

SAVES LIFE BUT MATURE

Dr. Patrick J. Byrne, of Cleveland, Rescues Cripple from Death and Overtakes His Strength.

Cleveland, Nov. 27.—Dr. Patrick J. Byrne, coroner of Cuyahoga county, may forfeit his life for having saved a crippled man from being killed by a street car today. The doctor is in a hospital in a serious condition. He will be operated upon.

The coroner had been to the morgue to view the body of an unidentified man, who had been killed and was on his way home for Thanksgiving dinner. On Woodland avenue he saw the cripple crossing the street. When the car track the cripple's crutches slipped and the man fell in front of a rapidly approaching car.

Dr. Byrne rushed forward, grabbed the man and carried him in his arms to the sidewalk. In doing so he overtaxed his strength, and is suffering from abdominal injuries.

LORD HALDANE ENDORSES THE POLICY OF U. S.

(Continued from page 1) aim have been brought into the policy of the United States in its dealings with adjacent countries, and it is because the President has taken the attitude he has—a step which one can but admire, whatever its consequences may be—that I propose good health to Woodrow Wilson, the President, and Woodrow Wilson, the man.

Sir John Simon, the attorney general, proposed the health of the American Ambassador, Walter H. Page and declared him to be the worthy successor of his distinguished predecessors.

Prof. A. B. Alexander, chairman of the American delegation to the International Conference on Safety at Sea, proposed "Thanksgiving Day."

Lord Kintore and Col. Sir Claude Macdonald responded to the International Conference on Safety at Sea, proposed "Thanksgiving Day."

Lord Kintore and Col. Sir Claude Macdonald, who was enthusiastically greeted, said so much had been spoken about the landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth Rock that he understood some Americans were disposed to wish that Plymouth Rock had landed on the Pilgrims instead.

He gave interesting reminiscences of the siege of Peking, in which he commanded the international forces, and said that next to the honors conferred upon him by his sovereign, the proud moment of his life was when he was placed in command by the American minister of the American contingent there, and fought shoulder to shoulder with them.

The guests included the staffs of the American embassy and consulate, the American delegates to the Life Saving conference, Baron Charnwood, the Earl of Denbigh, Dr. Jos. H. Hertz, chief rabbi of Great Britain; Mr. Arthur S. Barnes, of the University of Cambridge; Isaac Seligman, the Right Hon. Sir Henry Primrose, chairman of the Pacific Cable Board; Sir Rider Haggard and Albert N. Swelin, American consulate at Southampton.

WOULD COUGH SO HARD WOULD TURN BLACK IN THE FACE.

A cough cold is one of the most dangerous kind. It leaves the throat or lungs, and sometimes both, affected if not taken care of immediately. Obstinate coughs and colds yield to the grateful soothing action of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, containing all it does all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree.

Mrs. C. J. Selig, of St. John, N.S., writes—"My little six years old, and a dreadful hard cough. At night time he would cough so hard he would turn black in the face, and at times he would cough nearly an hour before he would stop. I tried different cough syrups, but they did him no good. The little fellow was wasting away, as he could not eat or sleep, the cough troubled him so. I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and it did him so much good I not need it. Now I am fully able to be able to write this to tell how thankful I am, and to tell every mother to use nothing else."

Price, 25 and 50 cents. Be sure you get "Dr. Wood's" when you see the trade mark, the three pine trees.

RANKING REAR ADMIRALS, ONE OF WHOM MAY GO TO MEXICO

REAR ADMIRAL WM H. H. SOUTHERLAND

REAR ADMIRAL C. E. VREELAND

Some step is to be taken immediately by the Navy Department to meet the situation which has arisen at Vera Cruz by the despatch there of the British West Indian cruiser squadron, the commander of which, Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, ranks Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, the American commander. The British officer on his arrival will be the senior officer of the international fleet there, and as such will be in command of any international demonstration of any sort made.

By this the United States, with its paramount interests and its position of directing what is to be done in the situation, finds itself in the position of its chief naval officer in American waters, with his great battle ship fleet, subordinate to a foreign naval commander.

There are only two available American rear admirals who rank with Rear Admiral Cradock. These are Rear Admiral Charles E. Vreeland, whose commission dates from December 27, 1906, and Rear Admiral W. H. H. Southernland, whose commission dates from May 10, 1910. Either of these naval officers may be sent to Mexico to take command of the United States fleet.

URGENT LINE VIA CANAL

Quebec Board of Trade Passes Resolution Favoring Steamship Line Running to Vancouver.

Quebec, Nov. 27.—The Quebec Board of Trade, at a general meeting this afternoon, discussed the proposed establishment of a Canadian line of steamers in connection with the opening of the Panama Canal, which has been endorsed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and adopted the following resolution:

"That in view of the opening of the Panama Canal to ocean shipping, it would, in the opinion of the Quebec Board of Trade, be a wise policy for the government of Canada to encourage steamship communication between the eastern provinces of Canada and British Columbia, so as to cheapen the cost of transportation, between east and west, and to prevent our losing any portion of the existing trade between the provinces, and that, if necessary, the government should subsidize a line of steamers to run at regular intervals between the St. Lawrence and Maritime Ports and Vancouver, through the Panama Canal."

