Spring Announcement!

"Like a bold champion I assume the lists,
Nor ask advice of any other thought,
But faithfulness and courage."

The winter frost and snow have lent their aid in harvesting the product of the forest. The logs are now gaily bounding through the open Rivers on their way to meet the onslaught of Circular and Gang Saw. The result will be Lumber in galore, and of the best.

The clean atmosphere, high winds and warm sun of Notre Dame Bay have united to provide the seasoning process in perfection, so that our 1910 stocks arrive here clean, bright and dry. Already several large cargoes have been landed at our wharves, St. John's, in spite of a late spring. Others are in course of transit.

We call upon our friends in St. John's, and through the length and breadth of the country to send us their orders.

Tale of Mystery

CHAPTER XXI.

THE COUNT'S PLANS

"One of them, I regret to say, is that young Cheriton—the man who was so insulting to me the other day. I couldn't understand his conduct then; but now I see it. He is the woman's nephew, possibly her son; and no doubt she sent him to insult me."

"I will never let him, or any of them, enter my house again," said Mrs. Markham, vehemently; and in this manner feeding the flames of her anger with the fuel of jealousy, the man so excited her against Mrs. Davenant and Cheriton that any tale they might tell would certainly be discredited, and the mere fact that he had uttered it would be accepted as proof of its falseness.

As soon as this point was clear he pressed the subject of an immediate marriage, and as she was only too ready to accede to his wishes the matter was settled as he had wished it by the time the train drew up at Brighton station. There, however, an incident occurred which annoyed him.

The train came to a standstill just at a point where George Vezey was standing, and as he was expecting friends by the train, he caught sight of them instantly. The Count was irritated, as he had wished the visit to Brighton to be quite unknown. Vezey knew Cheriton, and in the Count's view any chance connecting link with the latter was a possible source of danger. He knew, too, that Vezey would only be too glad to get hold of some reason for interfering with the marriage.

A very few words were interchanged, Vezey saying he should call on Mrs. Markham at her hotel, and then the two drove away together.

"Poor George! He is not a bit like the same good fellow," said Mrs. Markham. "But I can't like liking him. He at least wishes me well, Godefroid."

"You probably; but me doubtfully," answered the Count, with a laugh. "If he has the same feeling toward me that I should have against him, had he taken you from me, he must hate me with a dangerous hate."

"You are very fond of me, Godefroid. I would give my life for you, Doris; or take any other's life who parted us. We men of the South love and hate with the heat of the sun in our blood."

THE GREATEST
results in cases of weak digestion are obtained from SCOTT'S EMULSION because when ordinary foods do not digest, it provides the needed nourishment in highly concentrated form.

Scott's Emulsion is so easily digested that its strength is rapidly absorbed by the youngest babe or most delicate adult.

*SCOTT'S EMULSION is the food that strengthens the race. ALL DRUGGISTS

"Could you hate me?" she whispered, talking his hand.

"Yes, if you loved another man," he answered vehemently, "and tearing out my love from my heart I would set it on a poignard's point and drive it right into yours. We of the South hold life cheap where love is false."

"If that is the only danger which threatens my life," she whispered ecstatically, "I shall never die."

That evening he made hot love to her, and before he left to go to his hotel he had arranged to run up to London to get a special license for the marriage.

On his way to London the next morning he plumed himself on the victory he was winning, and the knowledge that he held both success in his hand, despite the odds against him, made him infinitely more agreeable than they would have been if won without trouble.

He went first to Doctors' Commons and arranged the business of the special license, and as soon as that was completed he drove to Dessie's rooms. As matters were going so smoothly with him he was in an excellent temper.

"It is wonderful what a little pluck and dash will do in this world," he mused. "The odds against my winning such a woman as my wife were thousands to one that day when I pulled that young idiot Vezey out of the scuffle at Antwerp, while they were almost millions against my catching sight of those rubies yet I'm going to pull off both coups and this in despite of the fact that I've been recognised by a couple of people who know pretty well the worst there is to know about me."

He gave the cabman a liberal fare and went up Dessie's staircase with a confident tread of a man who feels he is going to win, and he greeted the girl herself in much the same spirit.

"I thought it better to come before the time we arranged, Miss Merrion," he said, in his most courteous manner. "I know that my visits are exceedingly distasteful to you. I regret that of course, as my own feelings towards you are of the most kindly character, but I cannot fail to see it and I must act upon it. This will therefore, be our last interview. I presume you are ready to give me what I have come for?"

"Before I give them up I must know more of your right to them," answered Dessie, steadily; and the firm tone in which she spoke and a note of defiance which he had not noticed before made him look at her in some surprise and curiosity.

"I have not come to discuss anything—merely to receive my own property. You know well that it is mine."

"I have seen Mrs. Davenant since I last saw you, and if I give the jewels to you I may have to account for them to her. It was from her I got them."

"That is nothing to me. They are mine."

"That may be, but I have myself to think of. If I give them to you and Mrs. Davenant informs the police, what am I to say? I am a journalist earning my own living, and am at least methodical enough to know the risk that attach to handling jewels worth thousands of pounds. You must, therefore, give me such an account of them as will satisfy me and others who may come to make inquiries."

The man began to grow angry.

"What do you mean? I am no fool to submit to fooling of this kind. Have you the jewels here?"

