Poetry.

Lines on the "Noveltes" found in modern "Ladies' Magazines."
Light reading for ladies, I'm sick of the sound;
One would think ladies' brains in an invalid state;
To judge by the tales in the Magazines found,
So exceedingly light is the reading of late.

If a little good sense in a story is found,
'Tis so largely diluted with sentiment fine;
So much loving nonsense is made to abound,
That the stiffest brained miss finds no room to repique.

Stern duty and honor we thrust out of sight,
Or carefully dress in such harlequin guise;
That one who is honestly seeking for right,
In order to find it has need to be wise.

Among magazine writers there's two kinds of style,
And a hero according to novellette rule;
Must be either a villain with principles vile,
Or what's just as well an impossible fool.

An "angel in ermine" must next fall in love,
With this type of humanity silly or base; Wade through dangers unheard of below or above.

Till marriage or death puts an end to the chase.
St. Andrews, Aug. 4, 1866.

Miscellany.

A "Moving Story."
The "local" of the Buffalo Commercial has been moving. Hear him: Yesterday was the 1st of May, and everybody, except those who were so unfortunate as to own their houses—thereby being liable at any time to be sent to State Prison for the taxes—moved.

We moved.
And it was the movingest sight we ever saw.
Our folks commenced pulling up and tearing down the traps a week ago.

Most of the "plunder" was thrown into a heap and lumped off into loads, with a total disregard of ordinary rules.

The paragon and five syrup vials were packed in our new hat—one of Mackenzie's latest and best.

The castor bottles were placed in our other boots, it being so handy to carry them by the loops. The stopper came out of the one containing tomato catsup, and the top of the mustard concern was broken off.

That is the best seasoned pair of poots we ever had.
The other family insisted on coming into the house before we got out.

And so the things got mixed up some,
But we got all that belonged to us, at least.
The cartmen swore because the cookstove was so heavy, and one said "if he'd have it if we offered it to him."

Didn't offer it to him, but offered both of them a drink out of a quarter barrel of ale, nearly full, standing in the kitchen.

They took it—very kindly, but it made 'em thirsty all the forenoon.

Guess the spirit must have got out of the barrel on the road, for we couldn't squeeze half a glass out last night.

Finally got moved.
Thought we'd have our supper before we tacked the bedsteads and back room stove.

Better-half, with a patch of soot on her nose, said supper was ready.

She was mad, because, when she asked us to bring home a keg of soft soap, we proposed an amendment, substituting a keg of powder and a slow match.

We have soft soap—have to use so much of it every day in noticing men and things.
Set down at the table and took a cup of tea that was handed to us.

Thought it tasted strangely, and prospected the bottom of the cup. Found the brimstone ends of three broken matches.

Didn't drink any more tea.
Came near breaking one of our teeth on a carpet tack in the butter, and thought we'd had supper enough.

Commenced playing put up bedsteads. It's fun, when you like it.
But people don't like it, mostly.
None of the blasted rails would fit. Got the wrong ones into the wrong posts, and couldn't screw them up.

Marked them all with a pencil before we took them down, and thought we'd know how they went together again; but somebody wiped the marks all out.

Cords broke, and we had to tie them together.
The knots wouldn't slip around the pegs, and we couldn't draw the rope tight.

More remarks from 'the children's' mother on the subject of profanity.
Didn't pay any attention to her, and thus succeeded in getting through with the job.

Then went down and harnessed the stove.
The legs all fell out when we tried to lift it on to the zinc, but got it into position at last.

Two lengths and one elbow in the bureau drawer, and the two lengths rolled up in the parlor carpet.

Got a hatchet and a stick of wood and commenced pounding the pipe together.
Knocked a chunk out of one of our knuckles, and got the elbow on wrong end up.

Had to take it all apart and change it—Commenced pounding again, but couldn't make it jibe.

Pounded more.
The more we pounded, the more it wouldn't fit, and thought we'd give it up.

Expressed an opinion in relation to stovepipes in general, and this one in particular, and made some allusions to the original inventor of this kind of furniture.

Went to the rear grocery and got "weel lager" felt refreshed, and resumed the attack on the pipe.

