The Work on the Resurfacing of Dundas and Richmond Streets Will Be Rushed.

ST. RAILWAY PROCEEDS

Company's Share of the Work Will Be Completed in Time for the Asphalt

To Go Down.

The Barber Asphalt Company will start work on Dundas street next week.

A representative of the firm will be in the city Friday and Saturday to complete arrangements necessary, and early in the coming week a large number of men will be put to work getting the streets in shape.

By that time the City Gas Company will be through with their work, and the London street railway will have completed the special work at the corner, and also Dundas, east of Richmond. Tintin will give the Barber Company plenty of time to keep them going for a time.

"I have received word that one of the representatives of the company will be in the city Friday or Saturday," City Engineer Wright stated today. "We will arrange the details of the work, and I expect that they will start on the pavements early in the week. I am anxious to get it under way as soon as possible, as we must have the streets finished at

There is no question they are badly needed, and City Engineer Wright is of the opinion that they could be put down with the new pavement in a most satisfactory way.

However, we may not be able to do that this summer," he stated. "It will be a month before the council can pass the necessary bylaws, and then there will be other delays. That will bring the time too late for this year. I do not Finlay Marshall was named to take the question up, and report as to cost, etc.

LONDON UNIVERSITY
SHOULD BE ASSISTEDVice-Chancellor Moorehouse Says Western Has Hold on Government.

MEDICAL CONVOCATION

Degrees Conferred on New Batch of Doctors at the Auditorium Yesterday.

"I, doctor of medicine, a title now to be conferred on me, solemnly promise, in the presence of the Holy God, the searcher of hearts, to do with a grateful heart everything to fulfill the interests of this university as long as I live."

"That when distance separates me from my alma mater, I shall exercise the medical art with caution and reason, and do all things tending to the curing of the sick."

"Lastly, I agree to be silent upon what I have seen and heard, and to make public only what urgent necessity demands. May God aid me in carrying out this oath."

At the annual medical convocation of the Western University, which was held yesterday afternoon in the Auditorium, with Vice-Chancellor Dr. Moorehouse presiding, 23 newly-fledged doctors of medicine took the hypocratic oath, which was read by Dr. Ferguson, and received their degrees at the hands of Dr. Moorehouse.

The venerable vice-chancellor, in a brief address, which opened the proceedings of the afternoon, spoke of the 29 years of successful work accomplished by the medical department since its institution, until it has grown from ten students in the beginning to the enrollment of the past year, which was 129.

In the 29 years of its growth and development the Medical College has sent out to the world nearly four hundred graduates. He referred to the denominational character of the Western University, in which there is no church ascendancy, and all creeds and churches have equal privileges and rights. He with others hoped that ere long there would be added to the faculties of arts and medicine a new faculty of law.

A Toronto Peculiarity.
He spoke of the peculiar attraction of the city of Toronto, which makes all legislators of Ontario come to see from her viewpoint just so soon as they have become members of the Government or the cabinet. While the Western University was clamoring for assistance, the Hygienic Institute was thrown out to it as a sop, but without money to run it on the necessary equipment, it was of no use.

Now some provision has at length been made to carry on the work it was intended to do, but as yet it has been of no practical benefit to the arts department, for which help is so much desired.

"We have a right to assistance from the public chest," said Dr. Moorehouse. "It is to the multiplication of universities in the United States and Germany that these countries owe their great progress in recent years in all departments of the arts and sciences."

To the young men attending their degrees, Dr. Moorehouse pointed out that they had only barely entered upon the threshold of their life-work, and he exhorted them to be persevering and earnest in the pursuit of their calling.

The Valedictory.
Dr. Cyril G. Imrie, the valedictorian of the graduating class, was greeted enthusiastically by the other students, when he appeared on the platform. He compared the rigorous course of the medical curriculum with the stern task of mountain-climbing, and expressed the regret of the class at parting from their alma mater, from the faculty of their college, and from their class and college mates. After creating some amusement at the expense of the class of 1914, he addressed some parting remarks to the members of the sophomore and junior years. His address was bright and scintillating with humor and witticisms.

Dr. Weekes, who replied on behalf of the faculty, made a few remarks, and then gave some good advice to the graduating class, whom he counseled to be contented at all times, to never let a day go by without a child to never tell all they know; to keep well but not foppishly dressed, and to be always on their job.

"If you have any spare time," he said, "keep in or near your office—especially in the early years of your practice—you may be called when the other 28 are out."

