Ood houses were destroyed. No Europeans were killed.

London, Nov. 3.—The Times' correspondent at Hiogo says of the earthquake: The convulsion was so tremendous that no trustworthy estimate at the havoc done is procurable. The wiblest statements as to the number killed are current, but so far there is no evidence that it exceeds 3,000. The chief fatalities were at Yaki, where at least 1,000 people were killed, chiefly by the falling of buildings, but both at Ogaki and Gifu many perished by fire.

THE PRINCIPAL SHOCK

Asted less than two minutes, but was of extreme violence. There were no subsequent shocks strong enough to do damage in ordinary circumstances, but they sufficed to shake down walls already cracked, and added immensely to the terrors of the night. Even to-day slight shocks continue at irregular intervals. The total destruction of bridges and railroads over a long line of country paralyzed all ordinary occupations and prevents trustworthy news from reaching the capital. Great fissures have appeared in the ground at many points, cendering roads impassable. Traveling in Mny direction is dangerous. A striking feature has been the

THE MAYBRICK INSURANCE CASE

London, Nov. 3.—In the Court of Appeals to-day argument was resumed in the Maybrick case. Sir Edward Clarke, Q.C., an behalf of the defendants, argued that as the law did not permit a wife or other representative of an insured person who committed suicide to recover the insurance money, the law could not allow a person to profit by his or her own criminal act.

The master of the rells, Lord Esher, in summing up said that he thought that the true construction of the policy was that the money should be paid to the executors in trust. If that was done and a receipt obtained the respondents were bound to see that the trust was fulfilled. After further argument judgment was reserved.

Then the divorced husband falls in love with and marries his late wife's mother and his mother-in-law. The men concerned are Philip and Louis Beers, who came to this country from England several years ago. Business prospered with them. Finally, ten years ago, Philip wooed and won Miss Lizzie Johnson, a young rural beauty of his neighborhood. They were married and lived together nearly eight years, seemingly happy. Something, however, disturbed the harmony of their married life, for last June Philip obtained a divorce. In the meantime the other brother Lewis began to cast about him for a helpmeet, and one day the town was suddenly electrified to hear that Louis and the grasswidow had been made one. Yesterday the town was satonished to hear that Philip Beers and Mrs. Johnson, his exwife's mother and his brother's mother-in-law, had been quietly made one. The neighbors are trying to figure out the relationship of the parties to each other and each other's relatives.

HEALY HORSEWHIPPED!

Parnell's Nephew Castigates the Fiery Opponent of the Dead Leader.

Dublin, Nov. 4.—Mr. McDermott, nephew of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, yesterday publicly horsewhipped Timothy Healy, M.P., the most bitter of the anti-Parnellite leaders. The horsewhipping received by Mr. Healy was the indirect outcome of the language used by Healy at Longford on Sunday last, when the anti-Parnellite leader referred to Miss Parnell and to the widow of the late Charles Stewart Parnell. McDermott caught Healy by the throat the moment he met him at the Four Courts in this city, and in the presence of a number of persons he thrashed Healy about the shoulders and body until the latter was rescued by the police. Herly, when his assainant had been taken into custody, declined to make a charge against him, so McDermott was released and went his way, surrounded by a number of sympathizers.

Healy was reading in the library of the Four Courts when McDermott sent a messenger to say that Healy was wanted in the refreshment room. Healy on going into the hall was seized by McDermott, who immediately began to apply the whip, saying at the same time: "That is for your insults at Longford." McDermott afterwards handed a policeman his card and then walked away. Healy at once returned to the library. He says McDermott was drunk.

to the library. He says McDermott was furnk.

Mr. Kenny, speaking at a league meeting, denounced Healy's remarks at Longford as a disgrace to Irishmen. On the announcement that Healy had been horsewhipped the audience rose and tervidly cheered.

Healy at Longford stated that on visiting Paris to inquire about the release of the fund he found a telegram from Messrs. Harrington & Kenny to the bankers claiming a prior lien on the fund. "The bank-ors did not mind that," continued Healy, "they minded more a letter from Kitty, blocking the relief fund." Healy asserts that when he saw the letter signed by "that woman" he could not help believing that an alliance existed between the descendants of the men who betrayed the Irish at Ballinmuck and the present fomenters of disorder. In the "league of landlords and Freemasons" they heard a great deal about "English dictation." Was Mrs. Parnell an Irishwoman? If the movements of Irishmen were to be controlled in England it was better that they should be controlled from Hawarden than from Brighton.

