The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique. which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

Coloured covers/

Couverture de coubeur

Covers damaged/
Couverture endommage

Covers restored and/or laminated/Couverture restaurée et/ou pelliculde
Cover title missing/
Le titre de couverture manque

Coloured maps/
Cartes giographiques en couleurColoured ink (i.e. other than blue or black)/
Encre de couleur (i.e. autre que bleue ou noire)Coloured plates and/or illustrations/
Planches : et/ou illustrations en couleur

Bound with other material/
Relid avec d'autres documents
Tight binding may cause shadows or distortion along interior margin/
La re liure serrée peut causer de l'ombre ou de la distorsion le long de la marge intérieure

Blank leaves added during restoration may appear within the text. Whenever possible, these have been omitted from filming/ II se peut que certaines pages blanches ajoutbes lors d'une restauration apparaissent dans le texte, mais, lorsque cela était possible, ces pages n'ont pas ett filmbes.Additional comments:/
Commentaires supplémentaires:

L'Institut a microfilme le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a dté possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique. qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la mdthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

Coloured pages/
Pages de couleur

Pages damaged/
Pages endommagées

Pages restored anid/or laminated/
Pages restaurées et/ou pelliculées
Pages discoloured, stained or foxed/
Pages décolorées, tachetees ou piquées
Pages detached/Pages détachéesShowthrough/Transparence

Quality of print varies/
Qualité inégale de l'impressionIncludes supplementary material/
Comprend du matériel supplémentaire

Only edition available/
Seule édition disponible

Pages wholly or partially obscured by errata slips, tissues, etc., have been refilmed to ensure the best possible image/
Les pages totalement ou partiellement obscurcies par un feuiliet d'errata, une pelure. etc.. ont été filmées à nouveau de fac̣on à obtenir la meilleure image possible.

This item is filmed at the reduction ratio checked below/
Ce document est filmé au taux de réduction indiqué ci-dessous.

The copy to the ge

The ima possible of the or filming $\mathbf{c}$

Original beginnin the last. sion, or $t$ other ori first page sion, and or illustr

The last shall cor TINUED' whichev

Maps, pdifferent entirely beginnin right anc required. method:
$\vdots$

AN  Hintorical ACCOUNT EXPEDITION.  AGAINSTMEE  OHIO INDIANS,  IN THE YEAR MDCELXIV, - UNDER THE COMMAND OF HENRY BOUQUET, Efq.

Colonel of foot, and now Brigadier General in America. Including his Tranfactions with the Indians,' Relative to the Delivery of the Prifoners, and the Preliminaries of Peace. With an Introductory Account of the Preceding Canípaign, and Battle at Bufhy-Run.

To which are annexed

MILITARY PAPERS,

 confainindReflections on the War with the Savages; 2 Method of forming Frontier Settlements ; fome Account of the Indian Country; with a Lift of Nations, Fighting Men, Towns, Diftances, and different Routes. .

Publifhed, from authentic Documents, by a Lover of his Country.

$$
D \quad U \quad B \quad L I I N \text {. }
$$

Printed for John Milliken, at ( N 0 io, ) in Skinner-Row, Mocclixix.:

INTRODUCTION.

TH E general peace, concluded betwifen Great-Britain, France and Spain, in the year 1762, alchough viewed in different lights by perrons varioufly affecied in the mother country, was neverthelefs univerfilly confidered as a moft happy event in America.

To betrold the French, who had fo long infligated and fupported the Indians, in the moft deffructive wars and cruel depredations on our frontier fettlements at laft compeited to ceie all Canada, and reftricted to the weftern fide of Miffifippi, was what we had long wihhed, but fcarcely hoped an accomplifhment of in our own days. The precifion with which our boundaries were expreffed, admitted of ino ground tor tuture difputes, and was matter of exultation to every one who underftood and regarded the intereft of thefe colonies. We had now the pleaifing profpect of "entire * fecurity from all mo" leftation of the Indians, fince French intrigue " could no longer be employed to feduce, or "French force to fupport them."

* The feveral quotations, in this introduction are taken from the Annual Regitter, 1763, which is, writen with great elegance and truth, fo Ear as the 2uthor appears to have been furnihed with maieials.

$$
A_{2} \quad \text { U Unhappily, }
$$

iv INTRODUCTION.

-". Unhappily, however, we were difap" pointed in this expectation. Our danger a" rofe from that very quarter, in which we ima" gined ourfelves in the moft perfect fecurity; " and juft at the time when we concluded the " Indians to be entirely awed, and almoft fub's jected by our power, they fuddenly fell upan " the frontiers of our moft valuable fettlements, "، and upon all our out-lying forts, widh fuch una" nimity in the defign, and with fuch favage " fury in 'the attack, as we had not experienc" ed, even in the hotteft times of any former " war."
Several reafons have been affigned for this perfidious conduct on their part; fuch as an omiffion of the ufual prefents, and fome fet:lements made on lands not yet purchafed fromihem. But thefe caufes, if true, could only affect a few tribes, and never could have formed fo general a combination againft us. The true reafon feems to have been a jealouly of our growing power, heightened by their feeing the French almoft wholly driven out of America, and a number of forts now poffeffed by us, which commanded the great lakes and rivers communicating with them, and awed the whole Indian country. They probably imagined that they beheld " in " every l.trle garrifon the germ of a future co" lony," and thought it incumbent on them to make one genetal and timely effort to crulh our power in the birth.

By the papers in the Appendix, a general idea may be formed of the ftrength of the different Indian nations furrounding ourfettlements, and their fituation with refpect to each ther.

The Shawanefe, Delawares and other Ohio tribes, took the lead in this war, and feem to x $\operatorname{tanc}$
Jun
B fecu unai
colc

INTRODUCTION.

hade begun it rather too precipitately, before the other tribes in confederacy with them, were ready for acti: n .-

Their fcheme appears to have been projected with much delibeate mifchief in the intention, and more than ufual fkill in the fyfem of execution. They were to make one gene al and fudden attack upon o:ir frontier fettlements in the time of harveft, to deffroy our men, corn, cattie, &cc. as far as they could penetrate, and to ftarve cur out-pofts, by cutting off their fupplies, and all comm.nicati $n$ with the inhabitans of the Provinces.

In purfuance of this bold and bloody project, they fell fuddenly upon our traders whom they had invited into their country, murdered many of them, and made one general plunder of their effects, to an immenfe value.
The frontiers of Pennfyivania, Maryland and Virginia, were immediately over-run with fcalping parties, marking their way with blood and devafta:ion wherever they came, and all thofe examples of favage cruelty, "which never fail to accompany an Indian war.
All our out-forts, even at the remoteft diftances, were atracked about the fame time ; and the following ones fon fell into se enemies hands-viz. Le Bueuf, Venango, Pref; on and near lake Erie; La Bay upon lake Michigan; St. Jofeph's, upon the river of that name; Miamis upon the Miamis river; Ouachtanon upon the Uuabache; Sandurky upon iake Junundat ; and Michilimackinac.

Being but weakly garififoned, trufting to the fecurity of a general peace fo lately eftablifhed, unable to obtain the leaft intelligence from the colonies, or from each other, and being fepaA 3 rately

vi INTRODUCTION.

rate!v perfuaded by their treacherous and favage affailan's that they had carried every other place before them, it could not be expected that thefe frall fofls could hold out long; and the fate of their garpifuns is terrible to re'a'e.

THE news of their furrender, and the continued ràages of the enemy, ffruck all America with corfternaion, and iepopulated a great part of our frontiers. We now faw moft of thofe pofts, fuddenly wiefted from us, which had leen the great object of the late war, and one of the principal advantages acquired by the peace. Only the forts of Niagara, the Detreit and FortPitr, remained in our hands, of all that had been purchared with fo much blood and treature. But thefe were p!aces of confe $\mu \mu e n c e$, and we hope it will ever remain an argument of their importance, and of the attention that thould be paid to their future fupport, that they alone cintinued to awe the whole power of the Indians, and balanced the fate of the war between them and us!

These forts, being larger, were better garrifuned and fupplied to ftand a fiege of fome lengit, than the places that fill. Niagara was not attacked, the enemy judging it too ftrong.

The officers who commanded the ather two deferved the highef honour for the firmnefs with which they de ended them, and the ha: dhips they fottained ather than delitor up places of fuch imporance.

Major Gladwin, in particular, who commancei at the Detroit, had to withftand the unjted and vigorous attacks of all the nations living upon the Lakes

IHE defign of this publication, and the materials in my hands, lead me mare immediate-ad the mas -mmediate-

INTRODUCTION.

vii
Iy to fpeak of the defence and relief of Fort Pitt.

The Indians had early furrounded that place, and cut off all communication from it, even by meflage. Tho' they bad no cannon, nor underftood the methnds of a regular fiege, yet, with incredib'e boldnefs, they pofted themelves under the banks of both rive:s $\dagger$ by the walls of the fort, and continued as it were buried there, from day to day, with aftonifhing patience; pouring is an inceflint ftorm of mufquetry and fire arrows; hoping at lengch, by fanine, by fire, or by barrafling out the garrifon, to carry their point.

Captain Ecuyer, who commanded there, tho' he wanted feveral neceffaries for fuftaining 2 fiege, and the fortifications had been grearly damaged by the floods, took all the precautions which art and judgment could fuggeft fur the repair of the place, and repulfing the enemy. His gartifon, joined by the inhabitants, and furviving traders who had taken refuge there, feconded his efforts with refillution. Their fituation was alarming, being remote from all immediate affiftance, and haviny to deal with an eaemy from whom they had no mercy to expect.

Genbral Amherst, the commander in chief, not being able to provide in time for the fafety of the remote pufts, bent his chief attention to the relief of the Detroit, Niagara, and Fort-Pitt. The communication with the twq former was chiefly by water, from the province of New-York; and it was on that account the $\pm$ The Ohio ànd Monongabela, at the junction of which itands Fort Pitt.

viii INTRODUCTION.

more eafy to throw fuccours into them. The detachment fent to the Detioit arrived the'e on the 29th of J ilv, 176 , ; but Captain Dalyell, who commanded that detachment, and feventy of his men, loft their lives in a rencounter with the Indians near the fort. Previous to this difafter he had paffed thro' Niagara, and left 2 seinforcement there.

Fort Pitt remained all this whie in a moff critical fituation. No account could be obtained from the garrifion, nor any relief fent to it, but by a long and tecious land march of near 200 uiles beyond the fetilements; and through thofe dangerous paffes, where the fate of Braddock and whers ftill rifes on the imagination.

Col. Bocievet was appointed to march to the relief of this fort, with a large quantity of military fores and provifions, efcorted by the That:ered remainder of the 42 d and 77 th regiments, lately teruined in a difmal condition from t:e Weft-Indies, and far from being recorered of their fatigues at the fiege of the Havannah. General Amhe.f, having at that time no other troops to fpare, was obliged to employ them in a feryice which would have required men of the itrongen ci nfitution and rigour.

EARLy orders had been given to prepare a convoy of provifions on the fronfiers of Peanfylvania, but fuch were the univerfal terror and confternation of the inhabitants, that when Ccl. Boueuei arrived at Carlifle, nothing had yet been done. A great number of the plantations had been plundered and burnt by the favages; many of the mils deftroyed, and the full-ripe crops ftood waving in the field, ready for the fickle, but the reapers were not to be found! Ther

$$
\mathbf{f}
$$

INTRODUCTION.

i. The the'e on Dalyell, 1 feventy ter with this dif1 left 2 $n$ a moff obtained $o$ it, but zear 200 igh :hore lock and arch to antity of by the th receiion from ecovered arannah. no other them in sn of the лгераге a Peanfylrror and hen Crl. ; had yet antations favages; full-ripe for the $=$ found!

THE

The greateft part of the county of Cumberland, thro' which the army had to pafs, was deferted, and the roads were covered with diftreffed families, flying from their fettlements, and deftitute of all the neceffaries of life.

In the midit of that general conflifion, the fapplies neceffary for the expedition became very precarious, nor was it lefs difficult to procure horfes and carriages for the ufe of the troops.

The commander found that, inftead of expecting fuch fupplies from a miferable people, he himfelf was called by the voice of humanity to beftow on them fome thare of his own provifions to relieve their prefent exigency. However, in 18 days after his arrival at Carlife, by the prudent and active meafures which he puifued, joined to his knowledge of the country, and the diligence of the perfons he employed, the convoy and carriages were procured with the affiftance of the interior patts of the counsry, and the army proceeded.
THEIR march dd not abate the fears of the dejected inhabitants. They knew the ftrength and ferocity of the enemy. They remembered the former defeats even of our beit troops, and were full of diffidence and app-ebenfions on beholding the fmall number and fickly ftaie of the regulars employed in this expedition. Withent the leath hopes, therefore, of fuccefs; they feemed only to wait for the fatal event, which they deaded, to abandon all the country beyond the Sufquehannah.

In fuch defpondency of mind, it is not furprifing, that tho' their who'e was at Atake, and depended intirely upon the fate of this litile a-mvo none of them offered to affift in the defence of thecountry, by $j$ ining the exped tion; in which A 5 they they would have been of inffhite fervice, being in peneral well acquainted with the woods, and exèment markimen:

Ir carmot bec conteffed that the defene of thic regular troops on this occafron, would have left the province of Pemnfylvania in particular, expofed to the moft imminemt danger, from a viatorious, daring; and barbarous enemy ; for (excepting the frontier people of Cumbertane cownty): tifle bulk of its imfuftrious inhabitants is compofed of merchants, tradefinen and farmers, unaccultomed to arms, and withort a militia law.

Tue legiflature ordered, indeed, 700 men to be raifed for the protection of the frontiere during the harveft ; bat what dependence coukd be placed in raw troops, newly raifed and undifcip-lined? Under fo many difcouraging circumftances,

20 the Colonel (deprived of all affiftance from the provinces, and having none to expect from the General, who had fent him the laft man that could be removed from the hofpitals) had nothing effe to truft to, but about 500 foldiers of approved. courage and refolution indeed, but infirm, and intire ftrangers to the woods, and tothis new kind of war. A number of them were even fo. weak, as not to be able to march, and fixty were carried in waggons to reinforce the garrifons of the frmall pofts on the conmmnication.

Meanwhile Fort-Ligoniet fituated beyond the Allegheney-Mountains, was' in the greanet danger of falting into the hands of the enemy, before the army could reach it. The flockade being very bad, and the garrifon extremely weak, they had attacked it vigoroufty, but had been repuffed by the bravery and good condiuct of Liewsenant Btane who commanded there.

INTRODUCTION. man that $\ddagger$ nothing of approvit infirm, $\Rightarrow$ this new - evenfo and fixty the garrication.

The prefervation of that poft was of the utmoft conféquence, on account of its frtuation and the quantity of military ftores it qontained, which if the enemy could have got polifefion of, would have enabled them to continue their attack upon Fort-Pitt, and reduced the army to the greateft freights. For an objeet of that imp. rtance, every rifk was to be run; and the Colonel determined to fend through the woods, with proper guides, a party of thirty men to join that garrifon. They fucceeded by forced marches in that hažardous attempt, not having been difcovered by the enemy till they came within fight of the Fort, into which they threw themfeties, after receiving fome running fhot.

Previous to that reinforcement of regulars, 20 voluntiers, all good woodfmen, had been fent to Fort-Ligonier by Capt. Ourry, who commanded at Fori- Bedford another very confiderable magazine of provifions, and military ftores, the principal and centrical flage between Carlifle and Fort-Pitt, heing about 100 miles diftance frome each. This fort was alfo in a ruinous condition, and very weakly garrifoned, although the two Triall intermediate pofts, at the croffings of the, Juniata and of Stony Creck, had been abardoned to Atreig then it

Here: the diftreffed families, feattered for 12 or 15 miles round, fled for protectiom, leaving woff of their effects a prey to the favages

Aitishe neceflary precautions were taken by the commanding officer'; to prevent furprize, and regeil open foice as alfo to render ineffectual the eneques fire acrows. He anmed all the fighting men, who formed two c impanies of velunciers, and did duty with the garrifon till the arrival of

xii INTRODUCTION.

two ecmpanies of light infantry, detached as fwon. as prifible from Colonel Bouquet's little army.

Thesezwo magazines being fecured;' the Colonel advanced to the remote? verge of our fettlements, where he could receive no fort of intelligence of the number, pofition, or motions of the enemy. Not even at. Fort-Bedford, where he arrived with his whole convoy on the 25 th of July, for tho' the Indians did not attempte attack the fort, they had by this time killed, fcalp-: ed, and taken eighteen perfons in that neighbourhood, and sheir fculking parties were fo fread, that at laft no exprefs could efcape thern. "This" (want of intelligence) " is often a ve"ry embarraffing circumftance in the conduct of "a campaigy in Ámerica. The Indians had st better intelligence, and no fooner were they is informed of the march of our-Army, than "s they broke up the fiege of Eort-Pitt, and took ' 6 . the route by which they knew we were to pro© ceed, refolved to take the firft adyantageous ". opportunity of an autack on the march."

In this uncertainty of intelligence under which the Colonel laboured, he marched from FortBedford the 28 ih of July, and as foon as he reached Fort-Ligonier, he determined very prudently to leave his waggons at that poft, and to proceed only with the pack horfes. Thus difburdened, the army continued their route. Before them lay a dangerous defile at Turtle Creek, feveral miles in length, commanded the whole way by high and craggy bills. This defile the intended to have paffed the enfuing night, by a double or forced march; thereby, if poffible, to elude the vigilance of fo alert an enemy, propofing only to make a fhort halt in his way, to refrefh the Troops, at Buthy-Run.

INTRODUCTION. xiit

fuon y. Co-ettle-tielliins of here -th of opat= fcalp-teighe fo them. a veuct of - had they than ftook o proageous ,which Fortas he y pruand to is difBefore k, feole way intenddouble , elude ing oneff the

When they came whin half a mile of that place, about one in the afterno $n_{\text {, (Auguft }}$ 5th, 1,63) after an harraffing march of feventeen miles, and juit as they were expecting to relax from their fatigue, they were fuddenily attacked by the Indians, on their advanced guard; which being fpeedily and firmly :fupported, the enemy was beat off, and even purfued to a confiderable diftance.

-     + But the fight of thefe barbarians muft - often be confidered as a pait of the engagement, 6 (if we may ufe the expreffion) rather than a 6- derelietion of the field. The moment the pur-- fuit ended, they returned with renewed vigour ex ta the attack. Several other parties, who had - been in ambulh in fome high grounds which - lay along the flanks of the army, now ftarted - up at orice, and falling with a refolution equal - to that of their cempanions, galled our troops - with a moit obftinate fire.
- It was neceffary to make a general charge - with the whole line to diflodge them from there 6 heights. This charge fucceeded; but ftill the - fuccefs produced no decifive advantage; for as - foon as the favages were driven from one poft, ' they ftill appeared on another, till by conftant - reinforcements they were at length able to fur-- round the whole detachment, and attack the - convoy which had been left in the rear.
$\dagger$ The above quotation is from the writer already mentioned, and leems to accurately and elegantly drawn up, froin the account of this engagement, fent to his Majefty's minifters, that nothing better can be inferted in its room. There are but one or two frall mitakes in it, waich are here corrected.

xir INTRODUCTION.

