The scarcity of cement is holding up many works in Ontario. The scarcity, it is said, is due to the lack of coal for the cement manufacturing plants, and many have closed down entirely until matters are restored to normal condition. All the cement or the province, except for rare cases that are absolutely necessary to be finished. Only one cement company is turning out cement just now on account of the lack of fuel, and orders for roads as well as buildings have been cancelled.

M. Flammarion, the famous French astronomer, attributes the present turmoil among nations as the result of a "fever" on the sun. A Paris paper quoted him recently as saying: "The sun is displaying a prodigious activity at this moment. It is in fever, and this fever has a repercussion on the earth and an influence on the brains of men." The astronomer said further that he was convinced inter-stellar communication will not be accomplished, though he believes it will not be brought about by light rays, but by some as yet concealed magnetic force.

MISS SADIE LETHBRIDGE DIES

Sad and Unexpected News Received From China by Her Parents.

Miss Sadie Lethbridge, daughter of J. G. Lethbridge, M. P. P., and Mrs. Lethbridge of Glencoe, is dead at Honan, China, where she had been engaged in mission work for six years, according to a cablegram received by Mr. Lethbridge last Thursday morning. It was not known that Miss Lethbridge had been ill and the news of her death was a great shock to parents and friends here.

Miss Lethbridge was one of a party of nurses for whom the late Dr. Menzies gave his life recently while defending the mission station at Honan from an attack of bandits.

The late Miss Lethbridge was quite young and was well known here by Mr. Ekfrid, where she spent her early days. She was planning a trip home from China when she had completed another year of work there.

DEVELOPING FLAX INDUSTRY

The development of the flax industry in Western Ontario was considered by the growers of the district at a conference held in London last week. It is claimed by the growers that the present annual acreage of about 20,000 in Ontario could be expanded to 300,000 if a successful pulling machine could be developed. Much interest attaches to the operation of a machine that has been brought to Kent county after satisfactory trials in South Carolina. The machine, it is stated, does the work of about 35 hand pullers, harvesting seven acres a day. The cost per acre for hand work is now about $20, while the machine reduces the bill to $7.

DEATH AT CRINAN

Miss Agnes McEachren Passes Away at Home of Her Brother

The death occurred at the residence of her brother, Wm. McEachren, Crinan, with whom she resided, Thursday afternoon, of Miss Agnes McEachren, aged 62 years, after an illness extending for several months past.

Miss McEachren was a daughter of the late Archibald McEachren of Glencoe and resided here for a number of years. She was very much esteemed by a large circle of relatives and friends.

The funeral took place on Saturday, the attendance being very large. The service was conducted at the residence of 222 Main St. by Rev. C. and Stalker, after which the remains were interred in Oakland cemetery.

MAY OBTAIN COAL FAMINE

The Grand Trunk Railway is now receiving 600 cars of coal a day at Niagara Falls, and the officials are working feverishly to keep the coal moving to consumers. The latter are said to be co-operating in a splendid manner and cars are not being delayed at any point. If the present movement keeps up for a few weeks the danger of a coal famine in this part of Ontario next winter will be obviated.

SELLING SHEEP AND HOGS

Clandeboye, Aug. 3.—Already the low price of wool is having its effect. Whole flocks of sheep are being sent to market, and the farmers are quitting a game that no longer looks profitable. The sheep industry was never any too popular in this vicinity and this set-back will make sheep a rare animal soon.

The hog population is also diminishing as farmers are not anxious to feed hogs on dear grain even with live pork at $20 per hundred. It is apparently just as profitable and vastly easier to sell the grain and let somebody else raise the porkers.

WILL DRILL A DEEP WELL

Many oil men believe that the big production at Petrolia came from a much lower horizon from which the oil had migrated to a point within four hundred feet of the surface. Geological conditions at most of the shallow wells throughout Western Ontario are similar to those found at Petrolia and there has been a persistent belief that new sources of supply will be found in the lowest sedimentary beds.

The Herbert well, in the township of Zone, near Thamesville, was the greatest single well outside of Petrolia. Its flush production was 1,500 barrels per day, and though this was over twenty years ago it is still yielding oil. It is on the west side of the two wells recently brought in by the Inland Oil and Gas Company. The Oil and Gas Producer, however, hold the lease of the Herbert well. They also have a lease of a considerable area adjoining the Inland, on the east. On one of these parcels it is their intention to drill a deep well. A drill to the depth of 3,500 feet would pass through the whole of the sedimentary series and would seem to have an excellent chance to strike oil in quantity.