The other day a modest-looking lady was sight-seeing in the Government building. She wandered into the weather office and appeared greatly interested. Everything in the place seemed to catch her eye, and all the appliances for keeping track of affairs in the atmosphere were quietly scanned and their purpose guessed. But when her eye rested on this bar of steel she became uneasy. She approached it nervously, but every time she drew near the case the bar swung toward her with surprising velocity. She would retrace her steps a few feet and again advance, evidently hoping to get near the box without being seen. She kept repeating her maneuvers, but the bar was on the alert, and her advances were received with tapping on the glass.

She was arraid to ask any questions, and Assistant Krichelt was too modest to explain the cause of the needle's agitation. But he told the reporter soon afterwards that he knew the lady carried steel in her corsets, and that the sensitive magnet was thereby visibly effected.

the following results are gleaned:

OHIO.

There seems to be no doubt that McKinley is elected and by such a large majority as to make him a factor to be seriously considered by the Republican Presidential convention next year. The returns indicate the defeat of Gov. Campbell by Major McKinley by majorities ranging from 10,000 to 25,000. The Republicans seem to have captured the Legisbell by Majer McKinley 10,472; Campbell, 8,891. Same in 1890 gave Ryan (Rep.) 9,763, Cromley (Dem.) 8,515. Lincoln Club estimates Archineys plurality in Hamilton county at 6,500 and in the State from 18,000 to 20,000.

NEW YORK.

It is evident that the Democrats have carried New York State by a good majority, ranging probably from 15,000 to 22,000. This appears to have been due to two principal causes—a remarkable falling off in the Republican vote in the interior of the State, and the tremendous efforts put forth by Tammany Hall to preserve its political life and influence. The Mail and Express, the most stalwart of the Republican organs in New York city, at this hour says: "The Mail and Express gives it up. Flower (Dem.) will have 10,-000 to 15,000 majority in this State."

A Herald hulletin says that 50 counties outside of New York and King's county give Fassett 36,000 plurality. The returns indicate that the Republicans gain two in the Senate and four in the Assembly. The Tribune (Republican) estimates Flower's plurality at 15,000. The New York City Associated Press bulletin says: "A careful estimate gives Flower a majority in King's county of 15,000; Boody (Democrat), for mayor, will come close to 10,000.

Later—One thousand and two election districts in New York State out of 3,353 gave Fassett a plurality of 6,068. The same districts gave Warner Miller a plurality of 30,885 over Governor Hill in the last election. The singular feature of the result is the growth of Democratic opinion in the rural districts and the falling off of the Democratic vote in the great cities, except in Brooklyn, where a great fight on local offices served to get out a heavy vote. Mr. Flower's majority, estimated at this writing (12:30 a.m.), is between 30,000 and 40,000, and although W. F. MASSACHUSETTS. MASSACHUSETTS.

Few details have been received from Massachusetts, but they show that the Republican candidate for Governor has probably been elected by a comparatively small majority and the rest of the Republican State ticket by a much larger majority. The contest was mainly on the Governorship. The election of Allen, the Republican candidate, if he be elected, is a Republican gain, as the present Governor, Russell, is a Democrat, who was a candidate for re-election.

Russell, is a Democrat, who was a candidate for re-election.
Governor Wm. E. Russell (Democrat) appears to have been re-elected by a plurality of about 5,000, but the Republicans claim the balance of the ticket. Republicans claim both Houses. MARYLAND.

The Democrats have elected their State ticket, and also a handsome majority of the Legislature, which will re-elect Senator Gorman to the United States Senate.

The Baltimore Sun says the Maryland Legislature continues Democratic by 30 to 40 majority on the joint ballot. Brown (Democrat) for Governor is elected by avery large majority.

members in the House the Democrate succeeded to summary.

Such is the situation as it is now understood. The Republicans have made two distinct gains—the Governoreships of Ohio and Massachusetts—in both of which States there is now a Democrate Governor. They have failed to gain the Governorship in New York, but the Democrats have elected the Governor there with a loss of nearly half the majority by which the present Governor Hill was elected. Pennsylvania and Maryland stand as they have always stood in recent years. At this writing it looks as if the victory had been with the Republicans in the States where national issues have been made the chief issues, viz.: in Ohio and Massachusetts.

HURON.

The Methodist Church in Brussels had a red letter day on Sunday. A few weeks ago the newly-arrived pastor, Rev. G. F. Salton, startled his congregation by announcing that $1,000 (sorely needed to reduce the large church debt) would be asked for in a cash collection on Nov. 1. "One thousand dollars or nothing," was his terse way of putting the matter. Sunday was the day announced. Rev. W. S. Griffin, D.D., of Galt, preached two admirable sermons, and the highly delighted people gave cheerfully and freely. The plates literally overflowed with the burden of $1,123 87, undoubtedly the largest cash collection ever taken in the village.

