BOVRIL IS ALL BEEF.

Questions we are often asked.
 Q.—What is the sediment at the bottom of a cup of Bovril?
 A.—That is a valuable portion of the nourishment, and should never be left.
 Q.—Are you serious when you say that Bovril is more nourishing than ordinary Meat Extract or Home-made Beef Tea?
 A.—Certainly! and we have for years offered large rewards to anyone who can prove the contrary.
 Q.—But can you prove your statement?
 A.—Yes—from the pen of Baron Liebig himself, who told the world that the man who managed to get the nourishing, as well as the stimulating properties of Beef in a liquid form, would produce something far better than Liebig's Extract, and would be a public benefactor.
 Q.—And you have done this?
 A.—Yes. By a special process, the entire nutritious constituents of prime ox beef are separately treated, pulverized and added to specially-prepared Meat Extract, and this is Bovril.
 Don't experiment with artificial imitations of dubious quality (which are dear at any price) when such a tried and proven nutritious food-beverage "made in England" is within your reach.

A MYSTERIOUS QUEST.

CHAPTER XLV.
WHAT HE READ.

"I waited for nothing," Hilary explained. "I drove here in my evening dress; you see I have it on. But I was too late; she was lying here, not as now, but just as quiet, just as surely dead. I did not disturb her, I only drew the drapery up over her breast and lit the candles. It was nearly half past seven, and I knew that it would be time enough to notify the police after you had seen the dead child in the halo of beauty by which she had wished herself to be surrounded. Did I do wrong?"

He shook his head. He was overwhelmed with grief and it was Hilary who raised the letter and placed it unopened in his hand.

"Read it!" she entreated. "There may be comfort there if not here."

And she lit the gas in the adjoining room where she prevailed upon him to retire, while she put out the lights about the dead, and gathered up the flowers and the flowing draperies, which seemed too sacred for any eye to see but their own.

"Beloved:—You have come! You have seen your bride, and now I give you—not the letter, you returned it to me—but this long one, written almost with my blood, which will tell you all you ought to know, and tell it in less chilling language than that with which I addressed your generous rival."

"I cannot marry you. Do you ask me why? Because I wish to retain your love, and this would be jeopardized by my life, as it will not be by my death. For I know your artistic soul. I know that when you see me lying amid the flowers as on that night when you first gave me your love, you will forget that I have deceived you, and by that deception awakened in your breast a passion I was not worthy to evoke. You will forget, and I shall rest in peace happy not to have met you; look on me, or lived to have experienced the withdrawal of that trust which was my glory and my shame."

"I have deceived you. I am Sig norina Valdi and I am Jenny Rogers but I am not the innocent-hearted girl I have always appeared to be. The millions which I received did not come to me unexpectedly. I intrigued for them and obtained them through the arts and by the contrivance of the very things you thought to be my enemies, Montelli and the Portuguese of whom you have so often told me to beware."

"They were my allies—I must say it for detection as my track, and you will hear the truth from others if not from me. They were my allies but I was never with them in any harmful schemes, and was I swear to

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto.—I gladly give you my testimonial in favor of your wonderful medicines. Last October I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down, had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache, and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas.

After receiving your directions, I followed them closely and am now entirely free from pain in back and bowels, and am stronger in every way.

I also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby was born, and I recommend it highly to all pregnant women.—Mrs. E. WANDY, 92 Logan Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Another Woman Cured
Maple Creek, Sask.—I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I am now in perfect health. I was troubled with pains every month. I know other women who suffer as I did and I will gladly recommend your medicine to them. You may publish this if you think it will help others.—Mrs. F. E. COOK, Maple Creek, Sask.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of female ill, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving 25¢ and Fully Guaranteed.

Sixteen ounces of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membrane is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway pine extract rich in quinine and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not usually give this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equalled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

only the tool employed by their obtrusive control over Mr. Delancy's fortune.

"She was the woman who starved and ill-treated this gentleman in his final days. You have suspected this and suspected, also, that she overheard, in her sly way, the bequest made to Mr. Degraw and its strange conditions. But what you cannot suspect is that the woman you saw sitting in my room in—"

was not the arch-conspirator who formulated the plot but her sister Annetta, a person of more sinister appearance than she, but of less calculation and but little resolve.

"How the Cleveland had come to know Montelli and take him into his plans I have never heard. Neither have I ever been sure what the real name of this man was. That he was an Italian, I am sure; for though he disguised himself as such, he afterward showed that he could speak English without an accent. Was he a valet of some rich man, probably. As to his connection with the Portuguese, I only gather that when she came to New York and started upon the scheme of supplying Mr. Degraw with her wealth to be received, Montelli was at her side, and that it was at his instigation she approached the woman whom I once heard Mr. Byrd characterize as the least respectable of my name. I was then hiding my heart in heart-breaking despondency over my failure at the opera-house, knowing none of these three conspirators and on-leasurously preserving myself from the mockery and jeers which I imagined would follow my appearance in any crowd. I was wretched, but I was not wicked. My ambition was cooled, but I never thought of resorting to false methods in order to insure the wealth and position I imagined myself to have lost, until the fatal day that these two demons called upon me, and, with a skill and suavity you would little expect from them, made me understand that an immense fortune was going begging, which I, if I would lend myself to their guidance, might easily acquire, owing to my name and what they termed my beauty."

"The other Jenny Rogers to whom they had already spoken had been a failure; she had tried her wiles upon Mr. Degraw, but with so little effect that he would not even look at her; and they all saw that if success were to be reaped by them it must be through some innocent girl who would arouse not only the admiration of this good man, but his pity. This they explained to me, and also told me how they had heard by chance that my real name was Jenny Rogers, and that I had a history which, if known, could not but arouse commiseration. Furthermore, they encouraged me by saying that all which was required of me was to go through a certain little farce, easy enough for one who had been trained for the stage, adding that success would be sure to follow, as I had the requisite beauty and grace, and only needed to attract his attention to my misfortunes to awaken an interest which would be sure to eventuate in my being made the inheritor of these tempting millions."

"I listened. It all seemed very simple, and not at all wicked. I had merely to swallow a small powder, which would throw me into a death-like repose, and, when I awoke, as they promised I should do while Mr. Degraw was in the room, feign surprise and indignation at not having been allowed to die, as my misfortunes had made me desire. The rest would come naturally, and when I was established in my new wealth, I was to give them each a hundred thousand dollars as their share in the great undertaking.

"Do you wonder that a motherless, friendless, disappointed child was tempted by this glowing prospect, and lent herself to a scheme which seemed without risk, and was calculated to bring her everything?"

