doctrine of evolution, Professor Taylor said, had replaced the old static view of the universe, which saw man as the end of all things and pictured him as rewarded or punished according to his fidelity to precepts divinely com-municated to him. Evolution insisted instead upon a universe of law, imbued by a living principle of progress, a great cosmic force. It was unthinkable, he said, that this great cosmic force should be an immoral principle, that it should be an immoral principle, that it should call myriads of human beings into life in order simply to wipe them off the slate. This evolution principle, which in nature was ever bringing lower orders of life into higher was man's ders of life into higher was man's final guarantee that death did not exist, that when the great change came to those who had lived in accordance with highest principles, there was a future life awaiting them.

PIANO RECITAL IS GIVEN BY THOMAS MARTIN

Works of Chopin Predominate in Pleasing Concert at St. Andrew's.

Patrons of music in London last night were given masterful interpreta-tions of the compositions of Chopin, Beethoven and Schumann at a recital by Thomas Martin, one of London's foremost musicians. Mr. Martin found his forte in the works of Chopin, where he was undoubtedly at ease. The concert was given in St. Andrew's hall. where many lovers of the old masters

The program was one of good taste with wide scope in the varied composi-tions offered. Mr. Martin's interpreta-tion of Chopin is well known to Londoners, and his pianoforte offerings, in their truthful and sane style, are always pleasing.

Mr. Martin once more demonstrated pianist. It is true that neither in his program nor in his manner of inter-pretation was there anything unusually new, but that is not to say that his playing proved any the less enjoyable to his audience last night.

As is usual in Mr. Martin's programs, the works of Chopin were predominant. The latter and most important part of his recital was entirely com-posed of the works of this grand old master, including the Grand Polonaise in A-Flat Major, Nocturne in F Minor, and two Preludes, numbers nine and

A Good List of Candidates.

Nine o'clock last night made it certain that London will have but one acclamation, that having gone to Mr. James Gray at the time of nomination for the hospital trust. The mayoralty, as was anticipated, has narrowed to a contest between John M. Moore and Mayor Wenige. Only once in the city's history has a mayor had four terms, and that was in 1861-62-63-64 in the days of Frank Cornish. The late George Taylor had three consecutive terms, 1889-90-91; the late J. W. Little had a similar record in 1895-96-97, and in 1902-03-04 the late Sir Adam Beck was mayor. C. M. R. Graham held the office for 1912-13-14; Dr. Hugh Stevenson had three terms, 1915-16-17, and G. A. Wenige, elected first in 1923, has held office through '24 and '25. John M. Moore has also had municipal experience, serving on the board of control and board of education.

Londoners can have no fault to find with the number and quality of the men who are offering their services as aldermen. There will be 22 names on the ballot paper, among them nine members of the present body. From these it will be necessary to select eight, and next year the number will be further diminished to four. Terry, F. J. Timbrell, C. M. Linnell, A. Towe. There is not a man on the list who is not a representative citizen, able to give acceptable service.

London's Hundredth Birthday.

The proper marking of London's centennial is an event worth all the good effort that is being given to it. When a city celebrates its hundredth birthday it is no small event. It was Governor Simcoe who predicted that London would become the capital of all Canada; he made that claim thirty years before the first tree had been felled on the townsite. Although this city did not come up to his high expectation it is in a very real sense the commercial and distributing capital for the finest section of all Canada-Western Ontario.

It was in 1826 that a survey was made of the town plot by Col. Mahlon Burwell. Those securing lots paid $30 for them, but the condition was attached that a small house must be erected, so even had the land speculator been present one hundred years ago he would have found his guns spiked. In the next year London received official recognition as the capital of the western district and a frame court house was immediately erected.

Peter McGregor is often named as the first settler in London, he having built a log tavern at the corner of King and Ridout streets; it is also recorded that for the most part he dispensed liquid refreshments on an enormous stump that stood in front of his tavern.

One of the first private residences of note was Eldon House, the residence of the late Edward H. Harris, on Ridout street. George J. Goodhue (afterward the Hon.) was the first merchant in London and also in the county. After moving to London from Westminster a partnership was formed under the name Goodhue & Lawrison and business was carried on at the corner of Dundas and Ridout. John Jennings and Dennis O'Brien were also early merchants.

