Paris, Nov. 21.-The Soleil this morning, reviewing at length the peace negotiations, says: "How miserable is the fate of our Spanish neighbors. American rapacity has not left them an inch of the territory they have possessed in America since the time of Columbus or in Oceanica since the time of Magellan. But, that is not the worst of their misfortune. Their Their parliamentary parties which, moreover, never had strong root, are completely disorganized, and no one dares assume the responsibility of power. The present ministry remains because no one wishes to replace it. But it is almost powerless before the ills which threaten the country." A cable on behalf of the American peace commissioners in Paris has been received at Washington from Judge Day, seeking instructions definitely on some points to be made in the American answer, which is yet to be presented. These instructions have been sent forward and are precisely in line with the policy which the American commissioners have been pursuing up to this point in the negotiations.

000,000. THE CUBAN DEBT.

Madrid, Nov. 21.-In political circles it is asserted that an agreement has been arranged beween the peace commissioners in Paris. The government, it is semi-officially anounced, intends to notify the Cuban bond-holders that Spain will not pay the Cuban debt, which will not be mentioned in the peace treaty. The government considers itself completely freed from these engagements, which fall upon the nation exercising sover-eignty and collecting taxes in Cuba.

SPAIN MAY REJECT THE OFFER. London, Nov. 21.—The Madrid correspondent of the Dally Mail says: It is asserted that the government would reject an offer of $40,000,000 for the Philippines as ridiculous.

A QUERY.

The Daily Chronicle, on the Hispano-American situation this morning, after expressing some apprehension "that we may have been mistaken as to the Anglo-American entente," points to the establishment of a "medieval navi-gation law in Porto Rico," and asks "Is a still greater disappointment coming on the closing of the doors to our commerce in the Philippines?"

to Follow the Political Compact.

Brighter Outlook for Dreyfus - The Patti Wedding.

London, Nov. 21 .- Following up the Anglo-German political compact in Africa and elsewhere, pressure is being put upon the British ministers to meet German views in the matter of a new Anglo-German treaty of commerce. This pressure is warmly supported by the German semi-official press. The Frankfort Zeitung says that Mr. Chamberlain's friendly utterances of Wednesday respecting Germans should be translated into action in treaty negotiations. The Vossiche Zeitung relieves the British Government of blame for the delay. It says the British ministers are not responsible for Canada's action in introducing a preferential tariff. It doubts whether the government whole edifice of political economy and of Canada will openly maintain its administration is going to pieces. present attitude. Canada is thus once more a pivot for British policy.

It is announced at Glasgow that specifications will shortly be assued for the construction of four first-class cruisers in private yards.

BETTER FOR DREYFUS. Paris, Nov. 21.-The government, according to the Temps, has ordered a modification of the prison treatment of former Capt. Albert Dreyfus. Dreyfus is to be allowed to promenade and exercise six hours a day over an area of eight acres.

A terrible explosion occurred yester-day afternoon in the Cafe du Champaux, underneath the office of the Hauvas agency. A woman was killed outright and eight other persons were seriously injured.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Standard says that the state of the army is causing anxiety in pol-itical and official circles, because officers of all ranks and the men are returning from Cuba and the Philip-pines are very discontented. This discontent is due, not only to the fact that their pay is in arrears, but also to their profound mortification and displeasure at the conduct of the government. Emperor Nicholas has addressed a most flattering rescript to his greatuncle, the Imperial Grand Duke Michael, on the occasion of the grand duke's military jubilee. As the result of the Raheita incident, France and Italy have agreed to submit to a joint commission the determination of the frontier lines divid-

ELEVEN MEN INJURED. Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 21.-A fire which broke out in the building devoted to the manufacture of lard at the pork packing establishment of John P. Squire & Co., at East Cambridge, this morning, resulted in serious injury to eleven men, four of whom it is feared will die, and a property loss estimated at $80,000. THIRTEEN MILES OF FLAME.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 21.—A special to the Republic from Macomb, Mo., says: The largest and most destructive conflagration that has ever swept the Ozark Mountains since 1884 is now threatening this town. The fire extends for miles and miles, north of and parallel with the Memphis Railroad. The autumn heavy foliage has rapidly fallen since the frost, and is supposed to have been fired from sparks of freight engines. A scope of country thirteen miles long is in flames. Miles of fences, orchards, plantations, farms and dry pasture fields, stocked with cattle and other animals, and many old settlers' homes lie directly in the line of the fire. Neighborhoods find themselves totally unable to check the flames, and their only remedy is to hurriedly turn out stock ahead of the flames and desert the premises. The altitude being 1,760 feet above the sea, and a terrible southwesterly wind prevailing, great destruction is imminent. The town of Macomb will probably be destroyed.

No Need for Young Canadians To Go Abroad-Tribute to Hon. Mr. Hardy and the Ontario Government.

The speech of the Hon. David Mills, minister of justice, at the banquet of Hon. A. S. Hardy, was, as usual, & thoughtful effort. For the benefit of Advertiser readers we reproduce it in

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: It is a pleasure for me to be here this evening. I thank you for the manner in which you have received the toast of the Parliament of Canada and the Government of the Dominion. But before saying a word on the theme suggested by that toast, let me make an observation or two in reference to the prime minister of Ontario, the gentleman who has well earned the recognition which you have this evening given to his services. Mr. Hardy has long devoted himself to the public services of this province. He has been assiduous in the discharge of the duties which he has undertaken. He, for a quarter of a century, has served under the leadership of Sir Oliver Mowat; and since the withdrawal of Sir Oliver from the political arena, the command which he on Mr. Hardy. I think I might say to him what was said of old to one who succeeded to the place of his chief: Be courageous, be strong, and do that which is of the first consequence in the public interest. There is much to do in this province. Our whole country is new. The oldest of the provinces is capable of indefinite expansion in agriculture. in mining, in commerce, and in manufactures. As a citizen I feel a special interest in the prosperity of this province. As a Liberal, I am intensely interested, as all reformers are, in the prosperity of this city. I would like to see it maintain its true place in the commercial growth of the country, for stagnation is incompatible with the spirit of Liberalism, and with accelerated progress, would come increased sympathy with Liberal and increased support principles. Reform candidates. From my point of view there are a few great problems calling for serious consideration and for satisfactory solution, at the hands of our friends, to whom is confided the government of the province. How are we to keep our farmers' sons, who want more elbow-room, in the country, and induce them to take up those portions of the province now unoccupied, and which are fit for the purposes of agriculture; and how are we to reconcile a high standard of education, and a wide diffusion of knowledge, with the ordinary industrial pursuits of our people? In my opinion, in these inquiries very great public interests are involved; for I do not think anyone will deny that in a country having several millions of square miles of territory, and not m sons on the square mile devoted to agriculture, that the increase of our agricultural population, and the occupation and cultivation of the lands lying waste that are suitable to agriculture, are of paramount importance. In these waste lands nature herself has provided an unlimited supply of capital, ready to be employed in the production of wealth by the industry of man. If, in Ontario, you could persuade but fifty young men from each county to go every year into our northern regions, where there is abundance of material for buildings, abundance of pure water and plenty of fish, and where the only capital absolutely, necessary is an axe, a few tools, and a year's supply of food and clothing, to begin life, each, on his own behalf, I am perfectly sure that the majority of those with limited means, would be much better off at the end of ten years, than in going to the lumber woods of Michigan, or to the cities of the neighboring republic. in these questions, Toronto is specially interested. But this by the way. Now. with regard to the Dominion Government, I think everyone will admit that the material interests of the ropulation have not suffered by the change resulting from the elections of June, 1896.Let me take A BRIEF RETROSPECT.

