Events in Ulster between now and Monday evening will of course largely decide what course the local sympathizers will take. If actual warfare breaks out, they are ready to leave at once for the scene of trouble.

"They are not all Orangemen," said Harry Bennett, secretary-treasurer of the local Ulster defence fund, to The Advertiser this morning. "A man may be a Unionist without being an Orangeman.'

"But the local organization is working through the Orange lodges, is it not?" asked The Advertiser. "No, there isn't any local organiza-tion," said Mr. Bennett. "And I have heard more about it on the street than in the Orange lodges. Mr. Bennett admi to be a meeting of local Ulster sym-pathizers on Monday night. Those who were ready to go back to Ireland to fight were nearly all young unmarried Irishmen. He had heard one military man, who was not an Irishman, say he might yet decide to go over and help old Ulster himself. And a wellknown retired citizen, quite an old man, too, who was not an Orangeman had declared only this morning that it was his intention to go over and help the anti-home rulers. SHOT BY SENTRY AS HE SCALED A WALL

First Victim of Ulster Excitement Is Regular, Late for Roll Call.

[Canadian Press.] Dublin, March 21.-The first victim of the existing state of excitement in Ireland was a soldier at the Curragh Camp, who was late for roll call. He attempted to scale a wall of the barracks, and was shot by a sentry. It is thought that the wound will prove fatal. The Commander-in-Chief in Ire-land, General Sir Arthur Paget, has arrived at the Curragh, where conferences are in progress be-tween the officers who have resigned their commissions and the military authorities.

London Township Farmer Declares He Took Silver Watch After Leaving His Employ.

Wilfred Tragenza, aged 22 who is at present occupying a c.ll in the County Jail awaiting trial before Magistrate J. C. Judd on Tuesday, March 24 for the alleged abduction of fifteen-year-old May Eveland, was today notified that there has been a warrant for his arrest in the hands of the 1 lice since 1910.

Tragenza, in 1910, hired with Charles a London Township farmer, but efter working in the country for a few weeks he disappeared and the farmer claims that his silver watch went with the young man. Shields, at the time, swore out a warrant for Trage za's arrest, but until today the county authori-ties were anable to locate their man.

Second Canadian Factory, To Employ 400 Men, To Be Located in London.

THREE SITES UNDER BOND

Officials Coming Next Week to Select Location-Plan Four-Story Brick Building.

The Ford Motor Company will erect another Canadian branch factory in London to employ four hundred men, according to information given The Advertiser today. A Detroit architect has been working or plans for the proposed factory, which is to be a four-story structure and modern in every detail. That the Ford people are to spend a large sum of money in this city is absolutely certain. Several of the company heads are ex-pected here next week to look over three sites which have been bonded by a local real estate dealer on behalf of the concern. The proposed sites include a property on William street, near the Grand Trunk tracks, another on Maitland street, and a third on York street, owned by

The company's lease on its present quarters on the to-be Federal Square, owned by the city, will expire next November, and it has secured permission to use one of the Western Fair buildings for storage purposes.

The Ford concern has two large factories at the present time, one in Detroit, to supply the American business, and the other in Walkervine. The Walkerville factory, it is said, cannot keep up with the demands that are being made upon it, and the proposed plant in Lon-don will be an auxiliary, where cars may be assembled and repairs kept and made. London at the present time is the distributing centre for this district, and the increasing business here necessitates, for this purpose alone, the securing of much

A Martial Aspect.

[Canadian Press.] Belfast, Ireland, March 21.-Ulster this morning presented a very martial aspect. All the towns were occupied by soldiers of the regular army, and other detachments were marching along the country roads with long trains of baggage and ammunition carts on their way to strengthen the various garrisons. In the meanwhile at all the Unionist centres there was great animation among the

'Ulster volunteers." Throughout the province a feeling of intense excitement prevailed, and everybody seemed waiting in anxious expectation for semething to occur, they knew not what.

Over 3,000 Troops. Within 24 hours over 3,000 regular troops, including four battalions of infantry with machine guns and two batteries of field artillery, all equipped for active service, have arrived in the various towns of Ulster. These troops form the advance guard of a large armed force, which the military authorities are sending to the northern province of Ireland, to attempt to prevent the assumption of local gov-

Cavalry for Belfast. It was generally expected here that a cavalry brigade would be concentrated in Belfast during the week-end. The Sixteenth Queen's Lancers and the Fourth Queen's Own Hussars, stationed at the Curragh, were yesterday equipped with carbines and were ready to move northward this afternoon.

These sudden preparations by the war office so far have not created any public demonstration in Belfast. The leaders of the so-called Unionist provisional government, however, admit their anxiety lest their over-enthusiastic followers precipitate riots during the two days of idleness at the week-end, and give their opponents the sought-for opportunity for enforcing rigorous repressive measures. Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader and his lieutenants desire the Government to take the first provocative steps. In the summer of 1844, Rev. R. A. Fyfe, of Montreal, came to London, at that time a veritable "city of the woods," surrounded by forests and with stumps standing even in the middle of principal streets. His purpose was to ascertain the number of residents holding the Baptist faith. He did not find a sufficient number to ordid not find a sufficient number to or-ganize a church, but a year later the Listowel.-Mrs. Langford, with Mrs. American Baptist Board sent a preacher into this district. He made a tour of the territory between Windsor and Niagara Falls, and deeming the number of Baptists large enough to form an association, a church was organized at a meeting in the home of Duncan Bell, on March 21, 1846.

Splendid Showing of Ladies' Suits

This Is the Best City On the Continent to Live In

Was the remark of a man who returned to London after having spent some years in the West and the United States. The best sight he had seen since he left was the old G. T. R. depot when he stepped off the train, although not much of a beauty in itself, but it was the realization that he was once again back to the best city he had found in all his travels; and this is not only the expression of one, but of thousands who now reside in this city. Better yet, London is not going to stand still, and its advantages as a place to live in and a place for a career are more pronounced now than ever before. The great improvements planned will attract more and more newcomers, and the population will increase in greater ratio than in the past. The prediction that we shall have one hundred thousand people in ten years does not seem unreasonable.

During the last five years many thousand people moved into this city, and we know of no city that is in a better position to absorb, assimilate and make happy such an influx of new citizens.

Our industrial advantages, schools and universities, and likewise our homelike comforts, are second to none, and no city of this size has better stores or better values in merchandise.

This store, we feel, is a thoroughly representative London institution, that has won the confidence through fair and liberal treatment of all native Londoners and therefore merits the confidence of all newcomers who contribute so largely to our increasing business year by year, and who soon learn to depend upon the merchandise which carries our guarantee of satisfaction and the refund of money on all unneeded goods.

How people do like new goods, and particularly these New York styles, at such extremely moderate prices for such high-grade goods.

LONDON, SATURDAY, MARCH 21. THE CANADIAN NORTHERN APPLI-CATION.

THE most important question coming before Parliament during the pres ent session is the application of the Canadian Northern Railway for a guarantee of fifty millions of dollars. It is the most important question that has with honesty of purpose, with the enengaged the attention of Parliament for many years past

The Canadian Northern is now one of Canada's great transcontinental lines having become, almost without the knowledge of the Canadian people, great railway. The forces behind it have possessed great ability, and are worthy of the support of the people of Canada, to the fullest extent that their achievements will justify. The people and Parliament should be given the facts, and on these facts should be based such assistance as can be justifled. It is always the first thing to do to ascertain the facts. Wild rumors should not be allowed to usurp the place of truth. Wild rumors have been affoat and denied by those who know. It is not easy often to know what to do under difficult circumstances, but precedents often help to point the way. It will be within the memory of everyone how the late Sir George Ross saved the industries at tario when he was premier. The outlook was none too plain, but subsequent events amply justified his judgment and among his many good acts this one is not the itself in the application of the Canadian growth. What an old country might hesido. What might be a large undertaking today may grow smaller as the years pass, and the growth of the country justifies the optimism that undertook the burden.

Clearly, then, the facts should be given to Parliament, and these should be considered in a broad spirit, free from secwould link the railway and the people tothe country's prosperity. Let the facts

A SORRY EXPLANATION.

SHORT time ago there was a prohi-Abition contest in the counties of Welland. Peel and Huron. This was not a political election. Had it been, of course, the two parties would have been lined up against each other, despite the personal views of individuals on the temperance question. But in this case the contest was non-partisan. Conservatives and Liberals were united in working for the Scott act. And at this time there appeared on the scene an employee of the Government's license department who made himself very officious in the ranks of the "antis." Naturally, an explanation is required from the Provincial Secretary as to this peculiar conduct of. one of his subordinates. And we have It. Mr. Hanna tells us that there was a great deal of uncertainty on both sides as to the Scott act in its legal aspects. So Mr. Snider went out into the field to explain things. Mr. Hanna says he did not send Mr. Snider, and he is not prepared to say that it was really Mr. Sniit was, and he is a good man who only wants to do his duty.

