PLAINTIFF IN GAS CASE

Was Given Judgment at the Non-Jury Court.

Judge Spoke of the Alleged Tampering With Meter.

Several Cases Postponed Until Next Sitting of Court.

When the non-jury sittings of the High Court reopened yesterday aftercon at 2.15, the action of the Ontario Pipe Line Co. vs. Simpson Brick Co. was resumed. P. V. Byrnes, manager of the Pipe Line Co., was first called and swore that Simpson Company was slow in paying, and after a dispute about the in paying, and after a dispute about the amount of gas which defendants were charged with, he allowed a reduction of 200,000 feet, which was pure loss to the gas company. During the months of September and October, 1906, the charge per thousand feet had been 20 cents. In November the price had been raised to 25 cents. As against the defendants' claim that they had changed their plant and arranged to burn their brick with gas, on the understanding that they were to be supplied with it at 20 cents per thousand, he said that the contract expired on November 1st, 1906. Mr. Elliott, of the Manufacturers' Natural Gas gas, on the understanding what they were to be supplied with it at 20 cents per thousand, he said that the contract expired on November 1st, 1906. Mr. Elliott, of the Manufacturers' Natural Gas Co., from whom plaintiffs borrowed the meter in question, said that the meter was in proper order when he loaned it. The tally had been tested, and the Government seal put on. It was one of the most accurate meters on the market, and when this meter was returned to him the 'ally part was still sealed, nor was there anything to indicate that the seal had been tampered with. When it came back to him it was quite dirty and for this reason would tally about 17 per cent less than when in proper condition. The Judge here asked: "What would make the meter go too fast?" He replied that it cord only be done by breaking the seal and tampering with the indicator. It had been inspected and found to be all right, with the exception of some dirt, when it was returned to him, and he had been present at that inspection. Mr. Thompson, an employee of the Brick Co., was then called. He said that he found that the average cost of gas for burning 1,000 of brick would be about $1, and that this was what gas cost them for that purpose from the 1st of January, 1907, until May, 1908. The last kiln they burned up till June 5th, 1908, cast them for that purpose from the 1st of January, 1907, until May, 1908. The last kiln they burned up till June 5th, 1908, and discovered on that morning that Carruthers had tampered with the meter. He said he had seen Mr. Byrnes sked him to enclose the meters, who asked him to enclose the meters and lock it with a padlock and to give bim the key, so that no one but he could see the meter. ABOUT NEW PRESIDENT

Sketch of Rev. W. J. Smith Who Is Coming to Hamilton.

Rev. W. J. Smith, the new President of Hamilton Conference, who has been pastor of Dublin Street Church, Guelph, during the past four years, and who comes to Charlton Avenue Church after the present conference, was born in present conference, was born in spector Mainthville, Ont., the son of Rev. Philander Smith, who was the second son of Dr. Philander Smith, a bishop in the fermer M. E. Church in this country. Beginning his probation in 1884, he was ordained to the ministry in 1891, having graduated from Victoria University. He spent two years as junior pastor to Rev. Dr. J. V. Smith, at the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, after which he was stationed at the Centennial, Agnes and Yonge Street Churches, Toronto, for a period of eight years. He spent two years as junior pastor to Rev. Dr. J. V. Smith, at the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, after which he was stationed at the Centennial, Agnes and Yonge Street Churches, Toronto, for a period of eight years. The next station was Colborne Street Church, Brantford, where, after a four-year pastorate, he went to Dublin Street Church, Guelph, from which he is now to go to Charlton Avenue, Hamilton. For the past four years he has been chairman of the Guelph district, and in 1809 was secretary of the Toronto Conference. Personally Mr. Smith is a most genial and popular man, whose social qualities have given him a distinct standing in pastoral work. One of his rare gifts is the faculty of recalling names. Once introduced to a person he never forgets the name, and can bring it to mind at any moment without the slightest difficulty. As a preacher, Mr. Smith is scholarly, eloquent and forceful, and is accounted as one of the strongest all-round men in the conference. His training will give him a splendid insight into conference matters, and he should make an ideal presiding officer.

SETTLEMENT OF THE PROCTOR CASE.

Parties Getting Together and an Early Conclusion Seems in Sight.

The action to establish the will of the late John Proctor, whose estate amounted to $225,000, opened this morning before Justice McMahon. When court adjourned for luncheon at 1 o'clock it ooked very much as if a settlement would be brought about. The will left by Mr. Proctor, which was in favor of his second wife and her family, was attacked on the ground of undue influence An attempt was also made to set up a will made by his first wife, in which it is said she left all she had to her husband, with the understanding that he would divide it equally, at his death, between their children.

Mr. D'Arcy Martin, K. C., was first called, and swore he had known Mr. Proctor, also his children, Charles, George and James, by the first wife. He had acted for Mr. Proctor on several occasions during the last two years of

The action to establish the will of the ate John Proctor, whose estate amount of the $225,000, opened this morning between the state of the second than the second that the se made in 1892. He knew nothing of the contents of the will of 1905 at the time it was drawn. Mr. Bruce drew up that will. Mr. Proctor's condition in 1905, when he made the will, was all right mentally. He transacted his own business. Some letters were read to show that his condition was all right at that time. Mr. Proctor had wanted his will changed, and Mr. Martin was called in the making of the alterations, the sugchanged, and Mr. Martin was called in the making of the alterations, the sug-gestion being made by Mr. Proctor him-self. In his dealings he was keen and sharp; anyone who got ahead of him would have to get up early in the morn-ing. Being cross-examined by Mr. Nes-bitt, witness said Mr. Proctor forgot sometimes where he put things, but beyond that appeared mentally sound.

Mr. Blackstock further asked the witness some questions relating to his dealings with deceased.

Mr. Proctor, so far as he knew, had ings with deceased.

Mr. Proctor, so far as he knew, had not been accustomed to discuss the question of his will with his wife and children. He considered that Mr. Proctor's discussions on business were intelligent.

The judge in adjourning the court intimated that the counsel might get together and settle the matter, as it was a family affair.

Mr. Blackstock addressed the court and explained that such suggestions from the bench were always right, but in this case the breach of friendship between the parties concerned had been greatly widened by the odious charges made by the family of the first wife. This was a grave charge and interposed a barrier to His Lordship's suggestion. The estate was a mere bagatelle, compared with what it was thought to be, and all arrangements centred about the home. Mrs. Proctor had had the duty of keeping this home with an income which was utterly indecented to its of the second of home. Mrs. Proctor had had the duty of keeping this home with an income which was utterly inadequate to its obligations. He viewed with great regret this dispute in particular, because of the good feeling which had existed between them in former years, and he hoped for a reapproachment. The difficulty in settlement was because of these charges made against her husband. Justice McMahon asked if these were insuperable.

Mr. Blackstock replied that he hoped not, but they were a serious interference.

After some discussion of the matter by counsels, the plaintiff agreed to pay defendants the sum of $8,500, in consideration of which defendants are to withdraw all allegations against Mr. and Mrs. Proctor. The division of $8,500 among defendants to be made by coun-contain a wealth of interest for Hamilton Masons. It was there, over 60 years ago, that The Barton Lodge, No. 6, met, and where the Grand Secretary and the Grand Treasurer had their offices. It is rather strange that no mention is made of this in the official history of the lodge, which goes back 108 years. Twenty years ago Richard Bull read a paper on reminiscences of the early days of Barton Lodge and made mention of it meeting at the old houses, which were at that time 6 and 8 MacNab street south. Some of the brethren who heard this paper have been curious to inspect the old houses, but no opportunity presented itself until they became vacant recontly. Yesterday the Grand Secretary, R. L. Gunn, and C. D. Blachford made an inspection and this morning Mr. I Blachford piloted a Times reporter over If Mr. Robinson is not kicking, why should Trustee Holden object to Mr. Kinrade's arrangement with the former gentleman? January the printers of the city asked for a revision of the scale of wages. The Times and Herald negotiated and came to an amicable settlement, and the new scale took effect the first of the year. NOTHING WORTHY OF REPLY FROM HIM.

Mayor McLaren Sizes Up Ex-Mayor Stewart and His Frantic Hudro Campaign.

Hall from the Hydro people which I am prepared to show anyone, at any ments as to cost. It is for the people to decide between a practically unani-mous council which has investigated both sides and the vaporing of a man irresponsible to the ratepayers."

That was all Mayor McLaren has to say this morning when asked if he intended replying to the attack on him by Ex-Mayor Stewart at the power eting last night. That the people are being misled by the Hydro advoactes as to the price of Niagara power his Worship is prepared to prove by this commission's own figures, under its own signature, suppled to the city. They show that $8,523 is set saide for line loss. The price of power is $9.40 at Niagara. If the city took 750 horsepower as it proposed doing this amount divided into the amount set aside for line loss and maintenance adds $1.30 to each horse power, making the cost of Hydro power to the people of Hamilton $20.70 per horse power. This does not include anything for line loss, maintenance or other cost in connection with the city's line from the Dundas switching station to the Beach nor does it include transformers at the Beach.

The ex-mayor's sudden appearance in the limelight again and his attacks on Mayor McLaren have given rise to a report that he may enter the municipal field again and oppose Mayor McLaren next year. His friends say that sitting on the back benness at Ottawa does not appeal to the member from West Hamilton and that he would personally prefer being in the thick of municipal strife. Mr. Stewart smiled at the idea this morning but intimated that he was done Stewart smiled at the idea this morning but intimated that he was done with municipal affairs for some time with municipal affairs for some time at any rate. Councillar recovered this morning. Councillar Frank Hill and family were driving to the beach to spend the day, and were going along Crescent Beach road when they noticed a body floating in the water. Mr. Hill descended and went to the edge of the lake to make sure that it was the remains of a human being, and then getting the assistance of two of the neighbors, the body was drawn on shore and taken to the house of George Corman, who lives nearby. Coroner Thompson, of Stoney Creek, was then notified. William Maguire, son of the deceased, was got into communication with, and a short time after the remains were removed to A. H. Dodsworth's private morgue.

were removed to A. H. Dodsworth's private morgue.

The body was found in almost the spot in which Mr. Maguire entered the water, and was in a fair state of preservation considering the length of time it has been there. By many it was thought that Mr. Maguire had not committed suicide, and that the note left by him was merely a blind. This opinion was made much stronger when a commercial traveller returned to this city yesterday from the west, and said that he had seen Mr. Maguire at Fort Willliam a week ago. Of course it was a maner in which the singing was done Blachford piloted a Times reporter over the ground and pointed out the little wickets, which still remain, in the doors at the head of the narrow stairs. The old lodge room, which occupied the entire second floor of the two buildings, has since been divided, making two houses. REFERRED TO COMMISSION.

Status of Queen's Will be Reported on Next Year.

An Interesting Debate Was Concluded This Morning.

To-night's Meeting and Assembly Church Sunday Services.

At the General Assembly meeting Professor Dyde had the floor this morning. He secured the assent of the mover and seconder of the amendment on the Queen's University question to have it definitely stated that the commission, when appointed, would be forbidden to enter upon matters closed at last assembly. He argued that the constitutional tie was the main thing, and did not even grant the change in the denominal test for president of the university. The canvass for endowment was not dead, only delayed,

Dr. John Pringle, of Dawson City fame, but now of Sydney, said that the attempt to bolster up a denominal university would interfere with any agitation against separate schools. It is a bad principle to fall under and a backward magnetic and the second of the sec tion against separate schools. It is a back-bad principle to fall under and a cockward movement.

Rev. James Rollins, of London, said the idea was that separation would be of national character. It really amounted to a Provincial university squabble where three different centres are pull-ing poltical influence for their own in-stitution.

Principal Patrick favored the motion.

Principal Patrick favored the motion. The amendment virtually made a commission a farce. Their hands would be tied. It meant that this Assembly would appoint men to it and then not have confidence in them to deal with the whole question.

