WITHDRAW FROM FISHERIES PACT AND RECIPROCITY

The Action Affords Proof to Many That Reciprocity Agreement Would Give Trouble When the Conflicting U. S. Interests Saw it in Operation.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The official announcement that Canada is very likely to withdraw from the agreement with the United States respecting the regulation of intercontinental fisheries, is regarded here as peculiarly pertinent to the reciprocity campaign. The experts of the two countries, after much hard work and numerous conferences, drew up extended regulations which were approved by Canada and tentatively sanctioned by United States. When it came to a show-down, however, the Americans have failed to make good in respect to their side of the undertaking, and the influence of big interests among the fish companies upon the United States Senate is assigned as the cause.

MAY EXERT INFLUENCE ON ELECTION

There is to-day a natural speculation as to whether, in the event of reciprocity passing, a like situation would not arise. That the Americans are eager to conclude an agreement operating so peculiarly to their benefit is not doubted, but if it ever went into operation it is considered that there would be a recurrent trouble, and with no stronger probability of the undertaking being maintained without tampering than has been the case in the Fisheries Treaty, from which Canada out of self-respect, has had to withdraw. The incident is sufficient, and considered likely to exercise no small influence in the election.

SPECIAL MEETING TOWN COUNCIL

Town Council convened in special session on the 7th instant. Present: Aldermen John Clark, C. M. Dickison, J. G. Kethro, Geo. Stables and H. H. Stuart. Ald. Stables was chosen chairman. The request of Capt. L. Macdonald for reimbursement for damages sustained by his horse etc. was taken up. The amount claimed was $58 made up as follows:

Lost 15 days work of horse	$30.00
Feed of horse 15 days	7.50
Cart shafts and irons	4.75
Fair rents	1.75
Repairing harness	2.00
Bottles liniment	5.00
Veterinary's services	7.00

for $17 additional for general damages to horse, and his offer to sell the horse to the town for $200 and raise all claims, were not approved. R. Murray's bill of $49.20 expenses so far in prosecuting a second Scott Act conviction against one of our hotel men, who was convicted last January but appealed the case, was presented, also Mr. Murray's request for instructions re the case which would come up at next session court. On motion Ald. Kethro and Clark, bill was ordered paid. In regard to whether the Scott Act Inspector should continue the prosecution for second offence or let the matter drop, Ald. Clark declared that this council had nothing whatever to do with the Scott Act Inspector. It lay entirely with the Inspector as to what steps he should take. All the Council had to do was to pay the bills legally incurred by the Inspector. Council adjourned.

It was moved by Ald. Kethro and seconded by Ald. Clark, that if Mr. Macdonald accept $58 in full of all claims against the town for injuries sustained by his horse, cart, harness etc., the town pay him this amount—Carried. Mr. Macdonald's further request—

ALWAYS THE SAME OBJECT IN VIEW

The Campaign a Hundred Years Ago.

On June 17th, 1812, the Senate of the United States passed a bill declaring war against Great Britain, the principal object of which was to seize the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. Dr. Eustis, United States Secretary of War at that time, in one of his speeches said, "We can take the Canadas without soldiers; we have only to send officers into the Provinces, and the people, dissatisfied towards their own Government, will rally round our standard." Hon. Henry Clay on the floors of Congress said, "It is absurd to suppose that we will not succeed in our enterprise against the enemy's provinces. We have the Canadas as much under our command as Great Britain has the ocean, and the way to conquer her on the ocean is to drive her from the land. I am not for stopping at Quebec or anywhere else; but I would take the whole continent from them and ask them no favors."

The invasion of Canada was under way before the Congress had taken final action, but it was not until the 12th July that General Hull, who had command of the western army of the United States; crossed the Detroit River to establish his headquarters at Sandwich on the Canadian side.

THE PROCLAMATION

From this point General Hull issued a proclamation to the inhabitants of Canada which for bombastic impudence is unequalled by any document in the English language. This remarkable proclamation is as follows:

"Inhabitants of Canada: "After thirty years of peace and prosperity the United States have been driven to arms. The injuries and aggressions, the insults and indignities of Great Britain have once more left them no alternative but manly resistance, or unconditional submission. "The Army under my command, has invaded your country, AND THE STANDARD OF UNION NOW WAVES OVER THE TERRITORY OF CANADA. To the peaceable, unoffending inhabitant, it brings neither danger nor difficulty. I come to find enemies, not to make them. I come to protect, not to injure you.

"Separated by an immense ocean, and an extensive wilderness from Great Britain, you have no participation in her councils, nor interest in her conduct. You have felt her tyranny, you have seen her injustice, but I do not ask you to avenge the one or redress the other. The United States are sufficiently powerful to afford you every security, consistent with their rights, and your expectations. I tender you the invaluable blessings of civil, political and religious liberty, and their necessary result, individual and general prosperity, that liberty which gave decision to our councils and energy to our conduct in our struggle for independence, and which conducted us safely and triumphantly through the stormy period of the revolution—that liberty which has raised us to an elevated rank among the nations of the world, and which has afforded us a greater measure of peace and security, of wealth and improvement than ever fell to the lot of any people.