The explanation does not explain. Had Mr. Snider gone to Welland to clear up plicable to other lines of business. doubts as to the law, he would have seen both parties. He would have given the needed information in public for the benefit of everybody. But he does of Commerce, and his first suggestion not seem to have done anything of the The charge is made-and it is made by Conservative temperance mentives alone, telling them that the Scott retail grocers must be educated and so asking them to vote against it. And he fixed his headquarters in the camp of the liquor dealers' association. In oth- better grades of tea. If this is done, all er words an employee of the Conservative Government drums up Conservative to vote against a temperance is not the best prohibition measure is be- America practically everything is ad-ple of these counties were working for the field where he had no business and works against it. Mr. Hanna's explanation is a poor one. If he thinks Mr. Snider did right then the only inference is that the Government does not want the Scott act-passed. The members of the cabinet may hold that opinion honestly, and they have a right to do so. But then they should come out openly and say so, instead of winking at the conduct of their employees.

SIR MACKENZIE BOWELL.

THE members of the Canadian Senate I paid a graceful compliment to a veteran colleague when they joined, irrespective of party, in tendering a banquet to Sir Mackenzie Bowell. One of the oldest men in active life in Canada, for he has passed his ninetleth birthday. Forty-seven years a member of Parlia ment, the last of the Confederation members, a leader of his party, a cabinet minster under several administrations, and finally premier, his long services justifled the courtesies of his associates. Like many another Canadian who has riser to high places, he started at the foot of the ladder-a prentice boy in the printing office which he now owns, and in whose editorial and general management he still takes the leadership. A nan with the courage of his convictions ergy that brings success, and with mental powers of no mean order he always enjoyed the confidence of his party, except for the brief time when what he termed "a nest of traitors" disturbed his peace and weakened his power. Lacking the advantages of scholastic education he had the best practical training for public life that a man can have in the school of journalism. No orator, he possessed the ability to present facts with blunt speech in a business-like manner that served his purpose well either on the platform, in the press, or in parliament. Time has doubtless moderated his belligerent spirit, and broadened his views. At all events it has banished the animosities of earlier days, and given his genial nature full scope in public as well as in private life. He has outlived all his old associates, except Sir Charles Tupper, and stands alone amidst a younger generation, enloving the respect and esteem of them Saulte Ste. Marie, by a guarantee of all. His political opponents can join the Government of the Province of On- heartily with his friends in wishing him continued health and happiness.

THE LAST SESSION.

And yet the bird voices that have been stilled these are very great and its future one of rapid laws are too often disregarded, and pass many months. If it is late afternoon or unnoticed, until some horrible calamity tate to do a young country can afford to awakens public attention. Large hotels are supposed to be constructed as nearly fire-proof as possible. And yet at the investigation into the Woodbine fire, they put a match to a piece of the so-called fire-proof material and it blazed up like pine. Abundant fire escapes, with free access to them are supposed to be protionalism, and that conclusion reached vided in all hotels and factories. At the which will be best for the country. In Hotel Woodbine, not only were the fire reaching that conclusion it should not be escapes incomplete, but access to some forgotten that it will be better to have of them could only be obtained by passhelped and lost than never to have helped ing through someone's bedroom. And at all. Whatever the difficulties of the yet this building was supposed to have Canadian Northern are they are now passed inspection by architects and city shared by the country. Those who were be ascertained and what is right be done. burned to death were the victims of criminal neglect, and criminal misconduct on the part of the men in whom the public trust for safety. That the friends and relatives of the victims may have a clear case against the city for damages is little consolation for their loss.

What is the condition in London? Are our hotels all well built and safe? Accommodation for visitors to our city is one too great as it is. All the more reason why every care should be taken to make the hotels as safe as human skill and ingenuity can make them. When originally constructed, modern facilities for fire protection were unknown. With have been made to our local hotels, we equip them thoroughly. But both hotelkeepers and city officials bear a heavy burden of responsibility. We do not want the experience that Toronto and other cities have had.

The modern and most successful idea in selling is in interesting the public in the article which you are offering, not merely by the quotation of prices, but by conducting a campaign in behalf of usefulness, efficiency and quality. The advertisements of today prepared by experts make interesting reading. The information which they contain is well worth anybody's attention and it is a fact which everyone knows that the merchant who does not set apart a percentage of his receipts for advertising makes little progress.

"Tea is an excellent article, and yes ught to increase your sales," was part of Mr. Martindale's comment. "In order to do it, you must advertise, advertise persistently and continuously."

cants, most of whom probably saw no active service. The widows, doubtless, will appreciate the provision made for them, but it is difficult to see how the Minister of Militia can discriminate between veterans' wives who lost their husbands since Janpary 1, 1912, and those who became widows earlier. If one Fenian raid veter an's widow is entitled to the bounty, why is not another? In fact the cases of real need are likely to be among thos who became widows earlier. The veterans' associations without delay should bring this unjust discrimination to the attention of the minister. SPRING TONICS. TOW that the first breath of spring N has reached us and all nature is about to burst forth with promise, from the birth of a tiny blade of grass to the budding of snowdrops and the tender leaves, it is well to take mental and spiritual stock of oneself and clear the mind and soul of the winter's accumulation of worry and care. It is a time to wipe out musty thoughts, unkind feelings, old grudges, and make amends for bitter thoughts and remarks. Shake them out everyone; do not leave even a faint suggestion of these stored up nuisances. A sure way to accomplish this is by simply forgetting, and the way to Folks marry on autos, on steamers and early evening, follow the trail of the sunset for at this time of year the dying rays fall softly over hill and dale like a benediction over the new and beautiful things that the earth is about to give us. He still declines to come out from behind the barricades of his Torres Vedra, and make his charges against Mr. Fisher where the latter can get at him. The newspapers keep up an occasional jibe, but he abides serenely in his shelter. Let no one say that our Minister of Militia is a rash man. He knows where he is safe, and stays there.

The Conservative license commissioners of St. Catharines have given us a new illustration of imperialism and loyalty. They have decided to give no one permission to sell liquor in their town unless he is a good British subject. Whether he must also be a. Ans.-Yes, Dostolevsky was a Russian author, born in Moscow October 30, 1881. He was the second son of a retired milltary surgeon; was educated at Moscow and at the military engineering academy at St. Petersburg; graduating from the latter in 1843, Dostolevsky soon abandoned his commission, after the death of his father, and gave himself up to literature. The author's first book, entitled "Poor People," was published in 1846; he contributed to several magazines but was wretchedly paid. Poverty and physical sufferings robbed him of the joy of and imaginations. In 1847 Dostolevsky was destroyed, and not cashed? became interested in political agitation, which resulted through unfair reports, In his being imprisoned and finally sentenced to Siberia for four years, and to serve in the ranks for life. His sentence was commuted upon the accession of Alexander II. Dostolevsky then returned to St. Petersburg, and though he lived in poverty for many of his remaining years, dled at last in comparative afffluence. Among his books are Crime and Pun-

Karamzov. In many respects Dotolevsky is considered the forerunner of Toistoy. She is Ambitious. Dear Miss Grey: Kindly answer the fol-

Pot-Pourri Conducted by "THE NOMAD."

Another most enter aining letter has been received from "Irish Molly."-Dear Nomad-First of all, I wish to express, through you, my gratitude to the country reader whose convincing arguments in favor of the country woman appeared on your page of recent date. She MOLLY. deserves the thanks of all such as we whose laxness and general speechlessness prevent us from opening our mouths in public to correct wrong impressions. What she says is true, and she expresses herself heautifully.

Now, I want to tell you about a-well, reception-I attended a short time ago. It was a bright winter day, and the air was glorious-the sleighing was fair, and the ladies came from all directions, and each one seemed truly glad to be there and meet her neighbors. As they gathered in the friendliest way in the bright little hall rne could not lely but notice how comfortable and really elegant the costumes and furs were, and how happy and content the faces. And I'm speaking of the young and middle-aged matrons for maidens' faces are always bright in this country—bless them. And I thought to myself why shouldn't our married women to happy and content? They have come from homes of comfort; many of them have natural gas, some have automobiles of their own, the use of the vacuum cleaner, ,and other laborsavers, the rural phone, and rural mail delivery; some have the trolley going right past their doors, and every convenience that can be obtained.

I at is this the reason of FARM he satisfied content of the WOMAN'S farmer's wife altogether? Are JOYS. we laying too much stress on mere externals, and perhaps in the pursuit " the latest convenience possessed by our neighbors in the town, are in danger of losing our best happiness in life, which, quiet content with such things as we have? For in this lies the farm woman's happiness—she is near to primal things-and with her own hands prepares for her family food which is produced on her own land; in the summer she tees the food growing which sustains her through the winter; she works hand in hand with her husband planting the precious seed, and God sends the sun and rain, so she works hand in hand with God.