Principal Gordon closed the debate in a calm and clear explanatory speech, and the vote was called. The amendment stood 65 for and 143 against. Then the motion was put with 179 in its favor, and none rose in opposition.

The debate occupied almost the whole morning. The other item was a fine little incident.

A Love Affair

He was going hurriedly down the stairs, two at a time, when he met a girl coming up. She made way for him to pass, and he did the same for her, when suddenly it seemed that he had seen her before, and at some other place than this hotel; and she, glancing up at his face, uttered a faint cry. He stopped,

"You know me?" he said.
"Yes, my lord," 'said Mary, respect-

"When did you come?"

"The day before yesterday, my lord," said Mary, with another upward, anxious glance to the room in which Cou-ance sat.

"So lately! Then, tell me, how are the arquis and—Miss Grahame?"

marquis and—Miss Grahame?"
"Oh, my lord!" she faltered.
"What do you mean?" he demanded.
"Is anything wrong Has anything happened? Speak out, my good girl."
"Oh, my lord, I can't tell you!"
"You will have to," he said, with a touch of Wolfe's grimness. "Come, what is it Has—has anything happened to Miss Grahame!"

"Oh, my lord, you were a friend of hers, I know"—he colored—"and you'd help her! My lord, she's here!"
"Here! Where? In this hotel?"
"Yes, my lord," and she pointed upstairs. "My poor mistress is here, and in dreadful trouble."

"My God!" he exclaimed. "Then—then, it is true"
"I must see her," he said, below his breath.

"Oh, my lord, what will she say when the knows that I have told you?"
"I must see her. There may be some

"There's no hope of changing her mind, my lord," seh said, sadly. "I don't know why she has done it! I only know that she hates him; and yet she's left the marquis for him. My lord, if you think I'm not speaking the truth, you shall see her. If you come to the door, just to the door," she went on, in a hushed voice, "you can see her. You will not speak to her, my lord."
"She's asleep, worn out," she whispered. "Come and see for yourself whether she is happy or not."
The tears rose to his eyes that were no shame to his manhood.
"Come away, my lord," whispered Mary, fearfully; 'he may come in and find you."

"Where is he?" he demanded. "Let me see him."

Mary went to the window overlooking the pier, and pointed out Rawson Fenton, sitting now on one of the bulkheads, his arms folded, a cigar in his As he went down the stairs and into As no went down the statis and into the street his sole intention was to seize Rawson Fenton by the throat and thrash him within an inch of his life; but as he approached the man, and look-ed at his pale face with its sinister cunning and resoluteness, he changed his mind.

He stopped dead short, looking at Rawson Fenton hungrily, his hands itching; and as he looked, Fenton rose and addressed the captain of the steamship, who was passing.

"You leave at nine to-morrow, captain?" he said. "Yes, sir," replied the captain. "Are you the gentleman that's booked three berths?"

"Yes," said Rawson Fenton. "Very good, sir. Yes, we shall be punctual, and I think we shall have a fairish passage ,considering the time of

At half-past eight the following morning, the smoke rising from the steamer and the air of bustle on the pier proclaimed that she was about to take her departure.
An hour before, Rawson Fenton had been on board, and inspected the ar-rangements which had been made for his party.

He went up the stairs and knocked at the door of the sitting-room, and Mary

"Is your mistress ready"
"Nearly," replied Mary.
"Very good," he said.
"Time is up, Constance," he said, "and everything is ready. Come!"
With a sharp catch in her breath, she moved forward, Mary at her side, when Lord Elliot, rendered desperate, sprung up the stairs and knocked at the door.

"I think you are mistaken," he said.
I have reason to believe Miss Grahame And if she be, what business is it

"Miss Grahame cannot see you, my lord," he said.
"I will hear whether she will or not from her own lips."
"Constance—Miss Grahame!" he exclaimed.
Constance took a step forward.
"Miss Grahame, in God's name, what does this mean?" he said, gently, his voice trembling with anxiety and excitement. "Where are you going, and who is this—gentleman?"
Before she could have replied, Rawson Fenton strode in between them.
"Permit me to answer, Lord Elliott," he said, with an ugly sneer. "Permit me to answer for this lady, upon whom you have thrust yourself. She is going to France with me, her affianced husband." Is this true?" Lord Elliott said, still addressing her, and taking no manner of notice of him. "Is it true? Are you indeed going with this man?"
"Yes, it is true. Do—do not think worse of me than—than you can help."
"I can never think anything but well of you. Miss Grahame," he responded, his voice shaking with emotion. "But how is it that I find you here, alone.

of you, Miss Grahame," he responded, his voice shaking with emotion. "But how is it that I find you here, alone, without friends, and—and so unexpectedly?" He could not force himself to say "the day after that on which you were to have married another man."
"I can not—can not explain," she faltered.

tered.

"Tell me this at least," he pleaded, carnestly. "Tell me whether you are going of your own free will."

"You think I am mad, that I am lying." went on Rawson Fenton, wiping the perspiration from his forehead. "Ask him, ask her."

"Let me go, Wolfe!" panted Constance. "Let me go, before it is too late!"

"Now, sir," said Rawson Fenton, malignantly, "you have received an answer murmured."

"That man whom you know as the Marquis of Brakespeare is a thief, a felon, and wanted by the police in Australia. You find it nard to believe? Look at his face. Ask him if he knew Gentleman Jack, the leader of the Rangers."
"Too late—too late now!" broke from her lips.
"Yes it is too late," said Rawson Fenton, with a malignant sneer. "Even Fenton, with a malignant sneer. "Even you can not save him. Oh, cling to him, to your impertinent questions, and I shall be obliged if you will rid us of your unwelcome presence."

With a snarl he raised his hand as if to strike him, but Constance got between them.

"No, no!" she panted. "It is no use, no use! You can do nothing, Lord Elliot! Let me go in peace!"

"Good-day, my lord," he said, over his shoulder. "I wish you as ill success in your next attempt to interfere in matters that do not concern you."

He had reached the door as he spoke, and at this moment there came a sound of quick steps upon the stairs and a hand grasped Rawson Fenton by the stairs and a land grasped Rawson Fenton by the success of the stairs and a hand grasped Rawson Fenton by the success of the succ you will not enjoy the privilege long. A shriek from Constance's white lips, echoed by Mary, and she fell almost lifeless upon Wolfe's breast.

He stood looking around, the fire of an outraged lion in his eyes; and the group stood, while one could count twenty, motionless and seemingly turned to stone.

Then the marquis, with his arm holding Constance tightly, held out his hand

Rawson Fenton had fallen so heavily that he was stunned for a space, then he staggered to his feet, and wiping the blood from the cut on his forehead, which had struck the table, he extended his hand threateningly.

"I—I call you all to witness," he hisser, "I call you all to judge between me and this brute!" He involuntarily took a step forward.

"Keep him out of my reach, Elliot, or I shall kill him," broke from the marquis' lips.

"This man," went on Rawson Fenton, "who steps between me and my wife has no right, no shadow of a right, to do so. Hear her! You shall hear it from her own lips. Constance!" he shall hear it from her own lips. Constance!" groaned the marquis, fighting for self-control.

Lord Elliot stepped up to Fenton and Mary shrieked.

"See here, my man," he said. "Take my advice, and go while you can."
Fenton glared at him for a moment and then at the marquis.

"Constance!" he repeated. "Do you hear me? Tell these—fools—that they have no right to step between us, that you came to me of your own choice. Constance, remember!"

A sorrowful smile passed over the marquis' face. Lord Elliot stared in amazement.

"You see!" said Rawson Fenton, picking up his hat and advancing to Constance. "You hear! Are you satisfied? Let us pass! You—you scoundrel, you will stop us at your peril!"

Lord Elliot leaned against the door; the marquis stretched out his hand to Constance, but she fell on her knees before him.

"Wolfe," she moaned, her eyes dilated with fear and anguish, "let us go. You do not know all! Don't—don't anger him!"

"My poor darling!" he murmured, the veins standing out like whipcords on his forehead. "Do I not know all? We shall see. Have no fear, Constance; you are safe now, safe now.

DROWNED AT CHATHAM

Ife, . Collegiate Institute Student, Not Missed by Companions.

Chatham, June 3.—Thomas Ife, collegiate institute student, aged 16, son of Geo. Ife, of Darrell, was drowned in the Thames this afternoon. In company with four fellow-students he went swimming near the Pere Marquette bridge, swinning across to the south bank, where his companions last saw him alive. Later, when they discovered that he had not returned to school, the alarm was given. Ife's clothes were found still on the bank. Though a good swimmer, he had suffered before from cramps, which are thought to have overtaken him on the return trip. Student, Not Missed by Companions.

McTear, rector of St. John's Church, Bath, to have set aside the will of the deceased, made two days before his death, thirty-two years ago. The ground taken is that religious bodies are not allowed to participate in legacies made within six months of a devisor's death. By the terms of Mr. Thomas' will the use of his farm was given to his brothers till their death. Then the rent or produce from it was to go to the rector of St. John's Church, Bath, in perpetuity. The surviving legate died about a month ago, and steps are now being taken to have the farm go to other heirs. The case will be tried here on June 14 by Justice MacMahon.

WHY THE DECEIT?

The farcical meeting held by the tou-ters for the Ontario Power Company last night in advocacy of the Hydro Electric scheme merits little attention. It was engineered and managed by the same interested busybodies as held forth at the Twentieth Century Club; speakers were mostly the same, and the burden of their speeches was made up abuse that was there made use of. Surely this city has suffered enough from the misfortune of having made Mr. T. J Stewart its Mayor, without having him take advantage of his position to at-His personal abuse of Mayor McLaren and all connected with the exceedingly advantageous bargain made for a supply of electric power may be allowed to pass. The ratepayers of this city may be depended upon to estimate at its pro per value Stewart's tirade, and to dis riminate between the ravings of a defeated and disappointed conspirator against the city, and a public-spirited man dealing with a public matter on business principles for the public bene-But Mr. Stewart owes something to mislead. They have a right to demand of him that he at least show the appearance of respect for truth and the intelligence of the public. Is there anybody who knows Stewart who can read without smiling his statement that the employ him for $10,000 a year? Looking back upon the mismanagement and blundering, not to say worse, of the Stewart municipal regime, is there an intelligent ratepayer who will not laugh as he reads the boast of the smug egotist: "I could be elected Mayor by 80 per cent."?

In his Twentieth Century diatribe he stated that the Cataract Company is now using within 6 per cent. of the capacity of its water supply. That other Hydro-Electric catspaw, Alfred J. Wright, made a similar statement in the precious circular signed by him. Since that time, Stewart, Wright and the public generally, have had the authoritative denial of this story, and have been informed that instead of being within 6 per cent. of exhausting the Company's water capacity, it is not able. Yet, in spite of being possessed of this information, which would have led a man of candor and honest inten tions to make haste to withdraw the untrue and damaging assertions, this man Stewart last night repeated the false assertion! accompanying its repetition with a bitter attack upon Mr.

What think the decent people of Hamilton of a campaign of this sort? Can the motives of the men engaged in it, and using such methods, be of a character to recommend them to the sympathy of an honest public? If the cause which they seek to further requires for its advancement such sup pression of facts, such misrepresentation, and such abuse of the men who are working for the benefit of Hamilton. and to prevent the ratepayers from being misled, is it possible to believe that there would be gain for the ratepayers in lending themselves to Stewart's purpose in binding this city with Hydro-Electric fetters

FOOD FOR FIVE

Men old enough to recall the condition of workingmen in England before the days of Cobden's reform are not enthusiastic for a renewal of protective tariffs. One of them, writing lately to the London Daily News, recalls the "grace before meat," which his father frequently used when everybody ate protected bread. It ran as follows:

"O Heavenly Father, bless us,
And keep us all alive;
There are ten of us to dinner,
And food for only five.

