

The Weekly Monitor.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1882.

Insurance—Mr. E. J. H. Morse.

In our issue of the 15th March, we took occasion to warn our readers of the danger they would incur in assuring their lives in the so-called Co-operative Insurance Companies, among which we named the Mutual Benefit of Hartford.

In doing this we were impelled by a sense of public duty only, and took care to fortify our statements by extracts from the Weekly Monitor, of New York, and other respectable newspapers.

We had no desire to injure anybody—much less Mr. Morse, who is an agent for the M. B. I. Company, was endeavoring to do business for it in this County—but to prevent injury being done to our people.

Mr. Morse complained of our conduct in a letter, to which we gave insertion in one issue of the 22nd March. To this letter we made a short reply in the same number of the Monitor editorially, and called upon Mr. Morse to show whether the M. B. I. had deposited the required sum as security against loss by the insured with the Dominion government, and asked him several other pertinent questions.

To these Mr. Morse sent a reply, not enclosed in the most business-like terms, and which we declined to publish last week.

We do not desire to enter into controversy with him on the general subject of insurance. We had fully discharged our duty when we printed the closing paragraph of the editorial referred to, which we said, "To conclude, we have done our duty, and warned the people if they choose to take their chances of Co-operative societies proving permanent institutions, that is their affair not ours."

We propose to give our readers the benefit of Mr. Morse's last letter in connection with this article, as he seems to think, and perhaps properly, that his answers to our questions should be made known.

He says in reply to question 1st, "We (M. B. I.) most assuredly have an undeposited right," (to do business in the Dominion) and in proof of his assertion he adds, "If we had not the old line companies would long ago have driven us out, as we have been doing a large business in the Dominion for about nine years, and have three of the old line companies put together. As for the deposit," Mr. Morse adds, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

Mr. Morse says, "The Dominion government are not in a position to receive a deposit from any Co-operative Insurance Company." Now the policy of the Dominion, and Mr. Morse's answer to our question, seem to be at variance.

name of the writer, as a guarantee of good faith. During the progress of the election campaign, now already commencing, our readers may expect to be informed through such correspondence on the various matters which will form the ultimate issues to be tried or pronounced upon by them at the polls, as electors.

—A fire in Hopkinton, Mass., has destroyed $3,500,000 worth of property.

—The Rev. Mr. John Cox, of Fox Brook, of this town, lost a fine fox hound last week by distemper.

—About six inches of snow fell during Monday night and Tuesday morning of this week.

—President Arthur has vetoed the anti-Chinese bill, and the Senate has refused to pass it over his veto.

—On Thursday last Dr. DeBlois, of this town, lost his smoke house by fire, together with all its contents of hams, jowls, and beef. Fortunately no other buildings caught.

—EASTON NEWS.—Mr. C. G. Dodge, of Middleton, sold last week a pair of 3 year old steers for $150 to a Halifax farmer. The pair were judged to weigh 3,000 pounds.

—Our enterprising young merchant, Mr. J. W. Beckwith and his wife, lost one of their children—a boy—on Monday last with the group. This is the third in age, and the second child that they have been called upon to mourn.

—A Berwick boy stole $475 from his father's safe on Sunday the 2nd inst., and left with another boy on the train bound east. They were intercepted by telegram and brought back. They had $475.85 of the money on their persons when arrested. The father will take no action against them.

—Geese and ducks are reported plentiful in the river. Two of our sports were down on Monday with ducks and all the modern improvements, but only bagged one goose.

—Lightning struck a house in Lockville, Hanis Co., on the 2nd inst., and did serious damage, such as demolishing the chimney, raising the roof of an all of the house, and moving the all itself. Strange to say none of the inmates of the house were injured.

—The St. John News has the following:—Seaman's wages rule somewhat higher at the opening of this season than usual. Eighteen dollars per month is offered for Coastwise contracts or for the United Kingdom or West India.

—Fears were entertained last week in St. John, N. B., that the dealer of the Bank of New Brunswick had proved to be a defaulter, to an amount as high as $20,000. The trouble appears to have been, however, in the teller simply allowing persons to over check; but he has checks to represent all the deposits made, and the parties are all good.

—EASTON DECORATIONS.—St. James' Church was decorated with tastefully and artistically arranged; the font was surmounted with an excellent imitation of a large vase, and interwined around it and at the base were real flowers and evergreens.

—The banners are the work of the rectory's lady, and in fact the arrangements of the whole of the decorations are due to her cultivated taste.

—SERRANUS STOCK.—Mr. A. R. Woodbury, of Wilnot, has recently purchased from H. T. Harding, Esq., of Maitland, Hanis Co., his stallion "Wrangler," and from E. Ruggles, Esq., of this town his fine mare "Fanny."

