COME AND GET WELL. If the people of St. John could only hear of the marvellous cures we have had since coming here we would not be able to take care of the vast throngs who would come for treatment.

BRITISH EMPIRE AND GREAT WAR. Sermon by Rev. W. McN. Matthews—Tributes to Veterans.

The sermon preached on Sunday morning by Rev. W. McN. Matthews in the First Presbyterian church, West St. John, to the War Veterans, Cadets, Brunswick and Windsor Chapters of the I. O. O. F., and representative men of the city and county of St. John.

The Great War is gradually receding into the past. Six years have passed since armistice and ten and a quarter years since war broke out.

"I would call your attention to some sweeping changes wrought by the war. Not only was there wanton destruction in the war zone but the map of Europe had to be remade.

"There were also widespread economic changes and subtle and widespread changes in thought and feelings of people. Some things, however, have stood the shock of war.

TrIBUTE TO VETERANS. In this fact lies one prime reason for celebrating Armistice Day.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 11, 1924

IN BRITAIN.

Without Ramsay MacDonald as its leader, Labor in England would not have made any thing like the advance it has recorded within the last few years.

When Mr. Baldwin selected Winston Churchill to fill the post of Chancellor of the Exchequer against the protests of Lord Beaverbrook and some other rather harsh critics of the new administration, he gave evidence of courage and of sterling character.

Mr. Baldwin knows well enough that his great margin of power, impressive as it is, might easily be dissipated by any proof that the new Conservative regime is reactionary and nothing more.

Mr. Churchill, as is known from a study of his public career, despises nothing as he despises the commonplace. He is not content to follow precedent; he has due respect for it, but his inclination is to establish new precedents, and to be looking always beyond tomorrow's sunrise.

Mr. Baldwin at this day is confronted not by the old Liberal army, but by the old Liberal cause, which is temporarily in eclipse; Labor is the enemy to be considered, and to be analyzed with a view to the public interest.

Already it is being predicted that Mr. Baldwin will break new ground, and in connection with this thought the appointment of Mr. Churchill bulks large. Mr. Baldwin is, by conviction, a protectionist.

Speculation on this matter holds a peculiar interest. Mr. Churchill's appointment as Chancellor of the Exchequer has aroused, or rather, has brought into the open, certain strong antagonisms. The Morning Post, the voice of Conservatism and of the landed interests, displays at once disgust and alarm.

THAT HALIFAX ELEVATOR.

On another page of The Times-Star today there is reproduced a summary of an editorial from the Montreal Gazette, the caption of which is "That Halifax Elevator."

The Gazette, which has on various occasions devoted considerable attention to Maritime Province affairs, says in substance that if a new elevator is to be constructed at Halifax, as is believed to be the case, costing a million dollars or more, should not be built to make political capital, and the Gazette appears to be in doubt whether or not it should be built.

As a matter of fact it has long been evident that one of the pressing needs in relation to the whole traffic situation is that the federal Government and the C. N. R. should arrive at a common policy concerning the part which the Maritime ever-ports are to play in connection with national transportation.

Mr. Baldwin in this day is confronted not by the old Liberal army, but by the old Liberal cause, which is temporarily in eclipse; Labor is the enemy to be considered, and to be analyzed with a view to the public interest.

FUNERALS

St. Andrew's church was largely attended yesterday afternoon by representative citizens who assembled to pay their last token of respect to the late Dr. Charles P. Inches. Floral tributes were banked around and on the coffin, which was in front of the pulpit, from which Rev. J. S. Bonnell read the service and the consoling prayers for the occasion. The choir, led by Miss Blenda Thompson, with Mrs. E. J. Hodgson at the organ, led in the hymns which were sung softly by the large congregation. The pall-bearers were former college friends of the late Dr. Inches. The march was a long one, with many cars in line and many standing along the street to witness the cortege, which testified to the esteem in which the young man, so early cut off, was held in his native city.

GIRL IS CLEARED OF ROGER'S DEATH

Coroner Finds Youth's Head Hit Pole as He Leaned From Auto.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11.—Charles G. Rogers, nephew of Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid, met his death on the Northaven Turnpike last Saturday night as an end of a joy ride in a fun when his head, which he had stuck out of the door of an automobile operated by Marjorie Schneider, came in contact with some object, probably a telephone pole, near The Pines, a small inn on the Northaven Turnpike, according to a finding made public by Coroner Ell Mix.

The Coroner found that much liquor was consumed by Rogers and Miss Schneider, both in this city and at Long Hill Inn, a roadside in Wallingford, from which they were returning when the fatality occurred. When near The Pines the Schneider girl discovered a small piece of glass had been broken in the windshield, which brought to her attention the fact that Rogers was lying in the rear of the car, but she was so befuddled that she was not aware of just what had happened.

The Coroner, however, absolved her from blame, saying that Rogers' death was not caused by any criminal act or carelessness on the part of any persons. The Coroner gave credence to the girl's statement that Rogers had attempted to embrace her in the automobile shortly before the accident occurred, but stated that he did not believe she gave him any blow which caused his death. The report did not discuss whether the attempted kissing of the girl led to the swerving of the car, causing it to hit a pole. It called attention to the testimony given to the effect that although the windshield was partly broken no glass pieces were in the car.

This has been taken to indicate that if there was a quarrel in the car and Rogers had been pushed out the glass probably would have fallen outside, whereas if the windshield had been hit by a telephone pole the glass would almost certainly have fallen inside the car.