ARCHIBALD McLELLAN DEAD

Was Strathroy Old Resident and Building Contractor

The death occurred at his home in Strathroy on Friday, July 30, of Archibald McLellan, one of the oldest and most esteemed residents of that town, in his 88th year. Mr. McLellan was born in Argyleshire, Scotland, and came to Canada with his parents when he was about four years of age, the family settling on land on the town-line between Caradoc and Lobo. After spending some years on the farm Mr. McLellan moved to Strathroy and engaged in business as a contractor and builder, living there for 52 years up to the time of his death. Some of the houses in Glencoe were built by him and he was well known throughout the western part of the county.

Besides his widow, he is survived by four sons: Alexander, Glencoe; Duncan, Williams, Arizona; James, Victoria, B. C.; and William, Strathroy; also three daughters: Mrs. A. McVicar, Glencoe; Mrs. R. P. Elliott and Miss Margaret, Strathroy. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, with interment in Strathroy cemetery.

WRIT ISSUED

Elliott & Moss of Glencoe, acting for Mary and Howard Watterworth of Moss township, have issued a writ in the supreme court at London against Henry G. Moore, a Moss farmer, for damages for obstructing a road or right-of-way on a range north of the Longwoods road in Moss township, reserved for a road by James W. Watterworth in a certain conveyance to Elijah Watterworth, dated April 1st, 1878, and for an injunction restraining defendant from obstructing said right-of-way. Further, the writ asks for a mandamus commanding defendant to remove from said road all fences, gates, buildings or other obstructions placed thereon by him.

THE RED MENACE

The sweep of the Red armies over Poland begins to assume an ominous aspect. While they kept within the borders of their own country, fighting numerous insurgents, the world at large gave little heed. The popular attitude was "Let Russia look after itself." But the Poles are defenceless now, apparently, and the armies of Lenin and Trotsky may capture Warsaw within a week. If they do so, it means that a Soviet Government will be established in Poland, and that the sinuous arms of Bolshevism will reach into Austria and Germany. The German diehards will lose no chance of using the Bolshevik threat to cut club on the Allies, to compel moderation of the peace terms.

If the Allies had not virtually abandoned their war machine the situation could be met. But the policy of occupation on the Rhine, some seven hundred thousand men, is needed there, to 100,000 Allied soldiers could be thrown into the Polish line, no doubt the Red advance could be checked. But these soldiers are not there, and cannot be sent there in a hurry. Even if a new war is necessary, to compel the Reds to evacuate Poland, Britain will have to bear the chief burden, and the weary Motherland revolts at the suggestion of more war, to save the Poles, who could not leave well enough alone. Evidently the Soviet Government does not propose to enter into negotiations with the Allies for a general peace until it is in a position to threaten the Allies themselves. Moscow wishes to get into direct touch with Western Europe. Then it will do the dictating of peace terms, not the Allies. There does not seem to be much use in dealing with the Lenin-Trotsky crowd as if they were gentlemen, and possess the honor of gentlemen. Their word is mere wind. As with the Germans, force is the only thing they appreciate. But the situation in general is so ominous as to cause much alarm in London and Paris, for the whole peace settlement so laboriously worked out, is being undermined, and Europe may be thrown into a new convulsion. Much of the blame of the present situation falls on the French military party. This party encouraged the Poles in their campaign against the Russians, because it believed an aggressive attack would overthrow the Bolshevik Government. Against the advice of London, the Poles began the attack. Now they are in danger of losing the independence they received only a few months ago. They are demonstrating themselves as unfit to have independence, because they did not know enough to control themselves, and adopt a safe, peaceable policy.

Premier Lloyd George has mountainous difficulties on every side. The Irish trouble, the maintaining of peace and order in Mesopotamia, Egypt, India, labor upheavals at home, the overburdened state of the Treasury, and general unrest, give him a giant's task. He has little time for domestic matters, because the overwhelming howl of Red danger to Europe, combined with Germany's recalcitrance, may bring on a new war almost as big as the one just closed. To get a safe settlement without more fighting is his aim, but chances are not good.—Mail and Empire.

FATE OF POLAND IN THE BALANCE
Britain Orders Evacuation of All Civilians Without Delay.

Warsaw, Aug. 2.—The feeling in Warsaw to-night is very well reflected in the fact that all civilian subjects of Great Britain have been ordered to leave Poland before Monday evening. Legations of other foreign countries have come to the same general estimate of the situation, and their people are now being evacuated as speedily as possible.

