FIRE FOLLOWS IN WAKE OF THE STORM; HUNDREDS DEAD AND DAMAGES ENORMOUS

A Large Section of Nebraska's Capital Is In Ruins Today as Result of Tornado Cutting a Wide Swath Through City-Troops Ordered Out to Prevent Looting-Several Villages in the Vicinity Wiped Out.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Omaha, chief city of Nebraska, storm-wrecked and perhaps burning, was so effectually cut off from the rest of the world this forenoon, that only meagre estimates of the death list and damage could be obtained. Brief dispatches early this morning, forced through by devious routes, indicated that several hundred persons perished and hundreds of others were injured. Special trains and troops are being rushed to the scene, and the telegraph companies are making every effort to restore communication.

Early last evening an equinoctial gale of varying intensity, began sweeping through the Missouri Valley and the Middle West, leaving ruin in its path. At least six states sustained heavy damage. Terre Haute, Ind., reports a death list there and environs which may reach 50. Towns in Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri were shaken.

Wire communication with Omaha was broken shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, and since that time what few dispatches crept forth came over a single railroad telegraph wire which remained intact. That the city and suburbs sustained great damage seemed certain. One of the latest dispatches, received via Lincoln, described the path of the tornado as being "80 miles long and from 4 to 6 blocks wide." United States troops from Fort Omaha were immediately called out, it was said, and the stricken zone put under martial law.

The National Red Cross has volunteered its services for the injured, and Governor Morehead, of Nebraska, left Lincoln early today personally to assist in the relief work. Railroad bridges were down, however, and train schedules demoralized. Hysterical passengers arriving at Lincoln from Omaha were unable to give any connected account of the disaster except to say that the residential portion of the city suffered most.

TWO HUNDRED KNOWN DEAD; MORE BODIES IN THE RUINS

Omaha, Neb., March 24 .- (Via telephone via Lincoln)-Governor Moorehead, Mayor Dahlman and Police Commissioner Ryder stated at noon today that at least 200 were killed in yesterday evening's storm here. Reports from Council Bluffs were to pinned in the wreckage, from burning to the effect that four more bodies had been recovered from the death, as electric wires and lightning fired several parts of the debris.

The list of injured is expected to reach seven hundred. Many have been found today in the homes of friends where they took refuge after the storm.

[Canadian Press.]

Omaha, Neb., March 24.-A tornado swept through Omaha shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, cutting a path three to six blocks wide and eight miles long, causing an appalling loss of life and immense destruction of property. Hundreds of buildings were destroyed, and up to 10 o'clock last night it appeared that at least a hundred had been killed and thrice that number EFFORTS MUST BE MEASURED injured.

HUNDREDS KILLED.

Chicago, March 24.—The first dispatch received direct from Omaha reached here at 5:10 a.m., and stated that hundreds of people were killed and injured by a cyclone that circled cities of Omaha and Council Bluffs at 5:40 p.m. last night. All telegraph and telephone wires blown down.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Chicago, March 24.—The Nebraska state troops have been the city for funds to assist in carry ordered out by the governor to preserve order and prevent looting at Omaha. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and the Rock Island roads, are preparing special trains to be sent to Omaha carrying physicians and nurses.

TORNADO CAME FROM WEST ZIGZAGGED ACROSS THE CITY

Lincoln, Neb., March 24.—One hundred are dead, twice as many more were injured, some fatally, by a death-dealing tornado which devastated Omaha and its environs early last night. STATEMENT TO W. G. SHEPHERD BY LILLIAN LENTON, AN ENGLISH SUFFRAGETTE

[By William G. Shepherd.] London, March 25 .- "Are the English suffragettes preparing to commit murder in order to win the vote?"

I have just returned from the bedside of Lillian Lenton, London's newest, prettiest, wildest suffragette-the girl who was released the other day from Holloway prison because contracted pleurisy when jail officials tried forcibly to feed her soup through her nose. I asked Miss Lenton this question—of whether we may expect assassinations at the hands of women -and here is what she said to me:

"We women are growing very des perate here in England. The rest of the world does not even guess the problems we are facing. We must have the vote if we are to preserve the decency and morality of the English race. We must have it at any cost—even at the cost of human life! "I have entered into a pledge to help

Many hydro users complained today that their lights were intermittent for an hour or more Sunday General Manager Glaubitz, lowever, stated that the interruptions throughout the city were not serious. The explanation was given that many of the wires on the local transmission lines are sagged as a result of limbs of trees blowing across them on Friday. The sagging wires swaying closer together than they should, but not touching, give trouble in dry weather, but the dampness of Sunday night formed an atmospheric connection between the wires, in this way short-circuiting some of the lines.

