Buffalo Capitalists Make Mr. Brener Offer for Large Hostelry.

Intention Said to Be to Erect Large Public House—Temperence Hotel Scheme Proceeds.

Another London hotel proposition, with American capital behind it, is now being considered, and it is possible that the latest venture will be the first to show anything definite.

They at once approached Mr. A. H. Brener with a proposition to purchase the City Hotel. A price was placed on the hostelry, and it was practically decided to buy the hotel. The price for the hotel was fixed at a figure between $30,000 and $40,

The details of the plans of the prospective purchasers could not be learned, but it is understood that they intend building a large hotel shortly. The present City Hotel will be utilized for the time being, and a big hostelry will then be erected. No person connected with the deal would divulge the possible site.

"This deputation means business," a hotelman informed The Advertiser. "They have the money, and are asking no favors whatever. They consider that they have a legitimate business proposition, and that it can be made paying concern. There is no doubt this sale will go through."

Some time ago, Mr. R. H. Reid, of frigersoll, was resultating for the City. Hotel, but he was unable to dispose City Hotel. When these negotiations were called off, the Buffalo capitalists got busy.

The Temperance Hotel Scheme, Mr. Harry Ryan, The Advertiser was informed, is getting ready to proceed with the erection of his temperance hotel. The necessary land has been purchased, and in the meantime plans are being prepared. Construction work will be commenced in the early spring. The New York capitalists, who have bonded the Western Hotel and the property at the rear, have not yet returned to the city. They are expected either Friday or Monday of next week, when they will bring their plans with them, it is said. Those behind the scheme declare that it will go through.

Paris, Aug. 28 .- Public speculation was intensified this morning over the fate of the French officers held as hostages by Moors at Marakesh, Morocco.

Emissaries have been dispatched to Marakesh by the French commander, but have obtained no information.

General Liautey, the French residentgovernor, reported to the foreign office today that the volunteers who had undertaken the dangerous duty had returned from El Hiba's headquarters, where they had in vain tried to effect a ransom and could not ascertain the lot of the prisoners.

The French column commanded by Col.

The proposal to ameliorate the living conditions of his compatriots, housed in shacks in the southeastern section of the city, amid conditions of the rankest squalor, made by Gregory Aristoff, has aroused a degree of interest among city officials who have struggled for such betterment for some months, and who have found police court proceedings unavailing in correcting the unhealthy state of affairs.

It was shortly after 10 o'clock when President McCready took the chair. and called the convention to order in the council chamber. At that hour many of the delegates had not yet arrived, and the balance of the forenoon was given over to an impromptu reception and introductions in the mayor's office. This afternoon the formal address of the president, reports from the secretary and treas-urer, and also extended reports from the affiliated provincial municipal unions of Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick took up the time of the delegates until four o'clock. At that hour adjournment was taken and the visitors were taken in autos to Walkerville, where an informal luncheon was tendered by Hiram Walker & Sons, followed by an inspection of the distillery. Tomorrow morning the real work will begin with the reading of technical papers on the various problems which municipalities have to contend.

Assessment Revision. The question of revision in assess-nen laws was brought before the convention at the evening session by papers on municipal taxation by Ald. papers on municipal taxation by Ald.

cities the system of exempting improvements from taxation has been the system of assessing land values. the system of assessing land values is favored by representatives of western cities, while those of the older cities in Eastern Canada in many cases are opposed to it. "The triumph of our land tax in Edmonton is shown of our land tax in Edmonton is shown by the fact that in 1906 we had building permits to the value of $1,-563,000, while in 1912, the first year all taxes other than land taxes are taken off, they were $15,500,000," said

Ald. Clark.

"The land tax in Vancouver is the principal cause of the growth of the city in recent years," said Ald. Hepburn. "The difficulty of making owners of buildings keep them in saniary condition has been greatly lessened and the tax on land has also had the effect of causing owners of vacant property to improve it."

[Entered at London Postoffice for transmission through the mails as second class matter.]

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 28. THE DAY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL. A day industrial school, beginning text. Tuesday, is to round out the food work done hitherto at night in the Alexandra School. The night classes will go on as before, and in addition there will be full time and half time classes by day for boys.

A number of firms have agreed to amploy boys every other week while they attend the alternate weeks at the school. They will not lose by the experiment, as the preparatory trade courses taught will be adapted directly to local industrial needs. Blending with the immediately practical work, some good plain general education will be provided at the same time. The idea of the school is to do for the boys entering trades and industries what the high school does for boys going into the professions.

