

Local Matters.

The River.
The late storms of snow and rain have raised the river six inches.

Grace Egerton.
This lady and her husband did their best to entertain a Fredericton audience in the City Hall on Tuesday evening.

Lumbering.
Sheriff Temple has now working in the woods on the Miramichi, 150 men. He expects to cut six or eight million feet this winter.

Invention.
Mr. P. A. Logan, of Gibson, has invented an apparatus called a "Spark-Grinder." It is intended to be attached to locomotive smoke stacks and pulverize the cinders so that when they emerge from the stove they are small enough to be devoured of all danger.

Mr. Mullin, I. B.
Inspector Mullin called at the STAR office to-day. He has taken up his residence in Fredericton which is to be his inspection headquarters. Mr. Mullin looks like a man who has the ability to do his duty, and is not afraid to do it. Within a few days he will start on his tour of inspection.

Bringing Coal to Newcastle.
Mr. R. A. Esay, of this city, has imported a schooner laden with coal from St. John's, now offered for sale at his yard. This is something hitherto unknown in the history of Fredericton, but may be accounted for by Morrison's Mill being shut down last summer.

Personal.
Hon. W. E. Perley is in the city.
Mr. Stillwell, fishery inspector for Maine, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Cox, I. S., was here yesterday. He started for Dalhousie this morning.

A Misstatement.
A correspondent in the last STAR states that an item of $10 for illumination purposes was charged, at the last Council meeting, to Public Works accounts, when it should not have been. Mr. P. McPeck, City Auditor, informs us that the statement is incorrect; that the item was charged to the City Hall account.

Cheese.
Last season the Cheese Factory at Jacksonville, Carleton County, was kept running in full blast. Most of their stock was this fall shipped to St. John, and now the few remaining merchants of Woodstock, who during the summer refused to give but eight cents per pound for this product, have been compelled to send to St. John and pay thirteen cents for the same cheese.

The "Star."
The Steamer "Star," Capt. vauvart, arrived here from Inlandtown at seven o'clock yesterday morning. She brought up a large general freight and 150 passengers. This morning the steamer returned to Saint John with 300 barrels of potatoes, 100 fkins of butter, and a carload of oats. This is the second time the "Star" has visited Fredericton this season.

Our Fredericton Friends Abroad.
We have received a letter from Mr. E. H. Allan who left this city a few weeks ago. It is dated "Calcutta, Nov. 1." Mr. Allan says among other things:
"This is a great country; it surpasses what one to the East could conceive of. Everything seems more gigantic than over East. You commence with the boundless prairies; the uncultivated land; then the human tide that is ever setting across the continent each way. Everything seems to be done differently from the provincial style."
I think I will like the country well. I leave for Portland to-morrow.

The Race.
The race last night in the Exhibition building was successfully carried out, and considering the state of the weather the attendance was very good. In the 10-mile Running Race the competitors were Toner, Seymour, Stevens and McMillan. The last named proved the most speedy, and won in 1 hour, 5 minutes and 20 seconds. Seymour second. Toner gave out before the race was over. The five mile Race brought out as contestants Buswell, Lottimer, Ryan, McLaren and Devitt, who reached the finishing post in the order named. Time, 33 minutes. The Boys' Race, two miles, was sharply contested, and was won by a lad named Lottimer. Time, 14.08.

A Flagellation.
The following is an extract from correspondence in the Advocate, signed thus "E.":
"Mr. D. G. Smith, of the Advance, is the object of it:
"You combine in an especial manner the slander and the lie, the spy and the traitor, and like the Silver Man in Holy Writ you are your master. I can prove you—unprincipled liar, slanderer, spy, worse than these, and in the words of a celebrated essayist when addressing one of your character, 'With the blessing of God I will do you straight and simple justice.' I can subvert you with truth—strangle you with your lies, and make you tremble even in your grave with the recollection of your lie."
The writer of the above bit of "the frenzied" gives much more importance to Mr. D. G. Smith than he deserves.

