OR— WEDDED AT LAST.

CHAPTER XXXI.

"Don't you think you had better stay and accompany Lady Glynn and Captain Layton this afternoon?" said Mrs. Beadesert gaily. "There seems to be quite a furore about these charming dances; but I must acknowledge that I saw nothing very attractive in them."

"Perhaps not," returned Guy, smiling. "We look at things from a different point of view. Mrs. Beadesert."

"Then you will stay?" "Thank you—no." "Not even to call at the Vicarage?" "Not even to call at the Vicarage," he answered, smiling. "I hope to be at Lymouth to-night. The vicar there was my tutor for some time."

"Has he any daughters?" asked Mrs. Beadesert innocently. "No; he is an old bachelor. Like myself," said Guy, laughing.

"And a misogynist," asked the pretty widow, "like yourself?" "Like myself, too, not a misogynist," said Major Stuart, glancing at her with a smile, "but a devoted admirer of your sex, Mrs. Beadesert. Have you made up your mind to walk a few miles over the cliff with me, Glynn?" he added, turning to the baronet.

"Yes, I think so," Sir Hugh answered, hesitating a little. "Does your way lie over the cliffs?" "Yes, Lymouth is about eighteen or twenty miles, I fancy."

"A long walk alone," put in Lord Rupert somewhat contemptuously. "One cannot feel one's solitude much in such scenery as this," said Guy.

"Don't tempt Sir Hugh into sharing your wandering existence," advised Lady Eastwell, with a glance at Sir Hugh, who smiled as his eyes rested on his wife, looking so fair and sweet in her white dress, with a soft almost tender expression on the face which had been for so long so proud and cold.

"There is no fear of that," he answered smiling; "although I think rambles would do me good. We a terribly lazy here. Shirley, may look you up at the Vicarage on a return?"

"I wonder, Shirley, you are not afraid to trust him to the fascinations of these attractive demoscelles," said Alice, with a little smile which had not much sweetness in it. "I will risk that," Shirley answered gaily; and half an hour afterwards she was standing with Mrs. Beadesert and Lady Eastwell on the balcony, chatting merrily as the gentlemen, who were smoking their cigars at the door below, where Major Stuart and Sir Hugh stood ready to start.

Radway's Ready Relief

CURES SORE THROAT
Apply the Relief to the throat and chest until the surface smart and reddens. Give Radway's Pills in such doses as will freely move the bowels. For a golden rule, take a large dose of Radway's Pills, and a teaspoonful of Relief, with a teaspoonful of molasses, in a tumbler of hot water. Retire at once to bed. A profuse perspiration will break out, and in the morning the cold will be gone. RADWAY & CO., Montreal, Can.

fastening the red one in the button hole of his gray tweed coat. "York and Lancaster! That is ominous, Sir Hugh."

"Why?" said Sir Hugh, laughing. "Hath not thy rose a canker, Somerset?"

"Hath not thy rose a thorn, Plantagenet?" quoted Lady Eastwell gaily.

"Don't fall out by the way," said Mrs. Beadesert merrily. "It would be the worse for you, Sir Hugh, because, if Major Stuart has the same argument that Somerset had in his scabbard in that silver ball at the end of his stick, you will certainly have the worst of it."

"What argument was that?" Sir Hugh asked abruptly; he seemed to find Shirley's graceful figure in her white dress prettier than the little widow in her primrose satin-faced morning wrapper.

"Don't you remember?" she asked gaily. "I should have thought you read Shakespeare sometimes. Have you forgotten that charming scene in the Temple Gardens when they chose the roses? The Plantagenet asks Somerset where is his argument."

"And Somerset answers," Lady Eastwell broke in, smiling. "Here in my scabbard, meditating that shall dye your white rose in a blood-red."

"Ah, but I have the red rose already!" Sir Hugh said laughingly. "So I can defy Stuart."

"Yes, possession is nine points of the law," remarked Lady Eastwell with some meaning. "And so farewell," she added, smiling, "until I see you again."

"I hope we shall meet this autumn, Major Stuart," said Mrs. Beadesert graciously. "I dare say we shall be visiting at the same houses."

"I may even look forward perhaps to the great pleasure of seeing you at sturteigh," he replied, lifting his hat with the graceful courtesy that Shirley had liked so much in the old days. "Farewell, Lady Eastwell. Good-bye, Lady Glynn."

His voice changed a little when he spoke to her, changed and softened so that to Shirley's ears the simple word he had spoken carried its full meaning. He was going away; but she was leaving her a less unhappy—she could not say happier yet—and a better woman; and her lips quivered a little as he said "Good-bye," and she remembered that once in the old days they had spoken of the meaning of that word.

"Good-bye," she answered softly, little thinking, as she watched the two men walk down the street side by side, turning at the foot of the hill to lift their hats once more with a last gesture of farewell, how soon and in what terrible circumstances she would meet Guy Stuart again.

"I am very sorry, Mrs. Gray; but I think that at least we must make up our minds to tear ourselves away."

Lady Glynn was standing by the window of the Vicarage drawing room, a pretty, shabby, homelike room with a glimpse of the sea visible from its bay-windows, and the old china bowls placed here and there with roses of every hue, which filled the room with fragrance. The piano was open, and Ada was still seated before it, turning over a pile of songs, over which Captain Layton's smooth dark head was also bent.

Lucie was standing with Shirley at the window, where they had been talking earnestly and pleasantly for half an hour and more, while Mrs. Gray had been away, occupied with a humble visitor in her husband's study. The tea-tray, with its simple white china cups and saucers, stood on a little table, and Shirley had felt amused at the eagerness with which Frederic Layton had accepted a cup of the beverage which at other times he so heartily despised, and how pleasant and natural and agreeable the usually so languid and affected young man had been under the influence of the pretty gente girls and the sweet gray-haired woman whose name, the "mother," seemed to fit her so well.

"It has been very good of you to come," Mrs. Gray said. "The girls were looking forward to your visit."

"It is very kind of you to receive us so cordially," responded Shirley, in her soft voice. "May I come again sometimes? I will try not to be troublesome, but if you knew what a pleasure your daughter's society is, Mrs. Gray."