To avoid repititions of the trouble in damp weather the wires will have had taken off 43 passengers from the

LUMBER MERCHANT SHOT BY BURGLAR

After Desperate Battle in the Dark.

MARAUDER ESCAPED

Provincial Police and a Doctor Sent to Assistance of Wounded Man.

Orillia, March 23. - In a desperate struggle with a masked burglar, before 1 o'clock tonight, Allan McPherson, one of the bestknown lumbermen in the country, was shot in the thigh, and so badly wounded that he may not recover. The burglar escaped. Mr. McPherson lives at Longford Mills, across the lape from Orillia, with his two adopted children. His is a handsome residence, and as he is a man of considerable wealth it is thought that the burglar surmised that he would make a rich haul.

Word of the shooting was sent to Mayor Goffatt, of this town, who at sent Provincial Constables Wright and Holmes, with Dr. Harvie, to the scene of the attack, which is several miles from Orillia by road. The mayor also notified Superintendent Rogers, of the provincial police, by telephone, but was informed that the superintendent had no man to send to Orillia on Monday morning. Burglar Had Rifle.

Details of the shooting are not all to hand. It is thought that Mr. Mc-Pherson heard the burglar in his house, and upon going down stairs to investigate was met by the cracksman, who was a short man with a red handkerchief tied over his face, concealing everything but his eyes. The man carried a large rifle which he pointed at Mr. McPherson, and threatened to shoot if he was not

> [Special to The Advertiser.] Owen Sound, March 23.—That the wreck and ruin of Friday's gale will aggregate nearly half a million dollars in losses is the estimate formed. The damage to farm buildings is more extensive than in any previous gale, and from every quarter come long lists of wrecked and damaged barns. In town the industrial buildings have suffered to a greater extent than first reports would indicate. The new building of the Canadian Malleable Iron Company had its gables blown in and the roofing ripped off or punctured by falling debris. Two thousand dollars will not repair the damage. The Canadian Heating and Ventilating Company's loss will be equally heavy, the roof from the main building being ripped off and scattered over a wide area, while the other sections were perforated by flying boards and timbers. The group of factories just north of Eighteenth street escaped with a few the stacks being blown down. The Galbraith Company's planing mills had the roof torn off and wrecked.

A HEAVY LOSS.

The worst damage was done to the big four-story factory of the North American Furniture Company, on the west side, where the whole east wall was blown out as though an explosion had taken place. The damage to the building was accentuated by the opening of the sprinkler system of fire protection, and the damaging by water by several thougsand dollars' worth of case furniture.

A chimney on the First Methodist Church was blown over and crashed through the annex containing the organ loft and parlors, leaving a badly wrecked structure that will cost several hundred dollars to repair. At the Queen's Hotel a large kitchen chimney fell through the ceiling of the diningroom, and throughout the town this was the experience of scores of ouses. New York, March 23 .- Ten sufferers rom tuberculosis, who were inoculated Monday by Dr. Friedrich F. Friedman, declared at a clinic yesterday that their health has improved since receiving treatment: Before entering the clinic, Dr. Friedman authorized an announcement that two weeks hence he will return to Germany for a brief period to complete unfinished laboratory tests. He will were return to the United States, hopeful tha blown down in Harrison's Park, and by that time the Government health authorities will have recognized his vac cine as a cure The visiting specialist consented to an nterruption of his demonstration today ong enough to have Dr. John W. Brannan, head of Believue Hospital, the city institution where the clinic was held, question patients treated five days ago. Government physicians, private practi tioners, 50 nurses and about 100 students of the Bellevue and Cornell Medical Colleges were present. Nine of ten patients reported they gained from three-quarters of a pound to four and one-half pounds since Mon-day. None had been troubled with night sweats since Wednesday. None suffered with hemorrhages since Tuesday. None had pains since Thursday, and from stronger" generally.

Twenty-three sufferers were treated today. Eighteen have pulmonary tuberculosis, and other affection of the bones. There was a 2-year-old child with an arm so swellen that Dr. Friedman could physician injected his vaccine in the jugiar vein and again intramuscularly on the legs. Dr. J. S. Atkinson, a physician of Marionette, Wis., who walked miles through the snow to reach a railroad station on his way east, was refused admittance as a patient of the clinic today. Dr. Fried-man was anxious to treat his fellowphysician, but the tuberculosis committee of the hospital ruled against it on the ground that Dr. Atkinson is not a resident of this state. He is preparing to return home unless the Bellevue authori

WARSHIPS IN CANADA.