"Certainly I have. But it has been suggested to me that before I part with them to you I should ask you how they came into your possession. Will you tell me?"

"No, it is nothing to you. Do you mean you have spoken of this to anyone? You know the penalty?"

"Yes, I know the penalty," answered Dessie firmly enough. "But the person to whom I have spoken knows you well, so that there is no need for secrecy here."

"Secrecy or no secrecy, I mean to have those rubies, and to have them now!" He laid down his umbrella, and went toward the girl with a threatening look on his face. "Will you give them up to me, or am I to take them? You know me."

"You mean that having me here alone, and at your mercy, you will take them from me by force?" she asked, backing step by step warily from him.

"I mean that I will have those rubies. Come, no fooling. I shall use force if you compel me. You are mad to play with me in this way."

Dessie had backed to the door of one of the inner rooms, and stood against it a moment, facing him as if at bay.

He looked at her as a beast of prey might look at an easy victim.

"You had better give them to me," he said, in a tone that was full of menace and rage, and he seemed as if about to rush upon her and seize her in his powerful arms.

Just as he was about to do this the door opened behind her, and Daphne Marlow stepped into the gap. She was dressed, not in her nurse's uniform, but with the magnificent hair which had given her the name of Red Delliha streaming over her shoulders, while her face, white and angry, was set with a look of hate and steady courage, as she stared full into the man's eyes.

He uttered a sharp exclamation of angry surprise.

"Oh, it's you again, is it, you red devil?" he cried, furiously. "I might have known you would be at the bottom of this. I've owed you a debt during all these years, and by heaven I'll pay it now," and he made as if to dash upon her.

"Stop where you are, if you want to live," cried Daphne, and she levelled a revolver at his head, and the look in her eyes told him that she was as capable as ever of doing a reckless thing, and shooting him down where he stood.

CHAPTER XXII.

A LAST DEVICE.

The mortification and rage of the Count de Montal was so great that he had been thwarted by Daphne were intense. He knew her quite well enough to be aware that she not only could but would use the pistol against him if he pressed her.

He was quick to recover himself and accepted the situation, breathing a few deep and hearty curses over his head. He laughed, and throwing himself into a chair, said with an assumption of indifference:

"I give in. You've caught me unarmed and unawares, and may make the most of the opportunity. If I'd known you were going to be present I'd have come prepared." He looked at Daphne as he spoke. "Well, and what is it you want? I suppose you want something."

"Move over to that far end of the room," said Daphne, curtly. "I like to have as great a distance as possible between us at a time like this, and maybe you'll lose your temper before the interview's over. You were never a pleasant customer when things went wrong?"

He rose and moved back his chair to the wall without a word. He had no other choice. He had had to give in; and having swallowed the camel, he did not strain at the gnat.

"Now, I have a few plain words to say to you," said Daphne. "You have tried to force Dessie here—"

"Shall we say Dorothy?" she interrupted with a sneer. "If you wish to be so very plain spoken, let us have the whole truth."

"It is a matter of complete indifference what you call us here," returned Daphne. "You have tried to force Dorothy to do what you wish by threatening to expose me and to put me in the dock on the charge of murder."

She paused as if expecting him to speak; and noticing it, he said, with another sneer:

"You put the matter cogently. Your knowledge of the facts and of the crime, gathered as it is at first hand, enables you to speak with authority."

"You have twisted the screw one turn too many," said Daphne, taking no notice of the sneer; "and the thread is broken. When I heard from Des—Dorothy what you had done and what you threatened to do, I meant to secure your silence at any cost—even the sacrifice of her happiness."

"Ah, you were always a considerate creature—for yourself," he sneered again; but she paid no heed to him.

"I have changed a chance of telling you the truth at once. If you have the courage to charge me with the crime, I will stand my trial, and let the world know what it may of me; but I shall know something of your share in that matter as well."

"The world will be exceedingly obliged to you, no doubt—though you, personally, may not have much opportunity of experiencing its sentiments," he said. "And what part is your virtuous sister cast for in this melodrama? And what is the meaning of all this? Do you want paying?" he asked, brutally.

"We intend to be free from you," returned Daphne, promptly.

"Anyone who passes through the dock to the gallows is necessarily freed from the influence of others. But what are you going to gain by changing from hospital nurse to prison convict—to take the brightest view of your future?"

"Your sneers have no power to move us," said Daphne, quietly. "Nor are we moved only in this by the one motive which you can understand—self-advantage."

"Oh, you've turned virtuous in your old age."

"My object now is to save my sister—"

"By letting the world know she has lived under a false name, is the daughter of a forger and the sister of a woman who chafed a career of vice with murder? I don't know what you think you're saving her from, but anyone can see what you are saving her for." He spoke with intense bitterness.

ROBIN HOOD FLOUR IS DIFFERENT

This is the Wonderful New Flour
that has made such a sensation throughout Western Canada. Made of highest grade Saskatchewan wheat, in the newest, best-equipped, largest mill on the prairies. Made with the determination to give users better flour-value, greater certainty of baking-success, fuller satisfaction with the final result, whether with biscuits, cake or bread. Housewives throughout all the West admit that Robin Hood Flour gives all this. Therefore, Madam, it is the flour for you.

