HOME FROM KOYUKUK

Frank Gardner Returns This Morning.

Prospected Immense Tract of Country Formerly Untrodden by Man.

One of the first persons to step ashore this morning from the Sarah was Frank Gardner, fresh from the icy fields of the Koyukuk and brimming full of information and vivid experiences, hair-raising episodes and interesting tales of adventure enjoyed in the camp of the far north which last fall possessed such a remote hue. In Gardner's mind the glowing halo which hovered over the Koyukuk has gone a glimmering, the enchantment that distance lent has disappeared and in its stead there remains only an indelible recollection of a hard winter made more pronounced by the shortage of everything except the bare necessities, the total absence of any mazzu and the impossibility of locating anything that would yield even cold.

LORD SALISBURY RESIGNS THE PREMIERSHIP

Is Succeeded by Hon. A. J. Balfour, Government Leader in House of Commons—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Surrenders the Chancellorship of the Exchequer—The New Premier Makes Speech Today—Former Policy Will be Pursued—Salisbury's Well Earned Rest.

Special to the Daily Nugget. London, July 14.—Marquis Salisbury on Friday last resigned the premiership of Great Britain and yesterday was succeeded by Hon. A. J. Balfour, government leader in the commons. As yet but one member of the cabinet has seen fit to tender his resignation, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach having surrendered the chancellorship of the exchequer, although assuring the new leader of his best wishes. Balfour in addressing the party this morning said he was so well known to all by his record that no enunciation of his position is necessary, while as for the party its policy would be as it had been. He greatly deplored the loss to the party of his old chieftain but felt sure his right to a well-earned rest would be everywhere admitted.

PREFONTAINE SURPRISED

Former Mayor of Montreal Visits Creeks

And Forms Ideas of Magnitude of Klondike as a Mining Region.

Ex-Mayor Prefontaine of Montreal returned last evening from a visit to the various creeks of the district. He was accompanied on his trip by Governor Ross and Mr. Joseph Barrett.

When seen this morning by a representative of the Nugget Mr. Prefontaine expressed himself as being highly gratified at the extent and progress of operations on the creeks. "I was greatly surprised," he said, "to see the evidences of such a tremendous volume of work as is now in progress on the various creeks. We visited Hunter, Dominion, Gold Run, and Bonanza and to see the trip was one of the very greatest pleasure and profit.

"The roadways which have been constructed and others now being or in contemplation will prove, in my opinion, of the very greatest assistance in developing the splendid resources of the territory. Cheap and easy transportation are absolutely essential to the work of opening up any new country and I think you will find that in the future the Yukon will advance more rapidly than ever. "I very much regret that Minister of the Interior Sifton has not been able to come to Dawson this summer. The fact that the administration of the affairs of this territory comes so closely under his direction makes it very desirable that he should acquaint himself with the necessities of the district from personal observations. He is, however, not a strong man physically and the multitudinous cares of his office have proven a heavy burden. In any event I hope that he will be able to come to Dawson next year.

"It would be of great advantage to this country," continued the speaker, "if the people of the east were more generally informed as to the conditions of life here and with regard to the resources of the territory. They do not know anything about it, practically, and for that reason do not understand why heavy public appropriations should be made. However, it takes time to bring about all the changes that the country needs and I am glad to say that a feeling of interest is now being awakened in the east which will prove of great benefit in the end to this northern district."

Mr. Prefontaine expects to make a trip to Stewart river during the next few days and will return to the east in about three weeks. He is a most affable gentleman and shows plainly the results of long dealing in public affairs.

PORTLAND IS SAFE

Reached Her Destination, July 2

News Brought to Dawson by the Str. Sarah—Wire From Greenup.

Manager Mixer of the N. C. Co. received a wire last night from Captain Looney of the steamer Sarah at Eagle apprising him of the safety of the Portland. The arrival of the Sarah this morning further confirmed the report. Captain Looney said that he had received a message at Greenup, a small station about 50 miles above Nulato, under date of July 4 saying that the Portland had sailed into St. Michael under her own steam on the evening of July 2. No details were given beyond saying that all were well and the cargo was safe. No news whatever has been had of the Jeannie, but the report brought some days ago by the Nulato island natives is believed to be false. They said they had seen the Jeannie go down, but she has been seen subsequent to the date they gave for her disappearance.

From one of the passengers who arrived on the Sarah it is learned that the last week or so has been a rather anxious time around St. Michael. The Portland was amply provisioned and had an abundance of water besides a condenser to supply them with more in case they needed it, but the great fear was that the vessel would be crushed in the ice pack before it could extricate herself. How far she traveled north of the straits and the course she pursued can only be conjectured at this time, but the report of her safety will be an immense relief to many people in Dawson who had friends aboard.

Special to the Daily Nugget. St. John's, Nfld., July 11.—Sir Joseph Ignatius Little, chief justice and deputy governor of Newfoundland died this morning.

16,000 Men Out

Special to the Daily Nugget. Chicago, July 14.—As a result of the trustees' strike 16,000 men are now out.

Pinska Goes Out

Mr. M. A. Pinska of the well-known firm of Sargent & Pinska, was a passenger for the outside on the Columbian last night, and just as he was boarding the steamer he was made the victim of a mean conspiracy by the action of a large crowd at the wharf presented to him with a blue ticket. He carried in his pockets several sealed letters to persons in Seattle from Dawsonites, thinking them to be letters of introduction when in reality they are requests to look after Pinska lest he get run over by the street cars while reading signs and otherwise acting the part of a rus in urbes.

Mr. Pinska goes out on a pleasure trip but will bring back with him a large stock of fall and winter goods.

WATER FRONT NOTES.

