THE POSITION OF RAT PORTAGE. Attorney-General Miller on the Boundary

RAT PORTAGE, Jan. 16.—A meeting was held here last evening in Gore's hall to hear Attorney-General Miller on the boundary agreement. In his introductory remarks Mr. Miller referred to the inactivity of both the dominion and Ontario governments in regard to the settlement of the question. Nothing had been done, but there had been plenty of windy promises that were never fulfilled, and electioneering clap-trap had been indulged in by both parties. He referred to his promise when elected that he would have this question settled, and gave his hearers to understand that he had cut and dried the whole business. He then took up the agreement and proceeded to discuss its terms seriatim. The dispute was only as to north and west way from Montreal to Perth, the of the height of land. Clauses 7 to 29 were to be legislated upon by the legislatures of the two provinces, who were to arrange the mode of jurisdiction of each province and to appoint and pay one commissioner of police and two constables. All licenses at present existing would be recognized. He referred to the clash of interests between the Ontario, Manitoba and dominion license acts, and the opinion in Ontario that the dominion act was ultra vires. The license matter would be all in the hands of the commissioners. There would be no assessment roll, but if they were to be governed by those who voted for himself, the town would east a condition of the steamers, as they say it is a better than one of the steamers, as they say it is a better harbor. The freight would then pass through Toronto as before, but it would only go up the Toronto, Grey and Bruce good many votes. All fees and fines will go in the first place towards the expenses of the board, and in the next place to the manicipality. He next referred to the matter to be submitted to the privy council. All evidence was to be in by Feb. 28, with provisions for the evidence that could not be acceed when the professed to the with provisions for the evidence that could not be agreed upon to be referred to the judges of the court of appeal at Toronto. As this was a matter inter-provincial, in which the judicial committee of the privy council had no jurisdiction, other than in the shape of a reference, he could not express an opinion, yet he had no doubt that their decision would be enforced by an imperial act. He expected that the question would be fully settled by August.

The most certain statement in regard to the matter is that the Canadian Pacific railway will have a through line of their own by April from Montreal to the Rocky mountains, and that they are pushing everything forward in that direction.

It is reported that the new iron steamers of the C.P.R. for the upper lakes draw too much water (15 feet) for the harbor at Algoma Mills, and that the Canadian Pacific have had to abandon the idea of running them between that place and Port Arthur, and that instead they will be run from Owen Sound or Collingwood to Port Arthur. James C. Daly, the Irish champion athlete, who some time ago fought Joe Pendergast at Silver lake, S. I., figured in a regular bar-room drag-out. Recently Daly called into a saloon with some friends and a wrangle ensued. Daly tried to act as a heavy bottle which struck Daly's forehead. Daly tried to retaliate, but his assailant ran out of the saloon. Comforter returned unobserved and grasped a bottle, which he threw at Daly and again retreated. The bottle landed squarely on the top of Daly's nasal organ, breaking it and leaving an ally wound. Daly, though covered with blood and suffering great pain, with assistance of a few friends cleared out the saloon, knocking down the friends of the man who had twice made a murderous attack upon him. Inside of five minutes Daly had whipped three men, but it was poor satisfaction for the damage his brainbox and smelling organ had received.

A Short Cut to Popularity Boswell had a word or two about pauper migration. He said the council was powerless to prevent it, but should petition both governments against it. It is to be hoped that the council of 1884 will promptly take action on this hint. Aligh the council has no power to do any thing in the matter directly, yet indirectly it might effect a good deal. Both government and parliament at Ottawa, and gov ernment and legislature here, will listen with respect to what Toronto's city council has to say on the subject. This, how ever, is indispensable, that our civic repre-sentatives be not mealy-mouthed on the subject, but that they use plain language, and show that they are in earnest.

