Peace Terms Ready For Germans.

Italy Solid for Possession of Fiume.

Franco-American Alliance Projected --- Jellicoe and Suite Have Arrived in India---Tampering With the Weather.

GET PEACE TERMS TOMORROW.

BERLIN, April 26. Peace delegates to the Peace Conference will travel to Versailles on special trains, the first leaving on Sunday and the last Monday. It is expected that the peace will be handed to the German representatives on Tuesday evening. The well-informed circles that the Franco-American incident will not influence negotiations at Versailles.

FRANCO-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

PARIS, April 27. A project for an alliance between France and America, virtually is underway. The Echo de Paris says, however, the paper is withholding action until the place the matter before the American Senate for ratification.

AN ANXIOUS TIME.

PARIS, April 27. This has been one of the most anxious days of the Peace Conference as all eyes turned toward Rome. Work proceeded on the final day of the treaty before the meeting of the German delegates at Versailles, yet the absorbing topic every day was the Italian issue and the day showed the situation at Rome to be very intense with anti-Italian sentiment running high.

ROMANIANS ADVANCE.

BASLE, April 26. The Romanians continue their advance from the south, and on Friday morning were on a line from Varsar-Brestka, to south of Myula. Several small battles, despatches from the front say, were fought during the day. The Romanians launched an attack on the northern wing Thursday but the result is not disclosed in despatches.

A SOLID ITALY.

ROME, April 26. This morning's Rome newspapers commenting on the Peace Conference situation lay particular stress on declarations of the solidarity of Italian people in demanding that the shall become Italian. The Italia Romano says the fact that the Socialist Minister, demands possession of the by the Italians should concern President Wilson that nobody is likely to take his message. The Corriere D'Italia says President Wilson was mistaken thought he could divide public opinion in Italy, for it is "in unshakable" against the unparalleled. The Executive Committee of the Liberal Party has passed a resolution endorsing the attitude of the delegation while the Masonic in Italy has issued a proclamation calling upon its members in this country and abroad "to remain firm stand up for the cause of Liberty Justice."

BLACKLISTERS' FREE.

LONDON, April 26. The foreign office announces the lifting of all trade blacklists from April 23.

IN RUSSIA.

ARCHANGEL, April 26. Bolshevik reinforcements have arrived recently on the Northern front in preparation for a new offensive against the Allied troops, it is reported, have been withdrawn and sent to Viatka, on the railway from Archangel to Perm to stem the advance of the Northern wing of the Suberian Bolshevik army. During the Siberian offensive in the past 2 weeks morale of the Bolshevik on the Northern front has slumped. Peasants reports of a revolt of Bolshevik troops in Bolsheie Ozerki before withdrawing from that village. A revolt was quelled by force. A number of deserters from the Bolsheviks have joined the Allies in the few days. There has been some activity on the Dvina and Vaynars rivers, at the situation on the south of Archangel generally quiet the past week.

CONDITIONS BETTER.

SIMLA, India, April 27. (Reuter's)—Viscount Jellicoe and staff have arrived. They will be quartered at the United Services Club. The situation in the Punjab is fully declared to be well in hand many wandering fakirs suspected spreading false reports are being arrested and examined. The activity is being counteracted by the widespread distribution of pamphlets and all officers are explaining the scope of the Rowlett Act to the ignorant classes.

FOR ALLIED SERVICE.

COPENHAGEN, April 25. The Emperor will proceed to Cuxhaven to-day en route to England where she will be turned over to the Allies.

TAKING A HOLIDAY.

PARIS, April 26. The Congress of the Federation of Transport Workers has decided that all sections of the federation will suspend work on May 1st, for the purpose of joining in demonstration.

PROVIDING FOR COLONIALS.

LONDON, April 27. (Reuter's)—Every overseas soldier in London on May 3rd will be afforded an equal opportunity of witnessing his comrades' triumphal march, as arrangements have been made whereby they will line the route named, Canadians along the Strand from the west to the Hotel Cecil, Australians from that point around Australia House to Aldwich, New Zealanders at Aldwich, South Africans and soldiers of the Crown Colonies from Aldwich to King's Way neighborhood. Mobilization centres have been allotted in order to carry out this arrangement. A large number will be subsequently entertained at high tea, followed later by concerts and dancing. One thousand and wounded convalescents will be accommodated with positions close to Buckingham Palace. After the march past they will be entertained.

WILL SUPPORT PREMIER.

ROME, April 26. Senators reaching Rome express confidence that the Cabinet will approve of Orlando's action in leaving the Peace Conference, and proclaim the necessity for an united front by all parties in defence of Italian interests.

CONFERENCE DISTURBED.