"In the name of my country and by the authority of my Government, I promise protection to your persons, your peaceful and customary avocations—raise not your hands against your brethren—many of your fathers fought for the freedom and independence we now enjoy. Being children, therefore, of the same family with us, and heirs to the same heritage, the arrival of an army of friends must be hailed by you with a cordial welcome. You will be emancipated from tyranny and oppression, and restored to the dignified station of freedom.

"Had I any doubt of eventual success, I might ask your assistance but I do not. I come prepared for every contingency. I have a force which will look down all opposition and that force is but the vanguard of a much greater. If contrary to your interests, and the just expectation of my country, you should take part in the approaching contest, you will be considered and treated as enemies, the horrors and calamities of war will stalk before you.

"If the barbarous and savage policy of Great Britain be pursued, and the savages are let loose to murder our citizens, and butcher our women and children, this war will be a war of extermination. The first stroke of the tomahawk the first attempt with the scalping knife, will be the signal of one indiscriminate scene of desolation. No white man found fighting by the side of an Indian, will be taken prisoner—instant destruction will be his lot. If the dictates of reason, duty, justice and humanity cannot prevent the employment of a force which respects no rights, and knows no wrong, it will be prevented by a severe and relentless system of retaliation.

"I doubt not your courage and firmness; I will not doubt your attachment to liberty. If you tender your services voluntarily, they will be accepted readily.

"The United States offer you peace, liberty and security. Your choice lies between these and war, slavery, and destruction. Choose then, but choose wisely; and may He who knows the justice of the cause, and who holds in His Hands the fete of nations, guide you to a result the most compatible with your rights and interests your peace and prosperity.

—W. HULL
By the General A. F. Hull,
Capt. 13th Regt. U. S. Inf. and aide-de-camp.
Headquarters, Sandwich, July 12th, 1812."

THE CAMPAIGN OF 1911

"The Dominion has prospered. It has an active, aggressive and intelligent people. They are COMING TO THE PARTING OF THE WAYS"—President Taft.

"The bond uniting the Dominion with the Mother Country is LIGHT AND ALMOST IMPERCEPTIBLE"—President Taft.

"The forces, which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States, and to make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described, AND THAT I EARNESTLY AND SINCERELY BELIEVE WILL FOLLOW ITS ADOPTION, we must take it now, or give it up forever."—President Taft.

The answer of the Canadian people to General Hull was very different from that which he expected. His residence in Canada was of less than a month's duration, for on August 7, accompanied by his army, he recrossed the river and reestablished himself at Detroit, which he surrendered to General Brock on August 15, yielding up 2,500 men, thirty pieces of cannon, and 2,500 stands of arms.

This was the way the Canadian people of 1812 replied to the arrogance and impudence of an American political general of a hundred years ago. The attempt to take Canada by force was most disastrous to the United States. At the close of the war in 1815 the country was practically bankrupt, its trade was ruined and whatever standing the nation had secured following the successful issue of the revolutionary war thirty-two years before, was lost.

There have been no armed invasions since that of 1812, but the desire to possess this great and glorious country is as deeply rooted in the American mind as it ever was. Peaceful methods must now be pursued, but the proposals of Mr. Taft means EXACTLY THE SAME THING AS THE PROCLAMATION OF GENERAL HULL—THE VASSALAGE OF THE CANADIAN PEOPLE TO THE UNITED STATES.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM SKY-TOWN

Dear Mr. Editor:
I am much obliged to you for publishing my last letter. As the Patent Medicine advertisements say, "it brought instant relief."

You remember what a stormy wet day it was when the Advocate came out last week. And speaking of rain, I might say it washed some of the ink off my copy of your paper. Enough of it stuck, however, to do the trick, for that very night in all the wet the Deputy Vice-President of the Liberal Canvassing Committee came down and called on me.

We had a long talk, at least HE had. He started back at the very beginning of Reciprocity, he told me who was the diabolical inventor of it; that Eve was the first canvasser and Adam the first convert. Then he waded through Ancient History as it is now taught by the Liberals, and gave me all the names of all the men who ever discussed Reciprocity down to the year 1522. Then I asked him to skip a few pages. At last he got down to butts and how Reciprocity is going to hit us.