In 1832 London was a place of 400 population, but the ravages of Asiatic cholera played havoc Those who qualified are: W. J. Ashton, J. A. E. with the early settlers. Deaths and the flight Braden, R. J. Carswell, H. H. Bottrill, Thomas of those who sought to escape reduced the population to near the point where it started in 1826. Another setback came in 1845, referred to as the year of the "great fire," when the principal part of the village was wiped out.

These early incidents serve to show how London got its start; they are full of human experience, high spots and low. They provide ample scope in character and custom for those who undertake to depict this chapter in the

I moved our hens unto a pen that I built up three weeks ago, and it is fashioned to a turn, a sort of chicken bungalow. And ever since they've walked about as tidy as a new silk shirt, and I'm suspectin' how they be too proud to do a good day's work.

We've fed them on bone mash and corn, and fixed a place for them to dust, we'd fed them oats, sour milk and cake until they're fat enough to bust.

And for a turn we've starved them too and made them scratch for all they got, it doesn't seem to make much odds if they have simple fare or not.

I wish they'd start right in and work and lay like in the summer time, for then I'd have ten bones a week, I'd plant it down in pickle brine. I'd spend the summer in the north, the winter months around Palm Beach, if I could make my hens perform when eggs is worth a nickel each. (Copyright.)

Sir,-Permit me space in your col mns to comment on a news despatch under the heading "East Lambton Pro-Prohibition gressives, Liberals Discuss Union," keeps some which appeared in your issue of the 23rd instant. The article in question goes on to state that as a result of the holding of separate meetings by the executives of the Progressive and Lib eral parties in Alvinston, on the 21st instant, the union of these two had been brought a step nearer and that the Liberal meeting was unanimous that joint political action be taken which was strongly supported by President D. G. Sturgis of the Liberal association, and J. R. Stirrett, Liberal candidate in the last election. It was also further stated that the Progressian devided to lay the matter before sives decided to lay the matter before a convention to be held on Dec. 17 and that in all probability the Liberals would also hold a meeting about the same date. sives decided to lay the matter before

He had given a forged check for the sum of $4.50—not $450 or $45.000, but $4.50—to a clothing store. He pleaded guilty to the charges and begged for mercy. After being sentenced he was led weeping from the court. Is there not something wrong in a sentence of this kind under such circumstances? Here in Toronto bigam ists who have palmed themselves off as single men and who have ruined the lives of their victims have escaped with three-month sentences. Men who have held high social positions and been surhave betrayed sacred public trusts embezzled thousands of dollars of their employers' money, have met less severe nunishment than was handed out to the penitent but obscure Barnardo boy.

Forgery and false pretenses are serious offenses and cannot be tolerated. But if an example has to be made of someone for the benefit of the comunity it might better be a person who has had the advantages of good train ing and of a good home than a friend-less youth from the old country. # EAST LONDON MAN HAS BIG MUSEUM

Home of R. Holmes of 755 Dundas Street Is Full of Fine Specimens.

Many East London residents are quite ignorant of the fact that they have a miniature museum in their midst, but a visit to the home of R. Holmes, 755 Dundas street, would reveal one of the rarest collections of the different species of birds and animals in Western Ontario.

After 30 years of collecting, Mr Holmes has now a splendid array that fills a large room of his home, and he intends to open up another room to take care of his growing collection. Starting from his youth, he had always been a great fancier of birds and animals and has for several years made the fall trip north in quest of the deer and other wild beasts. In his collection are the heads numerous deer that were brought down by his gun and the latest arrival will be a 286 pound deer that he show this fall. The animal is declared to be the rarest of its kind in this country and Mr. Holmes is having the entire deer mounted for his collection. The antlers of the deer are considered one of the largest, having 14 points.

THE NURSES' HOME

A new Nurses' Home has been needed at Victoria Hospital for years. The present quarters are hopelessly inadequate, lack proper sanitary arrangements and are a source of needless expense to the public.

Although the hospital has doubled in size in the last 15 years, no extra housing has been provided during that time. Many nurses are being accommodated in the Children's Hose pital, occupying rooms that should be used for sick and crippled children. Others are occupying wards needed for scarlet fever cases. As a result the hospital cannot give proper service and is losing revenue thereby.

The cost of a new residence will only be about 20 cents per thousand of your assess-

Vote "Yes" on the Nurses' Home Bylaw and provide your hospital with that which it most urgently needs.