"The other woman of my name did not obtrude herself upon me, nor did Montelli make himself disagreeable by visiting me again. The Portuguese, on the contrary, came and took up her abode with me, making herself, however, as little obnoxious as possible; for she seemed to recognize from the first that I was not like herself, and must be held and cherished apart, in order that I might preserve the almost childish ignorance which was, as they openly acknowledged, the one characteristic upon which they most relied to win the favor of the fastidious Mr. Degraw. This was in the last of April, and he had already seen, and disdainfully passed by, several girls of my name. The little school teacher had been interviewed, and the Detroit miss followed and remarked; but I knew nothing of this. Nor did I know till after I had become irrevocably involved in the scheme, that Montelli, as I must call him, had pledged himself to rid the city of such of my name as seemed to attract Mr. Degraw's attention. All this was withheld from me, and being young, I doubted nothing, but went on my way, serenely waiting for the hour when these two schemers should decide that it was time for me to enter upon our premeditated farce."

"At last the day came, and I lay on my couch, trembling and fearful—not of any possible result of the deception I was about to practice, but of the long sleep into which I must go, as into a tomb. But the Portuguese was with me, and she comforted me; and when I finally felt the shadows creeping over my consciousness, I remember that she whispered, in a certain harsh, yet persuasive manner: 'He is handsome, signorina; and if he awakes you, as the Fairy Prince did the Sleeping Beauty, you need not feel alarmed, as if he were an ogre.' That made me smile, and so I fell asleep as a child might. Then she went away, and her sister, Annetta, took her place, because the Portuguese herself was known to Mr. Degraw. Annetta was not bright, and so was not fully taken into their confidence; but she understood what she had to do, and how to do it. The rest I was expected to manage myself."

"Meanwhile a fearful mistake had been made. By chance, which I can only regard now as the workings of Providence, the Portuguese had been led to confound the disposer of Mr. Delancy's fortune with the Hamilton Degraw whose name was in the hallway of a certain building that she sometimes passed. Her reason was not a poor one. She had seen Mr. Degraw of Cleveland come out of that building one day, and, being too ignorant to know that the artist who worked and roomed there was an old resident of New York, took it for granted that this was his place of work, and the spot where he was to be found.

"She gave Montelli the same impression, and as they did not wish to arouse suspicion by betraying their interest in this man, they were neither of them undeceived as to the matter till after the note had been delivered which lured you to this spot. And so, my beloved, it was upon your face that my eyes opened when I at last awoke out of my sleep; upon you who held in your first look an instant key to my heart, and made me feel, before I had fully realized all that my sensations meant, that I had lent myself to a scheme of which I was already heartily ashamed, and which, for some reason I could not explain, I should find it difficult to carry through in peace and serenity."

"But I had learned my lesson well, and tried to acquit myself according to its teachings. Believing you to be the man who controlled the great amount of money destined for the fortunate Jenny Rogers who should most

The Kidneys Wear Out

But in advanced years you can keep these organs healthy by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

As old age comes on most people suffer more or less from degeneration of the kidneys. With some there are years of pains and aches, with others Bright's disease sets in and the end comes quickly.

Fortunately many have learned about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and are enabled by their use to keep the kidneys healthy and active.

Mr. Richard Preston, Osborne, Lambton County, Ont., says: "Seven years ago I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills when my back was so bad that I stoop or rise was torture to me. The kidneys were in bad condition, but these pills entirely freed me of back pains. I have used them ever since, whenever the kidneys would get out of order, and now, at eighty years, am well and hearty, thanks to this grand medicine."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

deeply interested and please you, I told you the story of my life, artfully concealing my real name, for fear of awakening your suspicion before I had attained my end.

"The result was encouraging. You evinced not only interest, but admiration, and while I recoiled from my own duplicity, I naturally felt that elation of spirit which inevitably follows upon the success of any undertaking. But, alas I you wondered as well as admired, and I was forced into deeper deception in order to explain the surroundings by which we had attempted to make an impression upon you. As this had been foreseen and consequently provided for, I did not find any difficulty in its performance, save that my newly awakened conscience rebelled. To utter anything that was not absolutely true was rapidly becoming unendurable to me, but the necessity of the moment was upon me, and I went through with my role without flinching. Turning to Annetta, I appeared to question her, and she to answer me, and when I thought this miserable farce had gone on long enough, I repeated to you the invented tale which had been put into my mouth by the wily Portuguese. By this I hoped to escape the circumstances that had aroused your curiosity, and dispel forever whatever doubt might have been awakened in your mind in reference to Montelli and his connection with myself. And I succeeded; you know how I succeeded."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"In this place I have seen hundreds of women and girls who ought to be attractive, but who are content to be plain. Just because they are not actually pretty, they are content to be no-nentities. They miss all that makes life worth living, the attention of the opposite sex."

These words were uttered—or rather written—by a famous French beauty.

Some day that woman is going to grow old. Some day, presumably, she is going to lose her youthful charms. Some day she is going to cease to be able to compete with younger women for "the attention of the opposite sex."

I wonder, since she thinks that is all that makes life worth living, if all happiness will cease for her then. If she does not develop a somewhat different view of life, from that which she seems to hold now, I suppose it will.

Sex is a tremendous factor in woman's life, even greater perhaps than in man's. The admiration and love of men are two of the greatest happiness stimulants that can come to a woman. But they are not, as this woman, and many others would have us believe, the whole of her life.

I am constantly reading in the newspapers and magazines—and, yes, I confess it, sometimes writing myself—advice to girls to do, or not to do, this or that because "men like" this, or "men don't like" that.

An average group of girls seldom talk long without discussing some of the masculine likes and dislikes.

"We mustn't use perfume, because 'men don't like perfume.'"

"We mustn't be too athletic, because 'men don't like' girls who are too strong and self-reliant."

"We must appear to be domestic, because 'men are apt to fall in love with a domestic woman.'"

"We mustn't insist on having the vote, because 'men wouldn't care for women who know enough to vote.'"

I wonder if gatherings of men spend their time discussing feminine likes and dislikes.

I know that men are not constantly receiving advice in the papers to do this or that to please the opposite sex.

It seems to me, that we are putting altogether too much emphasis on this phase of our existence. I beg to differ with Madame, the beauty, in her statement that "the attention of the opposite sex" is all that makes life worth living to a woman.

There are a great many things besides considerations of sex that make happiness for a woman. There is congenial work, there is friendship, there is social service, there is travel, there are a thousand intellectual pleasures such as books, lectures, theatres, study and so forth.

Don't believe anyone who tells you that "men like" and "the attention of the opposite sex" are the beginning and end of woman's existence.

These are good things my friends. I would be the last to deny that. But they aren't the whole of existence—even of a woman's existence.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fads and Fashions.

The scallops are here.

Satins continue to lead.

Olive green is a favorite color at present.

Puffed sleeves at the elbow are considered good.

Green is having a great vogue for evening toilettes.

