hospital, suffering from gas, according to word received in the city to-day. His home is at 172 Sheridan street, and prior to enlistment he followed the trade of a confectioner.

Wounded Second Time
Mrs. Plumer, Echo Place, to-day received word that her son, Pte. Alfred George Plumer, was wounded in the left leg on Aug. 16th last. Pte. Plumer, who went overseas with the first Brant County battalion, was previously wounded at Vimy.

The war expenditure of the United States is now announced to be one million dollars an hour, including advances to other allies.

Two hundred autos were destroyed or damaged in a fire at the Alhambra garage, New York. The loss is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Simcoe Merchants Obey Restrictions on Canned Goods

Write Simcoe Agency Box 311 or phone 356-3 all matters regarding delivery or subscriptions; News items or advertisements.

Simcoe, Aug. 29.—(From our own correspondent)—Lovers of curiosity should call at Jacobson's watch hospital to see a watch of Turkish manufacture taken from a Turk at Gallipoli and brought over by a regular soldier. The silver hunting case is evidently of English manufacture and differs from our own in that it is divided longitudinally so that either side of the stem can be opened, which hold the front and back closed. It is of the "key wind" type and the Turkish characters set with reference to the stem, as are our open face watches. The pinion of the balance wheel is set in real diamonds and all the other jewels are jewelled and capped with rubies.

Supply Teachers.

Mrs. John Francis and Mrs. Frank Norman have consented to supply temporarily on the public school staff in the absence of Miss Bauslauga and Miss Porter, both of whom have been advised by their physicians to take longer rests. We have been requested to urge the necessity of a general turnout to school on the opening day, Tuesday, Sept. 4th. The students who are going to make their mark throughout the year should prove it by scoring next June will be there without urging, and this whether they be high or public school students, and this in spite of the later interference of progress from the laggards.

And if we might violate the rules of reportorial etiquette, we never yet saw the student who could afford to spend the first week of school off attending the big fairs or anything else. And the writer has spent one or two years where he had opportunity to observe.

Principals of both primary and secondary schools here are appealing for a general turnout on the first day of school. It should not be necessary. Truancy next Tuesday is in truancy, plain and simple. The parents of children carelessly irregular at school should never speak of high taxation. Our school system costs money, and the money's worth is there if the children are at school.

Nothing Doing

With pleasure we record the loyal spirit with which local merchants and shoppers are complying with the request to abstain from certain canned vegetables for the short period of six weeks. On an evening round of the stores here we heard not a single protest. "Should have ordered it earlier in the season," said one. "Sold out a week ago," said another. "I suppose you have had a few customers who stocked up on canned goods, we asked a third. "We are not selling peas, corn or tomatoes since Saturday," was the prompt reply. The local gardeners are finding ready sale for their fresh vegetables. At Quebec yesterday—Homeward Bound.

Pte. Gordon Thompson wired yesterday from Quebec to his father, Chas. Thompson, advising of his landing and expectation of reaching home soon. A similar message came to Mrs. Ashton Winters from "Gey Winters." Both of these left with the first group of 31 men who left for the front from Simcoe.

New Proprietor at Gore View Farm.

Mr. H. R. Marston of Paris has just moved to his new property, Gore View Farm one mile south of Waterloo. The property was recently purchased from Dr. McGuire, County Registrar, Mr. Marston is a practical gardener and fruit farmer and will be able to fill the gap left by the departure of Dr. McGuire, a quartette of first class artists for the solo work, and the conductor, Mr. J. T. Schofield was authorized to make suitable arrangements to secure the services of a leading orchestra.

This will afford the music lovers of Brantford an excellent opportunity of hearing this wonderful work, under the very best conditions.

Later in the season another important work will be produced and as far as oratorio work is concerned, Brantford's needs musically, will be well cared for by this young and enterprising organization. Rehearsals will be resumed in about three weeks' time.

There are a few vacancies in the society for singers who appreciate this class of music, and the executive are preparing the membership list, and from enquiries already received, anticipate a large number of applications for membership.

WOMEN FIGHTERS

Amsterdam, Netherlands, August 29.—(Associated Press)—Traveler from Berlin states that Germany is preparing to follow the Russian lead in organizing regiments of women, which will be available later to send to the front if necessary. The achievement of the Russian women's battalions have been widely advertised in Germany, and favorably commented upon. Several steps for similar movements by Germany are being discussed in Berlin, and the organization of several trial regiments, at first as a species of Home Reserve, is expected shortly.

HADN'T SEEN WELL DAY IN 12 MONTHS

Toronto Woman Says Tanlac Has Saved Her From Nervous Breakdown

"I had not seen a well day for the past twelve months, and I firmly believe that two bottles of Tanlac saved me from a nervous breakdown," said Mrs. Elsie Maer, of 322 Weston Road, south Toronto, whose husband is with the Canadian expeditionary forces "somewhere in France."

"I had nervous indigestion for a long time," she continued. "My appetite failed and what little I did eat seemed to settle in a hard lump right in my chest and made me miserable all the time. My health was wretched, my system all run down, and I worried so much my nerves were fast giving way under the strain. The least little excitement would completely upset me and I would almost jump out of my chair at the ringing of the door bell. I couldn't hardly sleep at all, but would roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other all night long. I had no life nor strength and was as limp as a rag. I am now sleeping fine every night and get up in the morning feeling stronger and better than I have in a long time. I have a splendid appetite and eat anything I want and am never bothered by indigestion. I am improving every day and am going to keep on with Tanlac as long as it does me as much good as it is doing now."

THE SITUATION

The answer of President Wilson to the peace proposals of the Pope, will still further strengthen him in the eyes of not alone his own people, but also of the civilized world. He points out that "every heart that has not been blinded and hardened by this terrible war" must be touched by the moving appeal and he also pays tribute to "the dignity and force of the humane and generous motives" prompting it but at the same time he emphatically declares "we cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure." A more stinging arraignment has never been made of the heads of a supposedly responsible government. Wilson moreover knows whereof he speaks. He has had occasion more than once to realize that the pledged word of the "scrap of paper" outfit cannot for one instant be trusted and that supposedly solemn agreements made by them are ruthlessly broken just so soon as they deem the occasion warrants. Wilson, in refusing to have any further truck with such degenerates, has taken a manly and self-respecting course. All that he will rely upon in the future is "the will and the purpose of the German people themselves." That ought to open the eyes of the populace to the light in which their rulers are regarded by responsible men outside of the Fatherland.

The Italian army still continues to make progress, not in such a sweeping manner as at first but still in a substantial way. General Korniloff told the Moscow conference some hard and straight truths. He emphasized the fact that the situation was bad on all fronts and supplies scarce. He also put stress upon the fact that there must be iron handed measures if any sort of discipline was to be restored within the army.

Heavy rains are falling on the Western front, but despite that fact, there has been some hard fighting on the British lines, Haig's men having completely repulsed two determined German counter attacks.

The Governor-General, who is on a visit to Toronto, last evening signed the Canadian Military Service Bill. There only now remains the formality of the assent of the Senate, which will be given this afternoon.

MEN AT THE FRONT STRONG FOR CONSCRIPTION

A Western member is in receipt of an interesting letter from the front from a prominent Canadian officer who has always been a strong Liberal and has been offered and refused a Liberal nomination in the coming election. He writes:

"I have been taking a very keen interest in the conscription question. Sir Robert's attitude has pleased me immensely. He has taken the bold course and the right one. Private information received over here indicates that he made a very liberal offer to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. This offer, I understand, has been turned down and Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the official Liberal party proposed to passively resist conscription; first suggesting alternative schemes and then deliberately opposing the measure on the ground that the plans were not first given a trial.

"If this is the case, my of us will have to break absolutely away from the official Liberal party. We will not cease to be Liberals but we will deny the right of the Laurier-French-Canadian group to make use of that name, and we will assert our independence of their leadership. In the meantime if conscription goes through we will give our support to the party which is proposing the measure.