This flour cannot be described in an advertisement. We use this paper merely to give the introduction—to say:

"Let us make you acquainted with Robin Hood Flour."
It is the guaranteed flour. If you are not satisfied with it after two fair trials, ask your grocer for your money back. He will give it to you. Add more water than usual when using Robin Hood Flour. Made of such hard, dry wheat, it absorbs more moisture—produces a larger, whiter loaf.

The difference between Robin Hood Flour and other flours you have to find out for yourself. That there is a difference every woman who now uses Robin Hood admits.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Do women actually enjoy brooding over troubles — both their own and other people? I sometimes wonder that when I see a group of women avidly and apparently delightedly intent upon some lugubrious tale of illness or misfortune.

"Yes, isn't it the saddest thing you ever heard? Her son comes home drunk night after night — terribly drunk, too, so that he sings and laughs and wakes up the neighbors. And she such a nice, respectable woman, and a widow, and he her only son. And they say she sits up every night till he gets in, no matter how late; just sits there in the dark by the window where she can watch for him. I declare, I almost cry sometimes when I hear him come in."

Doubtless Mrs. R., being a sympathetic woman, really was saddened by the tragedy of the poor little widowed mother sitting in the dark by the window straining her eyes into the night for the boy whose coming she feared as intensely as she longed for it.

And yet, if she were really moved almost to tears, if she really were saddened and depressed by the realization of the other woman's suffering, why then, did she pass along the story, knowing it would probably sadden and depress others?

Why, furthermore, did she tell it twice in the course of the afternoon when new comers arrived?

Why, moreover, did she tell it each time with new and vivid and depressing details, and almost — I truly

We spoke of all these things casually, but we dwell on none of them. It was our neighbor's misfortune that we reserved for that honor.

Of course, you have all noticed with what gusto any bearer of unpleasant news performs his mission.

"There is a diphtheria card on the Jones' door. They say it's the baby; and he's such a sickly little thing, too."

"Did you hear about Mrs. L.? Why, she was thrown from her carriage and broke her collar bone and three ribs, and they think she's injured internally."

"Isn't it terrible about Mr. R.? What, haven't you heard? Why, he's stole several thousand dollars from his bank. It's all in the afternoon papers—his picture and everything. Poor Mrs. R."

Can you deny that the bearers of news of that sort always seem to gloat over the precious morsels.

And yet we say: "Laugh and the world laughs with you. Weep and you weep alone."

I should think "weep and you have a delighted audience" would be nearer the mark.

How the Slaney Cousins Were Drowned

North Sydney, May 25.—The Newfoundland fishing schooner Gertrude, Capt. Walter Kennedy, arrived in port yesterday and reported the loss of two of her crew, David and Edward Slaney, on Quero Bank on the 14th inst. The two victims and Robert Slaney, a brother of Edward, were returning to the vessel after setting their trawls, and were sailing along in a moderate breeze of wind. When about two hundred feet from the schooner their dory upset. Capt. Kennedy, who saw the accident, at once ran forward to launch another dory to go to their rescue, but in manning the craft the thwart was broken and the half filled with water. Another dory was at once put in the water and hastened to the scene of the accident, but when the rescue party got there David and Edward Slaney had disappeared. Robert, however, was saved and taken on board the Gertrude. The victims of the accident were both young men, David being only 19 years of age, and Edward 20. They were first cousins, and belonged to St. Lawrence.

Shoal Harbor Notes.

On Thursday evening, May 25th, the Ladies' Mutual Endeavour Society of this place gave a very nice concert in the New Town Hall which is situated on the outskirts of the town, not far from Ryan's Ridge. The programme consisted of songs, dialogues, and recitations which were very bright and interesting. After the concert there was a Syrup Social and a Chicken Supper. After all the old folk had some home the "young fry" got together for a bit of sport which was kept up until the wee small hours of the morning. The proceeds of the evening will go toward purchasing material to complete the "Hall."

Work on the Bonavista Branch Railway is progressing very rapidly and quite a number of men are employed. The line is expected to be completed by the last of June. A fine station house has been erected at this end of the line which adds considerably to the appearance of the place.

Most of the people of this place have finished their gardening, and have gone to various places seeking employment, and we hope they will have a successful summer.

Genlemen.—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

He told them that he was not feeling badly after that he was temporary interment and instructed them as how best to get him entirely free from the sand which was packed tightly about him.

Meanwhile an ambulance had been summoned from the General Hospital, and he was taken there. His condition is not reported as serious, the pressure from the weight of the sand about his body and the particles of it which entered his nose and mouth while making him unfit for work have left no serious injury.—Montreal Star.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after meals, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

The "Tonk Piano" is a great favorite with all. It retains its clear bright tone without producing the jangle of the cheaply made piano. We put this characteristic against any other make in the world and offer this instrument in our great clearance and change of prices. CHESLEY WOODS, Sole Agent for Nfld.—ad114.

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Dr. Grenfell on the Starvation Stories and the Labrador.

Dear Sir, Editor.—A sheet of Newfoundland newspapers, containing angry articles denying the stories of starvation in Labrador, has just reached me. The first I heard of starvation in Labrador was from cuttings sent me from Canadian papers over a month ago.

The Associated Press called me up for confirmation, and I had to inform them I had nothing to give them, as I heard nothing; except I could tell them that the Government and the Mission had both taken extra precautions last year, owing to the heavy fishery to meet any such contingencies should they arise.

