PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

"Are You a Mason?"—Grand.
In spite of the sultry weather, the Grand Lodge, which opened its doors last night, was a success. The Grand Master, Wm. H. McLeod, in his address, said that the lodge

"Two Orphans"—Majestic.
When a play can go on year after year and be successful, after playing towns where it has been seen a dozen times, it deserves to be called classic. Such a play is "The Two Orphans," which is being played at the Majestic. There is a fascination about the adventures of Henriette and Louise, the unfortunate waifs, that makes the piece always worth seeing. The play is being played at Minstrels at Shea's.

With the darkening of the theatre and the departure of the "professors" from Shea's, the minstrels mounted the stage last night. The performance, a revival of the old-time black-face minstrel show, proved a success.
The program was a long and varied one.
There were songs, dances, and a variety of other acts. The minstrels were well received by the audience.

A Big Show This Week.
The show at Minors Park last night was a little late in starting, owing to some trouble with the lights. But it was without doubt a splendid success.
It ran as follows: The marvellous Merrell, the funny boy, the Succent, the beautiful girl, the Koppes, the funny and clever juggler, Handy and Wilson, the cleverest clown ever seen in Toronto; the Burke-McClellan family, the Cann family, the sketches from East Lynne; The Olympic Club,
the children are marvellously clever and the variety of the Mittells, the air-punching comedy troupe, and the beautiful and delicious moving pictures of the life of Napoleon the Great.
The show of such merit as delicious and will surely draw thousands every night this week, as well as the matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, about seven miles from here, when Mr. Harrison, foreman in the en-driving a motor car for a short trip on the road. While running at a high rate of speed they sighted a work train coming. The two men jumped out, but Mr. Harrison, who was in charge of the car, remained at his post. A collision resulted. Mr. Harrison was run over, and it is expected he will lose one arm and a leg. His recovery is doubtful.

Street Railway Gets a Bylaw—Death
Removes Two Well-Known Ladies.

Hamilton, June 6.—(Special.)—After an illness of many months Mrs. Mac-Leod, wife of Ald. J. P. MacLeod, died to-night. The end had been expected for several days. She was 48 years of age and leaves a family of one son and four daughters. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Louisa L. Cahill, widow of the late Police Magistrate Cahill, died tonight in her 83rd year. She had been a prominent member of Christ Church Cathedral for many years. She is survived by three sons and four daughters. They are: William, San-Francisco; Allan R. New York, and E. D. Cahill, of the firm of Spencer, Chicago; Miss Annie D. and Miss Sarah, Hamilton and Miss Pauline, Montreal.
The funeral of Mrs. Cahill will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Westworth Historical Society.
These officers were chosen by the Westworth Historical Society this evening: Charles Lemon, president; H. H. Robertson, J. H. Langmuir and J. R. Holden, vice-presidents; Jus-tus Griffin, secretary-treasurer; Mrs.
Feasenden, corresponding secretary.

Frank Quinn, the new member of the board of health, took his seat for the first time this evening. The Hamilton Street Railway Co. asked the board to pass an anti-spitting by-law, to be framed and hung in the cars.
The request was granted. The by-law of Princess-street, east of Sherman-avenue, want a sewer, and are willing to pay for it. Under those circumstances the board decided to recommend the sewers committee to lay one.

Separate School Board.
At the meeting of the separate school board this evening Frank Quinn was proposed as a representative of the board on the Hamilton School Board. After some discussion the matter was laid over for a month.

NEW COMMERCIAL COURSE.
For Technical School, Decided by Management Committee Last Night

At a special meeting of the management committee of the board of education last night, the report in connection with the proposed separate school program was adopted, and the changes will be recommended.

The report, a lengthy one, was discussed clause by clause, and makes some radical changes in the Technical School program.
Chief among them is the introduction of a new course, which will be for one year, and the Technical should really be the commercial center.

In order to preserve uniformity, the first year of the course will be free, as in the past, and the second year will be $7, and the third $28.
The report also contains a proposal to levy a registration fee on all students entering the institution to stop a recent practice among some students of dropping out after attending one or two classes. A fee of $1 or $2, it is thought, will guarantee sincerity.

BROWNED IN A POND.
Ottawa, June 6.—A sixteen-month-old child of Thomas Langton of Wakefield fell into a pond yesterday and was drowned before help arrived.

