RUSSIA SPURNS TURKISH OFFER TO SIGN PEACE

Czar's Government Decides to Extinguish Moslem Empire.

ALREADY DEFEATED

Latest Victory Permits Making Clean Sweep Thru Asia Minor.

PETROGRAD, April 20, via London, April 20, 6:18 p.m.—The fall of Trebizond has given rise to a fresh crop of rumors that Turkey is approaching Russia with peace overtures, but it is authoritatively stated in official circles that no such proposals will be considered for a moment by the Russian Government.

Voicing a conviction that Turkey is a defeated nation and not in a position to make any terms, the Petrograd Gazette declares:

"We may now consider one of our enemies finished. The taking of Trebizond has so disorganized the Turkish defensive plans that all that remains for her is to lay down her arms and ask for mercy. She already has sought ways to a separate peace, but has met with the absolute refusal of her opponent, who is determined to close no separate agreements. Turkey's hour has struck, and it is not improbable that she will in the near future entirely disappear from the map."

No longer impeded by Turkish odds, has not yet seen the note, as pressure on the coast, the Russian armies west of Erzerum have begun a swift advance on Eshiruz and Erzerum.

ST. THOMAS MEN ENLIST.

Special to The Toronto World. ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 20.—Three well-known young St. Thomas men, namely, Jack Houston, Harley Fensford and Clifford W. Baker, have enlisted with the mechanical transport overseas service and will leave for Ottawa this week to join that corps.

Houston was taller in the Imperial Bank; Baker an employe of the civil service. All three young men were members of the collegiate cadets and of the 25th Regiment, St. Thomas.

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

YPRES was the centre of a great combat the night before last, when the Germans took the offensive and captured a trench and two craters, but on the whole met with a severe repulse. The attacks of the enemy converged on four points in the British line—St. Eloi, the Bluff, Wietje and the Ypres-Langemark road, and he penetrated the British line, but was ejected everywhere except at St. Eloi, where he retains two craters, and on the Ypres-Langemark road, where he retains a trench.

The British army on the Tigris is safe enough and it inflicted heavy losses on the Turks in the recent fighting. An official statement, issued by the British general staff, states that previous to the recent counter-attack near Samnalyat the Turks left between 200 and 300 dead in the captured trenches. They also lost two field guns and five machine guns, and 180 were taken prisoner. Casualties among the British were comparatively few. After the counter-attacks on the British an aerial reconnaissance showed that a large number of Turkish ambulances was kept busy all day removing the wounded. If general anxiety were allayed about the security of Gen. Townshend in Kut-el-Amara in the matter of provisions, the position of the British is remarkably good, except for the fact that their operations are held up by floods, for the Turkish army confronting the Tigris corps is fighting with a hostile fortress in its rear at Kut, and should it be defeated it will run grave chances of being destroyed. Turkish stories about alleged shortage of food in Kut-el-Amara are not to be taken very seriously.

Since the Russians, by the capture of Erzerum, have removed the heavy handicap of Turkish pressure from the Black Sea, they have set free their armies on a rapid march on Baidur in Erzincan, whose occupation will be the first step in the invasion of Asia Minor, and the advance on Constantinople. The Crucifixion of Civilization

The action of President Wilson, backed by the nation, is a stinging blow to the German people. By the mouths of all their protagonists—statesmen, professors, preachers, journalists, they made appeal to the judgment of the United States and the decision is against them. The Prussians are adjudged as both the cause of the war and the exponent of the most inhuman methods in carrying on war; no regard for the ordinary delicacies of warfare, and these are such things as all history tells.

WILSON NOTE HAS BEEN DELIVERED BY GERRARD

German Chancellor Communicates With Office From Army Headquarters. LONDON, Friday, April 21, 3:05 a.m.—The American note to Germany was handed in at the German Foreign Office Thursday evening by James W. Gerrard, the American ambassador, says the Exchange Telegraph's Amsterdam correspondent.

PORT ELGIN'S GOOD WORK.

PORT ELGIN, Ont., April 20.—In a one day's canvass Port Elgin raised for the Canadian Patriotic Fund $5000 by voluntary subscriptions. The matter was placed before the people by a committee, which canvassed the citizens, going from house to house. There were a few large subscriptions, three being $300 each. The balance of the fund was subscribed by the citizens, all cooperating splendidly.

FOES ATTACKED BRITISH FRONT AROUND YPRES

Retain Two Craters and Small Trench by Heavy Fighting.

MAIN ONSETS FAILED

St. Eloi Formed One of Storm Centres of Battle Line.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. LONDON, April 20.—Quite heavy fighting round Ypres is reported by the British official communiqué to-night, ending in the repulse of a general attack by the Germans on the line from St. Eloi, to the Ypres-Langemark road, and with the loss of two craters at St. Eloi and a small trench on the foregoing road to the British.

The Germans began the offensive by heavy bombardment and followed it up by a general attack, selecting as their principal goals St. Eloi, the Bluff, Wietje and the British defenses on the Ypres-Langemark road.

In the fury of their attack they penetrated the British lines at several points, but were ejected from all but one of the trenches and two of the craters which they had entered. It is believed that some of the Canadians were engaged at St. Eloi. The Germans also attempted to raid the British lines near Mamez, but they were checked before they reached the British trenches.