THE RIDOUT STREET BRIDGE

The present unsightly structure has been condemned and is neither wide enough nor strong enough to carry present-day traffic. Heavy loads cross it at their own risk and the Street Railway Bridge has been closed by order of the Ontario Railway Board.

The proposed new bridge will not only promote safety and re-establish car service—it will also improve the view and eliminate the present ugly overhead bracing. A new Bridge is a public necessity. Vote for it.

THE AGED PEOPLE'S HOME AND THE VICTORIA HOME FOR INCURABLES

There are many needy aged persons desiring admission into one of these homes, who cannot be taken in because of lack of accommodation.

At a meagre individual cost these homes provide for board, lodging, clothing, medical attendance, nursing, medicine, laundry and a final resting place and decent burial. More accommodation is absolutely necessary if the homes are to continue to take care of the aged and incurable. This accommodation will cost $75,000—less than 10 cents per year on each thousand dollars of your assessment.

These old people must be taken care of. You can help by voting "Yes" for the bylaw.

Beautiful Joe Is a Canadian Dog, Says Marshall Saunders.

GUEST OF DAY

Distinguished Canadian Recounts Early Experiences As a Writer.

It was a delightfully informal talk which Marshall Saunders, distinguished author of Beautiful Joe, gave before the Women's Canadian club yesterday afternoon. It was bright with wit, and full of the little personal incidents which audiences love to hear about persons who have worn a laurel crown. In the audience were members of the local writing profession, special guests of the afternoon, and honored by the Canadian club because it happens to be Book Week.

The Canadian club policy of enter-taining the London writers is not a new one. Last year, Madge Macbeth came as the special speaker, and this year it was Marshall Saunders, and her subject, How I Happened to Become Marshall Saunders evidently began to write just naturally. There was no big upheaval in her life to force her to the pen. It was just a suggestion from the poet, Dr. Theodore Rand, who happened to be a friend of her father, happened to be a friend of her father, and loved to find new recruits for his profession. The suggestion came to the young Marshall Saunders in a letter must choose Spain, about which she knew would make a suitable setting for her story. She must choose Spain, about which she Frof. They had visions of retiring as millionairesses within a few years, on the money earned from Marshall Saunders' pen. They purchased all available magazines from the nearest book shop, took them out into the park, and pro-ceeded to choose a suitable one. A magazine was selected, and story for-warded to the editor. What was the joy of the two sisters when a check for $40 came back. So delighted was the author's sister that she volunteered to look after the housework for the next few weeks, while Marshall Saunders should sit while Marshall Saunders should sit down and write another, perhaps more profitable work. This time, however, the story was rejected. Nothing daunted, the sisters sent it on to a second editor, and a $25 check came back. She was born into a typical clergy-man's home in Nova Scotia. Sent to school in Edinburgh, her outlook upon life was easily broadened. In fact, her whole home is a beautiful bird sanctuary, and many is the quaint story which she tells of these little feathered

The O. H. A. has issued no warnings concerning Carson, as apparently they are not forced to take any cognizance of his dealings with pro clubs until he enters the O. H. A. season, and not then unless the pro owner put something other than a pen in his hand, when he signed a contract.

McVicar, Harry Reid, the little wing flash and former Hamilton Tiger senior, and Fisher are still with the team. That the performance of the Grimsby team in putting out Soc Greyhounds was not altogether a flash in the pan is demonstrated by the fact that Dandurand signed two men off the team for pro company—Carson and Horne. The Caledonians and Rovers, of St. Thomas, did their best, and were the only teams to hold the ail-conquering Railroaders. Sarnia, after a season's rest, came looming up with prospects of taking the championship to the Oil City, but after holding the Railroaders to a draw, failed in the replay, after both teams had given a great exhibition of the grand old game at Tecumseh park. The Thistles, who had a junior side last season, and made many friends, tried their luck in senior company, and had they been able to hold together and field a full eleven, they would have been a hard side to beat. This they failed to do, and went down as the other clubs did.

The United Veterans, of St. Thomas, a side that was always capable of beating any side, were the one big disappointment, and when the Davey brothers forsook them they were like a ship without a rudder, and failed to win one game in the intercity league. The London Garrison team, like others failed to convince.

game in the intercity league. The London Garrison team, like others, falled to convince.