The steamer Sarah, Captain Looney in command, arrived at 5 o'clock this morning after a long drawn out trip from St. Michael, bringing up 529 tons of freight, probably the largest cargo ever brought up the river by any steamer without the assistance of barges. She also took on 100 tons from the Susie when the latter got stuck on the bar below Circle. A quantity was left at Anvik and 93 tons were discharged at Rampart. The principal reason for the delay in the arrival of the Sarah was her inability to get over the mud flats at the mouth of the river. Ordinarily not over a day is spent at that point waiting for the tide, but on this trip a strong wind blew off shore continuously for nearly a week and six days the Sarah rested peacefully in the mud waiting for the tide to turn her way. During that time there never was more than six inches of water around the boat and the passengers clad in rubber boots waded out for two miles duck shooting. Among the passengers were from St. Michael was Mrs. J. Fred Struthers who came as far as Rampart on a visit to her parents, her father being seriously ill. Mrs. Struthers was formerly Miss Garrett, a belle of Dominion creek during the winter of '98. Her husband was a popular attaché of the gold commissioner's office for several years and is now head bookkeeper for the N. C. Co. at St. Michael. The Sarah passed the Louise at Nulato with three barges containing 1300 tons of freight. The Will H. Jeon with two barges was passed at the same point. Both the Hannah and Susie are close behind the Sarah and should arrive tomorrow. The latter brought 42 passengers.

Tyrrell for Whitehorse The large, powerful and swift steamer Tyrrell will leave at noon tomorrow, Tuesday, from Aurora dock for Whitehorse with passengers. Her accommodations are unequalled and those who travel by her will not regret it.

The Nugget's stock of job printing materials is the best that ever came to Dawson.

making a trip of exploration and search on the Arctic slope. The party of four left Coldfoot April 8, proceeding by slow and laborious stages up the Koyukuk clear to its head, a distance they estimated to be about 120 miles. Crossing the divide they soon came upon a number of small streams flowing north to the Arctic and these they prospected as long as there were any hopes of striking anything.

"The divide between the Koyukuk and the Arctic is a bad one," said the narrator this morning to a group of interested listeners. "The range of mountains is a regular saw tooth affair, steep and hard to get over. The way we went there was no sign of a trail and I am sure we were the first white men who ever crossed much of the ground that we traveled over. On the Arctic slope after the range is crossed the country soon flattens out and as far as one can see there is nothing but one succession of tundras after another.

IMPROVE THE OPPORTUNITY.

The miners of the district will have an opportunity during the approaching elections to bring their wants very forcibly to the attention of the opposing candidates for political preference.

The vote of the men who in various ways are interested in the mining industry will prove an exceedingly strong factor in the campaign.

In this connection the matter of furnishing the district with an adequate supply of water will certainly prove of the greatest consequence.

It is quite easy to understand that some time will be required before the necessary arrangements for holding the coming election can be perfected.

The scheme of civil administration for the Philippines as outlined in the recent act of congress providing for the government of those islands is one of the triumphs of modern legislation.

If the output for the present year falls below that of previous seasons it may be set down largely to the lack of water for sluicing purposes.

The dance hall denizens are entitled to no sympathy. Invariably they have abused every privilege that has been granted them.

Secrets judiciously distributed among them would be a proper move at this time.

Minister Sifton has made three separate and distinct bluffs about coming to Dawson, the said bluffs extending over three separate and distinct summers.

The winter of our discontent gives symptoms of making an early call this year. Now is the time for the Yukon council to show the stuff it is made of by passing an ordinance prohibiting the approach of cold weather.

Two blood-thirsty urchins of Seattle attempted recently to cut off a young Chinese boy's ear. The small desperadoes have probably been following the career of outlaw Tracy with very close attention.

The facility with which Governor Ross' bills were passed by the Yukon council indicates plainly that the spirit of opposition if it exists at all within that venerable body is lying entirely dormant.

Too bad Major Woodside is not here to run for parliament. In his absence something else must be done to throw a strain of comedy into the fight.

All that glitters is not gold. The foregoing is an exceedingly ancient maxim which should be remembered by certain gentry who have of late been throwing brass filings into circulation.

The man who goes to Ottawa from this territory must be a Yukon man first, last and all the time.

Killed by Natives.

Chicago, Ill., July 5.—A special to the Record-Herald from Winnipeg says:

Rev. Dr. Ferries, a Church of England clergyman, arrived from York factory, Northwest British territory, today, and brings authentic information of the fate of explorer Andre and his companions.

Two years ago, 1,800 miles north of York, a party of Esquimaux, under the leadership of Old Huskie, saw the Andre balloon alight on a plain of snow in that vicinity, which is about two miles north of Fort Churchill.

The Hudson Bay Company has recently offered a reward for the recovery of any portion of the outfit belonging to Andre, and though natives have gone on the search for them, they have never returned.

Believing, as Rev. Dr. Ferries says, that they will in some way be punished, for they now understand that it was not an attack upon them, but an accident by which the gun was discharged that precipitated the massacre.

London, July 3.—When the vote for the foreign office came up in the house of commons today, the government's foreign policy came in for considerable criticism.

Sir Charles Dilke, advanced Radical, said he wanted to know if there had been any real negotiations with France looking to the settlement of the French shore (Newfoundland) dispute, and he further declared that British recognition of French rights to the Hinterland of Tripoli endangered the traditional friendship of Great Britain and Italy.

The agreement with Japan, Lord Cranborne asserted, was founded on mutual interests. Therefore it had a strong foundation. It was not for Great Britain to offer treaties. She granted them and was delighted to grant this treaty to Japan.

Neat Combine a Go Chicago, July 5.—The Inter-Ocean tomorrow will say:

Combination of the gigantic companies controlling the packing industry of the United States has finally been consummated, with John D. Rockefeller as the central figure in the financial part of the negotiations.

Continuing, Sir Charles Dilke asked if there was any secret understanding with Germany regarding her access to the Persian gulf, and urged the fostering of friendship with France. He concluded with moving a reduction of the salary of the foreign secretary, Lord Lansdowne.