It is feared that the foreign colony here might be caught in the eleventh hour panic which nearly always attends a Bolshevik occupation. There is much talk both of the improved Polish resistance and the possibility of an armistice, but upon these points the best informed observers are decidedly sceptical.

Those foreign officials who are most in touch with the immediate Polish situation and who are best informed as to the extent to which the armistice lines are laid down by Lloyd George have been violated, believe that the safety of those for whom they are responsible depends upon their speedy departure.

The Polish general staff intercepted a wireless from the Russian headquarters at Moscow Sunday in which the Russian armistice delegates were instructed to delay negotiations for four days to permit a decisive Red victory. There is no news from the Polish delegation, except the bare fact of its arrival at the armistice front.

Vice-President Daszynski, of the Polish Cabinet, to-day declared "that the Entente must rush aid to Poland at once, as her existence is menaced."

Recruiting in Britain For Canadian Police
A despatch from London says:—Commissioner Perry, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is in London and is seeking 500 recruits for the proposed enlargement of the famous force. It is understood an arrangement may be made whereby English Public schoolboys will be available as recruits, the attraction of getting a foothold in the new land being a strong one. It is also probable the life will appeal to ex-members of the Royal Irish Constabulary.

BRITAIN LOANS GERMANY $25,000,000
Better Way of Securing Coal Than by Military Means, Says Premier.

London, Aug. 2.—The vote for an advance of $25,000,000 to Germany, in connection with the Spa coal agreements, came up to-night in the House of Commons. It is not seriously challenged and was agreed to without revision.

Labor members welcomed in the proposition what they characterized as a sensible change in the Government policy toward Germany, and a practical revision of the unworkable Versailles treaty.

In the course of his speech in defence of the plan, Mr. Lloyd George said the proposition for securing coal was much better than sending a large, costly army for it. He argued that Germany must pay her debts either in gold or goods. She had no gold, he declared, but coal was the equivalent of gold, or even more usable.

"However," added the Premier, "Germany is unable to produce sufficient coal, while her population is unfit and ill-fed. Hence she must be helped."

"There is no doubt about the condition of Germany. We have impartial representatives there, who report the people are not receiving within sixty or seventy per cent. of the food they consumed before the war."

Rain Extinguishes Nova Scotia Fires
Amherst, N.S., Aug. 2.—Forest fires which burned over two hundred acres of timber land at River Hebert and Maclean, were practically extinguished by a heavy fall of rain Sunday night.

Canadian Wheat Sought by Egypt and Greece
A despatch from Ottawa says:—Greece and Egypt are in the market for wheat and flour. The former wants 18,000 tons, and Egypt a maximum of 300,000 tons. Greece seeks a Canadian credit to finance her purchase. Egypt has also asked quotations from Australia, and has been advised that one will be given only in a couple of months. As there is no longer wheat control, the inquiries have been referred to the grain dealers. There is no longer provision for financial credits, which expired automatically last December.

Provincial Franchising Privileges Abolished
A despatch from Ottawa says:—In accordance with an amendment to the Post Office Act passed during the recent session of Parliament, the department has abolished what have hitherto been known as Provincial franchising privileges. Postmasters are instructed not to accept mail franked by the members of Provincial Legislatures.

German Mine Menaces Shipping on Atlantic
A despatch from Philadelphia says:—Somewhere on the surface of the Atlantic between the Delaware and Chesapeake Capes a dangerous mine is drifting, a menace to coastwise and foreign shipping. The mine was planted in the coast waters by German marines on the occasion of their surprise visit in 1918.

Double watches are being maintained day and night on all ships by men using powerful glasses endeavoring to catch a glimpse of the death-dealing contrivance.

Poles Suffer Enormous Losses.
Paris, Aug. 2.—A message received to-night through diplomatic channels, states that the Polish casualties, when published, will astonish the world. The proportion of killed and wounded to the total number involved exceeds that of the bloodiest battles of the World War, which explains the reluctance of the Poles to publish their casualties, it was declared.

CANADA TO HAVE NEW COAT OF ARMS
Examined by College of Heraldry, Approved by His Majesty.

A despatch from Ottawa says:—The design for the new Canadian coat-of-arms has gone to the College of Heraldry. The procedure is somewhat involved. After approval by the Canadian Government, the design goes to the College of Heraldry, where it is possible some minor technical changes may be suggested. Subsequently formal approval is given by the King-in-Council on instructions issued to the Earl Marshall, who is head of the College of Heraldry.

