British Labour Party Meet Seventh Defeat

Germany Agrees to Allied Inspection—Sydney Plant Will Not Close Down.

McLAREN ON HIS WAY TO HONG KONG.
HONG KONG, June 30. Stuart McLaren British aviator who was reported to have landed at Trant Lower Burma, Friday evening, arrived at Haiphong in northeastern French Indo China, Sunday evening, according to advices received here. He left this morning for Hong Kong, where he is expected to arrive this afternoon.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, June 30.—The Convention of Labor forces held in Johannesburg decided by a vote of 51 to 4 to accept cabinet appointments in the new Nationalist Ministry which is being organized by Nationalist leader General Hertzog.

CANADA TO SUPPLY THE DOORS.
GENEVA, June 30. P. C. Acland, Canadian Government delegate, announced at Saturday's sitting of the International Labor Conference, that Canada would supply the doors for the first floor of the new building for a Labor Bureau. The doors will be of Canadian wood and Canadian workmanship.

BESCO CLOSING MAY BE PREVENTED.
OTTAWA, June 30. There is a probability that the closing down of the British Empire Steel company's plant at Sydney for three months, which was announced on Friday,

Conservative leader, immediately moved to adjourn the discussion, contending that there had been an immemorial custom to regard defeat in the committee stage of a Finance Bill as of some consequence. Austen Chamberlain, Conservative, contending that the House should adjourn until it was known whether the Government accepted the decision or not, and in the event of non-acceptance to learn, if possible, how many defects they could accept without feeling bound to treat an adverse vote as a vote of non-confidence (Opposition cheers). Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, replied that the Government would consider the matter and meantime the amendment was allowed to stand. Mr. Baldwin's motion was defeated by 237 to 169. The Liberals voting with the Government. It is believed that the defeat will not lead to serious consequences.

GERMANY ACCEPTS.
BERLIN, Germany, June 30. In her note to the Allied Council of Ambassadors on the resumption of Allied military control of German Armament, Germany accepts the Allied demand for General Inspection on condition that it be final and is concluded by Sept. 30th next. The note declares the athletic and physical exercises of German youths are not connected with military preparations. It asserts further that no experienced military authority in the world could hold the opinion that Germany was in a position to initiate an armed conflict in Europe, for the reason that her material strength in arms was less than that of the small states. Furthermore, it is declared, she is in a position of helplessness without parallel in the history of nations. The German people are unable to understand how Germany can threaten Europe, the note adds, and why such fears are not rather created by the fact that the idea of general disarmament has not made noteworthy progress among other nations.

SYDNEY PLANT WILL NOT CLOSE DOWN.
HALIFAX, N.S., June 30. Danger of the Steel Plant at Sydney closing down next month was obviated by an order for thirty thousand tons of Steel Rails placed by the Canadian National Railways, according to a message received this evening from Ottawa, by Hon. D. A. Cameron, acting Premier. This will give work for the Steel Plant for at least two months and will require nearly two hundred thousand tons of coal.

OPINION OF FRENCH PRESS.
PARIS, July 1. It cannot be said that the reception given to Germany's reply to the Allied note regarding resumption of military control of her armaments is marked by any cordiality in the morning press, but two newspapers, as widely apart as Le Matin and L'Éra Nouvelle, make the same remark. "Germany accepts and that is the essential point," Germany's statement that what France charges to be military preparations are merely the activities of Athletic Societies, is dispensed as heretics, and it is generally forecast that the request for a general military investigation on condition that it will be final and concluded by Sept. 30th next, will prove acceptable to the Allies. L'Œuvre, the Government supporter, however, says that Berlin's acceptance of this last act of control which she hitherto refused, is a great step towards pacification, and that anyone must be blind not to see in it gratifying success for the new foreign policy of France. Several of the newspapers, notably Le Journal and Le Petit Journal, refer to the tone of the note as conciliatory, but the Echo de Paris regards the text "unintelligible and full of traps."

JAPANESE DEMONSTRATE.
TOKIO, July 1. The nation wide demonstration against United States exclusion, which goes into effect to-day, opened with mass prayer meetings at all the National Shinto Shrines throughout the country. Crowds petitioned the ancient deities to aid the people in this troublesome time when the Japanese race is limited by exclusion from the United States. Patriotic societies last evening placarded virtually every telephone and telegraph pole in the city with the following: "Japanese must never forget July 1st, when America inflicted an intolerable insult on Japan. Always remember the date. Prepare for such steps as are demanded by the honor of the Fatherland when the occasion comes. Every Japanese must remember the following rules: 1. After your mode of living seems to impress the date everlastingly upon your mind; 2. Hate every American but be kind to American individuals; 3. Deny yourself all luxury; 4. Never forget National honor for private gain; 5. Never enter a church supported or guided by Americans or United States Missionaries. Both houses of the Diet at their first sittings of the current session to-day and almost at their first business, passed resolutions strongly opposing the action of the United States in prohibiting the entry of Japanese. The passage of the resolution in each instance followed the presentation of addresses by the Premier, Viscount Kato, and the Foreign Minister, Baron Shidbara.

THE ANGLI-EGYPTIAN CRISIS.
LONDON, June 30. The Anglo-Egyptian crisis on the question of the Sudan as a British possession is taking a prominent place in both British and Egyptian Parliaments. Lord Parmoor's recent emphatic announcement in the House of Lords that the Government under no circumstances would abandon the Sudan, has resulted in the Egyptian Prime Minister, Zaghloul, tendering his resignation, which, however, King Rud had refused to accept. McKENNA DUTIES REPEALED.
LONDON, June 30. The House of Commons to-day finally confirmed the repeal of the McKenna duties without division, by the passage of the Finance Bill. William Graham, Secretary to the Treasury, said that according to the Government's information, the prospective repeal had had no appreciable effect on unemployment. The McKenna duties on foreign imports were inaugurated during the war and effected chiefly foreign films, motor cars, motor cycles, clocks, watches and musical instruments.

BOYS KILLED BY DYNAMITE.
HALEY'S CROSSING, Ont., June 30. Two boys were instantly killed, one blown to atoms, an elder sister was seriously hurt, their father and mother stunned, an infant buried under an avalanche of plaster, laths and boards but uninjured, and the home totally destroyed as the result of an explosion of two cases of dynamite at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Delarge yesterday. The body of Nelson Delarge, aged 13, was blown in all directions and his shirt found on a rail fence several hundred feet away. Morely, aged 6 years was decapitated. The Delarge family was preparing for the evening meal when the blast occurred. The two boys went out to an adjoining building.

CLEAN UP and KEEP CLEAN
 This is what the New Government intends doing. We have been doing this for 25 years, as Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing is our sole business. We devote our entire time to it and therefore we can give you better satisfaction than you can get elsewhere. Owing to the growth of our business we have had to remove to larger premises on the opposite side of the street (No. 22 opp. A. V. Duffy), which gives us ample room. We use the first flat, shop and showroom; second flat, repairing and pressing rooms; third flat, dyeing and renovating.
 We would like you to see some of our work before sending elsewhere; all prices reduced since the New Year. Cleaning Orders given our first and personal attention. A rush job is our specialty. We call for goods and deliver them in two hours, if necessary. Suits Pressed while you wait; a nice dressing room to change in. We can handle over one hundred pressing orders daily. In addition to Cleaning and Pressing, we clean and shine hats.

ADVERTISE IN THE EVENING TELEGRAM

British Labor Party Meet Seventh Defeat

WOULD GIVE CANADA RIGHT TO AMEND HER CONSTITUTION.

OTTAWA, July 2. W. A. McLean, of York South, proposed to move an address in the House requesting that the British Parliament make such amendment to the British North American Act as to give Canada the right to amend her own constitution. Constitutional amendments, under Mr. McLean's proposal, would be brought about by an absolute majority vote of each house of the Dominion Parliament. The Dominion Parliament would not, however, be empowered to pass any amendment affecting the rights guaranteed in the British North American Act to the provinces. The Dominion Parliament possesses the right to amend her own Act to minorities. Australia already has done so.

DID THE RIGHT THING.

LONDON, July 2. George Lansbury, Labor member, asked in the House of Commons today by whose authority the commander of the British gunboat Cockshafel had compelled, under threat of bombardment, the authorities of Wanshan, China, to follow the funeral of Edwin Hawley, a United States citizen, employee of a British Export firm who was murdered by Chinese junk men, and had demanded the execution of the Chinese murderers. Frank Hodges, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, in reply to the question said the Cockshafel was the only war vessel present and the commander had taken the action which he had considered necessary. He added, amid the cheers of the Opposition, that the United States Commander in Chief had thanked the British Chief for his action. There were cheers from the Opposition benches again when Mr. Hodges said that the British officer's action had materially assisted in saving life.

PAGEANT OF EMPIRE WILL BE PRESENTED.

NEW YORK, July 2. Neither King George nor the Prince of Wales have had an opportunity to make a detailed visit to the British Empire Exhibition because of the dense crowds that go each day. Capt. Alfred Williams of the Exhibition Staff reported after his arrival here yesterday. Two hundred thousand people visit the exhibition each day, he said, and whenever the King or the Prince go they are recognized, surrounded and forced to turn back. He said a plan was under way to close the exhibition for a full day to allow the Royal family undisputed possession of the grounds and side shows. Captain Williams, announced the Government would go into the show business at Wembley and produce the greatest pageant ever performed anywhere. It will be presented by Williams Lunna, former coal miner who is minister for overseas trade in the MacDonald Cabinet. It plans to present in pageant form the British Empire, its people and accomplishments. The curtain on the pageant will be running up July 21st and will require three entire days to present it. There will be players from all walks of British life. Twelve performances of three days each will be given. The first day will be called "Westward Ho" and will present the expeditions of Sebastian Cabot and others to Newfoundland and Canada. The second day will be "Eastward Ho" and the third "Southward Ho."