"Whenever you come, we shall only be too glad to see you," said Mrs. Gray, with the simplicity and frankness of perfect breeding. "And you could not be troublesome, Lady Glynn."

"Thank you," Shirley answered gratefully, with a cordial pressure of her hostess's hand. "Captain Layton, I am afraid that, if we are to be received at the Vicarage again, we must take our departure now."

Captain Layton's smooth, dark head was lifted with a start.

"Already?" he said reproachfully. "Why, Lady Glynn, you were to wait here for Sir Hugh?"

9810 — A BECOMING YOUTHFUL DESIGN.

This model was used for a simple party frock of blue crepe de chine. Brocaded silk in Persian tones forms the girde, while shadow lace and net frills add a neat touch to neck and sleeve finish. The design is suitable for serge, albatross or cashmere. It will also lend itself equally well to velvet, chamoisee or satin. The drop shoulder and yoke effect are good style features. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 5 yards of 44 inch material for a 16 year size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Every General Manager of a Canadian Bank

who has referred to the Maritime Provinces in his annual report, writes of the satisfactory condition of business in this part of Canada. And this when all other parts are experiencing a very considerable falling off in business and many signs of real money stringency. Linked up with the business and private life of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island is the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company. This Company's services are now nearly as necessary to the present day active man or woman as are the mails, newspapers and utilities such as electric light, gas, water and sewerage.

For this reason we offer a block of Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company preferred stock with the assurance of safety of principal, steadiness of income, and marketability in the event of investors wishing to realize. Price and full particulars will be given upon request.

"From a mere Skeleton."
Mrs. HANNAFORD, of 43, Appian Grove, Hackney, says:—"I am writing to tell you the great benefit my little girl has derived from Virol. In March last she had a very serious illness which reduced her to a mere skeleton—so bad that the bones came through her skin. The doctor who was attending her said the only thing that would pull her up was Virol. Before starting her on it, her weight was 1 stone 7 lbs. 2 ounces, her age being 7 years 7 months. She is now 6 years old, and her weight is 3 stone 2 lbs. 3 ounces. Her illness left her so weak that for three months she could not keep a particle of food down, but the Virol—that seemed to feed her and strengthen her chest. She is now a picture of health. I shall recommend Virol everywhere, in cases of wasting or delicate children. It has been my little girl's true friend."

Exaggerating Trifles.

By RUTH CAMERON.

I am growing more and more convinced that one of the chief reasons why many of us are so hard to live with — both for other people and ourselves — is because we daily and hourly lose sight of the relative value of things, exaggerating the worth of trifles and minimizing the value of realities.

Pretty Mrs. A. who finds it more agreeable to attend a late afternoon bridge than to go home and have her husband's dinner ready on time and find-out how her boys spend the two hours between school and dinner; and clever Tom B. who allows his lovely young wife to sit alone with her thoughts five or six nights in the week while he is absorbed in clubs and banquets, are typical cases.

Each is losing the most precious things in life and getting in exchange — what? An hour of idle gabbing, a little passing about of bits of paste-board, multiplied courses of indigestibles and stale after dinner speeches.

A friend of mine, who is a stenographer, went to live with an elderly aunt. The aunt had a large, pleasant home in which she was entirely alone and very lonesome; the niece had been living in an unattractive boarding house among unconnected people and spending most of her modest salary for the right to live at all. It seemed an ideal arrangement, but it only lasted about a year. They parted six months ago and I think they are both sorry now. For, while at the time of parting it seemed to each that she had serious grounds for complaint against the other, on going over the grounds of their disagreement after they had cooled down, each was amazed to find how trivial they were. Some of them they could scarcely remember, they were so unimportant. For instance, the aunt would fuss and fret because Edna had left the bathroom window open and cooled off the room and Edna would think she couldn't enjoy her breakfast because her aunt insisted on having the red tablecloth in the morning. And so each lost much that was really worth while because she let herself exaggerate the importance of little things.

How often we speak sharply to our nearest and dearest about some little thing that is really infinitely small and unimportant compared to the pain we inflict. Suppose mother did forget to tell you that someone called you on the telephone. After all, is that oversight such a big thing that you are justified in sending the arrow of your sharp reproach to pierce her tender mother heart. If there were any measure by which the relative importance of these two things could be judged, you would stand aghast before the measurement and wonder at yourself.

There are moments in all our lives when we get a truer sense of relative values. All too often these saner moments are fraught with infinite sadness because they come too late to save from the torture of unavailing remorse.

You are careful in your shopping, and your business relations not to pay high for a trifling little value, why not be as careful in the greater business of human life not to pay for each ounce of gross an ounce of gold. Whoever does that is sure to find himself sadly bankrupt in the end.

LIVERPOOL'S SENSATIONAL CRIMES.

Grim Tragedies of a Great City.

Liverpool has had, perhaps, more than its fair share of ghastly tragedies which have shocked the whole country, and the recent discovery of Miss Bradford's body in a sack in the Liverpool Canal only adds one more to the already big list.

There are many people who will remember the murder of an old bookseller named Moyes, in Red Cross St., Liverpool, in February, 1895, a murder that created more excitement in Liverpool than any other, except those committed by the infamous Gleeson White in 1849 and John Conway in 1891, which are referred to below.

Moyes, who was very well known, had a stall within a hundred yards of the pierhead, and he made a specialty of selling Bibles. He had the reputation of being a miser with a large sum hidden in his house in Red Cross Street, and it was due to this reputation, undoubtedly, that he was murdered.

The old bookseller lived with an assistant, a boy named Needham. One night, however, he invited a man called Walter Miller to stay the night, though he could only offer him the hospitality of the sofa. Despite that, Miller agreed to remain, and made himself as comfortable as he could on the sofa, while the old bookseller and his assistant went to their own bedrooms.

Murdering the Miser.
About four o'clock the following morning a passer-by in Red Cross St. was startled to see a boy dash out of one of the houses, clad only in his nightgown, in a great state of agitation and fear. He was covered with blood, which was flowing from a number of wounds in his face, and he stated that he had been violently attacked by a strange man who had passed the night in his master's house.

