HARNESS

Some personal belongings of the young soldier have been received by his mother.

To Him Who Will Not Return. Dear lad, you were among the brave to go. Your country's call came not in vain. To fight a cruel, ruthless foe. That peace might bless this earth again.

Home's tender ties you cast aside. Son, brave as ever mother bore; She saw, amid commingled tears and pride, Her boy depart for far-off fields of war.

Would that some loving hand "out there" Might tend that lonely grave. And answer thus a mother's daily prayer For him who died so young, so brave.

How about that new harness? Aren't you going to buy it today? You need it, don't you? Then why hesitate longer? We have all kinds of harness and stable supplies that are being sold way below their value. This is your opportunity to secure a guaranteed harness for little money.

MANY HOUSES REQUIRED HERE

Real Estate Man Says Two Hundred Could be Supplied With Tenants.

Campbellton to-day is retarded in its natural growth by the great scarcity of houses. Almost every day the Graphic has inquiries as to houses, flats or rooms to let, but has no encouragement to offer.

A Campbellton Real estate man made the statement recently that it takes two hundred moderate rent houses were built, they would be "acquired" within a month.

It is hoped that the government housing scheme will be the means of relieving this state of affairs.

Many of our citizens are anxiously awaiting a full statement of the scheme, and from present indications the $100,000 asked for, for Campbellton will be much below what is required.

BOOKLET RECEIVED.

Pte. P. S. Martin of the 1st Div. Canadian Machine Gun Section recently mailed a booklet entitled "The 1st Canadian Division in the Battles of 1918." It is a very interesting history of our soldiers.

We thank Pte. Martin for his kindness. Pte. Martin has since arrived home and is being warmly welcomed.

In Scottish Terriers 'Drumclough' owned by W. W. Lackey won first limit and reserve winners.

A GOOD PRICE.

Mr. Henry McIntyre has sold two months old thoroughbred Holstein bull calf to a party in Moncton, N. B. for $75.00. It certainly paid to raise registered stock.

From the train to the public square the people followed in a long procession, which included the town council, G.W.A. Boy Scouts and the Bathurst band. Mayor Burns, on behalf of the town, presented a humbug watch to Sergeant Good. Short addresses were delivered by Rev. J. A. Cooper and Hon. P. J. Venio, and Sergeant Good and his father, Walter Good, replied briefly.

Such Women Just Have to "Give Up"

"Man may work from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." That's why women are overworked, nervous, all run down, no appetite, and can "hardly drag around." Vinol creates a hearty appetite, strengthens the digestive organs, induces sound sleep, invigorates the nerves, and in this natural manner creates working strength.

Narragansett Pier, R.I.
"I was all run-down, back ached, and tired all the time. I kept house for my husband and four children and could hardly keep around. Finally I tried Vinol and it has restored my health and helped me wonderfully, so I recommend it to others who are in this condition." Mrs. Hannah Randall.
For all run-down, nervous, anemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

PARTICULARS OF WOUNDING OF CAPT. O. A. MOWAT, M.C.

Letters Received From Officers Who Were With Forces In Northern Russia.

Mr. and Mrs. Max M. Mowat have not told you how I hope that this will receive many letters from brother officers of their son, Capt. Oliver Mowat, M.C., who was wounded and died of wounds while fighting with the forces of Northern Russia.

Russia, Jan. 31st, 1919.
Dear Mrs. Mowat—
Long before this reaches you, you will have received official notification from the War Office that Ollie had died of wounds on Jan. 27th and I know to some extent at least, how sad this news will have been to you, but I do hope Mrs. Mowat, that the numerous letters which you will receive from those who knew and loved him as I did, will, to some small extent, help you to realize the facts that your son died a hero's death and that hundreds are mourning his loss with you.

During the last few weeks we have been in some very severe fighting which culminated on Jan. 24th in a very fierce attack on our position. The day previous I had had to send Ollie with one gun and detachment to a small village about 4 versts from our main position. From there he with adequate support was to cover the retirement of another of our forces to the rear. Everything went well until the Bolsheviks brought some totally unexpected guns to bear on Ollie's position. With the support of three guns 500 Bolsheviks attacked the small force with Ollie. He withstood the attack for over two hours inflicting terrific casualties on the enemy and although the gun was under terrific fire, only stopped firing when the gun was hit, his corporal killed, and two gunners and himself wounded. He was hit in the left knee by shrapnel and within the hour his men had brought him back to our hospital. I saw him at once and the doctor's operation at once cleaning and fixing up the wound. They did everything possible for him and were quite sanguine of their success of his condition. When I saw him again that night when he had recovered from the anaesthetic he was quite cheerful, although in some pain and looked quite well.

