FRENCH PRISONERS IN GERMAN CAMPS STARVED BY CAPTORS

Receive Scant
Attention From Brutal Huns, Who Have Dragged
Them From Their Home

Supplies From Home Practically
the Only Food to Reach Prisoners

By Courier Leased Wire.
New York, Nov. 17.—Prisoners held in German prison camps virtually have to subsist on such supplies as are sent to them and those unfortunates who have no one to look after their individual wants face a "truly terrible" fate, according to Dr. R. P. Roseboom, assistant secretary to the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague, who arrived here to-day from Rotterdam on the steamship Nieuwe Amsterdam. Dr. Roseboom, in a statement issued by him on his arrival, said that his mission here was mainly to interest Americans in the relief work that is now being carried on in Holland for these prisoners.

"Recently," said Dr. Roseboom, "I was able to visit several prison camps in Germany in an unofficial way, an advantage in that my visit was not announced beforehand and I was able to see conditions as they actually are. The poor prisoners can get no news or parcels from their home people and are likely to starve unless help is sent to them. Their plight is being aided to the fullest extent possible by the people of Holland, individuals there accepting an individual prisoner and sending packages at least twice a month containing necessities of life. We cannot care for all of them and numerous pitiful appeals we receive, we have to ignore because of lack of funds. "You cannot realize how doubly sad is the fate of these prisoners coming from invaded territory, from which the wives and young women are being dragged away to enforced labor for the enemy, cut off as they are from all news and assistance from their loved ones and suffering from actual hunger. "Leid Chayeteri, with his wife and two children were among those on the Nieuwe Amsterdam. Mr. Chayeteri said that he recently came from Bialystok in the province of Grodno. He added that two months ago, more than 250 young Jews, most of them children, were taken away from their homes by the German military authorities and sent to work in fields harvesting crops.

STEAMER AFIRE
By Courier Leased Wire.
Vancouver, Nov. 16.—Fire which started last night in the cargo hold of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand's freighter Waikawa, was the second fire of the kind within 24 hours. As in the case of the Waima, the hold was flooded and the fire extinguished. While there is no indication that the fires were anything but accidental, precautions are being taken to prevent further outbreaks.

Five-year-old Thomas Miller, of Hoppetown, Pa., was dragged by a six-year-old playmate to a chopping block, and while he screamed in terror, the older child chopped off one finger and mangled another so badly it had to be amputated.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Pressure is still very high over the Pacific states, while a shallow depression has moved northward to the great lakes. Light snow falls have occurred over Ontario and more locally in Quebec, elsewhere the weather has been fine.

Forecast.
Moderate to fresh winds, shifting to west and northwest; light snow to day, but partly fair. Saturday—Moderate to fresh northwest to west winds, fair, no decided change in temperature.

EXPULSION OF GERMAN AGENTS

Is One of the Demands Made
By Gen Roques Upon
Greece.

By Courier Leased Wire.
London, Nov. 17.—Details of demands made upon King Constantine of Greece by General Roques, French Minister of War as proofs of the monarch's friendliness toward the Entente are given in a Reuter's despatch from Athens. According to this despatch, General Roques has given a memorandum regarding the demands to Premier Lambros, to whom he was referred by King Constantine. It is stated that the memorandum calls for the use of the Greek Railroads by the Allies, the surrender of a quantity of artillery, the expulsion of a number of supposed German agents and the occupation of a specified neutral zone by French troops.

SERGT.-MAJOR CARA IS DEAD

Sad News of Death of Ex-
Policeman Received in Letter From England.

A FINE MAN
"Steve" Was Deservedly
Popular Throughout the City.

"Poor Steve Cara is dead." Such was the intelligence, which will bring a pang of sorrow to the numerous friends of that gallant soldier, conveyed in a letter from Pte. Clem. Coles, Jr., of the 125th Battalion, now in England, to his teacher, in this city.

Sergt.-Major Cara, of the C. M. R., was a member of the police force of this city until the call of duty came, departing from this city, she received the sad news that her brother, Signaller Albert Hamilton, who was at the front with her husband, had been killed in action, while now it is the turn of Sergt.-Major Cara to make the supreme sacrifice of his life, as so many more of Brantford's sons have done.

KEATS TO TORONTO.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Toronto, Nov. 17.—The Soldiers' athletic board has agreed to abide by the decision of the N. H. A. assigning Sergeant Gordon Keats to the Toronto N. H. A. team and his battalion, the 228th will not have his services in the coming series, but Gordon Meeking, who is trying for a commission in the 228th will be a candidate for the regimental team. E. J. Livingstone, of the Toronto club, received word from Cy Donnelly yesterday that he would not report in Toronto. On receipt of this, a wire of suspension was sent the player and the league notified.

in Further Progress.

WOMEN OVERHAUL G RAISED SHIP

"The Richard Nash" a steam trawler, sunk off Rainham Centre, Essex, was successfully raised after being under water for two years, and brought to Thames Wharf, at Greenwich. The overhauling, cleaning and painting of this ship is being entirely carried out by the women whose husbands are in the trenches. The photograph shows a group of these women renovators at work.

ONE COMPANY FROM NORFOLK

Effort Will Be Made To Raise That Quota For The

Since the official announcement that the two counties of Norfolk and Haldimand had been added to Brant for recruiting purposes, no steps have been taken by the 215th to augment their ranks from these sources. The matter was delayed to allow the local officers of the battalion to become acquainted with the situation and the organization in these districts. One company will be the quota which will be expected to recruit from the county as its contribution, while in the case of Haldimand, Col. Morris has not been able to get into communication with the recruiting organizations there. The prospects are not known definitely. When activities commence in Norfolk, the men signed up will be attached to the company's quarters here, until such time as a sufficient number have been secured, when they will be sent back to Simcoe and stationed in the armories there. The presence of soldiers there will also stimulate enlistment.

Three bombing instructors, one sergeant, three corporals and sixty-six men will be sent on Sunday to St. Catharines to attend a two weeks' course in bomb throwing. The class will be the forerunner of a brigade school in that place. The first week will be spent in preparing the school, and the second will be devoted to the course. On the following week another squad will attend, and so on until every member of the battalion has become familiar with this necessary branch of the service.

Aviator; Activities in the Air.

By Courier Leased Wire.
Paris, Nov. 17.—Fifty-four aerial engagements were fought by French aviators yesterday in the Amiens area. In the course of this fighting Lieutenant Guynemer, one of the combatants, brought down his twenty-first hostile machine, the war office announced to-day. The official statement reports that night comparatively quiet along all the fronts.

DEUTSCHLAND IN COLLISION

Rams One of Her Tugs,
Five of Its Crew Being Drowned.

By Courier Leased Wire.
New London, Conn., Nov. 17.—Five members of the crew of one of the tugs which accompanied the German submarine Deutschland from New London early to-day on her return trip to Bremen, were drowned when the submersible and the tug collided in the Race, about twelve miles from this port. The only person on the tug saved was Capt. Fred Hinsch, of the German interned liner Neckar. The tug which belonged to the E. A. Scott Wrecking Company, went to the bottom. The Deutschland returned to her dock here at 5.15 a.m. Officials declined to discuss the accident or to tell the extent of the damage inflicted on the submarine.

The tug and the submarine came together in a relatively smooth sea. When it was apparent that the tug was fatally rammed, the crew jumped overboard. Capt. Hinsch swam to a life preserver thrown out by the Deutschland's crew.

The Deutschland drew out of her pocket at the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Company at 1.30 o'clock this morning, accompanied by the tugs T. A. Scott and the Alert of the T. A. Scott Wrecking Company, sub-agents of the Eastern Forwarding Company. She carried on her homeward dash a cargo valued at $2,000,000, and consisting of nickel, rubber and silver bars. The trip down the harbor was without incident, and when last seen by a newspaper launch, the submarine was ploughing through a smooth sea at the rate of 12 knots an hour, headed for Montauk Point. The newspaper launch returned here after following the submarine several miles. At that time the sea was smooth and the moon in its last quarter, cast rays over the water. The members of the Deutschland's crew in their oilskins, were on deck, greetings shouted at them by passing craft were not returned.

Failure of the tugs to return at an early hour led to much speculation, but it was believed that they would accompany the submersible well beyond the three mile limit.

MONEY MARKET
(Associated Press)
Peking, Nov. 16.—During the six months from July to December 1915, Japanese firms are said to have realized a profit of sixty million dollars silver from Chinese brass cash bought in the northern provinces of the republic. This cash is the old fashioned Chinese money, with square holes in the center. Much of it is very old and its value as a circulating medium is so far below the market value of the metal it contains that there is a profit of at least two hundred per cent. in buying the old coins and melting it down.

