During the anxious times of illness

BOVRIL gives strength

Prevents that Sinking Feeling

The Countess of Landon.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

"Yes, certainly," he said. "We must not neglect our duty while we have strength to discharge it. I will go into the library and see them there, please."

He went down to the library and seated himself in the arm-chair at the table, and assumed the expression of face and manner which befits a county magistrate in the discharge of his duties. There was a stale odor of brandy in the room, and as it recalled the scene of his parting from Royce, his face grew rather ugly and vicious, but it resumed its proper expression as the door opened and a footman ushered in the two constables and Jake.

Seymour half started from his chair, and glared at them with a mixture of anger and fear. Jake was handcuffed, his velvet coat hung in rags, a smear of blood added to the ordinary possession of his countenance, and his eyes met Seymour's startled ones with a mixture of cunning and self-defence which increased Seymour's uneasiness.

"What is this? Why—why do you bring this fellow here?" he stammered.

The constables looked rather surprised and crest-fallen by this reception.

"Beg pardon, my lord," said one—the sergeant. "My mate found this man going along the London Road. He was sneaking along under the ledge in a suspicious sort of way, and my man stopped him and asked him who he was, and what he was doing out at that time of night. As he wouldn't or couldn't give him a satisfactory account of himself, my man told him that he should have to take him to the station. Then he pounced upon my man, and would have done him a serious injury and got clean away if my man hadn't got at his whistle and I hadn't happened to be near and hear it. As it was, we had a hard tussle with him, my lord—"

Seymour broke in: "Get to the point, sergeant. Why did you bring him here? The station is the proper place."

"Yes, my lord," assented the sergeant, respectfully. "We took him

there and searched him—he being a suspicious character—and we found these upon him."

He drew a packet from his pocket, opened it, and spread out the diamonds on the table in front of Seymour.

Seymour started and changed color. "They are my mother's—the countess's—diamonds," he said.

The constable looked pleased and self-satisfied.

"Yes, my lord," he said, "that's what I suspected, and I charged him with stealing them. But he had the audacity to say that they had been given to him." The sergeant smiled. "In the ordinary way, I should have looked him up at once and entered the charge, but the man stuck to it hard and fast that they'd been given to him—by Mrs. Landon, he said, my lord, begging your pardon," he put it apologetically. "Of course, we knew it would be as well if we brought him up here for identification, and get you to sign the warrant, my lord."

Seymour was very pale by this time and he sat for a moment silently looking down at the diamonds, his white lids surrounding his eyes.

He considered the situation carefully.

It was just possible that Madge had given him the diamonds as a bribe to get him out of the way but who was to say that she had? She and Royce would, in all probability, have crossed the sea before the man's trial could come on, and without direct and convincing proof no one could believe the man's assertion. If he were found guilty of stealing the jewels he would get at least three or seven years penal servitude, and so, providentially, the vagabond who had denounced him last night would be put out of the way for a time, at any rate.

He stole a glance at Jake, then lowered his eyes again, for there was something in the man's face, the way he was taking the affair, which, in a vague, indescribable fashion, made Seymour uneasy. He pondered for another minute, with a judicial look on his face. Yes, the man should go to penal servitude.

"You were quite right, sergeant," he said. "The prisoner's story is ridiculous, of course. These diamonds were worn by Mrs. Landon last night, and—er—the fellow was here, as you may have heard."

"We hear something of it, my lord," assented the sergeant, discreetly.

"Just so," said Seymour. "If I remember rightly, Mrs. Landon went out on to the terrace with him—I think she knew something of him—to persuade him to go away quietly, and, no doubt, he seized the opportunity and abused her goodness by snatching the diamonds from her."

"Just so, my lord," said the sergeant, delighted with his lordship's commendation. "I suppose Mrs. Landon will be good enough to identify him."

"Er—Mrs. Landon has gone away on a visit," said Seymour. "But there need be no difficulty in identifying the prisoner. I should not like to trouble Mrs. Landon to give evidence."

"Certainly not, my lord," assented the sergeant, promptly. "One or two of the servants who saw him—"

Seymour rang the bell. "Send one or two of the servants who—er—saw this man here last night," he said to the butler.

His lordship was not kept waiting long for the simple reason that nearly all the household was collected outside the door, and when it was opened, not one or two, but nearly a dozen, entered the room.

Seymour frowned slightly.

"I do not want all of you," he said. "Which of you saw this man last night?"

Half a dozen replied: "I did, my lord."

"Very good," said Seymour, taking up a pen. "He has been found with some of her ladyship's jewels upon him. You may have seen Mrs. Landon wearing them?"

"Yes, my lord; I noticed them particular," said a footman, eagerly. He was one of those who had struggled with Jake under the picture and he surveyed the prisoner with keen satisfaction. "I could swear to 'em, my lord; so could all of us—and the man, too, my lord."

"That will do," said Seymour, curtly.

He dropped the pen in the ink, and drew a sheet of foolscap paper toward him.

"What is your name, prisoner?" he asked.

Jake was silent for a moment, then his lips twisting into an ugly smile: "My name's Jakson Hooper," he said, quietly enough, but in a tone of assurance and covert insolence that caused Seymour to glance up at him.

As he did so he met the man's eyes fixed upon him with a curiously cunning leer in them.

"What occupation?" he asked, cracking down the strange uneasiness which the man's look had produced.

"I'm a gentleman," said Jake.

A fitter and smile of amusement ran round the spectators at this announcement.

"Silence!" said Seymour, sternly, and every face grew grave and wooden instantly.

"You refuse to state," said Seymour. "I suppose you are a vagabond and a tramp?"

"Oh, no, I'm not!" said Jake, with a coolness and effrontery which amazed the on-lookers. "I'll tell you all about myself, if you'll send this pack of gasping fools away—my lord."

The sergeant gave him a shake. "Behave yourself before his lordship!" he growled.

"Behave yourself!" retorted Jake, turning on him savagely. "I'll teach you to bully me presently, my fellow. You keep your hands off me! I'm going to bring an action for false imprisonment and assault against you before many hours are over. Ah! you may grin; but you'll grin on the other side of your mouths—all of you!"—he glared at Seymour—"before long."

"If you'll make out the warrant I'll take him away," said the sergeant, apologetically. "This is the kind of stuff he has treated us to ever since we took him in custody."