He said it was just here and on the Miramichi generally that the real beauty of Reciprocity comes in. Reciprocity will give the Miramichi farmers and fishermen higher markets in the United States than they can hope for in Canada, and it will also enable us workmen to buy farm produce cheaper in the States than we can here. He had two pamphlets to prove this. One was for Ontario farmers, and shows that the American markets are better than the Canadian; the other was for the Miners of Cape Breton, and proves that the Americans can deliver stuff in Sydney cheaper than the home farmers can. He said he had never seen both tracts given at the same time, but that mine was a serious case and he guessed he would risk it. I swallowed them both. I say, Mr. Editor, did you ever take a Seidlitz Powder on the instalment plan?

When I came to, he looked as big as a barrel, but he was still talking. He was saying that this was the reason the American Trusts were trying so hard to coax Canada to vote for Reciprocity; that they wanted to give cheaper produce to Canadian workmen, and higher markets to Canadian farmers, and that this was their ONLY reason. He also showed me how Mr. Hurst was willing to spend millions republishing his papers in Canada to prove how unselfish his friends are. It seems clear enough, but I don't quite understand it. Just now I have only got as far as having nightmares that one-half of me is a farmer and the other half a mill-owner, and that the Town had tax-bills against both of us.

Yours truly,
S. B. P.
P. S. More trouble. The wife has been reading the "Leader's" interview with Mr. Robinson. She says I will have to buy her 250 pounds of that "Seidlitz" stuff whether the duty comes off it or not.

"Say, pop," exclaimed the young man, "if I can buy a $300 horse for $150 will you take a chattel mortgage on him and help me out with the cash?"

"What kind of a horse, my son?" enquired the father cautiously.

"Bay, four years old, fifteen hands high, weighs a thousand pounds, and sound in wind, limb and bottom."

"That sounds good to me, my son, and I want to do all I can to help you along in the world," and he reached down into the safe for his roll.

"A hundred and forty-nine fifty."

"The old man gasped and caught hold of the desk."

"What?" he exclaimed.

"A hundred and forty-nine, fifty, I've got half a dollar."

Slowly the old man shoved the roll back into the safe.

"My son," he said softly, "you are wanting time trading horses. What you ought to do is to go into the loan and trust business."

David Paget, a London street-boy violinist, has taken in the way of good fortune, Paget, who is only fourteen years of age, earned a livelihood by playing outside the doors of theatres.

The boy's achievements, chronicled in the newspapers, caught the eye of Kubelik, the famous Bohemian violinist, who had just arrived in London.

To demonstrate his abilities, the lad played the intermezzo from Cavalleria, Rusticana, so effectively that Kubelik exclaimed: "Good, bravo!"

The little party went to a violin shop and after trying out a few instruments Kubelik selected for his protegee one with a strong and beautiful tone.

Instructions were given that good supply of requisites should be provided for Paget, and Kubelik ordered that there should be attached to the case a plate bearing the inscription:

"To David Paget, with best wishes for his promising future, from Jas. Kubelik, May 25, 1911."

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount.

COVERT ATTACK ON JAS. ROBINSON

Mr. Jas Robinson is credited in a local paper with an opinion on Reciprocity that is ballasted with a remarkable collection of big words, even including 'eventuate,' supposed to belong exclusively to one of our young newspaper men. He is made to say, at the close, that 'Mr. Loggie will be returned, the Government will be sustained and simultaneously this great paramount measure will be adopted.' Whoooop! Surely that's going some! If he were on the stump, making a speech to a big audience, we could understand, but that so much extempore eloquence should be poured forth in an everyday interview, is what puzzles us. But surely Mr. Robinson never predicted that the election of Mr. Loggie and the adoption of this great paramount measure(?) would occur 'simultaneously,' as many days if not weeks would elapse in any case between the two events. Mr. Robinson has good cause of action against the newspaper that has represented him as a user of big words without regard to their meaning. He is entitled to heavy damages, especially as this attempt to make him ridiculous in the eyes of the public is made under the cloak of friendship.

CARD

To the Electors of the County of Northumberland:

Gentlemen: The Liberal-Conservative Convention of our County, held last month, nominated me as the Party's Candidate at the approaching election of a member of the House of Commons for this Constituency. I have accepted the nomination and as such nominees solicit your support of the principles laid down at that convention and held by the Conservative Party in Canada.

I find it will be impossible for me to personally interview all the electors, as I would like to do, but hope to be able, with their cooperation, to give them a chance of hearing my statement of the case at issue, at public meetings throughout the County, and I earnestly appeal to you to give the great question your careful and loyal consideration and vote against the Reciprocity Pact and for the platform of the Liberal Conservative Party and mark your ballots for me, its Candidate, on the twenty-first of September.

That Convention spoke not only for the Conservative Party but also for the large number of Liberals who have taken issue with their Leaders both on the vital question of the day and also on the manner in which they have attempted to force this policy upon the Country without consulting the people.