Librarian Hunter reported that 167 ooks had been added to the library by purchase and two by donation. Four teen thousand, six hundred and seventy month, which is three less than the corresponding month of 1908. The cash re responding month of 1908. The cash received from cards and fines amounted to $70.21. From the Barton street branch the amount from the same source was $8.82. The sale of old papers realized $1.10, making a total of $80.13. From this was taken $27.78 for petty expenses, leaving a balance of $52.35, which was deposited with the treasurer. At the Barton street branch 37 books had been added to the library by purchase and 22 by donation. There was an increase in the number of books issued of 945 over the corresponding month in 1908.

During the month 19,597 patrons used cards at the main Library, while 250 were issued at the Barton street branch, making a total of 20,323 books loned during the month.

The library report for the first quarter of this year was then read. By comparing it with that of last year it was seen that the expenses for this year were $288 lower.

Chairman Robert Fearman commented

Chairman Robert Fearman con on the fact that while the main Librar had twenty times as many cards out as the Barton street branch, only eight times as many books were circulated.

THE WHITE MAN.

To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—As a reader of your paper, I would like to say a few words about the strike with the Italians, and about the strike with the Italians, and about the strike. Do you think it right for the Street Railway Company to engage those people, as you know that if there is any trouble those men are the worst on earth, both revolvers and knives. And there are lots of white men walking about. Before Mayor McLarén got his office he was going to do great things. What has he done so far, with nearly six months in his offices. Thank, early six months in his office? ng you for your space, and when the Mayor thinks of Better Hamilton let him think first of the white man.—Ber Smith, 51 MacNah street north.

The militarist craze has got the length of believing, or, where militarism is only protectionism in disguise, has got the length of pretending to believe, that there will be war without assignable cause and without notice where meeting the other day in perfect amity. We deride the panies of ignorant and barbarous ages; but which of those scares showed more fatuous ceredulity than this? Already not a little of the cost of war is being in occurred. The race in building Dreadmonghts implies a waste of the existing warships; and if aeronautics were medically agreed and consent of the people.

STATUS OF QUEEN'S BEFORE ASSEMBLY.

Vigorous Debate in the General Assembly Meeting Yesterday Afternoon on This Question.

The Evening Session Given to Home Missions —Difficulties of the Missionary.

If the Assembly is to go its full Marathon distance, and without doubt that is the course, the pace already set is an unusually "hot one." To dash off the first afternoon, with the Queen's men leading, as was witnessed in the debate on the proposed changed relations to the church, looks as if the Hamilton Assembly of '09 is going to make his seems a little more certain of his ground than when in Winnipeg a year ago, he saw the enemy, not a foreign one, but within the "gates of Queen's" This University with its splendid history has fought its way to victory. It has never been afraid of a struggle yet unhappily the old text has meaning, "A man's fees are they of his own household." It seems to be that from the fountain of rare lovalty to one another, there have sprung up two opposite streams of policy, which have wrestled at the fountain head for mastery and failing, shifts the whirlpool where the friend and stranger alike stand by in sorrow. No one is at liberty to charge the other with having destroyed the harmony of the University or not being a friend of Queen's. It may be mistaken judgment, but not treachery. The whole thing is unfortunate, and the pity is that the problem is not one where the slate might be wiped off and start de novo.

Principal Gordon made out a case for Principal Gordon made out a case for a judge, but both Dr R. Campbell, and especially Mr. G. M. Macdonnell, captured the majority of the jury. As a pleader it would be hard to find the equal of Queen's Principal, either in Parliament or in civil law. He is clear as sunlight, his logic is smooth as an unruffled river, and not a note escapes his lips that is harsh. He makes his points and goes out to face those ready to be thrust against him, usually to either divest their force or remove the edge. His voice drops like honey in sweetness, but deepens and swells with unrivalled power. sweetness, but deepens and swells with unrivalled power. Unfortunately his arguments are pre-

Unfortunately his arguments are presented at a time when, on the one hand sentiment is too keenly alive, to give their cold impartial judgment, and, on the other, when, though many prophets are saying here is light, yet there is none whose vision seems to be the revelation of God.

The resolution was moved by Principal Gordon and seconded by Hon. Edward Brown, late leader of the Opposition in the Manitoba Legislature. It is as follows:

tion in the Manitoba Legislature. It is as follows:

"That the Assembly assent to the removal from the charter of such denominal restrictions as might impede the development of the University, and to appoint a commission to co-operate with the Board of Trustees in regard to such changes in the constitution of the University."

His argument, in brief, was: This re solution has the support not only of the trustees but also of the teaching body, and all other departments of the University. This policy is n accord with its past development, where denomination lines were repeatedly lessened, and national lines substituted. The action of the Assembly at Vancouver, in the light of all its history, is more of an eddy than the direct current. Finally, he asked, does the church really want Queen's? They have the alternative, either of assuming responsibility as never ther of assuming responsibility as never hitherto done, or allowing the trustees who are financially responsivle, to move in the line their wisdom directs.

Hon. E. Brown, with western frank-ness, admitted that when he first was called upon to confer in the settlement he had certain convictions which the facts of the case have forced him change. He now is converted to the posi-tion taken by Dr. Gordon.

There was a lull in the debate, and the Moderator asked, Are you ready for the

Dr. R. Campbell had been sitting curled up as if his great mental endowment was focussed upon a very serious resolve. Here is a born debater. Long practice with exact work upon the minute book, the minute book, the minute book and the corrections. shows in the absolute correctness of statements he demands of an opponent. His manner is exceedingly attractive, and he knows when to be frank, blunt and "meet you at Phillipi." He said in one sentence, the bald truth as the case one sentence, the baid truth as the case stands for the opposition, "I am ready to go into that commission, but with the understanding that the door is shut, where the Assembly nailed it last year in Winnipeg. I shall not re-open the question of the charges in the charter as proposed."

From the body of the church a thun-From the body of the church a thun-derous voice was heard, and every eye turned to Dr. Armstrong, who claimed simply to have a question to ask. But he had to take the rostrum. For blunt statement and severe scrutiny this Ot-tawa father and ex-Moderator has a record of his own. His question, whether, since the presbyteries were asked to consider the attitude of the Assembly to consider the attitude of the Assembly in retaining Queen's, it would not bt a wise thing to hand this resolution down to them for their judgment. Having been presented, he said very briefly what his views were. "The church may be very glad some day that we have this university; at any rate I do not think that we should bow down before any Carneie-god."

quickened from that illustrious acquaintanceship, and unhappily let fall the term
"a dead parchment." He said: "I have been twelve years a servant of the Canadian church and I do not think I ever occupied twenty minutes of the Assembly's time. Whatever else Mr.
Carnegie may believe, I know his life stands for peace, humanity and education. As Joseph Chamberlain used to say, 'There is none in all practical affairs'. Dr. Campbell refers to the attitude of the trustees as being paradoxical; it may be so, for life contains such in all her opposites. Here we have two contrasts—a dead parchment and an actual life. Which is to dominate?"

Dr. John Hay, of Pembroke, is a

Dr. John Hay, of Pembroke, is a Queen's graduate and too Lowland Scotch to build "his castles in the air." He favored the resolution of the trustees. He said that it conserves everything and gives more time.

For several minutes the whole house gave round after round of applause. The speaker was too serious to notice that, he had "made a great hit," but twisted and side stepped to carry on the fight. "And to throw all this away for a united Canada! The things we have loved for sixty years to go with a wave of the hand because some gentlemen say, Come now, brethren, we must evolute!"

up the platform steps it looked more like a statue where only the massive head occupied the pedestal, and thus ever in danger of "centre of gravity." Naturally he quoted Joseph Chamber-lain, and possibly revealed a power quickened from that illustrious acquaint-anceshin, and unhappily let fall the term thing and gives more time. Mr. J. K. Macdonald, of Toronto, thought that there were difficulties facing the university and that the Assembly should speedily seek to remove them. Mr. G. M. Macdonnell, K. C., of Kingston, had passed a restless hour. He had a humble seat in the synagogue among a few tired commissioners due among a few tired commissioners, due to the heat of the day and the long jourto the heat of the day and the long jour-neys to the Assembly. But this nervous organism, as strange and rich a piece of of nature as one will see in a "day's march," was not asleep. It is said that great occasions are rather his delight. To see him quiet in his seat there is a strong resemblance to the late Principal Caven, but he is not often at rest. He is a "fighter," and had grace not won him for the good fight of the Christian, he would have been "terrible." On the him for the good fight of the Christian, he would have been "terrible." On the he would have been "terrible." On the platform he only really begins to speak then some sharp wit is foolish enough to hackle him. Then look out; the challenge goes like a flash, his intense soul springs to the line, and a bonnier knight seldom gave more gallant battle. "They call it development or evolution—both bad terms. "I shall use another, environment. Even this does not suit my friend Dr. Sedgwick, and I shall use a fourth, "spiritual atmosphere." Did this charter not have something to do in making the spiritual atmosphere of Queen's See our arts and science and medicine, under a charter which says such and such shall be members of the Presbyterian Church. Was there no spiritual atmosphere? And has a dead parchment created this?"

For several minutes the whole house

THE EVENING SESSION.

In the evening the assembly took up he subject of home missions. Rev. Dr. E. D. McLaren presented the report of the Home Mission Committee for the western section, and moved a resolution western section, and moved a resolution receiving the report, expressing great disappointment at the inadequacy of the church's contribution towards home missions, and expressing the earnest hope that the revenue for the current year would prove amply sufficient for the growing needs of the work. Dr. McLaren made a stirring appeal to the church to do its duty for home missions.

The port, while acknowledging with profound gratitude the progress that has taken place under their supervision, noted "the inadequate provision made by the church during the past year for the prosecution of this vitally important work. They estimated that the work which required to be undertaken would involve an outlay of $186,000; and, with the sanction of the assembly, they appealed to the church for this amount. Because of the impossibility of securing a sufficient number of missionaries to occupy all the fields in which service should have been given, the actual expenditure amounted to only $170,712.99, but the total contributions to the home mission fund fell short of even this diminished expenditure by to the home mission fund fell short of even this diminished expenditure by $13,979.10, the amount contributed (in-$13,979.10, the amount contributed (including the balance from the preceding year) being only $156,733.89. But as the splendid records of the church in the field of home missions was recalled, and as the increasing religious needs of a rapidly developing country were dwelt upon, the conviction was forced upon the committee that nothing short of the prospect of immediate bankruptcy would justify the adoption of a policy of retrenhment. It was accordingly decided to draw upon the reserve fund for the deficit in last year's contributions, and to appeal both to the piety and to the patriotism of the church for the amount it will be necessary to expend during the current year, if the highest interests of the country are to be safeguarded and if the Prespyterian Church is to maintain the reputation she has secured by thirty years' aggressive effort in the field of home missions—the reputation of being the most forceful and influential factor in the moulding of the national life of western Canada. Mr. W. THE RECORD REPORT.

The report of Rev. Dr. Scott, editor and manager of the Presbyterian Record, showed that there were printed during the year 60,000 copies monthly, a total for the year of nearly three-quarters of a million copies, and that there was a financial balance at the end of the year of $12,875. The report was adopted.

Theatregoers to-morrow afternoon and evening will have the last opportunity of seeing Alice Lloyd, the English comedienne and the greatest vaudeville star ever brought to Hamilton. If one may judge from the advance sale Miss Lloyd will have good occasion to remember her farewell appearance here, as capacity business is practically assured at both performances. The entire show is unquestionably one of the best seen here since the opening of the season.

NO SUNDAY PERFORMANCE.

NO SUNDAY PERFORMANCE. NO SUNDAY PERFORMANCE.

London, June 3.—The Lord Chamberlain has forbidden a dramatic production by the English Play Society, at Terry's Theatre on Sunday, June 13, on the ground that Sunday performances are contrary to the terms of the theatre's license. The society is one of the private organizations which produce plays privately on Sundays before its members and invited persons.

It is not clear whether the Lord Chamberlain proposes to ban all such per-formances in the future, or whether it is a question of the terms of an indi-vidual license.