It is generally supposed that city aldermen have a keen scent for what is popular, and most of them are ready enough to do anything that will win votes. This is not a very high-toned view of civic duty; but certain it is that any alderman whose ambition it is to gain popularity could not take a shorter road to it than by "coming out strong" against pauper immigration. If our civic representatives choose to do fact to rest upon, as the Grand Trunk has the right thing in this respect, and do it of late been taking particular pains to make well, the people will not too anxiously inquire as to motives. In this case the pop- We fancy however that, though there may ularity of the representative and the interest of his constituents agree well together; be no actual rebellion against Sir John and we hope to see a race for popularity and for the public good at one and the

The trades council would do well, in its representations to the powers that be at Ottawa regarding the expected factory act, to take as strong ground as possible against the unregulated employment of child labor. By a telegraphic despatch from Trenton, New Jersey, we learn that the inspector of child labor for that state in his first annual report says he found everywhere that the child labor system had left indelible traces of mental and physical wrecks from being employed at an early age for long hours amid machinery. The illiteracy of the children he met in the factories was shocking. Child labor has increased in a much greater ratio than adult labor, and the increase has been at the expense of the latter, as it has decreased the wages of the parents and adults. In many cases wages have been so reduced that parents have been forced to call upon their children to help to maintain their homes.

The real truth of the matter is that child labor in factories, except in the way of apprenticeship and learning to do something for a living, is not much of a gain to the community, but rather a loss. In Germany child labor has never yet become a question of much importance, simply because such labor is little used in the factories there. Employers and operatives alike appear to have understood that so many children employed means simply so many grown people left idle, for which reason the thing has never been encouraged. Whenever child labor is extensively employed, men are apt to be "out of a job" consequence. Better that children should have their growth before commenc ing hard work; they will get enough of the latter afterwards if they live. The trades council should press this matter strongly upon the Dominion government.

Winnipeg commences the year in really a bad way. Not only is trade stagnant but the city treasury is impoverished Efforts are being made to

"At nine-tenths of the cities covered by special despatches in this issue of Bradstreet's it is noted that an improvement in the condition of general trade has taken place during the week. This gain in the movement of merchandise is not marked, neither does it point to a boom in any particular line. But it varies the monotony of months past by the record, that buyers are increasing, that inquiries are numerous, and in several departments of trade purchases have been fairly liberal, in short that early signs of the approach of spring trade have begun to show themselves. In dry goods, New York and Chicago note the greatest gain in the distributive movement, although at a number of other cities, notably Boston, a change for the better is mentioned. In iron the most conspicuous advance has been made. At New York the demand for pig has gained materially, and prices are firmer and the demand more active. Steel rails, the imprevement in which was first noticed by 836.50, according to delivery and quantity. This gain in iron may be regarded as a turning point in the course of that nmodity, which for thirteen months or nore has been on the down grade. Makers and dealers do not look for a jump upward, but for a gradual improvement."

Speaking of the application of Winnipeg's council to the local legislature for a grant in aid of the city's destitute, the Brandon Sun says: "They have a good right to ask for government aid, for those unfortunates are not the poor of Winnipeg, but the poor of the entire Northwest.' Here is a specimen of almost unexampled liberality in a provincial paper. When Toronto asks for anything the sectional cry is raised all over the province, although this city is a dumping ground for the poor of wealthier places than any Manitoba can

The cry about frozen wheat appears to have been a good deal of a "put up job" on the part of the millers, at least so many nd on fair trial that frozen wheat, socalled, makes good flour first and good bread afterwards. As Manitoba wheat pays no duty, Ontario millers should do their best to bring it here to supply local

On the Canadian Pacific railway question the people from down east and from the far west of the dominion should pull well together. Quebec, Halifax and St. John want their share of the Canadian Pacific railway trade, and the Northwest wants several important concessions. Now is the time for both east and west to press their respective points. Sir John will be more popular than ever if he seizes the oc-casion to do something for the country, without doing any injustice to the syndicate. It certainly looks as if he held the cards in his hand now, and could do almost as he pleased.

The Montreal Star intimates that any proposal for further concessions to the Canadian Pacific railway syndicate is likely to meet with considerable opposition among French conservative members. This forecast has probably some foundation of be some grumbling among them, there will when it comes to the pinch. STRUCK SILVER.

