Ottawa, July 23.—Some 400 claims for the Fenians raid's bounty of $100, granted at the last session of Parliament by the finance department. Some 300 claims have been passed by the militia department and forwarded to the finance department out of over 25,000 applications received. The auditor gen-eral is, however, delaying payment in many cases, pending further proof of the genuineness of the applications. Hence the delay in forwarding the grant to those still on the list as forwarded by the militia department.

Do Your Looks Quite Satisfy You?

If Your Color Is Bad, If You Suffer From Pimples, Here Is Good Advice.

Fine Results in Two Weeks.

Miss Nettie E. Callaghan, a wellknown young lady in Middleton, writes as follows: "I was affected for two years with a rash, and ugly-looking pimples that spread over my face. My color was poor, and my blood evidently completely out of order. Certainly it was a most despairing sort of case, because various treat-ments did but little to help me. A friend of mine in Toronto, Ont., advised me to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills, so I sent at once for five boxes. In two weeks I felt like new-looks improved, spirits rose, and I felt I was getting well. I have used this remedy for a long time, and now wouldn't

CHOSE TO REMAIN A MERE DUCHESS

"Meddlesome Milly" Tells the Public How She Acquired That Title.

QUEEN TO TAKE A TRIP

She Prepares for a Visit to the Grand Duchess Amelia of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, Without Princesa Mary.

London, July 22.-While the Prince of Wales is in Paris perfecting his French his sister, Princess Mary, is becoming versed in the languages of the neighboring countries without leaving town, and is acquiring a native accent, too.

A small party of specially-selected French and German girls, about a dozen in all, visit the palace daily and take essons with the princess. A studious morning is often followed by a visit to the tennis courts and then back to lunch, during which time the princess converses with her companions in either French or German, thus acquiring the correct accent. The young princess is also be-coming quite an enthusiast in dancing.

Queen Mary is now contemplating her long-deferred visit to her venerable aunt, the Grand Duchess Amelia of Meckienburg-Strelitz, in August, prior to joining the King and her sons at Balmoral. She will not be absent for more than a week, and it is highly probable that she will be accompanied by the Princess Mary, who will thus have her first opportunity to see something of the continent. The visit will be entirely of a private nature, and her majesty will travel under the title of the Duchess of York, the young ROSENTHAL CASE title of the Duchess of York, the young princess being dubbed for this occasion "Lady Mary York." It is now some years since the Queen had a meeting with her aunt, with whom she has always been a great favorite. Until a few years ago the aged Grand Duchess, now the doyen of the English royal family was a regular visitor to Englandfamily, was a regular visitor to England and maintained her own house in London, but today she rarely leaves her beautifully-situated residence near New-

The Duchess of Sutherland has aroused much interest in society by a speech which she has delivered in which she refers to the time when she strove to be socialistic agitator and was styled 'Meddlesome Milly" for her pains. says she learned socialism one Sunday afternoon at Leek, where a Miss Margaret McMillan was lecturing. Thus she found herself a Socialist. How-ever, she did not emulate the Countess of Warwick by aspiring to the title of "Comrade Sutherland." Arriving at the parting of the ways, she chose to renain, as she says, "a miserable duchess," and her recent remark to the effect that she longs to live in a cottage instead of ordly Stafford House is merely a feu

Seconds! Seconds! Seconds! Balance of Big Purchase of Table Cloths Further Reduced to Clear Quickly

These are the balance of the biggest purchase of Seconds we ever made, and possibly the biggest lot that ever came to this country, and at the greatest reduction in price, too. The quantity makes the price and the price sells the quantity. To give you some idea of this purchase, the shipment contained 1,400 Seconds in Table Cloths alone, including all lengths up to 6 yards. Of the entire lot we have about 200 left. There must be some value in these when about 1,200 Cloths are gone in so short a time. Now the balance we have gone completely through and repriced, making still further liberal reductions from the already special sale prices. These Seconds are from the maker of the highest-grade linens in Ireland, and many hand-loom cloths are amongst the lot. Don't miss this final clean-up as it will be your last opportunity for some time to buy manufacturers' Seconds, and possibly never again at such a reduction in price.

LEGAL QUERIES

LOBO.-Can the chairman of a meeting make a motion, get a seconder, and pass the motion? Will it be legal? Ans.-Yes, unless the rules of order of 8.4 the society or corporation prevent it. It is usual for the chairman to call some other member to take the chair while he make a motion. If the motion was carried by a majority of the meeting it would be legal, although irregular, according to practice.

