

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial. This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial. Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

MARKETING—The Farmer's Problem.
Political economists hold that in dealing with a product there are but two classes of people to reckon with—the producer and consumer. All those acts by which a product is evolved from its crudest to its most highly finished state, or transferred from its highest point of production to the consumer, are parts of the act of production. All those persons connected with the article in question in its evolution or transportation are producers, since the article is not entirely produced till it is placed in the hands of the consumer. Popular parlance, however, has divided producers into two classes—the producer proper and the middle-man. This latter class has been called into existence in great numbers by the increasing complexity of commerce, as the gap between the producer and consumer widened the manipulation of markets has fallen more and more into the hands of the middle-man. There is an increasing tendency on the part of both consumer and producer to ask the middle-man to justify his existence. Even so conservative a man as Professor Bailey has the following to say about the middle-man:—

"Professor L. H. Bailey, of the Country Life Commission, addressing an organization of farmers in New York State lately declared that the country must come to the rescue of the farmer by establishing a rigid regulation of the middle-man. The speaker has not been given heretofore to extravagant utterances, and many will hear the views with interest. He said:—

"A farmer here and there, producing a superior article and favored by location or otherwise, can be quite independent of marketing systems, but the larger number of farmers never can be so situated and they must grow the staples, and they are now at the mercy of many intermediaries. The farmer's risks, to say nothing of his investment and his labor, are not sufficiently taken into account in schemes of business-risks, of bad years, storms, frosts, floods, disease to stock and crop, and many things over which he has practically no control.

"A merchant in a small city may want as high as 20 per cent. commission to sell produce, and then retain the privilege of returning to the grower all the produce that spoils on his hands or that he is unable to sell; he invests little capital, takes no risk, and makes more than the man who buys his land, prepares the crop months in advance, and assumes every risk from seed time to dinner table.

"Now I recognize the service of the middle-man to society. I know that the distributor and trader are producers of wealth as well as those who raise the raw materials, but there is hardship and injustice to the producer in much of the present system and we are under obligation, as public men, to see that these discriminations are removed, whether in the middle-man trade itself, rates of express companies and other charges, or stock market compound. The farmer can never rise to his proper place until the stones are taken off his back." (The Market Growers' Journal.)

In this statement as in most other utterances against the middle-man there is a personal note, as if there were a grievance against the individuals of the class. Yet only a very few make more than a livelihood and a provision against old age. In dealing with this subject it will be well to recognize the truth of the economic law that supply and demand, in the long run, are the controlling features of commerce. If there were no demand for middle-men there would be no such class.

To get the solution of the problem we must return to the economist's thesis that there are but two classes, producer and consumer. Recognizing this the problem then is one of economy in production. Captains of industry have long since recognized this fact and every manufacturer today bends all his energies to the problem of economy in production. There is also an added advantage in that the worker is freed to do the more necessary acts of human labor. Competition has long been laid down as the basis of trade and has proved the soundness of its argument to a certain extent, but manufacturers have learned that mob-like extreme competition had most disastrous effects: it increased the cost of production and reduced the quality of product. For instance, it has been found that after a certain number of bakeries have been established an increase in number results in an increased price per loaf to the consumer, the reason being that after there were enough bakeries to supply the demand, each new one simply took a part of the other's trade and prices had to rise in order to afford a living to the increased number. For this reason consolidation has become a recognized principle in commerce. Organization has become the keynote of commercial success. The fact that such organization has allowed certain combines to form, that arbitrarily set prices is but incidental to the evolution of commerce and must eventually disappear, but the sound laws of consolidation in order to economize in production will remain. Farming follows the same laws with certain differences peculiar to the industry.

As urban population increases the tendency is for industries to consolidate, the control falling into fewer hands as time advances. On the other hand an increasing rural population tends to increase the number of farmers, the land is divided into smaller and still smaller farms, thus capital and control becomes divided amongst a great number of individuals. For this reason the form of consolidation found useful in urban economy is of no use in the farming industry. But as pointed out last week there is urgent need for organization both in order to cheapen production and to increase the quality of the product. As one looks at the price paid by the consumer the conviction is forced upon you that the cost of production in farm crops is enormous while the price received by the farmer proves that it is not in the first act of production that the waste occurs. It is in the marketing end of the production of the farmer's product that the waste occurs. The farmer's problem lies in decreasing the costs of the secondary acts of manufacture and the distribution of his products. There is also the added problem of so organizing the industry as to increase the quality of the product.

This is a difficult undertaking because of the lack of business training on the part of farmers augmented by distrust of one another, isolation and ignorance. But while difficult it can be done and a plan wholly successful is in operation in the older countries of Europe.

A BENEFACTOR TO ALL.—The soldier, the sailor, the fisherman, the miner, the farmer, the mechanic, and all who live lives of toil and spend their existence in the dull routine of tedious tasks and who are exposed to injuries and ailments that those who toil not do not know, will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil an excellent friend and benefactor in every time of need.