- This manceinve obliged the main body to - fall back in order to prateit it. The, action, - which grow every mament hotter and hatter, - now became general. Our troops were ateackc ed on every fide; the favages fupported their. - (pirir throughout; but the fteady behaviour of - the Englifh troops, wha were not thrown into - the loaft confufon by the very difcouraging na6 ture of this fervice, in the end prevailed; they 6 repulfed the enemys: and drave them from all 6 their pofts with fixed bayonets.
- The engagement ended only with the day, having continued from one without any intermiffion.
6 The ground, on which the action ended, - was not altogether inconvenient for an encamp.

6 ment. The concoy and the wounded were in 6 the middle, and the troops, difoofed in a circle, - incompaffed the whole In this manner, and c with little repofe, they paffed an anxious night,

- obliged to the ftricieft vigilance by an enter6 prizing enemy whơ häd fursounded, them.

6 Those who have only experienced the fe-6 veritiet and dangers of a caimpaign in Europe,

- can fcarcely form an idea of what is to be done

5 and endured in an American wear. To ao in

- a conatry cultivated and inbabited where

6 roads are maden magazivies are eftablifhed, and 6 hofpitals prorided s, where there are good towns © to retreat to in cafe of misfortune; or, at the

- worft, a generous enemy to yield to, from
- whom no confolation, bett the honour of vicctorys can be wanting this may be confidered
- as the exercife of a firited and adventurous
- mind, rather thap a sigid conteft where all is

6 at fake, and mutuad deftruction the object:
G and as a contention between rivals for glory,

- racher than a real Atruggle between fanguinary 6 enemies. But in an American campaign every thing is terrible; the face of the country, the climate, the enemy. There is no reirelhment for the healthy, nor relief tor the fick. A vaft 6 unhofpitable defart, unfafe and treacherous, furrounds them, where victories are not deci-
- fiwe, but defeats are ruinous; and fimple death

6 is the leaft misfortune which can happen to cthem. This forms a fervice truly critical, in

- which all the firmnefs of the body and mind is put to the fevereft trial; and all the exertions 6 of courage and addrefs are called our. If the 6 actions of tbefe rude campaigns are of lefs dig-6 nity, the adventures in them gre more intereft-6 ing to the heart, and mol 2 amufing to the
- imagination, than the ewipts of a regular war.

6 But to return to the paitty of Engliih, whom 6 we left in the woods. At the firft dawn of 6 light the favages began to declare themfelves, all about the camp, at the diftance of about 500 yards; and by fhouting and yelling in the muft horrid manner, quate round that exter-

- five circumference, endeavoured to ftrike terror:
s by an oftentation of their numbers, and their ferocity.
- After this alarming preparative, they attacked our forces, and, under the fayour of an - inceffant fire, made feveral bold efforts to pe-

6 netrate imo the camp. They were repulfed in 6 every attempt, but by no means dificouraged from new ones. Our troope, continually vic-

- torióus, were continually in danger. They

6 were befides extuemely fatigued .with a long 6 march, aad with the equally long action, of E the preceding day; and they wise diftreffed to 6 the

$x v i$ INTRODUCTION.

- the laft degree by a total want of water, muct
- more intolerable than the enemy's fire.
- Tied to their envoy, they cuuld not lofe
- fight of it for a moment, without expofing,
' not only that interefting obje A , but their
- wounded men, to fall a prey to the favages,
- who preffed them on every fide. To move.
- was impracticable. Many of the horfes were
- loft, and many of the divers,. Atupefied by
- their fears, hid themfelves in the buthes, and
- were incapable of hearing or obeying orders.
- Their fituation became extremely critical ' and perplexing, having experienced that the
- molt lively efforts made no impreffion'upon an
'cenemy, who always gave way when preffed;
- but who; the moment the purfuit was over,
- returned with as much alacrity as ever to the
- attack. Befieged rather than engaged; aitack-
- ed without interruption, and wishout decifior,
- able neither to advance nor to retreat, they
- faw before them-the moft melancholy profpect
- ofrcrumbling away by degrees, and entirely
' perifhing without' revenge or honour, in the --midge of thore dreadful defarts. The fate of
- Braddock was every moment beiore their eyes;
- but they were more ably condacted.
- The comnander was fenfible that; every - thing depended upon-bringiag the favages to a
- clofe engagement, and to ftand their ground
. when artacked. Their audacioufnefs, which
- had increafed with their fucceff, feemed fa©: vourable to this defign. He endeavou'ed,
- therefore, to increafe their confidence as much
- as poffible.
-For that purpofe he contrived the following
- Atratagem. Our, troops were pofted on an_emi-- nence, and formed a circle round theiris convoy

$$
\begin{aligned} & \text { * } \\
& 6 \\
& \bullet . \\ & \text { c } \end{aligned}
$$

INTRODUCTION. $\quad$ xvii

$r$, much not lofe xpoling, it their favages, o move. fes were sied by hes, and orders:
y critical that the upon an preffed; as oxer, $-=$ to the aitackdecifiors sat, they profpect entirely $r$, in the - fate of sir ejes;

2t; every ages to a $r$ ground is, which emed faavouled, as much following y an_emia convoy r from
© from the preceding night, which order they

- ftill retained. Col. Boueuet gave di:eftions,
- that two companies of his $t .00 p$, who had
- been pofted in the moft advanced fituations,
- fhould fall within the circle; the troops on the
- right and left inmediately opened their files, and
- filled up the vacant fpace, that they might
- feem to cover their retreat." Another company
- of light infantry; with one of grenadiers, were "ordered " to lie in ambufcade," to fuppost
* the two firft' companies of 'grenadiers, who
- moved on the teigned retreat, and were in-
- tended to begin the real attack. The difpofiti-
- ons were well made, and the plan executed
* without the leaft confufion.
$\therefore$ Tire favages gave entirely into the fnare.
-The thin line of troops, which took poffeffron
- of the ground which the two companies of light
- foot had leit, being brought in nearer to the - center of the cifcle, the barbarians miftook - thefe metiofis for a retreat, abandoned the cwoods which covered them, hurried headlong
* on, and advancing with the moft daring intrea pidity, galled the Englifh troops with their
- heavy fire. But at the very moment when, ' certain of fuccefs, they thought themfelves
' mafters of the camp, the two firit companies ${ }^{6}$ : made a fudden turn, and fallying out from a ' part of the hill, which could not be obferved, - fell furioully upon their right flank. - The favages, though they found themfelves ${ }^{6}$ difappointed and expofed, preferved their re'collection, and refolutely returned the firo ' which they had received. Then it was the fu" periority of combined frength and-difipline " appeared. On the fecend charge they could - no longer fuftain the irrefiltible fhock of the 6 regular.

xviii INTRODUCTYON.

' regular troops, who ruthisg upon them, killed
${ }_{6}$ maxys, and put the neft to fight.
$\therefore$ - AT the inflaat when the favages betook - themfelives to fight, the other two companies, © which had been ordered to fupport the frift,
"rafe "ts. from the mabufcate,". marched To she

- enemy, and gave them their full five. Thinac-
' complifhed thoir defess. The four sompanies
- now uniced, jid notgive them time to loote be-
- hiad them, but purfived the enemy till they
- were totally difperfed.
*Tuz orber bodies of the favagea attempted ' notbing. They wexe kept in ame during the ' engagement" by the reft of the Britifh trcaps,
- who were to poited as to be ready toctall on-
- then upon the leafi motion. Having boon wit-
- mefles to the defeat of their companipos, with-${ }^{6}$ out ang effert to fuppert or affift them, chey
- at length followed their example and fled.
- This judicives and fuaceffsul manoeuxfer refcued the party from the not inapinent dager.
-The viequry fecured the fieldis and : clated all the adjacear woods. Bitt fill the maygh was So difficult, and the armay had fuffered fo much,
- and fo many haffes were loft; that bafore they
- were abie to proceed, they ware reluctandy
- obliged to deffroy fuch part of their convoy of
- provifions as they conld mot garfy with them
- for want of horfes. Being. Highrened by this fa-
- crifice, they procaced tod sumhy Runx where 'finding water, they eacamped."
This enemy lat about fixty men on this occafion, fome of them their ebief warriors; which they repused a very fevere floke. They had litewife many mounded in the purfuit. The Englifh loft about ifytinens and bad abmout fixty woundesk

INTRODUCTION. xix

The favages, thus fignally defeated in all their attempts to cut off this reinforcement upan ito march, began to retreat with the utmoft precipitation to their remote fettements, wholly giving up their defigns againft Fort-Pitt; at which place Col: Bouquet arrived fafe with his convoy, four days after the aetion; receiving no further. moleftation on the road, except 2 few fcattered thot from a difleartened and lyying enemy.

Here the Colonel was obliged to put an end. to the operations of this campaign, not having 2 . fufficient forse to purfue the enemay beyond the Ohio and take advantage of the vichory obtained. over them; nor having any reafor to expect atimely reinforcement from the provinces in their diftrofed fituation. He was therefore forced to content himfelf with fupplying Fort-Pitt, and other places on the communication, with provifions, ammunition and fores; ftationing hís fmall army to the beft advantage be could, againit the approach of winter,

The tranfactions of the fucceeding campaign, will be the fubject of the following work, and we thall conclude this iniroduction, by fhewing the fenfe which his Majefty was pieafed to entertain, of the conduct and bravery of the officers and army, on this trying occafion.

Hzad-

Head-Quarters, New-York, Jan. 5, 1;64.

> O R D ER S.
« HIS Majefty has been graciouify pleared ${ }^{\text { }}$
" I to frgnify to the commander in chief, cs his royal approbation of the conduct and bra-
"s very of Col. Buveuet, and the officers and
"6 troops under his command, in the two actions
"s of the 5 th and 6 th of Auguft ; in which, not© withftanding the many circumftances of dif-
" ficuity and diftrefs they laboured under, and"
as the unufia! firit and refolution of the Indians, ${ }^{36}$ they repelled and defeated the repeated atracks.
"c of the Savages, and conducted their convoy 4 fafe to Fort-Pitt.
"Signed " Moncrief, $\begin{gathered}\text { Major of Brigade"? }\end{gathered}$
To Colonel Bouquet, or officer commanding at Fort-Pitt.

$$
\begin{aligned}
& $ \\
& = \\
& -
\end{aligned}
$$

r:
a: ge Eic
$a r$ T ha re pr ;
at!
to the $r$ not fon at $t$ lant
the

EF,

 3rigade?A N

Hiftorical AcCOUNT

0 F

COLONEL BGUQUET'S EXPEDITION Againtt the OHFO INDIANS in the Year 1964.

IN the preceding introduction, fome account hath been given of the fudden, treacherous and unprovoked attark, made by the Indians upon the frontie:s of Pennfylvania, Marytand, and Virginia, foon after the rublication of the general Peace, at a time when wre were but juft besinning to refpire fr m our former calamities; and looked for an approach of ceuiet on every fide. The princiral tranfactions of the campaign 1763 have likewife been briefly recapitulated, and the reader informed by what means the editor became poffeffed of the aluable papers, which have enabled him to bring the hiftory of this Indian war to a conclufion. and furnifhed the materials of the foll wing fheers.

Colonel Buyquet, as before mentioned, not having a fufficient number of troops to garrifon the different pofts, under his command, and at the fame time to crofs :he Ohio and take advantage ot the dejection into which he had thrown the enemy, by the defeat at Buthy-Run, was ob: liged

2 Col. BOUQUET's Expedition

liged to reftrain his operations to the fupplying the foris with provifions, ammunition and other neceffaries.

In the execution of this fervice, he received no annoyance trom the enemy, for they now faw themfelves not only forced to give up their defigns againft Fort-Pitt; but, retreating beyond the (Shio, they deferted their former towns, and abandoned all the country between Prefquelife and Sandofki; not thinking themfelves fafe tih &hey arrived at Mufkingan.

Here they began so form new fettlements, and-remained quiet during the winter. But, in the mean time, having fupplied themfelves with powder, &c. from the French traders, (and now Gattering themedves that the great diftance of their fettements would render them inacceffible to ape troops) the enfuing fpring $1 ; 64$ prefented thefe favage enemies atrefh on our frontiers; ravagitig and murdering with therr ufual barbarity

If chaftife them for their perfidy, General Guge refolved to attack them on two different fides, and to force them from our frontiers; by carrying the war into the heart of their own country. With this view, he deftined a corps of troops to proceed under Col. Bradftreet, to act anainft the Wiandots, Oitawas, Chipwás and other nations, living ufon or near the lakes; while another corps, under the command of Col. Bouquet, fhould atrack the Delawares, Shawanere ${ }_{2}$ M Mingoes, Mohickons, and other nations, betwen the Ohio and the lakes.

These two corps were to act in concert; and as that of Col. Bradfreet could be ready much fooner than the other, he vas to proceed to Detroit, Michilimackinac and other places. -ives fafe tlements, But, in Ives with (and now iftance of acceffible prefensed frontiers; ufual bar-
, General 3 different atiers; by own councorps of eet, to act -pwás and the lakes; and of Col. res, Shawer nations, in concert; 1 be ready to proceed her places. On

Againt the OHIO INDIANS 1764. 3

On his return, he wras to encamp and remain at Sand fki, to awe, by that fofition, the numerous tribes of weftern Indians, fo as to prevent their fending any affiftance to the Ohio lndians, white Colonel bouquet thould execure his plan of attacking them in the heart of their fettlements.

Col. Bouquet's expedition was to proceed altogether by land, and was on that atecount attended with great difficulties. His men were to penetrate through a continued depth of woods, and a favage unexplored country; without roads, without pofts, and without 2 retreat if they failed of fuccefs. When once engaged in thefe deferts, they had no convoy, nor any kind of affiftance to expect. Every thing was to be carried with them-their ammunition, baggage, tools, fores, and provifions neceffary for the troops during the whole expedition. And befides, they were liable to many embarraffments, and difficulties which no prudénce could forefee, fcarce any caution prevent; fo that, in this account, fundry things, which, in the ufual method of conducting military operations, might not be thought worthy of a detail, may neverthelefs be found highly ferviceable to thofe who may afterwards be employed in this fpecies of war, which is new to Europeans, who muft fatmit to be inftructed in it by experience, and in many articles even by the favages themfeives.

Part of the 42 d and 60 th regiments were ordered on-this expedition, and were to be joined by two hundred friendly Ind:ans, and the troops required of Virginia and Peninfylvania. The Indians never came, and the Virginians pleaded their inability to raife men, having already in pay about joo militia for the defence of their own frontier, frontier. In Pennfylvania, a bill for raifing 1000 men was paffed May 3oth; but, with the utmoft diligence that could be ufed, the namber could $\mathrm{n}: \mathrm{t}$ be compleated till the beginning of $\mathrm{A} \cdot$ guft.On the sth ot that month, the men being affembled at Carlifle, one hundred and eighteen miles to the weftward of Philadelphia, ( $\dot{0}$ overnor Penn, who had ac.ompanied Col. Bouquet to that place, acquainted the two Pennfylvania battaiions with the neceffity we were laid under of chaftifing the Indians " for their repeated and " unpro"cked barbarities on the inhabitan's of " the Province; a juft refentment of which, " added to a remembrarce of the loyalty and " courage of our provincial troops on tormer oc"cafions, he did not dourt, would animate " them to do honour to their country; and that " they could not but hope to be crowned with or fuccefs, as they were to be united with the "f fane regular troops, and under the fame able "commander, who had by themfelves, on that " very day, the memorable" 5 :h of Augult in " the pee eding year, fuftained the repeated at" ta, $k$, of the fava $\mathrm{a}_{\mathrm{c}}$ es, and obtained a compleat " victory ver them."-He a.fo ieminded them "If the exemplary funifiments that would be " i:if cted on the grievous crime of defertion, if " any of them were capa'le of foiar forgeting " their folemn outh and duty to their king and " country, as to be in olved in it."

4 Col. B O U QUET's Expedition

Col. Bouguet then affumed the command - of the regu'ar and provincial trops; and the tour following days were fant $n$ the necefiary preparations for their march; the Coloned givirg the m: ft exprefs orders to the :fficers and mien to obierve ftrict difcipine, and not to $c$ mimet the leat viclation of the cipil rights or feice of the - in'abutants.
$i_{n}$ mc ous his $F_{c}$ cat var me ceff
to full by $\mathrm{Au}_{\varepsilon}$ yor app der mer arm temt N from Fort and whic Sept. D were the a on t thofe Pitt.
W he ri Bradf acquai concla

Againft the OHIO INDIANS, ${ }^{1764}$. 5 $\mathrm{i}_{\text {nhabitants. }}$ - He , at the fame time, made the moft prudent regulations for a fafe and commodious carriage of the baggage, taking care to rid himfelf of all unneceffary incumbrances.

The' $3^{\text {th }}$ t of Auguft this fmall army got to Fort Loudoun ; but notwithftanding atl the precautions taken to prevent defertion, the Pennfylvania troops were now reduced to about 700 men. The Colonel was therefore under a neceffity to apply to the government of that province to enable him to compleat their number to the full complement'; which was generoufly granted by a refolve of the Governor and Commiffioners Auguft 16 th; and the army advancing now beyond the fettled parts of Pennfylvania, he made application to the colony of Virginia, where (under the counteniance of Governor Fauquier the men wanted were foon raifed, and joined) the army at Pittiburgh, abôut the latter end of September.

Nothing material happened in their march from Fort Laudoun to Fort Pitt, (forme:ly Fort $\mathrm{D}_{\mathrm{u}}$ Quefne) on the Ohio, three hundred and twenty miles weft from Phladelphia; at which place Col. Buaquet arrived the 17 th of September.
During this interval, feveral large convoys were forwardedunder it ong efoots; and theugh the enemy con in ied their ravayes all that time on the frontiers, they durft not attark any of thofe convoys, which all arrived fafe at Fort Pitt.

While Col. Bovquet was at Fort Leudcun, he recticed difpatches by exprets from Colonel, Bradteet, dated fom Prefqe-Ifte Aucuit i4th acquainting him that the Cobonel Braditreet; had concluded a peace with the Delawares and SiaB Wanefe; veanefe; but Colonel Bouquet percei: iag clearly that they were not fincere in their inientions, as they continued their mouets and depredations, he determired to profecute his plan without ten: $\mathrm{Cl}_{1}$ on, till he received further inftructions from Ge neral Gage; who, t'pon the fame p.inc ples, refufed to ratify the treaty, and renewed his orders to both armies to attack the enemy.

3 Cul. BOUQUET's Expedition

About the time of Colonel Bouquet's arrival at Fort Pitt. ten Indians appeared on the north fide of the Ohio, defiring a conierence; which ftratagem the favages had made ufe of before, to obtain intelligence of our numbers and intentions. Three of the patty confented, though with apparent reluctance, to come ove, to the Furt; and as they could give no fatisfactory reafon for their vifit, they were detained as fpies, and their affociates fled back to their towas.