NORMAL SCHOOL FORMAL OPENING.
The formal opening of the Normal School took place yesterday afternoon before His Honor the Governor, the Attorney-General, the Provincial Secretary, Hon. W. E. Perley, Principal Crockett, Dr. Rand, Eldon Mullin, Esq., I. S., and others. Mr. Crockett delivered the opening address, subject to the embryo sentiment of a severe cold. Yet the address was trenchant and telling, as Mr. Crockett's address always are. Dr. Rand followed in a few well chosen remarks. He extended a hearty welcome to the many students assembled, and invited them to high aims in their calling. Governor Chandler then spoke; and after expressing his pleasure at seeing so many intelligent faces gathered about him pointed out how important an education is in the profession the students had chosen. It was the main spring of human energies, he said, and was in many respects paramount in importance to capacity. Dr. Jack laid stress on the importance of the application of common sense. Hon. Mr. Wedderburn then rose and delivered a most eloquent address, treating with apt allusions and sound advice. He impressed on the students how important was the work before them. In their hands was the moulding of our future generations. If the foundation laid by them was weak, the superstructure would be built upon a shifting sand. He dwelt on the glowing terms on the character of the institution, and impressed on the students that it should be their highest aim to maintain its character. The proceedings then closed.

STAR BRIEFS.

—Miss Martin, our famous alto singer, will assist at the Concert to be held to-morrow evening by the ladies in connexion with the O. F. Society.

—The boat house of St. Ann's Rowing Club has been towed up to Hill & Berry's wharf.

—We regret to learn that our esteemed citizen Colonel Saunders is ill, but glad to be able to say he is on the mend.

—One of our hardware dealers, Mr. Z. R. Everett, has shipped a quantity of potatoes in crates to St. John, thence to England. There is no money in a small transaction of this kind now, especially as the potato market in England has fallen.

—Mr. D. F. George is shipping off large quantities of deal. Four woodboats are at present loading at his wharf.

Crops in Cork Settlement.
A correspondent from Cork Settlement sent us some interesting items a few days ago, but his letter got astray somehow. It has turned up and we quote—
"Having noticed in your columns some accounts of big crops in different sections of the province I have thought it worth while to say a few words in regard to crops in this part. Having run a threshing machine for a length of time I have a pretty exact idea of grain crops. Our farmers have entered quite largely into raising wheat, and with good results. They have harvested on an average about 20 to 30 bushels of the grain, equal in quality to any I have seen in the province. Besides this wheat the farmer has raised from 500 to 1000 bushels of oats; and potatoes amounting to about the same number of bushels, with large quantities of turnips and carrots. Potatoes are now being made for another year with a view of increasing the amount of wheat to double that of the present year; the high price of flour acting as a stimulant for their exertions, and helping them to overcome, to a certain extent, the depressing influence of the N. P."

[It would seem our correspondent, belongs to the old school of politics; the school that would readily attribute an attack of rust on the potatoes, or the weevil in the corn to a National Policy, or some other policy.—Ed.]

OUR INDUSTRIES.

THE GIBSON LEATHER COMPANY.
This morning a STAR Reporter dropped in to the Gibson Leather Co.'s Tannery. He found Mr. James McCausland with a very thoughtful expression on his countenance, superintending the movements of a number of men at the splitting machine, about whose efficiency so much has been said. On being asked the extent of the Company's business, Mr. McCausland said:
"Since November 10th, 1878, I should judge about 5,000 hides have been tanned. This amount is made up of 1,800 hides of enamel leather, 900 patent leather, 600 calfskins, 750 hides in London and carriage stock, probably 500 sides of leather for harness stock, 250 hides in whole kips, 250 in dash split and about 100 hides in what is known as grain wipers. Probably 30 or 40 tons in shoe stuff splits, etc."

REPORTER.—Has there been much improvement in the business since the Exhibition at Toronto?
Mr. McC.—"Lord, yes! Since I came home we have received and entered on our books $10,000 worth of orders. About $3,000 of these have been filled. Orders come from all parts of the Dominion, Nova Scotia, P. E. I., New Brunswick, Quebec (city), Montreal and a very large amount from Hamilton and Toronto. Why, by one man alone of Toronto, Mr. Daniel McLean, we have been favored with orders for 200 sides of harness leather, and 150 of kip ($2,500 worth in all)."
REPORTER.—How much harness bark has been used, since the company started?
Mr. McC.—"About 400 cords, mostly from up-river."

REPORTER.—About what is the valuation of the property?
Mr. McC.—"We have just finished taking stock. The buildings, lands, wharf, machinery, etc., we have put down at $17,500, and material, leather, etc., at $9,352.24; total, $26,852.24."
The Company have shown a spirit of enterprise this is very commendable, have made every endeavor to introduce into their establishment no machinery but that of the most modern kind, and as a consequence are able to supply harness and ornamental leather 25 per cent. less than can be supplied by factories in the States, without including the duties.