—The deceased Mr. Woodbury is a fine looking animal and from the glance we had at him the other day, should judge him to be in thorough condition. Mr. Woodbury is to be congratulated on possessing such fine stock.

—TAKEN INTO CONSIDERATION.—Many of our readers we know have had a hearty laugh over the ingenious methods of advertising St. Jacobs Oil. The firm owning it, A. Vogeler & Co., of Baltimore, Md., do the most extensive amount of advertising of any proprietary medicine we know of.

—The March number of the Palladium Medical Journal, will be found full of good things and a vast improvement upon preceding numbers. It contains eight choice selections of short-stories, as follows: "Romance" by Hawthorne; "The Joyous Farmer" by Schumann; and "Marquis et Marguerite" by Morley; and exquisite instrumental pieces: "Marguerite" and "When hopes are dead," beautiful and popular songs, composed respectively by G. Schumann and J. Schumann; and "The Willow and the Lily," one of the prettiest ballads from Stephen and Solomon's New Comic Opera, "Claude Duval," now all the rage; and "When Autumn Leaves are Falling Round," one of the latest and best songs of the day. Wm. Newellville, No. 1300 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

—Hop Bitters, which are advertised in our columns, are a sure cure for ague, biliousness and kidney complaints. Those who use them say they cannot be too highly recommended. Those afflicted should give them a fair trial, and will become thereby enthusiastic in the praise of their curative qualities.—Portland Ad.

—A NOTICE RESPECTING CRISIS GOES.—It is with much regret we learn that Mr. John L. Rice the junior and keeper of our County Court House and jail, has paid his debt of nature. He was struck, we are told, with paralysis on Monday morning, and in twenty-four hours he was dead. He was of a genial and kindly disposition, and was respected by all who knew him. The position he occupied is held for many years, and is efficiently discharged in duties. He will be much missed.

—Don't be Alarmed.—Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or any disease of the kidneys, liver, or urinary organs, as Hop Bitters will certainly and safely cure you, and it is the only thing that will.

—Latest advices from Boston to H. Bath are not to pay more than ten cents per ton for eggs until further notice. 11

—Engagement are requested to take notice that a meeting will be held at the Engine House to-morrow night at 7 o'clock sharp. A full attendance is requested.

—The Copla arrived in Halifax on Sunday evening. She left for Annapolis on Monday, and we suppose will arrive before our readers get this issue.

—We trust our fruit growers will not forget the notice we gave of a meeting in their interest to be held at the Court House, on Saturday next at 2 o'clock p. m.

—The Rev. J. W. S. Young, the New Brunswick evangelist, is in company with the resident minister, Rev. E. H. Sweet, holding revival services at Fox Brook, and we are glad to hear that results are being obtained. On Sunday last five persons were baptised at Hampton, and more are expected to follow.

—A lady named Mrs. Smythe was assassinated recently in West Meath, Ireland. She was riding in a carriage with several others and the assassins discharged several volleys at them, which proved satisfactory. The carriage was struck by Mrs. Smythe on the head, scattered her brains about the carriage. The life actually aimed at was, it is said, her brother-in-law.

—The Ben Seaboard and Entertainments held in Temperance Hall on Tuesday evening last, owing to the inclement weather, was but thinly attended, consequently it was decided to repeat on Thursday night, and the attendance being good. Everything passed off pleasantly, the supper was excellent and the entertainment very pleasing. Some of the recitations were particularly well rendered, and the music both vocal and instrumental was appreciated heartily.

—We have heard that the destruction of moose has become general in the moose-hunting districts, and now we find that a correspondent of the Windsor Mail is complaining of the same thing, and says the destruction of the moose should have such an utter disregard for the law and so little humanity as to slaughter these noble animals in the close season. Can nothing be done to put a stop to such work?

—The customary annual meeting of the rectory wardens, vestry and parishioners of the parish of Bridgetown and Belleisle, took place on Monday last, at the hour of two o'clock p. m., in the Parish Church of St. James, Bridgetown, pursuant to law. The Rev. L. R. Morse took the chair and opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the last Easter meeting having been called for and read, the warden presented their accounts of receipts and expenditures, which the meeting received and adopted.

—The March number of the Palladium Medical Journal, will be found full of good things and a vast improvement upon preceding numbers. It contains eight choice selections of short-stories, as follows: "Romance" by Hawthorne; "The Joyous Farmer" by Schumann; and "Marquis et Marguerite" by Morley; and exquisite instrumental pieces: "Marguerite" and "When hopes are dead," beautiful and popular songs, composed respectively by G. Schumann and J. Schumann; and "The Willow and the Lily," one of the prettiest ballads from Stephen and Solomon's New Comic Opera, "Claude Duval," now all the rage; and "When Autumn