The new coat-of-arms bears the device, "A mari usque ad mare" (from sea to sea). It is taken from the singularly appropriate line in the 72nd Psalm: "He shall have dominion from sea to sea."

Approval of the coat-of-arms was the last act of the Borden Government.

THE PRINCE IN AUSTRALIA

C.P.R. PASSENGERS, TRAIN HELD UP

Bandits Passed Through Cars Taking All Money on Board.

Calgary, Aug. 2.—Three men, who are described as foreigners, held up at Sentinel, near the British Columbia boundary, the conductor and passengers of the C.P.R. train running from Lethbridge through the Crow's Nest Pass shortly before 6 o'clock this evening. They suddenly appeared with guns, and passed through the passenger cars leisurely, taking all the money they could abstract from passengers. It is not known how much money they got, but the conductor had a considerable amount of money on him.

The three men were passengers on the train from Lethbridge, and are known to the police. They are Calgary men and are amateurs.

The hold-up was conducted while the train was running and as the train slowed up around the mountain curves near Sentinel, the robbers jumped off and made their escape. The train was in charge of Conductor Sam Jones, of Cardston, and Engineer Alexander. The engineer knew nothing of the affair until the train reached Sentinel.

The mounted police of all the towns between Lethbridge and Fernie are on the trail of the robbers, and the people of Coleman, Blairmore and other places are also joining the chase.

The capture of the bandits, it is felt, will be a matter of a few hours. There was a fairly large number of passengers on the train.

REDS HOPE FOR ARMENIAN DOWNFALL
Turkish Insurgent Chief Continues Fight With Greeks.

A despatch from Constantinople says:—The Bolshevik army operating from Baku through Armenia took Coucha, 264 miles southwest of Baku, virtually unopposed, as well as Gersusy, 24 miles southwest of Coucha, the next important town on the wagon route to the Tahriz railway.

In Baku the Bolsheviks are training a large Armenian Communist army to assist in the overthrow of the Armenian Republic.

British warships have seized a Russian ship from Nikolaiev at Trebizond carrying Bolshevik arms and ammunition for the Nationalists. Many rumors are in circulation in Constantinople with regard to a possible Greek movement through Samasun toward Angora for the purpose of cutting Nationalist communications with the Bolsheviks.

All is quiet in Thrace, save for artillery and counter battery work. The Turkish insurgent leader, Djafar, has been silenced many guns of the Greeks. However, Greek reinforcements continue to land on the Sea of Marmara coast and march overland to Luleburgas. Djafar has been vainly appealed to to surrender and avoid useless bloodshed.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS MADE PRISONER BY IRISH REBELS

Detachment Surprised and Captured Near Keimaneigh—Several Persons Killed in Clash Between Military and Irish Followers in County of Limerick.

A despatch from London says:—The 24-hour lull in hostilities in Ireland was broken when Sinn Fein forces surprised and captured a convoy of Government troops near Keimaneigh. The lorries in which the troops were being conveyed were burned and the entire detachment of men marched off into the mountains. The convoy was proceeding from Millstreet toward Ballynagar when taken.

In daylight fighting between the military forces and Irish Volunteers in Bruney, County Limerick, on Thursday, one soldier and five citizens were killed.

Volunteers held up the soldier guard of the Bank of Ireland in Dublin at 11 o'clock Thursday night. Shots were fired. Two of the soldiers were wounded. The others were disarmed.

The Westmeath police barracks were burned Thursday night.

In south and west Ireland where the police were driven out weeks ago and are centered now only in larger towns, new disturbances are being in league with the police, called

"anti Sinn Fein gangs" are beginning to appear.

In Bantry, County Cork, they have burned a large establishment belonging to a Protestant Unionist, but staffed by Sinn Feiners. In the village of Newport they have burned two creameries. In Ballylender they burned a store. The total night's damage is estimated at $200,000. They are a new terror to the country in parts which lately were comparatively tranquil.

The resignations of Irish Police are increasing, and exceed an average of five daily. Presumably with a view to encouraging the break-up of the police force Sinn Fein headquarters has issued an urgent recommendation that police resignations would be welcomed.

It has added to the fund which is being provided to assist cases of special hardship. The clubs are directed to encourage the men to resign. Recruitment for the police greatly exceeds the resignations, however, but the recruits are coming from every class of Irishmen, being obtained by advertisement from England.

SYRIAN MONARCH LOSES CROWN
General Gouraud, Victor at Damascus, Issues Proclamation.

A despatch from Paris says:—Emir Feisal is no longer King of Syria. The French Foreign Office announced on Thursday that he was not.