Even the severe tailored suits are trimmed this season.

Fashion is favoring embroideries to an unusual degree.

Burgundy reds are assured a place in coming fashion.

In sleeves, puff effects at the elbow are considered good.

Glace and chameleon chiffon taffetas are expected novelties.

Aigrettes are placed flat on the brim of large black velvet hats.

Smart little cloth gowns have short jackets of velvet to match.

Long handles continue fashionable for the parasol of the promenade.

The spring gives promise of small flat jabots and satin floral garnitures.

Paris takes a delight in the revival of the old-time changeable taffetas.

Ecu crash toweling is one of the latest notions used as trimming for blouses.

The fichu will be an important factor in trimming waists of lingerie dresses.

Natural pongee and white lines are again featured in fashionable pongees.

There is an obvious tendency towards a rounded waist line in the newest models.

Laces are being used to a much larger extent than last year for trimming parasols.

Contrasting fabrics in underskirt and sleeves offer new possibilities in gowning.

New touches and flower effects are being added to the store of neckwear possibilities.

Colors for the most advanced fashions are blues, browns, reds, gray, and greens.

Gowns of black satin combined with navy blue serge have found instantaneous favor.

There is a smartness in everything; even the old standby serge suit is now frequently elaborate.

Skirts, both of suits and evening dresses, are slightly full, yet with the effect of straightness.

The skirts to the demi-tailored models are frequently trimmed at the left side, or they are made in tunic effects.

Black-and-white furs are a fad of the late season; foremost in elegance and expense are Hudson seal and real ermine.

Twenty Froggies Went to School

Twenty froggies went to school. Down beside a rusty pool. Twenty little coats of green. Twenty vests so white and clean. "We must be on time," said they. First we study, then we play; That's the way we mind our rule, When we go to school."

Master Bullfrog, grave and stern. Called the classes in their turn. Taught them bravely how to strike. Likewise how to leap and dive; "From his seat upon the log," "taught them how to say 'Kerchoo,' And from sticks that bad boys throw How to dodge the blow."

Twenty froggies grew up fast; Bullfrogs they became at last. Not one dunce among the lot, Not one lesson they forgot; Polished in a high degree. As each bullfrog ought to be; Now they sit on other logs Teaching little frogs.

Darrow Indicted.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29.—Two indictments, each containing counts of bribery and corruption, were returned by the County Grand Jury against Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago, formerly chief counsel for the McNamara brothers. The bills allege that he furnished the money out of the McNamara defense fund, and bribed Robert Bain, a juror sworn to try Jas. B. McNamara, the confessed dynamiter and murderer, and Geo. H. Lockwood, a venieman.

Macaroons should never be thrown away when not used, as they may be crushed and used to flavor custards, puddings and ice cream.

Insure Against Serious Colds

Of the many forms of insurance probably that which protects you against the serious results of colds is the most valuable at this time of year when so many are becoming the victims of la grippe and pneumonia. By the prompt use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you can keep the cough loose, prevent further development of the cold and cure it up in two or three days, whereas the usual lifetime of a cold is three or four weeks, to say nothing of the serious results so frequently the outcome.

Mothers insure their children against croup by the use of this great family medicine, for if given frequently in small doses it prevents the dreadful choking spasms and soon effects a thorough cure.

Whooping cough, bronchitis, asthma, croup and severe chest colds are quickly brought under control by the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Report of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

The Bank of Nova Scotia held its annual meeting in Halifax at the end of last month. The President, Mr. John Y. Payzant, presented the annual statement, which showed that the conditions of the Bank were first rate and the prospects most favourable.

Mr. H. A. Richardson, the General Manager, took up the annual statement and pointed out that the business of the Bank had materially increased during the year. The deposit had increased about $4,000,000. The capital is $4,000,000 paid up, and the reserve $7,500,000. Assets immediately available are $32,000,000, or a liability of some $65,000,000, an exceptionally strong position.

The Bank takes in western business as well as eastern, and is endeavouring to forward the interests of the Colony generally.

The President said there was no intention of making any change in the Administration. The Bank would continue the "Bank of Nova Scotia" in fact as in name.

THURSDAY, Feb. 8, '12.
Just opened: A full consignment of "Buck's Tasteless," the well known and valuable extract of Cod Liver Oil. This preparation is undoubtedly one of the finest tonics in existence, and has restored many an anemic and weak-chested person to health. We have both sizes. Price 50c. and $1 a bottle.

We have also to announce the arrival of a full line of "Foot Easers," or arch supports. These give great relief in cases of flat foot, weakness or breaking down of the foot arch, and often in tired feet and ankles. All sizes. Price $2 a pair.

The Bonaventure Arrives.

No Report of the Kampfjerd.
The S. S. Bonaventure arrived here to-day from Sydney after a run of something over 2 days, coal laden, to A. J. Harvey & Co. The ship had fine weather and met some slob ice on the coast. As far as we can learn, she saw nothing of the Kampfjerd, and grave fears for her safety are entertained. A rumor was about that she was off Cape Race in the ice this morning, but there is not a word of truth in it.

Government Sends Second-Hand Cable.

To-day the Government shipped on board the Portia a cable for Gaultois to be used in that section and to be sent forward by her to-morrow. We understand that it was bought at Halifax, that some thousands of dollars were spent in its purchase, and that it was bought second-hand at Halifax, and those who know something about such matters, on seeing it, were surprised that the like should be put in use. A great deal of the gutta percha insulation has been rubbed off it, and it is deemed to be almost worthless if it is to be used for conveying messages. The gutta percha covering which was noticeable on some parts of it came off easily as it was being put on board the ship. This is another sample of the extravagance of the Picnic Party. If they wished to economize, it would have been far better to have purchased a new cable. But what could be expected from a Government given to the "worst forms of extravagance and reckless expenditure of the fishermen's money."

Farmers Discuss Milk Rules.

A large number of farmers met in the British Hall and discussed the new rules suggested by the A. P. C. The feeling was that the rules were impracticable, would increase price of milk and drive some farmers out of business.

They have followed the rules of the Board of Health which they find beneficial and practicable. It was however, determined to refer the whole matter of new rules to a joint meeting of the Executive and a committee of the St. John's Agricultural Society, consisting of President and secretary.

Injured Girl Here

The young girl Pearl Flander, of Codroy, who was injured there last week, necessitating her being sent to Hospital, arrived by the express this morning. The girl was sliding over a steep incline near her home last Tuesday when she ran into a pile of wood by the roadside. The top of one of the sticks of wood entered her leg and made a deep wound. She was taken to Hospital from the station by Mr. Eli Whiteaway. She is very weak and unable to put her left foot to the ground.

Railway News.

The west bound express that left here last Sunday at 6 p.m. arrived at Port aux Basques at 7 o'clock last night.