The Sensible Solution of that Christmas Problem--

"Give him a Gillette Safety Razor"

Why sensible? Because the Gillette is a real gift for a real man—a gift that is sure to be appreciated. It doesn't merely look fine, though the Gillette is certainly hard to beat in that particular. It appeals to a man's hard-headed business sense as well as to his good taste, for it gives him, every day in the year, a service whose equal he could not get from any other source.

The gift of a Gillette is a compliment to any man, for a decade of use has proven it undoubtedly the best razor that money can buy.

TRAINMEN FINED. Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 27.—Frank Herbert and Robert Taylor, the Grand Trunk employees held responsible for falling to close a switch near Bronte, which nearly resulted in the newspaper flyer plunging its way through the freight were each fined $100 today. The Magistrate said he was satisfied there was no criminal intent, hence the fine instead of a jail sentence.

ST. JOHN AND THE G. T. P.

Through the medium of a sectional map and a display of big type, the Telegraph attempts to convey to its readers the impression that if the line of railway from Napadogan to Fredericton is not speedily constructed the Grand Trunk Pacific traffic will be taken past the port of St. John and to the port of Halifax. What a pity the Telegraph has so poor a memory or, possibly, what folly that it refuses to look upon any question except through the glass of partisanship.

The closing of the St. Lawrence next year will find St. John without any direct connection with the G. T. P. except by way of Moncton. But when G. T. P. freight reaches Napadogan on the Transcontinental—a point about fifty miles from Fredericton—it will be within 125 miles of St. John; and it will still be 304 miles from Halifax. With an advantage of 175 miles in its favor it may be hurriedly assumed that St. John must get the freight.

Again the Telegraph stands utterly condemned, not only of gross inconsistency and unfairness, but of tacitly approving the greatest blow ever struck at this city and port.

SIR WILFRID'S LATEST
Realizing that his senseless opposition to the question of Canadian nationality aid to Britain will not impress the people of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier now takes the field with a policy of cheaper food. Such a policy sounds well, but there is a great question if Sir Wilfrid, astute as he is, can provide means of meeting the difficulty.

There can be no question that Canadians in common with the rest of the world are finding it increasingly difficult to meet the growing cost of living, but it is very doubtful that the Liberal leader, even if sincere, can find any way to legislate against the evil.

Such an attitude as that he has now adopted would have been much more effective if he had taken it up at an earlier date. It is a well known fact that Sir Wilfrid, when premier, did not father any campaign against the high cost of living. The Liberal canvass that reciprocity would have helped to reduce the cost of the necessities of life has been proven fallacious.

President Wilson of the United States, in an effort toward cheaper living, made certain reductions in the United States tariff. What was the result? It costs just as much to live now in any part of the American union as it did before the new tariff bill became law.

The Detroit Free Press deals with this matter, and the attitude of Canadian Liberals toward it in a well considered and reasonable editorial, in which it says:

"Our friends across in Canada, the Liberal party portion of them, at least, are diligently calling attention to the elevated cost of living in their country and are demanding a reduction in their own tariff like that given us in the United States. They seem to think they are proposing a remedy, when they are merely shouting into the air."

"The food stuffs that are costing more in Canada because of the new American markets are not a cent cheaper than they were over here. What gain do our neighbors expect from following our course? To lower the Canadian tariff would not bring any food of supplies into the Dominion; or, if it should, they would not bring down the prevailing level of cost. If American producers are free to sell as much as they could get, why should we export as by selling at home there would be no exports. If they could not get as much as they could get, that is what the Canadian producers are doing to us."

"The whole beautiful theory of free trade is being revised because of the American experiment in tariff lowering, and our Canadian friends are talking a dead language when they speak about the lowering of prices by lowering duties. It isn't as easy to solve the cost of living problem as we were taught to think."

The cost of living has now reached a point where it becomes a very real problem. The experience of the United States has shown, as instanced by the Free Press, that it can hardly be solved by tariff reduction. One of our tariff pledges was that our tariff would be considered by the commission to be appointed, and upon whose report the nature of the action taken would depend.

The Premier's record is such as to leave no doubt that this pledge will be kept. What then, is the necessity for Sir Wilfrid to "horn in" at this juncture unless it is his intention to use the cost of living question as a pretext for the introduction of politics? The Liberal leader's sudden advocacy of reduced cost of living might prove more effective were it not for the fact that his record is against him. Independent Canadians are inclined to look askance at his new suggestion because, during the whole of his political career, there has been a wide variance between his words and his actions, his promises and his performances. Ever ready with eloquent and high sounding declarations upon political issues, seldom did his professions and his conduct correspond. In short, he has been an out and out opportunist, willing on the instant to embrace any doctrine that might help to keep him in power. He has cast reciprocity dice and lost. Apparently he is now preparing to gamble again, but with a new game.

DIARY OF EVENTS

HISTORIC DAYS IN CANADA

Louis de Buade, Count de Frontenac, the great soldier and statesman who restored the fallen fortunes of France in America, died in Quebec 215 years ago today, Nov. 28, 1688. With his death the French power in Canada began to decline. Frontenac was born in France about 1620, and at seventeen became a colonel, while at twenty-nine he was a veteran, with the rank of lieutenant-general, covered with glory and decorations and scars. After his victory at the battle of the Plains, he was chosen to lead the troops sent for the relief of Canada, and in 1672 he was made governor. In 1678 he built Fort Frontenac on the present site of Kingston. After a notable controversy with Bishop Laval, Frontenac was recalled in 1682, but seven years later he was again appointed to the post of Governor of Canada with an iron hand until his death. He repulsed Phipps at Quebec, and saluted several other victories before his will like zeal and unceasing activity exhausted him.

