Mr. Robinson Objects to the Admission of This Evidence - Mr. Osler Wishes to Show Up the Witness.

Thursday Afternoon.

The court resumed at 2:20 p.m. John A. Graham was called, but did not answer.

Mr. Hellmuth said he wanted Grafor the attic charge, but he would proceed to the Detroit charges. Mr. Hellmuth then informed the court of the commission held in Detroit to take evidence. Mr. Hellmuth also handed the court a copy of the evidence taken at the Detroit commission. Mr. Osler-We object to the commission being read by the respondent. commission. They are This is our witnesses that we examined, and they cross-examined. It was not a joint mmission, but a commission by the order of the court for the examination of witnesses. It is specially objectionable, because all the witnesses were seen in Detroit by the respondent's agents before the commission

An argument on the question ensued. don vs. Fuller as a precedent for his contention that the commission should be put in evidence. He accorded Mr. Osler the right of putting Harold Witness denied the whole and $3. Richardson was in the city. He had seen him, he thought, last night, at the Tecumseh House. Mr. Osler said he declined to call upon Richardson to give evidence. Judge Ferguson said he would not Richardson's evidence to be read unless affidavit was made that Richardson was out of the country. It anyone wanted Richardson's ovi-dence, he must take other means of getting it.

today. Judge Ferguson said that if neither party called Richardson, or refused to take the affidavit, then Richardson's evidence before the commission could not be read.

Mr. Robinson said they would no call Richardson. Judge Robertson-Why didn't they oring the affidavit with them? Mr. Beattie's counsel then proceeded to make affidavits that the other witnesses examined at the Detroit commission-Knowles, Costello and Eastland-were out of the country.

Mr. Osler said he would admit this and save the respondents the trouble of making affidavits. Judge Ferguson-So that the respondent may read the evidence of Knowles, Costello and Eastland? Mr. Osler said yes; but the charge on which the evidence of Knowles and Eastland had been taken had been abandoned; therefore it was unnecessary to read that portion. Mr. Hellmuth insisted on reading the evidence of Knowles. Judge Robertson did not see why it should be read when the charge had been abandoned.

A CHALLENGE MET. Mr. Osler said he would abandon any objection to Knowles' evidence being read, on the ground that insinuations had been made by respondent's counsel that the petitioner was afraid to have it read.

Mr. Hellmuth read Knowles' evidence. Knowles had sworn that he was promised something by the Liberals to tell what he knew, and that he got $5 by express from Cooper, in London. Knowles produced a letter from Cooper, inclosing $5, and telling him to look up Cooper at the Hub Restaurant when he came to London. Knowles said Cooper had promised him $5 to say what they wanted him to say when he got to London. He got a railway ticket to London from Sippi, who was identified with the Liberals. In reply to Mr. McKillop, witness said that he thought Mr. McKillop had asked him to tell the Mr. McKillop had promised Witness said he was drunk nothing. when he made his statement Mr. Hellmuth then read the evidence of Joseph P. Costello, drug clerk, formerly of London. Costello said Graydon came to him and told him that as a Catholic he ought to support the Conservatives. Graydon offered Costello a railway ticket and $5 to go to London to vote. but Costello declined. Costello could not remember whether he had asked Graydon for $25 or not. The evidence of Eastland was that he had gone to London to vote at his own expense, and had got nothing from anybody.

N. P. GRAYDON. N. P. Graydon (sworn) said he was treasurer of the Conservative Associa-tion at the time of the election. Witness denied that he had paid anything to Fitzhenry or Ryckman. He also denied he gave a ticket or money to Fitzhenry or Ryckman to give to Lockington.

Witness did not think he made use of the words gave no money or tickets to Ryckman or Fitzhenry through Richardson. He as to credit. gave Richardson nothing.