Later that night it was found necessary to move all the troops from this position and I saw Ollie safely placed into a sleigh and comfortably settled for the journey. We travelled all night and in the morning we took him into a wayside house for some breakfast. He was still cheerful, in less pain and looking fit.

Then came two more long jumps by sleigh and the battery had to take position again whilst the wounded were taken on to our main hospital. A medical officer who had been with us a good deal took special charge of Ollie and made him as comfortable as circumstances permitted but on arrival at the hospital, another operation was found necessary and the following morning I received a message that he had passed away whilst under the anaesthetic. Colonel Sharnan received instructions by wire from General Ironside to pin a Military Cross on Ollie. This was done just before he died, but unfortunately he did not awake to realize the honor. This is a fearful material detail to mention at this time, but its news where they amputated his leg. He was in such a weak condition though about Ollie long years ago. Also I that he never recovered consciousness. By special permission of the General the Military Cross was pinned of him before he died.

I extend to you, Mr. Mowat and family my heartfelt sympathy. Ollie was the only boy friend I had and I know I have lost a brave and good one and the brigade feel the loss also very keenly for they have lost a very capable, brave and loyal officer. If possible at all I will secure a picture of his grave and have it forwarded to you.

I would think it a great favor Mrs. Mowat if there is anything you would like me to do, just to write and let me know and if it is possible it will be done for you.

Very sincerely,
GILLIS.

Extract from a letter from Douglas Winslow of Woodstock, written to his parents there.

"Poor Capt. Mowat died of wounds, it was a very sad, how to all of us. I think he would have recovered right enough if it had not been for the long cold journey by sled the very evening before he died, but unfortunately he did not awake to realize the honor. This is a fearful material detail to mention at this time, but its news where they amputated his leg. He was in such a weak condition though about Ollie long years ago. Also I that he never recovered consciousness. By special permission of the General the Military Cross was pinned of him before he died."

So that our readers may judge of conditions, here we reproduce the following from one of the letters.

Here I am in still another place but with most of my outfit and "Ollie" again. We are in a very fair town for this part of Russia and have very comfortable billets in the high Priest's house just across the road from a huge monastery. The house is really very decent, something like the "Cucumber Cottage" at Cap only better built, furnished and heated. We have a huge room, the parlor, I guess, for our mess and sitting room and across the hall from it is our bedroom. All is well heated, clean as a pin, and well ventilated. We have little active work to do but a great deal of organization of the Russians and administration. In other words, we are being used more as a mainstay, or backbone, as well as teachers to the new Russian Army.

We (Col. Sharnan who came up here with me, Ollie and I) were inducted to a cosack (veal Cossackian) band met the other night for dinner and it was a real experience. The Cosacks are a very fierce and blood thirsty looking lot but welcomed us with open arms, and having produced Cosack uniforms for Ollie and me proceeded to make us blood brothers. Their uniforms are picturesque and good looking consisting of a huge fur hat, a long smock like coat, fitting closely to the waist, then flaring out in a good skirt. They have cartridge bolsters across the chest and wear a belt, very narrow leather, studded with gems and buckled with a silver buckle inlaid with gold. To this belt is attached a revolver in a beautifully made leather sheaf, studded and inlaid with jewels, gold and silver according to their rank. They wear high leather boots with long curved spurs attached. The meal was not worth mentioning but the hospitality was there nevertheless, and after dinner they danced Tarant, Russian and Caucasian dances for us. It was a great evening and I shall remember it for a long time.

I don't think you could imagine more unreal conditions for Xmas. We have the best of course, and its very cold, but turkeys are non-existent as are plum puddings. Don't think I shall miss the latter much as our cook makes wonderful pies, etc., and then I managed to buy enough red-chick (ptarmigan) family, like a small partridge at 2 1/2 rubles a pair to provide every man with one for Xmas dinner. They are very tender and meaty and are really delicious.

The Question.
At a dinner in Edinburgh, Baron Kieuchel, principal in Tokyo University, was a guest. An Englishman present told the story that a Scotoman who went to his dentist with an aching tooth and was asked if he would have gas. He replied, "You do not understand what I do not understand." "What I do not understand," he went on, "is not why the Scotoman said what he did, but how any Scotoman should not know, at any time, without having to count it, how much money he had in his pockets."