The fact that Miss Schneider gave false testimony at the first coroner's hearing, insisting that she was not driving the car when the accident occurred, complicated attempts to get to the bottom of the mystery. In this connection the report said: "I find that Miss Schneider was ill-advised by acquaintances and told to state she was not operating said car and that other advice was given her tending to mislead the authorities investigating said occurrence; and that during my first interview with her she made statements which were untrue, which necessitated a more extended inquiry as to what had occurred in causing the death of deceased than the case would otherwise have warranted."

Rogers' hat was found some distance from where the car stopped. Probably at the spot where, as he leaned out, his head struck a pole or similar obstacle. The report denied that any mysterious gray Packard car was in the vicinity of the wrecked Dodge automobile.

AUTOMOBILE HITS
THOMAS D. PURDIE

Thomas Day Purdie was struck by an automobile near the Three Mile House in Rothesay avenue yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock and was taken to the General Public Hospital for a severe but not serious injury to his knee.

He and Rev. J. Unsworth, curate at St. John's (Stone) church, took the church choir boys on a hike as far as Rothesay and return. On the way toward the party reached a point near the Three Mile House and after Mr. Purdie placed some of the boys on a street car he started across the road to an automobile, when another car driven by a man named Burton approached and Mr. Purdie was struck and knocked down. Mr. Burton immediately stopped his car which had not been traveling at a fast rate of speed, and conveyed Mr. Purdie to the General Public Hospital for treatment.

Imperial Preference and Defence Need Study, Says Baldwin

PREMIER OUTLINES POLICIES AT LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET

Stability and Continuity to be Keystones of New Government. PRAISES HERRIOT Hopes for Early Entry of Germany to the League of Nations.

London, Nov. 10.—Great Britain's first Labor Cabinet did not hold office long enough to have the privilege of appearing at the time-honored Lord Mayor's banquet. Thus, Stanley Baldwin, the new Prime Minister, the principal guest at last year's banquet was again the guest of honor tonight at Guildhall when all the Conservative Ministers, and their wives gathered together. The United States, Spanish, Italian and Japanese ambassadors and the Chinese Minister were also present. While the guests were assembling in the library it was observed that Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, was in animated conversation with the Spanish Ambassador. Later Mr. Chamberlain, toasting the Foreign Ambassadors, emphasized the Empire's desire for peace. Alluding to the United States, he said: "We rejoice at the co-operation of the United States and trust that that co-operation in whatever form might appear fitting to the President and Senate will not be withheld from us in the difficulties we have to face." He also made reference to the great services rendered to humanity by the League of Nations. He was happy, he said, to couple with the toast the name of the Spanish Ambassador, to whom he paid warm tribute for his personal qualities, which had won him the regard of the British people.

KEVIN O'HIGGINS AS MINISTER HAD TO SEND BEST FRIEND TO DEATH COLLAPSED AFTER SIGNING WARRANT FOR THE EXECUTION OF RORY O'CONNOR

(By MILTON BRONNER.) Dublin, Ireland, Nov. 11.—I had come to Dublin to see the hero of one of the greatest stories ever told, and found very young man trying to do a hard day's work and anxious to avoid the spotlight. And so it was with Kevin O'Higgins and Rory O'Connor. But sure you will remember the story, for it is one of the great dramatic situations of all time. Every day in the long years of fighting between the Sinn Féin and England they were united. In each burned the same fires of struggle. When O'Higgins married it was O'Connor who was his best man. But when the treaty with England was signed there came a parting of the ways. O'Higgins went with the new Free State and became its first secretary. O'Connor could see no middle course and followed the De Valera group. Still they remained friends. When the "Irregulars" held the Four Courts in Dublin it was O'Connor who led them. The place was besieged by Free State troops and O'Connor was captured. As a rebel he was sentenced to death. And as minister of law and justice the death warrant came before O'Higgins to sign. There it lay upon his desk; the death warrant of his best friend. O'Higgins signed the paper! It is related that the minister did not leave his desk throughout the night. At eight o'clock in the morning news was brought to him that the execution had taken place at daybreak. Rory O'Connor, his best friend, had been killed. Then O'Higgins collapsed! And, if this is a sequel, when the matric, there is a sequel, when the will of Rory O'Connor was found a few days later it left all to his friend O'Higgins. So I went to Dublin to find the hero of this story. He is a young man in his middle thirties. He has coal black hair and Irish blue eyes. His face tells the story of determination, iron will and self-control. He has a mild and pleasing voice. In the Hall he has the reputation of being sardonic. But that is because he is truthful and frank. He says what he thinks regardless of the hurt. He asks but one question on any problem: "Is it right?" And yet he is humorous in a true Irish way, and has a great fund of stories and humor. But when I asked him about the O'Connor story he swiftly dodged the role of hero.

DOES NOT LIKE LOOK OF THINGS IN IRAK AFFAIR

Authority on the Near East Sees Possibility of Soviet Machination. LONDON LETTER Topics of Interest in Bustling Metropolis of the Empire.

(Correspondence Times-Star.) London, Oct. 16.—In regard to the Iraq affair an exceptionally well-informed authority on the Near East assures me that, in his opinion, things look none too promising. Though the slim old soldier-diplomatist, Lemel Pasha, is appealing to the League of Nations, and smooth diplomacy rather than rough campaigning is at the moment suggested, the Turks have their military tails right up, and having convinced themselves that we are not the whole cabinet and we acted jointly, they must expect repercussions in many quarters where Soviet agents hold important political strings. This is certainly the skillful policy against us wherever possible, and the Iraq affair in the present boastful temper of the Turks, presents exceptional opportunities. Moscow's big dream is to dig at Britain through the Near and Middle East. Iraq might be worked in conjunction with Egypt and India.

