A NOBLE HERITAGE.

CHAPTER XXX. (Continued.) LEOLA laughed. It was a very un-... 'I am quite well, my good child, Mary was no younger than Leola. Why should I make you uncomfortable?'

CHAPTER XXXI. THE following morning broke slowly and reluctantly, the mist hanging about the meadows and hiding the heads of the tall pines. About the time Cyril was moodily and restlessly endeavouring to eat his breakfast in the London hotel, Leola awoke from her troubled dreams.

CHAPTER XXXII. She had dreamt of him all night, had seen him in danger, had in one dream looked at him lying dead at her feet; in one of the wild visions of the miserable night had she seen him faithful. She woke, as she had never yet awakened in the Abbey, with a sense of overmastering trouble.

terced, soft felt hat, and there was mud upon his boots; he had evidently walked straight out of his studio—in which he was generally at work long before the breakfast hour—across the fields.

He came forward with a slight flush on his face, and an air of embarrassment which he tried to conceal by an over-acted ease of manner.

At another time Leola might have been, on her part, embarrassed, for she had not forgotten that Gerald Beaumont had asked her to be his wife.

So with very little addition to the feverish flush she gave him her hand and bade him good morning.

'How hot you are, Miss Dale,' he said. 'Have you been out walking?'

'I have just come down,' said Leola; 'it is rather warm and close this morning, is it not?' and she shuddered, which was rather contradictory.

'It is very chilly and wet,' said Lord Beaumont; 'I am afraid you have taken cold, Leola.' He added, her name slipping from him unconsciously in his anxiety.

'Perhaps I have,' said Leola. 'But won't you come in?' and she led the way into the breakfast room.

Lord Beaumont walked up to the fire place and patted the dog. 'I have come over for some breakfast if you will give me some,' he said, with the same over-strained air of ease.

'Indeed, no!' said Leola. 'Mrs. Wetherell will be delighted to see you. She turned to the butler, Lord Beaumont will breakfast with us.'

Lord Beaumont watched the butler as he laid the extra service, with an absent air, which was palpable, though he tried to conceal it by talking about the weather and the mist, and playing with the dog.

Then Mary, Wetherell came in. 'An unexpected visitor,' said Lord Beaumont, leaving her to the fire. 'You will excuse my old jacket, I know.'

Mrs. Wetherell smiled an assent and went over to Leola and kissed her. 'She, too, looked anxious and alarmed as she felt how hot Leola's face and hands were.'

'I always think of you when I am at breakfast at home,' said Lord Beaumont. They took their seats and the butler brought them some ham.

The breakfast at Howth is so huge and uncomfortable, and Cis seems to be the only one really warm. Now this is always so cozy and sociable—yes, sugar in my coffee, Mrs. Wetherell a good lump.'

'You must come over often,' said Mrs. Wetherell, who liked him, and with whom he was always at his ease.

'I should like to come every day,' said Lord Beaumont, 'and so wear out my welcome.'

'You would not do that, easily,' said Mrs. Wetherell. 'Then there was a moment's silence. Still, for all his apparent ease, there was a restless, smothered look of anxiety on Lord Beaumont's face, and every time the door opened he looked up eagerly. We know what Leola and Mrs. Wetherell were looking for—the post-bag. And so was he.'

At last, as if he could contain himself no longer, he said, with feigned carelessness: 'I am going on to the Home Farm to see Cyril Kingsley.'

There was a dead silence for a moment. Leola raised her cup to her lips to hide her crimson face. Mrs. Wetherell smothered a sigh. 'Cyril Kingsley is not at home, Lord Beaumont.'

'Oh,' he said, leaning back in his chair with ill-feigned ease; 'so I heard but I did not think it was true—no, has never been from home yet. Is he coming back to-day?'

Then, by the airy tone of the question, both Leola and Mrs. Wetherell understood that he had heard the rumour.

'I—we scarcely know,' said Mrs. Wetherell, painfully; 'the post-bag is not in yet.'