Degrees Conferred.
After the oath had been administered to the graduating class by Dr. Ferguson, the students were introduced by Dr. Eccles to the vice-chancellor, who conferred the degrees, while the diplomas were awarded by Dr. Waugh.

The special prizes were then presented, the gold medal going to Dr. Cyril G. Imrie and the silver medal to Dr. S. Duncan.

Rev. Richard Whiting, B. A., of the First Methodist Church, delivered the baccalaureate address, in which he referred to the evidences of camaraderie which existed between the graduating class and the students of the other years. Good-naturedly he handled repartee with the students at the rear, who interpolated his remarks with impromptu humor of their own.

"To the graduating class, with the help of the highest in you." As an example worthy for them to follow in their profession he mentioned them of Dr. McClure in Ian MacLaren's story.

The convocation was quieter and less eventful than previous years, very little interruption being made in the proceedings by the undergraduates.

The Graduates.
The new graduates of medicine are:

HOTELS WILL ACT
AS THEY SEE FIT

No Uniformity in Regard to Rates in London.

There was no meeting of the Hotel-keepers' Association last night, although it was announced that it would be held to discuss hotel rates and liquor prices.

It is understood that no further effort will be made to get them together to discuss this question, every hotel-keeper making his own rates, both for rooms as well as for liquors in the future.

"We have made efforts to get the proprietors together for mutual protection," said a hotelman to The Advertiser. "However, it is impossible to do anything with them, and as it stands now, every hotelkeeper will make his own prices, and there will be no uniformity of rates so far as I can see. Two or three meetings have been held, but we could not get the men to agree. We intend holding a session just now, but after looking the situation over carefully, the committee in charge came to the conclusion that it would be a waste of time, and so we let it go by default. Every hotelman will now charge whatever he thinks his clientele will stand."

HARRIS—GLEED

A Popular Couple Wedded in West London.

At 6 o'clock, Wednesday, May 3, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Gled, 21 Alexandra street, when their youngest daughter, Mabel, was married to Charles Harris, of Ottumwa, Iowa, formerly of this city.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of The Advertiser.

After reading the comment of Mr. Smallman, re city hall, I think he is certainly right. The city hall should not be sold, and if the vote was to be taken again it would not pass. I have heard a great number say if they had to vote again they would vote to retain it. I think it is the proper place for it. You source even say the city hall except right in the business centre. I feel sure if we build a city hall by the time everything is settled it will cost us half a million dollars, and I am not the only one that thinks that. I went down under the city hall some time ago to see what kind of foundation it had, and I must say I would carry two stories more if needed. I spoke to an alderman and told him what I thought. He said he would add to the same height as Smallman & Ingram's, and we could have an up-to-date building for say $2,000,000. We could have plenty of room and a very nice hall. I should like someone to tell me where there would be a better one for the population of the city. I think the aldermen of this city would have the hearty thanks and blessing of the bulk of the ratepayers if they would vote to retain the city hall should not be sold. The taxes don't come down any. We have very near the same rate as last year, and I am sure that the added assessments, the rates are getting too high to get people here, and what will it be with the cost of a new city hall and a new council house every year? I think there should be a meeting of the citizens called before the next council meeting and get an expression of the citizens' opinion in the city that there was last January, as we are aware it was only a small vote anyway that was polled. Lots of people who were opposed to it did not take the trouble to vote, feeling sure it would not carry.

SUFFOCATED LITTLE ONES
Father, Insane Through Wife's Death, Kills Their Children.

Boston, May 4.—It was a pitiful sight which the police officers came upon when they entered the home of Thomas Haggerty, aged 37, of Roxbury. On one bed in a room filled with gas, lay the bodies of three children, all suffocated together as if in sleep. In fact, the officers said that except for the almost overwhelming smell of gas in the room there was nothing to indicate a tragedy.

The three girls, whose mother died only a short time ago, were Margaret, aged ten years, Marie, seven and Anna, four.

Their father walked down the street last night, and meeting some friends, made the statement that his three children were dead at home; that he had killed them by turning on the gas.

They were further engaged in conversation while one of those present communicated with the police. Following their visit to his home he was placed under arrest.

It is believed that the recent loss of his wife has unbalanced his mind.

WESTERN FAIR MIDWAY
WILL BE A BIG ONEThere Will Be Fifty Shows This Year Says Secretary
Hunt.