Knight vs. Town of Ridgetown; Watson ws. Town of Ridgetown.—W. M. Douglas, for the plaintiffs, appealed from the taxation of the costs of the defendants the Town of Ridgetown by the master at Chatham in actions for damages for injuries to the plaintiffs' lands by reason of alialway track having been built in the neighborhood. The defendants the Town of Ridgetown brought in the Canada Southern Railway Company and the Moodys as defendants under the Municipal Act, and colaimed relief over against them. By the judgment the action was dismissed with costs to be paid by the plaintiffs to the defendants the Town of Ridgetown, and the claim for relief over was dismissed with costs to be paid by the defendants the Town of Ridgetown, and the claim for relief over was dismissed with costs to be paid by the defendants the Town of Ridgetown to the other defendants. The plaintiffs now appeal on the ground that the master should not have allowed the defendants the Town of Ridgetown, as against the plaintiffs, the costs incurred with respect to the added defendants. Appeal silowed with costs on the ground that under the judgment the defendants the Town of Ridgetown are not entitled to the costs in question.

"The Advertiser" advocates Contiand as early as possible after, free trade with the whole world.

"The Advertiser" looks forward with hope to Canada's future as that of an Independent Canadian Nationality, in equally friendly alliance with the United States and with Great Britain, believing that such a status would be best for Canada, best for Great Britain, and promotive of the best attainable relations with the United States. As to Imperial Federation, sometimes spoken of, the ADVERTISER as yet has seen nothing proposed that bears any stamp of practicability, and in any case infinitely prefers the grander and more really hopeful scheme of a federation of the English-speaking peoples of the world.

"The Advertiser" advocates prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor; and all expedient general legislation and persuasion in the meantime.

"The Advertiser" is an advocate of equal rights for women, whether as regards the franchise, or equal wages for equal work.

"The Advertiser" is a believer in Christian Union, and considers the time has come when the various Christian denominations should come closer together. LONDON CARRIAGE BUILDERS CAN HOLD THEIR OWN.
The carriage builder editor of the London Free Press has his answer from Ex-Mayor Campbell, as he has been given it before, and it is most effective. Our contemporary has practically told Mr. Camp- address and discussion. The second bell that he does not know his business, that he is not able to produce as good a carriage, at a reasonable price, as can be built and sold in the United States, and that but for the high tax on carriages he would be ruined.

Like Leonard Brothers, Chas. S. Hyman & Co., John Watson, of Ayr, the Waterous Company, of Brantford, J. K. Ward, of Montreal, Mr. Boas, of St. Hyacinthe, and the many other independent manufacturers of Canada, Mr. Campbell not only maintains that he can hold his own but that he would be positively benefited by freedom to buy raw materials as cheaply as his Yankee nighbors and to sell his products in their market, they possessing the right to give him all he can do in his present remises, provided the duties are removed. It stands to reason that a carriage built in London, situated hundreds of miles nearer the ever-expanding markets of the Western States, will be bought in preference to a rig constructed in the far East. The saving in freight alone would be considerable, to say nothing about the fact that London is a much cheaper point at which to manufacture. If, as Mr. Campbell has pointed out, he could thus find a market for all the carriages he can produce within a few hundred miles of his doors, why should he support the restricted trade policy that compels him to roam for thousands of miles in search of patronage, and to distribute his carriages, at great expense, over thinly-populated strip of country?

Neither Mr. Campbell nor the mechanics of London can be scared into the belief that they are inferior workmen to those on the other side of the lines, or unable to hold their own in a fair field. The carriage illustration is indeed a most unfortunate object lesson for the trade restrictionist.

NOT NEW, BY ANY MEANS. The Ottawa Free Press brings up the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in a well-known Western Ontario case-that of Hawkins vs. Bickford-to show that the collections of commissions on subsidies, as carried out in Quebec by Editor Pacaud, has been legalized. Here are the facts:

During the session in which John J. Hawkins sat for Bothwell—usurping the seat to which Hon. David Mills had been elected by the people—he procured or helped to procure, a subsidy for the Eric and Huron Railway, then owned by E. O. Bickford. The evidence shows that Hector Cameron and Henry Smyth, also members of Parliament supporting the Government, aided in securing the subsidy, which amounted to $96,000. While the question of granting a subsidy to the Eric and Huron Railway was being considered by the Government, Hector Cameron, then the Conservative M. P. for North Victoria, wrote Mr. Bickford a letter in which the following appears:

Conservative M. P. for North Victoria, wrote Mr. Bickford a letter in which the following appears:

"I am going on with the application to the Government for aid to your road and am procuring loo-operation of Hawkins and others on the understanding that I am to receive for myself and those whose assistance I enlist, 10 per cent. of the amount of any bonus or aid that my be granted, one-half payable when the bonus is granted, and the other half when it is paid by the Government. If this is satisfactory to you and according to the understanding we made, please confirm it by letter and reply."