Reported Discovery of a Wonderful Lode in the Rocky Mountains. Mr. John Hetherington, formerly of Port Hope, has, according to the Winnipeg Times, made a valuable discovery of silver in the Rocky mountains. The lead discovered by Mr. Hetherington is at Castle Mountain, a short distance from Silver City and about three miles from the line of the C.P.R., making it very easy of access and consequently inexpensive to operate. The out crop of the lead is very rich, and some specimens which have been analyzed yielded three ounces of silver from ten pounds of rock or about 300 ounces to the ton, which would be worth about $3000 to the ton. The lead is a conbut is 700 feet lower than it. The read is a continuation of the Heeley mine, which is considered to be the richest yet discovered, but is 700 feet lower than it. The vein is about three inches wide, and was traced along the surface for about six hundred feet. A company has been formed for the cutting down salaries, but it is found that much of the cestly work executed in the times of prosperity requires virtually to be done over again. It was ever thus with cities whose proud boast is their rapid growth.

Over the border it seems as if a turn of the tide had already set in, Bradstreet's telegraphic summary for last week says:

"At nine-tenths of the cities covered by says that he has never seen such rich specimens of silver quartz before, and he believes that gold will be found farther north towards the Yellowhead Pass in large quantities. A large number of pros-pectors are out, and the probability is that next summer will witness one of the great-est mineral developments ever recorded. Pullman Car Conductors' Tricks. An ex-conductor tells a Leadville Chronicle reporter how some porters in the sleeping cars accumulate wealth: "A Pullman passenger jumps aboard late at some man passenger jumps aboard late at some intermediate station. He is tired and sleepy. He wants to go to bed at once. Usually the berths are made up. 'Why, certainly,' the porter says, 'tumble right in. Just give me your fare, and when the conductor comes along I will jum it over to him.' The the constellation Pisces. It was plainly visible to the maided eye, the tail extending to a north-westerly direction from the nucleus to a ength of about four degrees. It lies under the great square of the constellation Pegusus, but is on the border line between the constellations Pisces and Aquarius. It hould be looked for this evening as soon of the sunset as the darkness of the slow after sunset as the darkness of the sky will permit of such a faint object to be seen. An opera glass or a field binocular will help to gather the rays of light from it and make it clearer. Its position will no doubt have slightly changed by this evening. It disappeared in the mists of the horizon shortly after 8 o'clock.

The special features of this Company are its Tontine Investment and Semi-Tontine Investment Policies, and its Commercial Endowment Policy.

ITS TONTINE AND SEMI-TONTINE INVESTM Nº PILICY Combine in one form the greatest number of advantages attainable in a Life Assurance policy. They appeal at once to the intelligence of all who understand the principles and practice of Life Assurance. All policies, whether on Life or Endowment rates, are subject to no higher charge in Premium Rates in taking the "Tontine or Semi-Tontine Investment" form. The extra benefits of this class are conditioned only on the continuance of the policy for a certain specified term or Tontine period of 10, 15 or 20 years, selected by the insurer himself. Two things most desirable in Life Assurance are the CERTAINTY OF PROTECTION in case of early death, and PROFITS IN LONG LIFE. These are combined in the Tontine and Semi-Tontine Investment policies of the North American Life Assurance Company.

NEW YORK, March 23rd, 1882.

WILLIAM McCabe, Esq.,

Managing Director,

North American Life Assurance Co., Toronto. Dear Sir .- As requested by you, I have examined your "Book of Estimates" in relation to Tontine Savings' Fund Policies, as issued by your company.

The assumed rates of mortality, interest and expenses upon which the estimates of probable results have been based, are less favorable than the experience among Canadian Companies would have justified, while the estimates of surplus are far within the results actually realized by other Companies issuing Fontine Policies, and hence may be anticipated with confidence. In brief, these estimates are, in my opinion, both safe and conservative.

Dear Sir.—The paper you have submitted and explained to me, entitled "Commercial Endowment Insurance by Graduated Mortuary Payments and Deposits," sets forth a plan of Life Insurance which I have no hesitation in saying will serve a large class of Insurers better than the usual plan which requires larger payments.