"I cannot see how any patriotic Canadian could take any other position. The feeling out here is very strong, particularly with reference to the attitude of Quebec, and I know from private letters received from the West that a very large proportion of the younger Liberal element holds the same views as those I have just enunciated.

"Conscription is a matter of necessity and of justice. One only needs to spend a comparatively short period at the front to realize this. In former days the voluntary system appealed to me for I liked to think that the British race undertook such tasks as those which grace it to-day because it wished to and not because it was compelled; but I am afraid experience has proved that the British race is not entirely composed of idealists, and that there are many who have to be shown what their duty is and then further, have to be compelled to do it. "Our duty is very plain; it is to carry on the war to a conclusion, so that the one great element of aggressive militarism in the world will be definitely and finally overcome. This cannot be done except by a stupendous effort, and the obligation which rests upon Canada is as great as that resting on any other section of the human race. Canada has already committed herself, and Canadians by thousands have paid the price. The work that they have done and the suffering that is now being endured by the Canadians at the front demand that those behind continue the exertion until success is secured. The test must lie in this: Can we maintain our proportion of the military effort without compulsory service? That is the basis.

"The next question, which is almost as fundamental, is this: Is it just and fair that the burden of carrying on that effort should rest on the willing and that the unwilling should be allowed to remain behind in safety to improve their financial position at the cost of the others?"

"I have no hesitation in saying that we cannot maintain our present effort without conscription, for the supply of recruits has got down to a point where the situation will soon be serious; but even if we were able to maintain the supply justice demands that every man should be compelled to do his duty. It is for the defence of every home in Canada that we are fighting, and consequently every home should contribute its share in human endeavor as well as its share in financial cost. I am to-day an out and out conscriptionist, and I am thoroughly convinced that my position is representative of the whole Canadian corps in France.

"Affairs have been going well over here and I have no doubt that they will continue to go the same way. The outcome is inevitable if we continue to put forward the same proportionate effort; but if there is a slackening in the effort or if we waver in our determination we may lose. We must all remember that Germany is not yet beaten, and that from a military point of view many battles have yet to be fought and won before victory is within our reach."

NOTES AND COMMENT

Napoleon Seguin, M.P.P., member of the Quebec Legislature yesterday told an audience in Montreal that the Governor-General was too "clear seeing" to sign the conscription bill. Well his signature has been attached and what is Nap going to do about it?

The death of Earl Grey removes a most likeable man, who, during his regime as Governor-General, fulfilled the duties of that office with urbanity and tact. He paid a visit to Brantford during his occupancy of the post and delighted all with whom he came in contact by his affability and lack of ostentation.

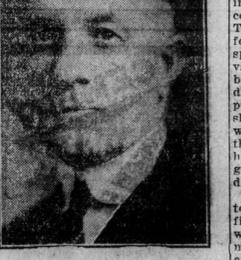

The views which Wilson entertains towards the Kaiser and his outfit are shared by decent people everywhere.

The despatch from an unnamed port says that a schooner is in on her way there under the Captaincy of James Moore of Nova Scotia, who is 97 years of age. Because of the demand for master mariners he offered his services as a war contribution. To cap the climax he should have a few youngsters on board to help him, like Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Postmaster Brown of Hamilton, who are both over ninety and still attending to duty.

 substance of President Wilson's reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposal, must be the substance of every reply made by the nations now leagued to uphold human rights against the brutal arrogance of autocracy."

The Providence Journal says the President's note is an epitome of the war aims of the nation; a re-affirmation of the solemn pledge the American people made with themselves when they entered the war; a renewal of their covenant with other peoples to see it through.

 Other News From Paris—Old Resident Is Laid To Rest

(From our own Correspondent)
 Paris, Aug. 29.—All that was mortal of Sarah E. Charney, beloved wife of Mr. Alex. Knowles, Elm street, was laid quietly to rest in the Paris cemetery on Monday afternoon. The deceased was a member of St. James' church, and the service at the home and grave was conducted by the rector, Rev. R. J. Sisson-Adams. The late Mrs. Knowles was born in Whitworth, Lancashire, England 57 years ago, and came to Paris with her husband and family about two years ago. Deceased had been ailing since June with heart trouble, but her death was quite unexpected, and it is thought that the worry of having her four sons on the firing line had hastened her death. She was an active worker in the Maple Leaf Patriotic club, and will be very much missed from that circle. Besides her husband, she leaves five daughters and five sons to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother. Gertrude Doris, Amey, Minnie at home, and Daisy in England; Sergt. Fred Knowles, who has just been invalided home, and Cecil at home, and Albert, Sydney, Percy overseas.

All sons have been wounded, and Edward died during training at East Lancashire, England.

Much sympathy will be extended to the bereaved family in their sad bereavement. Many beautiful floral tributes were received, showing the high esteem in which deceased was held by all.

Chief Rutherford is kept busy these days watching the autos and motor cycles around town. Yesterday morning two auto-drivers were fined $8 each for not having their lights on, and on Friday morning three motor cycle drivers were up for speeding. The police also warns the parents to see that children do not run up and down the streets with their wagons as two people have been seriously hurt lately from careless riding on sidewalks.

Word received in town yesterday that Mr. Edwin Hill had passed away early in the morning at his home in North Bay. The remains will be brought here for burial, the funeral taking place to-morrow morning on the arrival of the 10.15 train. Mr. Hill was in his 83rd year, and will be known to many of the older residents around town, as he lived in Paris many years ago.

The Horticultural Society held their annual flower, fruit and vegetable exhibition in the Agricultural Hall, yesterday afternoon and evening. The attendance was very good considering the disagreeable day. The exhibits were not as many as formerly, but those shown were splendid. There was a splendid variety of flowers and vegetables, but fruit was very scarce. A nice display of canned fruit, jelly and pickles were shown. The exhibits shown by the school children, are worthy of mention, but it was thought that more children should have exhibited, as the society had gone to a great deal of trouble in distributing seeds to the children.

The garden competition around town is so keen, that the judges are finding it rather difficult to decide one goes that is worthy of the prizes, and are making a second trip around. The above society are worthy of every praise for the interest they are taking in beautifying the town. Wherever one goes they can see beautiful flower beds which is to be kept up by the Horticultural Society, and it certainly improves the town.

 "This war," the German statesman say, "was forced on us against our will; we tried so hard to dodge the fray! It grieved our hearts that we must kill. 'Tis true we built a war machine, the greatest ever known to fame; but we contend we didn't mean to use it with a warlike aim. 'Twas just a thing of pomp and state to use upon occasions gay; with it we hoped to celebrate the German Fourth and Groundhog Day. We looked upon the martial psalm as one would look on sounding brass, and Mary's famous little lamb, for meekness, wasn't in our class. 'Tis true our navy grew apace, through many years we built it up; but we were planning for a race with England for a silver cup. We had no purpose to eclipse the British might, despite reports; our only thought in building ships was just to boost all many sports. We only wished to go our course in quietness year after year, and whoop for peace until too hoarse to whoop for anything but beer. But no, they would not let us be, to earn in peace our bed and board; they climbed our frame on land and sea, and so we had to draw the sword. And so we ask the world to note, and to recall on that dread day when we have lost our Wilhelm-boat, that we were forced into the fray."

 The general declared it would be impossible to carry on the war to a victorious conclusion unless the strongest possible efforts were made by the provisional government and by the troops themselves to re-animate and regenerate the army.

One of Most Destructive Blazes of Year Raging On Coast

By Courier Leased Wire.
 Nelson, B. C., Aug. 28.—One of the most destructive fires which have broken out in the Kootenay boundary country this year started in a Cedar flat near Salmo on Sunday. The flat was swept by the blaze and between two and three thousand cords of shingle bolts, representing the season's cut of the Kootenay Shingle Company destroyed. A crew of 100 men are fighting the blaze which threatens the town.

A fire which broke out on the mountain side between Sproule and Grohman Creek, Sunday, has approached somewhat nearer Nelson, but, provided the wind doesn't become too strong, danger to the city is not anticipated.