The British had the best of the minor activity during the night. The British held the best of the minor activity during the night. The British held the best of the minor activity during the night.

FOE'S FORTS DEMOLISHED BY ITALIAN ARTILLERY

Austrian Fortifications in Luzerna and Belvedere Heavily Damaged.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. LONDON, April 20.—Siege and bombardment of the Austrian forts in Luzerna and Belvedere, between the Tiber and the sea, were continued by the Italians yesterday, and marked progress was made. A fire was started in the inhabited centre of San Marco del Carso by Italian artillery fire. That fire also exploded an ammunition depot southwest of San Marco. In the Col di Lana, the booty collected up to the present includes one heavy gun, four machine guns, hundreds of rifles, and large quantities of ammunition and provisions, and the Italians remain masters of the ground which they have won.

TWO HUNDRED KILLED IN A RIOT IN BERLIN?

Serious Clash Reported to Have Occurred While Liebknecht Was Speaking.

PARIS, April 20.—The Journal des Debats prints a Fourmier News Agency despatch received by way of Basle, Switzerland, alleging that a violent outbreak occurred before the Reichstag buildings during Dr. Karl Liebknecht's recent interpellation. It asserts that an enormous crowd had to be held back by troops, who finally fired upon the people, killing more than 200 persons.

HON. J. D. HAZEN'S SON MET DEATH AT FRONT

Lieut. J. M. Hazen Cut Short R. M.C. Course to Join Artillery.

SIX WEEKS AT FRONT

Fatal Wound Was Probably Received in Engagement at Armentieres.

By a Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, April 20.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of the naval service, received a cable today informing him that his younger son, Lieut. J. M. Hazen, had died of wounds received in action in Flanders. The cable was sent by Mr. Hazen's son-in-law, Major Malcolm McAvity, who is at the front.

There are no details, but it is probable that the fighting which cost Lieut. Hazen his life occurred around Armentieres, and that he was wounded yesterday morning. He died today. He never recovered consciousness after being wounded.

Lieut. Hazen was an undergraduate of the Royal Military College at Kingston, and was about 18 years of age. When war broke out he preferred to volunteer for active service rather than finish his course, and he enlisted with the artillery. He became attached to the 25th Battery of Canadian Field Artillery, and after a long period of training, went overseas in August last. He was only six weeks at the battle front. Mr. Hazen's elder son, Capt. D. King Hazen, is also with the overseas forces.

TORNADOES IN KANSAS CAUSE LOSS OF LIVES

Eleven Persons Are Reported Killed and Scores of Others Hurt.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 20.—Eleven persons were reported dead today and scores injured, several seriously, in a succession of tornadoes which swept through the central and western Kansas and western Missouri last night. Property damage is believed to be heavy, also accurate information was unavailable early today. The storm areas centered north of Topeka and in a line running from the southwestern corner of Wilson County, in Kansas, across the Missouri line into the border counties.

MEXICAN OUTLOOK UNCERTAIN.

Reported Movements of Carranza Troops Cause Concern.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Official advice to the state department today notes recent movements of Carranza troops from Chihuahua to the Parral region, caused concern among administration officials. The despatches expressed the opinion that the movement was intended as a hint to the American forces that they might expect at least a show of opposition if they sought to penetrate further into Mexico than their present position. It was added, however, that there was every indication that the movement was made without the knowledge or consent of Gen. Carranza or his war minister, Gen. Obregon.

TURKS SUFFER BIG LOSSES IN MESOPOTAMIA FIGHTING

British Forces Severely Punished Enemy in Recent Counter-Attacks on Tigris River—Anglo-Indian Casualties Are Comparatively Small.

LONDON, April 20, 7:45 p.m.—The following British communication concerning recent fighting in Mesopotamia was issued this evening: "Further details of the fighting on the right bank of the Tigris River, April 16-17, previous to the Turkish counter-attacks, show that the enemy lost between 300 and 400 dead in the captured trenches and two field guns, five machine guns. Prisoners aggregating 180, including eight officers, also were taken. Our losses were comparatively small.

"An aeroplane reconnaissance after the enemy's counter-attack, the night of April 17-18, disclosed the fact that a large number of Turkish ambulances were busy all day removing the wounded."

DETAILED STATEMENT TO BE SECRET SESSION

Motor Boat Raid on Great Lake Towns Was One Plan Discussed.

LONDON, Friday, April 21.—The government last night issued a lengthy sworn statement by Horst von Der Goltz, the secret agent of the German Government, who is now in the United States in custody, giving full details of his activities in America.

The statement bristles with dates and names of places and of persons associated with him. The government prefaces it with a memorandum relating to von Der Goltz's identity and the manner of his arrest in England.

The memorandum says that when von Der Goltz was shown a cheque signed by Captain von Pape, the former military attaché of the German embassy at Washington which had been seized at Falmouth, he admitted his endorsement and asked to be allowed to make a voluntary statement. He was thereupon given writing materials, and spent the night of January 31 in compiling a statement which he afterwards swore to.

The government's memorandum remarks: "Von Der Goltz's statement finds detailed corroboration in the von Pape cheque, which he cannot have known were in the possession of the British authorities."

Implicates Bernstorff. The statement of von Der Goltz as given out by the government is in part as follows: "On August 2, 1914, I left the Mexi-

Czar's Troops Heartily Welcomed as They Arrive at Marseilles to Proceed to the Western Front.