The Election now about to be held is the most important since 1878. It is a referendum on the question of Reciprocity with the United States to the supreme decision of the people. The Government entered into this Reciprocity Pact by secret negotiation at Washington, on its own initiative, without request, without discussion, and without the approval of the people. It is altogether due to the Conservative Party and some patriotic Liberal members, that the people have obtained an opportunity of expressing their opinion and giving their decision on the question.

There are many questions emanating from the position taken by the Government; the effect of this radical change in our fiscal policy on the industries of our Country; the exploiting by indifferent and foreign corporations and trusts of our forests and other natural resources; the debasing of our people into hewers of wood for the aggrandizement of foreign labour and capital in the higher processes of manufacture; the cheapening and control of our market by foreign producers; the closing of markets for our products which are only now being established. Shall Canada remain a free country? free to make her own laws and tariffs—or shall she don the republican livery that Fielding and Patterson would make us wear? Shall Canada remain in the British Empire—the greatest of its world encircled dominions—the brightest gem in the Imperial Crown; growing with the Empire, protected by its Army and Navy, sharing its greatness, glory growth and prosperity,—or shall she enter upon the path that lead to entanglement and separation? These are kindred subjects I hope to discuss with you on the public platform during my canvass.

The Vital Question is,—Shall Canada direct her own destinies? Shall our relations with other countries be the friendly but free dealings of one self-respecting people with another? President Taft says, 'Canada is at the parting of the ways.' And this is true. Which way will you take? The path that leads to Washington fellow-citizens of Northumberland? fiscal dependence and ultimate annexation; or the path of tariff independence, national self-respect and closer trade relations with the other members of our great Empire? Years of a hostile tariff have taught Canada independence and are beginning to bring her wealth. Why this sudden insistence by the United States upon giving us what is no longer a necessity? For years we sought it and were denied. We have found other markets; other capital has sought us; other investors have established their industries among us; our credit is now firmly established in other and larger money centres and the conditions which induced us to desire Reciprocity with the United States have long since disappeared.

The meaning of these sudden overtures by the United States is plain, and the answer of the Liberal-conservative Party, and the Liberals who join it on this issue is the voicing of the decision of the country that Canada will protect and maintain for her own people, her wealth, her natural resources, her constitution and her autonomy.

Your Obedient Servant, D. MORRISON, Aug. 26th, 1911.

The reciprocity agreement does not provide for the free admission of 'kraft,' the paper manufactured at the Beveridge mill, to the United States. It admits no paper except news print of the value of four cents a pound or less. A newspaper paragraph that is intended to convey the impression that Mr. Beveridge's product is included in the agreement is a sneaking attempt to deceive the public. Will any Millerton elector be fooled by it?

The Telegraph claps its hands with joy over a Northumberland Conservative convert to Liberalism. Now whom do you think he is? Take an hour or a day to see if you can name him. Guess again. Give it up? The name is James Robinson! Strange, strange, but it haunts our memory like the odor of sanctity around a saintly shrine, that Mr. Robinson was converted in 1908, the day Donald Morrison was nominated by the Conservative Convention.

The destruction of the house fly is a public duty. Almost every American State Board of Health is carrying on a crusade against him.

His filthy origin and habits, and the fact that his body is generally laden with disease-producing germs, makes him one of the greatest enemies of the human race.

If the housekeepers of Canada will use persistently, this peril would be tremendously reduced.

THE LOCAL NEWS

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requiring constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

REV. F. N. ATKINSON IN METHODIST CHURCH

The Methodist pulpit Sunday night was very acceptably filled by the well-known Baptist clergyman, Rev. F. N. Atkinson, who preached from II Hebrews 10th verse. All social improvements and scientific development, declared the speaker, comes through suffering. Even to-day it is as much as a man's life is worth for him to stand out from the crowd and blaze a path for himself in the world. Even so Christ was made perfect through suffering.

BABY'S TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Hands Tied to Prevent Scratching—Five Doctors Failed to Relieve, but Zam-Buk Worked a

Mrs. Chas. Levere, of Prescott, North Channel, Ont., tells how Zam-Buk cured her baby. She says:—"My baby's head and face was one complete mass of sores. The itching and irritation were fearful, and the little one's plight was so serious that at one time we feared her ears would be eaten off by the disease.

"We had to keep her hands tied for days to prevent her rubbing and scratching the sores. Doctor after doctor treated her in vain, until we had had five doctors. They all agreed it was a frightful case of eczema, but none of them did any permanent good.

"As a last resource we were advised to try Zam-Buk. The first box did so much good that we felt sure we were at last working in the right direction. We persevered with the treatment until we had used thirteen boxes, and at the end of that time I am glad to say Zam-Buk had effected a complete cure.

For eczema, eruptions, rashes, tetter itch, ringworm and similar skin diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal. It also cures cuts, burns, scalds, piles, abscesses, chronic sores, blood poisoning, etc. All druggists and stores at 50 cents a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse imitations.

AN OLD NON-PARTISAN VOTER ASKS

Why Have Liberals No Answers to Such Important Questions.