Communications.
To the Editor of the STAR.
It will be remembered by our citizens with what alacrity many of the merchants of Woodstock last year hastened to take shares in the new steamer "Florenceville," then in course of construction. The Government are soon to pay over the $1000 bonus. Now we want to know what earthly use can be perceptible in such a course. Before this boat was built, the N. B. R. carried the freight to Woodstock at moderate rates. No effort or intention was made or manifested towards cornering the people of Woodstock in the freight line. No such raising in the freight tariff was made, as might be reasonably expected from lack of competition. A this time, whilst the "Florenceville" lies in her semi-annual berth at Swan Creek, these individuals are forced to get their goods brought by the N. B. R. The N. B. R. Co. was the means of having a bridge placed across the river at Woodstock; and being able and willing to transport freight to Woodstock fully as low as the steamer, the action of the Government in this matter is justly subject to criticism. I think the honorable and enterprising way in which the Company has acted in all its dealings with the citizens of Woodstock, deserves unqualified sympathy and support.

MERCHANT.
Woodstock, Nov. 10.

A fight on Sunday, lasting all day, took place in Chualar, Mexico, between two hundred Indians and fifty men from Carza, New Mexico, the latter having thirty killed and eighteen escaped wounded. The Indians are the same Major Morrow is pursuing.

Disappointment pervades the comments in the morning journals on Beaconsfield's speech. It was anticipated, Beaconsfield would throw some light on the relations of England with Turkey and Afghanistan and on the chances of a dissolution of parliament. But the concluding sentence of his speech is accepted in some quarters as negating the idea of a dissolution.

DELICATE WOMEN. Pale-faced, Sickly Complexion, the feet and limbs are benumbed by the Strenuous and Blood Making Power of "Harrison's Quinine Wine and Iron." It stimulates the circulation, improves the Appetite, and removes all impurities from the Blood. It is the best medicine you can take to give you lasting Strength.

THE HONORABLE, UNSHIRTED, BROTHERS and LIES. and the SLOW, COLORLESS COMPLEXIONS can be QUICKLY and EFFECTUALLY CURED, by a CLEAR BLOOD-MAKING, and the ONLY PURELY VEGETABLE, and SURELY PROVED, and IS SURELY "HARRISON'S QUININE WINE AND IRON." It is the best medicine you can take to give you lasting Strength. Price 50 cents per bottle, 2 for $1.00. For sale by all druggists.

OUR EUROPEAN LETTER.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]
LONDON, ENG., NOV. 1, 1879.

London is beginning to wake up, and the dullness of the dull period is almost at an end, and signs are now apparent of an approaching Autumn and Winter season. A century ago London was the centre of festivities throughout the cold months, and Parliament sat for a few weeks before and for several weeks after Christmas. Field sports were pursued almost as much then as now, but the work of legislation and the art of shooting and hunting were looked on as things apart. Legislators did not trouble themselves about the chase; and mighty hunters had no ambition to make laws. Now, however, it seems to be an understood thing that every one who aspires to play a part must shine, more or less conspicuously, in every department of the Spring and summer in Parliament, he must hunt, he must keep a yacht, he must show himself in fashionable assemblies, he must have a seat at the opera. The year is so partitioned out that he must do his duty in the appointed times; and it being impossible to hunt and shoot until after the crops have been got in, it was, in the first place, found necessary to reserve the Autumn, Winter and early Spring for field sports. The business of making laws can be attended to at any time, and the only months left for this comparatively important occupation are those of the Spring and summer. Nevertheless, the women have at last become exceedingly tired of remaining cooped up in the country while their husbands, brothers, lovers, are amusing themselves with the slaughter of wild animals. There are women, no doubt, who hunt, and there are women who, without firing a gun, go out shooting in the sense of accompanying shooting parties. Absolutely none, and as the sake of seeing partridges and pheasants shot, but rather with the view of bringing down men on their account that ladies love the covers; and there are, fortunately, a good many ladies who do not consider this very active form of sport worth undertaking. What interest, then, can the country possibly have for them during the Winter months? A Frenchman, named Guerin, was sentenced to twelve months' hard labor for demanding money from and menacing M. Pietri, secretary to the late Prince Imperial. M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might be useful to the imperial cause. It would almost seem as if the jury partly believed the man's ravings for, on finding him guilty, they recommended to the late Prince Imperial, M. Guerin, after the manner of his kind, and wrongs. Of course, he had served the late Emperor's lie—they all do it—and equally, of course, the Emperor had promised him 80,000 francs for his services. But among the most amusing of M. Guerin's statements was the one in which he declared that he had been asked to go to Paris at the time of the Commune, and endeavor to get up a massacre which might

How'er it be it seems to me
Whatever my rivals say
I can manufacture the equal
Of the Deacon's One-Horse Shay.