The incoming express arrived at St. John's at 1.50 a.m. this morning. The Broad Cove line is open to-day. The road from Port aux Basques is open from end to end. The regular express will go out this evening at 6 o'clock.

The local arrived from Carbonara at 12.40 p.m. to-day bringing W. Crossie, Rev. Mr. Darby, Butler, Architect McDonald and 20 others.

Marine News.

The S. S. Galveston sailed this morning for Mediterranean ports with 4,600 casks, 300 drums, and 110 bbls. fish aggregating 19,200 qts., shipped by the Nfd. Shipping Co.

The S.S. Rosalind left N. Y. Tuesday at noon and will have a delay of 2 days at Halifax. She is due here Tuesday next.

The schr. Gladys S., from Santa Paulo, with salt arrived at Burgeo yesterday after a passage of 36 days.

Ice Crop Coming.

The Bennett Brewing Co. are to-day getting in their stock of ice for the season from the pond near Irvine. It is an expensive undertaking to bring ice in over the railway from a pond such a distance from town, but the Company do not allow a question of expense to come in the way when they want ice that is clean beyond question. Mr. Byrne is looking after the shipments as they come in.

The declaration of the Rev. Frank Burr Crispell, pastor of Hedding Methodist Episcopal Church at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., that he will shoot the saloon-keeper who dares to sell his son liquor, has caused much talk in and out of church circles in Poughkeepsie. The clergyman made this declaration before a meeting of the Poughkeepsie branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. "If a saloon-keeper sells one of my boys rum I will shoot him," Dr. Crispell declared. "Yes, I will kill him. This may be rather hot talk, but I mean it. Rather than the rum-seller should die than that he should be allowed to make a drunkard."

Coaker in Port de Grave.

FIGHTING FISHERMEN'S BATTLES AND FIGHTING GOVERNMENT.

Special Evening Telegram.
PORT DE GRAVE, To-Day.

President Coaker arrived here from Barenec at 6.30 p.m. yesterday. He held a public meeting at Barenec and started a branch there yesterday afternoon, a large number of men joining. Flags were displayed all along the route. Upon arrival here the route was lighted by numerous lanterns and torchlights. Private dwellings were lighted, the horse was taken from the sleigh which conveyed the President, and ropes were attached and the people drew the sleigh through the settlement to the Fisherman's Hall. The Orange band were in attendance and rendered music throughout the march and at the hall. People cheered Coaker all along the route. The boys were delighted and continually cheered with the men for Coaker. No such demonstration was ever accorded any man who visited Port de Grave. The speech was a splendid one, lasting three hours. Wonderful interest was aroused and splendid order prevailed. The hall was blocked. Every inch was occupied. The platform was crowded, hardly room for the speaker. At the close of speech the speaker was cheered. Coaker spoke six hours yesterday; sixty men were enrolled after the public meeting. Everything is Union and all are eager to see and hear the man that is fighting the fishermen's battle and also fighting the Government on behalf of the toilers. We honor him and will stand by him. God speed his work.

Out of Hospital.

Thos. Fry, of English Cove, near Brigus, was in town to-day, the first time he has been out since the 22nd of January. On that date he met with an accident at the N. S. Slope, Bell Island, where he was working. He was sent up by the boss to work in another location and was sitting on a car when the cable broke. He was thrown out and his wrist was broken, besides receiving other bodily injuries. This was at 9 in the morning. He lay unconscious from that hour up to 6 p.m. of the same day, when he realized that he was lying in the Hospital and that an accident had happened. His recovery from that time was slow but certain. He has not yet, however, the use of his hand. He came to town to-day to consult a lawyer in reference to suing the company for damages.

A Child Terribly Burned.

MAY DIE OF INJURIES.

Little Mary Byrne, the year and a half old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Byrne, foot of Pleasant Street, set fire to her clothing with paper lighted at the kitchen stove this morning about 10.30 and received such injuries that she will most likely die from the effects. Mrs. Byrne went out to the house of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mignonette, a few doors along the street, leaving three children in the kitchen. Little Mary, the youngest, was sitting in front of the stove fully dressed. The older sister, 4 years of age, was supposed to take care of her. The third child there was a 2½ year old boy. They were all playing quietly when the mother went out, accompanied by Mrs. Harvey, who lives in the ground flat of the tenement. The latter went to her back yard while Mrs. Byrne went on to the house of Mrs. Mignonette. Two minutes afterwards Mrs. Harvey heard the children screaming, ran in from the back yard, and thinking that the older sister, who is a little erratic in mind, was beating the baby, ran on to tell Mrs. Byrne at her mother-in-law's house instead of going upstairs. Had she done so it is likely that the little one's life would be saved. Over a minute was lost before she and the mother returned. A horrible sight met their view when they ran upstairs. The body lay on the floor near the landing, her clothing a mass of flames. The elder sister was jumping about the room like one possessed and bawling as loudly as she could. The little boy ran down stairs crying with fear when his mother saw him. Mrs. Byrne seized a bucket which luckily had been brought in by her from the tank a few minutes previously and threw it over the burning child. This did not entirely put out the fire. The mother, frantic with grief, took the baby in her arms and ran down stairs as quickly as she could. Mrs. Harvey arrested her progress in the hall and helped to pull the burning rags off the little body. Meantime the neighbors had come to the house and some one phoned for Dr. Campbell from a store nearby. On examination it was found that the child was burnt terribly on the breast, lips, face and abdomen but that life was not extinct. The doctor wrapped the child in wool and did whatever else he deemed necessary and then ordered the mother to put it to bed. Up to 1 p.m. the little one was still alive and shortly before had asked for a drink. Mr. Byrne, the father of the child, works at Barr's. The little boy on being questioned after the excitement was over said that his elder sister had lit a piece of paper and put it in baby's lap.

Rumor of a Libel Suit.

To-day it is generally rumored that Messrs. Berry and Olson intend to jointly institute a suit for libel against the Evening Chronicle for statements about them in yesterday's issue which they claim to be damaging and calculated to injure them professionally. It is further said that they will retain the services of a well known young lawyer.

NIAGARA FALLS.