PARIS, April. (Delayed) The Peace Conference has been sorely shaken by the Italian crisis, and the extent to which its work will be affected is receiving the serious attention of the delegates. The American storm has broken and the air has cleared in that quarter, but in other quarters a less optimistic view is taken, the feeling being that an element of confusion has been introduced which will result in delay at the moment the German delegates are arriving. In French and Italian quarters the situation is regarded as serious and some circles represent it as desperate, but this view is not generally held. Evidence exists that Wilson has avoided using anything which might be construed as economic pressure, although this has been suggested. The Secretary of the Treasury has asked for credit of fifty million for Italy and this is now on the President's desk for final disposal. It is said that Orlando and his colleagues will appear before the Italian Parliament on Monday, returning to Paris for May 1st.

AMERICAN VIEW.

WASHINGTON, April 26. The Italian situation is clearing rapidly, according to advices from Paris. It is stated that the action taken by Wilson is "endorsed everywhere." The Secretary of the Interior issued a statement to-day explaining the American official viewpoint. It says, in part, "Fiume was not to be given Italy by the secret treaty made on Italy's entrance into the war. Under this treaty Fiume was to go to Croatia, now a party of Jugo-Slavia and that is where Wilson wishes it to go. The question of good judgement and Wilson, Lloyd George and Clemenceau unitedly concluded that to give Fiume to Italy would be unjust to the New Republics East of the Adriatic. As Fiume is the only port on the Eastern side of the Adriatic sea as a sea entrance to Jugo-Slovakia. The Italian claim is based on Italian and Trieste can live happily without Fiume, while the young Republics to the East could not have a free life without access directly to the world by water."

BELIEVED WEATHER REPORTS ALTERED.

LONDON, April 26. (Reuter's)—The Daily Mail says that a question which is engaging attention just now is the source of the unfavorable weather reports that are being sent to the airmen in Newfoundland at a time when according to the information of the air ministry the weather is most favorable. Indeed the conditions during one spell of twenty-four hours were excellent almost beyond precedent. There is a hint that the official weather reports may have been interfered with in transmission. The suggestion is offered that these reports be communicated to the airmen henceforward by special code.

THE EGYPTIAN SITUATION.

CAIRO, EGYPT, April 27. (Via Reuter's).—The effect of General Allenby's proclamation directed to the striking Government Employees in which he told them they must return to work or resign, has been that the majority have returned. All of the soberer thinking Egyptians feel that immoderation whether in demand or agitation will only lead to disappointment and disaster. American recognition of the British protectorate has also acted as a cold douche on the extremists. That the very country which is responsible for the doctrine of self-determination of peoples, so completely and calamitously misunderstood in these Eastern lands, should take the lead in recognizing Britain's position in Egypt has brought home with added force the futility of their exaggerated aspirations.

ANZAC DAY CELEBRATION.

LONDON, April 26. Five thousand Australian troops under command of Lieut. General Sir John Monach celebrated Anzac Day on Saturday by a march throughout the main thoroughfares of the west end of the city. It was a beautiful spring day and the trim appearance of the troops evoked the admiration of the great crowds which assembled to demonstrate the Mother Country's feelings of admiration and gratitude to the overseas Dominion. The Prince of Wales, representing the King, took the salute outside Australia House. The building was specially decorated for the occasion with the numerous scrolls recording the actions in which the Australians had gloriously participated. Occupying places in the windows were many wounded Anzacs who heartily cheered their marching comrades. A squadron of large aeroplanes escorted the troops, who were subsequently entertained at luncheon and attended special theatrical performances.

A large contingent of Canadian artillerymen arrived at Southampton on Saturday from the continent, also various units from the Balkans. Many of the later have been three years on service without leave.

Wants Weekly Service.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Many thanks for your letter of 31st March (which has just come to hand) re coastal contract. Every word of it is true. My object in writing to you now is to state most emphatically that we here, are no longer satisfied to be the only portion of the shore with only a fortnightly service. Let the Fortia and Prospero be put on the northern route alternately, giving a weekly service. Not necessarily calling at the same ports. Other ports could be put in for each boat. But I will guarantee a full passenger and freight list each trip. Otherwise give us the new boats Prospero (plus Capt. Kean), and let the Earl of Devon be relegated to the banks or coasting.

Yours faithfully, —X. Westport, White Bay, April 16, 19.

Detroit, Mich., April 19.—Five persons, comprising an entire family, were found dead in their home here this morning, apparently as the result of ptomaine poisoning. Running Riot.