A fire which started in the vicinity of O'Neill's Mill, Woodbury Creek, burned out the mill frames and threatens the mining camp buildings.

Harold Cornish, of Deep Creek, and A. C. Zerwitz, a Galician, were killed by falling timber Sunday, while engaged in fighting the forest fires.

CASUALTIES HEAVY
 By Courier Leased Wire
 Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Extremely heavy casualty lists continue to pour in by cable to the record office, those announced from Saturday night to noon to-day numbering approximately 2,700. It is understood the roll will be heavy for some days as a result of the prolonged severe fighting at Lens. That the percentage of fatalities is light is illustrated by today's figures, the noon list of 386 containing only fourteen fatalities.

BRITISH CENSORS TIP OFF PRUSSIAN PLOTS IN AMERICA

English Intelligence Department From Humble Beginning Has Become Most Important Information Auxiliary to Allied Army and Navy.

The British censorship was very humbly born in the first days of September 1914, in the basement of the general postoffice in King Edward's building, writes Eric Fisher Wood in the Saturday Evening Post. Its original staff consisted of a dozen volunteers and its sole purpose was to open letters sent by regular mail from England to Germany and submit them to a cursory examination, with the idea of suppressing any that openly and frankly carried information of military value to the enemy.

Letters to Holland, Denmark, Belgium and other countries along the German frontier were thought to be innocent and were allowed to pass without examination.

To-day the British censorship exercises systematic control over all communications that cross the seas. Each month it minutely examines 15,000,000 messages! No secret means of communication is too cleverly conceived to evade watchfulness. It supplies the armies and fleets of the allies with the news of the enemy's military and navy plans—which far exceeds in quantity and quality anything that could be furnished by the most perfect secret service.

Know Market Conditions.
 The members of the censorship trade department have so steadfastly studied, in the aggregate, all German and British trade correspondence that to-day they know more about the market conditions of the world than ever mortal men have known before. It is well known that the Allies do nearly all their buying of war material through common commissions.

This is called "unit buying" and is

There is much interest in Ottawa in the news from Salt Lake City that Lieut. Alvo von Alvensleben has been interned for the duration of the war with Germany in the Third War Prison Barracks at Fort Douglas, Salt Lake City. The former officer in the Kaiser's army recently was arrested in Seattle, where he and his wife had a beautiful summer home on Puget Sound. Many Germans made clandestine trips to his home, it is said, and the mansion was the center of a spy system that extended to the western part of the United States, Central and South America and the Orient.

Friend of Kaiser.
 Alvensleben was a reputed close personal friend of the Kaiser. Before the war he lived in Vancouver and operated in financial matters on a large scale. He was interested in the Dominion Trust Company which is now in liquidation.

The stories at the coast have always been that he was the personal representative of the German war lord and that it was the Kaiser's money with which he operated in British Columbia. He was well-known in Ottawa, often visiting the capital in connection with his financial operations. He moved while in Ottawa in high society and was known as Count von Alvensleben.

Alvensleben was in Germany when the German mobilization was ordered. He left Germany two days after the outbreak of the war, explaining his departure by saying that he had big business interests in the United States and Canada which he could not sacrifice. He did not return to Canada but made his headquarters at Seattle. Ottawa has always believed that he was one of the heads of the world-wide German spy system.

Observed Kaiser's Birthday.
 Alvensleben arrived at the coast some years before the war with a younger brother. Both were very

WHAT IT REPRESENTS:

This Gold Car is but a symbol of Studebaker worth. The gold finish exemplifies, as nothing else could, the quality, the beauty of finish, and the fineness of workmanship that have made Studebaker cars the choice of discriminating buyers throughout the Dominion. It symbolizes the superior quality that Studebaker puts into every car bearing its name. It puts the spotlight on all the little—but important—details of construction that would be passed over in the ordinary exhibit.

the same distinction of lines, the same masterful power, the same luxurious comfort, the same perfection of design and workmanship.

The Studebaker Gold Car is exhibited for the first time in Canada at the Toronto Exposition. It occupies the place of honor in the Studebaker booth on the main floor.

He got along smoothly with Charley Herzog, and when the latter was succeeded by Matty the crack first baseman was delighted.

"Matty is the finest fellow I ever met," said Chase recently. "He is fair and square in his dealings with his players and knows the game from A to Z. I think that he is one of the best managers in baseball and I consider it an honor to play under his leadership. The Reds have worked hard for him all season, and he has appreciated them. We are eager to win the pennant for Matty, and perhaps next year we can 'kick the trick' McGraw soon will have plenty of material."

Before the end of next week the National league's twenty-two player limit becomes obsolete until next May. This means that McGraw can go along with as many as thirty-five men if necessary. It will be possible to recall his recruits in the minor leagues, also to put uniforms on some other new candidates for honors at the Polo grounds. But the Giants play to purchase desirable players from other clubs in Governor Fernald's circuit expired Monday, when a new rule went into effect that the clubs after August 20 cannot sell players to one another without first asking and obtaining waivers. McGraw therefore cannot purchase Mamau from the Pirates unless the other National league clubs waive claim. In fact, it will be a difficult task to strengthen the Giants' pitching staff unless the rival magnates are willing. But McGraw will obtain several promising pitchers as soon as the International league season closes in which event he can try experiments in the box, at the same time allowing his regulars to enjoy a rest now and then.

Brooklyn Club Will Lose Some Money.

A more handout of spectators saw the Pirates trim the Robins, 1 to 0 in ten innings at Ebbets field Monday. For the rest of the season the Brooklyn club can depend only on Saturday games, also the Labor day schedule and double-headers on other occasions to provide substantial receipts. The poor playing of the fading champions has knocked the bottom out of baseball in the Flatbush stadium, with the inevitable result, that Ebbets, McKeevor and Co. will lose some money. Yet the owners of the club are not to blame. The players' contracts call for more than $90,000 in salaries, while some of them have not earned. If the Robins had repeated last year's winning performance the fans again would have patronized them with the usual liberality. But a losing ball club does not arouse enthusiasm, and Brooklyn fans, having had a taste of a championship and world's series, naturally are disappointed. In view of present conditions, therefore, Col. Ebbets will be justified if he decides to reduce the Brooklyn club's payroll for 1918.

All Pitchers Look Alike to Ty Cobb.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb, who probably will win the major league batting championship this year, is hitting above the 380 mark, and the records show that practically all of the American league pitchers look alike to him. During the month of June Cobb batted .463, making one or more hits in every game. In July his average was .394, while in April and May the figures were .320 and .304, respectively. The White Sox's pitchers have kept Cobb's average against them down to .291. The pitchers of the Cleveland also have bothered him considerably. But against the hurlers of the Red Sox Rochester has kept Cobb's average against them down to .291. ## LEAFS HAMMERED REBEL PITCHERS

Leake Allowed But Three Hits, While Adams and Donahue Faded

INCREASE THE LEAD

Grays and Birds Were Idle—Many Double Plays Enlivened the Tussle

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The Leafs won the second game of the series yesterday and evened it up with Richmond by making the count 8 to 1. As Jupiter Pluvius reigned in the other towns on the circuit, Toronto's rivals for first place observed an enforced holiday, and the locals' victory increased their margin in the pennant race. The game in itself was not very exciting, but it provided an opportunity for the Toronto artillery to hammer three Rebel pitchers, two of them being forced to the discard. Leake had another of his good days, and only three scattered hits were corralled from his delivery.