On the 2oth of Sepiember Colonel Bouquet fent one of the above thiee Indians after them with a meffage, in fubitance as follows - "I have " received an account from Colunel Bradfreet ": that your inations had begged for peace, which " he had confented to grant, upon affurance that " you have recalled all your warriors from our " frontiers; and in confequence thereof, I would " not hate proceeded againft your towns, if I " had not heard that,, in open violation of your "s engagements, you have fince murdered feveral " of our people.
"As foon as the reft of the army joins me, " which I expect immediately, I was therefure " determined to have attacked you, as a people " whofe promifes can n, more be relied on. But "I will put it once more in yuur power to fave " yourfelves and your families from total deffruc" tion, by giving us fatisfaction for the hoftilities cs againft us. And firft you are to leave the path " open for my expreffes from hence to Det. oit ; '' and as I am now to fend two men with dif"t paiches to Culonel Braditreet who commands " on the lakes, I defire to know whether you 's will fend two of your people with them to bring 6: them fa.e back with an anfwer? And if they " receive any injury either in going o. coming, " or if the leiters are taken frons them, I will "r immediately put the Indians now in my power 't to death, and will fhew no mercy for the fu" sure to any of your nations that fhall fall into " my hands. I a.low you ten days to have my " letters delivered at Detroit, and ten dajs to "t bring me back an anfwer."

Againt the OHIO INDIANS, 1764.7

He added " that he had lately had it in his pow" er, while they rema:ned on the other fide of " the river, to have put their whole farty to " death, which punifhment they had deferved
" by their former treachery; and that if they did not improve the clemency now offered to " them, by returning back as foon as pofinble " with all their prifoners, they might expect to " feel the fuil weight of a juit vengeance and refentment." -
We have been the more particu'ar in our account cf this firf tranfaction with the Indians; becaufe the Colenel's firm and dctermined conduct in opening the campaign, had hapis effects in the profecution cf it, and hews by what methiuds thefe faithlefs favages are to be beft reduced to reafin.

On the ift of OCtober, two of the Six Nation mibes, an Onondago and Oneida indian, came to Fort Pitt, and tinder colour of our ancient friendBip with them, and their pretended regard B 2 to the Englifh, endeavoured to difluade the $\mathrm{Co}^{-}$ lonel from proceeding with the army. They told him that his force was not fufficient to withftand the power of the numerous nations through whofe countries he was to pafs, and affured him that if he would wait a little, they would atl come and make peace with him; at the fame time recommending it particularly to him to fend back the two Indians detained as fies. Thefe little arts being clearly made ufe of to fpin out the feafon till the approach of winter fhould render it impoffible to proceed, they made but liftle impreffion. He told them that he could not depend on the promifes of the Delawares and Shawanefe; and was determined to proceed to Tufcarowas, where, if they had any thing to fay, he would hear them.In the mean time, he was ufing the utmoft diligence to prepare for his march, and was obliged to enforce the fevereft difcipline. One womar belonging to each corps, and two nurfes for the general hofpital, were all that were permitted to follow the army. The other women in the camp, and thefe unneceflary in the garrifon, were ordered immediately down the country into the fettlements. Two foldiers were fhot for deferiion; an example which became abfolutely neceffary to fupprefs a crime which, in fuch an expedition, would have been attended withofatal confequences, by weakening an army already too fmall.

3 Col. BOUQUE T' $s$ Expedition

Colonel Bouquet, having at length, with great difficulty, collected his troops, formed his magazines, and provided for the fafery of the pofts he was to leave behind him, was ready on the 2d of October to proceed from Fort Pitt, with about

Againft the OHO INDIANS, 1764.9

1500 men, including drivers and other neceffary followers of the army.

Thi Colonel, expreffing the greateft confidence in the bravery of the troops, told them, " he did not doubt but this war would foon be "s ended, under God, to their own honor, and "s the future fafety of their country, provided the ${ }^{6} 6$ men were ftrictly obedient ta orders, and guard . cs ed againit the furprizes and fudden attacks of * a treacherous enemy, who never dared to face
" Britioh troops in any open field; that the dif" tance of the enemy's towns, and the clearing 's roads to them, mult neceffarily require a con"fiderable time; that the troops in thofe deferts, " had no other fupplies to expect but the ammu${ }^{6}$ n nition and provifions they carried with them: c: and that therefore the utmoft care and frugality "s would be neceffary in the ufe of them." He publifhed the feveral penalties againft thofe who chould be found guilty of ftealing or embezzling any part of them, and ordered his march in the following manner.-

A CORPs of Virginia * volunteers advanced before the whole; detaching three fcouting parties. One of them, furnilhed with a guide, marched in the center path, which the army was to follow. The other two extended themfelves in a line a-breaft, on the right and left of the aforefaid party, to reconnoitre the woods.

Under cover of this corps, the ax-men, confifting of all the artificers, and two companies of light infantry, followed in three divifions, $:$ the direction of the chief engineer, to clea ee

* Thefe were the men raifed in Virginia to compleat the Pennfylyania troops, and were in the pay of the laft mentioned province.

Io Col BOUQUET's Expedition

d:fferent paths, in which the troops and the convoy followed, viz. -
The front-face of the fquare, compofed of part of the 42 d regiment, marched in a column, two deep, in the center path.

The right face of the fquare, compofed of the remainder of the $4^{2 d}$ and of the 6oth regiment. 'maiched in a fingle file in the right-hand path.

The firf battalion of Pennfylvanians compofed the leit tace, 'fratching in like manner in the path to the left of the center.

The corps de referve, compofed of two platoons of grenadiers, followed the right, and left faces of the fquare.

The 2d batialion of Pennfylvanians formed the rear face of the iquare, and fcllowed the corps de referve, each in a fincile file on the right and left hand paths; all thefe troops covering the convoy, which moved in the center path.

A party of light horfe-men marched behind the rear-face of the fquare, followed by another cerps of Virginia vclunters, forming the reargrard.

The Pennfylvania rolunteers, dividing themfelves equally, and marching in a fingle file, at a N -oper diffance, flanked the right ar d left faces of the fquare. -

This was the general order of march. Nor was lefs attention paid to particular matiers of a fobordinate nature. The ammunition and topls were placed in the rear of the firf column; or fronyface of the fquare, followed by the officers' beggage, and rents. The oxen and heep came aftet the baggage, in' fep arate droves, properly gwarded. The provifions cane next to che baggage, in four divifions, or brigades of pack horfes, each conducted by a horfe mafter.
ed
2 ar
*
cai.
ly cai
abo beg low $t=$ inai long ger are inar gooc
No. quar
F
the fever
by $t_{i}$

Againft the OHIO INDIANS 1764 . it
The troops were ordered to obferve the meft prufound filence, and the men to march at two yards diftance from one another. When the line or any part of it halted, the whole were to face outwards; and if attacked on their march; they were to halt immediately, ready to form the fquare when o-dered. The light horfe were then to march into the fquare, with the catte, provifions, ammunition and baggage. Proper difpofitions were likewife made in cafe of an attack in the night; and for encampments, guards, com= munications between the centries, fignals, and the like.

Things being thus fettled, the armv decamped from Fort-Pitt on Wednefday Oetober 3d; and marched ab-ut one mile and an half over ar rich fevel country, with fately timber, to camp No. 2. a ftrong pieee of ground, pleafant; ly fituated, with plenty of water and food for catilo.

Thursday Otrober 4 th, having proceeded about two miles, they came to the Ohio, at the beginning of the narrows, and from thence fol ${ }^{4}$ lowed the courfe of the river along a flat gravelly beech, about fix mile and a quarter; with two illands on their left, the lowermof about fix milet long, with a rifing ground running acrofs, and gently Aoping on both fides to its banks, which are high and upright. At the lower end of this ifland, the army left the river, marching through good land, broken with frrall hollows to camp No. 3; this day's march being sine miles and a quarter. -

Frieay Oetober 5 th. In this day's march the army paffed through Lioggs-towns, fituated feventeen miles and an half, fility feven perches, by the path, from Fort-Pitt. This place was noted before the lafe war for the great trade carried on there by the Englifh and French; but its inbabitants, the Shawanefe and Delawares, abandoned it in the year 1750. The lower town ex: tended about fixty perches over a rich bottom to the foot of a low fteep-ridge, on the fummit of which, near the declivity; food the upper town, commanding a moft agreeable profpect over the lower, and quite acrofs the Ohio, which is about 500 yards wide here, and by its majeftic eafy current adds much to the beauty of the place. Proceeding beyond Locg's-town, through a fine country, interfperfed with hills and rich valleys, watered by many rivulets, and covered with fately timber, they came to camp No. 4 ; on a level piece of ground, with a thicket in the rear, a fmal precipice rquand the front, with 2 run of water *the foot, and good food for cattle. This day's march was nine miles, one balfo and fifty three perches.

32 Col. BOUQUET's Expedicion

Saturday $Q$ ctober 6uh, at about three miles diftance fram this camp, they came again to the Ohio, purfuing iss rounfe balf a mile farther, and then turning off, over a fteep ridge, they crofled Big Beawer-creek, which is swenty perches wide, she fand fony mad pretty deep. It runs through a kich vale, with a pretty frong current, its banks high, the upland adjoining it very good, the timber tall and young. About a mile helow ins confluence with the Ohio, ftood formerly a darge town, on a fteep bank, builk by the French ofifquare togs, with Atone chimneys, for fome of the Shawanefe. Delaware and Mingo tribes, who ribapdoned it in the year 1758, when the French deferted Fott Du Quefne. Near the fording of Beaver-creek: alfo ooond about feven houfos, which were:defirted and deRroyed by the Indians, , after their their defeat at Buflay-run, when they forfook all their remaining Cetelements in this part of the country, as has been mentioned above.Aisour two mailes before the army came to Beaver-creck, one of ouf people who bad been made prifoner by fix Dedawares about a week before, near Fort Bedford, having made his efcape from them, came and informed the Colonel that thefe Indians bad the day before fallen in with the army, biat kept themelves concealed, being furprifed at our numbers. Two miles beyond Bea-ver-creek, by two fmatl frings, was feen the fcull of a child, that bad been fixed on a pole by the Indians, The Tradts of 15 Indians were this day difcovered. The camp No. 5 is feven miles one quarter and fifty feven perches from big Bea-ver-creek ; the whole march of this day being adone tavelve miles.

Againft the OfliO INDIANS, $1764 \quad 13$

:Sundax 7th QCtober, paffing a high ridge, they had a fine propect of ang extenfive country to the right, which in general appeared level, with aburdance of tall timber. The camp No. 6 Kies at the foot of a feep defcent, in a rich valley, on a ftrong ground, three fides thereof furrounded by a hollows and, on the fourth fide a foall hill; which was occeupied by a detached guara. This day's march was fix miles fixty-Sive perchss.
Monday 8 th, Qctober, the army croffed little Beaver-creekz and ope of its branclies. This creek is eight perches wide, with a good ford, the country dbout it interferfed, with hills, rivulest anad rich valleys, like that deftribed above. Camp No 7 lie by a majll run on the fide of a hill, companding the ground about it, and is diftasit elesce miles one quarter and forty nine perches. from the laf encampment.

14 Col. BOUQUET's Expedition

Tuesday Oauber gth. In this day's march; the patti divided into two branches, that to the fouthwert leading to the lower: towis. upon the Mufkingam. In the forks of the path ftand feveral trees painted by the Indians, in a hieraglyphic manner, denoting the numiber of wars in which they have been engaged, and the particulars of their fuccefs in prifoners ard fcalps. The camp No. 8. lies on a run, and level piece of ground, uith Yellow- ceeck ciofe on the leff, and z ining ground near the rear of the right face. The path af.er the amy left the forks was fo brulay and: entangled, that they were obliged to cut all the way before them, and akfo to lay feveral bridges, in crder to make it paffable for the horfes; fothat this day they procceded only five miles, three quarters and feventy perches.

Wednesday ioth. Marched one mile with Yellow creek on the left at a fmall diffance all. the way, and croffed it at a good ford fifty feet wide; proceeding through an alternate fucceffion of fmall hills and rich vales, finely watered with rivulets, to camp No. 9. feven miles and fixty perches in the whole.

Thursday inth. Croffed a branch of Murkingam river about fifty feet wide, the country much the fame as that defcrited above, difcovering a good deal of free ftore. The camp No. 10 . had this branch of the river parallel to its left face, and lies ten miles one quarter and forty perches from the former encampment.

Friday inth. Keeping the aforefaid creek on their left, they marched through muick fine land, wa:ered with fmall rivers and fprings; proceeding tikewife through Teveral favannehs or cleared fpots, which are by nature extremely beautiful; the fecond which they paffed-being, in particular, parch; to the on the feveuphic which aps of - camp soond, ining eparh $y$ and: all the ridges, is; 10 , three le with ree all.
ifty feet cceffion ed with $\pm$ fixty © Murkcountry LifcoverNo. 10 . , its left nd forty creck on ae land, proceed. - cleared eautiful: -ticular, one

Againft the OHIO INDIANS, 1764 . is

one continued plain of near two miles, with a fine rifing ground forming a femicircle round the sight hand fide, and a pleafant ftream of water at about a quarter of a mile diftant on the left. 'I he camp No. II. has the abovementioned branch of Mulkingam on the left, and is diftant ten miles and three quarters from the laft encampment.

Saturday i $3^{\text {th. }}$ Croffed Nemenhehelas creek, about fify teet wide, a little above where it empties itfelf into the aforefaid branch of Murkingam, having in their way a p'eafant profpect rver a large plain, for near two miles on the left. A li tle further, thev came to another fmall river which they croffed ab ut fifty perches above where it empties into the faid branch of Murkingam. Here a high ridge on the right, and the creek clofe on the ieft, form a narrow defile about feventy perches long. Paffing afterwards over a very rich bottom, they came to the main branch o i M Kkingam, about feventy yards wide, with a good ford. A little below and above the forks of this river is Tufcarowas, a place exceedingly beauiiful by fituation, the lands rich on both fides ot the river; the count $y$ on the north-weft fide being an entire ievel flain, upwards of five miles in circumference. From the ruined houfes appearing here, the Indians who inhabited the place and are now with the Delawares, are fuppofed to have had about one hundied and fifty warriors. This camp No. 12. is diftant eight miles nineteen perches from the furmer.

Sunday isth. The army remained in camp; and two men who had been difpatched by Colonel Bor: :et from Fort-Pi:t, with Yetters for Colinel Bradiftreet, returned and repcrted? " That, within a few miles of this place; they 46 had.

r6 Col. BOUQUET's Expedition

" had been made prifoners by the Delawares,
"6 and carried to one of their towns fixteen miles
" from hence, where they were kept, till the
"c favages, knowing of the arrival of the army
"" bere, fet them at liberty, ordering them to "" acquaint the Colonel that the head men of the "Delawares and Shawanefe were coming as foon
" as poffible to treat of peace with them."
Monday isth. The army moved two miles
t:
b
forty perches further down the Mukkingam to camp No. 13, fituated on a very high bank, with the river at the foot of it, which is upwards of 100 yards wide at this place, with a fine level comentry at fome diftance from its banks, producing ftately timber, free from underwood, and plenty of food for cattle.

The day following, fix Indians came to inform the Colonel that all their chiefs were affembled about eight miles from the camp, and were ready to creat with him of peace, which they were earneftly defirous of obtaining. He returned for anfwer that he would meet them the next day in a bower at fome diftance from the camp. In the mean time, he ordered a fmall ftockaded fort to be built to depofite provifions for the ufe of the troops on their return; and to lighten the convoy.

As feveral large bodies of Indians were now within a few miles of the camp, whofe former inftances of treachery, although they now declared they came for peace, made it prudent" to truft nothing to their intentions, the ftricteft or'ders' were repeated to prevent a furprife.

Wednesday I th. The Colonel, with moft of the regalar troops, Virginia volunteers and light ho:fe, marched from the camp to the .bower ereated tor the congiefs. And foon after the troops were ftationed, fo as to appear to the beft advantage, the Indians arrived, and were conducted to the bower: Being feated, they began, in a flort time, to finoak their pipe or calumet, agreeable to their cufom. This ceremony being over, their fpeakers laid down tbeir pipes, and opened their pouches, wherein were their firings and belts of wampum. The Indians pre(ent were,

Kiyafhuta, Turtle Heart, Cuftaloga and Beaver, were the fpeakers.
The general fubitance of what they had to offer, confifted in excules for their late treachery and mifconduct. throwing the blame on the rafhnefs of their young men and the nations living to the weftward of them, fuing for peace in the moft abject manner, and promifing feverally to deliver up all their prifoners. After they had concluded, the Colonel promifed to give them an anfwer the next day, and thea difmiffed them, the army returning to the camp. - The badnefs of the weather, however, preverted his meeting them again till the 20th, when be fpoke to then in fubtrance as follows, wiz.
sc That theif pretewces to palliate their guilt ss by throwing the blame on the weftern maxions, $s 6$ and the ralinacis of their young mon. were "wedk and friveloues, a it was in our power to 6s have

is Col. B OUQUET s Expedition

" have protected them againft all thefe nations, " if they had folicited our affiftance, and that " it was their own duty to have chaftifed their " young men when they did wrong, and not " to fuffer themfelves to be direcied by them."

