MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR FALLEN HEROES

Impressive Service Held in St. Andrew's Church Sunday Evening.

An impressive memorial service was held in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday evening last in memory of Lieut. Col. A. E. G. McKenzie, the gallant commander of the 26th Battalion and Pte. Harold Brown and Gunner Chas. Killam, recently reported killed in action.

Rev. Mr. Miller in the following address very fittingly spoke of these members of the congregation who have given their lives for the freedom of the world. The following is the address:—

During the past weeks we have been elated over the successes of the Allied forces on the Western Front, which mean so much to our cause and which promise to be the beginning of the end. Only one thing robs our joy of its fullness, the thought of the price paid for in human lives for the victories. Throughout the Empire thousands waited in fear and anguish for tidings of their own.

In its bitterest sense, war has entered three of the homes of this congregation, and we now in our humble and sincere manner recognize their death and revere their memory.

The name of the first, Lt. Col. A. E. G. McKenzie, D. S. O., was a household word not only in his native town but equally so throughout his native province and beyond. I do not think I am over-estimating when I say that he was New Brunswick's most distinguished soldier, and that his career compares most favorably with any in Canada, and there are many great ones. The record of Canada is an enviable one, rich in heroic deeds and crowned with many victories due to courage and resourcefulness of all ranks. In that record the name of Lt. Col. McKenzie is written large, and when the history of this war will be written he and his men of the gallant 26th will share in its undying glory.

His service is notable for its length. Since November 1914, nearly four years ago, to the hour of his death he gave himself unreservedly to the cause of the Empire. For the greater part of that period he was on active service, and since April 1916, with brief intermission for rest and recuperation, he was the competent and beloved leader of officers and men of New Brunswick's historic battalion.

ON TO CAMBRAI; CRY CANADIANS!

Canadian Troops "Peeved" Over Being Held Up By Army Leaders.

With the Canadian Forces, Sept. 18—Four days of rain, mostly a drizzle, sometimes a deluge, have converted this unhappy No Man's Land into a slosh of mud and puddles. The deluge of life under canvas are somewhat tarnished when one finds one's tent a pool of water and one realizes something of the miseries of the old trench warfare behind us. Fritz is throwing some of his big stuff around this area. In front is Canal Du Nord and beyond lies a range of low hills, heavily wooded on their western slopes. Back of them lies a garden of Eden, war has not entered.

"Why can't they let us in there," our soldiers grumbling ask. "There's mighty good battle in Cambrai. In this blessed hole you carry off a shell hole every step."

The men grumble, but they are happy. The old corps is all right; Fritz would sooner run up against a mad dog any day.

Letters Arriving.

The army post office has worked devotedly, but it has been a desperate task keeping up to the kaleidoscopic movements of the corps. The first Canadian letters are beginning to arrive, telling of what the folks at home think of the Amiens show, but no Canadian newspapers. I have not seen one since July and there is a dearth of cigarettes, tobacco and matches. A lucky souvenir hunter found a quantity of Hun matches in Escourt and traded half a dozen boxes for a box of cigars. These things are practically unobtainable, even at the army canteens.

It is cold as well as wet. Woolen underclothing, socks, mitts and night-caps are welcomed friends. They should be mailed to the boys now rather than when half the winter is over at Christmas.

Reference is being made to trench warfare. It is more speculation of course, but it is doubtful whether trench war-fare, in its bitter old form will recur this winter. It is proved that any rigid line can be broken through at will. A very wide No Man's Land, anything up to five or even ten miles, lightly held by our posts, with behind a great depth of mobile defences, seems more likely. Best of all is to keep the Hun moving as long as a road can bear a gun. It is a pity if he gets time to even prepare a crust of defence against our flood tide of victory next spring. The only foe the army fears is peace by agreement this winter.

PATHETIC STORY OF A BELGIAN SLAVE

One Illustration of the Plight of Numberless Victims of Un-pitying Barbarians.

The correspondent in Maastricht (Dutch Limburg) of a Belgian paper appearing at The Hague, writes as follows under the title, "The Odyssey of a Poor Little Urchin."

"He is a very little fellow, 1 m. 42 (about 4 ft. 8 in.) to be exact, thin but not sickly. He looks about thirteen. With an intelligent, air and great spirit he tells us his pitiful story in French which is quite correct, but has a German accent that sits oddly upon him."

"I am seventeen years old," he says in his thin little voice. "I was taken a prisoner two or three days after the war (August, 1914). I was then about thirteen years and a half. I was playing with sixteen other little friends of my village in the woods of my village in the woods at our home, at Fols-les-Caves, near Landen, where there are large wooded districts. Suddenly we were surrounded by a company of about ten German soldiers, one of whom took me by the arm and seized one of my little friends, while the other soldiers did otherwise. And then they took us away by two's. We knew not where, without giving us even the consolation of going home to say good-bye to our mothers, to tell them where we were and what had become of us. Not one of us could escape. I have never since then seen my dear mother, or my seven little brothers and sisters, who remained in Belgium."