Assistance was immediately procured and the house entered. Evidence of the severe struggle between Needham and Miller were apparent enough on the staircase, which was covered with blood. The old book-seller was found lying dead in his bedroom, killed by some heavy blunt instrument.

Though the murderer had completely disappeared, Needham was able to give a very full description of him, and a systematic search was made round the docks and in the common lodging-houses and seamen's resorts in Liverpool. In one of these places Walter Miller was ultimately captured. He was tried before Mr. Justice Hawkins, found guilty, and executed at Walton Jail on June 7th, 1897.

A Dock Mystery.
Four years previously Liverpool was startled by a horrible murder, which bore a number of remarkable resemblances to the recent murder of Miss Bradford. In both cases the body was carried some distance from the scene of the actual murder, and in both cases hidden in a sack and thrown into the water.

On Tuesday morning, May 19th 1891, a police constable saw what appeared to be a big bag or sack floating in the Sandon Dock. On getting it out he discovered to his horror that it contained the dead body of a boy, a saw, a knife, and some pieces of brown paper. Before daylight the police arrested a man named John Conway and charged him with the wilful murder of the boy, Nicholas Martin, who had been missing from his home since the previous Saturday.

A woman who kept a store in Park Lane, Liverpool, identified Conway as the man who had purchased the bag in which the murdered boy was found. Other evidence rapidly accumulated and when the prisoner was brought before the magistrates an immense crowd assembled outside the court in a fever of excitement. It was proved at the trial that Conway had been seen with the boy, that he had purchased the bag in which the body was found, the knife and saw found with the body were traced to him, he had been seen carrying the bag to the river, and finally he was unable to account for his time on the fatal night or for the bloodstains on his clothing. Before his execution Conway confessed, and made the extraordinary statement that he killed his victim out of curiosity to see exactly how he would die!

In 1833 the great port was horrified by the murder of a Mrs. Brown by her husband's negro, Brown, set fire to the room in which he committed the deed and was discovered dancing round his wife's burning body, yelling like a fiend. There was no doubt that he was raving mad, and the verdict in his case was "Guilty, but insane."

SOPER & MOORE

What is perhaps the most widely known of Liverpool's many tragedies, when Catherine Flanagan and Margaret Higgins, two sisters, poisoned by slow degrees the husband of the latter, Thomas Higgins.

Thomas Higgins was insured for nearly £100 in various companies, and for the sake of that pittance sum he was pitilessly poisoned by his inhuman wife and her sister with arsenic obtained from druggists. That was not the only murder for which Flanagan and Higgins were responsible, for it transpired afterwards that John Flanagan, a brother of Catherine, Margaret Jennings, a girl living in the same house as the poisoners, and a child, had all been done to death for the sake of insurance money. And it is suspected by the police that at least a dozen other murders were committed by these two dreadful women.

Catherine Flanagan and Margaret Higgins were hanged together in Liverpool Jail on March 29th, 1894.

The year 1849 was a year of three very notorious crimes. London had its "Bermontsey" murder, with the capture and pursuit of the Manfrings; all England watched the trial of James Blomfield Rush at Norwich; and Liverpool became the centre of attention for what are since known as "The Liverpool Murders of 1849."

In the March of that year an errand boy called at 20, Leveson Street, with two jugs which had been ordered by a Mrs. Henrichson, who lived there. He knocked for some time, and getting no response, peeped through the key-hole. He was alarmed to see the feet and legs of a woman lying in the passage.

A Cheering Crowd.
The neighbours were summoned, and on entering the house a terrible scene was witnessed. Mrs. Henrichson was found dying in the passage, while both her sons, boys of five and three, were discovered battered to death. The servant of the Henrichsons was discovered dying in one of the rooms, and she lingered long enough to identify her murderer, a man named Gleeson White.

The excitement created in and around Liverpool was indescribable. When White appeared for trial there were groans and hisses from the spectators, and after the verdict of "guilty" was recorded against him the waiting crowd cheered and cheered again in their delight.

White was hanged on September 15th, 1849, and people came from hundreds of miles to witness the execution of this remarkable criminal, for executions were public in those days. The object of his terrible murders was robbery.

Large women should avoid the bright colors; modified colors are the safest for them.

And Found a Cure in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is always better to prevent serious diseases of the nerves. There are many warnings, such as sleeplessness, irritability, headaches and nervous indigestion. Prostration, paralysis and locomotor ataxia only come when the nervous system is greatly exhausted. Even though your ailment may not yet be very serious, there is a great satisfaction in knowing that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will cure paralysis in its earlier stages. Mrs. Re. Bright, 215 Booth avenue, Toronto, writes: "Two years ago my husband had a stroke which left him in a weak, nervous condition. He started taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and in knowing that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured paralysis in its earlier stages. They have made a new man of my husband and we cannot speak too highly of them." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 8 for $2.50, all doctors, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

GOLD or BONDS?

Country Loses About $2,500 a Mile on Change of Method of Payment From Bonds to Gold

One of the most remarkable examples of inability to realize the meaning of figures was furnished by the Daily News on Saturday. It is comparable only with the muddled financing of the country during the time the administration has been in the hands of Sir Edward Morris.

It is so remarkable an example of specious reasoning, put off on the public, that we give the material portion of the contention in full. Here it is:—

"When we say that the Colony has advantaged, we mean not merely the improved condition of the people, but in the resultant condition of the revenue.

Let us institute a comparison.—Under the old contracts the Contractors received $15,600 a mile in 3 1/2 per cent. bonds. Thus for every mile built $546 a year was added to the annual expenditure.

As the first loan netted 96, and the second 91, and any subsequent ones probably 90, it would be reasonable to average the price at 93. But we accept the minimum figure. Payment in gold, when bonds are at 90, is equivalent to payment in bonds at $16,666.66 a mile, and the annual charge to $582.33, or a loss of $37.33 per annum per mile.

Now for the other side of the story. Half the contract price, or $7,800, goes in labour. Under the old contract this sum would have been divided amongst 7,500 men; under the Morris contract 5,000 divide it. In other words $2,500 additional for each mile goes to the labourers.

