MANY SPORTS AT PARK

Official Announcement of Order of Formation and Route To Be Taken.

The Labor Day celebration on Monday next promises to eclipse all former records, and from present indications it will be a decided credit to the Trades and Labor Council, Scores of features will be presented, and as this holiday is one of the very few spent at home by Londoners it should be largely attended. One of the striking features will be the parade. For some time this has been abandoned, but this year the council decided to have one. The different unions, and the businessmen as well, have entered enthusiastically into the matter, and there will be a large number of decorated wagons and floats.

FOR CITY COUNCIL

Considerable Business of Import= ance To Be Considered Tonight.

The city council will have a considerable budget of business at its session tonight. Mayor Beattie will call its attention to several matters of importance about action which will have to be taken in the near future. One of these is a civic plant for asphalt and cement work of all kinds. His worship has gathered a great deal of information on the subject, and is decidedly of the opinion that establishment of such a plant will be of untold benefit to the citizens generally. The other question will be that of the admission of patients to the

It is stated on the best of authority that consumptives from the county of Middlesex and contiguous counties, which have no agreement with the health association, have been coming to the city with the purpose of getting admitted to the institution as city patients. These patients will not be cared for by the municipality, and Mayor Beattie is anxious that a limit to the time of residence be placed on such patients. Then there is the question of more room for the electrical department. With the near approach of Niagara power, more room is necessary. worship had a consultation with Acting Chairman Pocock, of the water commissioners, and they have decided that the arcade could be practically closed, and sufficient room made to take care of the electrical department for some time at least. The board of works will be asked to consider this

In addition there are other matters of importance to come up, debatable questions, too, that should give the orators plenty of scope for their dis-play of their powers. It looks like a long session.

HUMAN SKELETONS IN CALIFORNIA CAVES

Early Natives of Commonwealth.

Berkeley, Cal., Sept 2.-During the convention of the Paleontological Society at the University of California everal interesting papers were read on excavations of California kaves, showing that human bones had been discovered in several of them. One of the best known authorities on such matters is Professor J. C. Merriman. During the course of investigations within the last five or six years many interesting discoveries have marked the efforts of Professor Merriman and former is authority for the statement that in no instance, however, have any specimens been discovered which can be said to be of quaternary age, buried during the present period.

In referring to the occurrence numan remains in Mercer's cave in Calaveras County, and in the Stone Man Cave in Shasta County, Professor Merriman says they were discovered under conditions which certainly suggest a considerable antiquity. "In skeletal remains were found in proximity to the bones of a quaternary ground-sloth," says this authority.

"The bones of both sloth and man were incrusted with a deposit of talagamite, the incrustation on the sloth bones being considerably thick-er than that on the human remains, nd it is not probable that they were ouried at the same time."
"The remains in Stone Man Cave were discovered in a remote gallery of this extensive cavern. The greater number of the bones were imbedded a layer of stalagamite, which enveloped them to the thickness of one-eighth of an inch or more. A vertebra which was obtained many rears ago from this locality is found to have lost most of the organic material and the cavities are largely filled with calcite crystals. Dr. Hawver, for whom Hawver Cave derives its name, made the statement that during his explorations of that cavern he found a number of human bones twenty feet below the surface under a mass of cave earth, fallen rock and soil over twelve feet in thickness

MEANS TO REFORM GERMAN MANNERS

Simplified Salutes for Men One Thing Proposed—Movement Strongly Opposed.

London, Aug. 31.-A movement for the reform of certain social usages is on foot in Germany. The reformers say that German manners are far too formal and ostentatious. They object particularly to the customary method exchanging salutations on the street. According to the unwritten law of the land two German gentlemen who are acquainted greet each other by removing the hat with a sweeping ceremonious gesture.