The Evening Chit-Chat.
BY RUTH CAMERON.

"Baby-saying organizations have been springing up everywhere like mushroom-cakes in Mary-Contra's garden. Isn't it about time now that second childhood received some consideration?"
I saw that query in a magazine the other day and heartily approved of it. Only—before second childhood gets its share I want to put in a word for another class—the least considered folk of all, I think—the middle-aged people.
Children and youth are always in the limelight because of their happiness and their romantic quality. And old age gets more or less into the limelight by reason of its infirmities, if in no other way, but the middle-aged folk—the people who are neither romantically old nor romantically young—they seem to be perpetually cast for the parts of scene shifters or at best of chorus and superni.
And I think it's a shame, and a stinging reproach on the younger generation, to whose selfishness the eternal colorlessness of their elders' lives is usually due.
A woman came to see me the other day with some manuscript that she wanted me to look over.
She has written more or less in a small way for years, and I know that her literary attempts represent to her romance-loving heart the one element of personal-romance in a life mostly devoted to her children, of whom she has two grown-up daughters.
"And what do Alice and Edna think of the article?" I asked as I handed the article back to her.
A look of terror came into her eyes and her hands actually trembled as she reached for the paper.
"Oh, please, don't say anything about it to them," she pleaded. "They don't know anything about it. They don't approve of my writing. They think it is all nonsense anyone as old as I trying to write. You won't say anything to them, will you?"
Of course I reassured her, but I should have very much liked to have said something about it to them.
And the something would have been a vigorous expression of my opinion of their lack of sympathy with their mother's attempt to have a little life apart from theirs.
One day when I was at a suffrage meeting a woman told me of a neighbor who would like to come, but "doesn't dare to, because her daughter disapproves so of the meetings."
A young girl also said that her mother disapproved, but how little difference that made was evidenced by the fact that she was there.
The way the younger generation insists upon dominating the lives of the older people is positively wicked.
They expect perpetual sympathy and interest to be shown in all their projects and pleasures, but it apparently never occurs to them to repay in kind.
Because your father and mother are fifty or fifty-five or sixty does not mean that they have passed the age when they would enjoy being in the limelight of your interest occasionally instead of perpetually furnishing the limelight for you.
Did that ever occur to you, my young friends?
Ruth Cameron

A Clean Man
Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and set it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.
He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
prevents these diseases. It makes a man's inside clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and cleans, healthy flesh.
It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never grip. Easy to take as candy.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.
For a cream whip, which is easily made, fill sherbet glasses half full of preserved fruit. Heap them with whipped cream that has been flavored with vanilla or wine and spread the tops lightly with cocoa, cocoanut or minced nuts.
To destroy red ants, grease the plates with lard and put them on the floor with a few pitch-pine shavings to climb up. Scatter the plates will be covered with ants, which prefer lard even to sugar. Turn the plates upside down on a hot fire.
Never sit on the edge of a sick person's bed, and never place your chair so that he must strain his eyes or turn his head to see you. Get directly in range of his vision so that he may see you comfortably. Never whisper in a sick room.
Lamb's liver, which is very delicate, and not so much used as it deserves to be, is delicious minced and served on toast. It is also excellent diced, cooked two or three minutes in a tablespoonful of butter and folded in an omelet with peppers and a minced olive or two.
A sweet biscuit may be made with ordinary biscuit dough with the addition of chopped dates. Roll the dough quite thin, spread with plenty of soft butter, and then put on a thick layer of chopped dates. On top place another layer of dough and cut out with a small cutter. Bake in a hot oven.
A delicious dessert is made of French chestnuts that have been peeled, boiled tender and mashed until they are smooth and then seasoned with a little vanilla or other extract and sugar, heaped around the sides of a glass dish and filled in the centre with whipped cream. The cream may be dotted with jelly.
The latest way of serving oyster or clam cocktails is to use a new double glass, quite similar to the glass used for grape fruit. The outer receptacle is filled with finely shaved ice. The oysters are placed directly on the ice while the dressing is put in the inner glass. Each oyster, as it is picked up, is dipped in the sauce.
Left-over cereal may be used in either of two ways. Mixed with some chopped meat and seasoned well it is always tasty in croquettes. An excellent dessert may be made of the cooked cereal, sweetened, seasoned with spice and then mixed with chopped raisins. Then it should be moulded into cones and browned in the oven. Serve with syrup or thick cream.
To make whole wheat bread, take four cupfuls of whole wheat flour, two of white flour, half a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one yeast cake dissolved in enough warm water to make a stiff batter. Let rise until light, mold in two loaves, let rise again and bake in a moderate oven. A teaspoonful of shortening soda adds to the richness.
A delicious and simple fruit punch is made of canned pineapple shredded. Take a pint of this fruit and to it add the juice of three good-sized lemons, the juice of four oranges, two sliced bananas and one and a half cupfuls of sugar. Put the mixture in a bowl with a good-sized lump of ice. Let it stand for an hour or so and then add a pint of carbonated water.
Beeswax and turpentine is a capital polish for furniture, which is not French polished. To make it spread half an ounce of beeswax very fine and add to it a quarter of a pint of spirits of turpentine. Stir well and put aside until the next day. Then stir again and let it stand for another day, when it will be ready for use. Never melt beeswax and turpentine over a hot fire, as it is highly inflammable.