Though I cannot add my voice to those who claim to have seen the first spring robin, yet I can notice signs of spring these bright, blust-The crows, hawks and owls are flying about, the blue jay has found his voice and brighter hue to his wing. The sparrows fairly deceive us into thinking they are song birds by their jubilant chirping, and yesterday I heard, this way and that over the marsh, the strange note of some newly come bird. The old red rooster starts up to the house, crowing at every stride, and followed by the favorites of his harem. The sap begins to ascend the trees, and is felt, too, in the small girl and boy, manifesting itself in the desire to pop out of the door and mingle in the mixture of chickens, mud, cats, sunshine and running water round the back porch. Even the house-mother feels the spell, straightens her shoulders and settles to her sewing, in order to get it done before house-cleaning, for when warm weather comes she wants to be out, puttering round her garden, her setting hens and her flower borders. Well, well! it is snowing again a perfect hurricane, and the spring dream is vanished. I wish I knew a lot about birds, or even FEATHERED enough to name them, FRIENDS. when I see them or hear The commoner ones I always knew, but I don't seem to make any headway with bird knowledge of late years. I'm something like Freckles who longed to know about his friends in the Limberlost, but I'm afraid I haven't the energy and perseverance he had to accomplish his desire. But I really think I've seen more birds about this winter than for many years. The chickadees met me in the bushes when I took my walks abroad; the crows flew and cawed all Pull for the shore, sailor, pull for the winter long; the big hoot-owl sat in the thickets by day, roused up to fly at evening, and at dawn broke the silence with his "woo-hoo!" the blue jays, silent and faded, did not desert us; the snowbirds came in large flocks and breakfasted every morning off the weed seeds that projected above the snow in our field, and their chirping sounded cheerfully above the wind and storm. I'm positive I heard a "high-holder" the other day and I've seen hawks all winter. Would someone who is wise in bird lore tell us if they commonly stay, and what they live on? Do they eat rabbits? I hope Iso; I have a grudge against the innocent called American cheese of the first qual- little pets. They came in pairs and troups, and girdled our young apple trees. That this is so, anyone can prove by offering a baby a set of ribbons, watching carefully to see which of all the colors held at the same distance the small child will stretch out a hand to grasp. A scientist who is making experiments just now has, says the London Evening Standard, discovered that most babies have a curious liking for yellow. Yellow is much more fascinating, it seems, than either red or pink, which, with a glistening pure white, comes next in order of merit. It is not difficult to understand why babies fail to be attracted by dull violet. It is, however, remarkable that in the experiments alluded to it was found that green and blue were also less interesting than yellow or white, and black and brown chosen in preference. Blue, in fact, was given the cold shoulder until all the other colors had been selected. And yet blue ibbons are with fatal determ chosen by mothers and nurses for all pables' wear. It may be interesting to note that when the United States Agricultural Department experimented on the digestibility of cheese a few years ago it named as the most digestible cheeses, besides the soity, Swiss, Roquefort, Camembert and cottage cheese. Another point which the Government bulletin pointed out was that care should be taken in using cheese in cooking not to burn it or even cook it thoroughly, for there are various digestive disturbances which might arise from consumption of burned or decomposed fats. For this reason in preparing dishe "au gratin"—that is, dishes baked with a sprinkling of cheese—the cheese should not be added till the cooking process has been completed. Ever since the Haynes has been in the van of mediumpriced and dependable cars.

The 1914 Haynes is a year ahead with the Electric Gear Shift, whereby gears are changed by simply pressing a button. Makes it unnecessary to remove hands from steering wheel. Driver can always anticipate speed changes. Renders gear stripping impossible.

Not an experiment, but a well-tested and perfected principle that will appear on many high-priced cars in 1915. For beauty of design, luxurious upholstery and trimmings, mechanical excellence and completeness of equipment the Haynes stands second to no other car. Catalogues and descriptive matter on request.

GIRL'S FATHER

Officer Sent to Prevent Woman From Seeing Eveland -Sensations Promised.

An alleged attempt to prevent Charles Eveland, father of May Eveland, the 15ed from the city, from divulging any information that would cause a number of East End residents to appear in court was, according to the police, frustrated Friday, and summonses were issued for several to appear at the trial of Tregenza. man charged with the crime, on Tuesday, March 24.

The police late yesterday afternoon learned that a woman was attempting to locate Eveland. It is claimed that she was heard to declare that she was prepared to give any amount of money to prevent being mixed up in the case An officer was rushed to where Eveland was working, and the man was warned that under no circumstances was he to accept anything from parties supposed to interested in the case.

Wilfred Tregenza and Mrs. John Mc-Nernie, who have been arrested in con-nection with the alleged abduction of the Eveland girl, today secured counsel to Charles Thurston Has Not Been

Will Fight to Finish. "I had nothing to do with the case They are attempting to blacken my character, and they cannot make stand the blame, for I will fight it to a finish," declared Mrs. McNernie today. Tregenza appeared ill at ease in his cell today, but would say nothing. He has not asked for bail, but Magistrate J. Judd has stated that if the prisoner could give sufficient surety he would consider allowing him out until the case omes before him.

Sensations May Develop. The police today are working on a story told them late last night, which, if true, promises to be no mild sensation when sprung, and may cause additional arrests. Charles Eveland, father of the girl, held long session with Crown Attorney Jas B. McKillop, but both refused to give any statements for publication.

"It will be time enough to give information when the bomb explodes," was all Eveland would say, when questioned

ALLEGED BIGAMIST IS SENTENCED IN DETROIT

Girl Found Guilty of Entering special schemes are district trained trained nurses, comfortable homes for in-Will Be Brought Back.

Annie Harkness, the 17-year-old girl alleged to have committed bigamy in this city by marrying Charles Thayer, a former employee of the Majestic Theatre was yesterday sentenced to three months' imprisonment in the Detroit House of Correction by Federal Judge Tuttle, of that city. On the expiration of her American sentence, the girl will be deported to Canada, and will likely be brought back to this city to stand trial for bigamy. Grief-stricken and humiliated, as she bared her life of shame before Judge Tuttle, the Harkness girl pleaded guilty to the federal charge of having entered the United States after having been deported. Married when 15 years old, the girl said, she lived with her husband at intervals for more than a year. While in Sarnia, she said, she was placed in a cheap boarding-house by her husband, was arrested in a raid and sent to the Mercer.

It was after her return from the Mercer at Toronto that she is alleged to have contracted her marriage here with Thayer, last December. Thayer met the girl at an evening performance at the Majestic, accompanied her home, and was married within a week by Rev. C. Wesley Cosens of the Empress Avenue Methodist Church, this city.

Taking his bride to his parents' home in Watford, the young husband awoke one morning to find her gone. She went to Sarnia, then to Port Huron, where she met Charles Seigel, her former husband. With him she tried to enter the States, but was arrested and brought to Detroit. The man was arrested also.

IN POLICE COURT

-On Time at Last.

Henry Steer, after sleeping at police headquarters, was able to appear in court on time this morning to answer to a charge of malicious damage to prop-erty laid by his brother. Magistrate J. C. Judd allowed Steer out on bail for a week after the young man had stated that he would commence work on Monday. Steer pleaded not guilty to the charge and will appear next Saturday. Stimulated Memory.

Thomas King, heap big Injun from the Oneida reserve, could not remember where he recured his cargo of "fire water" until he was threatened with a six months' sentence. Then he stated that Jim Gallon, an "Indian lister," supplied him. He was discharged. The police are looking for Gallon.

Fifth Appearance Too Much. Paul Burrows, who has appeared before the magistrate four times this year, came up again today on a drunk charge, and not having the necessary $10, he will be a guest of Governor Carter for the next 21 days. Two first-time drunks were discharged.

Deceased was ill only a few days with intestinal poisoning. His sudden death surprised his large circle of friends. He was prosperous farmer of Harwich and once nember of the town council.

He leaves his mother, two daughters, drs. Neil McMillan, Mrs. Hector McMilan, of Harwich; five sisters and brothers, Mrs. George Sloan, Mrs. George Somer-rille, Mrs. Alex. Rockey, all of Harwich; Misses Charlotte and Lucy, and Walter, of this town, and Charlie, of Harwich.

STRONG FOR RADIALS

Nine Delegates To Be Sent to Ottawa-Many Speakers at Coldstream Meeting.

Reeve McGugan, the township councillors and four other ratepayers, T. G. Turnbull, S. P. Zavitz. Isaac Hamache and John A. Campbell, will represent Lobo Township in the hydro radial delegation that will go from London on Wednesday night.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at Coldstream on Friday, when Reeve Mc-Gugan presided, and the speakers were Mayor C. M. R. Graham, of London; C. A. Zavitz, of Guelph; T. G. Turnbull, and S. P. Zavitz, of Lobo Township. The town hall was crowded to its capacity.