It seems that a new clause was re-ently added to the rules governing censes, which forbids Sunday perform-nces without the Lord Chamberlain's special permisison.

ESTATE MEN

Will Help Along the Greater Hamilton Movement.

Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Board of Trade Rooms.

The Association Hears About Playgrounds' Movement.

A largely attended meeting of rea men was held at the Board of Prade rooms yesterday afternoon for the purpose of meeting the officers of Greater Hamilton movemnt.

President Hoodless, in addressing the ting, spoke of the important bearing the association had on all the business interests of Hamilton, and particularly with that of real estate, and said the auccess of the association depended upon the support and co-operation of all citizens. He looked for the assistance of the real estate men, not only in the matter of location for factory sites, but with the information they could furnish of concerns writing them. He suggested a plan to provide the secretary with a full list of available sites, so that when a manufacturer wanted a certain location it could readily be shown him. He also said there would likely be great openings in Hamilton in the near future as a result of the work of the association, and spoke of the concerns that were already in sight, which, if secured, would greatly benefit the real estate business. nterests of Hamilton, and particularly

Frederick W. Watkins, John A. Barr Thos. C. Cochrane, W. E. Burke and others spoke strongly in favor of co-operating with the association, and the following resolution was unanimously

NORTH SHORE.

Ferry Service Will be Begun There To-morrow.

The Hamilton Ferry Company will formally inaugurate its north shore service on Saturday, making regular twohour trips from the new dock at the foo of John street, beginning at 5.20 in the morning, the last boat leaving here at 11 o'clock at night. The run will be to Brown's Wharf, Oaklands Park and Holy Sepulchre cemetery. The company's construction gang is busily engaged today putting the finishing touches on the dock at the cemetery, and within a short time docks will be built at the Powder Magazine, Bay View and Carroll's Point, which will be regular stopping points in connection with the north shore service. Brown's Wharf has been fixed up to accommodate passengers who land there, and a new dock has been built on the shore off Oaklands Park. It is only a short walk from the landing to the park, and this beautiful spot will doubtless be one of Hamilton's favorite pleasure resorts this summer. A number of small parties have arranged to picnic there on morning, the last boat leaving here at parties have arranged to picnic there on Saturday. The service to the Catholic cemetery, too, will be a new feature that will doubtless be appreciated by hundreds of people, who have been inconvenienced for years by having to travel around by road to reach the cemetery. GARDEN PARTY.

Stoney Creek Young Men Gave Good One Last Night.

Pine Crest Literary Society, of Stoney Creek, gave a delightful garden party last evening at the beautiful residence and grounds of Mrs. J. B. Walker, mountain top, Stoney Creek. There were many residents present, as well as quite wd from Hamilton. The night was ideal for the pretty girls and happy young men who thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The Stoney Creek orchestra played a programme of catchy pieces during the evening, and the various booths did profitable business. Mr. Alex. T. Mackie, the well known entertainer, T. Mackie, the well known entertainer, of this city, kept the crowd in a jolly mood by his funny sketches, monologues, etc. The president of the society, Mr. Walter Lee, acted as chairman, and in quite a manly speech explained the object of the gathering. He said that the society was anxious to raise funds to build sheds, and announced that it had made a good start. He welcomed everyone present, and invited any who wished to attend their debates and become a member of the society. At the wished to attend their debates and be-come a member of the society. At the close of the affair Mrs. Walker and her daughters were given the thanks of the company for their extreme kindness and hearty co-operation. The proceeds, it is expected, will amount to about $75. Mr. Fred Pim played the accompaniments very satisfactorily.

The offer was taken up and the pair donned the tights and other Roman regalia and, to make themselves more ridiculous, wore feathers of one of the Indian chiefs. The race was a half-mile affair, and was one of the best seen at the park yet. Both men knew more about driving than they were given credit for, and made the turns with the greatest of case. AS A RATEPAYER SAW IT.

AS A RATEPAYER SAW IT.

To the Editor of the Times:
Sir,—Out of idle curiosity, I dropped into the Savoy Theatre last evening, to hear the merits of the Hydro-Electric and the demerits of the Cataract Power by-laws discussed. The meeting was called to order by the appointment of Mr. John Milne, President of the Conservative Association, to the chair. Behind and around him was an array of talent, all of the Conservative persuasion. The chairman made a brief speech commending the Hydro-Electric scheme to the audience and repudiating any animus against the Cataract Power Company, which, he admitted, had done much for Hamilton. The audience was small but enthusiastic, and was composed of about 125 men, women and children, all apparently enthusiastic supporters of the Hydro-Electric by-law. They had evidently not profited by the 'slogan of Mayor McLaren that "civic government was business, and not politics." The Hon. Mr. Hendrie was the first speaker. was business, and not politics." The Hon. Mr. Hendrie was the first speaker, and made a brief, halting speech. The only point he dwelt on was the fact that the Government was driven to take he Government was driven to take action owing to the large delegation from the western municipalities praying for cheap electric power, but he didn't inti-mate that any delegation went from Hamilton. His speech was eminently fair, but he gave abundant evidence that duty.

The next speaker was the member for West Hamilton in the House of Commons, and, true to his nationality, he proceeded to brandish his shillelah around in great style. The heads he round in great style. The hear acked were Mayor McLaren's Southam's and John Patterson's, or any-body's else that came in the way. Now these gentlemen are all personal friends of mine, and if what he said about them these gentlemen are all personal friends of mine, and if what he said about them is true, I intend to cut their acquaintance until such time as they purge themselves of the serious charges brought against them. He quoted freely from the columns of the Spectator to prove that that journal was not in it with its ancient prototype, Ananias, and the motive he gave for it all was the fact that Mr. Southam owned $130,000 of Cataract Power stock, for which he only paid $28,000, and on which he expected to reap a fabulous sum from the monopoly-ridden electors of Hamilton. After disposing of Mr. Southam, he then introduced Mr. John Patterson, whom he battered around the ring with upper cuts and under cuts until he metaphorically collapsed under a deluge of epithets for untruthfulness which were anything but complimentary.

The animus against John was for writ ing a letter to the newspapers calling in question the veracity of Mr. Stewart's statement at the Twentieth Century Club meeting that the Cataract Power Company would soon be short of water, and that they were now using within 6 per cent. of what they had contracted for from the Government. He repeated the statement again, and gave no less

FRIEND OF KING

John Burns, Oace Socialist Leader, Now Extreme Conservative.

Old Comrades in Red Flag Oratory Most Bitter of His Enemies.

Queer things are happening to John Burns, and they illustrate the old doctrine that there's often nothing so conservative as a revolutionary once he gets firmly into power, says a London cable. The former errand boy in a candle cable. The former errand boy in a candle factory, dock "walloper," and labor leader, who got into jail for spouting red flag oratory in Trafalgar square, has become favorite Minister of the King, and is generally in attendance on him when His Majesty performs any public function in or near London.

It is especially noticeable that when the King inspects or opens any great public work where the expert knowledge of a practical man might be useful to him, Burns is not far from his sovereign's elbow, and it has also become noticeable recently that they are the best of friends.

"Honest John," as he delighted to be ticeable recently that they are the best of friends.

"Honest John," as he delighted to be called in his Socialistic days, also is a familiar figure at all the royal courts and levees, and London society is united in declaring that the President of the Local Government Board in court dress is quite the handsomest member of the Government. In fact, John Burns, ex-Socialist, escorting a duchess to supper at a court ball, is a sight which makes some of the older politicians smile and some of his old associates rage.

SAYS POOR ARE UNDESERVING.

One night he left Buckingham Palace after a ball, buttomed his overcoat tightly over his court uniform, and walked down the Thames embankment to where the Salvation Army was handing out the second court of the salvation Army was handing out the second court in the salvation Army was handing out the second court in the salvation Army was handing out the second court in the salvation Army was handing out the second court in the salvation Army was handing out the salvation army the down the Thames embankment to where the Salvation Army was handing out bread and soup to the derelicts of London. He took his place in the bread line and the next afternoon he exhibited his lump of bread in the House of Commons and declared that half the men who were being fed nightly had come to their present condition through drink and were unworthy of charity. This did not add to his popularity with the Socailists.

In the realm of administration John Burns also has given evidence of the Socalists.

In the realm of administration John Burns also has given evidence of the great change which he has undergone, and there is not one among his old associates who has a good word for him. Even the more radical members of the efficial Labor party declare he is a brake on the wheels of progress, and the Daily News, the organ of the progressive wing of the Libeals, has damned him as a reactionary.

When John Burns was placed at the head of the Local Government Board it was thought he would undoubtedly approve and support the experiments in Socialism which were being made by a number of boards of guardsins and other local authorities. Instead of that he anonunced at the start that he was there to see that the taxpayers' money was not wasted, and he instituted a unmber of investigations which resulted in some of the guardians and councillors going to jail for helping themselves to public funds.

HE DEMANDS CLEARER ACCOUNTS.

Then he disallowed all sorts of bills for experiments about which it could only be said that they were extravaonly be said that they were extravagant; and he insisted on all the local authorities in England adopting a new system of bookkeeping by which he is able to see at a glance the state of their finances, just as a business man can tell how his affairs stand.

In the general meetings of the Cabinet he has become recognized as one of the strongest conservative factors. Cabinet meetings are supposed to be secret, but meetings are supposed to be secret, but Cabinet Ministers will talk, especially Cannet Ministers will talk, especially when they are angry, and I have been informed on high authority that throughout the recent navy crisis Burns was one of the strongest opponents of the "little navy" policy. He stood out for eight Dreadnoughts at once, when other Ministers who are called imperialists were willing to accept the demand of Winston Churchill and Lloyd George that the programme should be George that the programme should be cut down to four.

Of course all this did not endear him Of course all this did not endear man to his old associates, but the worst was yet to come. In the eyes of the English radical the unforgivable sin is to question the omniscience of Parliament and the beneficience of Parliamentary action the beneficience of Parliamentar, as a cure for every ill from which body politic suffers. John Burns been guilty of the unforgivable sin, and to-day he is damned by every radical in

TELLS PARLIAMENT TO GET OUT.

At a meeting the other day he referred to the report of the poor law commission, or, rather, the reports, for there was a majority and a minority report. These documents agreed in only one thing, which was that the present system of caring for England's paupers should be a solished lock, stock and barrel. Burns declared they were both right in that, and then he proceeded to offend the Socialists by declaring that the minority report was a farrago of Socialistic nonsense and to horrify the radicals by declaring that there was nothing good in the recommendations of the majority that Parliament need bother with at all.

"Lat the officers of the Local Government Board who are skilled in dealing with the ways a headly the matter?" TELLS PARLIAMENT TO GET OUT.

ment Board who are skilled in dealing with the poor handle the matter," he said. "Thre is no need for Parliament to waste time on it. We can reform the to waste time on it. We can reform the poor law much better and more quickly and efficiently by administrative odder." This is why John Burns is being denounced throughout England as a czar, and those who denounce him do not forget to mention that after making his speech he entered his high powered automobile and hurried off to attend the King on a visit to Hampton Court.

In spite of all this raging of the extremists there is no more generally popular politician in England to-day MASONIC.

GREAT PICNIC.

July 21 the Date For the Grocer's Annual Event.

On the 21st of July about six or seven thousand Hamilton citizens will journey to Niagara Falls. This is the date set by the Retail Grocers' Association to hold the annual picnic. At a meeting of the association held last night in the Board of Trade rooms the picnic was the one topic of conversation, and arrangements to make this great affair a greater success than in former years are already under way. John O. Carpenter was elected chairman of the 'Picnic Committee. Arrangements have been made for eighty cars to carry the Hamilton contingent, and no doubt every one will be filled. Both the G. T. R. and T. H. & B. will be used. It was necessary to put up a guarantee with the railway companies, and on that account the excursion will come off, rain or shine. The association came out somewhat behind last year on the financial end of the affair, and the committee are determined that not only will they make up the defair, but will lede affair and the colimittee are determined that in the rail was presented that it was illedered affair. Over $125 will be given away in cash prizes, as well as prizes of other kinds. This excursion is undoubtedly the best patronized of any in this city, and for a family picnic it is unparalleled, whole families going on it to view the Falls, and its scenic wonders, have a general exciting and joyful time, and return home thoroughly satisfied.