FRENCH BIRTHRATE IS STILL FALLING

Some Legislators are Even Considering the Legalizing of Polygamy. By A. L. BRADFORD (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Paris, Nov. 10.—(United Press)—The falling population of this country continues to strike fear to the heart of France. The latest official figures published here show that instead of any apparent benefit from campaigns for increase of the birthrate, there has, to the contrary, been a distinct falling off all along the line in the factors going to make up a growing population. The individualism of the French man and French woman, who do not want to have children unless they are in an economic situation to give their offspring every possible advantage in life, of course, is at the bottom of France's decreasing population. The economic agravaations of the post-war period have intensified this attitude. But, on the other hand, there is the deep-seated fear on the part of French citizens that the steadily falling population sooner or later will result in France herself tumbling from the place she now holds as a great World Power, in a gradual decay of France's prestige in all the human cultures, lacking the resources constantly to the building to her power in these respects. For several years now there have been almost unending campaigns supported by the government and the press, designed to increase the birth-rate in France. Municipalities have offered prizes of several hundred francs to French parents for the birth of babies. Privileges of various sorts are accorded to parents, such as tickets on the State railroads at cheaper costs in accordance with the number of children a man or woman has. State employes are given increased wages if they have children. The Government also offers pensions to families having over a certain number of children, whether the parents be state employes or not. But, despite all these efforts—which recently have reached the proportions of causing a debate in the French press as to the advisability of authorizing polygamy as a means of increasing the birth-rate—the official figures from the Ministry of Labor for the second three months of 1924 compared with the same period of 1923 have communicated these figures to the present Government. He also intimated that if the Dominions and the great industries were ready to do their part, the Government was ready to make provision for reopening the Wembley Exhibition next year. Concluding with a general reference to home affairs, adverse trade and housing troubles, the Premier went on to say that the Government would do everything possible to improve the lot of the masses along the lines the country had hitherto pursued, and "not by changing the basis of our system, by which we should fall into a pit of poverty and misery."

ENGLISH DEER

Herd Date on Some Big Estates Back Hundreds of Years. London, Nov. 11.—There are herds of deer in Great Britain going back over 400 years. In the 1924 register of the Deer Herd Book Society of Great Britain, just issued, a list is given of the ages of herds. It shows that: George Brudenell's herd at Dreame Park, Peterborough, has existed probably 400 years. Lord Clifford of Chudleigh's herd of 300 at Lightbrook Park, Wexham, Wooten, was certainly existing in 1785, and possibly much earlier. Lord Darley's herd at Cobham Park, Kent, is of "ancient formation." Sir Robert Harvey, at Langley, has a mixed herd of 20 Japanese, six Indian Hog, and 15 Wapiti. Lord Hastings' mixed herd at 120 at Mersham Hatch, Ashford, Kent, which was introduced by royal charter in 1618. Sir Richard Leighton's herd of 100 at Lolton Park, Shrewsbury, is probably over 200 years old, while the herd of B. C. Pearson at Parham, Pulborough, numbering 20, is said to be a remnant of the original wild deer of the district. Sir John Shelley's herd at Shobrooke Park, Crediton, was probably formed 200 years ago, and Lieut.-Colonel Winch's at Boughton Menchies, Maidstone, 300 years ago.

JAPAN WORRIED BY PUBLIC GRAFT

(By H. FRANCIS MISSELUVITZ (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Tokio, Nov. 10.—Startling disclosures of graft among public officials have shocked the capital. Late disclosures chiefly concerning members of the Tokyo Municipal Assembly, the indictment of 20 members of the Government controlled railways causing intense interest in the manner in which it alleged these men had misused public utilities and obtained about Yen 170,000 for their influence in various matters. Tokio has been without a Mayor for nearly a month now and a half dozen men or women has State employes are given increased wages if they have children. The Government also offers pensions to families having over a certain number of children, whether the parents be state employes or not. But, despite all these efforts—which recently have reached the proportions of causing a debate in the French press as to the advisability of authorizing polygamy as a means of increasing the birth-rate—the official figures from the Ministry of Labor for the second three months of 1924 compared with the same period of 1923 have communicated these figures to the present Government. PARALYDEHYDE IS GIVEN WOMAN IN MISTAKE FOR LIQUID SALTS

New York, Nov. 11.—Charged with the death of a patient at the Brooklyn State Hospital for the Insane, Clarkson street, near Utica avenue, Brooklyn, Miss Catherine A. Hannan, 35 years old, a nurse at the institution, was arraigned before Magistrate James T. O'Neill, in the Flatbush police court, on a technical charge of homicide. Miss Hannan sobbed as she was led before the court and mused, "It was a horrible mistake. Just a horrible mistake." The complaint on Miss Hannan was held that Miss Hannan had caused the death of Helen Klein, 32, Brooklyn, by administering a quantity of paralydehyde in mistake for Epsom salts. The detective asked the magistrate to adjourn the case until next Tuesday and stated that the District Attorney's office had agreed to a plea of guilty to the offense of manslaughter. Miss Hannan is a graduate of the training school of the Brooklyn State Hospital for the Insane, and had been engaged there for nearly 15 years. She was on duty in the receiving ward when, pursuant to instructions, she started to give Miss Klein and another patient, whose name not made public, a dose of liquid Epsom salts. She went to the medicine chest, where the Epsom salts are kept in a brown-cork glass bottle. Other bottles of a similar size and color kept in the same chest contain different drugs. All bear labels of a similar type. Miss Hannan selected one of the bottles and gave one dose to Miss Klein and the other to the other patient. Miss Hannan had allowed the dose given to her, but the other patient took a sip and spat it out. Shortly after, Miss Klein complained of feeling ill, and the nurse, looking in the medicine chest, discovered that the bottle containing the Epsom salts was in its place undisturbed and that the bottle she had taken out was the one containing paralydehyde. Discovers Her Mistake. She went to the medicine chest, where the Epsom salts are kept in a brown-cork glass bottle. REHIMS, SIX YEARS AFTER GREAT WAR, IS GROWING INTO A MODERN GLORY

