the Irish National League, received a telegram from J. J. Delaney, President of the New York branch, asking him to postnone the Montreal meeting till May 13, as they wanted O'Brien at a big demonstration to be held in New York to-morrow. Mr. Lane replied that the dates had been arranged by cable, and that it was too late to change them now. If the Montreal meeting were postponed all the other meetings would have to be postponed also.

A telegram was received from John Fitzgerald of Lincoln, Neb, appealing to Mr. Lane's patriotism, and saying that the demonstration at New York would lend celat to O'Brien's visit. Mr. Lane replied to the effect that Mr. Fitzgerald should mind his own business; that patriotism had nothing to do with the matter, as the New York demonstration could not possibly help us in Canada. He also telegraphed O'Brien at the Hoffman House, New York, that he must come on at once, and advising him not to pay heed to New York Irishmen, who were endeavoring to get him to atay over. He thought the proper time for the Irishmen of New York to get up a demonstration was when O'Brien was about to return home.

the court, and the provisions of the English had been incorporated into our own Election Act.

But in the main the debate dragged wearily along. The members wandered around in the lobbies or sought relief in the smoking-room. Taree-fourths of the seats were empty as Messers, Bowman, Lister, Trow, Gillmor, Burdett, Robertson (Hastings), Weldon (St. John), Bowell, Davies, Mills and Sir Richard Cartwright and others talked. They made good enough speeches, only the matter was too ancient to be interesting. But suddenly, about 10.30, Mr. Mills made a discovery, and wild horses couldn't hold him until he had delivered it to the House. The intention is, in the rearrangement of departments that is going on to merge the Crown in Chancery into the Privy Council Department, giving the clerk additional duties and $350 more salary. In looking over the estimates Mr. Mills made this discovery, and he at once scented a large sized hunk of corruption. Inspired by this idea, he made one of the best ten-minute speeches he has ever delivered in the House, albeit the most bitter and possibly unwarranted. Now he saw why the Government were trying to screen their servant; now they knew all about it. The First Minister and his followers dare not allow that man to be examined under oath, and they were, he hinted, bribing him to lioid his tongue. The man who had violated the statutes and his oath of office in sixty cases was to have his salary increased. They were promoting a man who was guilty of perjury. Finally, as a last hit, Mr. Mills called the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery a paid assassin as regarded his side of the House, and sat down.

After this little ebulition things ran on smoothly for a time. There was some interest taken when Mr. Patterson of Essex took the floor. He simply said that the whole thing

The Mayor Refuses to Issue a Proclama-tion for a Half Holiday Next Week— Too Many Stray Dogs-Contractors to Keep the Sidewalks Cicar.

The incident of the evening was a resolution by the little side is a second to the second second to the second se by Ald. Piper to name Thursday afternoon, May 19, as a civic half-holiday in honor of the Governor-General's visit. Ald. Piper hauded in a petition for the holiday which he said conained over 2000 names, and the aldermen gen erally seemed to think that the hard-working artisan needed a rest. Ald. Baxter, however, took the ground that the citizens had already paid their respects to His Excellency, and that business men could not afford a holiday as present. The motion was carried by a vote of 22 for the holiday and 5 against.

But the holiday was not yet a fact. Mayor Howland interposed. On the day in question the Torontos will play their first baseball match in this city, and His Worship held that it was against the rules of the Council to vote a public holiday in the interests of baseball or any other section. He had refrained from speaking before. He was sorry the resolution had carried, but as thematter stands now those who wanted the holiday would have to get out a mandamus before he would issue a proclamation.

Just how the appointments will be made is not known; we imagine, however, that the Minister of Education will advertise the chairs phosed in open competition, as it will be only fair that open competition, as it will be only fair that some of the new once ought to go as a matter of right to men now holding positions in University College. The Methodists also consider that some of the new once ought to go as a matter of right to men now holding positions in University College. The Methodists also consider that some of their professors, who will be dispensed with when Victoria comesto Toronto, ought to be given chairs in the new university.

The Kingston Whig sees nothing wonderful method to so, having obe per chairs in the new university. The fact Professor Hannel, Bain and Coleman of Victoria have been mentioned in this councedion. We do not know that pledgers have been given that all or any of them shall get chairs in the new professorists, but their diams are certainly being put forward, and as we think with considerable justification. At all events other qualifications being equal a preference should be shown these gentlemen. It is also likely that one or more of the present professors of University College will be retired in a short time. While this will text the income of the university, it may assist the minister in arranging the staff of professors.

Another question of importance is the separation of offices at present belief by members to come from a Quebec bolter, but why an official party has made already too many serifices to please these bolters, and made there in the first the first professors of the maniferation of the professors of the maniferation of the professors of the CHICAGO, May 9.—To-day's markets as a rule were the dullest the board has seen for some time. The fluctuations for the entire morning session were between 83c to 85gc for June. The volume of trading in the pit was remarkably light. The clique did absolutely nothing. June held at 85gc, July 84gc and Aug. 83gc. All futures closed a fraction under opening. The decrease in the visible supply was only 869,000 bushels.
