WALKER BANDITS SEIZE $5,000 PAYROLL Chamber of Commerce To Vote On City Manager Plan

BORDER CITY BANDITS GET THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

Three Robbers Take Entire
Payroll of Walkerville Company.

MASKED AND ARMED
Smash Windows of Sedan and Flee With Money to Detroit.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, Nov. 2.—Three men, two of them masked and all armed, held up two employees of the Dominion Forge and Stamping Company, Walkerville, at 10:30 today and robbed them of the entire payroll, amounting to five thousand dollars.

The robbery occurred on Monmouth Road, Walkerville, a short distance from the company's plant. The two messengers had just crossed from Detroit in a closed car and were on their way to the factory with the money when they were overtaken by the bandits in a car bearing an American license number, which crowded the pay car into the curb. Smashing the windows of the sedan, the robbers poked guns in the faces of the messengers who were powerless to resist. They were not harmed after giving up the money.

The bandits fled westward along Huron street toward Windsor, but so far no trace of the culprits has been found.

Police learned shortly after noon that the robbers, after starting toward Windsor, circled about into Fort City, on the corner of the intersection of Huron and Huron, and transferred into another car which was waiting there.

They then proceeded to the Walkerville ferry and crossed to Detroit, the police arriving just as the boat pulled out.

Eyewitnesses of the robbery told police some time after the occurrence that the car which figured in the robbery carried an Ontario license number, rather than an American number as was first reported, but the car in which they escaped over the river bore Michigan license plates. The number of this car was secured, and it is said to be that of a car owned in Hamtramck, a suburb of Detroit.

SECURE $4700 PAYROLL.
Associated Press Despatch.
Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Five motor bandits, wearing handkerchiefs for masks, today held up the payroll of the John W. & Brothers Chemical Company and robbed him of a $4,700 payroll. The holdup occurred a short distance from the chemical plant, as the payroll was returning from a nearby bank.

MAY LIDELL REPORTED AS SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

The condition of May Lydell, 18-year-old girl, who is lying in Victoria Hospital, with 71 abscesses in her left leg as a result of being accidentally shot by Clayton Fanson Monday afternoon, was reported this morning by physicians to be slightly improved. Miss Lydell's physicians have decided not to perform an operation upon her leg in an effort to remove the shot. It is their opinion the wound will heal if let alone, but if infection should set in, her leg would have to be amputated.

Members Will Be Quizzed On Commission Government By Chamber of Commerce

Every Member Will Be Asked To Either Indorse or Reject Plan.

TAKING STRAW VOTE

If Proposal Is Indorsed, City Council Will Be Asked To Submit It To Voters.

In line with James Gray's suggestion that the matter of commission government be submitted to a vote of the ratepayers at the coming election, the Chamber of Commerce, of which he is president, is taking a complete ballot from its members regarding the proposal.

A concrete plan dealing with a commission-city manager form of civic government for London has been compiled by the chamber. This will be presented to every member, who will either indorse or reject it. "It will crystallize public thinking in so far as our membership is concerned," Gordon Philip, secretary of the chamber, said. "The membership of the chamber, being made of widely varied classes of citizenship, people engaged in almost every business calling and profession, employers and employees, a maximum vote should provide public officials with a reliable expression of opinion from the widely diversified viewpoints our membership presents."

What They Vote On.
The question asked each member is: "Do you favor the proposal of commission government, as set forth herewith for change in London's present civic government to the small council or commission-city manager form of government?"

This morning the directors submitted for the first time their proposed method of civic government which will be voted on. In brief the recommendation is as follows: "A council or commission of five, with the present statutory qualifications of election, elected by the taxpayers of the whole city, the mayor or chairman to be elected each year for one year only, and four councilors or commissioners elected for the first year, two for one year and two for two years terms, and thereafter two each year for two-year terms, to all vacancies on the board and insure continuity."

It is pointed out that by the election of the mayor for one year the majority of the council would be elected each year and would give the taxpayers direct control.

City Manager Plan.
The remainder of the proposition is that "the council elected as above have the power to appoint a city manager for a term of five years, who shall carry out policies formulated by the council or commission, and have full executive control of all city officials and departments governed by the council or commission except the city clerk and city auditor's departments."

As soon as an opinion is obtained from the 700 Chamber of Commerce members the results will be placed before the council. If the council members vote in favor of the proposal, the council will be urged to let the ratepayers vote on it in the coming election.

TEACHERS WELL PAID FOR EXTRA SERVICES

Night School Fees Prove Welcome Addition to Regular Salary.

Teachers in the technical and collegiate institutes, receiving salaries of from $2,400 to $3,000 per annum for teaching from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m., have received an additional $200 per night for teaching at night school.

This statement was made by Secretary W. A. Tanner today when commenting on teachers' salaries. Seventeen teachers at the Technical School, in addition to receiving a regular salary, are paid this extra amount, the total for the six months that the schools are opened in the evening running well into the hundreds.

Several teachers were pointed out as receiving more than $100 a month in this way, which, added to their regular salary, makes their reward for teaching highly satisfactory.

Colder Weather Finds Overcoat Thieves Busy

Inspector Nickle of the local detective department warns people to keep a "weather eye" on their overcoats.

"Three overcoats have been reported as stolen in the last twelve hours," stated the inspector this morning. "People seem to be very careless about them, and with a cold winter coming on and lots of young fellows in need of a coat, people should be mighty careful where they leave or hang them. If they go to dance halls they should check their overcoats."

G. H. Haight, 409 Hill street, reported that he and a friend, C. J. Donnelly, left their overcoats in a motor car parked in front of Hyman Hall last night, and on their return a few hours later they were gone. Haight's coat was of heavy dark green material, while Donnelly's coat was brown.

Wm. Crozier, 400 Ridout street, reported his green-colored overcoat as being taken from the Winter Gardens last night.

GREER OUT IF WENIGE THE MAYOR NEXT YEAR

Ward One Alderman Will Not Be Candidate Unless the Mayor's Defeat Sure.

HAS HAD ENOUGH

Asserts One Year in Council
Under Present Conditions
Plenty For Him.

Ald. John Greer, Ward 1, left this afternoon on a shooting expedition in the Lake of Bays district. He expects to be away for about two weeks. In any event, he will return in time for municipal nomination day.

To the Advertiser today, Ald. Greer declared that his entry in the arena again this year depended entirely upon the mayoralty candidates. He does not welcome another year in the council if Mayor Wenige is going to be the mayor.

"If Mayor Wenige gets the office by acclamation, I am through," Ald. Greer stated. "I have had all I desire this year with him in the chair. It has been too much for me. The game is not worth the candle. And, furthermore, I will not run again for the council if I feel that the candidate brought out against the mayor—if such happens—is not heavy enough to defeat him."

"That is my stand, and it can be made public today. My candidature depends entirely upon the mayoralty. If the present mayor is going to be in again, I will not be in the council."

WILL NOT ACCEPT GIFT OF BUFFALO FOR SPRINGBANK

Five in Zoo Now, and Inclusive
Will Not Accommodate More.

OTHERS OFFERED

No additions to the buffalo herd at Springbank Park are contemplated, according to E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, who was asked whether the city would accept any specimens from Weinwright Park, where some 2,000 of the animals are now being slaughtered to relieve the overcrowding.

There are five of these beasts at the Springbank zoo, all fine specimens, and Mr. Buchanan stated there was no room for more in the enclosure, even if they did wish to accept them. London is as well supplied in this respect as any other Canadian city, having two bulls and two cows in perfect condition, although at this time their coats are shaggy and worn looking. At this season of the year, however, they take on their winter covering and are majestic in appearance.

EXPECT BECK REPORT AT MONDAY'S COUNCIL

Until It Is Received, Street
Railway Situation Shows
No Change.

The local street railway situation remains in much the same position as before the Toronto conference.

The company's original offer was approximately $55,000 a mile, has announced two weeks ago in The Advertiser, but has since been reduced to a certain degree.

Sir Adam Beck, acting as the city's representative, has stated that the purchase price should not exceed $100,000.

Mayor Wenige still questions why the Bunnell estimate of $900,000 should not be sent to the people for consideration.

A definite report from Sir Adam is expected at Monday's session of the city council.

DENY EX-CROWN PRINCE IS BACK IN GERMANY

Associated Press Despatch.
Berlin, Nov. 2.—Reports that former Crown Prince Frederick William, exiled in Holland since the war, had returned to Germany, were in circulation this morning, although publicity through the columns of the Deutsches Allgemeine Zeitung. Inquiry, however, quickly brought out denials. Members of the Hohenzollern family at Potsdam declared there was no truth in the rumors, while at Oels, Prussia, which he was reported to have reached, it was declared Frederick William had not arrived.

ALD. JOHN GREER
announces today that he will not sit at the council another year if present mayor is again in office.

Governor Dawson Reports an Uneventful Trip to Kingston With Prisoners.

BEHAVED WELL

Will Not Be Returned to City
Until January Assizes Are Opened.

Governor Byron Dawson of the Middlesex county jail, who has returned from Kingston penitentiary, after delivering Slim Williams and Elijah Henry to the officials of the institution, reported the trip was without incident. Both prisoners behaved remarkably well, giving Governor Dawson and his assistant no trouble whatever.

Williams was taken to Kingston to await his trial here in January for a murder charge, when he and Sid Murrell will face a jury on a charge of slaying Russell Campbell during the Melbourne bank robbery two years ago.

Henry has been sentenced to Kingston for three years for theft by Magistrate Trueman of Strathroy.

Sees World-Wide Adoption Of Dr. Waud's New Device For Testing Pulse Tension

Local Doctor and Mayor
Wenige Strongly Advocate
Aiding Highgate Physician.

OPINIONS DIFFER

No Formal Application Yet Made For Aid From University and Council.

No formal application has yet been received by the board of governors of the University of Western Ontario or the city council for the assistance of Dr. R. A. Waud of Highgate in the perfection and patenting of his electrical device for registering the tension of the human pulse and diagnosing diseases of the circulatory system.

Several members of the board spoken to this morning disclaimed all knowledge of any request for money to complete the patent processes in Canada and the United States, both of which are being sought.

A. T. Little, chairman of the board, stated that he had heard nothing about it. He also said that he did not wish to be interviewed on the subject, but gave the impression that he would not oppose any steps that might be taken to give Dr. Waud assistance.

Dean Fox of the faculty of arts stated that as far as he was concerned he knew nothing, although it would be a great credit to the university to have Dr. Waud helped if possible. The honor of the discovery and inventions would reflect on the institution.

Major Gordon Ingram also disclaimed any knowledge of an application having been made for assistance. Asked whether he would favor the establishment of a research fund in circulation through the columns of the Deutsches Allgemeine Zeitung. Inquiry, however, quickly brought out denials. Members of the Hohenzollern family at Potsdam declared there was no truth in the rumors, while at Oels, Prussia, which he was reported to have reached, it was declared Frederick William had not arrived.

CITY HUNTERS LOST IN PARKHILL WOODS

Three London Men Had a Strenuous Experience in
"Devil's Elbow."

LOST SIX HOURS

Torn Clothing and Many Bruises
Tell of Battle With Brambles.

Lost for hours in the dense undergrowth of the "Devil's Elbow," part of the 15,000 acres near Parkhill, owned by the Canada Land Company, was the thrilling experience recently of three Londoners, Gilbert Chisholm, Jack Brown and Percy Vahey.

For six hours the three hunters, who had become separated from each other during the afternoon, followed their way through the virgin wilderness of the large tract of land, and it was not until 8 o'clock in the evening that they finally saw a light twinkling in the distance and arrived at the home of Mr. Bending, R. R. No. 2, Parkhill, on the outskirts of the "grown land."

Their hunting jackets and trousers were torn to shreds, and each man carries numerous bruises and scratches from the brambles.

Early in the morning the trio started off for Parkhill, and were directed to the Canada Land Company tract by a farmer of the vicinity, who told the party that there was lots of game in the woods. Just as they entered the tract they heard the "hook, hook" of wild geese, and high in the heavens they saw three long "V's" of wild geese, followed by a few wild ducks.

Saw Many Geese.
"I never saw so many wild ducks in my life before," one of the party told The Advertiser today. "We thought there might be some real shooting in the woods, and left our car at the end of a blind road. I was never in such thick underbrush. Wild grapes and buckthorn made it almost impossible to penetrate, and we could only go a few steps before squeezing or crawling through it."

It was a bitter cold day, and we left our overcoats in the car, expecting that the exercise of walking would keep us warm.

"We gradually drew apart, and pretty soon I was crawling along all by myself. I tell you I was never in such a place in my life. I didn't know the name of the place then, but it certainly was well named. 'The Devil's Elbow.' It was more than that, it was the old man himself."

Hit Woods at Noon.
"It was about noon when we hit the woods, and although we could hear the whirr of game, we couldn't see it, and I didn't get one shot. Finally, about 4 o'clock, I started back as I thought, with my dog, and it was one continual struggle through the thick growth. You would hardly believe stuff could grow so thick, but I understand this land has never been touched since the last of the last century."

Canadian Press Despatch.
Halifax, Nov. 2.—Up to a late hour this morning the question as to whether or not the international schooner races are to continue was still in doubt. Aboard the Bluenose, successful Canadian schooner, a few two races called this week, preparations were being made to put to sea, her captain, Angus Walters and his crew of Lunenburgers insisting they had defeated the Columbia, the American challenger, and were through with racing for the year. At the same time, the Gloucester schooner, successful in the first race, a few blocks away, the international committee were in session attempting to compose the differences. It is believed as a result of the sailing committee's decision of last night in disqualifying the Bluenose for having passed a navigation beacon on the wrong side in yesterday's contest and awarding the race to Columbia.

At noon Walters said that as surely as the sun would rise in the east tomorrow morning he was going home. But it will be recalled that "Clay" the board of trade officers, a few blocks away, the international committee were in session attempting to compose the differences. It is believed as a result of the sailing committee's decision of last night in disqualifying the Bluenose for having passed a navigation beacon on the wrong side in yesterday's contest and awarding the race to Columbia.

DOMESTIC SERVANTS FROM CENTRAL EUROPE

Government
Agent Report Large Party
Is Now Available.

J. C. Spencer, superintendent of the local branch of the government employment bureau, reports today that there is now available for Ontario a large supply of the very best type of domestic help. This help is from Central Europe, and is of the class which is willing to pay its own way across and employment authorities in Ottawa vouch for the ability and worth of the intending immigrants.

Mr. Spencer states that this new supply of domestic help is just as suitable to the farmer's wife as to the home of the city man and that these newcomers in many cases are from the rural districts in their own countries. He would like to hear from anyone who is in need of this class of help as the government will not allow domestics to come over unless they are booked for a definite place in Canada before they sail.

HON. WILLIAM PUGSLEY UNDERGOES OPERATION

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Hon. William Pugsley, federal commissioner of water claims, was operated on at St. Luke's Hospital this morning, and is reported to be resting as comfortably as could be expected. Mr. Pugsley has been receiving treatment at the hospital for a fortnight, and conditions developed which made an operation necessary. This it was feared might have to be delayed some days, owing to the patient's state of health, but ultimately it was found possible to proceed with it today.

CONVICTIONS IN CITY SHOW JUMP OF 100 IN OCTOBER

Londoners Pay Out $2,576.25
in Fines During Last Month.

297 "SHELL OUT"

Breaches of City Bylaws and
M. V. A. Decidedly On Increase.

Breaking the law in London last month cost 297 citizens just $2,576.25, according to figures compiled by Police Court Clerk John Moule.

"There were 100 more convictions in October than in September," said Mr. Moule in giving out the figures. "It looks as if crime were on the increase, doesn't it?"

Breaches of the motor vehicle act totalled 104 for the month and netted the city $507 in fines.

Breaches of city bylaws numbered 123, and cost citizens $246.

O. T. A. convictions under section 41, which provides for a $200 fine, brought in $600, there being only three cases. This section states that liquor must not be kept in a place other than a private dwelling.

Thirty-four drunks stood up in the prisoner's box and heard the magistrate's fateful "10 or 10 days" spoken. There were ten convictions for disorderly conduct, while four offenders paid $5 each for being caught. One keeper of a gambling den paid $25.

Three men were fined $5 each for selling cigarettes to minors, while two farmers paid $5 and costs for selling milk not up to the standard. There were two breaches of the Lord's Day act and one of the wives maintenance act. One citizen was fined for abusing a police constable, while two were sent down for driving a motor car while intoxicated. Another was fined for reckless driving.