To Editor of the Union Advocate, Sir:

Will you please allow me to enter a protest through your columns against the methods adopted by some of the supporters of Reciprocity? I refer to their refusal to answer objections to the tendency of the proposed legislation, and more particularly to their almost universal custom of sneering at any one who may want to discuss the danger of annexation. I may say that I have voted at every election since the one which confirmed the Confederation of the Provinces; that I voted against the Liberals on the Reciprocity question in 1891; against the Conservatives on the general state of the Cabinet in 1896, and up to this time have always supported the present Liberal candidate. Therefore, if my political position is a material question I can hardly be called a party man.

I have real fears as to the tendency of this Reciprocity agreement. I beg to state some of the grounds therefor and will be glad to hear them discussed. The first fact is that many earnest thinking Canadians see a real danger, and that no attempt to allay these fears or meet these arguments has been made by any Liberal Leader or Organ.

It is a fact that the United States is a powerful nation at our very doors, intensely patriotic, fiercely intolerant of any interference with its interests, welcome in desirable immigrants, but insisting through her schools, her political system, her laws, and the church itself that every inhabitant, whether visitor or citizen, shall know or admit no flag, no nationality but her own. It is a fact that for years after her Revolutionary War she attempted to coerce Canada by physical force to join the Union. It is a fact that, defeated in these attempts, she has ever since tried to gain the same end by hostile tariffs, by annoying breach of treaties, by plundering our sea fisheries, and by a general national policy which refuses to acknowledge that we have any interests in common with her. It is a fact that her leading statesmen have time and time again in open Congress urged that instead of lowering the tariff to Canada it should be made prohibitive, and that such a tariff would bring not only the Canadian trade but Canada herself into the Union. It is a fact that one of her highest political leaders and thinkers said that she deprecated the rod, but that until Canada accepted her manifest destiny the rod should be used and used unparingly.

It is a fact that her natural resources are approaching depletion, and that economic depression is imminent. It is a fact that Canada's wonderful resources, development and progress have of late years been filling the minds of the ever active and intelligent American. It is a fact that the same wide-open eyes of the American have taken note of Canada's growing trade with the rest of the British Empire and with Europe. It is a fact that President Taft has warned his people that Canada is at the parting of the ways, and that if she is not recovered at once the opportunity may pass forever. It is a fact that the Leader of the dominant American party has declared that Reciprocity will establish the American flag from the Mexican Gulf to the Arctic Sea. It is a fact that President Taft has in this policy joined hands with his bitterest opponent. It is a fact that the same Leader, the most arrogant of American plutocrats, boasts that he has brought the Philippine and West Indian Islands under the flag. It is a fact that he has actually established his papers in Canada for the avowed like purpose. It is a fact that immediately before Reciprocity was suggested, and as an inducement to Canada to accept it the United States Government intimated that it was considering a prohibitive tariff against Canada. It is a fact that President Taft chose for his intermediary between the respective governments a Canadian politician who gives in explanation of his abandonment of his solemnly accepted path in life the same reason which applies with equal force to annexation—the larger life and more extended work on a wider plane. "It is a fact that Reciprocity is lathered by a Canadian Statesman who to further his own political views threatened the disruption of our Country.

In the contest in our own Constituency as well as throughout Canada, these facts and this fear are being methodically ignored. They are clearly stated in Mr. Morrison's card. No reference is made to them by Mr. Loggie or his supporting speakers, and no answer even a Card, has been issued in contradiction or explanation. And one word to these Canvassers; I have discussed politics with the fathers of most of the present Liberal canvassers, and with the grandfathers of not a few, and when these young men voluntarily seek to influence my ideas on this subject it is only courtesy that their generation should give sober, serious answers to a man of mine.

CHESTERFIELD AND ORATORY

Lord Chesterfield's letters are, I will venture to say, masterpieces of good taste, good writing and good sense.

Oratory and Hard Work—Delicateness, the celebrated Greek orator, thought it so absolutely necessary to speak well, that though he naturally stammered, and had weak lungs, he resolved, by application and care, to get the better of those disadvantages. Accordingly, he cured his stammering by putting small pebbles into his mouth; and strengthened his lungs gradually, by using himself every day to speak aloud and distinctly for a considerable time. He likewise went often to the seashore, in stormy weather, when the sea made most noise, and there spoke aloud as he could, in order to use himself to the noise and murmurs of the popular assemblies of the Athenians, before whom he was to speak. By such care, joined to the constant study of the best authors, he became at last the greatest orator of his own or any other age or country, though he was born without any one natural talent for it. Adieu! Copy Demosthenes.

