IT is mighty mean to patronize a mer-far in debt to him that you are ashamed to see him, and then go and spend your not get credit; but there are people who do it.

YOUNG Mother (anxiously)—What more things that sound well and mean nothing at all than any kid I ever saw.

"On no account bathe shortly after a heavy meal." This is a rule with which few people are unfamiliar, yet one that is more frequently broken than observed.
The fact that drownings have been unusually numerous in Ontario recently, and that a number of them are reported to have been due to this cause, is sufficient proof of the need of stricter observance of the rule.

THE 27th Regiment will go into camp

Two rinks of bowlers from Watford went to Petrolia on Tuesday to take part in the Lambton League Tournament and gave a very good account of themselves. There are seven clubs taking part in the tournament. The Watford rinks who played are P. E. Fuller, F. O.
McLaren, S. Louks, with J. W. McLaren skip; and J. H. Hume, J. McKecher, S.
Stapleford, with Rev. S. P. Irwin as skip.

PARTY telephone lines are no doubt a great convenience for those in rural communities as well as for those in town, but it seems a little one-sided when someone gets hold of the line and hangs onto it for from fifteen minutes to half an hour. Every subscriber on a party line should remember that others on that line have rights which must not be imposed on. Five minutes is the limit for any one conversation, if the line is needed by another subscriber.

J. W. McLAREN is about to make extensive improvements in the Rexall store. A handsome new glass front with outdoor island show case in the centre,
the floor entrance, and complete remodelling of interior of the building are among the improvements. The heavy steel girders for holding the upper storey have been delivered and workmen will commence in a few days to take out the old front. When the changes are completed Mr. McLaren will have one of the handsomest fronts in Western Ontario.

The Ontario Stallion Act and its amendments come into force on August 1st, and any owner who has not complied with the provisions of the Act as to inspection and enrollment before that date will find himself liable to a penalty.
There is no doubt whatever as to the purpose of the authorities in this matter, and there is every indication that the law will be rigorously enforced. These certificates are of four classes: for pure bred horses that have passed or failed to pass inspection and for grades that have passed or failed to pass inspection.

A PROLIFIC STRAWBERRY—114 BERRIES ON ONE PLANT.

The strawberry plant reproduced above was grown from the seed by Mr. George Ott, Arkona. It contains one hundred and fourteen berries, the largest measuring 5 1/4 inches in circumference. The stalks average 12 inches. The original of this plant was a chance seedling found by Mr. Ott among his raspberry plants.
Noticing the quantity of fruit on it he cultivated the plant, with the result that it gave 24 plants the next season. This was five years ago. Mr. Ott has been growing berries for over 40 years, but this new berry surpasses anything previously produced by him for size and productiveness. The plant will yield one-third more fruit than any he has grown heretofore and the fruit will keep longer and commands a higher price than the old varieties. The berry has been named "Ott's Giant." The smaller cut is a single stem of plant.

CHILDREN'S linen suits and rompers at cost.—SWIFTS' Sale.

IT is desirable for all who can to take a holiday, get away from business and every day environments, and have a change of air. Rest, freedom, the holiday spirit and recreation are among the elements which make the changed air so good for the system. They are, as a rule, elements we cannot find in the air at home. Thus a physical paradox becomes a medical and moral truth and a benefit to the participant. Make arrangements to go to Detroit on August 12th, Watford's civic holiday. The trip is a lovely one and will do you good.

CANADIAN ORDER of WOODMEN of the World have adopted a schedule of increased rates of insurance, which is being roundly condemned by its members everywhere. For the young, they're not so bad, but for the old members, now past the time for securing protection elsewhere, who have been paying their monthly assessments for many years, to double and in some cases almost treble the old rates seems to be nothing but pure imposition. There is hardly any use of kicking, however. It's either a case of pay up or get out.

LIEUT.-COL. MACDONNELL, of Divisional Headquarters, has issued a circular giving particulars about the rifle matches in connection with the Dominion Rifle Association and the Ontario Ass'n., the latter commencing 17th Aug. and the former 24th Aug. He urged the attendance of military men at these meetings and the advantages to be obtained from doing so by advancing the cause of musketry training and rifle shooting.
Competitors will be carried to and from the place of meeting for single fare.
Entries to these matches close as follows:
—D.R.A., Wednesday, 19th Aug.; O.R.A., Monday, Aug. 10th, after which date 20 per cent. is added to the entrance fee. Programs and entry forms can be had from the secretaries: Major R. J.
Birdwhistle D.R.A., 49 Metcalfe st., Ottawa; and Capt. A. A. Miller, O.R.A., 137 Bay St., Toronto.

Military Notes

Camp is in the air. The 27th Regiment will go under canvas at Goderich two weeks from next Monday. The training this year will be of a most interesting nature. Five days will be spent at Goderich and then all the regiments in camp will begin a trek south and meet the city regiments which at the same time will be in a march north and when the two forces meet a sham fight will take place, thus giving the soldiers all the experiences of a real campaign minus the bullets.

All the officers and men were delighted last week when they were informed that the regiment would be issued before camp with new khaki serge uniforms.
The 27th is the first rural corps to receive this new issue and it will certainly give the regiment a very smart appearance.

All officers and men are requested to attend the armory on Friday evening at 8 o'clock sharp for instruction. Sgt.
Instructor Owens, late of the Scots Guards, will be present. He is one of the finest instructors in the British Army.
Subjects for instruction, "Outposts" and "Sword Exercises." Officer of the week

next week, Capt. Swift, next for duty, Lieut. F. C. Browne.