Upset by Runaway Launch.
Chatham, June 6.—(Special.)—What, but for a young man's bravery and presence of mind, would have proved a fatal drowning accident, occurred Sunday evening down the river near the city limit. Miss and Mr. Langton, of Chatham, and Miss Belle Barker, also of the city, were out boating when they were run by a runaway gasoline launch and precipitated into the water.
The lady had risen to the surface for the second time when Johnson grasped her around the neck with one arm and clung to the overturned boat with the other for dear life. When the two were picked up by the launch some minutes afterwards, they were almost faintly beyond further endurance.
Beyond being unharmed by their thrilling experience, neither suffered seriously.

AN ANNIVERSARY YEAR.

Yesterday was the thirtieth anniversary of the death of Sir John A. Macdonald, and it is worthy of note that this is quite an anniversary year for the Conservative party. It is sixty years since Sir John A. Macdonald entered the old parliament of Canada; it is fifty years since he entered the MacNab-Morin government, and thus began that period of power which lasted with some interruptions until his death; and it is twenty-five years since the introduction of the first national policy budget.

The election of 1884, in which Macdonald entered public life, was a memorable contest, in which Governor Metcalfe was the real leader of the forces opposed to Lafontaine and Baldwin and the Reformers. The issue was responsible government; the passions aroused by the rebellion were still smoldering, and there was much violence not only in language but in deed. The government won, but it was only a temporary reprieve for a principle that was bound to win. Macdonald soon accepted the inevitable, and went speaking of his appointment as Attorney-General West in the MacNab-Morin ministry, says: "Since his entry into parliament ten years before, he had outgrown many of the party traditions of those times, and his mind had been a considerable transformation in the direction of Liberalism. Here, he perceived, was an opportunity for remodeling the Conservative party upon such a basis as might not improbably restore a large measure of their ancient prestige, and secure them in power for years to come. Some of the old party lines might be abandoned, and a policy more in accordance with modern ideas must be adopted."

It has been contended that the world coalition was misapplied to the MacNab-Morin government, and there can be no doubt that it became more and more a strictly party government. Yet it did represent a real transformation, it was a halfway house between the old-line Tories, whose natural leader was MacNab, and the more radical Reformers, who eventually found their leader in Brown. Hence, while it was joined and probably planned by Macdonald, it received the benediction of Baldwin and of a class of electors known as Baldwin Reformers, who for years after were cursed as reactionaries or jingoists, but who were converted, according to the party point of view.

For the next thirteen years Macdonald and Brown were the leading figures in the history of the old union—a period marked by a peculiar combination of small politics and big men. Twelve years more carry us to the great achievement of Confederation, the downfall of Sir John Macdonald and the Conservative party in 1873, and the revival of 1878. This revival, like that of 1854, was due to the acceptance of new conditions and new ideas. The Conservative party can no more live on the national platform than the Liberal party can live on the provincial government.

Not in vain the distance between, forward, forward, let us march. Let the great world spin forever down the ringing grooves of change.

The question of the day is the public ownership of public utilities, and the regulation of those that are still under private ownership; and the Conservative party, if it wants another revival, must take the lead in that great movement.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP AND POLITICS.

The increasing strength of public opinion in favor of public ownership and strict regulation of franchise-owning corporations, is giving some of our contemporaries a good deal of trouble. Naturally, they may utter the cry of "the old party," but it is a cry for criticism of all kinds, and its attitude is variously described. The Ottawa Free Press says that we are dragging the leader of the opposition along the broad road to socialism and general chaos. The Citizen complains that The World is not giving Mr. Borden due credit for his deliverance; that after advocating public ownership with annoying persistence, when nothing could be done, it is now discouraging the true, the cautious, friends of public ownership (like The Citizen). The Windsor Record, on the contrary, thinks that the World is too sanguine in supposing that Mr. Borden is a convert to its views.

The Toronto World is still hugging the illusion that Mr. Borden is out for government ownership of railways. Mr. Borden said: "The country had to pay nine-tenths of the cost of constructing the G. T. P. It might be better to go the whole hog and own the road. But the country is not doing anything of the kind, and the columns published by The World on public ownership do not apply. Up to the present what Mr. Borden has said about government ownership applies to the railway, not to the G. T. P. When he comes out on the broad lines of government ownership of all railways, then The World may fairly claim that it has brought the leader of its party to its own way of looking at this question."