"We followed now highways and now by-ways. On all sides the Germans picked up other little fellows no older than ourselves. By evening there were seventy of us! We arrived at a large railway station. Soldiers thrust us into cars, fifteen in each compartment, each group in charge of five German soldiers, with fixed bayonets and five cartridges apiece." The urchin said, "Five for each group."

"We arrived at Aix, then at Cologne, where we finally received a piece of black bread. We were all in tears and many had been sick."

"They took us from there to Wahn. We finally found out what they wanted of us. They put around the arm of each of us a little white band bearing these words, 'Prisoners of war.' And as he said this the little fellow burst out laughing so ridiculous and absurd the title still seemed to him for youngsters of his age."

"I do not know what became of my little comrades. They were sent in various directions, I was dispatched to a farm near the frontier, where I stayed. I worked very hard, with two horses, at all sorts of farm work and in the stables."

"In the morning I received a slice of black bread, without butter, at ten o'clock the same thing, at noon soup and two or three potatoes, at night soup. At first I was very hungry, but I became used to the fare."

"The people were not unkind; when I had not worked well the woman beat me; but the man, who was a hard drinker, rather liked me."

"I tried twice to run away. The first time I was caught near the frontier. I was put into a dark cell for six weeks, and lived on dry bread and water. The second time I was taken near Liege and was condemned to three months in prison! It is very hard, sir, for a child like me to bear such tortures. I suffered greatly. Nevertheless, I began again to plan to escape. Something stronger than myself urged me on. I wanted to see my mother again. This need was stronger in me than suffering, stronger than hunger, stronger than fear, stronger than all of them."

"There were six other little Belgians of my age, who worked on the farms in the neighborhood. For a long time we had been saving our pay—to bribe a sentinel! Sunday morning we met, we gave fifty marks ($12.50) to a soldier whom I had known for some time; he let us pass. For an hour we pretended to be playing not far from the wire fence. I walked alone to the next town. My friends were stopped. I think, by Dutch soldiers. I alone escaped. I called on the Belgian Consul. He told me that I was too little to be a soldier. But, sir, that is not my fault. The Belgian doctor here said that I had not had enough to eat, and that I had not grown as other boys do. I will wait. I am going to work to earn a lot of money to send to my mother in Belgium. "My father was a soldier, and my elder brother. They have both been prisoners in Germany for a long time. I was able to see my poor father just once, but never my brother."

"Our conversation came to an end. The child had not allowed a complaint to escape him. And I sat there crushed by this story, so simple and so poignant, of one of the numerous victims of un-pitying barbarians. I have repeated the story, as best I could, just as the little fellow told it to me. I add no comments, no discussion."

ANOTHER GERMAN

SPEECH FOR PEACE

Amsterdam, Sept. 18.—The postponement of peace prospects and the likelihood of a fifth winter of war weighs equally on all belligerents and not on Germany alone in the opinion of Friedrich Von Payer, imperial vice-chancellor of Germany, in a speech at Stuttgart.

"Our state debts," the vice-chancellor said, "are everywhere reaching fantastic heights and everywhere we struggle against the encroachments on our personal liberty. All the belligerents of Europe must admit, if they are not blind, that the longer the European peoples lacerate each other the more certain will be the historical and paramount position of weakness and impoverished Europe be lost in favor of cleverer and more calculating peoples."

Herr Von Payer said that after four years the war still was being waged almost entirely on enemy territory. He admitted that the submarine war had not worked so quickly and surely as had been hoped. The enemy, he said, was still unable to compensate their losses by new construction and declared that the robbery of neutrals ships almost without parallel by the Entente could not be repeated.

"The more troops the United States sends," he said, "the greater will be the need of shipping for reinforcements of munitions and provisions. The filling up of the enemy's by Americans therefore bears in itself its limitations." He argued that the loss of shipping would become fatal to Great Britain after the war because it would lose its shipping superiority to the United States and the hope of compensating themselves from the German fleet, which still has to be conquered, will surely be adequate comfort only for the imaginative Britishers."

INTERESTING LETTER FROM C'TON MAN

Writes of Battle and of Meeting Campbellton Boy in Hospital.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Patrick Wilnot from her husband whose name appeared in a recent casualty list. Pte. Wilnot who has been at the front for some time enlisted with the 132nd Battalion.

August, 16th, 1918.
15 Canadian Hospital,
Taplow Bucks, England.