HERTZOG'S POLICY.

PRETORIA, South Africa, July 2. Speaking last night at the Nationalists banquet held here in his honor, Prime Minister General Hertzog, of the Union of South Africa, declared Great Britain should and always would be as far as his Government was concerned, the first and chief friend of South Africa. Unfortunately in the past there had been accusations made against the Nationalists because they insisted upon the doctrine of South Africa first. It always would be the aim of the Nationalists and his Government to co-operate with Great Britain and to do so heartily with the rest of the Dominions.

PRINCE WILL AGAIN VISIT CANADA.

LONDON, July 2. The Prince of Wales will again visit his ranch in Alberta this fall, according to his announcement made at the Dominion Dinner yesterday. "Canada has always been a real tonic to me," said the Prince. "I don't know what it is exactly, whether the air of the great open spaces, but the fact remains, I first realized that when I went there a few months after the close of the great war, I went straight there from four years of horror and confusion to a real clean country. I am sure there will be the same tonic this fall." The Prince congratulated the Canadian Government on its splendid contribution to the empire exhibition. He added, he had visited the Canadian Pavilion at Wembley only once, but, added the Prince, "I certainly will go again if only to see how I myself am getting on during the warm weather." This allusion to his own celebrated effigy in butter in the Canadian Pavilion created great laughter.

HEAVY SENTENCES.

Gaston B. Means, former Dept. of Justice agent, and Elmer W. Their counsel later filed a writ of error and obtained their release on $25,000 bail.

NO INVITATION RECEIVED.

While the British Government has invited the Government of Canada to discuss the question of Canadian representation at the Allied Conference, no official invitation for Canada to send a representative has been received. As Parliament will probably still be in session, Premier King will not be able to go, if invited.

Bobbed And Bald.

By CY HUNGERFORD

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES.

June 30th.—Up, and a great fall of water, so that I wear my new water-proof coat, which did cost me little, looking a great bargain, but is not so good as such things, seeing how the water penetrates the inside, and I am we through. Many young maidens do this day sell "forget-me-nots" in memory of our brave lads that were slain in the Great War, nor could I resist their entreaties, and did pay out twice as much as I did at first propose to do, albeit more than I could afford. News to-day of the men that were missing from the "Metagama," they found, being picked up at sea by the vessel "Bluenose" and is the most miraculous escape. And indeed, is a sign that there is ever hope from the sea. My wife indispenses to-night, and is, methinks, from eating too much of some fruit that I did bring her, which is a thing I shall not do again. Evening my account for the month, and find myself a little better off than last month, albeit my income still one that I may take no pride in, but may be better this month to come.

July 1st.—Up betimes and to Water Street, by the Court House, there to see the March Past of the troops before my Lord Haig. The greatest parade that ever I did see, and among others, detachments from the navies of Britain, France and America. A thing I did note was the French, they marching in threes, and not in fours as did the others, and is the strangest possible formation. All forming before the Memorial, my lord comes, and with him his lady, and the Governor, his lady and divers others. All assembling on the Monument, Mr. R. G. Rendell asks the Governor to accept the Memorial from the people of Newfoundland, which is done in a formal discourse. So the Memorial is dedicated by his lordship the Bishop of the Grace, Mr. Broughton, the President of the Methodist Conference, and his lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland. Then a lengthy discourse from my lord Haig, which I did hear but in part, and after this, he unveils the Memorial. The monument a vastly imposing one, albeit simple and indeed, a thing of the greatest beauty in which citizens may feel great pride. In the afternoon to the Haig sports, going with Povey, since my wife is still indisposed and will not like going abroad. The sports not so good as I did expect, being little competition in any event. My lord wears this afternoon a gray suit and a thing to note, is that with he wears a bowler hat, also of gray.

July 2nd.—This morning, to St. George's Field, there to see the review of the Brigades and Girl Guides by my lord Haig. My lady with him, looking mighty well, and catches him by the cross belt of his Sam Brown, when he did hurry too much for her. Then to play at tennis, but the weather crown hot, and I did perspire beyond all comfort, and did restrain myself from playing more than one set. So to the Regatta, where a great crowd of holiday makers, and the races all well rowed. To-morrow is boating day in Hr. Grace, and the quietest election ever contested, but like to be an easy win for Bennett and Russell. At night to visit the Memorial, and greatly admired certain of the wreaths that were of great beauty.

Obituary

DERMOTT SPRATT.

The life of a dear little child in the person of Dermott Spratt, was cut short at the age of 5 1/2 years, on Tuesday morning, at the Fever Hospital, following an attack of Scarlet Fever. The disease being of a virulent type, his little constitution could not withstand it, so his dear soul went back to God who save it. Dermott was a precocious little boy, and because of his bright and cheerful manner was beloved by everyone. His sudden and unexpected death is a sad blow to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Spratt, as he was the joy and pride of the home. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved parents in their hour of trouble. Interment took place on Wednesday morning at Belvedere.

Unveiling Ceremony of Newfoundland's War Memorial.

Impressive Ceremony Witnessed By Thousands.

The official unveiling of the Newfoundland National War Memorial at the King's Beach by Field Marshal Earl Haig took place Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in the presence of an immense concourse from all over the Island besides hundreds of visitors from other lands. Preliminary to the ceremony there was a mass parade from the Promenade, near the Railway Station, along Water Street to the site of the Memorial. Shortly after 9 o'clock the parade moved off. Leading the way were the mounted police. Then followed a naval band, bluejackets and marines from H.M.S. Constance, detachments from French and American warships, C.L.B. Band, Nurses, C.C.C. Band, Royal Naval Reserve (Nfld.), Mercantile Marine, Details of Imperial, Colonial and Allied Forces, M.G. Band, No. 1 Company Royal Nfld. Regiment, No. 2 Company Royal Nfld. Regt., Nfld. Highlanders Pipe Band, Armed Party and Colour Party, Mt. Cashel Band, No. 3 Co. Royal Nfld. Regt., No. 4 Co. Royal Nfld. Regt., S.A. Band, Nfld. Forestry Corps, Brigades, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides from city and outports. From a dais erected in front of the Court House Field Marshal Haig took the salute as section after section passed along X take up position around the Memorial. It was a few minutes to 11 when his Excellency Sir Wm. Alardyce, Earl Haig and party mounted the steps to the plateau surrounding the monument. Present as guests were the Prime Minister W.S. Monroe, representing Newfoundland, G.W. V.A. Executive, his Lordship Chief Justice Horwood, Lady Horwood, Mayor Cook, Lady Mayors, Commanders of the warships in port, Capt. D. Stapsen, Rev. Msgr. McCarthy, Rev. Canon Bolt and the officiating dignitaries, Rev. Ezra Broughton, President of the Methodist Conference, Rt. Rev. J. March, D.D., R.C. Bishop of Her. Grace, and Rt. Rev. W. White (Anglican) Lord Bishop of Nfld. the Consular representatives, Capt. Reid, R.F.C. Regt., Engineers, Lt. Hall, R. G. Rendell, Mrs. N. A. Alderdice, P. E. Outerbridge, Com. Howley, R.N., Dr. C. Macpherson, Salvation Army representatives, Inspector General Hutchings, Hon. J. D. and Mrs. Ryan, Rev. Dr. Fenwick, Capt. Victor Gordon, Capt. Gerald Whitty. When all were assembled the Colour Party advanced and took up a position in front of the Memorial. Meanwhile massed bands under the direction of Prof. Hutton rendered the first verse of Kipling's recessional.

God of our fathers, known of old,
Lord of our far-flung battle-line,
Beneath whose awful Hand we hold
Dominion over palm and pine—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!

A massed Choir then sang:
The tumult and the shouting dies;
The Captains and the Kings depart;
Still stands thine ancient sacrifice,
An humble and a contrite heart.
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!

Far-called, our navies melt away;
On dune and headland sinks the fire;
Lo, all our pomp of yesterday
Is one with Nineveh and Tyre!
Judge of the Nations, spare us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!

The massed Bands and Choir concluded with:
If, drunk with sight of power, we loose
Wild tongues that have not Thee in awe,
Such boasting as the Gentiles use,
Or lesser breeds without the Law—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!

For heathen hearts that put their trust
In reckless tube and iron shards,
All valiant dust that builds on dust,
And guarding, calls not Thee to guard,
For frantic boast and foolish word—
Thy mercy on Thy People, Lord!

MEMORIAL HANDED OVER.
As the last notes were wated away Mr. R. G. Rendell, C.B.E., Chairman of the War Memorial Committee, approached the Governor and said:
Your Excellency—As Chairman of the Executive Committee for the National War Memorial, it is my privilege to ask you to accept this Memorial on behalf of the people of Newfoundland. The Committee hopes it may be considered a suitable token to help keep in memory for all time those who sacrificed themselves for us in the great war.

GOVERNOR ACCEPTS ON BEHALF OF THE PEOPLE.
His Excellency replying spoke as follows:
Mr. Chairman—As his Majesty's Representative I formally accept on behalf of the people of Newfoundland and its dependencies this National War Memorial. Close to this historic and commanding spot Sir Humphrey Gilbert landed in August, 1563, and in taking possession in the name of his Sovereign, Queen Elizabeth, of this

New Found Land thereby founded our Overseas Empire.
Every Newfoundlander knows what this Memorial represents, and we are profoundly grateful that it is to be unveiled to-day by one who led our armies to victory and who knows the true worth of those who went Overseas and what their going meant to their Empire and to you.
It is our proud privilege to thank Field Marshal Earl Haig in your name for coming here, and later I will call on him to unveil our National War Memorial.