Niagara Falls is a huge volume of noise entirely surrounded by bridges and bridge rooms. These falls are the greatest in American history, and are exceeded only by the fall of Sebastopol and the fall of the late Benedict Arnold.

who fell quite a distance at the end of a hemp rope. It is said that Isaac Newton, who discovered the law of gravitation in his cow pasture, after everybody had hunted around for it for years, was much gratified to find that these falls fell down instead of up, thereby making the theory visible to the naked eye. Niagara offers many attractions to the tourist. Nowhere else in this country can a man rid himself of his spare change and spend quicker than right here. You can ride around Niagara in a cab for several hours without paying for anything but the cab, although the handsome cab is giving way to the taxicab, so called because it taxes the conscience of the driver and the check-book of the driver. One of the favorite pastimes at Niagara is diving off the falls in a bathing suit and a kerosene barrel, but men who have tried it and recovered say it is not what it is cracked up to be, as one loses a good deal of the scenery and is liable to have a blow-out which affects both the casing and the inner tube. The falls are supported by a natural dam and mellow bridge-rooms who loosen up for the first and last time in their natural lives. Many a woman who hasn't been off the town since she was married looks back upon the honeymoon at Niagara and sheds a silent tear. Her husband also sheds a few, but for different reasons, chief among which is the memory of a chief will offering for a room with bath which set him back several laps in the race of life.

Makes Hair Grow.

McMurdo & Co. have an invigorator that will grow hair or money back. The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears. The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, the Great American Hair Grower, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed. A large bottle for 50c.

Presentations.

The whole Battalion of the C. C. C. will parade at the Armoury to-night when the Cups won by the Brigade last season will be formally presented. The medals for taking first place in the inter-Brigade contests and the prizes obtained at camp will be given by Mrs. Conroy, wife of the Lieut.-Colonel, to the winners. The band of the Corps will be present and a pleasing time is anticipated. The winter games are now on and much interest is being taken in them by the boys. Penants instead of medals will be given this year and funds to equip a gymnasium will be raised. The annual "At Home" will be held Monday night next.

A Great Demonstration

IN HONOUR OF COAKER AND THE FISHERMEN'S UNION AT CLARKE'S BEACH.

People Assemble From all Sections of Port de Grave District and Bay Roberts and Coley's Point.

Special Evening Telegram.

CLARKE'S BEACH, Feb. 7. The greatest demonstration ever held at Clarke's Beach was seen yesterday in honor of President Coaker. From all sections of this district and from Bay Roberts and Coley's Point people assembled. The Port de Grave band headed the great procession, which marched from South River to North River. Volleys of musketry such as never before experienced here were fired along the route. The train being delayed, the people patiently waited, and on arrival cheers and volleys of musketry greeted Coaker. He was taken at once to a sleigh in waiting and drawn by scores of our Union spirited young friends to the Methodist Parish hall. For over an hour the people pushed and struggled to gain entrance to the hall; at last the building was crowded. About 300 stood for three hours listening to the address of the man that some grabbals claimed was down and out last week because of his apology. Not so. Port de Grave District responded nobly to the defence of the fishermen's friend and showed yesterday that to attack Coaker means to strengthen him. Friend Robert Boone occupied the chair. A hundred ladies lined the platform upon which sat also the Rev. Mr. Sargent and F. Noseworthy. The President spoke for three hours, being continually applauded and cheered. Not a dissenting voice was heard, the most perfect order prevailed. No such public meeting was ever held here before. A large number joined at a Union meeting held after the public address. We received Coaker as no man was ever received here. If the firing of guns, display of bunting, band, music and cheers mean anything, Coaker had them in galore. The sleigh containing the President displayed a large banner upon which was inscribed the words, "Long live Coaker and the P. U. forever." President Coaker will hold a meeting at Barened at 2.30 and Port de Grave at 7.30 to-day.

5,000 Troops on the Scene.

Special to Evening Telegram.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. A cable despatch from Belfast says that with nearly 5,000 troops on the scene to prevent rioting to-morrow, the city has taken the aspect of war. Although Lord Mayor McMordeie hoped that the presence of so large a body of troops would prevent bloodshed, nevertheless a new element of danger had entered into the situation in the shape of threats by mill-girls here to prevent the meeting if possible. Although Ulster Unionists have given a half-hearted promise to make no attempt to break up the meeting, the authorities did not relax their vigilance to-day, nor lessen the preparations made for to-morrow.

Home Rule Being Discussed.

Special Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Feb. 7. A Cabinet meeting was held to-day, lasting for four hours. As the Home Rule Bill was known to be under discussion, the unusually prolonged session is regarded as strong corroboration of the belief that the question whether Ireland should or should not be granted fiscal autonomy is a subject of serious ministerial differences. With the opening of Parliament set for next week the increased prospects of a split in the Cabinet will go far to hearten the Opposition.

A Pleasant Gathering

CATHEDRAL MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.

The annual tea and entertainment in the British Hall yesterday afternoon by the Cathedral Men's Bible Class in aid of the Harbor Mission work was a very enjoyable and sociable gathering. The programme opened with a stirring march by the C. L. B. Band, followed by a solo by Mr. W. Cornick; Cello solo by Mr. A. Mews; Piano solo by Miss Cornick; song by Mr. Ruggles; violin solo by Miss Johnson. Mr. C. B. Dicks submitted the annual report showing a successful year. There had been 27 sessions on Sundays in the Synod Building. The annual sealers service had been held in the Cathedral, and a good supply of literature put on board the sealing ships before going to the ice last spring. The Harbor Mission work under Capt. R. Pike, assisted by Messrs. Gosse, Crane, Martin, Hussey and A. Crane was remarkably successful. The work began in May and was continued every Sunday till December, during which time 550 vessels were visited and the crews supplied with literature and invited to the Church service. The C. L. B. Band played another choice selection; Mr. Snow, a clarinet solo, and solos were given by Mr. F. Cornick and W. W. Blackall; duet by Messrs. F. and W. Cornick; overture by the Band. Refreshments were served during the evening. The lady table holders deserve to be complimented on the success of the entertainment, viz., Lady Horwood, Miss Pilot, Miss Hayward, Mesdames Bell, Bowring, Blandford, Shea, Bennett, Job, Davey, White, Bolt, Rendell, Crowdy, Steator, Taylor, Davey, Grieve, Harvey and Barton.

No More Misery in the Stomach.

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia vanish in five minutes.

If what you just ate is causing you stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Bilioussness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

Wealthiest Bachelor Will Marry

Lord Howard de Walden, the wealthiest bachelor in Europe, whose engagement is announced to Miss Margherita Van Raalte, is a man of interesting character. In spite of his $1,500,000 a year. He loves both the race track and poetry, and has been seen reading a volume of poems while at the races. He writes poetry himself, and his interest in artistic drama led him to support one of the repertory theatre ventures in London. He also was the giver of the prize in the Welsh play competition which was won by Miss Jeannette Marks of South Hadley. He hopes to establish a national theatre in Wales. The girl whom he is to marry is 20 years old and highly talented.

The Coal Conference Fails.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.