Of the $2,500, at least one-half is spent on dutiable goods, at an average rate of, say, 33 1/3 per cent., netting to the revenue $16.66 a mile.

Thus the revenue has lost, through the exchange from bonds to gold, $37.33, and has gained $416.66, leaving a net gain per mile per annum. of $379.33."

So says the Daily News in this extraordinary argument. Even if we accept for the sake of argument the figures given in the first six paragraphs quoted, the conclusion of the last paragraph does not follow from them. It is absolutely false, even on that basis, that there is a net gain per mile PER ANNUM of $379.33."

SELLING OUT

Bargains in Crockeryware.

JOHN B. AYRE.

tion which appears in the Daily News this morning.

A CORRECTION.

In an editorial on Saturday a very obvious error crept in, which we hasten to correct. The last paragraph but two should have read: "Thus the revenue has lost through the exchange from bonds to gold $37.33 per mile per annum, and has gained $416.66 per mile. The contractors, on the other hand, have gained the equivalent of $1,066.66 in bonds per mile, and have lost $2,500 in cash."—Daily News.

A comparison of the two statements will show that the News this morning eliminates the contention that the $416 is an annual gain and also that there is a net annual gain of $379.33 after deducting the $37.33.

This correction destroys the whole force of the contention that there is any net advantage in the change in the method of payment, and corroborates the arguments that we have advanced above that the country is a heavy loser by the change. After such a display Morris may well cry, Save me from my friends.

Annual Statement.

The Bank of Nova Scotia's eighty-second Annual Statement appears in his issue. Owing to changes in the form of statement made necessary by the recent revision of the Bank Act, comparisons with last year's figures cannot readily be made. However, it may be noted that the total assets are increased from $1,279,298.95 to $1,511,829.99 during the year. Liabilities to the public (deposits, notes outstanding, etc.), total $62,686,436.27. The holdings of coin and legal tender amount to $10,440,849.98. Notes and cheques on other banks, balances due by banks and banking correspondents, including Sterling Exchange, amount to $7,885,463.07 and their readily available assets such as all loans and investments are held to the extent of $20,746,796.20. So it can be seen that against the Bank's total liabilities to the public it holds in cash 16 per cent., in immediately available, 29 per cent., and in quick assets, 62 per cent. This is a very strong showing and should be viewed with satisfaction by the Shareholders and Depositors.

Net profits for the year, after losses by Bad Debts are estimated and provided for, amount to $1,210,774.39, as compared with $970,514.38 a year ago. These profits are distributed in the amount of dividends at the rate of 4 per cent., amounting to $814,504.60 contribution to the Officers' Pension Fund, $50,000, written off Bank premises, $150,000. Premium paid Bank of New Brunswick on purchase, $109,000, and transferred to the Reserve Fund, $110,000, leaving a balance of $41,242.79 to carry forward.

The paid-up Capital has been increased by an issue of new stock and by the Capital Stock of the Bank of New Brunswick, from $4,734,390 to $6,000,000. The Reserve Fund, with the addition of the Reserve of the Bank of New Brunswick, $1,790,000, premium received on new stock, $371,854, and appropriation from profit and Loss of $110,000 is brought to an even $11,000,000.

The Shareholders of this sound old institution must be pleased indeed to note that their Bank has so well maintained its position during the year 1913.

Forced Back.

The northern coastal steamer Prospero, which could not get to a port of call beyond Seldom, owing to the heavy jam of ice and which was three days icebound at Wesleyville, has abandoned attempts to get north and is coming this way as the following message received by Bowring Bros. Ltd., to-day will verify: "Reached Peep Cove, Twillingate; impossible to get within miles of Foggo, Change Islands or Twillingate; forced to retreat at 1 a.m., strong breeze N.E.; ice on Foggo Islands, had to come through Storehouse Tickle; homeward bound." (Sgd.) A. KEAN.

Vessel Ashore.

The schooner Georgie Campbell dragged her anchors last night and went ashore at the west side of Wood's Island, and is now lying on the rocks. Information to this effect having been received to-day by Deputy Minister of Customs L.H. Surrier. The stranded vessel is supposed to have been going into Wood's Island for a fish cargo when she met mishap.

Cable News.

LONDON, To-Day.
Bacon, painter, is dead. He painted the Coronation picture of King George V. and Queen Mary.

ROME, To-Day.
From the Vatican comes the emphatic denial that the health of the Pope is causing anxiety, and the statement is that his health is quite normal.

OTTAWA, To-Day.
One of Strathcona's recent benefactions, showing the deep interest he took in Canadian boyhood, was the promise to contribute $5,000 a year for three years to a fund being raised to permit of the appointment of a Dominion Secretary to travel through Canada and organize Boy Scouts.

PARIS, To-Day.
Long continued cold, especially in central districts of France, is bringing numbers of wolves frantic with hunger out of the woods. A little girl returning from school at Lacoquille was devoured by wild animals, search parties finding only a torn pinafore and a few bones. Hunting parties are being organized everywhere.

TORONTO, To-Day.
His physician says now it seems probable that Sir James Whitney will completely recover from his illness. The Prime Minister passed a very satisfactory day, and when asked whether his patient would ultimately regain his health, stated that Sir James was making good progress and that the outlook was exceedingly hopeful.

MEXICO CITY, To-Day.
Huerta betrays no sign of yielding, although he is cognizant of the increase in the strength of his enemies intriguing within the capital and those in the field. He is handicapped by inability to procure money and is confronted with the Washington determination that he must retire from Mexican affairs. Personal and political friends and highest officials of the Catholic Church in Mexico, who have been endeavoring by methods for most part discreetly indirect to bring about his elimination, are seemingly convinced that they have failed. Huerta talks optimistically of the outlook, displays pride in the size of his army, which he estimates as considerably more than 10,000, and appears to believe that in spite of all obstacles he will be able to dominate the situation within three months. It is conceded here that ex-Minister Magon has failed in his mission to Mr. Lind at Vera Cruz and that the United States will listen to no proposition short of the unconditional elimination of Huerta.