In Baden some days ago a society was organized especially to discourage this practice. The members are pledged to greet their men friends by simply touching the rim of the hat in a sort of military salute. How much opposition the reformers will have to overcome if they are to be successful is shown by the case of an official of the finance ministry of Hesse-Darmstadt. As a loyal member of the society he declined to greet his superior official, the finance minister, in the customary fashion, and used the more democratic "German greet-ing" adopted by his fellow reformers. Although the society numbers 1,000

TALK OF EXTENDING THE INTERCOLONIAL

Project Seems a Long Way From Being Carried Out-No Appropriation for Survey.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Sept. 2.—Reports that sure eys will be made looking to the extension of the Intercolonial from Montreal are without very substantial foundation. To make such a survey would take a lot of money, and none was voted for the purpose by Parliament. It has not by any means been decided that Parliament will next session be asked to vote money for such a survey. The extension would cost a very large sum of money, and the line would have to be built through a country already well served by railroads.

The Government, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier has said, has all the big works under way it can comfortably take care of, and when the National Transcontinental Quebec bridge and Hudson Bay Railroad are disposed of, there is the enlargement of the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals, and the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal

TICKET-OF-LEAVE LUNATICS.

The Merkt murder in Toronto has called public attention once more to the care of the insane. The limelight has been shifted from Dr. English to "Lancashire Life and Character": Dr. Clarke, the superintendent of the tic how many harmless (?) inmates of father, if living," and "Age of mother, if his institution are allowed to make living." visits to their homes outside the walls. were they?" queried the astonished clerk Unlike some officials, who resent being asked awkward questions, Dr. Clarke has frankly and courteously replied that from twenty to twenty-five patients are allowed ticket-of-leave in order that they may make brief visits any damages to that man you ran over. to their homes. This admission has stirred up the good citizens of the Queen City; even the police are uneasy. A CONSCIENTIOUS DECLARATION. Inspector Duncan exclaims, "Just think of crazy men walking the city streets!" He shudders with apprehension, and until April, and from August until Decity have added one more variety to their list of night fears.

It is a possibility that a supposedly gentle lunatic might suddenly become dangerous and homicidal in his desires; the Merkt case proves that, but a certain type of New York millionaire. such a development is very rare. We cannot remember a similar murder, that it will go on a screen. Paul Bourget and it would seem a genuine hardship told the world about that. And I heard if the asylum authorities had to shut the other day another thing about him. up for the rest of their days a number the three-million dollar palace of one of of inoffensive, weak-minded people. these millionaires. The gentleman stopped Inspector Duncan and the citizens of before an enormous mirror and said: Toronto ought not to become panicstricken. All the crazy people in the city are not incarcerated in the asylum, and there is as much danger from majordomo, he said: 'Don't let the chilsudden outbreaks on the part of the with, Maurice." seemingly sane as of the gentle victims of aberration and hallucination.

At the same time the public ought to demand extreme carefulness on the be scared into stupidity part of the asylum doctors. SIR JAMES WHITNEY LIBELS CANADIANS.

"Blazing indiscretion" is a mild phrase to describe Sir James Whitney's comments on imperial preference. He has had the audacity to inform the British public through the columns of The Standard that Canada will break away from the Empire unless the motherland satisfies our greed for gain by granting us commercial favors in the way of preferences. Sir James even went so far as to say: "We want something done; something has got to be done, or the Empire will be a recollection." Wasn't this a fancy phrase to in England and by their correspondents issue from the Whitney mint? The British Empire "a recollection"! But it British Empire "a recollection"! But it maries of certain utterances by English was a phrase that arose from the editors, one who did not know the coninflated Premier's heated brain. We are ditions in this country would imagine that sure that all Canadians, irrespective of party, will hold a wrathful "recollection" of this insensate speech. What comes for a revision of the tariff that revision shall be downward and not uptain of us as a nation if, as Sir James would have them believe, we are willing to sell our patriotism for "a handful of silver," for the sordid consideration of a preference? No one in Canada is worrying about any such thing. We are getting along beautifully without any protection, and if England him the wisdom of caution. should decide to remain a free trade country there would be no protest from this country, and our love for her and our devotion to the Empire would remain just as leal and true as ever.