It is confidently expected by the officers and men that the Twenty-Seventh will be the crack regiment at the Goderich camp.

1553 New Teachers

The results of the Normal School examinations recently announced, show that these seven training schools produced 1,224 teachers this year, as compared with 1,020 last year.

In addition to these there are the graduates of the Faculties of Education at Queens and Toronto. The two universities produced 329 teachers, either with first-class certificates, qualifying the holders to teach in Public Schools, or High School assistants.

The supply of new teachers, therefore,
from the Faculties and Normal Schools for the coming year is 1,553.

The Regina Watch Goes to Mrs. T. A. Woods

The guessing contest in which Mr. Carl A. Class, jeweler, offered a gold-filled case Regina watch to the person guessing the nearest to the length of time the watch would run with one winding, came to an end on Sunday morning at 7.30, the watch having run 45 hours, 59 minutes and 52 seconds. Mrs. T. A. Woods, of the 6th line, Warwick, is the winner, her guess being 46 hours, 1 minute and 10 seconds, only 1 minute and 18 seconds away from the official time. Dr. Newell acted as referee, wound up the watch and sealed it on Friday morning at 9.30. From that time until very late Saturday night Mr. Class' show window was a centre of attraction, and at times the sidewalk was blocked by an interested crowd of guessers. Over 800 guesses were put in, several of them within a few minutes of the official time, while others were several hours out.

An Interesting Shoot

An interesting and very evenly matched rifle competition between two friendly teams of the Watford Rifle Association took place in the Armory rifle gallery on Monday of this week.

The teams consisted of the following members:—Geo. O. Stephenson, captain, D. Roche, C. Howden, B. Cowan, M. James, A. McKecher, L. H. Cook, capt., Dr. R. G. C. Kelly, P. J. Dodds, Chas. Willson, B. C. Binks, T. L. Swift.

The conditions were five rounds per man standing with the Ross service rifle and resulted in a win for the first mentioned team by one point. The total scores were:—Mr. Stephenson's team 92, Mr. Cook's team 91.

Mr. P. J. Dodds made an excellent 22 points out of a possible 25, Mr. Stephenson being a good second with 21.

The return competition resulted in a win for the team of L. H. Cook by four points, the winning team making a total of 101 against 97. P. J. Dodds (on the winning side) again heads the score with a good 23 out of a possible 25, and Mr. Stephenson 22. It is hoped that periodical matches will be arranged by members of the club, as nothing keeps up the interest more than these friendly matches.

Miss Carrie Healy has returned home after visiting friends in Warwick.

John McLean, 8th con., died on Thursday last after about six months' illness from anaemia. The funeral was held on Saturday at Alvinston cemetery, and was one of the largest held in Alvinston for some years. Deceased leaves a widow, a number of relatives and a host of friends to mourn his death.

Miss Hermon House, of Melbourne, Australia, and Miss House of Swan River, Manitoba, who have been visiting their sister Mrs. F. E. McWatson for the past two months, left on the 29th to visit their sister Mrs. W. D. Bealtiz, Essex, and niece Mrs. Click Sweetland, Detroit, Michigan, before returning west.

A distressing accident occurred in Marmora, Ont., by which Bernard O'Brien lost his life. He was carrying a rifle, and upon two dogs beginning to fight, he took hold of the barrel of the gun and attempted to strike the dogs with the butt. The rifle was discharged, the bullet entering his body. Medical assistance was procured but he died in a few hours.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Doucette Tells of her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How She Found Relief.

Belleville, Nova Scotia, Can.—“Three years ago I was suffering badly with what the doctors called Change of Life. I was so bad that I had to stay in bed. Some friends told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first. It is the only medicine I took that did help me and I recommend it. You don't know how thankful and grateful I am. I give you permission to publish what your good medicine has done for me.”—Mrs. SIMON DOUCETTE, Belleville, Yarmouth Co., Nova Scotia, Canada.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, back-aches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS.

WATFORD, JULY 31, 1914.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Now it is New York's turn to take the Ontario Prison farm as a model in the reclaiming criminal unfortunates. In a recent issue of the World Judge Swann discusses turning Black well Island into a reformatory farm instead of using it as at present.

Tabulated returns of the results of the voting in the different constituencies in the Provincial elections last month gives the Whitney Government a popular majority of about 60,568. This is something like 11,000 more than in the general election of 1911. This increase is largely caused by the fact that there were fewer acclamations this time.

Sir Charles Tupper was 93 years old July 2nd. How pleasant it would be if Canada's "grand old man," one of the principal founders of Confederation, were to live until July 1, 1917, and witness a nation vigorous beyond his early dreams celebrating its golden jubilee. Canadians will devoutly wish that Sir Charles may be spared for that crowning joy.—Comber Herald.

In Provincial politics there is a fairly equal division of power between the two parties. The Liberals hold Quebec, Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, and Alberta; the Conservatives hold Ontario, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia. With Manitoba included, the population of the Conservative Provinces is somewhat the larger of the two. The winning of Manitoba by the Liberals would have turned the scale, making the population of the Liberal Provinces the larger.

The reports of the Grand Lodge officers to the Masonic Grand Lodge which met at Niagara show the order to be in a flourishing condition, financially and numerically. During the past year the membership has increased over 2,000, making a grand total of some 55,000 brethren in good standing in the jurisdiction. Although considerably more than usual has been contributed to charity during the past year, the benevolent fund was never stronger or a greater surplus reported in the general funds.