MICHAEL OF CRUMLIN AGAIN IN THE TOILS

Michael Tagney Found With Bottle Said To Contain Booze.

Michael Tagney, who works in the country, generally runs foul of the O. T. A. regulations. He was arrested last night he was no exception. Mike arrived from Crumlin early in the evening and was picked up by the police. Early this morning a bottle that is alleged to contain a beverage that looks like water, but Mike wouldn't admit in court this morning that he had drunk it. A particular kick, so his case was adjourned till tomorrow in order that Chief Birrell may have the contents of the bottle analysed.

MOVE BRANCH LIBRARY TO TRAFALGAR STREET

New Location Will Give Better Accommodation in Southeast Section.

The south east branch of the public library is to be moved to the new Trafalgar street school. Secretary Richard Crouch announced this morning. The library has found during the past six months that in the south east branch on the Hamilton road has been too small to accommodate that district.

The new location of the branch library is a better one, as it will include several outlying districts, and afford space for a greater number of books.

Mr. Crouch said this morning that the change in the locations of the library branches was made for two reasons. The new room in the Trafalgar school will be much larger and more cheerful and will include a greater number of books. The Trafalgar street library will take in a larger area of library users, and will be more economical for the ratepayers.

The books will be transferred from the south east branch to the Trafalgar school shortly.

NEW EQUIPMENT READY FOR TWO SCHOOLS OF CITY

All equipment for the Boyle Memorial addition and the Trafalgar School is ready to be installed in the respective buildings, according to the superintendent of works, Captain W. Robinson.

The desks and other necessities will be placed in Boyle next week in order that it may open Nov. 13, while as soon as the plasterers are finished at Trafalgar, it also will be fitted up. Much of the equipment is already in use in the temporary classrooms which the board found it necessary to secure until the buildings were finished.

MISSIONS CONFERENCE OPENS HERE

EXPECT 1,500 WILL COME TO LONDON FOR CONFERENCE

Delegates to World Missions Convention Are Arriving in City.

BIG PROGRAM AHEAD

An attendance of 1,500 people, representing all denominations, will not exceed the expectations of the committee of the Ministerial Alliance who have been making arrangements for the World Missions Conference, which commences this evening in the First Methodist Church.

The committee are confident that they will have an attendance of at least this number. Each church in the city, representing Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational denominations, has been taking a lively interest in preparations for the conference; and there is no doubt that each congregation will be well represented.

The conference proper commences at 8 o'clock tonight with the mass meeting. But from 4 to 6 Wesley Hall will be open for an exhibition of curios and idols from India, China, Japan and other mission fields. Literature issued by the missionary departments will also be in display, and there will be a showing of lantern views of mission work.

The rally this evening will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist Church. Rev. Dr. D. C. McGregor of St. Andrew's Church will be the chairman. During the evening solos will be rendered by Mrs. Ed. Wyatt, a local singer of established popularity; and in addition there will be community singing, led by E. L. Brown.

To Address Conference.

The success of the rally meeting is counted upon to serve as inspiration for the ensuing sessions, and for this reason two specially fine speakers have been secured. Prof. Yohan Masih of India, head of the Theological Seminary of Calcutta, has been heard in London on several occasions before. He speaks English fluently, and his addresses are delivered with compelling interest. In addition to his advantages as a speaker, Professor Masih is possessed of a considerable first-hand knowledge of conditions in India, both from a missionary and political point of view.

Rev. R. Cameron, pastor of the Bloor Street Baptist Church in Toronto, is one of the outstanding orators in the Christian Church in Canada. His address tonight is being awaited with keen interest. In addition to the services from his own pulpit, Dr. Cameron each Sunday conducts a later service in Lewis Yonge Street Theatre. At each service the great auditorium is filled to capacity, and hundreds are regularly turned away, unable to gain admission.

Children's Mass Meeting.

Two important events are listed for Saturday's program. In the afternoon Wesley Hall will be the scene of a great children's mass meeting, held under the direction of V. K. Greer. Preceding this mass meeting, the children will hold a parade through a number of the streets in the vicinity of the First Methodist Church, and they will be led by the Salvation Army band.

During the afternoon lantern slides will depict missionary work in India, China and Japan, and missionaries from these lands, dressed in the native costume, will give addresses.

In the evening, at least 300 men are expected to attend the great meeting at hood banquet and musical meeting, at which addresses will be given by Rev. John Griffith of China, and Hon. Newton Rowell.

HE WANTS TO RESCIND ACTION OF COMMITTEE

Ald. Drake Suggests That the Entire Salary Question Be Again Discussed.

While he supported city hall increases to the value of nearly $8,000 at the last session of the finance committee, Ald. Gordon Drake today urges a complete cancellation of this action and a reconsideration of the entire salary issue.

"We can't do anything now with the increases we proposed Wednesday night," Ald. Drake asserted. "We are in an awful mess and the best thing we could do now would be to rescind our action of the other night, start all over and attend to the salary question in a proper manner."

Ald. Drake charges that the situation as it rests after Wednesday's session is very unfair to many of the employees in the city hall. As it is, some of the departments are going to receive it all and some of the others will get nothing. "Why, the first thing we know, none of them will be getting anything this year," he says.

He urges a special informal session of the entire council to thresh out the salary issue before the regular session on Monday night next. He states that Ald. Colbert favors this as well. But from present indications this gathering cannot be held as no session has been called by the mayor, in the proper manner.

PLAN TO TELL CHILDREN WORK OF MISSIONARIES

On Saturday afternoon at three o'clock a children's mass meeting will be convened at Wesley Hall, First Methodist Church, under the auspices of the interdenominational conference on missions. Views from the different mission fields will be shown, and will be explained by the different missionaries, dressed in costume, from these countries.

The program will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Priest. A short parade around two or three city blocks will precede the meeting.

ENGLISH PEOPLE LOSING INTEREST IN CONFERENCES

AWAIT DECISIONS

By GEORGE HAMBLETON, Canadian Press Cable.

London, Nov. 2.—It is expected that the fact that the conference will be crowded with committee work in connection with the imperial and economic conferences. The question of empire defense is not on the agenda, but it may come up again.

Phases of the foreign policy, tariff preference and empire settlement all are to be discussed again, while Premier Massey of New Zealand, curiously enough, has initiated a discussion on the Spangier treatment of tuberculosis. An invitation has been given to Dr. Spangier to meet the conference members and explain the new treatment.

It is obvious, however, that the conference are losing interest. The English papers which formerly ran many columns of speeches and interviews and sketches of the visitors from the dominions, now rarely carry more than the official communiques, and some of the papers do not carry even that much.

The coming British general elections, and the situation in Europe overshadow all else. The British ministers attend the conference in the intervals of the political campaign.

The actual decisions of the main conference probably will not be made public until it concludes, but it is regarded as probable that they will mark any sweeping departures. The chief value of the conference has lain rather in the exchanges of views, in enabling the different dominions to understand each other's difficulties and limitations.

Kitchener, Nov. 1.—The dominion government meteorological department will install an electrical apparatus here for measuring rainfall. This announcement was made today by City Engineer Stanley Shupe. Mr. Halsey is the government meteorological representative in Kitchener.

CITY ORANGE MEN WILL CELEBRATE GUY FAWKES DAY

Lodges To Attend Church Service at Empress Ave. Church Sunday.

MONDAY'S PROGRAM

Guy Fawkes Day, Monday, will be celebrated in London and the district in a manner which would bring joy to the hearts of those who uncovered his nefarious plots against the British Parliament in the year 1605.

Local Orange societies are leaving nothing undone to make the day commemorative of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, when kegs of explosive were discovered under the floor of the Houses of Parliament in London and everything in readiness to blow them skyhigh as soon as parliament convened.

Sunday there will be a monster church parade to Empress Avenue Church, where the parade will conduct the services at 3:30 p.m. All members of the Orange, Black Knights, True Blues, Lady Orange, Orange Young Britons and chicken lodges will attend, the parade forming up on the market square at 2:30 p.m. and moving off at 3 o'clock. The London Orange brass band, the City flute band and probably Hackett's fife and drum band will escort the marchers to the service.

On Monday the feature will be the parade to be staged in the evening, which will wind up at the market, where an effigy of Guy Fawkes will be burned to the sounds and shouts of derision and joy. Several bands will accompany the marchers, who will parade through the city, and many of those participating are expected to be in costume.

Monday night several banquets and meetings will be held by the Orangemen. A chicken dinner will be given by Duke of York L. O. L. 203 in the new Orange Hall on the 14th concession on the Silom sidewalk. Belmont Lodge will also celebrate in the same manner, while more chicken will be consumed at Denfield, where Britannia Lodge, L. O. L. 156, will hold forth. An oyster supper will be the entertainment offered by the Ahoghi Lodge, L. O. L. 230, in the Orange Hall on Adelaide street.

JOHN STILL WAITING TRIAL FOR MURDER

Large Number of Other Criminal Cases in Detroit Causes Delay.

Advice from Detroit today revealed the fact that John ("Casey") Yohn, formerly of this city, is still waiting trial charged with the murder of a bus station attendant last August. It is further reported that Yohn has not fully recovered from gunshot wounds in the leg sustained at the time of his arrest with a companion, when police officers deemed it necessary to prevent his escape with a shower of bullets.

CIVIC GLADIATORS MEET AND EXCHANGE THRUSTS

In his daily round of the city hall today, Ald. William A. Wilson encountered Mayor W. W. Wilson. The mayor, who is the ex-chairman of the board of works, and the two opponents had exchanged preliminary remarks. Ald. Wilson greeting the mayor with "Good morning, your lordship."

"That will be your privilege," retorted the mayor. "But it costs quite a lot of money to sit in the mayor's chair."

"Well, there will be order there if I do," promised Ald. Wilson. "I might run yet, as I've heard that you are not afraid of a mild nature."

Then Ald. Wilson lighted one of the mayor's cigars, and the conversation was of a milder nature. Ald. Wilson lapsing into a reminiscent mood.

"It was an awful meeting," he reminded, "that last session of the committee when salaries were discussed. You and Drake were quite boisterous," he chided. "There was altogether too much talking."

"TRAIL BLAZER" TRAIN THRILLS INHABITANTS

Tri-Weekly Service Started On T. and N. O. Spur Line To James Bay.

Canadian Press Despatch. Cochrane, Ont., Nov. 1.—The first passenger train to be operated north of the former transcontinental line in Ontario today provided some descendants of the country's original inhabitants with the thrill of their lives.

The running of this train marked the official opening of the T. and N. O.'s 43-mile extension northward to James Bay. The train, which was on hand for the event, although he did not go up the branch.

Ninety passengers were carried on the first day of the tri-weekly service, which has been inaugurated. Most of these went through from Cochrane to Island Falls Junction, where they will be employed on the construction of the Hollinger's power plant. There are thirteen stops provided for on the line. All but one are flag stations.

DELEGATE PROBABLE.

Woodstock, Nov. 1.—In view of pressure from the provincial boys' work board and of changes made in the regulations with the object of meeting local conditions, it is now expected that Woodstock will elect a member to the provincial boys' parliament.

HARRY RANAHAN MAY SEEK SEAT IN CITY COUNCIL

Prominent Grocer Considers Running For Alderman in Ward Two.

INTEREST INCREASES

Another excellent aldermanic possibility loomed up yesterday for ward two in the person of Harry Ranahan, Richmond street grocer, whose friends have been urging him to toss his bonnet into the ring.

Mr. Ranahan is giving the question his consideration, he told The Advertiser. "I am thinking seriously about it," he explained, "and I may be in the race. I can't decide just now, however."

Increasing interest in the coming election is being manifested daily throughout ward two, more particularly across the river in West London, where the ratepayers are more determined than ever that one of their number shall go to the council this year.

Two members of the present council from the ward will seek re-election, Ald. Leonard Douglass and Ald. W. A. Wilson. It is not expected that Ald. Albert Judd will be in the aldermanic race, in any event. If he does not receive the crown attorney's appointment, he has to consider the majority nomination, and if he declines that also, he will be through.

THINK PROPOSED CONFERENCE WILL REACH AGREEMENT

Poincare Shows Desire to Soften Reparations Restrictions Set Forth.

U. S. STILL UNDECIDED

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 2.—Increasing confidence is felt in government quarters here over the prospects for the early organization and meeting of a special reparations committee on which an American economist expert will sit. In the exchange of views now proceeding between London and Paris respecting the terminology of the collective allied invitation to the United States, Premier Poincare, it is learned, shows a perceptible desire to soften some of the restrictions he has already set forth. It is regarded as significant that neither in his note replying to the British communication regarding the invitation to the United States, nor in his speech at Nevers yesterday, as wired here, did the sharply restrictive conditions enunciated in his Sunday address appear.

British officials, therefore, are more sanguine than ever that the pro-

Lawrason-Wenige Dispute Reaches 'He's Afraid' Stage

Each Says Other Fears Test of Strength—Mayor Invites Opponent To Contest Office.

The Wenige-Lawrason new city hall situation is now in "statu quo" stage.

The mayor states that Trustee Lawrason is afraid to run against him for mayor, and Trustee Lawrason declares that the mayor is afraid to meet him in public debate. "I am going after him," promised Trustee Lawrason. "He is afraid to meet me on the public platform and send my proposal to the people. I intend to follow him up. If I can beat him on the city hall question I can beat him for mayor."

"The only thing for Trustee Lawrason to do is to come out for mayor on nomination day," the mayor stated. "But even that will not advance his plan for a city hall on the Spencer site. He will have to see that mine posited committee of experts will enjoy sufficient scope and freedom to impart definite weight and authority to its decision. These officials profess to see the eventual possibility of a world conference on Europe's economic plight as an outgrowth of the forthcoming subsidiary conference of experts.

The British authorities hold that the reasonable and accommodating tone of the French premier, both in his notes and in his conversation with the British ambassador in Paris, does not justify the anxiety which appears to be felt in Washington over the scope and jurisdiction of the proposed committee.

Information received here from diplomatic circles in Washington is to the effect that neither President Coolidge nor Secretary of State Hughes has yet considered any particular man as the United States member of the proposed committee.

They have had a promise of financial aid from one of the largest fraternal societies, which was very active all through the war in sending out comfort to the boys. This they regard as promising and rather remarkable as they have had no other offer of help from all the remaining societies and clubs in London. London, by the way, is one of the very few cities of any size in Canada where the G.W.V.A. has not been very materially assisted by the city towards getting a home of its own, and there are many little almost forsaken towns in the west that boast a veterans' home that might make Londoners wonder where the money came from. The membership of the association has increased largely all through the Dominion in the last year or so, and in London there has been a decided increase. Nineteen twenty-four, it is hoped, will see them definitely established in the city in a home that will do both them and the city justice.

NEW QUARTERS FOR G.W.V.A. MEN READY TONIGHT

"The Dugout" in City Hall Block Will Serve During Winter.

MEMBERSHIP GROWS

The "Dug-out," the new quarters of the local G.W.V.A., will be opened tonight for the use of the members. The official opening will take place some night next week. The "Dug-out" is a neat, cosy little room, as befits its name, below the street level. You go down the steps under the tax collector's office and are ushered into the new rooms. George Turner, secretary of the G.W.V.A., will in future have his offices in the club rooms. The rooms are more or less temporary and will see the association through the winter months and probably keep them fairly warm.

The billiard table is back in place and with the old chairs that were nightly gathered round the card tables will help the veterans to pass some of the longer of the always long winter nights. It was only after months of search that Harry Wray, president, and George Turner, secretary of the association, succeeded in getting these quarters, and in the spring they will probably be on the lookout for other rooms which will meet their requirements more fully.

LONDON CHESS CLUB TO MEET SATURDAY

Officers Will Then Be Chosen and Season's Program Planned.

A meeting of the London Chess Club will be held on Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building when officers for the year will be elected. At the present the club has a membership of 25, but according to last year's officers it is their wish to double this number and take in all chess players.

A successful season terminated last year with a chess tournament which W. Davis won. Dr. J. R. Armstrong was the runner-up. The tournament committee are arranging to have several matches with clubs in other cities. An elimination tournament will probably commence a week from tomorrow through which a team can be chosen to represent the club in matches with other cities.

The present officers of the London Chess Club are as follows: Honorary president, Hon. C. S. Hyman; president, F. P. Betts; secretary treasurer, W. F. Sherwin; tournament committee, M. Davis, Dr. Armstrong and Rev. Symington.