S. P. Zavitz, who has been actively working in the interests of radial roads in Lobo Township, asked all the residents of the township to work hard for the London-to-Sarnia radial. Professor Zavitz, of Guelph, spoke on "Transportation Needs of an Agricultural Community." T. G. Turnbull, Victoria Hospital trusee, and ex-reeve, explained the procedure necessary to securing a survey and the advantageous and easy plans on which a radial road would be built by the hydro commission for the municipalities inter-

Mayor Graham dwelt upon the advantages of having a power line and radial line constructed at the same time through Piper, who is also an architect, should be Lobo Township.

City Officials Have Different Views on Proposed Permanent Architect.

WOULD REQUIRE OFFICES

Draughtsmen, Too, Would Be Necessary, Says One Man-Majority in Favor.

The action of the board of education a placing itself on record as favoring the appointment of a permanent architect, and referring the matter to a committee for onsideration, is causing more or less disussion around the city hall. Opinion varies as to the advantages of the scheme but as far as The Advertiser could learn, majority of those who are in touch with the situation seem to favor such an appointment.

A. E. Nutter, former city architect and building inspector, is looked upon as the probable appointee of the board of education, providing he will assume the position, while in other quarters, it has been suggested that Building Inspector A. M. given the job along with his present du-

"Personally, I do not agree with the roposal," said one city hall official, "for he reason that if one architect were apointed to do all the board's work, it would mean that the city would secure he ideas of only one man in building schools. I think it a much better idea to have competition in plans, thus giving the poard an opportunity to consider the ideas of a number of experts and then select the one that has the greatest appeal.

"Providing an architect was appointed at a salary of $2,000 a year, with three per cent commission on all construction work over $50,000, as suggested by Trustee Silverwood, the fact is apparently overlooked that the city would have to provide the official with offices, and if as nuch work is done as was completed last ear, it would be necessary to employ three or four draughtsmen. This would be very expensive, and I am unable to see where the saving would come i

TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN TORONTO FIRE LOSS

hortly to be favored with the presence Already Loss in 1914 Almost Equals Total for Past Year.

> [Canadian Press.] Toronto, March 21.-Since January 1 Toronto has been a fire-swept city. The osses up to date are $755,749, being within $200,000 of the total loss for all last year. Of this loss, eight fires accounted for $716,000.

The loss in January, 1914, alone was more than the loss in January, February and March of last year. The probabilities of the fire loss this year amounting to nearly $2,000,000 seems probable.

IS CRITICALLY ILL MANY APPLICANTS ARE REALLY ABLE TO PAY

Relief Inspector Finds a Large Number of Charity Hospital Patients in Position to Pay.

More than 60 applicants for admission to Victoria Hospital as public patients have been made to Relief Inspector J. W. McCallum during the 20 days of March. In 47 of these cases, the inspector found that the applicants were unable to pay for Hamilton recently, appeared in police attendance, but in the majority of the remainder, investigation showed attendance, but in the majority of that they were in a position to settle for at least part of the expense that would be incurred in their treatment. All applications for admittance as public patients are made through the inspector, and in all cases an investigation is made before the relief office makes out the necessary order to Superintendent T. H. Heard to take in the patient. In the course of a year, many persons make application for admittance to the institution who are found to be in a position to pay for their maintenance.

Only recently, the inspector had an was discovered that the father was railway engineer earning an excellent salary, and apparently quite able to pay for the maintenance of the child.

Ulstermen to keep cool during the weekend and this advice up till this afternoon has been admirably obeyed, The city this morning presented its normal outward aspect. All the places of business were open, and in accordance with the urgent request of the Unionist leaders all the men worked until their usual Saturday closing time

"King" Carson Exclusive. Sir Edward Carson did not emerge to day from Craigavon, the residence Capt. Craig, three miles from Belfast. There he continues to hold his "cabinet councils" with Capt. Craig, the Marquis of Londonderry, the Earl of Ranfurly, the Earl of Clanwilliam and other Unionist workers.

Orders for provisions to be sent Craigavon are given by telephone or sent by dispatch riders, while martial law has been declared within Capt. Craig's estate. The "East Belfast Special Service Corps" relieved the "West Belfast Special depots of arms and ammunition and Service Corps" this morning and took up its duties in Capt. Craig's grounds. The old town hall of Belfast, which is been, and is not now any intention to the official headquarters of the "provisional government," has been denied to all. The important equipment as well as all documents, ciphers and other papers have been removed from it and hidden in a variety of places, after being distributed among the most important leaders of the Unionists. This has been done in consequence of the announcement of impending arrests which the Unionists contend brought about the present crisis. Every 'volunteer" in Ulster still stands ready for instant mobilization

Have Special Post. The provisional government's "posting house," by which letters and dispatches are delivered by hand to the furthermost points of Ulster quicker than by the Government post, was busy all night sending and receiving communications to and from the various mobilization centres of the Unionists. A wireless station on the roof of the old town hall also was at work, while some of the rooms of the building, which have been fitted with telegraph instruments for the instruction of the women telegraphers who are to take over the lines of communication, were filled with workers.

The drug stores of Belfast have laid in large supplies of surgical and medical

The feeling of unrest among cersections of the Government tain troops is very strong. Some of the soldiers and the officers of the infantry battalions quartered in Ulster, including the Dorsetshire Regiment and the Norfolk Regiment have openly pressed their disinclination to take offensive. It is significant that yesterday the inhabitants of Inniskillen hung along the streets in honor of the arrival of a battalion of the Bedfordshire regi-

MANY FLORAL OFFERINGS

Touching and impressive were the ser vices at the funeral of John A. Graham, the young London traveller, who perished in the Woodbine Hotel fire in Toronto, held from the funeral parlors of Griffith & Willsle, Dundas street, this afternoon, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

A private service for the relatives and friends was conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Charles R. Flanders, of the First Enniskillen, Ireland, March 21.-All Methodist Church. At 2:30 public services were conducted by Dr. Flanders and Worshipful Bro. F. E. Harley, of St. etery. The pallbearers were members both gathered at the funeral parlors to hear the funeral services and followed the renains to the cemetery.

Unusually beautiful and numerous were the floral tributes. Among them were a pillow, from Miss Edna Burridge, the young man's flance; wreath, from Silerwood's, Limited; a pillow, from the employees and staff of Silverwood's; a wreath, from J. A. Greer; a blanket of lowers, from the Hermitage Club; a rom the Commercial Travellers' Association; a cross, from Mr. and Mrs. A. Cameron; a wreath, from St. George's R. A. Chapter, No. 42, A., F. and A. M.; a wreath, from the Acadian Club; a spray, from Miss Campbell; a spray, from the girls of the Bell Telephone Company; spray, from Misses Sadie Sherlock and Josie Flannery; a spray, from Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cawrse; a wreath, from Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wanless; a spray, from S. A. Moore; and a wreath from St. John's Lodge, 209a, A., F. and A. M. Members of St. John's Lodge met at the Masonic Hall and walked in a body to the funeral parlors and from the paplors to the cemetery. The pall-bearers were E. Victor Smith, C. F. Stevens, Dr. S. R. Moore, J. R. McAlpine, E. A. Pinder and W. L. Prine.

MADAME SCHUMANN-HEINK WESTERN

The popularity of Mme. Schumann-Heink, the contralto, who is to give a recital at the Grand next Tuesday evening, March 24, has reached remarkable proportions. In the season past her net profits in such cities as New York, Chicago, Boston and San Francisco have been from $2,500 to $5,000 per concert, the latter figures being her share of her farewell concert in San Francisco a short time ago. Her bookings for the present season are such that no further engagements can be made. She is probably the highest priced concert singer in the world and her earnings for a season have run in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars. Born in Bohemia of an Italian mother and an Austrian father and spending most of her life in Germany, Schumann-Heink can easily claim the title of the most cosmopolitan of singers. Of Schumann-Heink as a concert singer, Reginald De Koven, the well-known composer and critic, recently said: "Great as she is in opera, I consider the popular contralto as a concert singer is unsurpassed." Local music lovers will have an opportunity to judge for themselves when the popular singer appears at the Grand next Tuesday. Seats will be on sale at the box office, Monday the 23rd, prior to that time at Mallagh's Book Store.