He recapitulated $(\sigma$ them many inftances of their former perfidy-" their killing or captivat" ing the traders who had been fent amons them " at their own requel, and piundering their ef" fects; - their attacking Fort-Pitt, which had " been built with their exprefs confent; their " murdering four men that had been font on a 's pubic meffage to them, thereby vioiating the "cultums held facred among ail nations, how" ${ }^{6}$ ever barbarous; - their attacking the King's " troups lant year in the words, and after being " defeated in that attempt, falling upon our fron" tiers, whe e. they had continued to murder "6 cur people to this day, \&z." -

He told them how treacheroufly they had violated even their late engagements with Culonel Bradftreet, to whom they had promifed to deliverup their prifoners by the oth of September laft, and to recall all their warriors from the frontiers, which they had been fo far from complying with, that the prifiners ftill remained in their cuftody, and fome of their people were even now continuing their depredations; adding, that thefe things which, he had mentioned, were only " a fmall "6 part of their numberlefs murders and bieaches "s of faith; and that their conduct had always t6 been equally perfidious.-You have, fa:d he, "s promifed at every fyrmer treaty, as you do "s now, that you would deliver up all your pri"f funers, and hase received every time, on that st account, confiderable prefents, but have never ss complied with that or any other engagement. is I am
> " I
> "bc
> " T
> " 9 c
> " th
> ،
> "s th
> 6 fo
> 6 it.
> 68
> ${ }^{6}$ re
> " nc
> '6
> 's w > pe > us
> '" ing
> "s the
> " Al
> 's fut
> no
> po > pec > gei
> " finc
> " we
> " the > pea
> the > not > 6 > ${ }^{66}$ del:
> pri
> cep

"

6of their moft cruel enemies; and if it waspoffible that you could convince us, that youfincerely repent of your paft perfidy, and chat
' we could depend on your good behaviour for
' the future, you might yet hope for mercy and
" peace-If I find that you faithiully execute
"the following preliminary conditions, I will " not treat you with the feverity you deferve.
"I GIVE you twelve days from this date to "deliver into my hands at Wakatamake all the "prifoners in your poffeffinn, without any ex©ception; Englifhmen, Frenchmen, women
: I am $\vdots$
\%

20 Col. B OU QUET' T's Expedition

is and children; whether adopted in your tribe, © married, or living amongft you under any de-${ }^{66}$ nomination and pretence whatfoever, together
46 with all negroes. And you are to furnith the ${ }^{66}$ faid prifoners with cloathing, provifions, and c horfes, to carry them to Fort Pitt. "6 Wen you have fully complied with thefe s6 conditions, you fhall then know on what terms 66 you may obtain the peace you fue for."-

This freech made an impreftion on the minds of the favages, which, it is hoped, will not f.on be eradicated. The firm and determined fpinit with which the Colonel delivered himfelf, their confciounnefs of the aggravated injuries they had done us, and the view of the fame commander and army that had fo feverely chaftifed them at Bufhy-Run the preceding year, now advanced into the very heart of their remote fettlements, after penetrating through wilderneffes which they had deemed impaffable by regular troops-all there things contributed to bend the haughty temper of the favages to the lowet degree of abafement; fo that even their fpeeches feem to exhibit but few fpecimens of that ftrong and ferocious eloquence, which their inflexible fpirit of independency has on former occafions infpired. And shough it is not to be doubted, if an opportonity had offered, but they would have fallen upon our army with their ufual fiercenefs, yet when they faw the vigilance and fpirit of our froops were fuch, that they could neither be atitacked nor furprized with any profpect of fuciefs, their fpixits. Seemed to revolt from the one extreme of infolent boldnefs, to the pther of abject timidity. And happy will it be for them and for - ws, if the inftances of our humanity and mercy, which they experienced in thatcritical fituatiot,

Sha
difp bra cor love ally tate. together lifh the ons, and th thefe sat terms "'
e minds not fion ed fpinit elf, their they had nmander them at anced inents, afich they os-all haughty egree of feem to $r$ and fe-- fpirit of infired. $n$ opporve fallen nefs, yet $t$ of our ar be atf fuceefs,
, one exfi abjeat - and for

1 mercy, furuation, fall

Againt the OHIO INDIANS, r764. 24

Shall make as lafting impreffions on their favage difpofitions, as it is believed the inftances of our bravery and power have done; fo that they may come to unite, with their fear of the latter, a love of the former; and have their minds gradually opened, by fuch examples, to the mild dictates of peace and civility.

The reader, it is to be hoped, will readily excufe this digreffion, if it thould be thoughe one. I now refume our narrative. The two Delaware xhiefs, at the clofe of their fpeech on the 17 th, delivered eighteen white prifoners, and eightythree fmall fticks, expreffing the number of other prifoners which they had in their poffeffion, and promifed to bring in as foon as poffible. None of the Shawanefe Kings appeared at the congrefs, and Keifinautchtha their deputy declined fpeaking until the Colonel had anfwered the Delawares, and then with a dejected fullennefs he promifed; in behalf of his nation, that they wound fubmit to the terms preicribed to the other tribes.

Tue Colonel, however, determined to march farther into their country, kaowing that the prefence of his army would be the bef fecurity for the performance of their promifes; and requiced fome of each nation to attend him in his march.
Klyashuta addreffed the feveral mations, before their departure, "defiring them to be "ftrong in complying with their engagements, "that they might wipe away the repreach of " their former breach of faith, and convince "their brothers the Englifh that they could " fpeak the truth; adaing that he would con"duct the army to the place appointed for re"ceiving the prifoners."
Monday Ulater 22d. The army attended by the Indian sepwies, marched aine miles to camp

22 Cul. B OUQUET's Expedition

camp No. 14. creffing Margaret's creek about fifty feet wide--The dav following, they pruceeded fixteen miles one quarter and feventy feven perches farther to camp No. 15. and ha'ted the' e one day.

Thursday 25 th. They marched fix mi'es, one half and fixteen perches to camp No. 16 . fituated within a mile of the Forks of Mufkingam; and this place was fixed upon inftead of Wakautamke, as the moft central and convenient place to receive the prifoners; for the p incipal Indian towns now lay round them, diftant from fever to twenty miles ; excepting only the lower Shawanefe town fituated on Scioto river, which was about ei, hty miles; fo that from this place tine army had it in their power to awe all the enemy's fettlements and deftroy their towns, if they fiould not punctually fulfil the engagements they had entered into.- Fcur redoubts were built here oppofite to the four angles of the camp; the ground in the front was cleared, a ftore-houfe for the provifions erected, and likewife a houfe to receive, and treat of peace with, the Indians, when they fhould return. Three houfes with feparate apartments were a fo raifed for the reception of the captives of the refpective provinces, and proper officers appointed to take charge of them, with a matron to attend the women and children; fo that with the officers mefs houfes, ovens, &cc. this camp had the appearance of a little town in which the greateft order and regularity were obferved.

On Saturday 27 th. A meffenger arrived from king Cuftaloga, in forming that he was on his way with his prifoners, and alfo a meffenger from the lower Shawanefe towns of the like import. The Colonel however, taving no reafon to fufpect
the thei
" poif
$k$ about hey proenty feod ha'ted
$x$ mi'es, No. ${ }^{6} 6$. kingam; Wakauat place al Indian n Sever wer Shahich was place tine enemy's -j fiould hey had suilt here mp ; the houle for sfe to rens, when I feparate eption of and proof them, children; ens, & ce. town in were ob-ved from a his way from the :t. The - fulpect the
the latter nation of backwardnefs, fent one of their own people, defiring them-"s to be punc${ }^{6}$ tual as to the time fixed; 10 provide a fufficient " quantity of provifions to fubiift the prifoners; " to bring the letters wrote to him laft winter by " the French commandant at Fort Charters, " which fome of their people had ftopped ever " fince;" adding that, " as their nation had ex"preffed fome uneafinefs at our not thaking " hands with them, they were to know that " the Englifh never took their enemies by the " hand, before peace was finally concluded."

The day following, the Shawaneie m.ffenger returned, faying that when he had proceeded as far as Wakautamike, the chief of that town undertook to proceed with the meffige himfelf, and defired the other to return and acquains the Englifh that all his prifoners were ready, and he was going to the lower towns to haften theirs.

October 28th. Peter the Caughnawaga chief, and twenty Indians of that axtion arrived from Sandufxi, with a letter from Colonel Braditreet, in anfwer to one which Colonel Bouquet had fent to him from Fort-Pitt, by two of the Indians who firt fpoke to him in favour of the Shawanefe, as hath been already mentioned. The fubftance of Colonel Bradifreet's letter was "t that he had fet"tled nothing with the Shawanefe and Delay " wares, nor received any prifoners from them. "- That he had acquainted all the Indian nati" ons, as far as the Ilinais, the bay, &c. with " ihe initructions he had received from General " Gage, refpecting the peace he had lately made; " that he had been in Sandulki-lake and up the "river, as far as navigable for Indian canoes, " for near a month; but that he found it im" poliible to flay longer in the.e parts; abfolute " neceffity

24 Col, BOUQUET's Expedition
" neceffity obliging him to turn off the other did all which circumatances would pernsit, in his department; but his not being able to remain at Sandurki agreeable to the original plan, till matters were finally fetted with the Ohio Indians, would have been an unfavourableincident, if Co lonel Bouquer had not now had the chie's of fundry tibes with him, and was fo far advanced jato the Indian country, that they thought it advifeable to fubmit to the conditions impofed upon them.

The Caughnawagas reported that the Indians on the lakes had detivered but few of their prifomers; that the Ottawas had killed a great part of theirs, and the other nations had cither done the fame, or elfe kept thens.

From this time to Navember gth, was chiefly feent in fending and receiving meffages to and from thes Indian towns, relative to the prifoners, who were now coaning into the camp one day after amother in fmall padties, as the different nations aurived ia mbofe paffefigian they bad been. The Colonel kept fo ftedfaftly to this article of haviog every prifoner delivered, that when the Delaware kings, Beaver and Cuftaloga, had brought in all theirs except twelve, which they promifed to bring in a few days, he refufed to thake hands or have the leaft tailk with them, while a fingle captive remained among them.
abou
whic
frin
Pent.
fum.
liver.
of $t$. ed ti
ing man, longe wou' one c brou.
the :
been tentic had that many prefe.
thiscaptiv to exe nel's were peace to the Jition he other doubt, it, in his emain at till matIndians, $t$, if Co chie's of advanced -ht it adofed upon le Indians seir prifoat part of done the as chiefly and from ers, who $y$ after aor nations The of having Delaware -ght in all mifed to hands or ngle cap-

Againft the OHIO INDHANS, $1764 . \quad 25$

By the gth of November, moft of the prifores ners were arrived that could be expected this feafon, amounting to 206 * in the whole; befides about 100 more in poffeffion of the Shawanefe, which they promifed to deliver the following fpring. Mr. Smallman, formerly a major in the Penmflivania troops, who had been taken laft fummer near Detroit by the Wyandots, and delivered to the Shawanefe, was among the number of thofe whom they now brought in, and informed the Colonel that the reafon of their not bringing the remainder of their prifoners, was that many of their principal ment, to whom they belonged, were gone to trade with the French, and would not return for fix weeks; but that every one of their nation who were at home, had either brought or fent theirs. He further faid that, on the army's firft coming into the country, it had been reported among the Shawanefe that our intention was to deftroy them all, on which they had refolved to kill their prifoners and fight us; that a French trader who was with them, and had many barrels of powder and ball, made them a prefent of the whrole, as foon as they had come to this refolution; but that, happily for the poor captives, juft as the Shawanefe were preparing to execute this tragedy, they received the Colonel's meffage, informing them that his intentions were only to receive the prifoners and to make peace with them on the fame terms he fhould give to the Delawares.

$$
\begin{array}{cl} \text { * Virginians . . . . Males, } & 32 \\
& \text { Females and Childrens } \\
\text { Pennfylvanians, } & \text { Males, } \\ & \text { Femalesfand Children, } \\ & 49 \\
& 67
\end{array}
$$ In all 206 On

26 Col. B OU QUE T's Expedition

On this intelligence they fufpended their cruel purpofe, and began to collect as many of the prifoners as they had power to deliver; but hearing immediately afterwards that one of our fuidiers had been killed near the camp at Murkin ${ }_{5}$ ham, and that fome of their mation were fufpected as guilty of the murder, they again imagined they wo ld fall under our refentment, and therefore determined or.ce more to ftand out againft us. For which purpofe, after having brought their prifoners as far as Wakautamike, where they heard this news, they collected them all into a field, and were going to kill them, when a fecond exprefs providentially arrived from Colonel Bouquet, who affured them that their nation was not even fufpected of haring any concern in the aforefaid murder; upon which they proceeded to the camp to deliver up the captives, who had thus twice fo narrowly flaped becoming the victims of their barbarity.

On 'Friday, November gth, the Colonel, attended by mott of the principal officers, went to the conference-houfe. The Senecas and Delawares were firft $t$ eated with. Kiyafhuta and ten warrio's reprefented the former. Cultaloga and twenty warriors the latter.

Kiyashuta fooke-" With this ffring of " wampum, we wipe the tears from your eyes " - we deliver you thefe three prifoners, which "، are the laft of your flefh and blood that remain": ed among the Senecas and Cuftaloga's tribe of " Jelawares, we gather together and bury with " shis belt $\dagger$ all the bones of the peopie that have " been killed during this unhappy war, which

+ A belt or fring is always delivared when thus menticned.
ion
eir cruel 'the prii hearing fuidiers insham, rected as ned they therefore ainft us. ,ht their are they -ll ínto a a fecond nel Bou1 was not be aforeA to the had thus victims snel, atwent to ind Delaa. and ten nloga and ftring of ;our eyes s, which a remain$s$ tribe of sury with that have r, which then thus " the

Againft the OHIO INDIANS, $1764 . \quad 27$
"t the Evil Spirit occafioned among us. We cover the bones that have been buried, that they " may be never more rememhered-We again cover their place with leaves that it may be no more feen.-As we have been long aftray, and the path between you and us ftopped, we extend this belt that it may be again cleared, and we may $t$ avel in peace to fee our brethren as our anceftors formerly did. While you hold it faft by one end, and we by the other, we " fhall always be able to difoover any th ng that
" may difurb our friendfhip."-
The Colonel anfwered that " he had heard " them with pleafure; that he received thefe "three laft prifoners they had to deliver, and " joined in burying the bones of thofe who had " fallen in the war, fo that their place might be " no moie known. The peace you afk fur, you " fhall now have. The king, my mafter and " your father, has appointed me only to make "war; but he has other fervants who are em"ployed in the work of peace. Sir William "Johnfon is empowered for that purpofe. To " him fou a e to apply; but before I give you " leaye to go, two things are to be fettled. 1 "As peace cannot be finally con luded here, " you will deilier me iwo hoftages for the Sene"cas, and two for Cultaluga's tribe, to remain " in our hands at Fort Pitt, as a fecurity, that "you hali commit no further hoinlities or vio".lence againlt anj of his majefty's fubjects; and when the peace is concluded thele hoftages Theli be denvered fafe back to you.
2. "The dequites you are to fend to Sir Wiliam J-hufon, muft be fuily empowered 'to treat for your tribes, and you fhall encrage "to abide by whatever they itipulate. In that ${ }^{6}$ treaty

28 Col. BOUQUET's Expedition

* treaty, every thing concerning trade and other ${ }^{68}$ matters will be fettled by Sir William, to ren-4 der the peace everlafting; and the deputies cs you are to fend to him, as well as the hoftages
6 to be delivered to me, are to be named and 6 prefented to me for my approbation."The Colonel, after promifing to deliver back two of their people, Capt. Pipe, and Capt. John, whom he had detained at Fort Pitt, took the chiefs by the hand for the firft time, which gave them great joy.

The next conference was on November ioth, with the Turkey and Turtle tribes of Delawares, King Beaver their chief and thirty warriors reprefenting the former ; and Kelappama brother to their chief * with twenty-five warriors the latter. The Senecas and Cuftaloga's tribe of Delawares were alfo prefent. Their fpeech and the anfwer given, were much the fame as above; excepting that the Colcnel infifted on their delivering up an Englifhman, who had murdered one of our people on the frontiers and breught the fealp to them; and they fhould appoint the fame number of deputies and deliver the fame number of hoftages, for each of their tribes, as had been ftipulated for Cuftaluga's tribe.

November if. King Beaver prefented fix hoftages to remain with Col. Buuquet, and five defuties to ireat with Sir William Johnfon, who were approved of. This day he acquainted the chiefs prefent that as he had great reafon to be diffarsfied uiih the conduct of Nettowhat ways, the chiet of the Turtie trite who had not appeared, he thetetore depufed him; and that tribe we:e to

- The Chief of the Turtle tribe, for fome reafon, chofe to ablent himicifit

Againit the OHIO INDIANS, 1964.29 chufe and prefent another for his approbation. This they did a few days afterwards-Smile not, reader, at this tranfaction; for though it may not be attended with fo many fplendid and fattering circumftances to a commander, as the depofing an Eaft Indian Nabob or chief; yet to penetrate into the wilderneffes where thofe ftern Weft Indian Chieftains hold their fway, and to frown them from their throne, though but compofed of the unhewn $\log$, will be found to require both refolution and firmners; and their fubmiting to it clearly fhews to what degree of humiliation they were reduced.

But to proceed. The Shawanefe fill remained to be treated with, and though this nation faw themfelves under the neceffity of yielding to the fame eonditions with the other tribes, yet there had appeared a dilatorinefs and fullen haughtinefs in all their conduct, which rendered it very fufpicious.

The 12th of November was appointed for the conference with them; which was managed on their part by Keiffinautchtha and Nimwha their chiefs, with the Red Hawke, Laviffimo, Benfivafica, Eweecunwee, Keigleighque, and forty warriors; the Caughnawaga, Seneca and Delaware chiefs, with about fixty warriors, being atfo prefent.
The Red Hawke was their fpeaker, and as he delivered himfelf with a ftrange mixture of fierce pride, and humble fubmiffion, I thall add a paflage or two from his fpeech.
" Brother,
"You will liften to us your younger bro"thers; and as we difcover fomething in your eyes that looks diffatisfaction with us, we now

$$
\mathrm{c} \text { " wipe }
$$

30 Col. B O U QUET's Expedition

" wipe away every thing bad betwoen us that "c you may clearly fee-You have heard many "" bad ftories of us-We clean your cars that you " may hear-We remove every thing bad from " your heart, that it may be like the heart of " your anceftors, when they thought of nothing " but good." [Here he gave a ftring.]
" Brother; when we faw you coming this " road, you advanced towards us with a toma-
" hawk in your hand; but we your younger bro" thers take it out of your hands and throw it up " to God + to difpofe of as he pleafes; by which
"c means we hope never to fee it more. And " now, brother, we beg leave that you who are
"" a warrior, will take hold of this chain (giving
" a ftring) of friendihip, and receive it from us,
" who are alfo warriors, and let us think no
"" more of war, in pity to our old men, wo-
" men and children."-Intimating, by this laft expreffion, that it was mere compaffion to them, and not inability to fight, that made their nation defire peace.

He then produced 2 treary held with the government of Pennfylvania 1701, and three meflages or letters from that government of different dates ; and concluded thus-
" Now, Brother, I beg We who are war" riors may forget our difputes, and renew the " friendilhip which appears by thefe papers to $\dagger$ Their ufual figure for making peace is burying the hatchet; but as fuch hatchets may be dug up again, perhaps he thought this new expreffion of "fending it up to Goc, or the Good Spirit," 2 much ftronger emblem of the perinanency and ftedfaftnefs of the peace now to be made.
$s$ that many 12 y you 1 from mart of zthing ng this toma,iz broit up which And ho are (giving om us, ink no 3, wothis laft , them, nation the go-meflalifferent re warnew the apers to burying 3 dug up effion of 2 much :dfaftnefs have

Againft the OHIO INDIANS, :764. 3i " have fublifted between our fathers."-He promifed, in behalf of the reft of their nation, who were gone to a great diftance to hunt, and could not have notice to attend the treaty, that they fhould certainly come to Fort-Pitt in the fpring, and bring the remainder of the prifoners with them.

As the feafon was far advanced, and the Colonel could not ftay long in thefe remote parts, he was obliged to reft fatisfied with the prifoners the Shawanefe had brought; taking hoftages, and laying them under the ftrongeft obligations, for the delivery of the reft; knowing that no other effectual method could at prefent be purfued.