No such silly speech has been made in England by a visiting Canadian in many years, as this illustrious specimen of vocal nonsense. We protest and will be acceptable to the majority of that a great injustice has been done to the people of Ontario by their leading representative. If any whippersnapper underling had uttered these words of dictation to the British public it would have been bad enough, but farmers into Canada. We are told periodically that the Maninever will be settled until it is settled right. One thing is sure, however-it is settled so far as Ottawa is concerned. The present Liberal Government at Ottawa will never entertain any proposition looking to the re-opening of this issue; and when a Conservative Government ceeds to power, as it doubtless will some time within the next twenty years, it will be equally decided in its refusal to stir up this particular hornet's nest. The accuracy of this forecast will not be challenged by anyone conversant with political affairs.

The Story of John Brown

[From the Chicago Record-Herald.]

rokokokokokokokokokokokok When former President Roosevelt stands before the gathering of Kansans and guests from other states at speaker, his words will be listened to with more than ordinary interest by the whole nation, as well as by those within the sound of his voice. For there is yet a division of opinion about the attitude that history should take toward the man whose raid on Harper's Ferry arsenal in 1859 did more than anything else, perhaps, to precipitate the civil war. In the south something of bitterness has been expressed that Col. Roosevelt should be willing to take part in a celebration which is in honor of the would-be liberator of slaves.

Brown was born in Torrington, Conn., May 9, 1800. One of his ancestors, Peter Brown, was a passenger in the Mayflower; from other forbears he had Welsh and Dutch, as well as English, blood in his veins. His father was a tanner, and the son learned that trade, after a short period of study for the ministry. The family in 1805 removed to Hudson, Ohio, and there John Brown married early, becoming a householder at the age of 20. He was successively a land surveyor, a speculator in land and a wood dealer. In 1849 he retired to the Adirondack wilderness, to become a farmer at North Elba, the town in which his dust now rests, and in which a colony of negroes had been established by Ger-

From his father John Brown acquired enti-slavery sympathies, and as a boy he became a passionate adherent of While living in the abolition cause. Ohio, and later while postmaster at Randolph, Pa., he aided fugitive slaves and formed several crude projects for making violent warfare on the slaveholders. For several years he lived at Springfield, Mass., and there formed his "Virginia plan," which was back of his Harper's Ferry raid, for establishing an armed camp in the Allegheny Mounains as a refuge for fugitive blacks. In October, 1854, five of Brown's sons settled in Kansas, on claims about nine miles from Osawatomie, and the father followed the next year. It may be pertinent to remark there that in one respect John Brown merits the unqualified approval of former President Even the brightest boy in the class can Roosevelt. He had twenty sons by two history probably records no more striking example of selfsacrificing attachment of a family to the idea of its head. Brown's sons, twelve of whom grew to maturity, were devoted to their father's ideas, and two

TALES FROM ARABIAN NIGHTS

The Sixth Voyage of Sindbad the

After resting for a whole year, I decided to try my luck once more. My usual bad luck was evidently with me, for we had scarcely gone a day's journey from Bagdad when a strong current swept the ship from its direction and wrecked it at the foot of a large mountain. When I regained my senses, I saw that a clear river ran into the very centre of this mountain, into a deep cavern that was black as midnight. Round about me was strewn the wreckage of our ship, and I set to work and made a strong raft therefrom, loaded it with some valuable merchandise, and placed the raft in the river and myself on the raft, giving my life to the mercy of the current. Everything around me Boon became black, and sometimes the arches were so low that they almost touched my head. For days I went on, until sheer weariness made me fall asleep. When I awoke I was floating quietly down a stream with green banks on either side and people watching me with great curiosity. They marvelled greatly at my escape, and took me to their king. He greeted me kindly and said that he was on the eve of giving a feast, at which he wished to have some unusual entertainment, for kings of powerful neighboring kingdoms were coming to see him. Such a story as mine, he said would be just what he wanted. After the great banquet I, clad in gleaming blue and silver, was presented to the company and urged to relate my story. The company were much interested, and, thinking to please my benefactor, the king, I began to tell my earlier adventures, until everyone was listening breathlessly -kings, court ladies, attendants, even

FOR RENTERS.