The only letters that had reached me then were from Dr. Hare, of Harrington, and Sister Bailey, of Forteau. Both told me that there was nothing that could not be met in their districts.

Dr. Grenfell's telegram to the Association in New York is only very brief, makes no mention of particulars, and as far as I know was never communicated to the press. His letter since received tells that the story of starvation on the east coast has been the worst that he has known since he has been there.

The chief agent of the Hudson Bay Company confirms this. The committee in New York, without consulting me, as I was away in the west, voted five hundred dollars to be sent to Dr. Grenfell. That is all that I have to tell you, and all I know, except that I have just sent to the Associated Press of Canada and the United States a telegram, signed by five of the leading St. John's merchants, stating the facts, and I have said that the authority of these gentlemen can be relied upon. No power on earth can control sensational reports in newspapers, so long as that pays so well both the reporters and the papers.

Dr. Grenfell's report is made after a personal travel along the whole east coast of Labrador, and his deductions are probably the most valuable and reliable that can be obtained. The press have only themselves to thank for their not so accurate text books. One copy of the St. John's newspaper sent me to-day in the very article in which it denits the possibility of so many as five thousand people being in a starving condition, makes the odd misprint of assigning the reason for this to the fact that there were only 33,900 people in Labrador at the last census. Were the parties to an article to have gone to the Associated Press, even Dr. Grenfell's statement that only a few barrels of flour are needed would scarcely serve to convey a correct estimate of the conditions. Sensational inaccuracies will probably persist in a competitive press until the millennium, and wise people know that the public discount here stories.

I should like, however, to take this opportunity to combat in the minds of your readers the utter misconception that this or any mission has anything to gain by false statements, specially exaggerating the poverty of the people. The very reverse is the truth. Men who give generously in these days only give sensibly, and the main reason advanced for not helping Labrador is that it appears, from the report of it, to be unfit for human habitation, and the charity expended upon it is therefore wasted.

I have been offered money to remove people and enable them to emigrate to the more favorable environment for fishermen of the Canadian Pacific Coast. It is just because I am a thorough optimist as to the capacity of Labrador and North Newfoundland to maintain a self-sufficient population, that I have been so long in trying to help it out. I believe that it is an environment that develops characteristics which the modern luxury of to-day of the human race makes ever increasingly desirable. It is without question a valuable timber area, and the first attempt to open it up—as Lord Northcliffe did Grand Falls—is to be made this year. Geologists who have been to Labrador state positively that the Archaean rocks, of which it is mostly composed, are identical with those that have given to the world the finest silver mines, invaluable nickel mines, and possibly the richest gold mines ever known.

A city of three hundred and fifty thousand people had grown up within a day's journey of all this immense wealth before it was discovered. The prospecting done as yet has been so infinitesimal that Labrador may be yet as wealthy as Klondike or Cobalt, in spite of prospectors having so far found nothing. Newfoundlanders may remember how long Bell Isle iron lay undiscovered, close to the Capital. A few years ago a valuable tract of a thousand acres was presented to the University of Minnesota. The President told me a few days ago that the value of that piece is now estimated as between forty and two hundred million dollars owing to its iron deposits. The power resources of Labrador are enormous; Professor Low estimated that the Grand Falls alone could drive every railway in Canada. The scenic attractions of the Hamilton Valley and the northern fjords will yet return a vast income from tourists traffic. It seems likely that the domestic reinder, which need no artificial feeding, will afford a valuable contribution of good meat food and travelling facilities in the not very distant future. The capacity of its fishery, sealery and fur traffic are already known. Labrador is comparatively quite unknown, and it is unfortunate that the travelers on transatlantic steamers see only the low and barren southern edge.

The results of the International Ocean Research clearly show the immense economic value of scientific study of fishery conditions. Ten nations have been devoting their labors to the solution of the two problems of how to extend the fishery areas, and how to obtain the most beneficial and economical results from fisheries. Newfoundland in my opinion has suffered more than we can estimate from the withdrawal of the scientific investigation of its fisheries. We who have spent the perfect season of spring travelling, largely by motor, through these luxuriant lands of central and eastern America would naturally be tempted to condemn the entire northeast section of the continent, which is apparently so much less favoured by nature, as undesirable for human habitation. It is only because I firmly believe that this is a superficial view, and that this is a capacity yet undeveloped, that I am reconciled to the idea of ever returning to work there.

Sluggish Liver Action

Causes indigestion, constipation and bilious headache.—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the cure. "Sluggish liver has been my trouble," writes Mrs. L. P. Smith, Paris, Ont. "and I have been greatly benefited by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have taken medicines from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I could not keep up, and do my work, if I did not use these pills when the bilious spells come on, and I have recommended them to many."

Dr. Chase's medicines were about the only kind that came into my father's house 40 or 50 years ago, and they were always satisfactory. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, definite and direct in their action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and are therefore the most effective treatment obtainable for indigestion, indigestion and constipation. 25 cents a box, 5 for $1.00, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

"Ne Temere" Decree

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—The very best answer to the sermon of Archbishop Howley on the Marriage Law and Ne Temere Decree (a synopsis of which is published in the Telegram of 22nd inst) is the text of the decision of the House of Bishops of the Anglican Church in Canada (vide page 7 Telegram, 23rd inst), signed by the Primate and the Archbishop of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada, and which is commended to the careful perusal of all Protestants.