Little Girl Injured.

On Saturday afternoon a little girl, named Galway, daughter of Mr. Jas. Galway, of the General Post Office, met with an accident at the Prince's Rink. She was skating round when she tripped and fell. Her head came in contact with the skate of a companion and as a result a gaping wound was inflicted. The victim, who bled copiously, was picked up in an unconscious condition and conveyed to her home on Prescott St. Yesterday the little girl was in a weak state and concussion of the brain is apprehended.

Inspect Dock Premises.

Mayor Ellis and the members of the Water Committee of the Council, visited the dock premises to-day to enquire into the waste of water reported by Inspector Rooney. It will be remembered the Reid Company repudiated the Inspector's report, and as a consequence the matter will likely come up for discussion at to-day's special meeting.

Obituary.

There passed peacefully away on Sunday morning an aged lady of note, in the person of Mrs. Robert Cowan, widow of the late Robert Cowan. Truly it can be said to know her was to love her. After six weeks intense suffering which she endured with calm persistent faith, she passed away from this earthly house to that house not built with hands, but eternal in the heavens. We, her friends as well as her family, will miss her and often we will long for the touch of that vanished hand and the sound of that voice which is still. She leaves to mourn her two daughters, Mrs. Geo. Lawrence, and Miss Lizzie, at home; also three sons, Peter, Henry and Robert.

She is not dead, what though we laid her quiet form beneath the sod to rest. What though she sleeps a long and quiet sleep in 'midst of others who grew weary of the toils and cares of this wild life. This is not seeming! Underneath the sod She is not, never was; Her soul is gone To be with God.

J. A. STEELE.

Illustrated Lecture.

As seen by reference to our advertising columns to-day, an illustrated lecture on "Japan" is arranged to take place in the Grenfell Hall tomorrow evening. Mr. Jones, the courteous manager of the King George Fifth Institute, has kindly consented to deliver this lecture. We understand that the lantern and slides are of the finest quality. We would urge all who are interested in the Land of the Rising Sun, to avail of this opportunity of seeing Japan as it was, and of the changes that have taken place since the leaven of Christianity has been working there. Enjoyable music and other items will be rendered during the interval, and candy will be offered for sale. Proceeds in aid of missions in that land. We would bespeak for the lecturer a large audience.

Those who enjoy a good laugh, a play full of human interest, and good acting should not miss "Bought and Paid For" at the Casino to-night. ### "The Star o' Robbie Burns."

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Undoubtedly the majority of your readers, especially Scotchmen, have read with great interest and pride the short sketch and selections of the now world-famous Robert Burns, which appeared in your issue of Saturday last. Also, the eulogiums of Lowell and Ingersoll, who by their verses have shown to his posterity the high esteem his memory so well deserves. Below you will find a few verses of a fitting tribute to this great poet, by one whose name I cannot ascertain, but who nevertheless was inspired with that patriotic feeling so inseparable with Scotchmen, and I kindly request you to publish them. I have tried to find the author's name, but my search has been futile. At any rate, to my sentiments, those words are the most eloquent outpourings of a truly "Scottish heart."
Yours truly,
ERNEST KOCH.

"THE STAR O' ROBBIE BURNS."

There is a star whose beams ray
To shed o'er every clime,
It shines by Doon's clear stream,
An' ne'er grows dim wi' time.
It rises upon the Banks o' Ayr,
It shines by Doon's clear stream,
A hundred years are gone an' mair,
Yet brighter grows the beam.
Though he was but a ploughman lad
An' wore the "hadden gray,"
Auld Scotland's sweetest bards were bred
A'neath a roof o' straw,
To sweep the strings o' Scotia's lyre
It needs no classic lore,
It's mither wi' an' native fire
That warms the bosom's core.

On Fame's emblazoned page enshrined
His name is forever now,
An' morn' a costly wreath's been twined,
To grace his honest brow,
O' Scotland's heart expands wi' joy
When'er this day returns
That gave the world her peasant boy,
"Immortal Robbie Burns."
Let kings and courtiers rise an' fa'
This world has monnie turns;
Yet brighter beams about them a'
The "Star o' Robbie Burns."

$10,000,000 IN PROFITS TO GO TO THE FORD EMPLOYEES.

Motor Company Announces an 8 Hour Shift for 1914, Adding 4,000 Men to the Force—$5 a Day Minimum Wage.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 5.—The Ford Motor Company to-day announced that in the current year it will distribute $10,000,000 of its profits among its employees.

In order that many men now out of work here may have employment, the company will change its plan of operations from two shifts of nine hours per day to three shifts of eight hours, and operate the plant continuously. This will give employment to about 4,000 additional men.

In all, about 27,000 employees will share in the profit distribution. Nineteen thousand of them will be in the huge Detroit factory. Between 7,000 and 8,000 men are employed in the branch plants of the company, boys and women will not share unless they support families.

A minimum wage scale of $5 per day is established. "Even the man who helps sweep the floors will get that much," said Mr. Ford.

The present income is $2.24 per day. Boys and women will have the benefit of the increase. Mr. Ford called the newspaper men to his office to make the announcement personally.

Couzens, vice-president and treasurer, read a prepared statement and the reporters were invited to ask questions.

In answering these Mr. Couzens and Mr. Ford gave the reasons for the move. "It is our belief," said Mr. Couzens, "that social justice begins at home. We want those who have helped us to produce this great institution and are helping to maintain it to share our prosperity. We want them to have present profits and future prospects. Thrift and good service and sobriety all will be encouraged and reorganized."

"We are quite sure we shall still pay handsome dividends to our stockholders and will set aside reasonable amounts for additions and improvements and assembling plants in other parts of the country. After that it is our hope to be able to do still better by our employees. We want them to be in reality partners in our enterprise."

Neckties.
By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Swash."

A necktie is a man's substitute for ribbons, lace, frills, founcees, feathers, reverses, berthas, jabots, dog collars and other ornaments, too numerous to mention.

Very few men attempt to beautify themselves by hanging on decorations. Most men regard this task as hopeless and are content to let their tailors sculpture them into attractive shapes and designs. It is only in his necktie, as a rule, that man attempts to dazzle the world with color and design.

