THE ENGLISH MAIL.

Lord Coleridge and Mr. Justice Lopes have given judgment in the case of the English Mail. Lord Coleridge held that the publication of the proceedings before the committee was not the less privileged because the application was dismissed on the grounds stated.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

The following is Lord Dufferin's speech at the Montreal Banquet on Monday.

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN.—Before attempting to express to you my deep gratitude for the kind and generous reception you have given to the mention of my name, but still more for the round of honours and hospitality with which I have been surrounded during the present week, there is a little matter of business which, since it has been referred to the Council-General of the Dominion, I feel I ought to mention to you.

It has been decided to abandon the Parliament Square site for the proposed railway. The Metropolitan Railway Company is now in possession of the site.

Mr. Bright is now sitting for his portrait to Mr. Gales. The picture is in commission with the artist.

The Irish Parliamentary party, to the number of 20, have been elected to the House of Commons. The party is led by Mr. Charles Stewart Parnell.

THE RELEASED PRISONERS.

Mr. Blackie resigned. The official notice of his resignation was published in the Montreal Gazette.

TERRIBLE STABBING AFFRAY AT THORNHILL.

On Friday night, or rather early on Saturday morning, a most serious stabbing affray, which may result in the death of one of the persons engaged in it, occurred in the village of Thornhill.

It appears that shortly after midnight a wagon containing four men entered the village from the north and proceeded in the direction of Thornhill. A crowd of young men and boys were standing on the street, and peered the occupants with curiosity.

The two men closed upon each other, and on putting his hand behind his back he had stabbed the other in the chest. The wound was a serious one.

Mr. Blackie resigned. The official notice of his resignation was published in the Montreal Gazette.

The Weekly Mail, TORONTO, FRIDAY, FEB. 22, 1878.

A DISHARTENED PARTY.

The Ministerialists at Ottawa have at last become sensible of the fact that their tenure of office is in imminent danger of coming to the Parliament.

VI.—That to induce a number of well-known persons in England and Scotland to become directors in these Companies large sums of money were given them by Huntington and McEwen; but that several of them learned the fraudulent character of the transactions to which they had been induced to lend their names.

VII.—That Huntington and McEwen acted in the first place, with £10,000 in the hands of the latter, and £20,000 in position to which was attached an annual salary of £2,000, one James Taylor, to whom £25,000 was paid, one James Taylor, to whom £25,000 was paid, one James Taylor, to whom £25,000 was paid.

VIII.—That instead of £25,000 having been paid to the Clark mine, only £20,000 was paid, out of which the said plaintiff received or retained, or was returned, the sum of $5,000 or thereabouts.

IX.—That the total sum received by Huntington and McEwen out of these two transactions amounted to $1,200,000 or thereabouts.

X.—That in less than two years from the time of the formation of the said two Companies, the said Huntington, by means of the false representations of the said plaintiff, and the comparative worthless character of the said stocks, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XI.—That the whole of the said mining properties, including the said Huntington, are unremunerative, are practically worthless, and now represent but a small fraction of the value of the said stocks, as shown by the low bid prices thereof.

XII.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XIII.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XIV.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XV.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XVI.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XVII.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XVIII.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XIX.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XX.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

XXI.—That the said Huntington, by means of the said false representations, obtained a sum of £240,000, in the current and ordinary value of their shares, and in the said Huntington, since the said period the said depression has continued and greatly increased.

Reform party when in Opposition pledged themselves to make a huge saving, nothing has been done. Here are a few of these heads comparing 1873-4 with the full year 1876-7:

Here, in the items where per centage is given, the great army of office-holders and tax-payers has its being, the Reform figures exceed the Tory figures by $650,000 a year!

Public Works and add to the prevailing distress, or cut out the militia and police force, but under the heads where we used to boast he could effect an enormous saving, he is extravagant beyond any Tory or Radical parallel.

Why didn't the Premier apply the knife vigorously here? The revenue collected was half a million less than in 1873-4, and yet the cost of collecting was increased to the amount created for needy patients and the enormous addition to the Customs staff, was no less than $153,000 more!

Why didn't he leave $150,000 to the workmen and take it out of his dromes in the Customs? Take Exercise:

city—are useless for any sound statistical deductions. But such wastefulness, supplemented by special inquiries as to the reasons of the mortality increase, is not a successful method.

The health of any population is most closely bound up with its well-being. But the true condition of things can only be found out by absolutely reliable returns, and, so far as the death-rate is concerned, there is no excuse whatever for any incompletion, as the simple provision of a few medical men, to be employed without a certificate that the death has been registered in all which is needed.

The cemetery returns for Toronto show that this provision may have been ignored in some 400 cases at least last year. But of course the elevation of the moral standard absorbs a public care and time that the physical condition of the people is a mere bagatelle in comparison.

Not a soul in Ontario can ascertain whether his district is more or less healthy than the average, or than any specified district, or what is the relative mortality or prevalence of different diseases, because what concerns his district is of minor importance in the "Great" view that promotes hold on the leaves and fishes. The Ontario Department has neglected to carry on the statistical legislation inaugurated by its predecessors—being evidently indifferent to, or else afraid of, enforcing its observance.

The collection of federal statistics, "entirely neglected," and elaborately tabulated rubbish just put upon the table of the Legislative Assembly by Mr. HARTY may be serviceable to the "Grit" party, but we know of no other special or general utility purposes for which it is worth looking at. In Ottawa, for instance, the Registrar-General, Mr. Mackenzie, is a body known who, on returns in a totally different country and climate—was 525, and the "actual" return was 382. Pah!

The New York City Board of Health was asked by the State Legislature to report upon the wholesomeness of oleomargarine as an article of food; also whether legislation was required to regulate its sale.

The Board has formally replied to the effect that oleomargarine is a good and wholesome article of food, and that no legislation is required to regulate its sale.

When Mr. Greenway was returned for South Huron, says the Exeter Times, he received the Liberal-Conservative nomination and in accepting it said: "I do not wish to be a member of the House, but I will follow the Opposition every step. But the Opposition will have my independent support. The present Government are incapable of governing the country in 1874, will Mr. Greenway tell us what he has done to govern to-day? Or has his conversion been effected by a prospective contract like David's in 1873?"

The Prescott Standard says that the Customs House authorities there have their hands full just now, and with all their vigilance smuggling from the other side is going on briskly. Crowds of "ladies and gentlemen" are seen every day, and many of them are carrying over their heads and returning, and to look after them all is no joke. The ladies, it is said, are carrying over their heads and returning, and to look after them all is no joke.