Mr. Bickford replied as follows:

Dear Cameron.—How would 5 per cent. do: the usual commission on bonuses, I think if we had $3.400 per mile from the Government we can work up sufficent other bonuses. The fundation of the understanding was in the habit of paying "the usual commission" of 5 per cent. upon bonuses. The subsidy was obtained and Mr. Hawkins brought suit against Mr. Bickford for $4,800, being 5 per cent. upon the $906,000, as his share of the commission. Mr. Bickford resisted the claim, contending that he never made any bargain with Mr. Hawkins that the subsidy was granted by Parliament in the public interest; nobody had a right to claim compensation for securing it. Attention was also drawn to the fact that Mr. Hawkins was a member of the House of Commons, which granted the bonus, and that therefore it was highly improper that Mr. Hawkins was a member of the House of Commons, which granted the bonus, and that therefore it was highly improper that he should have accepted pay for his services. But all the courts have decided in Mr. Hawkins' favor. He collected the full amount of his claim, and boasts that he also made Mr. Bickford pay $20,000 in law costs. Mr. Cameron also collected pay for his services.

his services. The only difference between Pacaud and Hawkins and Cameron seems to be that he is not and never has been a member of Parliament. When the party organs condemn wrongdoing, let it be all-round condemna-

Ontario Agricultural College, which has been doing good work among the farm dairies during the past summer and fall, extend its usefulness in elevating the standards of butter-making through the nedium of the farmers' institutes, which which will soon be resumed for the winter of 1891-2? Prof. Dean, head of the dairy department at the college and of the Traveling Dairy, last season attended an extended series of institutes lecturing upon his special subject. Why not take his apparatus and assistant along and devote one session at each institute attended to giving a demonstration in butter-making, an section of the Traveling Dairy in charge of Mr. Palmer, who was, as our readers remember, at the Western Fair, might do similar work at other institutes. In reply to a note of inquiry from the ADVERTISER Prof. Dean says he has advised the following:

"If cream can be obtained for the after-"If cream can be obtained for the afternoon meetings, we would do a churning at each meeting in the afternoon, and the rest of the time could be devoted to other subjects. It thought necessary or advisable, other matters might be discussed while the churning was proceeding, but I would suggest devoting most of the afternoon to the discussion of the butter question, and that a special invitation be given to the ladies to be present at these practical meetings. This winter work would accomplish two results:

"1. Stimulate farmers in the manufacture of winter butter by a practical demontheir market, they possessing the right to sell in Canada in return.

It will positively ruin you, replies the apologist for monopolists in other lines of menufacture, who desire to have the self-respecting, self-sustaining manufacturers row in the same boat with them.

Mr. Campbell's reply is that he has spent his life at carriage building, that he knows his business, that his hands are just as good mechanics as are to be found in the States, that they give their services for as moderate remuneration, and that with free raw material he would not only hold his own but increase his trade.

In the face of this declaration, the high tax apologist has the assurance to maintain that Mr. Campbell does not know what he is talking about! That he does so is completely demonstrated by the fact that an old Middlesex man who has become rich by buying carriages built in the Eastern States and selling them in Michigan offers to transfer his patronage to Mr. Campbell and the creamery separator plan in cheese factories, the product of which will be for export to England, which will tend to help Canadian prices by relieving the market here of any undue pressure. If the far-off If the far-off New Zealander finds it profitable to ship butter in large quantities to Britain, surely Canada can do still better there.

TOPICS OF THE DAY. THOUGH Mr. Trow has been unseated in South Perth, through no fault of his own, there is no cause for believing that the constituency will not re-elect him in the resulting bye-election. As the Montreal Star points out, South Perth "is a constituency that the Liberals will easily carry in the interests of pure govern-ment."

THE Daily and Weekly Times of Peter boro has suspended publication. They have tried the experiment of running three papers in Peterboro and found it to be a dismal failure. Nevertheless, it may be expected that in the course of five or six years some man with more money than brains will repeat the experiment. There is no law to save such an one from his own folly.

THERE is a clear question of veracity be-tween the striking Secretary of State and Premier Abbott. In the Senate Mr. Abbott asserted that he had made no promise to Mr. Chapleau. On the other hand, Mr. Chapleau positively asserts that he entered the Abbott Cabinet on the express promise of promotion. It is rather unusual "harmony" which calls for the giving of the lie to one's political chief.