CARNEGIE AND DRINK

Mr. Andrew Carnegie, whose own experience fits him to speak with authority as to the temptations that make for a successful business career, says in his book "The Empire of Business": "The first and most seductive peril, and the destroyer of most young men, is the drinking of liquor. I am no temperance lecturer in disguise, but a man who knows and tells you what observation has proved to him and I say to you that you are more likely, to fall in your career from acquiring the habit of drinking liquor, than from any or all the other temptations likely to assail you. You may yield to almost any other temptation and reform—may brace up, and if not recover lost ground, at least remain in the race, and secure and maintain a respectable position. But from the insane thirst for liquor, escape is almost impossible. I have known but few exceptions to this rule.

As a Pearl of Great Price

There is no power of love so hard to get and keep as a kind voice. A kind hand is deaf and dumb. It may be rough in flesh and blood, yet do the work of a soft heart, and do it with a soft touch. But there is no one thing that love so much needs as a sweet voice to tell what it means and feels; and it is hard to get and keep it in the right tone. One must start in youth, and be on the watch night and day, at work and play, to get and keep a voice that shall speak at all times the thoughts of a kind heart. It is often in youth that one gets a voice or tone that is sharp, and which sticks to him through life, and stirs up ill-will and griefs, and falls like a drop of gall on the sweet joys of home. Watch it day by day, as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in the end, to come than the best pearl hid in the sea. A kind voice is to the heart what light is to the eye. It is a light that sings as well as shines.

Not Your Own Face

"My boy," said a wise father who knew how to play and be a "chum" with his twelve-year-old lad, "my boy, you do not own your own face. The boy looked puzzled. He had come to the breakfast table with a frowning, clouded countenance, and had started moodily to eat his food. Everybody felt the show of his ill spirits; evident in his looks. His father's unexpected words brought him back to life, and he looked up with a half-guilty expression, but did not understand what was meant. "You do not own your face," his father repeated. "Do not forget that it belongs to other people. They, not you, have to look at it. You have no right to compel them to look at a sour, gloomy and crabbed face."

Shoe Shops of Japan

Writing about the shops of Japan a visitor to that country says that the typical shoe store makes a strange impression on the foreign visitor. "All the footwear of the little brown men are here in view. The funny wooden clogs and straw sandals are indeed a fanciful exhibition. They line the benches, the floors, the shelves. They hang from above, and seemingly are everywhere, allowing the seller just about enough room to squat on his mat. The newcomer is at once startled at the immense quantity of this simple footwear and the many places where it is sold, but he soon finds a solution to his query when he hears that a Japanese man annually makes away with from eight to ten pairs."

Logical Reasoning.

"It's difficult to understand the peculiar mental processes of the relatives of some of the offenders who appear before me," said Justice Wilkin, as a starter for his story. "Only yesterday a boy was charged with stealing coal. He simply had been told in his home to go out and get some coal. He did, and was arrested. I had to adjourn his case, and asked his sister, who was with him, to appear at the second hearing. "What! Do I have to come down here again?" she asked. "You'd better," said I, "for your brother may be sent away for a long time." "But who's going to pay the car fare?" she said. "Why, I suppose yourself! Whom do you expect to pay it?" "Why, the coal dealer who had Jimmy arrested!" she said. "Why the coal dealer?" I asked. "Because he has more money than we have," she replied.

Let no man who only pays regard to the fruits of success think that he can brise forth the fruits of his Spirit.

If you love a bad man he will soon hate some of his badness.

IN COMMERCIAL LIFE

The Exaltation of the Trust at the Expense of the Individual is the Principle Today.

In commercial life, perhaps as nowhere else, these rushing, strenuous times, when all sorts of get-rich-quick schemes are wrought with avidity in all circles where wealth is worshipped, do we see the abatement and elimination of the individual and the exaltation of the firm, the combine, the trust, the union, the league, the association. Small dealers are unmercifully frozen out by the trust, without any consideration of personal rights; and the same principles are followed in the labor organizations toward the individual worker who may choose to retain his manhood and his God-given independence. The history of the Standard Oil Company, and others in other fields, in heaping up riches, is a copy-book march over the wrecks of humbler fortunes, the subversion of personal rights, and the ruin of human life. "To live and to let live" has led to "to get by any means, fair or foul," only as the pale of a possible perversion of the law.

Queen Mary's Pantry

Queen Mary's pantry at Windsor is said to contain the most valuable collection of tableware in the world. Every reign since Queen Elizabeth's has contributed to the collection, which is stored in two rooms. The walls are lined with cases made of plate glass and mahogany, with similar cases occupying the centre of each room. The most imposing feature of these two rooms is the dinner service of solid gold used there "or dinners of the highest state. Only a table of solid silver three feet in length. A rosewater fountain of silver has a home supported on the columns around which are groomed horses and hounds. A silver gilt flagon almost a yard high is said to have been saved from the Armada. A pair of bellows mounted in silver and gold was once the property of Nell Gwynn. There is a massive pair of firetongs in solid silver made for Charles II, and a huge punch bowl was contributed by George IV.