MARSEILLES, France, April 20, 5:40 p.m.—A strong force of Russian troops arrived here and began to disembark at noon today.

The transports bearing the Russian troops drew up to the quay at 2:15 o'clock. French troops, headed by the 6th Hussars and the 118th Territorials, lined the landing to extend the arrivals a welcome. The sailors of the French fleet in the harbor manned the yards, arms of their vessels and the hands of the fleet took up the Russian national anthem as the first transport, Latouche Treville, drew up. The Russian officers and sailors were lined up along the docks and on the bridges of the transports and the Russian bands played the Marseillaise. As the disembarkation began cheers went up from the Russians on the transports.

Gen. Lochwesy commanded the Russian forces. He was received with military honors by Gen. Menassier, governor of Marseilles, and Gen. Guerin, representing Gen. Joffre. A notable gathering of Russian and French officials joined in an exchange of salutations and the Russian and French soldiers let loose salvos of cheers, while the cannon roared in an exchange of salutes.

Spirited Attack Won Positions Northwest of Vaux Pond.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. LONDON, April 20.—Some sections of a trench on Le Mort Homme, occupied by the Germans on April 10, were recaptured by the British today and a fortified redboubt and some sections of German trenches northwest of Vaux pond, together with 10 German officers, 16 under officers and 214 men, were captured in a spirited attack launched last evening.

West of the Meuse, the artillery activity continued in the sectors of Hill 804 and Avocourt, and east of the Meuse there was a violent bombardment in the region of Doncourt and Vaux. Some gusts of artillery fire are reported from the Woerps.

French batteries in the Argonne bombarded the German roads of communication behind their front and in the Malancourt wood.

HAMILTON, April 25.—The Canadian Mounted Rifles, who are making special efforts this week to increase their strength, are slowly but surely obtaining recruits of a very superior type.

In addition to the local recruiting, Lieut. W. C. Brockie, commanding officer of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, is in charge of the recruiting throughout Ontario.

Other means of securing recruits than by street recruiting will be adopted by the 25th Battalion, and it is expected that good results will be obtained.

It is incidents like the sending of Russian troops by water to France, as announced yesterday, that give the Germans demonstration of the long arm which British sea power controls on the allies and of the real significance of command of the sea.

At least five German divisions and probably several more have been withdrawn from the Russian and the Balkan front for service in the western theatre of the war as a result of the heavy losses entailed on the German armies in the west by the strong resistance of the French.

TETANUS OVERCOME

Trench Feet No Longer Problem for British Medicals.

LONDON, April 20.—There is less typhoid at the front today than there is measles," according to Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, head of the Labrador Medical Missions, who has been for three months with the Harvard surgical unit, and who is now returning to his work in Labrador.

"Look at typhoid," he remarked. "Heretofore whole armies have been decimated by it. When the English took over the trenches west of Ypres, where typhoid was endemic in the villages, the allies had already 6000 cases of this disease.

"Trench feet at first disabled thousands of our soldiers. Today it is no longer a problem. A batch of such cases is now sent down by the medical officer in the trench with an apology and an explanation as if it were measles."

MODERN GRENADES

Most Audacious of French Infantrymen Are Selected for Task.

PARIS, April 20.—With cannon firing shells weighing on a distance of 22 miles, there was little thought that in a modern war men would exchange bombs at a distance of from 12 feet to 22 yards.

The modern grenadiers are made up of the elite of the infantry. The most athletic, most sportive and most audacious of recruits are selected for this service, where cool-headedness, strength and skill are required.

Good Friday

Good Friday has long borne the character of a holiday rather than a holy day. The symbolism of the anniversary which means so much to the Russian people and others not so far east, has been lost sight of in the strenuous commerce of the western world.

President Wilson's Message

President Wilson after consideration so mature that it has evoked more confidence than respect, has at last been convinced that Germany has not been in earnest in her representations and protests.

But in the long run there are more important things than the life of men. History records this fact as well as the terror and the horror of the battlefield. The United States did not shrink half a century ago when a great principle was at stake, and the principles for which the allies are now united are no less important and cover a far wider field than the cause which Abraham Lincoln pressed to victory.

RELEASE OF VON IGEL NOT YET IN PROSPECT

No New Plots Have Been Disclosed in Papers Seized However.

Franz von Papen, recalled German military attache, U. S. Attorney H. Snowden Marshall reiterated to-night his determination to retain, not only von Igel, but the documents.

BETWEEN NEIGHBORS

agents, are now shown to have been nothing more than plotters and conspirators against the peace of the nation to which they were accredited.

The trade and commerce of the United States, which in the time of the Boer War was given a precedent by Germany herself, was vexed and hampered by diabolical plots and attacks, which spared no interests and cared nothing for human life.

He expected the Boers in South Africa to revolt when he declared war against England. He believed that Ireland would join him when he raised his standard against Britain.

It is impossible to speculate upon the result of the president's message. It may be taken for granted that the reaction will be a unit around the president should the outlook promise war, or the arrogance of Germany precipitate a conflict.