After confederation the wave which carried the commerce and industry forward attained its greatest elevation in 1873, when it began to subside. The government of Mr. Mackenzie were in power during the early part of the recession. In so far as we exercised any control over it, we mitigated its effect, and lessened its dieastrous consequences. It was during this period that the work of lamentation was undertaken by our opponents. By the waters of Babylon they wept. It was said that Canada was a slaughter market, in which the manufacturers were rulned; but this was contradicted by the diminution of our imports, by the falling off of our revenue, under a tar-at a period of greater commercial pros-perity, and by the fact that no class ble of coming under an insolvency law, had, in it, so few failures as those who were devoted to manufacturing pursuits. We were beaten. A new ad-ministration was formed, making confident promises and awakening great expectations. The tariff was increased, under which capital was invested in some new enterprises; whether to the advantage of the whole country or not, I shall not now discuss. Prosperity revived abroad before it did at That revival at home rested upon foreign trade, and when that stimulus failed, the country experienced another period of depression, unexampled in intensity, and in duration, in its history. From 1884 until 1896 the depression in every branch of industry existed, and that panacea, the absence of which it was said caused the lack of prosperity in 1878, when provided, proved no impediment to

A DEPRESSION OF TRADE, far longer in duration, and far more spring up for its government, as free, severe in its intensity. The experience which this country and upon both occasions ought to teach all unprejudiced minds that a policy of restriction, have gained by a policy which has while it may hamper, can never help to mingled sentiment with economical diced minds that a policy of restriction, stimulate the commerce, and industrial life of the nation. I am far from contending that where certain industries have been established, and the industrial organism of the nation, because of parliamentary interference, has taken on certain forms, and a little common sense and a little that it is wise to interfere in the opposite direction. It does not follow that what it was a mistake to call into premature existence, it is wise to destroy. There is such a thing, in national life, as industrial organism, and when it has put on certain firms, it is folly, by heroic measures, to endeavor to bring about a change. But as opportunity arises, we can employ our energies in the direction of affording aid to great natural resources which operate in the country's interest, and thereby secure, with the approval of all, immensely greater progress, than by employing our energies against them. Let me call your attention to the efforts put forward by our political opponents to bring about the prosperity of the country. I am not going to question the honesty of their intentions, nor the zeal with which they worked to that Thirty-two years experience, in public life, has convinced me that nothing is gained by the cultivation of suspicions against the honor or the patriotism of those who do not agree with us on question of public policy. Our opponents energetically applied themselves to the construction of railways through the instrumentality of incorporated companies. Some of these companles were incorporated to carry out their projects, some of them without capital sought incorporation to make fortunes out of the liberal donations bestowed by parliament; but, on the whole, a large mileage was added to the railway system of Canada. Fertile lands, that were unoccupied, were made easily accessible: but I am stating the simple fact, when I say that those who relied with confidence on these works, to secure a large influx of people, were disappointed. Anyone who will examine with care the progress of commerce will see how very little progress was made from 1875 until 1895. Indeed, if you examine our trade and navigation returns you will see that if you exclude the commerce of the newer sections of the Dominion, that whatever progress was made, whatever growth is exhibited, is the result of accretion, and the wealth in the Dominion east of Manitoba was less in 1895 than in 1875. Real estate had greatly diminished in value, and all the fixed additions which had been made by the investment of capital, fell far short of equaling the diminished value of real estate alone. Now, I am not affirming that the policy of our predecessors in office was solely responsible for these results, but I am pointing out to you that that policy, which was to greatly increase our prosperity, did not have the effect of either hindering or diminishing what it was desirable, if possible, to prevent. A policy hostile to the mother country proved also inimical to immigration. You will see, by our trade and navigation returns, that for some reason or other A NEW IMPETUS was given to our commerce for the first time in twenty years, in the year which closed with June last, and still more satisfactory results are promised in the year now current. The farmers of the country are more prosperous and contented. All classes are more hopeful. The manufacturers and the merchants are doing a profitable business, and those who a few years ago, saw no glimmering of light before them, have seen the mist rise from their pathway, and are now confident of as fair a future for Canada as ever lay before a young state. The vast majority of people in every country have most vividly pressed upon their attention the lessons which come by their own experience. Twenty years ago you told, by a declaration of public policy, the eople of the mother country what you thought to be your own interest, and if it was not their interest also-and you inclined to the belief that it was not-it was so much the worse for What impression were these minds of statesmen, of manufacturers, and of merchants in the United Kingdom? Why, that your patriotism was measured by your pocket; that your patriotism was short sighted, and so you effectually excluded, as of no value, the sympathy of public men of all parties on the other side of the Atlantic. If you except those capitalists who invested money in railways, in Canada, you were without the sympathy or the moral support of the United Kingdom. The declaration of policy was in the last degree selfish, and, in my opinion, unwise, and no Englishman or Scotchman, or Irishman could say how soon under the inspiration of such a declaration of principle, Canada would cease to be British altogether.

Two years ago a new departure was made. A tariff, preferential to the mother country, and to other British possessions. was adopted. I need not point out its beneficial effect, in extending the trade between Canada and the mother country. Our trade returns proclaim it, and under a somewhat unsusceptible exterior all Canadians have learned that John Bull possesses a susceptible heart. We have made it clear to him, that we are with him, and of him, and intend that the union which subsists between us, is one that it is our intention shall endure, and so we have his sympathy as it was never had

We all believe that the preservation of the empire is of immense consequence to every part of it, and that being so, we cannot expect the United Kingdom to continue to bear the entire burden of its defense. public spirit will prove in trade and in immigration a great gain. In the settlement of questions relating to distant and semi-barbarous possessions. we trust her Majest's advisers in the United Kingdom, and in respect to those matters of international concern, which specially concern ourselves, her Majesty's advisers, recognizing our interests, confide the settlement of these questions, on her behalf, largely to us;

AN IMPERIAL CONSTITUTION, on the lines of the constitution of the United Kingdom, is gradually growing up. It deeply concerns our interests; our external relations are bound up in it, and our influence among nations depends upon its continuance. It vitally concerns our future growth, and to deny or disregard that fair measure of responsibility for our our defense as a part of the empire, would exhibit such a total absence of public spirit that one might well despair of the future greatness of Canada. But I will not do my fellow-countrymen the injustice of supposing that they will not cheerfully continue in the path in which they have set out; that they will refuse to see or fail to acknowledge their due meed of responsibility. They fully appreciate the importance of the empire to them, and how important it is to mankind, that it should remain one and indivisible. They know the rich heritage they possess in that great Dominion built up slowly by the trials patiently endured, and by the triumphs honorably won by patriots and states-They know that the lifeblood of men. great and good men, of travelers, of traders, of great generals and brave soldiers has been shed to build it up; its preservation is more than life to them, and they are resolved that if it fall, that fall shall be reddened with theirs also.

At the last elections, besides what we have already accomplished, we have received a mandate from the country to reform the senate and to redistribute seats, so as to preserve the boundaries which we were authorized to undertake may be satisfactorily completed. hope that in carrying out these changes we shall not impair or weaken in any way affection for the sovereign, and devotion to that parliamentary system of government which we have derived from the mother country, and which is, as a political system, the most glorious heritage that fortune has yet be stowed upon a free people. ECCLESIASTICAL SENSATION

Churches Scored for "Farcical Revivals"-Wide-Open Church.

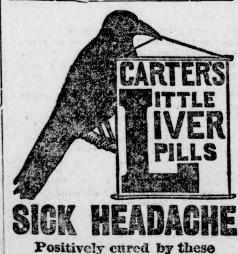

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Prof. Sey-mour Eaton, of Chicago, in an address before the Methodist Laymen's Association, created a lively ecclesiastical sensation by scoring the churches of the present for selfishness, farcical "revivals resulting in a rake-off of six or seven boys and give," and "tying up ntributions six days in the week to pay for Sunday sermons and prayers.' One horrified clergyman remarked: "If I did not know the brother to Christian I should suspect that Rob-ert G. Ingersoll or one of his emissaries had been addressing us."

New Orleans, La., Nov. 21.—Erratic Editha Lolita, Countess Landsfelt and Baroness Rosenthal, daughter of Ludwig I. of Bavaria, and Lola Montez, god-child of Pope Pio Nono, divorced wife of Gen. Dis Debar, widow of Chicago millionaire Col. W. J. McGowan and another man, famous author of 'spook" pictures, notorious theosophist and spiritualist—has entered the matrimonial ring again, the latest capture being James Dutton Jackson, a Chicago lawyer, concerned with her in founding a 7,000 acre fruitarian colony near Jackson, Fla. They claim to have entered into a celibate marriage to avoid scandal through their business relations. Their wedding tour will be a trip to India. A heterogenous crowd of children, negroes, spiritualists and theosophists witnessed the marriage.

TUSSLE AT A WEDDING.