The Opposition in the House of Assembly, though numerically weak, are nevertheless exceptionally strong in morale, and their persistent questioning is revealing a state of affairs absolutely unheard of before in the history of the Colony. The fabulous sums of money being handed out to favorites; the unwarranted increases in the salaries of higher officials; the extra appointments to men already holding lucrative positions under the Government, with huge stipends, made still more so by the lavish rate of pay allowed them for easy service; all these should be very carefully studied by the taxpayers who will be called upon to foot the bills and make up any shortage in revenue by having to bear a burden of additional taxation, which must of necessity be imposed to meet the estimated current expenditure of seven million dollars for the year ending June 30, 1920. And there are more revelations yet to be made. The list of questions to be asked by members of the Opposition is not by any means exhausted, and there will be no let up in the effort to secure the information of the voters, a complete return of all the monies so freely expended by the Government, in rewards, emoluments, contracts, salaries and fees to its insatiable followers. There appears to be no end to the arrival of extra vagances indulged in by the present administration. Money has flown into the coffers of the Treasury during the last few years of prosperity, but it has just as quickly flown out. With departments spending their annual allocation within eight months, the saying that "money has wings" is well and truly exemplified and with the flood gates hauled tightly up, and no effort being made to dam the financial current which is so swiftly running itself into the ocean of unlimited spending, that it is not without the bounds of reason that the source will soon be drained of its supply. The Government have indulged in a riot of disbursements, the vast amounts filtered away being so astounding as to almost paralyze thought. And the end is not yet. We shall from day to day publish figures from the Public Accounts showing where the Public monies go, and into whose hands they fall. So far but scanty information has been elicited from the departmental heads, but even that little has proven an eye opener.

Apparently no thought of the future is being taken, the sole idea being to dash away and spend, so long as the cash lasts. After it is all gone—the deluge. We have enjoyed our years of good fortune, with the highest prices being paid for our produce, and good fisheries resulting in profitable returns, but we have to face the period of depression which is the natural sequence of inflated values brought about by war. The beginning of the decline in our fishery products opened not many weeks ago with the price of seals, the rate paid, for the Spring catch averaging a sum less than $7 per quintal. This falling off in price, taken in conjunction with the small catch means a less wage per man and consequently less purchasing power, and therefore less revenue from the earnings of the crews who prosecuted the voyage. The small returns to the owners of the ships, will not encourage them to go in largely for supplies on codfishery account, and in relation to this valuable industry we offer advice to our readers that they note carefully the Bill now before the House entitled "An Act respecting Bay Fisheries Boards." There is more in this ostensibly simple bit of new legislation than at first glance meets the eye. Behind it there is a scheme, which, if brought to fruition, will be far more of a menace to individual fishermen than any plot ever hatched to work evil to a free and independent population.

Odd Fellows Centenary.

Yesterday marked the Centenary of the I. O. O. F., the first Lodge of the Independent Order having been instituted on April 26th, 1819, in Baltimore, Md.

The day was marked by a joint parade of the local lodges to Divine Service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The parade was about 250 strong. Rev. G. Dickie, Pastor of the Kirk, preached a very eloquent sermon to the society on the significance of the Order. During the service Mr. Carl Trapnell sang a solo: "For Today."

After service the Society marched to their hall via Theatre Hill and Water Street. On arrival at the hall votes of thanks were passed to the pastor and managers of St. Andrew's Church, and greetings sent to outport lodges, several of which were represented in the parade.

To-morrow night the society are holding a tea, concert and dance in the C. C. C. Hall, the C. C. C. Band in attendance. An excellent time is assured.

Showed Splendid Bravery.

Department of Militia, St. John's, April 14, '19.
Eugene Parsons, Esq.,
40, Victoria St., City.
Dear Sir,—I beg to quote hereunder the details of the deed for which the Bar to the Military Medal was awarded to your son No. 783 Sergt. C. Parsons Royal Newfoundland Regiment taken from supplement to the London Gazette:

"H. Qrs. Signaller, on the morning of the 30th, took a party of "Signallers and Regt. Police and "joined in the counter attack and "remained in the front line and "helped to consolidate. He got his "party together and dug posts. Later on when an officer got wounded, he took command of the platoon "and held his position until the Battalion was relieved.

"On the night of the 30th, he collected wires and wired the whole "of his platoon front. By his disregard of danger and cheerful manner he helped others to push forward and beat off counter attacks. "During the enemy attack on the "3rd, he showed splendid bravery "and his party opened fire on an attacking wave and accounted for a "number while the rest turned and "ran back."

Please accept my congratulations and appreciation of the splendid conduct of your son.
Yours faithfully,
J. R. BENNETT,
Minister of Militia.

Wreck Purchased.

The s.s. Susu, which has been lying for some time on the bottom near Little Bay, has been bought by Capt. Porter, of the wrecking tug La Canadienne. As soon as conditions permit an effort will be made to refloat the vessel, and confidence is held that this can be done successfully.

Personal Mention.

Rev. A. Clayton went out to Heart's Content yesterday to take the services, Rev. Canon Smart being ill.

Capt. J. Rabut, who is attached to the French Mission, New York, is at present in the city. He has been visiting St. Pierre in connection with fishery development there, and leaves again for New York by the Sable I.

Capt. John H. Pike of Channel arrived in town by S.S. Portia. After a period of marine service covering many years, Capt. John is now retiring from sea life, having sold his schooner and will engage in shore business, his present visit to St. John's being for the purpose of purchasing a stock of goods, with which to embark in trade at Channel.

Mr. Thomas Dewling of the Harbour Master's Department will celebrate his 75th birthday next Saturday, May 3rd, and during his 41 years connection with the office in which he works, has enjoyed but one short holiday, a record for continuity of service which it is hard to equal.