Man's devotion to dress can usually be measured by his neckties. If he buys $75 worth of suit and wears it until the health department objects, he usually has the cloth thrown in the wash. Many a man has come back home to Boggs' Corners or Crowfoot so changed in features that his old friends would not have recognized him except for his necktie.

On the other hand, if a man has a suit for every day in the week and a dozen pairs of beautiful cream colored pants for summer wear, he usually picks out neckties as lovingly as a connoisseur picking out art, and many a man who picks out twenty candidates for office from among two hundred in ten seconds will spend an hour trying to decide whether or not a lemon-colored tie with gold and sapphire arabesques will bring out his ginger-colored hair too prominently.

A few men prefer ladscape art to neckties and wear beads instead of gaudy economy and success. And a few old fashioned men use a $100 diamond collar button as a substitute, saving much money in the long run, because a diamond never fades or sports in the back under a heavy strain. The remainder of mankind spend a few minutes each morning running a necktie through a collar and hauling on the slack end of the knot like a sailor tugging at the main-sheet. There are few sadder features of modern slavery than the sight of a brave patriot trying to choke himself and to swear at the same time while conforming to fashion's stern decree.

Three Dramas and One Comedy. The Crescents Picture Palace opens its seventh week with a bill that is even stronger than any of last week.

Three dramas and one comedy comprise the picture programme, and Mr. Parks has selected a well known Scotch ballad. The pictures are: "His Father's Son," showing how the son makes good. "The Beast at Bay," a wonderful revelation with a very interesting plot. Don't forget to see the great race between the train engine and an auto. "Tordilias" as a Porter is sufficient to make up the comical spirit and the last but not least is a stirring drama named "The State Line" illustrating in a very clever manner the laws of the U. S. A. and showing how a murderer who in order to avoid hanging was compelled to cross a State line, this will will be repeated to-morrow. On Wednesday and Thursday at the Crescent the great historical picture "The Execution of Lady Jane Grey," a Queen for only 15 days, will be shown for the first time in St. John's.

To-Night's Hockey Match.
The Feildians and Crescents will try conclusions in to-night's hockey match and a lively exhibition is expected. The line-up of the teams will be:

Rendell	cover	G. Herder
Strong	cover	Hatchings
Pinsent	rover	R. Stick

Play will start at 7.30 sharp.

Why Some Men Make Money
Sir J. B. Robinson, who is a prominent figure in the law courts just now, does not often have confidential moments, but he once gave the following account of his early experiences to a friend.

"I was crossing the Vaal River in 1869 looking for diamonds. I asked the natives if they had seen any pretty stones, and at last I found one that was a diamond. It was a small stone, but when I offered him £10 for it he refused to part. I increased my offer to £12, but still he refused. I asked him what he would take for it. He said twenty goats, nothing less. I sent off to the nearest farm and bought twenty goats for £7.10s., and so got possession of my first diamond."

The Current Events Club.
Mrs. J. Brownning presided at Saturday afternoon's meeting of the Current Events Club, which was largely attended, amongst those present being Mrs. Davidson.

Interesting papers were read on "The Opium Traffic in China," by Mrs. D. Morrison; "Industrial Science," by Lady Horwood; and "Feminism," by Mrs. R. A. Squires. After the papers were read a general discussion took place in which a large number of those present took part. At the close of the meeting teas were served by Miss Kennedy.

"Ah, So Pure," From Martha.
AT THE NICKEL THEATRE.
Mr. Rudolph Koch will sing "Ah, so Pure," from the opera Martha, at the Nickel Theatre this evening. A fine programme of pictures has been arranged. It will include "An Old Fashioned Engagement," from the Gentleman, England, a reel of Williamson's Animated News, and a transatlantic showing, Yosemite Park, California. The whole programme will be a most interesting one.

Those Corroded Water Pipes.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Reading over the report of the regular meeting held by the Municipal Council, I noticed that some of the boroughs are not at all pleased with the action of the Citizens' Committee in putting on exhibition the old corroded water pipes, and think in effect that they should not have been exposed to the view or in the aspect of citizens, and that they (the Council) were aware of the corrosion. Why did they not tell the public that when the matter of shortage in our water pressure has come up for discussion time and again? Every time a fire takes place in the city we hear a lot of talk and complaints through the press of the insufficiency of our water force, and that is all there is about it; never a word of explanation given. Onlookers at a fire are often heard to say one to another, what a poor pressure of water, and begin to wonder what can be the matter with our water service, seeing we have (I might say), an ocean of water in Twenty Mile Pond, equal to any that can be seen anywhere, to give the desired pressure, and the public are still left in the dark as to the cause, and there the matter ends until the next fire takes place and the same complaints are heard. When the Citizens' Committee, in their wisdom, put the defective pipes on exhibition, everybody then could plainly see the cause and effect. I ask does the said Council members think that the Council body is a private or family affair and imagine the public have no right to know these things? What are they (the public) called on to pay taxes for? Doesn't it belong to the public to know? And I say again they have a perfect right to know such matters. Oh, no; the wiseheads of the Council think they know everything, and the public must be kept in ignorance, and not know or be let into the light of anything. They must only pay their taxes, be content, and that's all there is about it. Sure thing. The Mayor stated that the Council were aware of it (the corrosion), but weather conditions prevented repairs. It is strange it has never been mentioned in the reports of any of the debates of the Council meetings, when the water pressure question was up for discussion; only we have been given to understand that there was always a pressure of not less than 70 or 80 pounds to the inch (whatever that means). Although there has been many fiery discussions over more, frivolous matters, and of very little importance to the public, I believe Sir, if the unfortunate fire did not take place which burnt Cochrane Street Church, we would have not heard a word about the repairs to said pipes, but now the Council is telling us all about it. (News.) Another of the Councilors felt they (the Citizens' Committee) would exhibit the Arrars Book also, if they were given access to them. Of course, I say, certainly they should, and why not? Doesn't it concern the public, and haven't every taxpayer a right to know who they pay their taxes to? Why should one person be permitted to pay taxes and his next door neighbor be allowed to shirk his obligations? That is just what makes so many arrangements or bad payments. The person who pays his taxes when they become due, sees that his neighbor doesn't pay, and the good pay naturally enough says, well I am not going to pay any more taxes when the other fellow pays none; and that is just how the thing goes on. Some of the Council members appear to be up in arms and raises the objection, and says the old corroded pipes should not have been exhibited, and the Arrars Book should be kept private. Don't mind them gentlemen of the Citizens' Committee. You have been chosen, and have taken upon yourselves certain duties to perform, such as trying to find out a better way of improving the conditions of our neglected city, and now that you have commenced your work, do it like good honest men, without fear or favor to anyone. Everything in that line should be left open for your inspection, and the benefit of the public. Hoping I have not trespassed too much on your valuable space.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
CITIZEN.