There will be fifty shows on the Midway of the Western Fair this September.

At a meeting of the attraction committee held last night, contracts for furnishing entertainments for the Midway were closed with Mr. Henry Meyerhauff, of New York City.

By the terms of the agreement, he must furnish at least 20 large shows, and 25 smaller attractions. Mr. Meyerhauff stated that the number would exceed that.

The plans of the grounds were submitted to Mr. Meyerhauff. There will be two streets. One will run from the rear of the administration building to the south side of the grounds. The other will be the usual Midway. There will be shows and attractions on all sides.

"We will have a number of fine shows," declared Secretary Hunt. Mr. Meyerhauff has contracted to furnish at least 20 large ones and 25 smaller attractions. These will all be good, moral shows, up to the best standard. Mr. Meyerhauff wants some person to go to New York and inspect the list of the shows ready as yet, but I will have them in a short time. There will be several bands in connection with these shows, and it looks very good.

Detroit Goes Through Workout With St. Louis Outfit.

WILLIS MAKES Southpaw With Browns Figure Big League Feet for First and Losses 5 to 2.

St. Louis, May 2.—The Tigers went to Sportsman Park this afternoon to fight the St. Louis Browns, and won through their daily practice with the Browns. Willis, the St. Louis pitcher, was picked up another victory and got other southpaw a trimming by a 5 to 2 score.

A young twirler named Willis, from the outfit, was the star of the game. He pitched the fastest ball in the league, and the fastest bunch in the league. It was for this reason that the Tigers seemed to have little trouble in winning. This may have been the result of the playing of the game, for today they played a fast game, and at times gave the crowd a good support.

Willis pitched his third game for the Tigers, and the third of his career. Although he lacks a victory, a good control, it was impossible for the Browns to get on him as the Sox and Naps have.

But Four Singles.
All the hits made off Willis were singles, but there were only four. The Browns were good for more than one hit.

VANDALS DESTROYED THE SCHOOL GARDENS

Police Will Endeavor to Bring the Guilty Parties to Justice.

Dr. Wyckoff, chairman of No. 2 committee of the board of education, is after the vandals who destroyed the garden at the Chesley Avenue School last night. A clue to the perpetrators of the outrage has been obtained, and it is probable that arrests may be made in a few days.

The children at the school have nearly fifty gardens. The board of education has encouraged this, and as a result they have reached a high state of perfection.

For some time the scholars have been working on the gardens planting the seed and the rest of it, and had just completed them.

Last night, however, some person went into the Chesley Avenue School and deliberately destroyed more than half of them.

"It is an outrage," declared Dr. Wyckoff. "The children of Chesley Avenue School had secured the finest gardens one could wish to see, and it is a pity that they should be destroyed. We have an idea who did it, and we are going to get them."

"We cannot stand for this."

Part of Queen's Park May Be Used for the Purpose.

An agitation is being started for more playgrounds in the East End of the city.

Mr. James Stevenson, parole officer of the city, is of the opinion that land should be secured at once in that section for playgrounds, and also suggests that Queen's Park be properly fitted up for the boys and girls.

There are not sufficient playgrounds in the city for the boys and girls," he stated to The Advertiser.

"This is particularly true in the East End, where the growth in population is so rapid that we should have more playgrounds. Now is the time to set aside grounds for this purpose, and I am of the opinion that the city council should do something along this line. They can secure suitable grounds at reasonable expense now. Queen's Park should be properly equipped so that the children could enjoy themselves."

It is probable that something will be done along this line very soon.

EAST END BOYS IN POLICE COURT

Lads Are Alleged to Have Acted in a Disorderly Manner.

At this morning's session of the police court Deputy Magistrate Graydon put four East End boys in the sweat-box, and made them tell the names of six other boys who had said they were concerned in disorderly acts. Warrants will be issued at once for the other six boys, and in the meantime the four boys who were charged today were enlarged for a week.

The evidence given by P. C. Frysh was to the effect that on the night of April 27 he saw a crowd of boys, between the ages of ten and fifteen, loitering at the corner of Cabell avenue and Rectory street, making use of the most vile and filthy expressions. Men and women, he said, were passing at the time. He could not tell, owing to the darkness who the youths were who used the language, but had secured the names of the four in court. One at first gave a wrong name. Later he gave the correct name. All of the boys stated that they did not use the language.

"Well, who did," asked the court. "If you don't tell me, I will send you to jail. I will have to tell what I know to the court," said one lad, who was in the box.