Our local contemporary professes to quote from this journal as having been favorable at one time to the building of warships in Canada.
When has The Free Press or any Conservative journal or leader delared against the building of warships in Canada?

That is a different matter entirely from undertaking the building

Winston Churchill is authority for Dreadnought-building plant. Mr. Churchill said also that four years would be consumed in making ready the plant. Add three years for the building of a warship of the first-class, and we have seven years gone before we can be ready to give effective aid. Is this the policy that our contemporary advocates?-London Free Press. The Free Press begs the question from beginning to end. It professes to see a distinction between building warships and building Dreadnoughts. The Dreadnought is a battleship, and for some years past no other kind of battleship has been built in any coun-Free Press had Dreadnoughts in mind when it said in its issue of October 15, 1909:

THE BALKAN WAR.

Prospects of peace in the Balkans now appear brighter. The powers have proposed what seem to be fair conditions, when the Turkish rally and the approach of Bulgaria's farming season are considered. It is hardly to be ex- pumps? pected that either Turkey or the allies will haggle further.

In the matter of territory, Turkey will lose, by the powers' arrangement, nearly nine-tenths of her former 66,500 Make the reorganizers of the empire square miles in Europe, Albania becoming practically independent and the rest going to the allies. She will retain the rich and populous strip southeast of a line joining Enos on the Aegean to Midia on the Black Sea, along the Dardanelles, Sea of Marmora and Bosphorus Strait, about 50 miles wide and 150 miles or so long, including Gatlipoli Peninsula, and of course Constantinople. Adrianople goes to the four Balkan Allies, who will have as a means of purifying his tastes, deepabout 40,000 square miles of mainland ening his feelings, broadening his symto divide among themselves. ### WHAT CANADA CAN DO.

We have built three transcontinental ailways, breaking rock for the roadway, rossing mighty rivers, threading a difficult and dangerous path through mountainous passes Where is the weakling or the coward who says we cannot do on sea as much as we have done on land? The building of battleships is only a part of the vast enterprise which professed no such misgivings. As Mr. in naval armaments may cease, but if so have in view for Canada. The mad race ur mighty enterprise will not be abandpassenger ships. We will put life and will be given a chance to work out own materials, by our own labors, which has access to sea, or lake, or madevigor into every community in Canada as it is before many changes are people, any necessary provision for floats, and we will be satisfied with nothriver. The wrench was not serious and prompt attention hastened the recovery.

It was learned today that Chance is suffering from an attack of lumbago. Doc Barrett is specializing on the "peerless leader's" back and hopes to have him ready to take the field again within the week. Chance is otherwise fit to play. His underpinnings have not bothered him in the stightest and when he overcomes his troublesome back, Chance expects to play regularly.

"You have known John North for All his life.

"All his life."
"Had you seen him recently?"
"I seen him Thanksgiving Day along about four o'clock crossing the Square."
"How was he dressed, dld you notice?"
"He was dressed like the man in the alley—he had on a black derby hat and a dark brown overcoat."

glanced up from "Their Wedding Journeys by life, and then the coroner announced the verdict.

North heard the doctor's halting words without at once grasping their meaning. A long moment of silence followed and then a man coughed, and then another; and another; this seemed to break the spell, for suddenly the room buzzed with eager whisperings.

North's first definite emotion was one of intense astonishment. Were they mad? But the faces turned toward him expressed nothing beyond curiosity. His glance shifted to the official group by the table. These gord-natured, commonplace men, who, whether they liked him or not, had invariably had a pleasant word for him fensantly took on an air of grim aloofness. Conklin, the fat, jolly sheriff; the coroner; Moxlow, the prosecuting attorney, in his baggy trousers and sea-shining coat—why, he had known these men all his life, he had met them daily! What did they mean by suspecting him? The mere suspicion was a monstrous wrong! His face reddened; he glanced about him haughtily.

Now at a sign from the coroner, Conklin

Now at a sign from the coroner, Conklin placed his fat hands on the arms of his chair and slowly drew himself out of its depths, then he crossed to North. The young fellow rose and turned a pale face toward him. "John," said the sheriff gently, "I have an unpleasant duty to perform."

In spite of himself the pallor deepend on North's face.
"I understand," he said, in a voice that was low and none too steady.

During this scene Moxlow's glance had been centred on North in a fixed stare of impersonal curiosity; now he turned with quick, nervous decision, and, snatching up his shabby hat from the table, left the Neither spoke until they came to the Court House Square.