Thomas Gibson Bowles, Conservative, seconded the motion. He said he regretted the subservience of the foreign office toward Germany, declaring she was the disturbing influence in China, and that Emperor William's telegram to Mr. Kruger was largely responsible for the feeling that produced the Boer war.

Henry Norman, Liberal, wanted to know if the government realized that Germany had practically secured exclusive rights in the Shangtung peninsula, and that Russia has secured a monopoly of the enormously valuable mines of Manchuria.

During the course of a general reply, the secretary for the foreign office, Lord Cranborne, declared that the great question affecting Newfoundland was perpetually before the foreign office of both countries.

Regarding Russia, Lord Cranborne said it was not the fault of Great Britain that an understanding between them had not been reached.

The following day Miller died. His companions abandoned everything and pushed on. April 11, after being three days in camp where they had stopped to die, they were saluted by the welcome voice of a native, who gave them all the provisions he had and started for help.

The native traveled to his village, and found but two men there. Then he mushed 35 miles further, and got assistance. When he returned Lowe and Griswold had given up hope.

The natives pulled them on a hand sled to Mouchantine from which place they found a means of reaching Iliamna Bay. Both men were badly frozen. Griswold lost eight toes and a part of Lowe's heels had to be amputated.

The men did not weigh more than 75 pounds each when rescued. Lowe thinks the natives will find the mail and send it to its destination.

St. Paul Flooded

St. Paul, Minn., July 5.—St. Paul experienced the heaviest rain storm in years tonight. The storm began shortly after 9 o'clock, and the downpour was continuous for over an hour.

The downtown streets were flooded to a depth of nearly two feet and in the business district much damage was done by the flooding of cellars. One large wholesale grocery had a large portion of its stock damaged by the water pouring through the roof.

Lightning struck a number of buildings, the German Lutheran church, at North St. Paul, being destroyed.

Child Drowned

La Conner, July 3.—Lester Hook, the 6-year-old son of Mrs. A. Hook, of this place, was drowned here yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, by falling overboard from a sloop.

Worst of the Season

Omaha, Neb., July 5.—The hail and rainstorm of the morning visited Central Nebraska last night, doing a great amount of damage to crops and other property.

At Grand Island, the hail practically destroyed vegetation over a strip of country seven miles long and four miles wide.

In the city few plate glass windows were left whole, and trees and shrubs were destroyed. Corn and unharvested small grains were beaten into the ground and are a total loss.

An Affair in a Church

On Easter Sunday morning for the first time St. Paul's congregation was an elaborate edifice, but with its English effects, its huge overhanging rafters, its deep set windows and its dim, quietly furnished interior it was a far cry from the modern hall, where for several years a band of worshippers had met. So the happy occasion was to be duly celebrated, and the young women of the altar guild had taxed their individual and collective ingenuity — to say nothing of purses — in order to beautify the chancel with flowers.

Philip Harrison, pausing in the doorway, nodded his head approvingly.

"The girls have done well, and this will give just the correct finishing touch to the decorations," he murmured as he stalked down the center aisle, carrying a pure white dove, with outstretched wings. His sister, who was the president of the altar guild, had pressed him into service, and he was to suspend the bird just above the lectern. He was glad that the matter had slipped her mind until after the certain night when Mildred Allen had had parted in bitterness, he had rather avoided the circle of young people who rallied round his sister in her work for St. Paul's.

Philip climbed up a tall ladder and had wired the dove to the rafter above the lectern when suddenly from beneath his feet slipped the ladder, falling with a crash among the choir stalls.

Fortunately the young man had a good grip on the polished oak beam, and before the noise died away he had swung himself up and from his perch surveyed the broken ladder with a useful expression.

Suddenly he removed his gaze from the ladder and glanced around with an uneasy sense that some one was watching him. This was impossible, for the church had been absolutely empty when he entered it. He turned cautiously on his perch and caught a mothered exclamation. Then he saw ten feet away a tousled golden head and a pretty face, in which amazement and fright mingled. The girl was peering from a loft above the builders for the eventual accommodation of a pipe organ.

"Well, Milly, it looks as if you were in a hole too."

She ignored both the speech and the chuckle which followed it.

"I do not see," she replied in icy tones, "how my predicament can be of the least interest to Mr. Harrison."

Philip, now quite secure on the beam, hugged his knees and looked at her entreatingly.

"Come, now, Milly, isn't that a strong to the man you were practically engaged to less than a week ago?"

"It is hard to be reminded of the pascal lamb which stood out so bold relief back of the altar to her right. 'One is not to blame, however, for mistaking a flirt for a gentleman.'"

"I'm not a flirt," answered Philip lightly, and in his excitement he almost slipped off the beam.

Mildred tried hard not to smile and continued to gaze at the lady.

"Isn't it odd," she continued, "how some persons will fib even in church?"

"The lamb wisely kept out of the picture, but young Harrison answered her.

"Why won't you please listen? I have cared a rap for Jennie Adams, haven't I?"

"That," she retorted, suddenly forgetting the lamb, "why did you send those perfectly lovely violets?"

"Great light came to Philip. Why, those were a philopena present. Didn't she tell you?"

"That is a very ancient excuse for giving violets on a girl to whom you are not engaged. You might at least have informed me of your intentions beforehand. Then, you see, I shouldn't have cared, and perhaps I might have warned you"—this just a moment viciously—"that a girl with a man's sallow complexion does not wear violets. Crimson intentions would have been better."

"Well, I will ask you next time," she catching sight of more than a dozen shadows gathering, he added hastily "mean there will be no chance of ever happening again if you will promise me."

"The contrition seemed genuine, however, she was uncomfortable, and the shadows were falling unpleasantly fast.

"Perhaps I will if—you will get me out of this."

"How did you get in?" he questioned.

"I was working on the ladder, and it suddenly led me to see what this hole was for and then I caught

Caused Heated Debate.

London, July 2.—A long and heated debate on the Irish question was precipitated in the house of commons today. Thomas W. Russell, Liberal, moved the adjournment of the house to discuss pending evictions from the estate of Lord DeFrayne, in Roscommon county, in connection with which that nobleman recently had written against several members of the Irish parliamentary party, whom he charged with conspiracy.