The Hamilton Spectator agrees that Mr. Borden has not come out on "the broad lines of government ownership of all the railways," and commends his moderation in not doing so, and The Citizen takes similar ground. To all of which we reply that The World is in favor of public ownership of railways, telegraphs and telephones; and of the maximum of public regulation and control until public ownership is accomplished. Whoever is on that side is on our side. We may mistake the point of view of some particular newspaper or public man; but the issue is surely clear enough.

PROF. CAMPBELL'S HERESY.

It is generally believed that the history which culminated in the resignation of Professor John Campbell of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, began with an address delivered by Prof. Campbell at Queen's University, Kingston, entitled "The Perfect Book and the Perfect Father."

The Presbytery of Montreal declared that this address was heretical, and that a temporary compromise was found, it is altogether likely that the feelings aroused by the address have led to the present difficulty.

The general idea of Prof. Campbell's address was that the Old Testament contained views of God that were not only erroneous, but dishonoring. They were such views as might naturally be expected in the childhood of the world. "The prevailing old Testament notion concerning God was that of an oriental monarch, subject to no law, ruling absolutely, sitting down upon the circle of the earth and looking down upon its grasshoppers beneath. A warrior king, he goes forth to fight for Israel against the rest of his children. A judge, he sits upon his throne, and the malefactors tremble before him. Yes, and even the saints and holy angels, by hyperbole. An avenger, he takes the little ones of Babylon; and dashes them against the stones."

He declared, also, that there ran thru the minds of most of the Old Testament writers a dual idea of the ruler of the universe, in which the powers of good and evil were merged. It was a "child-world." The child-world had a Father, and it had a "goblin." The child-world was in the interval between the darkness and the dawn, when things are indistinct and men walk as shadows. Sometimes they knew the Father, and loved him as they only could; but at other times they took the goblin for the Father, or the Father for the goblin, and were sore afraid and terribly perplexed.

Prof. Campbell went on to say that this conception was entirely changed in the New Testament. Christ came to clear away the doubts and fears of the child-world, of the twilight of thought. In the New Testament God was no longer an emperor, judge, warrior, nor avenger. As revealed in Christ, he came among his disciples as one that served. He came, not to minister unto, but to minister. Instead of a being of infinite felicity, wielding absolute power, he was afflicted in all his people's afflictions, a sorrowing, suffering God, bowed down with the load of the world's sin and misery. The professor's views may be regarded as summed up in this passage:

The canonical Scriptures are the pieces of a puzzle, containing actual revelations of God, culminating in that of the Lord Jesus Christ. In the Old Testament, the Father is God, and the supreme rule of faith and morals. "Nevertheless, the original paganism, metal plates or clay tablets of Moses. It is of infinitely more importance to believe in an infallible God than in an infallible book. The latter is vulgar idolatry, the worship and service of the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed forever. Amen."

One of Professor Campbell's accusers at the assembly in Bradford in 1893 said that he had been guilty of the same heresy as Dr. Briggs of New York, the central figure of a great church trial. What strikes one about this case is that there has been no trial. What are the real opinions of Presbyterian ministers in regard to the views of Professor Campbell, and all the other questions involved in what is called "the higher criticism"? Is it true that Prof. Campbell differs from many of his brethren only in the fact that he has openly avowed his opinions? Sooner or later, this question will come up in a form, in which full discussion and decision cannot be avoided. At present it seems as if Prof. Campbell has been condemned without a hearing.

ADVANCE CANADA.

One hears much these days about Canadian expansion and the building up of the Dominion. Not alone in the sphere of business, but in the growth of the nation, but is shown also in the legion of little things that follow the van of progress, and particularly matters that add to the comfort and luxury of those who can afford to take life more easily than our forefathers did. Recreation has become so imperative a demand of democracy, of aristocracy and mediocrity alike, that it has created a host of business whose raison d'être is to cater to the pleasure-loving public. Pleasure travel has been on the increase among Canadians for years, and with the facilities now offered by the great railroads and steamship lines, there is but little excuse for the untravelled inhabitant of the empire, remaining ignorant of the things outside of the world or outside his little circle of environment. Some one must handle this travel, and the organization that lays itself out to serve the interests of the Canadian tourist must be no mere business venture, for the conditions are such as to demand exceptional resource, both financial and executive. The Melville Tourist Limited, is such an organization, and combines experience of steamship and railroad business, with the financial responsibility of well-known Toronto citizens; added to this is the endorsement and support of influential men of the mother country, the Canadian centres and Australian and other communities, and nothing is lacking in the personnel of the directorate. The Melville Tours, Ltd., will organize, conduct and arrange high class collective and independent tours, and carry on a general travel business. The registered offices are at 40 Toronto-street, and the capital stock, all of which is taken up by the incorporators, is $100,000. His Honor Judge Monson is president, C. W. Melville, R.N.R., managing director. The company bids fair to become a very prosperous concern.