The association is making arrangements to have Mr. Trowern, Toronto, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association and the secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association are secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association and the secretary o Lieut, George Taylor act to their use. Lieut George Taylor acted as instructor, and spent most of the time in explaining the sights, which are complicated affairs and hard to understand. The latter part of the evening was devoted to laying and sighting the guns.

CONSIDERED PLAYGROUNDS.

Board of Education Will Allow Use of School Yard.

Question of Another D rill Instrutor Brought Up.

Some Resignations, Appointments and Applications Considered.

The meeting of the Internal Managenent Committee of the Board of Education was held in the quarters at the City Hall last night, and was rather long, as much business was brought up. Considerable discussion was created as to why the second-class teachers should not be allowed to teach in the Hamilton public schools. One instance was quoted where a young lady of Hamilton, holding a second-class certificate, was forced to seek work in another city. Some of the trustees understood that second-class teachers were engaged, but Inspector Ballard explained that they were not as teachers holding first-class certifi cates were given preference, and plenty of first-class teachers were available. It of irst-class teachers were avalable. It was decided that second-class teachers should be engaged, but that the difference in the salaries paid the first and second class teachers would make it worth the while of the second-class teachers to obtain a first-class certification.

A deputation from the Children's Playground Association, composed of Messrs. R. Tasker Steele, J. M. East Messrs. R. Tasker Steele, J. M. East-wood and R. K. Hope, appeared before the board to ask for permission to use the Hess Street School grounds as a play ground for the children who live in that congested district during the summer.

In submitting the request Mr. Steele said it would prove a good thing, as the majority of the people in that district have limited means.

Mr. Eastwood said the idea was not a new one, and it was to interest the children and keep them off the streets. The ladies had undertaken to provide a supervisor. The idea of the association in asking for the use of the grounds was to give it a trial during the summer months.

Mr. R. K. Hope supported what desars. Steele and Eastwood had said, and added that the condition of the city slargely dependent on the condition of he younger life.

Trustee Wilkes said that as the parks of the west and afforded good places of the years of the west and afforded good places of Trustee Watkins thought the scheme a good one, and as it would not put the board to any expense he favored grant-ing the request.

Trustee Wilkes wanted to know why it should not be tried on all the school grounds if a proper test were to be it should not be tried on all the school grounds if a proper test were to be made, but Mr. Steele explained that the cost would be Loo heavy. If the board would be willing to supply the necessary amount of money it would be all right. The matter was referred to the Building Committee, and they decided to grant the request that the Hess Street School grounds be used as a test for the sumgrounds be used as a test for the sum-

Lt.-Col. Bruce and Lt.-Col Logie appeared to ask that an assistant drill instructor, Sergt. Gilmour, be appointed for the city schools.

Col. Bruce said that Sergt.-Major Huggins was overworked, and as his time with each class was limited, that the outlay for another man to assist him would be amply repaid.

Mr. Logie said that as the grant of $1.25 per day which had been received would be amply repaid.

Mr. Logie said that as the grant of $1.25 per day which had been received before the erection of the new armories had been cut off and the expenses were heavy, the regiment could not afford to support another drill instructor without assistance. He said he thought Mr. Huggins was overworked, and another man was required to assist him. He also spoke of the important part that the teaching of shooting to the young boys should take, and said the board might make some provision for that. Mr. Gilmour wanted a salary of $1,200, and arrangements had already been made whereby $300 would be forthcoming, and the regiment would be able to contribute about $300 more, all that the board would be required to provide would be $600.

Inspector Ballard said it was a long.

A committee was appointed to look into the matter and report.

Trustee Watkins asked that the flags on the schools be kept up on every school day, as it would instil a patriotic feeling in the young mind, but Trustee Bell said that would be all right as far as the dry goods man was conerned, but as far as instilling a more loyal spirit into the children, he thought that if the children were to see the flag every day they would not take any notice of it. It was decided to have the flags flying on certain days.

The resignation of Miss McCallum, domestic science teacher, was accepted, and Miss Norma E. Dickson, of Toronto, was appointed to fill the vacancy at a salary of $500.

Mr. Chas. M. Marshall, of Ridgetown, Ont., was appointed to succeed Mr. W. G. Carnenter as assistant science master.

PLAINTIFF IN GAS CASE.

pany had turned the gas off in June, when the trouble arose, but in July Mr. Bevan had turned it on to burn a kiln, without saying anything to the Gas

Mr. Bevan was next called and corroborated Mr. Thompson's statement that until June, 1908, the average cost of burning brick had been about $1 per thousand. He swore he saw Mr. Carruthers on the morning of June 5th, go to examine the meter and that he saw him break the seal and turn the whole to examine the meter and that he saw him break the seal and turn the wheels of the dial with his knife He immediately went to Mr. Pierce and instructed him to go and see what Carruthers was doing. Later he saw Carruthers put the lead seal back on the meter. He was engaged in conversation with him while he was doing this. After the gas employee departed he called Thompson to read the meter as he was suspicious of Carruther's action.

Being crossecramined by Mr. Nochitt.

Being cross-examined by Mr. Nesbitt ne said there was a lead and wax seal on it when he first saw it. Prior to June 5th he had not noticed any alteration of the seals; none of the other me-ters at the kiln had been tampered with. He admitted burning one more kiln with this objectionable meter.

Mr. Pierce corroborated the evidence given by Thompson and Bevan. During his cross-examination Mr. Nesbitt asked him if he had been peeping through knot-holes and cracks at Carruthers knot-holes and cracks at Carruthers while the latter was at the meter. He replied no, he had come through the open door and had heard the turning of the wheels of the dial or the friction. Mr. Nesbit—Now what did you hear; the wheels or the friction? Witness—I heard the friction of the wheels.

Mr. Nesbitt-Are you sure you didn't have wheels?

Witness—No, I had no wheels
Herbert Capewell was called and said he found the average cost per thousand for burning brick to be about $1. There was no reason why there should be any additional cost unless the meters had been tampered with. The cost of burning the kiln in question should have been $350, whereas at first he had been charged $550, and this amount had been reduced to $507. reduced to $507.

reduced to $507.

Mr. Elliott was recalled and testified that it was impossible that the Government seal could have been tampered with unless the entire top of the tally had been taken off. When the meter was returned to him the Government seal was still in proper condition. He said the condition of the weather, draft and wind would have a great deals.

said the condition of the weather, draft and wind would have a great deal to do with the amount of gas consumed.

In giving judgment his Lordship said the case was an unfortunate piece of litigation. Had it not been for the ill-feeling existing between the parties and had the defendants acted in a reasonable way, the action would never have been taken. However, he had to decide the case irrespective of feelings. From the evidence given he was unable to find that the meter was inaccurate. The bill of $507 had been for gas consumed prior to June 5th, and if on that date there had been any tampering with the meter it would not affect gas consumed previous to that time, he could not find that there had been any tampering with meters previous to June 5th. The meters previous to June 5th. The amount of gas consumed by the last burning had been greater than on previous occasions, but he could not find or the evidence given that there had been an unreasonable amount used. He gave judgment for the plaintiffs for $456 and

THOMAS C. WATKINS BAMILTON ONTARIO

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

Mr. Justice Teetzel disposed of a number of cases in Judge Snider's Chambers this morning. Only one case was tried. That one was an action for $1,050, brought by James Brennen, of Vancouver, against H. D. Cameron alias Giósæg. Perry, and A. O'Heir, as Perry's guardian. The action was brought on a British Columbia Supreme Court judgment of 1899, and was for money loaned Perrie, who at that time was a noted wrestie. rie, who at that time was a noted wres rie, who at that time was a noted wrest-ler, and travelled in the west under the name of Cameron. The defence was that the judgment was faulty, but the Judge ruled in favor of the plaintiff, giving judgment for the amount, with costs. Some interesting letters, signed by Cameron, were filed. One of them had reference to Dan McLeed, former weether, charming, who resided here

MONTROSE WRIGHT'S CASE

(London Free Press.) It is announced from Brantford that the character and standing of Montrose Wright, the young lover of Florence Kin-rade, has met with no unfavorable pro-nouncement at the hands of the Methodist Conference in session there. As is generally known the young man is a probationer for the Methodist ministry.

bationer for the Methodist ministry.

The announcement is the only one which a church board might reasonably make. Wright was the accepted prospective husband of the young woman who came into such prominence consequent upon the mysterious murder of her sister in the family home on Herkimer street, Hamilton.

Evidently Mortrose Wright had configiving judgment for the amount, with costs. Some interesting letters, signed by Cameron, were filed. One of them had reference to Dan McLeed, formet wrestler champion, who resided here some years ago. It came out at the time that Perry is now confined in asanatarium at Guelph.

A. M. Lewis appeared for the plaintiff and Staunton & O'Heir for the defendants.

Evidently Mortrose Wright had confidence in the young woman, and one of the romantic incidents in the unfortunate developments following the unfortunate was his undisguised devotion to her. In this he showed considerable courage. The subject of the plaintiff and Staunton & O'Heir for the defendants.

and Staunton & O'Heir for the defendants.

By request, the case of Small vs. Macey, an action for damages arising out of trouble over the St. Catharines Opera House, was referred to the local Master, to fix the amount of damages, the defendant admitting that some damages are payable. Mr. J. L. Counsell appeared for Mr. A. J. Small, the Toronto theatrical man.

The cases of Fish vs. Doolittle and Carpenter vs. Webb were laid over till the next court.

No other cases were ready and His Honor adjourned court till 2 o'clock, announcing he would take up the case of Pratt vs. Pratt.

CANADIAN FAILURES.

Insolvencies in the Dominion of Canada for the month of May, as reported by R. G. Dum & Co., show a considerable increase, both in number and amount of liabilities, over recent preceding months and make an unfavorable exhibit compared with the same month last year. The total number of defaults was 131 with liabilities of $8,1073,717, which compares with 102 with liabilities of $640,193 in April and 115 for $777,433 in May last year. The increase in amount of liabilities was entirely in the manufacturing class, 42 defaults for $572,830 comparing with 24 for $117,311 in April and 37 involving liabilities of $289,528 in May lest year. In the trading class, defaults numbered 87 as compared with 75 in April and 76 in the corresponding month last year, but the amount involved in these defaults, $488,360, was $30,763 less than the $518,132 of April and only $80,484 greater than the $407,905 of May last year. There were two other commercial failures with liabilities of $12,512 compared with three for $9,750 in April, and two for $80,000 in May last year. There was only one large failure in May, this year, and that was a paper manufacturing concern for upwards of $290,000.

gathering of Methodist ministers and laymen which met him by invitation at a luncheon at the Windsor Hotel on Saturday.

Sir Robert, who was supported at the principal table by the Rev. Dr. Young, Rev. Principal Shaw, Rev. Mr. Timberlake, president of the Methodist Conference; Rev. J. Richardson, Mr. J. H. Goodwin, Mr. J. W. Knox and Mr. A. O. Darwen, unfolded his scheme in an able speech. In its more ideal aspect it is a co-operative movement making for international peace and industrial concord, the promotion of temperance, the protection of women and the humaner treatment of native races in the wild portions of the world, but on its more immediately practical side it has for its purpose an immigration project which would form a most important auxiliary to the existing agencies that have been established by the Canadian Government in the Mother Country. On this side of the Atlantic it means the receiving in a healthful and brotherly spirit of emigrants of the Methodist faith from Great Britain, helping them to secure positions and to establish a congenial the encouragement of emigrants of a desirable character, persons of good reputation, whose antecedents would be vouched for and who would be vouched for and who would be howehed for and who would be vouched for and who would be howehed for and who would be vouched for and who would be howehed for and who would be howehed for and who would be howehed for and who would be howed the canadian life. The scheme was received with obvious favor by the speakers who followed Sir Robert, and was endorsed by the audience on a show of lands.