THE Toronto News scouts the view that Mr. Meredith is likely to enter the decaying Cabinet at Ottawa. It points out that his home is in Toronto, his law practice in that city, and it asks: "What could Ottawa offer him to induce him to spend two or three months every year in its heated and stuffy chambers — a lieutenancy?" That would be poor consolation in the opinion of this Conservative journal.

THE London Free Press says that "Reciprocity hung like an incubus on Canadian development!" So! Then why are the Tories professing to seek a renewal of reciprocity? The London restrictionist organ squints in its logic.—[Goderich Signal.

Around here the high tax advocates publicly profess anxiety to establish reci-procity, but privately do all they can to discredit the view that unrestricted trade would be beneficial. What can we expect when their Ottawa leader argues that the only profitable reciprocity that could take place would be in oranges, bananas and peanuts.

Mr. Murat Halsted, in his Review of Current Events in the November Cosmopolitan, apropos of an event of local application, asks, "Is party servitude so sweet that criminality must be condoned for its sake?" Those who voted the Langevin whitewesh and the even leating of the con-whitewash and the exculpation of the contemptible Cochrane would answer yes. THE COUNTRY'S FUTURE.

CHEAP ORYGOODS.

We don't wonder at everybody talking about our low prices, because we sell lots of goods at quarter price, lots more goods at half price, and piles of goods at regular wholesale prices, and these goods that we sell at regular price the price is cut so low that no prices on the street can equal ours. To prove this contention the continued growth of our trade is so great and to show how our prices take hold of every class of citizens whether they have little or much money, although last Saturday was a wet and disagreeable day it proved to be the biggest day's business for cash returns we have had this season. We thought we would never equal Saturday, October 17, for cash returns, but last Saturday knocked it all to pieces for cash returns from sales made. We don't wonder at everybody talking

The Cash flowed in from the Millinery-Room, Mantle-Room. Hosiery Department, Dress Goods Department, Silk Department,

The cash came from all parts of our store. Last week was a big week's business. We want to make this week just as big, as must get the cash to buy more bankrup; stocks and cheap lots of goods.

Now for a Note of Warning! Buyers of Drygoods don't listen to those who tell you because we sell so cheap the who tell you because we sell so cheap the class of goods we keep must not be of a high class. This cry is "Nonsense." Take a look at our windows and you will see some of the finest and best goods sold in London. Come inside the store and you will find to the right and left of you counters piled and shelves crammed full of the best Canadian goods, also piles of goods imported from Europe. Then take a look through our show-room and you will see the choicest Millinery in London; then go up to our mantle-room and you will find up to our mantle-room and you will find hundreds and hundreds of Mantles, Dol-

A BICYCLE RELAY RACE.

An attempt to demonstrate the superior advantage of the bicycle over the horse as a factor in courier service was made Saturday. The start was made at Hartford, Conn., at 7 a.m., and the finish at Thirty-second street, New York, which point was reached at 3:22 p.m. The time was 8 hours and 22 minutes. Considering the fact that in a ride of this distance—1264 miles—all kinds of roads are encountered, the time made was very good. The schedule, if carried out, would have brought the men to the finish at 3 p.m. The contest against time was made by some of the crack racing men. It was arranged as a relay race, fresh men being stationed at various points to relieve the tired riders. All had flying starts and all rode pneumatic-tired wheels. Not an accident occurred, and only one or two falls, of no consequence, took place. FOOTBALL.

ALLIGATORS IN A BATH TUB.

A Chicagoan Bitten by an English Tourist's Pets.

New York, Nov. 3.—An Englishman named North arrived at the Hotel Brunswick from the South several days ago, bringing with him some young alligators, which he intended to take home with him. He takes the alligators with him into his bath every morning, but Sunday he forgot to carry his pets back to his room with him and left them blinking on a shelf above the bath tub. Not long after his departure a Mr. Cohn, of Chicago, ordered a warm bath. When be considered that sufficient time had elapsed for everything to be in readiness for him, he climbed sleepily out of bed, donned his bathrole and proceeded to the bath-room. Mr. Cohn had not more than entered the water before a sharp bite on each foot made him aware that he was not the only occupant of the bath. Mr. Cohn jumped out of the tub, went to his room and dressed. A bell boy was sent to investigate, and returned shortly with a small alligator in each hand. Mr. North's valet happened to be in the office, and recognized the animals, and they were placed in his custody. custody.

WATER THAT BURNS. A Well Whose Palatable Fluid is as Inflammable as Naphtha.