DEDICATION PRAYERS.
The Dedication followed, Rev. Ezra Broughton reciting these prayers:
Almighty God, Ruler of Nations, we come to Thee with grateful hearts. On this day of Commemoration we call upon all that is within us to give thanks for the remembrance of Thy Holiness. Upon this high and holy day in our country's history, we bless Thee for those who counted not their lives dear unto them, and came not home again. May their names and their sacrifices, of which this Memorial reminds us, be forever entwined with all our holiest and purest thoughts.

For Thy, O Lord, that we should ever forget what they have secured for us and for the world. Make us worthy of the task they have bequeathed to us. Uplifted by their example, inspired by their memory, may we be strong to preserve and to pass on to those who come behind us, the priceless blessing they have won.

Prayer by Rt. Rev. J. March, D.D., Bishop of Harbour Grace.
Almighty God, with whom do live the spirits of just men made perfect, after they are delivered from their earthly bodies, and with whom the souls of the faithful are in joy and felicity; we yield Thee hearty thanks for the noble example of those our brethren who laid down their lives for their King and Country. Grant them, O Lord, eternal rest; and we humbly beseech Thee, of Thy gracious goodness, shortly to accomplish the number of Thine elect, and to hasten Thy Kingdom. And we beseech Thee to teach us who survive so to number our days that with whom we may in the end attain everlasting life; through Jesus Christ our Mediator and Redeemer. Amen.

DEDICATION.
Rt. Rev. W. White, Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, made the dedication, saying:
Almighty and everlasting God, we give Thee humble thanks for the memory and good example of Thy servants who have laid down their lives in the service of our country. We bless Thee for their courage and devotion; accept their sacrifice, we pray Thee; let it not be in vain that they have died in the cause of righteousness and honour. And as they have come out of great tribulation, grant them, O Lord, that they may be pardoned and cleansed in the blood of the Lamb, and received into Thy everlasting mercy; through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom, with Thee, and the Holy Ghost, be all honour and glory, world without end. Amen.

To the Glory of God and in grateful memory of those who gave their lives for King and Country and a Righteous Cause I dedicate this Memorial. May all who look upon it realize the peace of sins forgiven, the joy of faithful service, and the power of the endless life, to which may God vouchsafe to bring us all; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost be with us all now and evermore. Amen.

TWO MINUTES' SILENCE.
After the Dedication three volleys were fired, the firing squad with fixed bayonets came to the Present, whilst the solemn notes of the Last Post were sounded. Then arms were reversed and a two minutes' silence was observed.

ADDRESS OF F.M. HAIG.
His Excellency the Governor then called on Earl Haig to unveil the Memorial. The Field Marshal prefaced the act with the following address:

Your Excellency, Colonel Nangle, Ladies and Gentlemen—It is an honour which I deeply appreciate to be given this opportunity to associate myself with the tribute which Newfoundland pays to her gallant dead. It has been my privilege in the course of the past five years to unveil many war memorials in different parts of Great Britain. On each occasion I have found among those who attended, emotions significant, not only of gratitude and reverence towards their fallen comrades, but of a resolve to turn the hard lessons of the war to good account, and to keep alive the memory of their dead as an encouragement and exhortation.

I do not doubt the same feelings are present among you. Yet to me this occasion has, in addition, a special significance of its own. In the days when the whole Empire was endangered, though the peril lay closest to the Old Country from which I come, your young men—and not all of them so very young—joined up in their thousands to serve Newfoundland and the Empire by sea and land, and to give a helping hand to the Old Country in the hour of her trial.

I do not say that such action was unexpected of you, Newfoundland, the oldest of British Overseas Dominions, has too long a tradition of loyalty to the flag for any other course to be open to her sons. But to-day, when the war and its sacrifices are over, the same sentiments inspire you. By your invitation to me to take part with you in this supreme act of homage to your fallen, you renew, when the strife is ended and the victory won, your old vows of comradeship and brotherhood with the crowded peoples of those old islands across the Atlantic, whose faiths and ideals are yours, whose heritage you share.

That is the special significance to me of this occasion. I am here not only as your old leader in the field, but as the representative, as I can fairly claim to be, of your comrades of the Armies of the Empire. Those armies from Great Britain and the other Dominions who fought with you the Empire's battles and to-day are proud to join with you in honouring brave sons of Newfoundland who died in the same great cause to which they too gave so many of their dearest and their best.

There are many ties which unite the British Commonwealth of Nations; but no bond should be stronger or more enduring than that bond of common service to which in all quarters of the world, memorials such as this bear lasting testimony.

Newfoundland had her full share in the burden and suffering of the war. Wherever British ships flew the Empire flag, Newfoundland men sailed with them. Their battlefields bridge the oceans, and their graves are the seas of the world. No other Dominion has a finer record of sea service. No land breeds finer seamen. In no part of the Empire are the old sea traditions of the British race more splendidly upheld. It is only fitting that representatives of the British Navy should be here on this occasion.

There is no soldier who took part in the Great War but will readily acknowledge the magnificent work of the naval forces of the Empire. None will grudge them the honor which is their due. But for all that it is only natural that the first place in my own memory to-day is taken by the officers and men of the Newfoundland Battalion who fought so gallantly and well under my own command.

I am glad of this opportunity to thank them one and all for their loyal and devoted service. I thank you, those parents and relatives of theirs, who saw them grow to manhood and sent them forth to battle, for the sacrifice they also made. I reduce with those whose sons and brothers returned to them in safety; and I offer to those who spent health and strength in the service of their country, and to the relatives of those who gave their lives, my earnest, heartfelt sympathy. It is the sympathy of a commander who knows what the battalion was called upon to do in France and Flanders, and with what high courage and untiring resolution all ranks of the battalion set themselves to accomplish all that was asked of them.

The best plans that leader ever made, the most perfect organization and staff work, will not bring victory unless the regimental officer and rank and file of the fighting units have confidence in their leaders and are well trained and stout of heart. All those qualities were to be found in the Newfoundland Battalion. I think I may claim that they reposed confidence in the commanders under whom they served. I know that they applied themselves with zeal to the difficult lessons of modern war and that they showed the utmost stoutness of heart on many a critical occasion.

I will mention a single episode only, but it is one which will always be remembered with pride in the history of the Armies of the Empire. It was the 9th of November, 1917. The surprise British attack opposite Cambrai had been brought to a standstill by the presence of German reinforcements from the Russian front. On that day the enemy counter-attacked in force, and hit deeply into the southern flank of the salient which the British advance had thrust out towards the town. The 29th Division, and the Newfoundland Battalion with it, was at Masnières at the point of the salient. The Germans drove in the British line to the right and south, working round behind the sector occupied by the Division, and taking its battery positions in reverse. The situation of the Division was as desperate as could be.

The position was held, all through that day with the knowledge that the line had given way over a wide area on their right, assailed in front and flank and rear, the units of the 29th Division maintained their line intact against a constant succession of attacks.

The next day brought no respite or relief, but the gallantry of the troops rose equal to all it was called upon to bear. It is recorded that nine separate assaults upon the Divisional front were beaten off on the 11th of December, and it was not until after midnight after two days of heroic and successful resistance that the Division was withdrawn under orders from the position they had defended with such splendid and unforgettable resolution.

The story of the defence of Masnières and of the part which the Newfoundland Battalion played in it, is one which, I trust, will never be forgotten on our side of the Atlantic. It will serve to remind us in the Home Country that distance does not count when the honor and safety of the Empire is at stake, and that in the hands of our kinsmen from overseas the destinies of the Empire are in good keeping.

That story, and many another like it, will live while the Empire endures, as honor not only to the people of Newfoundland but to the world from which they come. We have fought for the same faith. We have borne the burden, we have made together the same sacrifice of blood. Those are the lessons of this Memorial and of the countless others which in town and village, on battlefield and mountainside commemorate the Empire's dead. It is my earnest hope that future generations of our race, here and in all parts of the world where the British peoples have made their home, will find in these memorials of the Great War something that will help them to maintain for all time the great ideal of mutual understanding, confidence and goodwill which inspired the men to whom this monument is raised.

MONUMENT UNVEILED.

Taking the balliards in his hand the Earl said: "To the memory of our gallant comrades who gave their lives for King and Country I unveil this Memorial." His Excellency the Governor and Field Marshal Haig and the Prime Minister were the first to lay wreaths at the base of the Memorial. The various Societies and citizens followed until a great mound of wreaths were banked up to Newfoundland" by the massed Bands and Choir. The parade then moved off headed by the Regimental Colours to Fort William square near the East End Fire Hall. The colours were saluted after which the Colour Party proceeded to Government House where the colours were deposited, the parade meanwhile moving into Fort William for dismissal. The whole of the impressive ceremony was carried out without a hitch, and great credit is due to those in charge.

THE MONUMENT.

The monument itself is one of which any city might well feel proud, and it fittingly commemorates the glorious sacrifice made by those Newfoundlanders who laid down their lives for King and Empire in the Great War. In design it is remarkably appropriate, and beauty and grandeur have been combined to make a tout ensemble which is most imposing. Broad semi-circular steps, facing towards Water Street, lead to the base of the Monument, which is surrounded by a low wall, on which are ranged at intervals several lights with beautifully ornamented globes of frosted glass. "Freedom" represented as a woman, holding in her right hand a sword, her left hand holding aloft a torch, surmounts the great block of granite placed in the centre of the base. Below her, in the centre, are figures of bronze, representing the Forestry Corps and the Mercantile Marine, while on her left is a soldier, and on her right a sailor. All these figures are realistically moulded, and were cast from the models prepared by Messrs. F. V. Blundstone and Gilbert Hayes, two prominent British Sculptors. To attempt to do full justice to the Monument in cold print is an utter impossibility. It rests now, an imperishable Memorial to our gallant dead, and a shrine which generations of Newfoundlanders will venerate as a vital reminder of the price which was paid by so many of their compatriots that the world might be made safe from the perils of militarism.