THE TIME IS VERY SHORT; NOW IN COURIER CONTEST

Only One More Day of Big Votes, and Another Week Will See the Close of the Campaign

The time is very short now until the campaign is over and some one is going to be happy riding around in a nice big touring car which might have been yours had you put forth the proper effort. Do not say to yourself, "I wish that I had worked harder and earned that beautiful prize myself," get busy right now and get some subscriptions and make yourself the winner. There are a number of candidates in this race that are more than content that they are going to win the AUTOMOBILE but when the votes get before Saturday night, are counted and they find that instead of winning the automobile they are the winner of a diamond ring or possibly none of the prizes, it will be too late. Do not let that one be you. One candidate was in the office last night and said that he had found it quite hard to get subscriptions up until about a week ago, when he found a territory that had not been canvassed by any one and he met up to you to get busy with all the subscriptions that you can possibly get before Saturday night.

OH WHERE IS MY WANDERING BOY?

Many Youths of U. S. Join Canadian Army and Get Released.

(Associated Press) Washington, Nov. 17.—Of the many unexpected duties the United States has found thrust upon it by the world war one of the strangest is that of rescuing adventurous boys who enlist in the European armies.

There have been more than a thousand such cases since the war began, and even now letters praying for the release of young soldiers of fortune pour into the state department at the rate of 50 a day. It has been necessary to assign an official to give special attention to the subject.

The story almost always is the same. The youngster, generally between sixteen and twenty, suddenly disappears and is next heard from when he writes home from Canada or England that he has had enough of war and wants to come home.

Then follows an almost tornado-like correspondence in which officials, parents, congressmen and persons who think they can hurry the processes of diplomacy by their influence become sympathetic, tearful, importunate or mandatory. The red tape of governmental business, however, winds slowly and finally the consul general in London or Ottawa, or somewhere else or perhaps the American embassy makes representations to the foreign government and the adventurer is released and sent home.

Until recently the British government has been promptly releasing all Americans under 21 on the request of the United States government on the ground that it is illegal for such a person to enlist in a foreign army without parents consent. Recently the British government has shown a disposition to reduce the age limit to eighteen when minors become of age in a military sense.

THE KING OF THE AIR

FRENCH YOUTH IS ACKNOWLEDGED MASTER BIRDMAN.

Young Geynemer Aged Twenty-one. Has the Greatest Record for Results of Any Airman on Any Front—He Has Destroyed Twenty-one Enemy Planes, Eleven of Them in a Period of Six Weeks—Rejected Just as Soldier.

ALTHOUGH the two most brilliant aerial feats of the war, the destruction of two Zeppelins by Warneford and Robinson, had been performed by Englishmen, and a third Zeppelin has been brought down by a British airman or airman as yet anonymous, it is to a Frenchman that the title "King of the Air" most properly belongs. His name is Geynemer, and he is only 21 years old. It is doubtful if all history can show the record of such a mere boy becoming world-famous. His name in various pronunciations is on all men's lips. Last week he figured twice in army orders. On one occasion it was noted that he had destroyed three German aeroplanes in less than three minutes; in the other he established another sort of record. Something going amiss with his engine when he was at a great height, he fell ten thousand feet, nearly two miles, and yet retained his consciousness and his nerve sufficiently to make a safe landing.

Anyone can learn to manipulate an aeroplane in the same sense that anyone can learn to play the fiddle; but now and then a great genius arises in the manipulation of either to whom other experts doff their hats. Geynemer is such a one. To use a slang phrase, he has "everything" that is needed to succeed in the world for the sole purpose of performing wonders in an aeroplane he had already mastered to his account. It is officially recorded that he has destroyed 21 German aeroplanes, whose observers and pilots were either killed or made prisoners. Since the record is a week old, it is possible that the list of his victims has been extended since then, since Geynemer got his first eleven in six weeks. Should he survive until the end of the war he will become one of the national heroes of France. Even to-day Joffre and Foch would attract hardly more attention and respect in the streets of Paris than Geynemer. Unlike the generals, he is permitted now and then to take a holiday in Paris.

Those who see him for the first time can scarcely realize that the tall, effeminate-looking youth, with the olive skin and the large, dark eyes, is the daredevil of France's aerial service. So frail did his physique appear to be that he was rejected several times by the physicians before he was able to join the army and entrusted with an aeroplane. Even yet he is called "Bambino," but it is a nickname of affection and respect rather than of ridicule. After being rejected as a soldier, he persuaded his grandnephew to advance him the funds to take a course in aviation, and in April, 1915, he was able to pass his examination. In his very first flight he gave evidence of those qualities which since have made him famous. He went up with a mechanic to operate the machine gun in what is called a "parasol" biplane. When in the air they were signalled that a German aeroplane was in sight. They went in pursuit, but it escaped. Geynemer returned, and was on the point of descending when he espied a German aircraft in the distance, and at once set sail for it.

He got within fifty feet of the enemy plane, and more than a hundred bullets were exchanged, when the mechanic was wounded in the hand and unable to work the machine gun. Geynemer took control of the gun, and with the first shot struck the German pilot. Another bullet exploded the gasoline tank and the German craft tumbled to the earth a heap of ruins with its observer. In the following September he had a narrow escape, for when engaged with an enemy his gun jammed, and he only escaped by dropping 1,500 feet into a bank of clouds, with his motor going. Last November he had another close call. On this occasion, too, his gun was frozen, and in close range of his powerful enemy the weapon refused to work. There was no handy bank of clouds, and Geynemer was driven to dart under his enemy and keep circling close below, a position in which he could hardly be shot at. He worked furiously to get his gun in shape, but in vain. The German above him was confused by the tactics of the Frenchman, for the two machines were wheeling within a few feet of each other. In one of his swirls Geynemer's left wing was torn off, and how he managed to make a safe landing remains to this day a mystery.

He succeeded, however, and between December 5 and 14 he brought down three more machines, the last exploit winning for him the Legion of Honor. In all he has accounted for 21 German planes. Captains Bockler, the German aviator, now that Immelmann is no more, claims a somewhat higher record; but the German tests are by no means as severe as the French. Before a Frenchman can get credit for destroying an enemy plane he must bring it down either in the French lines or in the immediate vicinity thereof, where French observers can mark it. Moreover, the machine must be destroyed and the occupants either killed or captured. To merely "wing" an enemy and force it to descend is not counted by the French aviators. The German are not quite so particular, and are accustomed to take the word of an aviator as to his successes.

A HARD WORKER.

"Tay-Pay" O'Connor Has an Amazing Capacity for Labor.

There is one characteristic which must have impressed those who have seen "Tay-Pay" at his London flat near the House of Commons, and that is his amazing energy and capacity for work.

After being sub-editor of The Daily Telegraph, he founded The Star, The Sun, The Weekly Sun, M. G. and T. P.'s Weekly. He also wrote many books, notably The Life of Disraeli, while it was just like him to make, as he did, a record for the book which appeared within a week of the former chief's death.

Few people know how Mr. O'Connor was christened "Tay-Pay." Years ago he had always used the initials "T.P." One night in the roasting of "Tay-Pay" in the Commons, and as he finished a fellow-countryman in the Straingers' Gallery, carried away by his feelings, shouted "Good for you, Tay-Pay! Shure it's you that's the grand man!"

And "Tay-Pay" he has remained ever since.

ROMANIAN QUEEN HAS HOBBY.

She Has a Collection of Some 8,000 Scent Bottles.

The Queen of Roumania is a daughter of the late Duke of Edinburgh, favorite niece of King Edward, and a first cousin to King George, and is only natural that her sympathies are with the English.

Queen Marie introduced a distinctly English tone in court circles when she arrived in Bucharest as Crown Princess, and so strong has been her influence in the Roumanian capital that English is now practically the language of the aristocracy.

There is a story told of Princess Ileana, the third and seven-year-old daughter of Queen Marie and King Ferdinand, which illustrates the feeling of the Roumanian Royal Family. When teased by a foreign diplomat about her nationality, the little girl replied with dignity: "I am a little Roumanian, a little German, but mostly English."

Queen Marie, by the way, has a queer hobby. It is the collection of scent bottles, and she now has some 8,000. I hear, too, that she is head of the Society of Goodnesses of Roumania, not because of her beauty, which is remarkable, but because she has promised to pay fairy godmother duty to at least one poor child. The society, I understand, has done much good work in this fanciful way.

A Good Weapon.

Scottish Lord Young was more than a lawyer; he was a wit. The circumstance gives us a neat little passage in words:

On one occasion, at Grand Day dinner, the Foot Laureate, Alfred Austin, was one of the guests, and walked up the hall with and sat beside Lord Young. When they were seated at the table above the dais, Lord Young said to the small man: "You'll be a lawyer like the rest of us?"

"No," said Alfred Austin. "I am a poet."

THE SITUATION.

The Huns are making a desperate attempt to break through the French lines to an extent of over two and a half miles on the Somme front.

The Allied troops are pressing still closer to Monastir. The Serbs for their part have cleared ridge after ridge, while French and Russian forces are sweeping forward on the Monastir plain.

John Bull has now come face to face with the necessity for the general regulation of food supply and of prices. The great wonder is that such a course has not been sooner needed.

Very clever and diverting was the illustrated address which Mr. Racey gave in the Opera House last evening on behalf of the Belgian relief fund.

Many cartoons have deservedly become historical such as that of Sir John Tenniel, chief cartoonist of Punch "Dropping the Pilot."