Girls also are to be provided for. A domestic course, full time only, is announced. The usual domestic subjects, sewing, millinery, dressmaking, household science, the general economics of the home, will be taught in a thoroughly practical fashion.

The instruction is given to all without fees. A great boon is offered by the board of education, of which all concerned should avail themselves. There is no excuse now in London for starting life unequipped by adequate preparation. The response to the board's generous enterprise should be lively and willing.

Ontario is entering on a new stage of development in educational affairs. We are just beginning to do what ought to have been done long Our school system needs radical alteration, including an advance of the compulsory age limit. But the present move is a step taken in the right direction, in which the citizens should get behind the board's lead and push things to a rousing snecess. If we are to have a technical high school here we have to make a success of the tentative approach to it.

scarcity of labor. Every day is pre- comes one of practical politics. clous to the prairie farmers. Sir Wilfrid has consulted their convenience. He will tour Quebec and Ontario first, and will then go west if time permits before the opening of the session.

Sir Wilfrid will make his first visit to the vast district embraced in the riding of Temiskaming. Between North Bay and Cochrane he will find a score of hustling towns and villages not on the map ten years ago, and a considerable farming community in the pioneer conditions. Sir Wilfrid is peculiarly entitled to a warm welcome in this new north. The northern portion of it has been called into life by the the Transcontinental Railway project, which will be one of Laurier's greatest memorials. Traffic between Ontario and the West over the Grand Trunk Pacific will not only nourish the Temiskaming railway and the country served by it, but the transcontinental line itself traverses the largest portion of the Ontario clay belt, and will bring a great agricultural and lumbering development in its train. Already settlers are clearing land along the route. Not long ago the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was being roundly abused for locating the railstalled in howling wastes of snow, and George responsible for it! no local traffic would be forthcoming. Nobody talks that way today. Everyone concedes that the much-derided eastern division of the Grand Trunk Pacific will play a great part as a colonization road, besides being a new and perfect highway between the east and the west

Sir Wilfrid may well feel a personal oride at every stage of his journey through Northern Ontario. And the people of Northern Ontario will show their gratitude.

THE C. P. R.'S PROGRESS.

The annual report of the C. P. R. fust issued, is an accurate barome in of the material condition of the country. The progress of the C. P. R. is the envy of every railway corporation in every other country, and C. P. R. stock is the sensation of every bourse in the world. An idea of the growth of the system is given by a comparison covering a period of ten years as follows:

Length of track,
miles	8,646	.12,548
Freight cars	21,159	61,466
Lecomotives	745	1,820

length of time. The C. P. R. has at present 1,246 miles under construction, and is applying for an increase of $60,000,000 in its capital stock for the further extension of the system. There is some controversy over the alleged intention of the company to offer it to chareholders at $175 per share, or a hundred points less than the market price. The market price would, of course, be lower but for this expectation; it is absurd to suppose the company could get $275 for each share in an open market. That is an artificial price, in anticipation of the process. It is "melon-cutting" of undoubted advantage to this country that the C. P. R., by such an expedient can depend upon getting unlimited money for development. Parliament can, of course, safeguard the public in granting the company's application by providing that such

MRS. GUPPY'S PROTEST.

[London Daily News.] Mrs. Septima D. Robinson Guppy, o "Broadlands," New Malden, Surrey, who discharged all her servants, eight in number, as "a protest against the insurance act," has found a new means of evasion. Mrs. Guppy, who has hitherto beel doing all the housework and the gar den work herself, has now engaged servant under the age of fifteen, and she has also secured the services of a man just over 70 years of age, in respect of whom she understands obligation rests upon her to pay the insurance tax.

Mrs. Guppy is now trying to obtain the services of another man over 70 years of age to act as her coachman, and when she has succeeded in doing so, she states that if any accident way in what was described as a sub-should happen in consequence of the Arctic region, where trains would be man's age, she will hold Mr. Lloyd She is greatly assisted in the house and garden work by her two little Toronto Globe: Speculation will-continue till Mr. Borden returns to Canada. In the meanwhile the Lib-eral party stands, as it stood a year ago, for the construction of vessels to be owned by Canada, manned by Can-adians, and stationed in time of peace on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts the Dominion. Mr. Borden must eventually return to that safe and sane position. Mr. Foster and he laid wn themselves three years ago in the House of Commons. They have been very much at sea on the navy question ever since their alliance with Bourassa's anti-British Nationalists, who forced them to swallow their convictions. As the breach with Bouras-sa widens, so will the real views of the Conservative leaders on the question of naval defence once more emerge. Australia's defence by land and water is under control of the Australian Parliament. Are Canadians less capable of managing their own affairs that they should "hire" their naval defence?