Witness had heard Forkey's evidence in this court. He had heard Forkey's statement that an interview took place between himself, Forkey, Howard and Westlake in the Conservative Club. He met Forkey and Howard while go-ing down the club stairs, and Forkey tion whatever with Westlake about Forkey or Howard. Witness denied Forkey's statement that he (witness) had said to Westlake: "Anything you arrange with Forkey and Howard will be satisfactory to me." He had no conversation with Forkey or Howard after he saw them in Detroit. Forkey had accosted him on Gratiot avenue. Detroit, and asked him if he was going to give him money to go to London to vote. Witness replied: "No; you're drunk, anyway," and walked

MORE DENIALS. Witness was then asked about the evidence of the Cartys. Mr. Hellmuth said it had been sworn that Graydon had driven up in a two-wheeled carriage to where E. J. Carty J. S. The expedition consisted of 500 Naussa troops, six maxim rapid-fire guns, with the telescope. twenty-six amounted European officers and 900 carriers. It was headed by the Governor, Sir George Goldie, and was accompanied by the Royal Niger Company flotilla of armed stern-wheeled steamers. The quarrel between powerful Emir of Nupe and the Niger Company is an old one and arose from the Emir's raiding the company's territory for slaves. The Foulah force at Kabba was estimated to amount to 20,000 foot and 2,000 cavalry.

The expedition consisted of 500 Naussa troops, six maxim rapid-fire guns, twenty-six mounted European officers and 900 carriers. It was headed by the Governor, Sir George Goldie, and was accompanied by the Royal Niger Company fiotilla of armed stern-wheeled steamers. The quarrel between the powerful Emir of Nupe and the Niger company is an old one and arose from the Emir's raiding the company's territory for slaves. The Foulah force at Kabba was estimated to amount to 20,000 foot and 2,000 cavalry.

"Put me off if you dare. "Well, you've got to get off at the next station," said the conductor, vig-orously, "one of you, at least." The next station passed, and the next, and no conductor appeared to trouble the two men with but a single ticket. When Scranton was reached, the couple sought out the conductor and told him if he would accompany them to the hotel they would make good the missing fare. "That's all right," he said. "You got one on me that time. You see, we are under orders whenever there is a possibility of a suit, to take the safe side."

HOCKEY. LISTOWEL VS. STRATFORD. Listowel, Jan. 22. - The Listowel tockey team went down to Stratford to play their first game in the junior championship series, but as Stratford could not get a junior team together they defaulted to Listowel. An exhibition game was played with a mixed junior and senior team which re-sulted 6 to 5 in favor of Stratford. Listowel is now in the next round, and they play one with St. Marys, winner of group 7, on or before the 4th of February.

BERLIN VS. GUELPH. Guelph Jan. 22.-An exciting game of hockey in the junior league, be-tween Berlin and Guelph, was played here last night. At the end of the first half the score was 6 to 2 in Guelph's favor. Berlin tied the score during the last half, but they decided to play off the tie. After playing five minutes more, when neither score the game was called. Score-7 to 7.

The Board of Works Wrestle With the Matter

Contractors Must Furnish the Men With Tools-The Ten-Hour Clause Struck Out-A Puzzling Account

After the routine business at the Board of Works last night, an hour and a half was spent in discussing the specifications, etc., of the new sewer, as adopted by last year's committee. Several changes were made, but none of them affected the principle or were of great importance.

Ald. Nutkins, the only contractor on the committee, suggested the greatest number of amendments, all of which were agreed to by the other alder-clauses 21 and 22, allowing other than Portland cement to be used, if mentioned, read so that Portland cement must be used throughout.

2. In the schedule of prices for extra work, the item "brickwork in hydrau- the moon. I should add that, in orlic cement-two of sand to one of cement'-be struck out works in particulars not satisfactory to the engineer, a change be made so that a written notice from the engineer must be given the contractor. In clause 1, the word "details" be inserted to make it more explicit. Clause 8, relating to the city taking the work under construction out of the hands of the contractor for various reasons, be changed so that a proper valuation will be made to prevent any hitch arising afterwards. In clause 20 the first paragraph, "The contractor must pay his laborers an amount in wages equal to at least $1 25 for a day's work of ten hours,' be struck out and an addition to the second paragraph made, making the city bylaws calling for nine hours a from June 16 to 19, 22 to 26, June 29 to July 3 and July 5. The opening day day govern this contract, and that the contractor furnish the men

