Splendid Showing Made by the Budget.

The Past Year a Record-Breaker—Wiping Out the National Debt.

London, April 17.-Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, delivered the speech introducing the budget in the House of Commons yesterday. He began by saying that, de- Preparations for a Monster Strike for bly, was yesterday afternoon selected spite the fact that the expenditure of the last fiscal year had been greater than that of any year since the last great war, the surplus in the treasury was the largest that had ever been known, and that the credit of the country fas never so high. The yield of comols to the purchaser, he said, was just about half what it was a century ago, and a larger sum had been applied to the reduction of the national debt than had ever been applied to it within a similar period. The deposits in savings banks and permament accounts in ordinary banks had amounted to an unprecedented point, and the production of gold throughout the world had been the highest ever known. The amount of bullion n the Bank of England was £49,000,-000, and the reserve fund in the bank in proportion to its liabilities was the highest on record. Continuing, Sir Michael said that the position of the working classes had never been so satisfactory, and the issue of produce stamps supplied the best possible measure of ascertaining that business transactions had never reached so great a volume. Altogether, he aid, the past year had been a wonderful one. The great triumph of a Chancellor of the Exchequer, he said, was when the receipts and estimates were equal; but the figures of this year became remarkable in respect of the receipts exceeding the estimates. Everything, he declared, had had an upward tendency, especially during the latter half of 1895. The increase in the value of exports, imports, railway earnings and banking and clearing house returns, show a continuous expansion of trade. The revenue for the fiscal year had been £101,974,000, while for the year 150 % the revenue had been only £94,684,000, showing an increase of £7,290,000, and making an excess of £5,812,000 over the estimates. One great feature had been the increase of revenue from tobacco, wine and tea, the latter having steadily driven coffee out of the market. British and Irish spirits had also driven foreign spirits out of the mar-The import of spirits had declined 19 per cent, and the popular taste for rum was greatly lessening. Tea had yielded £120,000 over the estimates, implying an increased consumption of £10,000,000 of that commodity. In connection with this, he added, there was a large and welcome transfer of the tea trade from China to British India and Ceylon. (Cheers.) The receipts from wines, he said, had been £1,250,000. This seemed to be largely due to an increased consumption of vinous liquors by members of the Stock Exchange and speculators, who, it appeared consoled themselves in non-success and accounted for the dealings in 1,200,000 extra bottles of champagne. After referring to the great increase in the excise and death duties, the Chancellor turned to the expenditures of the Government, which, he said, had reached the total sum of £97,764,-000, leaving a surplus of £4,208,000, which would be applied in the the national defenses, as explained in the Naval Works Bill. During the year, he continued, the national debt had been reduced £8,134,000—the largest reduction on record, with the exception of the reduction during the year 1894-95 The unfunded debt stood at the lowest point it had reached in 21 years, and the funded debt had not materially increased since the Crimean war. In 39 years, he explained, £190,000,000 of debt had been wiped out, £100,000,000 of which had been paid ance of the Zeitoun agreement, which in the last thirteen years. (Cheers.)

in 1857, without a murmur. (Cheers.) The total deposits in the savings banks, Sir Michael stated, were now £144,000,000, which was a matter for congratulation as far as it was due to the thrift of the working class. He did not think, however, that a large porbelonged to the wage-earners, and he could not see why the state should pay on large amounts. The country, Sir Michael said, might be proud of the enormous revenue, but it was in his judgment a grave question, whether the expenditure was not increasing faster than the permanent capacity of the nation could bear. (Oposition cheers.) If the expenditure increases while the revenue was unelastic, the country would be within a measurable distance of having to choose between putting an end to the reduction of the national debt and an increase of the staxation. Coming to the receipts and expenditures for the ensuing year, Sir Michael stated that the estimated expenditures conditions existing between the Federa- were £100,047,000, and the estimated revenue £101,755,000, leaving an estition. In conclusion, the Chancellor of the Exchequer proposed to allot the sum of £975,000 to the reduction of the agri-cultural rating and £433,000 for educational purposes, leaving a moderate surplus for any contingencies that might arise.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, leader of the Opposition in the House, and formerly Chancellor of the Exchequer, praised the ability displayed by Sir Michael in the preparation of the budget and the clearness of the statements ontained therein. He said he approved liable to change. the financial principles on which the budget was based, but reserved his opinion on the specific proposals for the disposition of the surplus. He thought, however, that a portion of the surplus ought to be devoted to reducing the income tax.