He expoftulated with them en account of their paft conduct, and told them-" that the feeech " they had delivered would have been agreeable " to him, if their actions had correfponded with " their words. You have fpoken, faid be, much " of peace, but have neglected to comply with " the only condition, upon which you can ob" tain it. Keiffnautchtha, one of your chiefs, " met me a month ago at Tufcarawas, and ac" cepted the fame terms of peace for your nation, "t that were prefcribed to the Senecas and Deia" wares; promifing in ten days from that time " to meet me here with all your prifoners-After " waiting for you till now, you are come at laft, " only with a part of them, and propofe putting " off the delivery of the reft till the fpring."What right have you to expect different terms "from thofe granted to the Delawares, &c. " who have given me entire fatisfaction by their " ready fubmiffion to every thing required of "them ? - But I will cut this matter fhort " with you ; and before I explain myfelf further,

C 2
*I infist

3: Cal. BOUQUET's Expedition

"I infift on your immediate anfwer to the fol" lowing queftions -
ift. "Will you forthwith collect and deliver
"c up all the prifoners yet in your poffeffion, and
" the French living among you, with all the ": Negroes you have taken from us in this or any " other war; and that without any exception or
" evafion whatfoever?"
2d. "Will you deliver fix hoftages into my " hands as a fecurity for your punctual perfor" mance of the above article, and that your nati" ons fhall commit no farther hoftilities againft
" the perfons or property of his majefty's fub" jeCls?" Benevissico replied that " they agreed to " give the hoftages required, and faid that he
". himfelf would immediatels return to their ". Jower towns and collect all our -fleh and blood that remained among them, and that we foould
". fee them at. Fort-Pitt $\dagger$ as foon as poffible. -
"That, as to the,Fiench, they had no power
" over shem. They were fubjects to the king " of England. :We might do with them what " we.pleafed; though he believed they were
"، all returned before this time to their own coun" try."
They then deliwered their hoftages, and the Colonel told them " that though he had brought " a Tomahawk in his hand, yet as they had now " fubmitted, 'he would not let it fall on their "' heads, but let it drop to the ground, .no:more "' to be feen. He exhorted them to exercife ". kindnefs to the captives, and look upon them

+ It will appear, by the pofticript to this account, that the Shawanefe have fulfilled this engagement.

6s no.w
${ }^{66}$ no
${ }^{6}$ ing
${ }^{6}$ lat:
${ }^{6}$ fric
"p.c
" Joi
of the 6 Atis
$T_{F}$ necas, childr.
"* mil
" this
An
on pur faregc
a fien defcrit have $r$ the va find ar and th
pathet
$T_{H}$ foners thers a once-lc necks c brothe feparat or, for childre views, while painted to plac
${ }^{6 /}$ now as brothers and no longer prifoners; add. "0 ing, that he intended to fend fome of their re" lations along with the Indians, to fee their " friends collected and brought to Fort-Pitt. Hè " p:omifed to give them letters to Sir William " Johnfon, to facilitate a final peace; and defired "t them to be Itrong in pe forming every thing ' fipula:ed."
The Caughnawagas, the Delawares and Se necas, feverally addreffed the Shawanefe, as grandchildren and nephews, " to perform their pro" mifes, and to be ftrong in doing good, that " this peace mighe be everlafting." -

And here I am to enter on a fcene, referved on purpore for this place, that the thread of the foregoing nar:ative m:ght not be in!errupted - a fiene, which language indeed can but weakly defcribe ; and to which the Poet or Painter might have repaired to enrich their higheft colours of the variety of human paffions; the Philofopher to find ample fubject for his moft feriaus reflections; and the Man to exercife all the tender and fympathetic feelings of the foul.
Thi fcene I mean, was the arrival of the prifoners in the camp; where were to be feen fathers and motheis recognizing and clafping their once-loft babes; hulbands hanging round the necks of their newly-recovered wives; fifters and brothers unexpectedly meeting together after long feparation, fcarce able to fpeak the fame language, or, for fome time, to be fure that they were children of the fame parents! In all thefe interviews, joy and rapture inexpreffible were feon, while feelings of a very different nature were painted in the looks of others;-flying from place $\omega$ place in eager enquiries after relatives not found! trembling to receive an anfwer to their queftions ! diftracted with douts, hopes and fears, on obtaining no account of thofe they fought for! or ftiffened into living monuments of horror and woe, on learning their unhappy fate!The Indians too, as if wholly forgetting their ufual favargenefs, bore a capital part in heightening this moft affecting fcene. They delivered up their beloved captives with the utmoft reluctance; thed torrents of tears over them, recommending them to the care and protection of the commanding officer. Their regard to them continued all the time they remained in camp. They vifited them from day to day; and brought them what corn, fkins, horfes and other matters, they had beftowed on them, while in their families; accompanied with other prefents, and all the marks cf the moft fincere and tender affection. Nay, they did not ftop here, but, when the army marched, fome of the Indians folicited and obtained leave to accompany their former captives all the way to Fort-Pitt, and employed themfelves in hunting and bringing provifions for them on the road. A young Mingo carried this ftill further, and gave an inftance of love which would make a figure even in romance. A young woman of Virginia was among the captives, to whom he had formed fo ftrong an attachment, as to call her his wife. Againft all remonftrances of the imminent danger to which he expofed himfelf by approaching to the frontiers, he perfifted in following her, at the rifk of being killed by the furviving relations of many unfortunate perfons, who had been captivated or fcalped by thofe of his nation.

34 Col. BOUQUET's Expedition

Againt the OHIO INDIANS, 1764. 35

Those qualities in favages challenge our juft efferm. They thould make us charitably confider their barbarities as the effects of wrong education, and falfe notions of bravery and heroifm; while we thould look on their virtues as fure marks that nature has made them fit fubjects of cultivation as well as us; and that we are called by our fuperior advantages to yield them all the helps we can in this way. Cruel and unmerciful as they are, by habit and long example, in war, yet whenever they come to give way to the native dictates of humanity, they exercife virtues which Chriftians need not blufh to imitate. When they once determine to give life, they give every thing with it, which, in their apprehenfion, belongs to it. From every enquiry that has been monde, it appears-that no woman thus faved is preferved from bafe motives, or need fear the violation of her honour. No chitd is otherwife treated by the perfons adopting it than the children of theit own body. The perpetual flavery of thofe captivated in war, is a mixion which even their barbarity has not yet fuggefted to them. Every captive whom their affection, their caprice, or whatever elfe, leads them to fave, is foon incorporated with them, and fares alike with themfelves.

These inftances of Indian tendernefs and humanity were thought worthy of particular notice. The like inftances among our own people will not feem ftrange; and therefore I hall only mention one, out of a multitude that might be given on this occafion.

Among the captives, 2 woman was brought into the camp at Mufkingam, with a babe about, three months old at her breaft. One of the Vir?

$$
\mathrm{C}_{4} \text { ginia- }
$$

$3^{6}$ Col. BOUQUET's Expedition

ginia-volunteers foon knew her to be his wife,

Br fome tor fever the c l.ver runt not . quair, in bit

Fc pofe 1 either or wt forger and : could fings by an joying Ev dians, vembe rived c media the cc with Here. marka ties att any ne ing -t loft, killed In Bouqu

Againft the OHIO INDIANS, 1764.  37

But it muft not be denied that there were even fome grown perfons who thewed an unwillingnefs to retwin. The Shawanefe were obliged to bind feveral of their prifoners and force them al ing to the camp; and fome women, who had been del.vered up, afterwards found means to efcape and run back to the Indian towns. Some, whe could not make their efcape, clung to their favage acquaintance at parting, and continued many days in bitter lamentations, even refufing fuftenance.

For the honour if humanity, we would fuppole thofe perfons to have been of the loweft rank, either bred up in ignorance and diftreffing penury, or who had lived fo long with the Indians as to forget all their former conmections. For, ealy and unconfrained as the favage life is, certainly it could never be put in competition with the bleffings of improved life and the light of religion, by any perfons who have had the happinefs of enjoying, and the capacity of difcerning, them.

Every thing being now fettled with the Indians, the army decamped on Sunday 18th November, and marched for Fort Pitt; where it arrived on the 28 th. The regutar troops were immediately fent to garsifon the different pofts on the communication, and the provincial troops, with the captives, to their feveral provinces. Here ended, this expedition, in which it is remarkable that, notwithftanding the many difficulties atteading it, the troops were never in want of any neceffaries; continuing:perfectly healthy during the whole campaign; in which no life was loft, except the man mentioned to have been killed at Mußxingam.

In the beginning of January 1765 , Colonel Pouquet arrived at Philadelphia, receiving whereC 5 . ever:

38. Col B-OUQUET's Expedition

ever be came, every poffible mark of gratitude and efteem from the people in general ; and particularly from the overjoyed relations of the captives, whom he had fo happily, and without bloodthed, reftored to ther country and friends. Nor was the legilative part of the provinces lefs fenfible of his important fervices: The affembly of Pennfylvania, at their firft fitting, unanimoully voted him the following addrefs.

In ASSEMBLY, January 15,1765, A. M.
To the Honourable HENRY BOUQUET, Efq;
Commander in Chief of His MAJESTY's Forces in the Southern Department of AMERICA,

The Addrefs of the Reprefentatives of the Freemen of the Province of Pennfylvania, in General Affembly met.

S I R,

$\because T$H E reprefentatives of the freemen of the province of Pennfylvania, in general af-- fembly met, being informed that you intend - Ahortly to embark for England, and moved with - a due fenfe of the important fervices you have ' rendered to his majefty, his northern colonies - in geaeral, and to this province in particular, - during our late wars with the Erench and bar-- barous Indians, in the remarkable victory over - the favage enemy, united to oppofe you, near

- Bully-Run, in Auguft 1763, when on your
- march for the relief of Pituburgh, owingy un-
- der God, to your intrepidity and fuperior kill
- in command, together with the bravery of your officers

Againft the OHIO INDIANS $1764 \cdot 39$

officers and little army; as alfo in your late march to the country of the favage nations, with the troops under your direction; thereby ftriking terror through the numerous Indian tribes around you; laying a foundation for a - lafting as veell as honourable peace with them; - and refcuing, from favage captivity, upwards

- of two hundred of our chriftian brethren, pri-- foners among them : thefe eminent fervices, ${ }^{6}$ and your conftant attention to the civil rights - of his majefty's fubjects in this province, de-- mand, Sir, the grateful tribute of thanks from

Efq;
For-

4. Col. BOUQUET's Expedition

The Colonel's Anfwer was as follows, viz. -
To the honourable the Representatives of the Freemen of the province of Pennfylvania a in General Affembly met.

6 Geftlemeng.

- JJ IT H a heart impreffed with the moft lively fenfe of gratitude, I return you
a. my humble and fincere thanks, for the honour.
- you have done me in your polite addrefs of the
- $15^{\text {th }}$ of January, tranfmitted me to New-York
- by your lpeaker.
- Next to the approbation-of His Sacred Ma-
- jefty, and my fuperiour officers, nothing could
- afford me higher pleafure than your favourable
- opinion of my conduct, in the difcharge of thofe
' military commands with which I have been in-6 trufted.
- Gratitude as well as juftice demand of
- me to acknowledge, that the aids granted by
- the legiflature of this province, and the con-
- ftant affiftance and fupport afforded me by the
- honourable the Governor and Commiffioners in
- the late expedition, have enabled me to recover
- fo many of his Majefty's fubjects from a cruel.
'captivity, and be the happy inftrument of re-
- ftoring them to freedom and liberty: To you
- therefore, gentemen, is the greater fhare of that
- merit due, which you are generoufly pleafed.

6 on this occafion to impute to my fervices.

Againft the OHIO INDIANS, 1764.41

- Your kind teftimony of my conftant atten-- tion to the civil rights of his majefty's fubjects ' in this Province, does me fingular honour, and
- calls for the return of my warmeit acknowledg-
- ments.
- Permit me to take this public opportunity
- of doing juftice to the officers of the regular and 6 provincial troops, and the volunteers, who have

- ferved with me, by declaring that, under Di-

6 vine Providence, the repeated fucceffer of his

- Majefty's arms againtt a favage enemy, are prin-
- cipally to be afcribed to their courage and refo-
- lution, and to their perfeverance under the fe-
- vereft hardBhips and fatigue.
- I sincerely. wifh profperity and happinefs ( to the province and have the honour to be,
' with the greateft refpect, Gentlemen,

6. Your moft abedient, and moft humble fervant,
'HENRY BOUQUET:'
id of d by con$\bar{j}$ the as in zover cruel of re3 you ${ }^{5}$ that 'used.
oun

42 Col. B OUQUET's Expedision

Thiose refpectable bodies unanimeoully returned their thanks to him for the activity, Ppirit and zeal, with which he bad reduced the Indians to terms of peace, and compelled thofe favages to deliver up fo many of his Mijefty's fubjects whom they had in captivity. They farther requefted the Governor to recommend him to his Majefty's minitters, as an officer of diftinguifhed merit, in this and every former fervice in which he had been engaged.

THE Colonel, in his anfwer, acknowledged the ready affiftance and countenance which he had always received from the Governor and colony of Virginia in carrying on the King's forvice ; and mentioned his particular obligations to Col. Lewis, for his zeal and good conduct during the campaign.

The honours thus beftowed on him, his own modefty made him defirous of transferring to the fur tic ra ou fir on Er ro me
ER
the
as the be bo his lov fill
ple officers and army under his cormmand; and indeed the mutual confidence and harmony fubfifting between him and them, bighly redound to the reputation of both. He has taken every occafion of doing juftice to the particular merit of Colonel Reid who was fecond in comanand; and a.fo to all the offieers who ferved in the expedition, regulars as well as provincials $\dagger$.

The reader will obferve that the public bodies who preented thefé addrefles to the Colonel, not only withed to exprefs ther own gratitude, but fikewife to be inftrumential in recommendiag him to the advangement his fervicies merited. And $\dagger$ The Pennfylvania troops were commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Francis, and Lientenant Colonel Elayton.

Againt the OHIO INDIANS, 1764.43

furely it is a happy circumftance to obtain promotion, not only unenvied, but even with the general approbation and good withes of the public. It ought, however, to be mentioned, that on the firft account his Majefty received of this expedition, and long before thofe teftimonies could reach England, he was graciounly pleafed of his own royal goodnefs and as a reward of the Colonel's merit, to promote him to the rank of Brigadier General, and to the command of the fouthern diftriet of America. And as he is rendered as dear, by his private virtues, to thofe who have the honour of his more intimate acquaintance, as he is by his military fervices to the public, it is hoped he may long continue among us; where his experienced atilities will enable him, and his love of the Englifh conftitutien entitle him, to fill any future truft to which his Majefly may be pleafed to call him.
own $o$ the adoed ifting o the zafion lonel .fo to re-sodies not but him And led by Jolonel furely

POST.

POSTSCRIPT.

IT was mentioned in the 3Ift pare of this account, that the Shawanefe br iunht only a part of their prifoners with them to Col. Buaquet at Mukingam, in November laft; and that, as the feafon was far advanced, he was obliged to reft fatisfied with taking hoftages for the delivery of the remainder-at Eort-Pitt, in the enfuing fpring.

The efcape of thofe hoftages foon afterwards, as well as the former equivocal conduct of their nation, had given reafon to doubt the fincerity of their intentions. with. refpect to the performance of their promifes. But we have the fatisfaction to. find that they punctually have fulfilled them. Ten of their chiefs, and about fifty of their warriors, attended with many of their women and childrem, met George Croghan, Efq; dejuty agent to Sir Whliam Johanson, at FortPitt, the 9th of laft May; together with a large body of Delawares, Senecas, Sanduky and Munfy Indians; where they delivered the remainder of their prifoners, brightened the chain of friendihip, and gave every affurance of their firm intentions to preferve the peace inviolable for ever.

POSTSCRIPT.

There is fomething remarkable in the appellation they gave to the Enghifh on this occalion; calling them Fathers inftead of Brethren.
Lawaugheua, the Shawanefe fpeaket, delivered himelff in the following terms.
"Fathers, for fo we will call you hence" forward; liften to what we are going to fay " to you.
"It gave us great pleafure yefterday to be "c called the children of the great King of Eng" land; and convinces us your intentions to" wards us are upright, as we know a Father " will be tender of his children, and they are " more ready to obey him than a Brother. There" fore we hope our Father will now take better "care of his children, than has heretofore beea " done.-.
"You put us in mind of our promife to Col. "Bouquet; which was to bring your flefh and blood to be delivered at this place. Father, you have not fpoke in vain-you fee we have brought them with us, - except 2 few that were out with our hunting parties; which will be brought here as foon as they return.
" They have been all united to us by adoption; and altho' we now deliver them up to you, we will always look upon them as our relations, whenever the Great Spirit is pleafed that we may vifit them.
" Father, We have taken as much care of them, as if they were our own flefh and blood. They are now become unacquainted with your cuftoms and manners; and therefore, we requeft you will ufe them tenderly and kindly, which will induce them to live contentedly " with you.
" Here is a belt with the figure of our Fa"c ther the King of Great-Britain at one end, and " the Chief of our nation as the other. It repre-
" fents them holding the chain of friendfhip; and " we hope neither fide will gip their hands from " it, fo long as the Sun and Moon give light." The reader will further remember that one of the engagements which the different Indian Tribes entered into with Colonel Bouquet, was to fend deputies to conclude a peace with Sir William Johnson. This has allo been punctually fulfilled; and we are affured that Sir William "has "f finifhed his congrefs greatly to his fatisfaction, " and even beyond his expectations." Thus every good confequence has enfued from this important expedition, which our fondeft wilhes could have induced us to expect from the known valour and firit of the able commander who had the conduat of it; and we now have the pleafure once more to behold the temple of Janus fhut, in this weftern world!

$$
01
$$

NORTH-AMERICA.

TH E long continued ravages of the Indians on the frontiers of the Britifh colonies in America, and the fatal overthrows which they have fometimes given cur beft difciplined troops, efpecially in the beginning of the late war, have rendered them an object of our confideration, even in their military capacity. And as but few officers, who may be employed againft them, can have opportunities to obferve the true caufes of their advantages over European troops in the woods, it is with the utmoft pleafure that I now proceed proceed to lay before the public the following valuable papers, which I mentioned + to have been communicated to me by an officer of great abilities and long experience, in our wars with the Indians.

48 REFLECTIONS on the WAR'

As fcarce any thing has yet been publihhed on a fubject now become of the higheft importance § to our colonies, thefe papers will undoubtelly be an acceptable prefent to the reader, and the remarks contained in them may be more and more improved by the future care and attention of able men, till perhaps a compleat fyftem is at leng:h formed for the conduct of this particular fpecies of war.

SECTION 1.

OF THE TEMPER AND GENIUS OF THE IN* DIANS.

The love of liberty, is innate in the favage; and feems the ruling paffion of the ftate of nature. His defires and wants, being few, are eafily gratified, and leave him much time to fpare, which he would fpend. in idlenefs, if hunger did not force him to hunt. That exercife makes him ftrong, active and bold, raifes his courage, and fits thim for wzar, in which he ufes the fame Atratagems and cruelty as againft the wild beafts; making

+ See the introduction.
§ It will appear by the account of Indian tribes and towns annexed to thefe papers, that the enemies we have to deal with are neither contenptible in numbers of ftrength.

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 49

no fcruple to employ treachery and perfidy to vanquifh his enemy.

Jealous of his independency and of his property, he will not fuffer the leaft encroachment on either ; and upon the flighteft fufpicion, fired with refentment, he becomes an implacable enemy, and flies to arms to vindicate his right, or revenge an injury.