Hints on Children.
Medicines should be accurately measured in marked glasses, not given in spoons, which vary greatly in size.
Chilblains in children are a sign of weakness in the general health. Woolen stockings and gloves should be worn, and cod-liver oil should be taken.
A cot net made of a loose cotton cord is an excellent thing. Tie it loosely over the child's cot, so that, if he stands up in bed and overbalances, he cannot fall out.
Do not force a child to eat what he dislikes. Nature often points out what is good or bad for it. Food to do good must be eaten with relish.
Blows and falls are constantly made too light of in the nursery. After a bad fall or blow on the head it is always a safe thing to let a child be quiet and lie down for a time.
Eating slowly should be taught to children from their earliest days. Often during their school days they get into the way of hurrying over their meals. This lays seeds of much illness in later life.
Earache in children may generally be relieved by dropping a little warm olive oil into the ear. An old-fashioned, but excellent remedy is to bake an onion till perfectly soft, and then put the small centre piece into the ear. The juice of the onion is most soothing.
A child's toothbrush is too often neglected when it should be used daily. The night cleaning should never be neglected, otherwise particles of food remain around the teeth all night and set up decay.
Socks should not be allowed in winter. It is essential to the health of children that their legs be kept warm. Even with gaiters for outdoor wear, socks are not warm enough.
Wine is quite unnecessary for children, and they should not have it as a treat, thus creating a love of it. Lemonade is the best drink for them when they want anything more than water.
Growing boys and girls between the ages of ten and sixteen should be encouraged to take part in all outdoor games. Hockey is capital exercise for boys and girls alike, and, if frost comes, give them skates that they may enjoy it.
Parties are often blamed for much illness prevalent in the holidays. Still, it is hard to keep children out of the fun. Give them pretty light frocks, cut too thin, and wrap them up well both going to and coming from the party.
Children's woolen socks are apt to shrink very much. A good plan is to have sock "trees" for drying them on. Cut out the shape of the sock in wood a quarter of an inch thick with a fretsaw. Stretch the wet sock on this, and it will dry and keep its original size.

Do You Know Your Ailment?
Or is it a complication which can be reached only by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.
There is only one medicine that can prove thoroughly satisfactory in complicated ailments of the liver and kidneys, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.
They begin by regulating the bowels and awakening the action of the liver, thereby effecting a thorough cleansing of the excretory system. By thus removing the poisons from the system they lighten the work of the kidneys and gradually restore them to health.
Nobody who once learns of the definite and certain action of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating and invigorating the kidneys, liver and bowels, is willing to take chances by experimenting with other medicines.
Such ailments as biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and kidney disease yield readily to this treatment.

