KOVEL IN DANGER OF CAPTURE BY RUSSIANS; FRENCH ARE ONLY A FEW MILES FROM PERRONE; JOFFRE HITS HAIN CHAMPAGNE DISTRICT

Pressure Continues Heavy Against Germans Both East and West

Kovel, Stanislaw, Baranovichi Coming Within The Range of Allies' Guns; British Make a Further Gain Towards Combles

London, July 10.—Four towns to the possession of which the Teutonic Allies have attached great importance, having made preparations to defend them on the largest scale—Stanislaw, Kovel and Baranovichi on the eastern front and Perrone in the west—are now coming within range of the guns of the Entente Allies and four great battles are expected.

Of the advance of the Allies, that of the Russians upon Kovel from the east is the most striking. At the beginning of the offensive the Russian attacks towards this town were directed along the railway from Rovno, and Austro-German reinforcements were brought up to meet this thrust.

Paris, July 10.—(Toronto Globe cable).—In a front line trench two young French officers of aristocratic descent quarrelled. In ordinary circumstances such a matter could have been adjusted only by a duel, but realizing that in war time their lives belonged to France the officers decided on a "duel" in which the enemy should be the one attacked.

BRITISH GUNS, LIMBER TO LIMBER, FROM SOMME TO SEA, IF NEEDED TO OUST GERMAN

On Saturday the Times published a London despatch quoting Frederick G. Kelloway, M.P., secretary to Dr. Christopher Addison, who, next to David Lloyd George, is the most important official in the ministry of munitions, as saying in parliament that "we are not yet at the full food of our output of guns and shells."

The despatch also contained the following, but arrived too late for use on Saturday: "If the Germans cannot be driven home otherwise," he said, "our army shall have such a supply of guns that the limbers shall touch each other in a continuous line from the Somme to the sea."

He added that ninety new arsenals had been provided, and that 4,000 controlled firms are producing munitions. The total number of munition workers in 1914, he said, was under two millions, and there are now three and a half millions. The labor problem, Mr. Kelloway asserted, has been to a large extent solved by the women. Before the war 184,000 women were engaged in war industries. There are now 666,000 so engaged.

ON THIS DAY TWENTY-THREE YEARS AGO FAIRVILLE FIRE SWEEP

Disastrous Conflagration Recalled; It Came But Few Months After Another Great Scorching; Pluck of People Well Displayed

Today is the anniversary of the second great fire which occurred on July 10, 1893, and was reckoned at that time as a real catastrophe, destroying, as did, many of the new line buildings erected after the first great fire just fourteen months before.

In looking back, it seems a long time since the first fire, but many Fairville people vividly recall that Sunday noon, May 1, 1892, when news quickly spread that the school house, then located in Station street, was ablaze. A high north to northwest wind was blowing almost a gale, and soon fanned shingles and cinders were blowing in all directions.

Fire fighting apparatus of course there was none, and the helpless people soon realized the folly of such a weak struggle as they could put up against the terrific fire demon, which, unrestrained swept on in ever increasing intensity.

POLICE COURT

James McMann was in the police court this morning on charge of assaulting City Constable George A. Shaw on December 15. The constable said that he went into the Imperial Oil Company to see two men there concerning a bill. As he entered the yard the defendant rolled a barrel against him. As he proceeded into the office the defendant took hold of him and forcibly ejected him. This was done twice. There was no reason that he knew for the man so acting. The prisoner was informed that he was liable to $80 for each assault on a constable, but as the case would not be pressed he would be fined $80 for ordinary assault, which this allowed to stand. E. S. Ritchie appeared for the defendant.

Fire Underwriters Support Proposal Made By Com. McLellan

The common council will be asked to vote, at their weekly meeting tomorrow on the expenditure of at least $16,000 for a motor driven ladder truck for the fire department. This announcement was made at a meeting of the council in committee at noon today by Commissioner McLellan in response to remarks made by a delegation representing the Board of Fire Underwriters. The underwriters had considered the need of better apparatus a fortnight ago and had decided to bring the matter to the attention of the council. The same matter was dealt with in a preliminary way by Commissioner McLellan at the last meeting of the committee and, as his proposals fully met their ideas, the insurance men appeared merely to support his programme. Mayor Hayes presided, and all the members of the council were present.

THE WAR NEWS.

The week begins with news of Allied success on all fronts. Progress is necessarily slow on the British and French front, because it is necessary to blast the enemy out of his very strongly entrenched positions. Nothing short of a severe bombardment of every foot of ground, practically destroying every obstacle in its path, can make it possible for the infantry to capture enemy positions.

Russia is still providing the sensation of the war news. Not only are her armies advancing but they are sweeping forward with a rapidity that has amazed Germany, and that threatens only disaster to more than one of the armies of the Central Powers.

On the Italian front the initiative is still with the Italians, and they continue their gradual progress in the face of great difficulties. Thus the deadly pressure is kept up on every side, and we are now to learn what Germany can do in defence.

There are growing rumors of internal troubles in Germany, caused by the food situation and the news of the Allied advance; while the dissatisfaction in Austria is even greater. In the past the Central Powers have been able by some brilliant action to restore a measure of confidence; but it is difficult to see how they can ever do so again.

No early collapse of Germany, however, need be expected. It is not so very long since Count Von Bulow declared that Germany must have an extension of territory after the war, and Count Reventlow declared that Germany must have a world policy, based upon an overwhelming military superiority, which will assure German industry outlets all over the world.

Despite the evidence, continually forthcoming, that peace is only conceivable by the Germans in terms of triumph, there are people in Great Britain and in Canada who believe that Germany, if given the opportunity, would be glad to admit defeat by foregoing her ambitions and reverting to her ante-war status.

MAHONEY MUST GO.

The Standard appears to think that because Hon. A. G. Blair did something some years ago, therefore the Clarke government is free to do anything it chooses to do. Mr. Blair, when attorney-general, was defeated in one county. He did not resign, but ran in another county and was elected a month later. Hon. P. G. Mahoney was defeated forty days ago and is not running in another county. He is remaining at the head of the greatest spending department without any mandate or the possibility of any mandate from the people.

LIGHTER VEIN.

A party of four, just returning from the theatre, called in at a fashionable restaurant. The prim old maid, who was the guest of the evening, was charmed with everything, especially the music.