Corunna, Mich., Nov. 21.—A marriage a little out of the ordinary took place in this city on Saturday, Justice Robt. McBride officiating. As the words "I pronounce thee man and wife" were spoken to George Reynolds and Hattie Thaver, of Shiawassee, the justice said it was customary for the witnesses to kiss the bride. He took the first kiss himself and the witnesses followed. The bride did not seem to have any objections, so up stepped a stranger, whose looks and general appearance were not very prepossession. He threw his arms around the girl, and endeavored to kiss her. The bride, in indignation, resisted, and a struggle ensued. ending in both falling to the floor. There they floundered around until the fellow finally sat upon the girl, held her hands and imprinted a resounding smack upon her lips. Fortunately everything was taken in fun as far as these two were concerned, and the girl hastily left the court room blushing furiously. Justice McBride laughed so long and heartily over the episode that he failed to collect his fee, but he considers he is well repaid.

NEW YORKER WILLING TO LET HIS WIFE GO.

Owosso, Mich., Nov. 21.-A sensation has just come to light here. In the little town of Amsterdam, in New York State, Mr. and Mrs. Paulding lived a happy wedded life for many years. Eventually the husband noticed his wife's affections were being alienated. He discovered the cause. Another man figured in the case. He was an occasional visitor to the village, and his name was Cole. He was not a more handsome man than the lady's husband, but was more dashing in his manner. Then years of wedded life had somewhat cooled the courtship of the family, although the husband was yet very fond of his wife, but he was diffident, and the wife found in the new friend one who responded to her affectionate nature. Things came to a focus. The husband had to call his wife to order. He did it. The stranger disappeared, ditto the wife.

In Utica, N. Y., six weeks ago they were married by the mayor of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Cole came on to Owosso on their wedding trip. Their honeymoon is not yet over with. They are of counties unbroken. I trust that this mandate will be obeyed, and the work Meanwhile the husband languished in Meanwhile the husband languished in his little hillside home, and regretted his wife's departure. He took down a volume of Tennyson, and, after reading 'Enoch Arden," decided to permit joy to those who have it. He did more: he began proceedings in a divorce court, not that he felt aggrieved, but that he wished his wife to have the freedom she desired. He sent word to an attorney in this city to look the matter up. Deputy Crane called on the Cole couple, charged them with being illegally married, and secured their acquiescence to grant the aggrieved husband a bill. The poor man does not even ask for alimony, but is satisfied that Mrs. Cole is happy.

FOOTBALL.

ELENCOE BEATS LONDON. A Glencoe telegram says: One of the fastest games of football ever seen here was played on Saturday between the London Collegiate Institue and the Glencoe High School team. The London boys came with a team picked from the best players in the city, and the old-time rivalry between the two teams added much interest to the game. The Glencoes once more proved themselves champions, defeating their opponents by 3 goals to 1. The London team is a fast aggregation, and reflect credit on their city. Every man on the home team played well, the honors in scoring being divided between Adair, Young and M. C. Elliot. For London, Govenlock, McLeay and Bry-ant shone in their positions. Mr. John McEachren, of Strathroy, refereed the game with satisfaction to all.

QUEBEC CHAMPIONSHIP.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.-The final match for the championship of the Quebec Rugby Union between Ottawa College and the Granites on Saturday proved a fizzle. The Granites refused to play under McDougall as referee, and lost the game by default.

STROUD'S NEW LEAGUE. Hamilton Herald: It looks to be all up with the Hamilton baseball club. so far as a franchise in the Eastern League next year is concerned, but there is not a particle of doubt that the good people of this city will have baseball, good baseball, and in plenty. President Stroud has never been confident of an Eastern League franchise. and has been steadily at work on the formation of a new International League, comprising the following cities: Hamilton, London and Guelph or St. Thomas, Rochester, Utica, Troy-something like the famous International League of years gone by. Most of these are good ball towns, and all are capable of rendering the necessary financial support. In the formation of such a league it might be necessary to make a change in the New York cities. but there is no scarcity of good-sized towns across the border, and within easy reach, from which to complete the American half of a six-cornered league.

Wilkesbarre, Nov. 21.-Before the December meeting of the Eastern League a compromise will undoubtedly have been effected whereby Wilkesbarre will obtain a fair return for her franchise. The Glencoe Boys Got Away of choosing cities to replace these teams was informally discussed, and, so far as could be learned, the delegates favored a circuit made up as follows: Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, Syracuse, Springfield, Providence, Hartford and either Newark or Troy. Albany will also be an applicant for the next meeting, and Utica is a possibility favored by the New York State cities.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION

Payments in Canada Better Than Experienced at This Season for Many Years-Woolen Mills Busy.

Toronto, Nov. 21.-Bradstreet's weekly review of Canadian trade says:
Trade in Montreal has been quite active, but in the country, owing to poor roads, the demand has been slow for general lines, and this has affected the outside business of the large distributing houses to some extent. The trade report payments very good for this time of year; better than experienced for many years at this season. The manufacturers are generally busy. The woolen mills are busy with orders, and many are working to their full capacity. Sugars have been advanced, and the large shipment of sugar on the steamship Westm strengthened the market. Threshing of wheat in Manitoba has gone on the past week, notwithstanding the snowstorms and frosty weather, and it is now well advanced. The jobbing business has been benefited by the wintry weather and the increased marketings of wheat. There is a better demand for various lines of heavy winter goods, and the Manitoba merchants have this week been buying very freely from travelers of eastern houses. The prospects are that the approaching holiday trade will be a large one.

There has been a slight increase in the volume of trade at Toronto the past week. The cooler weather and the lateness of the season were the causes of improved demand. Values of all drygoods are very firm. Grocerles are moving out freely at firm prices. Hog products are selling freely at good figures. Dressed hogs are offering more freely and holders are firm. There is a little more being done in the grain business, and quite a lot of buckwheat has been shipped to Chicago. Some considerable shipment of seeds have been made to Europe

LIFE!

Interesting Sermon by Rev. Dr. Somerville.

Rev. Dr. Somerville, of Owen Sound, occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church, London, morning and evening, yesterday, preaching to is complete in Christ. Not by any morning discourse was from the words in John, x., 10: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." The preacher said, in part:

What a marvelous thing is life! What it is, no man knows. The thing itself we know not. We can only know its Christ. Jesus calls men to himselfoperation and manifestation. The little living seed, scarcely visible to the naked eye, conquers its surroundings. that which expresses your deepest It says to earth, and air, and sun: De- need. A man's name is one thing in liver up your treasures to me-be my humble servants, and minister to me. And they are compelled to obey. Life in the animal world is more mysterious and potent still. When we rise to the region of conscious, moral life, the of names a man has! Naomi to her marvel increases, and we stand in awe before the mystery. Whence comes life? Life comes always from antecedent Two non-living elements cannot produce it. Oxygen and hydrogen com-bined chemically in proper proportions will produce water; but that is a dead substance, like the elements which compose it. The living and non-living are separated by infinite distance. No thinking man is satisfied in tracing life back to any form of derived life. We cannot stop short until we reach Him who has life in Himself. Life implies the touch, the breath of God. I see a tree rooted in rich, deep soil. It stands in the free air. The sun's rays fall upon it. The rain and the dew fall upon it, but it gives back no response. Spring sees no opening buds, and autumn no mellowing fruits. It has no power to compel the elements to minister to it.

I see another tree rooted in the same soil, subject to the same influences. The spring sees the opening leaves and blossoms—the autumn a wealth of fruit. It has power to make earth and air and sun minister to its well-being. It compels them to deliver up their treasures that one has life, the other has not. Life says: "No tree can come to earth and air and sun but by me.' A step higher, and we see two men. They are both in sound health, intelligent, partners in the same business and move in the same social circle They seem to be equally keen and alert in all business operations. Look a little more closely, and you see that there is a deep line of separation between them. One will tell you that he hungers for what he calls spiritual food, that the highest joy of his life is to go epart in communion with God, and his desire is that others may share the spiritual make life abound. If he inspires, if he which he experiences.