EX-KAISER TO BE TRIED. WASHINGTON, April 28. The powers will request Holland to surrender William Hohenzollern, and all persons accused of violation of laws and customs of war, who according to the second proposed article, will be brought before military tribunals. Article 23 provides that the Government undertakes to furnish all documents and information of every kind, the production of which may be considered necessary to ensure full knowledge of incriminating acts, discovery of offenders and a just appreciation of their responsibility. SIGNIFICANT. ROME, April 28. The American Ambassador, Page, has left Italy for Paris. At the Majestic. "The Common Law," a reel, featuring the versatile Clara Kimball Young, will be screened at the Majestic this evening, when patrons will have the opportunity of seeing a really good picture. The Common Law, it might be explained, means the general way, or the usual custom. When the beautiful but poor girl becomes the famous artist's model, it is a case of love at first sight—a love that grows with the passing of time. The Common Law, in this instance, would favor mercantile relations, and in fact the couple have practically decided on this course. How the course of events are so turned as to make this both unnecessary and unfeasible and how the Common Law is broken and unhappiness dispensed, bringing peace and happiness in their stead, will be seen with more than ordinary interest. The picture is gripping right through from beginning to end, and concludes with a splendid piece of realism and drama. The usual comedy will also be screened. REIDS' BOATS. Geneva, the city chosen to be the seat of the League of Nations, is a French city it all but name. The canton of Geneva is almost surrounded by French territory. The Genevese are of French blood and speak the French language. During the great war their sympathies were overwhelmingly with France and France's neutrality has been given the honor of being host to the governing bodies of the League of Nations. It is also fitting that a city has been selected which has manifested an ardent sympathy with the cause of democracy. Brussels have passed over because Brussels was passed over because it was not chosen because of the divided sympathies of the Dutch people. Geneva is an ideal selection, and the fact that it is one of the most beautiful cities only serves to make more impressive the fitness of the choice. Shocking Case at North Sydney. North Sydney, April 18.—One of the worst cases that has ever come to the attention of the authorities received its preliminary hearing in Stipendiary Lebetter's court, Thursday afternoon, when Michael Nicholson, a man about forty years of age, was examined, charged with a most serious offence against his stepdaughter, a young girl who has not yet completed her sixteenth year. On behalf of the girl, Mrs. Henry Lovell, agent for the S. P. C., laid the information against Nicholson, who was arrested by Chief of Police Cowans. The story, as told by the girl in court revealed a most shocking state of affairs, as she alleged the immoral conduct of the man towards her had continued since she was about eleven years of age. In 1918 when she made an attempt to earn an honest living for herself by housework in Glace Bay, the man took her home and this year when she secured another place as domestic he again attempted the same thing and might have succeeded, but that for the intervention of Officer Lovell of the S. P. C. Malcolm Patterson, of the Crown Prosecutor's office appeared for the Crown. "The Easter King." The cantata entitled "The Easter King" which was given at the St. Andrew's Church last evening, drew a very large congregation. There were over fifty young people in the chorus and the solo singing as well as the chorus work drew favourable comment from all those whose privilege it was to hear the cantata. The solo parts were taken by Ruth Calver, Emily Jardine, Marjory Johnston and Master Ralph Jardine. There was a trio entitled "The Friend of the Children" by Jean McIntosh, Katherine Ayre and Jean Johnston; also a quartette entitled "Everlasting Life" by Mary Decker, Jean Eadie, Mary McFarlane and Jessie Dick. The singing of the smallest children could be heard very distinctly in the most distant parts of the church. The cantata closed with a duet, by Miss Anna Ledingham and Mrs. David Johnston followed by the chorus: "Hallelujah, He is Risen." Mr. King presided at the organ with his usual skill and finish. W. P. In the course of a discussion of the evils of gambling, the statement was made that gambling, so long as you do not stake more than you have a right to spend for entertainment, is not wrong.

To counter-act that, the fact was brought up that if gambling were allowed, people with a mania for it would spend all their earnings on it.

Huns in Africa.

von Lettow, the Hun commander in East Africa, surrendered to the blacks, one of the frequent incidents on the wonderful influence that have exercised to keep these in the field so long.
As look at the facts:
The German Askari has been recruited from tribes once still preserving warlike instincts kept under by the German-shod heel.
Back to pre-war days, and a village of these gentry into a village inhabited by his own tribe.
He calls on the headman, a man whom he would, before he became Askari, have had to pay every cent a hut!" he orders. "Put me in it! See to it that wood and provisions are provided, my bed made, my food and bring a couple of oxen."
The chief complies, but it is ten days before he does not please the Askari, is "on the make" and fines him a couple of rupees.
The headman remonstrates and begs something about a visit to the German post to lodge a complaint.
"All right! You go to the post—just go. If you do, it is little objection you will get; certainly your two rupees back. What you get, my friend, if I hear anything about your lodging a complaint to the German commander, I'll shoot through the stomach the time I meet you in the bush."
The Askari finds the headman the richer by a couple of hundred pounds of flour, and a goat, all supplied free, and sent by the tribesmen.
There is an extra load. He the headman: "See to my loads supply carriers—come, hurry."
The headman hurries up accordingly, for he is glad to see the Askari's back into which he would, dare, plunge his spear.
The war has come and is over. All the Askari, who is well aware of the difference between the German and British systems, know his only was permissibility in von Lettow—