In the name of the French army I welcome the officers, under officers and soldiers of Russia who have departed in France. I bow before the Russian flag upon which these soon will be inscribed the glorious names of our victories." The censor thus far has permitted no details as to numbers to be published, but the French newspapers assume that the Russians were landed in large force. They assume also that they will be rushed into action either at Verdun or on some other sector of the western front, where the allies may be contemplating a great offensive. By what route the Russians reached Marseilles is known only to officials of the war office and ministry of marine. It is assumed, however, that their transportation to France was decided upon at the recent general conference of the allies in Paris. No news in many weeks has electrified the French capital as the brief bulletins passed by the censor this afternoon. Newspapers containing practically nothing but the headlines were eagerly grabbed up in the boulevards, and crowds besieged the newspaper offices for news news. The Russians came on a great flotilla of transporters. Not a single word of their coming was permitted to become generally known until they actually had concluded the journey and were landing on French soil.

IT WAS MOVING DAY IN MAJOR LEAGUES

President Wilson at Washington Opening—Cubs Got Royal Reception—Gossip.

Dan Tipton, the Yankees' $30,000 pitcher, was turned over to the Baltimore International League Club by Manager Donovan yesterday.

President Wilson showed no signs of the strain he is working under when he attended the Senators opening game at Washington yesterday.

Chicago yesterday paid tribute to Joe Tinker and his renovated Cubs. It was the first time that Chicago had seen Joe as a Cub uniform since the days when the Cubs really meant something in the baseball world.

Wheeler, the young infielder picked up by Arthur Irwin, has been turned adrift from the Browns. Wheeler, however, needs experience.

Max Carey stays in good health he is going to lead the old National in base running again. Carey never looked better than he does this season. His batting is better than usual.

Tilly Walker, who took Speaker's place in the Red Sox outfield, is making good, and the fans of the east are not missing this nearly as much as they expected to.

The Cincinnati Reds are a surprise to the dopsters this spring. Charlie Herzog and his men are keeping up much better than they were expected to, and even the home fans are pulling for them to win.

Ernie Johnson, the little shortstop, who has been hard to get a regular berth on the Browns' infield, is laid up with a sprained ankle.

Some of the experts already have started figuring what will happen next fall. One theory is that the Lejos will retire.

The former Giant outfielder, Red Murray, who retired after some seasons, has returned with baseball. He plans to open an automobile salesroom and garage.

Comie Mack must be able to see already a resemblance between this season and last.

The Yankees' stay at the top of the American League was short-lived, Keating was hampered hard by the Washington, with President Wilson staying until the last man was out. Walker Johnson always had Donovan's men in hand.

Eye-Glass Meadows and Slim Malloy kept the Pirates hit scattered, and the Nationals bunched hits in two innings for five runners.

This fellow Hellman is getting to be a regular terror for the American League pitchers. He bunched out a double at Detroit yesterday and sent Veach home with the winning run over the White Sox.

Harvard students honored Percy Washington, the Braves' leader, at the Boston opening. Percy got some sayings, and his Braves whitewashed Brooklyn. Barnes, a recruit pitcher, twirled excellent ball for the winners.

Oldring misjudged a fly in the first inning and spotted the Red Sox with four runs at Philadelphia.

Pat Moran's Phillies march right along. It took them 12 innings to win the Giants' first home game, but Pat's double and Cravath's single did the trick. A large crowd filled the Polo Ground stands and got their money's worth.

Palmero, late of the Leafs, Beavers and Gueph, was on the mound for New York when the Phillies batted out a victory in the 12th inning.

Jack Dalton, the former Leaf, who was with the Buffalo Federal League team in 1914, has been signed by the Detroit Club, according to announcement yesterday. Dalton is an outfielder, and batted above .300 in the Federal League.

DANCING WINNERS. The second annual individual folk dancing contest for the McCormick Recreation Centre was held last evening. The competition was keen, and the dancing good. The following were the winners: Helen Fleming; A. Mina Kidney; Y. Yetta Elmer.

SUGAR SHORTAGE FELT IN GERMANY

Former Heavy Exporter Now Feels Pinch of Want.

PRICES GO AWAY UP

Production of Last Year Two Million Tons Short of Normal.

ZURICH, Switzerland, April 20.—From all parts of Germany are coming reports of the scarcity of sugar. The war has shown how indispensable a foodstuffs sugar is to the nation...

When the war broke out the German sugar interests feared they would be swamped with their stocks, and implored the government to permit them to continue to export it as before...

At first sugar prices rose scarcely at all. It was only when butter and fats began to grow scarce that German housewives were urged to substitute sugar for them in the form of jams...

Then came the idea to use sugar for food purposes, and the quantities consumed in this way last year were enormous. Large quantities also were taken for making a confectionery and for bakeries...

There is little doubt that large quantities are being deliberately held back for higher prices, despite all the threats of the authorities against persons acting in this manner.

MORE USED IN BRITAIN. LONDON, April 20.—The increase in the consumption of sugar in England since the war points to an equivalent increase in the price at which the country is living and working...

From the point of view of the physiologist, one of the most striking reports issued recently was that dealing with sugar consumption during the first year of the war.

People who failed to grasp the significance of the figures spoke in a plain and simple way. "It was a hell of a thing," one man said, "to see that the consumption of sugar had increased so much in the country so that even at a much higher price, sugar was worth the money."

"The simple truth is that our demand for sugar is that the whole rate of the country is going to the war, and for the pace sugar is essential no matter what the price may be."