Mrs. James G. Crawford will be "At Home" on Friday, July 4th, from 3 to 5.30 p.m., at her residence 92½ Freshwater Rd., July 31.

Luncheon at Bally Haly

After the memorial ceremonies on Tuesday, Earl and Countess Haig were the guests of the Prime Minister, W. S. Monroe, at a luncheon held at Bally Haly. In all there were forty guests present, included in which, besides Earl Haig, His Excellency the Governor and party, were Col. Nangle and members of the G. W. V. A. Executive Government.

Tattered blue and used in the front brims of small felt hats. There is a decided vogue for black and white in pointed silks.

New York of the Future—If

Dreaming great dreams, an enthusiast gives us "a picture of New York of the future." Its streets "lined with terraced cliffs of Gothic and Renaissance workmanship, the terraces a-bloom with flowers and shrubs and trees displaying colorful patches of blossoms 100, 200 or even 300 feet above the street-level." In a word, "the Hanging Gardens of Babylon will be translated to the uses of a generation that has devised the skyscraper." For, according to George MacAdam, who predicts all this in an article contributed to the New York Times, it "is simply a forecast of the logical product of building laws now in force, the natural development of a new New York already in process of construction." It is being constructed in strict obedience to the zoning law passed about seven years ago. As Mr. MacAdam explains:

"Briefly, a building may rise straight up from the street-line to a height determined by the width of the street upon which it faces. If the building is carried above this height, it must, from that point upward, slant back, must be kept within a line drawn from the centre of the street through the top of the wall on the street-line. Somewhat similar regulations govern the construction of the rear wall."

"Five zones are appointed of varying height allowance. In the maximum zone (the Wall Street district) a building may rise two and one-half times the width of the street before it begins to slant backward; in the minimum (exclusively residential districts) only once the width of the street. There is also a provision that upon 25 per cent. of the area of a plot the building may be carried to an unlimited height. A tower structure can not profitably be erected on a small plot, so this provision acts as a stimulus toward construction on large plots."

"The zoning law, if literally followed in the construction of a building above the prescribed height at the street-line, would mean, loosely speaking, that a pyramid be superimposed upon a cube. A pyramid is an unhandy thing to live in. It is especially unsuited for windows—unless the builder pokes out a multitude of dormers. The architects solved the problem by substituting a series of setbacks, or, let us say, a series of terraces that, as they step backward and upward, keep within the pyramidal line established by the law."

But now comes the question, "What use is to be made of those setbacks, of those series of shelves high up in the air?" Already there are theatres and hotels that have their roofs "topped by outdoor gardens, with pergolas, flower-boxes, tubbed trees. Nor must we overlook the fact that Manhattan Island has a growing bungalow colony perched upon its steel cliffs." New York will learn to utilize the new series of shelves, "we are told, at the top of the building."

"To get into an elevator on the Broadway level and within a few seconds be shot up into the altitude of a summer resort in a valley of the Catskills or Adirondacks—the air clear, fresh, full of ozone from the vast spaces of the Atlantic; the noises of city life far below, mellowed in to a monotone, soothing, like the rush of a mountain brook, the surge of the ocean against the sand!"

"Of swimmin' holes" of New York, found almost exclusively in Turkish baths, were always placed in the cellar until the night of modern construction made it possible to rest the great weight of the pool on any desired story. New Yorkers of the future will see the pools placed on lofty terraces, out-of-doors, where they belong."

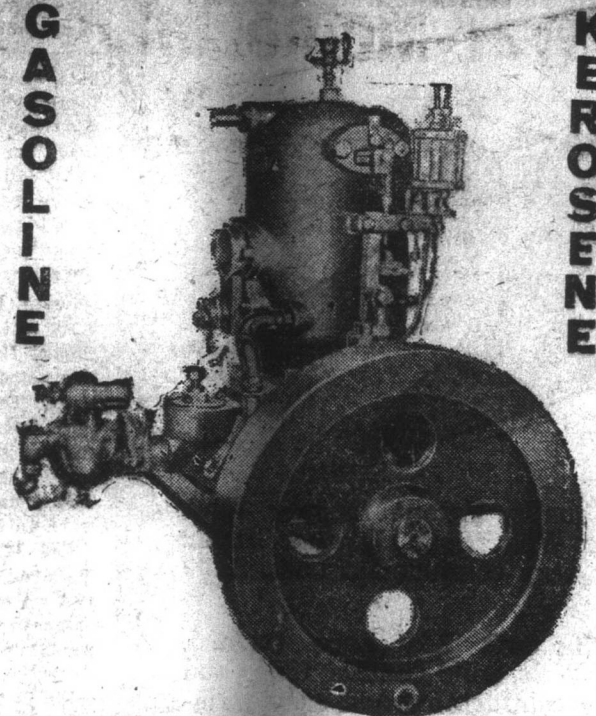

And what a setting of greenery they will have! Says Mr. MacAdam: "The might of future steel construction will make it possible to hold aloft large beds of earth, amply deep to prevent roots freezing in winter. No temporary gardens then, no gardens to be taken indoors when the mercury drops; but the right kind of gardens that are permanent, that look as they belong—the same difference that exists between a wig and the natural verdure on a man's head."

"Of course there will be trees. To let them grow to maturity, to let them acquire the charm of age and permanency, it may be necessary to develop dwarfed varieties, the not nearly so small as the Japanese have developed for their two-by-four gardens. Pines, cedars, spruces, hemlocks should be the chosen trees. While they lack the glory of autumnal foliage, their evergreenness would make, in the bleak winter months, the splashes of warm color."

"Of course, all this is for the terraces of large buildings, terraces that are to be used by the public. The smaller terraces of apartment houses necessarily will be limited to private use. Here, on his aerial shelf, the flat-dweller may indulge his individual taste, may have, if such be his choice, an old-fashioned garden—trellised morning-glory, phlox, heliotrope, mignonette, sweet william, hollyhock, neatly bedged with boxwood within a stone's throw of Broadway."

Produce and Provisions

(Trade Review.)

Codfish—There is a weakening in the Oporto market, but under the circumstances it is not alarming. We have in mind the many cargoes that have been rushed into this market the past three weeks. There is no such downward change in the other markets where supplies are short. The local prices still runs from $50 to $850 per qtl. for the different qualities. The exports this week were 13,617 qtls. all from the outports, except 3,302 qtls. bulk by schr. E. D. Bailey from Nfld. Produce Co., St. John's, to Oporto. The rest as follows: 3,732 qtls. from Lake & Lake, Fortuna, to Oporto by schr. Russell Lake; 3,248 qtls. from Burgeo & LaPelle Export Co., Burgeo, to Oporto by schr. Maagen; 1,400 qtls. from F. Pettie, English, Hr., to Oporto by schr. Queen Mae, and 2,935 qtls. from various shippers of Grand Bank by schr. Myrtle Piercey, also to Oporto. The consumption there this week went up to 6,286 qtls. for Nfld. fish.

Cod Liver Oil—The fishing season in Norway is now drawing to a close, and we expect to give final statistics of production very soon. The average production in Norway is from 30,000 to 50,000 barrels, but last year it went to 75,000 barrels, and this year they have made about 110,000 barrels. This over production has had a very depressing effect on prices, and means that we must work at very low figures to do anything this year. The scientific reports have had a very stimulating effect; increasing the sale and finding new outlets where it is never used before. With the low prices now offering and an increased demand in sight we are likely to see a good trade. We strongly recommend that something should be done by the Government to take advantage of the splendid reports received last year, and believe that if this matter was placed before the High Commissioner in London that he would quickly find an increased outlet for the Newfoundland oil. The very first thing to do is to remove that obnoxious Export Tax complained of so bitterly by the whole trade. It would be absurd to look for an increased outlet if buyers knew that the Newfoundland Government levy such taxes.

Common Cod Oil—A steady tone prevails among sellers here, but buyers in foreign markets state that values asked are altogether too high compared with the price of other fish oils. Supplies are very light here at present, but the outlook for a larger supply within a month is very good, as codfish have struck in early and the report is that there is a very good yield of oil in the livers this year. Prices are nominal and we hesitate to give further particulars until we see something doing.

Lobsters—The Fisheries Department issued 900 licenses this year, as compared with 1,200 last year. There is no doubt that lobsters are getting scarcer on our coast every year and many small packers are dropping out of the industry, finding it more profitable to attend to the codfishery. The local catch to date is very short, partly attributable to stormy weather. The same applies to P.E.I. and Nova Scotia, where the packers have been granted an extension of the open season. The few cases that have come to town from Placentia Bay have sold for $22 and $22.50.

Flour—The wheat report from N. W. Canada is much better this week, and indicates another good crop if no unusual conditions supervene between now and harvest time. The Chicago quotations for July wheat fluctuated between 112 and 113 and their fractions this week, and "September" 114 to 115, while Winnipeg "July" was 116 to 118 and "October" 109 to 112. These are stiff figures as compared to the end of May, and are responsible for the increase in flour prices. An easing off, however, is now again in evidence and prices are expected to remain steady for the next month or so. No. 1 grades are now $7.80 in the local market, an advance of 20 cents over last week; other qualities $7.40 to $7.75. The imports for the week were 250 bbls. and 560 sacks by Sable I., 5,750 by S.S. Ceuta and 1,000 by the Canadian Sapper.

Molasses—The market is quite strong. Available stocks of "choice" molasses are small and holders refuse to sell for less than 80 cents per Imperial gallon, in the local market. It appears likely that in the near future we shall see "choice" up to 85 cents in the St. John's market. The schr. Novelty arrived this week from Barbadoes with 160 puncheons, 160 tierces and 156 barrels. Fancy is quoted at 90 cents still in the local market. The imports to date to St. John's are 6,277 puncheons as against 4,800 last year.