Opening New Rooms.
The formal opening of St. Andrew's Society new club rooms in the Smallwood Building, will take place tonight and a grand social function in the nature of an "At Home" will mark the ceremony. A concert under the direction of Mr. A. G. Gibb, followed by a dance, will be held.

STOP COUGHING.
It's quite as foolish as it is annoying to keep on coughing since PHORATONE COUGH MIXTURE is sold all over Newfoundland and is guaranteed to soothe and heal the irritated parts at once, and to rapidly destroy the very cause of this aggravating nuisance. Hundreds of persons are complaining every day about the cough of cold they have had for a long time, and are not able to get rid of it. Don't let a cough or cold hang on your day after day and run the risk of catching and developing the "cough" that is not easily to throw off. You will avoid all this worry (about the cough or cold you have) by obtaining PHORATONE COUGH MIXTURE at once.

FURTHER EQUITY.—The enquiry into the Nichol embezzlement case was continued on Saturday afternoon before Judge Knight, when Mr. F. G. Berleau, Auditor General, and Geo. W. LeMessurier, Accountant at the Post Office, were examined. Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Higgins for the defence.

The Rural Mail.

A fierce and bitter storm abroad, it is a bleak midwinter day, and slowly o'er the frozen sod the postman picks his way.

The postman and his horse are cold, but fearlessly they face the gale; though storms increase a hundredfold, the farmer folk must have their mail. The hours drag on, the lonely road grows rougher with each mile that's past, the weary pony feels its load, and staggers in the shrieking blast. But man and horse strive on the more; they never fear such word as fall; though tempests beat and torrents pour, the farmer folk must have their mail. At night the pony, to its shed, drags on its cold, exhausted frame; and after supper, to his bed the wearied postman does the same. To-morrow brings the same old round, the same exhausting, thankless grind; the journey over frozen ground, the facing of the bitter wind. The postman does a hero's stunt to earn his scanty roll of kale; of all the storms he bears the brunt—the farmer folk must have their mail!

SIR ROBERT BOND.

The announced retirement of Sir Robert Bond from the public life of Newfoundland gives an opportunity to estimate his services to the empire outside the contentious arena of partisan politics. Sir Robert Bond, during the more than thirty years of his arduous political activities, has acquired himself like a knight of mediaeval chivalry—"Sans peur et sans reproche." A gentleman of the highest literary culture, he has never soiled the white plume of his knightly honor by stooping to those electioneering schemes and tricks that men of less delicate sense of right and wrong seem to pride themselves on being proficient in. Many Newfoundland Liberals may not have been in harmony with him in every matter of public policy, but all whether Liberals or Tories gladly recognized his purity of purpose; his statesmanship; his courtesy and his inflexible insistence on party discipline.

It is now a part of the history of Newfoundland that in a period of acute crisis he pledged every cent of his private means to raise a loan which aided his native country over a period of great difficulty when some not very enlightened politicians thought it best that the country should become a crown colony. And to the condition of a "crown colony" Newfoundland has descended if Sir Robert Bond had not gone to the rescue in London. For nearly all the years of his political life, Sir Robert Bond had been identified with the Liberal party, which its supporters have always called the "party of progress." Sir Robert Bond was amongst the first champions of railway extension in Newfoundland. He believed in railways, but on an economic scale, lest the country should plunge into such irretrievable debt as would prove a menace to its Home Rule system of government. He also maintained that all railway work should be put up to tender and advertised in the press of the empire, lest monopoly should prove an impediment to real progress. It was for years a slogan in Newfoundland elections: "Vote for the man who gave you the ballot box." This, being interpreted, meant, vote for Sir Robert Bond, inasmuch as he was very largely instrumental in getting a bill for private and, by consequence, independent ballot making, through the House of Assembly.

But Sir Robert Bond's name will be especially treasured in Newfoundland as the slayer of the dragon of bigotry and intolerance in the Island politics.

On that platform of British fair play for Catholics as well as for all peoples, he appealed to the Protestant electorate of the noble-spirited and intelligent district of Twillingate and the great Protestant district of Twillingate, to its eternal credit be it recorded—returned this genuine British statesman to power; by the largest majority ever given to any public man in the whole history of responsible government in Newfoundland. Sir Robert Bond, beyond any public man that ever lived in Newfoundland, has this distinction, that he was absolutely trusted and believed in by opponents as well as by supporters; by Catholic electors no less than by Protestants. He gave to the service of his native land talent and genius and wealth and eloquence and literary culture, but beyond everything else he gave personal integrity and elevation of character and purity of ideal, and it is because of this that he withstood the fiery ordeal of such an exacting political period of three decades of years.—The New Freeman, St. John, New Brunswick, Jan. 17th, 1914.

The Annual Meeting of the St. Bon's Ladies' Association will be held in the Aula Maxima on Wednesday, 28th inst., at 3.30 p.m., for the election of officers and payment of fees for the coming year. All the members are MARY C. BATES, Hon. Sec'y. Jan. 24, 1914.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 25. Sir David Gill, the Scottish astronomer, is dead, aged 71.

LONDON, Jan. 25. The European Powers have decided on an international demonstration in Albanian waters to enforce their demands that Essad Pasha give up his claim to the throne of Albania. Each nation will send one ship to Durazzo.