What Will To-Morrow Bring Forth.

The first returns to the new parliament will be made to-day of a few uncontested seats.

According to the Daily Mail of the 31st ult., polling had been provisionally fixed for to-morrow at the following places which are mostly London and Lancashire constituencies:

- Holborn. Manchester (7). Central Finsbury Salford (3). East Finsbury. Salisbury. Islington (4). Lincoln. Lambeth. Putney. Brixton. Bury. Norwood. Burnley. Kennington. Rochdale. Fulham. Cambridge. N.E. Bethnal Green. Oxford. S.W. Bethnal Green. Stoke-on-Trent. Hackney (5). Reading. Greenwith. Rochester. Lewisham.

This list involves forty seats. At the last General Election thirty-seven of these seats returned either Liberals or Labour representatives, but only a few were Labour Members.

6 Canadians Running. Trade With West Indies

There are six Canadians running in the present elections in England, two for the Liberals and four for the Unionists.

Triduums Being Held.

The second night of the Triduum being held at St. Patrick's Church witnessed a large congregation present.

REPAIRS BADLY NEEDED.

People coming by the trains from Placentia say that in the recent storm and floods about 15 feet of the main road leading to the railway wharf was carried away.

Why Cough

Stop coughing! Coughing rasps and tears. Stop it! Coughing prepares the throat and lungs for more trouble.

Schooner Nearly Lost.

The schr. Maggie Sullivan, Capt. G. Downer, arrived here and entered the Narrows at 2 p.m. yesterday. It blew hard and the vessel had to drop anchor, so that she did not arrive in the harbor until 8 a.m. to-day.

Not By Books Alone.

Man cannot live by books alone. Nor yet by learning can man live; Some lore that study cannot give, Some hint of things we have not known.

Disturbs the joy we thought our own; It wastes like water from a sieve. Man cannot live by books alone, Nor yet by learning can man live.

Some breeze from out the garden blown. In moments rare and fugitive, Cries, "Love and hate, excite forgive, Arise in haste, the morn has flown, Man cannot live by books alone."

Mary Eleanor Roberts in "Book News Monthly."

Marine Notes.

The Golden Hind is sailing for Bahia with 3,300 drums of fish for Monroe & Co.

Herring News.

Herring are now scarce in Bay of Islands, at North East Arm. They are plentiful in Middle Arm under the ice. There are now 15 vessels there seeking cargoes of frozen herring. They will not be able to stay there much longer.

S. S. Labrador Change Hands.

To-day at noon the good old sealing ship Labrador was sold at auction at the office of Mr. Thos. Cliff in the Commercial Chambers. She was heretofore owned by the Nfld. Sealing Co. and when the sale began to-day bidding for a while was brisk.

Mr. Tasker Cook started it with $10,000, and the bids following went at $250 until the sum of $11,750 was reached, when the auctioneer's hammer hit the table and the ship was knocked down to Mr. D. Baird for that figure.

Old sealers say this is a great bargain for the firm of James Baird, Ltd., whom the purchaser represented. She is a fine old ship, was several years commanded by Capt. Geo. Hann, and last year by Capt. Baxter Barber.

Ten years ago she got new boilers, and these are almost worth the purchase money of the ship. If she gets 15,000 seals she will more than clear the money expended on her purchase and will also declare a handsome dividend.

Under a Ban.

The candidature of Mr. Richard Jebb has led to much friction in East Marylebone. The Unionist organization refused to support him.

Lord Robert Cecil represented it in the last Parliament. In his case trouble occurred when Lord Robert refused to accept the Chamberlain's programme. Recently the Morning Post published a cable to Mr. Balfour, signed by prominent Canadians, interceding for Mr. Jebb, as he was under the ban of the Unionist organization in East Marylebone.

Coasting Should Stop.