Remarkable Transformation Has Taken Place Since Armistice. By MINOT SAUNDERS (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Rheims, Nov. 10.—In the shadow of its shell-torn cathedral, which still stands as a mighty symbol of benediction over a God-fearing and courageous people, this romantic old city is growing into a modern glory never known in the days before the guns of the enemy laid it into a shambles, to come back so remarkably. Today there is just as much dust, but it is the dust of industry and not of ruin; the blanket of dust. The dust came from thousands of sandstone blocks with which the city is being rebuilt anew. The streets and sidewalks have been leveled and sewers systems have been restored and extended. New trees have been planted. And inside the cathedral candles burn at the sacred altars. Whereas six years ago the cathedral stood a lone sentinel in the ruins of what was Rheims, it is now surrounded by the modern buildings and fireproof homes with people busy and enjoying life. These buildings are modern, containing conveniences not enjoyed by the old buildings. They have so greatly changed the city that it would indeed be a new city, but for the old cathedral that links it with the past. In 1918 the population of Rheims was close to 120,000. The exodus began immediately after the war started, but thousands courageously remained, repairing, maintaining, and cleaning up the city. The population is now about 100,000. Already about 5,000 new buildings have been constructed, or will be completed this year. Almost an equal number have been restored sufficiently for comfort, with extensive improvements in progress. These present a strange contrast with their neighbors, the old city interlocked with the new. Many buildings that stood have punctured walls with fresh stones set or concrete inlaid, scars that will live as long as the walls stand. The Place Drouot d'Azoun, just off the modern beside the new concrete railway station, is almost entirely rebuilt, and now surrounded by structures of modern architecture, including the Hotel Lion d'Or, which is a far finer hostelry than the city possessed before the war. The city has up-to-date apartment houses, one beautifully designed theatre, new and more commodious schools, and three or four-story shops. Rue de Vesle, the main business street, is brighter and busier than ever. Cafes and restaurants are booming. Many streets have been widened, some straightened. Taxes are high and living conditions expensive, but the morale of the people admirable. All the celebrated old buildings of Rheims are in the process of restoration. The ruins are not to be abandoned, but reconstruction is slow work and they look much as they did in 1918. The Town Hall, a fine place of renaissance architecture, still stands a gaunt skeleton. The ancient Mars Gate, a triumphal arch built on the old Caesarian way, still faces toward Fort Brimont where the German guns were set. It has known many attacks since the days of the Romans. PROHIBITION STAYS IN NORWAY

Christiania, Norway, Nov. 11.—One of the results of the recent Norwegian elections, in which the Conservative and Agrarian (peasant) parties secured a narrow combined majority of two seats in the Storting, will be the retention of prohibition, which was opposed by the Conservatives, but favored by a majority of the Agrarian nominees. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists are allied with the Lefts in a strong minority, it is not expected that the Conservatives can muster enough strength to repeal the present law during the coming session. There are 150 seats in the Storting. Of these fifty-four will be filled by Conservatives, twenty-two by Agrarians, thirty-four by the Lefts, eight by Socialists, and thirty-two by Communists. The present cabinet, under the leadership of Premier Ludwig Mowinckel, and made up from the Lefts, is expected to continue in office until after the meeting of the Storting in January. Although the women of Norway have been permitted to vote since 1907, only twice have women candidates been elected to the Storting, and at the recent elections all women candidates were defeated. Old headstones in a cemetery in Vermont are being used with cement to preserve them.

DISTRICT SCOUT TROOP IS FORMED

Organization of Leaders Decided Upon—Investiture at St. Philip's.

The Scout Patrol Leaders' Council at its meeting on Saturday night in the Y. M. C. A., decided to form a District Troop in order that the council members might have special opportunities of training. F. Chopin, of Mission troop, was elected Scoutmaster, L. L. Johnson, district secretary, was elected assistant scoutmaster and the patrol leaders chosen were A. Peatmen, St. James, No. 19; Douglas MacLennan, St. Jude's, No. 8; A. Cunningham, Knox, No. 1, and E. Nobles, Knox, No. 1. It was decided that the District Troop would meet every second Saturday and would have as its distinguishing handkerchief one of khaki with a blue border. The next troop will have a supper meeting on Nov. 22.

On Sunday an impressive investiture service was conducted for seven members of St. Philip's troop at the close of the church service. The ceremonies were conducted by Harry Lister, district secretary, and L. L. Johnson, St. James Scout Officers' promise. Several members of other troops were present in uniform, a pleasing evidence of good comradeship.

Yesterday hiking parties were enjoyed by many of the troops and there were three troops, St. Jude's, Knox and St. George, represented in the parties which chose Taylor's Island for their outing.

Mr. Lister had a very successful visitation of the Rothsay, Sussex and other near-by centres and returned to the city yesterday well pleased with his trip.

Tonight the Scout Leaders' supper will be held at the Edward Buffet in King Square and following the supper the leaders will go to Knox Sunday school to carry on practical work. A representative from each troop committee will be a special guest tomorrow night.