An earnest effort was then made by Ald. Cooper to have the following clause struck out altogether: "Such skilled mechanics, foreman, etc., as may be necessary in the opinion of the engineer for the prosecution of the work, and who cannot be obtanied in London, may be brought from other places.' The mayor, Ald. Nutkins and the engineer showed that for the safety of all men employed, those employed on certain parts should have an expert knowledge, and therefore the clause should not be omitted. Ald. Cooper thought London men were capable of doing the expert work,

"We haven't had the work to give them the education," said Ald. Par-Ald. Johnston failed in his endeavor to have a clause inserted calling for

$1 50 per day instead of $1 25. Cooper and Ald. O'Meara each succeeded in having a clause inserted in the interests of the laborers. Ald. Cooper graphically depicted the deplorable condition of the men, who are obliged to eat their dinner without shelter, and a clause demanding that contractors erect a shed for the laborers' use was passed. Ald. O'Meara thought rubber boots for the men engaged in water at the bottoms of the sewers were even more needed than an eating house, and the clause went in.

Tenders for the Wharncliffe road section, and the section extending from Ridout and York streets to Richat home, mount his wheel and away. mond and Grey will be called. It was originally intended to have the latter section-3,100 feet-constructed of 24the principal streets. It is estimated that the expenses for carriages savtile, but Engineers Graydon and Chipman have given their opinion that an egg-shaped brick outlay in bikes. Then a bicycle pasewer would be the better. Be-fore tenders will be called the counrade will be so much more glittercil will be called together and permission asked to substitute brick for tile If made egg-shaped, radiated bricks will be necessary.

Mr. Josiah Hartley appeared before the committee to press payment of his account, $24 75 for cleaning the asphalt pavement on Saturday nights last summer. At a previous meeting Street Commissioner Ironside said ar-rangements had been made with Mr. Hartley to quit work at 5 o'clock and return at 9 o'clock in the evening, and work for an hour and a half. This Mr. Hartley refuted, saying also, that he had worked until 5 o'clock during have read Mr. Gaudaur's farrago of the day besides putting in from $ till 11 and 11:30 in the evening.

Parnell and Cooper and the city engineer were appointed to decide upon the material. Auer lights will be obtained and also an extra table. According to the advice of Prof Saunders, of Ottawa, the shade trees should be trimmed in February, and

Great Questions Before the Brit ish Parliament.

Last year's experience of Salisbury's Government seems to have taught its members that there are risks in Coming before Parliament with a promise of too many measures. They had two or three large schemes, and a number of smaller ones, and nothing of any value was carried through. The school question, indeed, came dangerously mear to estranging many supporters, if not to wrecking the Administration. It had to be withdrawn; not very gracefully, it is true, and with a pledge that they would return with it the next session; but the programme as we now have it does not indicate that Lord Salisbury and his colleagues are very sure of their ground. They would like to please the National Church in England and the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland, by providing more generous help out of the public funds for the voluntary or church as distinguished from the board or public schools. But there are many English churchmen who are strongly against the scheme, and the Nonconformist ranks are nearly solid against it.

It is a large concession by Parliament that powers should be given to a church to levy rates even upon its own adherents for the maintenance of schools founded primarily for giving religious instruction, especially when the organization of the state or of the municipality are used to impose and collect the rates. Such a thing would handly be tolerated in the case of a church itself, were these powers sought for, unless, perhaps, in a country where there is an establishment. But not even in England at the present day, as we understand the situation, does the Church retain power to levy taxes for its support upon men who are not of its faith. It is only in the case of school rates that the machinery of Government is placed at the disposal of the Churches to levy and distrain, if need be, for | Hamburg. the support of religious schools.