The steep streets of the city such as Barrett's, Carter's Hill, Bate's Hill, Goodview Street and other thoroughfares are now simply impassable for citizens by reason of their covering of ice. Two were found guilty of malicious damage to the Court House and the other was convicted of disorderly conduct. A penalty of $20 or 2 months was imposed on each.

Buried To-Day.

Mrs. Blackie, who died on the S. S. Sicilian, was interred this afternoon by undertaker M. W. Myrick. At first when the ship arrived Mr. Geo. Shea, Agent for the Allan Line, sought everywhere about the city for relatives. They were found after some difficulty and took the remains, and sorrowfully looked at the dead face of their friend. Mrs. Blackie's maiden name was Symonds, and Mr. Shea is to-day trying to get the address of the husband who is known to reside at Glace Bay, being a miner at that place.

THELMA.

The production of Thelma last night at The People's Theatre was a great success. Miss Gordon did excellent work as did Mr. Steadman. They were well backed up by the rest of the company. The play is an excellent one, and it is well staged and played and should attract a good audience. The specialties were also good.

CURLING RINK.—The Curling Rink will be formally opened by His Excellency the Governor at noon to-morrow. He will be met at the Rink by Mr. Jno. Syme, Mr. Duder and Mr. Jardine, President of the Curling Club. It is believed that His Excellency will take an active interest in the sport.

THE S.S. HIRUNDO'S Unexpected Arrival Here After Hard Time--Bound From Lewisporte to Halifax.

It will be remembered that some time ago the S. S. Hirundo arrived down at Botwood Harbor with a general cargo for the A. N. D. Co., but could not remain there as she would more than likely be frozen in.

The ship came to St. John's where she transferred the better part of her cargo to the S. S. Adventure which later conveyed the Hirundo to Lewisporte where both ships landed their freights. Since the Hirundo left Lewisporte for Halifax and had a terrible time of it for 13 days, and crippled in here last evening at 6 o'clock with a broken tail shaft.

The ship left Lewisporte on New Year's Day for Halifax, and after a few hours a fierce gale sprang up, next lay increasing to a hurricane with a sea running which went time and again over the vessel. It was utterly impossible even to make steerage way to Barbadoes with all her sails torn up and in a generally disabled condition.

The vessel was considered to be overdue and the news of her arrival at the latter port will be a comfort to apprehensive friends of those on board.

The report reached the city to-day that the Lake Simcoe, 50 days from Toronto, is unable to make steerage way to Barbadoes with all her sails torn up and in a generally disabled condition.

Trinity Notes.

It is rumored that Ship Cove is to have a real live business started there in the spring. Mr. Moulton from the West Coast having leased a property on which he will build a shop and stores and carry on a general business.

It is also reported that Mr. Alonzo Fowlow, who arrived by the Prospero on Wednesday last, will open up a business at Trinity East next spring.

Messrs. W. H. and Arch Christian are excavating a site for a new store near the store they built last year. They will go into the fish business next summer, purchasing for a St. John's firm of exporters.

Mr. Hall, Government Engineer, spent a few days here recently looking out a route by which to bring the railway into town. It is understood that Mr. Powell, one of the Reid Co's. engineers, who is in charge of the construction of the branch line, will also pay us a visit in the near future and that after he has made his survey the exact direction of the line from Goose Cove will be decided, as also the site of the terminals here. The surveying party have completed their work well out to Goose Cove and are now camped at Second Pond.—The Enterprise.

Branch Banks Needed.

The need of branch banks in the principal outports has long been realized by those who transact business in those places, and in no place is the need more felt, particularly in the autumn months, than in this town.

It is not so much a safe-deposit for surplus wealth that is required—those who are fortunate enough to have more cash than they need can find a stocking-or some other equally safe (?) receptacle for that—but what is required is the facility which a bank offers for the safe and speedy transaction of multitudinous business.