YOUTH, KILLED BY TRAIN, IDENTIFIED

Halifax, Nov. 10.—The unknown young man killed on the railway tracks at Fairview, last week, and whose body has since been lying in the local morgue awaiting identification, is believed to have been Adelaire Angs from the Province of Quebec. A picture of the dead youth published in a local paper resulted in a message being received from Springfield from a man who believed he had sheltered the youth in his home a few days before. He had left to walk to Halifax in search of employment. The young man had given his name as above and stated that his clothes and effects were being held in Mont Joli, Quebec.

Look, mother! for film on your child's teeth

That's often a danger sign. If the dentifrice you now use doesn't combat it successfully, it's inadequate. How to combat it without harmful grit—the new way in child's tooth care specialists recommend.

FOREMOST dental authorities now advise a new way in caring for a child's teeth. A way different in formula, action and effect from any other method.

As a nation-wide hygienic movement, a 10-day test is offered mothers free. You are urged to make it. To see what modern science is doing for the better protection of children's teeth and health. Simply use the coupon.

What film indicates. Why it must be fought several times daily.

Look at your child's teeth. If cloudy, dull, discolored, there's a film. And that film is often a danger sign. The child can feel it by running his tongue across his teeth.

Ordinary tooth pastes won't combat it successfully. Try the one you now use. See if the film does not still remain.

Film is a viscous coat that clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It makes pearly teeth ugly, discolored—dingy. Many a naturally pretty child is handicapped in this way. Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Now a new way. Now modern science has found a safe way to combat film. Super-gritty substances are judged dangerous to the teeth. Soap and chalk methods are inadequate.

This new method, embodied in the tooth paste called Pepsodent, provides the scientifically proved combatant that is being adopted by the people of some 50 nations. Its action is to curdle the film, then harmlessly to remove it.

Test Tube Free. Don't you think it worth while, in justice to your children, and in fairness to yourself, to try it for ten days? The test will cost you nothing. Use the coupon for a 10-day tube, free.

A Great Frenchman.

No other modern French writer has anything like the vogue in this country achieved by Anatole France, undoubtedly the most illustrious figure in the French world of letters in his generation. Comparisons have been drawn between Anatole France and our own Thomas Hardy, but probably few English students acquainted with both masters would claim real equality between them. Anatole France, who shared Zola's attitude in defence of Dreyfus, recovered favor with French immortals of the Academy, after forfeiting it by his extreme Socialis-views, by a patriotic stand on the war. The veteran, despite his age, actually wanted to fight in the ranks. The year before the war, when entertained at a London banquet by a wonderful company of celebrities, Anatole France made an eloquent plea for peace.

The Rubber Epoch.

Not many speculators in rubber shares realize how new a thing they dabble with. The rubber industry is not much more than a quarter of a century old. Though transatlantic natives used it long before Columbus sailed towards the setting sun, the first rubber plantations date back only 28 years. Before that rubber was obtained solely from wild trees, and advertised of the "white cargo" genre risked health and life to get it from the natives. Kew Gardens was the mother of the rubber industry. Plants grown there from Brazilian seeds, in 1876, furnished the impetus, which, between 1897 and 1918, increased the area of rubber plantation from a few thousand to a million acres, and the value of the produce from less than half a million to more than thirteen million sterling. The industry founded on those Thames-side seedlings has caused a million people to migrate.

The Big Boom

The big rubber boom of pre-war years is still one of the romances of the city. Among those who made fortunes in those thrilling days of soaring shares was a near relative of Earl Balfour. But the most arresting case was a little Fleet street "P" editor on a trade journal. Somehow he sensed the boom well ahead, and plagued all his impoverished Fleet street friends by urging them to sell their shirts and "put it in rubber." None of them paid at-

Good for Monte Carlo.

France is evidently determined to make the lot of the foreign holiday maker as uncomfortable as possible. In future, any person who means to stay more than a couple of months in France will have to submit to a medical examination at the port of arrival, planned on the lines of the Ellis Island indignities. Then he will receive a permit merely allowing him to proceed to his destination—and nowhere else—where he will have to undergo another examination as to his desirability as a visitor before he will be granted an "identity card" permitting him to stay. For this card, moreover, a charge of 30 francs is to be made.

At one of the tourist agencies this afternoon I was told that the result was likely to be a big falling off in the number of visitors for the winter to French Riviera resorts, and a corresponding increase in the number travelling to Monte Carlo and Monaco, where no such difficulties are made. It is safe to prophesy that the profiteering tradesmen in the South of France will raise a speedy wall of protest.

Versatile K. C.

Sir E. Marshall Hall, K. C., who has just been appearing in a Mansion House case, is an exceptionally versatile lawyer. He is most famous as the brilliant advocate who defended in some sensational murder trials. But he is a keen politician, and was for years M. P. for Liverpool's professional division. He used to be a collector of old china and curios whose enthusiasm and acumen were widely recognized by antique experts. He was in his younger days a foremost figure in legal cross-country racing and fox-hunting. And, besides singing a capital song and ranking as still among the best raconteurs in London, he used to be a wonderful miniature rifle shot. At his best there was nobody to touch him at breaking glass balls.