The advantages of thefe fatages over civilized nations are boih natural and acquired. They are tall and well limbed, remarkable for their activi$t y$, and have a piercing eye and quick ear, which are of great fer vice to them in the woods.

LIKE beafts of prey, they are patient, and deceitful, and rendered by habit almoft infenfible to the common feelings of humanity. Their barbarous cuftom of fcalping their enemies, in the heat of action; the exquifite torments often inflicted by them on thofe referved for a more deliberate fate; their general ferocity of manners, and the fucceffes wherewith they have often been fluthed, have confpired to render their name terrible, and fome times to ftrike a pannic even into our bravelt and beft difciplined troops.

Their acquired advantages are, that they have been inured to bear the extremes of heat and eold; and from their infancy, in winter and fummcr , to plunge themfelves in cold ftreams, and to go almoft naked, expofed to the fcorching fun or nipping frofts, till they arrive to the ftate of manhood. Some of them deftroy the fenfation of the fkin by feratching it with the fhort and fharp teeth of fome animal, difpofed in the form of a curry-comb, which makes them regardlefs of briars and thorns in running thro' thickets. Rirers are no ob!tacles to them in their wild excurfions.

$5^{\circ}$ REFLECTIONS on the WAR

fions. They either fwim over, or crofs them on rafts or canoes, of an eafy and ready conftruction.

In their expeditions they live chiefly by hunting, or on wild fruita and reats with which the woods fupply them almoft every where.

They can bear hunger and thirft for feveral days, without flackening, on that account, their perfeverance in any propofed enterprize.

By conftant practice in hunting, they learn to Shoot with great fkill, either with bows, or firearms; and to fteal unperceived upon their prey, purfuing the tracts of men and beafts, which would be imperceptible to an European. They can run for a whole day without halting, when flying from an enemy, or when fent on a meffage. They fteer, as if by inftinct, thro' tracklefs woods, and with aftonifhing patience can lie whole days motionlefs in ambush to furprize an enemy, efteeming no labour or perfeverance too painful to obtain their ends.

They befmear their bodies with bear's greafe, which defends them againft rains and damps, as weli as againft the ftings of Mufkitoes and Gnats. It likewife fupples their limbs, and makes them Ilippery as the ancient gladiators, who could not be held faft when feized in fight.

Plain food, conftant exercife, and living in the open air, preferve them healthy and vigorous.
lhey are powerfully excited to war by the cuftom eftablifhed among them, of paying diftinguifhed honours to warriors.
They fight only when they think to have the advantage, but cannot be forced to it, being fure by their fpeed to elude the moft eager purfuit.

Their

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 57

Their drefs confifts of the ikins of fome mer, which is a fhort cluib made of hard wood.

Their ufual utenfilsare a kettle, a fpoon, a looking glafs, an awl, a fteel to ftrike fire, fome paint, a pipe and tobacco-pouch. For want of tobacco, they fmoke fome particular leaves, or the bark of a willow ; which is almoft their continual occupation.
Thus lightly equipped do the favages the in wait to attack, at fome difficult pafs, the European foldiers, heavily accoutred, harraffed by a tedious march, and encumbered with an unwieldy convoy.

Exprai-

52 REFLECTIONS on the WAR

Experience has convinced us that it is not our intereft to be at war with them ; but if, after having tried all means to avoid it, they force us thofe of the enemy we are to engage, and the nature of the country we are to act in.

It does not appear from our accounts of Indian wars, that the favages were as brave formerly as we have found them of late; which muft be imputed to their unexpected fucceffes againft our troops on fome occafions, particularly in 1755 ; and from the little refiftance they have fince met with from defencelefs inhabitants.

Ir is certain that even at this day, they feldom expofe their perfons to danger, and depend entirely upon their dexterity in concealing themfelves during an engagement, never appearing openly, unlefs they have ftuck their enemies with terror, and have thereby rendered them incapable of defence - From whence it may be inferred that, if they were beat two or three times, they would lofe that confidence infpired by fuccefs, and be lefs inclined to engage in wars which might end fatally for them. But this cannot reafonably be expected, till we have troops trained to fight them in their own way, wih the additional advantage of European courage and difcipline.

Any deviation from our eftablimed military fyftem would be needlefs, if valour, zeal, order and good conduct, were fufficient to fubdue this lightfooted enemy. Thefe qualities are confpicuous in our troops; but they are too heavy, and indeed too valuable, to be employed alone in a deftructive fervice for which they were never intended.
to it, (which in all probabilty will often happen) we thould endeavour to fight them upon more equal terms, and regulate our manceuvres upon wo
an thi
we fro prc anc gin:
thia othe legic wer raffi
Vour
it is diflaff
$+$
Fet.
§
quo imitar idonev
-Ali qua $q$
ed. They require the affiftance of lighter corps, whofe drefs, arms and exercifes, Ghould be adapted to this new kind of war.

This opinion is fupported by the example of many warlike nations, of which I beg leave to mention the following.

The tearned Jefnit $\dagger$ who has obliged the world with a treatife on the military affairs of the ancient Romans, tells us, from Salluft §, that this wife nation, our mafters in the art of war, were never hindered even by the pride of empire, from imitating any foreign maxim or inftitution, provided it was good; and that they carefully a. dopted into their own practice whatever they found ufeful in that of their allies or enemies; fo that by receiving fome thing from one, and fome from another, they greatly improved a fyftem even originally excellent.
The defeat of Antony and Craffus by the Parthians, of Curio by the Numidians, and many other inflances, convinced the Romans that their legions, who had conquered fo many nations, were not fit to engage light-troops, which, harraffing them continually, evaded all their endeavours to bring them to a clofe engagement; and it is probable that if Julius Czefar had not been affaffinated, when he was preparing to march a-+ Vid Joannis Antonii Valtrini Lib. de re milit. Vet. Rom.

§ Neque enim Romanis fuperbia usquam obftitit, quo minus aliena inftituta, fi modo proba fuiffent, imitarentur ; et quod ubique apud focios vel hoftes idoneum vifum effet, cum itudio domi exfequerentur. - Aliaque ab aliis accepta, ipfi longe facere meliora qua quidem digna ftatuiffent.

54 REPLECTION on the Wh

gainft the fame Parthians, to wipe off the reproach of the former defeats, he would have added to his legions a greater number of light troeps; formed' upon the principles and:method of that nation, and have left us ufeful lefforts for the conduct of a war againft our farages.

That he dia not think- the attack of irfegular troops contemptible, appears clearly in feveral parts of his commentaries, and particularly in the African war. The various embatrafliments he met with from the enenry fie Bad then to deal with, neceffarily call to our mind' many firnitar circumffances in the coutfe of our warts wath the Indians : and the painis he took to inftruct his fothiers to ffand and repel the flimimifhes of the nimble Africans, may farnifh inftruction to us in our military operations againft the favage Americans:

We are, told tbat while Cxfar 'was' on his. march "t to Scipio's"* quarters, the eferry's " horfe

[^0]
With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 55

" horfe and light-armed infantry, rifing all at once from an ambufcade, appeared upion the hiths; and attacked his rear. His legions forming themfelves, foon beat the enemy from the higher ground. And now thinking aff fafe, he "s begins to purfue his march. But inmediately "s the enemy break forth from the neighbouring ic hills; and the Numidians, with their light"s armed. foot, who are wonderfully nimble,' alcavathy in charging or retiling, faill afreftion the Roman foor. Thus they fréquently renewed the charge, and fill retired when he endeavoured to bring them to clofe engagement. If but two or three of his veterans faked about and caft their piles with vigoor, two thoufand of the enemy would fly; then returning rally agzin, making it their bufinefs to harrafs his march, and to prefs upon his rear, following at fome diftance, and throwing their dafts at the legions.
converfis equis, fe colligebant, atque in fatio "confequebantar, et jacula in Legionarios conjiciebant.

Cesar contra ejufmodi hoftium genera copias fuas, non ut imperator exercitum veteramum, victoremque maximis rebus geltis, fed ut lanitta tirones gladiatores condocefacéré : quo pede fefe reciperert ab hofte, &c. - Mirifice enim bótium levis amaturaanxiun exercitum ejus atque follicirum habebat: quia et equites deterrebas proelium inire, propter equorum interritum; quod ens jaculis inteficiebat; et legionariurr militem defatigabat, propter velocitatem. Gravis enim amatura miles fimul atque ab his infectatus conftiterat, in eofque impetum fecerat, ilis veloci cuifu facile periculum vitabanc.

36 RFFLECTIONS on the WAR

"Cessar, having fo fubtil an enemy to deal "s with, inftructed his foldiers, not like a genera " who had been victorious in the moft arduous "c exploits, but as a fencing-mafter $\dagger$ would in" ftruct his fcholars; teaching them with what " pace to retreat from the enemy, and how to " return to the charge; how far to advance, and
" how far to retire; and likewife in what place
"s and manner to caft their piles. For their " light-armed infantry gave him the greateft un-
"t eafinefs, deterring his troopers from meeting
"s them, by killing their hoffes with their jave-
" lins, and wearying his legions by their fwift" nefs. For whenever his heavy- ned foot " faced about, and endeavoured to return their "c cbarge, they quickly avoided the danger by " Alight."

But without going back to the ancients, we have feen this maxim adopted in ouir days. Marfhal de Saxe finding the French army harraffed by the Huffars and other Auftrian light troops, formed alfo feveral corps of them of different kinds; and the king of Pruffia in his firf war introduced them into his army, and has augmented and employed them ever fince with fuccefs. We have ourielves made ufe of them in the two laft wars in Europe: But the light troops wanted in America muft be trained upon different principles. The enemies we have to deal with, are i nfinitely more active and dangerous than the Huffars and Pandours; or even the Africans above-mentioned. For the American favages, after their rapid incurfions, retreat to their towns, at a great dif$\ddagger$ Lanitta, in Latin, is an inftructor of gladiators• - which in Englifh can only be tranllated a Fencing: matter.'
y to deal - a genera arduous ould inith what $t$ how to nce, and hat place For their eateft un1 meeting seir javeeir fwift.ed foot urn their enger by ients, we s. Marrraffed by 3s, formit kinds; troduced and emWe have ft wars in America ss. The itely more and Panзentioned. rapid ingreat difgladiators• $=$ Fencing

tance

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 57
tance from our fettlements, through thickety woods almoft impenetrable to our heavy and unwieldy corps, compofed of foldiers loaded with eloaths, baggage and provifions, who, when fatigued by a long march, mult be a very unequal match to engage the nimble favage in woods, which are his native element.

Another unavoidable incumbrance, in our expeditions, arifes from the provifions and baggage of the army, for which a road mult be opened, and bridges thrown over rivers and fwamps. This creates great labour, retards and weakens the line of march, and keeps the troops tied to a convoy which they cannot lofe fight of, without expofing it to become a prey to a vigilant enemy, continually hovering about to feize every- advantage.

An European, to be a proper judge of this kind of war, muft have lived fome time in the vaft forefts of America; otherwife he witl hardly be able to conceive a continuity of woods without end. In fpite of his endeavours, his imagination will betray him into an expectation of open and clear grounds, and he will be apt to calculate his manceuvres accordingly, too much upon the principles of war in Europe.

Let us fuppofe a perfon, who is entirely unacquainted with the nature of this fervice, to be put at the head of an expedition in America. We will further fuppofe that he has made the difpofitions ufual in Europe for a march, or to receive an enemy; and that he is then attacked by the favages. He cannot difcover them, tho' from every tree, log or bufh, he receives an inceffant fire, and oblerves that few of their fhot are loft. He will not hefitate to charge thofe invifible enemies, but he wild charge in vain. For they are as cautious to avoid a clofe engagement, as indefatigable in harraffing his troops; and notwithftanding all his endeavours, he will fill find himfelf furrounded by a circle of fire, which, like an artificial horizon, follows him every where.

D 3

58 REFLECTIONS on the WAR

Unable to rid bimfelf of an enemy who never ftands his attacks, and flies when preffed, only to retarn upon him again with equal agility and vigour; he will fee the courage of his heavy troops droop, and their ftrength at latt fail them by repeated and ineffectual efforts.

He muft therefore think of a retreat, unlefs he can force his way thro' the enemy. But how is this to be effected ? his bagogge and proxifions a: e unloaded and foattered, part of his horfes and drivers killied, others difperfed by fear, and his wounded to be carried by foldiers. already faiming under the fatigue of a long action. The enemy, encouraged by his diftrefs, will not fail to enereafe the diforder, by preffing upon him on every fide, with redoubled fury and favage howtings.

He will probably form a circle or a rquare, to ketp off fo daring an enemy, ready at the leaft opening to fall upen him with the deftructive tomahawk: but thefe difpofitions, tho' a tolerable Ahift for defence, are neither proper for an aitack, nor a march thro' the woods. -

This is not an imaginary fuppofition, but the true ftate of an engagement with the Indians, experienced by the troops who have fought againft bhem. Neither is there any thing new or extraordinary in this way of fighting, which feems to have been common to moft Barbarians $t$.

+ Vid. Eær. Chmm. lib. V. de bella Gallico, et lib. II. de be!! c ci, ii.i.

Wish ahe-Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. $5 $$
What is then to be done to extricate our lixde army fram impending deftruction?
$T_{\mathrm{His}}$ is a problem which I do not pretend to refolve. But as every man would, in fimilar circumftances, determine himfelf fome way or other, I will prop fe my own fentiments, founded upon fome obfer ations which I believe invariable in all engagements with favages.

THE fiff; that their general maxim is to furround their enemy.

The fecond, that they fight fcattered, and ne rer in a compact body.

The third, that they never ftand their ground when attacked; but immediately give way, to return to the charge.

These principles being admitted, it fotlows-ift. That the troops deffined to engage Indians, muift be lightly cloathed, armed, and accourred.

2d. That having no refiftance to encounter in theattack or defence, they are not to be drawn up in clofe order, which would only expofe them without neceffity to a greater tofs.
$A_{N D}$ laftly, that all their evolutions muft be performed with great rapidity; and the men enabled by exercite to purfuie the enemy clofely, when put to flight, and not give them time to rally.
These remarks will explain the reafons of the alterations propofed in the formation of a corps of troops $s_{2}$ for the Fervice of the woods. It is not, however, to be expected that this method will remove all obftacles, or that thofe light troops can equal the favages in patience, and activity; but, with difcipline and practice, they may in a great meafure fupply the want of thefe advantages, and by keeping the enemy at a diftance afford great relief and fecurity to the main body.

60 REFLECTIONS on the WAR

SECTION II.

GENERAI IEEA OF AN ESTABLISHMENT OF LIGHT TROOPS, FOR THE SERVICE OF THE WOODS.

I shali only venture a few notions fuggefted by experience upon this fubject, chiefly with a view to recommend it to the confideration of perfons capable of propofing a proper method of forming fuch an eftablifhment: and, in order to be better underfood, I will fuppofe a corps of 500 men to be raifed and difciplined for the woods, befides two troops of light horfe, to which a company of artificers might be added. The fitteft men for that fervice would be the natives of America bred upon the frontiers, and inlifted between the age of 15 and 20 years, to be difcharged between 30 and 35 .

CLOATHING.

The cloathing of a foldier for the campaign might confift of a hort coat of brown cloth, lappelled, and without plaits; a frong tanned fhirt, fhort trowfers, leggins, mokawfons or fhoe packs, a failor's hat, a blanket, a knapfack for provifions, and an oiled furtout $\dagger$ againft the rain. To this $\dagger$ The following Watch-coat was contrived by an pfficer, whofe name I de not remember. But inftead of the oiled linen to be put under the hat, a cap might perhaps anfwer better. He writes as follows, viz.
" As the Indian war will require frequent incur" fions into a wild country, where a man fick or " wounded, is in feveral refpects more detrimental " to the fervice than a man killed, every thing that " may contribute to the health of the men is of mo" ment.
"I In this view, I propole a fort of furtout, to pre" ferve men, in a great meafure, both from wet and " cold.
" Take a large checked fhirt, of about half a " crown fterling per yard, for it Thould be pretty " fine; cut off the writt-bands, and continue the " opening of the breatt down to the bottom; few up " the fides from the guffers downwards; rip out the " gathers in the fore parts of the collar as far as the " fhoulde: ftraps, and refew it plain to the collar. "The fhirt will then become a fort of watch" coat like a bed-gown, with very wide lleeves.
" Take a quantity of linfeed oil, and boil it gently " till one half is diminifhed, to which put a imall " quantity of litharge of gold, and when it is well " incorporated with the oil, lay it on with a brufh " upon the watch-coat, fo that it fhall be every " where equally wet.
" I fuppofe the watch-coat, bung in a garret, or " other covered place, and to fufpended by crooked " pins and packthreads in the extremities of the " fleeves and edges of the collar, that one part fhall " not touch another. In a fhort time, if the wea" ther is good, it will be dey; when a fecond mix"t ture of the fame kind flould be laid on wira a

6 REFLECTIONS on the WAR

A R M.

Their arms, the beft that could be made, Bould be thort fufils and fome rifles, with bayonets in the form of a dirk, to ferve for a knife; with powder horns and fhot pouches, fmall hatchets and leathern boutes for water.
"s brufh as before. When the fecond coat of paint": ing is dry, the greafe will not come off, and the " furtout is an effectual prefervative from rain; it is " very light to carry, and being pretty full on the " back, will not only keep the man dry, but alfo cs his pack and ammunition.
"The lleeves are left long and wide. to receive " the butt end of a firelock (fecured) and to cover
" it below the lock. The coat is double breafted
" to be lapped over, according to which fide the " rain diives. A man will be kept dry by one of "thefe furtouts as far as the knees. is, from the " vicinity of the enemy, it is improper to make fires
" at night, he may place his pack on a ftone, and, " fitting upon it, change his thoes and leggins, and, " if he pleafes, wrap his blanket round his legs and " feet, then drawing the watch-coat clofe to his " body, it will keep him warm, as no air can pals " through it, and, leaning againit the trunk of a " tree, he may pafs a tolerable night, both warm " and dry.
"It would be of fervice to have a finall piece of " the fame oiled linen to put under the hat or cap
" to carry the rain down to the waychcoat or furtout,

* otherwife whatever wet foaks through the hat or
" cap, will run down the neck, and thereby, in " fome meafure, defeat the defign of the watch" coat.
"Perhaps it might be ufeful to mix fome dark or "greenith colour with the oil of the fecond coating,
" to make the watch=coat lefs remarkable in the "Wods.".

EXERCISES.

made, th baya knife; , fmall of paintand the in ; it is 1 on the but alfo receive so cover breafted fide the $y$ one of from the ake fires ae, and, ins, and, egs and $\vdots$ to his ann pals mnk of a th warm piece of $t$ or cap furtout, : hator eby, in watch-dark or oating, in the Tие fotdiers being raifed, cloathed, and form: ed into companies under' proper afficers, mutt, before they are armed; be taught to keep themfelves clean, and to drefs in a foidier-like manner. This will raife. in them a becoming fpirit, give them a favaurable opinion of their profeffion, and preferse their headef." The firint thing chey are to learn is to Walk well, afterwards to Run; and, in: osder to excite emulation; fmah premiums might from time to time be given to thofe who diftinguifarthemfelves.: Thay mult then' run in rasks, with open files; 1 and: whel in that ouder, atfirto flowly, and by: degrees increafe their fipeed: this evoluaion is differalt, but of the utmoft confequence to falt unexpectedly upon the flank of the ceremyo. 'They are to difperfe' and ralty at givene figmats; and particular colours hould be given to each company, for them to rally by'; the men matt be ufed to leap tover logs and ditches, and to carry burthezs proportioned to Lheir ftrengch.