The big merchant and the small trader, the fish buyer, the fish seller, the employer of labor and the employed, would all be the better accommodated if a bank were within reach during the busy seasons. The large amounts of money sent through the post offices and by express during the autumn and winter months is further evidence of the need for bank facilities, and we feel sure that if any one of the banks doing business in the country were to establish a branch in this town the amount of business that would offer would be proof that the venture was warranted.—The Enterprise.

Western Notes.

(Western Star.)
Capt. Mullock leaves Gloucester for Bay of Islands for a cargo of frozen herring. This will be his second trip this season.

The railway people send out double headers and push plows with both express and freight trains these days.

One of the Pew-Gorton Company's schooners which arrived from Gloucester last week, went to Bonne Bay, where part of a cargo of frozen herring awaited her. She will likely finish loading in a day or two.

Duncan McIsaac, one of our enterprising merchants of Codroy, claims he has made the largest December shipment of fresh meat that was made during the same month of any year by anyone since the completion of the cross country railway. The amounts handed in for publication are 310 quarters beef weighing 31,120 lbs., 312 sides 1,000 lbs. mutton, total weight, 32,120 lbs. Mr. McIsaac and Mr. McLean, now sales manager for the Farmers Union, and the late Mr. Wm. Knowling, went to considerable trouble and expense working up markets for our farm products. It is hoped the two former and Mr. Goo. Knowling, now in charge of his late father's business will work individually and collectively to continue the opening up of markets. This with a square deal between merchants and farmers should make 1910 a record year for Codroy Valley.

Treat to Children.

A tea treat was given to the children of the Catechism classes of St. Patrick's yesterday afternoon at the British Hall by the teachers. His Grace Archbishop Howley opened the proceedings and was welcomed by the children singing "The Flag of Newfoundland." There were also present Rev. Frs. McDermott, Pippy and Gough, Brothers Bania and Egan. The boys' band of Mount Cashel was also present and played a fine selection of airs. At 9 o'clock the boys and girls to the number of 160 sat down to a bountiful spread served by the teachers. An enjoyable evening was spent by the youngsters, who on leaving the home were all given a bag of fruit and candy.

What Many Men Need

Dr. Bovel has a Prescription that "Sets" You Right Up

When a man has lost ambition to "dig in" and stay at things — when he complains of headache, fullness in the right side, pain in the shoulder blade — it's just a case of "Liver."

These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half-paralyzed.

Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets stimulate the liver into activity in one night. Being a mild vegetable laxative they produce results in a few hours. The bilious headache and constipation are cured, spirits are raised, and the man is ready to "dig in" again.

Delegates Sentenced

For Inciting Miners in New South Wales to Strike. Sydney, N.S.W., Jan. 1.—Fourteen men, delegates of the Board of the Miners' Federation, have been sentenced to pay five hundred dollars each or undergo two months' imprisonment for inciting coal miners to strike.

It is eight weeks since the men struck, and the struggle continues, with disastrous results. Three hundred steamships are idle. Gas at one time gave out in a large section of the city. Only the timely return of western miners saved Sydney from utter darkness.

The sentences just passed are among the first under the new law, making strike leaders and employers who instigate or aid a strike or lock-out liable to one year's imprisonment.

Thirty Violent Deaths in New York in One Day.

New York, Jan. 2.—Yesterday here was remarkable for an unusual number of deaths by violence and accident. The coroner's office dealt with cases, of which one was a possible murder, one an unusual suicide by shooting, one a death due to an illegal operation, six were suicides by gas and three were fatal accidents. With the exception of Morris Nathanson, a manufacturer, whose death may have been either by suicide or murder, none of the dead were prominent.

A man who shot himself on the marble steps of a life insurance company in Madison square took pains to write a courteous note of apology to the coroner for the trouble he was about to cause. Benedict Schwann and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sophie Frick, who died of what were first reported as natural causes, were found to have been victims of bullet wounds. It is believed that Schwann quarrelled with his sister-in-law, shot her, and then committed suicide.