Mme. Galli-Curci's name, with more less approximation to the proper pronunciation, is on everybody's lips this week. The famous singer spell-bound an audience that packed the Albert Hall from floor to roof, and might have filled an even bigger wilderness twice over. At first the artist was a little nervous, and her popular audience a trifle disappointed. But once she gave songs that more admirably suited her magnetic combination of temperamental flair and miraculous vocal mechanism, she reigned as supreme as a flesh-and-blood reality as she has long done through the ghostly medium of the gramophone record. Far greater voices have charmed London audiences less rapturously. Mme. Galli-Curci's strength is in her perfect art and dramatic personality. She is the complete mistress of her own artistic genre. But her triumph will probably, so far as this country is concerned, be more a popular than an expertly musical one. Her debut would have been just as sensational without the "publicity" methods with which U. S. film stars have apparently infected even distinguished artists of older domains. The "picture" papers have shown us Mme. Galli-Curci in various intimacies, including breaking the regulations of the Royal Parks by initiating a tree in Kensington Gardens. She is quite great enough to dispense with these aids.

Twice Blessed. The Everyman Theatre's Shavian cycle at Hampstead is twice blessed. An astonishing mishap in the last act of "The Devil's Disciple" almost led to that fine actor, Claude Rains, who plays the leading role, being well and truly hanged in the final gallow's scene. Not only did Mr. Rains happen to escape this drastic fate, but the contretemps has afforded the best theatrical publicity for months. Mr. Rains is so superb as "Napoleon" in "The Man of Destiny" that, although his "Dick Dudgeon" in "The Devil's Disciple" rather suffers by recollections of Sir Forbes Robertson in that role, his untimely demise would have been a real disaster. If any member of the caste is to "swing," the dramatic critics could easily indicate a worthier subject.

ELGIN TAKES THE TIME FROM THE STARS AND PUTS IT IN YOUR POCKET.

Where does Time come from?

SOME stary night look for the constellation "Cassiopeia." You will find it near the Pole Star—shaped like the Greek letter Z. Look again about an hour later and you will be able to see that Cassiopeia has changed its position. The revolution of the earth has made this constellation and all the others apparently move across the sky.

In this apparent motion of the stars is the final answer to the question, "Where does time come from?" Time comes from the stars—the only source of precise time.

So the Elgin Time Observatory was established to take the precise time from the stars and contribute accurate standards of accuracy to the making of Elgin Watches.

And each day, second after second, the time the Elgin astronomers bring down from the stars goes out to the Elgin work-shops and timing laboratories.

In this program of accuracy you see the Elgin professional time-keeping standards at practical work. A program completely and faithfully carried out day after day—which is the thing that makes an Elgin Watch such a desirable possession.

Your jeweler will show you Elgin Watches in a wide variety and his advice as to the selection of your Elgin will be valuable.

Attorney General Discusses
Plans for Better Law Enforcement.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—There are rocks ahead for those who traffic in liquor in defiance of the Ontario Temperance Act, Premier Ferguson has under consideration amendments for the tightening of the O. T. A., and unless something very unforeseen occurs amendments to that act making it more all-embracing and enforceable than at present, will be introduced at the next session of the legislature by the government, and become law.

In addition to that Attorney-General W. F. Nickle has under review the whole provincial police organization, for the purpose of, as he states, "securing the maximum efficiency" in the enforcement of the law. If changes or additions in the force are necessary to secure this goal, they will be made. No decision had yet been arrived at as to what changes or additions, if any, are needed, but it is the intention of the attorney-general to secure maximum efficiency in the enforcement of the law, and he is at present going thoroughly into the needs of the provincial police to discover by what means that force can be best organized and equipped to cope with the present situation in Ontario.

"Along what lines will the Ontario Temperance Act be amended to make it more all-embracing?" Mr. Nickle was asked.

"It is a matter of carrying out the government statement made some time ago, that if the people voted for the continuance of the act it would be strengthened wherever needed," he replied.

"Is the question of penalties under consideration—more severe penalties for trafficking in defiance of the act, as referred to some time ago by the premier?"

"That question is also under consideration," stated the attorney-general.

Aim at Sellers.

It was indicated that the amendments of the various branches of the act, including those sections governing penalties, would be aimed chiefly at those who sold liquor for gain, in breach of the act. It was indicated that if the infractions of the act were discovered where breweries or distilleries sold beer, or where a man sold it in mugfuls over the bar, or where liquor was sold in dives, on some dark street, that the government would regard the principle in all these cases as the same, and punish accordingly. There was to be no discrimination; anyone who was proved to be selling intoxicating beverages in breach of the act would be punished.

"It is not so much a question of quantity as of principle" stated the attorney-general.

"The amendment of the act, and its enforcement and the penalties provided, will be aimed at all who, for personal gain or profit, take advantage of the weakness of another person to sell liquor in breach of the act."

It was pointed out that discretion would be left to the magistrate to deal more leniently with infractions of the law which did not come under the general classification of trafficking in liquor for profit. Minor infractions of the act, it was indicated, would be punished less severely.

"Is it true that 100 men have been added to the provincial police force?"

Mr. Nickle was asked.

"Certainly not," he replied. "Nothing like any such number has been added recently."

Questioned as to the size of the force now as compared with several weeks ago, Mr. Nickle stated that it was somewhat stronger now.

Mr. Nickle stated that no communication, direct or indirect, had gone out to the Ontario magistrates with respect to imposing severer penalties for breach of the O. T. A.

"The government expects the magistrates to act in accordance with the letter and spirit of the law," stated Mr. Nickle. "Any discretion under the act must be exercised by the magistrates. That is not to say that the government has no responsibility in that connection, for it has. But the discretion given to the magistrate under the act must be exercised by the magistrate."

Honoring the birthday of Chief Ranger, Delbert B. Black, the members of Ahmeek Camp, Trail Rangers of Ludlow street church and other boy friends were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hoyt, Algonquin Place, last night.