General Gouraud, who has captured Damascus, Feisal's Capital, has issued a proclamation stating that the Emir from now on is a private citizen, and, furthermore, that Emir has been invited to leave the country with all his family. Syria has no new King yet, but it has a brand new Ministry, hand-picked by Gouraud, which has accepted all the French conditions, including a fine of 10,000,000 francs upon Damascus and the vicinity.

The French now appear in a position to administer their mandate over Syria, which they hold under the League of Nations, just as the English have the League mandate in Mesopotamia, although the minutes of the League Council's meeting will probably be found utterly barren of any record of either affair.

Feisal has not been heard from since Gouraud's troops entered Damascus. He owes the French $80,000,000 francs they paid him "to feed the hungry Syrians." However, a considerable portion of this money has been received in munitions seized at Damascus, where Feisal stored much of his "food for hungry Syrians."

North British Columbia Catch Expected to be Big.
A despatch from Vancouver says:—Reports received here from the Fisheries Inspectorate indicate that the catch of fish in the North will be large this year. The run on sockeye in Smith's Inlet is good; and elsewhere sockeye catch is working out well. On the Skeena River the run this year is reported better than any time in the last five years, and the average pack of sockeye per cannery is quite a bit ahead of last year to date.

French Chamber Rejects Spa Agreement
A despatch from Paris says:—Premier Millerand suffered the most serious setback of his premiership on Thursday, when the finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of fourteen to twelve, rejected the Spa agreement, which provides that France should pay Germany 200,000,000 francs for coal.

Spa Agreement Ratified by Reichstag
A despatch from Berlin says:—The Reichstag, by an overwhelming majority, approved the agreement made recently by the Government at Spa with the representatives of the Entente.

LINK CANADA AND THE WEST INDIES
Aerial Service Planned by New Syndicate.

A despatch from London says:—The linking up of Canada with the West Indies by an aerial service is reported to be the ultimate object of a syndicate which has been formed by a group of British firms for the promotion of civil flying in the Bermudas. According to the reported plans of the syndicate the route will be from a point in Nova Scotia to the Bermudas, and thence to all the West Indian Islands, to British Honduras and to Demerara.

The company is said to be planning for a series of flying stations at suitable points in the West Indies. Arrangements are almost completed for making a start at Trinidad, the most important British island in the south of the group, and one within easy flying range (260 miles) of Georgetown, the capital of Demerara. Similar plans are being pushed forward with regard to the Bahamas in the north of the great circle. It is likely that if the scheme is developed according to the present plans, the syndicate will operate a regular passenger and mail service.

Eastern Canada Has Heavy Spruce Seed Crop.
The Commission of Conservation has received reports from a number of points in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick indicating that this is an exceptionally heavy seed year for white spruce in eastern Canada. There promises to be a good yield of white pine seed as well. Last year there was practically no spruce seed in eastern Canada. Heavy seed years for spruce and pine usually occur only every fourth year, therefore those who wish to collect the seed should take advantage of the abundant crop this year.

White spruce seed ripens in September and the cones should be collected just before they open. If picked too early, the seeds will be immature, and if left till the cones open, the seeds will have dropped out.

The increasing attention being given to reforestation has developed a large home market for tree seeds. In addition to the various governmental and commercial nurseries, several of the pulp companies, including the Laurentide, Abitibi, Spanish River and Riordon, have nurseries. There are also good markets in the United States and Great Britain for Canadian tree seeds. Hereofore, the nurseries on this continent have had to depend largely on European seed, owing to the limited amount of native seed collected. The European seed has not been entirely satisfactory for our climate and hardy native stock is preferred when obtainable.

During the last few years the demand for tree seeds has always exceeded the supply and this spring $10 per lb. could be secured for white spruce seed. This, however, is exceptionally high, $5 being considered a reasonable price. The cost of collecting and preparing the seed for the market varies with the local conditions, but in a good seed year it should not exceed $2 per lb.

Discovers Part of Historic Mayflower
A despatch from London says:—The Daily News announces that Dr. Rendel Harris, noted Quaker, has discovered part of the original timbers from which the Mayflower was built, in a barn at Old Jordans, Buckinghamshire. The owner of the barn at the time of the departure of the Mayflower, is said to have owned a quarter share in the vessel.

Airplanes Carry Food to Troops in Ireland
A despatch from London says:—Provisions were taken by airplane on Thursday to the English troops stationed in Dunloe, County Kerry. The move was made necessary when it was found impossible to get food to the soldiers in any other way, due to the holding up of supplies on the railroads by the Sinn Fein.