HERE'S A FRANK OBITUARY. [Marquette, Kan., Tribune.]

CANADA AND IMPERIAL POLITICS. [Toronto Globe.]
A close examination of the situation created by Mr. Borden's utterances in London will dispel the fatuous optimism of those who urge immediate organic union between Canada and Britain—a union for which either country is at present prepared. THE ANCHOR. Acts, xxvii 29—Heb., vi., 19. Wisely the anchors had been cast, fiercely blew the winter blast, And piercing was the cold; The tempest held terrific sway, But sailors heard the captain say: "Thank God, the anchors hold!"

Then, after many fruitful years, There came that tempest which ap pears, When doubt its gloom unfolds;

But in that storm of fear and dread In clearest tones, that captain said:
"Thank God, the Anchor holds!" And later, when all aid was vain,

He knew the mystery of pain, Which human life unfolds; Just as his ransomed spirit fled, In lowly confidence he said; "Thank God, the Anchor holds."

By loss and pain and flame and flood, The One who is supremely good His chosen people molds; And safe in His safekeeping they, nid the fiercest storms can say, "Thank God, the Anchor holds."

-T. Watson, Iona Station, Ont., 1912. A MINISTER WHO IS A MENACE.

[Toronto Saturday Night.]
Many members of his own party have wondered why Right Hon. R. L. Borden resolved to take Hon. Sam Hughes into his cabinet, and with each public utterance by that erratic and noisy politician the wonder grows, That the Minister of Militia of this Dominion should so far depart from common sense and political discretion as to make the speech that he vociferated at Vancouver recently, is, to seemed to wallow and revel in thought of a coming war between Great Britain and Germany, at a time when every sound statesman in both these great countries is using all his influence to quell fire-brands and belligerents. That wars can be made by talking about them is unquestion-ably and deplorably true, and persons like Col. Hughes, are constantly who, "seeking red," constitute a public menace, . . . Why dig out the old story of the Kaiser's telegram to Kruger, when all the recent utterances of that sovereign have been pacific? Personally, Col. Hughes ought to be like the Kaiser, for that distinguished man has in the past shown certain resemby his own ministers not so very long the inn where it took "lace and filled ago. But when Col. Montreal, Aug. 27.—"Thanks to the work of a scientific profession, which the medical profession now is, tuberculosis in Canada, especially in the west, is on the decline," said Sir James Alexander Grant, M.D., of Ottawa, one of the most noted specialists in tuber-culosis in the world, soon after his arrival here today, after a two-months tour of the west as far as Victoria, which he stood well despite his 81 ears.

Skakespeare Tells His Secret

(By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

At last the secret is out! Why did we never guess it before? Why did not Sir Durning-Lawrence and other eminent Baconian guessers hit upor the real solution of the Shakespeare mystery? It seems so simple, after you pluck the heart out of that mystery which has bothered earnest souls for nearly three centuries. But we had to wait,-America had to wait,-England had to wait until "Talks with the Dead" were recorded by Mr. John Lobb, a prominent educationalist of London, England, and a Freeman of the Loriner's Company and the Blacksmiths' Company of the same old town. Mr. Lobb, through a medium, we may suppose, says he has been talking with Shakespeare, and the immortal William delivered up to him the secret of the authorship of those plays so often assigned to Bacon.

Not to keep you in suspense any longer, dear reader, let me inform you that Shakespeare's spirit gave Mr. Lobb to understand that he (William S.) actor and man-about-town, was not responsible for the style of those dramas. "To me," confided the spirit to the attentive Mr. Lobb, "It seems as much a wonder that my name should have been rendered immortal, as it does to others. If I had received any special advantages, any extraordinary education I should, perhaps, have been brought to think that these advantages were the cause of my immortal fame; but in starting life I did not have the advantages of a classical education; my knowledge of the ancients was ab solutely nil. I was spiritually controlled; I was never myself either in acting or writing.

"Every word of King Lear I wrote hearing the words audiently. Coriolanus was another play I wrote after my retirement from London; I wrote this hearing it clairaudiently. The Merry Wives of Windsor was written through my land, in nearly illegible characters. I had been with Drayton and Ben Jonson, having a social glass together, and after our carousal, blances to him in temperament, and glass together, and after our carousal, for that reason had to be disciplined for it finished with one, I stopped at from 2 a. m. to 4:35.. . . ."