Gibson of New York is undoubtedly the best man in the border. He at one time decided to abandon the cartoon field in order to become an artist in oil and water colors, but after a long period of study in France, this master of black and white work found that he could not attain a like eminence in the new field and so went back to his former sphere of success.

One of the most noted of all "line" masters, was the late Phil May. He was a most Bohemian character and first came into public attention in Australia. Later he came to London and speedily occupied a supreme position.

The big struggle in Europe, which has produced so many unexpected things has also developed Lieut. Barnfather, who at one bound has attained the position of the best war cartoonist ever known, in fact he is in a class by himself.

Cartoons of course deal with every variety of subject. Three of the best which the writer recalls are as follows. Scene, lunatic looking over high wall of an asylum ground adjacent to a river, sees a man with fishing rod. Conversation follows: "What are you doing?" "Fishing."

Township Board of Health Meets

The annual meeting of the township board of health was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the office of the clerk at the court house.

The report of the medical health officer, Dr. Chapin, was read in which he stated that the Township of Brantford had been particularly fortunate as regards communicable diseases. The measles epidemic, which prevailed in 1915 had exhausted itself, and very few cases were expected in the year 1916. Only one case of smallpox occurred, and by careful and thorough isolation of those in contact, the disease was controlled.

All the typhoid fever cases reported, which were few in number, occurred in the Parkdale district, while there was but one case of tuberculosis. Dr. Chapin also stated in his report that he had visited some of the schools and assisted the teachers, as regards the health of the pupils.

A communication from the Provincial Board of Health, regarding the sewage disposal system at the House of Refuge was considered. The method employed for this is a cesspool, which was considered unsatisfactory in the opinion of the Grand Jury, who recently inspected the institution.

The Board decided to give the Governors of the Refuge six months to remove the offending cesspool.

The last item of business transacted was the passing of a motion to the effect that the Board should recommend to the Township Council that a proper system of garbage collection in Parkdale be established.

Those present were: Messrs. T. M. Hargrave, chairman; Dr. Chapin, M. E. Harris, reeve; Jas. Reid, and J. A. Smith.

One Man Control

Dalziel, M.P., speaking to a correspondent today, summed up the opinion of members of parliament, saying:

"It is the right step. It is a pity it was not taken sooner. London, Nov. 17.—Colonel Winston Churchill predicted in the House of Commons yesterday that before the end of the war the government would not only take over all British shipping, but that universal service would be ordered, not only for the army, but for the general purposes of the war, according to full reports of his speech in the papers to-day.

The former first lord of the admiralty also predicted that it would be necessary to adopt ration tickets for all essentials and that prices would have to be fixed to secure to the poorest classes the power of buying a certain modicum of food. He said that he was quite sure that national organization of agriculture was inevitable.

"We need a great organization," he concluded, "for producing millions of life, just as we do for millions of death. These things will be yet to come."

Replying to the criticisms of Col. Churchill and others, Walter Russell pointed out in reference to the submarine menace that the government was running a war risk insurance scheme, which was solvent. He said they had started this scheme at five per cent, but had quickly dropped to two per cent, and the latter rate had been maintained throughout the war.

Only being raised slightly recently for the purpose of receiving accounts. Substantially they had succeeded in operating the plan on a one per cent basis. The real diminution in tonnage for food shipments, he said, had not come from submarine attacks but from the enormous demands of the army and navy. He emphasized the fact that a new factor in the situation was a shortage in the North American wheat crop. This had compelled them to go to Australia, thereby employing a much greater amount of tonnage.

Mr. Russell announced in conclusion that he did not approve of handing over the country's whole merchant tonnage to a government department as high profits were being realized by the shipping companies. He said he was grateful for the cordial reception of his proposals and did not expect the official of the food controller. This official would only succeed provided he had the support of public opinion and if everybody was prepared to give up private interests for the public good.

London, Nov. 17.—(New York Sun file)—Under the heading "No food tickets yet" The Times says editorially:

"We have excellent authority for stating that the question of granting food tickets is not regarded as likely to arise immediately. Conditions of course may change at any time, but the outlook is not now such as to render the adoption of the German system in any degree probable."

In connection with the government's decision to appoint a food director and institute a form of war bread, taking other drastic measures to control food staples, Lord Devon, who has covered the country with a network of retail stores under the title of the International Tea Company, is prominently mentioned as a likely candidate for the post of food dictator.

The official monthly review says of high prices:

"Taking the country as a whole, the increase in the retail cost of food at the beginning of the war until November 1, is 78 per cent, a figure which is based upon the relative importance of the various articles of working class expenditure. As regards food, only it may be reduced to 72 per cent.

"If the increase on the duties upon tea and sugar be deducted, a large proportion of the increase will be found due to the rise in the price of potatoes, the average retail price of November 1 being 3 3/4 pence per seven pounds, compared to 4 1/2 pence a year ago, and 3 3/4 pence on the corresponding date of 1914.

"The price of milk has increased 7 per cent. during the month. The average price is 5 1/4 pence a quart. The price of flour has advanced 6 per cent. of bread, 4 per cent.

"Eggs are dearer than they were a month earlier by 19 per cent. and fish by 13 per cent. Butter and cheese have risen 4 per cent., bacon 2 per cent.

"Retail food prices in November, 1916, compared with similar prices in 1915, showed an average increase of 37 per cent. Potatoes are more than double; granulated sugar is dearer by 39 per cent. During the year, increases of 20 to 25 per cent. were recorded in flour, bread, milk, butter, cheese, fish, bacon, meat, margarine.

"This percentage of increases on butcher's meat compared with those of July, 1915, show from 54 per cent. on British legs of mutton to 115 per cent. on frozen breasts of mutton. On other articles, the retail prices are more than double.

"Since July, 1914, eggs, fish, potatoes and flour are 78 per cent. above the level. It may be estimated that the average increase in the cost of living for the working class since July, 1914, taking food, rent, clothing, fuel, light and miscellaneous expenditures, is 55 per cent. disregarding increased taxation.

HISTORY OF THE WAR IN CARTOON

Most Enjoyable and Instructive Illustrated Lecture at Grand.

A most graphic and comprehensive review of the war in cartoon form was presented last evening to an audience of fine proportions at the Grand Opera house by Mr. Frank Racey of Montreal, recognized universally as Canada's leading cartoonist.

Among many, the work of Mr. Racey is well known to all Brantfordites through his productions in the pages of the Montreal Star and other newspapers, and suffice it to say that the most sanguine anticipations of any for the success of the entertainment fell far short of the triumph actually attained.

The lecture comprised cartoons illustrative of every phase of the war upon every front, with a brief prelude showing the Teuton brain in 1870 being seized with the obsession of world power. Particularly appealing to all, perhaps, were those pictures in which the artist satirized the most scathing manner the attitude of the United States in the war.

One cartoon depicts an excerpt from Dickens, wherein the Rev. Chaband Wilson delivers an eloquent address upon the subject of the benevolence, joyfulness and profitableness of peace, unto the great and due education of Mrs. Snuggsby Bryan.

Time and time again, Mr. Racey in his splendid address, which accompanied the pictures, emphasized the untold service rendered by the British navy. Mr. Racey by these entertainments in Quebec alone has earned $12,300 for the Belgian fund.

Interspersed among the cartoons shown upon the great screen were portraits of the great men prominent in the war, King George, Earl Kitchener, General Joffre, Premier Borden, the Duke of Connaught, and lastly, the portrait of Canada's new governor general, the Duke of Devonshire, taken this week following his arrival in Ottawa.

The evening was opened in most satisfactory manner by Mr. Jas. T. Whitaker, who rendered acceptably the solo "The Sergeant of the Line," while in the course of the evening Mr. W. G. Raymond, upon the subject of "Service," which he declared to be the touchstone which told the truth of this world's deeds.

His Honor Judge Hardy most acceptably discharged the duties of chairman during the evening, introducing the speakers and delivering a few words of comment upon the debt of gratitude which the civilized world to-day owes to the little devastated Belgium for the manner in which in the early days of the war she had held the legions of Prussia at bay and forced Germany with her ruthless and cowardly methods of warfare, into the open, revealing to the entire world the true nature of the foe which menaced its peace.

G. T. R. AND CITY TO PAY EQUALLY

The decision of the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners...

The Board has been asked to determine the proportion of the cost of protection at the crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway Company's crossing at Colborne St., Brantford, has been made as follows:

The Grand Trunk Railway Company, some years ago, appointed a watchman at its own expense, during the day time, to protect vehicular and pedestrian traffic on Colborne Street, from injury by Grand Trunk trains, on the Company's tracks crossing that street.

Subsequent to the construction of the second track of the Grand Valley Railway over the tracks of the Grand Trunk at Colborne Street, the city of Brantford acquired the ownership of the Grand Valley Railway and now operates it as a municipal street railway on Colborne Street.

In order to save the cost of an unnecessary watchman, the Brantford Municipal Railway Commission, acting for the Municipality and the Grand Trunk Railway Company, agreed that instead of there being a day watchman on the Grand Trunk and a night and day man in charge of the interlocking plant, that the services of one of the day men should be dispensed with and the wages of the watchman divided between the City and the Railway Company.