Racial Antagonism Acute in India
A despatch from Bombay, India, says:—The Indian situation is becoming graver, and there is daily danger of a general outbreak. The debate in the House of Lords on the Amritsar decision has accentuated racial antagonism, and seditious utterances are widespread throughout India.

BUILD UP THE SMALL TOWN

It is high time that all of us paid more attention to the building up of the little town and less to making the overgrown city larger. The little town is home—or should be. It needs our support, and we are the people who must give it life and power if it is to have either. The big city cares nothing for us. It will if it can pull our dollars away and lure our boys and girls into its whirlpool, but that is the only use it has for us. The little town needs us and we need it. Hall's Corners may not make as large a dent on the map as New York, but it really means more to us, and we ought to help make it something to be proud of. Why not get over the idea that the bright future of America lies in the great cities? It does not. The future which lies in the cities is shopwork, smoked, dirty and unclean. The true future lies in the country and in the little towns. Back them up and make them grow.—Rural New Yorker.

HOME INFLUENCE

It is useless to go on talking the old platitudes about the home and keeping young people out of the streets. The home influence and training is more needed than ever, but it, too, must be adapted to the needs of the times. It must be a training for independence. We must give up our belief in restriction and punishment as the cure for our social evils. We must learn to believe in life. It is the desire for a full and free life which is at the bottom of so much of the wild and foolish conduct of the young. What we have to do is to provide channels for the expression of that life, not to repress it. We cannot keep the young out of the streets; we should not wish to do so, but we can make the streets safe for them; we can see that the places of recreation in which they find vent for their superfluous energy or their desire for a fuller experience of life are kept sweet and wholesome. Our aim should be to make a full and free life possible for all, in the streets and places of amusement as well as in the homes of the people.—Fortnightly Review.

TRADE UNIONS.

Were Once Illegal But Are Now Very Powerful.

Only a hundred years ago it was a crime to belong to a trade union in England.

It was not until the year 1824 that this system was put an end to. Even then it remained a penal offence to "molest or in any way obstruct another person for the purpose of inducing such person to belong to any club or association or to contribute to any common fund."

It was not until 1871 that the first Trade Union Act was passed, and that unions were able to register as friendly societies.

At once sixty-six unions registered themselves; their property was legally vested in trustees, and in their names a union could sue or be sued, while it could proceed summarily against any persons who embezzled or misappropriated its funds.

Since that date never a year has passed without the adding of new trade unions to the constantly-growing list. The largest number registered in any one year was in 1889, when there were sixty-five; the smallest in 1884, when only twelve were registered. To-day the number of trade unions in Great Britain exceeds seven hundred.

There are unions with memberships running into hundreds of thousands, and with branches extending all over the kingdom; there are little unions that are hardly ever heard of, with but a score or so of members. Some years ago the Cabinet Makers' Federation of London had actually got a bill introduced in the House of Commons, while the Paper Stainers' Union, a very ancient one, had only fifty.

Other small unions are those of the barometer and thermometer tube-blowers, and of the tin canister and preserved provision case makers.

There is probably no trade or industry which does not boast a union of some sort. For instance, keepers of London coffee-stalls, those useful institutions where the night worker can always find refreshment, have their own association. So, too, have the dock watchmen, about whom Mr. W. W. Jacobs writes so delightfully.

There is even a union of "street sellers and pedlars," and a "Street Traders' Brotherhood." The oldest trade union in existence is said to be that of the United Society of Brush Makers.

Lancashire has more unions than any other county in the kingdom, and second in point of numbers comes the County of London.

Odd Case Stirs England

FREDERICK ROTHWELL, HOLT, ex-lieutenant of the British army, is in Manchester Prison, under sentence of death for one of the most brutal murders in the history of English crime.

The brutality of the crime, however, is not what makes it worthy of more than passing notice. The real problem is: Did the war metamorphose Frederick Rothwell Holt, making a Mr. Hyde of one who had been a Dr. Jekyll?

Before he went to war Eric Holt, as he was generally known, was a quiet, industrious, rather retiring young man, a university graduate who went from school into an engineering position, to which he devoted his time faithfully. He had a private income that more than sufficed for his simple needs.

It was a different Eric Holt who returned from France. An English writer of the "before and after" character of the lieutenant: "Socially Eric Holt belongs to the big middle class group who live comfortably in well-built houses, surrounded by well-to-do people, and most of his thirty-one years was spent at Lytham, where he was educated at a first-class private school.