Shakespeare was foxy enough to keep his secret from Ben Jonson and the others. "I was thoroughly controlled when I wrote," he says, "and when anyone came in at any time befere I was restored to consciousness, they would be struck, and pass re-IS ON THE DECLINE self, but I dare not mention it; I was extremes, a sensitive, a term which embraces all eccentricities of a soul tabernacled in clay." When he was asked by the curious Lobb why he did not tell anyone of the spirit-authorship of his plays, the ethereal Shakespeare made reply, "Had I done so my head would have been off within a week." Which was, in good sooth, a ery strong reason for keeping silence. Shakespeare's spirit also informed

Mr. Lobb that he is now living in the same sphere with Drayton and Ben Joi:son. "Pope the eccentric, gloomy scul is with us. Cardinal Wolsey also is one of our sphere. Byron is not with us, nor Shelley or Coleridge, but I have heard of them. There is one whom I do not think you have heard of-I mean Robert Southey; I love him. Isaac Newton is in a sphere above ours. Those whom men consider the least on earth, are often the highest in God's kingdom, and on the proudest pinnacle. It is only the nan who will be spiritually received or acknowledged. We have listened to melodies of some of the greatest musical composers in our spheres. We have also got artists, sculptors; and the greatest architect, Sir Christopher Wren, is also with us." Raleigh, Bacon, and Benvenute Cellini are also in Shakespeare's sphere, according to Lobb.

If this story is true, all I can say is that I fancy Shakespeare must have got into touch with Lobb, because he is so tired of hearing from fresh ar-rivals in his sphere of the tremendous efforts of the Baconians to get rashers of Bacon, pir pork, etc. out of his plays. The labors of Sir Durning-Lawrence, Bart, must have aggravated the immortal tard into entrust ing Lobb with his intelligence. How Bacon must have been enjoying all those cipher jokes of his idolators all these years, and how he must have rubbed them into gentle William! Well, we are grateful to Mr Lebb for writing this epoch-making We may sincerely hore that book. We may sincerely here that he will send complimentary copies to Sir Durning and his ciphering breth ren, so that we may hear no more of the business. Shakespeare has confessed at last, and the cat is out of

Fill a buttered pudding dish with alternate layers of corn and tomatoes, and season between the layers with butter, pepper and salt to taste. Put a pie crust over the top and bake in moderate oven for fifteen minutes if canned materials are used, and half an hour if fresh vegetables are employed. In the latter case keep the pie cover-ed with a plate for the first fifteen minutes of baking; then remove the covering and let it bake uncovered until finished. Should no pie crust be at hand, bread crumbs may be used instead. Cover the top of the pie with these and brown the slightly be-

ARCHERY FOR GRACE

One of the oldest of out of door games is being revived by the lovers of sport and perfect condition. No game that has ever enjoyed favor has given more litheness of limb, grace of gesture or directness of sight to the female. There is a great deal of sentiment about the bow.

At one time archery was the pride of England, for through its means Britain won many battles. To us the sentiment is more of sorrow and sympathy, for the Indians used the bow and arrow as their principal weapon. Many of us are familar with the tales of warfare and terror which have been the personal experiences of our ancestors when they fought the Indians for the possession of this coun-

It was over a month before he became sufficiently exasperated to do this. I, of course, learned of his every move through a young woman, he maid Gabrielle, whom I had introduced into his house as a servant. I dealt with this woman, however, only as Girard-she did not know me as Duvail, hence, in order to get her assistance in the latter capacity. I was obliged to terrify her by informing her that I knew all about her connection with Girard.

"I learned from her the morning of my dirst visit to the Count D'Este's house that the latter had determined to call in the police, and 1 at once went to him as Clirard, and told him, as you know, to place the money in the library that night. The Prefect rose in his chair, and, going up to Girard, placed his hand upon his shoulder. "You think all the was composed of time of armaments, and spend half your revenue upon them; we think of railways and canals." He did not that England could be in danger. Sir Arthur Lawley, who was the last speaker, after some complimentary respeaker. erences to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, said that Europe was one vast armed camp. Germany was the first military and the second naval power of the world she was straining every nerve to increase her efficiency as a fighting machine; she was doing all this with no visible purpose. Viewing these circumstances, Sir Arthur Lawley said:

"In spite of what has been said this afternoon, I find it difficult to escape the conviction that at any moment England may be embarked on a struggle of colossal magnitude, in which her very existence will be at stake. A continental war, whatever the duration, whatever the issue, evently have a paralyzing effect on Canternal war. would have a paralyzing effect on Can-would have a paralyzing effect on Canada."