But other duties claimed him for a time, and when he returned the lady had completely forgotten her request. When he bent toward her and softly whispered something in her ear she recoiled in horror.

Foggs (in London for the first time)—Hi! pollicema, I've just missed my wife. If she should come along will you ask her to wait here for me?

First Tommy (bringing in a prisoner of diminutive stature)—Look, Jack, ain't he a blooming doll?

Second Tommy (scornfully)—Lor' love us Bill! Where do you get that sample? Why, he'd have to stand on a stool to fall into a bucket of water.

ST. JOHN CUSTOMS RECEIPTS

During the twelve months ending April 1, 1915, the total receipts for the port of St. John were $1,670,937.65.

The largest receipts for any month during that year were $200,000.83. The Atlantic Sugar Refinery, which began doing business in February, 1915, has been responsible for approximately one-half of the increase in the revenue, but aside from that, there has been a tremendous advance in every department.

During the fall of 1915, business was at its best for the whole year. At the closing of the books, April 1, 1916, the records showed that the total revenue for the year had been $2,708,249, an increase of $1,028,285.35 over the year preceding. Since April 1, and up to July 1, the receipts have been $886,000.02, or almost a million dollars for a quarter of a year, with the busiest season still to come. This shows a gratifying advance of $291,668.15 for the same period last year and means a gain of $3,240.75 per day.

STERLING GUM

PRIZES AWARDED

Canadian Tells How He Won the $1,000 Prize—7th Point Not Definitely Announced, But May Be Later.

New York, July 10.—George Gill is now the highest paid writer in the world. For a six word sentence he has just received a crisp new $1,000 check. This is one outcome of the largest prize contest of its kind which has ever been conducted.

In all 7,777 prizes are being sent by the Sterling Gum Company to lucky winners whose suggestions rank highest as solutions to the famous 7th point mystery.

Up until the midnight of May 15th, the phrases came by thousands from all parts of the United States and Canada. On the morning of the 15th commenced the sifting of replies for possible winners a task which occupied many days.

The judges who made the awards were: John A. Steicher, editor of "Leslie's Weekly," Edgar Sisson, editor Cosmopolitan Magazine, John M. Siddall, editor of "The American Magazine," Frederick I. Collins, editor of "McClure's Magazine," and Robert H. Davis editor of "Munsey's Magazine."

In all over $14,000 suggestions were received for competition. Finally after a great deal of comparison and deliberation the judges awarded the first prize of $1,000 to George Gill of Toronto, Canada.

Mr. Gill is a paper ruler by trade and as he is also a bachelor his $1,000 check ought to make him rather popular with the ladies before the leap year reaches its end.

His phrase which won this handsome recognition is "The gum the sun brought out."

SERVICE IN MEMORY

OF CORP. J. W. MCINTYRE

HELD IN BROOKVILLE

If the best and brightest of our young men must lay down their lives to save Canada, it is the duty of those who remain at home to make Canada worth saving. This was the keynote of an eloquent address delivered by Rev. George N. Somers at a memorial service in honor of the late Corporal J. Walter McIntyre, which was held last evening in the Methodist church in Brookville. The little church was crowded to its utmost capacity and the service was one of the most impressive ever held within its walls.

The community, regardless of church affiliations, took advantage of the opportunity to pay a tribute to the memory of the young soldier.

After an eloquent tribute to the late Mr. McIntyre, who was a probationer for the Methodist ministry when he enlisted, Mr. Somers delivered a thoughtful sermon on the duty of those who cannot go to the front. He exhorted the forces of evil at home and, among other things, urged unrighteousness which must be stamped out if Canada is to be worth saving. He laid stress upon the evil of political corruption. Special music was furnished by a male quartette.

ON THIS DAY TWENTY-THREE YEARS AGO FAIRVILLE FIRE SWEPT (Continued from page 1.) Among the buildings lost were the Methodist church, then located on Main street, where J. Stout's furniture store now stands; the old Temperance Hall, on Mrs. Mary Ann Mitchell, widow of John H. Mitchell, died at her home in Lincoln on Friday. She was eighty-six years of age and is survived by two sons, George W. of Lincoln, with whom she resided, and C. Wesley, son of Lincoln, and one daughter, Miss Elizabeth, at home. One sister, Miss Hannah Lipscomb of Lincoln, also survives.

In Seattle, Washington, on July 1, Mrs. Martha B. Tomlinson, wife of James Tomlinson, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Saunders. She was formerly Miss Douglas, of Stanley, and was in her fifty-seventh year. Besides her husband and one son, Ernest, she leaves three brothers, Thomas and David, of Stanley, and William, of Kamloops, B. C., also four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Saunders, of Fredericton; Mrs. W. A. Pat- chell of New Westminster; Mrs. Elizabeth Saunders, of Seattle, and Mrs. James Malone, of Stanley.

Sussex, N. B., July 9.—Percy H. Warren, eldest son of George H. Warren, of the L. C. R. freight department, and Mrs. Warren, passed peacefully away at the home of his parents, Saturday afternoon after a brief illness. Deceased was 90 years of age, and leaves to mourn besides his parents, one sister, Miss Danie, of the Noble hospital staff in Westville (Mass.), and one brother, Lieutenant Harry D. now in France with the 21st Battalion.

Hardly had the ashes cooled when the merchants began rebuilding. Shacks were up in a week in some instances, advertising business as usual, and it is a fact worthy of note that from neither the first nor second fires was one single business failure recorded. Everybody agreed with a will to get things in shape again, and the community soon rebounded with the noise of buildings in the making, shacks gradually gave way to well constructed stores and dwellings, and by the following year a better and more comfortable surroundings. The Methodist held their meetings in Orange Hall, and the spirit of the whole population is so readily adapting themselves to temporary quarters was the source of wonder to many outsiders.

Then like a bolt from the blue came the second great fire, July 10th, 1888, which started in the hotel bar, and fanned by a stiff southerly breeze, reached out its devastating claws along Main street, then back to Crooked Hill and Station street, taking the C. P. R. Station house this time. Soon that whole district was a roaring inferno. In Main street the store of O. D. Hanson was partially burned and then torn down to stop the fire. All between that and the hotel corner was in ruins. This second disaster is reported to have destroyed twenty-five buildings, most of which were new, some not quite finished. This was even a more severe blow than the first fire, as properties were of a better class and had taken practically all available resources of the merchants and home owners to construct. No wonder the people were disheartened for a time; wonder, instead they had the grit to rebuild on, but the record shows they did that very thing. Temporary stores were again sought out and in due course substantial brick buildings, most of which were new, were erected on a comparatively short time.