SHARKEY BADLY PUNISHED. San Francisco, April 17.-Sharkey managed to last eight rounds in the fight with Choynski last night, and he was given the decision. frightfully punished by Choynski. In the first round Sharkey fouled Choynski and the police stopped the fight for twenty minutes. At the end of that time Chovnski went on with the contest.

Choynski was the aggressor from the start. He reached Sharkey's face with his left and followed it up with a hot left in the neck, which put Sharkey staggering against the ropes. Choyn-ski landed left on the jaw, and in a mix-up Joe had Sharkey clean through the ropes, and the latter fell on the outside. Choynski reached the jaw and nose in quick succession with the left. It was at the close of the first round that Sharkey fouled Choynski. Sharkey landed several light blows on Choynski, but did no harm. Joe beat him all over the ring, and the marine clinched and fell repeatedly to avoid punishment. Most of Choynski's blows were left-handed jabs, and he could not get in a right-hand knock-out, for which he was evidently playing. In the eighth round Joe knocked Sharkey down repeatedly, and had him all but out, when the call of time saved the sailor and ended the fight.

THE TURF. NEW RACING CIRCUIT. Detroit, Mich., April 17 .- On the ruins f the old Grand Racing Circuit, broke and dismembered by inimical legislation in many States, a new circuit was organized yesterday in the office of the Detroit Driving Club that promises to renew the glories of the past. The cities represented were Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Saginaw and the Fleetwood track, New York, and these cties will constitute the new Grand Circuit. The new towns admitted are Fort Wayne, Columbus and Indianapolis, they tak ing the places of Rochester, Hartfor l and Buffalo, which adverse betting BALFOUR'S GOOD PLAN. Under this heading, the Toronto Mail and Empire says: The membership committee of the C. W. A. will probably do some work this year. Chairman J. D. Balfour, of London, proposes to have sub-committees on membership in each C. W. A. district, He will appoint the chairman in each, and let the latter select his associates. G. A. Kingston will act as chairman of the local sub-committee. The scheme is a most commendable one, and one that will place the doctor in a more favorable position for the next presidential race.

THE LONDONS BOOMING. A meeting of the membership comittee of the London Bicycle Club was held last night at the club rooms. Nearly all the members were present, and to judge by the enthusiasm displayed and the number of applications for membership reported, the prospects are very bright for large increases in membership. The club now boasts of over 200 members, and in view of the effort being made to bring the C. W. A. meet to this city next year, the committee ask the old members to push the membership to their level best. Any one wishing to join is requested to hand in his name to any member of the committee, which is composed of R. A. Bayly, H. C. Mc-Bride, O. B. Leslie, George Macbeth, Jas. Ferguson, Walter Mann, W. common with other sports, results from the strain which active exertion necessarily brings upon the heart. That allimportant organ tends, like other muscles, to lose tonicity under the seden-tary conditions of the average life, and readily becomes embarrassed if asked to perform an unusual work, as any one who is not in training can assure himself by climbing a flight of stairs rapidly, or attempting to run a few hundred yards. Under such conditions the heart often doubles the frequency of its beats in attempting to dispose of the increased flow of blood that is driven into it by muscular contractions. With a diseased heart the strain thus imposed may be hazardous. Several cases have be_1 reported where a person with such a heart has fallen dead while riding a bicycle. But then thousands of other cases are recorded where persons have similarly fallen dead while riding in carriages, or while sit-ting in easy-chairs at home. It does not

The annual vestry meeting of Grace Church, Ilderton, was held on Tuesday, April 7. The reports received were very encouraging. The assessment laid on by the committee appointed by the Synod had been fully met; the church had been freed from debts, and after all accounts were paid there was a small balance of cash on hand. Mr. McAndless and Mr. T. J. Chatworthy were reappointed wardens; Mr. Chatworthy was also appointed lay delegate to Synod. A hearty vote of thanks, with wishes for continuance in well doing, was accorded to the Ladies' Guild, which organization had labored most faithfully in wiping off the debt on the church. After a very happy meeting the vestry dispersed.