London, July 22.-In the course of an after-dinner speech the other night, Professor Flinders Petrie, the famous Egyptologist, had some interesting things to say about savage survivals irrational bellef. in modern times.

One of the most curious of the many things, he said, which had had a potent influence in the past and lingered on to the present was the amulet, He had been astonished to hear from a woman doctor that a survival of the barbarism belonging to the Stone Age was still so frequent that one-fourth of the children in London wore amulets under their clothing. The professor went on to say: "Many other relics of the Stone Age may be seen around us. Folklore, inas containing not more than 7 per cent of another revolution is not considered alcohol. Six samples appear to have improbable. Their chief concern is as to deed, is a survival of the Palaeolithic alcohol. Six samples appear to have literature, but you may not realize this until you see a community that cannot in this city. Joseph Adamowicz said read, and recognize how declamation literature to its members.

"We have these strange survivals lingering on among the illiterate, and from what I see of the advertisements inviting people to go to certain places in Bond street"—the reference, of course, being to the numerous fashionable wizards and fortune tellers in that from the police. After that came the further idea of the actual intelligent Deity, and then they came to the enormous mass of figures of gods worn as amulets in Egypt, which survived in a multitude of signs now used in Italy. MORE SERIOUS PROTESTS MILITANTS PROMISE

Head of English Suffragettes Says Government Has Lit Fires of Revolt in Women.

[Canadian Press.] Lors, July 23.—Miss Annie Kenny, who in the absence of Mrs. Emma. Pankhurst and her daughter, and of Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, the joint editors of Votes For Women, is ruinning the Women's Social and Political Union, today sent a spirited reply to Mrs. Henry Fawcett, who on June 19 on behalf of the executive of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies Issued a protest against the militant tactics of the Women's Social and Political Union.

Miss Kenny declines to do anything "To quench the militant spirit which the Government's treachery has aroused." "The Government," says Miss Kenny, "lit the fire of revolt in the women's hearts, and must accept the full responsibility of their recent protest, and for the more serious protest that may be made in the future.

FIFTY-SEVEN YEARS A WINGHAM RESIDENT

Mr. Peter Linklater Dies After an Illness of Several Months.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Wingham, July 23.—After an illness extending over the past seven months, Peter Linklater, for 57 years a resident of Wingham, is dead at his home here. Deceased was 70 years old, and was born in the Orkney Islands, and came to Canada when a young man, and settled in Wingham, where he has resided ever since. Thirty years ago he was married to Miss Janet Helm, who sur-vives him, together with one daughter, Mrs. Leslie Young, of Winnipeg. For many years Mr. Linklater farmed just outside of the town. Later he retired. and after working as a packer in the Union factory, went into the grocery business for himself. Messrs. Andrew and William Linklater, of Wingham, and John, of Manitoba, are brothers, and Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Young, of Wingham, sisters. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and a lifelong Liberal. For the last twenty years he had been an elder in the Presbyterian Church. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon, and Rev. D. Perrie will conduct the ser-

LONDON, TUESDAY, JULY 23.

MR. CHURCHILL'S STATEMENT. Mr. Churchill's determination to increase the naval appropriation by $5,-000,000, with a view to building 21 instead of the 17 Dreadnoughts that had been contemplated for the next five years, must not be viewed as a sudden step, as evidence of unusual strain or of any special German peril. This increase has itself been for some time expected, and indeed, a certainty, in accordance with the plans announced by Mr. Churchill last March. At that time, in a remarkable speech, the First Lord of the Admiralty laid it down that if Germany increased her programme, Great Britain would do the same, maintaining a Dreadnought preponderance over her rival in the proportion of 60 per cent., or 8 to 5. He invited a mutual curtailment of ship- sponding to the society's appeal for building and specifically offered to drop five Dreadnoughts from the British programme in 1913 if Germany would drop three. What better fighting could they do than that, to eliminate 5 of the enemy for every 3 of their own? he asked. However, the German Government, perhaps a little provoked, perhaps in some ungrounded fear that Great Britain was meditating an attack, perhaps in the belief that she was attempting to thwart the legitimate ambitions of Germany, perhaps also intentions independent of Anglo-German rivalry, has fit not only to go on with the programme laid down a few years ago, but to put through new leg-Islation enhancing that programme. It is a material, though not at all a sensational increase. There was bitter opposition in the Reichstag to the new and it was at first defeated. Plainly the representatives of the mass of the German working classes do not want even the appearance of hostility to Great Britain. However, the Government finally carried its point, and Mr. Churchill's move is simply to implement his speech of last March.