As a result of the second burn-up, a voluntary fire department was formed, the city of St. John loaning a hand engine and that did effective work on many occasions. Finally a steam engine was purchased in Digby, stretches of hose were acquired and now the Fairville fire department is recognized as a well equipped corps ready for any emergency and with an enviable reputation for efficient service.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killisnoy, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have been sick for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage, which I was playing with my husband."

I had bearing down pains, my health failed me and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my household work. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am appreciative in my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. H. L. KLEINERT, Box 85, Killisnoy, Conn.

AFTER THE HUNS IN EAST AFRICA

A railway bridge destroyed by Germans who were retreating in front of the successful British forces in the conquered German East Africa, which is now pretty well cleared of the foe. It will be noticed that the Germans have done their work of destruction pretty thoroughly, but in spite of this the British engineers had trains running over it again within two weeks.

Czar's Minister Victim of Spies

Fate of Sukhomlinoff, to be Tried For Treason, Laid to Adventurers

London, June 15—(Correspondence)—General Sukhomlinoff, the Russian ex-Minister of War, who is awaiting trial for treason, is a man of unusual military gifts who has allowed himself to be influenced by people of the adventurer type to his eventual undoing. The Rusok Slovo tells of the circumstances which led up to his arrest. While at Kieff it is alleged General Sukhomlinoff was very friendly with Killakko Bogroff (the murderer of Stolypin) and Myasodoff (charged last year for betraying Russian plans to Germany), and all three frequented his salon. When Sukhomlinoff moved to Petrograd and took over the post of minister of war, he was followed by the majority of his Kieff satellites. Among them was Myasodoff. It is admitted that the Minister of War probably had no inkling of the true character of this double-crossed traitor. He appears to have reposed the greatest confidence in Myasodoff, and to have communicated to him not only all his private family news, but also many of the secrets of the department he was administering. On the other hand, according to this account, a very considerable share of the responsibility for Russia's unpreparedness for war rests upon Sukhomlinoff and on him alone. It is further laid to Sukhomlinoff's charge that without consulting any of his official coadjutors, he furnished and put into execution a faulty scheme of defence which involved the abandonment of the Polish fortresses. As soon as the war had begun the minister was deluged with appeals from the front for a more liberal supply of munitions. Such appeals are said to have reached him as early as August, 1914. Nevertheless, Sukhomlinoff obstinately refused to consider all the offers of war material which were made to him either by foreign firms or by industrial enterprises in Russia. He adopted the standpoint that the manufacture of munitions as work which could only be undertaken by government arsenals and replied to the petitions from the firing lines with the words: "Try to be economic; the military works cannot make more." Attempts were frequently made to enlighten the minister on the shady character of many of his associates, but he paid no heed whatever to these warnings. Indeed he singled out those who gave them as his particular enemies and treated them accordingly. Meanwhile, possibly without exciting the least suspicion on his part, his home had become a sort of "general staff of the enemy's spy organization." All the threads of German espionage in Russia, thus came together in the very residence of the Russian Minister of War. The conspirators, according to this account, made great use of Mme. Sukhomlinoff, a young and very attractive woman, who gladly accepted the obsequies of the frequenters of her salon. It is reported that ex-Ministers for Justice (M. Schlegeloff) and for the Interior (M. Maklakoff) are to be called as witnesses in the Sukhomlinoff affair.

BRITISH CABINET CHANGES

London, July 9—Following the appointment last week of David Lloyd George as secretary for war, official announcement was made today of several other changes in the government. Edwin Samuel Montagu, financial secretary to the treasury, takes Mr. Lloyd George's place as minister of munitions. Thomas McKinnon Wood, secretary of state for Scotland, becomes chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster and financial secretary to the treasury. Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary under-secretary for war, is made secretary of state for Scotland. "In view of the very heavy responsibilities of the treasury during the war," the under-secretary for the treasury, Mr. Asquith has invited McKinnon Wood to return to his former post of financial secretary. "Mr. Asquith has invited Lord Curzon to become a permanent member of the war committee." Edith—"You haven't seen my engagement ring, have you?" Marie—"I don't know. Who is the man?"

GERMAN PRISONERS AT VERDUN

The operations around Verdun bring a continual procession of German prisoners from the trenches in towards the town. It is a "ribbling off" process which tells in the long run.

Breaking Enemy In East and West

London, July 10—The British troops have made "steady progress in the face of stubborn opposition" in the neighborhood of Ovillers, on the Somme front, according to the official statement from general headquarters last night. The German counter attacks near the Bois de Tromes were repulsed.

Petrograd, July 9, via London, 7:50 p. m.—Important gains by the Russians are announced in the war office statement of today. In Southern Galicia the railway town of Delatyn has been captured. In the drive toward Kovel the Russians have taken two more villages. On the lower Stokhod the Austrians and Germans are retiring in great disorder.

London, July 9—German casualties from the beginning of the war to the end of June, as computed from official German lists are given as 3,012,637 in an official statement made public here today.

London, July 9—The eastern front continues to overshadow the western front from the spectacular viewpoint, the Russian forces going from success to success. Not only Gen. Letchitsky, in the south, where his army has now occupied the railroad junction at Delatyn, west of Kolo-mea, thus cutting off Gen. Von Rothemann from his supply base, but Gen. Brusiloff, in the north, is making surprising advances on both sides of the Kovel railway towards the Stokhod river. Tonight's Russian communication reports the enemy forces in this region retiring in great disorder, and adds that the Russians have occupied Huleviche, which is about 24 miles to the east of Kovel, while apparently the Russians are already across the Stokhod river, somewhere in the region of Janovka. German possession of Baranovitch and Kovel are absolutely essential, if she is to retain her hold over the invaded parts of Poland and Lithuania, but it is considered likely that it is only a matter of a few days before the Russians will be in possession of Kovel, which would compel Von Linsingen's retirement from the Letsk salient. German official and unofficial dispatches reflect anxiety over the Russian advance as being greater than even the Anglo-French offensive, which the German military critics contend will not interfere with the operations against Verdun. Major Mikart and other German critics express surprise at the extent and persistence of the Russian offensive, and the "sensible" responses of ammunition.