Mr. Davies commented on these wholesale plunderings of the public

Mr. Davies pointed out that the con-the Soulanges Canal had been awarded to Mr. George Goodwin, Ottawa. For the earth excavation the contractor was to get 20 cents per cubic yard. He was also required to build a water-tight embankment alongside the canal, where the water was higher than the surrounding land, so as to pre-vent flooding of adjoining properties. For that work the rate of remuneration was to be 15 cents a cubic yard. On the other side of the embankment the contractor deposited a lot of waste material, which he had excavated, and for this he filed a claim for $210,000, which was at the rate of 15 cents per cubic yard. Were this claim acceded to, it would involve a total expenditure of $750,000, for similar demands would be made by other contractors. The claim for the deposit of waste material was reported against by Chief Engineer Munro, and his three assistants, as well as by Mr. Schreiber, chief engineer of the Railways and Canals Department, The contractor, however, persisted in his demand, and Department of Justice, and Sir John Thompson gave his reasoned opinion Minister, at the instance of Sir C. In conclusion, Mr. Davies said: "Uned the revised estimate he did so in Another amendment will prevent con- obedience to pressure from the officers St. Louis. ally responsible to the people of Canada for this attempt to rob them of a large sum. As far as the papers go they disclose a scheme for taking money out of the public treasury and transferring it to the pockets of a contractor, notwithstanding that the contract specifications and legal and professional opinions did not justify it. And I decline to accept the verbal opinion of Sir Hibbert Tupper, as said t have been given to the Deputy Minister of Justice, which he did not sign, which is not reasoned, and which is not sufficient to overturn the great mass of opinion I have read to the House this afternoon and tonight." Whether it was going to cost $100,000, $200,000 or $750,000 mattered not to him, nor should it matter to any Minister of Justice. He had simply relieved his successors of the Millinery.

Our Millinery Department has gone ahead of all previous records. We owe it to the fact that without fuss or pretended exclusiveness we give the ladies of London the most stylish Hats and Bonnets at about half the rates usually asked for these goods. We could never see why a bonnet or hat should bear a fancy and exorbitant price no more than other drygoods.

Ladies' White Underwear.

It is a revelation to the woman who has always made the white underwear of the house to find the completely and finely-made garments here for actually less than she can buy the materials. But it's so, nevertheless.

Some Spots in the River Where Good Fishing Can Be Had.

Distant Points Which Are Much Patronized - Private Preserves - A New Movement on Foot-Fishing in the Early Days.

The intensely fine weather of the past week or so has created within the hearts of the fisherman a strong yearning to have a day's outing with his rod and reel. Already the small boy has brushed the dust off his tackle and tried his luck, but has met with little success.

The prospects are that the fishing around London this season will be better than it has been for years past, one reason being that the rising of broken up roads, seriously interfering the river occurred a little later than with the movements of travelers off usual, and the water has continued the line of rail. City refail trade in dry high, thus giving the fish a better opportunity to come up the stream.

There are a number of resorts in salers. In groceries the leading staples are decidedly dull. The Board of Works spent over two hours last night opening tenders for supplies for the year, and adjourned at 10:40 o'clock, after accepting some and referring others to the city engineer. The task is always very tedious, and the aldermen as a rule are very glad to have it completed and off their hands. This year there were as many tenderers as usual, two figuring for the plank sidewalks, one for artificial stone walks, three for supplying lumber, one for iron castings, one for cedar block crossings, one for crossing stone, two for paving stone crossings and gutters, three for sweeping block pavements, six for supplying gravel, and six for the placing of a new closet in the City Hall. The tenders in many cases were very close, while in others they differed considerably. The following were accepted: Plank sidewalks-Sergeant & Beckett, 3 foot, 10 3-4 cents a foot; 4 foot,

FATAL FIRE.