ELASTICITY OF METHODISM.

ELASTICITY OF METHODISM.

In explaining his scheme Sir Robert observed it had been his good fortune in the past few days to address audiences of a diverse character. A few days ago he had to speak to a company of politicians concerned in a great industrial enterprise which must in a very practical way affect the fortunes of the Dominion in years to come, and on the previous day he was asked to speak at Toronto, on a subject which was a somewhat perplexing one to explain to a Canadian audience—the relation of Liberalism in England to the colonies and more particularly to the Dominion. At both these gatherings he felt he must tread very warily and be on his best behavior, but upon the present occasion, speaking to a company of Methodism, speaking to a gatherings he felt he must tread very warily and be on his best behavior, but upon the present occasion, speaking to a company of Methodist preachers and laymen on a subject that appealed to Methodists he felt more at home, and could discuss it with greater freedom.

It might be asked, said Sir Robert, what business the Methodist Church had to concern itself with political and industrial problems, but he would reply that it had been the glory of the Methodist Church far and near, at home and beyond the seas, since the days of Wesley to the Methodist Church far and near, at home and beyond the seas, since the days of Wesley to the Methodist Church far and near, at home and beyond the seas, since the days of Wesley to the days of the Methodist of the Methodist was a glorious irregularity and marvellous elacticity. Wealey himself, in addition to establishing dispensaries, had set up an industrial establishment, the profits of which were partly shared by the employees.

"The time has now come," added Sir Robert, "when the Methodists throughout the world should utilize their bond of connectional unity—that mysterious fraternity of spirit which binds us like some powerful religious freemasonry for advancing the interests of Methodist vantages—no adventatious aids of any kind, in proof of which he mentioned they had but one peer in the House of Lords. A great brotherhood of Methodists would, Sir Robert said, be able to bring a powerful influence to bear on statesmen in dealing with some of the humanitarian and national questions that confronted us. It would be a great factor in making for international ables.

The scheme received cordial endorsement from the Rev. Dr. Young, Ald. Carter, Mr. J. W. Knox, Rev. W. A. Radley, Mr. A. O. Dawson and Rev. Dr. Shaw, who all offered practical suggestions as to how the sorting process might be carried out and the necessity for co-operation between the clergy and laity in the matter.

After a show of hands had been taken in favor of the scheme, Sir Robert said that in July next he would let the Methodist Conference in London know how heartily the brotherhood scheme has been supported in Montreal. It would take some time to get the details in shape, but he hoped the organization would be in full operation when the Central Methodist premises at Westminster were completed in 1011. Speaking of the signs of unity throughout the church he intimated that probably the next accumenical Methodist conference would be held in Toronto.

VERITY TEAM

Cricket lovers will be interested by the stirring account in the Daily Mail f London of the famous match between the Australians and Surrey, in which urrey won out in a sensational finish. The story runs as follows:

one man to this splendid effort, and for a moment Bedlam seemed let loose.

Again a silence that could be felt as Mr. Cotter, who "knocks the cover off the ball," took his place at the wicket, and after Mr. McAlister had had a narrow escape of being run out to the accompaniment of a deep throated "Oh!" all round the ground, proceeded to drive Mr. Crawford briskly to the pavilion rails. Things looked bad again. Five more of these smacks would finish the match. Again a hush, and again Bednatch. Again a hush, and again Bed-am intensified, for Rushby had knocked

Mr. Cotter's leg stump flying.

Hardly had the thought flashed through the mind before Mr. Trumper was seen walking back to the parilion. He had teuched a "going away" one from Mr. Crawford and the catch was greedily snapped up by Hayes.

"Two good bats had fallen without a run being scored, and things were looking better—but these Australians are desperate strugglers, and revel in a "tight corner." Mr. Crawford was wide awake to the possibilities, however, and with excellent judgment took Marshal of, although he bad taken a wicket, and put on Rushby, who had proved ineffectual against the outgoing batsmen.

A groan went round the field when in the new bowler's first over Hayes in the slips missed a sharp chanos offered by Mr. Macartney. Gradually the score crept up, and the two "Macs" added twelve runs before Strudwick, standing back to Rushby, caught Mr. Macartney, Now there seemed to be a real chance of Surrey bringing off the unexpected.

was arranged. The visiting rink was Messrs. C. V. Thomson, Fred. Biethe, W. M. McGuire, Len Merrii; against W. H. McMackon, A. Long, Dr. Marr and P. Dowden, of the local club. After playing 18 ends the result was a tie. The nineteenth end was played to decide the game, and P. Bawden, of the home rink bowled the final shot, making the score, 9 to 8.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)
Ottawa, Ont., June 4.—Two hundred and fifty laborers, excavating the foundation of the new Grand Trunk Hotel here, went on strike this morning for more money and less work. The men have been getting a dollar and a half for ten hours. They ask a dollar seventy-five for nine hours.

A game of baseball will be put up for the local fans at Britannia Park to-more row afternoon by the Veritys of Brantford and the St. Patrick's League schedule. Manager O'Connell has changed the St. Patrick's line-up somewhat, and claims that it will prove much stronger. Kid Smith will cover the left garden, while Cap MacDonald will be shifted back from shortstop to right field, his old position, and Dan McLeod will go to centre field.

Padden will be brought into shortstop. With Smith, hitting as he is, in the field and McGavin, who is in the best of form, doing the twirling, the Irishmen should just about win, and make it four straight victories for them. The Veritys, however, are out to make up for the two defeats they sustained grow the West Enders, and will hardly give up to-morrow's game without a struggle. The teams will line up as follows:

St. Patrick's—White 2b, Beattie 3b, Smith If, MacDonald rf, D. McLeod ef, Brennan c, A. McLeod 1b, Padden ss, McGavin, p.

Veritys—Hawkshaw ss, Bradley of, Walsh If, Garbut c, Switzer 3b, Lottridge 2b, Johnson rf, McGay or Ralsbon-p. The local management has offered a hat to the player who knocks out the first home run of the season.

Logan, one of the most remarkable horses in history, is now the property of the Canadian Bureau of Breeding. Though 21 years of age, the old fellow looks a particularly viril and well-preserved thoroughbred, despite his eight years of almost constant campaigning. The Iron Horse, for that was the sobriquet he earned, won more than 100 races, and bore colors on almost every track over which horses were raced from the beginning of his career in 1890 until he wound up his season in 1897.

Logan first raced for H. S. Williams. He was bred by Major Thomas J. Carson, and is a son of Voltigeur and Pert, a daughter of Pantaloon and Bird. He came by his sturdy qualities honestly, for on both sides of his house he traces to the Glencoe family, and has many crosses of that sterling parent root.

As a 3-year-old Logan was raced by A Worley, but it was not until the following season that he reached fame. It was that year that he fell into the hands of the late Alex. Shields, the Canadian turfman. It was Shields who raced him until his retirement, and he Jersey. Only very recently Logan was turned over to the Canadian Bureau of Breeding, where he is assured of every attention to the end of his days. From his present appearance it would seem that he has some years of usefulness before him in the stud.

Logan was a horse that had a way of improving with age. He was raced almost constantly from January to December of each season, and was jumped across the Continent repeatedly. A horse of even temper, he was an ideal traveler, and he could leave the cars after a trip from San Francisco to New Orleans and go from the unloading chute to the post. He was the cornerstone of a considerable fortune won' on the turf by Alex. Shields, and had more to do with the development of Will and John Shields as jockeys than all the others horses they ever rode. Will Shields is now close to 300 pounds, while John tips the beam at considerably over 200. tips the beam at considerably over 200.

One of the most remarkable racing years of the son of Voltigeur and Pert was in 1895, when he was a 7-year-old. In that year he was to the post fifty-nine times, and in fifty-six starts he was nine times, and in fifty-six starts he was third or better, winning nineteen of his races. The following year, when he was an 8-year-old, he was raced seventy times, and forty-nine of his starts saw him third or better. His last year of racing, in 1897, he started no fewer than fifty-five times, and in thirty-seven of those races he was third or better.

General Manager Ryan, of the Canadian Bureau of Breeding, intends showing Logan in some of the thoroughbred classes in horse shows, and he bids fair to hold his own in the ring with some of the best of them.

It costs three meg and car fare per diem to lend one's self to the noble pur-pose of improving the breed of horses in New York. That means even money on an 8 to 5 shot on the basic principle of five bones,—Buffalo Hammer.

Chicago, Jun e4.-Charles S. Havenor as bought a tract of eight acres on the orth side in Chicago. This might be overlooked in the rush business as a mere real estate deal. It is really the opening gun in what bids in the baseball world. Mr. Havenor happens to be the owner of the Milwaukee franchise and team in the American Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, and the tract of ground he has just secured title to is to be used as the park for the American Association team in Chicago. Just when it will be put into commission is not definitely determined, but the well-posted men, who have been watching proceedings closely, do not expect it will be postponed longer than next season. It may go over for another year, because the American is in an agreement with the major leagues that has two years yet to run, and might not like to break in. But this is improbable. in the baseball world. Mr. Havenor hap-

For many months signs have pointed For many months signs have pointed to the coming conflict, and the decks are now pretty well cleared. George Tebeau, who is generally credited with being the moving spirit in the deal, has gotten himself into pretty good trim for the fight, and he has both the finesse and the courage to tackle the great major league leaders in a finish fight. In fact, it may be seriously questioned major league.

In fact, it may be seriously questiones, if a brainier baseball fighter than Tebeau lives to-day. He started ten years to the shoestring, and has run tup Montreal very leaf to the started ten years. ago with a shoestring, and has run it up to the proportions of several tanyards,

For the greater part of this time he vas the target for was the target for the nottees fire that ever centred on one man in the baseball world, but he went along as steadily as a Dreadnought sailing through a fleet of fishing smacks, till he is now in a posi-tion to return the fire, and it is without a Dreadnought sailing through a fleet of thishing smacks, till he is now in a position to return the fire, and it is without the range of human probabilities that he will be magnanimous enough to let things drift along as they are. He is ambitions, and the only way in which his ambition can be fed is to make his present league a bigger one, and to take his associates along with him. These include some of the present American Association owners and some of the Eastern League magnates.

When the American Association and the Eastern League notified the national commission of the rejection of the concessions granted these leagues as class AA members, and voluntarily resumed the status of class A, it was the impression that the time for open hostilities had nearly come. The move of Havenor is the opening shot. Chicago will be invaded with a team on the north sde. Pittsburg, St. Louis and Cincinnati will also be taken in, and the circuit of the American Association will be completed with Louisville, Indianapolis, Toledo and Columbus. With Sunday ball permitted in each of these towns, the circuit seems almost ideal. It is short, compact and made up of live ones, and all big enough to support major league ball. Chicago can easily sustain a third team, and St. Louis will not be a serious proposition if the right kind of ball is given.

In the Eastern League a new circuit is to be made up taking in Baltimore, Washington, Newark, New York, Buffalo, Toronto, Boston and Philadelphia. This circuit does not look so good on paper as does the American's, but the promoters have confidence in their power to invade.

Brown and Schmidt to Clash at Britannia Rink.

To-night's wrestling match at the Britannia Rink promises to be a lively mat affair, as both grapplers are confident affair, as both grapplers are confident of winning and are reported to be in fine condition. The contestants are Bert Brown, of Brantford, and Mox Schmidt, a German wrestler, who came to Hamilton to live. If Schmidt is as good as his manager claims he is, he should become a favorite with the fans—as strong a favorite as Fred Bartl and Charlie Conkle were in their palmy days.

The bout will start at 9 o'clock, and "everything but the strangle hold goes."

The curtain raiser will be a six-round boxing affair between Walsh and Burns.