Seymour's hand shook as he held the pen. It is said that at critical moments of our lives we are unconsciously protected by our guardian angel whether it be a black or a celestial one. Seymour's angel—a black one—whispered to him to leave the warrant unsigned, but Seymour turned from the inner warning and put the pen to paper.

The morning had become overcast, and rain was falling. In the silence of the room it could be heard beating against the window. Suddenly the noise was increased, as if the rain had turned to hail, and Seymour glanced behind him. The pen fell from his hand, and he started. A woman was standing at the window, and tapping.

In ten years from to-day a fellow will huffa to go up alleys, turn to the left and rap three times in order to buy a package of chewing gum.

NEW YORK—Quintin Romero, the Chilean heavyweight, imported by Tex Rickard as a possible successor to Luis Firpo in the American prize ring, to-day realized that his dream of becoming champion of the world had advanced no further than his dream stage. On the other hand, Floyd Johnson, of Iowa, stood in the midst of boxing circles as "The man who might come back."

The young South American's dream of wearing the most prized crown in all fightdom was rudely broken by the thud of his own body when the husky middle westerner sent him to the canvas in the seventh round, of their ten round bout at Madison Square Gardens last night. It was Romero's debut in this country.

But before he was eliminated, the swartly Chilean reinforced the conviction left by Luis Firpo that South Americans can fight. Four times before the knockout the invader, streaming blood, was beaten to the canvas; but after the second of these falls, he sent Johnson sprawling and after the fourth he returned with such a stream of fury that sent the American reeling before him in the ring.

Then the glory departed for Quinton, unable to launch an effective assault upon his adversary, he nevertheless refused to quit, but compelled Johnson to beat his form with blood. The knockout blow came in the seventh round after the Chilean had been knocked from corner to corner, sagging but striving mightily to evade the knockout.

Continuation following the knockout was caused by an inadvertent ringing of the gong which at first gave the impression that the fight had been

Wants $150,000 to Fight Walker

Benny Leonard After Big Fight To Meet Britton's Successor In No-Decision Bout.

NEW YORK—Benny Leonard, the world's lightweight champion, whose proposed match against Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, has been a topic of discussion for months as one of the outdoor season's most promising ring battles, will demand $150,000 for a twelve-round no-decision contest against the successor to Jack Britton, according to the statement of Leonard's manager, Billy Gibson. In addition to demanding this guarantee, Leonard will request a reasonable percentage privilege, Gibson said. Gibson, however, declined to divulge exactly what he would consider a "reasonable percentage privilege."

Promoter Tex Rickard has been dickering for this match for the past six months without as yet having experienced any success in actually signing the boxers Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker for the Tarke Stadium and the Polo Grounds, also is seeking the match. Gibson declared his acceptance of the match, now it is up to Walker, adding that he made his demand for $150,000 for Leonard on the basis of a $600,000 "gate" if Walker and Leonard clashed in Rickard's arena in Jersey City. The lightweight champion's manager would not discuss what terms he would ask if Johnston secured the bout and scheduled it to an official decision.

Romero Put Up Game Fight, But Was Knocked Out

CHILEAN ASPIRANT FOR TITLE BADLY BATTERED BY FLOYD JOHNSON.

NEW YORK—Quintin Romero, the Chilean heavyweight, imported by Tex Rickard as a possible successor to Luis Firpo in the American prize ring, to-day realized that his dream of becoming champion of the world had advanced no further than his dream stage. On the other hand, Floyd Johnson, of Iowa, stood in the midst of boxing circles as "The man who might come back."

The young South American's dream of wearing the most prized crown in all fightdom was rudely broken by the thud of his own body when the husky middle westerner sent him to the canvas in the seventh round, of their ten round bout at Madison Square Gardens last night. It was Romero's debut in this country.

But before he was eliminated, the swartly Chilean reinforced the conviction left by Luis Firpo that South Americans can fight. Four times before the knockout the invader, streaming blood, was beaten to the canvas; but after the second of these falls, he sent Johnson sprawling and after the fourth he returned with such a stream of fury that sent the American reeling before him in the ring.

Then the glory departed for Quinton, unable to launch an effective assault upon his adversary, he nevertheless refused to quit, but compelled Johnson to beat his form with blood. The knockout blow came in the seventh round after the Chilean had been knocked from corner to corner, sagging but striving mightily to evade the knockout.

Continuation following the knockout was caused by an inadvertent ringing of the gong which at first gave the impression that the fight had been stopped and Johnson awarded a technical knockout. A fist fight staged about the ring finally was broken up by police reserves, and it was announced that Johnson had scored a clean knockout after one minute and forty-seven seconds of the seventh round.

Loses Life Trying to rescue Comrade

FROM DEADLY FUMES.

The heroism was shown during a fight with deadly fumes at the Midland Tar Distillery, Oldbury, near Birmingham.

A workman named Walter Heap, on entering a still, was overcome. A companion, George Challis, rushed to the rescue, but collapsed.

In spite of this, another workman, named Arthur Hebert, made a desperate effort to rescue his comrades but he also failed to return.

Rescue cuts, which the works are equipped, were then sent for, and Caleb Mason, wearing a respiratory mask, entered the still. The mask proved only a partial protection.

After a struggle, he reappeared with Challis, who, however, had paid for his heroism with his life.

Mr. Robinson, the under manager, then entered the still, and the other men were got out. Heap was also dead, and Hebert is in hospital in a critical condition.

"I Avoided an Operation Appendicitis Disappeared"

Mrs. James Wells, Udora, Ont., writes:—

"I took a severe pain in my right side. It was very bad at times. I tried oils and tablets without gaining any relief. The doctor pronounced it chronic appendicitis. I dreaded an operation and a friend advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I used them and not only obtained relief from pain, but I believe it has completely freed me of appendicitis, as it is now over a year since I have had any of the old symptoms."

TRAWLER ASHORE AT FORCHU ISLAND, CAPE BRETON. HALIFAX, N.S., May 26. With one member of her crew drowned and the other in immediately danger, a Grimsby trawler believed to be the Mikado, fishing out of Sydney was reported ashore on the west side of Forchu Island, Cape Breton, in a message received at ten o'clock this morning by C. H. Harvey, local agent for the Marine and Fisheries Department. The message was from the lightkeeper on Forchu and only gave a few details, beyond stating that a steamer was ashore on West Forchu, that one man had been drowned and others were clinging to the spars. The markings on the bows of the wreck read G.Y. 1233, the message said. The lightkeeper said he was making every effort to save the crew but impressed Mr. Harvey with the necessity for sending immediate assistance. Mr. Harvey at once wired Sydney and Louisburg to send whatever assistance possible; and also sent a radio message to the Canadian Government steamer Montcalm which is in the vicinity of Cabot Strait, hoping that it might be possible for that vessel to make for the scene of the wreck on Forchu. Despatches last night reported the British steamer Shakespeare in difficulty ten miles from this port; but information reaching Lloyd's Agent this morning stated that it was the trawler Mikado and not the Shakespeare that was being reported last night and it is believed here that the vessel on Forchu Island is the Mikado.