Sad Fate of a Young Man at Port Huron -Narrow Escape of a Simcoe

Family. Port Huron, Mich., April 17 .- James Murray, a bill poster, was burned to death Wednesday night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Wm. Murray, 713 Huron street. The residence caught fire in the kitchen, either from a lamp exploding or a gasoline stove used to boil paste. The family all got safely out, but two of the sons, David and James, returned to save some clothing. David reached his room, but seeing it was impossible to proceed farther, returned, barely escaping asphyxiation.

James got as far as the dining-room, and must have been overcome by the smoke, as he was found in a kneeling position near the doorway.

Simcoe, April 17.-Mr. R. Mabee and family, of Charlottville, came near being cremated in their beds Wednesday morning. Mr. Mabee kept a hotel there, and awoke to find the house a mass of flames. The members of the family were aroused and escaped from the burning building with what clothes they could lay their hands on. The house and contents were destroyed. Loss, $2,000; partly insured.

BAD BLOOD.

Bad blood courses through the veins and arteries just the same as good blood does, but good blood carries with it health, while bad blood distributes diseases throughout the whole body.

Good blood means vigor. Bad blood sows the seed of scrofula, ulcers, abscesses, boils, blotches, skin diseases, and almost all the ills that flesh is heir to. To get health we must cure the bad blood.

THE CURE

is Burdock Blood Bitters, which removes all impurities from the blood by its action on the stomach, liver and bowels, thus carrying off all morbid and effete matter, and purifying, cleansing and healing every organ of the body.

Britain's Phenomenal Progress. The British Budget, laid before the Imperial Parliament by the Chancellor of the Exchequer last night, shows perous condition, despite the fact that of her foreign customers have been crippled by their restrictive trade Though the expenditure of last year was larger than in any simibeing necessitated by the reduction in taxation where and the House assented to the proposition, that never before had the condition of the working classes of Brit-This is important testimony at a time when Canadian advocates of a policy which discriminates against Great Britain are decrying the Mother land, and are asserting, as Sir C. H. Tupper recently did, that she is in a state of decay and decrepitude, because of her trade freedom. The reduction of the national debt gantic liability was incurred. "The King's Debt." contracted by Charles II. and James II., only amounted to $3.251,320 in 1688, when William III. Incorporated it. Owing to the wars with France which that monarch promoted. the debt at the death of King William had risen to $63,750,000. The war with ough, in the reign of Queen Anne, and cost $215,000,000. By 1727, when George I. died, the debt had been raised to $272,500,000, the expenditure being necessitated by the war with Spain. In 1775, the year before the outbreak of the American war, which was due to the determination to tax the American colonists without due representation the British debt had reached $630,000. 000. Then came not only the war with the American colonists, but the "right of search" war with Spain, the wan with France about the succession to the throne of Austria. These conflicts, most of them unnecessary in the light of modern developments, brought the British national debt up to $1.187 .-000,000. The tremendous conflict with France hoisted the national debt of Britain up to $4,230,000,000 in the year after the battle of Waterloo. Steadily the taxes of the people were increased. on the workers proved how grievous a year before the outbreak of the Crimean war, and chiefly as a result of the enlightened commercial policy which the country had for some time been following, the national debt had been reduced by $400,000,000. since 1881 from $155,395,780 to over statement of the British Chancellor of the Exchequer has great significance. He told the Imperial Parliament that the British people have not only paid their way in the last 39 years, but have cleared off the enormous sum of $950,-000,000 of public debt. Of this amount, $500,000,000 has been wiped out in the last thirteen years. In the same time, our Canadian rulers have added to our the Dominion expenditures have been increased from $27.067.103 to $38,132,003 e year. We have had no great wars such as make up the public debt of Great Britain, necessitating these huge burdens. This country, with its splen did natural resources, if it were properly managed, would soon be paying off its national debt and reducing the burdens of the people, instead of constantly increasing them as now.

Since Parliament met, three members have died-Mr. Bryson, Pontiac Que.; Lieut.-Col. Amyot, Bellechasse, Que.; and Lieut.-Col. Denison, West Toronto. The Liberal membership has remained intact, though several membere were rendered ill by the bulldozing all-night sessions of the last two weeks.