The probability of a national coal strike and the complete dislocation of industry has been greatly increased by the failure of the National Conference of coal owners and miners to effect a settlement. The demands were discussed at a prolonged session yesterday with the result that the coal owners adopted a resolution declaring the owners prepared to consent to a proposition, that each person in their employment should receive a fair day's wage for a day's work, but they are convinced that payment in proportion to the amount of work performed is the only rule which can be successfully applied in the case of a coal-getter. The resolution concluded with a reservation of the right to continue the negotiations. The miners replied expressing regret that the refusal of the owners to accept the principle of a minimum wage adding: "We know that there can be no settlement of the present dispute unless this principle is agreed to." At the conclusion the miners announced their desire to avert a serious rupture in the coal trade and their willingness for this reason to meet the coal owners at any time in further discussion if the coal owners express a desire to do so. The owners promised to give this subject further consideration and in this attitude lies the hope that the coal strike may be averted.

Confidence in Redmond.

Special to Evening Telegram.

DUBLIN, To-day.

The Irish parliamentary party at a meeting passed a resolution in consequence of the payment of members of parliament that each member of the Irish parliamentary party should subscribe $250 annually to the Home Rule Fund. The members presented John Redmond, their leader, with a motor car, and the United Irish League re-elected Redmond, President in a resolution, expressing satisfaction with the position of the Irish national movement and the prospect of a speedy and final settlement of the Irish question on the lines of self-government for Ireland in all purely Irish affairs.

Passenger Killed at Placentia Junction.

Amongst the passengers who were on the incoming express last night was Mr. Peter Murphy, returning from Jougiers, Quebec, where he had been working all the winter with a pulp company. When the train arrived at Placentia Junction poor Murphy, with others, got off to stretch his legs and relieve the monotony of the journey while the mails were being exchanged. Where the track has been cleared up by the snow plow there are banks of hard snow on each side, and on one of those banks he stood. As the train started he was in the act of descending the snow bank to jump on to the steps of the train when his foot slipped on the ice and his left leg shot under the car. A passenger who was on the platform saw the accident and with great presence of mind pulled the bell cord and the train was quickly brought to a standstill. The wheel of the car passed over his leg and crushed it to a pulp. He was lifted up tenderly and taken on board the car. Blood was flowing copiously from the wound and the train hands and some of the passengers worked their best to stop the hemorrhage. A tight bandage was put around the leg just above the wound, which to some extent stopped the flow of blood. When the train arrived at Whitbourne Dr. Chisholm was called. He applied a tourniquet above the knee. He gave the patient a stimulant and after doing all possible boarded the train and accompanied him to the city. Mr. Eli Whiteway, who was at the station, engaged a conveyance to convey the unfortunate man to hospital. When they had proceeded as far down town as Gregory's Lane, the patient expired. The body was then taken to the morgue and the friends notified. Deceased belonged to Odein, where he has one brother residing, his parents and the rest of the family being dead. He went to Quebec last November and was returning with his fellow workman, William Bursley. Mr. R. T. McGrath, J.P., of Odein, who is now in town, was at the morgue this morning, and afterwards saw Mr. R. J. Devereaux, M. H. A. for the district, who made all arrangements to have the body sent home for interment. Deceased was 29 years of age and unmarried.

Wedding Bells.

A quiet but interesting wedding was solemnized here on Sunday, the contracting parties being Mr. Patrick Austin and Miss Mary Hawco. The bride was becomingly attired in a costume of seal brown Amazon cloth, trimmed with white and white silk hat, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Katie Duggan attended as bridesmaid and Mr. John Brophy as groomsmen. Rev. Wm. Fian of Harbor Grace performed the ceremony. After the ceremony they drove to the home of the bride's parents, amid cheers and volleys of musketry, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of; songs and music were rendered by Messrs. Austin, Murphy and Duggan. The bride was the recipient of many useful presents. Amid showers of rice and good wishes they left for their future home, Brooklyn, by Tuesday's express. At Hr. Breton.

Rev. Father St. Croix, P.P., of Hr. Breton, who went to Fox Cove, west side of Fortune Bay, on a sick call some ten days ago, has not returned to date. The storms of last week delayed the bay steamer Senu, which is the only means of Fr. St. Croix's return home. Rev. Fr. Nugent, assistant P. P., arrived by the Portia on the 2nd inst. His mission is in Bay d'Espoir, but he has very kindly consented to remain at Hr. Breton till Fr. St. Croix's return. On Sunday Fr. Nugent celebrated the usual two Masses and preached from the Gospel of the day a most eloquent and edifying sermon. Such a display of eloquence and piety on the part of Fr. Nugent during this sermon is greatly appreciated by the whole congregation, who are still speaking of it as a holy and intellectual treat. The people of Bay d'Espoir are fortunate in having such a good priest to care for them spiritually.

The Charity Concert.

The Charity Concert in the T. A. Hall last night was largely attended. Amongst those in the front seats were His Excellency the Governor, Lady Williams, Miss Dean, P. S. Fitzherbert, Lieut. Gale, A. D. C., Rt. Rev. Mons. Roache, Reys. Dr. Kitchen, Pippy, Goff, and superiors of the Mt. Cashel and Mt. St. Francis. The concert was very successful, all the numbers having been well rendered and applauded. The dancing by the boys of Mount Cashel Orphanage was an attractive item; also the solos of Mr. J. L. Slattery, who carried the house by storm in his rendition of a patriotic song, "Ireland once again a nation." His accompaniments were with skill and ease by his nephew Master Jack Slattery. The selections by the band of the C. C. C. were very fine. The other accompanists were Mr. Hutton, Mrs. O'Neill, Miss Vincent and Miss Johnson. The full programme is as subjoined:

PART I.

Overture, C. C. C. Band; Chorus, "The Oars Are Splashing Lightly," St. Patrick's Hall Boys; Song, "The Maid of Malabar"—Adams, Miss G. Notes From Western Bay

Mr. F. Coaker, Esq., P. P. U., spoke before a large and appreciative audience in the Orange hall last night. This morning the President left for the meeting to-night. Mr. Coaker has been well received throughout his tour of the district.

The severe storm which has so far, characterized the passing winter, have seriously impeded the mailman in the discharge of his duties. Storm succeeds storm, and the immense piles of snow which have drifted up on every hand, make travelling almost impossible. The people of the district are longing for the day when the snow of the iron horse shall set the echoes resounding across the valleys, and mail-carrying by horse is but a memory of the past.

The young men of Western Bay are evidently intent on increasing their knowledge of the three R's. A night school with a roll of fifteen, have been opened in a vacated dwelling in Riverhead, under the direction of Mr. James Crumme, ex-teacher of Western Bay, and of Western Bay Central Methodist schools. Another has been opened in the League Room, in the Methodist school building. This school has a good attendance of Benedict, and is in charge of Mr. L. G. T. Crumme, a capable gentleman, with a way of speaking, which makes one sit up and take notice, being both forceful and persuasive. Both schools will, no doubt, meet with success.