Lord Salisbury will find that in this matter there is a spirit abroad in the United Kingdom which will not readily yield to his views, and that any attempt this year to carry through the proposals of last year will be stoutly contested. The element in the Established Church opposed to the Church schools, conjoined with the strong element made up of Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists and Congregationalists, is capable of doing very effective work, and under the rship of as skilled a tactician liant a fighter as Sir William they are not likely to let done to the cause of the national schools. But, though on its school policy, the Government may make up in some measure for defections in England. Wales and Scotland by support gained from Ireland, it has in the question of over-taxation of Ireland one that makes the representatives of that country a solid body arrayed and oppressive, goes without a remagainst the Government. For the first time in many years the Protestant North and the Catholic South are | question of over-taxation in Ireland agreed that Ireland is being greviously wronged by the Parliament at Lord Salisbury will have its hands Westminster, and with data which full during the present session. the report of the Royal Commission affords, it is certain that they will be able to make out a good case. Nor Mortality is there much doubt as to the attitude per 1,000. of the Liberal party on the issue thus 11.18 to be raised. The leaders, and especially Mr. Morley, have spoken without equivocation, and although the Government may succeed in voting down any amendment which may be offered, they will find it hard to carry 15.56 persuasion into the country if the facts are against them. For with the Briton's love of fair dealing, he cannot and will not justify a system under which one member of the union continues to be taxed over and above its proper share so large a sum as $12,500,000 a year, and especially when that member happens to be the poorest of all. The Alpha Publishing Company, of Boston, continue to make their magazines for children and young people generally intensely attractive. The latest issues of "Little Men and Women" and "Babyhood," are especially well gotten up, in point of reading as well as of illustrations.

For 1897, beginning with the January issue, there will be added to the usual departments of Table Talk, in response to a wide demand from its readers, an additional page of menus giving noon-day dinners. The history of "Knives, Trenchers, Cupboards and Hutches" is treated by Rose Crosby, while the "Housekeepers' Inquiry Department contains a large number of most excellent recipes: "The New Bill of Fare" is replete with women's interests, and the entertainments are well adapted to create the pleasure they are hoped to promote. The marked individuality, freshness of thought and thoroughness, indicative of Table Thought, will continue to be noted features of the magazine.

Turkey.

London, Jan. 22.-The Government has issued a blue book containing the official correspondence in regard to the projected reforms in Turkey. The correspondence shows that on Sept. 23 last, Lord Salisbury proposed that the powers take measures to enforce their proposals, and that in the event of unwillingness on the part of any power gist, Mr. Wm. E. Thistle, recommendmeasures applied, that power should not oppose the action of any other. | plete cure and saved our child.' Austria gave her assent to this proposition without qualification, and later Germany assented, with the proviso that any coercive action taken by the powers against Turkey must be unani-mous, and further, that the integrity of the Ottoman Empire must be main-

Italy gave her absolute assent to the proposal, but Russia objected to any tion of coercion to make it operative. In interposing this objection, M. Shisskin, then at the head of the Russian Foreign Office, stated that coercion was repugnant to the Czar. In reply to this, Lord Salisbury expostulated with the Russian Minister. saying it would be useless for the forms unless they were prepared to gestion and dyspensia. enforce their proposals. On Nov. 24 M. Shisskin wrote to Lord Salisbury, saying that the Czar had agreed to consider the question of coercion if the Sultan should prove recalcitrant and the other powers were unanimously in favor of resorting to coercion. About the end of December France gave a similar assent to meason the subject closes with a letter

BUSINESS QUIET.

Better Demand for Sorting-Up Parcels and an Improved ione.

Toronto, Jan. 22.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly statement of trade in Canada says: The week's wholesale business at Toronto is unimportant. The more increased demand for sorting-up parcels, and a better tone prevails. grain trade remains quiet. The higher freight rates and large contracts made by the Grand Trunk for the movement western grain, via Portland, shuts off exports from Ontario to Liverpool to some extent, and shippers are not inclined to buy any considerable quantities of grain at present.

Montreal trade as a whole does not as yet show any very appreciable improvement. Snow would help business and lumbering operations. Failures for the week are 65, aganist

Extraordinary Squalor and Poverty of French Pilgrims.