The British would never employ his kind, or at least tolerate his methods. What a welcome awaits him, should he return home shorn of his power, from the poor wretch he has oppressed.
Can you follow his line of reasoning. Therein lies the true explanation of von Lettow's so-called influence over the black Askari.

Sensational Capture of Paris Bandit.

On April 28, 1912, the Paris police ascertained that Bonnot, the leader of the notorious motor-bandit and murderers, had taken refuge in an isolated new building used as a garage at Choisy-le-Mor, a suburb on the Seine, a few miles out of Paris. At eight o'clock in the morning the police surrounded the garage, but met with a fusillade from revolvers. Subsequently, M. Lénine and M. Guichard, Commander of the Republican Guard, arrived, and a regular siege began, in an early stage of which two policemen were seriously wounded by shots from the house. A council was held, and as a result a cart loaded with straw was requisitioned. To this cart a couple of mattresses were attached, to afford shelter to the attacking party. The cart was then backed towards the house with a strong force of police behind it. Then a Lieutenant of the Republican Guard placed in position and ignited two bombs, to which were attached Blockford fuses. The brave driver of the cart then galloped back out of range. No explosion occurred, however, the fuses having gone out, and the whole operation had to be repeated. Soon a loud explosion took place, followed by a second, when the back wall of the building fell in with a crash, and the crowd which by this time numbered ten thousand, raised a great clamor, shouting "A mort!" A rush of policemen, led by the Lieutenant, entered the house. They found the body of one man, who had three bullet wounds in his body. They then entered the living room and found Bonnot lying on the floor, but although mortally wounded, still with energy enough to curse them, and to fire his revolver, which, however, hurt none. He then tried to swallow a dose of poison concealed in his belt, but was prevented by the police, and carried out, the police having to resort to blows to protect their prisoner, who was still alive, and whom the infuriated crowd would have lynched, but who died just after being laid in a bed at the hospital. One of the gang was still at liberty, and evaded capture for almost a year to the day—a man named Henry who was at last run to earth in Montmartre in April 1913; he had been acting as a receiver of stolen goods.

Bolsheviks Abolish God?

London, April 14.—The Daily Chronicle publishes an article by R. Courrier Foster, a British chaplain at Odessa and Russian ports of the Black Sea describing the religious persecutions practised by the Bolsheviks following upon the former capture of Odessa. He says: "Committees were held on board the ships of the Black Sea fleet, among the dockers in the port and in the towns and villages on every hand, which passed resolutions, 'We abolish God.' In Odessa cathedral, where the Archbishop of Kherson was celebrating the holy mysteries of an uproar occurred with cries of 'Down with the priests.' 'Down with the church.' At a fête in town gardens one saw a soldier of the red army amid the gusts of his fellows, spit on the Russian holy picture of the face of Christ, and then tear it into fragments and stamp it into the dust."
"The Bolshevik conception of religious toleration is considerably more elastic and far-reaching than the idea of any medieval inquisition. In this matter the Bolsheviks pride themselves on being far in advance of our effete western thought."
Torture and Slay Priests.
"They have murdered Vladimir, the Metropolitan of Kiev, 20 bishops and many hundreds of priests. Before killing them they cut off the limbs of their victims, some of whom they buried alive in the Kremlin. The cathedrals in Moscow and those in the towns of Yaroslavl and Simferopol have been sacked. Many nuns were violated and the churches defiled."

"The ancient and historical sanctuaries and famous libraries of Moscow and Petrograd were pillaged and countless sanctuaries profaned. In Cronstadt Cathedral the great figure of the Crucified Christ was torn down and removed and a monstrous and appalling pagan form placed in its stead symbolizing the Freedom of the Mind."
"It is not against any one particular form of religion that the terrors of the new freedom are hurled. Orthodox, Roman Catholics and Lutheran alike have been tortured, mutilated and done to death under the aegis of the holy revolution, which appeals to the proletariat of the whole world to join its forces."
"The revolutionary government is subjecting the Christian religion to persecutions as brutal as anything the world saw during the first centuries of the Christian era. Moral disintegration and ruin spread their tentacles on every side. Any restraint or salutary impulse or covetous desire is laughed to scorn. The Bolsheviks publicly encourage outrage and looting. The propaganda for freedom of the mind is essentially nihilistic. It is based on negation and denial of the authority of any moral law, denial of all religious liberty, denial of any freedom of the press, denial of any liberty of speech."
"One officer remarked despairingly to me: 'In Russia now there is no God, no Czar, no law, no property, no money, no food—only freedom. And in that travesty of liberty which the whole civilized world may shudder at, all mercy, pity, and toleration are like scorned. And it is this new and wonderful equality of man which by means of torture, outrage and assassination, proclaims the freedom of mind and body to the devastated Russian nation.'