"Finally I knew I was lost, and I fired my gun to draw the attention of the others. I didn't hear any reply, and I reached into my pocket for more shells. The buckthorn had torn a big hole in the pocket of my jacket, and there were only two shells left. I fired both barrels at once, and was more than tickled to hear a faint reply away at the right. I kept calling and moving in that direction, and finally met up just at darkness with another member of our party. In a few minutes the third joined us, and we started to make our way out with the dog.

Lost in Marsh.

"We kept on moving foot by foot and finally came out on a big marsh with grass growing five feet high. We couldn't see any way round it, so we started to splash through it. It was dark and cold, and we had one terrible time. In fact, it was the worst experience of my life. We never knew what moment one of us would sink out of sight as we stepped from one muskrat house to another.

"Eventually we came to the banks of what looked like a canal, and we started along the edge of this, hoping to come to a bridge. When we did finally run into a little iron bridge. It was a happy moment, and as we followed the track we saw a pinpoint of light away off, miles away.

"Well, to make a long story short, we got to the farmhouse of Mr. Bendin. We looked like three tramps with our clothes torn to shreds, our faces scratched and dirty, because we had crawled through mud and ooze on our hands and knees. We were almost perished with cold, but our spirits were soon revived with hot tea and toast, while the farmer and his good wife insisted on us making a regular meal."

Premier Will Extend Visit

By GEORGE HAMBLETON.
Canadian Press Cable.

London, Nov. 2.—Premier MacKenzie King plans to remain on this side of the ocean for twelve days after the conclusion of the imperial conference. He will visit the Canadian traveling exhibition in Paris, and will receive honorary degrees from Edinburgh and Oxford universities, and will be made a freeman of Sheffield.

RESTORE VITALITY OF GIRLHOOD AND IMPROVE PHYSICAL BEAUTY

Beauty is sometimes a gift, but more often an acquirement. And any specialist will tell you that you can have a clearer complexion, better figure, rosy cheeks, and more of the sparkle of girl's health in your eyes, if you jealously guard the condition of your blood. It is the life, the nerves and blood—if you correct in time the little defects in your appearance that so often quickly and easily remedied.

LOOK YOUR BEST! Build yourself up! Take a good tonic, as your doctor advises. The prescription of Dr. H. S. Thacher, the celebrated American physician, is now being used in countless numbers of cases here to round out the beautiful lines of the figure with firm, solid flesh. This wholesome vegetable tonic (known as Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup) has proved to be excellent for clearing up the skin by improving digestion, waking up the sluggish liver and sending purer, healthier blood coursing through rosy cheeks.

TORY RING HOLDS PARLOR MEETING TO DEBATE WENIGE

Still Searching the Underbrush For Suitable Mayoralty Heavyweight.

JUDD THEIR HOPE

J. Cameron Wilson, president of the London Conservative Association is taking a remarkable interest in the municipal affairs of this city. In fact, it is reported to The Advertiser today that his interest in the coming mayoralty contest has reached the stage that the brethren dropped into his place of residence last night to "talk it over."

"Wenige must be beaten," was the edict of several weeks ago, but when this subject was broached at a session of the Conservative Association, the president left the chair with the stern warning that "any action they might take respecting the municipal nominations must be upon their own initiative and without the official backing of the party machine."

Several representatives of the "powers that be" at the Tory headquarters comprised the group, meeting last night and it is definitely known that among the number was S. F. Lawton, treasurer of the association, and H. J. Childs, the unsuccessful candidate at the last election under the wing of the ill-fated "citizens' coalition."

Just a Little Talk.

Certain members of the Conservative board were also in attendance at last night's caucus, it is reported, but their names were not as prominently mentioned as others.

No decision was made. The Advertiser was informed today by one who was there, and who hastened to add that the meeting did not take any action of an official nature.

"We just talked things over," he explained. "Nothing definite can be accomplished at this moment."

The assurance is given, however, that a candidate will be in the field, but just who the selection will be has yet to be decided. At least six names are still considered as possibilities.

Judd "The White Hope."

It is known that Ald. Albert Judd, chairman of the finance committee, is one of them; providing he is not appointed crown attorney and if he can be induced to see the light.

Then, as would be expected, ex-Ald. H. J. Childs must have consideration. As the defeated candidate, he is entitled to first choice, providing he feels the urge and the inner circle feels that he is of sufficient weight to make the dash.

Then again, there are those who feel that ex-Mayor Cameron Wilson should be hustled into the arena, rather than allow the mayor to go in by acclamation. This proposal is not considered with any degree of seriousness, however, by the rank and file who sense that such action would only be in the case of an emergency, as outlined.

"There will be a candidate," one of the prominent insurgents assured today in conclusion, "but we haven't the slightest idea yet who he will be."

Although the council has not been approached, Mayor Wenige thinks inquiry should be made.

Absolutely yes, the council should help if the proposal is at all reasonable," he declared vigorously.

He said the question has never been brought to our attention. In fact this is the first that I have heard about it, but if that is the case, I say that by all means we should help the thing along as far as possible.

1000 EGGS In EVERY HEN

If You Keep Chickens CUT THIS OUT

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet, it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets, how to keep up heavy

GERMS ARE KILLED

Near Beer Is Pasteurized, Thus Killing Elements That Might Ferment.

Two and a half per cent beer, if not pasteurized, will develop a highly effective kick within a month, a former brewer informed The Advertiser today. He was questioned in reference to a despatch from Cornwall which told how a citizen was excused for an alleged infraction of the O. T. A. because the liquor found in his possession only cultivated an illegal potency two weeks after the charge was laid.

"Locally, however, it is almost impossible to get a kick out of beer and ale," he said, "because London brewers are compelled to pasteurize their product, which kills all the germs. If you want to become intoxicated, I would advise you to specialize in wine. One company makes a white wine which, if kept a short time, develops as high as 46 per cent alcohol."

He added that ordinary dandelion wine, if properly preserved, can give its owner the jim-jams after a period of five months. Some wines are known to contain as high as 92 per cent alcoholic content. It all depends on how long the stuff is kept and its fermenting qualities.

"The only way I know by which beer can produce the desired 'nip' is by shooting some fermenting fruits into it. Of course, if the beer is not pasteurized it will rapidly become potent, but when it is pasteurized you must add something to it to get any strength."

There is in the city at the present time a method by which pasteurized beer develops enough alcohol to be outside the law, he claimed. This is in the form of a special powder. Many citizens purchase a teaspoonful of powder substance in it with gratifying results.

"It seems a waste of time to meddle with beer," he said, "when almost any non-intoxicating wine will become intoxicating if only left alone for a few months."

CONVENTION APPROVES PRINCIPLES OF O. T. A.

Stratford, Nov. 2.—The 55th annual convention of the Ontario Religious Education Council, which has been in session here since Tuesday, passed a resolution approving of the principle of the Ontario Temperance Act, and asking for its continued propagation by the provincial and local churches and officers. The attorney-general's stand on race track gambling was also approved. The council decided to hold conventions next year in Kitchener and Ottawa.

Breaks Record In Grain Haul

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, Nov. 2.—Reports received at the headquarters of the Canadian National Railways here show that the system has created a new record in grain handling. In the 24-hour period ending midnight Wednesday, the National Railways delivered to lake head at Port Arthur, 1,470 cars of grain and 65 cars of other freight, making a total of 1,535 cars. This achievement surpasses any records previously made by Canadian railways for deliveries at lake head in a single day. During the month of October, 53,127 cars of grain were loaded on the National lines in Western Canada.

DENIES ALL REPORTS OF SPIRITED MEETING

Fireworks During Consideration of Salaries. Secretary Tanner Says No

Prompt denials were given by Secretary W. A. Tanner of the board of education to the rumors that the meeting of the salary committee, held in secret yesterday afternoon, was replete with fireworks.

Mr. Tanner stated that the meeting lasted but 45 minutes and that everything was harmonious. Other reports, however, are to the effect that the recommendation of an increase in salary to four officials was strenuously opposed.

Although the press were not notified that the meeting was to be held a complete report was carried this morning, causing much surprise to the secretary, who asked whether a dictaphone had been installed in the committee room. Mr. Tanner stated that he had forgotten to notify the press, although notices, written, were sent out to the members.

Trustee B. Campbell, one of the opponents of the action of the committee, after looking around the room and remarking that there were no reporters present, stated that many of the teachers in London schools were paid too much. He was backed up by Trustee Rowe, who made this statement some time ago.

However, although Trustee Campbell expressed strenuous opposition to the action, the recommendation carried and will be presented at the next board meeting.

Sees World-Wide Adoption Of Dr. Waud's New Device

at Western University, Major Ingram would express an opinion.

The board as a whole, however, seem inclined to think that, if necessary, assistance should be given to the doctor, if needed, in order that he might perfect an instrument which undoubtedly would revolutionize the treatment and diagnosis of diseases of the heart and circulatory system.

Col. Walter G. Brown, executive secretary of the university, at present very ill, told The Advertiser that as he has not been at his office for some days, he could not say whether the council had heard of any application having been made.

Although the council has not been approached, Mayor Wenige thinks inquiry should be made.

Absolutely yes, the council should help if the proposal is at all reasonable," he declared vigorously.

He said the question has never been brought to our attention. In fact this is the first that I have heard about it, but if that is the case, I say that by all means we should help the thing along as far as possible.

"I am strong for helping local talent as much as possible. We have just had a good illustration of that in the case of Dr. Banting, who might have remained here for his experiments if he had been given any encouragement and been provided with the facilities.

"Cultivate the local brain power and keep it in Canada and in our own communities."

Dr. Waud Declines Statement.

Dr. R. R. Waud, who is associated with Dr. Waud in the work of research, investigation and discovery, stated that they had nothing to say.

"It has been given too much publicity altogether," he declared.

Dr. Waud, himself, seen at Highgate this morning, refused to give out any more details, stating that he did not wish to make any definite announcements, either as to the instrument itself nor the steps taken in the invention, until it had been more fully covered by the patents which are pending.

He would not add anything to the details given in The Advertiser of Sept. 26, in which the invention was first described.

According to Dr. Waud, the device will record the tension of the human pulse in magnified dimensions, and will be known as the electrical polygraph. When perfected and patented it will add greatly to the diagnostic methods now in use by the medical profession.

Previous to the invention of Dr. Waud, diagnosticians have used a mechanical polygraph which, when adjusted to a patient's wrist, would trace a fine record of pulse tension. The new device is a clever elaboration of the old instrument, whereby the current records in greatly magnified dimensions, a permanent tracing of the pulse tension, which is of inestimable benefit in the diagnosis of heart conditions.

Dr. Waud is a local man in every sense of the word, having been born and educated in this district. He graduated from the Medical School of the University of Western Ontario in 1921, setting up in business in Highgate. In his spare time he has worked at the polygraph. He will not state as yet what put him on the track of the invention. His experiments have been carried out at the Medical School whenever he had a chance to leave his practice and devote a little time to them, with the result that he has now perfected an instrument which will revolutionize the diagnosis of diseases of circulatory system.

Predicts World-Wide Adoption.

Dr. Waud's brethren in the medical profession are unstinted in their praise for his endeavors and express satisfaction at the result, although they do not wish to make statements for publication. The general opinion is that it will be in use the world over within a short while after it is finally perfected and put on the market.

Dean McKibbin of the Medical School stated that he was not ready to make any statement for publication as yet.

Dr. Ramsay and others spoken to by The Advertiser would not say a word on the subject.

Dr. Platt, however, expressed himself in no uncertain terms, when he stated that it was an excellent invention, and one that would be of much benefit to the profession. He also prophesied the adoption of it all over the world, as it was reliable, a fault which the mechanical polygraph had.

CRONYN MEMORIAL BAZAAR FEATURES HOME-MADE GOODS

Today Sees Opening of Two-Day Event in Parish Hall.

WIDE VARIETIES

For two days there will be a most interesting and attractive little show on the corner of William and Queen's avenue that will surely be the mecca of all that world of women who love dainty things for themselves, and pretty and artistic things as gifts for their friends.

Where this charming caravan has rested is in the Parish Hall of the Cronyn Memorial Church, and the occasion of its appeal is the anniversary bazaar arranged by the women of the Old Garrison Church of London.

At noon today the doors open, and right up until 10 o'clock the spirit of bazaardom will hold sway. Then at noon tomorrow sees the second opening, and at the same hour at night the last closing of the doors.

The Parish Hall lies just behind the church, and you go through the metal-bound doors into a hall of green and white-covered booths, of hanging flags and gaily-festooned rafters. You are met with a vision of counters, and the colored cloth of their offerings and the best way to see it properly is to take a walk round, beginning at the right.

Here you find a little semi-circular booth divided between what is well-termed the white elephant booth, in which all the things that have reached this stage in someone's domestic history are laid out for the inquisition of the passerby. The other half of the booth displays bags—hand-bags, fancy bags, work bags, and a world of other bags.

Everything Home-Made. Next, still going round the same way, you come to the large house-hold booth in charge of the Mothers' Club of the church. This is a booth in which, as the name implies, you will find everything that is necessary and useful and imperative in your household. Home-made, which by the way applies to nearly everything in the bazaar, is especially applicable to this booth.

Then comes the linen booth, a smaller booth than the last, but rich in the aristocracy of linen. There are tea covers, pillow slips, handkerchiefs and doilies, and covers of a shape and size to fit everything in a house that is by tradition, linen covered. Just behind this bright booth is the tearoom of the bazaar.

Further to the end of the passage is the kitchen booth, just as rightly christened as are all the other counters. Oh, cooks and mistresses of the secrets of the gas range and the electric stove here is your haven of desired lin and enamel, felt, wood and china and glass are the lures and penates of the kitchen. You will find them arrayed in military precision on the counter in among the waves of wrinkled white paper, and you'll probably have an entirely satisfying seance in visioning how they would all look in your temple of dietetics.

Books of All Types. Next door is "The Old Bookie Shoppe," so named as it were. Here are those articles of which Dr. Johnson said, "there was no end of the making of," and you can find books of all denominations, so to speak, assembled here under cover of their publishers' titles. Most of the old favorites, from Captain Marryat and Halliwell, rest on this shelf, and the reader can keep pace with the march of literary time from one volume to another down to the latest dollar romance from the wild and woolly west.

Then the handkerchief booth. Oh, yes, you can fill a good-sized booth with handkerchiefs, rest on this shelf of them, and in sufficient varieties as has been done in this case. Color rules here, as in many of the stalls, and prices which are decently democratic run from 10 to 25 cents. There are prophets who say that this booth will say with truth by night, "Yes, we have no hankies."

Next comes the Gift Shop, long heralded among those who are in the know of the home of all the dainty hand-worked gifts to brides this winter. The gent of happy homes and pretty rooms surely waited on the imagination of the author of this booth. Its wealth of offerings is extraordinary. You, dear lady who searches its stores of gifts, will undoubtedly agree who can number the stars or count the articles on the Gift Shop? The quality is obvious and the search in this Old Dorado of silks and satins is half the fun.

Myriads of Dolls.

Then you pass or probably stay at a booth of dolls, a myriad dolls of sizes and shapes and countenances to suit all the varying tastes of children and grown-ups. There are wax dolls and rubber dolls and rag dolls, large and small, bright-eyed and flat-faced, according to the design. There are also dolls of dogs and birds and all the animals that fill a child's nursery.

The children's booth, with its rows of boys' suits and fancy made-up dolls of things that defy winter blasts of everything that is fitted by the careful mother on her school-adventuring boys and girls who play in the snowdrifts, need fear no competition in its own line, and the mothers will with shrewd eye discover it at once.

The Jubilee Shop, offering home-made candies—the kind that don't keep Johnny from church or school—comes next in the progress, and behind this the gypsy fortune-teller's booth, in which the lady's eagle eye, searching the lines and wrinkles and hillocks of your palm, will for a fair consideration tell you future, past and present.

After that is the apron booth, just what it says. Aprons were once a sort of dull affair with no special attraction. You did work in it—that was all.

Sunset Shades.

These aprons are made to be worn at weddings and at fancy dress balls, surely. Shades of the peacock and echoes of the sunset are splashed over some of them. But there are also really every-day ones in the stall, too.

The grocery stall, filled with apples and potatoes and cabbages and a display of this makes its appeal to the housewife. Then last, but not least, and just at the entrance, is the grab booth, sheltered by a Christmas tree with orange fruit. Every orange contains a prize, and all you have to do is put a nickel in the box and take your choice. The stall has its share of hidden prizes also, and the good ladies in charge promise that no one will be disappointed. Now, you have been all round. You have dogged the Christmas trees, and the festoons, and had a cup of tea. You can come back tomorrow and make your choice, and you'll enjoy the voyage of the booths.