It is reported from Rome that at a recent council of German and Austrian marshals Von Hindenburg declared that it would be impossible to attempt a new offensive on a large scale without reinforcements of at least a quarter of a million men. The news of today shows little change in the relative positions on the western front except for a brilliant French gain east of Picourt when German trenches on a three-mile front were carried to a depth of from one to two miles. Berlin admits the loss of Hardecourt. The Roumanian government, according to a Berne despatch has declined an invitation from the German and Austrian governments to participate in a conference of the Danube powers. London, July 8—French troops to the number of 4000 have disembarked at Petra Bay, Mytilene, according to dispatches to the Daily Mail from Athens.

A CHANGE OF PLAN IN CARNEGIE TEACHER PENSIONS

(Bangor Commercial) There is to be instituted by the Carnegie Foundation a change of policy regarding teachers' pensions. The management feels that the system that has been in vogue for the last ten years is unsound in that it has made the teachers too dependent and has also tended to decrease moral responsibility. Accordingly, they have sought to devise for the benefit of the great body of college teachers "a system which may increase their independence, not diminish it; which shall make for individual sense of responsibility, not against it; which shall promote migration from one college to another, not restrict it; which shall give genuine security to the college teacher, but without the sense of obligation; and finally, which shall give the college teacher himself participation in the management of the pension system." As the most promising solution, the heads of the foundation now propose a system of term insurance for teachers to the age of 65 or later, followed by an annuity for life, accumulated by contributions from the teachers and their respective institutions. To this end the foundation proposes to use its entire income for the maintenance and development of the system. It is not designed to abandon the old system at once, but rather to make a gradual transition from the old order to the new. This change is dictated, it is said, not alone by the experience of the foundation itself, but by the conclusions drawn from the personal expressions of some 4,000 college teachers.

INQUIRY INTO MEAT PACKING BUSINESS?

Washington, July 8—Members of the House Judiciary sub-committee were yesterday considering informally whether they shall recommend a federal inquiry into the meat packing industry. The committee had before them a mass of testimony taken during hearings which began in March and ended on Thursday on Rep. Borah's resolution for an investigation by the federal trade commission. Representatives of the cattle producers favored such an inquiry while the packers opposed it on the ground that it would be detrimental to their business. Cattlemen argued that the action was necessary to insure reasonable meat prices to consumers.

If You Use Power You Should Know About This Better Belting

The problems of efficiency and costs that constantly arise in the factory can be greatly lessened by the proper selection of belting. Goodyear Extra Power Belting is to-day solving many of the difficulties of factory superintendent and purchasing agent. It is a new belting--and a superior belting, possessing all the advantages of ordinary rubber belting--and none of its disadvantages--with advantages not found in belts made from other materials than rubber.

Extra Power (FRICITION SURFACE) A New Basis Belting

Lower Factory Costs by Saving Power Waste Lower Factory Costs by Using Long Life Belting. Excessive power waste should be a thing of the past. Extra Power Belting with its tenacious friction surface that grips the pulley, its flexibility, transmits a higher percentage of the power developed on the driving wheel under all conditions. It is a power saver. Where ordinary belts waste power by slippage--where ordinary belts fall down under severe strain--Extra Power gives that better service that makes it the belt of greatest usefulness. When the Goodyear Laboratories perfected Extra Power Belting they produced the first rubber belting with long life. By using generous quantities of fine rubber, Extra Power was given flexibility, allowing it to run evenly on the pulley. The high quality of fabric added to its strength. The seam sealed with solid rubber was the finishing touch. Extra Power Belting will give you better service--it will also give you longer service--than other beltings.

Fits All Needs--Your Needs Under varying tests--under many conditions--Extra Power Belting has proved itself. In our rubber mill--in saw mills, paper mills, machine shops, mines, quarries--somewhere the conditions are the same as in your plant. Write us--tell us of your belting problems. We will show you how Extra Power can save you money. The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ontario

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS IN MARCH PAST

British soldiers march past in review with their rifles slung across the shoulders. The Russians, as in the picture, march past the reviewing officers with their rifles at the charge.

MILITARY THRIFT IMPORTANT IN CONDUCT OF THE WAR

To feed and equip our millions of fighting men entails a strain even upon Britain's vast resources. So there is stern call for business methods and prevention of waste in all departments of the quartermaster-general—that universal provider who has turned the whole country into a series of arsenals and stores.

The fine flower of Britain is in arms—yeer and peasant, miner and clerk and millhand. And to supply our armies is now the prime industry of the nation, and one of its most active, thanks to our glorious command of the seas. Shiploads of ore become giant guns and shells. Cotton and chemicals are turned into war-wisards into high-explosives of volcanic fury and force. The wool for khaki is heaped on the backs of Australian sheep. American and Argentine cattle are marked down for meat, and the hides go to Leicester and Northampton for the soldiers' boots—millions of pairs, for our Allies' use as well as for our own.

Whole fleets of ships ply back and forth between our home ports and the army bases in France. They carry every conceivable device of offence and defence, from monotonous howitzers and aeroplanes to trenching-tools and barbed wire. As for our army's food, it is not the world's combat for it. Is there not a huge hierarchy in charge of it, from the director of supplies in Whitehall to local inspectors at the world's end? In Assam for tea, in Santos for coffee, in Chicago for meat, in Sydney for grain. Also in many nearer homes, from Mincing Lane to Bethune in France, a typical town of the British "invasion," where local supplies are bought.

The Watch on Quality and Quantity

And everywhere is jealous watch kept upon quality and quantity of stores and food. Poe to the dairyman who works milk powder or other adulterant into his butter. I have in mind an English prosecution, where the War Office analyst condemned 40,000 lbs. of butter and got a conviction against the contractor, with the maximum penalty and social ostracism besides. So the whole earth is our soldiers' storehouse, and British workshops the immediate source of supply.

Our laden fleets lie alongside the Havre quays, where thousands of khaki porters and clerks handle mountains of stuff, from bombs to bacon, from drugs to telegraph wires and motor kitchens that look for troops on the march. Then the French trains are filled, and at railroad there are endless files of waiting lorries, which day and night haul stores to all headquarters—those of army corps, division and brigade.