Mr. Russell declared that unless the government intervened to prevent these evictions an era of turmoil would be inaugurated in the west of Ireland, where there was trouble enough already. He said that he had visited the DeFrayne estate three times, and that he was thoroughly convinced of the injustice under which the tenants suffered. The people there were the poorest of the poor. He believed one word from Mr. Wyndham, the chief secretary for Ireland, would settle the whole trouble, and he thought the reduction of the rents collected on the estate by 33 per cent. would not be excessive for these lands, which were now renting for more money than was obtained from decent arable lands in Ulster county.

Mr. Wyndham replied with some asperity that he was surprised to find Mr. Russell siding against law and order. The rents from the DeFrayne estate, he said, had been reduced 37 per cent. in the past twenty years, and he knew that some of the organizers were making money out of the agitation. His advice to the tenants was to pay up. This statement was greeted with groans from the Irish members. Hundreds had done so, said Mr. Wyndham, and this remark was received with Conservative cheers. Many would like to pay, added the chief secretary, but were intimidated. Mr. Wyndham said it was impossible to carry out the land purchase scheme in Ireland when it was interrupted by agitators who desired to make government there impossible.

John Redmond, the Nationalist leader in the house, characterized Mr. Wyndham's statement as paltry and flippant. He declared that whatever money was paid in rentals on the DeFrayne estate was earned by the male population working in England during the harvest season, and he contended that the government was directly responsible for the happenings on the DeFrayne property. After other members of the house had spoken on the subject Mr. Russell's motion for an adjournment was defeated by 231 votes to 125.

Escaped Death Penalty

Panama, Columbia, July 5.—Confirmation has been received from a reliable source of the report that the revolutionary generals, Ramirez, Payan and Ferras, who were recently made prisoners by the rebel chief, Herrera, for insubordination, and who were tried by court martial at David, were sentenced to death. The penalty imposed was, however, commuted to fifteen years' imprisonment.

"Marse Henry's" Popularity.

"There goes Marse Henry," said a Kentuckian affectionately as Mr. Henry Watterson passed through the corridor of the capitol recently. "He is Colonel Watterson to the world at large, but 'Marse Henry' to the little world in Kentucky that loves him, and I believe that he values the latter appellation more than any title that has been bestowed upon him.

"When I was a boy, I lived at a little railroad station in Kentucky which was reached by the mail train about 11 o'clock every morning. It was the custom for the inhabitants to gather at the station to await the coming of The Courier-Journal. No work was done in the meantime, the little group about the station discussing the affairs of the state, with occasional reference to local questions of grave importance.

"When the train arrived, the single copy of The Courier-Journal which came to our place was handed out. Then came I into momentary importance and prominence. As the best reader in the crowd—being at that time eleven years of age and having progressed as far as Guffey's Fifth Reader in the Frankfort school—I was daily elected to read the paper to the assembled crowd.

"Mounting the well whittled store box that stood by the freight agent's door and pausing a moment to permit each gent to take a fresh 'chaw' of tobacco to assist meditation and mental digestion, I proceeded to read the paper aloud amid a most respectable silence from the audience.

"Read it all? By no means. I read 'Marse Henry's' leading editorial. That was all our people wanted. Little cared they for the headlines of the news columns. The editorial set the pace for the day for our folks, and when the last word was read every man went his way about his work."—Washington Star.

Premier of New Zealand Makes Hit in London

He is a Self-Made Man and is Very Popular in His Colony.

London, July 5.—"King Dick," otherwise Richard J. Seddon, prime minister of New Zealand, is the man whose arrival in England has excited probably more genuine interest throughout the country than that of any other coronation guest—prince, ambassador or what not.

Most people in Great Britain, besides respecting Mr. Seddon mightily as a man who has risen from obscurity to power, feel that they owe him a big debt of gratitude, some of which they are going to pay off by showing him exceptional honor while he is in this country. On the other hand, the anti-imperialists are bracketing him with Chamberlain as an arch-jingo.

Mr. Seddon made a hit the other day by giving in one of his speeches in South Africa, where he spoke on his way to England, the first official hint that peace actually was in sight, but what has made him especially popular in Great Britain is the part he played in supporting the empire during the war. As the head of his colony's government, he "came out strong" for the mother country's side in the controversy, and in the most hopeless days of the campaign insisted that the struggle must be fought out to a finish. He headed the movement to send a contingent of New Zealand troops to South Africa and promised that men should be supplied until there was no longer any necessity for reinforcements. This attitude won him as much applause in New Zealand as it has done in England.

His recent journey along the southern coast of his country was such a succession of fetes and receptions that it seemed like a royal progress, and there is now a project on foot to make him a gift of a purse of $25,000 in gold as a national testimonial. In London he will be the guest of honor at a huge banquet, when he will be asked to accept a handsome silver trophy. At this dinner, by the way, several Maoris will give a "haka," or war dance—the performance which pleased the Prince and Princess of Wales so much when they saw it in New Zealand. After this banquet, the Southern premier will go back to the little Lancashire village from which he started out to make his way in the world, to receive its "freedom."

Seddon is a type of man that is much commoner in the United States than in England—the sort of man that begins life with nothing but his bare hands and comes out on top by sheer force of bigness of energy and purpose. A boy of 18, he went out to New Zealand in '67, when the gold fever was on, and during his first days there got his bread and butter by washing bottles in a cheap tavern. He lived the hard life of the mining camps and then his rise began. At 34 he went to the New Zealand parliament, and after that kept on up the ladder until he got the premiership, with which he now dove-tails in a few other little posts such as colonial treasurer, minister of labor, minister of defense and commissioner of trades and customs.