WANTS CLASS IN ST. THOMAS.

At a meeting in St. Thomas last night, City Clerk Sam Eber and Mr. Spencer of the labor bureau suggested that a class of the Workers' Educational Society, under the arts extension department of the University of Western Ontario, be organized in that city. The suggestion was accepted with much enthusiasm, and the classes are expected to commence in St. Thomas shortly.

MAYOR AGREES STANLEY STREET PAVING "ROTTEN"

Attaches Blame to Ald. Wilson, Former Board of Works Chairman.

BILLS WILL BE PAID

Ald. Gordon Drake has charged in committee that the recent paving of the track allowance on Stanley street is a "rotten job."

Mayor Wenige agrees today that it is a "rotten job" but the best under the circumstances.

"But who is chiefly responsible for that?" questions his worship and he promptly attaches considerable of the blame upon the shoulders of the chairman of the board of works of that day—Ald. William Arthur Wilson of ward two.

"The city engineer of that day had his orders to proceed with the paving of Stanley street," explained the mayor. "If I remember correctly he did not proceed with the job in accordance with the provisions of the council's resolution to proceed the following day."

"What happened then? The job was not done, and the question was again re-opened upon a two-thirds vote of the council, and Ald. Wilson, who was chairman of the board of works at that time, brought in the resolution that they re-consider the question and not pay the track allowance. And that was done," he stated.

"That is the reason why there is a 'rotten job' on Stanley street today, as charged by Ald. Drake, and Ald. Wilson is chiefly responsible for it. Now what has since happened? It became necessary finally to do the job, but naturally you cannot put new asphalt next to old and have a real good job."

"That sort of action was not noted during 1922 in connection with the Richmond street pavement. The city engineer received his orders to proceed with that work, and he did so. He had the express order of the council, and he did not pause and wait for another recommendation from the chairman of the board of works or anyone else. And he is not worrying about the payment of the road, either."

Mayor Wenige states that there is absolutely no need for worry in connection with the payment of the street railway's portion of Richmond street or Stanley streets.

"These items will receive satisfactory attention in due course," he assured. "In any event, the Richmond street pavement is not yet completed."

WILL PRESENT CASES OF 12 WAR VETERANS

Federal Appeal Board Members Coming to London Next Week.

The first sitting of the Federal Appeal Board of Ottawa will be held in the city hall here on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Colonel Belton will be in charge and will be assisted by another member of the board. Some twelve ex-soldiers, whose case the G.W.V.A. in London has been fighting for months, will appear before the board, and Mr. Fremlin, the soldiers' advisor, will attend to present their cases. The sittings will be absolutely private. These twelve cases are the most serious in this district and have been referred by the board as being those most needing attention. All ex-soldiers who wish to appear before the board should get in touch with Mr. Fremlin or with Henry Wray, president of the local G.W.V.A.

REV. DR. NORMAN SEES NEW TOKIO RISING FROM RUINS

Missionary Predicts Conditions Will Be Better Generally After Reconstruction.

RESPECTS JAPANESE

Rev. Dr. D. Norman, who is in the city to speak at the World Missions Conference which commences tonight in the First Methodist Church, addressed the Kiwanis Club at noon today, predicting a new greater Tokio to rise from the devastation caused by the recent triple disaster of earthquake, fire and tidal wave.

"Japan sustained a greater economic loss by reason of the earthquake," Dr. Norman said, "than that caused by the combination of the wars against China and Russia. But the Japanese are a race having marvelous stability of character. In the face of this great blow, they quickly organized to effect relief. They took charge of the railways and got people quickly away from the wrecked regions. They are already planning for a new city, and the Tokio of the future will be a greater city, larger, more modern and healthier."

Respects Japanese.

Dr. Norman has spent the greater part of his life as a missionary in service in Japan. For the Japanese race he expresses a deep regard. Contrary to the usual impression of militarism created in connection with the Japanese, he states that they are as ready and eager to learn the western methods of peace as the arts of war. In the faithful manner in which they keep their word and treaties with other nations, he compares them with the British.

"When Japan opened her doors, after 250 years spent as a hermit nation," Dr. Norman said, "her leaders quickly realized that she was behind the rest of the world. Immediately they claimed the services and utilized the ideas of the greatest engineers of the western hemisphere. Railways were built in Japan, under greater difficulties than in any other country, and yet at present the country with an area just about equal to that of Old Ontario, has 6,000 miles of railway, and 1,400 miles of this has been electrified."

Are Not Imitators.

The lack of capital has been the greatest hindrance to progress. This is instanced in the telephone service, where it is necessary sometimes to wait two years for a phone unless the government is convinced that the need is urgent. "Japan's first civilization came from China," Dr. Norman said. "But they are not a race of imitators. They quickly adapted the Chinese methods to suit their own needs."

"In one respect, the Japanese are like the British race. They have developed characteristics peculiarly their own. They are as different from the Americans as the English and Scotch are from the Europeans. Japan is a nation at school. They have an open mind. They are anxious to learn, and acquire everything the west can give them."

POLICE COMMISSION TO HEAR COMPLAINT

Chief Birrell's Estimates For Year Believed To Be Higher.

The police commission met at the police station this afternoon at 2:30 behind the usual closed doors. Police estimates prepared by Chief Birrell were submitted and discussed. It is understood that the chief's estimates were a trifle higher this year.

Mayor Wenige, chairman of the police commission, submitted a complaint from W. Spence, a C. P. R. employee, as to the conduct of a police constable in arresting him recently on suspicion, as he crossed the market square on his way to work early in the morning.

Those present at the meeting were Mayor Wenige, Judge Talbot Macbeth, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon and Chief Robert Birrell, who acts as secretary of the commission.

MEAN THIEVES STOLE ROSES FROM SCHOOL

Ryerson School Grounds Are Robbed of Their Floral Beauties.

The meanest persons in London have been located generally, but not definitely.

They live in the vicinity of the Ryerson School, and, in the words of Principal Galpin, are just "about as small as they can be."

Last spring the children at the school planted several rose bushes in the grounds to beautify the school. They flourished well, but from time to time the children, on coming to school, would find something missing from the general effect. It was then discovered that the roses which had been planted and tended carefully all summer.

Principal Galpin is on the lookout for them, and promises them something new in the line of castigation if he finds them.

MINSTREL REVUE OF ORIENT CLUB SPLENDID SHOW

Keen Wit, Catchy Music and Songs Delight Large Audience.

ACTING IS GOOD

Wit, humor, catchy music and songs, together with dancing and harmony, form the ingredients of one of the finest amateur minstrel shows ever staged in London, the Orient Club Minstrel Revue of 1923, which had its premiere at the Grand Opera House last night.

When the curtain went up on the first act a large crowd of citizens filled the house, and prepared themselves for an evening's entertainment. They got it. From beginning to end the revue was peppy and snappy. In the opening scene, with the regular minstrel setting, the patter and songs were good. The endmen were funny, and the choruses were rendered with the greatest harmony.

As interactor, Frank Tucker presented a good foil to the jokes of the endmen, as well as singing in a pleasing manner "Wake Up, Little Girl."

"Sis" Hamilton, "Dago" Henry, Jack Murray, Charlie Boyce, Charlie Crosby and "Mack" Malone as the colored wits of the company could not be excelled. Their voices were clear, and their jokes and singing got across to the audience in a fine manner. Their dress was good, as was that garbing the whole company throughout the revue.

Special Merit.
Of special merit were the songs sung by Hamilton, Murray, Boyce and Henry, while "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses," rendered by Harry Shaw, was excellent. The other songs were "Louisville Lou," "Vampin' Sal," "Got to Cool My Doggies" and "Way Down in New Orleans." The finale of the first act, a medley entitled "Sweetheart Blues," gave a fine opportunity for the harmony of the whole body of participants, and the singing of it could not have been better.

"Nothing But Rice" was the title of a short playlet which opened the second act. The plot is light and pleasing, while in this portion of the program a real chorus is introduced, making a decided impression on the audience. The chorus numbers, "Chinese Love Song" and "Some Little Bird," drew much applause, and were encored twice. Probably the feature of this portion was the singing of Elsie Crocker as Ming Toi, a mandarin's daughter. "Fast Asleep in Poppyland," which she sang as a solo, was one of the best numbers in the program. Frank Tucker, "Sis" Hamilton, Frank Hatton and Miss Crocker are the principals in the playlet, all of whom know their parts well. Hamilton playing the role of a dark servant with an abnormal appetite, stranded in China, and nothing but rice in view.

Amusing Part.
Dave Walsh, with "Bits of Banter," was amusing, and occasioned more than one hearty laugh with his references to local people. This also proved one of the hits of the opening scene, no one being spared. Dave was really excellent.

Some close harmony was sung by "The Curbstone Quartet," which was real harmony and was much liked by the listeners.

The closing act was a set entitled "Circus Day in Dixie," in which five persons took part. There was also some good singing in this, as well as a considerable amount of humor. Charlie Crosby as "Zeke" carried off the honors in this. George Elliott, as a negro mammy, filled the role to perfection, while Charlie Boyce as "Dan" formed the foil to Zeke. A cornet solo is introduced in this by Cecil Magone, who plays the part of a circus bandman. The other member of the cast is Jack Murray as the showman.

The grand finale of the evening is the song "Circus Day in Dixie," sung by the whole company, to the sound of much applause from the audience. The revue will be on for the remainder of the week, and if as is usually the case with an amateur performance, it gets better each time, by the time the last show is given there will be no room for improvement.

INCREASES TO BE GIVEN
FOUR SCHOOL OFFICIALS
Change in Salaries Will Be Put Into Effect On January 1.

The question of salaries of four officials of the board of education, which has been from the salary committee to the board, to the estimates committee, back to the board, and then again to the salary committee, was finally settled at a special meeting of the committee last night, when it was unanimously decided to recommend increasing salaries of the four in question commencing from January 1.

While the committee have had this recommendation, it will have to be dealt with at the next meeting of the board on November 8, but from the attitude of that body when the matter last came up, it is almost a certainty that the increases will be given.

But in making an advance in salary, the committee has decided that the officials will have to do without the customary allowances for telephone and expenses, which were separate items previously. These are now included in the new salary scale, provision having been made for them in determining the new amount to be paid.

Those whose salaries will be increased are Chief Inspector V. K. Greer, H. B. Best, principal of the Technical School, G. A. Wheeler, assistant inspector, and A. D. Hone, M.A., principal of the technical department at the Technical School. The two former will receive $5,000 per annum, while the latter, either $2,000 or $3,500.

CUSTOM COLLECTIONS HIGH.
Woodstock, Nov. 2.—The month of October was another good month as far as the collection of customs and excise taxes are concerned, and ranks second in the records of maximum collections. During the month $44,106.02 was collected at this port, which is second to the record amount made in September of $55,000. The summary shows the total made up as follows: Import, $15,783.42; excise tax, $28,160.95; excise duty, $161.65.

LOEW'S THEATRE PRESENTS FINE VAUDEVILLE BILL

Feature Picture, "The Green Goddess," Proves Unusually Good.

ALICE JOYCE STARS

The two Japanese who opened yesterday's vaudeville program at Loew's Theatre, have to all intents and purposes improved upon nature by equipping themselves with two pairs of hands. That is to say, if they aren't exactly possessed of four times five fingers, they have the usual pair, augmented by a pair of feet which may fulfill either their natural function, or serve purposes as an extra pair of hands. One the two artists in particular, with a huge Japanese parasol, uses his feet with the effect of an exceedingly deft pair of hands. Later in the act, the other goes into a complete circle. The manner in which this is affected, one should imagine to be unique among vaudeville stunts.

The vaudeville this week makes something of an advance in quality. The second act is not startling or original, nor are the songs exactly the hand-picked variety, but on the other hand, the two girls present an attractive appearance—and manage in a complete circle.

Her Children Had
Whooping Cough
This is one of the most dangerous diseases of children. It starts with fever and cough. The cough is at first short and sharp, but gradually increases in severity, and occurs in sudden spasms; vomiting follows, and sometimes there is nose bleed. The child turns livid in the face, the eyes appear as if they would burst from their sockets, and suffocation seems imminent, till relief is brought on by the "whoop."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucus and phlegm, and in this way cause the racking cough, and in a short time make it disappear.

Mrs. L. Ambrose, Sarnia, Ont., writes: "My little ones were both sick with whooping cough. I read where Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was good, and I only used two bottles and they were better. I had chronic bronchitis for three years, and tried everything, until finally I got 'Dr. Wood's.' I would not be without this remedy."

Price 35c a bottle; large family size 60c. Put up only by The T. Millburn Company Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself. A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief. Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel. $1.25 at your druggist's.

had a familiar ring. It, or another act very much like it, has appeared in London previously. At any rate, it is an amusing farce, well-staged and particularly well-executed.

Alice Joyce returns again to the screen in "The Green Goddess," the feature picture. With Harry Morzy, who is also in the cast of this picture, Alice Joyce was identified with the screen previously. At any rate, it is interesting to find that she can return to hold her own in ability and beauty with the majority of the stars of the present period. In the role of an overbearing but more or less insignificant Rajah, George Arliss brings the finish of years of stage experience to bear in creating the utterly diabolical atmosphere of the role. Harry T. Morey makes an unusually good effort in the role of the hard-drinking mayor—and the work of David Powell as Dr. Traherne, is not unusual but characteristically good. By a combination of splendid acting and thrilling, but not fantastic plot, situations of the keenest

CANOEIST IS DROWNED WHEN UNABLE TO SWIM

Companion Brings News of Fatal Sunday Trip On Baldwin's Bay.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Peterboro, Nov. 1.—Word was received here today of the drowning in Baldwin's Bay on Lake Katchewan of Herbert Johnson, an employee of the Peterboro Lumber Company. Johnson, who with a companion, Albert Duff, had spent Sunday with relatives in Goderham, returned to Baldwin's Bay on Monday evening last. They took a canoe to cross the lake to the William Spafford camp, about two miles away, and in some manner the canoe upset. Herbert Johnson, who could not swim, went down in about twenty feet of water. Duff managed to swim to a small island in the bay. He walked to the end of this island and then swam to the mainland. Here, on account of his fatigued condition, he lost his bearings and it was nearly 9 o'clock before he finally located a house. The body has not been recovered.

All "Good Fellows" and Pre-

Vicks Is the Thing For Asthma

Ontario Mother Tells of Stubborn Case Relieved.

Mrs. Wilbert E. Collier of Bowery street, Picton, Ont., says: "My little girl had a terrible case of asthma. I read about Vicks, and sent out for a sample. I rubbed my child's chest and throat with it, and put a flannel on Vicks did her so much good that I bought two jars. She now coughs well, and is a different child. I would not be without Vicks Vapo-Rub in the house."

A good way to get relief from asthma is to rub Vicks over the spine from shoulders to hips; then rub a little Vicks in a spoon and inhale the healing vapors. Also insert some in the nostrils, snuffing well back. You will be delighted to see how it clears the head.

Vicks comes as a salve—the external direct treatment for all cold troubles—absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor.

Treatment with Vicks is especially desirable for children, as it avoids so much internal dosing. Just as good, too, for cuts, burns, bruises, sores and skin itching.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For free test size package, write Vicks Chemical Company, 214 St. Paul street W., Montreal, P. Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada, it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 15,000,000 jars used yearly.—Adv.

right soon, Sir Henry promised, and the audience agreed; the Conservatives are going back into power, and everyone can rest quietly at night. The proverbial golden era of prosperity is to be had for the asking. Only ask for a Tory cabinet at Ottawa.

Colonel Busy.
Col. Price, as the new provincial treasurer, has had more than three months to glance over the accounts at Toronto, and, from his remarks, everything was not done as it would have been done had he been there in place of Peter Smith. But the latter could not be expected, evidently, as the colonel reports that his predecessor was not there "half the time."

The situation in Ontario, while serious enough, is not near as bad as it could be. True it is that the late Drury government "piled up huge statesmen as the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, et al.

ATTENDED CONFERENCE.

Honorable W. H. Price, provincial treasurer, who yesterday attacked the system of financing conducted by the Drury administration and promised to practice economy.

The delegates were in rare good humor, whether over the presence of Sir Henry Drayton or a predicted O. T. A. referendum could not be ascertained. Everyone had a good word for everyone else—except Mackenzie King—and a greater part of the afternoon was taken up with resolutions of appreciation, votes of thanks, messages of goodwill and good luck, and what not.