The wedding of Miss Kitty Fahey and Mr. G. Snow, of Carbonear, took place on Sunday evening, Rev. John Lynch officiated. Miss A. Fitzgerald attended the bride and Mr. P. Fahey supported the groom. After the ceremony the party drove to the home of Mr. David Sullivan, where a very enjoyable evening was spent. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Snow many years of wedded felicity.

About two o'clock this morning as a company of young men were coming citywards from a wedding celebration held at Bally Haley, when they neared the King's Bridge got the smell of burning wood. Investigating they discovered that the snow had been carefully shovelled away from the side of the house until recently occupied by Mr. John Hayse, and that a quantity of old rags and cloths which had been put up against the clapboards were on fire, and had they not been discovered would set the house in a blaze. The men took the burning material away and quenched it with snow, after which they informed the police of the matter. To them it looked as if it was a deliberate attempt made by someone to fire the premises.

Obituary.

There passed away last evening at her residence, York Street, after a brief illness Mrs. Catherine Nicholls, wife of Capt. Chas. Nicholls, of His Majesty's Customs. Mrs. Nicholls, though feeling unwell for some days past, did not deem her illness to be of a serious nature, and cheerfully tended her husband, who is now convalescent, after a severe attack of pneumonia. Yesterday, however, her illness took a dangerous turn and in the evening her spirit fled to the Great Beyond. The blow is a severe one to Capt. Nicholls in his present delicate condition and he is the recipient of the condolence of a host of friends in the city. The deceased leaves surviving her, two brothers, Messrs. William and Thomas Kelly, of H. M. Customs, and one sister, a religious in the Convent of St. Joseph de Cluny, Seine, France. To the sorrowing husband and relatives the Telegram extends its sincere sympathy.

FERRYLAND REPLIES

TO CAPTAIN FITZPATRICK.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—We see in your issue of the 26th inst., that Capt. Fitzpatrick makes some remarks on the resolutions from Ferryland, and defies the resolvers to prove their charge of unkindness against him.

Now, Mr. Editor, to begin with, we wish to state that when we were drawing up those resolutions we did not wish to state all the facts of the unfortunate accident pertaining to the death of poor Seek. We took into consideration the fact that the Capt. of the Portia was a man with a good record, and that perhaps he was influenced by some person or persons on his ship at the time the fatal accident occurred. We did not, nor do we wish to intentionally injure his feelings or reputation in this matter. "It is human to err," the best of men make mistakes and quite naturally kick hard sometimes on being reminded of their errors.

The Capt. in denying our charge makes a few offside kicks, and it must be apparent to all intelligent readers of his epistle, kicks himself hardest of all in that paragraph of his letter wherein he states: "The resolutions condemn me as being unkind because I did not move the ship to Winsor's wharf to effect a speedy landing. Why did they not resolve about who was to pay for the skiff load of freight alongside, which would surely upset in doing so." If we are to take him seriously in that statement he apparently set more value on some old freight than on his poor fellow-man suffering from severe injury and the chill of the icy waters. Besides if that skiff was so deeply laden that she would surely upset in being towed to Winsor's wharf, was it either kind or prudent of the Capt. to let a man seriously injured and chilled leave his ship in a skiff (loaded as he claims) when a storm was raging? Had he not plenty of the boats and able seamen to effect a speedy landing? Was he not, or at least he should have been, master of the situation. Why did he not direct the men in the skiff (who were Seek's sons and nephews) to go to leeward and land in ten minutes as he claims could have been done? No! Capt. Tom blundered, and blundered almost as badly in his letter to the press which, (apart from the first paragraph and his expressions of regret that such an unfortunate affair should happen, especially in connection with his ship) is nothing more or less than absurd and flimsy excuse.

It must have been a case of optical delusion with the Capt. when here, if not how came he to state that if the skiff had gone before the gale they could have landed in ten minutes in the eastern end of the harbour. Now, everyone who knows the compass and has seen Ferryland knows that the eastern side of the harbour is formed by a chain of islets which run out seaward from the north end of the settlement, and that the southern

It All Started With La Grippe.

AND THE CURE WAS QUICK AND SURE WHEN HE USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Aged New Brunswick man tells how his Diabetes and Bright's Disease vanished before Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lower Abouggogin, Westmoreland Co., N.B., Feb. 7. (Special).—"I had a severe attack of La Grippe, which developed into Diabetes and Bright's Disease, but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. Yes, I am seventy years old, but I am in good health again and I hardly need to tell you I am well satisfied with Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Such is the story of Damien Boudreau, one of the oldest and most highly respected inhabitants of this place. It shows what a boon Dodd's Kidney Pills are to the old folks. They cure the Kidneys, clear the dregs of disease out of the blood and make the old feel young.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys. Good Kidneys mean that there can be no impurities left in the blood. And the man or woman who has good pure blood can laugh at nine out of ten of the ills to which the flesh is heir. They are the one sure cure for all diseases of the Kidneys and all diseases such as Rheumatism, Backache, Lambago and Heart Disease, which are caused by impure blood.

side is formed by that little peninsula called the Downs which juts seaward from the west end of the settlement the bearings of were anything like a safe landing could be effected by the skiff as she left the steamer would be either north or west. The wind at the time was about W.N.W., "before the gale" would certainly mean those snow covered, uninhabited little islands or out through the narrows altogether.

The Portia at the time the skiff left her must have been fully five hundred yards from either the North or West end of the Harbour, and at least three hundred yards from the nearest point of land.

We wish to remind the Capt. that the rope with which poor Seek left himself over the ship's side, was belayed by one of his sailors, and we would also remind him that the accommodation ladder is not to be depended on always, for here only a few years ago it gave way with a lady passenger standing on it, both plunging into the water together, and if it were not for the prompt action of a Ferryland man who was alongside with his boat, perhaps would have resulted fatally for the lady in question.

The men of this place who were on board tell a very different story about all the attendance which the injured man received in the Social Hall of the Portia, and no doubt the water-soaked underclothing which was found on him after he was landed proves conclusively that there was very little care or attendance given him on board the ship. Patrick Seek, son of the deceased, took off some of his clothes to put on his father, and in the excitement and confusion which prevailed lost his cap and mittens, resulting in his ears and fingers being frost bitten while rowing to land.

The orders of Dr. Freebairn who arrived immediately on the scene at Seek's home were, "get hot applications as quickly as possible, there is great danger from the chill," and after working in this way for two or three hours they at least got life and warmth in the injured man who then became quite conscious and remained so until 11 o'clock at night, when having received the full consolation of Holy Church from our own kind-hearted Parish Priest, he passed peacefully away to his eternal home.

In conclusion we wish to say that we are not prompted by spleen or revenge in this matter; no one with reason can charge the people in and around Ferryland as being much addicted to fault finding or agitating. We have for years and years been labouring under wrongs and difficulties without protesting publicly, but it is near time we realize that we are living in the twentieth century.