"That one-half the world knows not por cares how the other half lives," is a saying oft repeated, but in it is embodied more than appears on the surface, and the people who live amid the comforts of a happy home cannot realize to what extent want and poverty exist in this vicinity. Fewer still seem to form any conception as to the depth of degradation to which mankind can fall, and, when he has reached such a low state, feel so happy and content, amid surroundings that a wellbred dog would desert. Honest pov- The Engineer Badly Injured-Cause, an erty is no disgrace, but there is a class of poverty the like of which is a shame and disgrace to allow within the precincts of civilization, and especially within the hospitable county of Middlesex, a county that for honor and morality stands second to none in Can-

They performed in Woodstock a week or so ago, and came to this city, encamping in the woods, as stat-ed. A week ago Wednesday night four of their horses strayed, or were stolen from the bush, and they have not yet received any knowledge of their whereabouts. VISIT TO THE CAMP. A reporter visited the camp vesterday afternoon, and there found a picture of abject misery and want that well-nigh baffles description. There were six cancpy-top wagons, and four wigwams, of dirty and smoky canvas, and these were the only habitation of six men, seven women (one a widow), and sixteen children, two of whom are orphans.

Outside these the bears were chain-

one of the tents emerged an old wo-man of 75 years, without shoes or stockings, and with barely enough covering to suffice for a summer's day, let alone winter. She approached whose faces gave evidence that water to them was a stranger, were seen. Two or three buxom French girls about 16 or 17 years old, were of a more presentable appearance, but they were ill-clad and dirty looking. The men were about the sams. The Around the small fire built upon the ground clustered old and young, apparently happy and contented with their lot. Toward the outer edge of tent lay a woman in a delicate condition, and badly in need of medical two girls—the eldest not more than seven years. In a third sat an old widow, keeping company by three small children, without shoes or stockings, and two chickens, which nestled in the straw strewn around the outer edge of the tent. In a fourth one, the women and children were about as bad an illustration of human misery as ever eye gazed on. There was dirt the strangers approached, but the dirt on their little faces made them look more like wild animals than human beings. The efforts to make a good fire with the dowsey, wet and snowcovered wood, which was piled up on a few live coals on the ground, made smoke enough for a smoke-house, and rendered the place unfit to live in. This is the way the poor peo-ple drag out a weary existence, living upon what the hospitable inhabitants of the city choose to give them. People in the southeastern portion of the city complain of them, and look for police interference. The stores are visited daily, and sufficient obtained to keep them alive.

This is a case the county will have to deal with, as it is not of the pow-er of the city. High Constable Schram was doubtful regarding the elory of the horse on the report of a constable named Cannum, who represented the idea that the wagons had been drawn into the county by out nearly the entire business portion the bears. Mr. Schram thought the horses were taken to the pound or the boneyard. The county authorities should lose no time in ridding them-selves of this aggregation, even at the expense of a few horses, as the people in the neighborhood are complaining of fences being burned and

The people say they have no money, and would willingly go to jail as a relief. Their case was brought to the attention of Rev. Father Tiernan this morning, and it is likely that, failing other measures, the county council will have to deal with the case, which is one of pity.

THE CELEBRATION.

London and the Great Historic Event of Queen Victoria's Reign.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: In common, no doubt, with many others, I have been waiting with interest to see some movement made by our local Christian organizations towards celebrating in a manner worthy of its vast importance, the grand historic event that has recently taken place, and which has been aptly termed "the gladdest event of eighteen centuries."

As an outward and visible sign on a grand scale of the gradually increasing supremacy of the higher or spiritual nature of mankind, for which all Christendom is ever praying, the conclusion by her Majesty the Queen and the President of the United States of the recently signed treaty for general arbiration, is without a parallel. It has brought joy and increased hope to the hearts of millions of those who are earnestly looking for and working to hasten that day when the kingdoms of this world shall become kingdoms of our Lord and of his

"Peace bath its victories, as well as war," and as out of the heart's fullness the mouth must speak, it is only fitting that our rejoicings should voiced, not only to each other, but to the world at large; for there are yet those who profess to look upon war as an unabolishable necessity. these the rejoicings of Christians would have an educative tendency, so that a public recognition of this grand event would not be a matter of mere useless sentimentality, but would itself strengthen and assist the principle it served to celebrate.