Electric Motor Goes 75 Miles an Hour.

This is the Electric Motor, the New York Central is going to use on its trains, and the New York, New Haven &amp; Hartford Road will have a similar type on the proposed electric road from Boston to New York. The motor will pull the average train seventy-five miles an hour.

Passenger trains between Boston and New York, over the tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, rushing across the country at a rate of seventy-five miles an hour, and drawn by massive electric locomotives, are scheduled by the officers of the company to begin running at no distant date. The energies of the heads of the operating department of the road are now being directed to a consummation of these gigantic plans. Trains will be run day and night. They will be luxuriously appointed. Sleeping cars of the latest pattern will be used at night, and parlor cars in the daytime. Fares will be reduced, also.

Owns Big Electric System.

Officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford were among the first to see the country to realize the effect that the trolley lines would have on the steam railroad business, and began to lay their plans accordingly. The New Haven is now the owner of a big system of electric roads in Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York, and is planning the absorption of more roads into this system, the position of the company has been strengthened. Recently alarmed by the activity of the rich Elkins-Widener Syndicate of Philadelphia, which already is the owner of a rival system of electrical lines in New England, and which has announced its intention of paralleling the tracks of the New Haven from Boston to New York, the New Haven has left nothing undone to checkmate the plans of the Philadelphia magnates.

The purchase of the Park-square Station for a price well up in the millions is only another indication of the activity of the "Consolidated" officers. Ever since the acquisition of this property, rumors have been current that it would be used as a terminal for the New Boston-New York electric line. Officers of the road have guardedly intimated that these rumors are correct, and that by the time the new road is ready to be put into operation, the station will be ready to receive them.

Plans of the new high-speed electric locomotives which will haul these passenger trains have already been prepared. They will be of the latest type, closely the lines of the engines that are now being built for the New York Central. The shops of the General Electric Company and the American Locomotive Company at Schenectady, the new locomotives of the New York Central will draw trains to and from the Grand Central Station in New York. Thru trains will be hauled by electricity to Croton, thirty-four miles out on the Hudson division, and to North White Plains, twenty-four miles out on the Harlem division. Suburban trains running within these two points will be equipped with a separate electrical service.

The present large Atlantic type of steam locomotives, which haul the Twentieth Century Limited and the Empire State Express, have an indicated horsepower of 1500 when running at a speed of 60 miles an hour. The new electric locomotive will develop 2200 horsepower at normal rating and 2500 at maximum.

Seventy-five miles an hour is the rate at which the electric locomotives will haul passenger trains, according to the official announcement. The significance of the Central's project and that of the New Haven, according to a railroad official, lies in the fact that it points out clearly that electrical power soon will supersede steam, and that trains will run from New York to Chicago at 80 miles an hour, or from New York to San Francisco at 90 miles an hour.

FITZPATRICK'S BILL.

Ottawa, June 6.—(Special.)—Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill to amend the Railway Act today. The object of the bill is to remove uncertainty as to the authority over railways operated partly in Canada and partly in the United States. It gives the railway commission authority over transportation companies operating on the lakes under the auspices of railway companies, and it makes provision regarding the nationality of directors of subsidized railways.

Boston Adopts Music Cure.

Boston, Mass., June 6.—The "music cure" has been taken up by Boston society, and its devotees are said to be numbered by hundreds. Its advocates assert that music has an extraordinary power to cure many ills, especially those of a nervous origin, and one case is vouched for, in which an aggravated attack of neuralgia of three weeks' standing was cured in half an hour by the playing of music in a minor key on a piano. No particular instrument is named, but the mother country, it is asserted, has a violinist, to play in the woman's hospital, and remarkable results followed. Since then the experiment has been repeated with equally good results.