The City has two tracks and the Grand Trunk Railway has one track at the point of crossing. The city has to maintain the half interlocking plant in satisfactory working order. Both parties get the benefit of the watchman's services.

The senior and junior rule which is sometimes applied by this Board when determining who should pay the time of crossing the Street Railway over another, should not be applied in this case, as the Municipality being the owner of the Street, and now being the owner of the Street Railway, should not be considered junior to the Grand Trunk Railway Company.

Mr. Commissioner McLellan: Mr. Chisholm points out that at the time of crossing the Street Railway was junior, and he contends in substance that the fact that it has been more recently acquired by the Municipality, should not effect the position by bringing the Street Railway within the scope of the Edmonton decision.

It does not seem to be necessary to... Hughes' Furs High in Quality Moderate in Price FUR SETS AND PIECES Variety and assortment in splendid array of newest designs, in all the furs that fashion calls for.

BRITISH SAILORS RELIEF FUND

Meeting For That Association To Be Held Here on Saturday.

The following is a copy of a letter addressed by the President of the British Sailors' Relief Fund, Canada, Wm. G. Ross of Montreal to Mayor Bowley.

At an influential meeting of representative Canadians held early in July last, the above Fund was organized for the relief of disabled and wounded British Sailors of the Royal Navy and Mercantile Marine, and the officers and crew of British Sailors who have lost their lives in the performance of their duty since the war began.

This Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Governor General, is Patron of the Fund; and the Rt. Hon. Sir R. L. Borden, Prime Minister, and the Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, are Honorary Presidents.

The Fund is established to relieve the appreciation of Canada of the splendid work the British Sailors are doing for the Empire in the only way that is possible at the present time, viz. the donation of money for purposes above outlined. The Lord's assistance above outlined. The Lord's assistance above outlined.

Local Committees have since the middle of July been organized in all the Provinces of the Dominion, the Lieutenant-Governors and Premiers, and the Mayors of the cities, arranging meetings of citizens for that purpose.

Unon discussing the objects of the Fund in Toronto in the fall last with some of the leading citizens, it was decided that no attempt should be made to establish Committees in Ontario until the first of October, with the object of concluding the organization of Committees in Canada by the end of the month.

MISS TURNER'S MISSION Is Cordially Endorsed by the Duchess of Connaught. Miss Turner, the honorary deputation secretary of the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission, India, is to lecture in Victoria House, this city, on the 24th inst. The following is a letter from the Duchess of Connaught, highly commending her work:

Government House Ottawa, May, 1915. Dear Miss Turner: I have spoken to Her Royal Highness about the talk we had when you came to Government House the other day. Her Royal Highness desires me to express to you, as hon. deputation secretary of the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission, her great hope that you will meet with a generous response to your appeal for funds in this country.

As president of the mission, and also having lived for many years of her life in India, Her Royal Highness fully realizes the admirable work which the mission fulfills. During this terrible war its work must needs be increasingly heavy, as there will be so many young widows and orphans of the Indian soldiers who will be left unprotected and unprovided for. I hope you will forgive me for not having written sooner, but we have been away to Montreal and have also been busy in many ways.

Yours sincerely, DOROTHY YORK Lady in waiting Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Connaught follows this letter with a handsome donation, which was repeated, viz. $250, just before she left the country.

THE PRESENT OPPORTUNITY Report of an Elderly Made Mr. P. in Chatham

(Chatham Planet.) Serve and Save were the key of the address given on Sunday afternoon in Trinity Club by Colonel Cockshut, M.P., of Colford. First referring to the opportunities that the Canadian people have to-day to serve their Empire the speaker concluded with an appeal to his boys to save.

"I believe," he said in urging hearers to save, "that we will stringency in the food market like of which we have never experienced. We will see the of necessities at a higher level this generation has seen. The situation is now more acute since the war began. We confronted with a shortage in supplies for the workmen's families unless we become more saving. I believe we are doing so the situation becomes more acute. Wealth fields in have been neglected because war and in addition to this the have been poor. Transporting to the activity of Hun submarines is almost impossible. Ships getting in a tonnage, some of have been sent to the front. Not only have these ships been but their cargoes which would been sufficient to maintain the in Europe for months have been trod.

"To-day is the time to save throw away anything of value food or clothing line. Even old and metal that was once through the scrap heap is now valuable in the time for Canadians industry and as a nation to save thriftily. Let us be more saving our own personal expenses waste of a war is simply fabulous the wastage is sufficient to feed wages must go higher and his the workman cannot live. The subject of the address "The Present Crisis and the Unity of the Church," Colshutt explained that by the he meant all Christian bodies added that in these times of we should all be brothers in to what part of the church we pen to belong.

Mysterious Robberies Baffle Police of the Town.

Simcoe, Nov. 17.—(From our own correspondent) The returns of the Houghton township elections came in yesterday. W. J. Maguire, of Glen Meyer, defeated his neighbor, John Hazen for the reevship by 14 votes, and the empty seat which the latter left in the council was won by George Whittell by two votes over J. W. Hetherington.

"Facing the Music" The Waterford Dramatic Society played "Facing the Music" last night at the Parish Hall, under the auspices of the I.O.B.E. There was fairly good turnout, though the evening was stormy and the troupe from up the line, gave an excellent amateur offering.

Mysterious Robbery Rev. Jno. Robertson, of Port Dover Interim-moderator of St. Paul's here, was up on Monday evening presiding at a meeting of sessions held in the vestry of the church, and while there left his overcoat in the schoolroom. When the meeting was over and the Moderator was about to leave the church, he found that $30 had been taken from a pocket of the coat. Other monies and a couple of bicycles left in the environs of St. Paul's have recently mysteriously disappeared. The police are baffled in this and kindred matters from the fact that so far as the children of the town are concerned, there is practically no private property recognized as such, and the presence of boys and youths where they should not be passes without rousing suspicion.

One of the teachers at the public school, gave her class some admonition and advice regarding the practice in vogue of marking fences and walls with school chalk.

Lt. Col. Morris of the 15th Brant-Norfolk-Haldimand Battalion, was in town again yesterday and accompanied by members of the civilian re-levy called on Major Jackson with a request that he accept the command of a Norfolk company to be recruited here, and for the present quarters at Simcoe. Major Jackson declined to accept the responsibility at the moment, and the matter stands there. Interviewed last evening, Major Jackson pointed out that a younger brother, who had dropped his college work and turned in to office work when the Major enlisted in the 133rd, had since the latter's resignation, signed up with a Toronto unit, and the business requires his presence at home.

Yesterday's snow storm interfered with and temporarily stopped considerable building construction in progress.

THE STATESMEN

Oh, what's the use of statesmanship, with all its advertising? Expenses never leave their grip, and costs are ever rising. We've listened through a long campaign to statesmen's endless chatter; they tried to make all subjects plain, save those that really matter. Why do we find this life so hard? Why are we always busted? With statesmen evermore on guard, our heads are adjusted. The statesman in your neighborhood will with liver.

SIDE TALKS BY RUTH YERSON & CAMERON

CHARGE IT

Do you have any charge accounts? I can just imagine the horrified look on the faces of some of my readers as they mentally answer, "NO!" And I know just how they feel. A charge account ought not to make one extravagant. It costs no less to pay for things a month later than when you buy them. But somehow it is apt to make one a little less watchful about money, unless one is very strong-minded. I once protested that I could be impervious to the dangerous influence of "Charge it," but at the end of a year I realized that I had not. How unwise! I had not. I would never have thought if I had had to take the actual money out of my purse instead of saying "Charge it."

We All Carry One Charge Account. How unwise! I had not. I would never have thought if I had had to take the actual money out of my purse instead of saying "Charge it."

BOY'S SUIT

By Anabel Worthington.

Very much in style this season is the Russian suit for a small boy. This type of suit has been well tried out and proved to be the most favored.

Your boy can go anywhere if decked out in a suit like the one in the picture. The blouse is made with a plait at each side of the back and the plaited section is joined to a yoke, giving a very pretty line across the shoulders. At front, a backward turning tuck is made at the left side, where the blouse fastens, as suggested by the button decoration. A similar row of buttons at the opposite side cleverly introduces the much loved double-breasted effect.

The collar is detachable, and the tie, of course, makes the boy quite manly looking. The patch pocket will easily win Tommy or Johnny, but suit yourself about making the bloomer trousers with leg bands or elastic. Serge, homespun, chevrot and the mixtures are good for this style, and the pattern promises an exact duplicate whether or not you have used a pattern before. The suit pattern, No. 8037, cuts in sizes 2, 4 and 6. To make in size 4 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch material, with 1/2 yard contrasting goods. To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin ends all stomach distress in five minutes. You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—of a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you must insure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain untailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs; its cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over. Keep a perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead in their stomachs and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Many heroic incidents were crowded into the hours in which Canadians at the battle of Vimy held the village of Courcellette. The commanding officer of a famous French-Canadian unit is now in a London hospital for an operation which will, it is hoped, prove to be a comparatively minor affair. It is a sequel to the strenuous fighting in which he and his battalions have been engaged on the Somme de late. A representative of The Canadian Gazette, has obtained from this commanding officer the following narrative: "Among the prisoners we took were two officers—one a baron and the other a count. The baron did not like being sent back with the other prisoners as the Germans were shelling us pretty badly. So I gave him a quarter of an hour to think about it. I asked him if he would like to be sent back with the other prisoners as the Germans were shelling us pretty badly. So I gave him one which had been lying over some wounded. He handed it to one of his men and he and his men ran away. For a time we lost him, but we found him later. He had been very arrogant to begin with, but soon dawned later, I might add that the two German doctors we took behaved extremely well in looking after the wounded."