After a reference to the Asiatic danger, he said: "After the manner of our kind, we don't heed this; it is so much more comfortable to prattle about the era of perfect peace on which we have embarked, or on which we are about to embark. I am not quite certain which." Perhaps man had utterly sloughed off his primitive combative instincts; perhaps it was impossible in the twentieth century for European nations to submit questions to the arbitrament of the sword. "That," said Sir Arthur Lawley, "is the fashionable prattle of the day."

In point of fact, the most potent factor for peace today was the British navy. The more its power of offence was augmented the more its efficacy for maintaining the peace of the world was increased.

GOODNESS GRACIOUS, AGNES, LONDON WON TWO BALL GAMES ALL IN THE SAME AFTERNOON

Manager Barrett's Blokes Bunched Hits in the First Game and Won Easily-Sammy Smith Scored a Shut-Out in the Second Game-Both Teams Played Good Ball and Fielded Well.

[BY JINX.]

Mr. Barrett and his recently retreating band of brigands put over a good stroke of business at the local ball premises yesterday afternoon when they managed to transfer a perfectly up-to-date, alive-and-kicking slump into the hands of one, Rubenus Deneau, large and lofty leader of a flock of delirious Dutchmen. It requires a vivid stretch of the imagination to realize such a startling fact, but nevertheless it is, as "Honey Boy" Evans would say, a "stirrin" reality" that the Indians humbled the Deneau Dyaks in succession in the same bill, and boosted their stock about 30 per cent in the estimation of the natives of the news spreads as far as St. Thomas the natives of that hamlet will go into mourning. The Indians' double win put them a few points farther ahead of the Section Hands, and it looks as though the Stewart aggregation is doomed for the second division.

A Real Bail Club Now.

To be brief, London beat Berlin twice in yesterday's double-header. They pulered the opening joust by the score of 2 to 7, and copped the good-evening pasm by the score of 4 to 0. Incidentity, they gave an imitation of a real who had been pitching great ball previous to that, for five successive bingles. Hessberger doubled to lead off with, and scored on Matteson's single. Burns, Hartwell and Nickells each landed on one of Reitzman's choice ones, the last-named overdoing it for two pillows, while Matteson, Burns and Hartwell counted.

A Big inoing.

In the fourth inning the Indians made seven hits and six runs, and chased the eminent youngster, Bradshaw, to the woods. Cocash doubled and Fox singled, Kelliher walked, but Neale scored Cocash with a timely bingle to right. Speer followed with a single to left, and Fox counted. Fitzpatrick then surprised the throng by doubling to deep centre and

Two Fast Games.

Both games were god ones, the first one developing into a swat-the-pill affair after the second inning, but the second one was a pitchers' battle between Smith and Beatty, in which the former, backed up by great support, pushed the other off the boards. He allowed more hits, but they came at a time when they were of little use.

Reitzman and Bradshaw started out with the very best of intentions in the first game, but neither linguage.

Reitzman and Bradshaw started out with the very best of intentions in the first game, but neither lingered long, Reitzman getting his in the second and the kid tasting until the fourth, when a fullilade of hits on the part of the home folks proved his undoing.

Fitzpatrick went in to replace Reitzman, and Deneau undertook to place the reasonsibilities of the Dutch on his own shoulders. In the sixth he Beest ted it up and made it 7 all, but in the seventh the Indians put a dinge in Deneau's notion that he can pitch, and five runs were the result. Following that the was a valik away, and the locals were never in danger.

The second game was much less boisterous than the first. Both Beatty and Smith pitched good ball. Sammy allowed with two more in the first pame, and chased Reitzman to the barns. They hit Fitzpatrick utrifle, but he kept the bingles betterous than the first. Both Beatty and Smith pitched good ball. Sammy allowed with the bases full.

Beatty held the locals without a hit or run until the fourth inning. In this linning Gilhooley made the circuit after singling to centre and being helped around by Fox's single and Neale's long sacrifice fig.

Two more runs came in the fifth. Linneburn was safe on Burns' mult of his long fig. and Blerbauer was given a walk. Gilhooley fouled to Buflock, but the bases were filled. Fox then delivered another single, this time to left, and Linneburn was safe on Burns' mult of his long fig. And Blerbauer was given and Linneburn was safe on Burns' mult of his long fig.