CRAB ORCHARD, Ky., Nov. 4.—On the land of a farmer five miles east of here, near the village of Gum Sulphur, is a well which is a great wonder to those who have visited it. It is known as the "burning well," a proposed property of the waters. Ald. Thomas moved that negotiations be entered into with the G. T. R. with a view to getting the bridge over the Wortley road enlarged. Carried.

The city clerk was permitted to hand his rolls over to the collections on Nov. 15.
Ald. Ivey brought up his notice of motion to ask Engineer Chipman to bring in an estimate of the cost of the sewage system he had recommended to the city.

Ald. Speucer said this or some other Council would have to deal with this question. It was only a matter of time before this system has got to be adopted, and he would like to see it adopted as soon as possible.

The city clerk was permitted to hand his rolls known as the "burning well," a near appropriately given, for its waters, though clear, limpid and drinkable, are as inflammable as naphtha. This well is about fifteen feet deep, extending down through a strata of slate rock. It contains a wooden pump stock, and the water, as it comes cold and sparkling from the depths of the well, has a mineral taste and is exceedingly pleasant to drink. Yet a dipper full of it coming in contact with flame will take fire, blazing up like gunpowder. The well's discovery, if the natives tell a true story, was rather remarkable. A party of full of it coming in contact with flame will take fire, blazing up like gunpowder. The well's discovery, if the natives tell a true story, was rather remarkable. A party of excursionists from the springs here went out in that section in quest of ferns, fossils and the like. On their return they found the well and stopped to get a drink. An old lady living near by brought a bucket and filled it with the refreshing fluid for the thirsty ramblers, and after they had drank she poured the remainder on the ground near the well. Just at this instant a young man of the party lit a cigarette and Park, Ald, Judd moved that Mr. Burdick's name be struck out and that of John Pring be inserted instead. He was surprised that there were twenty votes cast at the last Council meeting when only 16 or 17 members were present.

Ald. Ivey rose to a point of order, and asked if Henry Burdick was net appointed by the Council at the last meeting, subject to being ratified by bylaw. It was a funny thing to him that Ald. Judd, who sat in the chair and noticed the vote, had not called anybody's attention to it.

Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald, who seconded Ald. Judd's motion, said there were only fifteen votes cast, as the chairman did vote.

Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald said he had noticed men vote twice at the last meeting, as they had promised to vote for all. They heard a good deal about the "one man one vote" principle, but this "one man two votes" idea was like trying to serve God and the devil at the same time.

Ald. Skinner moved that John Scragg's name be placed in the bylaw. He held the same opinion on the question as when it was first mooted.

Ald. Judd's amendment to appoint John Pring was lost. Yeas—Aldermen Taylor, O'Meara, W. W. Fitzgerald, Skinner, J. Fitzgerald, Thomas and Judd—T. Nays—Aldermen Wyatt, Connor, Ivey, Winnett. Spencer, Scarrow, F. J. Fitzgerald, Bartlett and Shaw—9.

Ritish Grain Trade.

London, Nov. 2—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: English wheats are in improved request at la advance on lots of fair quality and weight. Foreign wheats are held. The uncertainty regarding Russian exports has disturbed the market slightly. Russia has already exported 9,730,000 quarters of wheat, against 8,004,000 quarters at the corresponding time last year, so even if the Russian Government prohibits the export of wheat the trade will not be greatly affected. There is a demand for American spring wheat. American flour is also in increased request. Foreign barley is actively bought and prices have risen 1s. Corn has advanced 1s for spot and 1s 6d for December. Oats are strong and the market is advancing. Heans average 1876 higher. Peas are 9d and linseed 6d higher.

At to-day's market English wheat maintained the rise. Foreign was in demand and prices advanced 1s. Flour was firm, especially American. The reported Russian anti-export whase excited the trade. Spring wheat, barley, oats and maize were strong at 2s advance. Lanseed was 1s and raps seed 6d higher.

A Comical Comedy.

The reputation of "The Two Johns" as one of the funniest pieces on the stage drew a big house to the Grand last night. It is a modernized version of Shakespear's "Comedy of Errors," being supremely funny, and attains its end by keeping the audience in an almost uninterrupted roar of laughter. Of course the production hinges on the remarkable likeness of Peter and Philip Johns to each other and the ludierous situations arising out of mistaken identity. John Hart and Quinn Philips assume these roles admirably. The whole company is above the average and some first-class specialty work is introduced. The performance of the Cassie sisters, in their artistic and graceful dancing was a genuine treat. Anna Eva Fay, the spiritualist, will be the great attraction Thursday.

"Was he?" asked Esther eagerly. "And didn't you get tired of me?" she added with a laugh.
"No said Billy, "I liked to hear about you. I encouraged him, Miss Wilton."
Esther laughed again, and said that as they were going to be related she did not think that he need feel himself obliged to address her so formally.