Chose "Straight" Arm.
A Canadian officer, wounded early in the war, came to St. Katharine's Lodge, one of the American Red Cross orthopedic hospitals in London, to have his left arm made over. The elbow had been shattered. The officer was given a choice of having a weak, movable elbow, or a strong stiff one. Without hesitation the Canadian chose the stiff elbow, and astonished the surgeons by asking that the arm be made perfectly straight so he could use a hitting rifle and a billiard cue.

Another Canadian officer insisted on having his smashed leg so rebuilt that he could continue to ride a horse. It required months of orthopedic treatment, but when the patient finally left the hospital to return to his ranch in Western Canada he was ready for the saddle.

These cases illustrate the only special work of an orthopedic hospital, but how closely the surgeons consult the wishes of the patients.

Salt in New Zealand.
Sea water will be pumped by electricity and evaporated by the sun at a new plant that is expected to supply New Zealand with almost its entire requirement of salt.

American soft coal production in 1917 was 561,790,563 net tons, 10 per cent. more than in 1916.

BETTER SERVICE NEEDED.

The mail service along the International division of the C. N. R. serving the new settlers between here and St. John's is a most wretched one and should not be longer tolerated. At the present writing there are three weeks a week, viz. Monday, Wednesday and Friday going and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday coming. The amounts of mail matter for these settlements is really surprising and is surely sufficient to warrant a daily service.

The mail returning from Campbellton is also greatly delayed, and the settlers in some districts send their mail by other routes if they wish it to reach Campbellton promptly.

This matter of mail service is an important one in the development of this growing district and should be pressed.

The train service is also very deficient, and with the change of time a daily express service should be inaugurated. Why not restore the service which pertained under private ownership, viz. an express over and return the same day. Certainly there should be a daily express train on this road.

SPARE THE ROADS.

The appeal that is made to owners of motor cars by the New Brunswick Automobile Association deserves the most favorable response. Experience in past years has shown that heavy motor traffic in the early spring, when the frost is coming out churns up the best roads and leaves it in a bad condition. If owners of cars will bear this in mind they will have all the more pleasure throughout the summer, because the roads will be more smooth, and the money that they use in repairing roads unnecessarily injured in the spring could be utilized for general road improvement. The motorists are not helping the government, but themselves, when they use discretion in this matter. They are also benefiting all users of the public roads, since all suffer when the roads are bad. The unnecessary use of heavy cars subjects the roads to a heavier burden, and it is for the good of all that the appeal is made to avoid such use of them in the early spring as would make them bad for the summer traffic. A great deal has been done in the past two years to improve the roads of New Brunswick, and much more will be done this year. It is important that all who use the roads co-operate to keep them in good condition. Our people have not yet developed sufficient interest in a matter of so great importance, but as improvement becomes more general and apparent the desire to conserve the roads will grow and spread among them. That is a condition greatly to be desired.—E. V.

EDITOR'S MAIL

Campbellton, April 22nd, 1919.
To the Editor of the Graphic:

We have read with interest the letters and your remarks re the Central Street subway and sincerely hope the matter will not be allowed to rest. I trust that the new council which I understand meets Thursday evening will take up the matter in a serious manner and endeavor to force the hand of the C. N. R. officials.

The subway is required and as a means of "safety first" should be erected this summer. The Central Street site is a most central one and which can be built at a reasonable outlay.

We hope to see some active steps taken in the near future.

Yours truly,
READER.

Campbellton, April 18, 1919.
To the Editor of the Graphic:

Dear Sir:—During a recent visit to Moncton I was favorably impressed with the charming little park on the river bank and the thought struck me that with very little expense our town's vacant lot on Water Street could be made very attractive. If it was levelled off I feel sure that the citizens would provide the trees and other requisites. I hope the new Council will look into this matter. It does not involve a large expenditure and would add greatly to the attractiveness of our town.

Yours truly,
TRAVELLER.

SUGGESTIONS REGARDING APPLICATION OF GROUND LIMESTONE

In hauling and spreading limestone it is of first importance to save time and labor. As a rule it is far more economical to purchase in bulk and have it shipped in box cars, although wetting will do no harm except to give trouble in spreading. Bags are expensive and easily damaged, and with tight wagon boxes they are wholly unnecessary. If bags must be used in handling limestone the purchaser should bag it when hauling from the car. As a rule the plan should be to haul the limestone directly from the wagon to the spreader and spread it once upon the land.