FIRST THINGS

WASHINGTON IRVING.
The first American author to win general recognition of his genius in Great Britain was Washington Irving, who died, in his seventy-seventh year, at "Sunnyside," N. Y., fifty-four years ago today. The immortal humorist, historian and essayist was born in New York, the son of a native of Scotland. He was educated for the law, but his tastes were all in the direction of literature, and his legal career was a brief and almost trifling one. At eighteen he wrote "Letters of Jonathan Oldstyle," which were published in the New York Morning Chronicle, a newspaper owned by his elder brother, Dr. Peter Irving. He was twenty-five when he wrote the celebrated "History of New York," by Diedrich Knickerbocker. From 1815 until 1832 Irving resided in England, where his genius was fully recognized. Later he returned to Europe and was a brief minister to Spain, and spent several years in Madrid.

THE PASSING DAY

The blood-spattered pages of early American history recount many terrible tales of murderous massacres perpetrated by ferocious redskins on the paleface pioneers who had taken up the white man's burden in far wildernesses. There are at least two sides to every question, however, and the white man's vengeance took the form of cruel and wanton butchery. Such an occasion was the "Bacon's Rebellion" which broke out in 1676. The white man's vengeance took the form of cruel and wanton butchery. IN LIGHTER VEIN

Heard in a Restaurant.

She—The waiter is hanging around as though he expected something.
He—Oh, yes, he's a typical waiter.
Singular.

It's a strange fact that a man can be used best as a tool when he is dull.

So There You Are.
"Bosses is a fool."
"But he says you are a fool."
"Bah! Who minds what a fool says?"

Quitte So!
The smaller a man is the more apt he is to be perfectly satisfied with himself.

Merely That.
Bix—Most of those so-called alphas, they say, are only horseshit.
Dix—Yes, "algritte" is merely their nom de plume.

Too Busy.
Remarks on exchange, "There are none of us so sure of going to heaven that we take lessons on the harp."
Tut! We're sure enough, but we haven't the time.

From Her Point of View.
Men are like corks, a girl declares.
And she is right, no doubt—
At least some pop quite easily.
While some must be drawn out.

The Old Lady Again.
Mrs. Kawler—I suppose you go out walking these lovely afternoons.
Mrs. Blunderby—Yes, indeed, I am quite a protestant.

Passing It On.
The freshman has a sad career.
And she is right, no doubt—
He stands it, for he thinks next year to haze the other man.

The lodge initiates must prance.
To please a pesky clan,
And he submits, to get a chance
To haze the other man.

And such we know, has been life's scope
Since first the world began.
We stand for much, because we hope
To haze the other man.

His Devotion.
"Young Mrs. Flitter tells me that her husband is going to teach her how to skate this winter," says Mrs. Gooch, in the tone a woman employs when she speaks of a husband in a moment of conversation. "Isn't it nice to see a man so devoted to his wife?"
"Devoted—shucks!" grumbles Gooch from behind his magazine. "He's so blamed jealous of her he won't take a chance at having any other man near her."

Still Expressive.

The world of slang advances
Very fast:
Last year's pet phrase lies buried
In the past.
Yet there is one will linger
To the last.

For when you catch her ogling.
By surprise—
That maid whose glance is soft, yet
Rather wise,
Can anything compare with
"Goo-goo eyes?"

A Headless Husband.
They say that marriage is a community of interests, but my husband has no consideration for me. Yesterday he lugged a total stranger home for dinner. Not a word of warning, is that any way to treat a wife?"

"Oh, that wasn't so reprehensible. You could easily rustle up something for dinner."

"But there wasn't a thing in the house. I had lost the market money at bridge."

An Autumn Prayer.
Although we love to praise in rhyme
The season of the rose,
We've glad the good old summer-time
Is drawing to a close;
For now when come the cooler days
To add to our repose,
We hope the girls will mend their ways
And put on some more clothes.

IMPERIAL SUBJECT "EMPIRE"
An Interesting and Forceful Canadian Club Last Evening Aid Pointed Out by Sp...
The Imperial unity was Mr. Cecil Rhodes' great and one idea. He realized to the full what the four greatest empires, British, French, German, and American, had in common, and he saw that individual development, harmonious working, and effective co-operation at times of danger. He realized that the British Empire with its 115,000,000 square miles and its 420,000,000 human beings, if united, would form a most tremendous fighting power for defence as well as for peace. The subject of Imperial unity opens up so many different aspects that whenever I attempt to discuss it, I find myself agreeing that I often wonder at which point to commence.

Co-operation Necessary.
First may I deal with the necessity of co-operation. Today we are living in an age when powers are combining for the same ends as those I have referred to. On the one hand you have British Empire with its 115,000,000 square miles and its 420,000,000 human beings, if united, would form a most tremendous fighting power for defence as well as for peace. The subject of Imperial unity opens up so many different aspects that whenever I attempt to discuss it, I find myself agreeing that I often wonder at which point to commence.

Imperial Parliament.
With this end in view and also for the purposes of testing the opinion of members in the British House of Commons I was instrumental in getting together some eighteen members of parliament, who were particularly well known around all sections of political opinion, taking good care to avoid the military and naval members, who are so often the subject of the Imperial Parliament. This committee consisted of one Australian, one Canadian, one Englishman and one American, and myself. Together we quietly worked around all sections of political opinion, taking good care to avoid the military and naval members, who are so often the subject of the Imperial Parliament. This committee consisted of one Australian, one Canadian, one Englishman and one American, and myself.