BIG VOLUME OF CIGARS SMOKED BY DUTCH BOYS

Holland is Paradise for Juvenile Consumers of Tobacco.

LEYDEN, Netherlands, April 20.—Holland is the paradise of the boy smoker. The extent of the cigar-smoking habit among the Dutch lads is shown by many interesting facts...

Of 2560 boys attending the better class schools it was found that the habit smoked—22 per cent, regularly and 42 per cent, more spasmodically. In the "people's" schools the percentage was still higher, 24 per cent of the lads indulged in tobacco, 30 per cent being regular smokers...

FRENCH MANUFACTURERS CANNOT MEET DEMANDS

Women's Skirts Are So Wide That Cloth to Make Them Is Hard to Get.

PARIS, April 20.—For years the cloth manufacturers of France have been crying ruin owing to the vogue of the narrow and split skirt. Now that women have jumped to the opposite extreme and wear dresses that measure several yards around the waist, manufacturers declare that things have gone from bad to worse.

In ordinary times, the cloth manufacturers would be rubbing their hands with glee at the change of fashion; as it is they greet it with ill-concealed apprehension.

"Our best mills are in the hands of the enemy," explained M. Alfred Dames, secretary of one of the big traders' committees, "and those that are left to us are so hard at work on army orders that they have little time to devote to their ordinary trade. This simply means that if women will insist on walking about in skirts as big as balloons, French factories will be unable to keep pace with the demand."

A meeting is to be held to see whether the "union sacree" which has been applied to most things since the war began can be extended in some way to controlling fashions.

LONDON, April 20.—The manufacture of the high explosive known as tri-nitro-toluol is seriously affecting the health of thousands of munition workers. It causes unusual drowsiness, frontal headache, eczema and loss of appetite, and sometimes jaundice...

LONDON, April 20.—The committee also found that tetra-chlor-ethane, a non-inflammatory liquid, which forms an ingredient of the varnish applied to aeroplanes, is also having a dangerous effect on the workers. It smells in vapor form like chloroform and is a powerful anaesthetic, leading to death in searching for a substitute...

Storms.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Crop conditions instead of the submarine issue, took precedence in shipping the course of the wheat market. Largely as a result of heavy storms in the northwest prices developed considerable strength and closed steady at 1/2 to 1/4 net advance, with May at 1 1/4, and July at 1 1/8. Corn lost 1/4 to 1/2, oats increased 1/4 to 1/2, and provisions from 2 1/2 to 3.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

URGED TO CONTINUE EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

J. M. Godfrey Gave Interesting Address Before Women's Emergency Corps.

PREDICTS REGISTRATION

Emphasizes Fact That Recruiting Up to Present Time Has Been Slack.

Two interesting speakers were heard at the meeting of the Women's Emergency Corps, held yesterday afternoon at the board room, 26 West King street.

Generally speaking, recruiting up to the present has lacked organization, was the contention of the speaker.

Canada lacks leadership in this respect. Recruiting is done partly through soldiers and partly through bodies of civilians.

It has been done by methods unrecognized either by militia department or government, and we have now arrived at the parting of the ways.

The book in the present methods was illustrated by the statement that one country had actually never come under recruiting.

Advocates National Service. Almost everyone believes the voluntary service is wrong, said Mr. Godfrey, and that it is going to break down.

He advocated a system of national service for Canada, a system in which everyone eligible would be registered, and everyone put in his place.

Major Bennett was the second speaker, and he pointed out the need that exists for men, thru illustrating what had taken place under his personal observation at the trenches.

Major Bennett gave a most graphic picture of the attack on Hill 60, in which he took part as a member of the 4th Battalion. This battalion had gone into the attack without having previously lost a single man, but when it came out only 184 remained.

On one occasion he had seen a body of soldiers who had just come from active service, sent to get a rest, by relieving others in the trenches.

This, he thought, was sufficient proof that men were needed.

In the course of his address Major Bennett paid tribute to Col. Birchell, under whose command he had served.

He had never met a finer gentleman, and one of the things in which he took most pride was that he had served under him.

Miss Constance Boulton, Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, Mrs. Plumtre, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Parsons, and others were complimented by Dr. Godfrey for the part they had had in assisting recruiting, thru their addresses and in other ways.

DAINTY NEW MODES FOR EASTER BRIDES

Short-Skirted Models With Very Long Watteau Trains May Still Be Graceful.

MANY NEW MATERIALS

Gros de Londs, Tulle and Brocade May Be Used, and Also the Harlem Veil.

Satin is not the only choice for the wedding gown of the Easter bride. Among the newest materials endorsed by the mode are gros de Londs, tulle, soft brocade or cloth of silver.

Very lovely are this season's models, made up in the newer materials and in newer modes, but still seeking for and finding grace and charm.

When the first frocks appeared in which short skirts and long trains were cleverly combined, the devotees looked on in wonder, but it did not take long to win over the faltering ones to the side of the "new innovation."

And now short distended wedding frocks, exploiting long graceful waltz trains, are done by the bride-elect with never a qualm. Her reflection in the truthful looking glass reports that Dame Fashion has achieved a remarkable success.

The wedding gown accessories are of the utmost importance and also announce the trend of vogue. Some very smart and lovely veils are bound closely about the low dressed coiffure and feature the "harem" arrangement over the face.