He observes that there is no need panic. The hour of panic was three But however easy he might be to by his wife; when the game is found years ago, when Mr. McKenna, then first lord of the admiralty, misled by officials in the department, made the lamentable blunder of greatly overstimating Germany's battleship schedule. Since then there has been on the part of British politicians, a little cautious and wholesome skepticism as to the vastness and wickedness of German naval intentions. They are not going to be stampeded again.

As for Canada, she is free to pursue her own course. Our Dread-Noughters need not be in such a hurry. Great Britain will be amply provided with Dreadnoughts of her own. Mr. Churchill speaks of the need of light, fast cruisers. Under the Laurier plan, Canada would have already done something in this direction, not only for her own peculiar needs, but as an aid to the mother country that would have been much appreciated by the British Government and people.

CANADA AND THE NAVY.

Mr. Borden will not announce his naval proposals till he returns to this country. But he has permitted Mr. Churchill to intimate that the "aid of Canada shall be an addition to the existing British programme", pending the settlement of a permanent naval ar-

This points to a Canadian gift of Dreadnoughts or the cash equivalent to the United Kingdom at once. It would be defended by the Canadian Government as an "emergency" meas- ace. This is the kind of Boston tea ure. Where is the "emergency"? Where is the justification for sending Canadian millions abroad that might be spent at home in the upbuilding of the Canadian navy, which Mr. Borden so ardently demanded a few years ago? There is nothing in the speeches of the First Lord of the Admiralty or the Foreign Minister, or in the European situation itself, to justify this panicky course. Every Dreadnought above the margin over Germany which Great Britain now possesses and which she is determined to maintain, is a needless expense. The German menace? Here is what the Foreign Minister, Sir Edward Grey, had to say of that bogey as late as July 10 in the House of intends to parade the German scareerow for all it is worth; but it will not be worth much in the opinion of thinking Canadians. What is the real meaning of Mr. Borden's conduct? Simply this: the Government is pledged to submit its naval policy to the people, and it hopes to postpone an election, which it fears, with good reason, by representing that the pledge had reference only to its "permanent" policy. not to an emergency measure. This "permanent" policy, which may and probably will take the form of a Canadian navy, can be kept on the anvil for three or four years. Millions of Canadian money, which would create a substantial Canadian naval establishment, are to be thrown away in the meantime to meet a party exigency. not a genuine imperial need.

The work of the Humane Society should have the sympathy of humane people, and they should show it by re-

A committee of prominent Dutch and English subjects at the Hague has been formed with the idea of collecting a ing what to do with the keys of his sum sufficient to erect a monument at Zutphen to Sir Philip Sidney, who was wounded on that fatal field, while fighting with his uncle, the Earl of Leicester, to uphold the independence of the Netherlands against the tyranny of Spain. The British minister to the Hague has made an appeal to the English public to help along this cause, and, as Sir Philip Sidney has always been the beau ideal of English chivalry, it will be surprising if the lovers of romance in the old land do not rally heartily to the encouragement of this project. I suppose every school-boy has heard of Sidney, owing to the beautiful anecdote, which is associated with his early death. When he went out to do battle with the Spaniards at Zutphen, Sidney rashly left off his cuisses, and, in consequence, was shot in the thigh. As he was being carried off the field, they offered him a cup of water. As he was about to place it to his lips he saw a dying soldier eyeing him enviously. Instantly Sidney handed the cup of water to the poor fellow, with the famous phrase: "Thy necessity is greater than mine." When this story is told to children it is usually stated that Sir Philip himself was dying at the time he made this selfsacrifice. This is not correct, for Sir Sidney was wounded in the battle on September 13, 1586, but he did not die until October 17, after twenty-six days Out of the warm wet woodland and the of suffering, in the little Dutch town of Arnheim. He really died a martyr to the poor surgery of his time. Today such a wound would not be serious, but improper care led to blood-poisoning, and England lost one of her known.