The other will tell you he knows nothences. When David says, "My soul to give it more thirsteth for God, for the living God,"
I know nothing of what he means. I have no hunger for communion with the unseen. The mercy-seat has no attraction for me. Why this difference in these two men? Both are keenly alive to earth and the thinge around them, but only one is alive to God. The other is rooted in the divine love; the beams of the Sun of Righteousness play upon him; the dews of God's grace are upon him; but there is no response; he stands parched and dry, and far off from God. He comes not near as a child comes to his father. Jesus says: "I am the life"; "No man cometh unto the Father but by me." No man cometh into communion with God, and into fellowship with the Unseen, but by me. Faith in the Lord Jesus Christ is the uniting tie which makes us partakers of the divine life. John says of this gospel: "These things are written that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ . . . and that believing ye may have life through his name." We come into touch with God through faith ia Christ. God comes into touch with us by his spirit, which he hath given us who believe. Jesus, however, has not only come that we may have life in its beginning, but also that we may have it more abundantly. The physical vitality of some people is very low. About all they can do is keep life in. They have to watch against over-exertion, draught, be particular as to diet, lest something should disagree with them. There is no abundant life—simply life. There are others whose capacity in every respect seems to be all but bound-less. Work of the hardest only adds strength to their thews. One hundred and fifty miners from ly; not mere length of days! The cling to mere length of days! The young and old, the joyous and miser-able, the sick and well, all cling to existence. Length of days has the existence. Length of days has the keenest attraction for all. But life runs to decay. But prolonged. It goes down to decay. But the life of the spirit need not be subject to interruption of development. Its outlook is into eternity—an eternity of growth Godward, of development of every renewed power in unlimited de-

> The body sown in weakness is raised in power through the power of Christ's resurrection. The life of the spirit, in its communion with God, in its knowledge of him, his laws, his works and purposes, will be unlimited. The capacity for enjoyment and service will be an ever-increasing capacity.

The provision for this abundant life the disciples prayed, "Lord, increase our faith," he told them to go on and do the duty that lay next them, and the strength would come in the using of what they had. The growth is according to natural law in the physical sphere, and it is according to spiritual law in the spiritual sphere.

We must come into vital touch with calls his own sheep by name, and leads them out. What is the name by which he calls you? Your name to Christ is the bank, another in the political sphere, something different in the social circle, and different most of all in the home, where the whole nature is open to his loved ones. What a variety countrymen said, "Call me not Naomi -pleasantness-but call me Marah, for the Lord hath dealt very bitterly with The publican's name as he smote me." upon his breast was simply "sinner," and his deepest need was the mercy which forgives. The prodigal in the far country, in rags, and hunger-bitten, needed bread and a father's forgiveness and love, and afar off he heard in his inmost soul his father's voice calling, and he arose and came to his father. The first requisite to the obtaining of life from Christ is to hear his call and arise and go to him.

Further, we must keep in touch with him. We must avoid everything which would even tend to give us a distaste for his word or the mercy-seat. Jesus went often apart. He had to flee as a bird to the mountain, to be recharged with the divine love, which would go out in virtue for the healing of sick and sorrowing souls.

Not only food, but exercise, is necessary to the maintenance of abounding life. God gives as we are able to bear. He bestows life as we are willing to use it. He will not pour in abounding life to be used selfishly for our own The difference lies in the fact comfort or joy. The life he gives is given to be expanded.

> Whatever, Lord, we give to thee, Repaid a thousand-fold shall be.

It is not for our own sake he gives, but for his name's sake. Joy is multiplied in expending our life to bring blessing to others. The surest way of reaching abounding life is to expend it in furthering the cause of Christ in the hearts and lives of our fellow-men.

He promises the Holy Spirit to them that ask. The Divine Spirit in us must imparts his strength, who can fail? Here, this morning, the Lord Jesus has ing of such feelings and such experi- come amongst us, to give us life, and to give it more abund

What Is Luxury?

That is not an easy question to answer. In fact, it cannot be answered in so may definite words; but it is, nevertheless, a good question to ask, as it provokes an interesting discussion. In the International Journal of Ethics, Mr. John Davidson, University of New Brunswick, Canada, contributes an interesting essay on "Luxury and Extravagance." He tells us that all political economists are agreed on one point, "that it is work, whether physical work, or mental work, or moral work, which makes wealth, and that the mere spending of wealth is not a service to a community, such that a man may plume himself upon it, and regard himself as a benefactor of the species." But the fallacy still lurks in the minds of the or destruction of property is a good

persistency of the popular opinion, by showing the half truth that is in it. Great good has come out of great disasters. "Chicago, before the fire, was a city of mean streets; it rose from its ashes a city adapted for commerce and worthy of its destinies Business was hampered in Newfoundland by the old financial system; but the basis of the common interests when the ground was cleared, they imported the Canadian banking system, and started on a new basis and his Lancashire audiences, was the comon a new career of prosperity. And further, great expenditure is not necessarily great destruction. "When a nation spends pliment. $250,000 for a great picture, the wealth GOOD FEELING TOWARD JONAis not destroyed, it is simply transferred. When the Jubilee Plunger ran through $2,500,000 in twelve calendar cashire meetings was the remarkable months, the wealth of the world was heartiness by which every reference to he and those who sponged on him put | England is brimming full of good-feeltonly destroyed. All of which facts simply show that in endeavoring to find out what is luxury and extravagance and its ef- rent of good feeling for America. Bradfect upon the common life, we are dealing with a very complex problem. The plea that is set up, is that though bitter feeling of resentment might be luxury may not make wealth, it naturally expected there, when business makes money circulate. This plea, our essayist maintains, is the last infirmity of purblind minds. "Money always circulates, unless it is hid in a napkin. The most that luxury can do is to make it circulate in unfruitful ways. money circulate, and if mankind played dice till the last man starved, money would still circulate. The important thing is that in circulating, in passing from hand to hand, it should fructify the fields of industry, and increase the utilities, and not the futilities of life." But now we come to a definition of luxury. "It consists in using up the results of our labors tion between the two countries. luxury is therefore, unfortunately as

We cannot follow the essay in detail, as he attempts to show that the luxury of the rich degrades the poor, inflames their passions, and constitutes a grave danger to the body politic. We are still somewhat in the dark as to what are worthy or unworthy ways of using up our substance, as the following passage shows: "What is luxury? Tobacco, urges the own speeches demonstrated by tables of figures, that the consumption of tobacco is yearly increasing, and apparently ignorant of the fact that to some tobacco is a condition of work, tobacco ran short, and that in literary work, for instance, there is a practical consensus of opinion that tobacco is a necessity of production."

"Thus, after all, it is difficult to define luxury. I have heard a country minister blamed because he bought books, while his church starved him on $600 a year; and men who spend a small fortune annually on eigars, or fast horses, seem to have no hesitation in condemning others who spend a tithe of the sum on books or on pictures." Well, all that we can say is, that such men are small men, not only ignorant of political economy, but also lacking in spiritual insight, and the sooner they at least get a clearer and better idea of what constitutes luxury the better for themselves and for the society of which they form a part. If we cannot get an answer to our question with mathematical precision, we may gain something from the asking of it.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Manchester showed clearly that England will require France to vacate the whole of the Bahr-el-Ghazal provinces, where Commandant Marchand has established seven armed posts, and that this constitutes an extremely grave situain unworthy and irrational ways, and there is more danger than even this ahead. Britain can mobilize no fewer nuch within the reach of the poor as than 70 warships at two hours' notice, but the authorities are preparing to make even greater and more striking efforts in the near future. The coastguard batteries are to proceed and cruise around the coast. Coast-guard battleships, being thus relieved, will reinforce the Mediterranean squadron, should occasion arise, so as to enable the channel squadron to return home, which it will do before Christmas. The French fleet from Brest spent the whole week in energetic maneuvering along the channel, in gun practice by day and searchlight tactics at night. The statements made by Gen. Wesley Merritt in reply to the appeal of the Filipino junta of Hong Kong to the American people have caused indignation among the Filipinos. They are especially incensed at the suggestion that they would loot, and at the idea of being governed as a colony. The Filipinos of Paris are sending a dispatch to President McKinley protesting against the assertions made.

The prosecution of M. Urbain Gohier for his publishing the book entitled "The Army Against the Nation," promises to have sensational effects upon presidential aspirations. One of the chief counts in the indictment of the army is that of mismanagment of the Madagascar expedition, resulting in the waste of lives and money. M. AT DEATH'S DOOR. Sir George Baden-Powell, M.P., who was British commissioner for the Bering Sea in 1891, and British member of the joint commission at Washington in 1892, is pronounced to be at the point of death.