Altho the shower bouquet is still the correct bouquet, quaint old-fashioned nosegays are often carried to harmonize with 1890 modes. For the Easter bride, however, it regally is decreed, either in a loose soft cluster or artistically combined with white orchids.

HE ONLY GREW OLD.

"One hundred and one, eh?" exclaimed the vacationist, who had pointed out to him the oldest inhabitant of the town.

"Well, that's quite a record. I suppose the townspeople are mighty proud of him?" "I dunno," responded the native.

"His record ain't so much. He ain't done nothing in this town 'cept grow old, an' it took him a darn long time to do that."

PARKDALE GIRLS DONATE.

A contribution to patriotic funds has been made in an unusual way by the girls of Parkdale Collegiate Institute.

The members of the brigade were provided with P. C. I. "sock boxes," into which have gone the odd pennies for the last six weeks.

The result of this fund-raising campaign was the sum of $48, which has been handed over to Miss Spence, the president of the brigade.

RIVERDALE READING CLUB MEETS.

At a meeting of the Riverdale Reading Club, which convened at the home of Mrs. Carrigan, 26 Simpson avenue, the subject for study and discussion was, "When It Was Dark," by Guy de Maupassant.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT The Importance of Baby

Copyright, 1916, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Wonder how she reasons it out? The clever woman is going to marry the divorced man, and I don't see how she can be such a goose as to do it. She's a clever woman, unusually clever—in fact, I've heard her called brilliant a good many more than a few times.

She's a woman of the world. She knows how to dress and what to say, and what not to say. She's rather a beauty, too, and she has many admirers yet. And she has divorced a perfectly good husband—nothing particularly brilliant about him, to be sure, but nothing particularly bad, either—to marry this man whose own wife couldn't live with him.

I wonder how she reasons it out? She knows all about the man and his first wife—we all do. We can't help knowing about it, if we know the man. He tells—he's always telling—all about it. "My wife was what you'd call a good creature," he says, when he's finished his coffee and has lit his monogrammed cigaret. "Yes, that's what I should call her, I think—a good creature."

"Not bad looking, either, you know. Lots of hair, curly; big eyes, dimples, blusher, red cheeks, little feet, rather pretty hands—you know the type? Embroiders, counts stitches, makes—French knots and gets patterns from all the other women at the summer resort."

"Good tempered, easy going, fond of candy—preferred chocolates, of course—always lugging a dog or a cat around, and crazy about horses."

"She was really a good pal when I married her. We had all sorts of fun the first year, went on long tramping trips—that sort of thing. She could swim rather well and ride anything. Such a figure in a habit as never was! That's what caught me, I think, the way she looked in a habit. All the men were crazy about her!"

"But the baby came, and that settled it. No more tramps, no more rides, no more camping trips. Why, she wouldn't even let me bring the fellows home for supper when we got home late from a couple of weeks' shooting in the mountains! Said we'd disturb the kid. Can you beat that? And the kid disturbed me whenever he felt like it, and all she'd do was to look distressed and begin to flutter the leaves of the 'First Aid to Mothers.'"

He said "Good-Bye."

"And so we drifted apart, of course. I told her we would, and she just stared at me with big eyes in the way they have, that domestic type, and said, 'Why, Harry!' and then she laughed and tried to make me believe she thought I was joking. But I wasn't. I was in earnest."

"I didn't see her for a year or so. She didn't have a thing to say that interested me, either, or why, I wasn't in it with the kid. It was baby here, and baby there, and Harry, Jr., this, and Harry, Jr., that, till I couldn't stand it another day, and we just agreed to disagree. And now we're divorced. I hope to heavens she'll find what she calls a domestic man and marry him. He's welcome!"

And then we all laughed, or tried to pretend to laugh, and changed the subject.

My friend, the clever woman, has sat at the table and listened to all this, time and again. I've seen her do it. But she never laughs. She always looks at the man and shakes her head and says, under her breath, "Poor you," or "Why do all the fool women get all the clever men?"

And now she's going to marry him, apparently without a quiver or a quaver. I suppose she isn't going to bother with children herself. I've heard her call them "rudimentary." I'm not quite sure what she meant by it. I don't think she is, either, but then—

How about her work, tho? She's an artist, and a clever artist, too—paints real portraits that really look like people. Sometimes she has an uncanny gift of making the soul peep straight out of the eyes at you. When she's painting a portrait she's a crank. You can't speak to her, you can't call her up on the phone, she doesn't sleep much, and she won't eat unless she has to.

The last portrait she painted I went to see her one afternoon on a matter of real importance to her. It was about 2 o'clock, and the bed in her studio, where she lives as well as paints, hadn't been made.

Is Work Different?

"I didn't go to bed all night," she said, "and yesterday I didn't have time to attend to the room, and I simply couldn't let the maid do it for me. She brings another atmosphere in with her, and I couldn't stand that, just then."

It was a very clever portrait when it was done. I wonder if she will let her work come between her and the divorced man when they are married—and what will he do about it if she does?

She told me the other day that any woman who would let a baby come between her and her husband deserved to lose the husband.

I suppose it's different with work. And yet, do you know, if I were in the place of the clever woman, I should wonder a bit about it. Wouldn't you?