For six innings the game was anybody's, but in the Leaf's half of that session Adams, who was doing the mound duty for Richmond, failed to weather the batting rally, and had two runs scored against him on as many hits and an equal number of bases on balls. However, that was the beginning of the culmination of his day's work, and when two more hits and another base on balls in the seventh yielded the third run of the game he was taken out of the game, Kohler going in to bat in the eighth. Donahue relieved, or at least that was what he was sent in to do. He was like he was trying to plug a hole with a cork that was too small. The first five men up singled and three runs scored. This was enough for him, and Eibel came from first base to try and stem the tide, with Enright taking up the position at the initial corner. Leake laid one down, and Eibel with difficulty scooped it up from the slippery grass. Leake in the meantime had made good time to first and had the throw beaten, so Eibel turned to throw to third to catch a runner, but found McDerrott grovelling in the dirt, where he had fallen, coming in for Leake's grounder. Eibel saw a chance to catch Lalonde at second and whipped the ball at the bag. McGaffin was covering the centre sack, but was dared to the world until the ball caromed off his knees and went into left field. Murray scoring. Truesdale grounded out and Lalonde scored, while Jacobson flew to centre field. Whitman was granted a pass to first and Lajoie came to bat for the second time in the inning, and, not wanting to prolong the burlesque any further, skirted out to left. In all five runs had tallied on six hits, a base on balls and an error.

WAR EXPENDITURES

London, August 29.—(Associated Press)—Since the beginning of the war £46,000,000 of public money has been advanced to firms and companies principally for the purpose of increasing the output of munitions. A. Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated recently in the House of Commons. He added that more than £27,000,000 already had been repaid.

Sporting Comment

A Post Series.

Whether or not the proposed Inter-city League materializes, Brantford baseball fans will be afforded an opportunity of witnessing the only two Canadian aggregations in the International League in action here. Immediately after the close of the schedule of the Barrow circuit, Toronto and Montreal have arranged to make a tour of the most important Canadian cities, and the Telephone City has been included in the itinerary.

The trip originated with Arthur Irwin the hustling manager of the Leafs his efforts to provide the best quality of baseball possible for the other Canuck cities will surely be appreciated. The other cities to be visited are Ottawa, Hamilton, Guelph, and London, and promoters in Ottawa has already arranged terms with the tourists. It only remains for the other cities to arrange for a guarantee, which must be granted before the visitors will come. There is such an extent that the promoters would not be out of pocket for their venture into the enterprise.

Larry Lajoie alone would prove a great drawing card, for in this as in other cities the veteran of the Cleveland Club has many admirers who would turn out to watch him cavort around the first sack.

Beat Pirates Easily—Cubs Blanked Dodgers, While Reds Smashed Braves

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—St. Louis won today's game in the seventh inning by knocking Oeschger off the rubber and by Paulette stealing home. The latter feat produced the winning run of a six to five score. Philadelphia took the lead in the early innings by bunching hits with base on balls, and errors. Watson went to the rubber in the fifth inning and stopped the scoring. Score: St. Louis . . . 100100400—6 12 3 Philadelphia . . . 002030000—5 7 1 Batteries—Goodwin, Watson, and Gonzales Fitter, Oeschger, Alexander, Bender and Killifer.

At New York.

New York easily won the second game of the series from Pittsburg today, the score being 7 to 3. The Giants won in the fourth inning, driving Grimes out of the box when they scored five runs on two doubles, four singles, a base on balls, three steals and an error. Score: R. H. E. Pittsburg . . . 000100200—3 8 2 New York . . . 100500100—7 10 1 Batteries—Grimes, Carlson and Schmidt; Perritt and Rariden, Onslow.

At Boston.

Shneider's pitching was too much for Boston today, while both Barnes and Allen were hit often and hard. Cincinnati won nine to one. The hitting and fielding of Kopf and Roush were remarkably good. Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati . . . 110003400—9 12 0 Boston . . . 000001000—1 6 3 Batteries—Schneider and Wingo; Barnes, Allen and Trageser.

At Brooklyn.

Vaughn shut out Brooklyn two to nothing today, by being effective in the pinches. Cadore also pulled himself out of several tight places, although the visitors reached him for eleven hits, including two doubles. Errors by Myers and Olson gave them their first run, while the second was earned on hits by Mann and Zelder, and a double steal. Score: R. H. E. Chicago . . . 000110000—2 11 0 Brooklyn . . . 000000000—0 9 3 Batteries—Vaughn and Elliott; Cadore and Krueger.

VARIOUS KINDS OF TORTURE BY HUMS

Pretended Executions One of Forms Used

Have, France, Aug. 28.—"Torture of the post," "punishment in the tank," pretended execution by a firing squad or exposure to storms without being properly clothed are some of the methods systematically used by the Germans to compel deported Belgian civilians to labor for the German army, according to evidence which has been received by the Belgian government.

According to the government announcement this evidence is given in all details and shows that deported Belgian civilians are systematically subjected to mistreatment in order to compel them to work. Under this treatment many of them are so weakened that they become incapable of physical effort.

The "torture of the post" is described as one of the principal measures resorted to by the Germans. Stoutly fettered to posts, the men are exposed to heat or cold, according to the season, for days together, during which the food rations are reduced until they reach the proportions of a half-ration only for two days' subsistence.

Several Turkish baths. The "punishment in the tank" is a severe application of the Turkish bath. Several witnesses have confirmed this fact, among them the son of a manufacturer of the region of Antwerp, who with several of his comrades was shut up in a small room heated to a very high temperature. There was only one room in the place for them to stand erect, close together and scarcely able to turn. They were left there twenty-four hours.

Then they were led to a factory in the neighborhood where they were asked if they would go to work. Upon their refusal they were taken to a field under military escort, divested by force of their overcoats, shoes, scarfs and hats or caps, and exposed in a snowstorm an entire day and an entire night, with nothing to eat or drink and under the absolute prohibition to make the slightest movement. Some of them lost consciousness after a few hours of this exposure and all of them were taken to the hospital the following day.

The son of the Antwerp manufacturer, a stout robust man at the time of the deportation, was sent home a complete physical wreck a short time afterward, and since has died from the mistreatment. He told his sufferings to the physician who treated him, and the Belgian government is in possession of the evidence as given to the doctor.

Two soldiers from Havre, the Lebris brothers, who escaped from Germany, confirm this evidence regarding the Turkish bath form of punishment.

A number of witnesses call attention to the fact that frequently groups of deported men have been the object of a simulated execution, sometimes by a firing squad, some times with machine guns, in order to overcome their resistance and impress their comrades.

Punishment Camps. There is also another means of constraint used upon the deported in the form of punishment camps, where the regime is still more severe than in the other interned camps, and where the deported are forced to work in the marshes, often in most excessively cold weather, dressed in nothing but trousers, shirt and wooden shoes, without food during an entire day.

Some of the deported are sent to agricultural centres, whence according to the evidence of a man from Verriers, who escaped from Germany, most of the victims return so enfeebled that it is impossible for them to keep on their feet. Corporal punishment is frequently employed, such as blows with the butt of a rifle or forced running for periods up to two hours, without stopping, under menace of the bayonet. The evidence shows that the mortality among men subjected to these different forms of mistreatment is alarming. Evidence regarding the camp of deported Belgians of Soltan shows that the men are badly lodged, underfed, illy clothed, brutalized, sequestered, deprived of all diversion and distraction and refused any kind of spiritual consolation.

Increased Lead to Three and One-half Games—Davenport Gets Revenge

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Chicago gained one-half game on Boston to-day by defeating New York in the final game, 4 to 3, making a clean sweep of the series, while Boston remained idle on account of rain, at Detroit. Chicago now is three and one-half games ahead of Boston. The feature of the game was a triple play New York executed in the third inning, when, with the bases full, Jackson lined to Baker, who touched third, doubling Leibold before he could get back to the bag, and threw to Gedeon, who touched second before McMullin could return. Score: R. H. E. New York . . . 000002010—3 10 1 Chicago . . . 001021000—4 10 2 Batteries—Caldwell and Alexander; Williams, Faber and Schalk.

At St. Louis.

Davenport, who was knocked out of the box by Philadelphia on Sunday, came back to-day and let the visitors down with four hits. St. Louis winning, 2 to 1. St. Louis got its two runs after two were out in the first inning. Sisler doubled, Pratt singled and stole second, Sloan singled, scoring both Sisler and Pratt. Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia . . . 001000000—1 4 1 St. Louis . . . 200000000—2 8 1 Batteries—Schauer and Schaag; Davenport and Severoid.

Word-of-Mouth Advertising and Newspaper Advertising

¶ It will always be true that "we are advertised by our loving friends."