The conference placed itself on record as being of the opinion that Howard Ferguson and his cabinet were jolly good fellows. The premier could not tear himself away from Queen's Park, but he sent along Col. Price with a message of encouragement. He regretted that he could not be there with "Chief" Dennis and the rest of the boys.

Lots of Telegrams.
Telegrams commenced to arrive early. The first was from Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, extending best wishes for the next campaign, and then one was received from M. M. MacBride, explaining that such policies as were foreshadowed by Howard Ferguson were just what the doctor ordered. Great applause followed, and throughout the session Mr. Meighen was referred to as the next premier of the Dominion.

Col. Price joined heartily in the fun, playing across from Sir Henry in a very amusing little sketch, entitled, "Let's Shoot Holes in the King Government." It was lots of fun, and those participating were cordially invited to call again.

Wilfred Haney, M.P.P., arrived unexpectedly from Sarnia, and the executive found him very useful. They soon found a job for him "doubling" for "Chief" Dennis during the election of officers.

Evidently Mr. Haney was not billed to speak, but during the proceedings he contrived to make two rather important announcements—one that he was of good Irish extraction; and the other that the Grand Old Party was soon going to take possession of the Parliament building at Ottawa.

During the afternoon the delegates, E. R. Dennis, told the delegates that they were fine fellows and had worked mighty hard for the party. Late in the afternoon the delegates told the chief what a splendid chap he was and insisted that he be president for another year.

The Western Ontario Conservative Women's Association was launched as one item of business, but not until the meeting was in an uproar of laughter, there being many ideas as to how to secure and conserve the female vote.

Fear Division.
Heavy emphasis was laid upon the fact that 30 per cent of the Tory women had exercised the franchise at the last election, but there were those who feared that the formation of a ladies' organization would create a serious division in the party. Various speakers arose to tell the few ladies present that they were a very valuable section of the party, but it was clear that they did not propose some of them at least, that any move should be made to allow direct control of the organization to be usurped by their "better halves," as they graciously termed them.

Mackenzie King is a terrible fellow, according to Col. Price and Sir Henry. The former immediately won the admiration of his hearers when he dubbed the premier as a "demagogue," while Sir Henry drew the unstinted appreciation of the delegates when he reported that he had heard nobody cheering for Mackenzie King on the way up to London.

Sir Henry deplored the vast numbers of Canadians who were leaving for the States (he was not quite sure how many), and he divided the blame for this supposed state of affairs proportionately between the premier and the Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor.

Mackenzie King promised greater liberty before the election, reminded Sir Henry, but it had proved to be generally more to lick postage stamps. During his eulogy, Sir Henry explained that he was not going to make a speech; just have chat. He chattered for about three-quarters of an hour, dealing chiefly with what hadn't been accomplished but could be accomplished by a change of administration at Ottawa.

Hated Comparisons.
He instructed his hearers that the Tory party always kept its pledges, and while he just hated to make comparisons, the King government had learnt considerable since assuming office. The chief lesson was that they had not been telling the truth during their campaign.

"Why have 200,000 Canadians left the country?" he questioned. "There is nothing wrong with the country. Hon. Mr. Murdock was going to do away with unemployment, but it hasn't been done. He says there is none, but he did not explain where the unemployed had disappeared to."

Sir Henry stated that while Canada's production had increased, the net result was far from being satisfactory. There were no markets available, and nothing was being done or had been done to alleviate the situation.

Things are in a terrible shape, from what Sir Henry says. People are flocking out of the country. The people who want to buy Canadian products have no money. The home markets have not been taken care of. More products are being purchased from the United States than ever before. In short, everything is going to pot, and the outlook is doleful.

But everything will work out all debts," but, then, the "man from Crown Hill" and his associates are not around there any more in a large spending capacity. Hon. Howard Ferguson is there; Hon. Col. Price is there; Mr. Wilfred Haney is there, and so forth.

But the job is not going to be as easy as it may look, the treasurer stressed, and he asks co-operation. It is not so easy to cut down expenses, and he cited as an instance that about $9,000,000 is expended for educational purposes. "But I am going to reduce expenses," he declared, "And I want your co-operation."

Col. Price spoke rather nicely of Howard Ferguson and his colleagues in the cabinet. They are not altogether office fixtures, he said, although they do grapple with the affairs of the department, but they spend a considerable portion of their time meeting the common people and interchanging views. Even at this moment, the minister of highways is on an expedition in Wisconsin, viewing the good roads there. He will bring in a report, perhaps, that he will be able to construct just as good roads as Mr. Biggs, but at greatly reduced prices.

Many Speakers.
There were many other speakers during the afternoon, including J. H. Chapman, M.P., of St. Catharines. Several district members of the Provincial Legislature were in attendance.

E. R. Dennis was re-elected unanimously as president; Gordon Reid was elected as corresponding secretary; E. R. Seabrook was re-elected as financial secretary, and H. R. Lamont was re-elected as treasurer. Charles Middleton and Peter Scott were elected as auditors.

Six vice-presidents were elected:

Messrs. W. A. Willit, E. G. Reid, A. J. Brodie, A. A. Ingram, W. Consett and W. H. Barnum.

Another feature of the proceedings was the decision to hold a banquet of honor for the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen next January, the date to be set to suit the convenience of the leader.

The following are the officers of the new women's association for Western Ontario: Mrs. Hanna Sarnia, honorary president; Mrs. A. T. Edwards, London, president; Mrs. Wignett, London, secretary; Mrs. Robinson, treasurer. Vice-presidents will be elected later.

Hensall, Nov. 1.—The tax rate for this year compiled by Town Clerk A. Murdock, is 29 mills, one mill less than the previous year. A court of revision was held last Saturday and a discussion took place as to whether those living on Main street should be taxed an additional sum, as it was pointed out that the pavement added considerable value to their property. No decision was reached, however, and the matter was laid over till a further date.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1923.

Juggling the Tax Rate.

It is just possible that we are approaching a stage where some move will be necessary to put new fences around the sections of the Municipal Act that have to do with the powers of municipalities to levy taxes on the people. There were certain limits set in the first place, and for years they were fairly well observed, but the tendency has been to either batter them down or find a convenient path around to the ratepayer's purse.

The Municipal Act places a limit of 25 mills as the rate to be collected for the general rate and schools; that figure was formerly 20 mills, but it was subsequently increased to 25.

The next move, and London has done it along with the rest of them, was to take as many items as possible out of the general tax rate, and present them to the ratepayer under the guise of special levies against his property. This left more room to make added expenditure under the general rate. It really makes a double form of taxation, the rate being named in mills in the first instance and in dollars for the extras.

London's 1922 figures will serve very well to illustrate the point.

The rate of 34.9 mills provided for the general rate and the school tax. But a look at the tax paper shows some nine other items that are not included in that rate. They are represented the following totals in 1922:

Curbs and gutters	$19,303
Pavements	14,808
Sewers	60,827
War tax	31,398
Conduits	4,748
Walks	16,633
Watering, oil	25,754
Street cleaning	39,657
Garbage	69,496
Total	$412,129

If this were added to the tax rate, what would we have? In round figures one mill is worth $60,000, so the $412,129 which has been taken out of the general rate means about seven mills, which if added to the 34.9 would make a rate of 41 mills at least on an assessment that was subject to a horizontal raise a few years ago.

The plea is that these things are taken out of the general rate and placed as special charges to reduce the tax rate. But tax rates do not stay reduced. When they have one load taken off they take on another, and a new set of growing pains soon puts them back where they were.

London should remember that it has gone almost the whole limit allowed now by a too elastic Municipal Act. There are only two more loopholes to crawl through—one is street lighting, which last year cost up $32,000, or one-half a mill, and the other is cutting the weeds that decorate certain vacant properties.

The lesson is very plain—we must get value for every dollar we spend. In some instances we must not spend more or as much, but less. We can go no farther in the business of deducting from the general rate, and passing it out as special taxes, and the legislature should see to it that this practice is stopped. We are only fooling ourselves by its extension or continuance.

A Little Too Fast.

The Toronto Globe in its news columns says "Ontario Will Work If Ottawa Sleeps On Power Program." A picture of the Hon. Howard Ferguson has on "Prods Ottawa," and below "Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, who calls upon the federal government to get busy on St. Lawrence power development or stand aside and let Ontario do it."

Now it may suit the purpose of the Toronto Globe to make of Mr. Ferguson a convenient weapon with which to hammer the King government at Ottawa, but it is well to remember that the Ottawa government has undertaken a public ownership program in the National Railways that dwarfs in its size and scope anything yet attempted in this country.

To judge by the attitude of the Globe, one would imagine that the government at Ottawa would not even consider the project of power development along the St. Lawrence. There is nothing to justify such a belief.

This business of trying to set one government against another in a matter of this kind is wrong. It is bad for the people, and it seeks to light political bonfires where nothing should be burning except a desire on the part of both governments, working for the same people, to go ahead and make the most of the natural resources the country possesses.

The King government gave a clear lead to public ownership in Canada when it took the National Railways and put it outside of politics. The same conditions must be built for future power development. It will be time enough for the Toronto Globe to begin its attack on the King government when the latter shows its incapacity or its unwillingness to act in the matter.

Ripe With Age.

With all deference to the desire to keep the public informed, there is too much money spent on issuing provincial government reports in the shape of blue books. In all there must be tons of this material that is tossed away once the name and nature is looked at.

The last mail brings, for instance a report of the Live Stock Branch for 1922, dealing with addresses delivered at the annual meetings of various stock organizations at the time of the winter fairs. By the time these reports are circulated preparations are almost completed for the next annual meeting.

The Hansard reports at Ottawa may be read at times, but they set a standard for speed that some of the other departments cannot try to match. If the Toronto printers could get this work out fast enough, why not try some other shops? Brantford, London, Woodstock, Chatham—in fact almost any city has shops with facilities for getting out necessary work on short order. Why, then, hold the whole thing until Toronto offices can do it?

Should Think It Over.

School inspectors waited on Premier Ferguson asking for an increase from $5,000 to $4,000 per year. The premier would be well advised to turn this matter over a good many times before making the increases. Education costs are high in Ontario now, and the ability of the people to pay must have as much consideration as the desire of inspectors to receive.

They Have the Cure.

"The moving picture industry is in a serious way financially. A screen that used to cost $200,000 now costs a million." Such is the statement from the movie world. The answer of the general public is that an admission that used to be a dime is now 25 or 35 cents. There is not a business in existence that has poured out millions to equal the screen industry. The salaries are out of all proportion to other lines of business, or to the ability of many of the actors. The movie men have the cure in their own hands. Let them produce their pictures for less money.

Must Be a Whopper.

It has started again. Fort William is in print with a story that we've are more plentiful than ever. In some sections the settlers send the evenings picking wolves' teeth out of their heels. And above all the howling comes the cry of the lone gray wolf, "the giant king and leader of them all." That is only a start. Tomorrow there will be the second story in the same chapter, giving the dimensions of this lone gray wolf as 27 feet from tail to snout.

That north country knows how to advertise for tourist hunters without paying a cent for newspaper space.

The Powerful Public.

New York interests are cutting the price of granulated sugar because the demand is lagging. By cheapening the price it is hoped that more people will buy more sugar. Or put it another way—the public by buying little has brought down the price.

The manipulators have small thought for the public or for the retailers or wholesalers who handle their goods. The average dealer carries just as little sugar as he can, because there have been so many hard losses due to manipulation without warning.

It is interesting to know that the light buying of the public in the sugar market is still quite a weapon to batter down a price.

Note and Comment.

Toronto engineers have an apparatus for heating houses by concentrating the rays of the sun. But on days when the sun does not shine, what then, brethren?

A poet writes a few sad lines in which he states that "autumn leaves are falling to the ground." After serious consideration we have concluded that what he says is so.

In the annual report of the Canadian Swine Breeders Association is one line stating "Cash on hand, $18,888.47." These breeders seem to have discovered the trick of keeping any raiders from getting their feet in the trough.

The Omaha Bee presents the following problem in mathematics: "It costs $1.20 to $2.30 to produce a ton of bituminous coal, and $1.23 to produce a bushel of wheat. The coal sells at the mines for about $5.50 a ton. The wheat sells at the farm for about 85 cents a bushel."

To the Editor

ABOUT CHURCH UNION.

Suggests That These Holding Varying Views Should Get Together and Also Let Some of the Laymen Take the Platform.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—We have heard a great deal about church union, and have seen a great many different statements in print. The trouble with all this is that we get only one side at a time, and by the time a contradiction comes along about some of the points made why we have more or less forgotten why that particular point was all about.

The more I hear of this question the more I think it would be a good idea for various ministers to hold a platform meeting, where all the views one way or another could be aired and answered right there. There is no reason why this should not be done, and it would give a lot of people a better chance than they have ever had of hearing all there is to hear about church union.

I know there are others besides the ministers who would like to have a chance to say something at such a gathering. For my own part I would welcome an opportunity to have fifteen minutes to tell a lot of those people that if they are led by the same spirit there can be only one church. The same spirit will not lead them in half a dozen different directions.

NOT "HOPELESS."

Gordon Philip Explains How His View Has Been Misinterpreted About Council and Britain Report.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—Permit me space to say for the benefit of your correspondent, "Pro Bono Publico," Ald. Judd and others, if any, who may be interested, that I did not refer to the council as "hopeless." I referred to the situation of the proposal to vote this year on commission manager government, which the council had turned down, and I remarked, not for publication, however, that the mayor had evidently antagonized members of the council, and that the issue had, perhaps, not been decided upon its merits. Yours very truly,

RENTING A HOUSE.

Owner Shows Where a House Rented at $55 Per Month Does Not Make Him a Very Desirable Investment.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—I noticed a reference in your paper a few days ago to the exorbitant rents that were being charged in London by some of the owners of houses. I happen to own a house myself beside the one I live in, and when I rented it for $55 per month some weeks ago the man who took it seemed to think I had driven a hard bargain with him.

Let us see, I paid $7,000 for the property, part of that being on a mortgage, which costs me 6 1/2 per cent; that amounts to $230 per year. The balance even at 6 per cent would make another $180, in all $410 per year for interest at a very reasonable rate.

Furthermore, it is to the credit of the three jurymen who stood against the extreme penalty upon circumstantial evidence in the Murrell trial, especially two, who are atrocious crimes in the taking of innocent life without provocation (one in London, one in Kincardine), were overlooked on the basis of incapacity within the past two years. Thanking you,

THE COMMANDMENT WITH PROMISE.

Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.—Exodus xx, 12.

He that despised his parents is a troublemaker of his own nest; and length of days is a vain thing when the house is full of rebellion.

Therefore the commandment and the promise are bound together, lest old age should be a calamity and youth a curse.

There is nothing steadfast in the nation unless the home hath foundations; and the cornerstone of the household is honor.

In every religion reverence is a virtue, and they that cast off the aged are barbarous people.

Put thy trust in a stealer of horses rather than in one that revileth his father, and walk with him that speaketh lies rather than with one that mocketh his mother.

Turn thy face away if thy father be in fault, and refrain thy lips if thy mother stumble, for it is not thine office to condemn them.

But do them honor in all virtue, and reward them gladly in all praise. So shall thy children learn to bless thee, and God shall make thy heritage secure.

PAINTS A BLACK PICTURE

Is Soviet Russia ready to back a Communist Germany? The trouble in answering such a question is that there are few people qualified to speak on the subject. Mr. John Cowles, publisher of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, has just returned from these countries. He writes his impressions for The Advertiser.

By JOHN COWLES.

SOVIET rule from Hamburg to Vladivostok.

That is the dream and the slogan of the Russian bolshevik leaders, who hope for a successful proletarian revolution in Germany this winter and the linking up of the two countries into one great soviet republic.

While I was in Moscow a delegation of German communists, headed by Brandler, was there endeavoring to persuade the bolshevik government to assist them in staging a red uprising in Germany immediately.

The bolsheviks told the German communists to go home and organize workers' soviets before attempting to seize power, to wait until Germany's increasing desperation improved the chances for success. But they provide that as soon as conditions in Germany were ripe for revolution they would assist in every way possible.

The Russians agreed, moreover, that if either France or Poland attempted to interfere with a German communist revolution, they would go to the aid of the German communists as well as peaceful assistance.

The bolsheviks are already massed on the Polish frontier. If Germany should go red and Poland or France interfere, the Russian army would immediately be driven through Poland and unite Germany and Russia in one workers' and peasants' republic.