Making Sachet Bags

For a long time little pillow sachets have been made of silks, laces and ribbons and filled with delicate powders or leaves. Now bags have been substituted for the pillows. Of course, these are more practical for the dried leaves than for powder, and even then the bag must be so well made that its contents will not fall out when the drawing is pulled. The sachet bags will make attractive and useful gifts. Quite a number of them can be made from inexpensive pieces of ribbons and silks. Sachet bags to be stored away with bed linen should be made of white linen. These offer an opportunity to display one's ability to do fancy work. An initial, a monogram or a small spray of flowers will require but a few minutes to add.

Secrets of Health

High Heels a Real Benefit If Not Continuously Worn

BY DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins University)

is no part of the foot or shoe more likely to play havoc and high jinks with your fabric than a low or spring heel.

A LOVER, much put out that his sweetheart persists in wearing high heels, wrote a letter recently to this effect:

"Doctor, I have not seen any treatise of yours on the folly and immorality of wearing high heel shoes."

"I have had several arguments with a friend who insists there is no wrong in them."

"Please write a strong indictment of them that I may prove to her the evil of high heels."

"It will be a disappointment, no doubt, to this forceful gentleman that I am compelled to disagree with him, and to agree with his fair opponent."

For, next to an absent heel or a worn-out heel, there is no part of the foot or shoe more likely to play havoc and high jinks with your fabric than a low or spring heel.

The human eye unconsciously senses this disorder in a woman's figure. Moderate and low heels do not look well. They have no aesthetic appeal. In fine, they are ugly. This is merely another way to state that human perception and intuition recognizes that toe-dancing and standing on tiptoes help to develop an agile, alert and healthful mind.

The high heel makes exercise for the toes and the sole of the foot. It helps maintain a muscular tone, it aids in keeping the ligaments and tendons on the "plantar" well-balanced, prepared for any fray.

However, it must be admitted that a very high heel, worn without change, will do mischief to the Achilles tendon behind the heel, the ligamentous attachment to the heel of the calf muscles. That is to say, the heel thus pushed skyward too long a time, has a tendency to shrink, and become cramped and contracted.

Inactive persons, those who lead sedentary lives, women who must stand much and walk but seldom, and those who wear improperly made shoes may suffer from sore feet, aches and pains traceable to the "elevated" or shriveled tendon of Achilles. But, happily, this is by no means a common occurrence.

Fortunately these frequent demerits of the high heel are more than offset by the good accomplished by two or three hours' wear of high-heeled shoes by active women. Young women, whose blood tingles in its torrential motion to and fro thru their active muscles and tripping feet, may be safely encouraged to be shod in high-heeled boots. They are more than "things of beauty, of joys forever." They are the incentives to trip the light fantastic, and thus means to bring the blushing tinge of vigor to my lady's cheek.

The Amateur Gardener

BY RACHEL R. TODD, M.D.
Some Easily Grown Lilies.

Perhaps there is no part of garden work so fascinating and so productive or splendid results as the cultivation of lilies. One excellent thing about them is the fact that once fairly established, the clumps need no disturbance for several years, and the bulbs may be planted in the herbaceous border for permanency.

Given a porous soil that is thoroughly cricched, a permanent location, and a very small amount of attention, the lily bed should provide one with gorgeous bloom and unending fragrance from early June until late in November by a judicious selection from the large list of the most easily grown varieties. While many of these plants do best in a shade, moist soil, all require plenty of sun and heat. It is only necessary to watch the growth of the various sorts the first year or so to decide whether or not their present situation suits them. Often, while the spot selected may seem all that can be desired, yet a marvelous betterment soon takes place in their health if they are changed to a different spot. Often the reason for this is not at all clear.

There are a number of the mid-summer-blooming sorts whose bulbs need to be planted in the early fall if bloom is desired the next summer. Of these we will speak in a later talk, confining ourselves just now to those that may be planted now for this year's blossoming.

A word on the planting itself: First, plant the bulbs at least ten inches below the surface. A good general rule to follow is, "the larger the bulb, the deeper the planting." A top dressing of warm yellow sand, is a splendid protection against wire worms, slugs and such vermin that love to feast upon the succulent bulbs.

One of the easiest of all garden lilies, and almost the earliest to bloom, is Lilium davuricum, a charming thing, very showy, and at home in a shady spot, in the herbaceous border, or in the partial shade of the shrubbery. The flowering period is long, and this special sort has few superiors, if any, among the hardy and early sorts. What Lilium candidum and L. longiflorum are to the garden in mid-summer, L. davuricum and its several varieties are to the garden in early summer.

Lilium candidum is the well-known Madonna or Bourbon lily, whose money and immense chalice, lifting themselves a good four feet and more above the other garden plants, fill the garden for a great distance around with fragrance of the richest. Closely allied to this sort is the L. longiflorum and L. harrisi. These three are the most popular fragrant white lilies.

The magnificent Tiger lily, L. tigrinum, which is not seen so often of late years as it should be, should be grown in thick clumps, and this can only be achieved by planting six or eight bulbs in one spot, and leaving them undisturbed for several years. A healthy clump of these Tigers fears neither rival nor peer in the July and August border. While no fragrance is exhaled, the unique beauty of their curving blossoms crowns the Tigers royally as king of all others.

The tiny bunch bulbs that appear in the axils of the leaves are baby bulbs, and may be removed and planted for fresh stock.