As a member of parliament, I can truly say that feeling there is distinctly in favor of such a movement, but that to achieve the desired end, the different Dominion parliaments should express similar views in a like manner, and that, it would come better from the Dominions if they took the initiative.

What would an advisory council mean? It would mean that King George would summon together at regular intervals men especially chosen from the Empire to represent the interest of the Empire in such a council, to debate questions of general defence, requirements of the navy and army, foreign affairs, Asiatic problems, fishery disputes, Imperial postage, cable questions, and many other matters, which concern the Empire as a whole, including any friendly action by any foreign rival towards any section of the British Empire, and generally watching and safeguarding the destinies and welfare of the 420,000,000 of people who live within our Empire.

No one can deny that the enormous volume of Imperial trade does not warrant the existence of such a body of well chosen men whose vision would be clear of party politics, and who would so often both in the Mother Country, here and elsewhere to subordinate matters of great Imperial importance in favor of local interests.

Other Countries Ready.
We must not forget that while we are drifting along in a happy-go-lucky way that other countries, both for the defence and trade are already well organized. Enormous progress of Imperial Fatality of Whooping Cough
Many parents think lightly of whooping cough, and treat it as a necessary evil, not giving the child who has it any special attention. The seriousness of whooping cough is emphasized by the Medical Health Officer in Toronto a few months ago, when he reported deaths during the month from whooping cough, and only ten from scarlet fever, typhoid fever and measles combined. So many people write to us about the relief and cure of whooping cough by the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine that we recommend it with the greatest confidence. It loosens the cough, aids expectoration, and by its soothing influence prevents the formation of paroxysms, coughing which are so distressing witness, and which wear away the strength of the child. By using it treatment of the disease is held in check, and cured in a few weeks, instead of months. Look for the portrait and signature of A. W. M. M. on the bottle you buy. There are many imitations.

An Interesting and Forceful Lecture Before Women's Canadian Club Last Evening—Necessity of Naval Aid Pointed Out by Speaker.

The Imperial unity was Mr. Cecil Rhodes' great and one idea. He realized to the full what the four greatest empire ideals are, general progress, individual development, harmonious working, and effective co-operation at times of danger. He realized that the British Empire with its 11,500,000 square miles and its 420,000,000 human beings, if united, would form a most tremendous fighting power in defence as well as for peace. The subject of Imperial unity opens up so many different aspects that when I attempt to discuss it I must ever I attempt to discuss it at which point to commence.

Co-operation Necessary.

First may I deal with the necessity of co-operation. We are living in an age when powers are combining for the same ends as those I have referred to. On the one hand you have Austria, Italy and Germany in one group, England, France and Russia in another, in fact all nations are striving to protect their interests by combining. Dealing with the Empire as a whole, I am one who believes that unless we can quickly devise some means for close and more defined union than that which exists at the present time this great British Empire must inevitably fall to pieces, just as I believe on the other hand that if we can quickly devise some scheme for united and whole hearted co-operation we shall become one of the ruling factors in the peace of the world. The immense difficulty of this project of bringing into existence a truly Imperial parliament by constructing a new Imperial constitution, is a task of immense difficulty. Particularly if any executive authority were to be given. Mr. Cecil Rhodes, or indeed many of us who think as I do, never contemplated interfering with autonomy of any individual unit of the Empire.

An Imperial Parliament.

With this end in view and also for the purposes of testing the opinion of members in the British House of Commons I was instrumental in getting together some eighteen months ago a committee of four members of parliament. This committee consisted of one Australian, one Canadian, one Englishman and one African, namely myself. Together we quietly worked around all sections of political opinion, taking good care to avoid the mistakes of Mr. Asquith, to use his own words, one of the most representative memorials ever presented to him during his forty years in the House of Commons. The result of that memorial consisted of but a few lines. It prayed for the creation of an Imperial parliament in the House of Commons four hundred members of parliament signed that memorial and I think that I can candidly say that only struck in the House of Commons four of what I call red right left Englishmen.

As a member of parliament, I can truly say that in feeling there is distinctly in favor of such a movement, but that to achieve the desired end, the different Dominion parliaments should express similar views in a like manner, and that, it would come better from the Dominions if they took the initiative.

What would an advisory council mean? It would mean that King George would summon together at regular intervals men especially chosen to represent the Empire in such a council, to debate questions of great importance, for example, Imperial defence, recruitment of the navy and army, foreign affairs, Asiatic problems, fishery disputes, Imperial postage, cable questions and many other matters, which concern the Empire as a whole, including any unfriendly action by any foreign rival towards any section of the British Empire and generally watching and safeguarding the destinies and welfare of the 420,000,000 of people who live within our Empire.

No one can deny that the enormous volume of Imperial trade does not warrant the existence of such a body of well chosen men whose vision would be clear of party politics which are apt so often both in the Mother Country, here and elsewhere to subordinate matters of great Imperial importance in favor of local interests.

Other Countries Ready.

We must not forget that while we are drifting along in a happy-go-lucky way that other countries, both for defence and trade are already well organized. Enormous progress of importance.