THE KAISER'S CHANGE OF MIND. A Berlin correspondent says: Emperor William's sudden abandonment of his intention to visit one or more Spanish ports on his return to Germany by sea, and his determination to go ome by way of the Adriatic Sea, has given rise to considerable speculation as to the real motive for the change. The official explanation, giving the ceedings of the peace commissions, has started for Washington. It is learned son for his majesty's rapid return, is only partially acepted. The impression among leading politicians is that the and Paris to meet him in Paris, when state of home politics and the inappropriateness of his proposed visit to Spain at the present juncture mainly influenced the emperor's decision. The imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, epresented to his majesty the necessity for an early opening of the reichstag in view of the mass of work that oody has to get through, and suggested Nov. 29 or Dec. 1 for the opening ceremonies. The discussion of the government's anti-strike measure promises to make the sessions of the reichstag extremely lively. It is suggested in some quarters that Emperor William's roundabout detour from Pola to Potsdam by way of Innsbruck, capital of the Austrian Tyrol, was dictated by a plan which, since the assassination of the Empress of Austria, and the discovery of a plot against the emperor's life at Alexandria, Egypt, has governed his majesty's movements—namely, com-plete secrecy as to the time of his departure from any place, and the exact route to be kept secret until the last moment.

A SPY'S PUNISHMENT. The trial of a French spy, Isidor Decog, for betraying important military secrets to France, was opened before the imperial court at Leipsic on Saturday. Decoq's accomplices have not been traced, but the evidence points to German military men being inculpated. The spy was sentenced to six years' imprisonment, to ten years' loss of civil rights, and to police supervision. The public prosecutor said

Decoq was an agent of the French intelligence department.

THE LIPPE-DETMOLD INCIDENT. The absorbing topic in the German press during the past week has been the Lippe-Detmold incident. The publication of the documents, which first appeared in a Vienna paper, and which were afterwards copied by the entire German press, enabled the nation generally to form an intelligent idea of the whole matter. The regent's original letter of complaint is shown to have been couched in very respectful, calm language, and apparently the emperor had no reason whatever to reply by the curt, insulting telegram, forbidding the regent ever to address him in a similar manner again. None of the answers received to the eircular letter sent by the regent have thus far been divulged, but it is said in diplomatic circles that several of the replies are conciliatory and sympathetic, espacially one from the prince regent of Bavaria, while the replies of the King of Saxony and the Grand Duke of Baden counseled more moderation. According to reports from those who are near to the emperor, his majesty has lately changed his opinion of the whole case, and now regrets treating the Regent of Lippe-Detmold so haughtily and allowing the case to go as far as it has, and becoming a national scandal. It is too late now, however, to stop the matter, and the bundesrath will take up the case at an early apportunity. The points to be dealt with are the regent's formal complaint against the emperor and the protest of the emperor's brother-in-law, Prince Adolf of Schaumburgh-Lippe, against the diet's adoption of the law of succession, which declared the regent's lawful issue entitled to succeed to the throne of Lippe.

Biliousness is only another name for torpid liver or liver complaint. A sluggish liver cannot filter the foul poisonous matter from the blood, or secrete the bile necessary for good di-gestion. Biliousness, neadache, dyspepsia, a pale, sallow complexion, a bitter taste in the mouth, lack of energy and low spirits are symptoms of

The only possibility of a permanent cure is through the liver. The liver must be strengthened and made active. Stimulants only bring a reaction, which is still more to be dreaded. Dr. A. W. of the Provincial Administration without portfolio Mr. J. T. Garrow, Q.C., of Goderich, since 1890—until within a few days past-member of the Provincial Legislature for West Huron. The position is similar to that held by Hon. E. H. Bronson, of Ottawa, prior to the last election, and before his withdrawal from the government, when it became evident to him that his health would not permit of his longer continuance in public life as a member of the legislature or as a member of the government. Mr. Garrow is of Scottish parentage, was born at Chippewa, Ont., in 1843, was educated at the Goderich high school, was called to the bar in 1869, and made a Queen's counsel in 1885. He has been warden of the county of Huron, and was elected to the Legislature of Ontario in 1890, 1894 and 1898. The Globe says: Mr. Garrow will not be a salaried member of the government, and, as has been said, will not hold a portfolio. He would not have been in a position to accept a portfolio if there had been one to offer, as his large legal practice would preclude his acceptance of a portfolio unless he were prepared to make greater pecuniary sacrifices than he was able or willing to make, but he will sit in council, and the government will have both in council and in the legislature the advantage of his ripe and mature judgment, of his legal and business knowledge and of his industrious habits. He brings unquestioned strength to an already able administration, and while congratulating Mr. Garrow, we also congratulate the government upon having called to their counsels a man of his high character and great ability, and one possessing in so large a degree the confidence of the legislature and of the entire country.

A LESSON FOR WOMEN.

Mrs. Dowson, of Toronto, Cured of Fe male Weakness by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Nov. 21 .- The case of Mrs. Ellen Dowson, of 640 Gerrard street east, who has been restored to vigor ous health by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, after six years of agony from Female Weakness, and Palpitation of the Heart, is causing widespread interest in the East End.

Mrs. Dowson writes that she used three so-called kidney cures and was treated by one of Toronto's most prominent physicians, without deriving the least benefit. The first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills gave her pronounced relief; eight boxes cured her thoroughly.

'Mrs. Dowson's case furnishes a lesson every woman should learn. Dodd's Kidney Pills are women's best friend

The popularity of some people is due to the things they don't say. Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial It removed ten corne from one pair of feet without any pain. What at has done once it will do again.

Some men are always getting up schemes for getting other men down. FAGGED OUT .- None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength has gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure-one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

POLICE STATION

One Prisoner Killed by Another in a Squabble.

Michigan Man Cut to Pieces by a G. T. R. Train-A Woman Drowned at Deseronto.

Montreal, Nov. 21.-Isidore Bacon, 45 years of age, was arrested for being drunk. In the same cell in the central station were John McGuire and J. B. Desrosier. According to the latter McGuire was drunk, and was down on his knees saying his prayers when Bacon came in and at once attacked him. McGuire asked to be alone, but Bacon would not, and kept on persistently. McGuire, in self-de-fense, pushed him aside. Bacon fell over on his head, striking on the end of the coils and inflicting a severe wound. Blood flowed freely, and Desrosiers called the reserve man and informed him of what had happened. The injured man was taken to the hospital, where he expired shortly after being admitted. Desrosiers maintains that McGuire did not strike Bacon at

DEAD MANY DAYS.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—Saturday morning Mrs. Eliza Harvey, No. 172 Catherine street north, was found dead in her bed. The terrible discovery was made by her only son, Mr. Wm. Harvey, Peter street, who had been notified that his mother, who had resided alone, had not been seen since a week ago Thursday. A canary bird was found dead in a cage; the seed glass was empty, and the bird probably had starved to death. Sergt. Pinch learned that the daily papers from Friday, Nov. 4, were at the door. This would go to show that Mrs. Harvey probably died that day or the previous night. The deceased was about 65 years of age. She was in good circumstances, owning considerable pro perty.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Flint, Mich., Nov. 21.-At an early hour Saturday morning a freight train crew was horrified to see scattered along the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway at Belsay, six miles from here, the mangled body of a human being. The body proved to be the remains of Eugene Tupper, of Oterburn, a man of about 40 years of age, and unmarried. The remains were gathered up and brought to this city. Tupper was in this city Friday afternoon and left on a late train for Belsay to spend Saturday with his aged mother, who lives at that place. He had purchased some fish and some mutton here to take to his mother, when he was run down by a fast train and met a hor-

On Tuesday, Nov. 15th, a quiet wedding took place at the residence of Wm. G. Shipley, Ailsa Craig, when his only daughter, Annie Ada, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. E. H. C. Rawlinson, late of England, by Rev. L. W. Diehl. They left to spend the winter in the south. The following is clipped from a recent issue of a North Dakota paper. Mr. Anderson formerly resided in Westminster, having left here some twelve years ago. The child is a grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Anderson, of con. 3, Westminster township: "One of the little triplets of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, of Webster Chapel, died last week, the funeral taking place on Sunday last. Rev. W. C. Hunter, of Minot, conducted the services. Many will remember the three little healthy looking cherubs born about a year ago, and now in the hour of their grief the parents have the deepest sympathy of those who were then wont to admire the three-fold little blossoms."