The barn owned by David Anderson and used by H. G. Rice, Congressional minister, Forest, was burned down early Sunday morning. The fire was discovered just before midnight; the building was completely destroyed, together with its contents. An unsuccessful effort was made to save Mr. Rice's horse, an animal valued at $200. In addition, Mr. Rice lost a cow, 50 chickens over 500 bushels of roots and a considerable quantity of hay, as well as a cutter and harness. The total loss is estimated at $2,500. Insured for $100 in the Gore.

What Has Dandruff Got To Do With Baldness?

You see the statement every day that the one cause of baldness is dandruff. But is it? True, dandruff often precedes the departure of the hair. It is equally true that you know men with a shock of hair you can hardly pull a comb through, who have carried around a dandruff laden collar as long as you have known them. You have also seen men whose scalp was kept as clean as a baby's whose hair was surely departing. That dandruff talk sounds well and convinces a good many of us, but let us not fool ourselves. Of course dandruff isn't a good thing to carry around, but it is only an indication. The same trouble that causes the hair to fall out usually causes dandruff, so if you get the cause and arrest the loss of hair, you will stop dandruff too. Those who use Nyal's Hairtone find it the most satisfactory hair healer and hair dressing they have ever used. It does stop the hair from falling out. It will also stop dandruff. Your Nyal Drugist cheerfully recommends it—$1.00 and 50c in sprinker bottles.

SUFFER NO MORE.—There are thousands who live miserable lives because dyspepsia dulls the faculties and shadows existence with the cloud of depression. One way to dispel the vapors that beset the victims of this disorder is to order them a course of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are among the best vegetable pills known, being easy to take and are most efficacious in their action. A trial of them will prove this.

50c. Bottle FREE

Read the Reasons for this Offer, so Vitally Important to the Sick:

Psychine is the greatest vitality builder of the age. For thirty years Psychine has been curing almost every disease that is due to run-down vitality.

There are still thousands of people suffering from disease, however, whom Psychine can benefit.

There are still thousands who are gradually losing their vitality—from whose body the necessary resisting power to disease is slowly but surely slipping away.

There are still those who soon will hear the dread "call in the night" if they do not take prompt action.

Let us buy a 50-cent bottle of Psychine from your druggist and give it to you, free, to prove its great value.

That 50-cent bottle of Psychine will tell you more powerfully than mere words can how tremendously beneficial Psychine will be for you.

It will give you an unmistakable indication of its wonderful power to renew the bodily vitality, to strengthen the phagocytes (the white corpuscles), the policemen or scavengers of the body.

The Surgical Department of the Japanese Army, in the Japo-Russian war, first drew the attention of the scientific world to the function of the white corpuscles of the blood or phagocytes.

Foreign medical men were astounded to see Japanese soldiers with wounds that had not been cleaned or dressed for days, that were apparently dirty, ill-kept, and altogether unsanitary.

PARISIAN SAGE. An Ideal Hair Tonic.

Parisian Sage is compounded on the most advanced scientific principles, and nothing on the market to-day can compare with it.

Parisian Sage kills the dandruff germs and eradicates dandruff, stops falling hair, itching of the scalp, and splitting hairs in two weeks or we will refund your money.

The Lawyer of the Apaches. One Paris lawyer has just had his name struck off the rolls because it was discovered that he acted as the regular legal adviser to the Apache fraternity.

Suez Canal Profits. England paid $19,352,057 for her Suez canal shares. On these in the last fifteen years she has received dividends and interest amounting to $68,681,718.

for the recovery of their wounded at the Japanese army. And all because the Japanese knew how to let the white corpuscles cure.

There are two kinds of corpuscles in your blood, you know, red and white.

The red carry nutrition, the white are the policemen or scavengers of the body.

Whenever a disease germ enters the body, these white corpuscles attack and literally eat it.

A wound that attracts disease germs from the air is cleansed and healed by billions of phagocytes, or white corpuscles, devouring these unwelcome disease germs.

Any disease can be cured by these white corpuscles if they be in sufficient number or strong enough to attack and devour the germs that cause the disease.

If they are not in sufficient numbers or strength, then the disease germs eat them and disease claims the body.

That's the cause of every disease to which humanity is heir.

For centuries the cure of disease has been by means of herbs—nature's remedies.

It is only within recent times that we have come to know how these herbs act.

Now scientists tell us they increase the strength and numbers of the white corpuscles or phagocytes.

In Psychine we have some of the most healing and beneficial herbs in the world, herbs that increase and strengthen the white corpuscles.

From Arabia comes one herb, from South America another, China and Japan produce a third, while the jungle of India yields a fourth.

All these herbs are recognized by the medical profession as being the most beneficial to health that they know.

That's why Psychine, in the third of a century it has been made, has cured hundreds of thousands of people who suffered from the following diseases:

- La Grippe, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Sore Throat, Anemia, Female Weakness, Indigestion, Poor Appetite, Chills and Fevers, Sleeplessness and Nervous Troubles, After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La Grippe.

That's why we believe it will be beneficial to you.

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us, and we'll give you an order on your druggist.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner, hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

WATFORD, JANUARY 27, 1911.

Legislature Opens.