AVERAGE IMMIGRANT NOT

FILLED WITH SPIRIT OF "GO."

Says Secretary Merrick, Discussing Glasgow Complaints.

There were some more complaining Scotch immigrants at the Union Station yesterday. They belonged to a party numbering 320 which arrived on Sunday. The detachment from Glasgow numbered over a hundred and yesterday morning they were free in condemning a country and city where they had not been able to get work instantly. They had been guaranteed employment within three days of their arrival by Graeme Hunter, who is not a stranger in Toronto. This promise, they claimed, was not fulfilled, hence, sundry allegations of fraud. The men each carried a "contract," which does not seem to imply so much a guarantee from Hunter as it does one from the immigrant himself. It reads, as a sample: "I, a competent mason, hereby agree to proceed to Toronto, paying my fare on the following terms: "I herewith tender you three certificates of character from former employers, the respectable lines, the wage rate to be not less than 45 cents per hour, 44 hours per week, and the employment to be continuous to the 31st of November."

"I further stipulate that there is no dispute in my trade in the situation paid to me, and that I am to be employed on the 15th of this month. I agree to obey all reasonable rules as to conduct while under your or your representative's charge in traveling."

(Signed) Graeme Hunter, 511 Gougeon-street, Glasgow. The men said they were told they need not bring money with them, and there is much speculation as to whether the men are to be paid for their travel. They are not, but they are to be paid for their travel. They are not, but they are to be paid for their travel. They are not, but they are to be paid for their travel.

SAMUEL MAY RUN SHOW

MAY FORECLOSE ON FAIR

If Monthly Payments Are Not Made on Big Loan Government May Step In.

Washington, June 6.—The treasury department is showing some uneasiness over the apparent lack of interest in the St. Louis Exposition, and there is a serious fear that the government may have to step in and run the show until it gets back the $4,600,000 which was loaned to the exposition.

So serious is this apprehension that Secretary Shaw has telegraphed Governor Francis, president of the exposition management, calling his attention to the absence of any stirring stories in the newspapers about the wonderful things to be seen at the fair. Secretary Shaw expressed the wish that something be done to arouse interest in the fair, and there was a suggestion in his despatch that the booming of the exposition was not being done with sufficient zeal to attract visitors.

The sending of the telegram was the result of a talk by Secretary Shaw with several of the treasury officials the other day as to the payment to be made by the exposition management on June 15 on the loan made by the government. Congress provided that the exposition company should report to the secretary of the treasury on June 15 a detailed account of the gross receipts for the two weeks preceding and should then pay over to the government 40 per cent. of such receipts to be applied to the payment of the loan. Another 40 per cent. is to be paid on the 15th of this month, and the balance of the loan is to be paid on the 15th of the next month.

Secretary Shaw paid over the money to the exposition company a first mortgage was obtained on the entire lot, and there is much speculation as to whether the men are to be paid for their travel. They are not, but they are to be paid for their travel. They are not, but they are to be paid for their travel. They are not, but they are to be paid for their travel.

SIR WILLIAM EXPLAINS.

Ottawa, June 6.—(Special.)—In the house to-day, Sir William Mulock made a lengthy explanation of the situation at Sydney, C. B., and the part played by the government in seeking to effect an amicable settlement between the Dominion Iron and Steel Company and its men. He pointed out that neither of the parties to the dispute had asked for government intervention. The request was made by the Sydney Board of Trade. The department of labor had signified its willingness to give any assistance in its power, and had made overtures along these lines, without any result. Sir William read from a letter received from the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, emphasizing the fact that the price of iron had dropped steadily, and that many works had closed down or reduced wages.

FIXING LAKE SHORE ROAD

More Piling is to Be Done—Electric Railway Must Pay its Due Share.

Street Commissioner Jones will begin this week to repair the Lake Shore-road, starting at the railway tracks. He will lay six inches of crushed stone and have the city rollers go over it. About midway between the tracks and the bridge the way was washed up over the road, and the commissioner reports that with another big south-easterly storm the water will go clean over the road, where the planing is being done.

The county drove piling some time ago at the outer edge of the road, but the timbers were placed too far apart, and the water washed them between them. Jones now recommends that additional piling be driven to fill up the interstices and plank laid on the inside, and then the road bed be filled up with crushed stone.