"I have been in the habit of calling you Billy for months," she said.
The firelight lit up their faces, and Esther took a screen and held it between herself and the blaze. A log was hissing and crackling on the open hearth, and the flames were blue and spoke of the sea. The white stone caught strange colors, half tints, red and orange and yellow.
"I want to thank you," said Billy presently with sudden seriousness, "I want to thank you for all he has done for me—ch, yes, you had something to do with it. Any other girl would have dissuaded him from it. I can never be grateful enough to him, never. I tell you think he saved my life that time. You lon't know what be has been for me. No one could ever know. One day I was ill it the Rockies. He sat up with me all night. He wouldn't leave me. He was as tender as a woman. I would do anything for Leslie. He is the best fellow in the world."

"Isn't he!" said Esther, "isn't he!"
The longer tongues of flame ceased to lick the log. It was charred on one side, and the pale blue fire insisted on thoughts of the sea.

Esther saw a wreck and a floating beam soaking in the sail water, that new fold its soaking in the sail water, that new fold its.

Billy laughed immoderately. A block that occurred a few minutes later added to also meriment. It began to snow again, and he suggested the possibility of being mowed up and having to sleep in the cab, "and then how glad you'd be that I waited for my portmantean," he said, "for, you for my portmantean," he said the fact, gives were burning eheerfully in all the gooms. Johnson's fellow servaunt, who had peen left in charge during his master's bloence, had prepared a regal repast for the wanderers, and he was deeply disappointed to hear that they were not going to fine at home. Rutherford found himself making an apology before he hurried off to diress.

Some such conversation as this went on between the two rooms:

"Lend me a razor, will you? I can't find mine."

"Where did Johnson put my collars?"

"Lots of time."

"They looked into each other's face. He kissed her hair.

"They were off at last, and bowling silently through the snow in the direction of the white house. Billy became a little nervous it the prospect of meeting Lady Heron.

"You see I can't forget sending to her for bail," he said, with an uneasy laugh.

"Don't be afraid," said Rutherford.

"You'll find it will be all right."

The cab turned on to the embankment. The river was running coldly between white banks. The trees were bare of leaves and heavy with snow.

THE TALK ON THE STAIRS.

Rutherford went round to the hotel for the morning. He saw Mrs. Wilton, and she seemed to him greatly changed—aged, enfeebled. She greeted him warmly, and welcomed him back to England.

"I need not say how glad we all are to see you again. I was very sorry not to be able to go last night to Lady Heron's. I don't go out much in the evening, you knew, and I was sure that you would come to see me this morning."

"Esther told me that you had not been well." his cousin, the door was opened.

The hall was full of the red flickering of fire-light. By contrast the lamp burned dimly. Esther was looking over the hanisters. She gave a little cry as she saw Rutherford. She ran down and into the darkness of the smoking-room. There in silence he took her in his arms and kissed her lips. She hid her face upon his shoulder. He knew that she was crying. Billy stood in the hall and forgot that there was no occasion to rub his shoes so vigorously on the mat. Brown took his coat and hoped that he felt the better for his change. "Or else it's very cold for travelling, and one's best at home," said the servant with that odd use of an alternative that has no justification and that is peculiar to a class. Billy coughed and "Esther told me that you had not been well."

"Oh, it is nothing," said Mrs. Wilton.
"I have seen a doctor, to please Esther, and he has prescribed for me. I dare say I shall be all right again in a few days. Esther expects you. She is getting ready to go out with you."
"You will trust her to me for a few hours?"

IT SAVED HER LIFE. - A Letter to the Ladies.

I take great pleasure in informing you that a year ago Histogenetic Medicines cured me of a scrious attack of paralysis. Three years ago I had a sudden stroke while sitting on a scoia; a second one fourteen months ago while lying in bed. All I did for it failed to do much good. My voice and all one side were badly affected. At last I tried Dr. J. Eugene Jordan's Histogenetic Remedies. In three months my voice became strong. My limbs, which were almost useless, regained full power. I no longer needed to be assisted to the table or from any one place to another. My muscles developed wonderfully, considering that I am it years of age. I can walk to church and back regularly. The effect has been permanent now for about twelve months. Last April I had a severe attack of pneumonia and Histogenetic Remedies cured me in a few days, and on the 8th of this month I took congestion of the liver and right lung. I was so bad I could not have lived long. In a few hours the Histogenetic Remedies once more gave immediate relief. It is only two weeks, and I am sitting up every day and nearly well. To say that my faith in Histogenetic Medicines is strong but faintly expresses it. Try it, ladies, for these or any other complaints and be convinced. Or. Kear, of Toronto, is allowed to give my name and address to any inquirers similarly affected.