The Anglican Church in Canada therein sets forth its reasons as to why there should be one marriage law throughout the Empire, notwithstanding anything the Roman Catholic Church may say to the contrary, and with no uncertain sound enunciates its stand against divorce and the remarriage of divorcees by its clergy. The claim that Roman Catholicism stands alone against divorce is palpably absurd.

It is far from the intentions of Protestants to have any thing (to quote His Grace) against the Roman Catholic religion, but when the Roman hierarchy seeks to subordinate State law to its own pronouncement and decrees, it follows that British subjects will resent and protest strongly against such arrogation. With regard to people not knowing anything about it, we would remind His Grace that the Canadian House of Bishops knows as much about it as he does.

Again, and with all due respect to the Roman Catholic Archbishop of St. John's, we would request him to show forth more plainly wherein the British North American Act guarantees to Roman Catholics the right to place the Ecclesiastical above the Civil law, also to show wherein the rights and privileges claimed by the Bishop of Rome are guaranteed in the Treaty of Paris, 1763, when all Canada was ceded by France to Great Britain, and became from that day an integral portion of the British Empire.

Yours truly, ORANGEMAN, Channel, May 25, 1911.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured. It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden."

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles can be obtained at DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, Duckworth Street and Theatre Hill. S. O. E. Service

The members of Dudley and Empire Lodges paraded to Gower Street Methodist Church yesterday under the direction of Bro. S. G. Collier. Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite preached the sermon from the text, "God has increased the nation." It was a masterly effort and all were much pleased with the service, which was held in honor of Empire Day. After coming back to the hall votes of thanks were passed to the choir, clergy and organist.

"Standard" Bread

made from Standard Flour is a meal in itself! White Bread is not.

ELLIS & Co. Limited, 203 Water-st.,

Just received the first consignment of the Celebrated STANDARD FLOUR.

What is STANDARD BREAD? STANDARD BREAD is not a patent food, or a patent bread. It is just good sound bread, and it is called "STANDARD" by everyone, because it agrees with a standard fixed by eight eminent medical men in a Manifesto, published first by the "Daily Mail" on January 26th, 1911, and since widely re-published by the newspapers of the world.

Since the doctors first published their Manifesto, STANDARD BREAD has been welcomed everywhere. For years it has been supplied to the King and Queen at Windsor Castle, and at Buckingham Palace. It is eaten by rich and poor, by young and old, by healthy people and sick people.

STANDARD BREAD has been used for years at many of the great hospitals for Consumption.

STANDARD BREAD made from STANDARD FLOUR has been completely summed up by a Harley Street Surgeon in this statement:— "The short stature, the pale face, the weak chests, and the general degeneracy of the present generation, are greatly due to WHITE bread diet."

STANDARD BREAD made from STANDARD FLOUR is all right. Doctors and learned scientists have declared with no uncertain voice for the plain unadorned product of the WHEAT BERRY.

The trouble started when a man commenced to "Paint the Lily" to improve on nature.

STANDARD FLOUR contains 80 per cent of the WHOLE WHEAT, including the germ and semolina.

Concert at Millertown.

A splendid entertainment was given in the town hall at Millertown on the evening of Empire day by the scholars of the day school. Great credit is due Mr. C. F. Davis, the untiring principal of the school through whose efforts the affair was brought to such a successful conclusion—successful both financially and otherwise. The concert which commenced at 7.30 was opened by an address from the chairman, Mr. A. U. Wood in his usual happy manner. Miss J. St. Croix presided at the piano. At the end of the programme Mr. A. A. Alcock in a very neat speech proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Davis and scholars for the splendid evening's entertainment which was seconded by Rev. H. A. Morgan. Mr. Wood put the proposition before the audience which was carried with hearty applause. Mr. Davis in a pleasing speech replied to the vote of thanks, and at the same time very thoughtfully referred to the assistance given him by some of the grown up people which helped to make the concert one of the best ever held in Millertown. Well done Mr. Davis.—Com.

The Prospero Arrives.

The S. S. Prospero, Capt. A. Kean, arrived from the Northward at 10.30 Saturday night bringing considerable freight including 700 lbs. herring from Nipsey's Harbor, cod in casks and other freight. The ship on the run North had very fine weather and went to Hawk's Harbour where she arrived Tuesday morning last. On the way she called into Venston Tickle, and arrived at Battle Harbor Monday evening at 7 o'clock. The ship remained all night at Battle Harbor, it being dark with a jam of ice about and she found the floe packed tight on Cape Bluff so that she could not attempt to force further north and had to come back south. Coming back the ship ran through a lot of loose ice shot in while she was down at Hawk's Harbor. She left to come south at noon on Tuesday last and had fine weather coming south, making all ports of call. She left Bay de Verde at 7 p.m. Saturday and made a quick run from that place here. Her passengers were—Messrs. Dean, Metcalf, Osmond, Sheering, Ledrew, Howell, Lewis, Ford, Bartle, Hodges, Tiller, Bransfield, Yetman, Oakley, Cornick, Pittman, Rev. S. Facey, Mess. James Strong, Spurrell, Winsor, Lily, Misses Childs, Starr, Spurrell and 62 in steerage.