Proposal to Suspend Educational Test in Cases.

W. J. Smith, of Guelph, Elected President.

Epworth League and Rally.-The Laymen's Meeting.

Brantford, June 3 .- "In the opinion of this conference, the time has come for the devising of means by which men gifted to preach the gospel, but who do ot possess the education called for un the Methodist Church discipline, car be ordained as ministers.

The above resolution was unanimou passed at the ministerial session of the by passed at the ministerial session of the Hamilton conference, which opened its general sitting in Wellington Street Methodist Church here to-day. It is intended to prepare a memorial, which will be forwarded to the general conference two years hence, conveying this message and asking that the necessary legislation be granted to make such a state of affairs possible. The resolution is designed to open the way for a great change in the discipline of the Methodist Church. It is felt that there are many gifted men throughout the country, men capable, too, and who are filling rulpits on occasions, who ought to try, men capable, too, and who are fill ing pulpits on occasions, who ought to be allowed within the ministerial fold without having secured the education asked for, because in most cases they are too old to obtain that education.

The particular cases which resulted in the passing of the above resolution was that of Mr. W. W. Lowe, who for the past fifteen years has been preaching around Wiarton, and who for the past three years has been preaching supplies constantly. A motion from the Wiarton district was presented to the ministers, asking that in consideration of Mr. Lowe's age and his great ability, the gates should be lowered and he be admitted into the ministry. The motion was a long one and aroused great interest, while it was being read.

Rev. A. J. Irwin, of Tara, the secretary of the Hamilton conference, and who is also of the Wiarton district, rose immediately and announced that he was prepared to swallow all his prejudices, and second the motion as it stood. A storm of discussion arose. Ministers rose one after another and declared that the move was not legal and could not be done. Opinions on both sides of the question were offered in numbers, Finally it was referred to the Committee on Conference Relations, and that body reported that this conference had not the way to reduce the cordain Mr. Lowe. THE ELECTIONS.

The general conference opened in the afternoon. Rev. W. J. Smith, of Guelph, was elected president by an overwhelming majority on the first ballot, he securing 170 votes out of a possible 261. Rev. C. T. Bennett, of Wiarton, was elected secretary. He appointed Rev. A. I. Terryberry, of Grimsby, as first assistant secretary; Rev. A. E. Smith, of Caledonia, as statistical secretary, and A. J. Snyder, of St. George, as journal secretary.

Following the announcement of the result of the presidential balloting, Rev. Thomas Colling, of Drayton, last year's president, called the president-elect to the platform. He was introduced to the gathering by Rev. Dr. A. L. Gee, of this city. Rev. Mr. Smith, after a splendid address, touching upon the call of his father, Rev. Philander Smith, and of himself to the ministry, craved the indulgence of the conference while acting as their chairman.

THE NEW PRESIDENT. THE NEW PRESIDENT.

The former President then vacated the chair, and the new man commenced his duties as chairman. He is not an old man. He is a grandson of Rev. Dr. Philander Smith, a Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada. He was ordained in 1891, and is a graduate of Victoria Victoria The was for two years as-University. TO CONVERT "THE WARD."
Rev. Dr. Chown, of Toronto, General Secretary of the Committee on Temperance and Moral Reform, and Rev. W. E. Hassard, Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, also gave short addresses. Dr. Chown confined himself entirely to problems arising out of his own branch of work. He would, he said, like to see the indeterminate sentence as applied to eriminals worked out more fully. The aspirations of thousands of wrongdoers had been blighted by compelling them to be associated with convicts of confirmed habits for wrongdoing. He would also like to have a profound student of sociology come to Toronto and go through "The Ward," find out the habits of life of the inhabitants, and so bring about the conversion of that densely populated foreign section of the city.

Eddy spoke of the place of the Sun-day School in Church life. Mr. Elson, who goes as a mis-y to China this fall, told the sionary to China this fail, told the congregation the circumstances lead-ing up to his accepting the call to the foreign field. He considered it a great honor to have a hand in shaping the destinies of that now mighty nation beyond the seas.

Mr. King stated that his elevation to the Cabient had been due, not to any particular merit of his own, but was due to the fact that he had been identified for some years past with labor and social questions, and that he represented a riding which was one of the most important industrial centres of the Dominion. He thought, too, that the Prime Minister, himself a descendant of the French race, was pleased to have the opportunity of selecting as a member of his Government one who represented a riding which was known to have such a large proportion of Germans. Both the Mayor's speech and Mr. King's reply were received with rousing cheers, in which citizens of both parties heartily united.

Ravalli, Mont., June 3.—The task of rounding up the remaining three hundred buffalo of the Pablo herd for Canada—has proyen more difficult than expected. MONKS WITH RIFLES. SHOULD AIM A Sensational Conflict in a Portusensational conflict at Laguna, Teneriffe between monks of the Paulistas order and the people of the town. The monks recently established themselves at Laguna and obtained charge of a seminary from the local clergy, which caused an intense feud. The bishop yesterday suspended two local priests at the instigation of the monks, thereby greatly adding to the indignation of the populace, about 800 of whom went to the episcopal palaes and the seminary, demanding that the suspension be cancelled. The bishop refused, whereupon the crowd attacked the seminary. The monks, however, were prepared for contingencies and met the assailants with rifles. They put up a valiant resistance, but ultimately they were outnumbered and the seminary was practically reduced to ruins. Several monks and more than thirty of the townsfolk were seriously injured. Little Gordon Knowles Smotherep in Sawdust at London.

London, Ont., June 3.—Between 12 and o'clock to-day Gordon, the two-yearold son of Mr. Arthur Knowles, High street, met death by being smothered in sawdust. The little fellow had been playing with companions in a shed near his father's foundry, when the top of a sawdust pile slid down and buried him. The father was at dinner when the other boys told him of the accident, but before he could find the little one his child was he could find the little one his child was smothered. It was nearly 1 o'clock when the boy's body was found. Dr. Camp-bell worked over him for an hour, but without avail. The sawdust was used as

TO PREVENT

Osler Addresses Ontario Medical Association.

Attitude of Profession Towards Treatment of Disease.

Epidemic of Faith-Healing a Recrudescence from Ancient Times.

cism, the open and inquiring mind should be the attitude of medical mer oward the treatment of disease, said Professor William Osler, regius professor of medicine at Oxford University, in his address before the Ontario Medical Association yesterday ternoon. In the course of the address he commented on the progress which medical science had made recent years. That progress had really been of the nature of a com-plete change, and medical activities were now rather directed towards the ideal of prevention instead of being confined to cure. He urged that med-ical men should not allow themselves to confined to cure. He urged that medical men should not allow themselves to get into any rut. Theories should be submitted to continual proof. Lastly, he dealt with the training of medical students, earnestly advocating that they should in the course of their instruction be given greater opportunities to study the practical side of medicine in the outpatients' department and in the wards. Too much of the practical work which students should be instructed in was, in his opinion, left to nurses.

In view of the numbers who were anxious to hear Dr. Osler, the lecture hall of the Physics building was placed at the disposal of the association, and the attendance was larger than at any of the other gatherings held in the course of the annual meeting.

The chair was occupied by the retiring President, Dr. H. J. Hamilton, who in welcoming Dr. Osler said that apparently that gentleman's life work was resolving itself into a tour of the world, which they all hoped would terminate in his return to Toronto.

Dr. Osler, who was most cordially received, after expressing his gratification.

his return to Toronto.

Dr. Osler, who was most cordially received, after expressing his gratification at the presence of his old instructor, Dr. Richardson, the oldest ex-President of the association, immediately addressed himself to his subject. The dominant view of the nature of the disease, he said, outlined its treatment. As was their pathology, so was their practice. Thus in the centuries passed, when disease was looked upon as the direct outcome of sin, the treatment was simply an effort to arrive at a readjustment of man's relations with the invisible power, malign or benign. Solomon's book of wisdom dealing with human ills was placed in the open in the temple, but it was removed by one of his successors lest the tampering with things beyond man's ken should annoy God, and even in modern days in some countries the same childlike faith prevailed.

Great as had been the previous progress, there had been in the last fifty years a complete revolution in the attitude towards the treatment of disease. It had become recognized that it was due to chemical conditions in the fluids and tissues of the body, and, therefore, they had reached the standpoint of approaching prevention and cure in a rattional way. The highest aim was to Dr. Osler, who was most cordially reand tissues of the body, and, therefore, they had reached the standpoint of approaching prevention and cure in a rational way. The highest aim was to prevent, and in this direction the greatest progress had been made. Panama, once the grave of the white man, in October last had a death rate of only twelve per thousand, and the problem of life in the tropics had been solved now that it had been shown that malaria could be prevented by very simple measures. They had been able to get rid of many of the nauseous decoctions with which people used to be dosed, and many of the old atrocities. They had also been taught to recognize their limitations, to accept the fact that certain diseases were incurable, and to direct their attention to making the vertices. diseases were incurable, and to direct their attention to making the patient comfortable. "It is a hard matter to tell a patient that he is beyond hope," he said, "but for an intelligent man it is the best. We should be ready to make personal sacrifice in the cause of truth and loyalty to the profession." truth and loyalty to the profession.'

They had reason to hope that diabete

They had reason to hope that diabetes might be placed on a sure foundation, but year by year pneumonia taught them the lesson of humility. They might wonder whether they did not lose as many patients from that disease as did their forefathers, but still they had the consolation that the old doctors, with their violent methods, must have killed many.

Their attitude should be one of active scepticism, born of the knowledge of limitation, for by that means true progress might be made. Indiscriminate dosing he condemned, and in this connection he admitted that he was often called a therapeutic nihilist. The day had passed, however, when they attacked a disease with a prescription loaded with a multitude of drugs. While acknowledging the debt the profession owed to the large manufacturing pharmacists, he strenuously objected to their methods of loading down the profession with literature in which he described as brazen therapeutic impudence.

Proceeding, he said: "An influenzalike outbreak of faith-healing seems to have the public of this continent in its grip. It is an old story, the oldest, indeed, in our history, and one in which dome, and three sons, Herbert and James, on the home farm, and Richard,

Proceeding, he said: "An influenzalike outbreak of faith-healing seems to have the public of this continent in its grip. It is an old story, the oldest, indeed, in our history, and one in which we have a strong hereditary interest, since scientific medicine took its origin in a system of faith-healing, beside which all our modern attempts look feeble imitations. Once or twice in each century the serpent entwining the staff of Aesculapius gets restless, untwists, and in his gambols swallows his tail, and once in full circle back upon us comes old thought and old practices which for a time dominate alike doctors and the laity." Yet faith must play some part, for if patients had not faith in their doctor where would be his clientele?

MORE GUFF BY STEWART.

Hydro Mass Meeting Last Night Was Poor Affair,

But It Gave Ex-Mayor's Tongue Another Chance.

Repetition of Misstatements and Personal Abuse.

The small attendance at the "mass" meeting in the Savoy Theatre last night must have been rather discouraging to ex-Mayor Stewart and the other schem ers who have exerted much effort during the past week in trying to work up as agitation that will defeat the Cataract by-law on Monday. The meeting was largely a repetition of the tirade of abuse delivered at the Twentieth Cen tury Club the other evening.

It was half an hour after the sche duled time when the curtain was rung up, disclosing to view the smiling coun tenances of ex-Mayor Stewart. Hon. John S. Hendrie, chairman of the commission, Jim Miller, T. H. Pratt, James Jolley, Lorne Johnston, Alf. Wright, Allan Studholme and one or two others. John Milne, one of the first power com-missioners, presided and gave a general outline of the Government's scheme, from the time of its inception.

After a few introductory remarks, Mr.

After a few introductory remarks, Mr. blendrie gave the Spectator a whack for failing to report his address at the Twentieth Century Club. "They did not see fit to publish my remarks," he said. "I was probably like some of the horses at the Woodbine, in their estimation, I was an also ran." was an also ran.