"The Dangerous Paradise"

ANOTHER EXTRA BIG PROGRAM AT THE MAJESTIC.

The large audience at the Majestic last night complimented the management upon the splendid programme.

"The Dangerous Paradise" is another one of those special features arranged for some time ago Louise Huff, the beautiful silver screen star is seen at her best in this remarkable story.

The patrons were greatly pleased with the unusual production and with out exception it is the best in Selznick features seen in St. John's.

"The Dangerous Paradise" is unlike many other features but it is probably the one and only outstanding special which everyone will enjoy. The Majestic artists Misses McShane and Habel are enjoying a very successful run by reason of their talented work.

did series of violin selections and to-night they are repeating the splendid solo, "Only a Tiny Garden" songs as will be noted in the Majestic advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

"My Dream Girl" by these two performers was an excellent number, what seemed to please the audience most was the violinist's popular selection which evoked continuous applause which was checked only by the singing and playing of that very pleasing number, "Stand Up and Sing For Your Daddy," which was rendered in masterly style. Misses McShane and Habel were again compelled to respond to the constant applause of the patrons. The entire show is far above the average and should not be missed by any admirer of good pictures, first class songs and music.

Immense Big Show at the Nickel

TWO SOLID HOURS OF MOTION PICTURE ENTERTAINMENT.

Last night's show at the Nickel was two solid hours of motion picture entertainment, which of course, will be repeated to-night. The film entitled "Close Harmony" is a new innovation in screen story, as it embraces a number of incidents in everybody's life that recall the songs we used to sing. The audience caught the idea and with the assistance of Prof. McCarby the songs, as they appeared on the screen, were rendered by the audience. With a background of tumbling seas, furious gales and the sweep of far horizons "Stormswept," with Wallace and Noah Beery in the leading roles, was shown for the first time yesterday at this Theatre.

Based on a story of intense dramatic power from the pen of H. T. Van Loan, author of many photodramatic successes including "The Virgin of Stamboul," "Stormswept" is a tale of strong loves and hates.

It has to do with the experiences of a high minded young architect whose early life is wrecked by his erring wife. They separate and she goes to live on a lightship at sea.

A wreck occurs on the rocks near the beacon and when the storm clears a boat is sighted in which there is a woman. It develops that she is the wife, whom he has not seen for several years. She is brought aboard the lightship and then comes the strongest dramatic climax ever revealed on the screen.

Coaker to the Rescue!

Alarmed by the prospect that Monroe and his colleagues will be elected in Bonavista, Coaker has dropped his attempted disguise, that he and the F.P.U. were out of politics and thrown himself openly into the struggle.

The Journal announces that on Saturday night last, Coaker addressed a (secret) meeting of Unionists at Bonavista, "nearly 200 members being present." Of course, the statement of numbers is a falsehood, but it is true that Coaker is alarmed, and seeks to re-arouse his cohorts. Hickman is mere camouflage for Coaker, and has served the purpose so badly that Coaker has cast him off. "And shall Coaker rule, then twenty thousand conception Bay men shall know the reason why." He said they could be bought for ten dollars, and is now to have the falsehood pushed down his throat.

In the meantime, the word from all over Bonavista Bay is "MONROE CAN'T LOSE." He and his two colleagues, not himself alone, but the whole team, are going to be elected, and thus prove, what students have seen for some time, that "Coaker's day is done!"

After Influenza-SCOTT'S EMULSION to build you up

Sparks From the Political Anvil

Well done Harbor Grace district. The cheering news has reached St. John's that all sensible voters there are unanimously in favor of a Monroe Government.

St. John's warmly welcomes the glorious news also that the whole of Conception Bay is out to pulverize Coakerism this time by voting solidly for a Monroe Government.

Trinity Bay, all will be glad to hear, is wheeling into line in favor of the great cause—a Monroe Government and prosperity for all of Newfoundland.

Monroe will be the elected Premier of Newfoundland on liberty day, the second of June, for then Bonavista will place himself and colleagues at the head of the poll, whilst the rest of Newfoundland will give him a splendid majority of elected candidates.

Hard times will be gone for ever when liberty day arrives, for upon that day Newfoundlanders will record by their votes their final emancipation from the manacles of Coakerism.

Voters everywhere avail of the one last chance, the only one left to lift the country out of the quagmire of Coakerism. Never again will the old land survive should this chance be lost. Vote then one and all for a Monroe Government, and we will stand on the solid ground of plenty and prosperity.

Voters everywhere, it will cost you another hundred thousand dollars per year, every dollar of which must come out of your pockets, to pay for the expensive fads of Barnes, in building and equipping huge white elephants entirely unnecessary; whilst nearly all the people are struggling from year to year to get barely enough to live on.

Voters on the Humber, on Bell Island and at Grand Falls, are you willing to deprive yourselves and families in order that Brown, the Coaker candidate, can grow rich and fat on a five thousand dollar job and rock himself to sleep in padded arm chairs in a fifty thousand dollar office?

Voters of St. John's, don't be satisfied with a good majority for the Monroe candidates. See how high you can roll it up again. Surpass all previous victories and let it be such a magnificent majority that will scare the wits out of any more Gibbs-Coaker candidates from ever again intruding in St. John's.

Voters of Hr. Grace District give Bennett, Russell and Simmons your heartiest support. Elect them with big majorities, and your once prosperous towns will regain their former state of happiness and plenty for all your families.

Voters of Trinity Bay, who were fooled by the rosy promises of splendid jobs on the Humber, vote for the Monroe candidates and real prosperity under the good times you will have under a Monroe Government.