Italian Airman Honored. A fight on October 12, between an Italian dirigible airship and an Austrian aeroplane, at a height of more than three miles over the Albanian coast, resulting in the air plane being shot down and the dirigible afterward being destroyed by its own single surviving officer, 30 miles inside the Austrian lines, was first described to the public when King Victor Emmanuel conferred medals for valor on three members of the Italian air corps. The officer, Capt. Brocchi, whose left arm had been disabled after two days of wandering and suffering from cold and hunger managed to elude the Austrians, and recrossing the mountains, finally reached the Italian camp. King Victor conferred a gold medal for valor on Captain Brocchi and silver medals on the two observers, who were killed by the aeroplane's machine gun fire.

DEATH ANOTHER FOE OF BELGIANS

Tuberculosis Wipes Out Many Suffering from Lack of Nourishment.

"Death they preferred to monstrous friendship, the German invaders are now inflicting on them, coldly, slowly, methodically." This was the description of the condition Belgium is in to-day, as described by one who is closely in touch with the situation. Those Belgians—seven million of them, mostly women and children, bravely declared their preference of death to friendship of the enemy in the early days of the war, and now that death is upon them.

It is not only the death of starvation but the death produced by the ravages of tuberculosis, following months of poor nourishment. Hundreds of them—non-combatants all—are dying this terrible death, and worst of all, the German conquerors stand by and see the results of their work and the accomplishment of their purpose.

They have threatened to wipe out the nation which thwarted their aims in the early days of the war. They have put a blight upon the loved ones of those soldiers who stopped them in their march on London, and in spite of all the Belgian Relief Committee has done, the million it has saved, the Germans have, in a measure, been permitted to see their threats materialize. Millions of tons of food have been distributed to these people, but the Belgian Relief Committee can only distribute as the food is given them. Canada has her part to do in this giving, has her quota of Belgians to save from the death that the Germans long to see come, and that part can only be done through the contribution of her people to the Belgian Relief Committee. There is a branch of the committee in your town. Send your money there or to the Belgian Relief Committee, 59 St. Peter Street, Montreal. It may mean the life of some poor Belgian woman or child.

DON'T WANT PEACE PILGRIM

By Courier Leased Wire.

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—The Rev. Charles F. Aked, who resigned the pastorate of the First Congregational Church, to accept an appointment on the Ford Peace Commission, will not be invited to resume charge of his former flock, although the congregation was informed last night, he was willing to do so at a lower salary than he was receiving at the time he resigned. The decision was by vote of the congregation.

O'LEARY ELECTED.

London, Nov. 16.—D. O'Leary, Irish Nationalist and an adherent of John Redmond, has been elected a member of the House of Commons, from the west division of Cork county, in succession to James F. Gilhooly, who died October 16 last. O'Leary had a plurality of 117 votes over the number cast for his chief opponent, Frank Healy, a member of the O'Brien party. There was great interest in the election in Ireland, this being the first contest since the death of Redmond. The vote stood: O'Leary 1,866, Healy 1,749, Dr. Shipsey, Independent, 369.

SELECTION OF THE JURYMEN

For Teiper Murder Trial Occupies Considerable Time.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Seventy-five talesmen, who had been summoned in other terms of the Supreme Court were ordered to reappear in criminal term to-day, where a jury is being selected for the trial of John Edward Teiper, alleged murderer of his mother and brother.

Three jurors were in the jury box when court reconvened. The selection of additional members was marked by the same caution that characterized the opening day's proceedings. District attorney Moore rejected all who had prejudices against conviction on purely circumstantial evidence, while counsel for Teiper asked each talesman as to the value he would place on previous good conduct as against circumstantial evidence.

$250,000,000 FOR CHARITIES FOR WAR

Is Sum Raised in British Empire During Past Two Years.

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Nov. 17.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Estimates completed for the first two years of the war show that the enormous sum of $250,000,000 has been raised in the British Empire for charities growing out of the world conflict.

Of this amount more than $100,000,000 has been contributed for the relief of distress and the re-establishment of men returning to civilian life. The Prince of Wales Fund is perhaps the greatest of the public charities dealing with distress. About $60,000,000, however, has been raised in factories, banks, offices and business establishments through weekly contributions for the assistance of families and dependents of employees who have gone to the front. Part of such funds is, of course, being reserved for relief work after the war.

For sick and wounded soldiers and sailors the contributions are estimated at $30,000,000, most of which has been raised and administered by the British Red Cross. Another $30,000,000 has been spent for soldiers' "comforts," such as tobacco, mufflers, pipes, socks, mittens, gloves, sweaters, safety razors, insect powder, needles, sewing cotton, writing materials, chocolates and sweets.

It is estimated that fully $50,000,000, contributed in the Empire, has gone for relief work among the Allies, the largest amount going to Belgium. Relief among the Belgian refugees in Great Britain also has called for large expenditures.

ORGANIZER IN QUEBEC

By Courier Leased Wire.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 17.—At the convention of the American Federation of Labor to-day, the executive committee was instructed to place an organizer in the Province of Quebec as soon as practicable. It was set forth that the majority of the employees in a large number of unorganized industries in the province were of French-Canadian lineage, unable to understand but little English. The situation was said to be "menacing and retarding the growth and progress of the internal trade union movement."

SIR SAM, CIVILIAN

By Courier Leased Wire.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—F. B. McGurdy is in charge of affairs at the militia department to-day, and one of his callers was Sir Sam Hughes in civilian garb. Hon. A. E. Kemp is still favorite in the speculation as to Sir Sam's successor in the portfolio.

HUNS PURCHASE OIL PAINTINGS

Apparently Many Germans Still Have Money Not For The War.

(Associated Press)

Berlin, Nov. 17.—Rich Germans still have money for other purposes than buying war bonds as is evident from an auction sale of oil paintings just held here. A collection of 144 pictures, which belonged to the late Privy-Councillor Hugo Schmeel of Dresden, brought a total of $285,000. The highest price, $14,570, was paid for an early work of Max Liebermann in the style of Rembrandt, representing a girl making preserves. A small portrait by Leibl brought $10,000, and two other portraits by him each $5,460, but a Leinbach portrait of Bismarck (in civilian clothing) went at the surprisingly low price of $2,300. A peasant's farm-yard at noon by Segantini, a small canvass, was knocked down at $5,800, which shows that the great Italian master has lost nothing of his popularity in Germany through the war. Three pictures by the Frenchman Courbet brought together only $11,800.

SEPTEMBER MORN

"September Morn," the best of the season's musical comedy offerings, comes to the Grand Opera House for one matinee and one night, with William Moore, Ruth Williams and a jolly crew of nearly fifty assistant entertainers.

"September Morn" is not of the old school farce comedy but rather of the present day fun show, with an elaborate costume and graceful dancing, spirited and charming choruses of good looking girls who master the big ensembles in a way that lends a general swing to the performance that is delightfully new and refreshing.

Ruth Wilkins, "The American Gaby Deslys," is seen in this revel of fun, songs and tangos in a series of dances now the rage, assisted by the smartest company of the season, who were the originals in the Paris at the LaSalle Opera House, Chicago, where "September Morn" recently enjoyed one of the most successful runs ever recorded in that popular home of musical comedy.

THE BRANT

Dustin Farnum, one of the most popular motion picture actors of the day, both in Brantford and elsewhere, is to be seen at the Brant Theatre this week-end, in his latest successful production "The Parson of Parrott." In this play, the noted actor is afforded perhaps more ample scope for the exercise of his wonderful personality than ever before, and his rendition of the role of the parson is indeed well worth seeing.

Other features upon the motion picture bill are ever popular serial "The Iron Claw" and the mirth provoking comedy cartoons "Mutt and Jeff." The three features present a novelty trained bird and animal act of exceptionally high quality, while the Harlequin Trio have a dancing number of the highest degree of excellence.

"When Dreams Come True." The attraction to-night at Opera House will be "When Dreams Come True," a musical comedy that had a great vogue in Chicago and New York, in which cities it was played for more than one year to crowded houses. "When Dreams Come True" is described as a musical comedy of youth, and was written by Philip Bartholomae, author of "Little Miss Brown," "Very Good Eddie," and "Over Night," three of the most successful farces ever produced. The excellence of his previous efforts at play-making has been duplicated by Mr. Bartholomae in the book of "When Dreams Come True," with the result that he has produced one of the most amusing and diverting librettos ever seen on the stage. The musical numbers are from the prolific pen of Silvio Hain, one of the younger composers, who has gained much acclaim as a composer.