HALIFAX, Jan. 25. The American schooner Selma, Captain Dominey, ashore at Mager's Beach, is likely to become a total wreck. The s.s. Lady Laurier took off 14 of the crew, the captain and three men deciding to stay by the ship till later. The Selma had no fish on board.

MONTREAL, Jan. 25. "Well, many of them are dead," was the reply of Dr. Ethier, when asked as to the condition of the tuberculosis patients treated by Dr. Friedmann. The doctor said that the Royal Edward Institute had decided that the Friedmann treatment was of no benefit and had consequently resolved not to experiment with it any further.

LONDON, Jan. 25. Some 200,000 men employed in the building trade in London are threatened with a lock-out by employers, who demand that the Trades Unionists sign an agreement to work without question, with non-union men or quit. The men refused to comply, and declared that employers would have to withdraw the order before they took up their tools again.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 25. One hundred women and children, and 150 federal soldiers were massacred by rebels recently near Vane-gas, north of San Luis Potosi. The soldiers with the women surrendered to the rebels, and were taken to a ranch near Matcutcha, where the alleged butchery occurred. Major Rebalto and Capt. Rameriz, with a handful of men were the only ones to escape. They arrived here to-day, bringing news of the affair.

GLASGOW, Jan. 25. A bomb outrage attributed to the arsonettes, virtually destroyed an extensive conservatory in the Glasgow Botanic Gardens, known as Kimble Crystal Palace. The glass roofs and sides of the structure were blown into thousands of atoms and many valuable tropical and other plants were ruined. The caretaker succeeded in severing the fuse of a second bomb just before the first had exploded. He had a narrow escape from losing his life, by being struck by flying splinters of metal and glass. Foot-prints found near the bushes in the vicinity of the Conservatory indicated that the perpetrators of the outrage had been hidden for sometime, waiting an opportunity to set the fuses of the bombs.

LONDON, Jan. 25. The fact that 10,000 coal carriers were on strike in London, was brought home to citizens to-day by the severe cold wave. The men left work on Tuesday, demanding an increase of two cents a ton for loading coal; so as to bring their pay up to 20 cents a ton. Their absence from work had not been generally noticed as the weather had been rather warm. Residents followed the example of Leeds' citizens and volunteered to carry on the work till the strike was broken. A hundred medical students dressed in white smocks lifted and carried many tons to the hospitals, while hotel employees in gold-braided uniforms, fatigue parties from several guards' regiments, tradesmen, and even women got to work. Some strikers have already yielded.

There is a revival of the old-fashioned tattling on linen doilies and centerpieces. One even sees collars of it.

Cured Diseases of the Kidneys

And is Depended On to Right Stomach and Liver Disorders. Once Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are introduced into the family and their efficiency becomes known they are usually found too valuable to do without. For everyday ills arising from liver and bowel disorders they bring relief promptly, and when complicated diseases of the kidneys and liver develop they often prove a successful cure after doctors have failed. As an illustration, you may read the following, which was received a few days ago: Mrs. John Wright, 53 McGee street, Toronto, Ont., states: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for ten years, and would not be without them. My husband suffered from kidney trouble, and after taking treatment from several doctors without receiving any benefit, tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which worked a complete cure. Since that time we have used them for all stomach and liver disorders." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Healthy and Unhealthy Lighting.

Gas, it may be said, vitinates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitiate, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:—

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this, amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Duffield, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

I have in my mind's eye, at the moment a hall which, in the old days, was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which, with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter being employed with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Vivian B. Lewis, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich. —nov8,14

Household Notes

Those who cannot eat pastry, yet require a nice baked apple pie, should prepare some apples in the usual way for stewing, and put into a pie dish with sugar to taste and the strained juice of a lemon. Then cover with fine, stale breadcrumbs, pour a little new milk over them and bake until the apple is soft and the top nicely browned.

To make pineapple marmalade, take the juice from a large tin of pineapple and put it into a preserving pan. Then cut up six pounds of good cooking apples and cook for a short time. Chop the pineapple small and add to the apple, allowing three-quarters pound loaf sugar to each pound of apple. Boil until it will set when tried on a plate.

A very handy pincushion for the sewing machine is made of two pieces of black velvet ribbon six inches long and three inches wide sewed together on their edges and stuffed with wool. This makes a long, rather flat cushion, very easy to stick pins in. Narrow black ribbons were sewed to each end and the cushion was tied to the sewing machine in a convenient place and stacked full of pins and needles.

Thursday is generally set apart for cleaning windows and sweeping the living room and cleaning the bath-room—Thursday afternoon and evening being the maid's outing times. Friday is a general sweeping day. Saturday being baking day. There should be one day in every week when the housewife has not planned anything, but does the little odd things which have no name. But do not become a slave of routine; the best rules can be broken with impunity.

The piano case sometimes needs cleaning. For this, provide two basins of clean, lukewarm water, to be renewed as often as necessary and three good-sized pieces of cheese-cloth. Wring one cloth nearly dry from the first basin, rub in ivory soap and clean about a square foot of the surface. Wring the second cloth nearly dry from the second basin and wipe off the suds. Rinse and wring the cloth again and wipe any moisture that remains. Run dry with the third cloth, using quick, light strokes and little pressure. Proceed in this way until the entire instrument has been cleaned. Then go over slightly with a clean, soft handkerchief, or a very soft new chambray.

Having at last succeeded in getting an order out of one of the largest firms in the North, after months of hard work, he purchased a big box of costly cigars, which he intended to present to the manager as a token of his gratitude.

But the manager was highly offended.

"Naw, naw, mon," said he, "I canna tak' them; it's just bribery, that's what it is, and me one of councillors of the toon, too!" "But surely," persisted the traveller, "you can accept a present from me?" "I couldna, mon; I couldna do it!" "Well, then, I'll tell you what—I'll sell the cigars to you for a purely nominal sum; say, a shilling the box." "Well, that's different," answered the scrupulous one. "An' as you're so pressin' I'll pay yo' cash for three boxes!"

LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE.—Owing to yesterday's storm it was arranged that the proposed Lord's Day Alliance service will not be held for two weeks. Announcements to that effect were made in the Churches yesterday.