¶ A store is advertising very effectively, within small limits, by the favorable word spoken of it by one person to another.

¶ If a woman tells a friend that a certain store is offering an attractive line of things in some particular department, and recites to her the excellent values she has secured at that store—That is valuable advertising for that store.

¶ But the store which is most effectively advertised in newspapers is usually the store which secures, as an indirect result of its newspaper advertising, the greatest share of his word-of-mouth advertising.

¶ For, in nine instances out of ten, the woman who is pleased and enthusiastic about a bargain which she has secured, and who tells her friends about it, was influenced to buy that very thing through the store's advertisement in her newspaper. If it had not been advertised she would not have bought it—she would not have learned about it at all—and thus she would not have had it in mind later as something worth while telling to her friends.

¶ The merchant who hopes to get his share of favorable word-of-mouth advertising must establish the basis for it through very aggressive newspaper advertising. The wisest of the merchants understand this.

Mile After Mile Among British Warships Ready to Smash Kaiser's Craft

Many Canadians in Motor-boat Patrol Service—Navy "on the Job"

ONTARIO NICKEL TOUGHENS PLATES

Douglas Roberston's Pen Picture of Mighty Fleet; Barrier to Huns

(By Douglas Robertson)

WITH THE FLEET, July 27—(by mail)—Ghastly grey forms loom out of the mist which enshrouds a summer sea. Then, even as we gaze, a fresh breeze sweeps down, and presto, the vapor curtain vanishes. Now the fleet of Britain, stretching majestic as far as the eye can reach. The Empire's walls of steel, her sure shield.

Silvery chimes of bells float across the water. Roll of drums, belike beating to quarters as of old, and clear notes of the bugle sound melodiously as our little motor submarine chaser ploughs the waves. Down the line we pass, that line of floating fortresses, from whose turrets the wicked snouts of grey stick out, from whose lofty, many tiered fighting-tops protrude lesser batteries.

TYPES OF THE NAVY
Men crowd the decks, keen-faced officers, the very epitome of smartness and efficiency in their neat uniforms, marines whose red trimmings lend a touch of color, midshipmen revelling in the new glories of brass buttons and white tabs, grim petty officers and Jack Tars with bull necks and faces, burnished bronze with sun and salt breeze. Just the British navy on the job. Presently our little craft swings towards one of these man-o-war-men at whose rail stands a line of seamen in white dunnagees.

A VISIT TO THE "LION"
The "Lion" once Beatty's flagship the good old "Lion" whose sharp claws and teeth rent the "Blucher's" plates and sent her to the bottom of the North Sea in that famous fight. Such is the vessel at whose side the motor boat booms. Up a ladder we swarm to shake hands with a cordial knot of officers at the top. In a few minutes your correspondent is exploring the ship's mysteries under the auspices of a young commander and navigating officer, a friend and contemporary of Commander Harold Denison, of Toronto, as I discovered presently in the word room.

DRIVEN BY TURBINES
Down the weirdest and crampet of elevators, into the depths of the engine room, descends the visitor. Here, oh! landsmen, no maze of old-time machinery, of bolts, levers and wheels, greets the eye. Only the simlicity of mighty turbines, which show never a motion, from whose titanic chests, even when forcing the ship at full speed, breathes never a gasp of the mighty flood steam surging through countless plates. In the fullest fury of the Jutland battle not a fragment of shell penetrated this heavily armored sanctum, and the ship, girt double-proof with plates toughened with Ontario nickel.

THE HOSPITAL WARD
Up steel ladders, along narrow passages, stripped bare of every sliver of wood-work, past comfortable quarters and red-covered tables of the senior petty officers' mess, we pass to the Sick Bay, that haven of the ill and wounded. Many a lad lay there, sick sailor, comfortable in his room, swinging cot, is sole patient. The young doctor is busy putting men through a severe chest examination for sub-acute hives, has no time to tell us how, shirt-sleeved and covered with gore, he jolled below while the shells crashed at Skager Rock. So up once more we go, past the ammunition lift, past machine shops, where deep in the shell artificers work at lathe and forge, up to the sea breezes.

THE GREAT GUNS
Here are the guns which sank the "Blucher." A narrow slit in the heavy armor of the turret admits the visitor. Gun practice is on—gun practice without ammunition. Officers are directing the crews. Clank! A massive breech flies open. Clank! And some hissing, volcanic force in the depths below shoots up a lever which would in actuality bear an enormous shell. With the precision and speed of a repeating rifle's mechanism the machinery moves, slams shut the breech. Then with more rumbles from the depths each monster gun lifts its muzzle to the correct elevation.

Fire! With a deep dull thud, a muffled cannonade, the lever descends. Thus, with wonderful rapidity, the whole operation repeated again and again—demonstration of the terrible salvos which can be sent forth.

NOT A SCRATCH SHOWING
Looking down from the eerie perch of the conning tower, the whole ship lies far beneath one, its fore and after parts seemingly flattened into semblance of some huge pointed raft. What a vast, intricate machine, what awful power of destruction, what terrible responsibility its charge! Not a scratch does the "Lion" now show of the wounds when he way-laid the Germans on their women-killing expedition, fought the "Blucher," and chased the rest of the cowardly Hun fleet back to Deutschland. And the lying German newspapers tried to impress the world that the "Lion's" wounds were fatal!

My guide, with never a word to say of his own exploits fought aboard the "Tiger." The two great cats of the fleet are crouching once more for a spring, a chance to fasten teeth and talons in the poisonous German rats which attack women and children, and whose holes lie across Wilhelmshaven way.

MANY CANADIANS
"Cast off," calls the second lieutenant in charge of our little motor craft, and after handshakes with the officers once more we are slipping through the seas. Down in his tiny cabin, just aft of the quick-firer, the young commander with the single strand of wavy R.N.V.R. gold braid on his sleeve shows me a signature book with the name of a Toronto officer. He knows at least fifteen Canadian herabouts in the motor boat patrol Royal Canadian Yacht members, "And capable chaps, too," quoth he.

THE KING'S NAVY
Ships, ships, ships. Never-ending they seem. Here lies a fast cruiser with three destroyers in a row fast to ways, for all the young ones. Sub-merges of newest design show their rounded backs. Farther on torpedo boats. Signal flags are fluttering on every side and from one mid-o-war-man's rigging flaps the washing of whole ship's company. Lights flicker and flash here and there—heliographing light for dull days—emitting dots and dashes as ships converse across the waters.

MILES OF BATTLESHIPS
Mile after mile we travel, in and out among battleships, cruisers and guards not only England's native sea, but the Seven Seas whose waters gird the globe. Silent is the fleet and the weather-bitten men who sail its ships. Hun theatricals of drinking to "The Day" have no place in British naval menses. But the eyes of the sailormen gleam when you mention that of their fleet which, still a menace to civilization, lurks back among the mine-sown shallows of the Hunnish coast in security a masked midnight assassin unwilling to meet his foe in the combat of broad day light. Ward room, gun room, fo'c's'le, they smile grimly when you mention shipman Fritz he of the Scarborough murders and the "Lusitania" butchery.

THE EVER-PRESENT PROBLEM
When will the Huns come out? Will he ever, indeed, risk a fight to the finish? Greatest puzzle of the fleet, topic of perennial and unending interest and discussion is this, from stoke hold to Admiral's cabin. But when the Hun does venture—if ever—he will find Britain's sailors ready,

SPECULATION IN THEATRE TICKETS

"Sometimes You Get a Good One, and Sometimes You Don't."

MUST TAKE A CHANCE
Forced To Buy Good and Bad Alike, Says Louis Cohn

(New York Sun).
"No one can pick 'em. The best one can do is take a chance. And it's a gamble with every show. Take it from me; I know."

This was Louis Cohn's "come back" to my intimation that he was the best "picker" on Broadway—other words, the most astute prognosticator of theatrical box-office "successes" in New York City. It came as a surprise, for Mr. Cohn is not a ticket speculator, and consequently this dealer in plays has had the reputation of being a wizard in gauging the "flume" returns of new plays. But in one instance he shattered that fond delusion.