Dear Wife:—

I wrote you a card when I was on my way to Blighty, wounded. Now I don't want you to worry about me, as I am all right. I have the best treatment here that you can get, well cared for and lots to eat. I was wounded in the right side of the face and my right arm is fractured between the shoulder and the elbow, and have had the operation, and my wounds are doing fine. I was wounded on the morning of the 9th and got down to the Canadian Hospital at Taplow. This is a very pretty place in the country away from all noise, and the hospital has fine grounds with seats all around and lots of chance to play different games. There is also a large hall where concerts are held quite often, so that I will be able to have a pretty good time when I get up. I am going to give you a little idea of the time we had in the big fight.

On the morning of the 8th at dawn every gun opened up, and the fourth division was in reserve about a mile behind the front line. The other three divisions went into action. It was a very short time before the prisoners were streaming back and we soon advanced and captured a lot of big guns, we were coming up behind all day and at night we passed through the other divisions. On the morning of the 9th at dawn we went into action and took the front line, and started to advance, but met with strong resistance. The enemy had brought up more men and more machine guns in the night. We beat our way through till about 9 o'clock when I got hit, and of course I had to go to the rear. I had a hot job getting away as it was all open country, just fields. The enemy had four miles when I came to a field ambulance and was taken to the dressing station.

The only other fellow I have met in the hospital from home is George LaPrak, we came over in the same battalion and you can imagine how surprised we both were when we met in the ward the next morning after I came here. My right arm is in a splint so it is impossible to write you myself, so don't be alarmed if my letters don't come regularly. I will be out of the war for six months, and perhaps more. This will probably help to get my leave to Canada. I will write you again in a few days. Hoping to hear from you soon.

Your loving husband,

78 MILES OF SHIPS WAITING FOR HUN

There Will be Slaughter for Germans if Fleet Ventures Into North Sea.

Confident prediction that a naval battle between the German sea forces and the Allied fleet would result in "a marine slaughter" for the Germans was made by Representative Daniel Riodan upon his return to New York recently after an inspection of American naval activities abroad.

"The protection that is being accorded merchant vessels and transports is improving by the hour," he asserted. "The U-boat was a peril. Now it is simply an annoyance. Very soon it will be obliterated."

"We were pretty anxious to get some idea of the reception that has been prepared for the German navy should it happen to come out. We saw the armor plated committee reception from a deck of a destroyer and it was a sight that will live in my memory forever."

"Stretched about the point whence the German fleet must emerge was a seventy-eight mile cordon of Allied warships—British, French, Italian, and American—whose men on their toes, steam up and guns ready. It took us seven hours to pass this high flotilla. For us it was the most magnificent spectacle in the world. The crews that man these vessels are waiting, hoping, longing for the fight that I do not think they ever will see."

SEPTEMBER 15th TO 21st.

WHAT IS SIBERIA?

The recruiting of Canadians for a force to join the Siberian expedition has naturally created an extraordinary interest in what has hitherto been, very generally, an unknown land to Canadians. Those who have been accustomed, in the past, to envisage Siberia as a vast and cheerless waste of bleak and unprofitable country, must re-adjust their opinions. This impression has been a very general one, yet it is by no means true.

Admittedly, away north, on the Arctic plateau, there is no vegetation but moss and lichen. That, however, is true of Canada also. But beneath this Arctic region, there is a vast forest zone, a belt of dense woods two thousand miles wide, running east and west across Asia. The value of this mighty timber reserve will one day be of transcendent importance in world commerce. But it is south of this, again, that we meet with real Siberia. Here we find a splendid agricultural region, through which run great navigable rivers, busy with barges and steamers, and the famous Trans-Siberian Railway. It is in this portion of the country, between the Urala and Lake Baikal, that there are thousands of miles of country, as flat as a billiard table, and thousands of miles of pleasantly undulating land, not, it is said, especially picturesque, but ripe for agricultural development.

All this southern country, moreover, is rich in mineral deposits. It is estimated that there are about a hundred and seventy-five billion tons of coal in the country. Moreover, iron, copper, zinc, silver, lead, and placer gold have been discovered in more or less abundance. Many of our Siberian soldiers may come back to Canada as wealthy miners!

As for the climate of Siberia, its reputation, like that of Mr. Pickwick, has suffered much from idle rumor. It appears to be not especially different from that of Quebec—that is in the agricultural region. In the summer it is frequently hot and dusty, according to John Foster Fraser, whose book, "The Real Siberia," gives a careful description of travel in that country. In the winter it is cold, thirty degrees of frost, but so dry and still is the air, that it is not really uncomfortable. The sky is cloudless for a month at a time. Those are days when the sleighing is in full swing.