Under the new naturalization law of Canada, which comes into force on the 1st of January next, a Canadian woman who marries an alien will take the nationality of her husband. The new British law on the subject does not, in itself, apply to Canada, but the legislation recently passed at Ottawa is concurrent and identical with the legislation of the Imperial Parliament should enact identical laws in respect to naturalization. The new law of naturalization with regard to this matter is explained as being on the principle that if a Canadian woman marries a foreigner she assumes his nationality, and must look to him or his country for protection and support. As stated, the new Canadian law simply follows the new Imperial Act on the question.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Sheep-Killing Dogs

I would like to say a few words on the much discussed question of sheep-killing dogs. To my mind a good dog is as valuable as any animal on the farm. I like the black and tan collie trained to obedience from youth. The buff collies are too sensitive for ordinary mortals to handle. If farmers would castrate their male puppies it would in a great measure prevent banding, which is a sure cause of the sheep-killing habit. I have never known a lone dog to kill sheep. I have a woolly dog which delights to be with the sheep; acts as a protector and will allow no scrapping among any of the stock on the farm. I have been handling sheep all my life. At present I have a flock that averages 12lb. of wool to the fleece; have 25 lambs from 14 sheep thus far and more to hear from. I had one set of triplets that weighed when born 27lb. I keep a few small team bells on my sheep, one to every 4 or 5 sheep and never know them ever to be even chased by dogs. R. W. FINDLAY, Danville, Quebec.

Soft corns are difficult to eradicate, but Horstway's Corn Cure will draw them out painlessly.

Garden parties where political speeches were made was a new feature in the Ontario election campaign. When the discussion got uncomfortably warm it could be tempered with ice cream cones.

A Boston specialist prescribes ice cream soda as a remedy for alcoholism. "It absorbs the poison and cools, protects and heals." Inasmuch as both can be absorbed through straws it has an economic advantage.

Thieves are not particular where they break in or what they steal. One day's record of their activity this week included a bank burglary, a breaking into a church and stealing a barrel of beer from an hotel.

Unless worms be expelled from the system, no child can be healthy. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is the best medicine extant to destroy worms.

FASHION AND MISERY.

A Pitiful Tragedy That Revealed an Incongruous Combination.

One of the standing subjects of humorous remarks among New York theatergoers is the weekly article on men's fashions, published over the nose of plume of Beau Brummel, in the programs of the theaters of the better class.

Some people think Beau Brummel is a woman, while others believe him to be merely a haberdasher with a drug habit. However that may be, it is a reasonable supposition that no one wears any of the clothes that Beau Brummel writes about. It couldn't be done. If any man ever arrayed himself in one week's output of the Beau Brummel fashions and started down Broadway he'd land in jail or the psychopathic ward at Bellevue.

The case of Beau Brummel is merely funny. But here is a grim and pitiful little tragedy which is in a way related to it. In a small tenement, at the eastern and poverty stricken end of Fifty-sixth street, the police found John Conwell and his old mother, dead from gas. The man was past middle age and unmarried. They lived alone, and he idolized the woman—a poor, old drunkard. The neighbors said he used to cry hysterically when she would stagger home, stupefied with drink. At last he turned on the gas while she slept and died with her.

He wore cotton overalls at the time of his death, and the few articles of his wearing apparel found in the apartment were worn and ragged. Yet the letters and papers which the police took possession of proved that he earned a livelihood for himself and his mother by writing articles on the latest fashions in men's dress.—New York Letter in Cincinnati Times-Star.

OLD FORT MARION.

America's Only Medieval Castle a Landmark in St. Augustine.

For more than 200 years St. Augustine was the Spanish capital of Florida, and the Florida of those days extended from the Chesapeake bay to the Pacific ocean. It was an impregnable stronghold all of those years.

Old Fort Marion, begun in 1502 and finished in 1768, is the only medieval castle in America. It cost an enormous sum of money. Repeated heavy drafts of the builders caused the king of Spain to inquire if they were building Fort Marion of gold dollars. The castle stands today in perfect condition, guarded by the United States government. The keeper conducts visitors through the castle, down into the dungeons and shows you rings in the walls where victims of Spanish oppression were chained to die. Report, fairly well authenticated, has it that when the castle fell into the hands of the British two skeletons were found in one of these dungeons chained to the wall. One was of a man, the other a woman. There is something uncanny about these dungeons that cannot be described by word of mouth.

While there has been great improvement in old St. Augustine, the ancient landmarks have been preserved. The old city gate is intact; the Spanish monuments hundreds of years old attract the lover of antiquities. Narrow streets characterized all Spanish towns of medieval times. There are streets in St. Augustine not more than ten or a dozen feet wide, each side lined with the same type of buildings that were the custom three or four centuries ago.

Wanted to Be Safe.

Tom Jackson had participated in a narrow escape from death, due to an accident which happened while he was crossing to Liverpool. It was, therefore, with much fear and hesitancy that he decided to return home.

Approaching the porter hurriedly at the last minute, he was told that he was too late for a stateroom. "The last one was just taken," announced that worthy.

"Stateroom?" queried the frightened passenger. "Who wants a stateroom? Give me a reserved seat in a lifeboat!"—Buffalo Express.

A Painful Process.

Little Prescott had been leaning out of an upstairs window.

"Come away from the window, son," his father said sternly. "You might fall out and get a lump on your back—like the camels you saw yesterday."

The little boy was silent for a few minutes. Then he asked, "Father, do all the little camels have to fall out the window to get their humps?"—New York Post.