Picking a Winner.
"I've been a ticket speculator on Broadway for twenty-seven years, and I guess I'm as wise as anyone, but I haven't got a million, or even over the counter of my office. Now, if I could always pick a winner, I could make a million a year. So you see it's speculation—pure and simple."

As a matter of fact, he went on, ignoring two customers who were standing close by, "I'm not permitted to buy tickets in my own name. I personally think will be big successes. I have to buy tickets for the plays in twenty-five of the forty theatres on Broadway, no matter what I think of them."

Forced to Buy.
"A firm of managers arranged to present a new musical play in one of their theatres, for instance. They force every speculator to buy so many tickets a night for eight weeks. If we refuse to buy we are cut off their list. If the show proves a fiasco, we are stuck. On the other hand, if the show is a success we make money."

"Miss Springtime" Good Buy.
"I had to buy 100 seats a night for eight weeks for 'Miss Springtime,' and I'm cleanly up on them. But you see I really didn't have any say in the matter. The more powerful managers, when they want to boss their own shows in their own theatres, can make us buy the bulk of the orchestra seats. We have to pay cash for them, so you see it is absurd to talk about the 'tick-st speculator' who gets rich."

Stuck on "The Century Girl."
"For instance, I had to buy fifty seats a night for 'The Century Girl.' And I had to pay $2.75 apiece for them—25 cents more than the box office price. Naturally I've got to sell them for $3.50 to make a profit, and I'm just as likely to get stuck with them as I am to make a little money. I'm telling you this so you'll understand that I can't go out and merely buy tickets for the five or six big successes and sell them at a half-dollar advance. That would be too easy. I have to take a chance with most of the shows that come to town, and stand or fall with them."

Unsold Ticket Losses.
"Just let me show you what happens when I went on, producing a large wooden box from beneath the counter. 'In this box there are at least $10,000 worth of unsold tickets from last season. I had to buy these tickets, and as you see, I didn't sell them. And you see a lot of business to offset such losses.'"

"What other hardships do you endure?" I asked, for Mr. Cohn looked so mournful that I was afraid he would burst into tears.

Credit Sales.
"Well, there are bad accounts," he replied, brightening up a bit. "A large number of my clients order their seats by telephone and have them left at the theatre box office. I sent them statements the first of every month, but many of them pay only twice a year, and a few not at all. Last year I charged over $1,500 in bad accounts. It's the same in every business, I suppose."

"But if you only bought tickets for the shows you thought would be popular, wouldn't that help matters?" I suggested.

Some Sure Fires.
"Even then it would be about an even break," he replied. "Of course, there are a few 'sure fire' successes, so like the 'Follies,' Montgomery and Stone, and the Cohn revue. But with the other shows, no one can tell in advance what they are going to do. Take 'Turn to the Right' for instance. When I saw it out of town, before it opened in New York, I didn't think it would last a month on Broadway. Yet it is playing to capacity, and in its fifth month. Then there's 'The Follies' and 'Down.' I thought it would be a flivver. All the critics planned it. It is playing to capacity audiences, too. How did I know those plays would be big hits? I didn't."

"I guess wrong about as often as I guess right, and it's always a guess except for two or three big musical productions like such as I have mentioned," admitted the little speculator.

Some hundred work people were injured in an explosion at the Du Pont Powder Works, near Bayonne, N.J., on Saturday. The deaths may total five. Only the drying rooms were burned.

Music and Drama

A REAL DIPLOMAT
If President Wilson thinks he is having a tough job with his new army of ten million men, how about the diplomacy and forethought displayed by Adolph Zukor of Paramount, who handles the temporary whims of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, W. S. Hart, Julian Eltinge, Wally Reed, Sessue Hayakawa, Geraldine Farrar, not forgetting the Three Truanis who played hockey from the Triangle, Mack, Dave and Tommy.

SENNETT INSURED
By a special arrangement between the Paramount and the Mack Sennett Film Corporation, the life of Mr. Sennett has been insured for $250,000.

All the new Paramount-Mack Sennett comedies are made under Mr. Sennett's personal supervision from the minute the germ of the comedy idea is brought into being until the finished picture is turned out to the exhibitor.

Modern business policy is to guard against the loss that might result from the death of the leader whose personality dominates any institution.

THREE GENERATIONS
Three generations of one family in a single wonderplay is believed to establish a record in the world of motion pictures. It is not unusual for two generations of a family to be represented in the same picture, but three generations is unusual. In "Life's Whirlpool," the forthcoming Metro wonderplay in which Ethel Barrymore is starred, Electa Drouant, Hazel Drouant and Richard Orr are cast. Hazel Drouant is the mother of three-year-old Richard Orr, whose artistic work in this Metro wonderplay caused Lionel Barrymore, the director and a man with unlimited stage and screen experience, to predict an exceptionally bright future for him.

REISSUE HUNNY PILMS
To perpetuate the memory of the man who made millions laugh, and provide further happiness for those who never knew John Bunny, Vitaphone will reissue shortly a number of the most successful of the hundred odd comedies made during the famous actor's career.

The National Live Stock Shippers' Protective League has memorialized President Wilson to put skilled farm labor outside the scope of the draft in order to keep food production unimpaired.

(From Tuesday's Daily.) Had she schemed deliberately to strike him dumb in consternation, her success must have afforded Sally intense satisfaction. Since she hadn't, her personal consternation was manifestly so overpowering as to numb her sense of appreciation. So that for the period of a long minute neither of them moved nor spoke, but remained each with a blank countenance reflecting a witness mind, hypnotized by the stupefaction of the other.

Then perhaps a shade the quicker to recover, Sally fancied that her victim's jaw had slackened a bit and his color faded perceptibly; and with this encouragement she became herself again, collected, aggressive, confronting him undaunted, before recognition dawned upon Blue Serge, and, with it, some amused appreciation of her effrontery. Even so, his first essay at response was nothing more formidable than a stammered "I beg your pardon?"

She explained with absolute composure: "I said, take both rooms, please. I'm going to Boston, too." "Oh!" he replied stupidly. She nodded with determination and glanced significantly aside, with a little toss of her head, toward the middle of the lobby.

"There's a central office man over there," she observed obliquely, displaying considerable uncertainty as to what a central office man really was and why. "There is!" "If you go to Boston, I go," she persisted stolidly.

His countenance darkened transiently with distrust or temper. Then a sudden the man was shaken by a spasm of some strange sort—the corners of his mouth twitched, his eyes twinkled, he lifted a quizzical eyebrow, his lips parted.

But whatever retort he may have contemplated was checked by the accents of Authority and the tapping of an imperative pencil on the window-ledge. "Say, I'm busy. Which are you going to take now, de luxe room or—"

"Both!" With the dexterity of a stage conjurer Blue Serge whipped a bill from his pocket and thrust it beneath the wicket, not for an instant deaching his gaze from Sally. "And quick," said he, "I'm in a hurry!"

Granting resentfully, Authority proceeded to issue the reservations, thus affording Sally, constrained to return without a tremor the steadfast regard of her burglar, time to appreciate the lengths to which bravado had committed her. And though she stood her ground without flinching, her cheeks had taken on a hue of bright crimson before Blue Serge, without troubling to verify them, seized the tickets and change and turned squarely to her.

"Now that's settled," he inquired amiably, "what next?" The better to cover her lack of a ready answer, she made believe to consult the mellow orb of the four faced clock that rises above the bureau of information.

"The Owl train leaves when?" she asked with a finely speculative air. "One o'clock." "Then we've got over an hour and a half to wait!" "How about a bite of supper?" The station restaurant is just downstairs—" "Thank you," she agreed with a severe little nod. Lugging his bag, he led the way with the air of one receiving rather than conferring a favor. "Curious how things fall out," he observed cheerfully, "isn't it?" "Yes—" "I mean, your popping up like this just when I was thinking of you. Coincidence, you know?" "Coincidences," Sally informed him conclusively, "are caviar only to book critics. There's nothing more common in real life."