What

+ Vegetius gives an account of many fimilar'exercifes, which the Romans found neceffary to eftablih among their military. Mites fylvain cridebat, xeftivis tepopporitus natabat, ad pakun dimicabat, faltabat, currebat: Exempla hujus exercitationis crebra funt apud Livium. Sic ille de: Scipione Africano; 3 decad. lib. VJ. . "Primo die legiones in armis IV". " millium fpatio decurrerunt. Secundo die arma *-cuare et tergere ante tentoria jufit. Tertio die " fudibus

64 REFLECTIONS on the WAR

When the young foldiers are perfect in thefe exercifes, they may receive their arms, with which they are to perform the former evolutions in all forts of grounds. They will next be taught to handle their arms with dexterity; and, withThey are to fire at a mark without a reff, and rot fuffered to be too long in taking aim. Hunting and fmall premiums will foon make them expert markfmen.

They oughr to learn to fwim, pufhing at the ar to w fame time their cloaths, arms, and ammunition before them, on a fmall raft; and to make ufe of fnow fhoes. They muft then be fet to work, and be taught to throw up an intrenchment, open a trench, make fafcines, clays and gabions; likear wife to fall trees, fquare logs, faw planks, make canoes, carts, ploughs, hand and wheel barrows, thingles and clap-boards, cafks, batteaus and bridges, and to build log houfes, ovens, &cc.

BY example and practice, the moft ingenious among them will foon become tolerable good carpenters, joyners, wheelwrights, coopers, armourers, fmiths, mafons, brickmakers, faddlers, taylors, butchers, bakers, Moemakers, curriers, & c )

[^1]
LIGHTHORSE and DOGS.

I said that, to compleat this eftablifhment, they flould have two troops of light horfe, fuppofed of 50 men each, officers included. The men are to perform the fame exercifes as the foot, and afterwards be taught to ride, and particularly to be very alert at mounting and difmountingwith their arms in their hands, to gallop through the woods up and down hills, and leap over logs and ditches.

The horfes ought to. be bought up on the frontiers, where they are bred and ufed to feed in the woods, and are ftrong and hardy. They are to be thoroughly broke, made to ftand fire, to fwim over rivers, &cc. their faddles and accoutrements very fimple, ftrong and light. The number of horles might be reduced to one half, in time of peace, tho' they would be of little expence, as they might be bred and mantained without charge in the military fettlement. This corps thouhd be equipped as the foot, having only a fhort rifle in lieu of a fufil, and a battle-ax with a long handle, the only fort of arms they fhould make ufe of in the charge.

Every light horfe man ought to be provided with a Blood-hound, which would be ufeful to find out the enemies ambuthes, and to follow their tracts; they would feize the naked favages, or at leaft give time to the horfe men to come up with them; they would add to the fafety of the camp at night by difcovering any attempt to furprize is.

ARTEFECER

The company of artificers friould be compored of the moft ulefil tradefmen, aind ought to be maintained at all times for the inftruftion of the foldiers, the ufe of the fettlement, or the fervice of the army, düring the campaign. It will now be time to dsaw forth this military colony and remove them to the ground laid out for that ufe' in the woods, and at a good' diftance from the inhabitants. The nature of this fettlement will hereafter be more particularly defcribed.

Necessity creating indulfy, "our young foldiers/ will foon provide chemfetves with the moit ufeful articles, and in a couple of years be able to raife provifions for themfelves:-

Whice the greateft part would be emploged in clearing the grounds fencing ; ploughing, fowing, planting, building and making utenfils and houlhold furniture, others might hunt with their officers, and rerrain a fortnight or a month out of the camp; without other provifions than a fittle flour, and what they could plocure by huntirng and fifting: then to bee refieved, and the who'e trained up in that way. ${ }^{3,}$

The: military= exercifes munt ftal be kept up. and pradifed, and great care taken to inculcate and preferve purity of manners, :obedience, order and deeency anrong thie men, which will be fieighbourthood of towns.
In órder to make thtis- mifitary eftabliftment more generally ufeful; I would propofe that the foldiers fhould only receive a very fmall part of their

With the Savages of NORTH-AMEREA. $\sigma_{7}$

their pay; leaving the remainder in the military cheft.

Their accounts faould be fettled every year, comporsht to be . of the きfervice will now and reat ufe in the inent will ung folhe molt - able to anploged 5, fowIffls and ith their Th out than a by hiunand the kept up aculcate $\therefore$ order will: be in the flument hat the part of their and when their fervices ffrould incite: theon to their difcharge, I could wifh that each of them hạd 200 acres of tand given bim, in a'diftriat appropriated for that purpofe; and receiving then the whole baltance of pay due to them, they would be enabled to compleat their fettlement. This infticution appears not only practicable, but eafy, if attended to wish patience, affiduity and firmnefs. The plan I would propofe is as follows.

Method of forming fuch Settlements upon the Frontiers, as might fapport themfelyes during an Indian War.

Let us fuppofe a fettlement to be fosmed for one bundred families, compofed of five perfons each, upon an average.

Lay out upon a river, or creek, if it can be found conveniently, a square of one thoufand feven hundred and fixty yards, or a mile for each fide.
That Square will contain - - 640 acres Allowing for ftreets and public ufes 40 $\left.\begin{array}{l}\text { To half an acre for every houfe - } 50 \\ \text { To one hundred lots at five and half }\end{array}\right\} 640$ acres acres - - - - $55^{\circ}$
The four fides of the fquare meafure 7040 yards, which gives to each houfe about 70 yards front to ftockade, and the ground allowed for builiding will be 210 feet front, and about 100 feet deep.

An acre of ground will produce at leaft 30 bulbels of Indian corn. Therefore, two acres are fufficient fufficient to fupply five perfons, at the rate of twelve bufhels each perfon. Two other acres will be a pafture for cows and fheep, another acre for hay, to be fown with red clover. The remaining half acre may be haid out for a garden.

68 REFLECTIONS on the WAR

Round the town are the commons, of three miles fquare, containing, exclufive of the lots a-bove-mentioned, 5120 acres. On three fides of the town, five other Squares will be laid out of three fquare miles, containing 5760 acres each, one of which is referved for wood for the ufe of the Settlement ; the other four to be divided into 25 out-lots or plantations, of about 230 acres each, fo that in the four Squares there will be one hundred fuch plantations, for the 100 families.

Another townihip may be laid out joining this, upon the fame plan, and as many more as you pleare upon the fame line, without lofing any ground.

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 69

Thus the town, A, has its commons, its woodland, and its 4 fquares-marked No. 1. each containiny 25 plantations of 230 acres, as propofed above. In like manner, the other towns, $\mathrm{B}, \mathrm{C}, \mathrm{D}$, have their appurtenances refpectively. marked.
LET us now fuppofe this plan accomplifhet, and fuch corps as thefe. fully fectled, trained and difciplined, in the manner above-meationed; I would afk whether efficof, eabrufted with an expedition againft the favages, would not chure to have them in-his army? may fafely anfwer for all thofe who have been employed in that forvice, that they would prefer theri to double the number of the beft European troops. And when they had ferved the time timited, namely from their 15 ch to their 35 thy yeak, what walt fatisfaction would it be to pay over to them their thare of favings from the public cheft; and, as a reward of their fairhful toils, to veft them and their heirs with their feveral plantitions, which they would now be enabled to culd vate 25 their own? This profpeet would engage many people to enter thẹir fons, in fuch corps: and thofe veterans, when thus difcharged, would not only be the means of forming and animating others by their example, but in cafe of a war would fill bravely maintain the property they had fo honourably acquired, and be the gratel fecurity of the frontier where they are fettled. ied and ned; I with $9 n$ chure anfurer lat ferHe the i when fram isfadihare of reward ir heirs would ? This $\therefore$ thẹir when ans of ample, aintain .d, and e they

Pre:

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 7r

Preparatiońs for an expedition in THE WCODS AGAINST SAVAGES.

It is net practicab'e to employ large bodies of troops againft Indians; the convoys neceffly for their fupport would be too cumberfome, and could neither be moved with eafe, nor p:otetted. It would be better to fit out feveral fmall expeditions, than one too unwieldy: I will therefo: e fuppofe that a corps intended to act offenfively Thall not exceed the following propurtions.

Two regiments of foot - - - 900
One batialion of hunters - - - 500
Two troops of light horfe - - 100 One company of artificers - - 20 Drivers and neceffary followers - - 280

The firf article to provide is the provifions, and next the carriages.

The daily ration of a foldier in the woods Phould confift of one pound and a half of meat (which requires po carriage) and one pound of Hour, with a gill of falt per week.

UPON that allowance $\left.\begin{array}{l}1800 \text { men will require for fix } \\ \text { moniths or } 182 \text { days }\end{array}\right\} 327,600 \mathrm{lb}$. Flour.

Allowing one fourth for accident - - - - 81,900

For fix mopths
$409,500 \mathrm{lb}$. Flour.

72 REFLECTIONS on the WAR'

Meat for the fame time with 2 .fourth part more for accidents, or 2048 beeves $\} 614,400 \mathrm{lb}$. Meat. at 300 lb .each

Salt for 26 weeks .- - 182 Buffets.
The above quantity would ferve the whole campaign, but one half would be fufficient to penetrate from the laft depofite into the heart of the enemy's country: therefore we hall compute the carriages for this left quantity only.

Ever y horfe carries about 150 lb . neat weight, therefore, to carry flour for three months or $204,750 \mathrm{lb}$. will require 1365 horfes:

To reduce this exorbitant number of horfes, and the great expence attending it, I would propore, for fuch parts of the country as would admit of it, to make ute of carts, drawn each by four oxerr, and carrying about 1300 lb or fix barrels of flour. The above quantity of $20,4,750 \mathrm{lb}$. will then be carried by 160 carts drawn by 640 oxen Spare oxen with the army

The number of oxen wanted - 1024

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 73

This method would not be as expeditious as the carriage by horfes, and would require more time and attention in cutting the road, and bridging the fwampy places, &c. but, on the other band, what an expence would be fared! and by killing the oxen in proportion as the flour is ufed, and abandoning the carts, the convoy is daily reduced, and the grafs near the encampment will not be fo foon confumed, which is not the cafe with horfes, which muft equally be fed though unloaded. This is an object of confequence, particularly near the end of the campaign, when the fcarcity of fodder obliges to move the camps every day, and to place them in low and difadvantage-ous-grounds.

I would therefore incline for the ufe of carts, and they could be made before hand by the hunters and their artificers.

The oxen fhould be bought in the provinces where the farmers make ufe of them in their works. One or two foldiers would drive the cart and take charge of the four oxen.

Thife are few rivers in North-America deep in fummer, and which thefe caris with high and broad wheels, could not ford ; but if the contrary Thould happen, the carts, provifions and baggage, may be rafied over, or a bridge built. In a country full of timber, and with troops accuftomed to work, no river will ftop an army for a long time.

By the above method, 3 or 400 horfes would be fufficient to carry the baggage, ammunition, tents, tools; &c.

E.XPLANA.

REFEECTHNS on the WR

EXPLANATION of titr foúr PLANS, Praté II.

Reprefenting the difeterni poffitions of ourr army in the wobds.

ENCAMPMENT.

The camp (Fig, :) forms a paraheflogram, of one thouland by fix hurndred feet: Eigfir hant: dred men of the regular froops ( 1 ) enteath p on the four fides, which gives twenty-fort feet to each tent, containing fix mein: The lighthoife (3) encamp within the parallellogram. Phe relerve (7) in the center.

The provifions, ammunition, tools and fores troops of light horfe and the referve. The hanters (2) encamp on the outfide diagorialfy at the four angles, being covereed by redoubts ( 5 ) formed with kegs and bags of flour or failicines. Befides thefe four redoubts, anothef is placed to the front, one tọ the rear, and two before each of the long, faces of the camp, makint in all ten ado vanced guards of 22 meri eackt, and 7 centries; covered if poffible by breafft works of fafciníes or provifions. Before the army lay downi their arms; the ground is to be reconnoitred, and the guards pofted, who will immediately open a communication from one to the other, to relieve the centries, and facilitate the palfige of rounds.

THE centries upon the amntanition, provifions, head quarters, and all others in the infide of

With the Savages of NO E TH: AMERICA. 75

the cathe are furnitiod from the referve. The officers, except the fiafl and commanders of corpes encämp on the line with their moth

The fires are made between the guards and carmp; and put out in eafe of min macki in the night.

LINE of MARCH, Plate II. Fig. II.

- Parit of the hunters. (2) in throe divifions detraching fmall parties $(5,6)$ to their front. and to their'right and left, to fearch the woods and difcover the enemy.

The artificers and axe-men (4) to curt a toad for the convoy, and two paths orf the right and leff for the troops.

Oive hundted'and fifit of ele regular troops (1) in twio files, who ate to form the front of the fquare; thiefle march in the cencer road.

Two hưndred and fiffy' tegulare ( 1 ) in one file by the right hand path; and 250 (1) by the left hand path, are to form the fonge faces.

These are followed by 150 regulars ( 1 ) in two files, who are to form the rear of the fquare.

THE referve ( 7 ) compofed of sico regulars in two files.
The reft of the hunters (2) in two files.
'The light horfe (3.)
"This rear guard ( 5 ) compofed of hunters, folTows the convoy at tome diftariee and clofes the march: The feouting parties (6) who flathe the litre of march,' ate taktn from the henters and tight torfes and poffed as in: plan (7lig. 2) fome orferly light' hobfemen, atterd the' General and field officers whio command the grand divifions,

76- REFLECTIONS on the WAR

 to carry their orders. Two guards of light horfe take charge of the cattic (9)The coaroy (8) proceeds in the following order.

The took and ammanition following the front column.

The baggage.
The carte.
The provifions.
'The whole divided into Brigades, and the borfes two a breat.

DEFILES.

In care of a defile, the whole halt until the ground is reconnoitred, and the hunters have taken poffeffion of the heights. The center column then enters into the defile, followed by the right face ; after them the convoy; then the left and rear face, with the referve, the light horfe, and the rear guard.

The whole to form again as foon as the ground permits.

Disposition to receive the enemy, Fig. (3)

The whole halt to form the fquare or parallellogram, which is done thus. The two firft men of the center column ftand faft ateswo yards diffance. The two men following-them, fep forward and poft themfelves at two yards on the right and loft. The others come to the front in the fame manner, tull the two files have formed a rank, which is the front of the fquare.

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 77

The rear face is formed by the two file-leaders turning to the center road, where having placed themfelves at two yards diftance, they face outwards, and are followed by their files, each man pofting himfelf on their right or left, and facing towards the enemy the moment he comes to his poft.

As foon as the front and rear are extënded and formed, the two long faces, who have in the mean time faced outwards, join now the extremities of the two fronts, and clofe the fquare $\dagger$.

To reduce the square.

The right and left of the front, face to the center, where the two center men fland faft. Upon the word " march" thefe ftep forward and ate replaced by the two next, who follow them, and fo on; by which means, that front becomes again a columma.' The rear goes to the right 'about, and each of the two center men leads again to the fide paths followed by the reit.

While the troops form, the light horfe and each divifion of the convoy take the ground affignod to them within:the fquare, as if they were to encamp; and the horfes being unloaded, two paralle lines will be formed, wuth the bags and kegs of provifions, to cover the wounded and the men unfit for acion. The hunters take poft on the moft advantageous ground on the out fide, and Ikirmifh with the enemy, till the fquare is formed; when, upan receiving their orders, they retire within the fquare, where they take their poft as in Eig. (3) :
$\pm$ There evolctions mult be performed with celerity.

78 REFETCTIONS on the WAR

The flatid parties of rangers ( 5 ) who hive flamed the live of march, remain on che ourfide, to keep off chetenemp zad obferve their motions.

When the fring begins the troops will have orders to fall de their knees, wer be kersexpoift: till it ithougha proper toctatseck:

The four faces, formed by the regular trooper ate diviided into plaroons chtoquered. One half, compofed of the lueft and: moft: active foldiers, is callod tere wht Tiring, and the other hilf the focond Firing

The eight platoons at the angles are of the fecond Firings, in order te preferve the fofin of the fquare during the attack.

IT is evildent that, by this: difpofition, the-convoy is well covered, and the lighe troopt, deftined for the charge, rematintroncealeds and as all unexpected.'Ovent during ans engagenndrt are apt to Aribe terror, and create-cotidiffon;, amongithe enemy, it is maturad to expe 3 thatusthe favages: wilt beigreatly difconeerted at the fultderi and unforefeen eruptions, othat will foon poarr upons them ftem ethe infide of the fquare;, and that, being vigoroufly atiacked in frontand flaink :at the fame timety they. will-neicher be ablo to defift, nor, when once brobey Have time to :rallvo for as to niake: another ftame. This maxy be effeered in :che fotlowing mananep:

GENERAE ATMECE, Fig. IV.
The Rtgulats ( ) find fate
The liunters (z) tally oot, in folt collumbs, thro the intervals of the front inde" redi of the fquare, followed by the light horfe (3) with their bloodhounds: The intertads of tie two colomins who attack in the front, and of thofe who attack in the rear, will be clofed by the little parties of rangers (5) pofted at the angles of the fquare, each attack forming in that manner, three fides of a parallelogram. In that order they run to the enemy ( $\mathbf{X}$ ) and having forced their way through their circle, fall upon their flanks; by wheeling to their right and left, and charging with impetuofity. The moment they take the enemy in flank, the Firft Firing of the regular troops march out brifkly and attack the enemy in front. The platoons detached in that manner from the two Thort faces, proceed only about one hundred yards to their front, where they halt to cover the fquare; while the reft of the troops who have attacked purfue the enemy, till they are totally difperfed, not giving them time to recover themfelves.

With the Savages of NORTH-AMERICA. 79

The fick and wounded, unable to march or ride, are tranfported in litters made of flour bags, through which two long poles are paffed, and kept afunder by two fticks, tied acrofs beyond the head and feet to ftretch the bag. Each litter is carried by two horfes-

These remarks might have been extended to many other cafes that may occur in the courfe of a campaign or of an engagement, but it is hoped this fletch will be fufficient to evince the neceffity of fome alteration in our ordinary method of proceeding in an Indian war.

APPENDIXI.

 CONSTRUCTION
$0 F$

$\begin{array}{lllll}\mathbf{F} & O & R & T & S\end{array}$

AGAINSTINDIANS.