Northern Fishery News

The Prospero reports a good sign of codfish at different places. North. At Bonavista all the traps are nearly out and the people are getting a few quintals in them daily. At King's Cove the fishery has opened with the promise of an exceptional voyage and some of the traps have from 30 to 50 quintals already under salt. In Trinity Bay also there is a very good sign of fish. traps are picking up a few quintals daily, and one fisherman has 70 qts. landed to-date. The fish is of a large run and evidently well fed.

Stole Hides Worth $60.

Saturday, two young men, brothers, and of a respectable family, were arrested by the police, being caught red-handed almost, in the larceny of cow hides which they stole from Thompson's Tannery in the West End, and disposed of to Mr. J. J. McLean, who purchased them open and above board believing that the vendors had come by them honestly. It appears that the prisoners watched their opportunity during the past couple of weeks to steal the hides from Thompson's place when the coast was clear and bring them to McLean's place. Saturday Mr. Thompson found out from Mr. McLean that the prisoners had brought the hides there and on an examination of them proved them to be his property. When the dishonest sellers went to get their money they were identified and arrested.

Uncle Walt
THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

The youth before the maiden bows; her life he'd like to cherish; he springs a catalogue of vows—for her he'd gladly perish. Most lovers deal in vow and sigh, and all kinds of emotion, and tell how LOVER and cheerfully they'd die to show their deep devotion. Ah, HUSBAND love, my fellowmen, has wings, and soars to stellar glories; and maidens, sweet, romantic things, believe all sorts. They ought to put the lid on vows, and interrupt the sighing, and softly say: "Nixummarouse! What is the use of dying? You say you love me flity ways, and I admire you fairish, but it would gladden up my days if you should go and perish? Get down to large brass 'ficks, dear soul, for vows are cheap and spindling; will you supply the house with coal, and pack in all the kindling? Will you on washday not repine, or breathe of fire and slaughter, but help to hang things on the line, and lug in tubs of water? And when the butcher knife is blunt will you be prompt to sharp it? And will you do a sweeping stunt, and beat the parlor carpet? And will you set the table, dear, while I the meat am frying? Now, make your attitude quite clear, and can this talk of dying!"

Another Good Man Gone Home.

Martin Barron, aged 82, died suddenly this morning. Mr. Barron was a good, honest industrious citizen. He was engaged in the fisheries all his lifetime and was always successful. When Mr. John Whelan, of St. Mary's, died about 30 years ago, it was said that if 5 qts. of fish was in or around the waters of Cape St. Mary's, he would have 3 qts. of it. The same can truthfully be said of Mr. Martin Barron. When he was in his prime he could spend as many hours in a standing room, between a pair of lines, or as long on the bow of a skiff as any man. In his early days, when the fishery was over, he would spend the fall months cutting birch and taking it to St. Pierre, and in spring bringing herring to the French for bait. He brought many handkerchiefs of gold home from this work. Mr. Barron was a producer in every sense of the word of our country.

Special to Evening Telegram.

NEW YORK, To-Day. A cable to the Tribune from London says: The mellowing effect of the London hospitality and loyalty is apparent already in the conduct of the Colonial Premiers. Mr. Ward's constructive policy of Imperial Federation has been coldly received by his colleagues, because neither Mr. Asquith nor Mr. Harcourt are prepared to consider it. Mr. Fisher left Australia with the determination to smash the Declaration of London. Sir Edward Grey and the other Ministers have succeeded in modifying his views in this point, so the Declaration may escape censure. Mr. Fisher is not so great a personality as Mr. Deacon was at the last Conference, nor does he command the support of his colleagues from New Zealand or of Sir Wilfred Laurier. Both are great men in conference and warm friends. They think alike regarding Colonial politics.

Tim Shannahan Objects to Being Gored by a Bull.

The Cute Man favours encouraging Agriculture, but draws the line on being gored by a bull. This town, he says, is becoming too dangerous to walk through, except you are armed with a swelling gun, and as 'tis not convenient to bring a gun around with you all day, he'd suggest that all bulls be driven to their last resting place at the hour of midnight or at early dawn. The Cute Man doesn't believe in getting a half column of newspaper notoriety as a balm after you have been gored by a bull. 'Tisn't good, enough, he says, and we shouldn't wait till some respectable citizen has been laid low, to stop bulls having charge of the town. We are a brave people, he says, and it takes a long time for us to wake up. 'Twill cause a great commotion in the city, when some unfortunate human being is carried to the morgue after being gored by a bull. All the papers will give a graphic account of how it happened and some of the grand folks will send roses to adorn the coffin of the victim who got gored. 'Tis more than likely he'll have a bigger funeral than if he died a natural death, and probably a few flags will hang half mast for a couple of days. But the Cute Man thinks all this is not sufficient recompense to the man or woman who undergoes the torture. For goodness sake, let the authorities get the machinery agoing and stop the bull procession before some one is ushered into eternity. Bulls are all right, safely tied up with a ring in their nose. They are also very attractive when cut up in small pieces and baked with onions; but having the freedom of the city, they cause a fluttering in the heart of nervous citizens, which is by no means an aid to good health. What's wrong with making another new official, and call him—"The protector of Citizens re the goring of Bulls."

Had Good Fishing.

There was good fishing on the Cape Shore Saturday and all the dorles at Angel's Cove and Patrick's Cove were loaded.

"MAGGIE SULLIVAN" HERE.