If a general war, involving Russia and Germany against France and Poland, should come, I doubt if Europe could stand the strain. Chaos and disintegration, pogroms and pillage, would probably follow, and new "dark ages" would set in.

What are the chances that such direful things will happen? Let us consider them step by step.

Reparations the Keynote.

In the first place, unless the reparations question is speedily settled and international aid given, Germany is apt to collapse into three parts: a separate German state, supported and dominated by French bayonets; an independent reactionary dictatorship in Bavaria; the rest of Germany, which will be a chaotic mass of lawless hordes.

Unless outside help is given, conditions in Germany this winter will be agonizing. Millions of people will starve and die.

Communism—especially when it seems to be the only alternative—does not look as bad to people who are cold and hungry as it does to people who are warm and well fed.

If Germany goes communist, can France and Poland resist? France and Poland desire for more territory and power at the expense of a chaotic Germany?

If France and Poland should intervene in any way, Soviet Russia will be on the march.

onable rate. The taxes which I pay, the total up to $625. I papered two rooms which took $42, and I can quite properly add that total and $700, which is $38 for insurance and minor repairs. So the place costs me $700 a year, without allowing anything for depreciation.

Now I divide $700 by the twelve months in the year, and you get $58.30 as the proper rental, and yet I was considered cheap when I asked $55 per month. It would be much better for me to have the $7,000 that that house represents placed on a straight first mortgage, or in an investment that would yield me not less than 5 1/2 per cent, with no worry attached.

HOUSE OWNER.

CONDUCT AT THE PRISON.

Thinks There Would Be No Harm Done in Allowing Mother to See Son—Officials Should Pay Heed to Duties of Office.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—Kindly allow a short space to comment upon a situation which has been brought before the public lately. I refer to the refusal of the government inspector to allow a mother to see her son, prodigal though that son may be, as is the case of Sidney Murrell. It would seem Mr. Dunlop carries his officialism too far in this case.

He seems to forget also that at the time the whole jail staff were discharged for so-called negligence in allowing a prisoner to escape. It was brought out that the inspector had not made any official inspection for five years. There are several other institutions who have the same complaint to make, claiming that the so-called inspection merely constitutes a pleasant visit among the head authorities, when it is the inspector's convenience to do so, whereas since he is paid a yearly salary he is supposed to spend the time with the exception of reasonable holidays, in the discharge of his duty.

At the present time there are too many public servants collecting salaries for work which they refuse or neglect to do.

Furthermore, it is to the credit of the three jurymen who stood against the extreme penalty upon circumstantial evidence in the Murrell trial, especially two, who are atrocious crimes in the taking of innocent life without provocation (one in London, one in Kincardine), were overlooked on the basis of incapacity within the past two years. Thanking you,

DENNY BROOKS

A STORY OF COURAGE

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER VII.

"Don't make any noise, children," Violet Borley, a sweetness in the pretty, willful face, stepped into the kitchen and began filling a great basin with boiling water. Her dark hair was now piled on the top of her head in a big, soft pompadour that made the great eyes more pathetic and haunting in their young eagerness.

Violet smiled dreamily and when she spoke it was in a low, beautiful tone after the manner of the leading lady then playing at the old Central Theatre. How Violet longed for a fairy grandeur!

The children seated at the supper table in a state of hushed yet tingling excitement watched her expectantly.

"Is papa gonna die?" Lizzie asked, the little pig eyes glinting.

"Don't know, Lizzie," Violet answered with mild indifference. "But you must be quiet. You may serve the stew dear. I don't want papa to die."

"Hush!"

At that Lizzie flopped her head down on the table and hid her face at a show of tears. But as soon as Violet was gone she looked up, saying abruptly: "Let me hold it, Katy—just for a minute."

The bride doll stood in the center of the table.

"Lizzie Borley, that's not your doll!" "Ooooh, don't you mean to me, Denny?" Lizzie began to blubber.

"And papa's dying, too!"

The soft-hearted Katy was moved and pushed the doll toward her.

"Please—let her hold it, Denny?" "All right now, Miss Katy—did, all right!" Denny hinted darkly through shut teeth, his freckle nose wrinkled almost to extinction. "Just wait and see!"

Violet called him, sent him to the drug store. When he returned he had taken Uncle Matt, was open, Denny hid in the corner and peeked in.

His uncle's huge form lay flat, almost motionless, on the bed, his right foot raised and resting on a box. He kept turning his head restlessly, a throttled moaning coming from his throat.

A friend of Matt Borley's, a stevedore, was telling Aunt Josie of the accident. They were loading iron safes when the rope snapped and the safe pitched against Matt, striking him in the back and against the foot.

The low voices seemed to disturb the patient. He tried to speak. Then Violet, standing at a little table near the bed, took a little table and ran it over her father's lips. She took another cloth and laid it over his forehead, as though she wished to soothe him. Denny thought this might get in Violet.

"Say, is his foot off?" he asked, breathlessly, when she came from the room.

"No—it is crushed."

"I'll hold it," Denny said. But he will be sick a long time. I hope it isn't going to make any difference to you."

It was months before Denny understood what she meant. Matt Borley lay helpless, an air of suspense and uneasiness in those first few weeks. There was a little comfort on Saturday nights when he turned over his pillow to Aunt Josie and she said in her patient voice: "God bless you, Denny—poor child!"

Violet, too, turned over her envelope. She was a salesgirl in a downtown department store. "Sorry it isn't a hundred, mother," she said with the indifference of a queen. Denny thought that very fine.

Sometimes when he was driving the delivery horse to the stable, he used to see Violet, after she got off the car, stand at the corner near a poolroom and talk to a very dandy looking fellow in a tight-fitting suit, a carnation in his buttonhole. Once the man swung Violet by the elbow and stooped over as though he were going to kiss her. Denny saw that and heard Violet laugh. With the exaggerated conventionality of childhood he felt ashamed and guilty for his pretty slip of a cousin. That night he didn't look at Violet.

Denny had been working four or five months before his uncle was able to get up. The first night he came out to the kitchen for supper Violet came in late, her cheeks flushed, her eyes brilliant. When she saw her father, the willful mouth straightened, the gladness went out of her eye. He noticed it. When she sat down his little eyes glinted at her. Suddenly he reached across the table with a rough smear ran the back of his hand across her lips.

It was his last term at grammar school and his last ambition was his young heart. One afternoon he stayed late to feed the tadpoles.

No one missed Uncle Matt except perhaps Aunt Josie. Her coarse, heavy face grew anxious—gradually it looked almost pined. Sometimes she spoke sharply to the children and faintly ate very little.

But Denny became more light of heart and took no heed of Aunt Josie's harried face. At supper he remembered all kinds of funny things and told them delightedly to Violet.

It was his last term at grammar school and his last ambition was his young heart. One afternoon he stayed late to feed the tadpoles.

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything seems to turn black for a few seconds, and you feel as if you were going to faint, you can rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and clear away the accumulated mass of waste and poisonous matter from the system.

Mr. Chas. Ayland, Frankville, Ont., writes: "I used to be a very nervous man, suffering from floating specks before my eyes, headaches and sickness to my stomach. I took just half a vial of your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and ever since I have felt as well as I ever did. Now I always keep them on hand."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

How Do Your Friends and Family
See You?

Dorothy Dix

Speculates
Upon What We Mean to Others

What Sort of a Mental Picture Do
You Present?—Do Your Friends Think of You as an Ear, a Tongue, a Living
Check Book or a Shock Absorber?

Of course, our families and friends are not imaginative about us. Familiarity has bred indifference to our little peculiarities, and they take us as we are without thinking much about us. But deep in their subconscious minds they have a vision of us that typifies what we really mean to them.

see in poor, old A. the family goat.

Finally, late in life, A. got married, and Mrs. A. got the same slant on him. She makes him get up and walk the baby when it has the colic at night. She makes him help get the dinner, and wash the dishes. She makes him do all the chores about the house. She has the good clothes, and the shabby ones. She never considers him in any way, not because she is intentionally unkind to him, but just because she sees in him as a sacrificial animal.

There's B. Our mental picture of B is just an ear. When we have a hard-luck tale to tell we go and hunt up B, and tell him our troubles by the hour. When any good luck comes to us and we want somebody to stand for our egotistic wanderings, we make a dead rush for B. We never really think of B at all as a human being, with sorrows and anxieties, and hopes and ambitions, and vanities of his own. He's just an ear into which we can pour the stories of our futures and successes, our hopes and disappointments and all the details so interesting to ourselves about our love affairs, our children, our automobiles, our dogs and our business.

And B's wife also only thinks of him as an ear. The chief joy she finds in him is not in his great topic, such as what she said to the cook, and the cook said to her, or when she tells you all about her daughter's beaux, or her son's making the football team, you have to send out an S. O. S. call for help, and have strong and heroic friends come to your rescue. Otherwise, you will be talked to death.

And there's Mrs. C. Of course, Mrs. C has the usual assortment of features, and they are not badly arranged, but we never visualize her to ourselves as anything but a Tongue, a la vinaigrette mostly, at home. Tongue smothered in honey, as a general thing, abroad in society. But always Tongue.

Life with Mrs. C is just one little monologue after another. And she, and her own affairs, are the inevitable subject of her discourse.

She can spend hours telling you the most trivial thing, and when she launches forth upon a great topic, such as what she said to the cook, and the cook said to her, or when she tells you all about her daughter's beaux, or her son's making the football team, you have to send out an S. O. S. call for help, and have strong and heroic friends come to your rescue. Otherwise, you will be talked to death.

Mrs. C's family lives in terror of her tongue. Her husband won the medal for distinguished bravery in the war, but he trembles with fright as he puts his key in the front door lock when he is ten minutes late for dinner. Her children live in terror of her tongue. Everybody thinks of her just as a Tongue that, at its best, bores with its incessant wagging, and at its worst, drips venom.

There's D. We all think of him as a Mush Poutice. Bland, gentle, soothing, but without flavor. In our hearts we all love D, but we don't respect him because he lets us treat him the way we do. He lets everybody impose on him.

He lends money to the down-and-outers, and they never pay him back when they get on their feet. He lets his relatives make a free hotel of his house, and they make more fuss over some other cousin inviting them to dinner than they do over his having furnished them food and lodging for a month. He lends his automobile to people who break it, and who never have it repaired. He sacrifices his whole life to his family who always knock him because he doesn't give them more.

A splendid man, one of the best, is D, but nobody appreciates him. Nobody sees in him anything grand and heroic. They just see him as a human Mush Poutice that Providence has sent for them to use, and despise.

They think of him only as the source of supply, the Check Book that means clothes, and automobiles, and travel, and indulgences for them.

There's Mrs. F, whose family visualizes her as a Shock Absorber. She is the one who has to stand between the warring elements in her household, and get the bumps from both sides when two antagonistic dispositions collide.

She's the one who has to break it to father when John gets into trouble at college, and paddy Sally when she can't have a new dress, and keep Tom and Jane from fighting, and act as a buffer between her mother and her husband, when mother comes on a visit, and nobody ever considers how dented up she gets bearing the brunt of other people's blows, because they think that is just what she is made for.

And so it goes. How do your friends and family see you? It's an interesting subject upon which to speculate. DOROTHY DIX.

WOMEN OF THREE GENERATIONS.

The daughter, mother and grand-mother have all proved from personal experience the remarkable strengthening and tonic properties of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming the ills of women. It was first made from roots and herbs in 1873 by Lydia E. Pinkham of Cohasset, Mass., for her neighbors and friends. Its fame has spread from shore to shore, until it is now looked upon by women everywhere as the standard remedy for women's ills. It has been proved that it benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, which is a marvelous record for any remedy to hold.

WITCHES AND SPOOKS STORM OFFICE BUILDING

McConnell & Ferguson Staff
Holds Jolly Halloween Party.

The spirits, witches and hobgoblins of Halloween stormed the offices of McConnell & Ferguson, Limited, in the Ontario Loan Building, last night and took complete possession.

In a few moments the two floors of the company's head office were completely transformed into a scene from Bohemia. From the entrance on the Market Lane a rope led through darkened stairways to the upper regions, where the guests gathered for a frolic were suddenly confronted by ghosts. Black cats and witches were everywhere.

On the second floor the same weird effect was produced, and when sixty girls and men of the advertising profession and their friends gathered, the celebration commenced. The guests rubbed shoulders with Japan, Gypsy sweethearts and Valentino's Spanish partner were there, as well as kings and queens of the bygone period. "Rube" Perkins danced with a Crinoline girl. Little Boy Blue couldn't sleep for a moment. As music peered forth, there was a scene of rainbow colors, flashing eyes behind masks and silken ankles. Copy writers and artists were re-inspired to go forth and write, and the night was a scene of pictures. It was a page from Bohemia and one of the happiest parties of the season.

Costume prizes first was awarded to Miss Doris Santo as a Gypsy girl, and second to Mr. Bob Cambridge, as a Hawaiian dancer. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Cantlon acted as judges. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bowie were also present and enjoyed the frolic.

Refreshments were served on the first floor in the executive offices and the party continued until well past the witching hour.

A mysterious atmosphere was created when the guests were ushered into the house and taken up through the darkened back stairs.

Among the delightful Halloween parties of this week was that held at the home of Miss Blanche Rowe, Ridout street, who was pleasantly surprised on Wednesday night when a host of her friends gathered there and taken up through the darkened back stairs.

A smart affair of the Christmas season will be the dance which Mrs. J. Harley Brown is giving at the Kennels Dec. 21 to introduce her daughter, Miss Margaret, to the public, and Miss Audrey Farncombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Farncombe, who is also making her debut this season. Miss Marion Beattie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. A. Beattie, will also come out this year.

Miss Florence West was the hostess of a delightful Halloween party held at her home, Craig street, at which the guests were the members of the Harriet Boomer Chapter, I. O. O. F., at the Methodist Church. The decorations were altogether unique, and a crown of all was a great electric cat, which held the guests in the center of the supper table. Early Hooked Rugs Have A Charm All Their Own

Three or Four on a Painted or Polished Floor Are a Perfectly Adequate Covering.

By JULIA HOYT.

When it comes to the question of rugs, I must immediately confess that I can speak with authority only on the early American, or technically, the "hooked rug." I can appreciate a beautiful Oriental rug when I see one, and naturally have my preferences with regard to color, design, and so forth; but I could never pass an opinion on their value. Needless to say, the colors in a really good old rug are softer and more beautiful than the modern; but these lovely antiquities are beyond the means of the average purse—that is, if they are any size.

The colors in most of the modern Oriental or copy of the Oriental rug are rather apt to be crude, and not very pleasing, and therefore I think should be avoided. Isn't it curious what wonders age seems to accomplish with the colors in rugs? No matter how many shades there may be in an old rug, they seem always to blend and be harmonious with any color one may wish to use. But all this is quite different when dealing with a modern rug of Oriental design, and you find yourself limited as to choice of colors that will go well with it.

Hooked Rugs Are Lovely.

However, as I said in my previous article, if a multi-colored rug is to be used, it is best to keep pretty closely to plain materials when providing materials for upholstery and curtains. Hooked rugs are really very lovely, but unfortunately rarely come large enough to serve as the sole rug for a room of any size. Besides, the large ones are fearfully expensive. They are not a formal rug, of course, and while they may be used in an English room as fire rugs, they are most charming in what we might term an "American environment."

Three or four hooked rugs on a painted or polished floor are not only very delightful, but perfectly adequate floor covering, if well placed. Everything that savors of that period known as early American has come into the vogue lately, so that not only have prices risen beyond all reason, but imitations are being turned out by the hundreds. Therefore, care must be taken in their selection. The earliest examples, and hence the most valuable, were usually either square, oblong, or diamond-shaped patterns. These came flowered designs, and the latest pictures all the animals; some even bore inviting legends like "Welcome to Our Home."

Plain Colors Safe.

Plain colored rugs or carpets are always a safe and satisfactory choice for the living-room and bedroom, and are especially advisable for use in a small room, or a room in which a crowded appearance has been given by a great deal of furniture. Painted floors, and by this I refer not to the usual wood-colors, but to the more bizarre shades, have great charm in the right environment, that is, the country house or the informal sort of town residence.

Whatever the circumstances, there is one rule for painted floors which should never be forgotten. That is, that the floor must not be the first thing noticed in the room. I shall never forget entering a country house recently which had been entirely painted by the owner—so she told me with great pride. Some of the walls were quite charming in tone. I must admit, but all the floors downstairs and the steps leading upstairs were painted a brilliant salmon pink! I cannot describe what a horrible effect it had on me. I couldn't appreciate anything in the rooms, for the floors, like a nightmare, were constantly jumping up at me.