Legislative "Howlers."

According to the official records, the Arizona Legislature recently passed a measure establishing a Horticultural Commission with powers "to employ an etymologist." Whereupon an American Journal aptly remarks that, in view of the wording of the bill itself, an etymologist would not be a bad catch after all. The Journal has collected a few more curiosities of the same type. One of them is also from Arizona, which has made it a misdemeanor to pluck an ostrich feather or plume "without the consent of the possessor." The Kentucky statutes forbid "the discharge at random" of any "deadly weapon, whether said weapon be loaded or unloaded," and a Missouri enactment, in prescribing the ingredients which may lawfully be used in the manufacture of liquor, omits any mention of water. But is it not in Missouri that your tailor asks you what size you will have your lip pockets—pints or quarts?

HIDDEN VALUES

The most undesirable and unattractive work will develop charm if one puts his whole heart into it and endeavors to do it better than it has been done before. The most commonplace lives have about them possibilities of romance, tragedy, and humor that discover themselves to the one who ministers to these lives with a brave and resolute heart. Browning's masterpiece, one of the very greatest poems that was ever written, "The Ring and the Book," sprang out of the manuscript report of a law case found in an old curiosity shop in Florence and purchased for 16c. To most people that old document would be worth no more than its value as waste paper and of as little interest as the dead leaves that the wind scatters over the fields.

So in the midst of the most unpromising conditions, if one puts his whole soul into his work and looks for its hidden value he may find it invested with a beauty and a delight that were quite unsuspected.

Novel Funeral Service

In the cranberry belt of Plymouth County, music by phonograph at a funeral has just been introduced with great success. The first funeral to mark the introduction of the phonograph was that of Ralph U. Graftum. The Rev. W. W. Dornan officiated. Arrangements had been made for the assistance of a quartette from Plymouth. At the last minute the singers sent word that on account of the excessive heat they would have to be excused. There was great disappointment until the time came for the singing of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." At just the right time a quartette was singing the exquisite old hymn so beautifully that nobody missed the Plymouth singers. One of the neighbors, witnessing the disappointment of the mourners at the news from Plymouth, had quietly slipped out, got into her buggy and drove home for the family phonograph. When she came back she brought several records, among them "Rock of Ages," "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me."

Polite Children

A child should be drilled to be occupationally polite to every person he comes in contact with, to the members of his family, to the employee in the kitchen or chamber, and to the guest within his father's gate. Children who are not obliged to be polite to their elders and to one another will not suddenly become well bred when strangers are present. They should not take the most comfortable seats or the most advantageous positions, but be observing and offer such attentions to their elders, and the boys to their sisters.

Self-stirrers sympathy, and sympathy casts out self.

BABY WEIGHED 150 POUNDS.

His Name is Flip-Flop and He is a Wairus in a Zoo.

There is in the New York Zoo an extraordinary specimen of the Atlantic wairus which was caught in Kane Basin. He is yet a baby only six months old, and for homeliness and comical facial expression he is to be equaled. For every day he is kept in his pen, but he has nothing but water for him he will go anywhere and do anything. His affections began to show itself by his flopping backward way after his keeper, and time he moved. For this the keeper called him Flip-flop, and this has been shortened to Flip.

The keeper was anxious to catch him one day. This would have been something of an undertaking, considering the circumstances as the wairus machine was some distance from the gate was opened, the keeper went out, saying: "Come on, Flip, and out came the young wairus. He allowed him not only to the keeper, but on the keeper, where, by a long time he was so fat that he was long enough to be weighed. Flip weighed at the time of his capture 150 pounds. Since then he has gained enormously, as he has a good appetite. He eats over 20 pounds of fish daily—three meals a day—the shape of clams, codfish and butterfish, from which all the bones are first carefully removed. He always seems to be ravenously hungry and eats greedily, with many growls, and flips and sighs.

BURGULAR ALARMS

Every renter has his own idea of what constitutes a desirable neighborhood," said the renting agent. "A tenant hung back from signing a lease for six hours the other day because I could not tell him whether anybody in the block was taking the fresh-air cure. He was so insistent that I finally made inquiry and learned from the janitor at No. 225 that a man on the third floor of his building sleeps every night with his head stuck out of the window, and then the tenant signed the lease.

"His precaution was due to fear of burglars. He has learned, he says, that the best burglar alarm ever invented is the fresh-air cure. Not even the doctors who advise it know so well as the second-story men how many people sleep with their heads out of the window. They know because the habit interferes with their business. Whole blocks that used to be profitable hunting grounds for burglars are now so much waste space because two or three persons in the block go to bed with the upper half of the body protruding beyond the window sill. Outdoor sleepers may sleep comfortably, but they sleep lightly. The second-story man cannot make a noise half a block away without waking them and giving the alarm."