The German Society for the Prevention of Noise distributes lists by which those wishing to rent flats or houses may discover just how noisy a place it is. If there is no noise the number and street appear on a list of a certain color, while lists of other colors contain the addresses of those houses where a little noise may be expected, and still another is classiled as very noisy by the color of the list, and landlords no doubt do everything in their power to keep their houses off these lists.

Surgeons Likely to Perfect Sure

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2.—There is a good prospect, it is believed, that leprosy will lose its terrors as an incurable disease. The surgeons of the public health and marine hospital service have succeeded in cultivating the germ outside the human body. This is the first step that was taken in diphtheria, tetanus and other diseases that have now been mastered by serums and vaccines. To the inspection of the public. When you step inside you will be agreeably surprised with the array of new and up-to-date goods. You will find finish and quality of the highest order on all sides of you, at prices that will win you as a customer and friend. We are proud of our store, and justly so, for it is as bright and clean as a new pin. Come and see us. OUR SECOND ATTRACTION will be

The Robinson Corset and Costume Co.'s Semi-Annual Manufacturers' Great Clearing Sale of Walking Skirts, Underskirts, Corsets, Etc.,

Of their own manufacture. We need scarcely give further comment. This firm is too well and favorably known to fill up space with words-enough to say that we consider ourselves very fortunate in securing the agency for the city of London for this now famous Robinson Costume Company's Made-to-Measure System of Ladies' Suits and Corsets, and we have secured the services of Miss Wallace, who is already well known to the patrons of the above-mentioned firm. Miss Wallace will have charge of the Made-to-Order Department. The Robinson Costume Company will stand back of the measures taken, and guarantee the fit or money refunded. In fact, this will apply to all goods in our store. Goods not satisfactory will be exchanged or money refunded. Remember the time and place of the Great Manufacturers' Clearing Sale.

MR. FINCH, of the Robinson Costume Company, will personally conduct the sale on Saturday. I am simply giving the Company the use of my store for this sale as an opening attraction.

We mention here just a few of the many articles that will be offered for sale: 120 LADIES' WALKING SKIRTS-all their own make-enough said.

Sale Will Begin Sharp at 8:30 o'Clock, Saturday Morning, at Our New Store, No. 179 Dundas Street, Next to Boomer's.

EMERGENCY MONEY FOR UNITED STATES

Banks May Issue $500.000.000 in Case of Financial Stringency.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Secretary MacVeagh's ruling of the term "commercial paper" in the treasury department's interpretation of the emer-The committee is making earnest gency currency law have become known in its full import here today. The Chicago banks, which raised the question, and banks all through the west, felt that if it were adverse they would be unable to form an effective currency association. The way is now made clear for the banks of the United States to put in circulation $500,000,000 in emergency money at the first sign of a financial stringency. The law provides paper upon which emergency currency may be issued shall include only notes representing actual commercial transactions which shall bear the names of at least two responsible persons, and have four months to run. A large proportion of the banks hold the notes of reputable individuals and corporations which have been bought only the name of the maker. Secretary MacVeagh has decided that the indorsement of the holding bank upon such notes will constitute the second indorsement which the law calls for.

Advances were evident in every department, and one dealer, cheerful after netting a profit of $50 in a few hours, declared that quotations all round were about 25 per cent higher than was the case on Monday and Tuesday. It is certain that there was a very appreciable advance in the prices for export, butcher and feeding cattle, although there was scarcely any change in the prices for sheep and lambs. A better demand on the retail market was largely responsible for the improvement, but this explanation is not regarded as sufficient to account for the activity all along the line. "A the market in the shape of small deliveries," declared one of the larger dealers. The supply was not equal to a perfectly normal demand, and so a strong tone was developed, but the receipts next week will be larger, and then normal conditions will again prevait.