Fatality of Whooping Cough

Many parents think lightly of whooping cough, and treat it as a necessary evil, not giving the child who has it any special attention. The seriousness of whooping cough is emphasized by the Medical Health Officer in Toronto a few months ago, when he reported deaths during the month from whooping cough, and only ten from scarlet fever, typhoid fever and measles combined.

So many people write to us about the relief and cure of whooping cough by the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine that we can recommend it with the greatest confidence.

It loosens the cough, aids expectoration, and by its soothing influence prevents the terrible paroxysms of coughing which are so distressing to witness, and which wear away the strength of the child. By using this treatment the disease is held in check, and cured in a few weeks, instead of months. Look for the portrait and signature of A. V. Chase, M. D., on the bottle you buy. There are many imitations.

perial trade during the fifteen years in itself would warrant the existence of an Imperial council to further its interests and developments. In 1898 our Imperial trade amounted to 985,000,000 pounds sterling. In 1910 it rose to one billion 770 thousand sterling. Foreign trade of the Empire in a same period rose from 745,000,000 pounds sterling to one billion three hundred and seventeen pounds sterling.

Picture for one minute something happening, as sure it will, to endanger this volume of trade. A crisis appears suddenly without any warning as is usually the case, what better organization could we have to help to guide public opinion in the right direction than a debate on the subject in a great Imperial council such as that I have outlined, the picked men of the Empire in congress at a critical moment bringing the results of their debate to a division and its result being flashed throughout the British Empire. Surely in time of need the advice and counsel of well chosen and approved men would be of the greatest value.

The Naval Question.

Take for example the present naval position. I am not going to tread on what to me as an English member of Parliament is forbidden ground. We are facing today one of the most critical periods in our history, forty years ago the naval estimates were under 10,000,000 pounds sterling. This year they have reached 40,000,000 pounds sterling. To maintain a navy for what? To protect not the British Isles alone, but the British Empire. Now some people, I am glad to say, fewer and fewer as the days go by, challenge the opinion that very grave danger faces us. Could there be any doubt left anywhere in any sane person's mind if a truly representative Imperial council made it clear to all people's mind that danger did or did not exist? Whatever line representation takes or may take, it is certain that England, Scotland, Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa must come to the front once more and stay there. I for one have always advocated just as I do now an Imperial council of an advisory character, the creation of a representative Imperial flying squadron. I am glad to say, Mr. Winston Churchill, judged by his speeches which have been made during this and last year, appears to be in wholehearted sympathy with such a step; in passing I may be excused for making an effort to impress upon you that Mr. Winston Churchill, the First Lord of the Admiralty, in his determination to uphold the supremacy of the British navy, places his naval policy first and his party second, and although we differ with him on our side of the House inasmuch as some think his naval programme at times is not as big as we should like, yet since he has held that high office, his most severe critic can but confess that he has tuned the British navy to the highest pitch of efficiency it has ever reached and never was it in better fighting form to meet any foe than at the present time. But to get back to my point, may I draw a little picture of an Imperial flying squadron composed of the very best ships money and science can build, flying with the Union Jack the ensign of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Africa and the Mother Country each year assembling together, one year assembling in Canadian waters, the next in European, the next in Australian, and so on, as one unit representing the Empire, paying those visits of courtesy which are of such great importance towards developing friendly relations with other countries besides developing and fostering trade and commerce. Picture such a splendid spectacle visiting the East or South America or any other part of the globe, I venture to say that the very sight of it would make any member of this British Empire of ours blood tingle with pride.

Combination Necessary.

I must apologize for taking up so much of your time, and may I say in conclusion, everything can wait but one thing, and that is the establishment of a thoroughly sound, efficient system of Imperial defence on land and sea. Men of all shades of political opinion must combine to place this and all Imperial questions above the petty party politics, this must be the case throughout the British Empire if we wish to achieve success. The perpetuation of the great British Empire with its glory, its history, and its greatness stands for the liberty and betterment of mankind and what better inspiration in our hour of Imperial unity could we deserve than the inscription which is to read over the graves at Paardeburg of the British soldiers who laid down their lives in defense of their country. "Tell England, ye who pass this monument, that we, who died serving her, rest content."

At the conclusion of Mr. Griffiths' address a vote of thanks moved by Mrs. George F. Smith and seconded by Mrs. T. H. Bullock, was tendered the speaker by the president.

Mayor Frink was asked to make a few remarks. He complimented the speaker on the arguments set forth and approved of many of his ideas, but His Worship thought that the British Government should make overtures to the colonial governments and outline what action he proposed on each part of the Empire. He believed that Canada should assist in some manner in the defence of the Empire.

Manning W. Doherty also spoke of some of the problems in Canada. He felt sure that the people of the Dominion were loyal to the crown, and he believed that different communities should be united in their ideals. He approved of the Imperial flying squadron which he handled so difficult a subject.

Miss Blenda Thompson sang two selections and at the close of the entertainment refreshments were served. Mrs. Vincent and Mrs. Levi had charge of the refreshments.