Rod and Gun

The beauties and advantages of Ontario are stressed in the special Tourist June issue of Rod and Gun in Canada. In addition to a description of Ontario's tourist attractions and various points of beauty in the province with suggestions for summer camps and trips, the stories in the magazine deal with fishing and camping in Algonquin Park, with timber surveying in northern Ontario and hunting and out-of-door stories in other parts of the province. Of special interest this month will be the story of the Le Pas Dog Derby, which has been written by M. U. Bates who was Rod and Gun in Canada's special representative at this picturesque event. A large number of unusually fine photographs illustrate this description. The June number of Rod and Gun in Canada contains eighty-eight pages brimful of stories and articles dealing with practically every phase of sportsmen's interests.

Rod and Gun in Canada is published by W. J. Taylor Ltd., Woodstock, Ont.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CANADA'S IRE AROUSED.
OTTAWA, May 26.
The Government of Canada not having been invited to send a representative to the Lausanne Conference and not having participated in the proceedings of the conference, either directly or indirectly, and not being for this reason a signatory to the treaty, on behalf of Canada my Ministers do not feel they are in a position to recommend to Parliament the approval of the Peace Treaty with Turkey and the convention thereto. In these words the Governor General in a message addressed to the Secretary of State for Colonies on March 24, 1924, defined the attitude of the King Government towards the Lausanne Treaty. The telegram is the last of a series between the British and Canadian Governments.

Eleven suspects are to be placed on trial charged with murder and receiving stolen money.

EIGHT MISSING IN MIKADO DISASTER.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 26.
Eight of those who were on board the Grimby trawler Mikado when she went ashore on the west side of Forchu Island, Cape Breton on Sunday night are believed to be dead and eight have been rescued, according to work received here to-night by the local agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries. The tug Ocean Eagle which reached the scene of the disaster about nine o'clock this morning, has arrived at Canso with seven survivors and with the body of one of the crew who died while being taken from the wreck to the tug. Six bodies were found on the beach near the scene of the wreck. One man thought to have been a passenger on the Mikado was rescued by the light-keeper's boat, and the only other one of sixteen believed to have been on the ill-fated craft is unaccounted for. Sixteen men believed to be Norwegian sailors rescued by the Ocean Eagle were in such an exhausted state that they were unable even to tell their own names, but within a few days it is thought they will be none the worse for their experience.

Discover Early Australian

Remains, consisting of bones and teeth, representing the largest marine reptile ever discovered in Australia have been discovered by the director of the museum at Queensland. Authorities agree that at least several million years have elapsed since these deposits, known as the Rolling Downs formation near Hughender, were laid down in early Cretaceous times. The fossil represents part of the anterior portion of the lower jaw, with the right and left sides united on a strong beak-like formation. The nearest relative of this Queensland giant is probably the plesiosaurs gravis, from the Kimmsbridge clay of Dorset, England. The plesiosaurs were enormous marine reptiles, attaining about 60ft. in length, with large skulls, short necks, and paddle-like limbs. The Queensland specimen is so distinct from the plesiosaurs known from Europe and America that it has been named Kronosaurus Queenslandensis. Its complete skull would be about 6in. in length, and probably contained at least one hundred teeth.

That Luster

Comes from fighting film on teeth. It has brought new charm to millions

Here is a test which will bring a revelation. It will show you the way which millions found to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. Look about you. Note how many teeth now glisten. Let us send you the new method which brought that change about.

Modern science has found ways to fight film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

In many clinical tests these methods proved effective. A new type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

All the world over dentists began to advise it. Now millions of careful people of some 50 nations apply it every day. The results are seen in every circle that you enter now.

See what it does

Pepsodent does more than fight film. It multiplies two factors in saliva. One is there to digest starch deposits on teeth, one to neutralize mouth acid. Each use of Pepsodent gives them multiplied effect.

This is the utmost in a tooth paste. You should know how much it means.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combantant which contains harsh grit.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

The amazing results in a week will convince you that this method is essential. Cut out coupon now.

K. of C. Convention

The fifth State Convention of the Knights of Columbus opened at Bell Island on Empire Day at 10 a.m. Messages of good will and respect were forwarded his Grace the Archbishop, his Lordship Bishop March and his Lordship Bishop Renouf. A telegram was forwarded to his Excellency the Governor expressing loyalty to his Majesty the King. Answers to these messages were received before the close of the Convention.

The irreparable loss sustained by the death of Rev. Dr. Whalen was enlarged upon. He was referred to as the pioneer of Columbianism in Newfoundland. Past State Deputy Ellis spoke of a striking instance of his popularity and force of character when at the last Supreme Convention of the Knights at Montreal, news of his death arrived. The entire assemblage knelt and prayer was offered for the repose of his soul. The following State officers were elected for the ensuing year:

State Deputy—Bro. W. T. Jones,
State Secretary—Bro. J. G. Higgins,
State Treasurer—Bro. W. S. Madigan,
State Advocate—Bro. W. H. Kennedy.

State Warden—Bro. A. G. Duggan.
Bro. Dr. Giovanni G.K. of Conception Council was elected alternate to the State Deputy at the Supreme Convention, and Bro. M. J. Nugent, G.K. of Notre Dame Council alternate to the Past State Deputy. At the close of the Convention the State officers and delegates were the guests of Conception Council at a banquet in their club rooms.

A Popular Service

The steam yacht Pawnee arrived at Portugal Cove at 9.15 a.m. yesterday from Carbonear and Harbor Grace, via Bell Island, bringing twelve passengers from across the Bay and fifteen from Bell Island. The Pawnee is fitted up in first-class condition, and last summer had a new boiler installed. She has a speed of from twelve to fifteen knots. Passengers leaving across the Bay at 7.30 arrive at St. John's at 9.45, and can transact all their business and return home the same afternoon. Quite a number of people are taking advantage of the pleasant run across Conception Bay, and no doubt the service will be very popular during the summer months.

SPENDING MONEY.

"Spend money nobly, like a king," exclaims a gifted writer; "manner is a tightwad thing that stamps one as a blighter. Spend money bravely, like a lord, as though the coins were cheaper than a dead leaves falling on the sward, while cold winds drift them deeper." And that's the way I spend the scads; in regal style I blow them; on soda squirts and kindred lads I lavishly bestow them. But first I journey to the bank and put some coins in pickle, for I have grown to be a crank on saving dime and nickel. I take the bulk of what I earn and put it in cold storage, that I, if luck should have a turn, may have my helpful porridge. And then I join the gilded gents who'd paint the village scarlet, and like a prince blow fifty cents—I am no cheap-john varlet. With royal airs I am endowed, a kingly taste I nourish; I order root beer for the crowd and pay up with a flourish. I blow the pennies left and right, I dissipate the plunder, I make the people of the night look on my curves with wonder. But first I journey to the vault that has my wad in keeping, and put some kopecks down in salt, that I may not be weeping and pawing at the poorhouse door when I am old and stricken; that I may live forevermore on goulash, pie and chicken.