The whole system is one of clear sub-division, and the filling-in of forms, indents, vouchers and receipts. All works smoothly until the quartermaster-sergeant of each unit takes delivery.

The Litter of An Advance

And what of the litter of an advance over the deadly "No Man's Land" between the warring lines? Smashed rifles, two bayonets, machine guns broken down or abandoned. Revolvers and field-glasses, water-bottles, haversacks, cartridges and shells, either in fragments or unexploded. There are no words to describe the grievous disarray in which houses might be hidden. Here is a first-aid tent, and round about it stray tins cut away by the surgeons from stricken men. Boots and caps and greatcoats, too often with letters and portraits, and pathetic little keepsakes fluttering amid the broken wires.

Over the field move the stretcher-bearers and casualty-squads with officers collecting identification discs or recording wounds and destinations. After these come the new salvage corps, whose quick eyes and practical instincts save the nation enormous sums, as I shall show. These men gather up broken weapons, clothing and equipment of all kinds, from a belt or a cartridge-clip to an aeroplane propeller. They load up horse-drawn wagons with this valuable "rubbish" and transfer it on the road to motor lorries that chug off to railroad for the army ordnance base.

And here you will find a mushroom industrial town, with khaki armies of its own, as well as Frenchwomen at American machines that sew and mend and patch with magical celerity. Here you realize the great work of civilian soldiers—the cobblers' corps, who repair old boots; the tailors and harnessmen, the skilled mechanics and armourers who mend broken rifles and bayonets. These last take a four-months' course in the Woolwich and Enfield small arm shops, and repair anything from a maxim to an officer's range-finder.

The Dumping Sheds

These dumping sheds are not exactly cheerful places, but the sorters get to work with uncanny insight. Leather is scarce these days, and in great demand by all the nations from Greece to Sweden, and from great Russia to little Holland, who stands so anxiously on watch. So each sturdy upper must stand three good soles; the wear and tear of trench warfare on all equipment is truly tremendous. The finest khaki uniform ever worn on the Leeds looms is soon caked with clay and jagged by the never-ending barbed wire.

Ten sizes in boots are looked out, then handed over to the cobblers and their whirring machines. When mended, these boots pass into women's hands for further sprucing and a bath of castor oil. It is a fact that Tommy prefers these to new pairs, so soft and pliable are they to the soldiers' feet. In tunics and trousers and greatcoats gigantic renovation is made. There are new engines of ingenious type for steaming and disinfecting all garments. These are afterwards ironed and pressed and folded for re-use on a great scale.

Utterly hopeless uniforms are first stripped off their buttons. (You will see women filling sacks with these), and then cut up as woollen rags for return to England, where they sell for as much as £40 a ton. So the Quartermaster-General is the thrifty "housewife" of our army. Nothing is wasted. Even old tins are pierced with holes, and go back as trench stoves, with prospects of hot coons and steaming stew.

Other tins are cut up for labels. And here is a circular saw with the lifted wheels of an ambulance chassis supplying power to it. This ingenious device is slicing odds and ends of wood into tent-pegs of various sizes in view of the coming summer campaign. Officers at this "old clo'" depot welcome new ideas that may bring new grit to their never-resting mills of salvage, or new uses for the products of their marvellous mending and cleaning machines. These turn out as new all things military, from a haversack to a horse-rug, and so save John Bull's purse, lavish and prodigal as that purse is, in provision for our heroes in the trench.

To Replace New Articles

For, remember, unless this battlefield litter were collected, sorted, and repaired by khaki-civilian industry, new articles would have to be issued by the Army Ordnance Department at a cost of thousands of pounds a day.

"Efficiency first and then economy" is the motto of the Quartermaster-General at Headquarters, and throughout all ranks of administrative service down to the Q. M. S. of company or platoon—himself the caterer and housekeeper of his unit in conjunction with the cook.

Quartermaster-Sergeant sees to it that there is no waste in food or general stores. That no meat rations are drawn for casualty cases or the sick; that no cartridges are trampled in the mire, and every trenching tool accounted for. The regimental cook was probably educated in the Salamanca School at Aldershot. Quite likely a wise woman had a hand in his kitchen education, teaching him new lessons in food values and varieties.

"No waste" is the reiterated watchword of our six-figure army, and the warning is seen in wondrous operation in those humming Ordnance sheds, where the rubbish of the battlefield is first dumped, then sorted and transported off to all recognition, so as to reduce the cost of a campaign which, as the Prime Minister reminds us, "already exceeds the flight of any financier's imagination."—W. G. FitzGerald.

CARGO NOW WORTH $875,000 MORE THAN WHEN ARRIVED

New York, July 8.—The German sailing ship, Indra, began to discharge here yesterday a cargo of nitrate from Chile, valued at $1,000,000. When she arrived here, bringing the cargo in September, 1914, it was worth only $125,000, but the demand for the chemical for the manufacture of explosives has greatly increased its price since then. The result is that while lying in this port for nearly two years the value of the cargo has increased $875,000.

The Indra was bound from a Chilean port to Dunkirk, France, when the European war began. The captain headed for New York on learning that war was declared. Consignees of the cargo began litigation to compel him to carry it to Dunkirk, but he declined to take his ship to sea, where she might be captured by British or French warships.

GOODYEAR MADE IN CANADA BICYCLE TIRES

Andrews, wounded, Lewis R. Sheldon, Fredericton, Corporal Kenneth Cosseboom, St. Stephen; Edward Keating, St. John and Harold Englesart, Wyers Brook. James A. Barter, ex-president of the Carleton County Liberal Association, has returned after an extended trip through the west. He has four sons and one grandson in khaki, James and John of the 14th, William of a British Columbia battalion, Samuel of the 140th, and a grandson who is at present in the trenches.

Corporal Aylene Y. Clements, son of Mrs. W. H. N. Clements, of Claremont, York county, who was recently missing, is a prisoner of war in Germany.

The wedding of Sergeant James J. Willard Scherry, of 53 Broadview, was given a twist by his fellow employees of the Norton Griffiths Company on Saturday. The presentation was made by Fred Quin. Mr. Scherry has joined No. 1 Construction corps and will leave the city at an early date.