Pork—Corns advanced another three cents per bushel this week and was yesterday 98.1-4 for "July". This is certain to affect the hog market and the future price of pork, as corn is the principal hog food. So far there is no change reported in hog values, but it is expected soon as a matter of course. The imports this week were 793 bbls. As the pork market seems due for a rise the prudent business man is likely to buy as largely as he can at present prices, viz., $24 fat back, $24.25 ham butt, $23 spare ribs and $4 for S.C. clear regular plate and bacon pork, whole sale.

Beef—The imports this week were 1,530 bbls. Beef is getting scarce in the markets of the United States and as prices in St. John's now seem to be at bottom the present is a good time to buy as the market is expected to get stronger shortly. This week quotations are holding at favorable low levels for the purchaser in the local market, viz., $24.50 for flank, $23 extra family, $22 box pack, $20 family special, $17.50 beef hams and $20 boneless flank.

Sugar—The market is somewhat firmer as shown by the advance in "raws" the past three weeks. This is then a natural outcome after the remarkable declines that have been going on the past four months. There is now a good demand for "raws" and refiners have evidently come to the conclusion that to-day's price is a safe one at which to buy, especially as the opinion is gaining ground that the market will strengthen during the summer which is the season of largest consumption. Anyway it is generally believed the declining movement is at an end. The Cuban crop is all completed for the year and is definitely known to be about 3,983,000 tons. Whilst there is a large quantity in the island to be shipped there is practically no more to be manufactured. The local quotation is still $7.60 per 100 lbs. for American white granulated. The imports for this week were 1,690 cwt.

Tea—The tea market is active and is advancing, since cable advices came in from Calcutta to the effect that new crop teas is estimated to be four and a half million pounds short of that of a corresponding period last year. This made an immediate advance of 2 cents a pound on ordinary grades and 3 cents a pound for better grades in the producing market. Cables were also received from London this week by local dealers saying that the market was strong and advancing for both Ceylon and India teas of the better grades. Local quotations, 52 to 80 cents for these grades. The Sable I. brought 28 chests and the S.S. Rosalind 272 chests.

Hay and Oats—A very firm feeling is reported from Montreal and Charlottetown this week in the baled hay market. Dealers assert that very little of the 1923 crop of good shipping quality will be carried over to 1924. Although the tone of the market is firmer there is so far no change in prices. The demand in the local market is fair, having regard to the time of year. The wholesale price is $35 to $35.50 a ton according to lots. The oat market is quiet and steady at $3.60 and $3.20 per sacks of 4 bushels for the two grades. The imports this week were 48 bales of hay by the S.S. Rosalind from New York, and 843 bales by the Canadian Sapper from Montreal, and of oats 450 sacks by the same ship, and 504 sacks by the S.S. Ceuta, also from Montreal.

Raw Cotton—The old crop is being fast reduced and the consumption by spinners is said to be larger this season than ever. As regards the new crop there is no reliable news yet available in cotton circles, the only exports so far being to the effect that the weather throughout June was by no means favorable to a large yield; should this news be confirmed no doubt prices will stiffen in the course of the season.

Presentation to

EX-SERVICE MEN ADDRESSED BY COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

At a mass meeting of ex-service men, held in the C.L.B. Armory Tuesday night Colonel Nangle, on behalf of the G.W.V.A. presented Field-Marshal Earl Haig with a silver car-bou, mounted on a pedestal and an exact replica of some of the Newfoundland memorials to be found in France. Earl Haig was accompanied by Countess Haig, his Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardice, Colonel Talbot, D.S.O., M.C., A.D.C., and Capt. Donald Simpson, B.E.S.L. At the door of the armory, the party was met by a guard of honor under Capt. G. C. Byrne, M.C., and then conducted to the platform by Colonel Nangle, President of the G.W.V.A.

Colonel Nangle opened the meeting with a splendid address of welcome to the Commander-in-Chief. After reading several messages of greeting received from various parts of the Empire, the presentation took place. Earl Haig, on rising, was accorded a great ovation. He first sincerely thanked the veterans for their excellent presentation which he much appreciated and would dearly prize as long as he lived and then delivered the following address:

ADDRESS BY F. M. HAIG.

I am most grateful to you for your warm and friendly welcome. It is a very pleasant thing, after the successful meeting of the British Empire Service League in London last year, to be able to come here to this equally successful meeting and to find the Newfoundland branch of our League in so flourishing a condition. It is most encouraging to me. It makes me realise too, by my own personal experiences, how much the British Empire Service League can do to make British ex-service men feel at home all the world over, and to make them realise wherever they may be that they have good friends and willing helpers among their old comrades of the war.

I shall be able to take back a very heartening report to our London Headquarters, one that will spur all here to yet greater efforts to establish the League as a real and lasting success. We have, no doubt, big difficulties to contend with in the vast distances which separate our various branches from each other. But we have enormous opportunities also and what you have done here itself shows that it is worth while to make an effort to turn those opportunities to good account.

The first step, undoubtedly, is the formation of a strong and really representative association of ex-service men in each constituent part of the Empire. That has largely been done, though there is still room for improvement in numbers. Every ex-service man ought to belong to the local branch of the ex-service men's association of his country, not only for his own sake but for the sake of his old war comrades. That at any rate should be our ideal, for the stronger each association is the more powerfully it will be able to help ex-service men in its own country, and the more useful will be the British Empire Service League to the ex-service men of the Empire as a whole.

You know yourselves whether your own ex-service association is yet as strong numerically as it could be and ought to be, and I am quite sure that you will all do your utmost to increase its membership. I can honestly say that the British Legion at home since its creation by the amalgamation of the various separate ex-service organizations previously existing, has been of real value to the ex-service men of the home countries and in matters of employment, pensions and the like has been able to exert a powerful influence for the benefit not only of its members but of all ex-service men.

But the ideals of ex-service men's organizations, as I understand them, are not limited to helping ex-services men, whether members of their own respective associations or resident of their own respective countries. We try to look further afield, and to find a way of helping all ex-service men to whatever part of the Empire they belong. That is where our British Empire Service League comes in. That should be one of the first objects of its endeavour.

There are plenty of directions in which this object can be pursued. We can arrange for a helping hand to be given to ex-service men newly arrived in a country that is strange to them. We can discuss together, whether in conference or by correspondence, many matters of general concern to ex-service men wherever they may be. We can compare our different experiences and learn from each other's successes our mistakes, and when we have found a case of real hardship or a good cause we can combine to exert for a worthy end the pressure of the combined opinion of ex-service men, not of one country alone, but of the whole of our vast Empire.

And our opportunities for Empire service go still further even than that. We are ex-service men, but we are also citizens of the Empire, and by helping to strengthen the remembrance of our old comradeship we are helping to strengthen the bonds of affection and understanding which keep our Empire together.

In the happiest and most united of families mistakes and misunderstandings must at times arise; but the more means a family has, whether it be a family of individuals or of nations of keeping in touch and preserving old associations, the less frequent misunderstandings will be and the more easily they will be reconciled when they do occur. It is our part, as members of the League, to preserve our understanding of each other, and as old comrades to make allowances for mistakes at times are made.

We on our side of the Atlantic cannot forget the splendid way in which you came to help us when we most had need of help. No doubt, the fortunes of Newfoundland and of Canada and of all the other Dominions were at stake as well as the fortunes of the British Isles; but we like to think, and indeed we do believe just there as something more is to be done. That material considerations were not all that swayed you; but that you felt also the pull of kinship and the influence of like ideals. We rejoice that there should be strong ex-service men's associations here on this side too. We of the British Legion send greetings to you here in Newfoundland and to our comrades also in the great neighbouring Dominion of Canada. We remember the old days when Newfoundland men fought in a British Division; when Canadian Divisions made the Vimy Ridge a part of the history of their Dominion, and in defence of Arras in the Spring of 1918 stood between the Empire and defeat.

We remember these things with gratitude, and our comrades with affection. We hope that they will always serve as a bond between us, and that our lasting comradeship will help to bridge the waters that lie between our countries. In matters of Empire, we ex-service men stand for prevention rather than cure. It is easier to avoid quarrels than to patch them up again when bad blood has once been made. That is the reason why a policeman is always a more popular person than a detective. The one keeps the peace before mischief is done. The other only comes on to the scene after the crime has been committed. We want to be the policemen of the empire, to keep peace among our family of nations and a proper brotherly feeling among their individual members.

And our ideals go further still than that. We believe that we ex-service men, who know what war really is, though we will not shrink from it in a just and worthy cause, yet can be and should be a powerful influence working for world peace. For this reason we seek to keep touch also with the ex-service men of other countries, who though beside us in the Great War, particularly are we anxious to preserve our old associations and friendship with the ex-service men of the United States of America, many of whom passed part of their time of service in the British area in France.

I am not likely to forget the American troops who, our of pure zeal for battle, joined the Australians in the successful attack on Hamel in July 1918 without orders, and left it to me to explain to the American Command how it was that they became involved! None of us will forget the splendid American Divisions who took part with us in the great victorious advance which started on the 8th August, 1918 and ended three months' later in the triumph of the Allied cause.

A new page has been written in the history of American and British relations. We who fought each other, have fought together, not for self-interest, but for principle and for a faith in the future development of the human race which we share in common, and which is the joint responsibility of all English-speaking peoples.