These "Graduated Mortuary Payments and Deposits" are quite sufficient for the safety of the Company, and well adapted to secure its cohesion and stability.

ELIZUR WRIGHT, Consulting Actuary. Managing Director North American Life Assurance Co., Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir.—I have carefully examined your new Commercial Endowment Policy and the leastet explaining the same. You combine the economical features of insurance by natural premiums, by which the insured pays as he goes and gets what he pays for, with a small charge to secure an endowment payable at the end of the term selected.

In this way you avoid the necessity of accumulating large reserves, which of course must render Life Insurance more expensive and yet make the Company secure by the Endowment feature. The plan ought to attract business, as it is both economical and safe

Is Hanging Painful?—What a Physician Thinks. From the New York Graphic

"I have made the subject of hanging close study," observed a physician who has made the subject of nervous diseases a specialty to a Graphic reporter. "It has always borne the greatest fascination for me. When I was a youngster I was choked by an older schoolmate until I lost all consciousness and experienced the various sensations of strangulation. There was no pain whatever. I felt as if I were chloro pain whatever. I felt as if I were chloroformed, without even the characteristic feelings which always accompany the first application of the anesthetic. I sank into a dreamless sleep, from which I waked weak and dizzy, but otherwise none the worse for the experience."

"Then you think hanging is painless?"

"By no means. It is a clumsy and awkward way of producing a fracture of the spinal column. Suppose that the neck is not broken instantly. What horrible agony the poor wretch must suffer by being suspended by his torn and wrenched cords. Tear a man's arm out of its socket

Tear a man's arm out of its socket and hang him up by it. The agony must be fearful. Think of that man who was hanged in Newark a short time ago. After the fall he reached his pinioned arms up to the cord he was hanging on and tried to catch it three times. Will mortal man tell me what he suffered before a merciful strangulation came to his relief? There are other means of killing more generous if as more cleanly. of killing more generous if as more cleanly as hanging, and it remains for an enlightened country to adopt them. Shortly after the Newark slaughter, a man in Goorgia, with his throat cut from ear to car, was carried to the gallows and hanged. Was that civilized?

> Mr. Emerson and the Reporter. From the Boston Traveler

Mr. Emerson was to read a paper before a select company. When the philosopher mounted the platform the reporters were all ready at the tables below to catch every word. Mr. Emerson espied them and pre faced his paper with a request that no report should be made of his essay. Every reporter save one put away his paper and pencils. The one exception fell to work pencils. The one exception fell to work with apparently more energy than if the sage had not asked him to desist. Mr. Emerson glanced inquiringly at him several times, and at length paused in his discourse and said: "In spite of my request not to be reported, I observe one of the gentlemen at the press table is making copious notes of my paper." Instantly every eye was turned upon the offending scribe. Rising from his seat and looking at Mr. Emerson, he replied: "No, Mr. Emerson, I was not doing anything of the kind. I was busy writing on a private work of my busy writing on a private work of my own." He was a writer of serial stories as well as newsgatherer for the daily

"Well, just wait a minute until I get a razor," she returned. "I would like to see how you look without a moustache." "The reason I first cultivated a moustache," he said, with an impudent look into her face, "was to prevent the ladies from kissing me. So if you find it in the way, why cut it off."

The Great Rule of Conduct.

Lord Erskine was one of the most distinguished advocates and counselors of the English bar, a man of sterling independence, of true principle and scrupulous adherence to truth; one who, through character and talents, rose to rank, influence and success in life. He has left us one of his rules of conduct, or rather the great rule of conduct which he followed, and which is worthy of adoption by every young man.