WIVES DAUGHTERS

LONDON, CANADA. WIVES AND DAUGHTERS is the only ladies' journal published in the West. It is read by about every man, woman and child in the City of London and its suburbs.

It reaches, besides, over 2,950 towns in Ontario and the adjoining Provinces, and a large number in the United States. Many of these towns regularly receive bundles containing between 75 and 100 copies. WIVES AND DAUGHTERS was first published in October, 1890-only one year ago-and its circulation everywhere is steadily on the increase. No ladies' journal is more widely or favorably known in Canada than WIVES AND DAUGHTERS. It is published in sixteen-page form on or about the 15th

A remarkable feature of WIVES AND DAUGHTERS is that it gives more for the money than any other ladies' journal in the world. The price is only 50C. for 1892, with balance of present year thrown in to new subscribers.

For subscribers to the Daily Advertiser or the Western Advertiser the rate will be only 25c, per annum.

As it is one of the best advertising mediums in the country, it will pay advertisers to use its columns. Advertising rates-which are moderate-will be made known on application.

A sample copy will be mailed to any address on re ceipt of 5c in coin or postage stamps.

The Famous Spiritualist Coming.

Annie Eva Fay, the female wonder who has been drawing great crowds in Toronto and American cities, appears at the Grand Opera House Thursday night. This removed spiritualist was subjected to tests for three months by the Royal Society of London, with the result that distinguished scientists pronounced her illustrations as most marvelous, some claiming odic force, as some electricity or magnetism, while still others talk of supernatural power. The Scotsman says that not much over a century ago Miss Fay would have been burnt as a witch, while now she will only puzzle and amuse the many who go to see her. Her performances are certainly wonderful, and of such number and variety that enumeration would be a task.

THE FLOWER SHOW.

The City Hall a Scene of Beauty and Fragrance.

Chrysanthemums take the front rank of beautiful autumn flowers, and their brilliant colors and profuse bloom have made them great favorites. The wonderful advance recently shown in this class of plants is almost marvelous. Many of the new varieties are gorgeous in their color and marking, some having flowers that are perfect in form, while others have curious and fantastic-shaped blooms that are novel and extremely beautiful.

Since the beginning of the eleventh cenfantastic-shaped blooms that are novel and extremely beautiful.

Since the beginning of the eleventh century the chrysanthemum has been used as the imperial sign of Japan, and written records give the facts that so far back as the year 386 Corea paid as a tribute blue, red, yellow, black and white chrysanthemums to the Emperor Nintoku. The most flourishing period of their culture, however, seems to have been the middle of the eighteenth century.

That our local gardeners are not behind in the culture of these favorites can be proved by a visit to the City Hall, where the Florists' and Gardeners' Society have on view a splendid collection of this grand autumn flower, individual plants being undoubtedly ahead of any in their class ever shown in Canada before, one plant of the Gloriosa variety shown by Messrs. Greenway, of London West, having about 1,000 well-formed flowers.

RECIPROCITY AND CARRIAGES.

RECIPROCITY AND CARRIAGES.

Ex-Mayor Campbell, who recently returned from a trip to the Pacific coast, was seen by an Advertiser reporter, who questioned him as to the allegation that the high tax policy alone enabled him to keep his factory going. He replied: If it were not for the tarifl, instead of going to the other end of the country to hunt up orders, in addition to my traveling expenses and a month's absence from business, I would have the market at my dooas. When the heavy tariff was put on every one started "manufacturing." It's not the mechanic now that manufactures, it's the speculator that invested his money on account of the "National Policy," expecting to get rich right away. Prior to this the business was left with mechanics who understood it, now you find doctors, lawyers, and people of every other profession engaged in this so-called manufacturing.

Before the heavy tariff, there were very few foreign parriages put into this market; they were only here after it was imposed, and the Free Press knows this but still it keeps harping on that. If there is and yound the bout the matter the editor can refer to the customs house entries, and see that it was the summer after the National Policy introduction that so much stock appeared on the market and glutted it. We make good carriages, and we find a market for them. If we had reciprocity, we would get good prices for good work, but sloppy workmanship will have to be sold at a sacrifice in any country. Can we compete with the States? Certainly we can; and those who can't don't deserve to get anything to de. Free trade cannot injure any legitimate business.

Questioned about the Northwest, Mr. Campbell said the country was all right. Some damage had been done the crops, but the yield was a big one. He thought that the removal of the tariff would benefit that part of the Dominion as well as the Eastern Provinces.