Samuel Paris committed suicide last night by jumping from the top of a six-story tenement. Paris lived with a daughter. He had been ill, and talked of suicide frequently. In Brooklyn a girl drank carbolic acid and died; a man met a similar fate by accident; a man was found dead in a snow bank; another died in a hospital after falling unconscious in the street, and still another inflicted fatal wounds on himself with a knife.

Three men committed suicide by inhaling gas, and two women died likewise.

Boot-Black M. P.

A Belgian deputy, Napoleon Smeets, who was a Socialist in politics, and who died a few days ago, was a remarkable character. He made a very violent speech one day against a political adversary, and had been sentenced to damages for slander. These damages Napoleon Smeets could not pay, and the law allowed his adversary to lay hands on his pay as a member of the Parliament.

"What are you going to do?" somebody asked him. Napoleon smiled.

"You'll see," he said. A few days afterwards all Brussels was flocking to the Gare du Nord, for Napoleon Smeets, M.P., had installed himself outside the station with a boot-black's box and a rickety chair, to which he lectured customers with the appeal, "Come and have your boots blacked for a penny by Napoleon Smeets, member of the Belgian Parliament, who has by his country's law to make a living as he may."

Napoleon Smeets, M.P., was informed half an hour after he had blacked his first customer's boots that necessary provision had been made for him, and that he need black no more in the future.

RANDOM REMARKS.

BY RODERIC RANDOLPH.

A Chation Steel Pen. If it be true that "the pen is mightier than the sword," it should be interesting to know of the biography of so potent a factor in the history of human progress. There is probably no instrument in existence so indispensable to modern life, or that is called upon to discharge so vast an amount of labour in the course of an ordinary twelve-hour day. Nor is there any instrument whose labours are so diverse in character, or so multifarious in compass. Yet very little is known of the history of pens.

For centuries types of pens have been in the service of the human race, but not until 1808 is there any definite trace of the progenitor of the modern steel pen. Doubtless the first metallic pen was born earlier than that year; but the birth certificate has been lost. As Staffordshire, England, was probably the birthplace of the first steel pen making, and is still a staple of industry of the Midlands Counties it is interesting to recall the fact that it is one hundred years ago that a patent for steel pens was granted to a North Countryman named Bryan Donkin. The patents of the well-known Birmingham firms, Perry Mitchell, Mason and Gillott, were not taken out until William IV had taken his seat on the throne of England.

Metallic Pens. Metallic pens were no doubt made at a very early period. A German is often mentioned as having been a pioneer in the manufacture of these articles; and a "Sheffield Artizan" appears frequently in newspaper columns as the inventor of steel pens but his name is unknown. We also meet with the name of "William Gadsby, who made a clumsy pen from the mainspring of a watch"; but there is no authentic information with regard to the making of metallic pens until the beginning of the eighteenth century. The late Sam Trimmings, of Birmingham, had in his possession a remarkable little volume supplied to the members of the States General of Holland, bearing the date 1717, which contained a silver pencil case in two parts, one holding a piece of plum-bago, mounted like a crayon, and the other a metallic pen. The pen is of the barrel shape, apparently silver and it is regarded as the earliest authentic metallic pen. Just about this time, also, the poet Pope, in the following lines acknowledged from Lady Frances Shirley the gift of a stand-lish, containing a steel and golden pen.

Take at this hand celestial arms; Secure the radiant weapons wield; This golden lance shall guard desert. And if a vice dares keep the field, Then steel shall stab it to the heart. Sir Joseph Mason once said in public that to his own knowledge steel pens were first made by his old friend Harrison somewhere about the year 1780. In the year 1869 a writer to the Birmingham Journal and Weekly Post said: "The first makers of steel pens were John Edwards, Hill St., and Francis Heeley, Mount St., Birmingham"; and in "Wrightson's Birmingham Directory, 1823, the following advertisement appeared:—"John Edwards, manufacturer of im-

Puts an End to Stomach Misery.