He Flies From Cedar Point to Cleveland Despite Bad Winds.

BEATS A FAST EXPRESS

Aviator Starts in Rain That He May Race With Cars Carrying Mrs. Curtiss.

Cleveland, Sept. 1.-Racing with a fast Lake Shore mail train, Glenn H. Curtiss, the Hammondsport, N. Y., aviator, today drove his bi-plane over the water from Cedar Point to Euclid Beach, an airline distance of 60 miles, completing a 120-mile round trip flight begun yesterday and establishing an unquestioned world's record for overthe-water flights. Incidentally, he beat the train into Cleveland a full 17 minutes.

Encountering contrary air currents. Mr. Curtiss was unable to maintain a high rate of speed, taking 1 hour and 42 minutes for the flight. The actual distance traversed, estimated at the United States hydrograph office, was 64% miles.

At 2:47 o'clock this afternoon Mr.

Curtiss ascended over Lake Erie from the sandy beach of Cedar Point. At 4:12 p.m. the aeroplane, after fighting a 19-mile breeze all the way, passed the centre of Cleveland and reached Euclid Beach at exactly 4:29

Police Save Him From Crowd. A great crowd of 50,000 people gathered on the beach, surrounded him and insisted on shaking his hands, but police rescued him and took him to a telephone over which he greeted Mrs. Curtiss, who had just arrived at her hotel. She was on the train which Mr. Curtiss distanced.

A drizzling rain was falling when Mr. Curtiss gave the order for the starting of his motor. All morning weather conditions had been unpropitious and thousands of excursionists who had gathered at the point had almost given up hope of seeing the flight. At noon, however, the aviator announced that he would make a trial flight, which he did, reaching an altitude of 500 feet, which he maintained for eight minutes. He then determined to start on his 60-mile journey at 3:15 this morning, an unknown bandit was p.m., but when it was found that the train bearing Mrs. Curtiss would leave Sandusky earlier he changed his mind and set out, despite the rain.

According to the story told by Stewart, who was brought to a hospital he members of his party were en- here, the robber ordered them to tell tertained at a banquet given by the the express messenger that they were Cleveland Aero Club. They will leave in peril of their lives, that the train had been held up and that the robbers were determined to have the money in the express car. Stewart states that the robber fired several shots at the heads of passengers who looked out to see what was happening. Hit Him With Rock. "When we got to the express car," said Stewart, "my fireman dashed under the car and crawled to the other side. The robber leaned under the car to shoot at him, and when he took his eyes off me I struck him with all my strength with a rock I had picked up as I jumped off the tender. Before the rock hit him he whirled around and shot at me. I must have fainted then, for the next I knew the conductor and express messenger and group of excited passengers were standing over me.' When the remainder of the train crew heard the shot they seized weapons and rushed to the head of the train, firing as they came. Stewart was given immediate attention by physicians who were on board the train and was brought to Colorado Springs. His condition is not serious.

Shortly after the hold-up Sheriff Von

Puhl and a posse scoured the country near the scene of the attempted holdup, and discovered the Martin brothers niding in the bush. Sterling Martin was dazed by a bulet wound in the head. He is out on parole from the state reformatory. The Martins claim they were riding the "blind baggage" and were beating their way to Grand Junction. They said Sterling Martin was struck by a stray bullet from the bandit's gun. They are held for investigation. The dead robber wore a cloth mask some time. The engineer and fireman say he spoke with a Swedish accent.

There was nothing on his person to identify him. His body was left at the scene of the hold-up until the arrival of the coroner from Cripple Creek. There was no unusual shipment of money in the express car, but the bandit told the fireman as they marched along the train that he intended to rifle the passengers as well as the Wells-

Fargo express. NO OUORUM FOR FINANCE COMMITTEE