And to you, ex-service men of Newfoundland, I bring from the British Legion our earnest appeal that as you helped us manfully in battle you will help us now in the work of peace for which the British Empire Service League has been called into being. It is not so long since we were in fact comrades in arms. We realised then, under the stress of great events and in the face of a common danger, that all parts of our great Empire stood to fall together; we are comrades, still, as your reception of me to-day has clearly shown. Let us never forget that comradeship. It has become something that is part of ourselves; born of common suffering and hardship, and confirmed by common sacrifice. Let us make it part of the spirit of our several peoples so that they may always stand together, shoulder to shoulder as we did, for the defence of our common heritage and the peace of the whole world.

GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS.

His Excellency the Governor was next called upon and he made a brief address. He had not come prepared to speak, but he was much impressed with the address of Earl Haig, and he hoped that every ex-service man present would remember and profit by the address. In this country things are not exactly as they ought to be, with regard to the ex-service men's association. The membership of the G.W.V.A. has not been as large as it might be. His Excellency felt that it is now time for all ex-service men to come together and place themselves in their right position. The war veterans is an important man in the empire, because, he has fought to defend it. The Governor expressed himself as being a staunch Imperialist. He had every belief in the empire the foundation stone of which was laid by Sir Humphrey Gilbert near the site of the War Memorial which Earl Haig has unveiled. The throne is the strongest link but as long as we are prepared to stand by it, there is no fear of the empire. All things being equal, he believed that ex-service men should get the preference, but at the same time our veterans should endeavour to prove themselves capable and worthy of any such preference, that may be accorded them. His Excellency closed with an appeal for increased membership in the G.W.V.A. of which he had the honor of being the patron.

CAPT. DONALD SIMPSON SPEAKS.
Captain Donald Simpson, Hon. Secretary of the British Empire Service League was next asked to speak and did so briefly. He felt that the example shown by Earl Haig was one that might well be followed by ex-service men everywhere, as his time which might well be spent in well-earned rest was being given to the interests of the men who had followed him. He was very pleased to see such a flourishing ex-service men's association in Newfoundland and from what he could judge since he came here the Association appears to have gained the respect of the public and press of the country.

The aim of ex-service men generally should be to help one another in time of peace as they had done in the days of the war. In his position as honorary secretary of the British Empire Service League, he had visited many places in the empire where ex-service men's Associations were formed and he saw many opportuni-

HAND-OVER AFFECTIONS.

Do you have hang-over affections? By hang-over we mean childhood desires for certain things that were not gratified in your childhood and that persist in you to this day.

Every now and then I find myself moved by such an affection.

But We Had No Tulips.

One of them is for tulips. We never had any tulips in our garden. We had other flowers that, with my taste of to-day, I should like better than tulips but we had no tulips. And so like the goat that always strains for the grass beyond its tether I always longed for tulips. There seemed something exotic and romantic and peculiarly desirable about them to me.

Our neighbor had a big bed of red and yellow and scarlet tulips and one day he gave me one, a red one with a few streaks on it. I can see that tulip now and remember how proud I was of it. When I look at tulips with my eyes of to-day I see them as very ruddy, stiff, ungraceful flowers. But I still have a haunting desire to possess them.

A Rosy Pink Organdie.

Accordian pleating is another one of my hang-overs. When I was about 12 years old, one of my chums who was a year or two older went to her first party with a boy. It was what was known as "Officers Party" and was the grand social event of the year. Hitherto we had been too young for it and my chum was the first one of our crowd to attend. The day before she took me into the spare room (we still had spare rooms instead of guest rooms in those days) and showed me her party dress with all the fixings spread on the bed. It was a pink accordion pleating, there were new black slippers and black stockings and a pink fan. I remember those accessories only vaguely, but the dress itself, a rosy shade of pink organdie pleated to an incredible width, and spread out fan wise on the white bed spread, is still vivid in my mind.

How I did want an accordion pleated dress that day. And from that day to this an insatiable affection for accordion pleating has possessed me. One of the first dresses I bought when I began to earn my own money for clothes was an accordion pleated. And, incidentally, made of a goods that never should have been pleated.

Always the Wrong Clothes.

I once read a story of a girl who always had the wrong clothes because each season she bought the things she had admired and envied on other people the year before, but which in the meantime had gone out of style and been superseded by other fashions that she was doomed to envy and admire on other people and buy the next year. Evidently a bad case of hang-over affections.

It is rather interesting to observe one's own hang-over affections. Perhaps you think you haven't any. But wait and watch. Someday you will find yourself indulging one of them and will smile to think of the little boy or little girl whose wishes are being gratified at last.

New York's 330th Birthday

Three hundred years ago last month the stout ship Nieuw Nederland, bringing from Amsterdam 32 families, 'mostly Walloon,' dropped anchor one morning at the mouth of the Hudson River, says the New York correspondent of the Times. "Some of these were landed on Long Island, where they set up a trading post; some continued up the river to become the founders of Albany, which they called Fort Orange; and a few of the men, it is said, went ashore on Manhattan Island and there built themselves houses of bark. But did they—did any of them actually set foot on Manhattan, and if they landed there did they actually settle down and take root in what is now New York?"

"The Dutch, to whom nine New Yorkers out of ten ascribe the founding of the city, say not; and in the absence of any corroborative evidence of the Wallons landing on the island in 1624, have asserted, with some bitterness, that the credit of being the original settlers of New York has been unjustly taken away from their countrymen after their claim had gone unchallenged for three centuries. If their contention is right, then the present tercentenary celebration is really two years ahead of its time, for the Dutch did not begin their permanent settlement before 1624.

"Now, 300 years after the Nieuw Nederland's passengers, or, failing them, the Dutch colonists with Peter Minuit, came to make permanent homes for themselves on Manhattan Island, their tiny village has grown into a city of 315 square miles and nearly 6,000,000 souls. Where there were 20 nationalities in Minuit's time there are now more than 50; and, indeed, New York is almost as much a city of foreigners in the twentieth century as it was in the seventeenth. For of her present population 2,000,000 were born abroad and 2,000,000 others are the children of foreign-born fathers or mothers. If Wallon, as some have said, has the meaning of 'exile,' 'pilgrim,' 'stranger,' then it may be that after all New York does right to make this, her tercentenary, a Walloon celebration."

Just Folks.

By EDGAR A GUEST

A TALK WITH FORTUNE.

Well, some begrudge the dollars and the dimes for buying playthings. And some there are think lollipops not worth their paltry cost; and some deny their women folk the pretty and the gay things. A scarlet ribbon means to them the silver that is lost.

But I will buy them lollipops so long as I've a dime to spend, and I will buy them ribbons red to tie their dresses round; and I will buy them pretty things and think it is not a crime to spend. And I will keep a little house where laughter shall abound.

Away with frugality! Though rich I never grow to be. Though never shall my wallet swell with arrogance and pride, A bank account I'd rather miss than have one which I know to be A bank account of little joys and pleasures I'd denied.

So Fortune, if you cannot come with lollipops and playthings, If I must from on every wish utter, large or small, If I must rob their lives of all the pretty and the gay things, I'll keep their love and glad along—you needn't come at all!

LLOYD SCORES BIGGEST LAUGH HIT WITH "WHY WORRY"

Every Harold Lloyd feature comedy stands entirely on its own merits. Starting with "A Sailor-Made Man," which was his first picture to be as long as four reels, there has not been a single Lloyd film that could be compared with any other, for each has been distinctive and varied in type and idea.

Now comes "Why Worry" and creates its own exclusive place among the Harold Lloyd Pathcomedies. It is not like any of its predecessors, except insofar as it is one hundred per cent. funny, having South America as a background and a revolution as the motif.

For chief partners-in-fun in "Why Worry," Harold Lloyd has a giant nearly nine feet tall and a leading lady only five feet tall. These are, respectively, John Aasen and Jobyna Ralston. The giant Aasen is making his screen debut, and pretty little Jobyna is making her first appearance as Harold's leading lady, supplanting Mildred Davis, who took one of those "for-better-or-worse" life jobs with Harold.

"Why Worry" is the feature attraction remaining at the Nickel Theatre until Saturday. It was produced at the Hal Roach studio with the usual Lloyd staff of experts in direction and scenario writing.

The other subject consisted of one of the popular "Our Gang" comedies, which proved a scream from start to finish. See this show and you can't go wrong.

Improved Wireless

DEVICE WARNS STEAMERS OF DANGER.

PROF. W. R. BOYLE NOW EXPERIMENTING WITH APPARATUS TO WARN SHIPS OF APPROACHING ICE.

The experiments conducted over a period of many months by Prof. W. R. Boyle of the University of Alberta, prove successful a means of warning ships on approaching land, icebergs or other vessels will have been discovered.

The experiments, now nearing their conclusion, contemplate adopting the proposed device after some final tests during the summer months off the coast of Labrador.

Secrecy has been well maintained throughout the tests, but it is understood that the apparatus to be employed is of an electrical nature into which wireless enters very largely, and it is claimed to be a considerable advance on present methods.

The "radio" device now being used on the trans-Atlantic liners when entering New York Harbor, by which routes along the deepened channel, requires the transmission of an electric current by means of a specially laid submarine cable, which is picked up by the ship's receiving apparatus.

Professor Boyle has already announced that his apparatus is successful so far as land and ship-to-ship is concerned, but he is not satisfied as to its effectiveness with regard to icebergs, hence the further experiments along the Labrador coast.—Trade Review.

Note:—The talented Professor referred to is a Newfoundlander, the son of Dr. Boyle, of Carbonear and a former student of the Methodist College.

NO EXPLANATION OF EXPLOSION GIVEN.

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., July 3. J. E. McLurg, Vice-President of the British Empire Steel Corporation, arrived here this a.m. from Sydney to investigate the explosion in the Allan shaft yesterday, when four miners were killed and seven injured, but no opinion as to the cause of the explosion was given out. The affected area was walled off and danger of fire in the mine is believed to have been eliminated.