Dr. D. A. McTavish, one of the most prominent and popular residents of Bay City, Mich., died Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock. His death was caused from tubercular pneumonia. D. A. ness for the commencement of the ex-cavations. When Col. Leys arrived he was conducted to the site of the tower, which will rise 130 feet from the ground at the front, the north side of the building. Contractor Burnett handed a spade to the colonel, whose beaming coun tenance expressed the pleasure it afforded him to perform the function of inaugurating the work on the school for which he has so ardently worked. The colonel's good-nature invited humorous remarks from those around, and he was cautioned not to work more than the union scale of hours, etc.

When the pleasantries subsided, the colonel bared his head and addressed the gathering. When he had started out on this pilgrimage last February, he said, he had said that if he were elected, work would be started on Normal School in London before the end of the year, or he would resign his seat. He had succeeded, and the school was now here-(cheers)-and would be an ornament to the city. He had nothing to do with the choice of the site, he said. That matter he left entirely with the government. What he wanted was the school for London, and school had come. (Cheers.)

As the work then went on briskly it was a gladsome sight to the ratepayers assembled. It meant that ere long there will be added to the city's charms one of the finest public buildings in the province.

THREE OF A KIND

Peculators Whose Propensities Are Alike, but Whose Tastes Differ.

A trio of thieves occupied the greater portion of Magistrate Parke's attention at the police court this morning. Jos. Irwin pleaded guilty to two charges of theft preferred by David Cowan. The prisoner admitted having stolen seven kegs and four boxes of nails. He was remanded for a week for sentence.

Henry Donaghy, of Pall Mall street, pleaded guilty to stealing two turkeys and one duck from the kitchen of the Hodgins House on Saturday. The poultry had been prepared for yesterday's dinner and placed in the refrigerator, from which Donaghy took it. He was remanded for a week in order to allow the authorities to look into his past record.

John Cooper, a colored man, stole a brush from Grafton's store on Saturday and went down for three days. Richard Wood, a drunken vagrant, was sent down for four months as a charity.

LUCAN.

Lucan, Nov. 21.-A very pleasant evening was spent at the restdence of Mr. and Mrs. James Isaac, Sauble line, Biddulph, on Wednesday, Nov.16, when their daughter, Anna, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Abbot, of the same line. At the hour appointed for the wedding, Mr. D. J. Scott, of Delaware, took his seat at the fine organ in the drawing-room, and as the strains of Mendelsshon's "Wedding March," filled the spacious room, the groom, followed by his pretty bride, charmingly attired in a rich robe of blue silk, with flowers, and leaning on her brother's arm, entered the room through an arch of roses and evergreens, and took their places directly under a tastefully constructed bell of flowers, where the nuptial knot was firmly tried by their popular pastor, Rev. Mr. Smith, of Lucan. After the many guests had been received by the bride and groom, the company retired to the dining-room, where the tables were arranged, bearing an abundance of delicacies. Here ample justice was done the rich repast, and as the hours hastened on the entertainment presented a different phase, including speeches, music, games, etc. The many and costly presents testified the esteem in which the bride is held among her numerous friends. The toast of the evening was given by Mr. Patrick, of London, father of the M. P. P. of Manitoba. In the early hours of the morning the assembly dispersed, leaving with the bride and groom their cono'clock. The funeral took place from gratulations and best wishes for a long, hapy and prosperous life. Mr. Dennison Doan is on the sick list again. Mr. J. Mowat, of Lambeth, has removed to this place and has rented the farm lately owned by Mr. J. Frank. Mrs. R. Hord, who has been ill for

BROKEN OFF!

A Crisis in the Paris Peace Commission.

The United States Give Spain Until Nov. 28

In Which to Accept or Reject Terms of Settlement - Negotiations Reported to Have Been Broken Off.

Paris, Nov. 21.-The Spanish and American peace commissions met in joint session at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Americans declared the United States must have the entire Philippine Archipelago, and, for a treaty cession of the islands the Americans tendered to Spain $20,000,000. It is further declared that it is the purpose of the United States to maintain the Philippine Islands as an "open door" to the world's commerce. On the terms named, the United States proposes a mutual relinquishment of all claims for indemnity, national or personal, subsequent to the outbreak of the last Cuban insurrection. Nov. 28 is fixed as the date on which the United States commission desires a definite response to today's propositions and all other subjects in issue here. It is also declared that the United States desire to treat of the refreedom of the Caroline ligious Islands, as agreed upon between the United States and Spain in 1886, and also of the acquisition of one of the Caroline Islands for an American naval station, and of cable landing rights at other places in Spanish jurisdiction, and the revival of certain Spanish-American treaties as heretofore in force.

The meeting was then adjourned until Wednesday.

NEGOTIATIONS STOPPED.

Paris, Nov. 21.-The president of the Spanish peace commission, Senor Montero Rios, has refused to continue the negotiations.

The Americans also refuse to arbitrate article & of the peace protocol, bearing upon the future disposition and control of the Philippine Islands.

BEFORE THE RUPTURE. The memorandum of the American commission is long, and was not read in full. The vital portions, however, were communicated verbally to the Spanish commissioners in practically these terms: The fact was cited that the proposal presented by the American commissioners in behalf of their government the government had thought him of too for the cession of the Philippine Islands much importance to let him go, so the to the United States having been rejected by the Spanish commissioners, and Then he heaved a generous shovel-full of earth into the wagon, that the withdrawal of the American forces from the islands, and the payment of an indemnity by the United States to Spain having been rejected by the American commissioners, the latter, deeming it essential that the present negotiations, already greatly protracted, should be brought to an early and definite conclusion, now begged to present a new proposition embodying the concessions which, for the sake of peace, their government would, under the circumstances, be willing to tender. DISCREDITED IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, Nov. 21.-The state department has not yet been advised of the reported refusal of the Spanish peace commissioners to continue negotiations in Paris. Secretary Alger expresses disbelief in the accuracy of the report, or, rather, he feels that it was based upon the personal expression of opinion of President Rios, of the Spanish commission, and that he did not necessarily represent the formal opinion of the full commission.

AMERICAN SQUADRON TO VISIT PORTSMOUTH.

London, Nov. 21.-In consequence of rumors that an American squadron of warships is to visit Portsmouth, the mayor of that city has written to the United States embassy, promising to give the Americans a cordial welcome. Mr. Henry White, the United States charge d'affaires, in reply, has thanked the mayor of Portsmouth for his courteous letter, which he will not fail to transmit to Wishington. Mr. White, however, added: "I have not yet re-ceived information of the visit, but my government will not fail to be gratified by the knowledge that such a welcome awaits our squadron in the event of a visit.

AN ALLIANCE FOR COMMERCE

Beresford Urges One With the United States, Japan and Germany.

Shanghai, Nov. 21.-Lord Charles Beresford, who is here in the interests of the British Associated Chambers of Commerce, in a speech before the China Association, urged Great Britain to make a commercial alliance with the United States, Germany and Japan for the preservation of China and the protection of the "open door," which Great Britain's policy of drift has al-lowed to be shut by the recognition of foreign interference in purely commercial enterprise.

Commerce, he said, could not rest on a secure basis while the dominant military position of Russia and the effete condition of the Chinese Government were allowed to continue.

"THE OPEN DOOR."

London, Nov. 21 .- The Chronicle attacks the United States for not practicing an "open door" commercial policy in its new possessions. It cites the navigution law, which kills the important Canadian shipping trade with Porto Rico, and asks, Will the policy in the Philippines be the same?

Social Festivities in Honor of the Canadians-Many Receptions.