Thus, Canadian recruits for Siberia need not fear that they are being transported to the waste places of the earth. If the army is properly equipped for the country—if we have none of the blundering which characterized the Crimean war, for instance—this expedition, so far as the soldier is concerned, should be one of comfort and of wider vision. Siberia is a country worth knowing—Quebec Telegraph.

YOUR CUP OF TEA

Your cup of Tea means much to you. It is more than an item in the daily fare. It is the one thing that "rounds off"—or spoils—an enjoyable repast. Tea is fortunately so cheap in this country that there are few who cannot afford Choice Tea. The cost per pound is only slightly higher than ordinary Tea, while the increased pleasure you get from every cup you make is worth many times the difference. It is true also, that a FLAVOR-FULL Tea like KING COLE Orange Pekoe will actually spread further—that is, make more cups to the pound. ## Crowd More Into the Busy Day

THE CHEVROLET 490 is an investment, not an expense or luxury. Doctors, business men, farmers, salesmen and ladies—all should use the Chevrolet Four-Ninety and crowd more energy, activity and business into the busy day.

The Four-Ninety stands unchallenged in its price class. The electric starting and lighting equipment is most efficient. The car is powerful, roomy, comfortable and economical. The time gained by operating a Chevrolet more than pays for the cost.

WAR'S INFLUENCE FELT UPON PULPIT

Great Majority of Future Ministers Wearing the Khaki.

Seventy-five to ninety per cent of the future ministry are wearing khaki, handling guns or carrying stretchers. This is the estimate of George E. Robins in the Christian Guardian restricting his survey to Canadian Methodists, but implying something of a widespread application. The question naturally arising is, "What new contribution will these soldier-preachers make to the college, church city and country?" Methodism, which speaks in this case, is recalled as a faith that has "always emphasized personal experience," and the writer in the Guardian easily foresees that "the unique personal experiences of the boys during this war will prove an inexhaustible collection." He also sees that "Professor James, 'Varieties' will be greatly augmented."

Thus:

Lot of Military Ministers.

St. Paul's account of his perils will be paralleled, possibly written with additions. Shipwrecked, torpedoed, dangers from mines and airships, gassed, taken prisoners, escaped, recaptured, punished, with many a sleepless night in hunger and thirst, in frequent fastings, in cold and with insufficient clothing—these things are the lot of our military ministers. Such modern apostles of freedom, bearing on their body the marks of wounds, exhibiting by their physical disability their willingness to suffer for righteous causes, will surely make a dramatic appeal to the future congregations. They indeed, gave their bodies to be burned, gassed, wounded, to be served out to the hungry jaws of the merciless instruments of destruction used in modern warfare. And because they had love it will profit them much. One factor in deciding the contribution they will make is the opportunity they are getting to test the theories of the lecture-rooming arena of the great war. The theories of the atonement will be viewed in the light of the noble sacrifices of the tens of thousands of young men, throbbing with the hope of a useful life, who willingly gave their lives for the world's good and salvation. The question of total depravity will be dealt with as they bear in mind the reappearance of elemental virtues in the hell of war. Christian perfection and entire sanctification will not have the theological confectionery flavor that some protected lives have often associated with these ideas. The problem of suffering will present new aspects to those whose bodies have had to be repaired. The subject of death will be interpreted by those who have had to face it many times, and who have witnessed the grim reaper's operations on a colossal scale.

Seeing Life All Round.

New points of view cannot fail to be a contribution of the war to life: "A criticism often made of the ministers is that they are too bookish and impractical, out of touch with the business and industrial world. But this massing of men from all stations of life, standardizing their dress and drill, linking lawyer and laborer, teacher and trainman, farmer and salesman, preacher and pressman, what result will it have? Outward uniformity there is, but it is impossible to standardize the conversation in barracks, tent and trench. What an opportunity to hear views representative of all phases of life! Crude and cultured conceptions given with equal candor. The untrained mind's solution of moral problems competing with that of the trained thinker. Each social doctor advertising his remedy for all ills, educational and religious, political and industrial.

The Next War.

"The warring probationers will give valuable aid in representing the soldiers' ideas of the post-bellum reforms and reconstruction politics which should emerge out of this fight. No one expects that events will run like a well-oiled machine when peace is declared and demobilization commences. Prussianism, tyranny, discontent, and intolerance will not die when the hatchet is buried and the pipe of peace is lit. The declaration of peace with Germany will mean starting another offensive against all forms of social injustice. The religious and social leaders who have proved themselves 'over there' will be the ones to go 'over the top' in the fight against all the unprogressive and un-

The CANADA FOOD BOARD says:

Do householders in Canada seek to evade the food regulations. Are you merchants of Canada conniving at the evasion of the food regulations? Let us see about that.

The main objective of the Canada Food Board is to supply Great Britain and the Allies with vital foods. With this in view food regulations are made, which, if respected by the people of Canada, will enable Canada to keep faithful with the Allies on food.