Like all men who spend their lives in pushing on big things, perhaps he may have given some of the qualities of the juggernaut to some of them; his success has made him enemies. At any rate, there is a section of the New Zealand people to whom Mr. Seddon is "King Dick," derisively, and he has had to fight through many a bitter political campaign. The best proof of his popularity with the majority, however, is that he has held the premiership for twelve years. The man who has risen from "bottle washer" to "chief cook" is rugged and burly and looks rather oddly in "court dress." He is especially fond of telling how he owes his life to a brass band. "As a boy," he says, "I once came very near drowning. A passing bandsman noticed my frantic struggles in the river, and reaching his long trombone over the shore's edge, pulled me, gasping and grateful, out of the water on to dry land. I have encouraged brass bands ever since."

When it was reported that he was to give up the New Zealand premiership and become governor of the Orange River colony, he said:—"When I leave New Zealand for good it will be for heaven. Mr. Seddon may, however, be induced to change his plans, for it is rumored that pressure will be brought to bear on him from high quarters to persuade him to give up the New Zealand premiership and take some important post in London, there being a growing feeling that the more strong shoulders that can be got against the government wheel the better it will be for the country.

Train Robber Arrested

Chicago, July 4.—At the general offices of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad early this morning a dispatch was received, telling of a daring attempt at train robbery. The dispatch is as follows:—"Train No. 5, which left Chicago at 10 o'clock last night, was held up near Dupont, Ill., nineteen miles from Chicago. Express Messenger Kane was shot through the groin by one of the robbers. One of the bandits undertook to cut off the two front cars of the train. It is thought that there were three robbers in the party. One of them, who came over the tank and undertook to give orders to the engineer, is under arrest and has been taken to Joliet. The messenger was taken to Englewood for surgical treatment. It is not thought that his injuries are fatal. Engineer Goodall and Conductor Coffey were in charge of the train."

The dispatch is signed by Conductor Coffey.

President Goes to Pittsburg

Washington, July 3.—President Roosevelt left here tonight on a special train over the Pennsylvania or Pittsburg, where he will be the orator of the day at Pittsburg's Fourth of July celebration tomorrow. After this visit the president will join his family at Oyster Bay, where, except for several trips he contemplates, he will remain for some months. He will not return to Washington to reside permanently until fall.

The Nugget's facilities for turning out first-class job work cannot be excelled this side of San Francisco.

MARCONI TELEGRAPH

Stations to be Established in Alaska

Fort Gibbins Will be Connected With the Fort at Bates Rapids on the Tanana.

Special to the Daily Nugget.

San Francisco, July 12.—R. Pfund, an electrical engineer, has arrived here on his way to Alaska for the purpose of establishing a wireless telegraph system between Fort Gibbins, on the Yukon river, and the fort at Bates rapids on the Tanana river, a distance of 195 miles. The line, which is to be constructed under the direction of Chief Signal Officer Greely, will be completed by October 1st. On his return Pfund may take measures to establish a station near the Golden Gate so that wireless communication may be had with vessels on the Pacific.

Settling Pius Claims

Rome, July 5.—In view of the possibility of the Hague international tribunal reporting that arbitrators of a neutral country be chosen to settle the question between the United States and Mexico regarding the Pius claim, the following names have been suggested: Signor Zanardelli, the Italian minister; the Italian ambassador to Austria-Hungary, Count Nigra; the Italian ambassador to France, Count Tornelli; the president of the senate, Signor Saracco; the president of the chamber, Signor Biancheri; and Senators Villeri, Pagano and Visconti Venosta. The latter were chosen by King Victor Emmanuel to study the Anglo-Brazilian dispute regarding the boundary of British Guiana, in which his majesty is arbitrator.

The Pius claim (amounting to about $1,000,000) has been hanging for about a third of a century. It involves a dispute between the Catholic church of California and the government of Mexico as to the liability of the latter for the interest on certain church lands which the Mexican government undertook to hold as trustees for the church.

A Tale of a Famous Marksman

In a book published recently by T. F. Freeman, who is an authority on rifle shooting, the following story is told of a man who is famous in the history of international rifle matches:

Sir Henry Hallford on one occasion—it was not a very clear day—was about to begin shooting at 1,000 yards and, thinking that the marker must now be ready for him to begin, asked him through the telephone, "Are you all right?" The marker replied, "All right, sir, in a minute." But unluckily Sir Henry took "All right, sir," instead of the whole sentence and removed the telephone from his ear. He lay down and fired his shot and on looking through the telescope to see where it had hit was horrified to see the marker with a perfectly white face staggering away toward his shelter. He was intensely alarmed, and in a moment there came a ring at the telephone. "What has happened? Are you badly hurt?" "No, sir, I am not hurt, but I had a bucket of whitewash between my leg a bullet into it and splashed it all up in my face."

Fight With Burglar

New York, July 2.—Albert C. Lattimer, a wealthy stationer of this city, was fatally shot early today at his home in Brooklyn in a struggle with a burglar. The burglar escaped, leaving his shoes and cap behind. Having been awakened by his wife, who heard a voice, Mr. Lattimer started to search. As he opened a closet door the burglar, masked, dashed forward and Mr. Lattimer grappled with him. In the struggle the robber fired two shots and after the second Mr. Lattimer fell. His assailant then fled through a kitchen window through which he had entered the house. Mr. Lattimer was taken to a hospital, where the doctors, after an examination, said he could not live.

Tornado in Wisconsin

Racine, Wis., July 2.—A stretch of country half a mile wide and extending from the town of Raymond to Husher, in the township of Caledonia this county, a distance of ten miles, was swept by a tornado late this afternoon. One man was killed and several injured; forty houses and hundreds of trees were blown down; hundreds of acres of ground ruined, and other damage done, the property loss amounting to many thousands of dollars. The only fatality reported is at the home of G. H. Thyson, of Caledonia. His house was completely wiped away, and also the barns, and Thyson killed. The other members of the family escaped serious injury.

Morphine Route.