The Railroaders, with a team composed of all local players, are worthy champions, and have been the real surprise of the season. To beat such sides as Cockshutts, of Brantford, and Taylor-Forbes, of Guelph, speaks well for a team that includes several players who were juniors last season, but these young players have made good, and fully justified their inclusion in senior company.

The side has no outstanding player, but harmony has reigned supreme in the ranks, and, as everyone knows, unity is strength. And should the Railroaders succeed in their objective, which is to win the provincial championship at the first time of asking, no one in the London district will begrudge Walter Astles and his men an honor they richly deserve.

A crowd of about 1,000 fans were treated to a game that was replete with thrills, the teams showing midseason form. The boys from the lift-lock town, however, were more polished as puck-carriers around the nets than the Peach Kings. The best hockey was furnished in the last period, when the Grimsby team cut loose with all they had in an attempt to cut down the Peterboro lead, but in Parker and Rose, they met a stone-wall defence, and on the few times the Peach Kings did get inside, they discovered that Dyer in goal had not lost his eagle eye, and he turned their shots aside with his old-time skill.

New York, Nov. 24.—The race for the title of the most valuable player in the National league will not be decided until the meeting of the league magnates on December 9, but indications today pointed to two players—Hornsby, of the Cardinals and Cuyler, of the Pirates, as the most favored candidates, with the odds favoring Hornsby.

All of this, of course, is still mere gossip, but as Hornsby is the older and more experienced player of the two, and the selection, as a rule, goes to a veteran, it seemed extremely likely the St. Louis manager—who is also the cham-

Plans of Proposed Building Show Great Economy Has Been Exercised.

The bylaw for $225,000 which comes before the citizens on Dec. 7 will complete the nurses' quarters ready for occupancy.

The piece of property between the children's hospital and medical school will be purchased and a tunnel, similar to the one now about completed under the hospital proper, will be carried under Ottaway avenue to the new rome. This tunnel will make possible the use of the present hospital kitchen and heating plant, as well as provide to closed thoroughfare for the nurses be-tween the wards and the home.

The plans are open for inspection by the public and stand as a model of eco-nomic housing conditions. It is not proposed to lavish one dollar of the citizens' money upon unnecessary orna-

The plumbing covers the minimum requirements of the provincial board of health; and the popular comment of those who have examined the plans has been one of amazement at the completeness of the building for the sum of money involved.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "21/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 24.—Premier Brownlee, in a brief statement issued to the press today, indicates his in-tention of pursuing the policy of econmy in expenditure and reduction in the cost of government, which has been engaging the attention of the farmer government since it first took office in 1921. In his statement, he expresses regret at accepting the position of president of the executive council.

"The personal relationship developed during four years' association with Mr. Greenfield and my regard for his fine personal qualities and his devotion to the duties of his office, have made it very hard for me to contemplate his retirement from the position he has held since 1921," is says.

The statement continues:

"At a later and appropriate time I will outline the general policies I believe to be necessary for the healthy development of our provincial life.
"For the present, no change will be made in the personnel of the cabinet.
The department of municipal affairs will be temporarily assumed by Mr. Reid, who formerly was minister of that department, while the depart-

"Believing that in a province so entially dependent on agriculture. the interests of city, town and country in all fundamental problems are identical, I request the co-operation of all citizens, rural and urban, in an effort to promote unity and harmony of pur-ose in our provincial thought."

When asked if it was his intention o carry on permanently the duties of both attorney-general and premier of the province, Mr. Brownlee said:
"It is not setting any precedent in Canada for the premier of a province o be also its attorney-general."

It is believed that the government

Toronto, Nov. 24 .- The North Hurot federal election case, in which Judge Lewis has decided that George Spotton Conservative, leads James W. King, Progressive, by eight votes, will reach Osgoode hall this week.

While the time limit is drawing to close King's lawyers have until Friday of this week to act. It is urged by the Conservatives that there is no appeal from County Judge Lewis, and his honor ruled that the will go to the country early next year ballot from which the counterfoils have not been detached shall not be re-

Mr. King's counsel, however, mapped out a plan that will be carried out during the next four days. An appoint-ment will be obtained from a supreme court judge at Osgoode, and a manourt judge at Osgode, and a mandamus sought, directing the county ludge to count the challenged ballots.