Tupper in the "Hired Man" Role Sir Charles Tupper's bullying atti-"hired man" episodes that crop up, in which the "hired man" attempts to usurp the place that rightly belongs to the farmer who employs him. Tupper has for some years been the "hired man" of the people of Canada, receiving the cost of his keep out of the taxes of the people of Canada, Liberals and Conservatives alike. We all had to put our hands down into our pockets to maintain him. The "hired man" suddenly resolves to come over to Canada and boss his bosses. He starts out by virtually deposing poor, weak old Mackenzie Bowell. Then, not content with attempting to bully the Liberal M. P.s who represent those who paid half his salary for years past, he actually browbeats and attempts to ead out of the Conservative party those who refuse to jump this way or

One of the best-known men in Ontario is Mr. John H. McConnell, of Windsor. He is connected with most of the leading secret, fraternal and benevolent societies, has organized lodges in every city, town and hamlet in the province, and is probably personally acquainted with a greater number of people than any other single individual in her Majesty's Dominion of Canada.

Ask almost anyone you meet, "Who J. H. McConnell, of Windsor?" Nine out of every ten will be able to answer the question. The opinion of such a prominent man, therefore, is valuable. Mr. McConnell usually prefers to talk about political or society events. But he can say a good word frequently for anybody or anything outside these two subjects he thinks deserving of it.

He Talks About Scott's. When in Toronto last Monday (March 2nd, 1896) he very outspokenly expressed himself as follows to the manufacturers of Scott's Sarsaparilla: "Scott's Sarsaparilla is a tonic I ase in my family. It is one of the best spring blood purifiers I know of. I used it last spring and intend to use it this. It is very strengthening, drives away nervousness, builds up the system, and is a good all-around, wholesome medi-

A Glimpse at the First Coinage of the World.

Slow Development of Commercial Monetary Systems-The Necessities Arising From Interchange of the Commodities-

Specimen Coins of the Ancient Times. With the inhabitants of ancient Italy, as with all nations where the pastoral era precedes that of the agricultural or industrial, cattle was the foundation of all commercial transactions, and though the use of metals was known, as yet thay had not be-come essential in social life as standards of value. We find in ancient Roman law that wealth at that time consisted in domestic cattle, and, naturally was the material most ordinarily used in commercial negotiations. All transactions were estimated and debts paid in cattle, and from Pecus (cattle) was formed the word Pecunia, that designated this mode of exchange, one which was still used exclusively when metal money had come into general use.

The primitive Roman employed domestic cattle in the payment of merchandise, one ox representing 10 lambs, and Festus tells us that for offences of minor importance the fine was two sheep, but for great crimes the fines were as high as 30 oxen. We find as late as 450 B.C., in the laws of Eterna Tarpeia, fines were still collected in cattle and sheep, estimated, however, on a metal money basis. As agriculture became more or less developed, and metals utilized in the manufacture of weapons of war and implements of husbandry, copper and iron became the standards of value.

Gold was but little known in central Italy; silver was scarce, and only imported from distant countries. Copper, a product of the country, and plentiful, became the exclusive standard. It was at this period of Roman history that the first essay of a metal standard of value was made in the issue of the aes rude or aes inspectum; that is to say, rough copper, shapeless lumps of copper, based on the Roman pound of 12 ounces, as a unit, with no official mark, the weight alone to indicate the value, and could be used only by the aid of scales, broken into fragments more or less considerable, as the necessities of the transaction occasioned, each fragment estimated by its weight.

Several centuries later, when the aes rude was no longer employed as a medium of exchange, and the natives of Central Italy were using proper money, these ancient ingots of metal were offered as ex-votos in the sanctuaries of the gods. Titus Livius tells us that in 211 B. C. the soldiers of Goddess Ferone, and after the retreat of the Carthaginians the ex-votos in enormous quantities. Before this the aes rude was demonetized, so to speak, though nevertheless it remained in circulation with a religious character, serving to symbolize the ordinary public and private acts of social life. For example, in the sale of a field or house, the parties to the transfer would exchange one of these ingots to consecrate the transaction, which was the sale per aes et libram, finding its analogy in the sale per festecum or per glebem of modern times.