In case council does not approve of this plan by the time Mr. Jones' work is completed, he will commence at once to bridge and repair the road, until he reaches the wash-out section.

The expenditure on this work will be taken from the $700 appropriated by the board of control, and will be charged up against the Toronto & Mimico Railway. The county has initiated an action to recover damages from the city for not maintaining the road in proper condition, but the city attorney stated that the writ would be withdrawn if the work was done.

The city will have ample recourse against the railway company, according to the civil law department, which it obtained its franchise in 1883, when it was agreed that as soon as the company discontinues the collection of tolls upon the road, it shall keep it in such good and proper state of repair as shall meet with the approval of the engineer, provided the road be not kept in repair, to the detriment of the public, and the city shall be entitled to enter upon and have the same repaired at the expense of the railway company.

This agreement was made with the County of York, it was afterwards agreed that the city should be allowed to use the road for the City of Toronto, and he is now directing the repairs.

That Ben Greer's pastoral plays made a very great impression upon the minds of the students, when the sale of seats opened at Northcliffe, there was a very large line of people waiting for the opening of the sale at 9 o'clock, and it continued as long as the day.

At the performance, the seats have come with such a rush that there is no doubt of a successful sale for each performance by the time the play takes place. In the event of rain the performance will be given in the university gymnasium.

PREMIER BUYS PROPERTY.

Has Invested in Port William Land Affording Dock Facilities.

Port William, June 6.—The Times-Journal says: Hon. George W. Ross is largely interested in Port William real estate, having acquired an interest in the valuable property on Island No. 11, with Dr. Hamilton, which used to be known as the McLaurin farm, and has since been christened Brooklyn. It has been known for some time that Hon. Mr. Ross was looking this way, and when the fact of his having actually invested became known, the most natural supposition was that he had acted in concert with Dr. W. H. Hamilton, who has been for many years a close personal friend of the premier, and before long the rumor took tangible form, and was regarded as having more than a mere substratum of truth.

The land is a valuable asset, and will undoubtedly afford as good dock facilities as any of the river frontage.

CATS CAN DO IT.

London, June 6.—A New Zealand correspondent of "Country Life" has written to that journal with a suggestion for exterminating rats, which is none the less to the point because it is obvious.

"The remedy," he writes, "is always to hand in the shape of rat-killing cats. Some years ago my place in the bush was swarming with rats and useless cats together. So I destroyed the latter entirely, and then selected a kitten from a homestead where no rats existed, as being the surest sign of good raters."

"Soon the kitten became very industrious in killing, first the very young rats and then the larger ones, until all were completely exterminated."

"Cats should be strictly bred for their utility as well as their beauty."

NEEDS A SOLOMON.

London, June 6.—The incident which led to Solomon's judgment has just been repeated in Southern India. But the judgment has yet to be delivered.

Two native women of the shepherd caste dwelt together in a hut near Bangalore. Each gave birth to a son about two months ago. At the end of six months one child died. Each of the two women claimed the living child as her own. No King Solomon being at hand, they endeavored to decide the question by combat. A fight, tooth and nail, between the mothers ensued, with the result that the police were called in. The police have now to discover evidence to establish who is the real mother. The matter will then be brought before a British magistrate, who may or may not prove himself a Solomon.

KING EDWARD'S TACT.

London, June 6.—A large audience which gathered at a concert given at the Crystal Palace yesterday evening were saved from disappointment owing to the thoughtfulness of the King.

The band of the Coldstream Guards, which had been engaged to play at the concert, received a royal command to play at Windsor yesterday, and it was thought that in consequence they would have to cancel the Crystal Palace engagement.

The matter came to his majesty's knowledge, however, with the result that by his command a telegram was sent to the bandmaster ordering the band to catch a special train from Windsor to Waterloo, and to proceed direct to the palace in order to reach it in time for the concert.

CHAMBERLAIN AGAIN EXPLAINS.

London, June 6.—Mr. Chamberlain, writing to a correspondent, states: "I have never suggested any tax on raw materials. As regards food, I have pointed out that I think it to be necessary to put in a tariff on certain articles of food in order to be able to give a preference to the colonies and to secure concessions from them in return."

"It is not my intention to increase in any way the cost of living, and the reductions which could be made (my policy is accepted) on tea and sugar will amply compensate for any possible advance in the price of other articles of food."