BUYING A REFRIGERATOR.

The Selection Should Be Based on Common Sense.

The summer refrigerator or ice chest is the most important item of the kitchen outfit. A refrigerator should not be kept in the cellar. If there is no other place for it the cellar must be very dry, the floor level and a place found near a window so that light and air will be at hand.

A shed or outer kitchen is the best place for a refrigerator. Here it is within convenient reach and well ventilated.

Select an oak or white pine exterior. These are more durable even than ash, and oak is superior to any casting unless one feels like providing real white porcelain.

It is possible to buy a good sized oak refrigerator for $15 upward which contains a separate ice chamber within convenient reach. Some models have the ice chamber at the top reached by a lid, so that it is necessary for the average woman to stand on tiptoe to look inside and remove the interior support for cleansing purposes.

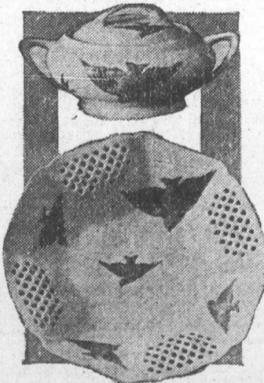

With such an arrangement it is often necessary to remove the entire interior arrangement to get at the drain, and anything so awkward and complicated must be avoided, even if its care is not to be intrusted to the maid. In such a case the old fashioned ice chest is easier to handle, but the advantage of the ice chest is that while cheaper it is all practically one compartment, whereas the up to date refrigerator has its chambers all separate, with a well regulated system of cold air drafts reaching down from the ice chamber and outside air currents passing behind the side walls to give proper circulation.

TABLE NOVELTIES.

One of These is the Bluebird China Whose Beauty Makes For Happiness.

Manufacturers of china are giving us more attractive table ware than ever before. Who could fail to feel happy partaking of luncheon or tea from one of these bluebird china sets, specimens of which are illustrated here? Even the heaviest food should taste better served in such dishes.

Useful and attractive are the new English breakfast sets. A silver plated waiter, some sixteen inches long, is fitted to a pair of U shaped legs, which because of their very shape stand satisfactorily on a bed, making an excellent table for an invalid. When not in use the legs fold under. Two sets of pretty china go with each tray. If one set becomes chipped or broken the second one is there to replace it.

In these sets come a small individual coffeepot fitted with a silver lid, as also are the marmalade and jelly jars. The sugar bowl is an open one and is only large enough to hold three blocks of sugar. It is quite complete with tiny sugar tongs, the cream jug is cute and pretty, while the combination bread and butter plate, with fitted toast rack above, is both attractive and novel. Another combination piece is the egg holder, which has tiny salt and pepper shakers inset into silver rims at each side. A coffee cup and breakfast plate complete this little breakfast set.

Home Helps.

Discolored bronze should be thoroughly cleaned of dust, then apply a mixture of two parts warm water and one part muriatic acid. Wipe dry with a chamolix skin.

A velvet hat can be kept in good condition by wiping it with a piece of black stocking after brushing.

RUIN IN A CHINA SHOP.

A Crash That Spelled Agony For the London Curio Dealer.

George Robey, the comedian, frequently drops in for a chat with a dealer in London. In the outer room are vases and jars, cups, groups and sets of pieces valued at anything from 50 to 500 guineas. Inside is the proprietor's private apartment. To reach him you gingerly pick your way through the thousands of pounds' worth of valuable china.

"One day not long ago," Robey says, "I had been chatting within, and a friend was waiting for me in the outer room. As I bade the dealer 'Good morning' and was about to pass into the outer room there came a dreadful crashing of broken china. My friend turned upon me an eye glassy with anguish. Never shall I forget the proprietor's expression of supreme horror as he rushed from his sanctum and saw my friend and myself standing amid the debris of broken chinaware which lay strewn around our feet. He was speechless—choking.

"Legal proceedings? Five thousand pounds? In a word, what was the damage, you inquire. Well, I am sorry to have to confess it, for the proprietor was in bed for a week as the result of the shock, but it was a gag prearranged. For my friend, who had brought with him a couple of dozen cheap soap plates, had, at a given signal from me, dropped them in a heap upon the floor."—London Answers.

FLYING FOXES OF INDIA.

During the Day They Sleep in Trees, Hanging Head Downward.

People who have lived in India are familiar with the long strings of flying foxes which can often be seen vending their way in single file from their sleeping places in remote trees to the fruit gardens upon which they prey.

These curious creatures, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, sometimes measure as much as four feet across the wings and have reddish brown fur and mole colored wings. After their nocturnal depredations they fly away with the dawn to a tree in some isolated place and there rest during the day, hanging head downward from the boughs in the manner of bats, clutching the branch with their feet.

As the flying foxes gather on the tree selected there is a tremendous commotion, for each newcomer is vigorously driven off from one place after another until he eventually manages to secure a perch for himself. Those on the tree meanwhile keep up an incessant wrangling, each endeavoring to secure the highest and best place to rest on. Sometimes many hundreds of these destructive creatures may be seen hanging from the branches of a large tree.

When opportunity offers they are often shot, and some of the natives consider their flesh a delicacy, though it hardly appeals to Europeans.

A Personal Preference.

A well known magazine writer moved not so very long ago from Brooklyn to California. On the day before the family started west he went for a walk through the neighborhood with his four-year-old son.

"I suppose," said the father, "that you'll be sorry to leave all your little chums here?"

The youngster thought he would. At that he did not seem to show much emotion at the prospect of parting from all his friends.