Linoleum can be used with great success not only in the pantry and kitchen but also in the entrance hall and bathroom. There are some wonderful linoleum being made now which give the effect of lovely tiles. Even if expensive for "polioth," these are really very good when one compares them to the cost of actual tiles, and in effect they are most interesting, not to mention their unquestionable durability.

ENJOYABLE DANCE HELD BY DAUGHTERS OF ZION

Out-of-Town Guests Attend Party Given in Aid of the New Synagogue.

Over three hundred guests, including a number of out-of-town, attended the dance given last evening in Dayton & McCormick's by the Daughters of Zion, in aid of the new Jewish Synagogue. A number of enjoyable novelty dances, including the serpentine and confetti dance, were introduced during the evening, and at midnight a dainty supper was served. Miss Ida Lewis acted as convener of the affair, assisted by the girls of the organization, all of whom wore blue and white streamers, the club colors. Among the out-of-town guests were: Misses Bernstein and Jacobs of Toronto; Messrs. Levi and Hersch of Toronto; Miss Cohen of Hamilton; Mr. Lutrack of St. Thomas; Mr. Norman of Brantford, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein of Toronto.

Fashions by Wire

Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

Paris, Nov. 1.—A noticeable feature about the early winter frocks shown today is their snug waist line. Not pinched-in, but merely snug, with this snugness about the waist, usually goes a wide sleeve.

An Arched Hem.

Paris, Nov. 1.—An arched hem is observed on some dance frocks. The hem line rises at the center of the front to a point like a Gothic arch, and if there are flounces these also take their cue from the hem line.

Flowers of Ribbon.

London, Nov. 1.—Flowers of ribbon, but especially of velvet ribbon, decorate many afternoon costumes today. Oddly enough, these flowers seldom appear in the center of the place, but around the lower edge of the skirt.

Evening Cloaks Draped.

London, Nov. 1.—Many evening cloaks, of the sort that drape up to a jeweled cabochon on the left hip, have a bodice or deep yoke of embroidery, while the rest of the cloak remains plain.

For the College Girls.

New York, Nov. 1.—The college girl, who comes into town for tea or a matinee, is wearing a crepe-black satin dress rather simply made. Its great claim to distinction is a skirt in three tiers, the third being very narrow and ending just above the ankles.

Fur Much in Style.

New York, Nov. 1.—Fur is so much in style today that even the separate skirt may be trimmed with it around the hem. This separate skirt is meant to be worn with a sumptuous over-bodice of velvet, perhaps touched with the same sort of fur.

The New Negliges.

New York, Nov. 1.—A delightful new type of negligee shown today is of coral crepe-back satin, all in one piece, with a bateau-shaped opening for slipping on over the head. It ties around the waist with peacock blue velvet ribbon.

WHITESIDE CHOSEN HEAD OF BORDER CONSERVATIVES

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, Nov. 1.—Walker Whiteside, of the law firm of Rodd, Wigle, McHugh and Whiteside, was chosen tonight to act as president of the Windsor Liberal-Conservative Association to succeed Malcolm G. Campbell, who resigned three weeks ago.

Mr. Whiteside is one of the youngest and most aggressive of the local Tories. He will remain in office until the general meeting in January.

To organize a club for the constituency, the executive committee will arrange for a smoker, Friday night of next week. Premier Ferguson will be asked to attend the function.

MRS. F. W. HUGHES, President of the Women's Canadian Club, and chief hostess at the Cafe Chantant, for which Mrs. William Seattle lent her home in Central avenue this afternoon.

LORNE AVENUE CLUB PLAN GROCERY SHOWER

Will Help Poor of the District—Mrs. Hunt Offers Her Home.

At a large meeting of the Lorne Avenue Mothers' Club, held last evening, the report of the membership drive showed that 50 new members had joined the club since last meeting. In order that the members be included in the new list, they have to attend one of the two meetings to be held before December, when the drive closes.

Plans were made for a grocery shower for the poor of the district, and Mrs. Hunt, Princess avenue, offered her home for the shower and promised to look after the delivery of the gifts. Arrangements were also made for a rummage sale to be held Thursday, with Mrs. Raynard as convener.

Principal W. E. Oppen extended an invitation to the pupils and parents to attend a demonstration of the new picture machine Monday evening in the auditorium.

Rev. McIntosh gave an inspiring address on "Character Building." He compared the building of character to the building of a house, taking as the four walls, the physical, spiritual, moral and mental sides of the character, with the ages of infancy, childhood, adolescence and youth as the four stories. He impressed on the mothers the great influence the atmosphere of the home has on the character of the child.

Solos by Miss Appleton were greatly enjoyed, also Scotch dances by Miss Hunt, and clever readings by Miss Parkinson. The meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. W. E. Rydner, was followed by dainty refreshments.

MRS. ALICE E. GRAHAM BURIED HERE TODAY

Funeral of Former Well-Known Resident Who Died in Detroit.

The funeral of Alice E. Graham, widow of the late Simon Peter Graham and former popular resident of London, who died in Detroit, was held this afternoon at 4:05 o'clock at Woodlawn cemetery. Rev. Mr. Watts of Wellington Street Methodist Church, conducted the services.

Mrs. Graham was a member of the congregation of Wellington Street Church during her residence here, and was actively identified with many movements both in her own church and in other social and church circles throughout the city.

Her husband was at one time a well-known manufacturer in London.

Mrs. Graham is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Malcolm Marvel and Miss Mary, and four sons; David P., Arthur A., Ernest S., and Harry B., all of Detroit.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, Nov. 1.—It was thought that the young man injured in the C. P. R. train wreck near Savanne last week, who at first was taken for James Morris, and who later said his name was Morrow, may have been Laverne Morrow, son of William Morrow of Preston. A description of young Morrow was sent the hospital authorities at Port William, but word came that the patient was from Bangor, Ireland.

MFRS. ICE LOOP WILL PLAY IN THE NEW ARENA

Mfrs. Will Play In New Arena And May Expand Into Ten Team Loop For This Season

Officials Believe "Big League" Atmosphere of Arena Will Better Hockey Brand.

Announcement by Roy Dale, newly appointed manager of the new arena, who attended the meeting of the Manufacturers' League last night in Brisco's store, that the league would be given at least one night each week in the new structure, and possibly more accommodation, gave the officials the word they had been expecting. The word they had been expecting was that the league would be given at least one night each week in the new structure, and possibly more accommodation, gave the officials the word they had been expecting.

The state of affairs is that every team will receive consideration, and the league loop forward to one of the most successful seasons it has ever had.

McClary, McCormick, and Bell Telephone are the old stand-bys which already have applied for admission to the league. Jones & Son and Standard Drug are almost certain.

Manager Dale of the arena said that no matter how much the arena might be prepared for accommodation, the Manufacturers' League could not be overlooked because it developed future hockey players and had built up a large and loyal following. He up a large and loyal following. He up a large and loyal following.

President "Cap" Graham had outlined the achievements of the Manufacturers' League since its inception in 1901. It had during that time been the developing ground for many of London O. H. A. teams.

This year, said the president, "most of the O. H. A. material is lined up with the Manufacturers. The firms employing O. H. A. hockey men, naturally expect that they will play for the firm team, but I do not believe there is any room for conflicting with the L. A. A. teams. A little co-operation will make a great difference in the Manufacturers' League this season."

A communication was received from President J. J. Foote asking the co-operation of the Manufacturers' League this season.

Down the Line In All Sports

Local hopes were raised on the eve of the Petrolia-Sarnia rugby battle when it was learned that Newton's crew will start without the services of three regulars. "Red" Cowan threw his crutches away Thursday, but his knee will not be strong enough for this tilt. Smith on the line and "Dolly" Gray, a halfback, are the other absentees.

The absence of Cowan will enhance the Hard Oil chances considerably. Cowan is one of the best quarterbacks playing Canadian football and without the confidence Cowan's generalship gives the Blue and White, they are likely to be far from the perfect machine they've seemed in the rest of their games. And the local view is that they'll need everything they've got to turn back the Hard Oil rush.

Over the telephone it was learned that seeing the trains come in at Petrolia has lost its fascination in the rugby fervor that has swept once more over the Hard Oil town at the prospect of a chance to spill Sarnia's chances of a group title. Stonehouse, the Wallaceburg halfback who performed so well against London here, has become a resident of Petrolia during the last few days, and before that motor over for every drill the Hard Oil put on. Several of Petrolia's famous old line men who have been trying to retire for the last ten years have offered their services as substitutes.

It develops that the "Cross" rugby rule which bars intercollegiate O. R. F. U. players from "Cross" games does not extend to the other series of the O. R. F. U. The game which is being played off between Petrolia High and St. Thomas C.

COLUMBIA IS AWARDED SECOND RACE AFTER PROTEST

RACE COMMITTEE AWARDS PROTEST TO THE COLUMBIA

Bluenose Forfeits Second Win Because of Failure To Pass Buoy "To Seaward."

3RD RACE SATURDAY

Canadian Press Despatch.

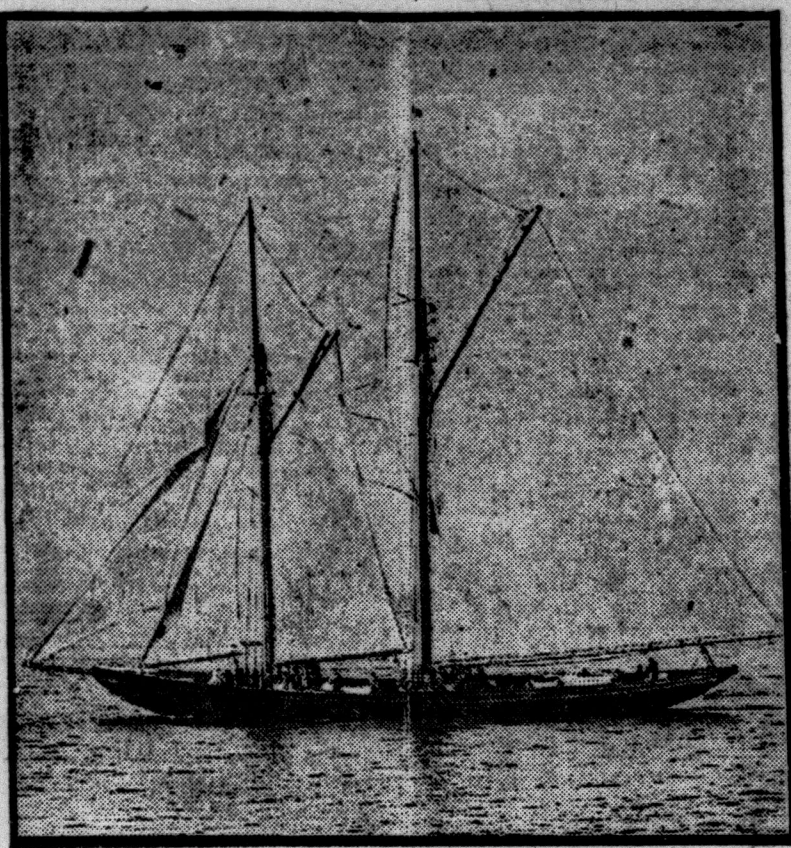

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 1.—A third race will be necessary to decide the possession of the international fishermen's trophy, which Captain Angus Walters of the Nova Scotia schooner Bluenose believed he had successfully defended in winning today's race off Halifax harbor. The international committee tonight awarded today's race to the Columbia, on the ground that the Bluenose failed to pass a buoy to seaward, in violation of a rule promulgated by the committee earlier in the week. The third race will be sailed on Saturday. The protest against today's race was lodged by Kenneth Ferguson of Gloucester, chairman of the American race committee, on behalf of the challenger, Columbia. It charged that the Canadian schooner did not pass Lighthouse Bank buoy to seaward on the first leg of today's race. On Tuesday the sailing committee issued a rule that "any buoy indicating shoal water shall be passed on the seaward side."

The committee went into session on the protest tonight, immediately after a banquet as a farewell to the American visitors. The program of the banquet had included presentation of the international trophy to Captain Angus Walters of the Bluenose, but the presentation was not made. At a late hour the announcement was made that the protest had been allowed.

Speakers at the banquet, including Premier Armstrong of Nova Scotia, declared that the decision of an umpire must be respected, "no matter whose bows are up." The umpire in this case being the sailing committee.

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, Nov. 1.—This morning furnished the nearest approach to racing weather the west has produced, and the Columbia and Bluenose, contestants in the international schooner race series, were both away from their wharves before 8 a.m. jockeying about in the outer basin of the harbor in a 15-knot wind from the northwest, waiting for the gun to send them across the line on the second of the international series. A signal from the starting committee on the breakwater indicated that number two course would be sailed. This is the same course sailed over Monday when the Bluenose won a thrilling victory.

After the pouring rain of the previous night, the sky was overcast and wintry when the schooners went down the harbor to "tune up" for the start, but at 9 o'clock approached blue sky began to appear in patches and an ideal racing day was predicted. The five-minute gun found both

WINS SECOND RACE ON A PROTEST.

The Columbia was awarded the second race, when the protest lodged by the American entrants against the Bluenose was upheld. The protest claimed that the Bluenose, contrary to rules, failed to pass a shoal water buoy to seaward.

schooners behind the line with all sails set except foretopsails. They were circling swiftly around one another, seeking the advantage of the quick dash across the line on the gun. They came about together about fifty yards back of the line, and it looked as though Bluenose would beat the gun across the mark.

Time: Bluenose, 9:00:27. Columbia, 9:00:40. The schooners got away to a fine start, and running almost before the wind, scudded away from the first mark, six miles distant. For a moment soon after the start the Bluenose lost her lead.

The Columbia came abreast and almost a length ahead, when the Bluenose got a better wind and again jumped into the lead. At 9:15 the Bluenose seemed from the shore to have a length or more on the Columbia, and was bearing away for the inner automatic buoy.

Using Number 2 Course. Number 2 course means a run of six miles to the inner automatic, a broad reach of six miles to the southeast automatic buoy, a jibe and run of nine miles to Sambro gas buoy, and a seven-mile beat home by way of the inner automatic.

The five-minute gun found both schooners on the starboard tack. Two minutes before the starting gun the Columbia squared away and headed for the line. The Bluenose came about a moment later. She crossed the line considerably ahead and to weather of challenger. Walters beat again scored.

The Columbia with mainsail broad of seemed to be overtaking the defender. At 9:10 the schooners were off McNab's Island, reaching for the first mark with the Bluenose continuing on her course. Pine took in his main sheet and headed over towards the Bluenose, apparently trying to work up to weather. Bluenose had a lead of several lengths. At 9:20 the schooners were off Lighthouse Bank buoy. The Bluenose had established a lead of 55 seconds at this mark. The defender passed inside the buoy, and immediately after the Columbia bore away. Pine evidently decided to abandon the attempt to get to weather of the defender.

Official times at first mark: Bluenose, 9:45:00. Columbia, 9:45:46.

After leaving for the first mark and heading up for the reach to southeast automatic, Bluenose delighting in the freshening breeze and rising sea, fairly leaped ahead and at 9:55 was rapidly dropping the Columbia astern. The wind had increased to 20 knots.

Bluenose Leads by Mile. At 10 o'clock the wind had increased to 25 knots, and seemed to be still rising. Both schooners were carrying everything they had. It was estimated the Bluenose had a lead of upwards of a mile.

Official times for the first mark: Bluenose, 9:44:21. Columbia, 9:46:10. Official times for the second mark: Bluenose, 10:10:10. Columbia, 10:11:33.

At 10 the schooners were approaching the second mark. The press boat, Lady Laurier, steaming at twelve knots, was unable to keep up with the flying fishermen.

The Bluenose and Columbia both jibed around the second mark, a ticklish proposition in the wind of the day. They squared away on the third leg—a run down to the wind to Sambro gas buoy. The Columbia seemed to gain on the Bluenose.

Bluenose Holding Own. At 10:40 the Bluenose was holding her lead of a third of a mile. It was evident that the test of the race would come when the schooners rounded the next mark and hauled on the wind for the dead muzzler to the finish line.

At 10:43 Walters doubled his stay-sails and swung his foresail over the starboard. Pine followed suit and both vessels were wing and wing for the mark.

At 11 o'clock the schooners were within two miles of the third mark. Both vessels were running dead before the wind.

The Bluenose seemed to be holding her lead of one-third of a mile. At 11:10 as the schooners were approaching the third mark, it was parent that the Columbia had still further decreased the defender's lead and it was doubtful if the Bluenose would have more than a minute on the challenger when she rounded the buoy for the third time.