Parsons paid a tribute to the Chief Ranger and made the presentation of a fountain pen, the gift of the camp, and Delbert Black made a speech impressing on his comrades ideals of loyalty. Mr. Parsons had charge of the programme of amusements and prize winners were announced as follows: Rapid eating, John McGiffin and Calvin Fraser; missing letter, John McGiffin and Edwin R. Rupert and booby prizes, Frank Peer and Christie Clark; and best impersonation in the "Quaker Meeting," Holly Hoyt. R. J. Rupert assisted with the programme. During the evening humorous readings were given by E. B. Rupert and a violin solo by Delbert Black. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Hoyt assisted by Miss Evelyn Black and Miss Mary Hoyt, and a birthday cake with 16 candles was an important item that was given much formality. The cake was made by Miss Olive Parsons. Hearty thanks were extended to the host and hostess on motion of Calvin Fraser, seconded by Frank Peer.

COWAN'S COCOA
A Canadian Achievement

THE history of the cocoa industry in Canada is written in terms of the development of the Cowan Company, Limited.

In 1886, Mr. John W. Cowan first placed his cocoa on the market. It was the product of a small grinding mill operated in an unpretentious building.

From the original mill has developed miles of up-to-date machinery. The small building has grown to a huge factory covering nearly five acres of ground.

The product, too, is different—improved, more refined. To-day it is the finest cocoa obtainable anywhere. Its superiority—the excellence of quality that has made Cowan's Perfection Cocoa and Cowan's Instant Cocoa household words throughout the Dominion—is a result of thirty-eight years experience and constant striving for improvement.

COWAN'S "PERFECTION"

A natural process cocoa, made from carefully selected cocoa beans. It is absolutely undiluted—nothing has been added to what is contained in the natural bean. Cowan's Perfection is pure cocoa with a delicious natural chocolate flavour.

COWAN'S "INSTANT"

A new Dutch process cocoa, specially treated so as to become more quickly soluble. To prepare, all that is required is the addition of boiling water, and stirring. It embodies within the same delicious chocolate flavour as Cowan's Perfection Cocoa.

COWAN'S COCOA

In the Cowan plant on Sterling Road, Toronto, the guiding principle is cleanliness. No cleaner buildings exist than these. Sunlight and perfect ventilation are an important part of the equipment.

MOTHS

The Scourge of Good Housekeeping Conquered at Last

A GREAT boon was opened to Canadian households last year, when Snyder's, Limited, secured rights in this country to the Sani-Bilt mothproofing process and put Snyder's Sani-Bilt Mothproof Furniture on the Canadian market under an absolute and unconditional guarantee. So prominent a place did Sani-Bilt assume in the Canadian trade that soon, like mushrooms, appeared a host of imitations.

"Look," said they. "Mothproof furniture is nothing to boast about. We are mothproof, too."

Manufacturers and selling agents who, one year ago, said mothproof furniture was "impossible," "mere talk," a "fad" and so forth, are themselves now claiming that they have mothproof furniture.

Sani-Bilt Furniture Is Mothproof Absolutely

The Sani-Bilt mothproofing process is the result of twenty years of scientific experiment and research on the part of a group of famous chemists.

Other "mothproofing" processes applied to upholstered furniture were, in some cases, the inspiration of a week or a day in the sudden stampede to secure some of the trade Sani-Bilt Guaranteed Mothproof Furniture has created. Judge how long such furniture stays moth-proof! Poison processes are merely temporary, at best. Arsenic, for example, dries into dust and escapes into the air you breathe. Gasoline kills moths, but gasoline evaporates. More moths come.

Moths lay their eggs where instinct tells them their young grubs will find food. The food they require is the animal fibre of silk, wool, hair, feathers, etc. The Sani-Bilt process chemically acts upon this animal fibre and makes it useless for moths. It is as though coal oil were poured into human food. All temptation for moths is taken away. The process soaks through and through, like a colorless dye. Every fine hair and thread is saturated. Moth grubs won't touch it. They starve to death when left on it, as repeated experiments have proved.

The Sani-Bilt process acts on the only really positive principle for mothproofing that Science has discovered. It is not affected by vacuum-cleaning, dry-cleaning or steam-cleaning. It is odorless. It is permanent. And yet, it doesn't injure a thread or a hair of the finest fabric.

Sani-Bilt Chesterfield Suites are solid and substantial, inside and out. Extra springs, Marshall Cushions and the choicest and widest range of imported tapestries, mohairs and velours. The fillings are clean and new.

Our Guarantee Tag Goes With Every Piece

We give you our unconditional guarantee with each piece of Sani-Bilt Furniture. Read it. It covers construction and durability. Look, also, for our trade mark label under the Marshall Spring Cushions. Make sure.

Leading dealers throughout the Dominion show Snyder's Sani-Bilt Living-Room Furniture. Prices and sizes to suit any and all circumstances. Imitations or "just-as-goods" are never satisfactory. Insist on Sani-Bilt.

Locals' Only Score was Penalty Goal by Eric Snow.

Trojans closed out a disastrous rugby season when they bowed to the University of New Brunswick fifteen, Monday afternoon, 8 to 3. The only score the locals made was a goal penalty kick by Eric Snow. That the collegians, worn and tired from contests on Thursday and Saturday, plus a long train ride, were able to beat the husky local crew speaks extremely well for the power of the university team.

STEAMSHIP LINES ANNOUNCE LENGTHENED ST. JOHN SCHEDULE WITH PORT CHARGES REVISED

Encouraging News of Harbor Activity Here This Winter Arrives With Letters of Appreciation of Action Taken by City.