"There was nothing in his boyhood days mark him out as being abnormal—he appeared to be just a healthy lad of temperate ambitions. "Later he became apprenticed to a large firm of engineers at Preston. When he became of age he inherited what in former days was considered a very good income from his mother. The sum has been put at £300 per annum, but those who have a more intimate knowledge of his affairs aver that it was considerably in excess of that amount. At any rate, it was sufficient for Eric to live a life of ease and have what is called a good time.

"There you have the picture of Eric Holt at the age of twenty-one. "After the war, which for a time left him an invalid, there appeared a subtle change. He flung himself into a life of gay—dancing and pleasure-seeking filled his life. He was the gay Lothario and made a triumphal progress among his many women acquaintances. They loved his wit and laughter; they listened upon them was a thing to be desired and sought after.

"Clean and well groomed and with smiling gray eyes that seemed to look at you with honest good humor from a heart that hides nothing that is not for the world to see—such was the impression that Eric Holt gave as he was known to his many friends at Lytham, St. Anne's and Blackpool.

"Color, romance and the society of women became like the breath of life to him. They were essentials and the desirable things for him during this period. The soberness of ordinary, commonplace life was not for him. Commonly you would see him, from sheer exuberance, pick his dancing partner up—he was passionately fond of dancing—and whirl her in the air.

"He had a 'way' with women which made him irresistible to them, so that one woman, disappointed with what life had given her, sought consolation in this remarkable young man.

"That woman was Mrs. Elsie Breaks."

The verdict of the jury was that Holt murdered Mrs. Breaks. Her body was found in the sandhills near Manchester.

"According to the evidence, Mrs. Breaks, who was infatuated with Holt, and called him her "superman," was lured by Holt on an excursion into the country and there shot and beaten to death.

A motive for the crime was found in Holt's desire to rid himself of an affair of which he was tired, and the more substantial desire to profit from an insurance policy carried by Mrs. Breaks. Holt and Mrs. Breaks were engaged, and Holt suggested that each of them take out an insurance policy. She agreed, and Holt obtained a policy for her of $20,000, which was far in excess of her ability to carry. He paid the first and only premium paid it.

Then Holt persuaded Mrs. Breaks to make a will in his favor, saying he would do the same for her. He had a lawyer draw up an alibi as well as a plea of insanity. The real contest was over the mental responsibility of the prisoner. His counsel offered the life of Holt before and after his war service as proof that he was insane. Experts testified that Holt was a victim of delusions. A letter written by Holt to Mrs. Breaks a few days before the murder was apparently that of a man deeply in love, and this was cited as proof that Holt either did not kill the woman or was insane when he did so.

On the other hand, the prosecution asserted that only a sane man could have planned such a crime and carried it out with such cleverness.

The trial attracted immense throngs, most of the spectators being women. Their curiosity so enraged Sir Edward Marshall-Hall, Holt's attorney, that he denounced them in a speech, saying:

"It makes one feel sick for the femininity of this country that women should come in their dozens lay by day and gloat over the trouble of a man on trial for his life."

The jury, after considering the case less than an hour, found Holt guilty. Holt stood calmly as the sentence of death was pronounced upon him, and at the conclusion of the judge's remarks he turned on his heel, thrust his hands in his coat pockets and walked briskly back to his cell.

WOMEN AND THE FRANCHISE

The municipal franchise for women is a more complicated matter than either the federal franchise or the provincial franchise, the latter two having no property complications. However, for the municipal franchise men and women have to have exactly the same qualifications. Property owners to the amount of $400 in cities are assessed, and of course have a vote. If husband and wife are joint owners of property in a city to the amount of $800 each has a vote.

If a husband and wife are joint tenants of property in a city to the amount of $800 each has a vote.

Property owners in towns of over 2,000 population to the amount of $300 are assessed and have a vote. If husband and wife in such a municipality are joint owners of a property to the amount of $600 each has a vote, and if joint tenants of a property valued at $600 each has a vote.

Property owners in a town under 2,000 population to the amount of $200 have a vote. If husband and wife in such a municipality are joint owners to the amount of $400 each has a vote, and if joint tenants of property to the amount of $400 each has a vote.

Property owners in a village or township to the amount of $100 have a vote. If husband and wife are joint owners in such a municipality to the amount of $200 each has a vote, and if joint tenants in such a municipality of property to the amount of $200 each has a vote. A man or woman assessed in any municipality for an assessed income of $400 or over has a vote.

CHRONIC INDIGESTION

A Much Too Common Trouble
With Farm Horses.