Voices in the Fog.

Radiohone Device.
Some day we shall probably have radiophone warnings all along dangerous coasts giving oral warning by giant phonographs of various reefs and rocky promontories. The ship's officer, groping his way in a fog, will hear: "You are within one mile of a reef; keep off," and he will hasten to keep off; and if he doesn't, there will probably be another voice saying: "You are within five hundred yards of the reef; what are you trying to do, you squarehead!" With this sort of protection almost anybody ought to be able to take a ship to anywhere and back without piling up on the rocks.
On the Atlantic coast they are experimenting with a radiophone warning at the Point Judith lighthouse, and have installed a device that projects its voice eight miles out to sea. The mariner comes along in a fog, and at the eight-mile limit the voice speaks: "Point Judith Light" and if he keeps coming, at two miles from shore the voice reminds him: "You are getting closer; keep off." After that it is his own fault if he piles up on the rocks.
When the ocean-going ships are all armed with this device, what an interminable and confusing marine chatter will pervade the ocean on foggy, misty days or dark nights. It will sound like a meeting of New York citizens discussing the proposed closing of the saloons. By all means, there should be something in the marine laws against the use of explosives by radiophones. Imagine the sea oaths that would come out of the fog along the busy sea roads if the business of radio conversation were not censored.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer

TOM MOORE'S WIT.

(From an Exchange.)
Tom Moore, the poet, was the son of a Dublin grocer. Without any pushing on his part his genius and his unaffected manner made him a welcome guest everywhere. All London went mad over him. On one occasion at a banquet he had made some brilliant witticisms. A snob, thinking to humiliate him, leaned over the table to the poet and quite audibly said, in a drawing tone: "Pshaw, sir, wasn't your father a grocer?"
Moore smilingly replied that he was.
"Then pshaw," continued the snob, "why didn't he make a grocer of you?"
Moore quite affably retorted: "Wasn't your father a gentleman?"
"Of course he was," was the rejoinder.
"Then why," queried Moore, "didn't he make a gentleman of you?"

High Average of Honesty.

(From the Buffalo Express.)
On the ship coming from Europe Charles M. Schwab heard that 154 negro soldiers on their way home were flat broke. He staked them to $1 each and told them: "You needn't pay this back if you don't want to; suit yourselves." Up to the last report 138 had sent Mr. Schwab his dollar.

"I Am So Short of Breath"
"IT MUST be your heart, Grand Dad."
"Yes, I suppose it is. I am getting old, you know."
"Oh, you are not so old. You have got run down after the cold you had and will be all right when you get your blood built up again."
"Well, I hope so, dear."
"You remember how weak my heart was, Grand Dad, when I used to be pale and anaemic. It was no joke for me to climb these stairs then."
"You are all right now, aren't you?"
"I never felt better in my life, Grand Dad, and if you will use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a while you will get strong and well, too. That is what cured me."
"But do you think that the Nerve Food is any good for old men like me?"
"I am sure it is. I often read letters in the newspapers from old people telling about what a great benefit it has been to them by enriching the blood and increasing their vitality."
As an example of what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does for people of advanced years, here is a letter from Mr. James Richards, 73 Dundas St., Belleville, Ont., who is 89 years of age. He writes:
"I was suffering from a weakness of the heart, shortness of breath and frequent dizzy spells which used to force me to go and lie down for a time. I secured Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and received such splendid results that I continued its use until I am now feeling fine and am not troubled with these symptoms any more."
Dr. Chase's Medicines are sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Newfoundland.

Was Torpedoed While An Auxiliary Cruiser.

The Furness Liner Schem Was Known During the War as Q-54. One of the Mystery Ships.

After several years service as an auxiliary cruiser, and having been torpedoed while engaged in such duty, the R. M. S. Schem, of the Furness Line, is once again back on the Liverpool-St. John's, Nfld. and Halifax service, on her first visit since being released by the Admiralty.

It was early in 1917, while the Schem was engaged in the Halifax and London trade, that she was requisitioned as an auxiliary cruiser. She became known as the Q-54, and was the flagship of Rear Admiral Filer, C.B., D.S.O., engaged in escorting convoys, not only through the war zone but also across the Atlantic, from Newport News and Hampton Roads. She was known as one of the mystery ships.

On December 13th, 1917, she sailed from London for Plymouth, to take on the Rear Admiral and meet the convoy, expecting to arrive there at 6 p.m. on the 15th. On that day, as she was nearing her destination, she was in collision at 4.30 p.m., with something, thought to have been a submarine off Beachy Head. The ship began to take in water, and after a consultation it was decided to continue on to Plymouth, where a dry dock was available. The Q-54 would have gone into Portland, but there was no dry dock there.