With a haul of two miles or less, and with two men, one boy and two teams, with three wagons and one spreader, 40 tons of ground limestone can be taken from the car and spread over 10 or 20 acres of land in three days, providing the roads and other conditions are favorable, or 30 tons can be removed from the car in two days, the last two or three loads being kept on the wagons and spread the third day if necessary. When the haul is longer one or more additional teams are needed on the road.

Soil Acidity and Basicity

The acidity of the soil consists of acids and acid salts; it may be organic or inorganic, natural or supplied. Organic matter, such as green manures, crop residues and farm manure, either immediately or ultimately, produces acidity in the process of fermentation and decomposition. Thus sweet immature corn makes sour silage; cabbage becomes sauer kraut; sweet cider ferments to vinegar, and sweet milk soon sours. The early fermentation of farm manure is usually alkaline, but later acidity develops. Chemically the opposite of sour, or acid, is not sweet, but alkaline or basic; and acids are neutralized by bases, some of which are strong alkalis, like caustic lime or soda (sodium hydroxide) and others mild alkalis, like ordinary limestone and dolomite. Acid and alkali can not co-exist in intimate contact than hot and cold water, for the one neutralizes the other; and to insure a supply of lime in a soil previously acid requires the addition of more limestone than is needed to neutralize the acidity present in the plowed soil.

The acidity is represented by hydrogen. Thus sulphuric acid (oil of vitriol) is hydrogen sulphate, H₂SO₄, and if one of the hydrogen atoms be replaced by potassium (caesium), the product is an acid salt, KHSO₄, which is hydrogen potassium sulphate, commonly called acid potassium sulphate. Likewise acid phosphate, which is used to provide soluble phosphorus, contains acid salts, H₂CaPO₄ and H₂Ca(PO₄)₂, chiefly the latter, the acid hydrogen being supplied in the acid sulphate used in the process of manufacture. Many other inorganic fertilizing materials tend to increase soil acidity, including potassium sulphate (K₂SO₄), potassium chloride (KCl, less properly called "muriate" of potash), and land plaster, which is calcium sulphate (CaSO₄). While these are naturally neutral salts, the basic element (potassium or calcium) is taken up by plants more rapidly than the acid radical, thus leaving the soil less basic or more acid. Ammonium sulphate, (NH₄)₂SO₄, also has this effect and in a double capacity, because the nitrogen in the basic radical, ammonium, (NH₄), is nitrified in the soil to nitric acid, and the sulphuric acid radical (SO₄) then requires some other base for its neutralization.

These are some of the fundamental reasons why commercial fertilizers cannot give the best results in acid soils, and why the proper use of lime increases the value of manures and fertilizers.

Testing for Soil Acidity.

Anyone can make a very satisfactory and trustworthy test for soil acidity with very little trouble or expense. Limes is an organic coloring matter which is red in acids and blue in alkalis, and sensitive blue limes paper is prepared by moistening absorbent paper with limes dissolved in a very dilute solution of alkali. This dried paper can be purchased in small packages of 25 or 50 strips for 10 cents, preferably in small glass vials for better preservation. (If it cannot be furnished by a local druggist, send 10 cents to the Southern Settlement and Development Organization, Continental Bldg., Baltimore, Maryland, and ask for a package of blue limes paper.)

For the test, make a ball of moist soil, break it in two, insert a strip of sensitive blue limes paper and press together firmly. After five or ten minutes open the ball and examine the paper. If it has changed from blue to pink or red the soil is acid. If the soil is moderately dry the change in color may appear only in spots, or greater pressure and more time may be required. The rapidity of change and intensity of color developed indicate to some extent the relative degree of acidity. It is very important to test the subsoil as well as the surface soil, for if the subsoil is strongly acid then the capillary moisture which rises in time of drought will tend to carry increased acidity to the surface, whereas if the subsoil contains lime the rising moisture will tend to neutralize the surface acidity and this may even save the life of such plants as clover during a critical period. If the blue limes paper is not redened, the soil may be either alkaline or neutral; that is, it may or may not contain limestone.