He suffered this instruction with a mildly anguished smile. "That's true, I presume, if one knows anything about real life. I don't go in for realistic novels, you see, so can't say. But you're right one way; it isn't anything extraordinary, come to consider it, that you and I, both headed for Boston, should run into each other here. By the way," he added with a casual air, "speaking of coincidences, it sort of triple-plated this one to have your friend from central office hanging round so handy, didn't it? If he's in sight, why not be a sport and tip me off?"

"I don't see the necessity," Sally returned, biting her lip, "yet." "Not from your point of view, perhaps—from mine, yes. Forewarned is fortunate, you know?" "I dare say." "You won't put me wise?" "Certainly not."

"Well, of course, one can guess why." "Can one?" "Why, forgive me for calling your bluff, it wouldn't be safe, would it? Of course, I'm a sure-enough bad man—and all that. But you must be a bird of my feather, or you wouldn't flock together so unceremoniously."

Sally opened her eyes wide and adopted a wondering drawl known to have been of great service to Miss Lucy Spode: "Why, whatever do you mean?" "Good!" Blue Serge applauded. "Now I know where I stand. That baby stare is the high sign of our fraternity of blackbirds. Only the guilty ever succeed in looking as transparently innocent. Too bad you didn't think of that in time."

"I don't follow you," she said truthfully, beginning to feel that she wasn't figuring to great advantage in his passage of repartee. "I mean, your give-away is calculated to cramp your style; now you can't very well cramp mine, threatening to squeak a bit."

"Oh, can't I?" "No, I know you won't go through with it; not that, is, unless you're willing to face Sing Sing yourself. For that matter, I don't see how you're going to make Boston at all to-night, after that break, unless you go on your own; I don't believe I'm scared enough to stand for being shaken down for your transportation."

He was gaining the whip-hand much too easily. She averted her face to mask a growing trepidation and muttered sullenly: "What makes you think I'm afraid—" "Oh, come!" he chuckled. "I know you hadn't any lawful business in that house, don't I?" "How do you know it?" "Because if you had, I would know we were."

Unwillingly, almost unaware, she had permitted herself to be drawn through the labyrinth of ramps to the very threshold of the restaurant, where, before she could devise any effectual means of reasserting herself, a bland waiter took them in tow and, at Blue Serge's direction, allotted them a table well over to one side of the room, out of ear-shot of their nearest neighbors.

Temporarily too tagged and flustered to react either to the dangers, or to the novelty of this experience, or even to think to any good purpose, Sally dropped mechanically into the chair held for her, wondering as much at herself for accepting the situation as at the masterful creature opposite, earnestly but amiably conferring with the head waiter over the bill of fare.

Courier Recipe Column

CHERRY PIES

Beat the yolks of 3 eggs until light and thick; add 1-2 cup fine granulated sugar and beat again; add 1-3 cup butter, rubbed to a cream and 1-2 teaspoonful of vanilla; bake on a plate lined and bordered with puff paste; bake 1-2 hour in a moderate oven; when done cover with the whites of three eggs beaten stiff and mixed with 1-2 cup powdered sugar and 1 teaspoonful lemon juice; brown slightly and cut white hot, but serve cold.

MOCK MINCE PIES

One cup chopped seeded raisins, 1 cup sour milk, 2-3 cup sugar, one egg, 1 teaspoonful cinnamon, 1-2 nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoonful salt; if you use a coffee cup for measuring you will have three small pies or 2 large ones.

LEMON PIE

One slice of bread one-half inch thick, 1 lemon (juice and rind), 1 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 2 eggs. Cut crust from bread, using only soft part; pour over it the cup of boiling water; drop in butter; stir these until the bread is nicely mixed; add sugar, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon; 2 egg yolks beaten; bake with egg crust; when done make meringue with egg whites and 2 table-spoonfuls of powdered sugar; spread on top and brown.

CHRISTMAS PUDDING

One pound seeded raisins, 1 pound currants, 1-2 pound citron sliced thin, 1 pound suet, 1 carrot, 1 potato grated, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoonful baking powder; flour to make like fruit cake; steam in a large 3-quart mould 5 hours. Sauce—One egg beaten light with 1-2 cup sugar; melt a piece of butter the size of an egg; pour in the sugar and egg; flavor to suit taste; the longer you stir the better.

be going peacefully with the kind policeman instead of being a willing victim of a very pleasant form of blackmail.

Burning with indignation and shivering a bit with fear of the man, she stopped short, midway down the ramp to the "lower level," and momentarily contemplated throwing herself upon his mercy and crawling out of it with whatever grace she might find. His ironic and skeptical smile provoked her beyond discretion.

"Oh, very well!" she said ominously, turning, "if that's the way you feel about it, we may as well have this thing over." And she made as if to go back the way she had come; but his hand fell upon her arm with a touch at once light and imperative.

"Steady!" he counseled quietly. "This is no place for either bickering or barefacedness. You mustn't take things so much to heart. I was only making fun, and you deserved as much for your cheek, you know. Otherwise, there's no harm done. If you have or to go to Boston, go you shall, and no thanks to me. Even if I do yap the bill, I owe you a heap more than I'll ever be able to repay, chances are. So take it easy, and I say, do brace up and make a bluff, at least, of being on speaking terms. I'm not a bad sort, but I'm going to stick to you like grim death to a sick dorky's bedside until we know each other better. That's flat, and you may as well resign yourself to it. And here we are."

Unwillingly, almost unaware, she had permitted herself to be drawn through the labyrinth of ramps to the very threshold of the restaurant, where, before she could devise any effectual means of reasserting herself, a bland waiter took them in tow and, at Blue Serge's direction, allotted them a table well over to one side of the room, out of ear-shot of their nearest neighbors.

Temporarily too tagged and flustered to react either to the dangers, or to the novelty of this experience, or even to think to any good purpose, Sally dropped mechanically into the chair held for her, wondering as much at herself for accepting the situation as at the masterful creature opposite, earnestly but amiably conferring with the head waiter over the bill of fare.

Surely a strange sort of criminal, she thought, with his humor and ready address, his sudden shifts from slang of the street to phrases chosen with a discriminating taste in English, his cool indifference to her threatening attitude, and his paradoxical pose of warm—it seemed—personal interest in and consideration for a complete and, to say the least, a very questionable stranger.

She even went so far as to admit that she might find him very likable, if only it were not for that affixed little mustache and that semi-occasional trick he practised of looking down his nose when he talked. On the other hand, one assumed, all criminals must seem strange types to the amateur observer. Come to think of it, she had never considered to measure this man by, and knew no law that prescribed for such as he either dress clothing with an inventiveness and a mask of polished imperturbability, or else a pea-jacket, a pug-nose, a cauliflower ear, with bow legs and a rolling gait. "There, I fancy that will do. But hurry it along, please." "Very good, sir—immediately." The head waiter ambled off, and Blue Serge faced Sally with an odd, illegible smile. SIDE TALKS

BY RUTH YOUNG CAMERON

SO FORTUNE.

There are some people in this world who seem to think that what anyone is in the beginning he should continue to be all his life, and to hold any improvement up against him as "putting on airs." I am thinking especially of the case of a young woman who by dint of hard work keen observation and a determined will to rise, has lifted herself to a position where she commands the society of people of breeding and standing.

She began as a girl in a factory. She hated the work and managed to educate herself in stenography. From that she rose to an important secretarial position. She read, studied, associated with refined people, and naturally she has acquired a different manner and point of view.

"Wants Us to Call Her 'Ann'" You would think her people would rejoice in the improvement. But no. The other day her sister was speaking of her. "It makes me laugh," she said, "to see the way Annie puts on airs. Talks just so and goes about with all those high-brow people, and wants to live the way they do. Doesn't even like her name any more, wants to call her ANN. I can't bear to see people putting on airs that way. Why she was only a girl in a factory just a few years ago. I suppose she has forgotten all about that."

Why shouldn't she forget? Poor Ann! Why shouldn't she forget? She hated it enough. And she certainly has earned the right to!