Usually Due to Faulty Condition of the Teeth—Symptoms Described—Prescriptions and General Advice as to Treatment—Cultivation of the Hoof Crops.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

CHRONIC indigestion, or indigestion without engorgement, is caused by improper food; imperfectly masticated food due to the process of dentition or irregularities of the teeth, voracious feeding, irregularity in feeding, debility, or partial inactivity of the digestive glands.

Symptoms.—A capricious appetite, often a tendency to eat filth, usually increased thirst, the animal becomes hide-bound and has a dry scaly skin, irregularity of the bowels, general unthriftiness, dullness and more or less well marked inability to perform work. When caused by imperfectly masticated food, the cause can usually be told by the appearance of the feces. Colicky pains are sometimes present an hour or so after feeding. The animal has a general unthriftiness and lacks vigor.

Treatment.—As a large percentage of cases is due to inability to masticate properly, the mouth should always be carefully examined. If the teeth require attention and the owner has neither the necessary instruments nor the skill to correct the fault he should take the horse to a veterinarian. In horses about three years old the trouble is very often due to unshed molar crowns, Nos. 1 and 2 in each row. In a horse about four years old No. 3 in each row. These crowns can be easily removed by the use of a pair of small tooth forceps or a pair of pliers. In older horses the trouble is very often due to sharp points or projections of tooth substance on the outer edge of the upper molars or the inner edge of the lower ones; to a long tooth that requires shearing, or other mouth trouble that can be corrected only by an expert with the necessary instruments. When the fault is not in the mouth, and the patient be not too weak, a purgative of 6 to 8 drams aloes and 2 drams ginger should be given.

In all cases where a purgation is to be given, and prompt action is not necessary, it is wise to prepare the patient by feeding bran only for 18 to 24 hours. In all cases after the administration of a purgative, the animal should be given rest, and bran only to eat until purgation commences, which is usually 18 to 24 hours, and sometimes longer. When the animal is not too weak, a second dose, a little smaller than the first should be given.

After the bowels have regained their normal condition, mix equal quantities of iron, ginger, nutmeg, iron, gentian, ginger, nutmeg and bicarbonate of soda, and give a tablespoonful three times daily. Give food of good quality in small quantities, and as digestion improves gradually increase the quantity, until the desired amount can be fed.—J. H. Reed, V.S., O. A. College, Guelph.

Cultivation of the Hoof Crops. The Hoof Crops in Ontario are made up principally of corn, beans, potatoes, turnips, mangels, and carrots. These crops occupy fully one million acres annually. During the past few years the area used for corn has increased, that used for potatoes has decreased, and that for mangels has remained practically the same. In the case of corn, the quantity of seed used has increased, and the quantity of seed used has increased, and the quantity of seed used has increased.

All the root crops here referred to do well after seed, especially after clover. It is generally well to have the land ploughed in the early autumn. If manure is available, the land could be worked before winter, manured and placed in narrow ridges about thirty inches apart. This enables the farmer to work on the subsoil between the ridges, and preserves the fertility in the ridges themselves. Land prepared in this way works splendidly in the spring when brought into the case of potatoes, it is much better to manure in the autumn than in the spring, and it is frequently recommended to manure even for the crop previous.

Flies torment cattle badly. The use of a good fly repellent means extra trouble, but it also means extra gains or extra milk.

Horses appreciate a drink during a long half day on the binder. Horses in condition rapidly and willingly with beer or flies.

Young calves will make best gains when housed during the day, and on fresh pasture at night.

Use carefully fed, freshly threshed grain may bring on digestive troubles with stock, particularly horses.

A look at the best in live stock at one of the larger fairs will tend to fix in your mind the approved types.

HOW TO KEEP FARM HELP

Guelph, Aug. 2.—One of the members of the rural leadership school is W. Martin, a successful Huron county farmer, who was asked to give the school his experience of hired help on the farm. Mr. Martin said he worked on the principle: "Not to supplant a man by asking him to do two men's work. Arrange the work so as to get the maximum amount of work from a good man. By systematizing the work, having good stock and good implements, the help will respond and do his best."

He urged the doing of everything possible to lessen the fatigue of adding to the comfort of the men while working. In his experience all theorizing about hired help had fallen down unless brought to the line of dollars and cents. Mr. Martin is paying his man at the rate of $1.15 a year. Mr. Martin was questioned quite extensively and answered reely and readily.

It is estimated that about 30,000 men will be required to work as Farm Laborers to assist in harvesting the crops in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.