Carriage & Sleigh FACTORY.

WAGONS AND CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS AND PUNGS

Built to order in the Latest and Most Approved Styles. Any vehicle from our establishment guaranteed to wear out.

CARRIAGES PAINTED, FRAMED AND REPAIRED.

A number of Carriages for Sale cheap for Cash. Special terms can be made by calling on or writing to the proprietor.

R. COLWELL,
King St., Fredericton,
Oct. 14th, 1879.—1yr.

Just Received.

QUINCES, PEARS, ORANGES,
MALAGA GRAPES,
SWEET POTATOES,
For Sale by
G. T. WHELPLEY,
F'ron, Oct. 18th, 1879.—1f.

St. Mary's Hotel.

MILES & McKEEN, - Proprietors.
THIS popular and favorite Hotel having just been nicely fitted up, the subscribers take pleasure in announcing that parties in want of board or rooms can be accommodated with the same at prices to suit the times. Special arrangements may be made.
St. Mary's, opp. F'ron, Oct. 25.—3m.

NOTICE

To Builders and all Others.

THE Subscriber has on hand all descriptions of
SPRUCE, PINE and

HEMLOCK PLANK

Also Thoroughly Seasoned
PINE FINISHING IN

SHEATHING AND OTHERWISE.

Also, DRY SPRUCE FLOORING AND SHEATHING.

Also, LATHS, SHINGLES AND PALINGS.

Keeps on hand a Large Assortment of SPRUCE, PINE and HEMLOCK LOGS, from which he is prepared to saw BILLS of SCANTLING to order at all times, and with despatch.

All Orders delivered FREE by careful and obliging teamsters.

Office: IN MILL (WEST END),
R. A. ESTEY,
Campbell Street,
Fredericton, July 15.—1f.

LADIES'

Felt Hats

MADE OVER

INTO LATEST STYLES AT

The American Hat Factory,

OPPOSITE NEW POST OFFICE,
Oct 18 Queen Street, Fredericton.

RICHARDS'

Insurance Rooms,

Next Door above People's Bank, F'ron.

ATTENTION is requested to the following list of FIRST CLASS Insurance Companies represented by John Richards, Fredericton, N. B.

Queen,.....do
Liverpool and London and Globe, do
Edwards,.....do
Hartford,.....do
Imperial,.....do
Canada Fire and Marine,.....do
Northern,.....do
National,.....do
Citizens,.....do
Queen,.....do
Life
Edna, of Hartford,.....do
Citizens, of Montreal,.....do
Metropolitan Plate Glass, Plate Glass
Accident L. C. of Canada,.....do
Citizens, of Montreal,.....do
Old Fellows B. A. of Chicago,.....do
Hartford Benevolent Association, do

Represents a capital of over One Hundred Millions of Dollars.

Fire Risks from $100 to $50,000.
Oct. 25, 1879.

A GOOD PLAN, Combining and operating many policies under one roof, with a surplus of capital, with liberal management, low rates, and prompt payouts. For particulars apply to LAWRENCE & CO., 25 Exchange Place, New York.

WINSLOW HILLEY,

Druggist & Apothecary

ST. MARY'S FERRY,

OPPOSITE FREDERICTON, N. B.

Prescriptions carefully compounded from Pure Drugs at all hours.
Oct. 14th—3 mos.

R. H. RAINSFORD,

QUEEN STREET, FREDERICTON,
—OPPOSITE STONE BARRACKS.—

GROCERIES and PROVISIONS,

—FOR SALE AT BOTTOM PRICES.—

TEAS, of the choicest brands,
SUGAR, MEAL,
FLOUR, POTATOES,
FISH, OIL, MOLASSES,
COFFEE and SPICES, ETC., ETC.