Lilium speciosum and its several varieties, while very beautiful with its rosy and spotted blossoms, and easy as well in the matter of cultivation, has not met with the universal popularity of its worth demands. One reason is that sufficient winter protection is not always given it and the roots are frost-bitten. Two exceedingly rich sorts, closely related, are L. r. rubro, a red-banded variety, and L. r. vittata, a yellow banded white sort. Both are magnificent and easy to grow, forming huge clumps in a few years.

How She Made a Tailored Suit for Cicely

MY packing is all finished, and we are to leave tomorrow morning for Aunt Katherine's bungalow. There were so many "last-minute" things to do that a "restful ease" on the boat will be most welcome. By the time I return, Cicely will be here on her Easter vacation, and spring housecleaning will be over.

Just sewed the last button on Cicely's suit, and when Mrs. Mathon has lined the coat it will be ready to send to her. It is a great relief to know that the suit is a success, and that in saving Cicely the price of a spring suit she will have plenty of money to pay her special tutor.

Mrs. Mathon and I made the suit, but we were fortunate enough to secure a tailor to do the pressing and make the buttonholes.

Mother gave the material to Cicely for her birthday gift, and I selected navy blue French serge, with a muslin lining. It is guaranteed "not to wear shabby, and is not a bit waxy."

In looking about for a pattern, I saw nothing that pleased me, so I made a sketch of a youthful suit which I saw in one of the shops, and had a pattern made. For this I had to pay $3.00.

Mrs. Mathon put out the suit, and I basted the sections together. Then she fitted the skirt on me. It formed of a series of panels, half of which are perfectly plain, while the other half is trimmed with an applied band of the material about the hem. Mrs. Mathon gathered each alternating panel so that there is a soft fulness about the waist. Then she machine-stitched the skirt, and attached it to a rather wide belt of the material and basted it over to me for finishing.

The coat was not so easily put together, but finally we managed to get the right lines. It is gathered slightly at the neck, back, and front.

shoulder seam, by a half-cut, which leaves muslin, and finished each side with an arrowhead embroidered in black silk.

After experimenting with different collars, we decided that a flat sailor collar, with rounded corners, looked the best, since the neck line is pointed.

Then Mrs. Mathon made a belt for the back and front, and I embroidered narrowheads to correspond with the sleeves at each side of the front and back. I took the suit to the tailor for finishing touches.

The coat is fastened by link buttons slipped thru the double row of buttonholes.

Mathon is now working on the lining, which is of blue and white striped silk.

Cicely always has to have a relieving touch of white next to her face, so I made two lingerie collars for her coat. One is of white organdy, finely gathered and trimmed with Valenciennes lace; the other is of pieces of a fine white muslin, embroidered, and edged with flat lace. I made them the same shape as the coat collar, but a trifle narrower.

The suit is extremely youthful, and it fits me perfectly, and is sure to fit Cicely, since she is the same size as I.

What a calamity it would be if she should have grown stouter since the holidays!

DO YOU KNOW?

Do you know how to "trim up the plain blouse and make it become your individual style? Get a collar in white chiffon or sheerest organdy, which, in turning back, covers the neck and the sides of the neck, runs fluidly across the shoulders and straight down over the bust, opening a slender slit opening below the throat. This collar is bordered with pin-tucked self-material straight on its outer edge and widely scalloped along the fine embroidery-outlined inner edge.

Another blouse-dominating collar has a tapering, narrow turnover coming high against the side of the neck and widened by an extremely broad ruffling of the selected material—a four-horned crepe de chine this second collar is extremely practical as well as dainty.

Gladioli

BY ELIZABETH WILLIAMS.

I have learned from experience that for a summer hotel or boarding house the gladiolus is the cheapest and best flower to grow.

Bulbs may be had for two months and flowers in individual vases will keep fresh for ten days.

My preference is for Niagara, Sulphur King, Baron Hilot, War and Peace.

My beds are manured and thoroughly spaded in the autumn and re-spaded in the spring. The fertilizer I find best is a mixture of equal parts of little from the cow and horse stables and hen-house. This is spread over the ground after the autumn spading and turned under in the spring.

My first planting is made about May 1 and every two weeks thereafter until the 1st of June.

Plant bulbs not over three inches deep, first rows ten inches apart and each succeeding planting in between or five inches from first row, making the flower garden one continuous bed of blooms.

After plants begin to show above ground spread a liberal amount of sheep manure and bone meal over the bed. This will improve the color and lasting qualities.

In the autumn when a heavy frost cuts down the plants, dig the bulbs and pack in onion crates and store away in a cool place, safe from freezing.

Fig or Bachelor Pudding

INGREDIENTS

- 4 ounces flour.
- 4 ounces suet.
- 4 ounces breadcrumbs.
- 4 ounces sugar.
- 4 ounces figs.
- 1 teaspoonful baking powder.
- 1 egg.
- A little milk.
- A pinch of salt.

METHOD

Cut the figs into very small pieces; chop the suet into fine as fine breadcrumbs, sift the flour and rub the breadcrumbs thru a coarse wire strainer; mix all the dry ingredients together, beat the egg and add enough milk to make a thick batter. Grease a pudding bowl and put in, cover with a well-greased paper and steam for two hours. If currants and raisins are substituted for the figs this same pudding is called bachelor's pudding.