Seattle, July 4.—H. L. Hurlbut, a Boston hotel man who arrived in Seattle two days ago, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by taking a heavy dose of morphine in his room at 2336 Fifth avenue. He kept to his room all Wednesday afternoon and yesterday until noon, at which time he took some lunch from Mrs. F. Lambert, the housekeeper. He then retired to his room, and about 7 o'clock Mrs. Lambert, becoming curious, opened the door and found him lying on his bed unconscious. Dr. S. A. Owens was called in, and although every effort was made to bring the man to life, he died in half an hour. A bottle of morphine was found by his side. The motive for the suicide is not known.

The body was removed to Butterworth's morgue. A search through the clothes revealed $5 in cash, a jack-knife, letters of recommendation from two Boston hotels and a sleeping ticket through from Boston, proving the Hurlbut arrived in Seattle on Wednesday.

The man was of a strong build and appeared to be between 50 and 55 years old. Although the case is unquestionably one of suicide, a post-mortem examination will be held this morning by the coroner.

No Extra Session

Washington, July 3.—Chairman Payne, of the house committee of ways and means, today conferred with President Roosevelt in regard to Cuban reciprocity. Upon leaving the executive quarters Mr. Payne, in response to questions on the subject, said he was satisfied that reciprocity with Cuba would be effected at the next session of congress, with an almost unanimous vote in both houses. The method by which this will be attained, he said, would be by treaty. Under ordinary conditions, he said, a treaty is ratified by the senate only, but in matters of this kind, involving questions of revenue, under the Dingley law, the house under the constitution has equal jurisdiction with the senate.

The conference of Mr. Payne with the president and his subsequent utterances effectually put an end to an extra session talk.

Man's Remains Found

Winlock, July 3.—The remains of a man, supposed to be those of Henry Minckler, were found under the Toledo bridge today. Mr. Minckler mysteriously disappeared about four weeks ago. No trace has been found of him until today, when several boys, while fishing in the Cowlitz river, discovered the body. Mr. Minckler was a well-to-do farmer, and for many years had resided near Winlock. It is thought he ended his life in a fit of insanity.

Seattle Boys Sentenced

Portland, Or., July 3.—Fred Richards and Edward Ross, aged 17 years, were sentenced to the penitentiary this morning for one year and eighteen months, respectively, for stealing a horse and buggy. The boys hired the rig from a livery stable and proceeded across by ferry to Vancouver, Wash., where they attempted to dispose of the rig. They were arrested, sent back and pleaded guilty. Both boys have parents in Seattle. Ross was an inmate of a reform school at Chehalis for a term.

De Windt Party Aided

San Francisco, July 3.—News brought by the steamer St. Paul from the Arctic says the English explorer, Harry DeWindt, and his party were picked up on the Siberian coast, probably at Indian point, by the United States revenue cutter Thetis, under command of Captain Healy, about the middle of June. DeWindt is attempting to go from Paris to New York overland, and if he reaches Nome will be sure to succeed.

Carnegie's Way

"It is better to give than to receive," began a clergyman the other day, addressing Mr. Andrew Carnegie as he descended the steps of the Lotos club.

Mr. Carnegie scented a petition for a donation and, as he makes it a rule to select and investigate his charities for himself, tactfully observed as he passed:

"I have found that rule works both ways. I'll frankly admit that I have found great pleasure in receiving as well as in giving. I like to give, but in my own way. Perhaps it is a selfish pleasure, but I can't help it."—New York Times.

SEVERAL CASES ON

Magistrate Wroughton Busy This Morning

Indian Woman Sarah Hawkins in Jail as Result of Hiyu Drunk.

There were several small cases before Magistrate Wroughton for hearing this morning.

The case of Knapp vs. Turner and Littlemore, for wages, was concluded one week. It will probably be tried out of court.

James Smith, a good-natured looking colored man, was up for pushing a hand-cart along the sidewalk of Second avenue at the unseemly hour of 11 p. m., which shows James to be a very bird. He did not know it was "agin de law or he sho' wouldn't a done it." Besides, the cart carried a cargo of dishes and there was danger of breaking them if James pushed the cart along the street. The court was convinced that James had not knowingly violated a bylaw and dismissed the charge.

J. Cohen threw a lot of garbage on the bank of the Yuvon and was fined $1 and costs.

Yesterday when the tinny bells of the church were ringing and when all Nature was on her freshly laundered shirt, as it were, Sarah Hawkins, an Indian woman, was drunk on Du-rop.

She is the wife of a white man and between them the Hawkins family is quite frequently represented in court. As she informed the justice from whom she procured the money on which she built up her case, the case was remanded until tomorrow morning, when the chances are that someone will be called upon to answer for selling or supplying whiskey to an Indian. In the meantime dark brown Sarah with a dark brown taste in the skookum house.

The charge preferred by O. W. Hickey against Robt. and Herbert Hickey and Robt. Buhler being unlawfully in possession of certain lands was withdrawn, the complainant being convinced that a wilful party had not been committed.

The case of Edward Hazen vs. Harry Morrison for wages alleged to be due for 46 days labor performed on defendant's Dominion mining property, was continued until Saturday when Attorney Macfarlane for the plaintiff, thinking the delay unnecessary, withdrew the case from the court and said he would bring it in the higher court. Permission to withdraw was granted.

Big Cloudburst

Hope, Idaho, July 5.—A cloudburst at Ellispot, just east of Hope, swept away all the houses, about twenty in all, except Harry Manning's. Two miles of the track is washed away and the mill is under water. From Ellispot to the yard limits is a flood of water, the creek is wide and widened 200 yards on each side, and all the trestles are gone from Clark's fork to Hope.

Residents are letting loose a dam behind the company store to save the store and a dwelling.

The families at Ellispot lost everything.

Passenger train No. 4, Northern Pacific, is here yet. Lightning and Trestle creeks are raging wild. William Pillsbury's house, at the trestle, is swept away.

No one was injured in the flood. There are over 100 men at work repairing the track east of Hope.