The third session of the twelfth Legislature of Ontario was opened by Lieut-Gov. Gibson, at Toronto, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The speech from the Throne did not forecast any very extensive program of legislation. Reference was made to a proposed extension of the system of agricultural instruction, and provisions for technical and industrial education. License legislation proposed will probably take the form of a readjustment of the fees, so as to make them bear some proportion to the profits of the licensee.

There being few subjects of a contentious nature on the calendar, the session will probably be short, and it is expected that the House will be able to adjourn about the middle of March.

R. J. McCormick, M.P.P., who was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Alice McCormick, and her cousin, Miss Meryl J. Luckham, left for Toronto Monday morning of this week, where they will attend the opening of the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday and will visit friends in the city till Friday.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Auld express much sympathy for them in the sad and sudden death of their daughter, Miss Meryl Dodds. The funeral, which was held last Thursday afternoon to the Watford cemetery, was very largely attended, despite the inclemency of the weather.

CELEBRATED HIS EIGHTY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY.

Mr. Thos. Luckham, "Pioneer Farm," celebrated his eighty-first birthday on Wednesday of last week, Jan. 18th. When the evening mail arrived he was showered with over one hundred and eighty post cards and letters from friends far and near, young and old. Mr. Luckham was completely taken by surprise and said it was a mystery to him how so many people remembered his birthday. There were many messages from the west, there being thirteen from the wickites in Winnipeg. Friends from the following places also contributed to the shower: Ohio, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Salt Lake City, Utah; Detroit and many other points in Mich.; Dryden, London, St. Thomas, Stratford, New Scotland, Amherstburg, Windsor, Leamington, Sarnia, Petrolia, Glencoe, Alvinston, Inwood, Forest, Watford, Warwick, Arkona and Birnam. Besides the customary congratulations and best wishes for "Many Happy Returns of the Day," the following are some of the greetings which were the brightest and best birthday wishes ever conveyed: "81 years of grit, may you have many more birthdays." "May you long live to strew life's pathway with flowers and song." "Congratulations from your grandson on the day that you are eighty-one." "There's only one Uncle Tom, hip, hip hurrah! What's the matter with Uncle Tom? He's alright! A song, a song, a song, please. "May the added years of your life be filled with pleasure, plenty and peace." "May you long live to sing and dance 'Jackie Robinson.' It gives me much pleasure on the 81st anniversary of your birthday to wish you many returns of the day with health, wealth and happiness the remainder of your life." "May you long live to use your voice of song to the sick, the suffering, and those in sorrow." "I can hardly believe you are 81, so lightly has time left its mark on you." "The promise of long life is yours, may it long be yours." "May the peace of God which passeth all understanding be yours through the remaining years of your life." "May all that thou lovest come smiling around thy sunny way and make this the brightest and best birthday you have known." "We are the old pioneers, Tom, there's only a few of us left now, we helped to make the country and it's only right that we should be respected." "I want to come and help you find the pigs next summer, grandpa." "Your aged and true friend wishes you many bright and happy anniversaries of your birthday." "In fond remembrance of past birthdays." "When looking back over such a long life you must be proud to have lived to see so many changes and improvements." "In the picture of the pioneer home on this card does the old fireplace with its kettle and crane take you back a few years?" Many expressed the wish that Mr. Luckham might live to be a centenarian, and he said he would like to, if he could be as well, and enjoy life as he does now, for he is hale and hearty and does not feel his years. He wishes to thank every one who so kindly remembers him on his 81st anniversary, and helped to make it one of the happiest and best he has seen, and he thinks if he reaches the century mark he will be able to answer each in his own hand writing.

Eugenie's American Ancestry.

The Empress Eugenie was the granddaughter of Mr. Fitzpatrick, American consul at Malaga during the early years of the nineteenth century. Mr. Fitzpatrick's wife was of Scotch descent and claimed to be connected in some remote way with the Stuaris. They had one daughter, a very beautiful and accomplished girl, who made a brilliant marriage with the Marquis de Montijo, Comte De Teba. He died after a few years of married life, leaving her with two young daughters, one of whom subsequently married the Duke of Alba. The other, Eugenie, became empress of the French.—From the Memoirs of M. Claude.

Birds of a Feather.

Frederick Leveson-Gower in his reminiscences relates that when he visited Moscow in 1856 for the coronation of Alexander II. "opposite our house during the procession was drawn up a regiment called Paulovski, formed by the Emperor Paul, all the men having turned up noses and therefore resembling him. It seems it was the fashion to compose regiments of men all having the same features. The late emperor had recruits sent to him and told them off according to their looks. There is one regiment of men all marked with the smallpox."

Why the Statue Kapt Mum.

The Venus of Milo refused to tell how she lost her arms.

"If I should say I broke them off while trying to button my dress up the back," she said, "you'd ask me what has become of the dress."

Relapsing into stony silence, she paid no further attention to the questioners.—Chicago Tribune.

A Girl's Idea.

A girl's idea of a trousseau is to have enough clothes to wear without buying anything new for at least three weeks.—New York Times.