THE ART OF CONVERSING

[By Margaret H. Ayer.]

(Copyright: 1912.)

Dear Miss Ayer: I am a girl of eighteen, and am considered attractive Dear Miss Ayer: I am a girl of eighteen, and am considered attractive looking, but I am so discouraged because it seems impossible for me to be even ordinarily entertaining in society. I can't remember people's names or faces, unless I have seen them often, and this makes me so embarrassed that I am just stupid. Also, I never have anything to say in conversation. Do you I am just stupid. Also, I never have anything to say in conversation. Do you know any way that I could learn to remember names and faces, and is there any book I can get that would tell about the art of conversing?

Poor Sensitive! You are one of many who would like to learn the complete art of polite and witty conversation in ten lessons. There is nothing more discomforting in the world than to be an attractive-looking young girl, and to realize that one becomes tongue-tied the moment one is expected to entertain a guest.

A great many girls acquire the gift of gab at an early age, and therea great many girls acquire the gift of gab at an early age, and thereafter never stop long enough to give their unfortunate families time, to recover, so that really, my dear Sensitive, you are lucky in one way, for nobody will wish to run away from you because of your chattering tongue. nobody will wish to run away from you because of your chattering tongue. Of course, you are suffering agony because you never know what topic of conversation to begin on, and when you look into the face of a stranger who has just been introduced your mind at once becomes a blank. But really, it might be worse. Until you find your tongue and become an easy conversationalist, you might practice being a good listener. If the guests you want to entertain are men you will find that listening is more profitable than speech.

Few women are attentive listeners, and nothing is so flattering and so courteous as the attitude of the good listener.

Cultivate the art of listening, and at the same time make little mental notes of questions, which arise in your mind, and which will keep the one-sided conversation going in case the speaker should subside.

The reason most women and almost all girls are poor conversationalists that they can't keep their minds on the subject in hand.

The average girl talks about one thing and thinks about another and

These two girls were about eighteen years of age, and they were the daughter and niece of a widower who was very fond of entertaining and looked to his two girls to play the part of hostesses. They had to meet strangers, both men and women, and were always at a loss for a subject to talk about after they had exhausted the topic of the weather.

A dinner had been planned to which a number of boresome people were how the two girls realized that there would be no conversation at the table unless it was supplied by them, so they deliberately set about to read

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Berlin, Ont., July 22. - London wor the first game of the series here today by superior work in the field and at bat, by the score of 6 to 1. Three doubles and a single, a sacrifice and a base on balls resulted in four runs scoring in the first period. Beatty settled down after his bad inning, and pitched good ball, keeping the hits well scattered. Fox had a field day at bat, hitting three doubles at each time up. Hynes was strong in the opening session, only one Dutchman reaching first up to the fifth inning. During the next two periods Berlin had three men on bases, but only one run was tallied. The Tecumsehs played gilt-edged ball and gave their new manager, Barrett, an opportunity to size up

LONDON RINKS MAKING FINE SHOWING

Ideal Weather For the Initial Day of the Big Tournament Brings Out a Large Crowd of Spectators Who Enjoy Some Splendid Exhibitions.

The seventeenth annual gathering of bowlers from all over the province for the Western Ontario bowling tournament held on the London Rowing Club's greens, opened yesterday with a sulendial attendance of translates All Tom Rennie's rink went down in the Tom Renn Club's greens, opened yesterday with Tom Rennie's rink went down in the a splendid attendance of trundlers. Although many of the old familiar faces were missing, there were many new ones to take their places, and the tourney this year promises to equal past gatherings in attendance and keenness the score of 16 to 13.

George Nightingale, of the London George Nightingale, of the London Country o splendid shape, and the weather was ideal. The different games were run off in quick order, and altogether it was one of the most successful first days that the Western O. B. A. has ever enjoyed.

George Nightingale, of the London Thistles, winner of the Labatt trophy last year, won his game in the first round. His rink defeated John Stevenson's London Rowing Club rink. The Nightingale rink is a strong one, and it will have to be counted in the

The results of the games brought many surprises, and it is hard to pick the rinks that are due for the finals. There is no doubt, however, that the rinks that finally struggle into the home stretch will have to fight hard all the way, and will know that they carried off by one of the outside Willison Falls.