FOUR KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN STELLARTON MINE.

STELLARTON, N.S., June 30. Four men were killed and several injured slightly when an explosion occurred this p.m. in Allan shaft at the coal workings of the Dom. Coal Co., near here seventy-four men were in mine when the explosion occurred and all had not been accounted for until midnight when the bodies of four dead were brought out. Sixty-three of those in the shaft when the explosion occurred escaped without difficulty although some suffered minor injuries and one had a broken leg. Eleven men were behind the barrier that formed by a cave in, following the explosion which occurred in the twelve hundred foot level after four of their number had been suffocated or died from shock. The remaining seven found new lease of life by breaking the fresh air pipe line that ran through the shaft and when discovered were in fairly good condition. One of the rescue party discovered an old unused passage leading to the gallery where the living and dead miners were imprisoned, and by cutting through a thin partition of earth was able to effect a rescue of the survivors much quicker than had they been forced to clear away the fallen debris that blocked the passage in which the men were caught. There was no after damage or poisonous gas present in the mine and the cause of the explosion is not known. Fearing that another disaster had befallen the Allan shaft similar to that of 1913 when eighty-eight men were lost, hundreds of relatives of those underground gathered at the pithead where the greatest panic prevailed.

GENERAL NOTES.

Earns Almost Full Year's Dividend in First Six Months.

(Boston News Bureau, June 25.) Boston—Despite recent sharp reduction in sales to dealers to enable retail stocks to assume normal proportions this summer, General Motors earnings for first six months of this year will probably be only slightly below the full year's dividend on the common. It is expected that the common will be between $22,000,000 and $24,000,000 or approximately $110 to $115 a share on 20,948,000 shares of common, against annual dividend requirement of $1.80 a share. In first six months last year net earnings were $28,175,504, or $1.84 a share.

While factory sales this quarter show a sharp decline, reflecting high production schedules of preceding six months, retail sales have been holding remarkably well considering the falling off in other branches of industry. It is estimated that deliveries to the public in the first six months will be approximately 6% under last year's record total. In the first five months the corporation reported deliveries to consumers of 230,906 vehicles, against 375,938 in 1923, a decline of 4%. On the other hand sales to dealers for first five months were $19,150, of which 215,550 were made in January, February and March, against 327,473 in 1923, of which only 176,258 were made in first three months of the year.

That retail buying has shown no greater falling off indicates the soundness of the retail situation and gives promise of more satisfactory conditions in the second half of the year. For the full year 1923 General Motors Corp. earned $55,000,000 net, or $2.57 a share on the common. Only $19,000,000 of this was made in the last six months, due to heavy expenses incidental to introduction of new models and to writing down losses properly chargeable to previous years. Similar charges against earnings are not anticipated this year. It may, therefore, be expected that even if sales this year are somewhat lower in last six months of 1924 than corresponding period of last year, earnings will not show a proportionate decline and net for the full year should compare favorably with last year.

"A Man There Was" Majestic To-Day

TENOR VOCALIST SING THREE FINE SONGS.

The Majestic scored a big success in the special Haig week program the first half of this week. Mr. Ben Redden sang the French American and British National Anthems the large audiences went wild and applauded vigorously each selection but it remained for the Rule Britannia to show the fever heat of patriotism when the entire house stood and gave expression to the "Union Jack" which was specially and appropriately illuminated. Mr. Redden was accorded a big reception and his singing was superb. To-day he is singing three classic songs, "Little Grey Home in the West," "Absent," and "Until," which will surely be well received and give full scope to his very pleasing tenor tone. The patriotti-pu-shard tenor tone. The feature to-day is an unusual one and will merit the approval of all. It is the celebrated Hendrick Ibsen's "A Man There Was," a strong impressive story was sold in every English speaking country in record numbers. "A Man There Was" is the kind of a feature which will be acceptable to all. Mr. Redden will appear about 9 a.m., when those who come late will have an opportunity to see and hear the entire program.

in Nickel common. One is the very definite improvement that has taken place in the industry. The large surplus of nickel left by the war—relatively larger than any other commodity—is virtually cleaned up. The trade is operating on an even keel of supply and demand and new uses for nickel are being developed to take up the slack left by the cessation of demand for armament purposes. Another reason is that the steady liquidation of Nickel common by one large estate is completed. In addition to these holdings, numbering over 100,000 shares, another large block of stock has been marketed during recent months. Virtually all of the stock has now been taken off the market. In its fiscal year ended March 31, 1924, International Nickel earned net profits of $1,906,756 after 6% on its $9,812,000 preferred stock and all reserves for depreciation, depletion, taxes, etc. This was equivalent to 40 cents a share on the 1,578,884 shares of Common and compares with earnings of only 54 cents per share on its preferred stock of $100 par in the 1922 fiscal year. It is the first time in three years the company has earned its preferred dividends—three years of slow recovery from the war. That it needs only sustained metal market improvement and steady industrial to put International Nickel common back into the dividend ranks can be seen by its strong treasury position. The small issue of $9,125 shares of preferred and the common stock are the only capital liabilities. Net current assets on March 31 of this year amounted to $10,833,268, of which $1,000,000 was loaned on call and almost $750,000 carried as cash balance.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK. Harvard Economic Service Says Ease in Money is Favorable to Business Improvement.

Boston—Harvard Economic Service says—Easier conditions in the money market strengthen the business situation. Their appearance gives further support to our belief that business is not now facing a general depression. "There are, of course, adverse influences, which are likely to prevent market expansion during the summer months. Thus, political uncertainties remain both in Europe and at home; important agricultural sections (and some industries) have not yet recovered from the effects of the depression of 1921; summer is the dull season for many lines of industry and trade. But such adverse influences, to the extent that they may operate, are likely only to postpone and not prevent business improvement. "The process of readjustment may not yet be completed, and it is quite possible that in June or July business will fall below the May level. The present condition of the money market does not necessarily mean prompt increase in business activity, but it is distinctly favorable to improvement."

SUGAR PRICES.

Ideal Crop Conditions, Increasing Sugar Content of Cane, Make Possible Record Cuban Output Which May Reach 4,075,000 Tons. (From Boston News Bureau, June 23.)

NEW YORK.—Combination of unexpectedly favorable weather in Cuba and unfavorable weather in the United States is regarded in many quarters as responsible for the decline in raw sugar from a high of 5% cents in February to present quotations of around 1 1/2 cents. Ideal crop conditions have increased sucrose content of cane, making possible a record Cuban output which may reach 4,075,000 tons. On the other hand the backward spring decreased sugar consumption and temporarily deprived Cuban sugar producing companies of their chief market.

So far shipments of raw sugar direct from Cuba to countries other than the United States have been heavily curtailed to last year. The total to June 1 was 434,558 tons, against 499,976 in first five months of 1923. Shipments of Cuban raws to United States ports, however, of the same date totalled only 1,787,105 tons, against 1,838,238 last year, and 2,253,229 tons in 1922.

EARL HAIG REGATTA.

Phenomenal Success—Thousands of Citizens Witnessed Well-Tested Events.

The holiday attraction for yesterday afternoon was the Haig Regatta, held at historic Quidi Vidi Lake; under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Allardyce, K.C.M.G. The weather conditions for an event of its kind were ideal. Long before the appointed hour thousands of citizens had assembled on the banks of picturesque Quidi Vidi, not alone to witness the various races but to show their appreciation for the distinguished visitors from over the seas. The course presented a very attractive appearance. Many tents dotted the banks; the usual side-shows and swings were in evidence, and the picture presented was reminiscent of an "Old Time" Regatta. Following the first race, Earl and Lady Haig, accompanied by Sir Wm. and Lady Allardyce, Capt. Simpson and Col. Talbot arrived at the course. The party were right royally received by Lt.-Col. Nangle, President of the Regatta Committee, and upon being escorted to the Marquee tent, where special seats had been provided, the Mt. Cashel Band rendered the National Anthem. All the various races during the afternoon were closely contested and the oarsmen in every event put their whole souls into their work. During the proceedings Earl Haig and party boarded the Judges' boat and rowed to the stakes to witness the start of the Ex-Brigade Race. Earl Haig started the race. The distinguished visitors also motored to the foot of the pond to watch the boats turning the buoys. A special feature of the Regatta programme was an exhibition of log rolling by Mr. Leslie Rice, of Grand Falls. For twenty minutes the thousands congregated on the bank breathlessly watching the logger perform many amazing stunts. The spinning of the log was very thrilling indeed, and it clearly showed that Rice is a past master in this particular line of work. On two occasions he overbalanced and fell into the water, but he quickly recovered himself, much to the amazement of the lookers-on. He received a hearty reception from the gathering for the excellence of his performance, and was later introduced and congratulated by Earl Haig, and as an appreciation of his work he was presented with a silver match box. The East End crew, stroked by Thos. Kearsey, won the District Race, had the quickest time for the afternoon, 10.14.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES.