Found out that what ailed us before was that we hadn't pounded enough.
Remedied the defect, and the job was done.
Stove smoked beautifully.

Got wife to tie rags around three of our fingers and one thumb, and thought we'd sit down and have a smoke.

Found meerschaum after a while, and discovered amber mouth-piece broken.

Got the tobacco can, but on ascertaining that the salt cellar had been emptied into it, made up our mind that we'd better go to bed, and started to pick our way through the mass of things piled up and scattered about.

Stumbled over the long rockers of a chair and barked one shin. Returned no answer to an interrogatory as to why we "didn't break our neck"; repeated "Now I lay me," and turned in.

Having a strong constitution, which enables us to bear a good deal, and always paying strict attention to our sleeping, didn't know anything till morning.

Went down stairs and found wife getting breakfast, with tears in her eyes.

"Told us she 'was deceived in the house," if she'd "know what it was, she would never have moved into it," and that she'd never be able to "settle" in it.

This settled us, and declining to partake of the frugal morning meal which had been provided—we remembered the supper—we took our departure, promising to call in the early part of the ensuing week, when things had been "put to rights."

And we mean to go.

[From the Pall Mall Gazette.]
The Prussian "Needle-Gun."

The first impression conveyed by an inspection of the now celebrated Prussian "needle-gun" is, that a chumster, ruder weapon could scarcely be contrived. The want of finish apparent in every part—in the uncrowned barrel, in the rough stock, in the ugly fittings, in the want of balance and handiness of the whole—is very striking to an eye educated by the beautiful workman-ship of our English gun-factories. This rudeness of appearance is perhaps apt to interfere with a dispassionate and accurate estimate of the general merits of the arm; but we are satisfied that no estimate, however passionate and just, could fail to be unfavorable to its pretensions. The real imperfections of the arm are not those which appear merely on its surface; they are more deeply seated, and belong to the system of the piece.

The following description, however rough and general, will perhaps convey some idea of the breech-closing arrangement, and may possess some interest at the present time.— The barrel tapers slightly, externally, at the breech-end; and is closed, when required, by means of a hollow bolt, the front of which being cased out internally, to correspond with the conical end of the barrel, forms a sort of breech-cap. This bolt can be pushed forward or drawn back at pleasure; its withdrawal opens the end of the barrel for the reception of the cartridge, and when it is pushed forward again, the breech is closed. The arrangement for champing it in the latter position is exactly that of the ordinary door-bolt. The bolt, it has been said, is hollow, and through it plays the long needle by which the ignition of the cartridge is effected, and from which the gun derives its name. The striking force and action of the needle depend upon a spiral spring within the bolt, which is released by means of a trigger, the needle shooting forward into a patch of detonating composition in the centre of the cartridge. The ammunition is as rude and defective as the arm.
The bullet is a small, rough nucleus of cast lead, considerably lighter than our Enfield bullet,

It derives its ratory motion from a paper mache "sabot," into which its lead end fits.— In the hinder part of this "sabot" is placed the detonating composition, and behind this again, in a thin paper case which encloses the whole, is the powder. The needle thus has to pass through the powder before it strikes the detonating composition.

The arm is well known to our War-Office authorities, and trials which have been made with it in this country have been very unsatisfactory. For anything like longrange shooting it is absolutely useless, while its shooting qualities at shorter ranges are very much below the standard which we have adopted. For a breech-loader it is a slow arm, its rapidity of fire being not quite one half that of the Snider-Enfield, and little more than twice that of a handy muzzle-loader. The escape of gas at the breech, after the arm has been in use for any time, is said to be excessive—so great, in fact, that the Prussian soldiers prefer to deliver their fire from the hip. The needle and trigger arrangement require very careful cleaning; and the employment of a spring as a material element is very objectionable. The needle itself is much exposed to injury, and if bent or broken, the arm is rendered useless. The ammunition is open to numerous practical objections; among which its susceptibility to injury from damp and other causes is very prominent. In short, it is no exaggeration to say that of the various breech-loading rifles which have been submitted to the Select Committee the Prussian needle gun, even with some recent improvement, is one of the most defective. Its defects, indeed, were so conspicuous that it was thought unnecessary to carry out with it any extensive experiments. A committee of French officers, we believe, came to a precisely similar conclusion.