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia vanish in five minutes. Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night. This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heart burn, that is a sign of indigestion. Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Head-aches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you. These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach troubles.

proved gold, silver and elastic steel pens, mounted in all kinds of cases, and desk handles, No. 40 Hill Street." Daniel Fellows of Sedgley, Staffordshire. Amidst the mass of conflicting evidence it is a difficult task to locate the first manufacturer of steel pens; but there can be no doubt that Sedgley's claim is as legitimate, if not more legitimate, than any now in existence. A writer to the above mentioned Birmingham Journal stated in 1869 that "Daniel Fellows, of Sedgley, made steel pens about 1806," and a certain J. Sargent, of Tettenhall, wrote at the same time to the effect that "A journeyman blacksmith named Fellows, of Sedgley, was the first originator of steel pens. I resided at Sedgley in 1822, when Sheldon, Fellows' apprentice, made some of these pens. He made two for me. I wrote very well with them. Sheldon himself told me that Mr. Gillott commenced making the pen from seeing some of his (Sheldon's) make." Another writer under the nom de plume of "Un qui Salt" says: "I distinctly recollect about the year 1806, being at Fellows' home at Sedgley, and there seeing Thomas Sheldon, his apprentice, making steel pens. He believed Fellows made pens in 1792. Sheldon continued the trade until it was destroyed through inability to compete with the machine made pens of Mitchell and Gillott." A third writer, "T. S.," says: "In 1815 an uncle of mine used to purchase these pens from Sheldon, of Sedgley. The price was 18s. per dozen."

In an old copy of Notes and Queries I find that a correspondent quotes a pattern book of John Barnes, Eagle Works, Wolverhampton, England, which contained engravings of early steel pens; but beyond that reference I can find nothing concerning this Wolverhampton manufacturer. Bryan Donkin's Patent. Bryan Donkin, whose patent was registered in 1808, was a native of Northumberland, and for a time was land agent of the Duke of Dorset's estates in Kent. Mechanics had always been for him a fascinating study, and even as a boy he delighted in the manufacture of toy thermometers. Acting on the advice of the engineer, Smeaton, young Donkin's father had him apprenticed to a Dartford firm of engineers. While he was in his thirties, Donkin constructed a model of the first machine to be used in the manufacture of paper, the machine being patented in 1801 by John Gamble. His fertile brain led him on to still greater success, for in 1805 he constructed a machine for printing, which resulted ultimately in the evolution of the composition printing roller.

About this time Donkin was at work on his new steel pen, which he patented in due course; but instead of devoting his energies to improvements of the pen, he began to experiment with Sir William Congreve in a method for printing stamps in two colors. Prior to this he had also exercised his genius upon air-tight cases for the preservation of meats and perishable commodities. The esteem and honour of posterity are also due to him as being one of the founders of the Institute of Civil Engineers. This little known inventor died in the year 1855 at the age of eighty-seven, and any catalogue of the names of benefactors of the human race is incomplete if it does not contain the name of Bryan Donkin. Birmingham and Steel Pens. It is to Birmingham that we must look for the history of the rapid advances in the manufacturing and cheapening of steel pens. From the year 1882, when John Mitchell, a Sheffield cutler, came to Birmingham to manufacture steel pens with tools of his own invention, the progress of the industry was most rapid. Perry started to manufacture somewhere about 1824, and Mason and Gillott appear to have followed immediately in his train, though Josiah Mason had probably begun the making of barrel pens much earlier than that year. Joseph Gillott laid down the first press capable of making pens in large quantities, and thus began that gigantic trade destined to destroy the goose raising industry, or as it was then termed, "the web-footed industry," for, it was argued, what profit was there in rearing geese if quills were to be expelled by abominable metallic pens. And even though the price of a good steel pen modelled on Donkin's patent was five shillings, while quills could be purchased at one halfpenny each, the steel pens were preferred by those who had the wherewithal to purchase. But Perry, Mitchell, Gillott and Mason had come to stay, and the result of their labours is now to be seen in the vast concerns they have built up, and the indispensable character of the article they have given to the world.