Mr. Hendrie's address was a repetition of his address the other night. There was some disorder when Colonel Hendrie concluded. Some one wanted to ask questions but the inquisitive one was cried down.

With a prophetic air ex-Mayor Stewart assured the audience that the day would come when Hamilton would regret not having acted on the advice of himself and others to embrace the Hydro-Electric project. With this off his mind he assumed a fighting attitude and waded into Mayor McLaren and the newspapers. First he lectured the Spectator for keeping the report of the meeting the other night on the inside pages and featuring on the front page Mayor McLaren's statement. Laren's statement

Laren's statement.
"The reporters loaded up Mayor Mc-Laren with a lot of nonsense," he said, and induced him to write a lot of non-sense that you ratepayers are not in-terested in."

sense that you ratepayers are not interested in."

"I said nothing unjust," about the Mayor," continued Mr. Stewart. "I am not here to-night to say anything slicker duck. I am going to prove it many ways and think he will fill the chair with credit, but he is as likely to err as I am, and he has erred.

"Then he complains about me calling him foxy and cunning. If there is any man in Hamilton deserves that name it is Mayor McLaren. I don't know any klicker duck. I am going to prove it out of his own mouth that he wanted to keep the ratepayers in the dark and wants to mislead you. He says in his statement he knows of the Cataract's short-comings, but does not wish to speak of them. Why doesn't he? He admits he knows lots of things about them but does not well. When but does not well as the says in the says in the says in the speak of them. Why doesn't he? admits he knows lots of things about them, but does not want to tell. Why not, if he is honest.?' He said he had no hesitation in branding Mayor McLaren as a Cataract man.

There was no objection to this, but why didn't the Mayor let people know where the stood;

he stood?

That reference of the Mayor's for the people—to follow Mr. Stewart if they wanted agitation and strife, seemed—to touch the ex-Mayor on the raw. It must have been because the strenuous gentleman from West Hamilton, quite modest, as—usual, unblushingly referred to the good services he had rendered the city for two years and then closed with this modest admission: "I have no hesitamodest admission: "I have no hesita-tion in saying I could be elected Mayor again gy 80 per cent. I don't think Mayor McLaren can be elected for a Mayor MeLaren can be elected for a third term unless he mends his way. He is only a chicken come out of the shell as far as municipal business goes. He sheuld keep quiet until he has filled two years. It is pretty early in the grantest Mayor Hamilton ever saw."

"Small, mean business, trying to discredit me that way," was the way Mr. Stewart complained about the Spectator publishing the paragraph about his brottler being employed by the Hydro. He followed this up with an attack on William Southam, proprietor of that paper, who is also a Cataract director. Mr. Stewart said Mr. Southam did not pay 100 cents on the dollar for the stock he held; in fact, he intimated that Mr. Southam got $130,000 worth of stock for $28,000.

"I see John Patterson makes a high selling them at $1.20, all one run from $2.00 to $3.50. Saturday should prove the date in the Times to-night, denying the statement that the company is generating within six per cent. of the caapeity of its plant," he said. After making a slashing attack on Mr. Patterson for a circular the latter sent out when the last vote on the power question was taken, he reiterated his statement that the company was using 940 of the thousand feet of water per second. "I dare Patterson or anyone else," he said, "to deny it, and I can prove it."

After trying to mop the floor with everything else in sight, Mr. Stewart waded into the Times. Now the ex. Mayor is a high-priced man, if you take him at his own word, and it is no wonder he was righteously indignant when the Times wondered if his enthusiasm over the Hydro scheme was due to the fact that he might be going to get a job. The Times, the Hydro or no one clse can employ me for $10,000 a year. I don't want any job," he said.

He roasted the Times, too, for saying the civic lighting contract was gone for five years. This was all "bosh," he said.

e civic lighting contract was gone for e years. This was all "bosh," he said The lighting contract could be upset casier than the power contract last

The lighting contract could be upset casier than the power contract last year.

"I would like to ask the Times a question," he said, 'and I hope it will answer it by to-morrow afternoon. I will bring you back to the time the Natural Gas Company came here. I was one of those who fought tooth and nail to get a reduction. We did not get what we asked, but I take credit for getting five per cent off. I would like the Times to tell the ratepayers how much money they got from the company when that contract went through. And if the Times wants me to ask a few more knotty questions after that, I will do so."

If the Cataract had power after the people eeleted a Hydro Council last year to make it dwindle away last year and do the same thing again this year, could it not do the same thing next year?

Mr. Stewart then cast a dirty sur on the police, although he served the pill up in sugar-coated form. "The police," he said, "have been looking after the poles and reporting when the lights are out. Now, I am not going to say anything unjust to the police or that they are not honest, but ratepayers will look at it that way."

are not honest, but ratepayers will look at it that way."

Mr. Stewart explained that he referred to the action of the Police Commissioners in investing $10,000 worth of police benefit funds in Cataract stock. He did not think it was in the interest of the police to be bound up in any way with the Cataract.

"I have no fault to find with Judge Snider or Jelfs," he said, "but I think the Mayor should have raised his voice in protest against it."

Aldermen Wright and Ellis and T. H. Pratt also spoke.

Playgrounds Association Receives Reports From Delegates-Council to be Asked to Repeal By-law Pro-hibiting Playing in Streets.

Toronto, June 4 .- The deputation that went to the recent Congress at Pittswent to the recent Congress at Pitts-burg of the Playgrounds Associations reported to the Playgrounds Association of Toronto yesterday afternoon, strong-ly recommending Toronto to at once un-dertake more work of the same nature as that which they saw in American cit-ies, especially for the little children. Mr. C. A. B. Brown was in the chair, Ald, H. R. Graham told what some ealthy citizens had done in Pitts wealthy wealthy citizens had done in Pitts-burg and elsewheer, saying it was an example to Toronto people, and he announced that one of the Alder-men has intimated that he is prepared to equip a playground in this city. He said that Pittsburg gave $70,000 for this work, and the School Board gave $10,000 more out of their own funds to it.

Controller H. C. Hocken said that while a great deal more had been attempted in American cities than in Controller H. C. Hocken said that while a great deal more had been attempted in American cities than in Toronto, more was necessary there than here. But additional provision was needed here for the little children, the boys being pretty well provided for. He advocated neighborhood playgrounds, with supervision provided, under the direction of the Board of Education, co-operating with the Playgrounds Association. He said that while there were four such provided last year, theer should be six this year, and besides St. Andrew's Square was to be equipped as a playground, with gymnasium, etc., as in American cities.

A few figures were given of what is being done elsewhere in this line: Rochester spent last year $22,000; Boston this year will spend $34,000; Portland, a small city, will spent $4,000, and Chester, Pa., $3,000.

Inspector Hughes stated that it was intended to equip all the schools with electric lighting on the ground floors this year.

Ald. R. C. Vaughan thought the by-law prohibiting children from playing on the streets should be repealed. But where were they to play? We must provide supervised grounds for them.

Rabbi Jacobs emphasized the need of playing liberties, pointing out that in the prophet Zechariah's picture of the ideal city he represents boys and girls as playing in the public squares.

Park Commissioner Wilson, after reading his report of the visit to the Congress, recommended the most economical way, for Toronto to take up the matter in connection with the schools. This city seemed greatly behind others in work for children. Montreal, after seven years of work, had five playgrounds, and to raise money they had not depended upon the City Council, but the women had used coin cards, riddle contests, a limerick contest, had issued an edition of a daily paper, etc. He suggested that the grounds might be leased for the purpose, and a thousand children would be benefited where one is now helped by the pnianthropic work of his little Sunday school boys being killed the day before by being run sublowed this up with an attack on Wilman Southam, proprietor of that paper,

The Grand Council of the Chos Friends passed a resolution at its meeting in Toronto the other day that the Grand Medical Examiner, Dr. J. H. Bell, must move from Kingston to Hamilton, where the head offices of the order are. Instead of 35 cents for each examination, the doctor will be paid in future $3,500 a year. Under the fee system his income from the order amounted to about $2,900.

—Yesterday F. C. Mills instructed his solicitor, Mr. John King, K. C., of Toronto, to take proceedings to compel the Spectator to publish the fact that the frivolous action brought in the High Court against him by the Spectator's sporting editor has been dismissed with costs. As the Spectator published the fact that the writ was issued, Mills believes the Spectator is legally bound to publish the fact that it was dismissed.

FIRE SALE.

Trudell & Tobey Continue Clothing Bargains on Saturday.

Trudell & Tobey, clothing merchants who made such a hit by purchasing the clothing slightly damaged by water at the fire at Coppley, Noyes & Randall's, make another extraordinary offer in this issue. That this sale on Saturday will be another success is assured, for the prices cannot fail to attract hundreds of new customers. It should be remembered that the clothing offered is all high grade, well tailored, and would be a credit to any young man. Every suit turned out is the work of the highest paid artists, and the 2 Ts. guarantee the full measure of satisfaction. Boys' two-piece suits will sell for $1.99; men's suits worth $10 for $3.95, and men's blue and black suits worth $15.00 for $0.95. These are but samples of that which may be had at 50-52 James street north to-morrow. who made such a hit by purchasing the

BATTLEFIELD TO-MORROW.

BATTLEFIELD TO-MORROW.

To-morrow afternoon will be Woman's Wentworth Historical day, at Stoney Creek Battlefield. People are coming from all over Wentworth county. Everyone wants to see the site where Lady Grey turned the first sod for the monument, and they can also see Smith's Knoll, where the Veterans will erect a monument in memory of the soldiers killed on June 6, 1813. It is expected many of the delegates to the Presbyterian Assembly will be present also. Besides, giving the proceeds to the Veterans' fund, the W. W. H. S. will also receive subscriptions for it on Saturday. Admission and programme will be free, but lemonade and refreshments will be sold.

The H., G. & B. will run plenty of cars accommodate the crowd.

PLAYGROUNDS.

Executive of the Association Held Meeting Yesterday.

The Executive Committee of the A little display not originally intended will be on the programme tonight at the Aquatic Carnival. Woodman Bros., owners of the Ivan R., have decided to throw off a little display of fireworks of their own from Caklands as the boats are coming home. This is done to advertise Oaklands as a picnic place and will no doubt add to the general pleasure of the crowd on board.

The tickets are selling very rapidly, but there are still a few not sold yet. Ticket holders will do well to get down early. Before going to the boats there will be a big concert at the Gore by the bands.

NEW FIRE ESCAPE.

Seat Lowered as a Bucket in Lowcred Into Well.

Possibly the Iowa woman who was one of the joint inventors of a fire escape once tried to slide down the old-fashioned and primitive rope escape and realized the crying need for an improvement. However that may be, she and her co-inventor have devised an apparatus which is very simple and equally effective. This consists of a drum, which resembles a huge spool, and which is suspended from the window ledge, having a long straight edge for engagement with the wall. Around this drum one whole turn of a cable is taken, one end of the cable—the end near the window—having a seat attached. When the fire breaks out the person in the room climbs out over the window ledge, thrusts one leg over the seat, and, grasping the other end of the cable, lowers himself or herself gently to the ground. The turn of the cable over the drum prevents the rope from slipping and letting the seat down except as the slack is paid out. ered Into Well.

Tempting Delicacies Provided. Spring chickens, spring lamb, well hung beef, Cambridge sausage, Grimsby tomatous, green peas, new beets, carrots, spinach, cucumbers, asparague, new potatoes, fresh cut mushrooms, ripe strawberrics, cherries, pineapples, limes, Camembert cheese, Ice Castle lobsters in tins. Women, Attention!

Women as a rule are better savers than men—they have a knack of making a dollar go just twice as far as a man can.

Many men who cannot save anything themselves, very wisely make their wives the family treasurer, and upon them devolves the responsibility of putting by something for the inevitable rainy day.

The Traders Bank welcomes the accounts of women, and its officials and clerks are always ready to give them any advice or assistance they may require. Every woman, whether married or single, should have a sav ings account.