The following new members were added to the Women's Canadian Club last evening: Mrs. Harold Payson, Mrs. R. E. King, Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. D. O. Dunham, Mrs. G. W. J. Scott, Mrs. P. Johnston, Miss H. Cahill, Miss O. Maxwell, Miss F. Gilbert, Miss B. Cliff, Miss L. Robinson, Miss G. Mott, Mrs. E. Vanwart, Mrs. E. Golding, Miss G. McElwaine, Mrs. G. C. P. McIntyre, Miss E. Vaughan, Mrs. F. Barnham, Mrs. J. Perkins, Mrs. M. Magee, Mrs. G. Allan, Mrs. Sediker, Miss Pratt, Mrs. C. Melick, Mrs. G. Amund, Miss H. M. Crouse, Miss P. Langton, Mrs. P. L. Langton, Mrs. J. F. Taylor, Miss Dalton, Miss A. Mowry, Miss Agnes Waring, Miss J. Munroe and Mrs. F. E. Fiewelling.

Union Means Strength

It is certain if we can achieve such a high ideal we need not fear foreign aggression for the world would realize that we were in fact a truly united and determined people.

Some critics might say that there is a lot of sentiment in that picture, then let me give the practical side. Behind security and strength lies cheap money and prosperity, the British Empire has always had the cheapest money in the world ranging from three and a half to four per cent. for government loans and why, because of its naval strength with which to protect its loans.

Today money is tight but many think it is because it is scarce, nothing of the kind, there is as much money on deposit in the banks of the world as ever there was. No, the key has been turned in the lock, and why? Because of the uncertainty of the immediate future. The price of Tripoli to the Italians was six Dreadnoughts in the Mediterranean by 1912. The price of Triple Alliance support, that is to say, Germany, Austria and Italy, to Austria in the near East was six Dreadnoughts in the Mediterranean by 1912. Germany contributing her share of six upwards of 50,000,000 sterling in ships—they have built or are building. The question in the minds of serious thinking men arises, what does all this mean? "Wait and see" is the answer, and I for one, predict that we shall have very tight times indeed until we know more where we are, and what really all this means.

Imperial Navy

Make no mistake that uneasiness would at once disappear if we could by magic art produce NOW eighteen such ships to form an Imperial Squadron from such as I have outlined. And we should find the money circulation of the world would flow as freely as from such as I have outlined. Such is what I call money nerves existing today is evident in a recent issue Budget, the capital of Hungary, with a population of 2,000,000 people, one of the many prosperous leading cities of the world, had to pay seven per cent. interest. A disintegrated empire whatever unit one might belong to would have to pay an equally high rate of interest and there is no doubt in my mind that a really united British Empire would bring us back to a three and a half per cent. rate.

To continue, our markets for our trade is another feature, this Empire with 11,500,000 square miles is a market for our goods and trade which today is covered by the whole industrial world and unless we guard and protect it adequately, we should lose in any case some of its value. It was not many years ago that Stanley offered to the British government the Congo. The English statesmen then foolishly refused it. Today its value to Belgium as a market in worth is told gold. I have only mentioned this incidentally to show you how today the whole united empire should realize what a great asset we have for our trade and energy in developing and opening out the thousands and thousands of square miles which lie within the British Empire.

REOPEN THE EVENING TECHNICAL SCHOOL ON DECEMBER FIRST

The evening technical school, conducted last winter in the Centennial school building by the board of school trustees, will be reopened on Monday evening, December 1st.

There will be a class in elementary mechanical drawing on Monday and Wednesday evenings and one in advanced work on Friday evenings. Both these classes will be under the direction of William S. Vail, a draftsman in the Phoenix Foundry.

There will be a class in commercial arithmetic under the direction of Rex R. Cormier, principal of the King Edward school.

The classes will start at 7 p. m. A registration fee of $2 will be required for each student on admission to class, returnable on the basis of attendance as follows:

- Whole fee returned for 100 per cent. attendance.
- Four-fifths for 90 to 99 per cent. attendance.
- Two-thirds for 80 to 89 per cent. attendance.
- One-half for 70 to 79 per cent. attendance.
- Two-fifths for 60 to 69 per cent. attendance.

The fee is charged to insure attendance and it will be seen that any student who makes full time obtains tuition absolutely free. Those wishing to join the classes should call at Centennial School on the evenings mentioned.

It may be hoped that much larger classes than last year will be formed, and that more young men will realize that the opportunity offered them to make themselves more competent and therefore able to earn good wages.

PLEASING CONCERT IN BAPTIST CHURCH

THANKSGIVING DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Nov. 27.—President Wilson and his family had their Thanksgiving dinner tonight with a party of house guests who have remained since the wedding.

The housekeeper had no difficulty in deciding whether the turkey sent by Horace Vose, of Westley, R. I., or that presented by South Trimble, of the House of Representatives, should grace the table, for there were enough guests present to require both fowls.

Luck.

"Did you enjoy the banquet last night?"

"Yes, the man who was to have taken the flashlight got mixed up in an accident and was unable to be present."

Major Lavallee to Ask Dominion Authorities to Appoint Special Commission to Look Into Case.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—The announcement made on Tuesday that Mayor Lavallee was to ask the Dominion authorities to appoint a special commission to inquire into the reason why living conditions in Montreal are more onerous than in big American cities, has led to interesting developments. Not only has the Board of Control unanimously approved of the move, but the mayor stated today that he intended, at the meeting of the city council on Monday, to ask that a special civic delegation be appointed to interview the Prime Minister in regard to the matter.

"I feel convinced," said His Worship today, that the Ottawa authorities will not fail to appoint the desired commission, if it is a most abnormal state of affairs, when the charge can be made that it is more expensive to live in Montreal, than in other large cities on this continent. Such statements cannot be but harmful to the growth and reputation of Montreal. If these statements are true, it is high time that the public should be made aware of what conditions are responsible for it.