At the conclusion of the races the Committee repaired to the Marquee Tent, where the winning crews were called forward by Vice President W. J. Higgins, for the purpose of receiving their prizes, and to be officially introduced to Field Marshal Earl Haig, who during the afternoon had been very much impressed by their splendid rowing. The occasion was a very happy moment for all, and as the winners came forward Earl Haig gave each individual a hearty handshake and congratulated them on their excellent display, following which Lady Haig joined in the same token and very graciously presented the prizes, handsome gold and silver souvenir match boxes, inscribed with the facsimile signature of Earl Haig, which we feel sure will be prized by the winners for many years to come. The prize winning crews, before leaving the Royalty Box gave three ringing cheers for Earl and Lady Haig. Following the presentation, Earl Haig took occasion to thank the gathering for the manner in which he had been received, and at the same time tendered his warmest thanks to President Hiscock and his energetic committee for their very kind welcome. He enjoyed every moment of the Regatta and wished the Committee well in future. Lt.-Col. Nangle, Honorary President of the Regatta Committee, who was mainly responsible for the success of the day, thanked the gathering for their splendid co-operation, following which brief addresses were made by President A. Hiscock and V-President, Hon. W. J. Higgins, K.C. Cheers were then called for Earl and Lady Haig, His Excellency and Lady Allardyce, also all those prominently identified with the Regatta, which was given with a will. To President Hiscock, Secretary C. J. Ellis and all who are responsible for yesterday's success, congratulations were tendered. The Haig Regatta, which will be an everlasting memory to all those who had the pleasure of attending, was brought to a fitting conclusion at 7 p.m. by the playing of the National Anthem by the Mt. Cashel Band, who, in charge of Mr. Arthur Bulley, were present throughout the afternoon and rendered excellent selections.

TUG-OF-WAR.

The tug-of-war for the magnificent trophy, kindly donated by Earl Haig, was won by the Guards. This team maintained their previous record by defeating the C.C.C. in the preliminaries by two pulls to their opponent's one, and in the final secured a victory over the Grand Falls aggregation, by two straight pulls. After an interval of ten minutes the champions pulled a select team from H.M.S. Constance, the local easily repeating their previous performance. The tug-of-war was carried out from the standing position and proved a decided success. A fitting wind up to a successful sport programme was the international relay race, between St. John's and a picked four from U.S.S. Lawrence. The local team, which comprised such well known sprinters as Albert Martin, J. Canning, G. Halley and Jas. Herder, were an excellent combination and won with lots to spare. The time, 4 min. 5 sec. can be considered creditable, considering the condition of the field. The bands of the C.L.E. Cadets, Methodist Guards, and Mount Cashel, supplied delightful music throughout the evening, and greatly enlivened the proceedings. After each event the winning athletes were introduced to Field Marshal Haig, who congratulated them on their prowess in the athletic field, following which Lady Haig presented the winners with their prizes. During the afternoon a number of ladies, under the direction of Mrs. McKeen, served ice cream and soft drinks which netted a handsome sum. The following was the complete list of events and winners:—

HAIG SPORTS.

Seating or standing space was at a premium in St. George's Field Tuesday afternoon, while the Haig Sports, under the joint management of the G.W.V.A. and N.A.A.A. were in progress. Long before 2.30 the Grand Stand was filled to overflowing and spectators were lined eight and ten deep around the fence. It is estimated that 7,000 persons were in attendance, which is a record for local athletic circles. The G.W.V.A. of Newfoundland as one of the chief events in connection with the celebration during Earl Haig Week, and the energetic body of men, who undertook the arrangements, which terminated such a success, are deserving of every congratulation. The receipts were away beyond expectations, and will be devoted to the G.W.V.A. fund. The grounds were gaily bedecked with flags and streams of bunting, which extended on all sides of the field, made the scene a very pretty one. Promptly at 3 o'clock the distinguished visitors, Earl and Countess Haig, accompanied by His Excellency, Sir Wm. Allardyce, K.C.M.G., Patron of the G.W.V.A., and under whose patronage the sports were held, had arrived at the grounds by the eastern gate. Included in the party were Lady Allardyce, Miss Vira Allardyce, Capt. Simpson, Capt. Talbot and Capt. Goodfellow. A guard of honor from the G.W.V.A. of Grand Falls, in charge of Lieut. K. Goodyear, lined the entrance, and upon being welcomed by Lt.-Col. Nangle, President of the G.W.V.A., and Hon. W. J. Higgins, Captain of the Field Committee, the party passed through. Meanwhile Field Marshal Haig was introduced to the Guard of War Warriors by Lt.-Col. Nangle, whilst the Sports Committee, who had already lined up inside of the enclosure, were also introduced. Following the brief ceremony the party was escorted to special seats in the enclosure, and the massed bands in attendance rendered the National Anthem, while the huge audience stood at attention. At 2.10 the programme opened with a grand parade of all competitors. The march past was excellently conducted and evoked considerable interest. In all, over sixty competitors took part, and a few records went by the boards. Ken Goodyear, of Grand Falls, proved to be the supreme weight thrower of the day. Goodyear captured the honors in the Javelin, Discus and Hammer throwing competitions. A feature of the sports was a number of entrants from the warships H.M.S. Constance and U.S.S. Regulus. They caused a great impression. Seaman R. Jordan, H.M.S. Constance, a powerful man of 252 pounds, defeated a field of nine competitors in putting the shot. Jordan placed the 16 pound weight a distance of 32 feet, one inch, beating Tom Morrissey's throw of last year by three inches. Although Goodyear lost out to Goodyear in the Hammer Throw, he broke the local record in the preliminaries of the previous evening; the distance being 77 ft. 6 in., which can be constituted a record. R. Fraser, our champion pole vaulter, smashed his own record in this event, clearing the bar at 9 ft. 9 in. A delightful feature of the sports programme was a grand march past by the Girl Guides Troop. The marching was perfect and was deserving of the local appreciation received. The ball game by a number of Girl Guides was a novel attraction and proved particularly interesting. The final football sizes for the Governor's Cup, was played between the Cadets and Guards. After a hard fought contest the Cadets were awarded the game on a lone corner.

SOCCER GAME ARRANGED.

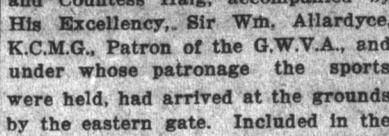

City vs. H.M.S. Constance. The attraction for to-night at St. George's Field will be a football match between a picked team from the city, against H.M.S. Constance. DISTINGUISHED VISITORS RECEIVED PRESENTATION.

During the progress of the Sports Tuesday afternoon, Countess Haig and Lady Allardyce were presented with beautiful boxes of candy, from the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. The candy was of a very excellent quality and was made by Mrs. S. T. Harrington and Mrs. Hector McNeil. The boxes were tied with G.W.V.A. colors, in which were G.W.V.A. pins, and included Countess Haig's was a card, on which were the words, "With greetings and warm welcome to Newfoundland, from the G.W.V.A. Ladies' Auxiliary." This was presented by Miss May Furlong. A card in the box, presented to Lady Allardyce, by Mrs. McKeen, Treasurer of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was inscribed, "In token of appreciation for all you have done for our sailors and soldiers."

Check Reckless Motoring

As a part of its programme to re-educate the reckless motorist from the highway, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce of the United States has published the text of a new law for the impounding of motor vehicles of offenders. This law has been drawn by constitutional lawyers with the aim of getting a measure which will be practical and will be in accord with legislative precedent.

Taking away property which has been misused has precedent in some of the early fishing laws and in a large number of Volstead Act cases. Detroit is impounding vehicles by taking away the license of the car. Another method is to affix a police seal on the car in the owner's garage or the vehicle can be impounded in a public garage at the owner's expense.

The measure, as outlined, provides for public sale of the car where the offender does not meet the fees and expenses approved by the court for the seizure and detention of the vehicle.

The automobile organization has established this proposed law, not with the thought that it is necessarily the best for any particular situation, but to serve as a guide for a practical measure for any community which may have this form of legislation in mind. Copies may be obtained from the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, 356 Madison Avenue, New York City, without charge. There are various methods of punishing the reckless motorist. Fines, however, are not a great worry to the prosperous, and it is hard to get a jury to impose jail sentences. It is felt that the impounding method of depriving the owner of the use of his car for a given period is more severe than a fine, and that the justice of the measure will appeal to jurors.

Commenting upon the proposed law, the traffic planning and safety committee of the Chamber says:

"It is stated by some that such a procedure is confiscation, and would be unconstitutional. We do not agree with this viewpoint. It is present procedure in all parts of the country to take from a man that which he has used to the detriment of the public. Thus we find police authorities everywhere confiscating automobiles, weapons, gambling devices, illicit liquors and conveyances used for the transport of such liquors. We have seen property taken from raided saloons. We have seen homes and business establishments padlocked when they have been used for disorderly purposes. If all this is legal, we believe that our suggestion of impounding cars is legal.

The point might also be raised that the care of impounded cars involves a problem and that it might be difficult for police authorities to find adequate storage space, or to insure return of the cars to their owners in first-class condition. Our plan does not involve any municipal fund. We would do one of two things: Either tie up the car in the owner's garage with police seals attached, or impound it in a public garage at the owner's expense, also with police seals attached. At the end of the penalty period, the police department would remove the seals and permit the car to be used once more.

The automobile industry offers this as a concrete suggestion, and will support the enactment of such a law in every State of the United States. It is a very drastic measure, which is not likely to receive general acceptance, but the prevalence of accidents in the United States has made imperative the control of motor traffic, and the necessity for the protection of life and limb.—Morning Chronicle.

It is hard to find a more tempting, appetizing dish than fresh fish fried in Crisco.—adv.

Streets in Mid-Air
Pedestrians will walk above the flying maze of traffic on "second-story pavements" in Chicago's densely-packed business section if the plan of Mr. John J. Sloan, president of the local improvement board, is adopted.

Mr. Sloan proposes to raise the pavements to the second story level, at a cost of about $1,000,000.

Two stairways at every street intersection would give access to the overhead pavements, which would be about 13 1/2 ft. from the street level. Merchants could offset the expense through the added display which they would gain exhibits in second-story windows, Mr. Sloan claims.

The pavements would be constructed on the cantilever principle, would span the street about 2 ft., and be as much as there would be a space from 6 to 10 ft. between the building fronts and the edges of the pavement, they would not, it is claimed, cut off light and air from the floors below.

Second level pavements would under second floors attractive for shopping and display purposes, and would be a distinct benefit to the district affected," says Mr. Sloan.