Citizens Invited To Call and See This Machine Either Day

The above is an illustration of the latest invention of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, New York; the model 8, three-decker multiple machine. On this machine the headings, appearing in The Advertiser, both Morning and Evening, are rapidly composed, doing away almost completely with hand composition. For twenty years the reading matter and small headings have been set on the Linotype, but it is only recently that headings of the larger sizes have been composed by machinery. The Adver-tiser, with the addition of the threedecker a two-decker and model 5, quick-change linotype machine, is now on a par with the best-equipped newspaper offices in Canada,

While single and double magazine linotypes are by no means obsolete, they are rapidly being supplanted by the later models, such as those recently installed in The Advertiser office. Although it is only a little more than a year since the three and four magalinotype were introduced, are rapidly becoming the standard machine of the world on straight matter. of newspaper composing rooms. The plant of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, in Brooklyn, N. Y., is the largest composing machine factory in the world; while, in order to meet the demand of these latest models of linotypes, it has been found necessary to increase the manufacturing facilities and enlarge the output. A nine-story extension containing 57,000 square feet of floor space has been added to the main building. This, together with various other extensions and improve-ments recently completed, gives the linotype factories a total floor space of approximately nine acres.

Reference to the history of the linotype may prove interesting. Prior to the advent of the linotype, a machine the advent of the linotype, a machine to set type was a dream of inventors from the time that the printing business first began to assume a position of importance among the trades. Most of the mechanical contrivances invented along this line turned out to be utter failures, while the operation of such few machines as were perfected to a point where they would actually

FARMERS MAKE PLEA FOR WIRE FENCE COMPANY

BIG REPRESENTATION

Ispecial to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, March 20. — The farmers are against giving bounties or increasing the duties on iron and steel. A deputation from the Dominion council of agriculture and from the United Farmers of Ontario saw the Premier, and the Finance Minister today. They were especially against putting a duty on fence wire, which was now on the free list, as competition would be wiped out and an end put to the agreement the farmers had made with the Sarnia Wire Fence Company.

Finance Minister White said that the Government had ben asked to give a bounty of a dollar a ton on iron ore. He gave no indication of what the Government would do, but said that the deputation would have to wait the delivery of

GOVERNMENT NEEDS OVER THREE MILLIONS MORE

Ottawa, March 20.-Last session Parliament voted the Government over $200,000,-000 with which to run the country this year. The amount was not enough, Government spent it all and needs more. To clear up obligations which have been incurred and to provide funds for running the country during the two weeks which remain of the fiscal year the Government today brought down supplementary estimates to the amount of $3,257,036. This brings up the amount voted for expenditure this year, outside of the railway bonsuses for Mackenzie & Mann and similar votes, to $206,000,000.

EGGS: PRICES FALLING

Wholesale, They Sell at 25 Cents - Butter Steady -Dressed Hogs Up.

Eggs fell in price to 25 cents per dozen in wholesale quantities. The market was flooded with them, and the demand was fairly good. 'Retail, by single dozens, they sold for 26 and 28 cents in the morning. Hens are laying plentifully, the dealers say. Butter was rather scarce and remained at quoted prices.

Oats continue to rise, and several loads sold for $1.24 and one for $1.25 per hundredweight. The supply was fairly large, demand brisk. Oats are become scarce, however, as the farmers are feeding them in larger quantities as the season advances. The prices will probably continue to rise slightly for some time Wheat sold for $1 per bsuhel. The supply

Clover seed sold on Thursday for $7 per hundredweight.

Dressed hogs, which dropped considerably in price last Saturday, have regained their former prices, and sold today for $12 and $12.60. Beef cows sold for from $10 to $13.50 per hundredweight. Other meats remain as quoted.

Potatoes were rather scarce on the square, but prices remain as formerly. Wholesale, they sold for 90 cents per bag, and retail, the demand was brisk at 95 cents and $1 per bag.

on account of the cold weather, which lessened the demand. No hay or straw was weighed, but the supply during the week has been fairly large, and prices were good. Poultry prices are firm, and the demand good; supply was small today. Hides also are steady, and are quoted

Nerves Were So Bad THOUGHT SHE WOULD GO OUT OF HER MIND.

Diseases of the nervous system are very common. All the organs of the body may be sound while the nerve centres may be affected.

Many women become run down and worn out by household cares and duties never ending, and sooner or later find themselves with the nerves shattered. and the heart action weakened.

On the first sign of any weakness of either the heart or nerves, flagging energy, or physical breakdown, do not wait until your case becomes hopeless. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system. Mrs. Archie Goodine, Tilley, N.B., writes:—"When I was troubled with my heart two years ago, I was very bad. My nerves were so unstrung that sometimes I would almost go out of my mind. I doctored myself with everything I could get, until at last I got four boxes | Loans. Trusts, etc. ilburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, ley have cured me. I cannot speak ighly of this wonderful remedy, ill recommend it to all sufferers."

New York, March 21—Wall Street, close
The market closed heavy. Speculative buying forced prices higher temporarily buying forced prices higher temporarily today, but the market relinquished its gain before the end of the day, and last figures showed declines among the favorite stocks. During the progress of the rise some of the low-priced railroad and industrial shares were taken freely, touching the best figures of a long time. The coalers and eastern trunk line issues were again foremost in the advance. Higher prices induced selling on the part Higher prices induced selling on the part of traders who did not wish to carry stocks over the week-end, and bears put out new lines as the market weakened The decline was hastened by a break in the Rumely issues, the preferred losing 4½. Bonds were irregular.

FINE CHURCH BURNED

For Freckled, Rough or Spotty Complexions

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in early spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring, and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ouce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girl-shly beautiful face.

Something About Commander Evans, Who Was With Captain Scott on Trip to Pole

Commander Evans, C. B., R. N., the intimately connected with the work in treat, and dividing their forces one is so sublimely indifferent to what others the degree of importance that should be given to the expedition itself, to Capt. Scott and to those other heroes who died was in them to give; that it is difficult at times to realize, when listening to his accounts of what took place down in "the frozen hell," that it was he and no other who is the remaining, living chief character in the play that was enacted with such realism in the name of science and in the cause of the further enlightenment of the human race. When Evans tells of what was done by "the second in command," or by "the party in charge of the second in command," it is not always quite clear to the listeners that it is he (the speaker) who was the leader at this particular time; that it was to him that we are indebted for what was done; that it was he who has brought to the outer world the results of the expedition that has meant so much to the cause of heroism and to tion; and once in command, never did the advancement of the world's knowl- the men waver in their obedience. second in command of the British Antarc- hand, and lectures upon matters as far the men staying with the sick com tic expedition of 1910-13, is so saturated removed from the day's drudgery as could with the idea of his own unimportance; he be planned. One of the pictures in the Scott book shows a table at which the is so sublimely indifferent to what others men are seated, enjoying the dinner given may think of him, and so impressed with to Capt. Scott on his 43d birthday; others show the games in which the men participated outdoors and in. Was one of the ings is so well equipped to tell of the men ill, it was Evans who consulted with achievements as well as the sufferings pated outdoors and in. Was one of the the doctor about the case and cheered up of these members of this advance-guard after giving to the world the best that the invalid; did discouragement brood heavily over their after-supper conversation, it was Evans who tactfully turned and training-to recount the advance the subject to discussion into other channels and brought harmony out of discord: had the diverse views of the various departments brought about something bordering upon dissension, it was Evans who carefully led the men back to a sane and chemists and photographic artists, safe elimination of what was objectionably in the line of debate.

Evans was leaned upon by Scott at every turn. It was Evans whose counsel brought about this remedy or that advance; it was Evans' judgment that was sought and followed when the mental faculties of the others were dimmed and clouded by too long tension upon some one thought or plan of aconce they flatly refused to obey orders he shrinks when speaking of things in-mander while the other went in search of help, which, happily, was successfully found and brought back to the retreat-the brave leader was dragged out to safety upon one of the sledges.

No witness of the gruesome happenof science as is Evans; no one so well qualified-by reason of his experience made by the expedition. When it is remembered that the original company numbered 56 men, and that in this little band there were the best surgeons the best zoologists and bacteriologists, geologists and magnetic and meteorological workers, in addition to the engineers, motormen, etc., etc., that the British navy could supply; and, when it is further remembered that the expedition started out for and accomplished one of the great achievements of the present century, the leader of this expedition who has returned to tell the world of the deeds done, is more than ordinarily worth hearing. Commander Evans' modesty, the cloak behind which As a matter of fact, it was Evans who | - when Evans ordered them to leave him | separable connected with his persona

There never was an expedition of like nature—an ex- scurvy. pedition that made such demands upon the patience and good nature of the memin close quarters, isolated from all other companionship but their own-that was brought to termination with so little fric- him. Evans ordered his men to abantion. It is usual in such companies to find animosities, strifes, hatreds engendered by the very fact of the constant rubbing against one another's private lives; it is the record of every other such an attempt to herd men in such close quarters for so long a time that the very fact that the men could not get away from one another for an hour's respite worked havoc among them and bred such rancor that outbreaks were frequent and Convicted of Conspiring in Aiding disastrous to the ultimate good of the undertaking. That no such displays of temper were recorded during this expedition was due in large measure to the thoughtfulness of Commander Evans. Did the men find stories dull and tedious and too often rehashed, another form of entertainment was planned for the long evenings. Photographic reminders tell the outer world of hours spent with illustrated lectures and informal talks upon lands seen by only one or at most a few of those

ROGERS DOES NOT KNOW

Promises to Try to Get Minister of Militia to Attend House.