"Which one will you miss the most?" inquired the parent.

The boy was not sure.

"Now," pressed his father, "which little boy of all the little boys you know do you like the best?"

The little chap considered a minute before answering.

"Well," he said at last, "I guess I like myself pretty well!"—Saturday Evening Post.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Expert opinion is about unanimous in warning investors against western oil propositions, the field not having been sufficiently proved yet.

At the present day the general thing is to live at least to the limit of one's income. If thrift were practiced to a greater degree there would be less mortgages and debts lying like heavy burdens on the shoulders of the people.

To kill loose smut of oats and stinking smut of wheat the best results were obtained at the Agricultural College from grain immersed for twenty minutes in a solution made up of one-half pint of formalin to twenty-one gallons of water.

In potato experiments at the Ontario Agricultural College in the last five years the Extra Early Eureka has made the best record in the early varieties, and the Davies Warrior, Empire State and Rural New Yorker No. 2 in the late or general varieties.

The necessity of keeping matches beyond the reach of children is demonstrated almost every day by the fatal accidents in the day's news. If matches are only placed in safes that are high enough there can be no danger. And it is quite as easy to place the holders well up on the wall as to have them within reach of toddling children.

Oil Springs gas is now being used in Sarnia. It is said to be better than the gas from the Tilbury field.

As the result of an outbreak of hog cholera on the farms near Ingersoll, Dr. Tennant of London, Government Inspector, traced a shipment from the West and strictly enforced the regulations. The premises of twenty purchasers from the shipment have been quarantined and they will not be allowed to keep hogs for three months. Four hundred hogs were destroyed by instructions from the Inspector. The financial loss will be heavy. Fifteen dollars is the maximum valuation allowed by the Government for any one hog pure bred, two-thirds of which is paid to the farmer.

The voters' list of the Township of Warwick for 1914, is now in the hands of the Clerk, and copies can be had for the asking. Be sure and see that your name is on the list and that property description is correct. If not right notify Clerk in writing before 29th of August. Among those who attended the funeral of Mr. Basil Logan, Sarnia, were Mr. and Mrs. Finley Logan, Birnam; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Higgins, Warwick; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Logan and Miss Myrtle Walters, Brooke; Mr. and Mrs. Amley Logan and daughter, Merle, Forest; Mrs. Len Mathews and daughter, Greta; Camlachie; Mr. Will Logan, Brooke; Melford Logan, Forest; David Logan, Marlett, Mich.; Fred Eastman, Birnam.

Mr. J. L. Hilborn the pioneer fruit and vegetable grower of Leamington, formerly of Warwick, who a few years ago moved to Summerland B. C., has been given charge of the experiments in small fruits and vegetables under the auspices of the Minister of Agriculture of British Columbia. The experiments will be conducted on Mr. Hilborn's farm. If there is any possible way to make these experiments a huge success, Mr. Hilborn knows that way. He is progressive in his ideas and energetic in anything he undertakes.

Choice fruit must be treated "choicely"

—both for our sake and yours. Apart from exposing it for sale in an appetizing way—which is really part of our method of selling—we make a point of seeing that every possible care is taken to keep it as clean and fresh as if our whole reputation depended on that alone. Our choice fruit is consequently well named—it is the best you can buy or eat in this town.

Mr. Conkey was back in the corn field and did not see the fire until it was well advanced. Mrs. Conkey, thinking it was the chimney, looked out and saw her woodshed in a blaze. A Betrothal

Story of a Dancing Mania

By F. A. MITCHEL

In medieval times on the coast of Denmark, overlooking the North sea, was a village the people of which made their living by fishing.

Martin Aarhus, who followed in the footsteps of his father in getting a living by his nets, wood and won Maria Stahr, who was conceded to be the prettiest girl in the village. Maria had pale blue eyes and a wealth of very light hair. As to her complexion, it was like milk tinged with rose-leaves.

Unfortunately for the lovers, Maria's father was opposed to the match. He was a covetous man and wished to save his daughter's dowry. She was so beautiful that he believed some man having a fair supply of this world's goods would be glad to marry her without the customary settlement on her. He found her with far more resolution than would be expected from beneath those mild eyes of hers. "Martin, too, vowed that he would have the girl if he had to run away with her. The old man grew more and more angry, and at last, when quarrelling with Martin on the subject, said, in a fit of passion: "Before you shall possess my daughter I will give her to the devil."

Considering that the words were spoken in anger, nothing was thought of them. In spite of the old man's opposition, the lovers clung to each other and at last summoned their friends to witness their betrothal

"WE NEED SOME ONE," SAID MARTIN, "TO PUT SPIRIT INTO US."

Since the gathering could not take place at Maria's home on account of her father's opposition, the guests were invited to meet at the house of Martin's parents.

While the festivities attending the betrothal were in progress old Stahr was at home grinding his teeth, though his wife was present at the betrothal. When early in the evening the guests, recognizing that the occasion was one of sorrow rather than enjoyment, were thinking of returning to their homes there came a rap at the door, and on its being opened a tall, thin man in red doublet and hose, black breeches and a black velvet cap on his head, ornamented with a single red feather, stood in the opening.

"Good people," he said, "I am a traveler from the south on my way to Copenhagen. Not being used to your climate, I am benumbed with cold. I beg shelter of you and something to eat."

No one in those days would think of turning away a traveler who asked to be taken in, and the stranger was made welcome. Some of the viands that had been prepared for the betrothal, with a flagon of wine, were set before him, and he ate and drank heartily. After he had finished and wiped his lips with a napkin, giving his mustache a slight upturn, he seemed to be much refreshed.