All the boys were then asked for names, and gave six.

The East London Businessmen's Association will hold their opening meeting on Monday. Several big things are contemplated by the businessmen of the East End for the coming season in addition to the big picnic which is anticipated. The association will have no power to use the school money for such a purpose. Any public school supporter may obtain an opinion as to the propriety of the appropriation of the school funds. Consult a solicitor.

Miss MacLaren, a member of the club, stands an excellent chance of winning it this year, so that from the standpoint of dramatic talent, Miss Anglin is much interested with London and its possibilities.

"I am always glad to come to Canada," she said, "and I am always glad to receive a royal welcome, and am always greeted by appreciative audiences. I liked London when I was here before, and I am sure I will like it even better this time."

She is interested in the London Dramatic Club, which she will be remembered that the first medal given by her for the best actress in the world, a dramatic competition was won by a London girl, Miss Patti MacLaren.

Miss MacLaren, a member of the club, stands an excellent chance of winning it this year, so that from the standpoint of dramatic talent, Miss Anglin is much interested with London and its possibilities.

"I am always glad to come to Canada," she said, "and I am always glad to receive a royal welcome, and am always greeted by appreciative audiences. I liked London when I was here before, and I am sure I will like it even better this time."

Mr. H. Reeves-Smith, another favorite actor of Londoners, is with her company.

He expects to return on Friday night.

Went Up in Smoke.

The balloon did not go up at Hillcrest yesterday afternoon. Rather, it went up in smoke. A young lady was to have gone up in the balloon, but a few moments before the time for her to make the ascension, the silk folds in the basket caught fire, and the balloon was completely destroyed, and the ascension had to be called off.

Building Permits.

Building permits are moving slowly so far this month, very few having been issued up to the present time, due to the fact that the city has no money to issue permits, and a large amount of small amounts. Three were issued today, one to W. A. Reid for a two-story brick residence on Cynthia street, to cost $2,000; one to T. Short, one-story frame on Oak street, to cost $900.

Police Court.

At this morning's session of the police court, Louis Gullott, a drunk, who has been on remand for a couple of days to sober up, was allowed to go on probation, to go straight to work.

Samuel Zimmerman, a Hebrew peddler, who was going around without the numbers properly painted on his wagon, was ordered to pay 50 cents costs and warned not to do it again. A Masar, charged with carrying a fruit peddler without a license by Inspector McCallum, wanted to settle his case out of court. He was given a fine of 50 cents, and the case was dismissed.

When you get caught, you get caught. The case will be heard later.

CONTROL OF CABLE RATES

British Govt. Moving to Prevent Monopoly by American Combine.

London, May 4.—The Government is taking steps to obtain certain powers of control over the rates for transatlantic cable messages and by other means to secure British interests from any possible disadvantage, resulting from the working arrangement between the Anglo-American Cable Companies and the Western Union Telegraph Company, which was concluded Wednesday. Postmaster-General Samuel, replying to a series of questions in the House of Commons, said that the agreement would not result in cable communications between America and England being entirely dependent upon the operations of an American combine.

In a statement issued last night, Theo. N. Vall, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, said an agreement had been reached between the Western Union and Anglo-American companies, by which the cables of the two companies will be worked interchangeably, but that the details of the arrangements will not be made public until they have been submitted to the shareholders for ratification. He declares that the ownership of the Anglo-American Company will not be affected.

The conditions of the agreement, adds Mr. Vall, provide that the British postmaster-general will practically control the rates charged by the company, thereby assuring that they will be reasonable, and that the postoffice has under consideration a scheme for deferred service at modified rates.

THOROUGH PROBE

members be appointed to inquire into and investigate the charges and allegations set forth and referred to in the statement of the Prime Minister made in this House on Friday, the 28th day of April last, and the charges and allegations set forth and referred to in the statements of Hon. Mr. Oliver, Minister of the Interior, and the Prime Minister, made in this House on Tuesday, the 2nd day of May instant.

