THE POLITICAL CALM.

ry to the

The vessel of state is fairly becalmed .----If we except an occasional rumor of the If we except an occasional rumor of the retirement of the H.n. Inspector General, and the probable disruption of the Cabinet in consequence, of some dark, mysteri-ous disclosure of ministerial unworthinese, we may say that all things political are as stals and flat as need be. There seems to be a seemed duponition model of the data of the seeme to be a seemed duponition model. stale and flat as need be. There seems to be a see-saw disposition manifested by all men and all parties. The Ministry are half persuaded to take ground on popular mea-sures and thus secure their return at the next election and again they are half inclin-ed to play the coward, desert their former friends, and retire into private life, or prev friends, and retire hato private life, or pre-vide themselves with a comfartable seaf on the shalf. This halting between two opin-ion, however, will not be of long duration. The present calm only betokens the storm at hand, and when the first breeze strikes the listless sales, all hands will be required the listless sales, all hands will be required to stand firmly by their posts. In the reform ranks there are causes of dif-ferece which it will take some time to recon-cile. There are grant principles and lead-ing measures upon which the party is divi-ded. For instance the Clergy Reserve question. It would be folly in us to hope that the Price Resolutions should be looked upon as a final settlement of the caseting. name. No fish were sent,—a circumstance which could not but be regretted. Specimese of pickl-ed trout, salmos, herring, and mackerel, should have been forwarded to England. Several cases of stuffed animals, many of them canght in the District of Montreal, and of birds, from the same Dustrict formed a leasing and in. upon as a final estilement of that question. It is only staving off a difficult matter-set-tlement it cannot be. No arrangement can ever be looked upon as a settlement, which from the same District, formed a pleasing and in-structive variety in the Exhibition. There are also cases of Canadian insects; three of them are thus labelled—"collected, prepared, and arranged by Master D'Urban, aged 14 years;" another falls short of satisfying the great bulk of the people of this province. Then comes the Usury Laws, than which a mose impornose impor tant change is not required for the promoby Master D'Urban, aged 14 years." another containing Canadian outerflice, sphinzer and motes. are entered as preserved by Dr. Gibb, when a boy of 14 years of age, and re-arranged, August, 1849. Many articles of Machimery, mentioned in the published Prize Lint are waaling. tion of the general prosperity. On this question all parties are divided, and until conviction reaches some of our slow coach politicians, no hope of abolishing the preant most oppressive and barbarous be entertained. Next comes that greatest of all stumbling blocks—the elective fran-chies and the ballot. However the worthy Attorney General West may disclaim against elective institutions, of this he might rest assured, that very large concessions are needed by the country in this respect. The elective franchise must be extended, so that every man who is a resiin Metal." The axes are capital articles; even Mr. William Boulton may now be satisfied that Canada can provide hereelf with axes, and has dent householder, and bears an unbid dent householder, and hears an unbiamished reputation as a good subject, shall have a voice in the government of the day. That most degrading of fictions, that mere pelf, or, in other words, the possession of real estate, is essential to qualify a man for the exercise of the elective franchise must be abandoned, and intelligence recommend, at from the manufactory of Messra. Cheney & Co., sombiae utility with ornament: the appartus for heating sad irosi is an igenious contrivance. No. 3.—"Firming Implements,"—hes 50 lots. The "Corn Sheller" is an effective and appear to us to be strong enough. The "Scythes" are good. There is no "Steaming Apparatus for Farming purposes," nor any "Thrashing Machine." This Department is not so well furnished as could be desired. In No. 4.—"Specimens of Mechanical Skill," 57 in number, we must not omit to direct attention to the Gold and Silver work exhibited by Messra. Joseph Savage & Co. abandoned, and intelligence recognized, at least to a great extent, as a fit basis of the franchise. In short, men should be made to feel that they have a direct interest in to government of the country, and then might we look for greater prosperity and sounder laws. Add to these the prejudice of races, and the conflicting interests of provide actions of the province, to say various sections of the province, to say nothing of the factions and disappointed, and we have before us the causes of present divisions and subdivisions in the Star. Conorma's Inquests.—It is a solemn and painful duty which men are called upon to discharge, when summoned to enquire as to data, soken and where a human being has been suddenly deprived of life. Yet it is one of those duties which as the sanction of Divine so the performed —which our laws provide for, and which has the sanction of Divine Revelation. British law, at all events, jea-lously throws its protection over human life, and in doing so makes the man last seen in company with any person unicity tain extent. Now if a man lose his life by intoxication, why not enquire and ascentian who were those last in his company, and make them morally accountable for any makes them morally accountable f Revelation. British law, at all events, jea-lously throws its protection over human life, and in doing so makes the man last seen in company with any person unfairly deprived of existence, responsible to a cer-tain extent. Now if a man lose his life by intoxication, why not enquire and ascertain who were those last in his company, and make them morally accountable for any culpable neglect they may have shown, as it regards the deceased. If men will give liquor to a drunken man, or drink in his company, and then discover a recklessness agong to a different a recklessness as to what may become of him after, and that such a man lose his life by incapacity to care for himself, society should hold such persons accountable. But should jurors fail to investigate and bring out all the facts Our glorious Indian summer' will be here shortly, with all its tranquilizing and sooth-ing associations. The foliage of our forests remain up to this date little altered, and the the such spectral production of the spectral product p apples cling to the trees as tanaciously as would not have a good effect on communi-ty? There is no desire on our part to see any man suffar, by penalty or otherwise, for doing that which society has hitherto con-sidered no harm, any further than protec-sary. But if men will drink in company, or give drink to a man incepable of caring do timbel and that man get killed imme-diately after, then we think such men incur-description.