This morning's train is at Sand Point. The track for several miles is covered with rocks and sand. Railroad men do not know how much is washed away. About 300 yards from the round-house the water is rushing down the hill, and a couple of hundred yards of track is covered with water. Tomorrow morning at daylight the eastbound passengers will be transferred from Sand Point by boat to Hope, and westbound from Hope to Sand Point.

The water is raging in all the creeks, and Trestle creek is in a bad way. There are several slides all along the road each way.

Talked at a Banquet

London, July 6.—Edmund Barton, premier of Australia, and Richard Seddon, the New Zealand prime minister, both made speeches yesterday, the former at a banquet at the Savage Club, and the latter when he was presented with the freedom of his native town, St. Helen, Lancashire, and both prophesied that the conference of colonial premiers in London would ultimately bear fruit. Mr. Barton said that, though little might be committed to paper at the present meeting of the premiers, there was an earnest desire in the colonies for closer relations with the mother country and usual British citizenship and he was sure that some start would be made in that direction.

Mr. Seddon, in the course of his speech, said that continental nations could not war on each other's trade, but could only war upon the trade of the British empire. When he saw one colony of one nation increasing its trade sixfold in five years, while British trade declined, he would have been wanting in duty to his country and his colony if he had not brought the matter forward and tried to stop the inroad by which a rival nation was able largely to build up its army and naval resources.

Asks Irishmen to Unite

London, July 5.—Addressing a meeting of the United Irish League at Limerick this afternoon, John Redmond, chairman of the league, called on the Irish to unite for one great effort. Coercion, he said, should meet coercion, and the land schemes of Mr. Wyndham, the chief secretary for Ireland, who was one of the worst representatives of English rule ever sent to Ireland, should be defeated. It rested with the Irish to win their liberty.

JUDGMENT RENDERED

Dispute Over Ground on Gold Run

Vexing Question as to What Constitutes a Gulch is Again up in Court.

Gold Commissioner Senkler today rendered a decision in the case of Millard F. Thompson, K. C. McDonald and Ralph E. Anchors vs. J. Finerty and A. S. F. Rankin, involving Nos. 1, 2 and 3 on a tributary entering Gold Run at 34 on the left limit, and the hillside, left limit, adjoining the lower half of 34 Gold Run. The judgment is as follows:—

"The hill claim in question was originally staked by one E. A. Baaga on January 16th, 1899, and was renewed for one year. Defendant Finerty relocated the claim on January 19th, and recorded on February 2nd, 1901, renewing to February 2nd, 1903.

"Tributary claims Nos. 1, 2 and 3 on the gulch in question were first staked in May 1899. On the applicants applying for record, claims 1 and 2 were described in the applications of the locators as commencing back of the hill claims off Gold Run. The application for No. 3 has not this memorandum embodied in it, but applications for Nos. 5 and 6 have, so that it is quite clear that the position of No. 3 as originally located was above No. 2, that is, 500 feet above the hill claim in question.

"Claims Nos. 2 and 3 as originally staked were sold at auction to the plaintiffs McDonald and Thompson. They would, therefore, have no cause of action against the hill claim in question, as their claims did not conflict with it; but in relocating No. 1 it appears Mr. Anchors located from the down hill end of the hill claim of the defendants, thence up stream 250 feet. He relocated on June 15th, 1901, and recorded on June 17th.

"In order to constitute a gulch within the meaning of the regulations of January 18th, 1898, there should not only be a rimrock, but a rimrock that rises to a point three feet above the lowest general level of the gulch opposite for the whole length of the claim. As Mr. Anchors is the plaintiff in this case, and as his location is subsequent to that of the defendants, the burden of proof is upon him to show that the bedrock rises to a point three feet above the lowest general level of the gulch opposite for the length of the claim.

MOTORCYCLE HITS TOWN

Rider Toils Not Neither Does He Pedal

But He Gets There Just the Same—Ride to Gold Run in Hour and a Half.

The appearance Saturday afternoon of a man sailing up First avenue at race horse speed on a bicycle without doing any pedalling or otherwise exerting himself almost gave some of the old timers who have not been outside in several years heart disease. To a casual observer the machine looked no different from hundreds of others that are seen daily on the streets, but there was evidently a hidden something that made it go and which reminded one of the Chinaman's description of the first cable-car he ever saw. The bike was a Mitchell motorcycle owned by D. A. Shindler and is the first of its kind to ever be brought to the Yukon territory. Such machines are coming into very general use outside where excellent roads are the rule and not the exception, particularly by physicians, business men, commercial travelers making suburban towns contiguous to large cities, and others who ride merely for pleasure.

The power to drive the machine is derived from a tiny gasoline engine, the motor being known as a four-cylinder type, three by three cylinder, jump spark, shifting make and break spark, which run at a speed of 1400 revolutions a minute develops an actual brake test speed of two horse power. The power is transmitted to the rear wheel by means of a twisted rawhide rope instead of the usual link chain and with the oil and gasoline tank full the total weight is but 120 pounds. The gasoline tank holds seven pints which gives a mileage of from 60 to 70 miles. An ingenious contrivance located near the right hand regulates the speed which varies from five to thirty five miles an hour. Rubber tires of special construction are provided and the rim is made of the best Swoboda steel, wooden rims being unable to stand the strain.

The machine is made in Racine, Wisconsin, its cost laid down in Dawson with freight and duty paid is $280 and it is not at all improbable that in the course of time with the additional improvement in the territorial highways their use here will become quite general. Their first cost is but little more than a good horse, their cost of maintenance is nothing when not in use and less than a horse even when pushed to its utmost capacity notwithstanding the high price charged for gasoline here.