The Premier Replies.
Sir W. Wood, in refusing to accept the amendment, said that Mr. Borden's proposal would not be fair to Mr. Oliver. It was true that he had quoted from the article in the Toronto Telegram when he drew the matter to the attention of the House. However, he did that simply in order to let the House know that there was no direct charge against Mr. Oliver. He was at liberty to go ahead and make them. Up to that time, no general statements had been made. The following day, however, the Toronto World contained an insinuation. While no direct charge was made by the World, it was something tangible. The moment a specific insinuation had been made, Mr. Borden had no right to say there was any ground for the insinuation. He was prepared to show that there was no foundation for it. Mr. Borden had said there was a suspicion as to the source of the funds placed in the bank, but he would ask the House to judge whether it would be just to investigate the man in the way he proposed. He admitted that it might possibly come from one hundred legitimate sources, and yet would inquire into the matter in the manner proposed. What Mr. Borden desired was authority to fish for evidence. He would ask Mr. Oliver a negative. He would ask the Minister of Interior to go into the box and prove his own innocence in the face of the well-known rule that a man was innocent until it was proved that he was guilty.

Hon. Mr. Foster said there was no authority for the statement that the Toronto World had made an insinuation. Two statements had been placed side by side, but that did not constitute a direct allegation. The charge which the Premier asked the House to investigate was, therefore, one which Mr. Oliver had framed himself. The only charge in which the country was really interested was that made by Mr. McGillicuddy to the Premier, in which he stated that Mr. Oliver was a hoodler and a knave. The charge had been made by a friend and a former beneficiary of the Government.

Mr. Oliver's Statement.
Hon. Frank Oliver began his statement of interest to the House and the country was the question as to how those who were charged with public responsibilities discharged those responsibilities.

He declared that he was not trying to shirk investigation. The article in the Toronto Telegram did not allude to him specifically, therefore it was not for him to act. There had been an allusion to the Prime Minister; therefore, it was the duty of the Prime Minister to take cognizance of it. But the Toronto World had specifically connected his name with an insinuation, and the question as to how related to an important administrative act, for which he was primarily responsible, and he thought it was only right that the country should know and have the earliest opportunity of knowing what foundation there was for the insinuation.

"I have been at the head of the interior department for the last six years," said Mr. Oliver, "and in that time, to say that I have been guilty of administrative acts involving values of large and small amounts, which might be laid under contribution for political purposes, or for any other purposes, either private or political. Now, I want to say that so far as I am concerned, although the notion before the House has reference to a special case, the only case with which my name has been specifically connected, I court inquiry and the fullest inquiry by parliamentary committee or otherwise, into any administrative act of all the thousands that have been taken place, and of all the millions of dollars of value that they have involved. I say that I court the fullest inquiry into all these thousands of acts, in the House or in the committee, or anywhere else, and I want the House to abstain from doing so."

The vote on Mr. Oliver's amendment was 95 to 65. It was thus defeated by a Government majority of 30.

After recess, Houghton Lennox moved for the appointment of a royal commission, in the following terms:

"That a royal commission do issue for the purpose of inquiring and reporting whether the two sums of $15,000 and $19,350, or thereabouts, alleged to have been sent to the credit of Hon. Mr. Oliver, the Minister of the Interior, in a bank at Edmonton on or about the 8th of October, 1907, and the month of September, 1908, were received or obtained by the said Mr. Oliver in such manner, under such circumstances, or from such sources as would render the said minister's acceptance thereof prejudicial to the public interest."

The vote on Mr. Lennox's amendment was 95 to 65. It was thus defeated by a Government majority of 30.

was mentioned. Now, my honorable friend said that I might clear the whole matter up as to my bank account by a simple statement as to the source as to which this money came, and the direction to which it was diverted. I have no doubt that in a fact that I could take that action and clear this whole matter up. But I conceive my duty to be this: I do not think it is in the interests of Canada that upon an insinuation, based upon theft and put forward as blackmail, a man in public or private life in Canada should be compelled to expose his private business. I do not think that it would add to the dignity of Parliament or the standard of public life in Canada, to say that Parliament should be the assistant of thugs and blackmailers by requiring the exposure of a bank account on such a statement as has been placed before the public.

The committee which has been asked for will have every opportunity to establish any connection that can be established between my bank account and that transaction or any other transaction that may be brought forward in a similar way. But I say I do not think that it would be right or wise, or that it would tend to the dignity of Parliament or to the standing of public life or to the good of the country that because a thug or a blackmailer should make a statement in regard to a man's private banking account, thereupon the authority of Parliament should be invoked to expose that bank account to the public, no matter what the consequences might be to the man involved, or no matter who might be affected by it.