"I don't mean forget in the sense of growing narrow and unsympathetic and critical. I know that people who have risen do sometimes criticize and look down upon their own. In that case you cannot blame those who are criticizing for resenting that treatment and calling it putting on airs. That's just what it is, for any breeding that will act like that is not real breeding, but just put on."

"She Is Now a Social Leader" Another case of which I often think is that of a fine looking, gracious mannered woman who is one of the social leaders in the delightful little town in which she lives. And yet I cannot tell you how many times I have heard new comers informed "Yes, she puts on airs now but she was only a housework girl when he married her."

Of course it's human nature to re-venge oneself for other people's successes by such criticism. Death is not the only one who loves a shining mark. But it's so unworthy, so ugly, so picaresque, that I should think people would hate to soil themselves by it.

ing place, so he scooted from the wall and turned toward home, Red Fox at his heels. Billy just had time to enter his doorway when he heard Red Fox shut his teeth with a snap. "Almost had my tail!" said Billy to himself. "Flip! Flip!" went the dirt from Billy's front door, and Billy held his breath.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Why didn't I finish my back door before I went to play! Now there's no way to escape!" cried Billy, and he crouched in the corner of the storeroom. "Ha! Ha! That chipmunk is far away by now, as they always build their homes with two doors. He's probably over in the meadow by now laughing at you, foolish fox," cried Mrs. Blue Jay from the branch of a tree.

"That's so, I forgot," said Red Fox, and he trotted off toward the woods. When all was quiet Billy began with all haste to dig out his back hall and doorway. He was very tired and hungry, but he turned around when it was finished and began to clear away the dirt Red Fox had thrown in the front way, and when at last Billy reached the top the old moon blinked at him from above. The next day Billy was out before any of his friends.

"Good morning, Billy," called Mrs. Blue Jay, "you're up early this morning."

"Yes, indeed," answered Billy, his mouth full of nuts, "and I mean to be full of that storeroom is full of food. If you hadn't reminded Red Fox of my back door, he'd have dug me out, and that would have been the end of me so from now on I'll follow your advice." "Work first—then play." From that day Billy was the first to rise and the last to bed in that section of the woods, and when the cold winter days fell upon Chipmunkville, Billy's storeroom was crammed full of nuts.

Good Night Stories

BY ALMA SUTHERLAND

"WORK BEFORE PLAY." Billy Chipmunk worked hard until his front hall and storeroom were completed. "The back hall and entrance can wait. It's too lovely a day to waste it working so hard," said Billy to himself, and he ran out into the beautiful sunshine and shook the dirt from his coat.

"Finished your place so soon?" asked Mrs. Blue Jay. "No, not yet, but the day is so lovely I stopped to play a while," answered Billy. "Better hurry, for they tell me the winter will be hard and long. Fill your storerooms first, then play," said Mrs. Blue Jay, as she flew away.

Billy laughed and ran down the road to join his friends. "Work today and play tomorrow," said the wise old squirrel, filling his cheeks with nuts. "There's plenty of time and the day's so lovely!" cried Billy, and he darted after a dead leaf that the wind carried over the fields, his companions at his heels.

When the wind died, one little chipmunk darted for his home and disappeared through the doorway—all save Billy! His home was so far away that he ran into a crack of an old stone wall and peeked out to see what had caused the scare. His little heart almost stood still when he saw Red Fox stick his nose from under a bush near by. Billy knew that he wasn't safe from Mr. Red Fox in his present hiding place.

GIRLS' DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

Nowadays it is a difficult thing to distinguish between the styles for youngsters and those for grownups, for simplicity is the keynote for both. In the attractive little dress, No. 8372, the panel front, which gradually widens to form the very new pockets, has good lines for the growing girl. If the dress is made so that it can be opened all the way down the front it will be easier to launder. The back hangs straight from the shoulders, and a slash of the trimming material comes from the front panel and lies loosely at the back. A good looking pointed collar finishes the neck. The matter of sleeves is left to the preference of the young wearer, as long and short ones are both offered.

Refresh and Refreshing SALADA is composed of clean, whole young leaves. Picked right, blended right and packed right. It brings the fragrance of an Eastern garden to your table. BLACK, MIXED OR GREEN

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN HOME

WEST LAND REGULATIONS
The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be a British subject or a subject of an allied or neutral country, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion Land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Entries—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of these years.

Certain districts a homesteader may secure an adjoining quarter-section as a 50 acre extra. May obtain pre-emption patent as soon as homesteaded patent is obtained. A settler after obtaining homesteaded patent, if he cannot secure a pre-emption patent, may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three consecutive 50 acre and erect a house worth $500.00.

Holders of entries may count time of employment as farm laborers in Canada during 1917 as residence duties under certain conditions.

When Dominion Lands are advertised or posted for entry, returned soldiers who have served overseas and have been honorably discharged, receive one day priority in applying for entry at local Agency's Office—Entries will be made on Discharge papers must be presented to Agent.

W. W. CORRY, Deputy Minister of the Interior. N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be held for.

BUILDING A RAILROAD ON THE WAR FRONT

Work of Canadian Construction Units in France of Incalculable Value To The Armies; Not Like Work on a Transcontinental Line

War Correspondents' Headquarters, France, Aug. 1.—(By mail)—Building a military railway is not like constructing a transcontinental. You don't quite know what the route will be, and your right of way has to be purchased with blood and shells. But you have to make a road bed and string rails just as swiftly perhaps more so, for the penalty clause in the contract is defeat.

I couldn't find the colonel of the Canadian railway battalion I visited. He was somewhere out in front among the field ambulances where disgruntled German shells were still bursting, locating the grade for his next section, through the quagmire of a much fought-over No Man's Land. But the adjutant was there, in-a-battered estimant which had been built yesterday, an advanced dressing station. His painter—they carry painters and divers too—had changed the Red Cross symbol into the sign that means Canadian Railway Construction Corps, and which has a Canadian brigadier whose name is a textbook in railway construction at its best. The adjutant had his hand on the telephone and he was asking how his trains of material were coming along.

When you at home read that "the guns were being brought up satisfactorily," that there "has been heavy rains all day," you picture struggling teams of horses dragging batteries into advanced positions. There are some of these old pictures of the war left, but they are few and far between. Sometimes the gun and ammunition have to take the muddy streaks, but if luck is the least with us now they go over well planked roads where hauling is fairly light, and by the time the roads are getting nearly worn of the traffic the railway is there. We learned the value of lumber and railways at the Somme.

On a huge stand, such as you might see at the draughtsman's office at railhead on construction at home, there was a large scale map of what was called "Germany in Flanders." There are blue and red lines which began behind our old trenches and end nowhere—perhaps on the Rhine. There are the standard gauge and the light railways, and they are wanted quickly. Already this particular two thousand yards of advance had been plotted out with little stakes and tapes and marked off. The staff captain of heavy artillery was putting the finishing touches to the plan. He had worked with the Canadian adjutant before they both knew what speed and what was easier to build a spur for a twelve-inch howitzer a few yards farther east, the gunner saved the bulker the concession and phone back to get his ranges corrected accordingly. If the gun had to go to that particular spot this Toronto captain would put on another hundred men for the job and build through the crater. There was no argument. Each knew the other knew his job.

Some of the material was already up. British labor parties under the direction of a Canadian major who had worked gangs on the prairies and in the western mountains were out in the shell-pocked area making the first thousand yard grade. The new railroad which had been advanced from yesterday was fast filling up with metals, spikes, bolts and ties. There were just enough for the length to be built. Right and left hand switches were labelled for the stations and gun spurs where they would be laid. The junctions and station were symmetrical, named after the places, big and little, in the Dominion, where they were torn up months ago and cast into this melting-pot of the empire's war. Am not giving the names that are on the map, but don't be surprised if to-morrow or this week you hear that this new Regina, or Lethbridge, or even Ottawa has been shelled. There will be a good eight or twelve, perhaps fifteen-inch howitzer to give an account of itself there.