Country Produce taken in exchange for goods.
Oct. 21, 1879.—1y

NEW STORE!

New Styles. New Goods.

Bottom Prices.

Boots & Shoes

IN THE NEW

BOOT & SHOE STORE,

Sha. Key's New Building.

The subscriber has just imported a new and select stock of

Men, Women and Youths'

BOOTS & SHOES,

.....FOR SPRING AND.....

SUMMER WEAR

From the very best FRENCH KIDS, to the cheapest quality. Also a new and select stock of

HATS,

OF ALL SIZES AND STYLES,

The latest fashion and cheap for cash.

I am prepared to sell the present stock at the LOWEST Prices, having purchased before the National Policy came into operation.

The stock has been mostly manufactured expressly for me; the balance has been selected by myself. Give me a call and see quality and prices for yourself.

THOMAS LUCY,

Sharkey's New Building, Queen Street
NEXT TO THE BAKER HOUSE,
Fredericton, May 3, 1879.—1f.

JUST RISING FROM

THE ASHES!

OWEN SHARKEY

Now occupies his New Building, (at the old stand), where he will be glad to meet all his old friends and customers, and all others who will be kind enough to favor him with their patronage.

The Stock comprises STAPLE AND FANCY

DRY GOODS,

CLOTHS, TWEEDS and WOR-STED COATINGS,

Ready-Made Clothing for Men and Boys.

Also HATS, CAPS, TRUNKS, VALISES

ROOM PAPER, &c

All imported previous to the advance in the Tariff and will be sold at prices that must guarantee satisfaction.

OWEN SHARKEY.

ELECTRIC OIL

Producers, Refiners & Shippers.

PETROLIA, - ONTARIO.

CANADA.

AT

John M. Wiley's.

J. BULLOCK,

Nelson St., St. John, N. B.,

Sole Agent

For New Brunswick, for the above
Oils, which he keeps constantly in Stock, and

Is prepared to Supply the Trade.
July 15—3mos.

FINE STATIONERY,

AT

Cropley's,

Sept. 16—Cropley's Corner

PETROLEUM.

WE BEG TO

Caution

The trade and consumers against the use of any

ROCK, OR

COAL

OILS

Branded with a STAR, unless our name in full appears on each package. We have commenced proceedings against parties for the infringement of our

Trade Mark

'SILVER STAR'

(With a five-pointed Star painted red each package.)

And shall prosecute to the full extent of the law all persons who sell or attempt to sell any Oil for illuminating purposes branded in imitation of our trade-mark.

WE ARE ALSO PACKERS OF

REFINED OIL

In patent tin cans, and are the only manufacturers in Canada.

Producing a very high grade of Refined Oil, we guarantee the same for gravity, fire-test and burning quality.

We Solicit a Trial.

ASK FOR

'SILVER STAR.'

Take no other? and see that our name is on each package. You will then have an oil that in every respect is equal to the best high test American.

J. LENGJEHART & CO

WITH A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Ladies' Serge Boots,

From FIFTY CENTS up to Two

DOLLARS, and all the leading lines. The stock is all new and well selected, and I am determined to sell it at a very

SMALL PROFITS.

Executed in the neatest and latest styles.

THOMAS LUCY,

Sharkey's New Building

F'ron, May 29, 1879.

New New

BOOT

& SHOE

STORE.

The subscriber has

JUST COMPLETED

His Stock of

BOOTS, SHOES

AND RUBBERS,

FOR SUMMER WEAR.

Also a full line of

SILK, FELT AND

FUR HATS,

The latest styles for

MEN AND BOYS.

His stock of Boots and Shoes

comprises the following:—

Ladies' fine French Kid Button,

" " " Side Laced

" " " button shoe

" " " Tie "

" " " Slippers,

Men's Tie Shoe, Sewed,

" " " Pegged,

" " " Sewed,

" Excelsior Boot,

" Fine Gaiters,

" Strong "

" " Shoes in every style

" Fine Boots,

" Custom Made Boots,

" Stout Working "

HOTEL PRINTING.

RULES AND REGULATIONS,
CARDS, ENVELOPES,
LETTER AND NOTE HEAD
FILLS OF FARE of all kinds.

RAILWAY PRINTING.]

PROGRAMMES,
ADMISSION TICKETS, LIBRETTOS,
DODGERS,

THEATRICAL PRINTING

TIME TABLES,
WAY BILLS,
SHOW CARDS,
TARIFF RATES

DRUGGISTS' PRINTING.