In the year 574 B.C., 180 years after the foundation of Rome, tradition attributes to King Servius Tullius the honor of first placing a mark of value upon the ingots of copper, thus inventing the Aes Signatum, but it is difficult to determine the date when he aes signatum became exclusively used h commercial transactions. It is animals, the hare, ox, sheep, etc., and from this took the name of Pecunia, from pecs, cattle. There were also figured arms and mythological symbols. In value they wer based on the Roman pound of 12 oures, and weighed 4 and 5 pounds, from which they took the name of quadrusis and wa needed the quincusis or quadrusis was a art of the figure could be seen.

It is true they present a crude appearance, especially the aes, but in the close study of these pieces of money the student will discover it is not for want of skill or expense. The hand that formed the hair and beard of the head of Janus, the roughest of the series, was certainly capable of executing work more complete and more thorough. The skill shown in the wavy hair, in relief, and the roundness of the eye, by means of wax or clay pellets, de-note a hand that could play with the dif-ficulties of the art, and conveys the idea that the intention was to present a bold, rugged presentation in opposition probably to the delicate deliniation portrayed on the Grecian coinage.

A Shocking Sight.

The Body of a Woman Exhumed at Ches ley-Strange Rumors Regarding Her Death-A Searching Investigation to Be Made.

Chesley, Ont., April 17.—The Attorney-General's Department will be asked to send one of its inspectors to Chesley to investigate a case which has set the whole neighborhood talking. A few days ago a young woman named Katharine Koch died at the residence of Duncan McDonald, on the fourth concession of Elderslie. It appears that no doctor saw her immediately previous to or after her death, and she was buried without a proper certificate. These facts came to the knowledge of Coroner Cooke, of Walkerton, and the county crown attorney instructed him to visit Chesley, have the body disinterred, and an inquest held. On opening the coffin the sight presented was simply shocking. On the body was an undershirt and an old jacket, and stockings were on her feet, while a bunch of dirty rags were piled in with the remains. The dead woman was Katharine Koch, and her parents reside in the township of Sydenham, county of Grey. She was about thirty years of age, and had the reputation of being silly. She was a rather tall and wellbuilt woman, and was a sister of Mrs. August Gobert, of Sullivan township. On Tuesday, 31st of March, she went to McDonald's place, and re-mained over night. Next day she visited Chesley, with the determina-tion, as she told some parties, to take the law on some young men who, she alleged, had assaulted her. That evening she returned to McDonald's, where she was taken ill, gave birth to a dead child, anl died herself on the following Friday.

The authorities have the facts of this terrible affair in their possession and a very thorough and searching investigation will be made.

Buluwayo Said to Have Been Captured by the Matabeles-British Troops Ordered.

London, April 17.-The Exchange Telegraph Co., says it is rumored that Buluwayo has been captured by the insurgent Matabeles. The news is not confirmed. · A dispatch from Aldershot says that the Middlesex Regiment has been ordered to start immediately for South Africa. Considerable anxiety is felt regarding the South African situation, but the Government is openly blamed for its inaction.

UNDER A SAFE.

Lindsay, Ont., April 17 .- Yesterday afternoon, while a heavy safe was being hoisted to the offices of the Victoria Loan and Savings Company, Mr. W. A. White, contractor, was badly injured. He was following the safe upstairs and guiding it with a crowbar while some fifteen men were pulling on a rope. A plank on which it rested broke, and the heavy iron safe rolled down stairs on top of Mr. White, It was some minutes before the safe could be lifted off him. Strange to say, no bones were broken, and if he is not badly injured internally, he may recover.

CHAPTER XLVII.

Since the affair with the Rackbird, Cheditafa had done his duty more earnestly than ever before. He said nothing to Mok about the Rackbird. He had come to look upon his fellow African as a very low creature, not much better than a chimpanzee, During Ralph's absence, Mok had fallen into all sorts of irregular habits, going out without leave whenever got a chance, and disporting himself renerally in a very careless and unservantlike manner.