For getting over the country quickly especially when the roads are good, there is nothing to equal the motorcycle. One could ride to Gold Run in an hour and a half and to the Forks in twenty minutes. If gasoline were distributed along the way the trip to Whitehorse could be made in the winter time in a day and the terrors of distance would almost be annihilated. The advantages over an automobile are in the original cost, the ability to go anywhere any ordinary bicycle can, less complicated in its construction and requiring no housing beyond a few inches of space in a shed or outhouse. It is doubtful if automobiles are ever more plentiful in Dawson than they are at the present time, but it would not be at all surprising to see many motorcycles in use within the next year or two.

Nome Gold

Some very large sacks of gold dust have been making themselves evident in the town during the past week or ten days, whereas the storekeepers and business people consider they have a chuckle coming. The miners are thoroughly satisfied with the result obtained from their winter dumps, but in only one or two instances can any definite information as to the actual yield be obtained.

Perhaps the largest sack brought to town to date is that belonging to Joe King. Mr. King would not impart the exact amount he had taken out, but one sack which a representative of the News saw weighed contained over 100 ounces.

M. J. Sullivan, who operated a lay on the Last Chance fraction, also took out what he termed a "nicewad." He stated that his pile was not as long as his anatomy, but he was very well satisfied.

Others who have been responsible for flooding the exchange markets with gold dust and causing a corresponding dearth of currency are Bob Shaw and party, of the Rajah bench claim; Woodson and party, of No. 4 Ophir; McIntosh Bros., of the Good Luck fraction; Killen & Waldrip, of No. 8 Ophir; Spinney & Normandean, of the Tetem bench claim; Walter Smith, of the Sequoia bench; Shaughnessy, Gibbs and party, of No. 6; the owners of the Virginia fraction; Eddy and party, of No. 15; and Harry Ray, of the Fairy fraction. Without an exception, the gold taken from the before mentioned claims in part or wholly has been placed in circulation. Besides these several other large dumps, principally those of Ed. Dunn, of the Frisco claim, and the Wink-Jones Co., of No. 15, are being slowly shoveled into the sluice boxes.

The samples of glittering metal brought to town contain no nuggets of exceptional size, but yet it is not what might be considered "fine" gold, and in appearance it somewhat resembles kernels of ripe wheat. — Council City News, June 7.

British Shipbuilding

London, July 5.—The official annual statement of British shipping, just issued, shows that more ships were built in Great Britain and more sold to foreigners in the year 1901 than in any previous year, and that the total tonnage of the British merchant shipping was 9,527,596 tons, or 138,000 tons above the total of 1900.

FOR TURKEY AND ONIONS

Frank Gray Will Labor Three Months

Says He Was Drunk and His Actions at the Time Bear Out the Assertion.

Frank Gray, who was summarily heard before Magistrate Wroughton on Saturday on the charge of stealing two turkeys, five pounds of potatoes and five pounds of onions, from E. J. McCormick, proprietor of the Louvre, to which charge he entered a plea of guilty, was this morning sentenced to three months at hard labor.

The fact that Gray stole onions as a turkey accompaniment instead of cranberries or a can of oysters, bears out his statement made in the prisoner's box this morning that he was drunk at the time the theft was committed.

Had he stolen call's liver instead of turkey then the theft of the onions would have been natural if not justifiable. One large or two small onions is sufficient flavoring for one turkey, hence the indication that Gray told the truth when he said he was drunk at the time the theft was committed. This is the first evidence that there is a braud on tap in Dawson that drives a man to onions.

The man who wrote "Man wants but little here below" did not add "but he wants onions in it."

But, sad to relate, Gray did not get to eat the turkeys after stealing them. They were devoured by one A. J. Robinson, who has entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of knowingly receiving stolen goods, in which charge he is being tried before Magistrate Wroughton this afternoon.

Chicago, July 14.—The strike of 500 boiler-makers has been settled by a ten per cent. increase in wages.

Kitchener in London
Special to the Daily Nugget.
London, July 12.—Kitchener made a memorable entry into London today after three years absence. A crowd was, out in tens of thousands to see the man of the hour. The outburst of popular enthusiasm was never equalled. The Prince of Wales, Duke of Connaught, Duke of Cambridge, Lord Roberts and an immense crowd of other notabilities welcomed him at Paddington.

Cadets' Friends
Special to the Daily Nugget.
London, July 14.—Daily more influential supporters are added to the rank of those who favor remission of the sentence of the rusticated Sandhurst cadets. Rosebery, Northumberland and others irrespective of party are endeavoring to see justice done. There will probably be a heated debate in the commons next week.

Children's Sports
The postponed children's sports took place on the barracks grounds Saturday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock and continuing until 5:30. There were contests of many varieties and appropriate prizes for all winners. The program was carried out without a hitch or a delay and the afternoon was very much enjoyed not only by the children but by all present.

A party of ladies dispensed refreshments with lavish hands and the little folks one and all were most sumptuously treated.

Storehouse Thieves
Two young men named Gray and Robinson were arrested last night on complaint of E. J. McCormick of the Louvre on the charge of stealing supplies from the kitchen and storehouse of that establishment.

For some time past Gray has been employed at the Louvre as a dish washer and his connection with the place made it easy to conduct the thieving operations with which the two men are charged.

Gray pleaded guilty and after a preliminary hearing Robinson was shown to be equally guilty or to such extent as to warrant their both being held over to answer before the territorial court.

Yesterday's Excursion.
Fully two hundred people availed themselves of the opportunity for an afternoon's outing yesterday by joining the Tyrrell's excursion up the Yukon. The steamer left at 2:20, ran up as far as Ensley and returned at 6:30. There was good music on board and dancing was indulged in by those who cared for it.

For an excursion the Tyrrell is one of the most commodious boats on the Yukon.

Poison in Mackerel
Of all food that rapidly begins to decompose mackerel is perhaps one of the most common. Being cheap and usually plentiful when in season, it is largely consumed. Putrefaction sets in very rapidly, especially about the gills of this fish, sometimes almost as soon as it is taken out of the water. The poisonous principle that has been extracted from mackerel is called hydro-collidine, a violent poison, so powerful that a seven-thousandth part of a grain will cause death in a bird.