Edward Marshall, an American newspaperman who writes for the Chicago Herald, he gave some notion of his mission. He did not get down to details for he can decide without consultation with the dominion authorities, and it seems that he has no cut and dried scheme. He merely speaks of the need of a sound policy of emigration and the absolute necessity of the British Empire becoming an empire of farmers. As he says, it is not so much wealth that matters in great world crises, but men, women, families and homes that are happy even if they are more or less humble. He contends that the nation which is not a nation of farmers or that has not behind it the solid support of men who are developing the land cannot endure, Rome declined when she gathered her best into the cities. In England for generations the tendency has been for men to flock to the country to go to the cities. The tendency is an unhealthy one from an imperial point of view. After the war it must be changed.

Cities No Place for Babies. "What happens in the cities?" he asks. "The birth rate goes down. There is little room and smaller joy for children there. A hotel, however fine is no place for babies, and the streets are worse. In the cities have been set up living standards to which few can attain. If the mother must wear smart clothes and spend money upon herself in many ways not vital where is to be found the money for the children's frocks. Of what use or comfort are children to the city dweller anyway. Hence race suicide. The finer and more prosperous folk may be, the less inclined they surely will be to produce large families, and the poorer they may be the less able they surely will be to properly support and rear large families. But on the land children very quickly grow to be of service to their parents and doing this they soon become props of the state.

Back to Nature. "Another thing which must be remembered is the fact that in England the high wages which the war has brought to pass cannot be maintained in general after the war ends. The trades unions will not like to see them sink. This inevitably will mean trouble, and it may mean very great trouble. The only real refuge from this trouble will be found in a return to the more primitive conditions that are in touch with nature. We cannot get safely away from Mother Nature—nor long at any rate. He who does she will catch up, throttle and throw aside as of no further use to her eternal purpose, and what is true of her treatment of individuals is no less true of her treatment of peoples. For what is Nature? I say that although it is often veiled and often bloody it is the hand of God."

What the Doctor Asked

One of the questions the examining physician for life insurance is apt to ask the applicant whose heart is skipping beats or is fluttery is—"Do you use tea or coffee?" The reason tea and coffee are suspected is because the physician knows that the drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee disturbs the nervous system, races the heart, and is responsible besides for conditions which often become serious.

It's a good thing to stop when one reaches the danger zone. It is better still to safeguard health and avoid trouble by quitting both tea and coffee and using the famous pure food-drink

POSTUM This delightful beverage is made of finest wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses, and while it has a delightful snappy taste, it contains only the nourishing goodness of the grain—no drug—no harmful ingredient whatever.

There are two forms of Postum. The original Postum Cereal must be boiled. Instant Postum—a soluble powder—is made in the cup with hot water—instantly! Both forms are equal in flavor, and cost about the same per cup.

Thousands of people have found the way to renewed health by a change from tea or coffee to Postum. There are no tea or coffee "questions" in Postum.

PROBLEMS THAT FOLLOW THE WAR

Sir Rider Haggard Again Visits Canada To Consult Government

Famous Novelist Now Regarded as Greatest Popular Authority on Agriculture in the Empire

(Toronto Mail and Empire). Rider Haggard, author of "She," "Jes," "Allan Quartermain" and other African classics, and whose name belongs to a "Sir," and an "H," now in Canada on his way to Ottawa to discuss with the men of the Canadian government the problems that will follow after the war is over. British soldiers may be brought back to the land, how best the Empire may become a nation of farmers. The land, as he says, is the nurse of nations, the cities are their depositories. Rider Haggard has been assured of a sympathetic audience. He will find members of the Canadian government ready to co-operate with him fully because Canada wants men on her land as much as British soldiers want land. There is a mutual necessity and what applies to Canada applies also to Australia and South Africa, countries, like Canada with immense natural resources, and needing only settlers of the proper kind to develop them. Rider Haggard will see all of the British dominions before he goes home, and will report upon what each has to offer.

Novelist by Chance. In the past year our distinguished visitor has come to be recognized as the greatest popular authority upon agriculture in the British Empire. He began his career with the ambition to become a lawyer. He was then in Africa in the civil service and his destiny was accidentally decided one night when he began to criticize some novels. A friend said that he could not write one himself. He had no idea probably that he could, but in order to refute that friend he sat down and produced "She." In its day this story had quite the vogue of "Trilby." Later on, Haggard followed the vein and in a few years had turned out a creditable number of stories of adventure and had made of Allen Quartermain a character who might almost be compared with Sherlock Holmes and "Raffles" as popular favorites. His success with his novels obliterated his visions of fame as a lawyer and it was not long before he was able to adopt the vocation he really desired, that of gentleman farmer. For some years past he has been an experimental farmer and has made deep study of agricultural problems. He has written convincingly on the subject. He has been on Royal Commissions. Now he comes to Canada, his object being to discuss what arrangements can be made by this country for welcoming to the soil the British soldiers who will want to become farmers or ranchers at the end of the war. 10,000 Mile Goodyears

Four Times Across Canada Goodyear Tires Have Traveled the Equivalent to Four Times From Halifax to Vancouver

10,000 miles from one tire! It is an achievement that any motorist is proud of. But the Goodyear achievement far exceeds the producing of an occasional tire that gives this excellent mileage. There are hundreds of Goodyear Tires that have gone 10,000, 11,000, or even 12,000 miles. We publish here the names and addresses of some of those motorists whose Goodyear Tires have averaged around 10,000 miles.

Not Just in Isolated Cases. Any tire maker can cite cases where a tire has given great mileage. Here and there a Goodyear tire has gone 20,000 miles or more. But one tire will not much affect the average mileage given by a brand of tires. But hundreds of Goodyear Tires giving excess mileage have raised the average of the whole. What hundreds of motorists have done, any motorist can do.

Not Just on Good Roads. Note especially the addresses given here. We could have selected a few tires which had run on good roads and reached a far higher average than 10,000 miles. But the names were selected throughout the entire Dominion of Canada from coast to coast. We want to show that a great many Goodyear Tires can average 10,000 miles on all kinds of roads. The deep-rutted, grinding, clay roads of Quebec. The winding rocky mountain roads that tear and pull on the fabric. The almost invisible prairie trails—water, sand, stones, holes, full of tire enemies. The hard tread-wearing roads of Ontario. Goodyear Tires are built to give mileage under the worst conditions. When the conditions are improved the mileage is greater.