Do the people of Canada want to keep faithful with the Allies on food? THEY DO. Are the people of Canada keeping faith with the Allies on food? THEY ARE.

To take any other position is to suggest that the people of Canada would rather keep their pre-war food habits than keep faith with the Allies on food. No true Canadian is breaking the regulations of the Canada Food Board for he knows those regulations are made in order that Great Britain and the Allies and the Canadian Army at the front may be properly fed. WHO OF US WILL EAT WHAT SHOULD BE CONSERVED FOR THE CANADIAN ARMY AT THE FRONT?

The hearts of the people of Canada are sound and in this war to a finish Food is a first class munition of war and Canadians so view it. It will be time enough to go in for rations in Canada when the people of Canada refuse to conform to national efforts to conserve food for Great Britain and the Allies, and the Canadian Army at the front. WHEN THAT TIME COMES A POLICEMAN, NOT A FOOD CONTROLLER, WILL BE NEEDED.

Taking Precautions.

In a Surrey village lived a doctor noted for his reckless motor driving. One day when he answered the telephone a woman's voice asked him if he were going out driving that afternoon.

"No; I hardly think I will have time this afternoon," replied the doctor. "But why do you ask?"

"Well," replied the anonymous questioner, "I want to send my little daughter down the street for some thread if you are not."

Knew His Grandfather.

The School teacher put a question to the class: "How long will the war last?"

A sudden silence came over the class, when suddenly Tommy sprang up and cried: "Not so long as you think; my grandfather's off next week!"

desirable elements 'over here'.

Canada a Holy Land?

"From the trench-trained ministers we can expect unconventional methods and—languages. The pungent phrases of the boys will be brought into action and used as watchwords and battle-cries. The petty bickerings which unfortunately have characterized some church meetings will be dealt with drastically, for such smallnesses will be intolerable to those who were members of the Allied forces.

"The spirit of adventure which has characterized the soldiers will be gloriously used by those who 'continue on trial.' Those who had a tendency in pre-war days to become ideal divines will, by the process of war, be humanized. Is it too much to hope that our fighting parsons will become leaders of a new crusade, mercilessly attacking evil whether veiled or seen, challenging the 'Turkish' forces of retrogression and oppression that attempt to make Canada other than a Holy Land?"

Solving the Nation's Shoe Problem

A LARGE section of the Canadian public depends upon this company for shoes. Our financial resources and buying power are greater by far than those of any other Canadian manufacturer of shoes; our volume of output is more than twice that of any other. Our sales organization covers the nation from coast to coast, not merely a small section at a time.

Our six branches maintain adequate stocks within the reach of every dealer in Canada, and are now serving more than 5,000 dealers, enabling them to fill orders quickly and to cut down the amount of idle stock on their shelves.

We are making every effort to use this power to help solve the big problem of providing enough good quality shoes to go around. In the face of an actual scarcity of leather, it is difficult; but it can be done if you will co-operate with us. Buy wisely, for service rather than merely for style, and see that the shoes you buy are stamped with the manufacturer's trade-mark.

Kitchener was right

when he said—

"Either the civilian population must go short of many things to which it is accustomed in times of peace or our armies must go short of munitions and other things indispensable to them."

NOW the only way we can possibly live up to that obligation is by going without in order that our soldiers may have. For the money we waste is not money at all—it is equipment, clothing, shot and shell that are urgently needed in France. By denying ourselves, therefore, we enable Canada to procure to the fullest extent the materials and labor which she and our Allies need for the successful prosecution of the war. What happens when we fail to save? A pull on labor by the Government in one direction and a pull on labor by the people in the opposite direction.

Hundreds of millions of dollars are of no use to the country if goods and services can be secured only to the extent of eighty millions of dollars. So we must do everything in our power to release both goods and labor for the purposes for which Canada needs them.

WHETHER it be food, coal, wool, steel, leather, labor or transportation, the result in all cases is the same. Whoever competes with the nation by freely satisfying his own desires, selfishly appropriates to his own use that which is so urgently required for our fighting men in France.

For the sake of your country and the boys "over there," spend cautiously. Think of what Lord Kitchener has said, and ask yourself first, "Is this something I really need or can I do without it?"

The closing of the breweries in the United States from December 1st, to save grain and coal, is a sweeping and impressive measure showing how powerful is the sentiment in favor of devoting the whole stream of national energy to the work of victory. It is said the decision will close 10,000 saloons in New York alone.

FEATHERED MESSENGERS' FAITHFULNESS SAVES THE HUMAN BIRDSMEN'S LIVES

London, Sept. 17.—Wonderful stories are told of the life saving work of the British army carrier pigeons in the war zone.