EXTRAS.

When you're building your house take a warning from me—Don't alter or change anything that you see! When once you're agreed on the cost on the place, Go out of the city and don't show your face. To the mason, the plumber, the carpenter's crew, For the things they call "extras" will paralyze you.

Should you say: "Put a hook here to hang up my hat," You find as an "extra" they're charged you for that. Should by chance you remark to the boss: "Do you think?" The gas range should stand where you're putting the sink. He will say with a smile: "That's a very good change." But that's twelve dollars "extra" for moving the range.

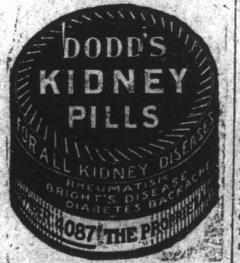

Should you fancy white paint where you've ordered it blue, Rightly gladly they'll smear on the white stuff for you; But they're somewhere in hiding a man who keeps books. Who counts up the nails and the bolts and the hooks.

And seeks white paint where the plan called for blue. He puts down an "extra" and bills it to you.

That man is a marvel. He eats not, nor sleeps. So strict an account of your orders should you change but the type of the hinge on a door. That goes down as an "extra" and costs so much more. So when building a house alter nothing you see. And beware of these "extras" which bankrupted me.

twigs made into a circular hoop about six inches in diameter, by twisting the ends together, and fastened firmly by a slanting stick stuck up in the smooth earth. The Bellacoola, who so commonly travelled up and down the Bella Coola river, frequently put one of these upon the sandy river beach. The more or less circular shadow of the hoop was marked in the soil, and the distance that it had travelled from the mark indicated how long the recorder had been standing.

If the one following was travelling in a river canoe and saw that the shadow was near the mark, his canoe party might pole hard in an effort to catch up, but if the shadow were far away he knew that it was probably useless to try to overtake the one ahead.

DAGENAIS SAVED BY PAL-CON-DEMNED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

Alfred Dagenais, condemned murderer, who escaped the gallows when his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, owes his life to Edouard Frellier, his companion, who must pay the penalty to-morrow morning. Both men were found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Arthur Bergeron, a woman over 50 years of age, who was strangled to death for a sum of money estimated at $9.

Frellier, from the beginning of the case, told Dagenais not to be afraid and to do as he would tell him. Dagenais insisted on standing trial with Frellier who opposed a joint appearance. Frellier took the same stand as Dagenais' lawyer, Leonce Plante, who told the prisoner that Frellier was right.

Frellier, advised his companion to face the jury alone but his advice had the opposite effect on Dagenais who believed that he could be of assistance and refused to back down. He told Mr. Plante that he was not going to desert his "pal," even though it paved the way for his acquittal.

When the jury returned a verdict of guilty for both prisoners and the sentence had been pronounced by Mr. Justice Wilson, Frellier, on his way down the winding stairway from the court dock to the cell, gave Dagenais a piece of his mind.

"I told you all along," he was heard to say "not to go in the dock with me. You were a fool not to stand your trial alone.

In the death cell Frellier repeatedly told the guards that Dagenais knew nothing of the plot to rob and kill Mrs. Bergeron.

A sort of primitive sun-dial was sometimes set up by a Bellacoola Indian traveller to record, for the benefit of those following him, the time which had elapsed since he had left. This was used only where one followed another, not as a true sun-dial to tell the time of day. The Carrier Indians and the Chilcotin Indians also used it.

This time recorder consisted of a

JUST JAM NOT BREAD AND BUTTER.

Sometimes when I am fussing about the weather when it rains when I especially want it to be pleasant, or is cold when I want it to be warm, or is otherwise unruly, I stop in the middle of that fussing and think: "How do you think of the people who weather makes a real difference to them."

We Shiver, They Work.

All in our comfortable homes shiver at the sound of the wild weather, or complain bitterly when the electric lights go out and some of us for an hour or two, think of the electric linemen and what storm means to them. We complain because we have to light candles and play a hand of cards because we can't see to read. We complain because the ravages of the storm have left them, those men who have to work in the worst of it and handle the high tension wires in the midst of a gale.

Rare Golden Idol Sold for Trifle

VICTORIA, B.C.—(Can. Press)—China has voted Tutankhamen and the splendours of his royal sarcophagus a back number, according to passengers from the Orient on the Empress of Russia. Interest in the work of the Egyptologists has all but passed with the discovery that a golden idol, a chastely-wrought figure of Buddha, fashioned by fingers that crumbled into dust eighteen hundred years ago, is for sale in a humble curio store in the Kinross Road, Shanghai.

Connoisseurs place its value at $500,000, having their estimate upon the price of $250,000 paid by a resident of Osaka, Japan, for one similar but smaller in size and mutilated by the loss of a portion of the precious metal from the bottom.

Wrapped in a red and blue silk cover, handled only with fingers guarded with cotton wadding, the precious relic has set Shanghai agog with interest and speculation.

Eighteen hundred years ago, when Buddhism was the national religion of Korea, it was an unalterable law that a figure of Buddha should be buried with every member of the royal family. This particular Buddha was interred with the remains of Yu San Jai, not a member of the reigning house, but Prime Minister to the King, who ordered it placed in the coffin of his servant as a special mark of grace in recognition of faithful service.

Two hundred and sixty years ago the descendants of that prime minister unearthed the Buddha in the grave of their ancestor. They failed to realize its value, keeping it only as a memento. Then early last month the Shanghai curio dealer, travelling in Korea, persuaded an impoverished descendant of the once powerful Yu San Jai to part with it for a handful of silver dollars.

It is only a few inches high and to the eye of the tyro it is not much better in quality than one of the Lardy metal Buddhas that collectors pick up for a dollar or two in any one of the thousands of Chinese shops.

But not an antiquarian in China would approach the proprietor of the little shop in the Kinross Road with fewer than hundreds of thousands of dollars to offer exchange.

Artist Weds Model

James Montgomery Flagg, artist, caricaturist and humorous writer, and Mrs. Dorothy Virginia Wadman, nee Freeland, a widow who has been his model several years, were married in New York City in the Little Church Around the Corner. Their engagement, announced January 1, had been rumored as broken last week.