The story of "When Dreams Come True" concerns the adventures of a young American, who is stranded in Paris, and his efforts to return home. The complications that ensue furnish much scope for farcical situations and the author has taken full advantage of the opportunities offered. The locale of the different scenes affords the scenic artist a wide range, and some of the most novel examples of his art are shown during the action of the piece. The first act shows the scene deck of an ocean liner, and this scene has been pronounced by critics one of the most realistic scenes ever shown on a stage.

The dancing numbers, of which there are nearly a score, show the latest variations of the modern dancers, in addition to a number of dances conceived by the producer, which are unique in their novelty and originality. The song features are many and of the popular hitting sort that will not only please the many, but also appeal to the ear of the trained musician. Especially is this true of the title song, "When Dreams Come True." The company employed to present "When Dreams Come True," numbers forty people, all well known as musical comedy artists of high ability.

"When Dreams Come True" will be seen at the Grand and the promise is made that this will be one of the most enjoyable performances seen in our city this season.

The Fall of a Nation.

Thomas Dixon, author of "The Birth of a Nation," just released to the entire United States his sequel to the former work which he calls "The Fall of a Nation." On the music side he has had the collaboration of Victor Herbert. Mr. Herbert is the first of the prominent composers to write a complete original score for a picture spectacle. The musical accompaniment will be performed by a large orchestra.

In writing and staging "The Fall of a Nation," Thomas Dixon has kept particularly in view the world struggle between Democracy and Imperialism as it affects the United States. After a prologue exemplifying the foreign immigrants' debt of gratitude to the Union, the play proper opens with the scenes of political conflict preceding the great conspiracy against the life of the Republic. John Vassar's National Defense Bill is defeated in Congress. Virginia Holland, though admiring his pluck, spurns his principles and encourages Charles Waldron, the professed friend of Peace.

Practically without warning the storm breaks over New York when 20,000 aliens of European military training rise at Waldron's signal, capture the National Guard armories overnight, and train the big guns on New York's unarmed citizenry. A wild exodus ensues to Long Island where an American army is hastily raised. But while this is taking place the powerful fleet of the Confederation of Northern Europe has met and defeated the Atlantic squadron. The convoyed Imperial army, 150,000 strong, effects a landing and in a three-day battle routs the Americans utterly.

Waldron puts on regal uniform and is hailed vicerey of the "Provinces of North America." The well-populated part of the country is captured by the foreign legions. Vassar is a fugitive in the West. Waldron sends forth Virginia on the mission of enrolling her American sisters in the "Woman's Imperial Legion of Honor."

The final scenes of the play show Virginia as of the staff of Joan of Arc. Professed to fulfill the vicerey's mission, she organizes a gigantic counter-plot to free the enslaved Union. Allied with John Vassar, General Hood and the other American leaders, she atones for her former folly by risking life and honor for the cause of Freedom. Here are shown scenes like the Sicilian Vespers, where an entire population rises to exterminate foreign usurpers. Conspicuous in the dreadful yet glorious fray are the Daughters of Jael, an oath-bound band of women patriots.

The story as a whole brings in many extraordinary types of the polyglot nationalities of which America is composed. Besides the big army of supernumeraries, a very large cast of principals was employed, some of the more important being Arthur Shirley, Borralne Hullins, Percy Standing, C. E. Geldert, Phillip Castrock, Paul Willis, Flora MacDonald, Lella Prost, Edna Mae Wilson, Mildred Brackea, Clarence G. Barr, May Giroci, Beulah Burns.

BETH, THE DREAM GIRL. With "When Dreams Come True," the Tameful Musical Comedy, Coming to the Grand Opera House.

Roy W. Howard, of Larchmont, N.Y., president of the United Press Association of New York, was held in $500 bail on a charge of manslaughter for running down Frederick Reynolds, twenty-six, of Greenwich, at Byram Hill on the Boston Post road last night. Reynolds died in the United Hospital, Port Chester, half an hour later.

REBELLION DID NOT HARM IRELAND

Country is in Better Condition Now Than a Year Previous.

Dublin, Ireland, Nov. 17.—(Associated Press) The Dublin correspondent of the Associated Press has interviewed Right Hon. James Gallagher, Mayor of Dublin, in reference to statements which have been regarding a supposed exceptional state of distress in the city of the April rebellion, and its suppression.

The Lord Mayor said: "We absolutely better off this year last year, notwithstanding the rebellion. There is, as far as I see, no exceptional distress at all. There is, on the contrary, a deal of money coming into the city for the allowances for the pensions of the men, most of the working classes, who served in the army. Information obtained from various traders in the city leads me to say that trade is as good as never better than it was twelve months ago. Moreover, employment has added to owing to the amount of munition work done in the city have five or six factories each employing from one hundred to six hundred hands. Women are doing very good wages, and Dublin has proved very adaptable in making. "The effect of the rebellion," the Lord Mayor, "was only temporary. A certain number of men were thrown out of employment, the destruction of the premises which they worked; but that was promptly repaired. The amount of munition work done in the city has got up a fund which amounts to five or six thousand pounds, a local committee which had working for the relief of the fund in relief of war distressed resources something like $100,000 in addition. We had a very good success in distributing these to the necessitous of all the men very well by the local relief."

REBELLION DID NOT HARM IRELAND

Country is in Better Condition Now Than a Year Previous.

Dublin, Ireland, Nov. 17.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) The Dublin correspondent of The Associated Press has interviewed the Right Hon. James Gallagher, Lord Mayor of Dublin, in reference to the statements which have been made regarding a supposed exceptional state of distress in the city due to the April rebellion, and its suppression.

The Lord Mayor said: "We are absolutely better off this year than last year, notwithstanding the rebellion. There is, as far as I can see, no exceptional distress at all. There is, on the contrary, a good deal of money coming into the city for separation allowances for the dependents of the men, most of them of the working classes, who joined the army. Information obtained from various traders in the city enable me to say that trade is as good, if not better than it was twelve months ago. Moreover, employment has been added to, owing to the amount of munition work done in the city. We have five or six factories each employing from one hundred to six hundred hands. Women are earning very good wages, and Dublin women have proved very adaptable in shell making. The result is that the government is able to turn out shells in Dublin and in Ireland generally, cheaper than it can do it in England."

"The effect of the rebellion," said the Lord Mayor, "was only temporary. A certain number of people were thrown out of employment by the destruction of the premises in which they worked; but that temporary need was promptly met. I got up a fund which amounted to five or six thousand pounds, and the local committee which had been working for the Prince of Wales' fund in relief of war distress, gave me permission to spend from their resources something like 2,000 pounds in addition. We had the advantage in distributing these funds to the necessitous of all the machinery used by the local relief com-

TWO SHOTS
By Courier Leased Wire.
Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16.—Harry Paul and Morris Harris, fruit merchants of Wyandotte, a suburb of Detroit, were shot and instantly killed late last night while walking along a street in that town. Two foreigners were taken into custody and when they were placed in jail, countrymen began a demonstration outside the building. A heavy guard was promptly stationed at the jail.

Just what the motive for the crime was, has not been established. The victims were said to have been quite well-to-do and in the pockets of one was found $500. A rifle was used in the killing, according to the sheriff's office.

SUBMARINE MENACE
By Courier Leased Wire.
London, Nov. 16.—The Times, commenting to-day on the submarine discussion in the House of Lords yesterday, endorses Baron Sydenham's reference to public uneasiness over the menace.

"Confidence of the nation, in the navy and its commanders is boundless," says The Times, "but it does not extend without qualification to the Board of Admiralty. The new German submarine campaign has been an obvious and growing menace for a considerable period, and the country is by no means satisfied that the Admiralty has been alive to it."

EARLY CLOSING OF SHOPS ENFORCED

In Great Britain, All Stores Must Close at 8 p.m.

London, Nov. 17.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The latest drastic act for government control of business in the interest of war efficiency is the law passed by parliament for early closing of shops. All shop keepers, great and small, must shut their places of business at eight o'clock except on Saturdays nights when they may keep open until nine. The first proposal was for earlier closing, but the bill was amended to grant an extra hour for five days of the week, by changing seven to eight.

The chief object aimed at is economy of coal. One of the great assets of Great Britain during the war is its revenue from the exportation of coal and moreover, its allies need all they can get. Like every other war measure, however, this act excites and creates complications, although the people as a whole will accept it cheerfully as they have other inconveniences. The small shop-keepers who live at their place of business are the ones who find most objection. One ground of criticism is that the public houses are still to be opened until half past nine. "Why should men and women be allowed to gather in drinking places and buy beer, if they cannot loaf in a cigar store and buy cigars, and gossip with the clerks?" Some of the questions asked. Places where meals are served may remain open, but only for the purpose of giving meals. They cannot sell cigars, nor can they sell ready or food to be taken off the premises, since the shopkeepers dealing in the same commodities are forbidden to do so. Nor can the night hawkers who have carts in the streets for dispensing coffee and lunches to late workers, according to some constructions of the law, sell cakes to be taken away.