He is a friend who in dubious circumstances aids in deeds when deeds are necessary.—Plautus.

Sam Kersey, of Petrolia, has returned from Mexico where he has been employed in the oil fields.

The second annual bonspiel of the Petrolia curling club will be held Feb. 7th, 8th, and 9th, curlers are invited to participate from several places in the county.

A former resident of Lambton county, Mrs. D.H. McLenn, wife of the postmaster at Emerson, Manitoba, is dead. While putting a stick of wood in the stove, a silver entered a finger, causing blood-poisoning.

Kingsville has offered her chief of police the magnificent salary of $5 per month, with two assistants at $4 per month each. The chief has refused to accept. He thinks the job is worth at least 50 cents per month more.

On Saturday evening, Ward, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Currie, Glencoe, aged four years, passed away at his home there. During his life he had been a helpless, but patient, little sufferer, having been stricken with infantile paralysis when only a few weeks old.

George Baird has completed his fiftieth year as teacher in one school section in Stanley Township. He commenced to teach at 19 years of age in that section. During all this time he has resided two and a half miles from the school and rides a bicycle to and from in summer, and walks in winter. He has had a marked degree of success.

ON THE VERGE OF A BREAKDOWN

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the Only Hope for Weakened Nervous People.

This warning will be read by thousands of people who only just succeed in getting through the day's work without a breakdown. If you feel always tired out, have but little appetite, and your digestion, cannot sleep well, suffer from headaches, backaches and nervousness, it may mean that you are on the verge of a serious breakdown.
 Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure weak nervous, troubled men and women because of their direct action on the blood. Every dose of these Pills helps to make new, rich blood, which tones the vital organs, strengthens the nerves and brings renewed health and strength. Mr. Geo. Johnson, of Lequille, N. S., suffered for some years as a result of overwork and strain, but found no help for his condition until he began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Johnson says: "While working on a railway handling heavy ties I hurt my back and had to give up work. Later I was able to do light work, but for about six years I suffered from dreadful pains in the back and down my legs. This condition became aggravated by indigestion and chronic constipation, and my life was one of constant misery. During those years I was treated by different doctors, but did not get any help. One day a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and proved his faith in them by presenting me with a box. It was more to please him than from any belief that they would be of service to me that I began taking the Pills. Before the box was finished, however, they seemed to be helping me; the pains in my back and legs grew less intense and the bloating in my stomach, caused by the indigestion disappeared. I continued taking the Pills until I had used over a dozen boxes, when I found myself fully restored to my former health. I am now able to do heavy farm work, and for the past year have not lost a day, or had the least symptom of my former troubles, and I attribute it entirely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."
 Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 20 cents a box or six boxes for $2.20 from The Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A spring horse show is talked of in Forest, with speed trials and street parade.

How to Cure
Chronic Colds
and Bronchitis

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910.
"I was sick for two years with a chronic cold and bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. I received no benefit from doctors, and had to give up work. VINOL was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve—I gained in weight and strength, my cold and bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend VINOL to anyone who is in need of such a medicine."—THOMAS HIGGINS.
It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL which makes it so successful in curing stubborn colds and bronchitis. VINOL is a constitutional remedy for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups.
Try a bottle of VINOL. If you don't think it helped you, we will return your money.

TOURISTS IN JAPAN.

Troubles of Those Ignorant of the Language and Native Ways.
All Japanese inns, of course, charge a great deal more to the globe trotting European tourist who does not speak the language, since he or she is not content to travel strictly a la Japonaise and worries the entire household with a variety of strange demands—extra quilts to sleep on because they find the floor hard, an improvised pillow, special food (the ordinary guest takes what is given him and at the hour that his host pleases and is thankful), knives, forks and spoons because he has neglected to practice eating his food with chopsticks, a bath with fresh water in it because he will not follow the custom of entering the bath as soon as he arrives, thus getting the opportunity of first bath and the water while it is fresh, and half a dozen other requirements. He reserves his chagrin also until he leaves, and often the host misunderstands this action and, fearing he will get no recompense for his extra trouble, augments the bill accordingly.
These visitors not unusually treat the waitresses like so many novel playthings, especially travelers of the sterner sex, who sometimes fall hopelessly to distinguish between professional geishas and ordinary maidservants.—Yera Collum in Wide World Magazine.

MANYUEMA CANNIBALS.

African Savages That Grind Their Teeth to Sharp Points.
The most terrible species of cannibals living are the cruel, bloodthirsty Manyema of Tanganyika, in central Africa. Living to the west of Tanganyika, these cannibals, clothed in primitive fashion with a piece of bark cloth rudely hammered out from a neighboring tree, have an appetite for human flesh which is well nigh insatiable.
They exercise the most fiendish cunning in tracking down their quarry, choosing fat, well covered people in preference to those who are lean and bony. Their favorite practice is to waylay their victims at eventide so that they may have before them a long night in which to effectually dispose of their prey by cutting it up into strips and drying it over a low fire in the woods. These dried strips of human flesh are carefully preserved for future use, and on two occasions these gruesome forest food depots were discovered and their owners killed by the Wafipa people, who inhabit east Tanganyika.
Most of these cannibals file their teeth to sharp points so as to enable them more easily to tear the flesh from the bone when they have to eat their abominable meal in a hurry.—Wide World Magazine.