Increases in the number of steamship sailings from the port of St. John have already been announced as a direct result of the action of the common council last week in reducing still further the top wharfage charges. Four Head Line sailings for December and early January, with one or two more later in the latter month, have been secured where only one steamer for each month was contemplated following the old rates. The International Line has arranged for five sailings for December, an increase of three over the same month last season. Several other companies have also expressed their appreciation of the action of the city in letters to the local representatives of the lines.

Head Line Plans.
Percy Turcot, local manager of McLean, Kennedy, Ltd., said this morning that the Head Line's first steamer would be the Panad Head about the middle of December to load for Dublin, while the Lord Downshire will be here about the same time to load for Belfast. The Carrigan Head and Dunaff Head will load here early in January for Dublin and Belfast respectively, with probably more sailings the latter part of that month. This information was received by cable from the Head Line's main office at Belfast following the receipt of the information that St. John had reduced the port charges.

To River Plate.
The Houston Line, Mr. Turcot said, has a sailing from this port for River Plate and other South American ports the latter part of December. This service has also been pending, but a definite decision has now been made to operate from St. John.

The International Line will have five steamers loading here in December for Havre, Hamburg and Rotterdam according to information received here this morning by Nagle & Williams, local representatives of the line. This is an increase of two sailings over the same period last year, Mr. Nagle said this afternoon.

Portland Sought These.
Referring to the fact that the steamer of the line would be here this season, Mr. Nagle said that last week a delegation composed of members of the Chamber of Commerce and Port Committee at Portland had visited Montreal in an effort to secure this line's services for Portland this winter. In view of this, he said, the action of the common council undoubtedly saved the port the loss of between 25 and 30 steamers this winter in this line alone. He added that the company was greatly pleased at the action of the council in thus making it possible for the line to continue operating from this port.

Appreciation Expressed.
D. W. Ledingham, manager of Furness, Withy & Co. Ltd., said that he had received a letter this morning from the manager of the company at Montreal in which the latter expressed appreciation of the city's action and also pointed out that the action would undoubtedly prove a great benefit to the city in attracting further business to the port.

Reford Letter.
H. C. Schofield, local manager of Robert Reford and Co., said that he had received a communication from the head office of the company at Montreal, expressing satisfaction at the reduction in port charges. The manager in his letter expressed the opinion that the common council's action showed that they had the real interest of the port at heart by thus making it possible for the shipping lines to continue to operate through St. John and placing the cost nearer that of rival ports.

The company announced that the Concordia from Glasgow on Nov. 28 would be the first winter steamer of the Anchor-Donaldson Line. This vessel will carry cattle and general cargo at St. John for Glasgow and Avonmouth.

AND THIS IS NOVEMBER.

WILL BE HERE LATER.
A large number of people were disappointed last night in their arrival at the Longshoremen's hall to learn that W. D. Bayly, B. A., and a member of the Manitoba legislature, who was expected to give an address, had not arrived in the city. The committee in charge announced that owing to some misunderstanding Mr. Bayly had gone on to Charlottetown, P. E. I., but that he would speak here at a later date.

PRICE OF BREAD.
There was a report this morning that some bakers had not increased their price one cent a loaf on bread but a check of ten of the largest bakeries in the city failed to reveal any who have not increased the price. The larger proportion of the bakers are charging 12 cents a loaf wholesale and 13 cents retail although in a few cases, where bakers were formerly underselling the others, the increase of one cent still leaves their bread a cent a loaf cheaper than that of their rivals. The Toronto price is reported as being 10 cents.

HYDRO REPORTS.
The Petticoat line was tied into the high tension line yesterday and the Power Commission is now ready to energize the transmission line as soon as the residents of that village are ready, it was said this morning at the office of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. ### ST. JOHN SOON ON EQUAL FOOTING, IS HOPE OF LARKIN

Commissioner Writes Mayor Re Insurance—Mr. Ross Interviewed Him.

The cheering word was received this morning by Mayor Potts from P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner, London, that he had hope that before long St. John would be placed on a parity with Halifax and other Atlantic ports in the matter of marine insurance rates.

The letter stated that F. M. Ross had called on Mr. Larkin and presented a letter of Mayor Potts' under date of August 23, last, regarding this matter. Mr. Larkin said he spared no effort at the time the change was made to have St. John placed on the same basis as Halifax and other North American ports but at that time the underwriters contended that statistics would not warrant such action at the moment. Since then he had been busy furnishing statistics to show that St. John was the equal of any harbor on the continent so far as safety was concerned.

The letter concludes: "I think the underwriters are not now so confident that they can retain the warranty against St. John. We are hoping for a revision and that it will be placed in the same category as Halifax."

The passengers were brought on 150 steamers, operated by the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Limited, the Cunard and Anchor-Donaldson lines, the White-Star-Donaldson Line and the Royal Mail Steamship Packet Company.

It is estimated that the immigrants for Canada would total about 60,000.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram" said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "have you pulled all the turnips?" "Yes, sir," said Hiram, "they're all in the cellar."

"And the farm machinery and wagons," said the reporter. "I presume you have selected a nice exposed place behind the barn or somewhere, so that they will get the benefit of the winter storms?"

"Oh," said Hiram, "No, sir—you can't put any such foolishness as that onto me. You'll hev to go somewhere else—an' you won't hev to go fer, neither. But I think too much of a good wagon or machine to leave it out-doors all winter. An' I did Hanmer 'ud feed me on sour pancakes till I went an' fixed up a shed or found some other way to git things housed fer the winter. We orto hev a society fer the protection of farm wagons an' machinery—By Hen! Wherever I go I see some left out in the weather—an' it makes me bile all over—yes, sir."