British Navy Too Modest

About Its Contributions Towards Winning the War

THE tradition of silence, that proud reticence which has always marked the British navy, has its drawbacks in war-time. It has been a good deal of misunderstanding on the part of the people both of Britain and her Allies, and there have been constant appeals in the British press that the naval authorities lift the pall of silence so that we may see what the great deeds are doing. That outspoken censor of British manners and methods, the editor of the London Truth, remarks:

"It is a pity that the truth about the astonishing efforts made by Great Britain in the war has not been published in America yet." So said Admiral Sims, of the United States navy, in London a few days ago. Coming so soon after Sir Conan Doyle's recent insistence on the overwhelming share of British troops in the operations of the last four years of the war—an insistence suggested by his observations on the western front—these generous words are not without significance. Seventy-five per cent of the British casualties have been suffered by troops from these islands—men who stood the brunt of the invasion of France and Belgium and saved the Channel ports. Admiral Sims points out that they have brought over two-thirds of the American troops, and that the British navy has escorted one-half of them. The navy may be silent, but it has in effect won the war—it is the foundation-stone of the cause of the whole of the Allies. Our persistent hiding of our light under a bushel has cost more or less of misunderstanding in every Allied country at one time or another, and without any departure from becoming modesty, it is right that the facts should be known.

Another influential London paper, The British Weekly, comments on the policy of the British Admiralty somewhat acidly, and after discussing the American admiral's figures with regard to transport and submarines, it proceeds:

"He mentioned that when, in April, 1917, America came into the war the Central Powers were winning with great rapidity. He then quoted a tribute to the British navy. 'If a catastrophe should happen to the British Grand Fleet, there is no power on earth that can save us, for then the German High Seas Fleet can come out and sweep the seas. The British Grand Fleet is the foundation-stone of the cause of the whole of the Allies.'"

"We must all echo Admiral Sims' regret that the official policy of silence has been so rigorously and so stupidly pursued. We must recently a distinguished man who has just returned from America after fulfilling the duties of a very important mission. He assured us that he was disappointed everywhere by the contempt with which the Americans regarded the British effort during the war. Men who should have known much better were fully of opinion that the British had left the main part of the fighting to be carried on by France. They had no conception of the work of the British navy.

These protests appear to have raised the proper section of the British Admiralty from its wonted somnolence, and it has issued an official summary of what the British navy has done during the war. It runs:

"In comparing the effort of Britain with that of her Allies, there is a tendency in certain quarters to discount the British contribution by pointing to the fact that these islands have hitherto enjoyed immunity from invasion. It is probable that these who hold such a view have failed to take into account the enormous sacrifices in men, money, and material which Britain has made, and is making, in defence not of her freedom only, but of that of the civilised world.

Personnel (officers and men), August, 1914, 145,000; August, 1918, 450,000. Tonnage employed in naval service, 2,500,000; August, 1918, 8,000,000. Mine-sweepers and patrol-boats, August, 1914, 12; August, 1918, 3,380.

"The 140,000 square nautical miles of the North Sea, an area larger than Germany, are patrolled incessantly in all weathers.

"In one month British warships proper, 1,000,000 sea-miles in home waters alone. In the same period the mileage of auxiliary vessels, including mine-sweepers and patrol-boats, was 6,000,000—250 times the circuit of the globe.

"British submarines have attacked successfully forty enemy warships and 274 other vessels. Over 150 enemy submarines are known to have been destroyed.

"Transport. Since war broke out the navy, with its auxiliary vessels, has been instrumental in transporting to the British armies and those of our Allies:

20,000,000 men (4,394 only lost by enemy action).

2,000,000 horses and mules.

500,000 vehicles.

25,000,000 tons of explosives and supplies.

51,000,000 tons of oil and fuel.

130,000,000 tons of food and other materials.

"During 1917, 7,000,000 men, 500,000 animals, over 200,000 vehicles, and 9,500,000 tons of stores were conveyed to the various fronts.

"Over 2,000,000 tons of dead-weight of British shipping are continuously employed in French service. Of this rather more than 1,000,000 tons are employed in carrying food and coal to France. About forty-five per cent of French and Italian imports are carried in British ships."

An Ad. Here Will Bring Results

Help the Y.M.C.A. Finish its Work For Soldiers

Help the "Y" Construct the Manhood that will Re-construct Canada

ALL the world now knows that the Red Triangle of the Y.M.C.A. was the "Sign of Friendship" to thousands of your brothers, sons, nephews, cousins and neighbours' boys in the last four and a half years. Wherever the Canadian Soldiers went, the "Good old Y" went too. And now it is coming back home with them!

For the support which has made possible the war work of the Y.M.C.A. we thank you. Your money has been well expended. We have rendered full account.