An Unreasonable Friend.
Several young artists in Philadelphia are telling a story on another wielder of the brush who is a fellow member in a little club. One of the rules of the club is that each member must keep his finished paintings up to a certain number. The artist on whom the story is told is noted for his indolence. He keeps up to the requirement regarding the number, but never exceeds it. But for his distaste for work the artist probably would be very comfortably fixed financially, as he has considerable talent. As a matter of fact, he is usually on the edge of penury. Several days ago, when his exchequer was unusually low, a friend visited him in his studio. The friend looked at several of the paintings, while the artist lay on a couch, smoking a pipe.

"I like this," the friend finally said, pointing to one of them. He named a good price which he was willing to pay. The artist looked at him mournfully.
"Aw, don't do that," he said. "If you do I'll have to paint another."—Philadelphia Times.

Ancient Bridge Superstition.
A primitive notion existed among the Romans and other races that a bridge was an offense and injury to the river god, as it saved people from being drowned while fording or swimming across and robbed the deity of a certain number of victims which were his due. For many centuries in Rome propitiatory offerings of human victims were made every year to the Tiber. Men and women were drowned by being bound and stung from the wooden Sublican bridge, which, till nearly the end of the republican period, was the one and only bridge across the Tiber in Rome.

Strategy.

The turkey was not a very large one, and Mrs. Pedagog's boarders began to be a little anxious on the subject of its going around. Finally the last bit was distributed, and the idiot, glancing at his portion, observed that he had drawn the neck and the pope's nose.
"Ah, Mrs. Pedagog," said he, with a genial smile, "you are a wonder at making both ends meet."—Lippincott's

READING THE FLASHES.

Lighthouses Are Open Books to the Experienced Mariner.
Passengers are generally astonished when on a dark night they hear the ship's officer remark to another, "There's Egg rock," or "Crabtree ledge," or "Beaver Tail," as the case may be, naming some headland or shoal along the coast. The landlubber strains his eyes, and far away there appears from time to time a flash of light, red or white. As these flashes seem to the passenger exactly like those from hundreds of other lighthouses, he is astonished at the officer's assurance.
It is really a very easy matter to distinguish the American lighthouses and lightships, of which there are about 1,300 along the Atlantic and gulf coasts if one is possessed of a copy of the code issued by the lighthouse board. Every light is known by the fixed light, the duration of flash, the length of the eclipse or the number of flashes shown in groups. No light-houses within a hundred miles of each other are ever similar in these particulars. For instance, one guidopest of the sea may flash a white light every fifteen seconds, never varying, while the next flashes a red light every five seconds. The third may be an alternate red and white flash, with intervals of ten seconds between the flashes, and so on. The audible fog signals are identified by the time between the blasts of the siren and the continuance of the blast.
Flashing lights are preferred to fixed lights for the reason that a fixed light might be confused with some other light on shore. Only white and red lights are considered desirable in lighthouses, since it has been found that the rays from lights of other colors cannot be seen at so great a distance. There is but one green light—a fixed one—on the Atlantic coast.—Harper's Weekly.

HELPED BY A HAMMER.

A Little Business Incident to Which Hangs a Moral.
Two blocks apart in a certain street are two stationery stores. The owner of one has abundant capital, has a wide, roomy place with a large stock of goods well displayed. The store of the other man is a mere hole in the wall in a dingy building, yet this dealer is getting most of the business. The following incident may explain it. A woman who had just moved to the vicinity stopped in the larger store one evening to buy some picture nails, but was told that they were not sold there.

"Where can I buy them?" she asked politely.
"I don't know," said the proprietor. The woman went to the smaller store. This man had no picture nails either. "I have a box of old nails that I use myself," he explained. "Perhaps some of them might do."

The woman gratefully accepted his offer and found some nails that answered her purpose. She remembered, then that she had no hammer. "I can lend you one," said the shopkeeper, "if you will bring it back in the morning." Ever since that time that woman has walked the extra blocks to patronize the obliging merchant. She has told her friends of the incident and influenced them to become customers. The lesson taught by this insignificant incident is one that is only too often neglected. It pays a small tradesman to be obliging—it pays all of us. Small favors bring large returns.—Chicago Tribune.

Dreaded Premature Burial.

Meyerbeer, like many other notable people, went in dread of premature burial and left the most elaborate directions with a view to preventing such a contingency. "My body is to remain untouched for a period of four days after my death is certified, with the face uncovered and in exactly the same position as at the time I am supposed to have passed away. On the fifth day incisions are to be made in the throat and in the feet." He also directed that two men should be appointed to watch over him day and night in case he should give any signs of life and that bells should be attached to his hands and feet.

He Remained One.