MAKES ANOTHER PROMISE

Agrees That None of Money Voted Shall Be Spent on Attack on Crown.

[Special to The Advertiser.] high time that a curb should be upon the militia-mad-war-lord, who has been placed at the head of the Canadian militia by the present Administration," declared Chief Liberal Whip Pardee, in dealing with estimates for armories and Mr. Pardee pointed out that though the times of stress had caused many Canadians serious embarrassment, Col. Hughes had spent and promised over a million dollars in armories since the present Government had taken office. Mr. Pardee read a press cablegram stating that the Minister of Militia for Canada had sent a message to Ulster that the Canadian Government would not oppose the dispatch of a first contingent of picked Canadian Orangemen to participate in the threatened civil war n Ireland. Cries of "Oh," from the members were heard as the message was Super-Exuberant War Lord.

"Some stop should be put to this sort of thing," hotly said Mr. Pardee. "The war lord whom for the time being we have placed at the head of the militia has become so super-exuberant that it would seem that he can no longer confine his attentions even to Canada. I ask the Minister of Public Works, who is now leading the House, and his colleagues in the ninistry, in all seriousness, if they will not take this gentleman in hand and do something to curb his reckless speech and action. He should be taught that there is enough to attend to in this country without seeking to presumptuously meddle, and by his position commit Canada to his meddling with matters which are the concern and anxiety of the mother country. May I tell the Government with great seriousness that I believe it would be well for the Government, and I am bound to say it would be well for the people of Canada, if this loquacious and meddling war lord would seem for a time to attend to his own business?
Plenty to Do at Home

"There is plenty to keep him busy in Canada, if he proposes to administer his responsible position in a sane and ecomical way, and my reading of history leads me to say with pride that the wise which from time to time confront them without gratuitous interference from super-exuberant, hysterical or Ulsterical meddlers who exercise a little brief authority in Canada."

Mr. Pardee said the continued absence of Col. Hughes from the House was re-

Hon. Mr. Rogers, as leader of the House for the time, should say whether the Government assumed responsibility for Col. Hughes' reported message to Ulster. Hon. Mr. Rogers said he regretted that the Minister of Militia was not present. Mr. Pardee should not take too seriously the messages in the press and was confident that the Minister of Militia must have been misrepresented.

"Had he any Government authority for such a declaration concerning a call for a Canadian contingent, if he made it?" asked Mr. Pardee.

Mr. Rogers to Inquire. Mr. Rogers replied that he would consult with the minister, and no doubt statement would be forthcoming. "He had better make his statement the House," said Mr. Carroll. "If he sent such a message withou the authority of the Government what will the Government do with him?" asked Mr. Pardee. "The Minister of Militia should be in the House when public works votes or military buildings were under discussion '

Cable in Montreal Star. Pardee called attention to the fact that the cable was featured on the front page of the imperialistic Monreal Star, a paper known to be in close touch with the Government and its individual members. It would be a relief to know the report had been manufactured out of whole cloth, but he confessed he feared there was only too much ground for it. A more or les serlous crisis was concerning the British Isles. For himself he had every confidence in the foresight, firmness and wisdom of the British Government, but it was not calculated to allay feelings of prejudice and excitement for a Canadian minister to act as Col. Hughes had been reported to have acted.

To Put Check On. Mr. Kyte urged that not another dollar be voted by Parliament toward the militia department until some satisfactory statement had been made by the Minister of Militia. "It may be that the members of this Government are not everse to manifesting sympathy with the resistence in the north of Ireland to law and order. but they have no right to commit Canada in the matter when they know that there is a large public sentiment in this Dominion strongly opposed to this threatened resistance." concluded Mr. Kyte.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux humorously said was getting exceedingly nervous. He had read about the "Red Hand" presentation to Carson before he left for Ulster, at which Hon. Mr. Cochrane, a Canadian minister, was present. Hon. Mr. Emmer-son had recently read the House the calls to arms issued to the Yeomanry of Westmorland, N. B., now came Colonel Hughes' declaration of a Canadian contingent of one thousand picked men. Canada would be into war before the peo-ple knew it.

Will Try to Get the Colonel. Hon. Mr. Rogers hoped that the Lib-erals would not hold up the military estimates on that account. He would make an effort to have the Minister of Militia present when the matter came up again, and undertook to permit a full discussion in the matter.

"If we pass this vote," cautioned Mr. Chisholm, of Antigonish, "will the Minister of Public Works pledge us his asrance that none of the money vote I'd very much rather have you for a husband than any man I know, but as for loving you! Pooh!' I'd love you in just the way mother loves father, and I would not have been a bit more trouble to you than she is to him."

"Gad, you don't mind what you say."

"Failing to nab you, Brandy, I daresay I'll have to come down to a duke, or, who knows? maybe a mere prince. It isn't very enterprising, is it? And certainly it isn't a gay prospect. Really, I had hoped you would have me. I flatter myself, I suppose, but, honestly now, we would have made a rather nice-looking couple, wouldn't we?"

"You flatter me," he said.

"But," she resumed, calmly exhaling, "you very foolishly fell in love with someone else, and it wasn't necessary for me to pretend that I was in love with you—which I should have done helieve me.

"See here, Viv, what the dickens are you driving at? I'm not in love with Sara—not in the least—and——" He checked himself sharply. "What an ass I am! You're guying me."

"In any event, I am right about Hetty," she said, leaning forward, her manner conits serious.

"If it will ease your mind," he said stiffly, "I plead guilty with all my heart." She favored him with a slight frown of And you deny the fluctuating charge?"

"Most positively. I can afford to be honest with you, Viv. You are a corker. I love Hetty Castleton with all my soul." She leaned back in her chair. "Then why don't you dignify your soul by being honest with her?"

"What do you mean?"
For a half-minute she was silent. "Are you and I of the same stripe, after all? Would you marry Sara without loving her, as I would have done by you? It doesn't seem like you, Brandon."
"Good heavens, I'm not going to marry Sara," he blurted out. "It never entered may head!"

"Perhaps it has entered hers."

"Nonsense! She isn't going to marry anybody. And she knows how I feel toward Hetty. If it came to the point where I decided to marry without love, 'pon my soul, Viv, I believe I'd pick you out as the victim."

"Wonderful combination!" she said with a frank laugh. "The quintessence of 'no love lost." But to resume. Do you know that people are saying you are to be married before the winter is over."

"Let 'em say it," he said gruffly.

"Oh, well," she said, dispatching it all with a gesture, "If that's the way you feel about it, there's no more to be said."

He was ashamed. "I beg your pardon, I shouldn't have said that."

"Perhaps not. But I fancy that even you could not escape as St. Anthony did. She is most alluring."
"You don't like her."

"Obviously. And yet I don't dislike her. She has the virtue of consistency, if one may use the expression. She loved my brother. Leslie says she should have hated him. We have tried to like her. I think I have come nearer to it than any of the others, not excepting Leslie, who has always been her champion. I suppose you know that he was your rivel at one time?"

She turned upon Booth with a mocking smile. He felt the color rush to his face, and was angry with himself.

He went in to the telephone. Almost her first words were these:

"What has Vivian been telling you about me, Brandon?"

He actually gasped. "Good heavens, Sara!"

He heard her low laugh. "So she has been saying things, has she?" she asked. "I thought so. I've had it in my bones

"I thought so. I've had it in my bones tonight."

He was at a loss for words. It was positively uncanny. As he stood there, trying to think of a trivial remark, her laugh came to him again over the wire, followed by a drawling "good-night," and then the soughing of the wind over the "open" wire.

The next day he called her up on the telephone quite early. He knew her habits. Se would be abroad in her gardens by eight o'clock. He remembered well that Leslie, in commenting on her absurdly early hours, had once said that her "early bird" habit was hereditary; she got it from Sebastian.

"Be sensible."

"Very well. I will be sensible. If you intend to be influenced by what Vivian or her mother said to you last night, I think you'd be wise to avoid me from this time on." Prepared though he was, he blinked his Trustees Place Themselves on Record as Favoring Permanent Official.

WILL PAY COMMISSION

New Appointee Is Likely to Receive $,2000 Retainer as Well as Fees.