Mr. Flagg gave his age as forty-six and his address as No. 136 West 75th Street. Mrs. Wadman said she was twenty-five. Her husband died in 1918.

Mrs. Charles Bondies attended the bride at the church and afterward went with the couple and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Flagg, for a wedding breakfast at the Plaza Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Flagg went to Mondory, his home in Mamaroneck. They plan to motor to the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Flagg's first wife, who was Miss Nellie McCormick, of St. Louis, died a year ago. They had no children.

The proportion reported as winter killed in Ontario is four per cent; in Alberta about 15 per cent; and in British Columbia about three per cent, a marked decrease in each case.

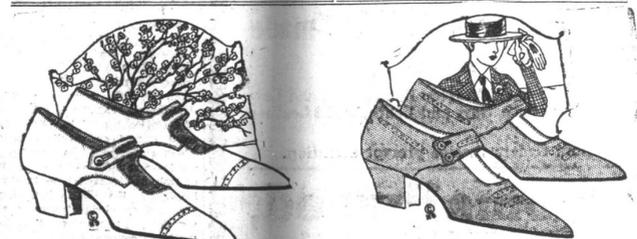

The average condition of fall wheat in all the provinces was reported on April 30th as excellent. The spring is late throughout Canada, and figures as to spring seeding have not been compiled.

Clean Up, Keep Clean, And a Square Deal to All

Below we print part of an article by a great Governor of Pennsylvania. It contains a message for our people at this juncture, as applicable here as in the United States of America: "There is no way the government can be restored to public confidence unless the men who defiled it are thoroughly cleaned out, not only those who have gone, but those who ought to go."

The Cost of Fidelity.

Some of the leaders of the people have gone astray. They thought the Ten Commandments had lost their force. It would be safe to wager that some of them think otherwise to-day, and safer still to believe that the people see, as they seldom have seen before, the need for honesty in government; and are determined, as they seldom have been before, that honesty in government henceforth shall prevail.

It would be foolish to believe that the various investigating committees have found or will ever find all the dishonesty and betrayals that have been going on. A department, like a regiment, takes its tone from its leader. The official and personal standards which he applies to himself filter down through the ranks below, and color and control the standards and methods under which his subordinates deal with the public interest and the public business.

Debased ideals of public service mean a general weakening of confidence in our Government, and the strengthening of those extreme radicals who would like to destroy it. The worst of it is that the weakening is justified, because in fact a gradual deterioration in the whole government machinery has taken place. Under such conditions good men become disgusted and leave; weak men or bad men turn their attention from serving the people to getting theirs.

Many years ago I was riding with a lumberman through the timbered mountains of Western North Carolina. He was no great talker, and neither of us had spoken for a long time, when suddenly he burst out: "Say, there's a lot of good readin' in the Bible, ain't there?"

Yes; and a lot of it applies to the situation at Washington (and N.S.) to-day. The trouble is perfectly diagnosed, and the remedy accurately prescribed: "Thou shalt not steal."

On Sunday morning a Church Parade was held, the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides headed by the Guards Band formed, an excellent turnout, which was greatly commented on. The service was held at the Methodist Church and proved both bright and inspiring, the Rev. Mr. Bugden preached an eloquent sermon which was listened to with rapt attention by the large congregation.

How Can They?

Councillors Ryan and Dowden promised the electors that if they were returned as Councillors they would remove the grass from Water Street.

"ABOUT TURN."

Now both of these gentlemen are Coaker candidates for St. John's and Coaker has sworn to make the grass grow on Water Street.

However, there is no need to worry, as St. John's will not return one solitary Coakerite candidate—Poor Reg! Poor Charlie!

Personal.

Dr. Charles Cron of Hr. Grace who met with blood poisoning in his right hand about a week ago, has since arrived in the city and was compelled to have one of his fingers amputated. Dr. Cron will be leaving for home in a few days.

The following gentlemen arrived from Bell Island yesterday after holding the annual State Convention of the Knights of Columbus:—Messrs. W. H. Kennedy, C. J. Ellis, J. G. Higgins, J. F. Meehan, J. J. Lacey, M. J. Nugent, and the newly elected Deputy, W. H. Jones, Supt. of the Western Union system, Bay Roberts.

Argonaut Fred Davis, a world war veteran since his return from overseas has spent five years at the University of Toronto has graduated with honors and received the degree of Bachelor of Applied Science. He has accepted a position with the Westinghouse Electrical Company at Pittsburgh, Pa. Fred is the son of Mr. Joseph Davis of Valleyfield and a son-in-law of Capt. W. Davis of this city.

Word was received yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. S. Barry that their daughter Miss Stella Barry graduated at the Methodist National Training Home Toronto last week, heading the senior class and winning the Eaton gold medal and another cash prize. Miss Barry before leaving was a Methodist Teacher and after a short vacation will take up Deaconess work in Canada.

Welsh Schoolmaster in Harness at 90.

HOLDS TEACHERS' RECORD.

D. R. Davies, of Whitton, Radnorshire, who claims to be the oldest schoolmaster on the active list in the British Isles, is now in his 90th year. He secured his first appointment as a schoolmaster at Talbont, Breconshire, 66 years ago, and for the past 45 years has been head of the Endowed School at Whitton, between Prestyn and Knighton. His years are lightly upon him.

"I am hale and hearty," he told a press representative, and I have only lost a fortnight's duty since I first became a schoolmaster."

Mr. Davies, who stands about 6 ft., takes a pride in his school, and every morning—winter or summer—is to be found preparing for the day's work soon after 8 o'clock. He is often in the playing fields with the lads, taking an interest in their football matches and other pastimes.

A recent inspector's report stated that the school was a marvel of efficiency, and equal, if not superior, to any other in the country.

When Writing Was a Crime.

The knights of old are credited with having been bold, but they were not half so bold as were the authors of those early days.

In medieval times the path of the budding journalist was literally strewn with pitfalls and dangers, and more often than not imprisonment—or even worse—was the only reward for giving to the world the children of his brain.

Take for instance the sad case of Dr. Leighton, a clergyman, who lives in the seventeenth century. In 1630 the writings of that good word offended the Powers that were, and he was arrested. As a slight encouragement to give up his evil pursuits, he was fined $50,000 and was degraded by the ministry. He was also pilloried, branded and whipped; one of his ears was cut off and his nostrils were slit. By way of making his punishment really complete, the doctor was sentenced to imprisonment for life. According to trustworthy records, he served eleven years in gaol and was then liberated.