We ask now your continued sympathy and support for Red Triangle Service for our Soldiers during demobilization, and for Y.M.C.A. work for Canada generally during the Reconstruction period. The Annual Red Triangle campaign will be held throughout Canada May 5th to 9th, 1919. The objective is $1,100,000.

For Our Men Returning

For the soldiers and their dependents, returning from Overseas, we have provided as follows:—

1. A Red Triangle man on board every ship when it leaves Great Britain, with a full equipment of games, gramophones and records, music lanterns, literature and writing materials. Where possible, also a piano or an organ. Lectures, concerts, singing, instruction in Government repatriation plans, and Sunday Services.
2. Red Triangle comforts and facilities for the men on arrival at Halifax, St. John, Quebec and Montreal, including coffee stalls, with free drinks, free cigarettes, candies, etc.
3. Red Triangle men on every troop train to provide regular free drinks, cigarettes and cigars, organize games and sing songs, and furnish information.
4. Red Triangle free canteen service, information bureau, etc., at each of the 22 Dispersal centres in Canada.
5. Red Triangle Clubs in the principal cities of Canada in the shape of large Y.M.C.A. hotels to furnish food and board at low rates and to be a rendezvous for soldiers.
6. Seventy-five Secretaries to superintend Red Triangle service in Military Hospitals, Camps and Barracks throughout Canada.
7. Tickets entitling soldiers to full Y.M.C.A. privileges for six months at any local Y.M.C.A. furnished.

In addition to our work for the returning soldiers, we have college students and for our campaign to encourage physical and sex education. Under all our work we place the fundamental foundation of many Christians.

For Canada's Manhood

The Reconstruction program of the Y.M.C.A. includes the following vitally important developments:—

1. An increased service to 300,000 teen-age boys in the Dominion—the development of Canadian Standards of Efficiency training; Bible Study groups; summer camps; conferences; training for High School boys; for working boys, in the town and cities; for boys on the farm and for boys everywhere, who have lacked opportunity for mental, moral, physical or social development.
2. Inauguration of Y.M.C.A. work in the country, and the smaller towns and villages lacking Association buildings and equipment, on a plan of county organizations. This will include the establishment of Red Triangle centres for social, recreational and educational work among boys and men, in co-operation with the churches.
3. The promotion of Y.M.C.A. work among Canada's army of workers in industrial plants, both in Y.M.C.A. buildings and in the factory buildings, organizing the social spirit among the industrial workers of our cities by meetings, entertainments, games and sports.
4. The establishment of the Red Triangle in isolated districts where lumbermen, miners and other workers hold the front trenches of industry.

Besides these main fields of increased activity for 1919, we have to provide for enlarged work among young men, college students and for our campaign to encourage physical and sex education. Under all our work we place the fundamental foundation of many Christians.

Canadian Y.M.C.A. Red Triangle Campaign

$1,100,000 May 5 to 9

Canada-wide Appeal

For the wives and children Overseas, dependent upon Canadian soldiers, and for Y.M.C.A. work in Canada generally, a sum of $1,100,000 from the Red Triangle Fund will be set aside for the Dominion Council of the Y.M.C.A., which is caring for the soldiers' women folk, and their little ones on the long journey from Liverpool to Canada, and is also extending its work for Canadian girls.

For their sake also be generous when you make your contribution.

For the sake of our victorious soldiers and their dependents, and the happiness of their home-coming; for the sake of our future citizens, our teen-age boys; for the sake of rural life in Canada; for the sake of the social betterment of the toilers in factory and workshop; for the sake of lonely men and boys in our mines and forests; for the sake of Christian Society and Canadian manhood—we appeal to you. Give us your contribution, little or big. Be as generous as you can.

Hand your contribution to the canvasser when he calls, or if you live where it is difficult for him to recall, send it by check, money order or registered letter to the National Treasurer, Red Triangle Campaign, 120 Bay Street, Toronto.

Please Note:

We are not asking for money to carry on our work Overseas, with the Army in Great Britain, France or Belgium. That work will continue at its maximum for some months, financially provided for by the liquidation of our work Overseas, and will not terminate till the last man has sailed for home.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

Now, what good is the robin? Everybody knows the robin. A boy came along the road with a 22 rifle, saw a robin sitting there, and killed it. I went over and picked the robin up. Two cutworms were squirming on the ground; the robin had had them in his beak. I held the bird up and two more fell out of his mouth. Remember, one cutworm will cut down five tomato plants in a night. The cutworm does his work and then hides under the soil; Mr. Robin comes hopping along, picks it up and pulls him out—and turns him into a robin. If anyone tells you that a robin will destroy one hundred cutworms that it is true.—Jack Miner at the National Conference on Game and Wild Life.