"We'll go in this way, John," said the sheriff in a tone that was meant to be encouraging, but failed.
They ascended the court house steps and went down the long corridor to the rear of the building. Here they passed out through wide doors and into a narrow yard that separated the court house from yard that separated the court house from the jail. Crossing this sandy strip they entered the sheriff's office. Conklin paus-

Then without further words he led pushed it open. "I guess this will do, John," he said. North stepped quickly in and glanced about him. The room held an iron bedstead, a wooden chair, and, by the window which overlooked the jail yard and basin and pitcher.

"Say, ain't you going to see a lawyer?" asked the sheriff. "He may be able to get you out of this; you can't tell—" "Can you send a message to young Watt Harbison for me?" interrupted North.

"Certainly, but you don't call him much of a lawyer, do you? I tell you, John, what's the mat. of a lawyer, do you? I tell you, John, you want a good lawyer; what's the matter with Marsh Langham?"
"Watt will do for the present. He can tell me the one or two things I need to know now," rejoined North indifferently.
"All right, I'll send for him, then."
"The chairff quitted the room closing and

In all the wars of the last century and a half how fewhave been for the lasting benefit of mankind. The aftermath of the Crimean war, immortalized by Tennyson in "The Charge of the Light Brigade," is seen in all the horrible atrocities which the Turks telegraph lines are down, and commun-Gertrude have been permitted to inflict on an unarmed people. How is it that Gen. Wauchope, with his company of 1,300, when cut off almost to a man, was not immortalized? Oh, well, those Boers were a sort of undisciplined eody with no military training. We are convincingly told that being prepared for war is the best security for peace. This is what Germany has een doing ever since the Franco-Russian war compelling every citizen to give the best of his years to militarism. Is it any wonder that dog-meat is an article of diet? Are our militarists aiming at that here. Germany received from France more than one thousand millions of dollars, the two provinces of Alsace and Loraine. Yet France today is in a better inancial footing than her former foe. # BORDEN'S CLOSURE BILL READY AND FIGHT FOR FREE SPEECH WILL BE LONG AND FIERCE Opposition Not Wishing to Block Business of Country Will Permit Passing of Interim Supply This Week-Battle Over Rules to Begin Next Week Govt. Decides to Drop Continuous Sittings for the Present.

Hill is well-nigh deserted, and there will likely be only a slim House here at the present juncture, when a great on Tuesday. Notice of the proposed not be allowed to pass without strenchange in the rules making closure possible, will, no doubt, appear on the order paper at an early day, but the ly be solved by an appeal to the counamendments may not be pressed immediately. There is every reason to believe that an interim supply vote will be passed this week. This vote, of course, cannot become effective until the return of the Senate on Thurs-

The coming week will therefore be devoted to the supply bill and concurrence, and to a general discussion of the proper interpretation of the rules of the House as they now exist. The fight over closure, which will be a long-drawn-out and bitter contest, will hardly commence before Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Closure Bill Drafted.

Premier Borden has a closure bill the drafted, similar to rules for the restriction of debate adopted in the British House in 1902. The closure clause of these rules reads as follows: "After a question has been proposed a member rising in his place may claim to move that the question be now put, and unless it shall appear to the chair that such motion is an abuse of the rules of the rights of the minority, the question, 'that the question be now put,' shall be put forthwith, and decided without amendment or debate"

The adoption of such a rule in the Canadian Commons would, of course, enable the majority to shut off debate at any time, regardless of the will be no more physical endurance right which each member now has to contests,

Ottawa, March 23. - Parliament | voice the views of the electors he represents before any vote is taken. Needless to say, such a radical change constitutional issue is at stake, will uous protest from the Liberal representatives in the House, They believe that the naval issue can only proper try after the passing of a redistribution bill, and the fight for this will be firmly continued when Parliamen reassembles on Tuesday.

> Interim Supply Vote. Within a few days the Government will be in urgent need of supply to carry on the administration. After March 31, unless the Opposition consents to an interim vote, the Government will have no funds available to carry on the public service and proceed with public works, etc. Liberals, however, have no intention of unnecessarily holding up public business other than the naval bill. It is understood that an interim supply bill sufficient to carry on all the or dinary business of government, pay salaries of civil servants, etc., will be passed without objection. This will enable the Government to carry on the administration at least until the end of May, and give time for passing of a redistribution bill and the holding of an election if Premier

Borden so decides.

The Liberals recognize that the King's Government must be carried on, but at the same time the passing of an interim supply vote for special purposes will not deprive the Opposition of their present strategic position in regard to forcing an election if the Government still refuses to drop the naval bill. In return for an interim supply vote the Government has agreed no to again keep the House in continuous session for days at a time. There Suffragettes Attempt To Break Up a Laborite Conference at Manchester.