Man of Quality.

Ridgeway, June 6.—The mystery surrounding a young Scotchman, Cameron Macdonald, who has worked for the past year with W. R. Macdonald, a farmer in this district, has been cleared up by a letter received a couple of days ago from Scotland. About a year ago the young man came to Ridgeway and went to work with Mr. Macdonald. In April last he left, saying that he was to come into a large estate in Inverness, and that he had a title. The letter which came to Mr. Macdonald was from a relative of the young man and told him that Cameron Macdonald, otherwise Sir William Frederick Cameron, had taken ill on board ship and died on May 2.

GETTING PEOPLE INTERESTED

PART OF CIRCUS BUSINESS

Those Who Go to the Show Little

Think of Care Taken to Coax

Them Under Canvas.

Did you ever think that the act of billing a circus is an art, or, more correctly speaking, a science? It is. The doubter has only to watch the advance squads of a circus at work and he will appreciate the wonder that underlies the big circus poster. When Shakespeare was busy writing his plays no one dreamed of such elaborate advertising. A company of players scarcely equal in numbers to the press agent brigade of the modern tent show trailed slowly into the town. Then the news spread from mouth to mouth that a company of actors were "doing stunts" on the village green. This was the sum of their advertising. Later, they announced on a modest sheet that they would appear in the town on a certain date. It was only a natural process that gave us our modern elaborate circus posters.

But no one to-day will deny that it is necessary. From the time that the circus manager first decides to show in a town until the eventful day when the grand pageant appears on the streets the important features of the circus are allowed to steadily grow like the citizens' lives. The young sters gaze at the lithographs, and each one identifies the nickel in his pocket with the big show.

The first man to come was the general agent, the man who looked over the ground, judged the financial possibilities of the town, proceeded to sow the first seeds of the circus fever. Then came the contracting agent, who arranged for the license, engaged the grounds, attended to the transportation and carried out a foothold for the big organization when it came to the town. To this time, the show is scarcely more than a little cloud on the horizon. It will be nine or ten weeks before it comes around. He is favored by the press agents, men with energetic pens and vivid imaginations, who incite the press with the coming circus (at so much per line). A day's hard work, and these busy scribbles pass on their way. By this time the advent of the show is becoming known, but it is not until car No. 1, the banner brigade, arrives, that a concrete idea begins to form in the popular mind. These men, and there are 22 of them, traveling in a gorgeous car, put up cloth banners on the buildings. The banners are necessarily of cloth, for the banner brigade are six weeks ahead of the show, and paper would not last until the arrival of the circus.

Two weeks later comes car No. 2, with a car manager, a private secretary, a boss billposter, a program and twenty billers. When they arrive they are met by the local billposters, who have been contracted with by the contracting agent. Each of the posters goes out with a stack of paper and a barrel of paste, and his guide drives him around the town. All the country within a radius of twenty-five miles is billed, and with the glorious lithos on their appointed bills, car No. 2 passes on.

Getting People Interested. Not, however, before the program has reached out great piles of handbills. These are of two kinds—couplets and ten-pieces. The first is a program of the show, and the second is an illustrated booklet, containing information concerning the performers and readable items about the undernosed side of the circus. These are given out to boys, who distribute them wherever there is a crowd—at the ball games or in the parks.

Two weeks later, and two weeks before the show comes car No. 3, with a complement of 30 men. Their duty it is to look over the paper and see that it is in proper condition. Where it is not they renew the posters and pass on.

Then come the box brigade with the tickets. They make all seating arrangements, put tickets on the ground and after the procession the advertising is over.

An "Opposition" Brigade. Quite frequently the general agent finds that the show plays badly before his. To meet this contingency he has another lot of men, called the "opposition" brigade. These are men and only go to towns where there will be no opposition. They procure extra space and put up a fight against the show, thus counting private secretaries and assistants to the various managers, it takes nearly 100 men, all experts in their business, to properly bill a circus. Things are so arranged that each brigade stays in town for the same length of time that the show is booked to stay. In this way the intervals between the gangs are always the same.

There was a circus in Toronto, Saturday, busy advertising the Forepaugh-Sells aggregation. One of the men was discussing his business in the afternoon while he was making a barrel of paste.