One of the first rinks to fall by the avside was that of Skip J. S. Wilwayside was that of Skip J. S. lison, of the Canadas, Toronto. Skip Willison always has a good rink, one that can be relied on to give the best a merry battle. He did play a good game yesterday, but James McDougall's London four were too much for them, and after a noted struggle the London skip got the green first, and on the first six ends piled up a lead of seven. Mr. Willison, by consistent and brilliant bowling, crept up close, but in the thirteenth end McDougall got three, and this made the win practically certain. Jimmy Bell, in this game, bowled brilliantly.

The most sensational game of the afternoon was that between the famous Rennies, of the Toronto Granites, and Dick Thomson's great rink from Paris. This attracted the largest gallery of the day, and the wonderful bowling of the eight men was repeatedly cheered. The Toronto four got an early lead, John and Tom Rennie being particularly effective with their long draws.

The Parisians could not get going and at the close of the ninth end the Toronto four had the score 13 to 5. Then Dick Thomson outgeneralled the Rennies by shortening the ends, That, combined with the hoodoo number, 13, enabled the Paris four to draw up gradually on the Toronto quartette, The bowling was brilliant at all times. On the thirteenth end-thirteen again—Thomson scored four, an un-tunate wick from Tom Rennie's last bowl giving Paris four shots, tieing the game. Dick Thomson's own brilliant work enabled his rink to keep the Rennies out. This was a battle of the Giants, and the enthusiasts were delighted with the play.

A Sensational Rink. Another of the sensations of the day was the great showing of Jack Min-hinnick's Thistle four. Not figured as one of the hard rinks of the tournament, they surprised some of the wise ones by winning two games from a pair of the strongest rinks on the grounds-McEwen's Weston four and J. S. McDougal's quartette. The first win was 14 to 9, the bowling being clever all the way through. The Thistles then drew Jimmy McDougall's rink, flushed from a victory over Willison's Canadas. This fact did not daunt Minhinnick, and he gave the crack London skip a decisive trimming. There was nothing of the fluke about it—the game being truly and honestly played.

In the preliminary round, London tinks broke about even in the play. Aght of them winning out. In the first cound many London rinks were pitted against each other, two of the three Elmwood Club rinks, of South London, suffering defeat, the London Thistles being the victors in each case, Dr. Jarris and McGuffin had a great tussion their game, but the latter won out in the final ends, after being behind in the early part of the game. Gunther's rink lost out to Dr. Scott's Thistles, with Charley Abbott playing third for the north end rink.

ANDY TAYLOR ELECTED NEW PRESIDENT OF W. O. B. A.

Annual Meeting of Association Held Last Evening-Ex-President Frank Smoke Made Honorary President-Four New Clubs Granted Affiliation.

Ontario Bowling Association, held on report, showing a balance of $172.10 on Monday evening in the Tecumseh House, hand. Mr. A. J. Taylor, of Toronto, was unanimously elected President for the year "Andy" Taylor is one of the most popular bowlers who ever attended the tournament, and his election to the office of president was most gratifying to his The roster of officers selected was as follows: Patron-Mr. J. S. Willison, Toronto: Honorary President-Mr. Frank Smoke

Chaplain-Rev. J. G. Stuart, pastor of Knox Church, South London. President—Mr. A. J. Taylor, Toronto.
First Vice-President—Mr. Peter Bawden, Ridgetown.
Second Vice-President—Dr. W. M. English. Hamilton Honorary Secretary-Treasurer-Dr. J. N. Wood, London.

N. Wood, London.
Assistant Honorary Secretary—Mr. A.
Tillmann, London.
Auditors—Inspector C. B. Edwards and John Lochead, London.
All the elections were unanimous, the choices apparently being very popular with the bowling enthusiasts.
Applications for affiliation were received from the Buffalo, Sarnia, Hagersville, and Pastime Club, of Brantford, and their requests were granted.

London Bowling Club to fix up the greens for the annual tournament.
After the business was transacted the newly-elected officers made short speeches. Retiring President Frank Smoke thanked the association for the assistance of the members during the year. President Andy Taylor promised to do all he could to make the next tournament a great success. The other officers promised to do their best.

At the annual meeting of the Western Dr. J. N. Wood read the treasurer's

Mr. J. L. Whitehead, secretary of the Travellers' Club, extended the privileges of the club to the bowlers while in the city. This courtesy was suitably acknowledged, and the bowlers promised to avail themselves of this privilege.