The board of education put itself on record at a special meeting Friday afternoon as favoring the appointment of a permanent architect, providing that such an official might be engaged, without interfering with the moral rights of architects who may now have work under way for the board. The building committee was asked to report on this proviso, and the matter of appointment will be taken up later. Trustee A. E. Silverwood started the ball rolling by introducing his motion to engage an architect at a salary of $2,000 per annum, the official to be paid a 3 per cent commission on all construction work exceeding $50,000. The mover argued that the board, continuing its practice of en-gaging different architects, was forced to bay a five per cent commission on all work, and he believed that by retaining a permanent official at the salary instanced a large amount of money would be saved.

For the most part the other trustees agreed with the resolution, but some objection was made to naming a fixed salary, it being contended that the board could probably secure an architect for a lower figure.

To meet this Trustee Silverwood suggested that instead of a stated salary the permanent architect be paid 4 per cent on all work up to $50,000 and 3 per cent on all above that amount. Wants One-Year Terms. Trustee Dr. W. J. Teasdall wanted it distinctly understood that the appointment of an architect would not be manent, and he urged that all candi dates for the position be clearly that an appointment was only for one vear at a time. There was a great deal of additional discussion, Trustee Teasdall moving to appoint an architect, but not stipulating a salary, and Trustee John M. Gunn coom in its freight shed for a dray office putting forward an amendment to the amendment to approve of the principle, and refer the matter to the committee.

This was the final action of the board. School Plans Selected. The secretary reported that the Ontario Society of Architects had made its award in the competition for plans for the new eight-room public schools, prepared by local architects, and the communication of the society was given to the building committee. Salary Increases Approved. The board accepted the recommendation of the finance committee to increase the maximum salaries of public school of one or two members of the local suf- principals and woman teachers, but ordered the increases to date from April newly-organized Canadian National Union 1 this year, instead of January 1, 1914, of Suffrage Societies, the inaugural con- and September 1, 1914, respectively. The increases will mean an additional expenditure this year of about $3,000. Women's increase Qualified. In the case of the women teachers the committee recommended that the creases be given "to all entitled to the act on the confidential report of Inspector C. B. Edwards before handing out extra remuneration to the teachers Trustee E. R. Dennis and Dr. R. W. Shaw were named as the board's representatives on the radials-waterways deputation to Ottawa next week.

A motion was put through authorizing the building committee to pave the grounds of Talbot Street School with asphalt, at an estimated cost of $800.

The news bureau in connection with the publicity department of the Grand Trunk System, under the direction of Mr. H R Charlton, has been augmented by the appointment of Mr. Walter S. Thompson as chief literary writer. The developments that are taking place in Canada through the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific are important and items of human interest with news value are sent out daily from the railway news bureau to newspapers not only in Canada, but the United States and Europe. This necessitates an organized staff in connection with the publicity work of the trans-continental railways, and Mr. Thompson has been chosen on account of his capabilities to a position in this branch of the work. Mr. Thompson is a journalist of wide experience. He began his career as a reporter on the St. James' Gazette, a London evening newspaper, notable for its literary standard. Later he joined the C. A. Pearson organization of newspapers, first acting as a sub-editor on the Evening Standard, and afterwards engaging in special work for the Standard and Daily Express in London. Later, he was associated with the Harmsworth regime, under Mr. J. L. Garvin, on the Observer. In 1909, he left London for the antipodes, being engaged on the New Zealand Herald, in Auckland, and later as a free lance in Melbourne and Sydney, Australia. From Sydney, he came to Canada, and two years ago joined the staff of the Daily Witness. Soon after, the Daily Telegraph was augurated, and he was appointed city editor of that paper. Latterly, he has been city editor of the Montreal Herald and Dally Telegraph.

Here's one of many things in which the board has well justified its existence. The express companies charged the fruit farmers of the Arkona section on the regular 100-pound basis, or about $700 a car on all fruit shipped to the west. The Arkona Board of Trade and the other organizations comprising the Lambton County Associated Boards of Trade took the question up with the moguls of the express world, and succeeded in securing for Arkona the same price that is given the Leamington growers, viz.: $225 per car. "Head of Child-Heart of Gold." The latter man is Larkin. He was described to me as being "the head of a child and a heart of gold." He cannot grasp the benefits of wealth and inequality, the beauties of the better class, the uplifting influence of culture and champagne. Aristocracy does not to him palliate starvation. He sees and feels the slums of Dublin. And as he sees, he strikes. The one outstanding impression gathered from his presence is of sincerity. He may be wrong in theory and in practice, his eyes may be shut as he fights, but he believes the battle is for the good. In appearance Larkin is tall, with iron gray hair and a face evident of much trouble endured. His dress is not of latest fashion and his voice shows force rather than affectation. ### St. Patrick's Supper.

The St. Patrick's supper given on Tuesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. residence, Wellington street, was well attended, over 100 people being present. The table and parlors were appropriately decorated with St. Patrick's decorations, and presented a most inviting appearance. A pleasing program followed the supper, when musical numbers, readings, or recitations were contributed by the following: Miss Georgia Newbury, Miss Frances Evans, Miss Estella McConnell, Miss Cora Banghart, Miss Nettie Jones Miss Marjorie Talbot, and Mr. T. Williamson. Rev. H. H. Bingham, pastor of Talbot Street Baptist Church, occupied the chair, and made an admirable chair-

Great New Novel "You Never Know Your Luck" Published Complete in the April Munsey

WHEN this novel goes into book form after it has appeared in The Munsey, it will cost you $1.50; in Munsey's Magazine it will cost you 15 cents, and in The Munsey you get it first.

Sir Gilbert Parker is unquestionably one of the first novelists of the day, and one of the most popular. His books, at $1.50 a copy, sell up into the hundreds of thousands—some of them as much as 400,000. With so tremendous a sale at $1.50, what ought the sale to be at only 15 cents? Four milion copies, I should say, but as the edition of Munsey's Magazine for April is limited to 500,000 copies, there will be, on this theory, 3,500,000 disappointed persons.

> If, therefore, you want to make sure of this new Parker novel at a cost of 15 cents, you would do well to get busy with your newsdealer before his supply of the April Munsey is exhausted.

MUNSEY

with a full book-length novel published complete each issue, has hit a new high place in magazine making. I have been studying for a dozen or fifteen years to find a way to give the public brand-new, high-grade books at a price not to exceed 25 cents a copy. I have just now solved the problem through publishing them in my magazine—not serial publication, but as complete as if actually in book form. And in The Munsey they are printed on fine book paper, from large, clear type, and are profusely illustrated.

The Munsey is jam full of good stuff. Its complete novel covers only one side of it. The other side is rich in illustrations, worth-while articles, short fiction and other material—a magazine practically double the size of the average magazine.

On all news-stands, 15 cents a copy; $1.50 a year.

a not passed. There are thousands of women all over the country enduring physical torture and mental anguish almost beyond description. They are not victims of persecution, like the martyrs of old; they are not called on to face the scaffold or the stake, but their sufferings—borne in silence and hidden from the world at large—are scarcely less intense.

These ladies, as a rule, are women and girls of refined and sensitive temperaments. Knowing that their sufferings are due to a disordered condition of the female functions, their native modesty deters them from seeking relief in the earlier stages; and when they do consult a physician, they usually get some drug mixture to take internally, which is not more effective for troubles of this kind than it would be for a toothache, a bruise, or any other strictly local ailment.

The seat of the trouble being in some one of the female organs, the remedy, to be effective, must act on this portion of the anatomy.

Before I knew or found out anything about this medicine, I doctored away hundreds of dollars, and when I thought I was dying with inflammation of the womb, a box of ORANGE LILY was sent me through the mail from a friend. The first suppository I used I was greatly relieved, and in a few months completely cured. That was nine years ago this winter, so you can imagine with what esteem I hold the ORANGE LILY. I am thankful there is such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can be suffered by the suffered

Mrs. F. E. Currah, Windsor, Ont.—

Dear Friend,—I feel it my duty to write you a testimonial as to what Orange Lily has done for me. Last winter I was feeling very miserable indeed. I could scarcely do my housework during my menstrual period, and for two months or more I was never free from pain in the womb and ovaries. The pain would run down the was never free from pain in the womb and ovaries. The pain would run down the back of my neck to my brain until I hardly knew what I was doing at times. Life was a burden indeed. I finally could endure it no longer, so went to our leading town doctor and had an examination. He pronounced it (I forget the word) a rigid condition of the generative organs, produced by repeated attacks of inflammation. He said I would have to take a course of treatment, and if that failed to overcome the rigid condition I might, in time, be compelled to have the ovaries ramoved. I objected to that, so filled out Dr. Coonley's symptom blank and for warded it to him, and he diagnosed the disease the same as my local doctor, so I decided to take Dr. Coonley's Treatment. I have used two jars of Cerate Massage, two packages of Herbal Womb Tonic and six boxes of Orange Lily. It is eight months since I began the treatment, but I feel like a new woman. I work right months since I began the treatment is a Godsend to suffering womankind, and thall continue to sound its praises whenever I have an opportunity.