The well known coarser Maggie Sullivan, arrived here on C. F. Bennett & Co. yesterday from Hall's Bay. She is now a fine staunch schr. having been repaired at Hall's Bay the past winter.

Had Narrow Escape.

While Walter Coffey was coming into Patrick's Cove Friday with his dory deeply laden with cod, when about a gun shot off shore the dory suddenly went over and the man was thrown into the water. He was heavily clad and would have drowned but that his father and others put out a boat and were just in time to save him. He was chilled and exhausted from his immersion.

Arrested for Stealing Money.

For some time past a lady who keeps a little store in the West End has been missing small sums of money from the till in the shop and could not account for its disappearance. A young chap who worked in a barber shop nearby often ran into the shop for a few moments but was never suspected of wrong doing, and it came as a surprise when he was arrested Saturday afternoon on the charge of having stolen the cash. Recently a member of the police was informed of the disappearance of the money, and a trap was set for the dishonest one. Some marked coins were placed in the till, and after he had been there he was rounded up and the marked money was found in his possession.

The Carthaginian Here

The S. S. Carthaginian arrived here from Liverpool at 4.50 p.m. yesterday after a passage of 8 days. She left there at 2.30 p.m. on the 20th and had fair weather all the way. She brought 24 packages mail matter, and her passengers were:—Hon. J. C. Crosbie, S. Cox, R. M. Grogan, E. H. LeGros, Rev. Jas. Haldane, Mrs. Heussler, P. Holmwood, J. Huntriss, Mrs. Huntriss, Hon. Geo. Knowling, Mrs. Knowling, Mr. Leete, Mr. Marks, P. C. Mars, Miss M. Meekin, Mrs. W. A. Rush, Miss B. H. Rush, 8 intermediate and 6 in stowage.

Icebergs Numerous and Dangerous.

The Prospero reports numerous icebergs right along the coast from Battle Harbor to St. John's. They are of all sizes and shapes and many are ground. At Baccalieu Tickle there is one of a very large size, about one quarter of a mile in length, lying very low in the water up and down the Tickle. This is aground and is the same berg which the schr. Atlanta collided with and was stove so badly before being towed here by the Beothic a couple of Sundays ago.

Sermon by Fr. Pippy.

Rev. Father Pippy preached at the R. C. Cathedral last night from the text: "Go ye therefore and teach all nations; behold I am with you always even to the end of the world; Thou art Peter and upon this Rock I will build My Church, the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." The discourse was eloquent and instructive.

Skin Like Velvet.

Is greatly to be desired and is very attractive. There is one sure way of making your skin like velvet, and that is by using Snow Cream. It is neither sticky nor greasy, and the general verdict is "it makes your skin like velvet." W. T. COURTNEY, the Prescription Pharmacy, corner Duckworth and Prescott Streets, sells the Cream at 25c. per bot.—t.

S.S. Susu Here.

The S. S. Susu, Capt. Horwood, arrived here yesterday forenoon from Fortune Bay to Crosbie & Co. The captain reports the weather stormy on the southwest coast the past two weeks. The fishery is almost a complete failure since the middle of May and the bankers that have arrived had poor trips except Capt. Hollett and one of the others.

The Collegians Win.

The second inter-collegiate cricket match was played Saturday afternoon between the Methodist and Feildian College teams. The Methodist lads who played a dashing game won easily by a run and 9 wickets. The only good scores made on the Feildian side were by C. Martin, 17, not out in the second innings, and F. Jerritt, 12. For the Methodists Joffe and Hayward scored 10 and 15, respectively. Messrs. Bray and Seymour were umpires.

Here and There.

TURNED UP, O.K.—The man, Wilson reported missing last week turned up O.K. He had been in a boarding house in the East End.

DIPHTHERIA.—J. Maynard, of Flatrock, was sent to Hospital on Friday. He developed diphtheria the day previous.

SNOW FELL YESTERDAY.—Yesterday morning snow fell to a depth of two inches between Piacenta Junction and Clarendville.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL.—Sandy Kane fell in a fit Saturday night, on Adelaide Street. He had to be taken home to Field Street in a cab.

VESSELS COLLIDE.—The S. S. Benedick collided with the Viking when hauling out from Bowring's South Side premises Saturday. Her jibboom was carried away.

BROKE HIS LEG.—An East End labourer working on the S. S. Benedick fell and put his ankle out of joint, Saturday, when jumping from the steamer to Bowring's launch. He had to be assisted home.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mr. Thomas Fitzpatrick desires to thank the many friends who sympathized with him in his sad bereavement also those who sent wreaths to adorn the casket of his beloved wife.—may29,t

A TOUCHING REFERENCE.—Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite in the course of his sermon at Gower Street Church last night made a touching reference to the death of the late Mrs. Bishop, wife of Hon. R. K. Bishop. The organist played the Dead March in Saul at the conclusion of the service.

FELL IN EPILEPTIC FIT.—A young lad named Donnelly fell in an epileptic fit on Hamilton Street last evening. He was taken up by three young men who happened to be passing, Messrs. Garland, Morris and Lidstone, and brought to the West End Fire Station. Dr. Shankel was called in by Capt. Keane to attend the boy.

THE ALMERIANA HERE.—The Furness liner Almeriana arrived here from Liverpool at 7.30 a.m. yesterday after a run of 10 days, during which she had variable weather, including some fog, and met several icebergs on this coast. She brought 340 tons cargo but no passengers for the port, though she has two in transit for Halifax.