A discussion arose as to whether or no a club could enter for the touranment unless it had affiliated with the W. O. B. A. Dr. English thought that all clubs playing should be affiliated, and after a short debate this was decided on. Mr. A. Tilimann declared that the ers to have added 80 per cent to the yarious clubs of the association failed to demand for gasoline within the past various clubs of the association failed to notify the secretary of the W. O. B. A. of the changes of secretary. This made the work of handling the tournament much heavier than it should be.

On motion of Mr. C. H. Swabey, the annual grant of $200 was made to the London Bowling Club to fix up the greens for the annual tournament.

WILL ST. THOMAS AND GUELPH DROP OUT OF THE LEAGUE?

League Today Will Discuss Transference of Clubs.

The Toronto Globe this morning in speaking of the meeting of the Car adian League to be held at Hamilton changes in the league circuit are to be discussed, and mentions that the St. Thomas and Guelph clubs may be transferred to other cities.

Although there is no direct corroboration of these rumors, it is believed other is the chaotic condition of in Canadian League circles that a big racing rules for them. change will be made in the circuit be fore very long. The St. Thomas and Guelph clubs have been running difficulties in regard to financial matters in connection with the club, and both these teams may be withdrawn and placed in other Canadian cities for the balance of the season.

It is believed locally that today's meeting of the Canadian League has been called for the express purpose of considering the advisability of making these changes or finishing the season with a six-team organization. St. Catharines has been after a Can-adian League club for some time, and it is not unlikely that they will be accommodated, were purchased for use in my family at different places, the product of dif-ferent bakeries; they weighed only 19 ounces each. I was cheated out of 10 ounces in that small deal. Is it not a downright shame that this condition of things should be winked at by the mayor and chairman of No. 3 commit-tee? They can stop this trickery on the part of the bakers right off if they instruct or permit the inspector to do his duty. No scizure for short weight has been made for months, and mean-while the honest baker flourishes like a green bay free and gleefully cuts down the dough to 19 ounces. I shall wrife you again. Yours truly, FAIRPLAY.

DUMAS' REPLY.

Mr. Arthur Meyer, editor of Le Gaulois, in his "Forty Years of Parisian Society," tells many good stories. Alexandre Dumas fils, for instance, was a talker who allowed no rivals; otherwise, he never opened his lips. Dumas fils, besides, was as apricious as Columbine and fantastic as Harlequin. A friend of his came to him one day to say: "We are dining together tonight; may I bring a rephew, an artillery captain who has just come to me on leave? What possible connection, he wondered, could there be between the outrageous demands which this fellow Girard had been making upon him and Girard had been making upon him and the letter received by his niece, so calmly assuring her that before the end of the month the money which she claimed would be turned over to her. It was quite evident that the girl had no knowledge whatever of Girard or of his demands. She had lived in Paris but a short time, and it was inconceivable that any criminal or band of criminals in the city be operating in her behalf. Yet the assurance of the letters was, to say the least, exasperating. There flashed through his mind thoughts of several similar cases which he had seen recorded recently in the newspapers. Only a few weeks before a prominent banker had been made the victim of similar demands, and, upon his paying no attention to them, had been murdered in cold blood one night while entering his house, after a convivial evening at the club. The newspapers had attributed the outrage to an unusually active pand of Apaches, who had been of late terrorizing Paris. "Where is the fellow now?" demanded D'Este.

"In the library, Monsieur the Count." The butler's confusion increased momentarily. "What could I do?" he protested. "The fellow is undoubtedly a dangerous character."

The Count drew himself up and settled his shoulders pugnaciously. Whatever else he was, Monsieur D'Este was not a coward. "Eugene." he cried, "you are a fool. Since this fellow has gained entrance to my house, I shall see him, and find out what it is that he wants. When the Prefect of Police arrives, notify me at once. MARRIAGE CASE IN HIGHEST COURT

Question of Parliament's Powers in Matter Opens Before Privy Council.

INTRODUCTORY SPEECH

"Alas, Monsteur, I could not help it. He passed me roughly at the door. He insisted upon seeing you. I told him that you could see no one, but he would not listen to me. He sald that you would know what he wanted."

"Where is the fellow now?" demanded TESE.

a sort of lectern. There is practically no provision made for the general pub-lic or reporters except the official stenographer.