We are determined on the stand we have taken in this matter and will have Capt. Fitzpatrick (or anybody else concerned) to clearly understand that if necessary we will take another and more effective course to prove who is right or wrong.

Signed on behalf of the resolvers,
P. J. FARRELL, Chairman.

Readers of Victor Hugo's "Toilers of the Sea," think they detect a note of exaggeration in the terrible fight of one of the characters in that book, with an octopus. Recently an octopus caught a Japanese diver at work near Monterey, Cal., and squeezed him so violently that only his diving suit saved him from death. The monster held on so it was an hour before the diver could be hauled up. The tentacles of the devilfish, which weighed 275 pounds, had to be cut up by one.

'Peddler's Acre.'

Strange Chancery Suit Over Historic Spot in London.

In the common way of land values in large cities in Great Britain a piece of the land on which London's new county hall is now being slowly fashioned has risen, in actual money rental 13,500-fold in 400 years. Bringing in 2s. 8d. a year in 1504, this plot, known as Pedlar's Acre, was worth £1,800 a year when the London County Council bought it from the Lambeth Borough Council a few years ago for £81,000. The plot is part of the six and a quarter acres now cleared for the new county buildings.

A portion of the £81,000 was claimed by the rector and churchwardens of old Lambeth Parish Church; but after hearing the case in the Chancery Division, Mr. Justice Neville decided in favor of the Lambeth Council. The London County Council was no party to the litigation, having paid the money into Chancery and left the borough council and the parish church to fight over the sharing of it.

On behalf of the rector and churchwardens, Mr. Hardy, expert record-searcher, has unearthed some romantic legends concerning the bequest of the estate. According to one story, the pedlar who gave this acre of river-side land to the old Lambeth parish in the fifteenth century made it conditional on a representation of his dog being kept in one of the church windows. This finds some support in the fact that a window on the south side of the church has on it a painting of a pedlar with a long staff and a pack, accompanied by a dog.

Another tradition of record tells how the pedlar fell asleep near Farthing Ferry, and while he slept his dog scratched up the turf and discovered buried treasure.

Yet another declares that the pedlar Smith took shelter from a storm under the wall of old Lambeth Church, on the very spot which afterwards sheltered Queen Mary and the "Young Pretender" in their flight. The priest, finding the pedlar under the wall, observed, "Thou art early for vesper, my son." "I am not for vesper, father," replied Smith, "I am for the road when rain threatens no longer." "Art thou an honest man?" inquired the priest. "Hast thou much custom? Does thou mete out true measure?" "Yes," answered the pedlar, "I mete out good measure, to my detriment. It is tramp, tramp, tramp, for but little gain."

The priest, after much persuasion, induced the pedlar to join in the evening service, and the story runs that years later, when Smith, then a prosperous tradesman, was about to die, he left the acre of land to the church, praying that God might prosper the land as He had prospered him.

The earliest record appears to be in 1504, when the receipts from the Pedlar's Acre amounted to only 2s. 8d. a year. When the London County Council acquired the estate, the Lambeth Borough Council was getting £1,800 a year from it, and devoting the money to a reduction of the rates. In the intervening centuries, as the value of the estate had increased, it had become the battlefield for many contending interests, and in 1826 an act of Parliament was passed to put an end to all disputes.

On behalf of the rector and churchwardens it was now contended that the legal estate was not vested in the borough council, and they claimed that a proportion of the £81,000 should be devoted to ecclesiastical purposes.

Mr. Justice Neville held that the estate was vested in the borough council for civil purposes only, and directed that the income of the £81,000 should be paid to the council for the relief of the general rate of the borough and not for ecclesiastical purposes.

Cascarets Cure a Bilious Headache.

Gently, but thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels and you feel great by morning.

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleansing up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that every disorder of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you and the entire family feeling good for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

Gone to Belfast.

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, Feb. 7. The Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill left here to-night for Belfast, where he will address a Home Rule meeting on the same platform with John Redmond, the Nationalist leader. Churchill was accompanied by his wife. By boarding the train half an hour before the scheduled time of starting, he eluded a band of suffragettes who had planned to mob him.

A Woman Badly Burned.

IN EFFORT TO SAVE HER CHILD.

By the shore train which arrived here at 1.15 p.m. yesterday, Mrs. Mary Tremblett, of Conn Point, Salmoner, came along and was brought to hospital by Mr. E. Whiteway. Monday night Mrs. Tremblett, who lived with her father-in-law, found the house on fire and the inmates being aroused rushed out of it just in time to save their lives. After they had emerged Mrs. Tremblett discovered that her child had been forgotten and was in the burning building, she rushed in through the flames and succeeded in bringing out the little one which happily was unscathed. When the heroic mother emerged with her child wrapped up in her clothing her apparel was on fire and she was terribly burned about the hands, face and body. Every attention was given the woman and as soon as possible she was taken to Holyrood and entrained there for the city. Every attention has been given her in the hospital and it is hoped she will recover. The house was completely gutted.

Excellent Organ Recital.

A most successful and very enjoyable organ recital and musicale was given last night at the Methodist College. A fairly large and appreciative audience attended, and the applause was hearty and frequent. The following excellent programme was rendered:—

Man Becomes Exhausted.

Friday evening last a man named Robbins left Island Cove to go to Perlican and missed his way in the storm, and having no bread or food of any kind with him became exhausted and wandered aimlessly about for a long while. He brought up in the vicinity of Daniel's Cove and was met by Rev. Father Donnelly as he proceeded to a sick call. When he was noticed by the priest the man was staggering along and fell repeatedly. Fr. Donnelly immediately rendered aid, brought the man to the nearest house and saw that he received food and every possible attendance. When met by the priest the man was in a dazed state, was benumbed by cold and in a bad way from hunger and exposure. He could not have walked much longer and must have succumbed unless aid came. His boots were frozen on his feet and had to be cut clear of them. The man returned home the next day.

REID NEWFOUNDLAND COMPANY.

Is your house really lighted from top to bottom or do you still have to take a candle or lamp when you go to the attic or cellar at night?

A great many people who have electricity in the rest of the house have no light in the cellar or attic because it is seldom needed; but, when you do need it, you need it badly.

One Incandescent Lamp set in a Holophane Reflector will give sufficient light for the darkest cellar or attic. Holophane Reflectors are especially adapted to lighting places of this sort as they control the light rays so that every ray is utilized. Wouldn't it be a convenience if you could turn a switch and light your cellar or attic before entering? That means an end to dangerous matches and flames—it means that you no longer need stumble against misplaced boxes and bark your shins in the dark.

We would like to tell you more about electric lighting and more about the wonderful light-giving Holophane Reflectors. May we send a representative to see you?