DELIVERS LECTURE ON INDIAN CUSTOMS

At the Natural History Society on Thursday afternoon, Wm. McIntosh gave a very interesting talk on the Indians of prehistoric Acadia. The lecture was illustrated by tableaux and scenes of Indian life by the young ladies of the society. The social life and customs of the Indians were described, and the scenes illustrated the everyday life of the Indian; the Indians in council to meet an ambassador from the Mohawks, when the pipe of peace was passed; the dance of the harvest dance; the Medicine Man of the tribe; and the mourning customs and mode of burial.

At the conclusion of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer and the young ladies who took part in the tableaux.

The lecture next week will deal with the Myths and Legends, Arts and Industries of the Indians and will be illustrated by tableaux. This will be the last lecture in the ladies' pay course.

Lord Cowdray's denial of reports that his firm, Messrs. "Lord Cowdray may not chose to label the contract he wishes to have ratified a "monopoly," but the situation that it would create if accepted by the Colombian Congress would amount to nothing less than monopoly."

UNDERGROUND FIRE
NOW AT SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 27.—The fire department has been called upon to fight a curious underground fire that has been burning over an extent of ten acres of land south of the city for several weeks. The fire is slowly consuming some substance a few feet under the surface.

The firemen fear to open up the earth and thus give the smothered blaze a chance to get a firmer hold, and as the underground conflagration is about a mile from the nearest fire plug, there is no way to get water to it. The scene is an old city garbage dump.

The Age of Electricity
is also the Age of The Elevator.

ELECTRICITY has been looked for years as the coming power. The world has been waiting for it to reach a development where its low cost would make possible its general use. That point of development has been reached—and among the conveniences thus brought into general use are Elevators. Merchants and manufacturers who heretofore could not afford a power elevator, now see their way to installing them. To be without an elevator is to waste time and energy of employees in toilsome hand-carrying from floor to floor. To be without an elevator is to use and pay rent or taxes on a larger ground-floor area than is needed. Take advantage of Electricity, now that electric power is at last reasonably low in cost.

"CHARLEY" BRICKLEY, THE CRIMSON HALF BACK, WHO DEFEATED YALE FOR HARVARD, KICKING ONE OF HIS FIVE FIELD GOALS

BRICKLEY KICKING GOAL FROM YALE 24-YARD LINE

Harvard defeated Yale for the first time in the Stadium at Cambridge, Mass., by a score of 15 to 5. "Charley" Brickley, the famous crimson half back, was the hero of the day, making every point for his team by field goals and goals from placement. This is the thirty-fourth game that has been played between the representative teams of these old time rivals, had created more interest than any of the many hard fought battles which have already taken place in the athletic history of the universities. It was one of the most representative gatherings that had ever attended such a contest, for not an alumnus of any moment of either institution who could possibly arrange to be there but was in the stands. It was estimated that fully 44,000 persons were present when the first period was under way.

VICTORIAS AND BLACKS TIE FOR THE SILVER PIN

The contest on Black's Alleys for the Brunswick-Balke-Collender trophy was not finished last night as Black's and the Victoria Alley teams tied. It was decided that the roll-off for the trophy will take place on Monday night next, at nine o'clock, and the excitement between the two city teams will be keen. The most exciting match of the series was at 6:30 o'clock last evening between Black's and the Victoria's. The Vics had a lead of sixty pins on the first string, and added another score on their next string. The Black's team were game, however, and on the third string managed to beat out the Vics, with a total score of 511 to 436 on the last string, which won the match. The excitement was keen among the fans, and the grand total was 1385 to 1371. The visiting bowlers have left for their homes, and Monday's match for the silver pin between Black's and the Victoria's will be awaited with interest by the bowlers. The day's scores by the teams follow:

M'DONALD AFTER THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Dan McDonald, the wrestler, has been induced to return to the mat but says that it will be only for one match and that will be with Sam Anderson for the championship. Anderson was not satisfied a couple of weeks ago when he failed to throw McDonald in an hour. McDonald now feels confident that he can defeat the champion and yesterday decided to take the try. Anderson was telegraphed last night regarding a match and if he accepts

NECESSITY OF FIRST AID KNOWLEDGE POINTED OUT

Major Birdwhistle in Forceful Address at Annual Meeting of St. John Ambulance Association - Executive Committee Elected.

The annual meeting of the St. John Ambulance Association was held in the Board of Trade rooms yesterday afternoon. An executive committee was elected as follows:

Dr. Murray MacLaren, Col. E. T. Sturdee, Mrs. C. A. McDonald, the president of the Branch of the Daughters of the Empire, Rev. W. H. Barracough, and Dr. W. B. Bowyer. This committee which has power to add to its number, will meet later to elect officers.

The St. John Branch will make an endeavor to extend the work of the association through the province, where outside of the railway centres little interest has so far been developed in First Aid instruction.

Major Birdwhistle, the general secretary of the association for Canada was present at the meeting and delivered an interesting address. The Order of St. John of Jerusalem, he said, was founded by Peter Giaras as a religious brotherhood in Jerusalem, at the time of the Crusades for the relief of the sick and needy, and they finally became the Almoners of Europe. They were driven from Jerusalem, and, as a matter of defence, developed into a band of soldier monks and warring physicians.