On the hearing of the case a fort-night ago, Mr. Doherty, in making the application, explained that the matter arose on a reference by the Governor-General-in-Council to the supreme court under section 60 of the supreme court act on the respec-tive jurisdictions of the Parliament of Casimir-Perier Hopes to Make Canada and the Provincial Legislatures upon questions of law governing marriage.

A bill was introduced into the Parliament of Canada, at its last session which proposed to amend the marliage act. Very grave doubts were riage act. ada, by section 92 the exclusive legistation with regard to the solemnization of marriage was conferred on the Provincial Legislature. In view of these two dispositions grave doubts were entertained of the constitutional power of the Parliament of Canada to enact the proposed legislation.

The subject matter of the legislation had given rise to very considerable agitation in the country and very strong feeling had been generated, which arose from the fact that it was CAUTION .- Be careful to inclose above contended that under the law of the duly performed according to such laws Province of Quebec, the validity of shall everywhere within Canada be marriages at all events as regarded deemed to be a valid marriage, notmarriages between two persons pro-fessing the Roman Catholic religion, ligious faith of the persons so married was dependent on the ceremony being and without regard to the religion of tion was ultra vires. Lord Shaw said it occurred to him ada felt that, in view of the importance of the matter and of the very general desire that it should be settled by the judgment of the highest current legislation by Parliament and the respective part of the bill might be good as part of a scheme of control of the highest current legislation by Parliament and the respective part of the problem of the highest current legislation by Parliament and the respective part of the problem of the ribunal of the realm, it was incum- by provincial legislatures confirming doubt the civil status of such persons.

The Important Point. "The all-important point," said Mr. Nesbitt, "is that legislation touching the actual contract of marriage as such, is within the exclusive power of the Dominion Parliament. We contend that validity of the contract of marriage cannot be affected by any provincial legislation, which can only deal with solemnization. The parties make their own marriage validity, that tie is the very basis of society. On the third question, the majority of the judges opined that Parliament had no power to enact such remedial legislation. His point was that once two persons agreed to live as man and wife there was a marriage state, who could say such a marriage would be recognized only if certain formalities were com-plied with? The formalities might vary and did vary. What they were had nothing to do with building the contract interse of the parties in England from Saxon days onwards.

Force of Ceremony. Some ceremonial had always been attached to marriage, Marriage was solemnized in England, although it meant nothing more than a contract come to between A and B to live together, of which the ceremony was only additional evidence of the parties having agreed as husband and wife and were married. They were none the more married, because the state where they lived said they must go through one or half a dozen legal forms to obtain the sanction of the Lord Halsbury intimated that he thought the word marriage depended upon the context in which it was used. A and B might agree to get married, and go through a form of marriage, and yet not after all be man and wife. Counsel thought what Lord Halsoury said was unquestionably true of divorce, but there was a difference etween the contracting and the dissolution of the marriage tie. If a man was married or was not there was no half-way status; yet in divorce narties might merely separate and might be divorced without marrying again or might be absolutely free. Egg and Butter Market Very Firm-Oats at $1.63 to $1.68 Per Cwt.

A large number of loads of hay were sold on the market today, and judging by the way that the hay is being brought in the total number of loads sold during this week will exceed one hundred. The price of new hay was from $12 to $14 p.r ton. Very little new hay has been offered dur-

Consols Drop.

LONDON, July 23.—Consols Sank this morning to the low figure of 73% on the stock exchange. The increased expenditures foreshadowed in the speech on the supplementary appropriation for the British navy made by Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the Admiralty, Churchill, first lord of Commons, was the immediate cause of the fall, but consols have very few friends, and any attempt to put on the market even a small block is the signal for a decline in the price.

ENGINEERS WELL PAID. New York, July 23 .- At the morning session of the arbitration commission oday to determine the merits of the wage controversy between the locomotive engineers and the managers of 52 railroads east of Chicago, B. A. Worthington, president of the and Alton, again took the stand. He completed his explanation of the 115 statistical tables which the railway managers offered, to controvert the claim of the engineers for increases in pay estimated at $7,500,000 per He said that these tables show a gradual increase in the pay of en-gineers, who are the highest paid skilled workmen in the services of the railroads. He added that the tables also show a proportionate increase in the pay of other employees which folgenuine recause it was so vague. It lowed any increase to the engineers, reminded us at once of the important and that, in his opinion, it would be difficult to persuade the firemen and other employees that they are not also entitled to more pay.