THEY DEMAND INCREASE.—The 70 men—transfers—employed by Mr. Charles Leary gave him notice Saturday that they would require in future $1.35 per day, and if he could not meet the demand by to-morrow evening they would quit work. They have been receiving $1.20 per day. It is likely the matter will be amicably settled.

SUMMER WEATHER NORTH.—The crew of the Prospero say that practically summer weather prevails in the far north of the island and down at the Battle Harbor section of Labrador. When the ship was there it was nice and warm, with the sun shining daily and warm S. and S. W. winds prevailing. In White Bay the people have put in their crops, such as potatoes, cabbage, &c., and expect to have comparatively early results. And we here are having frost and snow. What a comparison!

Coast Filled With Schools of Herring.

The S. S. Prospero reports numerous schools of herring right along the coast down North. This is especially the case in Grech Bay and also applies to Bonavista Bay. Big hauls were made at Nipper's Harbor, but the people were short of barrels to pack them in. James Bowers of that place stowed away over 100 barrels in pounds, after he had salted them, until he could get barrels to place them in. The fish are large and of exceptionally good quality. Salmon is also becoming plentiful on the coast.

M. G. B. PARADE.—The Methodist Guards under command of Major Hutchings paraded to Cochrane Street Church yesterday morning to attend Divine service. The turn-out was very imposing, there being 132 members in the ranks. Rev. F. R. Matthews, the Chaplain of the brigade, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Mr. Westlake, Chaplain of B. Co. Rev. F. R. Matthews delivered an instructive sermon.

Miss Martha Tobin, of Manuels, arrived here recently from New York to visit her sister who is very ill.

The Slattery Memorial Wing.

The Slattery Memorial Wing at Mount Cashel is rapidly nearing completion. It will contain two splendid large airy dormitories, a fine well-lighted schoolroom and a basement recreation and drill hall. Bro. Ennis had the great pleasure of meeting a deputation last week of the Masons and Stonecutters' Union. The members of this progressive Association have volunteered to finish the slating of the roof and any other work in their line free of all expense. The first crew of eight or ten men goes to work this evening, and they will be followed by others till the job is complete. The members of the Union deserve every congratulation for their warm-hearted and public spirited action, and it must be gratifying to Bro. Ennis and his able staff of self-denying Brothers, who are doing such noble work for the orphans at Mount Cashel, to get such a spontaneous evidence of sympathy and practical assistance. The Rev. Superintendent expects to have the building complete in every detail before the annual rally of the friends of the orphans at Mount Cashel at the garden party in July, which is expected by those interested to eclipse even the greatest successes of previous years.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, May 29, '11. To protect the throat and air passages in damp and cold weather, it is well to have some good antiseptic Lozenge at hand, which can be used at the first indication of irritation in larynx or bronchial tubes—or even before as a preventive. Such a Lozenge is the Pine Tree Lozenge, which has proven of very great service in such cases, and is recommended for general use to prevent or relieve hoarseness, throat irritation and cough. Price 25c. a box. An Ideal Counter-Irritant. When counter-irritation is required, as in muscular cramps and pains, rheumatism, and in some cases of cold and bronchitis, McMurdo's Chille Paste will do the work thoroughly without causing any unnecessary irritation to the skin. Try a bottle. Price 25c.

Destitution on the Labrador.

When the Prospero was at St. Anthony she gave the s.s. Strathcona a supply of coal, and she will try and get down the Labrador coast to relieve the destitution which exists down there. Those on the ship say that there is a great shortage of provisions north of Hawk's Harbor and down to Cartwright. Thirty barrels of flour were left by the Prospero at St. Anthony and 20 barrels at Battle Harbor, and this the Strathcona will take along. It is uncertain, however, as to whether she will get north as there was a heavy jam of ice north of Hawk's Harbor. If she does not get down, conditions will be serious for the people of the coast, who, if not actually starving, are on the verge of it.

Congregational Church

Rev. Dr. McCallum and Mrs. Butler, two distinguished missionaries, who arrived by the Carthaginian yesterday, will preach at the Congregational Church to-night. Admission will be free and there will be no collection. Rev. Mr. McCallum, who comes from Turkey, is son of Rev. Dr. McCallum who was in St. John's, N.F., in 1896 and filled the pulpit of the Congregational Church after the retirement of Rev. Mr. Sidall. Mrs. Butler is returning from Central India and no doubt has a good story to tell.

JOINT CORONATION PARADE.—We understand that a meeting of the commanding officers of the city brigades was again held Saturday night when it was decided to hold a joint parade Coronation Day, the C. L. B., C. C. C. and Highlanders turning out in the order named.

CONCERT ON SHIPBOARD.—Friday night a very enjoyable concert was held on board the Carthaginian. Instrumental selections were given by several saloon and intermediate passengers. Hon. J. C. Crosbie took the chair and a goodly sum was subscribed for the Sailors and Orphans' Home.

FURS VERY PLENTIFUL.—We learn by the Prospero that the past winter trappers and hunters of wild animals found them very plentiful on the Labrador, especially in the vicinity of Cartwright. Foxes especially were numerous and the trappers secured 40 of different species, including three silver hairs, valued at about $400 each.