Recently a pigeon was liberated from one of two British seaplanes in the North Sea. Flying through an aerial battle, the pigeon was wounded in the leg by a bullet, but it arrived at its destination in an exhausted condition, its feathers stained with blood. The message it carried was the one word "Attacked."

According to the aviators report received subsequently two British machines were opposed by six German planes. The Germans, however, made off before there was any chance of a more equal fight. The sturdy pigeon which has recovered from its wounds, is now the pet of the flying station and has been "pensioned off."

Another pigeon, at the cost of its life, saved the lives of six British airmen who were adrift in the North Sea. After delivering their message, an appeal for help, the pigeon dropped dead from exhaustion. The wrecked airmen when succored from their perilous position, were on the point of meeting a similar fate, for they had no food and very little water.

ON TO BERLIN IS CRY

AS N. Y. MILLION

Hand in Names.
New York, Sept. 15.—New York's army, nearly a million strong, marched to registration centres yesterday, voicing in all the fifty odd tongues of the poliglot city their willingness to join General Pershing's men overseas.

As news of the first great American offensive was spread through the long lines of waiting registrants throughout the city, the cry went up: "On to Berlin."

DALHOUSIE

Dalhousie, Sept. 19.—The annual meeting of the Skating and Curling Rink Company, Ltd., was held on Thursday, Sept. 12th. The following new officers were appointed:—President, C. H. LaBillico, Vice-Pres. Capt. Chas. Powell, Secy. Treas. S. Blanchard, Directors, Frank McEvoy, W. F. Simpson, S. Blanchard, Capt. Chas. Powell, and C. H. LaBillico.

After considerable discussion a resolution was adopted giving permission to the directors to place the management of the rink in the hands of five stockholders for a period of five years.

The interest in the K. of C. Drive has increased every day. Splendid meetings have been held in the centre of the county. At Upper Charlo and Balmoral meetings were held this week and were very largely attended. On Tuesday evening the Opera House in Dalhousie was the scene of a fine gathering of citizens to hear the origin of the drive explained. The hall was nicely decorated, prominent were flags of the British, France and United States. Music during the evening was furnished by Mrs. H. Hubert, piano, Miss Geraldine Sheehan, violin and Wallace Sheehan, drum.

In addition to the speakers those who occupied seats on the platform were: Rev. J. L. McLean, F. McEvoy, mgr. Sydney Lumber Co., Philip R. Hussey, mgr. P. Q. Lumber Co., Sheriff Craig, F. Blanchard, P. H. Sheehan, Mayor W. S. Montgomery occupied the chair, and in well chosen remarks introduced the speakers referring to the necessity of unity in this struggle. His Honor Judge McLatchy, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Minister of Public Works, who spoke in both languages and Hon. C. H. LaBillico the speakers of the evening were loudly applauded as they referred to the splendid work that has been done by the Y. M. C. A. They appealed to all classes and creeds to rally around the flag with complete fullness of devotion, with loyal hearts, and contribute generously to our soldier boys.

Reference was made to the generous contribution of the citizens of Campbellton made this week for the K. C. Drive.

Telegrams reached here yesterday announcing the death in action at the front of Corp. Fred Pallen of Dalhousie. His wife resides here with her five children, who have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. Mrs. Pallen is a daughter of our respected citizen, Mr. Chas. Stewart.

Another despatch received yesterday reports the death in action of Sgt. Geo. St. Onge, who enlisted at Dalhousie. Much sympathy is felt for his widowed mother, Mrs. Alfred Renault, and Miss M. L. Barthe of Campbellton are aunts of Sgt. St. Onge. It will be remembered that it was his brother Theodore who was seriously injured in an explosion there.

THE JAMES J. CORBETT OF NEWCASTLE DIES OF WOUNDS

Newcastle, Sept. 16.—Words came Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Corbett, sr., that their son, James J., who the week before was reported wounded in the foot, had died on September 3rd of gunshot wounds in thigh, knee and arm.

He was born in Invernesshire, Scotland. Besides his parents, he leaves the following brothers and sisters, Alexander, Waverly Mass; Lewis, in the West; William Jr., Newcastle; Mrs. Harry B. Anslow, Campbellton; Mrs. Margaret Ferguson, New York; Mrs. George DesBrisay and Mrs. Charles Freeman, Winnipeg; and Miss Annie, Moncton. Deceased was unmarried.

Before enlisting Pte. Corbett was a prosperous rancher in Alberta but left his property in the care of others in order to do his bit in the great cause for righteousness and justice. A true Scottish determination and sense of honor would not permit him to remain at home although he had only the sight of one eye, the other having been injured when a boy of twelve.

Deceased enlisted in the 50th Battalion at Calgary and passed through Campbellton three years ago enroute overseas. He had been in France two years and a half and had come through many of the most severe battles without a scratch.