250 Dundas Street-South London, EALING PEOPLE FOR ANNEXATION

Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Hamilton Road School House Monday Night.

A GREAT BENEFIT TO ALL

Ealing and Pottersburg Residents Will Hold a Meeting in the School on Wednesday Night.

A large meeting of the ratepayers of Ealing and the surrounding district met in the Hamilton road schoolhouse Monday night to consider negotiations with the city in regard to annexation. There was an attendance of at least two hundred, and when the question was put before the meeting everyone was in favor of continuing the negotiations. A committee, composed of Rev. W. L.

Steeves, H. E. Finch, Walter W. Gould, Richard H. Sanders, J. Homister and Richard H. Sanders, J. Homister and ex-Ald. Henry Pocock, were appointed to confer with the committee appointed to represent Pottersburg and then to meet the committee of the city council. Mr. Gould was elected chairman and Mr. Sanders secretary of the committee. At the meeting Mr. R. H. Sanders acted as chairman and Mr. Chas. Parker was secretary.

The City's Plan. Ald. Johnston, who is a member of the special committee of the city council appointed to promote annexation with the two prospective suburbs, addressed the meeting and presented a plan that might be adopted. He showed that Ealing would make much progress if a part of the city, and particularly so if it joined the city under fixed assessment for a term of years. If Ealing joins the city immediate steps will be taken to give that district ample fire and police pro-tection, the benefits of the high school, public library, waterworks, hydro-elec-tric system and adequate street car ser-

This last matter caused considerable discussion. Ald, Johnston was asked if the proposed negotiations were carried through would the increase in population be sufficient to have the street railway rack extended? In reply, he said that although the city required an increase of 4,000 in population before any additional trackage would be laid, the annexation of both places would bring the population to over the 50,000 mark.

Street Railway Extension. This question seemed to be of great importance to the residents & Ealing, and many of those present engaged in the discussion. One speaker said that he did not care whether the street cars ever reached Ealing or not, because of the inadequate service. "At present," he said, "if I am in a hurry I walk to the city, and if I don't care whether I get there today or to-morrow I wait for a car." Several others concurred with his remarks. Another said that ten years would elapse before another census could if not on the continent.

shown by the numerous questions asked of the representatives of the city. Quesions pertaining to schools, fire protection, fixed assessment, waterworks and the boundaries of the district to be annexed were asked. Aid. Johnston stated that the council were thinking of instalshould use his best efforts to improve the place. Years ago it was named Wyatt Park, after ex-Ald. Wyatt, but ling auto fire trucks in the different stations, and if this was done no additional stations would have to be erected, as there is no comparison between the speed of the auto trucks and the present horse trucks. One of those present was rather doubtful as to the speed that an auto truck could make through five feet of snow, which is very common in the winter time. The boundaries of the district to be annexed was given as folows: West on Oxford street from the eastern limits of the city to the Asylum side road, thence south to Dundas street, are spending their honeymoon trip then west to lot 7, and from this point south to the river. A Benefit All Around. Commissioner of Industries J. Grant Henderson also addressed the meeting, and he confined his remarks to the benthat the proposed annexation, carried through, would be to his depart. ment, and also to the people of the dis-A large amount of vacant land at a fixed rate of assessment, and a low rate at that, would be a great help in rate at that, would be a great distribution of this city. The lack of suitable sites for large factories has been a great drawback to the city for some time past, and could be shelved for a long time by the annexation of both Ealing and Pottersburg. Mr. Henderson stated that he Mr. Langstrach, jun., of Strathroy, spent Sunday with his father, Mr. I. communication with several who were contemplating opening branches in this part of the country, and f the city could offer sites at Pottersburg and Ealing he was sure that the firms would decide to erect buildings and commence operations in this city. These firms which he had in view were sending representatives to London to look over sites in the latter part of Entrance—Rose Bloomfield, Leslie Voyes, Mayme Little, Earl Wilson. August and early in September, and he hoped that by that time he would be able to offer sites in the new districts. A Joint Meeting.

Among those that engaged in the disussion were Messrs. H. E. Finch, George Angus, of Pottersburg, J. Homister, Fred Allen, Jas. Cambridge, Chas. Finch and Rev. W. L. Steeves.