Driven from one stronghold to another by the Turks, they at length reached the island of Malta, which was ceded to them by the Emperor Charles the Fifth of Germany, where they grew and prospered, and became one of the largest and most powerful brotherhoods in the world, but through the treachery of the Grand Master in 1798, the island was betrayed to a foreign power, the Knights were banished, and their property seized. They were never again seen in Malta, where they had ruled for 268 years. The order was revived by Sir Robert Peel and other gentlemen of position, and became very active in its work of mercy until 1888, when it received Royal recognition and a charter of incorporation.

Her late Majesty, Queen Victoria, became the Sovereign Head of the order, and His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, the president or Grand Prior. On the death of Queen Victoria, King Edward became the head of the order, and the Prince of Wales, the president or Grand Prior. His Royal Highness the Governor General of Canada is president. The grades are: Knights of Justice, Knights of Grace, and Esquires. Ladies are also Ladies of Justice and Ladies of Grace. There are also honorary serving brothers and sisters and honorary associates.

The Ambulance Department. The St. John Ambulance Association was founded by the Order in 1871, and the Charter granted to the Order in 1888 contains a full recognition of the St. John Ambulance Association as the Ambulance Department of the Order. The Association has for its objects:

The instruction of persons in rendering "First Aid" in cases of accidents or sudden illness, and in the transport of the sick and injured.

The instruction of persons in the elementary principles and practices of nursing, and also of hygiene and sanitation, especially in sick rooms.

The manufacture and distribution, by sale or presentation, of ambulance material, and the formation of ambulance depots in mines, factories, and other centres of industry and traffic.

The organization of Ambulance Corps, Invalid Transport Corps and Nursing Corps.

And generally the promotion of instruction and carrying out works for the relief of the sick and injured in peace and war, independently of class, nationality or denomination.

The needless suffering caused by the ignorance of unskilled persons is as undoubted as it is deplorable. By rough handling, or even the mere want of the slightest knowledge of the application of an injured limb, a simple fracture has been made compound, or even complicated. The method of arresting bleeding from an artery is quite easy, yet thousands of lives have been lost, the very life sustaining spectators in the presence of blood ebbling away in the presence of a surgeon, comparatively understand the life because none of them had been taught one of the first rudiments of the instruction of an expertized torquet. Again, how frequent is the loss of life by drowning, yet how few persons, comparatively understand the way to treat properly the apparently drowned.

First Aid. In "First Aid" the object is to teach the men how to render immediate "First Aid" treatment to anyone suffering from accident or sudden illness, until such time as the services of a medical man can be obtained, so that a life may not be sacrificed for the want of a little "First Aid" knowledge on the part of the public. The men are taught by fully qualified physicians who give a course of five lectures, occupying two hours per week, for five consecutive weeks, which includes the application of the principles to broken bones; how and where to arrest blood from any part of the body; how to extemporize or make use of coats for stretchers; folded newspapers, umbrellas, policemen's truncheons, rifles, brooms, etc., for splints; in fact how to make the best use of whatever is nearest to hand in the treatment of any accident.

Men have been lost or injured aggravated through improper "First Aid" treatment. For instance, should some unfortunate be knocked down by a street car, automobile or other conveyance, and thereby break one of the bones of the lower limb, what do you think is the first thing a bystander will do? The usual first thought, no matter what the nature of the injury may be, is to carry the sufferer out of the way of passing traffic to the sidewalk, or into some store until the ambulance or a doctor can be obtained; either of which may be too late to save life, because the poor fellow's life may already have been sacrificed by a well meaning, but uninformed person, who, in moving the injured person before the limb was temporarily secured, may cause the broken end of the bone to pierce the main artery of the thigh and the man bleeds to death in about three minutes, whereas, had the suffering one been left alone altogether until a qualified medical man or ambulance could be obtained, a life could easily have been saved.

Many Drowned. In this country we lose, on an average, 700 lives through drowning every year. Undoubtedly many of these lives might be saved by rendering artificial respiration immediately after the body is taken from the water. Any intelligent person must know that he or she is liable to accident, not through their own carelessness always, but through the carelessness of others, even when movements they had no control.

This being the case, we must, to a more or less extent, be dependent on "First Aid" principles, and it must therefore be apparent to all that when a person suffers serious accident a life is depending upon just what well-meaning but uninformed bystanders will do before it is possible to get medical assistance. It is therefore, not up to every good citizen, who has the welfare of his fellowmen at heart, to join one of the many classes which are now being organized, in every Province of the Dominion.

RELIGION OF CONFUCIUS IS NOW REVIVED

Is Again Sweeping Over China in Great Wave - Christians are Fighting Movement.

Bydney, Nov. 27.—Victor McKenna, who twice escaped the custody of Jailor Karn, and who was afterwards captured by the same official, came up before Judge Finlayson this morning for trial on two charges.

On the first charge that of breaking and entering a store owned by a man named McLeod at North Sydney. The prisoner had already pleaded guilty to which the prisoner had already pleaded guilty, sentence being suspended for a period of two years, McKenna was given three years in the Dorchester penitentiary.

The constitution adopted by this morning for the purpose of opposing the adoption of a state religion in China was organized here today at a meeting held at the Young Men's Christian Association and composed of representatives of Mohammedanism, Taoism, Buddhism, Roman Catholicism, and Protestantism, who are determined to contest the adoption of Confucianism as the Chinese state religion.