In the loss of one who has given his life for freedom's cause his family will have the sincere sympathy of all.

Chatham Unable To Secure Manual Training Teacher At Fifty Per Cent. Increase.

Newcastle, Sept. 18.—Teachers are so scarce that the Chatham School Board seems likely to have to go without a manual training instructor this term. They offered the position to David Gulliver, Jr., of Douglastown, but the trustees of Bristol, Caledonia Co., will not release him. Mr. Gulliver, who taught in Bristol a short time ago, went back this term at a salary fifty per cent. greater than that of his last engagement.

Douglastown, Nordin, Centre Napan schools, and perhaps Newcastle school, will unite with Chatham in holding a school fair on the 25th inst.

Ex. M. P. for Restigouche County, who died this week in Montreal will take place today at three o'clock from St. John's Presbyterian Church, where a short service will be held.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR FALLEN HEROES

It is noted also for its brilliant success. It is no reflection on the men of the 26th to say that the record of that unit would not be so brilliant had its leaders shown less lack, judgment and courage. His honours were won in the field and, though many and distinguished, others would have followed had he lived. Ypres, Courcellette, Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele, Amiens and Monchy are great names and in making them great he and his men have had a full share, which the writer of to-day and the historian of tomorrow will give due credit.

His career is also notable for the amicable relations between him and his men on the one hand and his superior officers on the other. He was popular to a marked degree due to his gentlemanly qualities, forethought for his men's comfort and refusing to take advantage of position for his personal safety. His practice was never to ask his men to undertake work which he would not do himself, or to ask them to go where he would not lead them. He might have enjoyed a well-earned leave but he declined. He spared others, himself he did not spare.

His death is a distinct loss. What it is to his own we do not attempt to estimate. It is a loss to the Empire, to Canada and especially to his native town and province. We hoped for his return for many reasons. In the important work of reconstruction he would have been one of the leaders, bringing to the task a strong personality, a trained mind and varied experience as teacher, lawyer and soldier, and the qualities of heart essential for high service. When he fell this province not only lost its most distinguished soldier but also its leader in after-war reconstruction.

This is an imperfect eulogy. I leave to others who knew him better than I do to speak of his personal worth, to those who served with him his soldierly qualities and to his fellow citizens to express their pride in his achievements and their sense of irreparable loss in his death. In speaking as his Minister. Here he made his profession of faith in his Saviour and in that faith he died.

In this service, two others must be honoured, Pte. Harold Brown and Mr. Charles Killam. Though the period of their services were much shorter and their deeds less conspicuous our debt to them is equally great for they gave all and died a soldier's death. Pte. Brown was a member of the 132nd that was in a special sense Campbellton's battalion, and it seems but yesterday when Mr. Killam left our town. Both enlisted when the struggle was at its height, fully aware that victory was far distant and that a soldier's life was arduous and dangerous. The terrors of war were well known to them but they faced them unflinchingly and cheerfully.

Both were in early manhood and possessed personal qualities that made them favorites with their companions. They heard the call of duty, and tonight, their names are written in the great honour roll of the dead. They paid the highest price. Life was sweet to them. They died that we might live. In writing of the great men and women of faith, the author of the Epistle to the Hebrews stated "these all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off." These also died in faith, faith in the cause for which they died believing that those for whom they died would reap the reward of their sacrifices. We can only revere their memory, mark their sacrifices and endeavor to prove ourselves worthy of them. They also died that we might live.

To the relatives of the dead we have a service to perform, the widow whose loss could not be greater, the aged father who leaned on his boy and waited his return, the mother prostrated in grief and brothers and sisters whose sorrow is great. It is our duty to remember them before Him who alone can give comfort, and to pray Him who is Lord of death, as of life may go with them and be their Guide, in their most need to go by their side, "I am the resurrection and the life." "Whoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

Serge and Velvet Dresses—We have just received a large shipment, and will have our complete range in about ten days. These are the very latest. In fact the samples have not yet been sent to their travellers.

Silk and Poplin Suits—These are all silk lined. The price we are asking for them would not pay for the material. Sale Price $12.98.

In the Dress Goods and Cotton Department we have no hesitation in stating that in the majority of cases we cannot replace at the price at which we are selling, and in some instances they would cost very much more. ## GERMANS USE WOMEN AS AIR FIGHTERS

With the American Army in France, Sept. 17—(Associated Press)—That the Germans are using women as military aviators is indicated in a report that in a machine recently brought down by the Americans, the pilot who was killed, was a woman.

The captain of a company of the 167th infantry says the pilot of a German plane brought down near Eergy Aug. 28th by Lieut. Miller Thompson of the American air force was a woman. The discovery of the sex of the aviator was made, the captain says, when his men buried the enemy pilot and her observer.