And yet it is with this arm that the great battles in Bohemia have been fought and won, and with which the overthrow within a few days of one of the mightiest military nations in the world has been in great part accomplished.

To us this should be a source, not of anxiety, but of satisfaction. We are not, as is sometimes inaccurately represented, behind hand in this matter. Neither France, nor Italy, nor Austria, nor Russia, has taken any decided steps towards arming her troops with a breech-loading rifle; and Prussia is the only nation of any importance in Europe whose armies are so equipped. We, on the other hand, are now actively engaged in the production of an arm superior to the Prussian needle-gun at all points, and one which the efficiency in every respect has been laboriously and conclusively established. The final report of the Select Committee has, we understand, been presented, and is even more satisfactory than the preliminary reports on the faith of which the partial conversion of Enfield rifles was commenced. It now only rests with the authorities to determine at what rate the conversion shall proceed. Our means of production are practically unlimited, and we trust that General Peel will inaugurate his policy at the War Office by so applying these means as to insure our army being furnished throughout with the present year, with a breech-loading rifle at present without its equal as a military arm in Europe.

[From the London Telegraph]
Discovery of Chlorotom.

Our own great dead! We neglect even our own great men! There is one alive now whom all men honor, and love and bless; but it might rain stars and garters, and pensions, in this herald-riden island, before anything worthy of glorious gift of humanity would be conferred on Dr. James Simpson, of Edinburgh.
Science, humanity, and solid sterling worth, are so curiously treated, and learn to be modest while luck knavery and good courtiership glitter with rewards, that he will probably not thank us for bringing his name into light. We shall be even asked by some "who is Dr. Simpson, of Edinburgh?" We answer that Dr.
Simpson is the man who gave the world the grand, the blessed gift of chloroform. Come with us, enquiring public, and a careless star-scattering government man, to the operating room of a London hospital! Do you know what that room used to be in the year 1847?
A scene of agony and keen torture unspeakable to which men were obliged to apprentice themselves, with sickness and fainting fits, ere they could witness it unmoved. Battle wounds are nothing; but to have a surgeon's knife slowly searching in the home of life—to have his scalp parting the living tissue—to feel the saw rasping the bone, and forceps pinching the nerve, and to be held down against the agony till gently swoon—that was once the horrible experience of the room. Shall we make the picture complete with a sketch of those cock-pits where the stump of the man of war's man was plunged into hot pitch to stop the bleeding, and when poor Jack had come to again, the surgeon's knife was ready to cut and shiver him under his own eyes? Or shall we speak of the sight that Lister and Brodie have seen a hundred times when some unhappy girl accused with a cruel disease, has been carried white and shaking into the theatre, and has died in agony under the slash of the knife!— All others than girls grew white, for generation after generation, at the sight of the awful knife, so necessary and so cruel! Strong men borne from the lattle, turned silent and pale, for its dreadful gleam; brave hearts chose death rather than the anguish of the operating table. Yet for all the years of disease and wounds, and lessons that had afflicted humanity, there was no resource in many a hopeless case but the slow agony and the uncertain gain.

What did Mr. James Simpson do? Why —heaven bless him for his gentle work!—he sat, and schemed, and read, and labored, ex-perimentalized, and ended by putting himself and his companion, Dr. Keith, under the study table with the fumes of chloroform.

But their consciousness returned, the terrors of the operating-room were gone.

Science, which gives so slowly, but with both hands full, when she gives at all, has honored his humanity, with the dearest and most boon that suffering mortality ever received.— A sweet and subtle anodyne was found out, which steals the feeling of the frame away, and leaves the patient free. Go to the operating room now and mark the glorious difference.— The benign vapor is administered and the knife does its work without a tremor or spasm; the sufferer wakes up and asks, "when will it be?"