"It's hard work," he said, "but there is a lot of variety. As often as we work at night and sleep when we get the chance. We never see the show except from the posters; we are no more circus people than anyone else. Yes, it's hard work, but what's the odds so long as you're happy. Brim, what's the matter with that horse?"

MOROCCO SITUATION.

Madrid, June 6.—The newspapers are anxiously discussing the Morocco question. The Epoca thinks that the precipitation in sending a fleet to the Morocco coast gives force to the report that the United States has asked the Sultan of Morocco for a port on the west coast. The La Correspondencia de Espana gives a rumor that an exchange of notes is taking place among the European chancelleries with a view to obtaining an assurance that American action will be confined strictly to measures for securing the liberation of the captives.

Sold to a Minor.

Woodstock, June 6.—In the police court yesterday morning Wm. Lightheart of Beachville was charged with supplying intoxicating liquor to a minor. The complainant was Wm. Cowie, proprietor of the Beachville Hotel, while the minor was William West, son of Thos. West of Oxford. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and Magistrate Ball imposed a fine of $10 and costs, amounting in all to $12.50. This sum was paid.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Edward Newbury took place on Monday afternoon from his late residence, 6 Blong Avenue, to Norway Cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Heathcote read the English Church service at the house, and his committal service was read by Rev. Palmer Reed, Chaplain John Nunn of the Army and Navy Veterans gave an address at the graveside.

THE LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS.

"The circus of to-day is not like the circus of thirty years ago. As I know it," said the old-timer last night, "When I was a boy we had the 'real' article, I can tell you. The steam piano of to-day is not a circumstance to the producer of lovely music of even fifteen years ago, say about the time that Barnum & Bailey's show exhibited at Oshawa, where Jumbo was the big feature. That show had the best steam piano, I guess, the world will ever see. You could make out the notes it was swelling a mile away, but the one with this circus you couldn't hear 100 yards to windward."

"Then take the matter of pink lemonade. The tasteless stuff they sell nowadays makes a man fairly sick for the good old days when you could get the ambrosia of the gods for a nickel. Those great big glasses filled to the brim with real lemonade, in which was a straw, will never see the light of a circus day again. You could put the whole managerie of the present day show under one of the ten tents that used to hold animals when Barnum was alive. Of course you have pickpockets to-day, but they are not rare animals, they are pesky."

"No, I did not get out to see the parade yesterday, nor did I go to the circus. I don't want to lose sight of the circus of long ago. It may be so, that the circus of to-day is away ahead of it, but the real circus for me now and always, is the circus I saw when I was a boy, and I would not cloud that vision for a million dollars, if I was offered them. That's why I am pessimistic to-day."

Sheriff Asks for Help.

Ottawa, June 6.—The sheriff of St. John's has asked for help to restrain villagers from interfering with the hanging of Theophilus Belanger on Friday, and a squad of Dominion police will go down and also a provincial squad. It is said owing to the disgraceful proceedings at the double hanging a year ago, the sheriff is refusing all applications for passes and villagers threaten to break down the gates, public sentiment in the locality strongly being against the hanging, although he was convicted of a grievous crime.

Stole Stonyville Horse.

Kinston, June 6.—Charles Wilds, an ex-convict, is under arrest for stealing a horse and buggy from Elijah Pennock of Stonyville, Ont. Wilds has a weakness for horse-stealing, as he had only recently been released from the penitentiary for a similar offence.

"I have no more

nervous headaches

and rest very well at night."

When a woman suffers from female weakness or irregularity or other forms of womanly disease, the effect is certain to be marked in her nervous system. The general effect being, as in Mrs. Woodin's case, "nervous headaches, restlessness at night" and a run-down condition. It is simply common sense then which says if you cure the female weakness, irregularity, etc., you will cure the nervousness, sleeplessness and other consequences of womanly disease.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It establishes regularity, dries encumbering humors, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, etc., by curing the womanly diseases which cause these ailments.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I feel more grateful to you for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription than I can express." writes Mrs. E. W. Woodin of Kinston, Ontario. "I was a sufferer from female weakness, nervous headache, irregularity, restlessness at night, and in fact was all run-down. After taking three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' I am entirely cured. I have no more nervous headaches, and rest very well at night; in fact feel like a different person; thanks to your kind advice and wonderful medicine. I earnestly advise all who suffer from any similar troubles to write to Dr. Pierce at once. They will not regret it."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.