THE CALL OF CULPEPPER HAZZARD

IBY CLINTON DANGERFIELD.] (Copyright, 1914, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

The new preacher, busy nailing up several notices for the edification of the Wolf Passites, gave himself an impatient hitch as he stepped on the edge of his long and flowing robes, and then yanked two feet of them up through the leather polster belt he had buckled around his waist. After a last touch on a corner tack, the minister descended sedately by the teps and went his way, totally ignoring the stares of a dozen loungers. The tallest of the idlers, Crandall Felock, headed for the notice as soon as the preacher was out of sight.

He read the few lines, and then slowly and thoughtfully swore 'Vy you not read him alout?" quavered old Hasenstab.

"Spit it out!" urged an impatient chorus behind Hasenstab. "'Notice is hereby given,' read Craudall, 'that the church for select Christians will open in the Warren Building tomorrow. The gallery will be for scrubs, the first two floor lines in the rear for old people, all the rest is for select Christians only. "The common herd will be admitted to Any seat tomorrow for the first and last time. After that, a Man will either Prove up, or rise to the Gallery, unless he is old enough to sit in the back lines. "'Full explinations given on Sunday Morning next, from my pulpit at eleven (Signed.) CULP HAZZARD, D. D.' The listeners stared at each other. Then Crandall said fiercely: "What does he mean by provin' up? And what makes him think he can jam anybody up in his infernal Scrub Gallery? Explain! I reckon he had better!" This last sentence voiced the unanimous opinion of Wolf Pass. They decided in a body, much to the disgust of Al Lester, the saloonkeeper, that, merely to understand the situation thoroughly, they would attend church en masse.

"My hearers," he began in a round, resonant tone ("I do not say friends, because a stranger don't know which are to be his friends at first), you probably expect me to remark that I am glad to see you here. But I ain't got you assorted out yet, and I reckon there's amongst you that will never get no gladness connected with 'em." "There was a time," pursued the speaker, with a rich, confident intonation, "when I was just a plain, ordinary sinner. Some was even so unkind as to put extra before the ordinary. Then I had a call, an illuminatin' call, bustin' full of joy and light. I was revivified, and it became my duty to revivify othscene of his humiliation. An eager crowd assembled to watch the shooting, and a very fancy exhibi-tion took place, given by the Texan, who then turned a challenging eye on his attentive antagonist.

"Not bad," approved Hazzard, quietly. "But' now you're done markin' round inannymate things. I want you to silhouette me.'

The preacher stalked dramatically to a creen of pine boards and set his back against it. "Give us a good outline, son, and put your bullets close together." Felock raised his revolver, met the almly smiling eye fastened on him from Hazzard's composed face-and let the pistol fall to his side. "I can't," he said briefly, "I'd hit you

Then a spark of light ran slowly along the line of the eastern horizon. Someone had kindled the touchpaper of the dawn. The second mate stopped talking to watch, and sucked his pipe like a vacuum cleaner. An immediate lightening of the eastern sky was followed by a riot of gaudily beautiful color harmonies, and I understood for the time what Kipling's soldier may have meant about the dawn "coming up like thunder." Flaming orange, purple and peacock hues paled away into rose silver, apple green and violet gray as daybreak burst on the world of waters. Daylight came on almost as suddenly as it does on the stage in a theatre when they turn up the lights. And there in full view away on our port bow, her bellying canvas aflame with the sunrise as she labored in the ocean's swell, was a full-rigged ship. So suddenly we viewed her that she might have popped up like a pantomime fairy through some ocean trapdoor on a given signal. Very fairy-like she looked against the setting of the dawn, a majestic and seemingly impalpable apparition that lingered in the eye like the sound of a sweet bell echoing in the ear. Her sails, when the first blaze of dawn left them, were white as lilies, and her hull green as English meadows. The second mate was a brick-baked, thick-fingered materialist, reared on cargo tramps and more given to swearing than to poetry, but even he rose to the occasion What you might call the Spirit of the Dawn," he said, staring at her over his poised pipestem; "if I was some blamed Dago, blest if I wouldn't say my prayers

It is all very well for the Prime Minister to use smooth words about the desire for peace. For two years the people of Ulster have urged their claims upon them in season and out of season. They have turned a deaf ear to them, and treated them with contempt. The justice of their case is ot greater today than it was when the nembers for Ulster wrote a letter to the Prime Minister pointing out to him what the effect of his policy would be. He put it, I suppose, ir the waste-paper basket. He is listening now. Why? (Opposition cheers.)

Time for Trifling Has Gone. We know the difficulties of the right honorable gentleman very well. That is the position, and everyone in this House knows it is the position. (Opposition cheers.) Government had now recognized what had been pressed upon them again and again for the last two years, that the bill as it stood did not contain any substantial attraction for Ireland, and was the duty of the Government to take the initiative in making an offer and in entering into negotiation for a settlement. The first practical step in the direction indicated in the King's speech was taken six months ago by Lord Loreburn for an unconditional peace conference, and ought to have been frankly closed with by his old colleagues. (Oppoition cheers.) If the appeal either by referendum or election were successful that Government would have detached the Inionist party from the policy of civil war in Ulster, and they would have furnished themselves with the authority which he was sorry to say they did not now possess. He wished to press on the Government that the more sweeping and the more lavish the concessions they made, both for the purpose of satisfying reasonable Protestants and of federalizing the bill, the better for Ireland and for their chance of carrying the bill. He was ready or any concessions that would make th Protestant minority an invulner le power, even a governing power. ## A MODEL LOCAL OPTION HOTEL

Through the "Ingersol! Inn" Ingersol! has demonstrated that it is possible to provide first-class, up-to-date hotel accommodation in a local option district. The service given is in every respect the equal of any in the province, Toronto included, and so great has been the success of the experiment that delegations from a number of temperance conventions have visited Ingersoll in order to inspect the Inn, and have come away enthusiastic over the venture. As a result, taking the Inn as a model, it is likely that the experiment will be tried in a number of other places before long. Great Drama, "The Melting Pot."

'THE CRUCIBLE OF GOD"

World Movement of the Jews to Ancient Palestine, the Land of Freedom.

More than a year ago we called attention to Mr. Israel Zangwill's great play, "The Melting Pot," then first produced in the United States. Now it has been seen in London at the Court Theatre, where it was very finely played antidote-less condition as soon as the by the play actors.

Most of the critics of the play lose sight of the greatness of the drama-or this great modern Exodus—this worldmoving spectacle, and content themselves with petty criticism of small points, and yet, as the Daily Telegraph admitted:
"The Melting Pot" held our attention from first to last. The yignettes of a Jewish household in New York were de lightful pieces of genre painting, rich in observation and knowledge of human nature, abounding in happy strokes of humor, and mellow with sympathy. There were many clever touches of wit. The study of the feelings of an artist, a young musician of genius, about his work and the public, though it was not meant to be more than a sketch, had ome fine truth in it. All this, of course, his scheme as given in his introduction to the book form of "The Melting Pot." The Daily Chronicle on Monday was able

"According to Sir Harry Johnston," ays Mr. Zangwill, "there is hardly an the Englishman, including even the miss-ing link, as the Piltsdown skull would seem to testify. Is it wonderful if the crucible, capable of fusing such a motley of types into 'the true-born Briton,' should be melting up its Jews like old silver? Jews are, unlike negroes, a 'recessive' type whose physical traits tend to disappear in the blended offspring. There does not exist in England today a single representative of the Jewish families whom Cromwell admitted, though their lineage may be traced in not a few noble families.

"Thus every country has been and is 'Melting Pot.' But America, exhibitng the normal fusing process magnified many thousand diameters and diversified beyond all historic experience, and fed by successive waves of immigration but by a hodge-podge of simultaneous hordes, is, in Bacon's phrase, an 'ostensive instance' of a universal phenomenon. America is the 'Melting Pot.'

"Her people have already begun to take on such a complexion of its own, it is already so emphatically tending to a new race, crossed with every European type, that the British illusion of a cousinly Angle-Saxon people with whom war is unthinkable is sheer wilful blindness. Even today, while the mixture is still largely mechanical, not chemical, the Anglo-Saxon element is only prependerant; it is very far from being the sum

THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOOD

DIPHTHERIA.

Enhanced By Perfect Physical Health.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every women at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

some fine truth in it. All this, of course, is but the background to the main theme of the play, the fusion and union of races which have believed themselves hostile. But though we were from time to time reminded that Mr. Zangwill had not completely translated his problem and his solution and his prophetic faith into human actors, we found every word worth listening to. There was always hought and insight behind the play. Even at its most rhetorical it contrived to be interesting. Sometimes with a mingling of honest indignation and pathetic emotion over the wrongs of the Jew the rhetoric flamed out with tragic fire."

Let us turn from the critics of the play to Mr. Zangwill's own interpretation of