Was Torpedoed.

At 12.30 p.m. as she was making her way she was torpedoed, the missile hitting her on the port side, in the centre of the engine room. As the engineers had been on double watch there were two on duty when the torpedo came, and also two watches of firemen. The third engineer was killed and the fourth severely injured. One fireman was injured, but the others had a narrow escape. Depth charges were dropped in the vicinity by destroyers and it is believed that an airplane accounted for the sub. Taken into tow by some drifters the Q-54 reached Plymouth at 6.30 p.m. Eight days after the body of the third engineer was recovered from the wreck in the engine room. The steamer then spent five and a half months at Devonport and ten months at Liverpool. Captain Robert Ritchie, Chief Engineer J. C. Galloway, and Purser R. J. Williams are the only officers on the ship, who were on her when she was torpedoed.

Her Officers.

The officers of the Schem are as follows:
Captain—Robert Ritchie.
First Officer—W. J. Hughes.
Second Officer—W. G. Hodgson.
Third Officer—A. E. Tomkins.
Doctor—H. G. Austin.
First Engineer—J. C. Galloway.
Second Engineer—T. W. Harrow.
Third Engineer—J. T. Jones.
Fourth Engineer—H. T. Hewitson.
Fifth Engineer—J. N. Jones.
Purser and Chief Steward—R. J. Matthews.
Assistant Purser—A. C. Pember.
Stewardess—Edith Curry.

The Schem carries a total crew of 65, and all are Royal Navy Reserve men, who have done good service during the war. — Morning Chronicle.

The Harkins Co.

The W. S. Harkins Players will present the following plays at the Casino Theatre this week. To-night and Tuesday night, the sensational melo-drama "Broken Threads." It brings one face to face with the realities of life. One man kills another in self-defence, and the author, Mr. Wilkes shows how the power of the police, the subsidized courts, the crooked politician, can make an exile of an innocent man. "Broken Threads" is a powerful love story filled with the romance of the gold fever. Miss Dalton will play the part of a cabaret singer, introducing songs in the cabaret scene. Wednesday and Thursday nights, the latest New York success "A Stitch in Time," as played by Miss Irene Fenwick at the Fulton Theatre. "A Stitch in Time" is a comedy-drama, on the order of "Pag O' My Heart." It is in four acts with a Cinderella atmosphere, but with real men and women in its telling. The play is an adventurous story in which love figures in a disguise of rags and tatters, for the heroine of the play, makes her first appearance with a mop and pail, as the servant girl in an artist's studio. Mr. Keith Ross will enact the part of the artist, and Miss Dalton "Phoebe Ann," the little scrub girl. Friday and Saturday evenings, the latest sensation in England and America, the comedy "Crooks" melo-drama "Cheating Cheaters," pronounced by press and public, a far stronger play than "Within the Law," "Under Cover," "Jimmy Valentine," or "Kick In." It is a play full of climaxes, one following the other in rapid succession. Matinee Saturday. Reserved seats for the week now on sale.

When you want something in a hurry for tea, go to ELLIS'—Head Cheese, Ox Tongue, Botted Ham, Cooked Corned Beef, Bologna Sausage.

New Quarters.

All arrangements are now nearly completed for the opening up of the Cable Office in Ridley Hall, Harbor Grace, and it is said that Mr. T. Belamy will be in charge. The Direct Cable Co. had the office there some years ago, under the superintendence of Mr. Gotherbe, but it was transferred to Bay Roberts; and now they will resume work in the old place, and a magnificent property it is, surrounded by beautiful gardens, and sufficient land to produce sufficient potatoes, turnips, vegetables, etc. for the operators and their families. We understand the staff will consist of six telegraphers.

Slightly Exaggerated.

A few days ago, our readers will remember, we published a few extra particulars of the Trans-Atlantic flight, portions of which were taken from a leading American newspaper, having been cabled it by the special correspondent now in the city. The information contained in the paragraphs referred to, Capt. Penn, the Sopwith organizing manager, tells us, was erroneous, whereas, in a measure it was partly correct, the general tone was misleading. The American publication from which the reprint was taken was regarded as being entirely reliable, and the information was given in good faith. We trust that no inconvenience to the parties connected will arise.

The Congregational Pulpit.