That deliverance from pain is the boon that Simpson conferred on men and women who suffer maladies that call for the knife and ligature; and since God proclaimed the law that pain and sorrow, misery and trouble should depart by man's patient work, as by man's fault they came, there have been few nobler gifts bestowed on suffering mortals. Set up your statue for our great dead physician, generous people of France; and don't ask what we have done for our great and good living doctor!— You made him an associate of your Academy, and sent him your Monthson prize; and King Oscar of Sweden made him Knight of St.
Olaf.

We, who own him, who speak his language who were the first to benefit by the splendid scientific boon he bestowed on our hospitals; and sick rooms, and on the couch where motherhood fulfils, in exquisite anguish, the woman's share of the primal curse—we hardly know his name, and did our best some of us to back his discoveries with sombre theories that pain was impious to steal the agony from the fainting mother, or stay the death-went on the forehead of the weak victim who writhes under the operating knife. We, compassionate at last towards the deepening groans of humanity, are only reminded of him by our statue which has been raised to Jenner; and when we think of something worth giving him who found out this divine boon for us—this fair gift of chemistry—we remember that the couriers, and the swells, and the diplomatic fill the list of honors; so that we can merely give the Scotch Doctor our barren thanks while we are sound, and our blessings when the surgeon gets hold of us, and the case of instruments comes out.

[The British Government have recently made a tardy recognition of Dr. James Simpson's inimitable services of humanity by knightling him.]

A PAPER IN A FAMILY. We never saw a newspaper that was not worth greatly more than its cost in a family. It is to a great extent true of every collection of written matter, book or newspaper, but more especially of the latter, for it covers a much greater variety of subjects, and is necessarily more condensed. It is a well known fact that there is no royal road to learning. The brain, full of knowledge whose activity sends light over our daily pathway, has been acquired by hard and constant study. Every book and every paper which the careful or careless reader picks up is filled with the results of laborious investigation. Take the single issue of a daily or weekly paper, and see in its editorials, its instantaneous articles, its reviews, its more drudgery of daily facts, its quips and quiddities, its philosophy and how much care and labor must have been bestowed to furnish with the regularity of one's meal. It makes no preten-sions. It is furnished to every man for a fraction of what his ice or any one of the simple luxuries of his household costs him, and yet it is teeming with thoughts which are constantly influencing his actions and forming the opinions of his children, to govern their after lives. Into the columns of the newspaper come the untraced opinions of the great thinkers and statesmen of the old world and the new, and at a cost, compared with the value of information acquired, utterly insignificant in amount. No man, no head of a family especially, who would properly qualify his children to pass respectably, or profitably and with satisfaction to themselves through the world, should ever deny to them the advantage of a daily or at least a weekly newspaper.

Don't DRIVE THE BOYS FROM HOME.— Mothers who are disturbed by the noise and untidiness of at home, must be careful, lest by their reproaches they drive their children from home in search of pleasure elsewhere. The transcript gives a case in point:
"There are those balusters all fingers marks again," said Mrs. Carr, as she made last with a soft linen cloth to polish down the shining oak again. "George," she said, with a flushed face, as she gave the cloth a decided wrench out of the basin of suds, if you go up these stairs again before bedtime you shall be punished."

"I should like to know where I am to go," said George, angrily. "I can't sit in the kitchen, I am so in the way; and now you say I can't go up to my own room. I know a grand place where I can go," he added to himself: "boys are never told they are in the way there, and we can have lots of fun. I'll go down to Niles' corner. I can smoke a cigar now as well as any boy, if it did make me awful sick the first time. They shall not laugh at me again about it."

And so the careful house keeper virtually drove her son from her door to hang about the steps, and sit under the broad, inviting portico of the village grog-shop. Do you think she gained or lost?

A young couple had been married by a Quaker, and after the ceremony he remarked:
"Friend thou art at the end of thy troubles." A few weeks after the young man came to the good minister, boiling over with rage (his wife was a regular vixen).
"I thought you told me I was at the end of my troubles."
"So I did, my friend, but I did not say which end."

ITEMS.
The Fenian prisoners confined in the jail in an attempt to make their escape. They were subsequently properly secured.