London, March 23 .- The suffragette leaders did not venture to hold a meeting in Hyde Park today, where they had re ceived rough treatment on previous Sun days. They were very wise in this re spect, for there was a big crowd awaiting them, and it seemed bent on taking more violent measures than had hitherto beer taken.

"It is a good thing that the suffragettes did not appear," said one police officer. "This crowd is an ugly one." And there were many indications that he was right A few men in the crowd who spoke it favor of the suffragettes were roughly handled and chased out of the park. # USE LESS VEAL AND GET CHEAPER BEEF

Thinks Slaughter of Inmature Animals Makes Prices Stay Up.

Although the high cost of living seems to be in the same class with peretual motion, electrification and other pectres that rob men of sleep, a Londoner, who refuses to be made known as an authority on veal, or a prodigal son, had a new one for the suggestion ox this morning,

"My idea is that one of the great actors in the high cost of living is the beef animal," he said. "At the present time there are thousands of calves killed in this district before they are a year old. If they were permitted to ive for another year there would be gain for each animal of at least 200 ounds, and the cost of steaks would me down. You have to pay a pretgood price for a real good steak

"My advice to the people would be to stop eating veal. The results would be to lower the cost of roasts and

"The condition of the wire service indicates that the storm is radiating from Omaha a great distance in every direction," said a Western Union wire chief today. "Wires are down between Omaha and points north as far as St. Paul, as well as in every other direction." Great alarm is felt here for Omaha, because of a dispatch that the mayor of Omaha had asked for state troops to prevent looting. A great disaster is feared, but no authoritative accounts could be had from any source. At 2 o'clock virtually every telegraph and telephone wire into the offices of the telegraph companies and press agencies had failed.

The tinue to arrive, but it is reported that remains are being brought here and Miss Shedd made her choice some sibly arrange to do so should also plan. sibly arrange to do so should also plan to keep a few hens. People have some-times said to me, when I have preached the doctrine of the back yard: "But. Mr. Babson, we haven't any back yard." Then I tell them to use the front yard. Down in Maine there is a very attractive summer home which sets far back from the road, and the whole front yard, icres of it, is one field of corn, with the driveway running through the centre; if we had more of such homes you would hear less about the struggle to make both ends meet. The average front yard is not only land wasted, but oftentime labor wasted, too, in trying to give this land a smart and fashionable appearance; we need fewer lawn-mowers and more wheel-barrows!

Now I realize that for some of my readers these suggestions are next to impossible: people who live in the heart of our cities and can't or won't move must continue to pay the penalty. The penalty is buying food, a large part of which you could just as well raise yourself, at very little cost, in greater abundance and often of much better quality and condition. These families are carrying an intolerable burden, and I am astonished that they carry it so well as they do. It is my belief that if one half the courage, careful management and sacrifice needed to support life in the city were put into a garden somewhere in the suburbs these families would find life a good deal easier and happier than

My real counsel is to those who easily could have a henhouse and a garden, but lack the gumption. The wife wonders what the neighbors will think, and the husband wonders whether he wouldn't rather sit on the porch and play with the dog's ears than set out tomato plants, and be-fore he knows it the summer is gone and no garden. But the cost of living is still with us, and, roused by some unusually heavy expense, the determination is made anew not to stand it any longer.

The only way, therefore, to really get started is to start now and get interested. Write for catalogues of seeds, garden implements, poultry paraphernalia; dig into these and make all your plans and do your figuring; talk with all the gardeners and poultrymen you can find; in other words, get warmed up on the

You ask me-if that is the sure way to become healthy, wealthy and wise-why, then, are not more people following this plan My answer is that more people are following it every year, and on this fact depends the ultimate prosperity of our nation. The fate of this country doesn't rest with Parliamentnever fear that!-but with the millions of capable men and women who are able to support themselves, truly support themselves by actually raising their own food on their own land with their own

"SAVING" AND "MAKING" MONEY

John D. Rockefeller is reported to have advised some young people that the way to get rich is to save their pennies. I don't know whether Mr. Rockfeller really said it, but it sounds like him. Or, rather, it sounds like all rich men who forget that YOU CAN'T SAVE WHAT YOU HAVEN'T GOT.

For a lifetime I have been connected with banking and I have most profound respect for the great principle of saving. It is nothing short of miraculous to see how a small bank account rolls up like a snowball and is presently a small fortune.

But we have had drummed into our ears so often the virtues of SAVING money that I thought my readers might be interested in a few suggestions for MAKING money, and let us now turn to that more pleasant topic .- ROGER W. BABSON.