"Love's Offering—Too Late," or the Beauty and the Duty of expressed gratitude, was the Rev. Dudley B. Ashford's subject on Sunday night. His Scripture reference was the incident recorded in John 12, of the woman who anointed Christ with the precious ointment—worth ten pounds. When the disciples saw this extravagance they strongly resented it, and Judas, their business manager and banker exclaimed, "Why was this ointment not sold for ten pounds and given to the poor?" Jesus, with beautiful consideration for the woman's feelings, and burning with indignation at the disciples' rudeness and lack of spiritual insight, retorted, "Let her alone; the poor ye have always with you but Me ye have not always." Mary gave her all on the impulse of her love and gratitude, but these men never thought of showing their affection as did this poor woman, and never knew until it was too late how great was the spirit who had been amongst them. Men have rarely appreciated idealists, or those who sacrificed personal gain for principle, or material interests for spiritual. Some of the world's saddest tragedies centre around the lives of those who have died of broken hearts through lack of appreciation. The great lesson with large over literature and life is this: do not wait until it is too late before you make your offering of love. This was illustrated by the preacher with word-portraits and pictures of such men as Dr. Johnson the prose writer, Burns the poet, Turner the painter and Spinoza the philosopher. To the living in their need we measure out neglect and reserve our praises for the dead. We generally starve our idealists and then build their monuments. Jesus would teach us, by His defence of this woman's extravagance, the duty and the beauty of expressed gratitude. Too often we allow our parents to go down to the grave without ever showing them that we appreciate all that they have done for us. Then when it is too late we erect a fine tombstone to their memory. But if we love them let us tell them so. And what of the "boys" who went over seas in the cause of freedom and humanity? Are we going to forget their heroism and sacrifice just so soon as they return to "civies"? If we appreciate all that they have done let us show it in some practical way. We owe more than we can ever estimate to Jesus Christ, and yet how have we requited His love? Has our love ever gone to the point of real sacrifice? Do not let us wait until it is too late before we give Him our heart's homage and our best service.

Mr. Ashford's subject next Sunday night will be "Inadequate Remedies."

Excellent Sealing Trip.

A message reached town yesterday that the schooner Protector, Capt. John Gilliam, had arrived at Channel on Saturday night hauling for 1,300 old harks, and 200 young hoods. This is undoubtedly a good spring's catch for a sailing vessel and captain and crew are to be congratulated upon their successful venture.

Board of Trade Meeting.

The Board of Trade met Saturday evening to receive the report of the committee appointed to make recommendations re scientific research in our fisheries.
President McKay occupied the chair and stated that the report had been adopted by the Council and if approved by the Board would be submitted to the Government.
Hon. J. Harvey, Chairman of the Committee, stated it had been decided to send Secretary Payne and another competent man to Labrador to see about the standardised cure of fish. It was also decided that Mr. Davies' ideas were approved of, and if another man could be secured as analyst, and a boat obtained, that scientific investigations be made and the Government's co-operation was hoped for.
Mr. Geo. Whiteley saw the need of scientific research, and would help those sent to Labrador to the best of his power.
Hon. W. B. Grieve said that it was a notorious fact that year by year we are becoming more slovenly in the cure of fish. Nothing is being done to maintain our good name of 20 years ago on the markets. Iceland is doubling her fishing fleet, and in England and France the returning soldiers were being set at the work. France had already allocated millions to be spent in developing the Bank fisheries. As a result of Iceland's competition we are even now suffering in a marked degree, and if this year the competition of Norway, France and Britain is greater we may not be able to market our products, which failure would mean great suffering. For the last four or five years the fishermen had endeavoured to avoid the labour of curing, as they had been induced to simply salt the cod caught on the shore, and sell it that way. The richness of shore fish would not lend itself to this style of cure, and much loss had resulted. If the Labrador cure can be improved the problem will be largely solved. A man who brought to him enough fish to get him out of his indebtedness 3 or 4 times over had been sent home to properly cure it. With knowledge of the last few years' difficulty in getting clear of our products it is clear that we must give our best or meet with disaster. Every effort should be made to instruct the fishermen to make the cure equal to that of Norway's. Slop was a very descriptive name for fish so called. There were cases in which the fish was not even split. A proper cure is also necessary as the tallow system prevents the men taking care in curing the fish.
Messrs. W. S. Monroe, G. C. Fearn, Brian E. S. Anfield, R. B. Job, Harvey, Moore, Peters, Duder and Whiteley expressed their views, all favouring the need of improvement in cure. The matter of inspectors was raised by Mr. Job, and that of the difficulty in obtaining suitable men by Hon. J. Harvey. The resolution that the imposition of a small export tax on fish to raise a fund for the scientific investigation of the fisheries be recommended to the Government was passed.

كتاب متنوع للدراسات New Relief For Constipation, "LES FRUITS"

Physicians agree that with the modern habits of living, constipation is likely to be always with us. They also agree that the constant use of any drug for the relief of constipation is exceedingly unwise—unwise for two reasons. First, a drug constantly used loses its effect and requires a constantly increased dose. Second, because the constant use of any drug is bad anyway.
So the cry is constantly going up from the constipated, "What can we do?" It will be interesting to a great many to know that an answer has been found in the re-discovery of a method which was used with great success by our Forefathers, and in Arabia far back in the twelfth century. The food is called "Les Fruits" because it is composed entirely of figs, dates, prunes, raisins and the leaves of each with the substitution of the Alexandria leaf for the raisin leaf. The taste is pleasant, if not to say delicious, and the effect is exceedingly satisfactory. Try it and be convinced.