On being released, he was regretfully told by the authorities that his mutilation and imprisonment had been illegal.

Another minister to run up against the law was the Rev. Benjamin Keach, the then Baptist minister of Winslow (Bucks), England, whose heinous crime was to issue a book entitled, "The Child's Instructor; or A New and Easy Primer." The book was regarded as seditious, and the authorities ordered that "Ye shall stand upon the pillory at Allsbury for the space of two hours, with a paper on your head bearing a suitable inscription." And the next Thursday so stand in the same manner and for the same time in the market of Winslow, and there your book shall be openly burnt before your face by the common hangman, in disgrace to you."

"Robinson Crusoe" in Trouble.

The famous author of "Robinson Crusoe" also came under the ban of the Government for writing a severe satire under the title of "The Shortest Way to Deal With Dissenters." So exasperated were the authorities with his booklet that a reward of $250 was offered for the author's apprehension.

De Foe managed to keep out of the arms of the law, but on hearing that the printers and publishers of his work had been thrust into prison he gave himself up, and the others were released. De Foe was fined 200 marks, ordered to appear three times in the pillory, and remain in prison during the Queen's pleasure.

Instead of being pelted with rotten eggs and street garbage, as was the custom of the times, De Foe, who was in the pillory, was scattered with flowers, and the pillory was hung with beautiful garlands.

After spending a year in prison he was released.

On the Continent, erring writers fared a little better. According to old records, Voltaire was flogged for writing a far from complimentary epigram about the King of Prussia. After being punished he was compelled to write the following acknowledgment: "Received from the right hand of Conrad Kochhoffner, thirty lashes on my bare back, being in full payment for epigram on Frederick III, King of Prussia, Vive le Roi."

Printers' Difficulties.

Apart from the fact that their works might incur the grave displeasure of the authorities, writers of olden times had great difficulties in getting their books printed and published.

In the seventeenth century a book or pamphlet could only be published in England under license from the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, or the authorities of the two universities.

Two printers, named Luburn and Warton, disregarded this regulation and printed what was termed a libellous and seditious work. They were each fined $2,500 and ordered to be whipped from Fleet prison to the pillory at Westminster. The sentence was duly carried out in April of 1688.

Luburn appears to have been a man of dauntless courage, for when in the pillory he gave away copies of his books and addressed the crowd on the tyranny of his persecutors. In order to stop his ravings, he was gagged.

PATENT NOTICE.

Four weeks after date hereof application will be made to His Excellency the Governor-in-Council for Letters Patent for "New and Useful Improvements in and connected with the driving of Paper making machines and the like" to be granted to Frank G. Warburton of 72 Victoria Street, London, England, Electrical Engineer.

Forty-Five Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram

Monroe Candidates

HOLD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT BROAD COVE.

Last evening the West End candidates of the Monroe Party, Crosbie, Linegar and Browne, were at Broad Cove, where they were enthusiastically received. The meeting was held in the school house which was crowded to the doors. There were about one hundred and twenty voters present, besides several men from Bell Island and adjacent settlements. Mr. Fred Tucker was moved to the chair, and in a fine speech introduced the speakers of the evening, paying a high tribute to their standing as citizens and to their worthiness as representatives of the District.

Mr. Linegar, who was the first speaker, dwelt particularly on the labor situation and the conditions prevailing in the city. His address was followed with keen interest, and at the close he was generously applauded.

Mr. Browne was also tendered a hearty reception on the opening of his speech, which was a very fine one. He dwelt on the disruption of the Government and explained how it was that the late Government was unable to continue, controlled as it was by Sir William Coaker. He then referred to the amalgamation of the Hickman and Sir William Coaker, which he termed the "unholy alliance." Following on the speaker discussed the Hickman Manifesto, and showed that it was insincere and impossible of performance. Mr. Browne was in good form and as he brought out point after point he was warmly applauded.

Sir John Crosbie was in his usual form and hit out from the shoulder. He explained to his audience the impossibility of having a stable government whilst the Coaker influence prevailed. Sir John told his hearers of the formation of the present Opposition party and how Mr. Monroe had accomplished the wonderful achievement of having a party ready to go into the field in the short space of 72 hours. The speaker dwelt on the political situation in general, and touched on many points which are of vital importance to the electors of the people. "The eyes of England are on this country, and they want to see the electors do the proper thing on June 2nd. The country has seen the result of Coaker rule, and its impossible ideas, now Mr. Monroe comes with a new clean-cut policy intended to save the country from the ruin which is now impending. Every man of the party is pledged to carry out this policy and not a member has been promised anything, all are out for one purpose, namely, "Clean up, keep clean and a square deal to all." The meeting closed with ringing cheers for Monroe and his candidates, Crosbie, Linegar and Browne, and as the coming representatives left the settlement they were accorded a grand send-off. Thus another section of St. John's West has spoken, and as all the others, it has shown its desire for clean Government.

HIGGINS, FOX AND VINCOMBE CONTINUE TRIUMPHAL CAMPAIGN. The fighting Trio Higgins Fox and Vincombe held two very successful meetings yesterday. Early in the night the electors of the Lower Battery gathered in the spacious store of Mr. Josiah Vatcher and quickly filled it to its utmost capacity, tendered a hearty welcome to the Liberal-Conservative candidates. A prominent and highly esteemed citizen, Mr. Josiah Vatcher was unanimously elected Chairman, and in encouraging terms called upon the Fighting Trio to speak. As the promises and pledges of the Monroe policy were set forth rapt attention was paid the candidates and in whole-hearted endorsement each argument spontaneous applause punctuated their stirring addresses. A vote of thanks to the chairman and the singing of the National Anthem brought to a close one of the most successful meetings ever held at the Battery.

AT TORBAY ROAD SCHOOL HOUSE. The second meeting was held at the school house Torbay Road where a large gathering assembled to welcome the popular team. Mr. Richard Draken was elected chairman. The candidates, Messrs. Higgins, Fox and Vincombe, delivered stirring addresses. In fearless, conspicuous tones and clear-cut arguments the features and advantages of the Monroe platform were set forth, and on concluding the standard bearers of the Monroe Government received another ovation of encouraging cheers and applause.