PRESCRIPTION BLANKS,
ORNAMENTAL LABELS,
CATALOGUES,
COUNTER BILLS,
OVAL LABELS,
STOCK LABELS,
And LABELS of every description.

PREScription BLANKS,

ORNAMENTAL LABELS,

CATALOGUES,

COUNTER BILLS,

OVAL LABELS,

STOCK LABELS,

And LABELS of every description.

THEATRICAL PRINTING

PROGRAMMES,
ADMISSION TICKETS,
LIBRETTOS,
DODGERS,

RAILWAY PRINTING.]

TIME TABLES,
WAY BILLS,
SHOW CARDS,
TARIFF RATES

DRUGGISTS' PRINTING.

PRESCRIPTION BLANKS,
ORNAMENTAL LABELS,
CATALOGUES,
COUNTER BILLS,
OVAL LABELS,
STOCK LABELS,
And LABELS of every description.

PREScription BLANKS,

ORNAMENTAL LABELS,

CATALOGUES,

COUNTER BILLS,

OVAL LABELS,

STOCK LABELS,

And LABELS of every description.

THEATRICAL PRINTING

PROGRAMMES,
ADMISSION TICKETS,
LIBRETTOS,
DODGERS,

RAILWAY PRINTING.]

TIME TABLES,
WAY BILLS,
SHOW CARDS,
TARIFF RATES

DRUGGISTS' PRINTING.

THE "STAR"

Job Printing

DEPARTMENT,

Corner Queen & Regent Sts

THE JOB PRINTING DEPARTMENT OF THE STAR is now replete with the very latest styles of Job Type, and the work is executed under the superin-tendance of a thorough and experienced workman.

MERCANTILE PRINTING.

BILLHEADS, LETTER HEADS,
NOTE HEADS, MEMORANDUMS, STATEMENTS, CIRCULARS

BUSINESS CARDS,
ADDRESS CARDS,
VISITING CARDS
SHIPPING CARDS,
SHIPPING RECEIPTS

DRUGGISTS' PRINTING.

PRESCRIPTION BLANKS,
ORNAMENTAL LABELS,
CATALOGUES,
COUNTER BILLS,
OVAL LABELS,
STOCK LABELS,
And LABELS of every description.

THEATRICAL PRINTING

PROGRAMMES,
ADMISSION TICKETS,
LIBRETTOS,
DODGERS,

RAILWAY PRINTING.]

TIME TABLES,
WAY BILLS,
SHOW CARDS,
TARIFF RATES

DRUGGISTS' PRINTING.

PRESCRIPTION BLANKS,
ORNAMENTAL LABELS,
CATALOGUES,
COUNTER BILLS,
OVAL LABELS,
STOCK LABELS,
And LABELS of every description.

PREScription BLANKS,

ORNAMENTAL LABELS,

CATALOGUES,

COUNTER BILLS,

OVAL LABELS,

STOCK LABELS,

And LABELS of every description.

THEATRICAL PRINTING

PROGRAMMES,
ADMISSION TICKETS,
LIBRETTOS,
DODGERS,

RAILWAY PRINTING.]

TIME TABLES,
WAY BILLS,
SHOW CARDS,
TARIFF RATES

DRUGGISTS' PRINTING.

PRESCRIPTION BLANKS,
ORNAMENTAL LABELS,
CATALOGUES,
COUNTER BILLS,
OVAL LABELS,
STOCK LABELS,
And LABELS of every description.

PREScription BLANKS,

ORNAMENTAL LABELS,

CATALOGUES,

COUNTER BILLS,

OVAL LABELS,

STOCK LABELS,

And LABELS of every description.

THEATRICAL PRINTING

PROGRAMMES,
ADMISSION TICKETS,
LIBRETTOS,
DODGERS,

RAILWAY PRINTING.]

TIME TABLES,
WAY BILLS,
SHOW CARDS,
TARIFF RATES

DRUGGISTS' PRINTING.

PRESCRIPTION BLANKS,
ORNAMENTAL LABELS,
CATALOGUES,
COUNTER BILLS,
OVAL LABELS,
STOCK LABELS,
And LABELS of every description.

PREScription BLANKS,

ORNAMENTAL LABELS,

CATALOGUES,

COUNTER BILLS,

OVAL LABELS,

STOCK LABELS,