"It is true," said a woman lecturer, "that some girls, marrying men to reform them, succeed. Some girls, too, fail.
"The hostess at a tea once said to a beautiful, sad eyed woman:
"Are you fond of sports, Mrs. Blank?"
"Mrs. Blank smiled. Her sad eyes twinkled a moment. Then she sighed and answered:
"Well, I suppose I ought to be. I married one."

Egypt and China.

In Egypt we dig and dig and year by year recover the treasures she holds. In China there is nothing to recover, nothing to dig for. All her past is huddled on the surface. Her music and her musical instruments of the past are here today the same as they ever were. There are no stages of development and no steps of ascent.—Hermann Smith.

Preventing a Waste.

"Why is Mrs. Jones standing bare-headed in the cold?"
"Oh, she's got a half bottle of cold cure left from last year, and she wants to use it up to get the bottle out of the way."—Lippincott's.

Cruelty to Women.

We wonder what death the man will die or what tortured life he will be caused to lead who discovered the little "trick" by which a woman's age can be ascertained beyond a doubt—that is to say, while her health is normal. The only instrument required is an ordinary watch. The wrist of the lady whose age is in question is the tell-tale, for when you count her pulse and it registers sixty-nine beats per minute you know that she is between twenty and twenty-five years old. During the next five years seventy-one beats go to the minute, and the "femme de trente ans" and over is entitled to seventy throbs. It is a pity the man of science who established these facts is not more exact when dealing with the women of riper age, for, according to rumor and tradition, it is only after she is thirty that a woman begins to leave off having birthdays.—Westminster Gazette.

ACHES, PAINS AND RHEUMATISM?

Zam-Buk Will Give You Ease.

Have you a bad attack of "general aching"? You know the feeling. Limbs ache, muscles seem to have become tired out, your back aches, now and again a twinge of rheumatism strikes you here and there. Your chest feels tight, there is a pain between your shoulders, and altogether you need toning up.
Cold is responsible for this condition, and a vigorous application of Zam-Buk will put you right. Take a hot bath, if possible, and then rub your chest and the aching limbs well with Zam-Buk.
Mrs. B. Gorie, 76 Berkeley St., Toronto, writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk. A few weeks ago I was suffering from a bad cold, which had settled in my throat, chest and limbs. I tried all kinds of remedies, new and old, and found very little relief until I used Zam-Buk. On applying this to my throat and chest I found such ease and relief from the tightness and soreness I determined to use only Zam-Buk. I also rubbed it on my limbs where I felt the rheumatic pains. In three days from the time I first began applying Zam-Buk I was free from the cold in throat and chest; and also the rheumatism in my limbs."
Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scald sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

Police Magistrate McKenzie, of Petrolia, reports that no offenders have appeared before him for 40 days. Pretty good record for a town like Petrolia.

Dropping Coaches on the Run. The ingenious means by which one of the great railroad systems of England drops passenger coaches off at intermediate stations without slowing up the locomotive, even for a fraction of a second, in its speed of sixty or more miles an hour is called the "slip coach" system and is described in Popular Mechanics.

As George Sees the Peers. "David Lloyd George," said the miner from Wales, "is a very witty speaker. I've heard him many a time in Carnarvon. Speaking in Welsh, he once ridiculed in Carnarvon the house of lords. He said the average peer thought so much of himself at family prayers he always made one well known passage run: "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of lords forever."—London Globe.

RHEUMATISM Cured By Booth's Kidney Pills. T. E. Foster, of St. John St. Frederickton, N. B., says: "I have found more actual relief from Booth's Kidney Pills than in all else I have ever tried for rheumatism. The pains in my limbs have lessened greatly and I am better and stronger than in years previous. My appetite has built up and I eat and sleep better than I have in over three years. My general health is greatly improved and I can credit this to Booth's Kidney Pills.

The Ambulant Barber. Paris, like Peking, has its ambulant barber. Armed with a little box, containing the necessary apparatus, razor, badger brush, soap, scissors and serviette, he exercises his calling on the banks of the Seine. All the barges, navvies and quay laborers are his clients. "Figaro" seats his patient on the pavement, covers his knees with a newspaper and for a sou shaves, cuts his hair and gives a human appearance to the tramps and others who intrust themselves to his care.

Odds and Ends. Uncle Jim, an old negro driver in Richmond, Va., had some ladies to drive through the cemetery. He took them round and showed them the notable graves and monuments and then drove to that part of the cemetery where the derelicts were interred. "Who are buried here?" asked a lady in the party. "I don't think I ever was here before."

How She Knew. "Will you have some fresh mushrooms?" asked the hostess sweetly. "Yes," faltered the guest, "if you're quite sure they're mushrooms and not toadstools."

The Bald Headed Man may Look Wise

But If He Had Been He Would Have Hair Now. You do not want a scientific treatise on the hair follicle—you are not particularly interested in the name of the German scientist who isolated the bug that is said to cause baldness. What you do want to know is how to save the hair you have and make it strong and lustrous.

THEIR ENGAGEMENT.

He Told Her She Would Return to Him, and She Did. She entered the room hastily. He was awaiting her. "I was afraid you would be thinking I had forgotten," she said. "No," he responded calmly, in the tone of one who is master of himself. "An engagement is an engagement with me."