Washington, Nov. 21.-The English and Canadian commissioners and the ladies accompanying them may take to themselves the entire credit of the unusual number of festive occasions now on the tapis, as the American members of the commission feel under many obligations for the courtesies extended them in Canada last summer. The state dinner at the executive mansion and that on Saturday night at the home of the secretary of state are official expressions of this hospitable desire. This week Senator and Mrs. Fairbanks and ex-Secretary Foster will give dinners, and Mrs. Foster has asked friends to meet Lady Laurier and Lady Davies at luncheon on Tuesday. An evening reception at the Corcoran Gallery of Art is also being arranged in honor of the visitors. Senator and Mrs. Faulkner have arranged a delightful excursion for the commissioners and ladies. They will entertain the party at their home at Martinsburg, W. Va. They have issued invitations for Nov. 26, and the party will be conveyed by special train. Luncheon will be served aboard, and an old-fashioned tea party at Senator Faulkner's mansion will be enjoyed before the guests take the train again for Washington.

The commissioners will during the early part of December be entertained by the residents. Ex-Senator and Mrs. B. Henderson have dinner invitations out for Dec. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Leiter for the 6th, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boardman for the 8th in their honor. Mrs. John W. Foster will receive this afternoon, 3 to 6, and will be assisted by Lady Laurier, Lady Davies and other ladies of the commission.

ADVOCATES GOVERNMENT CON-TROL.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—At the Pavilion temperance meeting, Rev. Mr. Eaton thought the prohibition majority was not sufficiently large to constitute a mandate to the Government, but they might do something on the strength of that majority. Make the liquor business unprofitable. Let the government take over the manufacture of liquor and abolish bars and saloons. Eaton concluded by saying that, so far from being beaten, the prohibition movement had just begun.

"But independent of this important item, she is—is different from—"

"From the Englishmen I have had about me? Of course she is. One of Esselyn's false economies is to give such low wages that one cannot expect a really good servant to accept them. But Marie was, I suppose, so anxious to get into an English family of rank that she made no objection. She is the first maid I have had with intelligence enough to devise a more becoming way of arranging my hair.

Do you like it?"
"Very much," said Aymer promptly, but without bestowing a giance on that fair head his sister was displaying for his inspection. "But what I wanted to know is whether you don't suspect that this young girl may be different from what she seems?"

Vivien was now considerably startled. "Gracious, Aymer! have you heard anything to her discredit? Isn't she honest, or of good character? Really there is no trusting to appearances She is so quiet and respectful that I was quite pleased with her, and now I suppose she will have to go!"

'Don't fly off to such extremes, Viva. That's just like all women; say but a word, and they imagine the rest!" "But you undoubtedly said that my new maid is not what she ought to be," the young lady persisted. 'I most emphatically deny it. I asked you if she were not too ladylike, too refined, for the situation she holds -that was all." Vivien began to survey the flushed speaker dublously.

'Did you ask me that? It's odd that I did not hear you. Pray, sir, how did you discern that Marie is such a remarkable person? It is strange that I, who am so much with her, have not found out her perfections."

'Then I am answered at last. Could not you have said at first, 'No, she does not strike me as being in any way different from the run of French soubrettes, instead of wandering around the subject in this ridiculous fashion?"
"Now you are cross, Aymer, and I shall go away asking myself why my brother testifies such an extraordinary amount of interest in my new maid. When did she give you an opportunity of observing her so closely?

"Take care what you are saying, Viva," her brother exclaimed, sternly. "It is astonishing how coarsely girls of your education and intelligence express themselves. If you speak of Marie Delille in my hearing, let it be with more consideration. She is a foreigner and a stranger amongst us."

"She is my hired servant, who can go back to her own country if she does not like mine," retorted Vivien. "And in spite of your strictures, which I cannot see that I deserved, I say again that your interest in her strikes me as extraordinary. You see, my lord earl, I happen to recollect that when Gaspard, our French cook, contrived to get tipsy, and spoil the dinner, his being a foreigner and a stranger amongst us did not prevent you from dismissing him in a very summary manner. But, then, he was not superior and refined, etc., etc."

"It seems my fate to be misunderstood," said Aymer, thrusting his hands to the bottom of his pockets and frowning savagely. "I am very sorry I spoke to you about your maid, and I shall be still more so if my well-meant interference does her any harm."
"Why should it? You reproach me for what I have said, but why not have frankly answered my questions? What has made you interest yourself in Marie? How did you discover that she is what you described her? Has she thrown herself in your way to try and evoke your sympathy?"

"Certainly not," he said, answering the last query only. "I have seen her but once since she came here. You sent her into the room where I was sitting. She would not have seen me if I had not spoken to her. Do you wish me to repeat the words I used?" "No, thanks, for I want my breakfast. You need not have lost your temper about such nonsense, Aymer; I was only joking, and the poor little Lady Vivien gathered up the wraps mare, if Hatherfield drives you in my she had thrown off, and hastened away, but Aymer looked after her uneasily.

"I wonder what fiend possessed me to keep back more than half the truth? Why did I not tell Viva that Marie and I traveled here together, and explain what reasons I have for suspecting that mademoiselle is not what she seems. Now, if Marie herself speaks of the journey, my character for veracity is gone for ever, and heaven only knows what will be thought of my reticence. I wish I had the sense to

In Woman's Interest

The Washington correspondent of the have discovered how old age can be greatly postponed by abstinence from certain foods. Old age, he cays, is to a great extent due to deposits in our systems of earthly matter, principally carconate and phosphate of time, mixed with other saits. They pass from the stomach into the blood. In early life they are found to be thrown off by the system. In later years they are not.

The anatomists all agree that man begins in a gelatinous condition, and ends in a bony one. An infant's skull is soft like rubber, while an aged person's bones are so brittle that they will not knit when broken. This, according to Dr. Kinnear, is almost entirely the result of diet. Of course, we have heard that water containing lime makes the bones develop unusually. Not only the bones, but according to this new theory all of the organs of the body become hardened as old age creeps on. The heart becomes partally ossified, and imperfect circulation results. The arteries become clogged and the body illy nourished. We have seen ossifled men in side shows and museums. Are we now to believe that old age is a condition approaching this?

And this is how old age can be postponed: The foods which particularly contain the dangerous salts mentioned are found on analysis to be the cereals and those which contain hydrogen. If you wish to prolong your youth, there-fore, after middle life, according to this savant, you should abstain from bread, beef and old mutton, among numerous other things. These three, how-ever, are selected by the doctor as the most dangerous of ordinary items of youth: Eat an abundance of fruit. It is deficient in nitrogen. Raw, juicy apples are especially recommended. For other meats substitute fish, poultry, young mutton and veal. They contain very little of the dangerous salts. Eat moderately of everything. Drink daily two or three glasses of distilled water containing 10 to 15 drops of diluted phosphoric acid in each. This acid, eays the fluences known to science for shielding the system from old age. All drinking water used after neiddle life should be distilled. Ordinary water contains deposits which aid in the partial ossification of the body. This recipe should be more strictly adhered to as age commences to mar beauty. In youth it is not necessary to be so strict as toward middle life.

How Adelina Patti Preserves One of Her Loveliest Features.

Patti, the divine, was recently described by a newspaper as still youthful, "with eyes that are absolutely young." Now, be it remembered, that the birth certificate of Patti, unearthed in Madrid recently, shows that the prima donna was born in 1843. So at 55 she is still the admired of all the world, "with eyes that are absolutely young." Patti's eyes are the sort that shine. They are almost dazzling. Her lashes are abundant, a fact which she attributes to her habit of nightly anointing them with a cream. The secret of her young-looking eyes is something worth much money to many women. It was disclosed by Patti, on the occasion of her last visit to this country. "I never read at night," said she, "if I can help it. It does not hurt the eyes to cry, if you sleep afterward. I bathe my eyes in hot and cold water, as feels best. I do a great many things I am told never to do. But I also observe certain rules. I never read at twilight or when hungry. I sleep fully nine hours, more if I need it. I eat lightly many times a day. I keep by eyes free by not making them tired. That's all."

For the Older Women.

I saw the smartest creation designed for theater and calling wear. The woman who ordered it is the mother of growing daughters, and surely she had | drett. no cause to object to the costume that Madame said was "au fait."

This wonderful achievement of the dressmaker was of gray cloth with a vest of white satin and a lovely cape of cloth trimmed with black lace and sable, the whole lined with white satin. The bonnet to go with it was of forget-me-not blue velvet in coronet, shape, with a high bunch of black satin loops and aigrettes at one side, held in place by a rhinestone orna-ment. Black velvet strings were to be tied in a close bow under the chin or dispensed with altogether as the wearer chose. Now, there was nothing suggestive of the sere and yellow about this, was there? Yet any woman between 40 and 60 could appear thus attired and know that she did not look as if she were trying to ape the modes suitable for her children. Black corded silk and corded velvet in combination make very correct gowns for the middleaged woman, and I notice that these materials have been chosen by many a bride's mother for the reception, jet Worth Knowing.