"It was," he says, "a first command and counsel of my earliest youth always to do what my conscience told me was a duty, and to leave the consequences to God. I shall carry with me the memory, and I trust the practice of this parental lesson to the grave. I have hitherto followed it, and the grave. I have hitherto followed it, and I have no reason to complain that my obedience to it has been a temporal sacrifice. On the contrary, I have found it the road to prosperity and wealth, and I shall point out the same point to my children for their This medicine is making marvellous cures in liver complaint described in the contraction.

now is, as well as for that which is to come; for godliness is alike profitable for both, giving peace of conscience and in ward strength, as well as securing the respect and confidence of men. Let the conscience be enlightened by the word of God, and then let its dictates, in all circumstances, be faithfully followed, and life will be prospered and eternity blest.

It was one of the resolutions of President Edwards "never to do anything but what I believe to be my duty, and do it willingly and sheerfully, as unto the Lord and not to man." The noble saying of Mary Lyon was, "Thave only one fear, and that is that I may not know and do my duty."

Lyon was, "I have only one fear, and that is that I may not know and do my duty." So also Cecil well says, "Cuties are ours; events are God's." If we are but faithful to duty. His blessing will ever attend us—"the blessing that maketh rich and addeth no sorrow therewith;" blessing for both time and externity. both time and etarnity.

According to the returns of vital statistics for 1882 recently published, France is rapidly reaching the condition in which the births are only just sufficient to supply the waste caused by death. In 1882, as compared with 1881, there were 10,000 more deaths and 1500 fewer marriages Sixty years ago, under the restoration, France would have doubled its population in 112 years; at the present rate the doubling would occupy 267 years, but for the steady immigration of an enormous body of foreigners into the country every year.

Tso Tsung Tang, the Chinese imperial

Tso Tsung Tang, the Chinese imperial commissioner, was born in 1812, of poor parents, in the province of Honan, renowned in Chinese annals for brave men and able ministers. He is short of stature, his activity of mind. While ruling in Kansuh his favorite residence was in the castle; which he had built a mile outside the walls of Suchow. As viceroy of the Two Kiang, he has attracted into his service many foreigners, principally Germans, and has already formed the nucleus of a fleet. His vigor is still fresh at 71.

Last autumn, among the guests at a shooting lodge in Scotland, was a young and beautiful Australian lady, with the additional attraction of $15,000 a year of her own. She moved about a good deal with the shooting parties, and in doing so had many opportunities of observing a rather good-looking young gamekeeper. Observation begat fancy, and fancy love. We are told if there is one thing which distinct the same told in t distinguishes Australians from Americans and English it is decision of character and promptness of action. So, when she re-alized her feelings, she at once took quick action proposed, was accepted, and started in a week for Australia.

There is still much room for geologica There is still much room for geological investigation in Iceland; a large part of the island is, scientifically speaking, unexplored, and in spite of the researches of the late Dr. Hjaltalin, and the various foreign geologists who have from time to time visited Iceland, its mineral resources are but little known and very partially developed. The sulphur deposits have of late years been exploited by enterprising Englishmen, and are now being worked with every prospect of success by an English every prospect of success by an English company. But besides sulphur the island contains other valuable minerals, such as Iceland spar, coal, lignite, borax and copper, none of which is at present worked to any practical extent.

A young lady up town painted a picture of a Jersey cow, that she thought a wonderful work of art, and so did the family. After the household had admired it to their heart's content, the fair artist carried her sketch into the kitchen to get the opinion of Aunt Dinah. THE GREAT DR. DIO LEWIS

The very marked testimonials from College Professors, respectable Physicians, and other gentlemen of intelligence and character to the value of Warner's SAFE Cure, published in the editorial columns of our best newspapers, have greatly surprised me. Many of these gentlemen I knew, and reading their testimony I was impelled to purchase some bottles of Warner's SAFE Cure and analyze it. Besides, I took some, swallowing three times the prescribed quantity. I am satisfied the medicine is not injurious, and will frankly add that if I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble I should use this preparation. The truth is, the medical profession stands dazed and helpless in the presence of more than one kidney malady, while the testimony of hundreds of intelligent and very reputable gentlemen hardly leaves room to doubt that Mr. H. H. Warner has fallen upon one of those happy discoveries which occasionally bring help to suffering humanity. His Outspoken Opinion.