"I know. And you were married too?" His voice did not tremble as he asked this, yet across her face there flashed a quick tinge of humiliation. "I—I would rather not speak of that," she observed, almost coldly. "That is all over. We—we—it was to be expected. The truth is we were not meant for each other. So I—I got a divorce."

"It was better so, no doubt," he responded gently. "Won't you sit down?" She took the chair he indicated, and as he looked down at her she flashed him a sudden smile. "I was afraid of you the last time," she said merrily. "But you are not afraid now?" His voice seemed to give her assurance. She smiled again. "No, indeed!"

Grand, Gloomy and Peculiar. There was a marked contrast between Lincoln's manner, which was always pleasant and even genial, and that of Stanton. The latter's stern, spectacled visage commanded instant respect and in many cases inspired fear. In receiving visitors and they were legion, Stanton seldom or never sat down, but stood before a high desk as the crowd passed before him and one by one presented their requests or complaints, which were rapidly disposed of. He was haughty, severe, domineering and often rude.

MILITARY ACCURACY.

Exactness in Keeping Tab on the Movements of Soldiers.

We hear much of the perfection of military organization abroad, but it is doubtful whether any foreign war office follows with an accuracy greater than that displayed by our own war department the movements of its officers. The following is an interesting case in point: A young army officer who has seen service in this country and in the east was once with a scouting party in Arizona. After two weeks in the desert his squad came to the railway near a small station. Within ten minutes a telegram from Washington was brought to him by the station agent. It asked if the officer wished to be transferred to one of the new artillery regiments then forming.

He answered by telegram that he would be glad to enter either of them. Then with his squad he set off again across the desert. It was six days later when they again struck the railway, this time eighty miles from the point at which they had previously crossed it, but the officer's reply from the war department was awaiting him. It had been telegraphed to every station within 200 miles.

A more striking instance of accuracy occurred after the same officer's transfer to the east. He was traveling home on leave, and, as the regulations require, he had notified the department of the day, hour and probable route of his journey. After he had been on the train for eight hours at a small station the porter entered with a telegram, asking if any one of his name was present. On opening the telegram the officer found that it ordered him to detached duty.

A SNAKE STORY.

The Reptiles Were Frozen Stiff, but That Didn't Harm Them. A naturalist once told how in a thicket on a mountain side he saw a man kill a rattlesnake. He beat the life out of it with a club and continued the pounding till it was mangled beyond recognition. When the naturalist remonstrated the man said, "Boss, you can't kill a rattlesnake too dead."

On one occasion a boat bound for the United States from Rio de Janeiro touched at Pernambuco, where the mate drove a bargain with a snake dealer for a half dozen reptiles of various sizes. The mate had them in a cage on deck and charged a sailor with the duty of washing it out with sea water every evening. All went well as long as the weather was mild, but on the night before the gulf stream was crossed the sailor left a quantity of water in the cage, and about thirty hours from port a biting gale struck the ship.

All hands were busy with the storm, and the snakes were forgotten. When the mate thought of them and went to look after their condition he found them frozen stiff and apparently as dead as the proverbial doornail. The dealer for whom the mate had brought them came on board the following day. He professed great disappointment over the loss of his intended purchase, but offered to take the snakes away as a kindness to the mate. He gathered them in his arms like so much firewood and carried them home. But a rival dealer afterward told the officer that plenty of warm water had resuscitated the snakes and that they had been sold to various museums not a bit the worse for their "death" by freezing.—Harper's Weekly.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the system and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. THE GIFT OF GAB.

Why Stephenson Thought There Was No Power Equal to It.

When George Stephenson was visiting the seat of Sir Robert Peel at Drayton on one occasion, says the writer of "Famous British Engineers," there happened to be present Dr. Buckland, the scientist, and Sir William Follett, the famous advocate. Stephenson discussed with Dr. Buckland one of his favorite theories as to the formation of coal and, though undoubtedly in the right, was ultimately vanquished by the arguments and oratory of the doctor, who was a better master of tongue fence than himself. Next morning while pondering over his defeat in the solitude of the garden he was accosted by Sir William Follett and confided to that gentleman the story of his failure.

Sir William, acquainted with the details of the matter in dispute, agreed to take up the case and soon afterward attacked Dr. Buckland on the subject. A long discussion ensued, in which the man of law completely silenced the man of science, who was at last compelled to own himself vanquished. Sir Robert Peel, highly amused at this example of "tit for tat," then turned to the inventor and inquired, with a laugh: "And what do you say on this matter, Mr. Stephenson?" "Why," he replied, "I will only say this—that of all the powers above and under the earth there seems to me no power equal to the gift of the gab."

QUAINT EPITAPHS.

Gems From Ancient Graveyards in Suffolk, England. The Suffolk (England) Institute of Archaeology has been collecting epitaphs from the ancient graveyards throughout the shire, and several of the most curious are here printed. One shows traces of a pessimistic philosophy surprising when we consider the strong orthodoxy of the day when the epitaph was written: Beneath this stone lies Catherine Gray, Changed to a lifeless lump of clay. By earth and clay she got her part, And now she's turned to clay herself. Who knows but in the course of years In some tall pitcher or brown pan She in her shop may stand again.