I was reading in an old volume yesterday, says a writer for women, that a little bit of alum, not more than half the size of your finger-nail, used two or three times a week, will preserve the teeth as long as they needed. It cited the case of an old lady who had not a speck in her teeth when she died, and those who followed her advice of letting the bit of alum dissolve in the mouth and then spit it out had teeth like rocks in strength and hardness. I have heard of this before, but have given it little thought and no trial. It is simple enough, in all conscience, and well worth trying.

Interesting Anniversary Services at Dundas Center Church.

Presentation of Diplomas to Nearly 200 Scholars-Average Attendance at Each of the Services 1,100.

Yesterday's anniversary services in Dundas Street Center Mehodist Church were perhaps the most impressive in the history of that congregation. The average attendance at the three services was over 1,100 people. In the morning the body of the church was reserved for the host of Sunday school scholars and the side seats and galdoctor, is one of the most powerful in- leries were packed with their friends. The young people assembled in the school room, and then marched in a body to the auditorium of the church, the center of which they completely filled. The song service was exceptionally good, Miss Eva Roblyn taking the leading part.

In the morning Rev. Joseph Edge preached the sermon, taking for his theme the story of David and Goliath. From this he pictured the giants which the scholars had to fight, viz., selfishness, covetousness, hatred, ill temper, etc.
In the afternoon Miss Jessie

Munro, corresponding secretary of the Provincial Sunday School Association of Toronto, gave a purview of the first quarter's lessons for the year 1899, "Light" as the subject.

Mr. C. E. German, one of the assistant superintendents, addressed the large audience on "The Pay of the Sunday School Teacher." He illustrated his address by reciting the story of con-version and training of several of the world's greatest men, whose success was due to none other than their Sunday school teachers. Among these he mentioned D. L. Moody and Rev. Robt. Morrison, now a missionary in China, and who had accomplished the task of translating the Holy Scriptures into the Chinese language.

After the conclusion of the addresses diplomas were presented by Superintendent McDermid to nearly 200 scholars, for general proficiency in Scripture study and regular attendance, as follows:

A horse and rig belonging to F. C. Toon, grocer, 375 Talbot street, was train at the G. T. R. crossing at Burwell street, about 10 o'clock, Saturday night. The forepart of the evening was spent at whist, Mr. Robert Galpin being the lucky winner of the prize. During the latter part of the evening songs were exceptionally well rendered by Messrs. R. Albert Brown, Guy Lombardo, Bert Barr, Frank Ashplant and Wm. Tambling. The committee were also very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Frank Murphy, who gave several recitations, which brought forth hearty applause. The duet rendered by Messrs. Brown and Lombardo was one of the best selections heard in this city for some time, and reflects great credit on the two gentlemen, who ill no doubt be persuaded to render it again at some future concert. Music was also furnished by the orchestra, after which, at the close of the concert, which was a success in every respect, due to the music committee, composed of Messrs. Dr. Silk (Chairman), Harry Ranahan, Fred Coles and John Collison, Dr. Silk thanked those who had so kindly assisted during the evening, and as sured the guests that as the committee intended giving monthly concerts during the winter this was but the commencement of the good times they hoped to spend together.

EVERY-DAY RELIGION

Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Sarnia, Discourses on the Subject.

The preacher yesterday, at the anniversary services of Knox Church, South London, was Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Sarnia.

The services were successful. The sermons were appreciated. The choir, under Mr. Fred L. Evans, was in good form. Miss Leys sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," admirably. The collection was $207-with more to come.

The morning discourse dealt with the meekness and gentleness of Christ. and its bearing upon religion and humanity. He referred to the time when Jesus laid down his tools; put aside his private life, and left mother, home and friends, to begin the second part of his life, the public part. His private life was closed forever. He had done strange things; he had gone on curious errands; he had made unusual statements. It was plain now what was the matter. His mind had given way. He was beside himself—a dreadful thing for anyone to say, even if true; worse for a mother to say regarding her own son, and then to have his brothers and sisters chiming in and saying: "He is beside himself; we must restrain him." Too bad, there was not one of his own family to stand by him; not one spot on all the earth where he could rest in peace. He had to be without a mother's love and a sister's tender regard. Yet through it all he never murmured. All the people said he was beside himself, and it became the common judgment. If he had lived today we would have called him a member of the Salvation Army. He had acted altogether beneath the dignity of his family. The holy life was always singular. It was very easy to be a John the Baptist as far as the wilderness was concerned. Living a rude, uncultured 1.2e some people called their religion. It was the only religion some had. But the brave spirit that sticks to truth though kings be offended was not imitated so often. We could strain at gnats and swallow camels, strange to say. But to follow the Saviour in his gentleness and holiness of life and in the honest love to man and loyalty to God the Father was the true test of imitation. The life of Jesus was as natural as it was gentle. What a holy man is John, they said. But when they saw Jesus they said, How natural, how gentle, how human, and how real is the life of Jesus. They never thought of holiness. John's life startled multitudes. Jesus did not separate himself from life as John did. He lived among men, and so they called him the friend of publicans and sinners, and of wine bibbers. He came not to overthrow the state. He did not separate himself from society. A great many people make their religion wholly negative. Some preachers were wholly denunciatory. Some men denounced cards, and others denounced dancing, and others eating meat at certain sees up of the year. But lesus certain seasons of the year. But Jesus denounced nothing but sin. Many called this negative thing their religion. What was religion? We might as well seek to fatten on the east wind as to grow in grave under certain min-isters and certain lines of teaching. We must, if we would have religion, seek something far above us. thought church going and hymn-sing-ing our religion. All these things were simply a means to feed us. Religion was not confined to the house -Wesley Peters, a young Indian, of Oneida, was before Squire Lacey on Saturday on the charge of having the family altar. It was so broad it covered all life, all transactions of everyday life among men. The Lord store of David Forsyth, at Middlemiss. to save a few souls. He came to sanctify human conduct and to save the world. We said, he seemed to have failed in his purpose. He has not failed. He will save the world and he was saving it now. And when he said, Thy kingdom come, we did not mean his kingdom in a few hearts and some few out in China and Japan. We meant the whole nation of Japan and of China, and all the islands of the sea. He came to sanctify all human Toon, grocer, 375 Talbot street, was life. So we saw the religion belonging struck by the rear end of a freight to daily life. We were not to be religious here and secular all next week. Some people divided their lives into two parts, the religious and the secular. They had a kitchen where they could do all manner of dirty work, and a parlor where they entertained their God. They called that their religious life. Jesus worshiped his Father all the day long and each day, and he would have you, his professing people, to follow in his steps. Through all life we could have God as partner in the common duties of life. Religion belonged to the common life. We judged sins by their outward appearance. But it was not discouraging to God for man to sin in his higher nature than in that nature that linked him to the beast. And yet we heard nothing about that. Drunkenness was always an evil. But envy and covet-ousness and greed and the evil tongue how often did we hear of them so spoken about? We had committees of the General Assembly to watch against drunkenness, but none to watch against the evil tongue or greed or covetousness. But this was more condemned than the other. Christ forbids drunkenness, but he did not condemn the use of drink. He made it and he used it. And the church must draw the line as he would draw it. The state had no power to do anything else. The reverend gentleman made an appeal, in closing, for a religion that was not something so distant, so unreal, so separated from common life. The words of praise bestowed upon Hood's Sarsaparilla by those who have taken it prove the merit of the medi-

Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

KILLED BY WHITE-CAPS. Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 21.—John Smartt, a well-disposed colored citizen, living at Chapeltown, one and a half miles from Smartt's Station, in Warren county, Tennessee, was shot and killed by white-caps Friday night. The white-caps had served notice upon Mack Smartt, son of the old man. At a late hour 23 men visited his house. Mack was ordered to come out, but refused, whereupon coal oil was poured on the side of the house, but not ignited. A torch was lighted, and placed near the house, and old man Smartt, thinking the house was on fire, rushed out into the yard, where he was shot and died instantly. The weapon used was a shotgun.