Some of the complications concern places of amusement. "The theatres and music halls must not sell cigars and confectionary after eight o'clock if we cannot," say the small shopkeepers. "That would be class legislation, and unfair competition. Smokers who are up late, hereafter, must have tobacco in their pockets, or go without."

PAID FOR SITTINGS.
By Courier Leased Wire.

The Hague, Netherlands, Nov. 17.—To prevent irregular attendance in the Second Chamber of the Dutch Parliament, the Prime Minister, Mr. Cort van der Linden, has brought forward the proposition that members shall be paid an extra fee of $2 for every sitting they attend. He proposes also that the yearly salary of members shall be raised from $30,000 to $12,000, with right to pension. According to the Dutch Constitution, not only is the Chamber debarred from taking any decision unless more than half its members are present, but it may not even deliberate. The "absenteeism" has not only sometimes prevented parliamentary sittings opening at the appointed hour, but has even occasionally entirely stopped the Chamber from proceeding with its business.

KRUPP SAVINGS.
By Courier Leased Wire.

Essen, Germany, Nov. 17.—The war time earnings of the employes of Krupp, are indicated by their savings in the bank established for them by the firm. For the fiscal year 1915-16 the number of depositors in the Krupp savings bank increased by the record-breaking figure of 8,983, and their deposits by 4,865,602 marks. That brings the total number of depositors up to 31,887 and the total savings up to 12,844,983 marks. The number of savers thus is nearly one half of the number of persons employed by Krupp, and three-fourths of the number employed at about the beginning of the fiscal year for which the figures are taken.

AERIAL FORCES BOARD
By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Nov. 16.—Lieut-General Von Hoepfer has been placed in command of the new aerial forces board of Germany, according to an Amsterdam despatch to Reuters, quoting an official Berlin announcement. The new board has control of all aviation and anti-aircraft requirements of the German army and has been formed in recognition of the increasing importance of aerial warfare.

TWO MISSING.
By Courier Leased Wire.

Toledo, O., Nov. 16.—Missing since Tuesday morning, two men in Commodore Charles B. Greening's speed boat, the Baby Rambler, Clint Winn, 34, and Shylar Bartholomew, 17, have been given up for lost. The men started in the teeth of a gale to drive the craft from Monroe, twenty miles away to Toledo for drydock and have not been heard from since. Tugs which searched the lake between here and Put-in-Bay yesterday afternoon failed to find a trace of the men or the boat. The Baby Rambler was one of the fastest semi-hydroplanes on the great lakes, and had been a contender in inter-lake yachting association regattas since she was built five years ago.

MILK IMPROVER
By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Nov. 17.—To avoid hardships arising out of the higher price of milk, the Housewives War League has put on the market a so-called "milk-improver." It is a white powder, with the correct combination of casein and flesh-forming constituents. A penny's worth, mixed with a pint of water, is added to a quart of cow's milk, and the housewife has a quart of "just-as-good."

MISSSES' AND SMALL WOMEN'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.
Any girl under twenty will be beautifully and appropriately dressed in a frock like the one illustrated, and in which the quality known as "style" is charmingly expressed. The overeffect is cleverly introduced, and altogether the design is quite original.
The one piece blouse body has the newest kind of collar and attractive full length sleeves with frill finish. The overbodice, in fancy outline, is prettily trimmed with covered buttons, and the gathered skirt joined to it under a silk sash is similarly favored. The trimming bands may be used or not as you prefer, and one or two materials may be employed in the making.
For the bi-weekly social affairs at college, in net and silk, or like combination, this would make a very pretty frock. Then for an afternoon dress, or one suitable for church wear, serge and satin, serge and serge and the like are appropriate. The material used will decide the service of the garment. All serge, with braid trimming, will give a serviceable little dress for a miss or a small woman that will be neat and stylish.
The dress pattern, No. 3053, cuts in sizes 14-20 years. To make in size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards 36 inch material for skirt and over waist; 1 1/2 yards for the blouse body, with 1 1/2 yards 36 inch silk for a girle; or 5/8 yards all one material.
To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

ART AT THE FRONT; SALTS IS FINE FOR WORK OF SOLDIERS; KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Exposition of Creations of the French "Poilus" Is Truly Wonderful.

French Front, Nov. 17.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—An exposition of Art at the Front composed of the creations of soldiers of the French army now on view at Compiegne includes contributions from every branch of the service. Pictures in oils and water colors, colored crayons and pencil, charcoal and burnt wood are displayed side by side with statuettes carved out of chalk or soft stone or modelled in plaster colors to represent nature. Metal objects made of shell cases, hammered in beautiful designs to form flower holders and lamps, and splinters of steel shells made into paper weights and inkstands, rifle cartridges transformed into pen and pencil holders, paper cutters, thumb-nails, and other useful things, fuses made into finger and napkin rings, fancy work baskets fashioned out of the long wicker cases in which loaded projectiles for the big guns are conveyed to the firing line—all give evidence that art goes together with war.

Many of the pictures exhibit a strength which can never be found in any accidental salon. They all represent objects of actuality as seen by the men themselves and reproduced in such a way as to bring home to those who see them the conditions under which the soldiers live in face of the enemy. There is no idealism or fantasy in the men's work—all is realism. This, however, does not prevent many of the artists from portraying humor in its broadest sense, for the soldier in the field is very keen on the comic side, and some of the caricatures are excellent. Few people have had the opportunity of seeing the exposition, owing to the difficulty of reaching Compiegne under the restrictions of war time, but arrangements have been made for the transfer of the collection to Paris and possibly later to America. It is probable that the work of the soldiers of other French armies will be joined together with this exhibit.

The soldier-artists are content with very small recompense for their work. They have given them up in order to provide themselves with a few small comforts during the coming winter, on condition that purchasers make a contribution towards the assistance of their wounded and invalid comrades.

There are works by winners of the Prize of Rome of the French Academy who were mobilized while pursuing their studies and some of these in later years may come to be regarded as masterpieces.

Flush the Kidneys at Once when Back Hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

VILLISTAS IN AMERICAN CAMP

Many Followers of Mexican Bandit Are Friendly to "Gringos."

(Associated Press) Field Headquarters, American Punitive Expedition, Mexico, Nov. 17.—Followers of Francisco Villa have been discovered in headquarters camp. Thus far, none has been molested, nor placed in the stockade with the score captured during the southward drive of the Punitive Expedition. They go about the camp openly and even receive American gold, at the rate of about a dollar a day, which is wealth for a peon.

These Villistas, however, harbor no evil designs against the American troops. Neither do they talk about their affiliations with the bandit leader. For they now are Pacifico and declare that half of the poor people of the southern republic would do just as they are doing, work in a desultory fashion for the army of the north, if given an opportunity.

But few of the laborers stay long in camp. Their fear of Villa is too great. The threat Villa has made to kill every man and woman who turns a hand for the "invaders," strikes a chill to their hearts.

MUSHROOMS HIGH

(Associated Press) Berlin, Nov. 17.—For an explainable reason except speculation mushrooms have soared in price to such a height that the authorities are being called on to step in, establish maximum prices, or take some similar measure to keep them within reach of the common people. This season mushrooms are so plentiful that the price paid by the wholesaler to those who gather them ranges from 30 to 40 pfennigs a pound. Even at this low rate, families during the summer made from 80 to 100 marks a day by making excursions into the country and picking up as many mushrooms as they could carry.

MANY WOMEN EMPLOYED

(Associated Press) Berlin, Nov. 17.—According to the official municipal insurance bureau, the number of women now employed industrially has advanced to 47.5 per cent. of all workers, as against 26.8 per cent. a little over thirty years ago. It rose from 24.5 per cent. in 1907, an average year, to 26.3 in 1914, to 42.2 in 1915, and to 47.5 in 1916. Whereas the number of women now at work almost exactly equals the number of men, in some industries female help far outweighs numerically male help. This is especially the case in the textile and the paper industries. Though the excess of women employment seems in no manner to have lessened the number of women who are now offering their services.

TAKE THIS WITH A GRAIN OF SALT.

(Associated Press) Washington, Nov. 17.—Saline matter in the ocean is estimated at a little more than 4,800,000 cubic miles which, according to the United States Geological Survey, is enough to cover the entire surface of the United States to a depth of 8,500 feet.

Says we can't look our right with the system full of poisons.

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Trouble—Salts Fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid, which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headaches, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's wastes get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now, and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

CHOLERA IN JAPAN

(Associated Press) Tokio, Nov. 17.—Although cool weather has brought a decrease of cholera at Tokio the malady continues to spread at Osaka. Up to October 16th the cases at Tokio had reached 548; at Osaka the total was 2,001, with an increase of twenty daily.