You, Too, Can Get This Mileage. Your tire can give you greater mileage. If you will equip with Goodyears, take proper care of your tires, allow the Goodyear Service Station Dealer to help you, your mileage should be far in excess of that you would reasonably expect. The Goodyear organization stands ready to make good on this claim. Such mileage makes your decreased tire-cost-per-mile offset your increased gasoline-cost-per-mile.

WHAT THE CRITICS SAY:

"Any photo-play graced with Frank Keenan's magnetic face and finished acting is certain to be distinguished, and 'The Long Chance' is just that—distinguished. 'It is a western drama, but how different it is from the ordinary 'Gun-Play' style of pictures. 'Somehow the whole cast seems to have absorbed something of Keenan's extraordinary understanding of restraint.' 'Audiences that see this six-part Broadway feature will be greatly impressed. They will find it a thoroughly interesting picture.'"

Braves Are Not to Be Sold

Pres. Haughton of the Braves has denied emphatically a report from New York that the Boston Club must be sold at the end of the season. He said there are no negotiations for the club and that the owners have no thought of selling it. There was not, he said, the slightest foundation for the report.

Cleveland After Players

Indianapolis, Ind., July 9.—James Dunn of the Cleveland American League club has been "watching the work of the players of the local American Association team, today" asks Manager Hendricks to put a price on Pitches Carter and Aldridge and Outfielder Kelly. Dunn has only one substitute outfielder and if an accident should occur to any of the regulars the Cleveland club would be severely handicapped. Cleveland also needs a few pitchers. Dunn figures with two more good pitchers his club would have a fine chance for keeping in the pennant race to the end.

Ring

Indianapolis, July 9.—Jack Dillon, fresh from his two victories over Frank Moran and Jim Flynn within the last week, returned home yesterday without a mark to show that he had been fighting two more giants. He said that he would fill his contract which calls for a 15-round battle with Levinsky in Baltimore next Tuesday and then take a rest until Labor Day when he hopes to be matched with either Willard or Fulton.

Regarding reports that he had been offered a great sum to fight Lee Darcy in Australia he said that it would take three months for the round trip and that he would not go unless there was enough money in sight. In fact more money than has been offered.

Puglist Is Promoted

Brownsville, Tex., July 8.—"Kid" McCoy, heavy-weight puglist, a member of the New York National Guard now in camp at McAllen has been promoted. He has been assigned to the staff of Brig. Gen. Dyer as an orderly and on Saturday assumed his new duties.

Soon after Mayor L. E. Wood of Niles, Mich., had died, the council appointed Walter Wood, a son, to succeed his father as mayor. Floyd Wood, another brother was appointed alderman to succeed his brother who was elected to the mayoralty.

Unique Will Well Worth The Reading

The curious will of an insane man, made when he was poor and near death, has come to our notice, says Commerce and Finance, New York. The old man had no property, but he realized the true value of the old things he sought to pass on to posterity in his will. The document was composed by Williston Fish, now a lawyer in Chicago, and is beautiful for its logic. For children, for lovers and for old age he left every joy. The optimism and wholesome spirit of the document warrant its being reprinted here, although its economic significance is rather remote. It reads:

Charles Lounsbury, being of sound mind and disposing memory do hereby make and publish this, my last will and testament, in order, justly as may be, to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding men.

That part of my interest which is known in law and recognized in the sheep-bound volumes of my property, being inconsiderable and of no account, I make no disposal of in this my will.

My right to live, being but a life estate, is not at my disposal, but these things excepted, all else in the world I now devise and bequeath—

Item—I give to good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments, and I charge said parents to use them justly and generously, as the needs of their children may require.

Item—I leave to children, exclusively, but only for the term of their childhood, all and every, the flowers of the fields, and the blossoms of the woods, with the right to play among them freely according to the customs of children, waiting them at the same time against thistles and thorns. And I devise to children the banks of the brooks, and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees. And I leave to children the long, long days of the night, in a thousand ways, and the right and the moon and the train of the Milky Way to wonder at, but subject nevertheless to the rights hereinafter given to lovers.

Item—I devise to boys jointly all the useful little fields and commons where ball may be played; all pleasant waters where one may swim; all snow-clad hills where one may coast, and all streams and ponds where one may fish, or where, when grim winter comes, one may skate; to have and to hold the same for the period of their boyhood. And all meadows with the clover blossoms and butter-flies thereof, the woods and their appurtenances, the squirrels and birds, the echoes and strange noises, and all distant places which may be visited, together with the adventures there found. And I give to said boys each his own place at the fireside at night, with all pictures that may be seen in the burning wood, to enjoy without let or hindrance and without any incumbrance of care.

Item—To lovers, I devise their imaginary world, with whatever they may need; as the stars of the sky, the red roses by the wall; the bloom of the Hawthorn; the sweet strains of music and sight else by which they may desire to figure to each other the lastings and beauty of their love.

Item—To young men, jointly, I devise and bequeath all boisterous, inspiring sports of rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength, though they are rude; I give them the power to make lasting friendships, and of possessing companions, and to them exclusively I give all merry songs and brave choruses, to sing with lusty voices.

Item—And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers, I leave memory, and I bequeath to them the volumes of the poems of Burns and Shakespeare and of other poets, if there be others, to the end that they may live over the old days again, freely and fully, without title or diminution.

Brooklyn gained another half game during the last two days by taking two out of three games, while the Phillies splitting a double header.

Boston gained several points on the two leaders by winning a double header from Chicago, Saturday's game went ten innings before the Braves found McConnel's delivery and got to him for a couple of runs.

The Giants and Chicago Cubs are separated by one point. The latter have played eight more games than the former.

In the American League Cleveland gained on New York by defeating Boston while Chicago took the leaders into camp.

Detroit has gained several points since landing in Philadelphia. If they could remain there for a week longer they might get back into the first division.

A few games either won or lost could completely change the standing of the teams in the American League as they are so well bunched.

It is a wonder that the Giants do not recall Shocker from Toronto. He is winning nearly every game he pitches.

RAIN DEPRIVES BRAVES OF A SMALL FORTUNE

Boston, July 7.—A conservative estimate is that the rainstorm which kept the Phillies and Braves from playing either morning or afternoon on July 4, cost the champions' owners about $15,000 and Percy Haughton and his associates $22,000.

Braves' Field, the largest in America, was built for holiday games and contests of crucial series. The recent spurt of the champions' owners about $15,000 and Percy Haughton and his associates $22,000.