"How can I repay you," he asked, "for your hospitality? I am aware that no one, except one entertained at an inn, would offer money. I see that you are gathered to make merry. May I not do something to enliven you?"

"We need some one," said Martin, "to put spirit into us. We are met to celebrate a betrothal. I am to marry this maiden," pointing to Maria, "but you would suppose from her lugubrious appearance that I was going to do her harm."

A shiver passed through the assemblage at this harsh remark of Martin's concerning his betrothed, so unlike him, for throughout all old Stahr's opposition Martin had been singularly tender with his beloved. As for Maria, she cast an indignant glance at him and, advancing to the stranger, put her hand on his arm and, leading him from one to another of her guests, introduced him. Martin watched them with flashing eyes, and it was apparent that a turmoil had been stirred within him.

It was evident that there was something in the coming of this stranger that made a great change in the spirit of the assemblage and especially in the pair whose betrothal they had come together to celebrate. In a twinkling he seemed to have irritated Martin and insinuated himself into Maria's good graces. Presently it began to appear that he had enthralled her. The sad look she had worn before was now changed to merriment. She chatted briskly with her companion and laughed gleefully at everything he said. When walking with him and passing Maria she either did not deign to look at him or regarded him with hate.

Maria's mother saw all this, as did every one else, and was desirous of doing something to break it up. She accented the stranger thus: "Good sir, do you not play on any musical instrument or sing?"

"I will sing for you with pleasure. Have you a harp?"

The woman brought one of those rude cases on which cantant was stretched and from which have been developed our modern stringed instruments. He struck a chord, and in an instant strange fell on the assembly. There was something weird in it that no one present had ever heard before. Then he began to sing. Every person within sound of his voice was thrilled with a strange sensation. He began low and soft, as if singing a lullaby to a child, gradually rising till his song had all the wildness of a storm wind passing through the rigging of a ship. Then, after a succession of demonic notes, his voice fell into a basso profundo, giving an impression that infernal fires were rumbling in the bowels of the earth.

Meanwhile Maria had kept her eyes fixed on him, spellbound. Martin, who was watching her, now and again half drew a short dirk he carried in his belt, as if about to plunge it in the stranger's heart. But every time he did so something in the song unnerved him, and he let the knife slide back into its scabbard.

When the song ceased Maria's mother made another attempt to change the conditions. She asked the stranger if he would not play for the company to dance. Immediately he struck a chord that shot a current of exhilaration through every one present. He struck another, and all began to sway. A third drew men and women together in couples. Then began the merriest music that had ever been heard in that quiet village.

First the younger persons present went spinning over the floor, then those who were older, till all were whirling. Children, youths, married persons and white haired old men and women were dancing merrily, while shouts of laughter accompanied the spirited music to which they moved. The longer they danced the wilder grew their antics. Most of them wore wooden shoes, and the clatter was conditions. She asked the stranger if a dancer kicked high his shoe would fly off and go sailing across the room. But no one paid any attention to the missiles, though they were in danger of receiving serious injury.

Persons who had not been invited to the betrothal, hearing the noise, came to the windows and looked in. So catching was the music and the dancing that before long couples were moving on the sidewalk in a wild whirl. As the dance went on these were joined by others till it seemed as if the whole town were bent on beating the pavements with their wooden shoes in crazy capers.

The man who made this mad music, seeing Maria dance past him without a partner, dropped his instrument and put an arm about her, and the two went whirling like the rest. The legend goes that the music went on without the musician, though some versions have it that by this time the people were so crazed that music was not needed to keep them in their mad dance. In vain old Aarhus and his wife endeavored to call a halt within, and the mayor of the town tried to stop the dancing without. It was all the mayor and old Aarhus and his wife could do to refrain from dancing themselves.

Finally there was a clap of thunder, and a sudden silence fell on all the village. Persons stood looking at one another, wondering why they had been dancing now that they had no desire to dance. In the house where the betrothal was celebrated all the candles went out. They were at once relighted, and everybody began to look for everybody else. Martin was there, pale and haggard. He had been dance-ing more wildly than any one else and showed the effect more than others. Then cries arose: "Where's the stranger who bewitched us?"

"Where's Maria?"

A search revealed neither of them. A girl said when the clap of thunder came she had seen the stranger and Maria whirl up in the air and disappear above the housetops. One gave one story; another gave another. Martin seemed paralyzed. He was thinking what old Stahr had said on one occasion, "Before you shall possess my daughter I will give her to the devil."

For a long while the legend was that Maria was never seen again on earth. Then after men's minds had been broadened it ran that when the clap came the stranger was about to spirit Maria away, but met the village priest, who was coming with a view to quieting the tumult, and the stranger, catching sight of the cross suspended to the father's rosary, slunk away and disappeared. This version adds that Maria was found at her father's house, and the old man, horrified that he had so nearly given his daughter to Satan, relented, gave his consent to the match, and Martin and Maria were married. But when they went to the church for the ceremony Maria carried a cross with her, fearing the devil might be on the watch for her and spirit her away.

FEEDING THE CALF.

Little and Often is a Safe Rule to Follow in This Matter.

Great care should be taken not to feed roughage to the new born calf, and as it grows see that it eats only the choicest and finest of forage and that the quantity taken is small. Indigestion also comes commonly from feeding more milk at one time than can be properly cared for in the fourth stomach or feeding milk that is soured, fermented, decomposing or from dirty, contaminated vessels. It is important to copy nature as far as possible.