At Tokio there have been 151 deaths. The authorities believe that cholera at Tokio is the epidemic will be entirely wiped out here. No foreigner has been attacked by the disease, so far as is known. The spread of cholera to Korea has had a serious economic effect there as the authorities have prohibited fishing in a zone extending along 200 miles of coast. Cholera is believed by many physicians to be easily circulated from fish tissue and the fishermen of Korea are said to have failed to comply with sanitary measures ordered by the health department. Some 270,000 fishermen, commanding 40,000 boats, are thus thrown out of work at the most fruitful fishing period of the year. Fearful of fish as a microbe carrier has reduced the consumption of fish throughout the Japanese Empire and as fish, next to rice, is the chief food of the people the ban placed upon it has caused misery among both fishermen and distributor.

His Solution of Food Problems Is Met With General Approval.

(By Courier Leased Wire.) London, Nov. 16.—The speech of Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, in parliament yesterday outlining the government's proposal for dealing with all parts of problems was welcomed in all parts of the House, Sir Edward Carson, on behalf of the opposition and George J. Wardle, for the Laborites, agreed that the House was ready to grant the power asked without the formality of a bill. The debate on the resolution of William Hewins, Unionist member from Hereford, declaring that it was the duty of the government to adopt further methods of organization, to increase and conserve the national food supply, was not concluded when the House adjourned. It is understood that Premier Asquith will make a statement next week in regard to the appointment of a food controller.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Cainsville Branch of the Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, November 7th at the home of Mrs. Nelson Ramey, there being a good number of ladies present. Mrs. Ross, the president, had charge. The meeting was opened in the usual way. The president made the announcement that one hundred dollars had been raised to help buy the Field Ambulance for the 215th battalion, it being the full amount of their share. It was decided to spend twenty dollars in yarn and the ladies were present at that day and knit socks for the soldiers. Mrs. Kerr of the local Y. W. C. A. was present and gave a most earnest and touching address. Mrs. Secord of Brantford, also addressed the meeting along the lines of "Equal Rights" showing the necessity and the benefits of such a world-wide movement. A great many signed their names to the Women's Suffrage petition, which is being sent to the government. A most profitable meeting was closed by all singing the National Anthem.

Frank Boyder, 18, met death in frightful form at Lebanon, Pa., when he was caught in the loop of a bar of white-hot iron and both of his legs sawed off by the bar as it flashed through the rolls of the seven-inch mill at the Lebanon Valley Iron and Steel Co's plant, in Hebron. A turpentine bath, which he said his wife gave him, featured the funeral of Rev. John E. Triplett, a Presbyterian minister, of Woodbury, N.J., who is suing his wife, Mrs. Dorothy N. Triplett, for divorce. The minister testified that his wife poured the turpentine down his collar as he was leaning over.

Rubber Actually Drops In Price While Everything Else Goes Up

How British Government's Foresight Saves Canadian Millions of Dollars. It pays to Protect Expensive Shoes by Wearing Rubbers and Overshoes Which Cost So Little.

Rubbers have not gone up in price because, though labor costs more and the cotton and chemicals used in their manufacture have increased 50% to 100%, the rubber itself actually costs less. Up till about 1908, the rubber forests of South America and Africa, producing about 60,000 tons a year, easily supplied the demand, and rubber sold at $1.00 to $1.30 a pound. But when motor cars began to multiply, and the use of rubber belting, hose, footwear and a hundred other things kept on increasing, the consumption of rubber grew phenomenally, quickly exceeding the supply. By 1910 raw rubber had gone up to $3.00 a pound and rubber goods of all kinds kept pace. Probably you remember paying excessive prices for rubbers for a year or two.

In this alarming situation relief came—not as the World expected, from synthetic rubber invented by German chemists—but from plantation rubber grown in Ceylon, Sumatra and the Malay States, with the encouragement and aid of an Empire-building British Government. These plantations, begun several years earlier, came into the market in 1910 with 5,200 tons—11% of the World's supply. By 1914, when the war broke out, they were producing 60% of the total—and controlled the situation.

Then, with a practical monopoly of raw rubber and absolute control of the seas, Great Britain was in a position to supply the enormous war requirements of the Allies and to cut the Teutons off completely. This, of course, she has done, but, instead of chasing the rest of the world high prices, the British Government actually lowered the price to less than 70 cents a pound—a figure below that asked before the war.

This means a substantial saving to every man, woman and family in Canada—a saving doubly important on account of the 80% advance in the cost of shoe leather. It means that a pair of rubbers, costing from 75 cents to $1.25, will practically double the life of a pair of shoes, costing five to ten times as much. Under these conditions it certainly pays to have a pair of rubbers to fit every pair of shoes, heavy as well as light, worn by every member of the family—for nothing rots and destroys even the most expensive shoes like wearing them in bad weather without rubbers.

Besides the saving of money and the invaluable protection to health, wearing rubbers helps to win the war. The soldiers MUST have leather in vast quantities for shoes and equipment—and it is getting scarcer all the time. So every pair of boots we save releases leather for military use and is but a fair return to the British Government, whose foresight and fairness have made our rubbers so cheap.

Comedy of Graft Acted in China

"FOR ways that are dark and for tricks that are vain the heathen Chinese is peculiar." This we learn on the auriferous of the late Bret Harte, and his penetrating observation has just been confirmed by an incident which recently happened at Shanghai and set all China laughing. The Peking correspondent of The London Times sends to his paper a story from which we gather that even Chinese of such exalted station as Ministers of Justice are not altogether free from the "ways that are dark," but unfortunately for these members of the Cabinet the incident on this occasion, was distinctly vain.

To quote The Times:

"The funniest thing in China today is the Parliament, on which the results of the election of 1916, which the country has passed. To be more explicit—Parliament has been made to look supremely ridiculous by a gigantic swindle, engineered by some of its members.

"From distant Yunnan, the birthplace of the antimilitarist movement which destroyed Yuan Shih Kai, a recently set forth a band of patriots bound for the capital. The party included the newly appointed Minister of Justice, a member of the resuscitated Parliament, a large-hearted general who had led a brigade in the fight for freedom, and the A.D.C.'s and secretaries and assistants of the above-mentioned notabilities. At a certain stage of their journey by sea to Shanghai a telegram was sent giving warning of their approach and requesting the Customs facilities usually accorded to high officials.

Here it must be observed that the Chinese Customs are not controlled by the Central Government at Peking, but are in the hands of a body of foreign officials who collect the revenue derived from this source. Under these circumstances the English and French officials of the Customs Service are not, as a rule, overawed by the dignity of Chinese members of Parliament, who generally received as even-handed treatment as mere plain citizens or foreign merchant-men. To return to The Times story:

"On arrival at Shanghai the baggage of the party was bowed past the preventive officers without examination, and joyfully removed to a native hotel in the International Settlement.

"There one followed a quick distribution of the baggage to the far corners of the city. The municipal police, however, just arrived in time to catch the last of the baggage, and to arrest the M. P.'s in charge. These gentlemen bitterly opposed the examination of their belongings, and swore that the trunks contained nothing but official papers. But the foreign policemen, being without bowsels, forcibly opened the boxes, and found them filled to the brim with opium. They obtained other evidence, which enabled them to trace twenty more trunks to the official residence of the Chinese city magistrate. These, being found in an adjacent house, were given up, and on examination were also found to contain 'official papers!'

"The case was brought before the Mixed Court in Shanghai. The opium seized is valued at 1,000,000 taels (say $750,000), and there are 38 trunks still missing, believed to contain opium worth 4,500,000 taels. The General and three members of Parliament are in prison, with bail with the case. One of them was found a letter to a friend containing the naive confession that they were worried over three things—how to get back their lost 'faces'; how to dispose of the opium in the magistrate's Yamen; and what to do with the rest of the opium! Warrants are now out for several others of the party, but are presently not for the Minister of Justice, who vigorously denies complicity, stating that he traveled independently with a single servant and a small quantity of baggage. Unfortunately for the Minister, the trunks which passed the Customs and were found to contain opium were labeled 'H. E. Chang Yoteng and Delegates,' and it will be for him to show that his name was used without his knowledge.

"The case has created a great sensation among the Chinese. These opposed to Republics and Parliaments and such like rejoice in loud voices, pointing the finger of scorn at the staff of the Parliaments are made. The other side are in the depths, because their 'faces' has been rubbed in the dirt."

PROBS

Mr. Douglas S. Robertson, correspondent of the Toronto press in London, England, sent following letter to that paper reference to the recent experience at the front of C. Raymond of this city.

Five days and nights lying in a shell-hole out on No Man's land and yet alive to tell the tale, by a dollar and fast recovering!

Corporal W. Gladstone Raymond, of Brantford, went to the above harrowing experience the first wave of a local attack his battalion, the 58th of The Hussars, Corporal Raymond found himself all alone at the wire. The rest of the line had been killed, wounded or had fled. For the Boche was on the wire. The rest of the line had been killed, wounded or had fled. For the Boche was on the wire.

AMBULANCE TO ALL! Finding himself thus alone so close to the enemy, C. Raymond threw himself into shell-hole and from this advantage began heaving grenades on the Germans. A grenade laid him out with a hole in the shell-hole. The shells have fallen into the shell-hole when evening came our stretcher-bearers found him, and one got to him by way of a hollow into the shell-hole. The shells when a bullet got the poor fellow's head and he rolled over a murmur, stone dead. He