This stock is under the direction of the Department of Agriculture for a sufficient time to insure the boy or girl obtaining a good start in the business.

In each section where a Poultry Club and a Pig Club are in operation a fair is held at which each member must exhibit all his or her pigs or chickens. A fair will be held in Charlott on Sept. 30th. ## An Optical Illusion.

A private somewhere in France reported sick with loss of sight. The medical officer went through the form of testing, placing the letters A, B, C, in front of the would-be blind one, remarking:

"Do you see those, my man?"

"No, sir," was the answer.

The M. O. then procured a white dinner plate and placed it a few inches from the man's eyes, at the same time saying:

"What is this my man?"

"Half a franc, sir," came the answer.

"Very good guess, indeed," said the M. O.; "and now let me tell you when you get to the front line trench and catch a Prussian Guard you'll think he's a bantam."

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS A SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this lovely fragrant lemon lotion, and change it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

Hurrah! How's This

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lock-jaw or blood poisoning, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called frezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.

Trouble Was Easily Removed

Don't be discouraged if you find that you have Kidney or Bladder troubles, and don't imagine your case is hopeless or that you will be crippled and suffer all the rest of your life.

Here is good news. Gila Pills have restored thousands of sufferers to health and strength. What they have done for others they will do for you. Read what Mr. J. Harrop says:

"I have been crippled up so completely that I could not stand. Work was out of the question. A few doses of Gila Pills put me right. I cannot praise Gila Pills too much, and every home should have a box."

Mr. Harrop's experience with Gila Pills has been the same as thousands of others; in all parts of this continent.

Take the case of Mr. B. Milford, Galetta, Ont. Mr. Milford had been troubled with backache and kidney trouble for so long that his wife determined to find a remedy for his affliction. Having become convinced that Gila Pills were what he needed, she persuaded him to commence treatment with this well-known remedy. He did so, and surprising results were obtained almost immediately.

"After one dose of Gila Pills my husband found them to be exactly what he needed, and after taking two boxes he was completely cured."

Cases like these prove the value of Gila Pills. Try them. See a box at all dealers.

INDIAN SOUGHT THE EVIL EYE

AS most tourists and travellers have realized, there are two kinds of Indians on the western reserves, one being those commercial spirits who seek the station platforms and frequented trails to sell their wares for whatever silver money they can get, the other those strong-minded but simple souls who believe the kodak has the evil eye and that to be winked at by it means very bad medicine indeed. Few can remember Indians who sought photographs for the sake of photographs.

Jimmy Simpson, guide, trapper and hunter in the Canadian Pacific Rockies, was riding across the Stoney Indian reserve, north of the C. P. R. main line, one early fall day and had set up his little tent on the edge of the Bow river to spend the night. Like all good guides of the present day he carried a kodak. He had scarce finished his evening meal when a tall Indian brave came from the brush and in sign language asked him to take up his kodak and follow him.

There was a good light, for Simpson had eaten early and the short days had not yet come. A short distance up river they reached a tepee, and they had scarcely reached it when a squaw came out with a little papoose in her arms. The Indian posed, as seen in the picture and motioned Simpson to take them. Amazed, but willing, he did so.

The child was dying of consumption. By next morning it had passed away. The parents knew it was about to leave them, and that was why they sought the man with the picture machine. To-day, framed in beads and velvet buckskin the small reproduction is a treasured, revered household god. And round the neck of buck and squaw there are silver chains each holding a locket containing the child's face. For Jim Simpson was touched by the action of the savages and took pains to do what he could to soften their sorrow in the loss of their little one.

Mrs. F. H. Bates.

It is with deep regret that we announce the death of Mrs. F. H. Bates who passed away to the great beyond on Thursday morning, August 8th at her home in Acme, Alberta, leaving a husband and five children to mourn her loss.

In the death of Mrs. Bates we fully and keenly realize our loss. She was a true friend, and her devotion to those she loved would make a bright chapter in any life. Nothing but the thought of the loving hand that has removed her can reconcile us to her absence. While she has gone from the scenes of the conflicts of sorrows and pleasures of life she will live in the hearts of those who knew her best.

Her retiring nature led her to hide her best qualities from public gaze, but they were revealed to those who enjoyed her acquaintance yet it was in her home that her true worth was most conspicuous. She was a kind and loving wife and mother and her devotion to the family circle had no limit.

The late Mrs. Bates was formerly Miss Ida Fair of Black Cape, Que. where she leaves to mourn her loss an aged mother, Mrs. Robert Fair, three brothers Clifton of Black Cape, Que.; and Russell and Garnet who are residing in the Western Provinces. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved father and children, the aged mother and brothers.