Both contests were marked by some sharp fielding and hitting by both sides. The locals played with new life, and some nice fielding stunts were pulled off by Gilhooley. Fox, Kelliher and the out-field, Linneburn had the visitors' ingoods, despite the Rube's deciaration it was "the same old story."

Linneburn had the visitors' infield throwing the ball all over the infield trying to catch him steeling a base, and his fleet-footedness was easily a feature of both games.

Some Foul Tips and a Few Liners

Oskee Neale made four hits yesterday. It would simply tickle us to death to Now what do you know about that? They were all clean bingles too. in stolen bases. It is a queer game that they do not get three or four of them. In the double-header yesterday they snatched six sacks. Linneburn is easily the best on the paths, although Bier-bauer, Cacash and Gilhooley are close up.

Sammy Smith complained of a sore arm during the game yesterday. He should have a sore arm all the time if that is the brand of ball he can serve up. The Dutchmen had on their hitting clothes in the first game, and chased Reitzman to the barns. They hit Fitzpatrick a trifle, but he kept the bingles separated. This lad is a pretty handy man to have about.

Bradshaw, the infant prodigy, got his in clusters in the first engagement. Rube Deneau, who used to pitch when Methu-saleh was a kid, finished the fracas.

Fox is hitting now, and is showing improved form all through. If this lad ever learns to take an interest in the game there will be no stopping him. "Dad" Stewart was in the city last evening arranging for the post-series between the Saints and the Tecumsehs. The boys are enthusiastic over the prospects, and if they show the brand of ball exhibited yesterday during the remaining games, they should get a number of

The Tecumsehs are showing signs or getting over their slump, and look better than for some time. When they try there is some hope for them.

Red Isaacs had a chance to work for a minute yesterday in Toronto. He looked pretty good to the bunch there.

It is to be hoped that the team finishes with a percentage of more than 500. Less than that looks bad. Talking of regular slumps, what do you think of the Tigers? They are slipping for further orders.

Kelliher has not found his batting eye, but he is putting up a brilliant fielding game. He looks like a comer.

"The Arrival of Kitty." "The Arrival of Kitty," which will be seen at the Grand on Friday and Saturday nights, and Saturday matinee, at special prices, is one of those choice bits of comedy wherein every line of which there is clean humor, catchy sayings and clever hits, and while there is not a large cast of players, each one is a star in his or her part, and this season the company is composed largely of the originators of each of the parts when the production was made six years ago. Fiske O'Hara, who played here last January to standing room only will present a new Irish romantic play, "The Rose of Kildare," at the Grand, Labor Day, Monday next, Sept, 2, matinee and night. In this play O'Hara will give an excellent picture of life as it was in the Emerald Isle during the days of the Irish rebellion in 1798, one of the most exciting per-iods in the history of the country. It was a time in which the young country gentleman raised his own horses, and raced them, too. If he couldn't raise his hunter over a six-foot wall in a 'cross-country race, and didn't like to fight a duel at least once a month, he was not considered fit company. Such was the period in which Messrs. Paulton and Bradley have placed the action of their play. There is an abundance of good, wholesome fun, and O'Hara has the best budget of songs he has yet presented to an audience Seats Friday.

Vandals Desecrate Graves, Despoiling Beds and Removing Bulbs and Plants.

Complaints have been made to the caretakers of different cemeteries of late concerning a species of vandalism that the officials of the buryinggrounds intend to prevent. It is alleged that for some time it has been found impossible to maintain flower beds on certain graves because of the fact that plants of different kinds and

The matter has been brought to the attention of the caretakers of Woodland Cemetery, where it is claimed several similar annoying acts have been committed. The desceration of graves is a very serious offence, and should any of the offenders be located prosecutions may follow.

REAL ABILITY WINS OVER MERE BEAUTY

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN TESTIFY THAT BEAUTY IS ONLY "SELL-ING PLATER" IN LIFE'S RACE.

Wise Doctor Gives Postum to Convalescents.

A wise doctor tries to give nature its best chance by saving the little strength of the already exhausted patient, and building up wasted energy with simple but powerful nourishment. "Five years ago," writes a doctor, "I commenced to use Postum in my own family instead of coffee. "I was so well pleased with the results that I had two grocers place it in stock, guaranteeing its sale.

"I then commenced to recommend it to my patients in place of coffee, as a nutritious beverage. The consequence is, every store in town is now selling."