Unofficial times for the third buoy: Bluenose, 11:16:22. Columbia, 11:16:51. Walters took off his fore-top-sail when nearing the mark, and did not set it again when Bluenose settled down on the beat to windward. As the Columbia came about it was seen that she pointed equally as high as the Bluenose.

At 11:25 both schooners were on the starboard tack, headed for the Sisters, two miles away. The defender seemed to be making better weather than the challenger.

Official time for third mark: Bluenose, 11:15:03. Columbia, 11:16:22. At 11:30 the Bluenose had worked up to weather of the Columbia. It was apparent the defender was making better weather in the freshening breeze, which at this hour was topping 27 knots.

At 11:31 the Columbia clewed up her fore-top-sail, and both schooners were under the same sails. The Bluenose was running on a broad reach, less than a mile away, it was apparent that the Bluenose would shortly have to come about. The defender was out-footing and out-pointing the challenger.

Bluenose came about on port tack at 11:50, the Columbia following at 11:55. The defender was half a mile to weather.

At 12:15 both vessels were making heavy weather in the increasing wind at this hour, topping 30 knots. The Bluenose would shortly have to come about. The defender was out-footing and out-pointing the challenger.

Bluenose came about on port tack at 11:50, the Columbia following at 11:55. The defender was half a mile to weather.

SALMON TROUT STAKES WINNER

Considered Conclusive Test of Two-Year-Old Racing Form.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 1.—The Dewhurst stakes, an important race for two-year-olds, run over the seven furlong course, and the Newmarket Jockey Club cup, a long distance race, run over the cup course of two and one-quarter miles, were the feature of the third day of the Newmarket racing meeting, this afternoon.

The Dewhurst stakes, which was run at the Newmarket second October meeting, is considered the final and most conclusive test of two-year-old racing form.

There were six starters, and the winner, M. H. Aga Khan's bay colt Salmon Trout, by The Tetrarch, out of Salamandra, quoted at 4 to 1 against, beat Somerville Tattersall's bay colt Hurstwood, by Gay Crusader, the odds-on favorite at 2 to 1 against, by half a length. Sir Abe Bailey's Bucks Yeoman, a bay colt by Son-in-Law out of Bracliet, who started at 3 to 1 against, finished third, beaten by two lengths.

The stakes are 25 sovereigns each, to which is added 50 sovereigns, the value to the winner being approximately 1,800 sovereigns. The race is run over the last seven furlongs of the Rowley mile course and was first run in 1875. Kilsner, who won the first race, followed on with Success in the Derby, as did Ormond, Donovan and Rockland. Other famous horses to win the Dewhurst were Orms, Bayardo and Louvois.

The field for the Jockey Club cup dwindled down to two, only Lord Derby's filly Tranquil, winner of the St. Leger and the One Thousand Guineas, and Sir Abe Bailey's three-year-old Son-in-Law-April colt Apron, going to the post. Tranquil was the odds-on favorite at 1 to 5 and won easily by a length and a half.

WINDSOR COLLEGIATE MAINTAINS WIN RECORD. Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, Nov. 1.—Running through the line of the Wyandotte, Mich. High School like water through a sieve, the rugby team of the Windsor Collegiate team this afternoon retained its unbeaten record in the Southeastern Michigan rugby championship.

Although weakened by the absence of Harold McDougall from the backfield the local pigskin chasers made gains almost at will, three touchdowns resulting from spectacular runs by Lyons and Matches, the first named twice going over the line. Al Edwards, who was injured when he was brought down after a run of 30 yards, had his knee injured. He succeeded, however, in scoring a goal from one of Lyons' touchdowns.

At 1:40 it was estimated that Bluenose had a lead of at least three miles. Both the schooners were headed to leeward of the finish line, with the defender well to weather.

REPLAY PROTESTED. WOSSA GAME HERE. Petrolia and St. Thomas Collegiate Will Mix At Tecumseh Park Tomorrow. Petrolia and St. Thomas Collegiate rugby teams have been ordered by the Wossa executive to play off the protested game to decide the second round at Tecumseh Park Saturday.

Dr. George Smith, who coached last night. The game will start at 7 p.m. The sudden-death fixture, while it being run off at an hour that may be somewhat early for a big game, should attract quite a few to the park. The game will be over in time for Western University to take the field against O. A. C.

HOPPE "COMES BACK" AND TRIMS HOREMANS. Associated Press Despatch. New York, Nov. 1.—William F. Hoppe, the defending champion, defeated Edouard Horemans, the Belgian titleholder, tonight, 500 points to 435 in one of the most thrilling matches in 18.2 ballkine billiard championship history. After setting the pace with a brilliant run of 170, Hoppe fell behind when Horemans kicked off 241. The champion came back with a run of 111 and ran out when Horemans made only 19 out of a perfect cluster.

The match went 15 innings. Jacob Schaefer defeated Roger Conti of France, 500 points to 342 in the seventh game of the world's 18.2 ballkine billiard championship today. Schaefer went out in 24 innings. In his 17th turn at the table he clicked off 169, the highest run up to that time of the tournament.

Erich Henschel of Germany defeated W. Cochran of Los Angeles 500 points to 323 in the sixth match. He ran out in 24 innings and set a tentative new high run for the tournament with 157. Cochran had been favored to win after his victory over Willie Hoppe, the champion last night.

BIG BOXING CARD FOR ST. THOMAS

Program of Inter-City Mitt Work At Armories Nov. 12 Should Be Success.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Nov. 1.—The opening ring and mat fest, to be held at the St. Thomas armories on Monday, Nov. 12, promises to be a headliner for the season. General King, O. C. Military District No. 1, will be on hand to see that the program of inter-city boxing gets off to a good start.

THE last of the bouts will be for three rounds. Out of the eight bouts to be staged, St. Thomas will be represented in seven. The 135-pound class will be between Jack Pass of Sarnia and Dave Smith of London.

The bout of the evening, of course, will be between Joe Philp of Sarnia, the international light-heavyweight champion, and Cy Cook of St. Thomas, Canadian light-heavyweight champion. The latter has been working on an extensive program in preparation for the Olympic test in the spring, and it is expected that he will give a good account of himself on the 12th.

The first bout on the list is between Art Woodman of London and Fred Stanton of St. Thomas, who recently took part in a little argument in London. Bill Brown, C. of Toronto, as there will be no wrestling bouts staged in the opening tournament, Pete Laing, Ontario champion light-weight wrestler, will meet Jack Hamilton in the 125-pound class. Charlie Bear of London and Norman Gedhill of St. Thomas, who created such a sensation at London the other week, will again exchange blows on the St. Thomas card.

The last of the bouts, between Jim Melville, U. V. F. C. and E. Lazenby, both of St. Thomas, will be a surprise for the local fans. Melville, who is known as a football player around the city, has been desirous for some time to take part in a fight, and it is expected that he will make a good showing at the tournament.

The referee for the bouts will be Tommy Wallace of London, and the judges Nelson Hathaway of St. Thomas and Charles Grafton, sporting editor of the London Advertiser. The regiment is going to considerable expense in bringing the fighters to the city, and it is expected that the fans will turn out in large numbers.

BUSINESS REPORTS MORE ENCOURAGING

Bradstreet's Weekly Shows
Consistent Improvement in Most Lines.

Bradstreet's Weekly Review is of particular interest today, coming as it does at the time of the monthly statement of the bank clearing. The section referring to Western Ontario and London, business conditions in most cases improving, while in two or three cases wholesale and retail trade is said to be holding their own. The report adds that with the advent of colder weather sales will increase. The tone of the whole report is one of optimism, and this in itself is the reassuring feature of the report. With particular reference to London, it states: "Reports to Bradstreet's say that colder weather of the last few days brought in a better demand for coal. Retail trade on the whole is fair and sentiment continues as active as has been hoped for. Wholesale trade is showing some improvement, and the general outlook is encouraging. Industry is fairly active, and the demand for farm labor is still maintained."

ERK GIVES ADDRESS "PEACE IN INDUSTRY"

Mr. Baker journeyed over to the City of London upon special invitation, and related that while several topics were suggested by members, his audience he endeavored to make them all together in the subject of his choosing, "Peace in Industry" with its kindred topics, unemployment, etc.

Mother's know a dose of
DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN
Will keep them fit

'First Aid' For Sick Children

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him, she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. G. R. Paquette, Pierreville, Que., and Mrs. J. F. Beale, 325 Johnson Av., Winnipeg, always give Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

The Meaning of "Good"

All doctors agree that a thorough cleaning out of the bowels is of first importance for it removes dangerous intestinal poisons. They will also advise a "good laxative," and by "good" they mean one that is effective and yet harmless. They know that there are physics that never should be given to children — calomel, which is mercury and loosens the teeth; phenolphthalein, a coal-tar drug that causes skin trouble; salts, which con-

Give Laxative for Colds

Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, lack of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin at bedtime, and there will be health and good feeling by morning. A dose costs less than a cent, and a bottle can be had at any drug store. Colds and constipation come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Laxative Syrup Pepsin.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS FAIL TO USE FREE ATHLETIC COACH

Report Shows Schools Most in Need of Grats Training
Last To Ask For It.

COVERS PROVINCE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 1.—The success attending the Ontario Athletic Commission in coaching the school boys of the province was outlined in a report submitted at the annual meeting of the commission held today. The report was adopted. It was pointed out that high schools and collegiate institutes showed a higher interest than public or separate schools, although coaches were available for elementary as well as secondary schools.

The report explained that the proposed branching out into coaching of group and other games in the schools, in addition to the teaching of the proper methods of performing athletic stunts, did not eventuate, for various causes, the chief of which was that the assignment of coaches for these games meant very heavy cost, which the finances would not allow.

As it was, the commission carried its athletic coaching into the schools of the province, as heretofore, with perhaps a better distribution. Walter Knox spent practically all his available time in this work, and while he could only give 97 days this year, as against 195 last year, his time was better distributed throughout the province. This is borne out by the fact that of the 97 days, only 11 days were spent in and about Toronto, as against 41 of the year before in this vicinity.

Covered Province.
"Mr. Knox pretty well covered the entire province," says the report, except the Ottawa district, for which the commission was fortunate enough to secure the services of Nick Bawlf during July. He is the coach for Cornell University. In this connection, it is necessary to call the attention of the commissioners to the fact that while the services of these two coaches were at the disposal of any and all applicants from the public and separate schools of the province, and preference given them, it was the collegiate institutes and high schools that were the most active in asking for this assistance. The commission safeguarded the interests of the lower grade schools by seeing to it that any visits to high schools were taken advantage of by the public and separate school pupils.

The policy of the commission has always been to send their coaches to centers preferably where home coaching is not available, and are usually the last to ask for this assistance, though every expense attached to these visits is met by the commission.

The commission supplied the medals for the Ontario public, separate and high school meet at Brantford; the medals for the junior events of the Ottawa Valley meet; the material and prizes for the sports at the cadet camp at Kingston, the Branch (2), and London, with the men to plan and carry the sport to a successful issue at these camps. These cadet camps cost the commission in the neighborhood of $1,300.

Distribute Rule Books.
The commission continued to distribute the rule books of the various games to any school applying, and many that did not. As a result, the greater part of the 15,000 copies were sent broadcast through the province. The book was invaluable, and the demand correspondingly great. Some provision should be made to supply these rules to the schools as annually amended. Of the total income of $11,242.94 of the commission for the year, $3,223.34 was expended in athletic coaching of the schools. There is on deposit to the commission's credit on Oct. 31 the sum of $12,528.90.

This income was derived from 41 professional boxing shows, as against a total of 50 the year before and 60 the year before that. Toronto, Hamilton and Windsor were the main centers, with smaller shows at St. Catharines, Fort Erie, London, Kingston, The Soo, Port Arthur and Fort William.

After outlining the boxing shows held during the past year in Toronto, the report continued:

"Boxing shows in other parts of the province were conducted with decorum and in keeping with the best traditions of sport."

"The commission continued to grow on hippodroming and ballyhooing at the fall fairs and at circuses, and, with the assistance of the provincial police, reduced the nuisance to a minimum."

"A rule was passed safeguarding amateur boxers from unscrupulous managers, making it obligatory on amateurs contemplating turning pro to file their intention with the commission for at least three months."

"The commission has also repeated its stand that preference be given to scientific boxing, rather than slugging."

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 1.—Following are the results of football games played in the Old Country this afternoon:

Rugby.
Woolwich Academy 4, Greenwich Naval College 25.
Bedford School 11, Rosslyn Park 6.
Blackheath 17, Racing Club de France 9 (played at King's Cross).

Association Football.
Belgium 2, England 2 (played at Antwerp).
Paris League 3, London League 1 (played at Paris for the Dewar Cup).

IT IS A FACT.

That Canadian National Railways System operates 22,663 miles, or over 50 per cent of the total mileage of the Dominion of Canada.

That the Canadian National is the greatest single railway system in the world.

That the Canadian National traverses every province in the Dominion of Canada, and serves the federal capital and each of the nine provincial capitals.

That Canadian National serves every important city and seaport in the Dominion.

That Canadian National has a network of lines in the prairie provinces, giving to the prospective settler his choice of lands for grain-growing and cattle-raising.

That Canadian National is the scenic route across Canada. Among the scenic wonders on the Canadian National lines are Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies (13,063 feet), and Mount Edith Cavell (11,633 feet).

That the Canadian National crosses the Rockies at the lowest altitude of any transcontinental railway, and in view of Canada's highest peaks, travel "The National Way."

MAY REGROUP BALL TEAMS.
Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, Nov. 1.—Whether St. Thomas will be classed with Galt next year or in a big four group composed of London, Chatham, Sarnia and St. Thomas will be a matter for the O. B. A. A. semi-annual conference to decide at Toronto Saturday.

The fear that the Southern Ontario Baseball League will become disorganized seems to be the general opinion in this city, and if this should happen, the "Big Four" group would be favored.

Considerable discussion on this point will undoubtedly take place at the annual meeting of the Southern Ontario Baseball League to be held in the near future.

DECIDE FRANCE
QUITE JUSTIFIED
IN SEIZING RUHR

Oracle Club Debate Brings
Out Varied Opinions on Occupation.

SAYS ONLY MEANS

By a majority of three, the Oracle
Club last night voted that France was justified in her occupation of the Ruhr. The debate, which called for the best efforts on the part of the principals, was judged entirely on the merits of the speakers, rather than the issue involved.
Major Kippen, leader of the affirmative, appealed for French sympathy on the ground that Germany had demonstrated by evasion of practically all provisions of the Treaty of Versailles that she could not be trusted. Effective propaganda had in some measure convinced the world that Germany was incapable of reconstructing herself owing to the harsh demands of France. The speaker said these demands are justified, and that France was employing the only efficacious means of making Germany pay her bill.

Says Another War.
The strongest argument of the evening was that submitted by Major Albert Murphy for the negative. He showed how the Imperialistic attitude of France constituted the gravest menace with which Europe had to deal since the disintegration of Germany. Germany, he said, was bankrupt, and the French occupation was only creating bitterness which would inevitably result in another war.
"All Europe, with the possible exception of Italy, which preserves an attitude of tacit consent, is opposed to the demonstration of French militarism as shown by the Ruhr occupation," Major Murphy said. "If there were the slightest possibility of collecting a proportion of the reparations from Germany, France has disappeared. She is now the premier military country of the world."

Asks Justice.
The speaker concluded by saying that France was unjustified from every standpoint—moral, commercial and legal.

Isaac Hodgins, second speaker for the affirmative, said he was surprised to hear such sentiments voiced by a former officer with Canadian troops in France. He presented statistics showing that the industrial fitness of Germany to meet her obligations was much better than Canadians realized. Germany had purchased cotton, wool, coal and other commodities than any other country. In the interests of international justice, Germany should be compelled to retrieve the great wrong
she had done humanity.

Mr. Stone, for the negative, advanced similar arguments as those used by his colleagues.
Sentiment was about equally divided between the affirmative and negative, but the vote, taken on the merits of the speakers, was cast in favor of the affirmative.

WILL BE REPRESENTED.
Special to The Advertiser.
Owen Sound, Nov. 1.—The Boys'
Work Board will conduct an election for a member for Owen Sound in third Ontario Boys' Parliament, sessions of which are to be held in Legislature
Chambers, Queen's Park, Toronto,
December 27 to 29. Nominations will be held Nov. 10. The campaign is exciting considerable interest.