Another from Suffolk reads as follows: Here lies Robert Wallas, The King of Good Fellows, Clerk of All Hallows, And maker of bellows. These which follow could scarcely be lines chosen by the reverend occupant of the tomb himself, a clergyman named Chest: Here lies at rest, I do protest, On Chest within another. The chest of wood was very good. Who says so of the other? And, to conclude, here is a bit of philosophy that cannot be improved by any of the great thinkers of all time: Here I lie outside the chancel door; Here I lie because I'm poor. The further in the more they pay, But here I lie as warm as they.

A Wooden Head. Certain members of the house party were describing the accidents that had happened to them during their various careers. Adventures by flood, fire and field had all been well received, and De Sappley, eager for fame, thought it was his turn. "D'you know," he said, "I had a very painful experience once. I ran a con-founded splinter quite half an inch long right under my finger nail, don't you know?" "Really, Mr. de Sappley," said a maiden of the party. "How did you do it?" "Well," he said, "it happened like this." As he spoke he unconsciously raised his hand and scratched his forehead. "Oh, I see," she interrupted sweetly. "How very careless of you!"—St. Paul Dispatch.

Carpets and Rugs. Carpets and rugs were originally employed by oriental nations for sitting, reclining and kneeling purposes during devotion. When introduced among the western peoples they were for a long time used for purely ornamental purposes, covers for tables or couches and for laying before altars or chairs of state upon great occasions. Carpets were brought to Europe by the Moors, but it was well into the eighteenth century before they came into anything like general use.

Every Little Movement. A visitor to the cobbler's shop noticed one day a barrel half full of tiny brass cogwheels. "Why," he said, "what are all those for?" "Goodness knows," answered the cobbler, with a careless laugh. "I get about a cupful of every clock I mend."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Reason For His Disgrace. "He's disgusted with the way the politicians are running things in this town." "Is that so?" "Yes; he ran for office and was defeated."—Detroit Free Press.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—City cattle market. As usual at the city market the trade today was principally in butcher cattle, although there were some heavy cattle suitable for export purposes. They were all bought up for the local butcher trade, however, as high as $6.25 and $6.50 being paid for the extra choice beefs. If there was any weakening in the butcher market at the Junction Saturday, it was completely recovered to-day, when prices were fully as high as last week.

Six cents a pound was paid for good steers and heifers whenever they were to be had. Trade was a trifle slow as there was a comparatively light run. Sheep and lambs were steady, possibly 5c to 10c higher. Calves were weak, and hogs were unchanged at $7.15 to $7.50. The run was composed of 70 loads, 1,211 cattle, 300 hogs, 240 sheep and lambs and 128 calves.

AS GOOD AS HAVING A DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE.

That is what thousands of mothers say of Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets promptly and surely cure all the minor ills of babyhood, and children, and what is more they are absolutely safe—they have never been known to harm the youngest baby—they never will harm anyone—they are good for babies of all ages. Concerning them Mrs. Wm. Higgins, Karn, Ont., writes:—"I shall never be without Baby's Own Tablets in the house as long as my children are small. They are a wonderful medicine and are as good as having a doctor in the house. I gave them to my little boy for colic and they quickly cured him. I am always glad to recommend them to other mothers. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

KERWOOD.

The Kerwood branch of the Ladies' Institute met for the first time this year in the Oddfellows' Hall, on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 18th. A large and attentive audience listened to the many papers given by the members. Mrs. W. Bowlby gave a splendid paper on "The Life of Edgar Allan Poe." Mrs. Harton gave one equally as well prepared on his life. Mrs. Diehl gave a very helpful paper on "Happy Thoughts for the New Year." Miss Edith Johnston read an excellent paper on "Simple Diet." The musical part of the program was as usual very ably rendered. The next meeting will take the form of the general meeting and a Valentine social evening combined. It will be held in the hall on Wednesday evening, Feb. 15th. A splendid program is being prepared by Resolution of Condolence.

TO MRS. JAS. MOFFATT AND FAMILY: DEAR FRIENDS,—The officers and members of Court Pearl, No. 306, have learned with sincere sorrow of the death of our esteemed fellow member, Bro. Jas. Moffatt. In his removal our Court and also the community has sustained a loss that will be hard to fill and we assure you of our deep sympathy in the sorrow you have been called upon to bear. We also wish to express our high appreciation of the sterling qualities of our deceased brother, who in his daily life and conversation exemplified the motto of our order; "Liberty, Benevolence and Concord." While we fully realize the great loss you have sustained in the removal of a loving husband and kind father, there is consolation in the bright hope of meeting again where parting is unknown, and we commend you and yours to the care of the All Wise, who doeth all things for our benefit. May His Grace ever sustain you and when the trials of this life are over, may we all meet in undivided bliss around the Father's throne.

Signed on behalf of the Court,
CHAS. JAMES, Chief Ranger.
H. A. HOLBROOK, Secretary.