The Hawaiian Quintette

CONCEDED BY ALL TO BE THE GREATEST MUSICAL ATTRACTION EVER SEEN IN THIS CITY.

The above fully justifies the ability of the five Hawaiians who opened a short engagement at the popular Star Movie last evening, and the deafening applause that was tendered them at the rendition of each number was such as was never heard at this theatre before. Since the advertisement in this paper some time ago all our theatrical going people were aroused to curiosity as to the class of people they were, as it was the first appearance of this kind, but it is probable that not one of the hundreds of those who attended last night's performance were prepared for quarter of what was heard. Those people are natives of Honolulu, and as stage artists are known as the Shaw Quintette. Arriving here by the Silvia yesterday morning, they went on last night, though not having fully recovered from the sea-voyage, as the Management decided that their patrons were expecting their appearance. The opening Ensemble was a selection entitled AHEA, followed by an

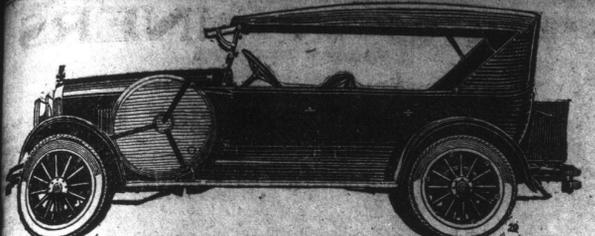

INDETTA entitled ALOHA-OE, and at the completion of those numbers the audience gave them a big applause. This was followed by Bill-Kalama and the Company in the HULA GIRL, which was also most loudly applauded. Then came Charley Shaw in a Hawaiian One String instrument, which was just marvelous, and in this connection we have been informed that this instrument is an invention of this artist. The instrument is nothing more than a clear box, and a broom handle connected by one string, but the artist renders on it the sweetest music we have yet heard. Eddie Shaw then appeared with his Steel Guitar, and he was wonderful, his playing of the pipe and drum band had the audience at the very zenith of appreciation, but the biggest treat of the lot was held back to the finish, this was the HULA-HULA dance of Jonia, which made the audience break loose with applause, some even rising in their seats to do so, making the entire company appear time after time to curtail calls. Miss Jonia is a natural born dancer, her every action being most finished and accomplished in every way. In fact her action whilst playing her Ukulele with the entire company was such as to prepare the audience for something wonderful, and in this they were not disappointed. The Star Movie are certainly deserving of all the praises they received last evening, for they have brought to our shores, in those people, a class of music that can only be heard in the leading theatres in the largest of cities throughout the United Kingdom, and we bespeak for them capacity audiences during their engagement.

Higgins stands four-square with Monroe.

Re-Union

A happy re-union took place at the home of Mrs. Jas. Mater, Dugan Street, on the night of Thursday, the 22nd, inst., when a party of her friends congregated to make a presentation to Miss Mollie Flynn, formerly of the Royal Stores, Ltd., Dress-making Dept. Miss Flynn proceeds shortly to New York, where she will be one of the principals in a happy event. The presentation took the form of a handsome tea-set, and was meant as an expression of the esteem and good will of her former co-workers. Refreshments were served and social chat and songs made the time pass pleasantly until near midnight when the gathering dispersed.

JEWETT SPECIAL A Thrifty Six Built by Paige

Built Right from Tyre to Hood

THERE is more to building a motor car than only the will to do so. It takes knowledge, experience and time, and only after years of experience by superior Paige engineers was the improved type of gear box and clutch brought to its present state of perfection in the Jewett.

In addition to the pleasure derived from the smoothness in operation, it prolongs the life of the gears--a true form of economy. Clashing and jarring sounds are invariably warnings that the entire mechanism is out of tune and is a sure sign that one unit is wearing on another.

Just jump into the driver's seat and see what it means to operate the gears of a Jewett. Space will not allow a full description. However, this motor car is here to graphically tell its story.

JEWETT SPECIFICATIONS:

Engines--6 cylinders, 3 1/2 x 5 1/2 lubricated by high pressure oiling to main and connecting rod bearings; two unit electrical starting and lighting, thermally controlled automatic spark advance; Paige-Thomas axle; extra heavy 6 inch "T" beam steel frame; improved type four speed transmission; dry plate clutch; special alloy steel springs, 35" in front, 54" in rear; all steel universal joints; force-feed chassis lubrication. Special models furnished at slight extra cost with additional equipment: Special Robin-egg blue finish with upholstery to match; spare coil wire, tube and protection bumpers front and rear; side-lodged radiator and motor; trunk and trunk rack (extra on two-seater); automatic windshield wiper and rear view mirror; rear stop signal; sun visors; parking lights on cowls; Disc steel or wire wheels optional on all models at slight extra cost.

Penance for Slander

Penance was the punishment for a slanderer as recently happened in the church of St. John's, London, in 1822. The persons assembled in the church, London, and through their attentions, attracted by the announcement that a woman named Sarah Green had uttered and spoken several scandalous and opprobrious words against Ann Johnson, wife of Wm. Johnson, of St. Matthew, Bethnal Green, to the great offence of Almighty God, the scandal of the order said she was to stand in a white sheet, but this was dispensed with, much, it is said, to the disappointment of the spectators. Mrs. Green, who is described as being "a very fine young woman," was attired in a white dress, and repeated the following recantation in the vestry in the presence of the rector, churchwardens, the person calumniated, and five or six of her relations:-- "Sarah Green, wife of James Green, has uttered and spoken several scandalous and opprobrious words against Ann Johnson, wife of Wm. Johnson, of St. Matthew, Bethnal Green, to the great offence of Almighty God, the scandal of the Christian religion, and the injury and reproach of my neighbor's credit, by calling her a-- I do, therefore, before God and you, humbly confess and acknowledge such offence, and am heartily sorry for the same, and do ask her forgiveness, and promise hereafter never to offend her in the like manner, God assisting me."

Mrs. Green appeared very much affected, and after the form was gone through was led out of the church by the beadle, who conducted her safely through the mob, and she was conveyed home in a coach.

Hearing Continued

The further preliminary hearing into the charge of larceny preferred against Sir Richard Squires was continued before Judge Morris yesterday afternoon. The session lasted for one hour, the time being taken up with the evidence of Mrs. Harsant. Adjournment was taken at 4.30 p.m. until to-morrow. Mr. H. A. Winter for the Crown, Mr. W. R. Howley for the defence.