A young calf takes a little milk often, but man seems to think that two big "messes" of milk a day will be all right. Then the calf scours and dies or has fits and dies, and the feeder wonders what is wrong. Give a little milk often, at first and always from clean, scalded and sun dried vessels.—Farm Journal.

Worms in Horses.

Horses do not suffer from stomach worms, but from intestinal worms. As often advised, give a tablespoonful night and morning of a mixture of equal parts of salt, dried sulphate of iron and sulphur in the feed. Continue for a week, then skip ten days and repeat. Omit the iron for a pregnant mare. Avoid feeding swale hay or giving contaminated drinking water.

Highly Practical.

"Your business college for young ladies seems to be all right."

"It is all right."

"Do you give the girls a good practical business training?"

"In reply to that question I can only say that 60 per cent of our graduates marry their employers the first year."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Plains of Argentina.

The roads of the plains of Argentina have deeper dust in summer and deeper mud in winter than those of any other part of the world, consequently the wagons used on them have wheels that are from six to fifteen feet in diameter.

Chilly Text.

Mother—Tommy, what was the golden text at Sunday school today? Tommy (who lives in Alaska)—Let me see. Oh, yes! "Many are cold, but few are frozen."—Judge.

A wise man contents himself with doing as much good as his situation allows him to do.—Lord Bolingbroke.

Wise and experienced mothers know when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders, the most effective vermifuge that can be used. It is absolute in clearing the system of the worms used on them have wheels that are from six to fifteen feet in diameter. It is the most trustworthy of worm exterminators.

At Crawford Creek, B. C., Clayton Tapping, while digging a well for water, struck oil, which caused great excitement in the neighborhood. Fraser river fishermen and canners met in Vancouver and asked the government to give white fishermen preference over japs in future.

HIS HEALTH IN A TERRIBLE STATE

"Fruit-a-lives" Healed His Kidneys and Cured Him

HAGERVILLE, ONT., Aug. 26th, 1913. "About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys were not doing their work and was all run down in condition. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised I decided to try them. Their effect I found more than satisfactory. Their action was mild and the result all that could be expected. My kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of dozens boxes, and I regained my old time vitality. Today, I am enjoying the best health I have ever had."

B. A. KELLY. "Fruit-a-lives" is the great Kidney Remedy in the world. It acts on the bowels and skin as well as the kidneys, and thereby soothes and cures any kidney soreness. "Fruit-a-lives" is sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 2c or will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

Regina Watch Contest

In accordance with the conditions previously advertised, the Regina Watch offered as a prize in our recent Guessing Contest was awarded to

MRS. T. A. WOODS, 6th Line, who guessed
46 Hours, 1 Minute, 10 Seconds

The unusual length of time which this watch ran with one winding is due to the fact that all Regina Watches are finely finished and carefully adjusted in all bearing surfaces, thereby reducing friction to an irreducible minimum. In addition the mainspring is extra thin and wide, thus giving a longer maintenance of power. The Regina is a watch of extreme quality, and it is known in every civilized country as "the watch of matchless merit."

East Lambton Election Appeal

Decision of Judge MacWatt at the Re-count Reversed—Chief Justice Rules that Martin was Regularly Elected

Chief Justice Sir William Meredith, sitting as an election judge at Osgoode Hall, Friday last, allowed the appeal of Dr. J. B. Martyn, Conservative candidate for the riding of East Lambton, at the recent provincial elections, from the decision of Judge MacWatt, who at the close of a recount of the votes cast in the election declared Mr. R. J. McCormick, Liberal candidate and former member for the constituency, elected. His Honor ruled that 123 votes cast in the subdivision of Thiedford were bad and could not be allowed as the deputy returning officer had neglected to remove the counterfoils from the voting papers before they were placed in the ballot-box. Chief Justice Meredith, in reversing the decision of the county judge, ruled the rejected ballots must be accepted and counted, as the law was clear in its intent that effect should be given to the manifest intentions of the voters rather than that they should be disfranchised. According to the ruling in the Stormont case, the counterfoil was not a part of the ballot paper, consequently there was no mark of identification on it. The appeal would be allowed, but no costs would be given to either party. The result of the decision is that Dr. Martyn is elected by a majority of four. Edmund Bristol, K. C., M.P., W. H. Price, K. C., M.P.P., and Mr. F. W. Wilson, of Petrolia, appeared for Dr. Martyn, and Mr. R. I. Towers, of Sarnia, for Mr. McCormick.

CANADA'S RESOURCES

See Show in the Government Building at Canadian National Exhibition

The display of Canada's natural resources in the Government Building at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, is the most complete ever yet together. The Dominion Government is sending a complete exhibit of the fish that swim in the Atlantic, the Pacific and the streams that flow between. Ontario is showing her grains, her fruits and her minerals; British Columbia is sending her timber, her fruit and her grains, the Prairie Provinces are showing their grains and the Maritime Provinces their minerals. If you are a Canadian the display will make you proud. If you are a visitor it will interest and amaze you.

PALE AND SICKLY BOYS AND GIRLS

Need All the Strength That Good Rich Red Blood Can Give

Youth is the time to lay the foundation for health. Every boy and girl should have plenty of pure, red blood and strong nerves. With this, impure blood they start life with a handicap too great to win success and happiness. Pure, red blood means healthful growth, strong nerves, a clear brain and a good digestion. In a word, pure blood is the foundation of health.