It is true I am in public life and I cannot dissociate my personality from my position. But at the same time I ask the House to consider the fact that I am a public official, for which I am responsible to Parliament and the country, which affects the welfare and the rights of the country, and I do not make the exposure which my honorable friend suggests for the purpose of clearing up my bank account for the reason I have stated that I do not think the public interest, or public welfare or the standing of the public men of Canada would be benefited by my doing so.

Minister of Justice.
Sir Alan Aylesworth, who spoke briefly, said that no charge had been made in the Toronto Telegram article. It was an effort to insinuate as much as possible, without saying anything that was actionable. It was an effort to state a political opinion in the back, without becoming responsible. Neither did he think that the article was defamatory. It was made up of innuendo and insinuation. The effect of these articles was to leave the minister without redress outside of the House, and the only cure left to him was to demand a parliamentary inquiry.

As to the claim by Mr. Oliver that the placing of the two statements side by side in the Toronto World constituted an insinuation, Sir Alan said that this was the way in which the average man would look at it.

Dr. Sprule asked the Minister of Justice if any definite charge had been made by the Prime Minister by his reading of the article in the Toronto Telegram.

Sir Alan Aylesworth replied that nothing more than a general charge had been made that this man was a knave and a hoodler and unworthy of a position in the cabinet.

Gus Porter (West Hastings), suggested that it was no answer for Mr. Oliver to make that the man who called him a knave and a hoodler was a thug and a blackmailer.

Dr. Taylor said Mr. McGillicuddy was reported to have stated in Ottawa that $19,350 had been paid to Mr. Oliver in connection with a transaction in his constituency of New Westminster.

Mr. Oliver stated that he would ask the Premier, who was not in the House at the time, to say that matter included in the investigation.

On the question to him, Sir Wilfrid did not give a definite reply, but said that he had never heard of the matter before.

Mr. Taylor declared that the photographs showed that $19,350 was sent from Ottawa, and not from the Manhattan Bank, and that that was nine months after the election, and that the money was not needed out in connection with the election.

On the vote being taken there voted 95 to 65 in favour of the motion.

After recess, Houghton Lennox moved for the appointment of a royal commission, in the following terms:

"That a royal commission do issue for the purpose of inquiring and reporting whether the two sums of $15,000 and $19,350, or thereabouts, alleged to have been sent to the credit of Hon. Mr. Oliver, the Minister of the Interior, in a bank at Edmonton on or about the 8th of October, 1907, and the month of September, 1908, were received or obtained by the said Mr. Oliver in such manner, under such circumstances, or from such sources as would render the said minister's acceptance thereof prejudicial to the public interest."

The vote on Mr. Lennox's amendment was 95 to 65. It was thus defeated by a Government majority of 30.

LIBERAL CAUCUS
TWO MONTH

Recess Will Give Mr. Fielding Not Seriously Interfered Premier

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, May 3.—A two-months' adjournment of Parliament was decided upon this morning at a Liberal caucus.

The dates are not definitely fixed, but it is expected that the adjournment will be made on May 23 or 24 days before and will continue, it is said, into July, when Mr. Wilfrid, Frederick Borden and Hon. Mr. C. Frederick Borden and Hon. Mr. C. Frederick Borden will have returned from the summer recess. As the House recesses the reciprocal discussion will be continued, and agreement put through.

The Factors.
The decision to adjourn was reached after a good deal of serious consideration. The absence of the Prime Minister, the question of getting sufficient votes to remain in session, and the fact that the United States Senate is not likely to take early action upon reciprocity through the Canadian House, were all factors which had to be considered.

A Rest For Mr. Fielding.
When such heavy pressure was brought upon Sir Wilfrid from all sides that he could not afford to risk a decision to remain in Canada, it is thought that Parliament might continue in session during his absence, and that the adjournment would be decided upon when the Prime Minister returned. It was decided that one of the things which could be done for Canada would be to give him, Mr. Fielding, a rest. The Finance Minister has been

NEW ENGLISH BILL
TENFRANCHISE WOM

Measure Confers Right to Vote Every Woman of Household.

[Canadian Press.]
London, May 3.—Another woman suffrage bill was introduced into the House today by Sir George Keir, Liberal member for the north-west division of Manchester. The measure confers the right to vote upon every woman of the household, but it is permitted that married women shall be permitted to vote in the same constituency with their husbands. It is estimated that such legislation would enfranchise 1,000,000 women.

The "Household" qualification has not to do with the required occupation of the owner or tenant of a house, but with the fact that the person is the owner or tenant of a house in which the superior tenant does not reside.