When the miracle men toppled over the mighty Alexander, the fans were in a frenzy. The Braves were on one of their long runs and no doubt 25,000 would have turned out for the morning game and 40,000 in the afternoon.

The interest was here and the teams had the park to accommodate battalions of fans, yet the programme was spoiled by a heavy rain. The money lost will never be regained. Until next year, other Independence Day until next year, it is no wonder that Percy Haughton and the visiting officials are glum.

There was recently brought before a police magistrate in the South an old dandy who had fallen foul of a bulldog while in the act of entering the hen-house of the dog's owner.

"Didn't I give you ten days last month for this same offense?" asked the magistrate. "It was the same henhouse you were trying to get into. What have you got to say for yourself?"

The dandy seemed perplexed. "Yo' honah," he said, "yo' sent me to the chain gang fo' tryin' to steal some chickens, didn't yo'?"

"Yes; that was the charge."

"That no man shall be twice placed in jeopardy for the identical act, yes?"

"Den, yo' honah, youse gotta let me go, sub. I was after de same chickens, sub."

ST. JOHN PILGRIMS BRING HOME WORD OF CURES AT ST. ANNE

A Westmorland County Girl, Deaf and Dumb For 12 Years, Among Number

The St. John pilgrims to the shrine of Anne de Beaupre arrived in the city on Saturday. Everybody seemed thoroughly to enjoy the trip and all are unanimous in their praises of the conductors of the pilgrimage, Rev. H. D. Cormier of Moncton and Rev. D. L. LeBlanc of Shediac.

There were two trains of New Brunswick pilgrims. Many cures are reported, but one which came under the observation of local people is particularly worthy of notice. This was the case of Miss Iteatha Brine, daughter of Clarence Brine of Botsford Portage, Westmorland county, Miss Brine, who is seventeen years of age, has been deaf and dumb for twelve years. Along with her mother, she took part on Wednesday evening in the procession that moved from St. Anne's church up the steep hill past the Scala Sancta. St. Anne's choir was stationed in front of the church and sang the usual hymn as the procession moved along. When about half the procession had left the church Miss Brine turning to her mother said: "I hear the singing; St. Anne has cured me."

About 9,000 people were in the procession, there being pilgrims from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario and the State of Maine.

The suddenness with which the overjoyed girl was given back her speech proved too great and she lost control of herself for the time. The girl is now gradually finding her speech restored.

Another wonderful cure was that of a little boy from the province of Quebec, who was unable to walk. He is fourteen years of age and had used a cane to get along. His limbs were always kept in irons. He climbed the Scala Sancta three times and as he was proceeding up the third time the irons fell from his legs and he threw the cane away.

A girl, formerly of Portland, Me., was blind in one eye for nineteen months and the other was gradually becoming affected. As she approached the shrine of St. Anne, the glasses were thrown to the ground. Her sight was restored.

Besides these cures there was another remarkable cure made during the procession. A French girl, troubled with hip disease and who was forced for years to use a cane almost daily, was completely cured while walking along, and the cane with which she was walking was taken out of her hand and thrown to the ground. She was able to finish her journey without it.

S. H. SHAW THE NEW TRUSTEE OF FAIRVILLE SCHOOL

Succeeds T. H. Wilson, Who Retires—An Interesting Report by Secretary Bryant

The annual Fairville school meeting was held this morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Gilbert Earle occupied the chair. It was decided that the assessment for school purposes be the same as last year.

T. H. Wilson, whose three year term of office as trustee expired, was renominated, but declined owing to ill health. A resolution of appreciation of Mr. Wilson's long services as trustee covering a period of about twenty-six years was moved by J. Stout, seconded by W. J. Linton and carried unanimously. The meeting then elected Stephen H. Shaw as the new trustee. The following is a copy of the secretary's report:

Fairville, July 10, 1916.

To the Trustees and Ratepayers School District No. 2, Parish of Lancaster: Gentlemen:—Your secretary begs leave to submit the following report for the year ending June 30, 1916:

We began the year with a balance in the Bank of Nova Scotia of $2,237.71, and assessed the district $6,600. At last year's meeting the trustees were advised to place $1,000 in sinking fund for the purpose of redeeming bonds when they fell due. But when the trustees looked over the school properties and saw what a lot of repairs were needed, they decided not to provide for the sinking fund until they saw how their finances held out.

We laid new hardwood floors on the four rooms, halls and cloak-rooms of No. 1 building, and purchased new furniture for the principal's room. We also installed five new stoves and renewed practically all of the blinds at a considerable cost.

As instructed at the annual meeting, we were to charge $4 per annum for pupils attending the schools who lived outside the district, and the trustees were ordered to notify parents of such pupils to that effect. I duly notified the parents as requested, but when school re-opened, these scholars did not come for their permits. After waiting some time, I asked the teachers of the various rooms to make a list of these outside pupils, and found there were at least twenty-five, not including Grades VII and VIII. As I cannot compel them to come and get permits, I suggest that the secretary be instructed to notify the teachers to send home all pupils outside the district until they can show a receipt from the secretary showing they are entitled to tuition. I personally believe we should extend the district to take in these scholars wherever it is possible to do so.

Last year we had to grant an increase to the entire teaching staff and that amounted to $600. All bills have been paid to date, and we have a considerable balance in the bank.

Little Raymond Sweeney Dead

Raymond Sweeney, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney of Chapel street, West St. John, died in the General Public Hospital this morning from injuries sustained a few days ago when he was run over by a heavy cart. His death came as a great shock to his parents and many friends. He was a very bright lad of four years and a favorite with all. Besides his parents he is survived by several brothers and sisters. Coroner Roberts will make enquiries and will then decide whether or not he will hold an inquest. For Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney and all there is very deep sympathy.

WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

A very pretty wedding took place on July 3 at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades, New Britain, Conn., when their niece, Miss Nettie M. Doherty, daughter of W. L. Doherty, of H. M. Customs, St. John, was united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Denon to Francis Louis Delong, of New Britain, Conn. After the ceremony the young people left for Hartford, Conn., where a wedding supper was served, at Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades' summer home. The large number of guests present, also the numerous presents received by both bride and groom, showed the esteem in which both were held. They will reside in New Britain. Many friends in St. John will wish them much happiness.