We learn from the Farmer that Rev. Mr.
Huntington, D. D., of Boston, and recently elected Bishop of the Episcopal Church in Maine, has signified his intention of accepting the position to which he is elected.

The members of the 15th regiment, belonging to Anson's, returned home last week. The fifteenth was the last of the Maine regiments in the service. It was mustered out at Charleston, S. C., July 4th.

A grave Quaker once, went through a bad street, was astonished to see his son emerge from a den which no decent person frequents. The graceless youth drew back hopping to escape tonished parent, "never be ashamed of coming out of that sort of place; but be especially careful never more to go into one."

"Do not take that egg. The hen will not said a mother to a child five years old. "Do they keep the egg for a pattern, mother?" asked the child.

LONDON, July 26. Parliament will be asked to guarantee four millions sterling ($20,000,000) for the construction of the Inter-Colonial Railway from Halifax.

OTTAWA, Aug. 3.—(Sackville, 4. Message received here from Her Majesty the Queen to the Governor General yesterday, per Atlantic Cable.

It was read in Parliament, and received with the utmost enthusiasm. News from the Colonial Secretary about presence, in London, of the Lower Province Delegates, also, understood to have been received by Lord Monck.

Railway Utilization.

Amid the stillness of our town, it is encouraging to perceive that this subject is not only receiving the attention of our contemporaries of the Provincial press, but that so highly respectable and influential an English paper as "Heropath's Railway Journal," should express concurrence in the views we have so lately advanced.

INTER-COLONIAL RAILWAY.

£9,000,000 was said to be Mr. Fleming's estimated cost of this line, by those who are supposed to be not very favourable to the project. Mr. Nelson, the secretary of the committee for promoting its construction, has recently stated Mr. Fleming's estimate to be £4,000,000, a little different from £9,000,000.

At Woodstock it would meet the existing line to St. Andrew's. From St. Andrew's to St. John the line is under contract. It then proceeds from St. John to Moncton, a line that is made. From Moncton to Truro the line is under contract. From Truro to Halifax it is made.

stock. Should the direct route ever be required, the railway from Riviere du Loup will in a large measure form part of it.

The intercolonial railway now suggested via Woodstock, St. Andrews and St. John, would certainly not be very direct from Riviere du Loup to Halifax, but it would doubtless be the best commercial line, and the great object of opening Canada to communication with England, all the year round, by a railway entirely in British territory would be attained.

In the postal service alone, having a railway from Halifax to Canada would be of great importance, for a letter from England could reach the farthest extremity of Western Canada before the steamer made the passage from Halifax to New York.

Our Government would lose not a sixpence by advancing capital sufficient to ensure the construction of the remaining line from Woodstock to Riviere du Loup, and this capital amounts to a mere fraction of our annual national income. A line from Halifax to join the Grand Trunk would, among other advantages, render our trade with Canada entirely free from the fiscal enactments of the United States.—(Hereafter the Journal.)

The August term of the Court of Nisi Prius was opened here yesterday. Mr. Justice Weldon presiding.

Seven civil causes, and five criminal cases were entered for trial.

The Amherst Gazette says, four Confederate Delegates from Canada have left for London the Honorable Messrs. M'Donald, Carrier, Galt, and M'Dougall.

St. Stephen and its Railway.

We were agreeably surprised on visiting St. Stephen last week at the marked progress which has been made at that thriving port within fifteen months. Our brief stay did not permit of our visiting the surrounding country, but what we saw convinced us that it has taken a start of most other places in the Province.

Several beautiful private residences and stores have been erected, and are occupied, business appeared to be brisk and the stores well supplied. Many American firms have removed from Calais and are doing a thriving trade at St. Stephen, as also several young merchants from St. John.

Mr. Murchie's new mansion at Milltown.

is a splendid edifice, and is worthy of its enterprising owner; Mr. Todd's residence on the point at the Cove, is situated on a commanding site, and with its extensive grounds and beautiful surroundings is as charming a residence as need be. Mr. Cullinan has commenced the erection of a splendid House on the site of his former residence which was destroyed by fire last winter.

ST. STEPHEN BRANCH RAILWAY.