AS we have not to guard here againft cannon, the fyftem of European fortification may be laid afide, as expenfive, and not anfwering the purpofe. Forts againt Indians, being commonly remote from our fettlements, require a great deal of room to lodge a fufficient quantity of ftores and provifions, and at the fame time ought to be defenfible with one half of their compleat garrifons, in cafe of detachments or convoys.

$$
\mathrm{E}_{3} \quad \mathrm{I}_{\mathrm{AM}}
$$

I AM therefore of opinica shat a fanare or rearQgan, with a block houle of brick or tone *at every angle, juined by a wall flanked by the blcckhoifes, would be the telt defence aggingt fuch enemies. A ditch from feven to eight feet deep might be added, with loop holes in the cellars of - the llock-boufes fix feet from the ground, wo defend the ditch.

Along the infide of the curtains the traders might build houres ard ftores, covered as well as. he block-bcufes with tiles, or Ilate, to guard. againf fire arrows. There will requa oa fecious. arrea for free air and ufe, in which as weil as in the ditch, gardens might be made and well dug.

The powder magagings might be placed in the certer of the' area, Keeping only a fmall quantity of cartridges in each block-houfe for prefent, ufe.
TyE garrifons of fuch forts. wquld be free from fu prizes, even if they had no centries, for nothing can get at them, while the doors are well bolted and barred.

- Experience has demonftrated that fortifications made of woud decay very. foon, and aie on that account of contiderable Expépce.

APPEDIXI.

Siome reasons eor ketming pascegiton ofour large forts in the Indian country.

As thele forts have been orre of the caules of the tatt war and are a great eye fore to the favages, they haye bent their chief efforts againft them ; and therefose, white thus employed, they have been lef's abte to diftrefs our fettements. Our forts keep the Indian towns at a great diftance from us. Fort-Pitt has effeetualy driven them, -beyond the Ohio, and made them remove their fetlements at teaft of mites further wefward. Wrat it not for theie forts, they would fettle clofe on our borders, and in time of war infeft us every day in fuch numbers as would over-power the thin inhabitants fcattered on our extenfive frontier. The farmey unable to fow or reap would foon falt back on our chief towns, or quir the country for want of bread. In either cafe, what would be the fate of the large towns burthened with the whole country, and deprived of fubfiftance and of the materials oi trade and export ?

The deftruction of thefe forts being, in time of war, the chief aim of the favages, they gather above them to diftrefs the garrifons, and to attack the convoy; the eby giving us an opportunity to fight them in a body, and to ftrike a heavy blow, which otherwife they would never put in our power, as their advantage lies in furprizes, which are beft effected by frall numbers. Experience has convinced them that it is not in their power to E 4 break break thofe fhackles, and therefore it is not probable that they will continue a check upon them, and fave the difficulty and expence of taking poft again in their country. Our forts are likewife the proper places for trade, which being clofely inspected, it with be eafy for us to limit their fupplies, to fuch commodities as they cannot turn againft us, and to put a fpeedy ftop to all juft caufes of complaints, by giving immediate redrés.

84 ${ }^{\circ}$ APPENDIX 1.

A few forts, with ftrong garrifons, I hould judge to be of more fervice than a greaser number weakly guarded In the latt war we loft all our fmall pofts; but our more confiderable ones, Detroit and Fort-Pitt, refifted all the efforts of the favagen, by the ftrength of their garrifens.

A PPEN.

APPENDIXII.

TH E following Paper was written by an Officer well acquainted with the places he defcribes; and is thought worthy of a place here, as every thing is material which can encreafe our knowledge of the vaft countries ceded to us, and of the various nations that inhabit them.

Account of the French forts ceded to Great Britain in Houisiana.

The fettlement of the Illinois being in 40 degrees of latitude, is 500 leagues from New-Oileans by water and $35^{\circ}$ by land.

The moft proper time if the year for going there, is'the beginning of February. The waters of the M.fififppi are then high, and the country being overfowed, there is lefs to fear from the favages, who are hunting in that feafon.

The encampments fhould be on the left of the. river, as the enemies are on the right, and cannot have a fufficient number of crafts to crofs if their party is large.

They generally attack at day-break, or at the time of embarking.

The inhabitants might bring provifions half way, if they were allowed goor pay.

The Delawares and Shawanefe lie near Fort Du Quefne, + which is about 500 leagues from the lllinos. The Wiandots and ottawas, (who are at the Detroix) are about 250 leagues from the Illinois by land. And the Miamis about 200 by land.

Nevertheless as intelligence is carried very faft by the Savages, and as all the nations with whom we are at war, can come by the Ohio, $\ddagger$ We muft be vigilant to prevent a furprize.

+ So the French formesly called what is now Fort Pitt.
$\ddagger$ Part of the navigation of the Obio, from FortPitt is defcribed as follows, viz.

That the difficult part of the river is from FortPitt about 50 or 60 miles downwards. There are 52 illands between Fort-Pitt and the lower Shawanefe town on Scioto; and none of them difficult to pafs in the night, but one at the mouth of Mußkingham, occafioned by 2 number of trees lying in the channel. From the lower Shawanefe Town to the falls, chere are but 8 or. 9 ilands. At the falls, the river is very broad, with ouly one paffage on the eaft fide, is which there is water enough $x$ - all feafons of the year ta pafs without difficulty. - Below the falls, the navigation is every way clear, down to the Mifft: fuppi

APPENDIX II. 87

The mourh of the Otrio, in the Miffifippi, is 35 leagues from the Hlimois.

Thirtinn leagues from the Miffifippi, on the left of the Ohio, is Fort Maffiac, or Affumption, built in 1757, a liule below the mouch of the river Cherokee $t$. It is onty a tockade, with four baftions and eight pieces of cannon. It map contain 100 men: In four days one maxy go by land, from this fort to the Illinois.

Ir is of confequence for the Engtith to preferve if, as it fecures commanication between the Illinois and Fort-Pits.

Fqrt Vincennes, which is the laft poft belonging to Louifiana, is upon the river Ouabsiche $\ddagger$, 60 leagues from its conflux with the Ohio. It isa fmall flockade fort, in which there may be 2bout 20 foddiers. There are alio a few inhabitants. The foitt is extremely fertile, and protuces plenty of corn and robacco.

The diftance from this fort to the Iminois, is 155 leagues by water. And it may be travelled by land in fix days.

The nation of favages living at this poft is caltad Pianquicha. It can furnifh 60 warriors.

Altho' we do not occupy Fort Vincenses at prefent, yet it would be af the utmoft confequence.

+ River Cbierolee fals into the Ohio about 8co niles below Fort-Pitt. This river is in general wide and hoal up to the fouth mountain, paftable only with batk, canous, after which it grows very fimsll.
$\ddagger$ Oarbache. or Wabalh empties itfelf inte the Obio about 60 niles above the Chesokee niver, on the op:pofitedr weat fide.
$f_{\text {or us to }}$ rettle it , as there is a communication from it with Canada, by going up the Ouabache:

From this poft to the Ouachtanons is 60 leagues, and from thence to the Miamis (ftill going up the Ouabache) is 60 leagues further; then there is a portage of fix leagues to the river Miamis, and you go down that river 24 leagues to Lake Erie.

Mr. DaU'Bry went by that rout in 1759 from the Illinois to Venango $H$, with above 400 men , and two hundred thoufand weightit of four.
\| By the above paper the rout is given up the Miffilippi, part of the Ohio, and up the Ouabache to Fort Vincennes, and likewife to the Illinois. Again from Vincennes and the Ouachtapons by water, on the wefterly communication to the Miamis portage, then by water down that river by the eafterly rout into the Lake Erie; proceeding as far as Prefqu' Ine, then by the $1 ; \mathrm{m}$. portage into buffalo or Beef river, lately catled French creek; then down the fame to Venango on the Ohio. In order therefore, to carry this rout ftill further, we ball continue it from Venango to the mouth of Juniata in Sutquebamah, 'which brings it within the fetried parts of Penníyluania, viz.:

From Venango to Licking creek, io miles.. To Toby's creek, 13. To a fmall creek, 1 . To the parting of the road, 5 . To a large run, 3. To Leycaumeyhoning, 9. To Pine creek, 7. To Chuckcaughting, 8 To Weeling creek, 4. To the crofling of ditto, 4. To a miry fwamp, 8. To the head of Suiquehanna. 10 To Meytauning creek; 18. To Clear Field creek, 6. To the top of Allegheng, 1 . To the othet fide, ditto; 6. To Beaver dams, 5. To'Franks Town, 5To the Canoe place, 6. To the mouth of Juniatta, 110. Total 239 miles.

Thirty-

APPENDIXII.

Thirty-five leagues from the mouth of the Ohio, in going up the Miffifippi, on the right, is the river Kafkafquias. Two leagues up this river, on the left, is the fettlement of the Karkarquias, which is the moft confiderable of the Illinois.

There is a fort built upon the height on the other fide of the river, over againft Kafkafquias; which, as the river is narrow, commands and protects the town.

1 don't know how many guns there may be, nor how many men it may contain. There may be about 400 inhabitants.

The lllinois Indians, called Kafkafquias, are fettled half a league from the town; and are able to turn out 100 warriors. They are very lazy and great drunkards.

SIx leagues from Kafkafquias, on the bank of the Miffifippi, is Fort Chaitres, built of ftone, and can contain 300 foldiers. There may be 20 cannon at moft, 'and about 100 inhabitants round Chartres.

The Illinois Indians at that place, who are called Metchis, can furnih 40 warriors.

Between the Kalkafquias, and Fort Chartres, is a fmall village, called La prairie du Rocher (the Rock Meadow) containing about 50 white inhabitants ; but there is neither fort nor favages.

Near Fort Chartres is a little village, in which is about a fcore of inhabitants. Here are neither favages nor fort.

Fifteen leagues from Fort Chartres, going up the Miffifippi, is the village of the Cafquiars. There is a fmall ftockade fort; I don't know if there is any cannon. There may be about 100 inhabitants.

90 APPENDIX H.

Trat Blinois Indinas fiving near this viltage are called Cafquians, and can turn out 60 warriors.

1 compteze uhere are about 300 Negroes at the Rlisiois
Tini country of the Blinois is fertile, producing good wheat and corm. All kinds of Europeanfruiss fucceed there furprizingty well, and they have widd grapes winh which they make tolerable. wine Their beer is pretey good.
Trisera are mines of bead, and fome flat. They, make fugur of medes, and there ame flom: quarrice
-

EPPER

ROU Tfrom Rhiladeliphia to Fort-Pitti

APPEN-

[ 92 ]

APPENDIX IV.

Number of Indian Towns, fituated on and near the Ohio River, and its branches, with their diftances from Fort-Pitt, and the diftances of the principal branches from each other at their conAux with the Ohio.

| First ROUT about N. N. W. |  | $\left\|\begin{array}{c} \text { Diftance } \\ \text { from one } \\ \text { another } \end{array}\right\|$ | Diftance  from  Fort-Pitt. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  |  | Miles | Miles |
|  | \| to Kumkurkies Town on Big Beaver-Creek up the eaft branch of |  | 45 |
|  | Beaver Creek to Shaningo | 15 | 60 |
|  | up ditto to Pematuning  to Mohoning on the | 12 | 72 |
|  | We:t branch of Bea- | 32 | 104 |
|  | up the branch toSaltLick | 10 | 114 |
|  | to Cayahoga River | 32 | 146 |
|  | $1{ }^{\text {to Cayahoga }}$ Cown | 10 | 156 |

|  |  | X. IV. Ditance from one another. | $\left\lvert\, \begin{aligned} & \text { Diftance } \\ & \text { from- } \\ & \text { Fort-Pitt } \end{aligned}\right.$ |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | Cond ROUT W.N.W. | Miles | Mile |
| $\begin{gathered} E \\ E \end{gathered}$ | to the mouth of Big Bea-  ver-Creek  to Tufcarawas | 9 r | 25 116 |
| E | to Mohickon John's | 50 | 166 |
|  | to Junuindat or $\mathrm{W}_{\text {yandot }}$. |  |  |
|  |  | 46 |  |
| 迷 | to Fort Sandufky to Junqueindundeh | ${ }_{24}^{4}$ |  |
| $\mathrm{T}_{\mathrm{Hz}}$ |  |  |  |
|  | $\|$to the Forks of the  Mulkingam  to Buller's Town on  Murkingam  to Waukatamike  to King Beaver's Town  on the heads of Howh-  ocking lower Shawanefe  to the lowe  Town on Sioto river  to the Salt Lick town  on the heads of Sioto  to the Miamis fort |  | 128 |
|  |  | 6 |  |
|  |  |  | 144 |
|  |  | 27 | 178 |
|  |  |  |  |
|  |  | 40 | 211 |
|  |  |  |  |
|  |  | 190 | 426 |

Fourth

$$
\begin{aligned} & t \\
& t \\
& \text { r } \\ & \text { b } \end{aligned}
$$

APPENDIXIV.

| $\left\|\begin{array}{c} \text { Diftance } \\ \text { frome one } \\ \text { anqther } \end{array}\right\|$ | Diftance from- Fort-Pitt. |
| :---: | :---: |
| Miles | Miles |
| 55 | 454 |
| 30. | 484 |
| 20 | 504 |
| 55 | 559 |
| 50 | 609 |
| $1 \cdot 3$ | 740 |
| 60 | 800 |
| 40 | 840 |

N. B. This plaene, mencioned in, the fiff three Routs are delinented in the foregoing map, by-an officer who has an actual knowledge of moft of them, and has long ferved againft the Indians, The fousth Rout down the Ohio was given by an Indian trader, who has often pafled from FortPitt to the Falls: and the diftances he gives of the mouths of the feveral. Avers that fallinto the Ohio may be pretty certainly depended on. Our maps. hitherto publifhed are very erroneous in placing fome octhofe rivers.
$\ddagger$ Thefe rizera, called Litule and Great Mineamie or Miammee, fall into the Ohio between Sioto and the Ouabache, and are different from the Miamis river, which runs into the weft end of lake Erie, below the Miamis fort.
$\ddagger$ So celled from Elephant's bones faid to be found there.

[ 96 ]

APPENDIXV.

Names of different Indian Nations in North-America, with the Numbers of their Fighting Men; referred to in the Note, page 48.

TH E following lift was drawn up by a French trader, 2 perfon of confiderable note, who has refided many years among the Indians, and Aill continues at Detroit, having taken the oaths of allegiance to the King of Great Britain. His acccuat may be depended on, fo far as matters of this kind can be brought near the truth ; a great part of it being deliyered from his own perfonal knowledge

Warriors
Conawaghrunas, near the falls of St. Louis 200
Abenaquis, $35^{\circ}$ Michmacs, $\}$ St. Lawrence Indians 700

- Amaliftes, $\}$ St. Lawrence Inciana 550
* Chalas, $\} \begin{aligned} & 130 \\ & 400\end{aligned}$

Nipiffins, living towards the heads of 400
Algonquins, $\}$
Les Tetes de Boule, or Round Heads, near the above - - - $\quad 2500$
APPENDIXV. ..... 97

Six Nations, on the frontiers of New-York,
&c. - - - 1550

Wiandots, near lake Erie - - 300
Chipwas, $\}$ near the Lakes Superior and 5000 Ottawas, $\}$ Michigan 900
Mefferagues, or River Indians, being wandering tribes, on the lakes Huron and Superior, Powrewatamis, neat S. Jofeph's and Detroit 350 $\left.\begin{array}{l}\text { Les Puans, } \\ \text { Folleavoine, or Wild-Oat Indians }\end{array}\right\} \begin{gathered}\text { near Puans } 700 \\ \text { bay }\end{gathered} \mathbf{3 5 0}$ *Mechecouakis, Sakis, South of Puans bay 250
$\left.\begin{array}{ll}\text { Marcoutents, }\end{array}\right\} \begin{aligned} & 400 \\ & 500\end{aligned}$
Ouifconfins, on a river of that name, falling into Miffifippi on the eaft-fide 550
Chriftinaux,
Affinaboes, or $\left.\begin{array}{l}\text { Affinipouals }\end{array}\right\}$ of the fame name $\quad 1500$

| Blancs + Barbus, or . White Indians with |  |
| :--- | :--- |
| Beards |  |
| $\left.\begin{array}{ll}\text { Sioux, of the meadows } \\ \text { Sioux, of the woods }\end{array}\right\} \begin{array}{l}\text { towards the heads } \\ \text { of Mifflippi }\end{array}$ | 1500 |

Miffouri, on the river of that name 3000

- Grander Eaux - - - 1000

Ofages, $7 \quad 600$
Canfes, 1600
Panis blancs, $\}$ fouth of Miffouri 2000 P ajis piques, Padoucas, 1700

Ajoues, north of the fame
500
Arkanfes, on the river that bears their $n: m e$, falling intc Miffifipi on the weft fice 2000

+ They live to the rorth-weft, and the Freach, when they firft faw them, took then for Span.a.cs.

The above lift confifts chiefly of fich Indians as the French were connected with in Canada and Louifiana. Wherever we knew the names by which the diffeten nations are diffingaifhed, by the Englifh, we have inferted them. But the orthography is yet very unfetted, and the feverat mations marked with an *afterifm are unknown to us, and therefore they are left as they ftand'in the original liff.

So large a number of fighting men may fartle us at firff fight; but the account feems no where exaggeratéd, excepting oflly that the Catawba dation nation is now almoft extinct. In fome nations which we are acquainted with, the account falls even fhort of their numbers; and fome others do not appear to be mentioned at all, or at leaft not by any name known to us.

APPENDIXV.

Such, for inftance, are the Lower Creeks, of whom we have a lift according to their towns. In this lift their warriors or gunfmen are 1180 , and their inhabitants about 6000 . Thus a comparative judgment may be formed of the nations abovementioned ; the number of whofe inhabitants will (in this proportion to their warriors, viz. 5 to 1) be about 283,000.
$\mathbf{F} \quad \mathbf{I} \quad \mathbf{N} \quad \mathbf{I}$.

[^0]:    * Labienus, Afraniufque:cum omni equitatu, levique armatura; ex infidiis adorti agmini Cæfaris extremo fe offerumt, atque ex collibus primis exfítunt. Prime impetu legionum equitatus, levis armatura hofium nullo negotio loca pulfa et dejecta eft de colle. Quum jam Caftar exiftimaffet höftes pullos deterritolque finem laceffendi facturos, et iter cœptuin pergere' copiffet; iterum celeniter ex proximis collibus elumpunt; atque in Cæfaris legionatios impetum faciunt Numida;, levifque armature, mirabili velocitate prediti; qui inter equites; pugnabant, et una pariterque cumb equitibus accurrere et rdfugete confueverant. Hoc frpius: facerent, :&c-Cæfaris antem non amplios tres, aut quatuor milites veterani, fi fe convertiffent, ei pila viribus contorta in Nuqnidas infeftos conjeciffent, amplius; duorum millium numero ad unum terga vertebant; ac rurfus ad aciem paffim,

[^1]:    "fudibus inter fe in modum juftre pugna concur"rerent, prapilatilque mifilibus jaculati funt. * Quarto die quies data. Quinto iterum in armis "decurfum eft."-Quibus porro modis obviam eatur elephantis. Veget. lib. III: cap. 24.