On the evening that Ralph was expected from Brussels, Mok was missing. Cheditafa could not find him in any of the places where he ought to have been, so he must be out of doors somewhere, and Cheditafa went to ook for him.

This was the first time that Cheditafa had gone into the streets, alone at night, since the Rackbird incident in the Tuileries Gardens. As he was the custodian of Mok, and responsible for him, he did not wish to lose sight of him, especially on this evening. It so happened that when Cheditafa went out of the hotel, his appearance was noticed by Mr. Banker. There was nothing remarkable about this, for the evening was the time when the ex-Rackbird gave the most attention to the people who came out of the When he saw Cheditafa, his soul warmed within him. Here was the reward of patience and steadfastness-everything comes to those who A half-hour before, Banker had seen Mok leave the hotel and make his way toward the Black Cat. He did not molest the rapid-walking negro-he would not have disturbed him for any thing; but his watchfulness became so ager and intense that he almost, but not quite, exposed himself to the suspicion of a passing gendarme.

Banker allowed the old African to go his way without molestation, for the brightly lighted neighborhood of the brightly lighted neighborhood of the hotel was not adapted to his projected performance; but he followed him warily, and when they reached a quiet street, Banker quickened his pace, passed Cheditafa, and suddenly turning, confronted him. Then, without a word having been said, there flashed upon the mind of the African everything that had happened, not only in thing that had happened, not only in the Tuileries Gardens, but in the Rackirds' camp, and at the same time prophetic feeling of what was about to happen.

By a few quick pulls and jerks,
Banker had so far removed his disguise that Cheditafa knew him the instant that his eyes fell upon him. His knees trembled, his eyeballs rolled so that nothing but their whites could be seen, and he gave himself up to ingly natty and becoming. death. Then spoke out the terrible

What he said need not be recorded here, but every word of superheated engeance with which he wished to torture the soul of his victim before striking him to the earth, went straight to the soul of Cheditafa, as of t had been a white-hot iron. Mr. Knight, who lives near Wallaceburg, gave one of the doctors of that town a job picking shot out of him Tuesday night. It appears that he and a companion vent out shooting at the lake while a heavy wind was blowing, Knight being some distance ahead of the other man. The latter aimed at some ducks, but the wind diverted his shot sufficiently to bring Knight within range, and he received the full charge, which filled his face and body. At a closer distance Knight would no doubt have been seriously if noet fatally injured.

The G. T. R. local from Windsor met with an accident near Bloomfield Tuesday afternoon. Just after leaving the diamond a coupling connection broke, and the train divided. The engine and two cars went spinning on towards Bloomfield and the rest of the train ran some distance and then stopped. When near Bloomfield the engineer noticed that he had lost half his train, and he backed up to pick them up. Many of the passengers on the rear half were entirely unaware of the fact that the engine had left them, until after its return.

Sad Fate of Miss Helen Carleton, Whose Sister Was Drowned Near

Windsor, Ont., April 17.—The death of Miss Helen Carleton on Wednesday in a private asylum in Chicago, recalls the mysterious death of her sister, Miss Alive Carleton, of St. Clair, Mich., who disappeared last fall while on her way home to Chicago, and whose body was found in the river near Amherstburg. Miss Carleton was 50 years old and well connected in St. Clair. She had stopped over in Detroit, and her strange behavior at the Griffin House nade people think her insane. It is supposed that while insane she threw BAPTIST MISSIONARY CIRCLES. The quarterly open meeting of the London Baptist Missionary circles was held in the Wortley Road Church yesterday afternoon and evening. The warm weather prevented a large gathering. The afternoon meeting was devoted to the reading of papers, for the most part, by Mrs. Charlesworth, Miss Jessie Hendrie, Miss Robertson and others. Mrs. Weld gave a very helpful Bible reading. Tea was served by the members of the Wortley Road Circle. Rev. Mr. Walker presided at the evening meeting, when addresses were given by Messrs. W. Clark, J. Westervelt, D. Ferguson and R. Robertson.