In company with the hon. A. R. McLellan, hon. John McAdam, Jas. G. Stevens, Esq., M. P. P., H. Thompson, Esq., one of the Directors, and W. M. Buck, Esq., Chief Engineer, we had a ride over the road on the "St. David" the pioneer locomotive, for nearly six miles, out to Cleland's crossing, and it is expected that the rails will be laid to Moore's Mills, within a fortnight. The road is substantially built and is being ballasted, the bridges are of stone, and finished in the best style; such is the demand for increased facilities in the construction, that the enterprising and energetic President hon. Wm. Todd has made arrangements, we learn, for placing a second Engine on the road within a month—in fact Mr. Todd is one of those men, who successful in the ordinary operations of trade, may be safely trusted and followed in important enterprises outside the routine of his regular business.

No better illustration of this fact is to be found, than in the progress made in the construction of the St. Stephen Branch Railway. A ship load of rails is daily expected from England, and it is confidently believed that the road will be opened for traffic by the first of November. Mr. Buck was complimented by the Chief Commissioner of Public Works, on his professional ability, and what is rare of keeping the work within its estimated cost. When the road is finished, it is confidently anticipated that it will add materially to the business prospects of St. Stephen. The contractors are energetic men, and the work would not be so far advanced.

Wanted—A British Ensign!

AN EXAMPLE worth following may here be given. Two young ladies of a little village named St. Stephen Upper Mills, who witnessed the "Stars and Stripes," floating at the opposite side of the river, daily, recently undertook to collect an amount sufficient to purchase a "Union Jack," under which they informed us they were born and desired to live. In a few hours they collected twenty seven dollars, with which sum a handsome new and large flag was purchased at St. John, and they have now the pleasure of seeing it wave over their loyal hamlet. These young ladies are true types of loyal British girls; long may their flag wave over them.

Will it be believed that our Fort has NO FLAG! It is a fact which cannot be denied.—For the purpose of supplying this want, a subscription paper is now lying at the Standard Office where contributions will be received, and when a sufficient amount is subscribed, an Ensign will be purchased, and Fort Tipperary will then have the glorious old flag flying from the ramparts.

We are indebted to a respected correspondent for the latest copies of the "London Times," and "Hong Kong Daily Press."—From the latter journal we learn that the 2d Batta. 11th regiment was sent to Japan, as cholera had broken out among the men. The quarters in which they were placed was pronounced "bad," by the medical officers.

Complaints were made that the American residents at Swatow, had seized land that did not belong to them and knocked down boundary walls. Their national disposition to "annex" property not their own, was common, and the American Consul had consented to his countrymen employing an armed force to act against Chinese authority. Swatow is a Chinese port.

By recent telegrams from the States and Canada, it is reported the Fenians are congregating in large numbers opposite the Canada shore. We trust that the authorities of our Province will keep a sharp look out.

LAST WEEK—Messrs J. & C. Short launched their boat from their building yard, St. Stephen, a handsomely modelled and finished barge of 324 tons named the "Ellen DeWolfe."—She is registered in French Lloyds to class 64 yrs, copper fastened and iron keel, owned by Messrs. Z. Chipman and J. Bolton, and commanded by our young townsman Capt. Fred. Andrews. The Messrs. Short are also our townsmen and have added another laurel to their fame as shipbuilders.

DR. CHASE'S RECEIPTS.—Mr. Morrow, the agent for this really useful work, which embraces a fund of information both practical and theoretical—will visit St. Andrews, during the week, with copies of the book for sale. Having looked through the work, we can confidently assert that it contains more general information, than other books of the same description in use. The Agent has sold a large number of copies.

At the recent sales of land at the Crown Land Office higher prices were realized than ever before. Well done Mr. Connell—a good beginning at all events.

The American Telegraph Company have reduced their rates from the Provinces to as far as Philadelphia 30 per cent.

The Atlantic Cable is reported working successfully messages are received at the rate of 12 1/2 words per minute.

MILITIA GENERAL ORDERS.

HEAD QUARTERS FREDERICTON, 1st August, 1866. No. 51. His Excellency the Commander in Chief has been pleased to direct that the Competition for His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales' Challenge Cup, shall take place at Mount Fordham, near Fredericton, commencing on Wednesday the 3rd of October.