British Manufacturers Are Now Fully Prepared For Peace Time Problems

Great Britain has been at work reconstructing its industry for the purpose of peace for a great many months. The ministry of reconstruction was established long before the end of the war was in sight and under the administration of Dr. Addison is now an effective machine. The primary incentive of British manufacturers in the past four years, next to producing the goods needed for the war, has been to reorganize their industry for the purpose of peace.

The war has destroyed forever the habit of refusing to make for himself anything he could buy on the open market. He is determined henceforth to be his own general provider so far as his resources permit. A few days ago Frederick G. Kellaway, M.P., Under Secretary of the Ministry of Munitions, speaking before the Industrial Reconstruction Council in London, pointed out the address on the British war-time preparation to break what has hitherto been the German monopoly in this market.

The war has revealed with pitiless accuracy, said Mr. Kellaway, the weakness of the British industrial system. Many of these defects have been pointed out by the war-time preparation to break what has hitherto been the German monopoly in this market.

Gas Warfare Among Savages. As is well known, the Germans were anticipated by some savage tribes in the use of poisonous gas for war purposes. Nature, it is said, has provided the Indians of the Amazon with a method of warfare which is a forerunner of the modern gas warfare.

A Woman's Mite. The poor woman's mite was well illustrated during the last week-end in the campaign in London. The story is told that while the Mayor of Shoreditch was standing on the steps of the town hall, a poor woman gave him a shilling to invest in war bonds. "It is all I have," she said, "but you are welcome to it to feed the runs and help the boys."

Bandaged Beyond Recognition. An ambulance had just discharged its load at a dressing station, and the patient was being taken to the hospital. The patient was a young man, and he was beyond recognition. He was a young man, and he was beyond recognition.

Many War Inventions. Since the establishment in July, 1915, of the British Board of Invention and Research, it had examined and reported on 22,000 inventions and proposals up to July, 1918. Of these about 35,000 related, it is said, to submarines and mines and to aerial ordnance, ammunition, and the like, the rest to aircraft.

Pointed Paragraphs. A long face is a poor advertisement. Faint praise will not obstruct a flow of words. Many a man's word is like an echo—merely hollow mockery. Even rough men can be gentle when they meet a real woman. "Let me take your check," is the most popular after-dinner speech.

COAL RESTRICTIONS. GRIVED FATAL ORDER

In Olden Days Contributors to the Smoke Nuisance Were Hanged. The most ancient of nations with regard to the use of coal would have seemed very odd to our ancestors. The use of coal for domestic purposes was not known until the 14th century. The use of coal for domestic purposes was not known until the 14th century.

The Need of India. The Englishman has never made his home in India. He has been a conqueror, but he has never been a conqueror. He has been a conqueror, but he has never been a conqueror.

For the Noble Dead. This is the purpose of the war. It is the purpose of the war. It is the purpose of the war.

Duration of Parliament. The maximum duration of a British Parliament, formerly seven years, is now five. The so-called long Parliament of Cromwell's time lasted from Nov. 4, 1640, till April 22, 1653. During Queen Victoria's reign eight Parliaments lasted over five years and two over six years.

Chaplains Use Army slang. This little tale came to my ears while we were gathered about a log fire, so that its authenticity is open to question. A British trooper in France, anyway, it runs its brief course this way. Two chaplains who had been doing a long turn up front and were both pretty well used up were talking things over. "Doctor, I'm just about all in. Guess I'll have to go S.O.L. for a couple of days."

India Supplied 958,574 Men. The following figures referring to the Indian army have been given out. Strength of army at the outbreak of the war, 239,561. During the war 1,161,789 were recruited, of which 757,747 were combatants. The number of men sent overseas was 553,374, of which 33,951 were killed, 5,000 were wounded, 59,294 were wounded and 9,092 were taken prisoner. The majority of the casualties were suffered in Mesopotamia.

Suffering. "Didn't that peace demonstration upset your nerves?" "Completely. I'm suffering from yell shock."

"Our opponents have always got a flippant answer ready," said a congressman in an argument. "They're like the waiter in the cafeteria."