How would it be for a delegation of two or three from each Christian body in the city to meet with the Ministerial Associations and form a committee with power to add to its numbers, to discuss preliminaries? services of the various choirs and other musical talent could be enlisted and the question of holding a grand celebration at a suitable date gone in-Trusting this will lead others to Happy Happenings in the Historic Hamlet.

Mr. John Gamble, jun., the wellknown and popular son of John Gamble, Esq., proprietor of the Todmorder Hotel during the past four years, gives the following account of his rescue from heart and nerve trouble through the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Speaking to our reporter, Mr Gamble said: "Some three months ago I began to feel very poorly; in fact, I felt as if I was moving around in dream. This condition I wrongly attributed to biliousness, for I became very weak and seemed to have no staying power. I also became very nervous, and would jump or start at the slightest sound. The feeling was one of constant dread. I expected something dreadful to happen, I knew not what. Again I was dizzy, my me mory failed me very often, and as a matter of fact my whole system was

"Our druggist, Mr. H. W. Love, corner Broadview and Danforth avenues, recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills some three weeks ago, and I have taken them according directions. From the very first I be gan to improve, and am now surprised at the change in my condition. I am very much stronger; my nerves are steady, and my memory bright. I no longer suffer with that morbid feeling of dread. The pills have proved certainly in my case, a remarkable re medy for weak nerves and reduced physical strength. I cannot too highly recommend them to all who suffer from any or all of the symptoms which I have mentioned to you, and must return my thanks to the manufacturers of these pills for placing such an excellent medicine before the public.'

M. C. R. TRACKMAN KILLED. Windsor, Jan. 22.-John Brown, a trackman on the Michigan Central Railway at Pelton, was struck by an east bound train last night and killed instantly. He was sweeping snow from the switches during the storm, and it prevented him hearing the approaching train. The remains were taken to Pelton depot. KILLED EACH OTHER.

Cynthiana, Ky., Jan. 22.-A duel was fought on Wednesday in the lower part of this county by two rival lovers over Jennie Hillery, a girl still in her teens. It seems that Dacey was in a buggy with Miss Hillery, and Dryman came along. Both men drew their pistols. Racey fired two shots, both taking effect in Dryman's body near the heart, he dying in a few minutes. One shot from Dryman's pistol pierced Dacey's brain, he living but a few hours. The girl is wild with grief over the affair.

Every member of the royal family ful servants. On one occasion H. R. H. called on an old pensioned servant at Sandringham, who lived near the village church. The good woman had been ill. He found the aged sufferer listening to something, either the loud chirping of the crickets or the louder noise of a practicing choir. Full of anxiety for his old pensioner, and inwardly blaming the choir for its excess of zeal, H. R. H. remarked:
"I hope they don't disturb you with the noise they are making this evening? "Oh, dear no," returned the good woman; "after all, they're company, if they are noisy, and I've got used to them. They're God's creatures, so I mustn't complain, and I'm told they do it all with their hind legs." As is well known the Prince is electrically quick, to resent undue familiarity. When at Homburg, in 1891, there was a American staying there who thoroughly meant to "get on with Wales." Every time H. R. H. came within reach he hastily seized opportunity to bow in the most found manner—his back bent the while his hat swept the ground. At last he managed to get | pathy and support in Scotland.

moment and then replied: "I certainly do seem to recognize the top of you head." When not recognized his royal Highness is always vastly amused by frank, natural remarks. Being taken round a factory on one occasion he paused to watch some men employed on a special part of the work, and interrogated one of them:

"What wages do you receive here?" "Well, replied the true type of British workman, as he partially lifted the cap for the purpose of scratching his head, "that depends on what they be. A chap like thee"—eying his interrogator critically from head to foot— "ud get twenty-fower bob a week." Virtue is not always its own ward with princes.