The signs of thin, impure blood are many and unmistakable. The pale, irritable boy or girl, who has no appetite or ambition, is always tired out, melancholy, short of breath, and who does not grow strong, is the victim of anaemia, or bloodlessness—the greatest enemy of youth. There is just one thing to do for these boys and girls—build up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. You can't afford to experiment with other remedies for there must be no guesswork in the treatment of anaemia. Through neglect or wrong treatment anaemia gradually develops into the pernicious form which is practically incurable. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills work directly on the blood, giving it just the elements which it lacks. In this way these Pills build up every organ and nerve in the body, thus developing strong, rugged boys and girls. Miss Anna Loseke, Grand Forks, B. C., says: "I think that before taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was one of the most miserable girls alive. I was hardly ever free from awful headaches, was as pale as a ghost, and could not go upstairs without stopping to rest. Now since taking the Pills the headaches have gone, my appetite is good and I am equal to almost any exertion, and you may be sure I will always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Fire Blight on Apples

Petrolia, July 24.—Considerable damage is being caused in Lambton County to apple and pear trees by a disease known as fire blight. It is a bacterial disease spreading generally on the ends of the young branches, causing them to turn brown and wither; it gradually works its way down to the larger branches of the tree.

The only remedy is to cut off the diseased parts. Cut about six inches below where the limb is brown so as to insure the removal of all the infected area. Great care must be exercised when cutting not to further infect the tree. A disinfectant of formal in one pint of water may be used. This can be applied with a swab on the end of a stick to the pruning tools and also to the wounds in the trees. The parts cut out should be immediately burned, otherwise they spread the disease. Mr. Bramhill and Mr. Elliott, the Agricultural representatives for Lambton, are anxious to co-operate and advise with any fruit growers that see evidence of this disease in their orchards.

The New Kettle Point Road

Work on the new government road from the Kettle Point Indian reserve to Port Frank is progressing steadily. The straightening of the old road through the bush around the Point is necessitating considerable tree-cutting and stumping, but when completed, it is going to be one of the prettiest drives in Western Ontario. All heavy sand spots will be bottomed with clay and given a heavy top layer of shale. This forms a smooth surface similar to a cinder path.

With the completion of the work, Kettle Point will undoubtedly become one of the most popular summer resorts, for which it is so well adapted. The only requirement now to make this work complete is to have it extended to the 18th con. of Bosanquet. This would shorten the distance considerably for all patrons of the resort via Forest. It would also open up to view the fruit section along the lake, which is now seen only by a very few, and is a piece of work in which the township council should be deeply interested.—Forest Standard.

The Army Worm Still Doing Considerable Damage

The fight against the army worm is going steadily on, but notwithstanding that millions have been slain, the pest continues to strip fine fields of oats and corn. Reports from around Brucefield last night were most alarming, and the losses to farmers already run into thousands. Hundreds of bushels of oats not yet matured are being cut, and will be used for feed.

Petrolia, July 27.—The fight against the army worm is proving successful, although more outbreaks are reported in different parts of the county. Mr. G. A. Elliott, the district representative is a very busy man, even leading the fight against the pest on Sunday. He believes that it is now under control and will never form into marching order. It has already penetrated into the village of Inwood, and is destroying the corn there.

Mr. Elliott believes that the place where the danger is greatest is on the farms of J. Edward and A. Springstead. All day Sunday these farmers threw up furrows and bored post holes in them in which the worms collected and were easily dispatched. Strathroy, July 27.—No new developments are reported today regarding the army worm in this vicinity. It has been confined to the farm of Mr. Ernest Grosvenor. An especially close watch is being kept on the surrounding farms. Port Elgin, July 27.—The army worm has made its appearance in this district. Mr. Andrew Roland, six miles east of Port Elgin, has a field of oats destroyed. The advance of the worms is rapid, and the farmers generally have turned out in an endeavor to stop the devastation.

Corn in Fertile Lambton

Wyoming, July 28.—Plympton Township's corn competitors who entered in the "Lambton field contest" are holding their own and putting up a determined effort to show fields that are a credit to the growers.

The field that is attracting greatest attention here is that on the farm of Mr. Alec. Wark, second line. This field was planted on May 22nd, and severely frostbitten in June. The seed used, Wisconsin No. 7, is a variety little known here, although extensively grown in Essex and Kent counties. Its maturing will be something of a test. Although handicapped at the outset by the frost, and of late variety, it stands today eight feet in height, having grown from date of planting at the rate of 1 1/2 inches per day. Under favorable condition the belief is that this field will undoubtedly be one of the winners in the prize contest.

Sarnia Man Badly Injured

Sarnia, July 24.—Andrew Boody, a switchman in the local tunnel yards of the Grand Trunk, was badly injured this afternoon when he slipped while working and fell under a moving car. He received injuries to the right leg which necessitated the amputation of the limb. He is now in the hospital and is reported to be doing nicely. The injured man is married to a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Chatterton, of Watford, who went to Sarnia on hearing of the accident.

Some Good Cattle

What is considered the best finished load of cattle that has been marketed from the Province of Ontario, were purchased last week by F. D. McCallum from Chas. Anderson and turned over to a Buffalo buyer.

The load consisted of eighteen head, and the average price to Mr. Anderson was $130. They were mostly Hereford and were finished with oat chop and cotton seed meal. Some of the cattle gained nearly 600 lbs. since going on the grass.—Forest Standard.

A farmer in London township lost his barn by an incendiary fire, and had no insurance on them. His neighbors took up a collection and raised $900 to build a new one.