PROVED HIS POINT

The reason he wouldn't call up the Connecticut town that night to learn how Aunt Lucinda was, the man said, was because Bill's wife was pretty sure to come to the telephone, and he couldn't stand it to talk to Bill's wife. Wait till morning and he would call Bill up at the office and find out. "What is the matter with Bill's wife?" asked Aunt Lucinda's New York niece.

"She's a fool," said the man, "especially over the long distance telephons. I telephoned up there once. Bill's wife answered. It cost me $4 for the three-minute conversation, and the only thing I could get out of Bill's wife was, 'Hello, hello. Who is this?'"

"At the very last second she understood and said, 'Oh, it is you, is it? I call that pretty expensive identification. But I will say this for Bill's wife. She is no worse than other women. The most level-headed of them get flighty when suddenly confronted with a long distance telephone message."

The woman's defense of her sex was cut short by a call to the telephone. She stepped into the hall and closed the door. "Hello," she said. "Hello. Who is this, please. What's that? Yes, that is the right number. Who are you, please? What's that? I can't make it out."

Seconds ticked away and still she reiterated, "Hello, hello. Who are you, please?" Finally, in desperation the man took the receiver from her hand. He talked for five or ten seconds and then said, "Good-bye." "That was Bill," he said. "He wanted to tell me something about Aunt Lucinda, but time was up and he didn't get a chance."

JIM'S WIFE.

After the report had been current for a week that Jim's wife, whom Jim had met and married and was still secluding in Chicago, was only as sin, a friend who had Jim's interests at heart ran down the author of the rumor with the intention of making her retract.

"How do you know she is ugly?" he asked. "Have you ever seen her?" "No," said the experienced gossip, "I never have, neither have I seen her picture, nor anybody who has seen either her or her picture, but I know she is ugly, because I had it straight from a person who lives in Chicago that when she ordered a dozen pictures taken just a while before the wedding the photographer made her pay in advance, and a photographer never does that unless the subject is so ugly that she is apt to be discouraged when she sees the pictures and refuses to pay for them good work. If you don't believe me ask any photographer."

Such is Fame. It was a Bostonian, according to Rollin Lynde Hart, in an article called "Fanny Boston," in the Metropolitan Magazine, who envied the Longfellow centenary by blurring. "Say, that guy makes me sick! He'd never 'a' been heard of if he hadn't married Alice Roosevelt."

GASOLINE BOAT

BURNED AND SUNK Between 11 and 12 Sunday night, the firemen were called out for a fire in James A. Rundle's gasoline boat, which had been moored to the wharf. Nothing could be done, however, to save the doomed boat. She spun round and round, water had no effect on the flames, and finally she blew up and sank. The loss is about $2,000. It appears that several young men from Chatham, one of whom were badly burned, were borrowing gasoline from the boat and dropped a match into her gasoline.

CANADIAN'S ANSWER TO UNCLE SAM'S RECIPROcity INVITATION

What brings you to my door? Says the bold Canadian, After forty years or more? Says the bold Canadian, Forty long and trying years Full of struggles, hopes and fears We withstood your scoffs and sneers, Says the bold Canadian.

When our sons were young and poor, Says the bold Canadian, You begrudged their meagre store, Says the bold Canadian, And you sent your armed bands For to take our homes and lands, But we met your bloody hands, Says the bold Canadian.

And our sons laid down their lives, Says the bold Canadian, For their children, homes and wives, Says the bold Canadian, And they drove you from our land In a struggle brave and grand, Did our gallant youthful band, Says the bold Canadian.

When the north wind chilled our bones, Says the bold Canadian, And the wolf hung round our homes, Says the bold Canadian, And Commerce from our door Turned toward your sunny shore Then you thought to keep us poor, Says the bold Canadian.

Then you spurned us from your hearth, Says the bold Canadian, And our trials gave you mirth, Says the bold Canadian; But our sons were true and brave And our mother o'er the wave Gave a ready hand to save, Says the bold Canadian.

And we've built a Nation grand, Says the bold Canadian, In the Empire where we stand, Says the bold Canadian; Rich and strong and true and blessed; Bound together east and west, And Contentment our guest, Says the bold Canadian.

Forty long and merry years, Says the bold Canadian, With your arrogance and sneers, Says the bold Canadian, You have feasted all alone, Now WE'RE feasting on OUR OWN, An we do not want your BONE, Says the bold Canadian.

What come you here to seek? Says the bold Canadian, With a smile upon each cheek? Says the bold Canadian, You've a twinkle in your eye, And upon your lips a lie, We have heard your eagle cry, Says the bold Canadian.

Uncle, you may stay at home, Says the bold Canadian, For we'll never with you roam, Says the bold Canadian; For we've seen, in you seen Aught but avarice and spleen; You may stay where you have been, Says the bold Canadian.