No. 52. His Excellency the Commander in Chief has much pleasure in directing the publication of the following Letter, and has no doubt that the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men lately assembled at the Camp of Instruction, will fully appreciate the value of approval bestowed by an Officer of Colonel Harding's experience and distinction.

Colonel Harding, C. B., to the Private Secretary to the Lieutenant Governor, Fredericton, N. B. 25th July, 1866. Sir,—I have honor to report, for the information of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, that on Thursday, the 19th instant, I inspected the Camp of Instruction at Torriburn, when I found everything in good order. Having previously seen Lieutenant Col. Oty and Inches drill their respective Regiments of Militia, and knowing their proficiency, I directed the Majors of the 1st and 2nd Battalions to take command, (naming myself the movements); this they did in a most satisfactory manner, the Company's officers and men showing much intelligence.

Subsequently on the 21st instant, I Brigaded the Militia (commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Oty and Inches), with the K. Battery of Royal Artillery, and 15th Regiment, putting the whole Force through various complicated maneuvers, the Militia acquitted themselves in a most soldier-like way, and proved themselves quite capable of working in Brigade with Regular Troops, thus reflecting the greatest credit on their Commandant, Captain Holloway, and the other Officers under whose instructions they had been placed.

I have the honor to be, Sir, Your most obedient servant. J. HARDING, Colonel, Commanding Troops, N. B. The Secretary, &c. &c. &c. To His Excellency the Lieut. Governor, N. B. By Command. G. J. MAULSELL, Lt. Col. Adj. Gen. of Militia.

FROM THE STATES.

New York, Aug. 3. An Ottawa (Canada) despatch says that information has reached the Government that another Fenian raid will soon take place, General Dick Taylor to command in chief.—It is thought that the struggle will be a severe one. A war with the United States is not unlikely as things look.

An Havana correspondent says that another Spanish fleet is about to sail for the South Pacific, to resume the war against the allied South American Republics. It consists of one ironclad, four steam frigates and four transports, carrying 184 guns. The transports, carry ten or twelve thousand infantry. Gold 147 1/2.

Aug. 4. Gen. Santa Anna has been arrested and imprisoned. He pays his damages at $25,000. GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 3. The steamer Treacle brings Matamoros dates of the 29th ult.

The Brownsville Courier mentions the sudden arrival of Gen. Sheridan in that city. He spent most of his time in Matamoros. It is on dit that he bore official and mysterious messages to the Mexican authorities. All the prominent army officers feted him. He left for New Orleans on Sunday. Quiet reigns. Gold 148.

LONDON, Aug. 4. The bill for the renewal of the suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus in the House of Commons last night.

Mr. Gladstone in a speech supported the government, and warmly praised the treatment accorded to the Fenians by the American government.

Mr. Magraw's resolution against the bill was negatived by a vote 155 against 31. The French Ambassador to England, left for Vichy last night by command, to see the Emperor. Consols 87 1/2.

Aug. 6. The Herald's London special of the 3rd inst. says:— "A trial law has been proclaimed in lower Austria, and also in Venice, Prussia, and Wurtemberg. A Peace Conference is to be held at Prague. The preliminaries agreed upon are as follows:— Austria is to withdraw from the German Confederation, and is to lose Venetia and her part of Schleswig-Holstein. Austria is also to pay ten millions of dollars to her adversaries as expenses of war. The German States north of the Maine are to form a union under the guidance of Prussia. The German States south of the Maine are to form an independent union. The Italian patriot, Farui, is dead. In the Goodwood races, the Goodwood Stakes were won by Special, and the Goodwood Cup by Duke. Consols 87 1/2. United States 5-twenties 69. Gold 147 1/2.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 6. The steamer General Little blew up near Bethlehem this afternoon. The passengers say she was racing with the steamer St. Charles when the explosion took place. Both boats were close together. The St. Charles brought the wounded to More city. Not more than fifteen or eighteen persons were lost.—The officers of the St. Charles deny that the boats were racing. They rendered every assistance possible to the Gen. Little, which is a total wreck. No cable news. Gold 147 1/2.

THE FREDERICTON CLUB VICTORIOUS. Yesterday evening we received the following telegram. The Bostonians have been somewhat unfortunate on our soil, but they made a gallant fight and deserved to have conquered late.—[Telegraph.

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE.
THE GREAT AMERICAN REMEDY

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.
THE GREAT EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL REMEDY.
GIVES THE MOST EXCELLENT PAIN IN A FEW MINUTES.
AND RAPIDLY CURES THE PATIENT.

Takes its superiority to all other remedies at once.
THE FIRST THING TO DO TO RELIEVE THE SUFFERER OF PAIN, is to rub what causes it, or where it may be seated.
If in the Head, Face, or Throat;
If in the Back, Spine, or Shoulder;
If in the Arms, Breast, or Side;
If in the Joints, Limbs, or Muscles;
If in the Nerves, Toes, or Feet;
Or in any other part of the body, its application to the part or parts where the pain exists will afford immediate relief.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
Should be applied to the part or parts affected. It instantly relieves the patient from pain, and quickly kills, soothes, and strengthens the diseased part. In all cases of Head, Face, Throat, Spine, or Shoulder, the application of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF to the wound will prevent inflammation and mortification.

FEVER AND AGUE.
Persons exposed to the Malaria of Ague, or who are seized with Chills and Fever, will find a positive Antidote and Cure in RADWAY'S READY RELIEF. Let two large spoonfuls of the Ready Relief, in a wine glass of water, be taken on getting out of bed in the morning, and however exposed to malaria you will escape.

WILL REMOVE THE PAIN INTERNALLY.
How does it work? It is continued use will, in a few hours, cure the patient.

HOW IT CURES.
The secondary indication of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is to cure the patient of the disease or ailment that occasions the pain; that it accomplishes rapidly and radically, so that the patient transferred from pain, misery, weakness, and dejection to the delightful enjoyment of health and strength, that patients frequently ascribe to talismanic power to the appearance of relief.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
IS TRULY MARVELLOUS. It cures the patient of the disease or ailment that occasions the pain; that it accomplishes rapidly and radically, so that the patient transferred from pain, misery, weakness, and dejection to the delightful enjoyment of health and strength, that patients frequently ascribe to talismanic power to the appearance of relief.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM CURED.
Twenty Years of Sleepless Nights.
Wm. Spencey, Esq., of Havana, Cuba, the correspondent of the London Times, writes that he has been afflicted with Chronic Rheumatism for twenty years, and for twenty years he had not enjoyed one whole night's sleep. He applied RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, and the medicine gave him ease and secured him the first calm and undisturbed sleep during ten years.

ALL MALIGNANT DISEASES
First give warning of their presence, and if not promptly before they become incurable, and when the system, will be readily expelled.

SIGNS OF SICKNESS.
Headache, Pain in the Limbs—in the Stomach, Back, and Kidneys—Cold Chills, and Hot Flushes, Cold or Burning Skin, Nausea, Shivering, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Headaches, Giddiness, &c., are the ordinary symptoms of Malignant Diseases. One spoonful of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is sufficient to break up and effect a speedy cure, and restore the patient to health.

SOLDIERS.
Every soldier should carry with him a supply of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF. It supplies the place of all other medicines, and as a beverage, a teaspoonful of the Relief, to a wine glass of water, is a nice, pleasant, or stimulant than any other remedy.

SICKNESS PREVENTED IN THE SEA MILITARY REGT.
Eight Maine regiment, Capt. C. P. Lord, writes that RADWAY'S READY RELIEF saved the regiment from death while encamped at Tybee Island, S. C., when working in the swamps, eroding fortifications. Every man seized with Typhoid, Cholera, Fever, and Ague, and Ague, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Rheumatism, was cured by the use of the Ready Relief.

CAUTION.
In all cases ask for RADWAY'S READY RELIEF. Take no other. See that the signature of RADWAY & Co. is on the outside label of each bottle. Every agent is supplied with a new and fresh stock. Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by Druggists, Merchants and country stores.
